Terry Coventry, owner of Victorian Village at 4 S. Main St., holds postcards of Clarkston and urges residents to show local support. At Victorian Village, merchandise that is "homegrown" is showcased, said Coventry, including local artists' work like hand painted ornaments. Victorian Village also offers a full range of candles, cards and stationery as well as indoor/outdoor furniture, Howard Miller clocks, Tiffany lamps and much more. "We're not just Victorian," she said. Photo by Jennifer Nemer.

Where's the support?

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston is losing its downtown area according to one Clarkston retail owner.

Terry Coventry, owner of Victorian Village at 4 S. Main St., said, "I hate to see Clarkston lose its downtown—all its retail—but I've been watching it for the last year and a half. That's what's going to happen."

Coventry and her husband, Steve, 12-year Clarkston residents, moved their business to Main Street a year and a half ago from the Waterford location they ran for eight years.

Coventry regrets the move.

In a day, the Victorian Village owner said she may entertain only ten groups of people, with most patrons visiting from out of the area.

"It's crazy to only see a handful of people. It doesn't make sense," she said. "The longer I've been here, the more angry I get when people don't stop."

With Clarkston's upcoming downtown enhancement project and Main Street road closure, Coventry said, "it is critical for people to throw support this way."

Coventry said she feels she has to wake people up or else the city will lose all its downtown retail. "I can see it happening," she said. She added, the only people who'll soon be able to afford to rent or own a building downtown will be those "selling real estate."

Coventry, herself, is a "major supporter" of local businesses. When there's something on her shopping list, she checks what Clarkston businesses have to offer first, before moving outside the area.

"If you want a pizza, you go to Rudy's—diamond earrings, you go to Tierra," Coventry said. "There are other stores besides Walmart."

The lack of local retail support can't be blamed on a lack of parking, either, said Coventry. "That's a myth." For large events such as Crafts and Cider, Coventry said, people find room for parking.

Coventry is also upset over a recent announcement from The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce about a photo contest for area pictures to be converted into postcards of Clarkston.

"Up until now, if you've been looking for a postcard of Clarkston, you may have had to resort to Ebay. But not anymore!" the chamber stated in a press release regarding the contest.

However, Coventry said her store has carried Clarkston postcards since it opened. Coventry sells three Clarkston postcards at 50 cents each including pictures of the Depot Park gazebo, Depot Park creek and Mill Pond.

In fact, several dozen postcards are available and Coventry's intent was to sell additional Clarkston postcards, but has seen no interest from the public.

"We offer them as a community service," she said. "It's a nice touch."

Coventry applauds the efforts of the chamber to promote Clarkston, but thinks they should be more aware of what local businesses have to offer.

Six teachers cut; program quality not affected, say school officials Largest budget cuts at middle schools

This is the first in a series of articles offering a closer look at the $1.5 million in budget cuts planned for Clarkston schools next year.

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Those fearing the elimination of middle school team teaching in the Clarkston school district need not worry.

While the Clarkston school board recommended $364,000 be cut from middle school planning time funding, the quality of the program will not be affected, say school officials. It is the largest single reduction.

The Feb. 12 announcement of over $1.5 million in budget reductions for the 2001-02 school year by the Clarkston Board of Education means about 20 district programs will have to be replaced or restructured.

*'The kids won't suffer
any reductions.'*

Linda Armstrong,
CMS principal

According to David Reschke, assistant superintendent for K-8 operations for Clarkston Community Schools, the above figure is a result of extra personnel hired at the middle school this year.

"That (the $364,000) is for the number of teachers we've had to hire this year to free other teachers for planning time," he said.

Under the team teaching format, a group of teachers (usually about 3-4 in a team) meet each day to discuss their plans for that day's instruction, as well as talk about how to deal with various classroom situations.

Seventeen teachers were hired for the program and six will be cut. Planning time will be reduced from 50 to 45 minutes. Teachers will also do their planning when students are not in the building, rather than throughout the day.

Clarkston Middle School Principal Linda Armstrong said while the school day will have to be restructured, the level of teaching should still remain at a high level.

"The quality of instruction is still going to be maintained," she said. "The kids won't suffer any reductions. Our classes are a very reasonable and appropriate size for a middle school. There's not going to be that large of an impact for students."

Crigger won't seek reelection to school board

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

There will be at least one new face on the Clarkston Board of Education after the June school election.

At the conclusion of the Feb. 26 school board meeting, Secretary Rick Crigger announced he would not seek reelection to the board after his four-year term expires in June.

Crigger said increasing job responsibility as a lieutenant with the Waterford Police Department make it difficult to attend board meetings.

"I thank the Clarkston community for putting their faith in me to represent them on the board."

Wed., February 28, 2001 The Clarkston (MI) News 3

Optimistic students get a little respect

Hardworking, thoughtful students and their families were treated to a breakfast buffet and accolades at Deer Lake Athletic Club earlier this month.

The occasions were the annual Youth Appreciation breakfasts hosted by the Clarkston Area Optimist Club.

High school and middle school students were honored February 7, and elementary school students February 14.

The students were introduced by their principals, who praised their qualities and listed their accomplishments. The students were recommended for the honor by teachers.

While all were good students and involved in extracurricular activities, they received equal recognition for their positive attitudes and helpful natures.

Principals explained to the audience that these students were considered of others at school as well as in the community.

Some of the students make dolls for hospital patients, shovel their neighbors' driveways, participate in food drives for Lighthouse Clarkston, or volunteer through their churches or other community organizations.

In his opening remarks at the breakfast, Optimist President Mike Blicher told the students how much their hard work was appreciated. He reminded them that it is difficult not to be "cool", but that they should follow their hearts and do what is right.

The Optimist motto is "Friend of Youth". Blicher said the club tries to help kids who are needy as well as acknowledging the efforts of those already on a positive track. The club does this through donations or more active, personal involvement.

