And, they're off!

It's a mad dash for Easter treats, as area children race to gather Easter eggs at the start of the Easter egg hunt in Davisburg April 13. The event was sponsored by the Springfield Township Parks and Rec. Department. Photo by Jeff Patrus.

Planning Commission oks Liberty Golf and Banquet

Final site plan approval was given to Liberty Golf and Banquet, formerly Clarkston Creek Golf Club, for a clubhouse facility with pro shop and restaurant on Maybee Road.

Only four Independence Township Planning Commission members were present at the April 12 meeting, but all voted unanimously.

Board member Richard Oppman said, "overall, the Planning Commission felt the clubhouse, landscaping and parking improvements will be a tremendous asset to the site. The change is well received."

Planning consultant Dick Carlisle only had minor issues with landscaping that developers Joe Locricchio and Manny Kniahynycky will address.

Also on the April 12 agenda was a request for a preliminary review for Liberty's planned unit development for 165 acres on the northeast corner of Maybee and Sashabaw. It is to include townhome-style condos, office and retail.

Developers were not ready to present their plan to the board and commissioners tabled the matter without setting a review date.

Oppman added there will also be a wetlands review of the site as part of the whole development, but was unsure when that will take place.

April 26 Planning Commission meeting moved

The April 26 Independence Twp. Planning Commission meeting has been moved to the Independence Township Senior Center in Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road west of Sashabaw. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Two public hearings are on the agenda: Petitioners have requested a concept plan amendment for Morgan Lake Golf Classic; petitioners have requested a rezoning of property on the east side Dixie Hwy. across from Waterford Hill from highway commercial (C-3) and single family residential (R-1A) to office (O) for construction of an office building.

Preliminary work for Main Street construction begins

MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

There were signs of approaching Main Street construction last week.

Don Kostrach, of Hubbell Roth and Clark, consulting engineers, marked the pavement at Middle Lake Road and M-15 on April 13. He said the bright pink markings are for pavement cuts to be made by VIL Construction.

Main Street in downtown Clarkston is expected to be torn up for about six months as contractors install a water main and make aesthetic improvements to downtown.

On Tuesday, Anthony Vani of VIL Construction said pavement cuts would begin the end of April, depending on the weather. Vani said signs announcing the upcoming construction should be in place by the end of this week.

He added the company would also begin to bring in equipment during the next 10 days. It will be stored in right-of-way areas or on private property, pending negotiations with the property owners.

Employees of Construction Video will be videotaping interior basements of Main Street buildings April 18 and 19, according to Art Pappas, Clarkston city manager. The videotaping is done as a Pappas recommends the employees be allowed to video tape, but that they be required to provide photo identification. For more information about the video taping, contact Pappas at 625-1559.

Clarkston seniors get computer savvy

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's a digital world, a cellular world, a world of RAMs, bytes, and ROMs.

And it seems as if senior citizens—who typically shun this type of a world—these days are embracing it more and more.

Oh, there are still comments like Jean Perzyk's, an active senior in the Clarkston community who revealed, "I can't even run my VCR."

Like Perzyk, many seniors still have no plans for a household PC.

However, many seniors are falling prey to technology's grasp and long to be computer savvy.

Louise Pope, 55, and a Clarkston High School employee said, "it gets embarrassing when the kids have to set up programs on the computer, print, and close down for you. The world is passing me by."

So, Pope and nearly a dozen other area folk are trying their hand at computers with a four-week beginners class offered specifically to seniors through Clarkston Community Education.

Goals start out simple.

"First, I have to learn how to turn the computer on!" one student laughed.

Another student, Elliott Plante, a retired engineer from Chrysler Corporation, just "inherited" a computer from his son. He's "curious about what all that means on the keyboard."

And Judy Patterson wants to learn "to do more than solitaire and check e-mail."

Instructor Julie Wolverton has been teaching others the ins and outs of computers for 16 years. She's taught in the Clarkston area for eight years and has seen computer interest rise in the senior community.

Ed Machowski "finger-pecks" diligently at the keyboard as teacher Julie Wolverton looks on.

"A lot of seniors have found that working at the computer stimulates the mind," she said. "They feel energetic and they're learning new things. It's a form of brain food. It makes them feel more upbeat and alert."

With a little practice, Wolverton said, seniors can get past any computer uneasiness.

"Seniors are apprehensive about computers because it's something new," she said. "It's not always real obvious what to do when looking at a computer and quite often there are so many things on the screen they don't understand." She added, "There's a fear factor involved, but once they practice, the fear diminishes and they get excited about it."

Wolverton helps that fear diminish by guiding her students through computer terminology, hardware and software, word processing, saving files and more. In turn, students begin to gain a comfortable presence at the computer.

Wolverton's student, Pope, had previously taken a computer class elsewhere, and said, "all I learned was what the cursor was." Now, feeling more comfortable at the computer, she praised Wolverton's class. "She's an excellent teacher."

After learning the basics, Wolverton said seniors want to move on to the next area—"surfing the net."

"Seniors are finding the internet is an inexpensive way to stay in touch with people," she said. "It makes them feel connected, especially for those with kids living out of state."

Plus, Wolverton said the Internet offers many valuable resources such as health websites. She specifically noted the Department of Human Services's site, www.misenior.net, which offers links to services throughout the state assisting seniors in an array of areas including respite care, household chores, and more.

The Internet is also very important for homebound seniors, said Wolverton, adding it gives them an opportunity to shop even if it is not easy for them to get around.

The advantages of computer knowledge doesn't stop there. Plante plans to incorporate a computer into his longtime hobby. "I have a lot of antiques and would like to put them on the computer." By doing so, Plante can catalog, buy, sell and trade, talk to others who collect, and learn more about the antique industry.

Pope, on the other hand, wants to feel connected with the world. She said a lot of media coverage nowadays is followed by "for more information logon to...;

With "tons and tons" (as Wolverton put it) of seniors getting computer-friendly these days, what are you waiting for? Logon today.

DPW spending concerns Clarkston City Council

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Several members of the city council expressed concern regarding the spending of Clarkston City Department of Public Works Director Bob Pursley's at its council meeting, April 10.

Council members Dan Colombo and Anne Clifton raised questions while the council evaluated the bills for the city. But the big bills in question were those regarding the DPW and its recent move to 3 East Church Street.

The DPW moved to the new address in early 2001 after an agreement was reached with John Morgan. Morgan and the council agreed to a lease agreement, which allows the DPW to work out of the building for $2,000 per month, plus utilities.

Since moving into the building however, DPW director Bob Pursley said April 16 renovations have been an on-going project and the reason for his spending.

"We've been doing a lot of painting and renovation since we moved in here, but all the renovation is done now except we're just waiting on carpeting," Pursley said.

Pursley said his yearly budget for the renovation project was $5,000. But the bills from 3 E. Church Street that raised some eyebrows totaled over $2,400. Bills for Daman Hardware and James Lumber totalled $1098.37. In addition, there was a bill for Office Max for nearly $600.

Colombo said he is looking forward to Pursley explaining his spending.

"Good, Bob can be here at the next meeting and show us how he's been tracking his expenses," Colombo said.

However Colombo, and the rest of the council won't get a chance to hear Pursley's explanation. Pursley said he would not attend the next council meeting, which is scheduled for April 23 at 7 p.m. at 375 Depot Street.

"I'm not sure what kinds of things they're (the council) is so concerned about. I wasn't at the meeting so I'm not sure," Pursley said.

Pursley added the new building has worked wonders for himself and the rest of the DPW staff.

"It's improved our work 10-fold. The biggest improvement is now we have so much more organized office space for all of our paperwork," Pursley said.

Pursley said the new facility at gives the DPW staff over 3,000 square feet of space.

CMS student still in serious condition with meningitis

Dixie and M-15 Rite Aid taking donations for family

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

A teenage bundle of energy remains side-lined by meningitis, but her parents are hopeful she'll be back in action soon.

Bruce Goldberg said his 13-year-old daughter Megan, who was stricken with a non-contagious strain of bacterial meningitis April 3, is in good spirits and enjoying visits from friends and teachers.

She is still in serious condition at William Beaumont Hospital's pediatric intensive care ward, according to Beaumont's spokesperson Bonnie Niebel.

Goldberg said doctors performed a tracheotomy on Megan last week to help her breathe. Her arms and legs are paralyzed, but she has full use of her mental faculties. She is communicating with family members by moving or blinking her eyes. Goldberg added Megan is expected to go to a spinal rehabilitation unit when she recovers.

Until she fell ill, Megan had been a "busy kid," said Goldberg. "She's an honor roll student, plays basketball and travel softball, she plays base clarinet in the Clarkston Middle School band and won a silver award as a girl scout."

Megan Goldberg

Goldberg said Megan's symptoms began with a cold followed by a headache, but no fever. He said when she complained of a neck ache he took her to her pediatrician who's affiliated with Huron Valley Hospital.

"They knew by the symptoms she had meningitis, but not what strain. They put her on a full range of antibiotics until test results could pinpoint which (strain) it was," said Goldberg. Megan was transferred to Beaumont because of more suitable facilities for treating the disease, he

Independence should get its narrow blvd. for M-15

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Many people feel a narrow boulevard aptly suits Independence Township and it looks as if they may get their wish.

Clerk Joan McCrary said at the April 3 board meeting, latest results in the study for improving M-15 look promising for a narrow boulevard between Oakhill and Cranberry Lake Roads.

"We're thrilled," she said. "We've been asking for this for many years. When we first proposed the idea four or five years ago, we thought it may never happen, but now with the consultants, The Corradino Group, they've made it their recommendation."

The Corradino Group is a Louisville, Ky. based engineering firm consulting with the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) on a 22-month environmental study for the improvement of M-15 from I-75 to I-69.

McCrary said if no problems arise with the current plans, such as environmental issues, Independence Township will see a narrow boulevard in the future.

However, she said, the township does not have the federal funding needed for the project as of yet. After the study is completed and plans are finalized by the end of the year, the township will seek funding in January.

Township Board members, in December, adopted a resolution to support and endorse a narrow boulevard for the improvement of M-15.

Options for M-15's northwest corridor bounced between the narrow-boulevard and a five-lane roadway.

But McCrary said a five-lane would turn into a Dixie Highway for the township and envisioning that would be terrible.

Supervisor Dale Stuart said now support is needed to make sure plans for a narrow boulevard in Independence Township stay that way.

McCrary added there are maps and plans available for residents to look at at the Township Hall and a formal public hearing will be held in June.

To voice your opinion, The Corradino Group and MDOT suggest visiting www.mdot.state.mi.us/m15 or call 1-800-880-8241.

Brandon, Goodrich M-15 corridor plans unveiled in meetings

Area resident thinks M-15 should remain a two-lane highway; work won't begin for at least 10 years

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Hundreds of people from two different communities shared concerns about proposed changes on M-15 at town hall meetings April 3-4.

The Corradino Group has recommended a five-lane highway be constructed for the majority of the 20-mile stretch between I-69 and I-75.

The meetings were conducted by representatives of the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT). The first was at Brandon Middle School April 3, with a meeting the following night at Goodrich High School. Both meetings featured citizens who had something to say about possibly changing M-15.

Over 200 residents packed Brandon Middle School April 3 to listen to a presentation from consultant Joseph Corradino, of the Louisville, Ky.-based Corradino Group, and to voice their concerns to Corradino and MDOT officials.

Paul Badgero, a resident of Springfield Township, spoke out at the meeting, contending that one of the possibilities was to simply leave M-15 as it is.

According to Badgero, since $1.6 million has been committed to the study by MDOT, it was to be expected that changes would be recommended.

He told the audience that he would be organizing a group of residents to voice their concerns.

"We didn't hear the do-nothing alternative at all," he said. "If anyone's opposed to this, see me afterward. I'd like to get a group going."

At the second town hall meeting at Goodrich High School, residents protested the development, stating it would disturb the area's rural qualities.

Corradino said it would take a long time before any renovation of M-15 would begin.

"This is our sixth round of meetings," he said. "In any case, we're probably 10 months to a year before the federal government can approve any plan. Then, it would be 10 years after that before we can begin pouring concrete."

The next step in the development of M-15 alternatives for MDOT is to develop an environmental assessment, which will be made available for circulation in May.

A public hearing is tentatively scheduled for June. Following the hearing, a recommendation on how to improve M-15 will be made by MDOT and the Corradino Group. That recommendation will be available for public review in early October.

To obtain additional information on the M-15 study, call 1-800-900-2649, or visit the MDOT Web site at www.mdot.state.mi.us/m15. To voice your opinion on the study, call 1-800-880-8241.

Optimist oratorical contest judges had a tough job

The Clarkston Optimist Club wishes to thank this year's judges for the 14th Annual Oratorical Contest at Clarkston High School March 28 and the Regional Contest April 7.

The judges included Larry Barnett, Thomas Raguso, Brenda Orlando, Donna McDonald, Jeff Allstead, David Harrison, Doug Metzger, Mark Sadecki, Jeff Patrus, Mary Van Der Mark, Ruth McNamara, Terri Bendes, Rhonda Irish, Jeff Lichty, Joe Jackson, Lori Blicher, Jeff Alstead, Tasha Hansen, Amy Voigt and Donna McCloskey. Their job was difficult, considering the talented speakers who took part. Without quality volunteer judges, the contest could never achieve success for the program.

I also wish to express my sincere thanks to the Optimist members who gave their time and talents for this year's contest and made it such a successful event.

To Sarah DeFrayne and Adam Weightman, the Optimist Club congratulates you on winning the contest.

Students read to raise $6,200 for Paws With A Cause

Students at Clarkston and North Sashabaw elementary schools deserve a big pat on the back. Recently, both schools participated in a special fund-raiser, called "Paws to Read" during Reading Incentive Month. Their project was to read so many minutes per day outside the classroom and collect pledges for the amount of time they spent reading during the month. The pledge money was donated to Paws With a Cause, a nonprofit organization that raises dogs to assist people with disabilities.

Prior to the reading fund-raiser, Paws client Leann Kesler and her Paws Service Dog Gilda, visited the schools and gave a presentation. Kesler showed how Gilda can help her live a more independent life by doing tasks such as bringing her the phone, retrieving her car keys and helping her with her grocery shopping. Paws field trainer Dana Spears and her Paws foster puppy, Data, also showed the students the importance of socializing a young puppy and teaching it manners so it will grow up to be like Gilda and help a person with a disability.

The students were very impressed with the idea of a dog helping its owner in so many ways that both schools raised over $6,200 to support Paws in raising an assistance dog. That is a lot of reading!

While the students gained knowledge (and hopefully pleasure) from their reading, they also learned a valuable lesson about people with disabilities and the need for independence. The effort the students gave to raise funds for Paws was exceptional and their reward will be knowing they have paved the road for more Paws working teams like Kesler and Gilda.

Paws With A Cause is based in Wayland, and has a regional office in Lake Orion and other offices throughout the U.S. Paws originally began over 20 years ago by training dogs to assist deaf people. Paws Hearing Dogs help their owners by alerting them to noises in the house or workplace. They bring their owner to a variety of sounds like the doorbell, a baby crying, the TTD telephone and even the sound of the morning alarm clock.

Start a trend - sell only good food for profit

Corporate sponsorships in Clarkston schools will be on the April 23 school board agenda as a discussion item -- definitely. Heard it from Clarkston schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts myself.

I jumped the gun in a story two weeks ago when I said it would be on the April 12 agenda. The topic was rescheduled, and I apologize for any inconvenience it caused.

The board will discuss its contract with Pepsi to sell pop, water and other drinks by machine at Clarkston High School. The contract, approved in 1998, is up for renewal in June.

There are some residents who would like to see the contract expanded to bring in more funds to Clarkston schools to match what other districts are doing.

The Clarkston News took a formal stand against selling pop for profit at CHS when the contract was announced and our position has not changed. We believe it's wrong to make money off students by selling them something that's not healthy.

Yes, we know everyone (including ourselves) except the very wise and well disciplined, drinks pop to some degree. But that doesn't make selling it at school right.

State Rep. Virgil Bernero of the 68th District agrees. He is sponsoring a bill to ban pop from the state's elementary and middle schools and restrict it to after-school hours in high schools.