The club financially supports mentoring programs, music programs, social activities and other not-for-profit organizations in the area focusing solely on providing youth with positive experiences in their developmental years.

The Optimists host the Tri-Star Basketball Skills competition March 1 for students ages 8 to 13.

The club also sponsors an oratorical contest for middle and high school students up to age 16 on March 29, a Junior Golf Tournament, Respect for Law Week and other programs. Students may also join Junior Optimist clubs at the middle schools, and the high school affiliate, Octagon.

The Optimists have one large fund raiser each year in March. This year it will be a dinner-dance and auction Saturday, March 17 at Deer Lake Athletic Club.

For more information about membership, donations to the auction or anything Optimistic, contact Blicher at 620-0887.

Clarkston Middle School students honored at the breakfast February 7 are Eric Ryan, Brad Herron, Jenny Howe and Jennifer Stanton. With them are CMS Principal Linda Armstrong, Assistant Superintendent Dave Reschke, and Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts.

Sashabaw Middle School students honored at the breakfast are Maria Blaine, Chelsey Denz, Mike Jefferies, Steve Jeffrey, Rachel Rabideau, Niklas Rogers. With them are Dave Reschke, Dr. Al Roberts and SMS Principal Mike Bjalk.

Clarkston High School students honored at the breakfast are Scott Barnett, Shayla Blower, Kim Burieligh, Garrett Garcia, Adam Gebus, Rebecca Hart, Shawn Miller and Heather Murphey. With them are Dr. Al Roberts and CHS Principal John Dilleghio.

Plaza expansion causes neighboring tension

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Yet another commercial development has residents in an uproar.

This time, Northview Drive residents and surrounding neighbors in Independence Township are "very opposed" to a plan to expand the Independence Pointe plaza on M-15 just south of I-75.

Pat Meeker has lived on Northview for 26 years and attended the Feb. 22 Planning Commission meeting in which a preliminary review of the plans was given.

She said, "We want it to stay a nice residential area for young families moving in, and for our own peace and quiet and security. A lot of folks have invested a lifetime in their homes."

Meeker has been passing out flyers to gather neighborhood support and awareness.

Fliers read, "Do you want the safety of your children to be jeopardized by more cars speeding through your neighborhood? Do you want to invite trespassers and crime into your neighborhood? Do you want to be disturbed in the privacy of your home by noise and lights? Do you want future homebuyers to be deterred by the 'ever expanding' shopping center? WE DON'T."

Plans submitted by John Poponea of M-1575 Associates propose a 13,200 square foot second story addition to the existing TCF bank.

Ron Sherman of Smith and Sherman Architects petitioned plans to the board Thursday night and said the bank would be moving. Petitioners intend to bring in more retail and office space to the plaza.

As part of the request, the applicant seeks to rezone an adjacent residential parcel, approximately 9,000 square feet, from R-1A to PUD, planned unit development, for additional parking.

A home on the parcel in question has been vacant since mid-October, said Meeker. The home will not be demolished and 150x100 of the backyard will be left. Currently, the development has 250 parking spaces and proposed revisions will create 302 spaces.

"We're very opposed to this and don't want them to rezone," Meeker said. "It will bring the parking lot right up to our backyard. Instead of looking out the window and seeing trees, we'll be seeing lights."

A four-foot high retaining wall with landscaping will protect the Cameo Homes Subdivision from headlights and more.

But that's not quieting residents.

Robert Radcliff lives directly across from the lot to be rezoned and paved. He said when he first moved to this home, there was no bothersome light. "Now we have to put up dark shades, when's it gonna end?"

Meeker's daughter, Susan Neederlander, is acting as spokesperson for the residents. At the meeting, she said she speaks for all the residents when she says the plans are not supported and are a threat to the integrity of the community. Residents are worried about property value, traffic, noise, lighting, safety and security, specifically with transients, Neederlander said.

"We can't imagine the Planning Commission allowing this and hope they don't approve it," said Meeker. She added the neighborhood has been in existence since 1955. If the township approves this development, in which commercial development stems into a residential area, Meeker said, "it'll happen anywhere."

Planning Commission chairman Steve Board said he has a tremendous problem inflicting commercial usage into a residential area. "The next step is to burn the house down and build over it," he said. "I have a great difficulty with the development."

A public hearing on the issue will be held March 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the Clarkston High School Performing Arts Center, 6093 Flemings Lake Rd.

Middle school budget cuts

The news that team teaching will remain at the middle school comes as welcome news for Joan Hessell, a seventh grade teacher at Clarkston Middle School.

"It would be a catastrophe to not have teaming," she said. "You need to have the key people to have time to talk. There are so many creative things that we need to do."

Sandra Blomquist, an eighth grade teacher at CMS said Armstrong was straightforward with the staff from the beginning about the potential for budget reductions.

"She discussed it with us early on," Blomquist said. "She was very up-front with us. It's not like it came out of the blue for us."

In addition, she said she hopes her team, which also consists of eighth grade teachers Alex Sennabaum and Megan Maida, stays the same in the future, and has heard no plans to eliminate teaming at the middle school.

"I've already told her (Armstrong) that we like where we're at," Blomquist said. "We want to stay together. I'm praying that they (the reductions) are temporary. I applaud their attempt to reduce student services as little as possible. I hear no talk of eliminating teaming."

Anita Banach, community relations director for the schools, said the final decision on cuts will be made at the April 9 school board meeting.

City, M-DOT sign watermain contract

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's official — the city and the Michigan Department of Transportation (M-DOT) have inked a contract for watermain construction to begin downtown this spring.

At its regular city council meeting Feb. 26, the council unanimously voted on a contract for roadway improvements along M-15 from Paramus Street at the southern limit of the city north to I-75, consisting of curb replacement, pavement repairs, miscellaneous operational improvements and pavement milling and resurfacing.