In a column released April 4, Bernero says, "Desperate to fund student programs, school officials across Michigan and the U.S. have invited in multinational corporations to market their wares to our children in exchange for cash. In short, our children are being sold down a river of soda pop -- with serious implications for their long-term health.

"Teenagers today drink twice as much soda pop as milk -- exactly the opposite of the situation 20 years ago. In addition to providing extra, unneeded calories, soft drinks are pushing out nutritional beverages like milk that provide vital nutrition. Sixty-four percent of boys and eighty-six percent of girls fall short of needed calcium intake, according to the USDA. Such deficiency leads to fragile bones and osteoporosis later in life."

Bernero also cites other problems with pop we've heard about lately -- an increase in obesity and diabetes in children.

He says, "... this is not a fair fight and not the appropriate battleground for corporate America to target our children." He ends the column by urging parents to visit their student's school cafeteria during lunch. "You may be surprised at what you find."

If nutritional claims against pop and sugar escalate (and I predict they will), will it put the schools at risk for lawsuits? I think it's a probability.

Clarkston Superintendent of Schools Dr. Al Roberts said last week he thought Bernero's column had a lot of good points. He added there is currently no plan to expand the current Pepsi contract.

He added, in the pop machines at CHS, some of the drinks higher in sugar and caffeine content like Mountain Dew have been replaced with water.

How about Clarkston schools making a stand and selling only healthy snacks or food for profit at schools? It could be the start of a trend.

Zero-tolerance leaves zero options

In the last few days my handy-dandy red, felt-tipped pen has been getting a work out. (Gee, now I know how my high school English teachers felt when reading/proofing and grading my stuff. Eeks!)

Our regional daily, The Oakland Press, ran two pieces about school violence and zero-tolerance policies. One was a wire piece from The Toledo Blade, the other an opinion by John Telfer of The Midland Daily News. They dovetail nicely with what I've been harping on for the last couple of years: you cannot paint kids with a broad brush.

How can I put this without sounding too smug . . . ?

. . . Nan, nan, nan, nan, nan, na-a-a. I told you so. I just wiped the spit off my computer monitor, the stuff that flew off my tongue as I stuck it out and blew.

I know I'm doing what every other columnist, politician, opinion monger does by zeroing in on other's works which back my own ideas, without seeking opposing opinion. So what? It's my column, dang-blab-it. If you don't agree with me, get your own column and espouse your ideas.

But, I digress . . . back to my red-felt tipped pen. In our country's zest to protect our children from harm, our school boards, administrators, state and national legislators have come up with zero-tolerance policies . . . policies that haven't worked in the real world (aka the war on drugs) and surely have made school life impossible.

Be careful of what you wish for . . . When we adopted these zero tolerance polices we threw out common sense.

Underlined in red from The Toledo Blade article: "A third grade student in Hudson, Ohio, was suspended for two days when he wrote, "You will die an honorable death" as part of an assignment to come up with fortune cookie sayings."

Again, from The Blade: "Many students end up sitting at home or being on the streets during their suspensions."

Hmm? Parents at work, kids not in school . . . is there a likelihood more mischief is bound to happen?

Zero-tolerance leaves zero options. Zero options means no thinking. No thinking leads to no justice. No justice leads to . . . fill in your own nightmare.

But, all is not lost . . .

After a decade of state-mandated, heavy-fisted policies, some are rethinking zero tolerance. Reporter-types are writing about it.

Telfer wrote: ". . . As a society, we are taking discretion out of the hands of those who determine the punishment, creating a one-method-fits-all approach that simply does not work. . . . Should judges, prosecutors, principals, teachers and parents be given at least some leeway in how to handle punishment? . . . For sure, young people need to face consequences when they make mistakes. And, sometimes those consequences need to be severe . . . but in our quest for justice, let us not use a one-size fits-all, zero-tolerance approach that could send a good, but mixed-up kid down the road to failure."

From The Blade: "Civil rights advocates say schools have gone too far." "The American Bar Association voted to oppose the zero-tolerance movement until punishments are changed to better fit the crime and schools consider a student's intent and history." "Schools have to say: 'Wait a minute. Our kids aren't all killers and if we treat them like killers, they're going to pull away from us.'"

Now's the time for all good people to stop pointing fingers and end the blame game. Now's the time to bring back common sense. Talk to your school boards and legislators and end zero tolerance.

Jim is just jotting

Baseball season has arrived. Time to brush up on ways to heckle players and umpires. Here's a few:

- Swing the bat yourself. Batteries aren't included.
- Flip over the plate and read the directions.
- You couldn't pitch a tent.
- Hey, Ump. I thought only horses could sleep standing up.
- I forgot the Milk-Bone for your seeing-eye dog.

It's also golf season, thus: You know you're playing too much golf when you refer to the restraining order placed on you by your ex as "stroke and distance."

John Patrell says, "It's hard to feel fit as a fiddle when you're shaped like a cello."

Sometimes I wonder how such a variety of useless information gets to my desk, and other times I wonder why it perks my interest, like these bits of Dixie Country Wisdom:

- Never slap a man who's chewin' tobacco.
- Never kick a cow chip on a hot day.
- If you find yourself in a hole, the first thing to do is stop diggin'.
- Don't squat with your spurs on.
- Always drink upstream from the herd.

Now comes this story from the UP's Porcupine Press in Chatham, headlined: 'Beauty Is In The Beholder of the Eye.'

A man is eating in a fancy restaurant and there is a gorgeous blond eating at the next table. He has been checking her out all night, but lacks the nerve to talk to her.

Suddenly she sneezes and her glass eye comes flying out of her socket towards the man. He reflectively grabs it out of the air.

"Oh my goodness, I am sooo sorry," the woman says as she pops her eye back in place. "Let me buy you a drink at the bar next door to make it up to you."

They have a few drinks while chatting and are truly enjoying each other's company. The woman then invites him to the movies. After that they go out for coffee and desert. After paying for everything, she asks him if he would like to spend the night with her.

"You know, you are the perfect woman. You're beautiful, you're charming and you've given me a fantastic evening. Are you this nice to every guy you meet?" asked the enamored man.

"No," she replies . . . "You just happened to catch my eye."

Drum roll, please.

Clarkston reluctantly signs township water contract

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catalo did not get her way. But that didn't stop the council from approving an intergovernmental water agreement between the city and Independence Township April 10.

Catalo and the rest of the council complained of a 10 percent administrative fee which will be added to the customer's water bill sent to them by the township. The fee is on top of a $1,000 connection fee to hook up to the water supply.

Catalo claimed the township was mistreating the city.

"I cried and I begged, but it didn't work," Catalo said. "But we're at the point that no matter what they decided we'd have to approve it anyway."

Business owners and residents do not have to hook up to the water supply, but the city has encouraged it for health, safety and cost reasons.

Councilman Scott Meyland, who is a member of the water subcommittee, also claimed the 10 percent fee was unfair.

"We were told by the township that we (the city) would be treated no different than a developer within the township. The township doesn't treat developers like this," Meyland said.

Catalo said at a township board meeting April 3 Supervisor Dale Stewart said the contract would be further evaluated in a year or so by the board.

Also at that meeting, Independence Township attorney Steve Joppich said the administrative fee was integrated into the contract because of a concern the township had with added costs by providing wafer to the city.

"The township would not charge a developer an extra 10 percent," Catalo said. "We're going to approve this, but we're definitely going to revisit the 10 percent fee at a later date."

Councilman Dave Savage also expressed his frustration with the township regarding the fee.

"I think we should have been treated as well, or better than any developer because of the number of homes we're bringing into the system," Savage said.

The village is made up of 450 Residential Equivalent Units (REU's). REU's are based on sanitary usage which have been developed by factors regulated by Oakland County based on historical data. Each business has its REUs figured out based on usage. Meyland said most homes are one REU, but businesses such as the Clarkston Cafe and The Union would run much heavier because of the amount of water they use.

"My Son Has Crooked Teeth!"

Hi! I live in Clarkston, and I work for a dentist in Walled Lake. My son's smile is really important to me, so I'm concerned that his teeth are crooked.

I had heard about Dr. Shader from my friends in the dental business. I know that pediatric (children's) dentists, orthodontists, and general dentists can all do braces, and all three must have the same high standards. Dr. Shader has done braces for over 20 years.

We went for a free consultation. My son and I were both impressed and comfortable with Dr. Shader & his staff. Our cost was about $1,000 less than I thought we might pay.

When someone in your family needs good dental care, I recommend Dr. Shader.

Goldberg is a full time computer operator and also works part time at Rite Aid Pharmacy at M-15 and Dixie Highway in Clarkston. Last week, fellow Rite Aid employee Stacey Mattuci set up a spot for donations in the photo department of the store, for which Goldberg is very grateful. He said he has health insurance but there are many extra costs that are not covered.

He said his wife Kay had just started a new job as a medical receptionist two days before Megan became ill, but Kay has spent every day at the hospital since. The family is already challenged medically. The couple's son Mark, a student at Bailey Lake Elementary School, has autism, and their 7 year-old daughter Julie, an Independence Elementary School student, has Juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis, Goldberg said.

Goldberg said Clarkston Middle School is also planning a fund raiser. The Clarkston News will publish information about it when details become available.

Goldberg said the doctors and nurses have been "great". They are also appreciative of the visits from CMS students and staff. "Her teachers asked her if she wants any homework. She said, 'No'," Goldberg said with a smile.

The Golden Rule of Smart Tanning: Don't EVER sunburn.

The ability to tan while minimizing the risk of sunburn is one of the main reasons people come to indoor tanning facilities. Although many people know that too much ultraviolet light exposure results in sunburn, most don't really understand what it is. So what exactly is a sunburn?

Sunburn - medically referred to as erythema occurs when too much energy is absorbed by the skin. That bombardment of light causes tiny blood vessels in your skin to swell or even burst. That's why a burn appears red on the surface of your skin.

Today, we know that sunburn is an unnecessary injury on top of a tan. Unfortunately, previous generations of sunlovers thought that sunburn was simply an inconvenient precursor to developing a tan. They thought their burns were necessary "jump starts" to their tan, and that sunburn would eventually fade into a tan.

Today we know better.

Metropolitan Tanning Salons are dedicated to helping you achieve the best tan possible while teaching you how to avoid sunburn and overexposure, both outdoors in the sunshine and indoors in our facilities. # Changes at CHS counseling dept.

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston High School counseling department has made a lot of changes this year -- and they want to let parents know about them.

Judy Medlin, director of counseling at Clarkston High School, and CHS Principal John Diliiegghio presented these changes to the Clarkston Board of Education at their April 9 meeting.

She stressed the importance of letting parents and the Clarkston community know what the school has to offer.

"We need to be more proactive in the high school here, letting people in the community know what Clarkston High School is, and what kind of an educational background we have here," Medlin said.

One of her goals is to increase the visibility of the high school to out-of-state colleges, such as Purdue or Notre Dame, so they keep Clarkston in mind when it comes time to select site visits in Oakland County.

"We want that spot to be Clarkston High School, so they can see what a terrific facility we have, and what we offer kids," she said.

Medlin will play a direct role in increasing CHS visibility, touring out-of-state schools that normally would not send college representatives to CHS in hopes of encouraging them to make visits to the school.

She will tour five Wisconsin-based colleges in April 2002: Beloit College, Lawrence University in Appleton, the University of Wisconsin in Madison, Marquette University, and Ripon College in Ripon.

According to Medlin, a total of 31 colleges made visits to Clarkston High School this year, with students signing up to talk with college representatives. "It was a very busy time of year," she said.

Medlin also outlined changes the department undertook to help students prepare for careers.

This year, the high school will host 13 career-related speakers, with an attendance of approximately 30 students per speaker. Careers discussed at these speeches included fighter pilot, massage therapist, engineer, and veterinary medicine.

In addition, the department has worked with the Chamber of Commerce on Clarkston Career Connection activities, including a Career Fair, resume writing, and interviewing.

Another topic Medlin discussed at the school board meeting was the students' use of planners, and how the counseling department uses them. She said they are a valuable tool for parents who want to make sure their children are keeping up on their schoolwork.

"What we do in the department is if a parent calls, students have to get signatures from their teachers," she said. "It's a way that parents can communicate with teachers. We use them when we talk with students about organization. We also use planners for students who sign up to come and see us. It helps to get some communication between students and parents."

Another method of increasing the communication between parents and the department, according to Medlin, is a series of evening programs at the school. The programs, which began in September, offered insight into issues affecting students at all grade levels.

Programs offered this year dealt with the following topics:

- Freshman Success Strategies, which taught parents the importance of students using their planner, tutoring, how to communicate with teachers, and weekly progress reports.

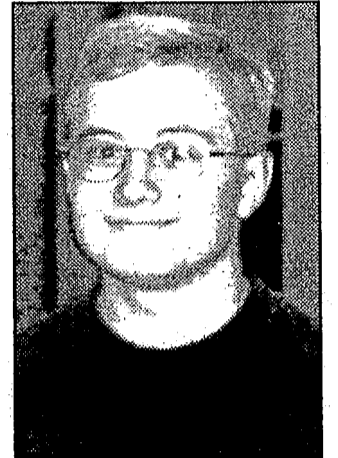

- The social and emotional transition that students make from middle school to high school. Subjects covered during this program included keeping the lines of communication open, driving, jobs, dating, extracurricular activities, and how to balance these with schoolwork.

CHS counseling dept. changes

■A meeting for freshman parents dealing with searching for colleges and careers. The program dealt with using the Web to hook up to appropriate links to gain information on various careers, as well as how students can begin searching for colleges in the ninth grade.

■Junior Parent College Night, where a speaker from Michigan State University spoke with parents about what colleges are looking for when reviewing applications for admission.

■A financial aid night for seniors and their parents, in which a speaker from the financial aid department at Baker College talked about how to fill out forms for financial aid, as well as the different types of financial aid offered.

■An 8th grade night, where Diliiegghio gave an overview to 8th grade parents on the high school and the scheduling process, as well as graduation requirements, electives, college requirements, and standardized tests.