The contract is broken down into three main parts. Part A deals primarily with watermain construction saying "Watermain construction along M-15 from north of Paramus Street to south of I-75; together with necessary related work; located within the corporate limits of the city and Independence Township."

Part B deals with streetscape improvements and said, "The construction of streetscaping improvements along M-15 from approximately 500 feet south of Waldon Road to approximately 700 feet north of Washington Street; together with necessary related work; located within the corporate limits of the city."

Part C deals with landscaping improvements and said, "The construction of landscaping improvements along M-15 from approximately 500 feet south of Waldon Road to approximately 700 feet north of Washington Street; together with necessary related work; located within the corporate limits of the city.

However the only part of the contract that was the financial responsibility of the city was part A. Parts B and C, dealing with streetscaping and landscaping are the responsibility of federal and state governmental bodies.

The city estimated a cost of $1.2 million for part A and the city's shared cost of that portion of the project came in at just under that amount, totalling $1,194,373.38.

Roger Stafford, M-DOT developmental engineer and system manger, said at the meeting, "The estimate was $1.2 million for the city's share and that's a conservative estimate of the construction engineering. It's pretty tight. But we feel we have an excellent set of plans. There's been lots of cooperation between the city and M-DOT on this. We think we have a good bid and we're ready to go."

According to the contract, M-DOT and the city have agreed to cooperate to develop roadside improvements to be constructed under a Federal Transportation Enhancement Grant (TEA-21 Grant) in conjunction with M-DOT's construction along M-15.

Construction is expected to start this spring.

Sashabaw assisted living plans reviewed; public hearing set

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township may soon have independent and assisted living for the elderly.

Plans are in the works for American House Senior Living on Sashabaw Road south of Waldon across from Bow Pointe and were discussed during a preliminary review at the Feb. 22 Planning Commission meeting.

The development is proposed for approximately seven acres. The parcel is zoned local commercial but petitioners are requesting to rezoneto a planned unit development.

The project would consist of a 97-unit 86,476 square foot building which will include a kitchen, hair and nail salon, and various activity rooms, said petitioner Michael Parks of Talon Development Group.

Parks said residency will be typically for seniors between the ages of 75 to 80 years old, those between being independent and needing nursing care. It is expected that only ten percent of assisted living residents will drive. Seventy parking spaces, required by the township, are provided.

For independent seniors, 26 villa style and ranch units are planned within a 22,547 square foot area. This will typically be for those between the ages of 65 and 75 and those expected to drive will be 70 to 80 percent, said Parks. Forty-seven parking spaces are being provided.

Nursing services are nearby and available for villa residents when needed, Parks said.

The high quality building design will be a focal point of the area, said planning consultant Dick Carlisle. He added that plans are in conformance with the Vision 2020 Master Plan and will also be complimentary to the Town Center concept.

A public hearing is set for March 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Clarkston High School, 6093 Flemings Lake Rd.

Also at the Feb. 22 meeting, conceptual plans for Blackberry Estates, a ten-unit condo development on Maybee Road at Dora Lane, was tabled pending a drainage and clearing resolution.

Communication is always the key

The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce was criticized by Terry Coventry of Victorian Village in downtown Clarkston this week.

Coventry is upset because the Chamber's sponsoring a post card contest for Clarkston, in part, the Chamber said, because no-one sells Clarkston post cards.

Oops.

Coventry has sold Clarkston post cards at her store for 1 1/2 years, and was understandably put out that the Chamber doesn't know this. She wants to know why there isn't more local support. Local support of downtown has been a widespread problem for a long time. But that's another story.

We also take issue with recent fliers in the Chamber newsletter advertising services by Hudson's Optical and Office Depot. The Chamber's responsibility is to focus on area, member businesses. Period.

Overall, the Chamber has done a fantastic job of increasing membership, visibility for the area and promoting its members.

The Chamber also works hard to bring people to downtown Clarkston. The Taste of Clarkston, and summer concerts are two examples. Next December, more activities will be generated between Thanksgiving and Christmas downtown that will be sponsored wholly or in part by the Chamber.

Letters To The Editor

Clarkston News Home Depot editorial off the mark

This letter is in opposition to your position regarding the proposed shopping center for the corner of Sashabaw and Maybee roads. While I can understand your concern about traffic, even though I believe the concern is misplaced, especially with the planned widening of the roads, I cannot understand why you resort to the tactic of scaring our poor residents with the threat of "outsiders" invading our precious township.

This tactic is meant only to inflame residents who believe that Independence Township and Clarkston are isolated areas which must be protected from people who don't live here, coming into our community to do such horrid things as shop.

I further don't understand why it is used by you, an "outsider" yourself, having your corporate offices in the Village of Oxford.

The area is growing. As indicated by Vision 2020, we need to accompany this growth with appropriate business.

Home Depot is not a stand-alone store, as you well know. The proposed center includes a Kroger, a (much needed) Coffee store, other community-oriented stores. Home Depot is just one of the many.

It is also time businesses bear some of our tax burden. If there are no businesses in a community, all of the taxes that finance the community's needs are paid by the homeowners. Businesses pay a greater proportion of taxes than homeowners, and a proper balance of business with residential provides for an easier burden for our residents.

If you believe that the community cannot support a shopping center, that is one thing. But if you are trying to isolate the community by keeping "outsiders" like your own company out, then you are doing a disservice.

Very Truly Yours,
Fred A. Neumark

Editor's note: The Clarkston News was born and bred in Clarkston in 1929, long before our corporate offices were in Oxford. While the current owners, the Sherman family -- who purchased the paper in 1966, do live in Oxford, the paper's previous publisher lived in Clarkston.

Is 'The Clarkston News' the 'Republican News'?

In reference to Jim Sherman Sr.'s column on Bill Clinton: First! Mr. President, Bill Clinton, was the BEST president this country has ever had and the best there ever will be.

You say he never got anything done -- why? The rotten Republicans would never pass any of his bills.

All of you are so jealous of him and wish you had a few of his brains.

Leave Mr. Clinton alone. Also, I will never buy another paper.

First, a bit of business.

We received a great letter to the editor from a writer who misses the fans at Clarkston High School basketball games. But we can't print it. The letter was not signed and there is no name or return address on the envelope.

Just to remind you, our letters to the editor policy is that we can withhold a letter writer's name upon request, but we must know who the letter writer is.

Usually, if we receive an unsigned letter with a name and return address on the envelope, I can look up the person's phone number and confirm who wrote the letter.

This is a thoughtful letter and should be shared. I'm going to keep it and hope the writer will call or e-mail me. I will be glad to withhold his or her name, if requested.

On another subject, Mike Turk, acting director of Independence Township Parks and Recreation, supplied us with some thoughtful information for our letters to the editor this week. (See page 8).

He lists the cost of sending a kid to jail for a year - about $30,000. Then he lists over 15 activities available to kids through parks and rec to help keep them involved in positive, fun activities.

The average cost per year is less than $5 per day. What Mike doesn't mention, but my husband and I found out as parents of kids involved in parks and rec activities, is parents can have more fun than their kids.

For over 10 years our summers were spent at the Independence Township Parks and Rec ball fields. We camped out for the day or met there after work, shifting between our son's and daughter's games. We packed lunches, snacks, fast food -- whatever was necessary, and after the games there were the obligatory trips to Dairy Dream or Dairy Queen.

What a life!

Our kids made lasting friendships with teammates and it was especially nice for us because our relatives all live out of state. We cherished the friendships with the wonderful parents of the kids' teammates. And over Christmas break the moms and daughters of my daughter's baseball team had a reunion lunch when the girls were home from college.

Parks and rec also hires kids at age 14, for which they deserve a huge round of applause. Our daughter Liz and many of her teammates did a variety of jobs for them (some still do). Liz worked as an umpire for three years. It gave her some skills that came in handy in the "outside" world.

At 17, when she interviewed for a job at American Eagle at Summit Place, the store manager asked her what kind of experience she'd had working with people. Liz told her after putting up with rude, pushy parents (not us, of course) as a baseball umpire, she could handle anyone.

She got the job.

The information Mike supplied kind of gets the wheels turning, doesn't it? If there was a state, county or local program targeting first time juvenile offenders or kids at risk who were placed in these activities, could it help save them from bigger mistakes down the road?

More importantly, since family support is so crucial to keeping kids out of trouble, perhaps families at risk would benefit from the experience too.

It sure kept my husband and me too busy (and too tired) to get into trouble.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1986)

Clarkston High School principal John Kirchgessner died March 2 at 1:15 p.m. in Pontiac General Hospital from injuries he suffered in a plane crash the day before. The crash occurred at 4:13 p.m. Saturday near the Oakland-Pontiac Airport in Waterford. Monday morning's announcements at the high school, read by teacher Jim Wenger, told the school population about the accident and asked them to share in a moment of silence.

Five Village of Clarkston Republicans are seeking two-year terms on the village council in a general election to be held March 10. Running for the position of president is Sharron Catallo. In addition, Norma Goyette and Artemus Pappas are seeking reelection to their posts as clerk and treasurer, respectively. Eric Haven and Frank H. Millard are seeking positions as trustees.

A new fire station is in the works for Independence Township. Some $500,000 has been budgeted for the project, which is scheduled to replace the existing station 2 at Clarkston and Sashabaw roads. According to Fire Chief Dale Bailey, the new, 71,000-square-foot building will be constructed while the existing building still

Rudy's Market co-owner Robert W. Schwarze has resigned as chairman of the Clarkston Village Planning Commission. A misunderstanding over the commission's role in formulating a master plan was cited as the last straw by the two-year commission chairman. Schwarze thought the commission was to hire a planner, but was told that the commission did not have the authority to do so.

The Davisburg Mill Pond may become little more than a stream during the winter months, according to Eric Reickel, director of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department. Reickel said the Mill Pond will be lowered during the winter to prevent spring flooding, then raised again during the summer months.

The Independence Township Fire Department will pay for its new $47,000 pumper truck over a period of two years, according to authorization given Fire Chief Frank Rook by the township board. Rook said the truck is due in by the end of March. He expects to pay $17,000 at the time, borrowing the balance from Pontiac State Bank to enable him to make payments of $15,000 in January of next year and the following year.

50 YEARS AGO (1951)

The Music Department of the Clarkston School wishes to announce that music training on an instrument for the boys and girls from the fifth through the seventh grades will soon be available in a new school band which is being organized at the present time. The school has made special arrangements with the Educational Department of a reliable music company to aid students to obtain an instrument.

The Clarkston scouting groups, including Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownies, are anxious to equip a scout room. In order to raise money toward that end, the scout groups will hold a rummage sale March 23-24 at the Independence Township Hall in Clarkston. Many, many articles will be needed to make this sale a real success.

The following items were on special at the Village Market: U.S. government inspected T-bone or sirloin steaks, 93 cents/lb.; fresh ground beef, 63 cents/lb.; home cured corned beef, 69 cents/lb.; homemade pork sausage, 53 cents/lb.; skinless hot dogs, 49 cents/lb.; Macintosh or delicious apples, four lbs./29 cents; potato salad, large bundle, 25 cents; onions, 10 lb. bag, 39 cents.

We get unsolicited 'me-ah-ah-ah-ahs'

From another room, the nasally mewling broke our home's tomb-like silence. My head snapped up from the newspaper I was reading at the kitchen table.

What . . .

. . . what was that? Then, there it was again, coming from the living room.