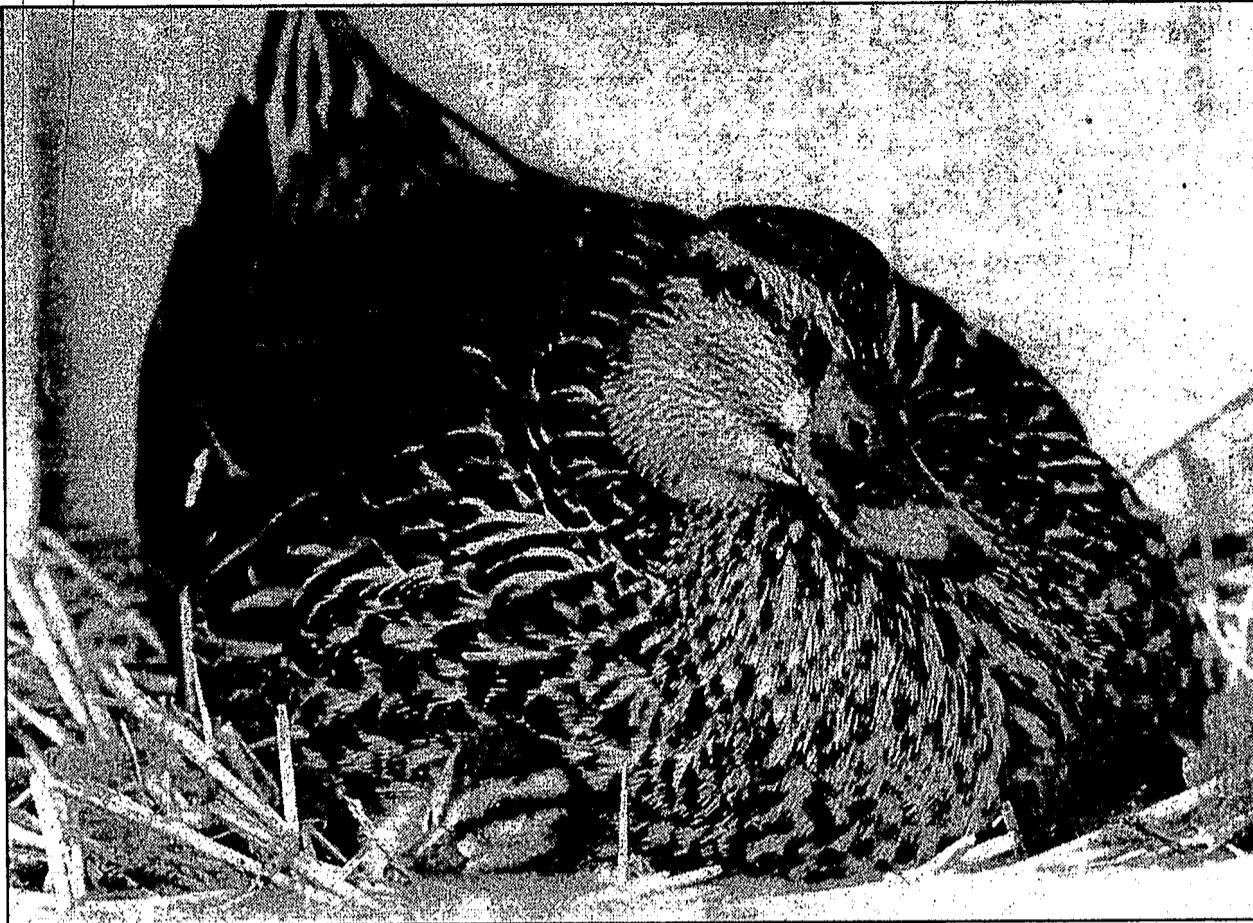

■A new program this year, called Survive & Thrive, which will be held at the end of April. Dena Russell, assistant director of admissions at Central Michigan University, will speak to seniors and their parents about many aspects of life as a college freshman, including choosing roommates, figuring out when and where to study, what to bring from home, and handling situations that are likely to come up during the first two months of college.

■On May 23, CHS counselors in scholarships and financial aid will have a chance to recognize seniors and their accomplishments during Senior Awards Night.

The counseling department also makes it a point to send home newsletters, independent of the regular CHS newsletter sent to parents' homes, regarding department activities.

Medlin said this is all part of the department's ultimate objective for this school year.

"Our primary goal was to increase communication this year between parents and us," she said.

This mother ducks babies hatched Sunday and Monday morning, and by afternoon they were on their way to the Mill Pond. One of the babies is visible front left.

It's duckling season again

Landlord Ed Adler has new tenants at his Clarkston Mills building in downtown Clarkston. About a month ago, the duck pictured above dug a hole in a flower bed outside the Washington Management office on Washington St. near Main St., laying ten eggs.

Everyone in the office looked after her closely giving her straw for a nest, food and water, according to staff members. Adler even put flower boxes against the bed as stairs to help the ducks get down from their nest. "It's a protected area, I'm sure that's why she chose it, but I don't think she thought about how she'd get out of there," said Adler. "We've had ducks nest nearby, but never right outside the door."

Experts say ducks sit on their eggs for 28 days and when hatched the mother duck takes her new family to the water and doesn't return to the nest. Staff members calculated an Easter birth and were right on. The family of ducks head to the water Monday.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1986)

Traffic is going to be rerouted at Pine Knob Music Theatre this summer in an effort to subdue problems created by concert-goers. This decision was made by Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk, Pine Knob officials and representatives of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department who met in a special meeting.

Springfield Township and Clarkston Community Schools will split, 50-50, money the township makes from investing school taxes. As far as he knows, the agreement is the first of its kind between a township and a school district, said William Jackson, business manager for Clarkston schools. The split should provide almost enough money to cover the fee Springfield charges for collecting summer taxes, he said.

The establishment of a downtown development authority on Dixie Highway in Independence Township has inched closer to reality. The township board voted unanimously to seek a revised map of the proposed site. Under the revision, the DDA would extend from the township's southern-most boundary on Dixie Highway to Foster Road. It would also include the area from Dixie down M-15 to the village limits.

25 YEARS AGO (1976)

Milfred Mason, administrative assistant to Clarkston Schools Superintendent Dr. Leslie F. Greene for the past 6-1/2 years, has been appointed to take Greene's post effective July 1. He will be paid $33,000 a year. Greene resigned last winter after 25 years at the helm of the district. Mason's selection was made official in a unanimous vote of the Board of Education.

Springfield Township's real property assessed valuation will be increased four percent across the board by the Oakland County Equalization Department. Assessed valuation will rise $1,437,902 as a result of a 1.04 factor placed on Springfield assessments. The increase given Springfield is just a little below what the township expected.

Independence Township has taken the preliminary steps towards instituting a two-year, comprehensive program for senior citizens. Planning for the program for senior citizens. Planning for the program was initiated earlier this year when area citizens asked the township board to provide more programs for seniors. Parks and Recreation Director Timothy Doyle and his assistant Mike Engan, have attended other communities' senior centers to find some workable programs.

50 YEARS AGO (1951)

At the regular meeting of the Clarkston Fire Fighters Association it was decided to again take the responsibility of managing the 4th of July celebration this year. Rex Fenstemaker and Don Beach were named co-chairmen of the affair. It was announced that the understanding was that the merchants of Clarkston and vicinity are willing to finance the day again this year.

The athletes of the Clarkston school will be honored at a banquet at the school by the Clarkston Rotary Club. The public is invited. Van Patrick, noted sportscaster, will be the speaker. Van is said to be one of the busiest men on radio today. For two years he has conducted daily sports programs heard over 175 stations across the nation. He will be well worth hearing.

An interested group of parents and teachers heard Leo J. Heenan, Pontiac architect, speak at the PTA meeting. His subject, "A New Elementary School," was illustrated with a scale model of a modern grade school. Many new ideas in public school buildings were presented. A question and answer session followed the presentation. More details of the local school housing problem will be discussed.

PRESERVING EVIDENCE

Immediately following an accident, it is important for accident victims to find and preserve evidence related to their injuries. A return to the scene of the accident often proves fruitful in uncovering physical evidence that points to what led to the accident, such as a broken stair. Physical evidence, such as damage to a vehicle, can also prove the extent of an injury. A return to the scene of an accident may result in finding something of which accident victims may not have been aware at the time, but which may help later explain what happened. Physical evidence that cannot be preserved exactly as it was at the accident should be photographed immediately from a variety of angles. It is important to collect as much evidence as possible during a legal matter. What might seem unimportant and overly specific could help your case in court.

We are experienced in handling personal injury cases. We are located at 11 North Main Street, and you can call us at 620-1030. We handle a variety of legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. Let us help you!

Note: Aside from promptly reporting their injuries to a physician, accident victims should photograph any physical marks, cuts, bruises, or swelling, as well as casts, splints, and other devices used to treat injuries resulting from their accidents.

Unique salon offers 'fun, relaxation and beauty'

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's fun for everyone.

And according to Faces In The Air owners Candy and Heidi Margetson, their customers have included six-month-old babies, 100-year-old great grandmas, local celebrities, and everyone in between.

The "unique, quality entertainment" of airbrush face painting has been a successful venture for the mother and daughter team, and now the two have recently expanded into salon services.

Five years ago, Candy and Heidi began painting faces for Halloween at a now out-of-business costume store in Waterford. They went on to entertain at private parties, found a home base in Clarkston a year and half ago, and continued to evolve.

"Metro Detroit's original airbrush face painters," as they claim, has become popular at country clubs, schools, offices and has been a hit at such events as The Hob Nob Gobble, Dream Cruise, black tie events, company picnics and Christmas parties, sporting events, fund raisers, and "any place where people gather," said Candy.

She added, "you can't believe what and who we run into in this business." In fact, previous clients include retired Piston and current Piston President Joe Dumars, WDIV sportscaster Bernie Smilovitz, Weight Watchers spokesperson Florine Mark, and members of the Detroit Red Wings.

Heidi, a die-hard Wings fan, loves this part of her job. She's painted up the faces of players like Brendan Shanahan, Jiri Fischer and others at the team's annual Halloween party. Forward Doug Brown requested Faces In The Air come to his son's recent birthday party.