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"

And, I was transported back in time. Just as surely as I had slipped into some sort of time portal, I was again a geek-freak kid in the early 1970s. I was no longer sitting at home with my family, swab and de-boner, reading the evening newspaper. I was back home in Clarkston on any early Saturday afternoon.

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"

There I was hunkered down in front of the television tuned (with a book of matches wedged between the dial and actual TV) to Channel 2, WJBK out of Detroit, Michigan. My hero, with a single, black, shiny, dippity-do curl pasted to his forehead was there in all his splendor — black cape, suit, white shirt. It was time for Sir Graves Ghastly to host another G-R-E-A-T, black and white horror movie or some B grade science fiction classic. I can still see his white, powdered face, his cheesy mustache and goatee. I can see him open his casket, the parody of Bela Lugosi's Dracula, awaking for another stellar broadcast.

God, I loved that show.

"Turn off the light. Pull down the shades and curl up in front of the tele," I think he used to say at the opening of each episode.

I'm now mentally pummeling myself in the head (and that is not a pretty picture, folks) for not remembering the exact line. It should be burned into my memory bank. I watched that show every week, without fail, for . . . for . . . until I could watch it no longer — which I think is when I went away to college and couldn't pickup the signal on the 12-inch TV's rabbit ears.

Heck, I watched that show so much, sent in so many drawings to be displayed on air, sent so many Christmas cards, and letters to Sir Graves that those lines from the show ought to be a part of my genetic makeup.

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!" Sir Graves said at least 10 times a Saturday.

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"

Seanny?

Sir Graves?

Where was I? Time warp forward. Today's date is . . . it's the year 2001.

Don't Rush Me

Don Rush

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!" my son Sean was letting loose with Sir Graves' trademark laugh. But how could that be? Sir Graves, now 202 years old, is living in retirement with his wife down south in sunny Ohio. I got up from the kitchen table and ran through the dining room, through the pocketed, sliding French doors and into the living room.

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"

It was Sean.

My god, man! Maybe that part of Sir Graves' schtick had been spliced to my genetic code and then, unwittingly, I had passed it on to my son via the usual way genetic material gets passed on from one generation to the next. What kind of monster had Jen and I created?

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"

Seanny, wasn't laughing; though as Sir Graves had. Seanny wasn't even smiling. Seanny's "Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!" was his new way of expressing that he's whizzed-off. And at only a few days away from being one, many things whiz Seanny off.

"Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!" He bellowed.

Jen laughed, "He's been doing that for a while now."

Where had I been? Why hadn't I noticed it before? More importantly, where did he get that, "Me-ah-ah-ah-ah!"?

Older sisters are too old to train

My sister was born in 1924. I was born in 1926. Barbara insists she's younger than I, and finds a way to announce it as fact whenever family or non-family are together.

We seldom see each other more than once a year, so my feathers aren't ruffled all that frequently.

Barbara Jean Sherman Wuest (she could have made up that last name) has lived in Clearwater, Florida more than 20 years. The sun has affected her.

Her recent 3 days in our house caused me to make this note: "I didn't know there were people on earth like sister Barb."

She carried a cane on her flight to Detroit on Southwest Airlines. That carrier doesn't reserve seats. It's first come, first on, everyone for him/herself, unless you show a need for assistance, like a cane.

Caned Barb was first on the flight, sat in the first row and deplaned first.

She says good bologna and wieners are not available in Florida, so we stopped at County Coney in Oxford on her way out of town. As we left the restaurant, I asked if she had her cane. She said, "Was that the airport?"

She thinks different. Not necessarily wrong, but different. She says when she goes into Circuit City, as an example, and no one comes to wait on this old, grey-haired lady after her specified waiting period, she'll find a clerk and ask, "Do I look like a lamp post?"

Then they take care of her wishes.

One of the major retailers wouldn't give her a refund when she returned an item. Not their policy to give refunds, just exchanges, they said. When she talked to the manager she said, "Either give me the refund or I tell Discover Card to erase that purchase."

She got the refund.

Barb's husband died a few years ago. Finding she was seldom leaving home, she joined one of those pool-exercise outfits. She forced herself to leave the house three days a week.

Well, somewhere along the line she met an 89-year-old man to go to dinner with and talk to. I gotta meet this guy. Senility, confusion or some disorder that needs immediate help affects this man.

Soon after arriving at our house, Barb held out her ring-fingered hand, on which was a beautiful ring with an emerald setting.

Barb said, "He wanted to give me a ring. It's an agreement ring. We agree not to get married."

She wanted a reason to go to Las Vegas at least once a year. So she bought a few shares of Berkshire Hathaway stock. That's financier Warren Buffet's outfit.

Their annual meetings are famous and they are in Omaha, which isn't far from Las Vegas. Now she 'has' to go to these annual meetings, which, in her warped mind, gives her a reason to visit Las Vegas.

There's good reason I see her no more than once a year.

Kevin L. Hearn

Kevin L. Hearn of Oxford died Feb. 25, 2001 at the age of 39.

He was the husband of Laura and the father of Brian, Brandon (Jenny), Brittany and Bethany. He was the son of Arthur and Thelma of St. Helen.

He was the son-in-law of Norman Jermeay of Ariz., Rose (Tom) Bowen of Ark. and Marlene Jermeay of Lapeer. He was the grandson of Faith Hearn of Burton and Edna Jermeay of Adrian. He was the brother of Micky (Rita) Cummings of Petoskey, Diana (Earl) Ball of Decker, Norman (Meg) Hearn of Pontiac, Rusty (Michelle) Hearn of Wakefield, Cheryl (Scott) Best of Wixom and Kent (Teresa) Hearn of Attica.

He was preceded in death by his siblings James, Ellen and Gary. Mr. Hearn was a longtime member and active with the children/youth ministry of Mt. Zion Church.