When they're not entertaining Stanley Cup champions, Candy, Heidi and their 20 airbrush technicians work at places like Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, The Parade Company, National Geographic and much more.

At each event, the airbrush technicians come suited in festive vests, along with a mobile cart and over 150 stencil designs to paint on the faces, legs and arms of interested children and adults.

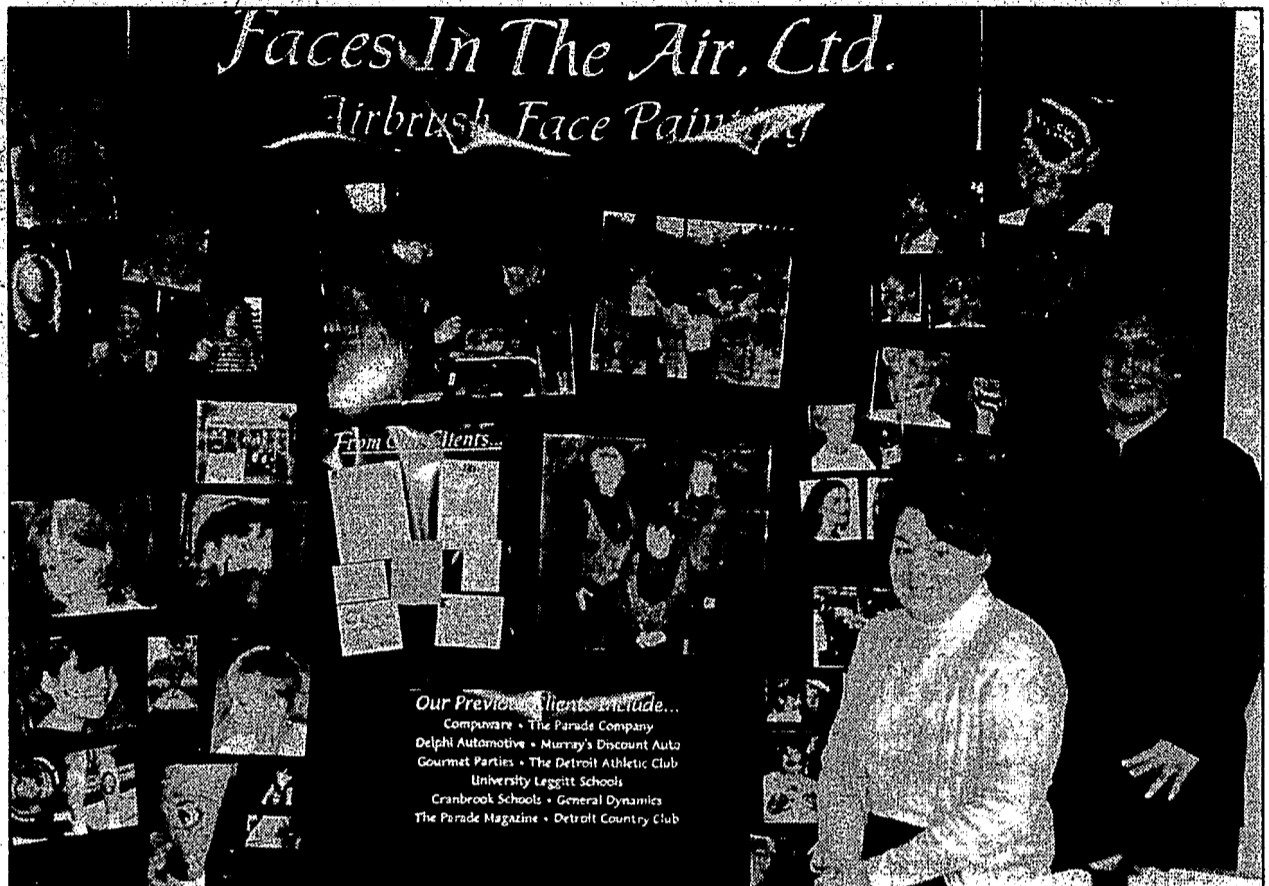

Love animals, cars, sports? How about a fun shape or design? Faces In The Air has a total of 215 stencils they've created to date, said Heidi, whose background is in graphic arts.

Fantasy Eyes is Faces In The Air at their most creative. From sports to butterflies to rainbows, this Phantom of the Opera-like mask, is painted over the eyes of clients.

Priced at $140 per hour, per technician, airbrush face painting is a great money saver for any event, Faces In The Air claims. Each technician can handle up to 40 people per hour--traditional hand painting methods take much longer.

The creative art staff can match any idea, cos-

Parking maps at CSB

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Customers looking for a place to park in downtown Clarkston are going to have a harder time in the near future.

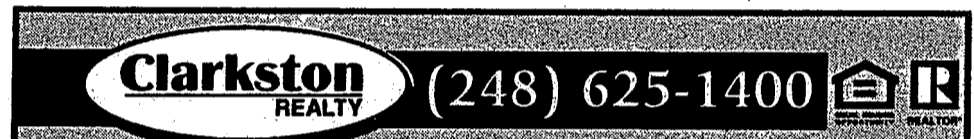

All-day parking spots will be endangered species in Clarkston during the upcoming construction along Main Street. As a result, the vast majority of all-day parking will now become two hour parking spaces.

The public lot at the northwest corner of Main and Washington, and the lot located near the city offices on Depot Street, will become 2-hour parking.

Other two-hour parking spots within the city include spots on both sides of Washington from the far east side of town until Main Street, both sides of Buffalo, from Waldon to Washington Street, and both sides of Church Street from the far east side of town to just west of Washington. Two-hour parking spots will also be available at the northeast corner of Church and Main Streets. Parking on Main Street is expected to be eliminated approximately two weeks after construction begins.

Construction along M-15 for the new water main is scheduled to begin in about 10 days and available parking spots within the city may change daily.

Maps of designated parking spaces are available in limited quantity through Jack Shubitowski, administrator of the Downtown Partnership, at Clarkston State Bank in downtown Clarkston. He can be reached at 625-8585. Look for a copy of the map in upcoming issues of The Clarkston News.

Golfers compete in first league meet

Benner, Trim power team in OAA I showdown

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

With any young team there are going to be some growing pains. Larry Sherrill's team went through some of those at the first Oakland Activities Association Division I league meet.

Poor weather conditions and tough competition hurt Clarkston as the Wolves finished in sixth place in the six-team field April 11. Rochester Adams finished first with 381 points, followed by Troy at 391. Rochester took third with 397 followed by Troy Athens who managed 401. Birmingham Seaholm was fifth and Clarkston sixth with a score of 420.

Clarkston's best performances came from senior Lauren Benner who finished with a team low 92. Sophomore Anna Trim scored 97, while Lisa Lesko managed a 119 and Taylor Wilburn ended the afternoon with 121.

Clarkston coach Larry Sherrill said his team put forth a strong effort in their first division I league meet in school history.

"I know the girls were really disappointed in how they played," he said. "They know we can play better than this and we will. But I think for our first division I league meet we did okay. The weather was lousy and the girls know we belong at this level."

"I was really proud of the way Lauren and Anna played out there. Lauren stuck it out and got the ball in the hole. And for a sophomore in Anna to come out and shoot a 97, I think that speaks a lot about us," Sherrill said.

The Wolves managed their first

Wolves open league season with wins over Rochester, Adams

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

The Clarkston boys varsity track team had plenty of athletes finish first in their respective events in the Wolves' opening league meet. But head coach Walt Wynnemko said the meet was really won by his second and third place finishers.

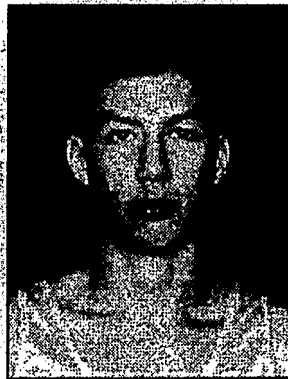

The Wolves started their regular season with wins over Rochester and Rochester Adams at a triangle league meet April 1. The Wolves soundly defeated Adams, 80-48, but had a tougher time with Rochester as the Wolves edged out the Falcons 67-61. The meet came down to the mile relay, Wynnemko said.