Funeral mass will be held March 1 at Mt. Zion Church with Pastor Covarrubias officiating. Arrangements entrusted to the Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston. (www.legacy.com).

entrusting this responsibility to me," he said. "I hope they feel I've treated them fairly."

Dr. Al Roberts said "I'm personally and professionally saddened. He's been an outstanding board member. His attention to legislation will be missed. He brings a good vantage point and a calm reflection on the issues."

Crigger was elected to the Clarkston Board of Education in 1997. He was appointed as board secretary last July.

Free Retirement Planning Seminar

For Daimler Chrysler Employees Only.

When you receive the distribution from your Employer's Retirement Plan, you will have to make some decisions which can affect the funds you will have available for your retirement.

The Internal Revenue Service permits you to avoid paying current income tax on these funds by rolling them directly to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) Rollover Account. If not rolled over into an IRA, these dollars will be currently taxed as income.

Morgan Stanley Dean Witter has been approved by the Internal Revenue Service as a qualified custodian for IRAs, and can provide you with the documents necessary to benefit from this tax advantage.

At our free seminar, we'll explain how you can manage your special benefit plan distributions to take advantage of tax benefits, and answer any questions you may have.

Date: March 8th, 13th, 14th

Time: 6:00

Place: Hilton Suites (Auburn Hills)

Admission is free for company employees, but seats are limited. Call today to reserve your place.

THE LAW & YOU

by Robert Kostin
Attorney at Law

CLASS ACTS

When individuals who have similar claims join together to prosecute their claims more efficiently, it is called a "class action." To initiate a class action, someone must agree to serve as the class representative, who must be approved by the court. In order to be the class representative, the representative's claims must be typical of the claims of the other members of the proposed class. The representative is not only proceeding on his or her own behalf, but also on behalf of the others who are similarly situated. For a class action to be certified, the court must find that it is a superior method for prosecuting the claim, among other factors that an attorney can explain to interested plaintiffs.

It is our concern to get our clients what they deserve, and we have the experience and knowledge to do just that. If you have legal questions, come to the professionals. We are located at 11 North Main Street and you can reach us at 620-1030. We handle a variety of legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts.

Note: Courts will consider whether the amount to be recovered by individual members of a class action suit will be large enough in comparison to the cost of bringing and administering the class action.

Where's the support?

Penny Shanks, executive director of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber was not aware Victorian Village sold Clarkston post-cards. The Coventrys are not chamber members.

"It's frustrating, we would've liked to have known (they sold Clarkston post-cards) ahead of time. It's tough to know what everyone carries as inventory," she said.

Shanks said she hates to offend any area business and feels the miscommunication is unfortunate.

Carol West, owner of Basketful of Yarn at 5 S. Main Street, said sometimes it takes a long time for people to realize you've moved. "I've been here for four years and every week a new customer comes in and says, 'I drive by here every day and never knew you were here.'"

Correction

Accommodating 'the harvest'

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

New Hope Bible Church has taken the catchy expression What Would Jesus Do? (WWJD), changed it slightly, and claimed it as their motto: What Is Jesus Doing?

Church members believe it's appropriate, since Jesus proved what He's doing when they received final site plan approval for a new building last month from the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Gary Boussie, senior pastor for 12 years, said he feels the Lord is leading the church to a new facility.

"Something is going on in the Spirit," he said. "The Lord is moving us to accommodate the harvest."

Building should begin in spring and be completed by fall, Boussie said of the new church and its 12-acre parcel on Sashabaw Road.

Just two miles north of I-75 will be easier to find than their present location, said Boussie's wife, Chris. The 50-year-old church is hidden within a subdivision at 5311 Sunnyside, one block south of Maybee, off Pine Knob Lane.

The 60-member church will have capacity for 200 in the new 10,000 square foot facility. "We're optimistic," said Boussie.

Boussie said the actual square footage is not much bigger than the existing church, but will have an all-purpose sanctuary twice the size of the one now.

At the meeting, petitioner Joseph Bridgewater said a number of landscaping issues were addressed since he last appeared before the board.

A required greenbelt buffer was added along Sashabaw which will include 12 deciduous trees. Six existing trees will be transplanted outside the construction limits and replanted after completion.

Within the parking lot, trees were added to five islands and the amount of parking was reduced to provide only the required number of spaces. The driveway, originally a boulevard-style, was reduced to a two-way access drive.

The building was moved north for a bigger buffer of 17 deciduous trees and five evergreens on the southern border with a three-foot required berm. Other changes include dumpster location, and sign dimensions were cut two square feet.

The board addressed questions from a resident in the audience concerning a passing lane which will be added at a later date if the church reaches 250 members.

It was also asked whether the church would house a daycare center, a traffic flow concern for nearby residents. Boussie said no.

Residents Daniel and Sandra O'Dea wrote a letter to the planning commission that they requested be read at the meeting. In it they said they were satisfied with the planning commission's job, but wanted an immediate buffer on the west side of Sashabaw for their backyard.

The current church has been sold but the parsonage and an activity center, a converted home next door, are still for sale.

As a church, Boussie said, "We're looking to build a community of believers to disciple and help grow up to be active members in God's community."

New Hope Bible Church is a non-denominational, full gospel, evangelical Christ-centered church. Boussie said New Hope represents the Holy Spirit and Bible represents a church founded on the Word of God.

"It's a church built up with God's people," Boussie said, which Chris added are closeknit.

"You can't hide in our church, we really get to know our people. A real camaraderie," she said. Many of the congregation have been in the church for over 20 years.

Chris added, the church has been under the same leadership for ten years and is "led by a great worship team."

"We have a ministry to bring others to Jesus," said Boussie. "To allow them to be regenerated and born again." The Boussies said they have an open heart to those who have been involved with the drug culture or those hurt by other denominations.