"Any time you can start the season 2-0 you're going to be happy," Wynnemko said. "To come out and get two wins over both Rochester schools was a nice way for our team to start. The Rochester meet came right down to the 4x400 relay."

Wynnemko also noted other Wolves who had strong performances in the meet. Cody Senkyr won the 100 meter hurdles (15.93), Adam Gebus won the 100 meter dash (11.23) and the 800 relay team of Shane Bennett, Gebus, Brian Oltman and Paul Mesi took first (1:52.99). Gebus also took first in the 800 meter against Rochester.

Paul Mesi

"Gebus, Bennett and Paul (Mesi) all did a nice job for us in that meet," Wynnemko said.

Wynnemko also complimented the efforts of

Clarkston enjoys 4-1 league mark at break with wins over Falcons

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Sports Editor

Spring break came a bit too soon for Al Land and the Clarkston varsity softball team. If Land had his way his team would just keep on playing.

That's not the case. The Wolves won't resume action until April 23 when they host Oxford in a non-league double header at 4 p.m. However, the Wolves will be coming off the first six games of their young season with an impressive 4-2 overall record. Clarkston is 4-1 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I.

The Wolves picked up their fourth and fifth victories of the season by downing league rival Rochester in both games of a double header April 11.

The Wolves shutout the Falcons 6-0 in the opener and 5-4 in the nightcap.

Game one marked the second consecutive shutout for senior pitcher Lisa Ferguson who limited Rochester to two hits while striking out five. Ferguson shutout Lake Orion in Clarkston's 5-0 win April 5.

"Our pitching and defense are what I was real pleased with in that double header win," Land said. "In game one we had great defense and in game two we had some timely hitting before Lisa started to get going."

In game two, the Wolves and Falcons were knotted up at two before senior Mary Warchuck ripped a hard 2-run homer which scored Suzie Giroux.

"That was a big, big hit for us. Mary hit the ball very hard and hit it deep. After that, we took control. That was the play that busted it open for us," Land said.

Land said he has continued to be impressed with his team's defensive play, specifically that of Missy Parsons at second base, Suzie Giroux at center field, Lindsay Simko at shortstop and Nicole Thrift who played first base in game two.

"I think we're pretty solid up the middle with Suzie, Missy and Lindsay. But Nicole has also been doing a nice job for us when she plays at first," Land said.

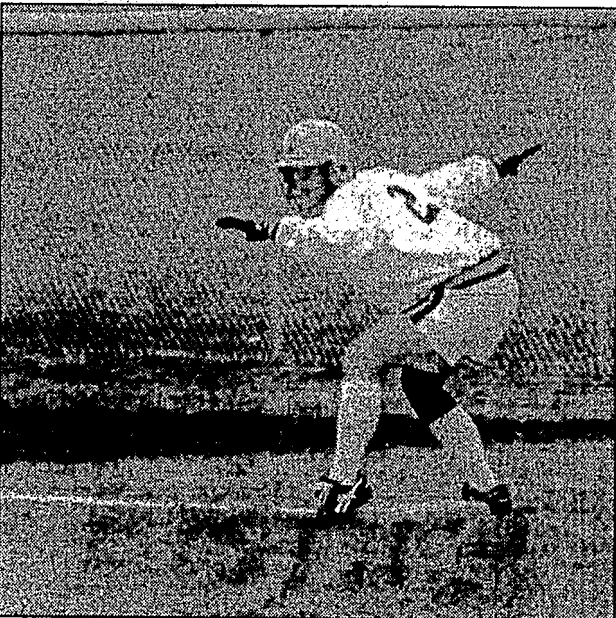

How the Wolves respond to the break remains to be seen, but Land does not feel the layover will hurt his team when it resumes action. Clarkston will have a practice April 22 to help prepare for the Wildcats.

The rundown

The game — Clarkston headed into spring break with two straight wins over league rival Rochester. Mary Warchuck's fifth inning 2-run homer broke the game open. Lisa Ferguson pitched a game one shutout.

Where they stand — Clarkston is now 4-2 overall and 4-1 in the OAA I.

Up next — The Wolves host Oxford in a non-league double header April 23 at 4 p.m.

"I think we'll be ready to play. The only thing that really concerns me is the timing of our hitting and pitching. You can't afford to take a vacation from those two things," he said.

Clarkston resumes league play April 25 when they host defending league champion and state-semifinalist Waterford Kettering in a double-header at 4 p.m. The Captains are currently 6-0 overall and 5-0 in the OAA I.

"I'd be happy to split with them and still only be one game down in the league race. They lost two very good players, and their top four batters are tough, but I think if we can score for or five runs on them we'll be okay. Our offense is starting to click and it would be nice if we could keep it that way," Land said.

How do you please a sports fan these days?

Last week I gave my take on the NHL play-off picture and so far my picks look pretty good.

As of press time a Wings win in five games still looks like a good pick, as does a New Jersey sweep of Carolina. My upset pick of Buffalo over Philadelphia is still feasible. Who can argue that the Penguins and Capitals won't go seven games after the first two games were both decided by one goal? The only first round pick that hasn't gone my way so far is Ottawa over Toronto. The Senators have dropped the first three to the division champions, but hey, seven out of eight isn't bad.

Even though my attention has been focused on the NHL scene, I have been keeping up on the Tigers this season. I openly admit that throughout the 90's I watched less than 20 innings of major league baseball — playoffs included. However this year, for some unknown reason, I have actually been keeping up with the boys who sport the old English D.

My wife and I made it to game two at Comerica earlier this season. The Tigers lost in extra innings to the Minnesota Twins and we lost almost $100 to watch a subpar performance.

Brian Moehler pitched the first eight innings of the game and pitched well. Then the Tigers put in our best closer, Jeff Weaver. Weaver played an uncharacteristic terrible inning and was later replaced by Dave Mlicki, who played even worse. Weaver did stand up to the media after the game and openly said he blew the game.

However, even though we got ten innings for the price of nine, I vow not to head back to Comerica until the Tigers go above .500. My wife and I probably won't be back for a while and here's why:

Tickets — We had real good seats and great weather, but $25 each for 28th row on the first base line set us back more than a few coins.

Parking — $15 at the Joe Louis Arena parking garage near the State Theatre. It's safe and it's close, but it's another $15.

Hot dogs — Okay, you gotta' get a dog when you go to the ball park and Comerica's dogs were pretty darn good. But after we waited in line 25 minutes anything would have tasted good. They were $4.50 each.

Pop — It's nice because they give you a bonafide 20 ounce bottle so you know you're not getting half ice. Although I can buy that same 20 ounce bottle at 7-11 for a third of the price. Cost — $3 each.

Peanuts — I like to have something to munch on during the game, plus the shells give me an excuse to make a mess. Having munchies during the game also keeps me awake because the Tigers didn't do a very good job of making me stand up and shout. Price — $3.50.

So in general, I'm complaining about ever-escalating ticket and concession prices at major league sporting events which feature overpaid players who are paid by even wealthier owners.

Until people like me stop watching and going to games the salaries will continue to increase while the product on the field remains the same. It's the Tigers after all and 1987 was a long time ago.

On a side note, in addition to the Tigers charging an arm and a leg for tickets this year, Michigan State University upped their football ticket prices

Athlete of the week: Katie Jerge

For four years Clarkston girls varsity track coach Gordie Richardson has had the pleasure of coaching Katie Jerge. The two-sport senior is now hoping for a repeat performance of last year.

Jerge, who Richardson said is the team's best shot putter, qualified for county in both the shot put and discus last year. Richardson said he has every reason to believe Jerge will have another strong season.

"She's a four-year letter winner for us and she's a very hard worker. Katie puts a lot of pressure on herself and she's a good leader. We depend on her a lot for us to be successful," Richardson said.