A "Christ-centered" coffeehouse for college and career age young people, which can have up to 60 participants, is offered Saturdays at 8 p.m. People "come from all over" for fellowship, games, Bible study and prayer.

Others can join New Hope Bible Church Sundays at 10 a.m. and Wednesdays at 7 p.m. Call 674-1112 or logon to www.newhopebiblechurch.com for more information.

Gower, Falck help team earn 30th win, prepare for districts Saturday

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

Gordie Richardson's volleyball team has already secured a 30-win season. But the Wolves are hoping to add a few more wins to their already impressive resume.

Clarkston improved to 30-12-3 overall and went 3-1-1 in the Oakland Activities Association league meet Feb. 24 at Bloomfield Hills Lasher. Clarkston defeated Madison in the opening round 15-5, 15-8 and went on to down Oak Park in two straight games 15-9, 15-3.

The Wolves split with their third round opponent, West Bloomfield 15-7, 6-15. Clarkston got back on track in its fourth match of the day defeating a much improved Southfield team 15-6, 15-6.

Clarkston fell in its last match to Troy 9-15, 5-15.

Richardson described the Colts as unmerciful.

"The tournament's never been too kind for us," he said. "Everything Troy did they did very well. I think we beat the teams we should have beaten and the teams we lost to we could have beaten."

Highlighting the tournament for Clarkston was Lyndsay Vincent who had 21 kills and 16 digs. Also playing well were Andrea Gower who had 24 kills and Smothering defense helped the Clarkston varsity ice hockey team defeat Milford 3-0 in the first round of the Wolves' playoff run.

Clarkston outshot the Redskins 34-7 on their way to the win. The Wolves will take on Port Huron Northern in the Division 6 semifinal tonight against Port Huron Northern at 7:30 p.m. at the IMA Arena. Clarkston fell to the Huskies 2-1 Jan. 18.

March Madness C-Town style

Most sports fans associate March Madness with one thing — the NCAA basketball tournament. But for yours truly March Madness takes on a whole new meaning when dealing with the sports world around C-Town.

Here are my predictions on what to expect from the Wolves in C-Town's March Madness, otherwise known as district and regional playoff tournaments.

Basketball — The OAA tournament is basically pointless in my opinion and I know Dan Fife is no big fan of it either. The real tournament begins March 7 when the Wolves take on Lapeer West. Better reserve some more room in the trophy case for yet another piece of shiny hardware.

Hockey — The playoffs haven't been too kind to Bryan Krygier's club over the years. However, they've put together three wins in a row now, and have only given up two goals in that span. If they play defense tonight against Port Huron Northern the way they did against Milford the Wolves should be competing for the regional title Saturday at the IMA. Good luck tonight against the Huskies, fellas.

Volleyball — The Wolves got their 30 wins, always a goal for Gordie Richardson and company. But a few more wins this Saturday at the district tournament would make Gordie smile more than he already does. He said his team is the favorite going in. Let's hope they live up to their own high expectations. Good luck at Swartz Creek Saturday, girls.

Divers — So the swim team didn't do too well at the league meet this year. It was the first year for Kenwyn Chock's team to compete in the Oakland Activities Association Division II. But Paul O'Connor and Kevin Miller are still competing at the regional level. Good luck at Lake Orion next Tuesday, guys.

E-mail Ed your March Madness prediction at aedavis11@aol.com.

Athlete of the week: Shannon Sadowski

Shannon Sadowski didn't let getting cut her freshman year frustrate her. As a result, she's become one of Gordie Richardson's most versatile players.

The senior is enjoying her second year on the varsity team and has fully dedicated herself to the sport of volleyball coach Richardson said.

"It's the only sport she plays here at Clarkston," Richardson said. "She contributes to the program in ways that don't show up in the stat sheet a lot of the time. Every team needs players like Shannon — players that love to play the game."

Sadowski said her play at the junior varsity level, two years of playing AAU volleyball and various camps have helped mold her into the player she is today.

"I've put a lot of time into becoming better player," she said. "I think I'm stronger mentally than I used to be. I don't get as frustrated as easily. I think I've become a better leader this year too. As a senior, I think that's important."

Sadowski said this year's volleyball team is stronger than last year's group.

"I think we all want to be playing here and we're a very close-knit group," she said. "We all get along very well on, and off, the court."

Sadowski maintains a 3.77 grade point average and has been contacted by Albion College to play volleyball there after graduation. However, she is undecided on where to attend and what to study. She said she will probably end up enrolling at either Albion College or Grand Valley State University.

'Every team needs players like Shannon — players that love to play the game.'

seven blocks, Tricia Brewer and Diana Doyle who each had 19 digs, Kristen Falck who had 64 assists, 17 digs and five blocks and Rockie Tripi who added seven aces.

The Wolves will now prepare for the district tournament which begins March 3 at Swartz Creek High School. Clarkston begins action at 9 a.m. against Waterford Kettering. Last year the Wolves lost in the opening round of the district tournament to Holly who went on to lose in the championship match.

"I think we're the favorite record wise going in," Richardson said. "Last week we were kind of flat with what was basically a meaningless match against Seaholm, but we have other things to worry about now and that's what we're going to focus on."

Cagers fall to Chiefs in OAA tourney

Wolves look for revenge on Rochester Thursday

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Sports Editor

Crucial turnovers and a fourth quarter scoring drought caused Clarkston to be bumped into the consolation round of the Oakland Activities Association tournament.

The Wolves, who had beaten Oak Park 69-54 in the opening round Feb. 20, were held to only two field goals in the fourth quarter against the Chiefs.

Clarkston coach Dan Fife said it was more of the same from his team.

"It was the same old, same old," he said. "It was a very physical game and we couldn't fight through their run. We gave a good physical effort but just came up a little short."

Clarkston's senior point guard Ryan Kaul was held without a field goal in the final eight minutes.

The Wolves outscored Pontiac Central 17-13 in the first quarter and led 26-21 at the half. However the Chiefs turned the defensive intensity in the final stanza and outscored the Wolves 20-12 in the final eight minutes.

Clarkston's leading scorers were Bryan Endreszl who had 15 and Kaul who added 13 for the Wolves who are 9-9 (at press time).

Clarkston will visit Rochester March 1 with JV starting at 6 p.m. and varsity tip-off scheduled for 7:30. Rochester lost to Southfield Lathrup 58-57 Feb. 23 and comes into the game with an 11-7 overall record (at press time.)

Rochester has beaten the Wolves twice this season, once in overtime and the other by 12 points at Clarkston High School, the worst loss suffered this season by the Wolves.

"I'm no fan of the OAA tournament, but I expect our kids to play hard and compete no matter who we're going up against."

The rundown

The game: Clarkston's leading scorers were Ryan Kaul and Bryan Endreszl who combined for 28 points. But the Wolves were outscored 20-12 in the final quarter.
Where they stand: Clarkston is 9-9 overall (at press time).
Up next: The Wolves visit Rochester March 1 at 7:30 p.m.

Cody Senkyr in action at Clarkston High School.

pect our kids to play hard and compete no matter who we're going up against," Fife said.

Fife added he has been impressed with the work ethic of several of his juniors.

"Sean Eley, Dave Ritzema, Eric Kieras and Case Bannasch have all stepped it up in practice lately. That's good to see. Sean has really committed himself in the weight room and has gotten a lot stronger. He's got a lot of talent," Fife said.

The Wolves begin district action March 7 at Lapeer East. Clarkston will take on Lapeer West, who has a record of 11-7 (at press time). Clarkston won the district last year.

"It's our goal to win it every year. I expect us to win in year in and year out," Fife said.

Roche named most improved swimmer

Team takes 7th in league meet

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Sports Editor

Travis Roche was named Clarkston's most improved swimmer this year by coach Kenwyn Chock.

Roche set a personal best in the 100 backstroke at the Oakland Activities Association Division II league meet Feb. 21-23 at Lake Orion High School. Roche finished with a time of 1:06.11. Roche was originally seeded 15th in the event, but finished 10th.

"He really came a long way this year for us," Chock said. "For a first year swimmer he really made some solid contributions to the team."

As a team, the Wolves finished a disappointing seventh out of seven places in the league meet. Berkley came in first place with 389 points, followed by Birmingham Seaholm who had 321 and Troy Athens who finished with 313. Clarkston ended with 225 points.

"We didn't do as well as I would have liked," Chock said.

Clarkston finished the season posting a 6-5 overall record and were 3-3 in the league.

However, in addition to Roche's strong performance Clarkston also got strong performances from Paul O'Connor and Kevin Miller, who both qualified for diving regionals. Those will be held March 6 at 6:30 p.m. at Lake Orion High School. Both divers medaled with Miller taking third and O'Connor taking fourth in the event.

Also doing well for Clarkston was the 200 freestyle relay team of O'Connor, Nick Riegel, Rob Bryan and Kevin Miller who finished in third place. O'Connor also finished fifth overall in the 50 freestyle.

The rundown

The meet: The Wolves finished in seventh place out of seven teams. Travis Roche was named most improved swimmer and Paul O'Connor and Kevin Miller advanced to diving regionals.
Where they stand: Clarkston finished 6-5 overall and 3-3 in the Oakland Activities Association Division II.
Up next: Diving regionals will be held March 6 at 6:30 p.m. at Lake Orion High School.

We Are SIDING Trim & GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. What we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We do not sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Total customer satisfaction is our only acceptable standard. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

Five grapplers qualify for state

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

Last year the Clarkston varsity wrestling team sent only one grappler to the state finals. This year Clarkston is sending a pack of hungry Wolves.

Five varsity wrestlers will be making the trip to Joe Louis Arena to compete in the Division I finals, which begin Thursday, March 8 at 3 p.m.

Brian Chism, Shawn Miller, Tony Lajoie, John Langdon and Chris Jaroneski all advanced to the state finals thanks to outstanding showings at individual regionals Feb. 24 at Davison High School. Chism and Miller won their respective weight classes while Tony Lajoie was a runner-up in his weight class. Langdon and Jaroneski each finished fourth to advance to the state finals.

John Langdon

Wrestling for Clarkston

275 pounds:

Shawn Miller (35-4) vs. Eric Pettway (Southfield Lathrup 30-10)

125 pounds:

Craig Zube (Howell 22-11) vs. Tony Lajoie (32-9)

140 pounds:

Greg Brescol (Temperance Bedford 26-6) vs. John Langdon (25-14)

145 pounds:

Marc Maleckeck (Saline 38-7) vs. Brian Chism (37-2)

215 pounds:

Jason Johnson (Belleville 46-0) vs. Chris Jaroneski (35-7)

Playoff rundown

Basketball districts will take place at Lapeer East, 933 S. Saginaw Street March 5-10. Clarkston, Lapeer East, Lapeer West, Oxford and Romeo are in Clarkston's district. Clarkston's first game will be March 7 at 6:30 p.m. against Lapeer West (11-7).

Volleyball districts are at Swartz Creek March 3. Clarkston, Grand Blanc, Holly, Swartz Creek, Waterford Kettering and Waterford Mott are in Clarkston's district. Clarkston begins action at 9 a.m. against Waterford Kettering.

Hockey regionals will be held in at the IMA Arena in Flint Feb. 26-March 3. Flint Central, Grand Blanc, Milford, Port Huron, Port Huron Northern and Waterford Mott are in Clarkston's regional.

Diving regionals will be held March 6 at Lake Orion High School at 6:30 p.m.

Wrestling finals take place March 8-10 at Joe Louis Arena beginning at 3 p.m. March 8. Finals matches will be held March 10 at 5:15 p.m.