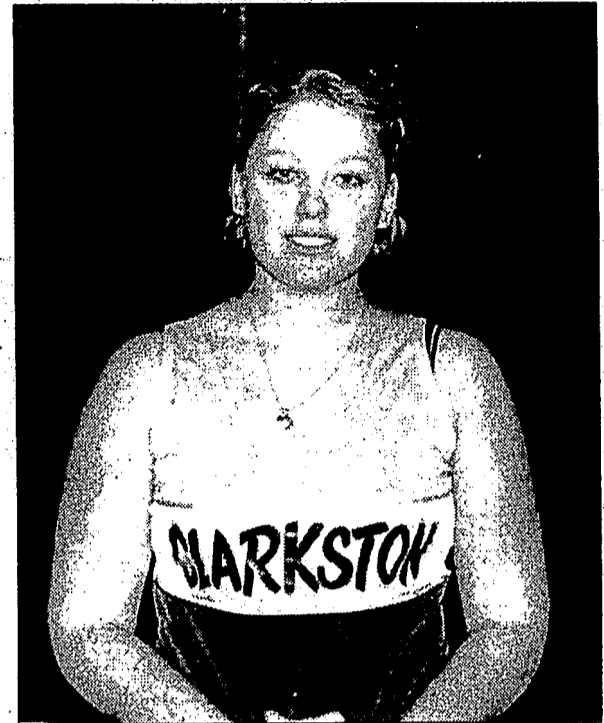

Jerge said she traditionally has done better in one event or the other, but this year has become more confident and as a result, her performances in both the shot put and discus have improved.

"I'm better at the shot put, but I'm getting more consistent in both events," she said. "Lindsay Hawley and I are about even in the discus."

Jerge had an early season personal best in the shot put. Her throw of 34-11 at the Macomb indoor track meet March 22 was her best so far this season.

"I began throwing in seventh grade. I wasn't crazy about the distance running so I tried shot and discus instead," she said.

Jerge, who also played varsity basketball for the Wolves this fall, maintains a 3.1 grade point average. After graduation she plans on majoring in movement science at Grand Valley State University with a minor in either business or business management. She said she is undecided whether or not she'll continue to compete in track at the collegiate level.

Sawyer, Randall power young track team

Wilson clears five feet in high jump in losses to Rochester, Adams

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Sports Editor

With 20 freshman on a team of 32 athletes, Clarkston girls varsity track coach Gordie Richardson knows his team will go through some growing pains. They went through some in Clarkston's first league meet of the year.

The Wolves opened the season with a pair of losses to Rochester and Rochester Adams April 11. The Wolves fell to the Falcons 72-55 and to powerhouse Rochester Adams 82-45.

Richardson said his team's youth hurt the Wolves in the opener.

"We're lacking in depth right now and with 20 freshman on a team of 37, we just don't have the ability to compete with a lot of other schools right now. It's going to be a hard-working year for us and we're to going to need to improve and come together as a team," Richardson said.

The Wolves managed several first place finishes against Adams, however. Katie Jerge won the shot put (31-2) and the discus (96-10). In addition, high jumper Kim Wilson cleared five feet for the first time.

Amanda Sawyer

Also taking first for the Wolves was Beth Randall in the 300 hurdles (50.9).

The 800 relay team of Amanda Sawyer, Maureen Kuhta, Kristen Braddish and Kristi Hertzler finished first against Rochester.

Richardson also said his other throwers in Ashlee Schneider, Jamie Briggs and Braddish performed well. Kuhta finished her leg of the 4x800 relay in with a time of 2:31.5 and also ran the 1600 meter in 5:47.

In addition, Richardson said Hertzler had a strong performance in the 100 meter, finishing at 13.2. Laura Novek shaved three seconds off her time in the 300 hurdles for a new personal best and every member of the 4x200 relay finished in less than 30 seconds. Reuter finished the 800 at 2:33.08 and Amanda Sawyer finished her leg of the 4x400 relay in 65 seconds. Braddish's time of 68.9 in the 400 also earned praise from Richardson.

"We had some strong performances out there, but we still have some growing up to do. It's just going to take a little while to fill in some spaces. We don't have the interchangeable parts on our team like we've had in the past," Richardson said.

The rundown

The meet — The Wolves opened their regular season with losses to Rochester and Rochester Adams.

Where they stand — Clarkston is now 0-2 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I.

Barnett helps netters salvage tie with Groves

Senior captain rallies to keep Wolves undefeated in league play

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

As defending league champions, the Clarkston volleyball team usually has its way with league opponents — except for Birmingham Groves.

"We knew this would be the tough one of the year for us," Clarkston coach Kevin Ortwine said.

The Wolves managed a 4-4 tie with Groves, but Ortwine said while watching the match he thought it was possible for his team to fall 7-1.

"At the beginning of the match I'm watching us and we looked terrible. I don't know what it is with us, but for some reason when we're on the road we don't play as well.

The home court advantage seems to have a big effect on us and I don't know why. I've been trying to figure it out for seven years."

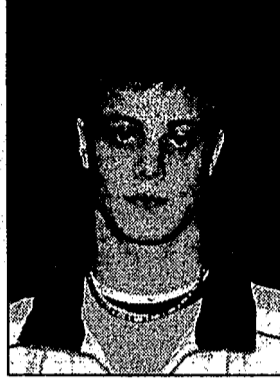

Clarkston was without no. 4 singles player Paul O'Connor, who was ill and Jon Szilvagy because of a family commitment. Having to juggle a revised lineup and being on the road hurt Clarkston, Ortwine said.

At the beginning of the match it looked like the only Wolf who would come out victorious was no. 1 singles player Andrew Brown. Brown won his match 6-1, 6-1. However, other Wolves started to turn up the intensity as no. 2 singles player Mike Rashid won his match in three sets, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 and the doubles team of Matt Poley and Jacob Roderick also managed a win, Ortwine said.

However, the match came down to senior captain Scott Barnett's match in the no. 2 singles spot. Barnett fell 6-1 in the opening match, but rallied to win the match 7-6 in the decisive third set.

"When I was watching that last match I just kept thinking to myself, well this is who you want out there in the biggest match of the year," Ortwine said. "Scott's a four-year varsity player with loads of experience. Who better to have out there than him. It was good to see him come through."

Scott Barnett

The tie gives the Wolves a 1-0-1 record in the Oakland Activities Association Division II. Groves is also 1-0-1. Ortwine said the league title can still belong to the Wolves outright, as long as they keep their focus and continue to play well at home. He said the league championship will most likely boil down to whoever comes out on top at the OAA II league meet May 10.

"Lucky for us, we host the league meet this year, so hopefully we'll continue to play well at home. That tie wasn't that bad for us. Especially considering the way it started. But that was the biggest momentum shift I've seen in seven years. I think once we started to turn things around, it created this big momentum shift and everybody turned up the intensity," Ortwine said.

The Wolves are off for spring break until April 26 when they host Berkley in league action at 4:30 p.m.

The rundown
The meet — Scott Barnett rallied from a 6-1 opening set loss to win the third set 7-6. His win gave the Wolves a 4-4 tie with Clarkston's toughest league opponent, Birmingham Groves.

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. What we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We do not sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Total customer satisfaction is our only acceptable standard. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

Clarkston gymnasts continue to impress

The Level 5 squad continued their flawless season by winning the competition with a final score of 110.275.

Alexa Kitson, 10 of Clarkston, won the bronze medals on the uneven bars and all around. In addition, Alyssa Delke, 13 of Clarkston won the gold medal on the uneven bars.

Danielle Singles, 12 of Clarkston, won a silver medal in the all around and a bronze in the all around.

Davis

from $32 to $38 for single games if I'm not mistaken. (except for the Michigan game, which, big surprise here, is even more money). How can MSU justify upping their football tickets? They went from 10-2 and a top 10 finish two years ago to go 5-6 and didn't even make a bowl game last year.

In the meantime, the one league that does its best to emphasize that its players are not overpaid, the XFL, will hold it's championship game this weekend. Quick — can you guess the teams? It's Los Angeles vs. San Francisco and I doubt if anybody is more happy that this debacle of season is drawing to a close more so than the bigwigs at NBC who will be televising the game Saturday at 8 p.m. Not even me, an avid football and professional wrestling fan, is making a point to watch this one.

Sports fans complain about overpaid players who are good, overpaid players who are bad and lousy players who play in the XFL. I guess it's a good thing I cover Clarkston sports. The kids aren't paid a penny and they play for fun — something that seems long forgotten these days.
