Savage puts city first in local cable show

Councilman and downtown partnership committee member Dave Savage hopes to promote the downtown business district with new TV show

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Next time you're channel surfing, you may just come across a neighbor, friend or relative on the television set.

City councilman Dave Savage, along with 1999 Specs Howard School of Broadcasting graduate Rebecca Rathburg, are developing a new show for local cable access. The show is tentatively called, 'In and Around Downtown' and will air on cable Channel 65. Savage said the tentative time slot will be Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. He hopes to have the show premier May 22. He also said the show will run on a monthly basis, but hopes the show will air on a bi-weekly basis, depending on viewer interest.

Savage said the show will have a magazine format, focusing on Clarkston's downtown. He said the show will be broken down into three main segments, each about 10 minutes in length. The first segment will focus on downtown businesses. The second segment will have a historical focus, concentrating on historical buildings and feature area residents who have lived in the area for a number of years. The third segment will initially focus on updates within the downtown, primarily construction through the summer months. From there, the show will focus on other newsworthy items within the area.

"We're not going to leave anything out," Savage said. "The show is going to be for people who consider Clarkston, Independence Township or Springfield Township their home. Hopefully it will be informational and broad enough that there will be plenty of reasons for people to watch."

Savage, who is the director of the Downtown Partnership Committee, said the committee came up with the idea for the show.

"It was by no means just me who came up with the idea," Savage said. "It's something that's needed and the downtown partnership committee thought that this would make a lot of sense."

Schools consider transportation changes

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Slight changes in starting times and a slightly fewer number of routes will lead to a more efficient bus operation in Clarkston Community Schools.

That is the reasoning behind the proposed changes announced by Kevin Bickerstaff, the schools' transportation director, at the May 14 meeting of the Clarkston Board of Education.

No official action was taken by the board on any of the items in Bickerstaff's proposal.

Bickerstaff said the bus times at each grade level will vary slightly next year from this year's times. The proposed times next year are as follows: high school, 7:20 a.m.-2:30 p.m.; middle school, 7:50 a.m.-2:40 p.m.; and elementary school, 8:35 a.m.-3:45 p.m.

Currently, the starting times are 7:30 a.m. at the high school level, 7:45 a.m. at the middle school level, and 8:30 a.m. at the elementary school level.

In addition, Bickerstaff said the number of routes run daily will be reduced from 38 this year to 34 next year.

Another key change for next year, according to Bickerstaff, will be to separate high school and middle school stu-

Cops busy with parking and moving violations on Main St.

The News in Brief

Curtis Lane temporarily closed

Beginning this week, Curtis Lane in Independence Township will be closed so that Road Commission for Oakland County can replace a culvert under the road.

The detour route is Parview and Wellesley Hill Terrace.

Construction is expected to be done by June 14.

Ice cream social, bake sale and book sale

The Friends of the Springfield Township Library and the Springfield Township Historical Society will sponsor an ice cream social, bake sale and used book sale Sunday, June 3 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Historic Davis House, 12450 Andersonville, Rd. in Davisburg.

For more information, call the Library at 625-0595.

Independence supports July 4 'alternative' parade

The Independence Township Board adopted a resolution at its May 1 meeting to hold Oakland County harmless if any injuries or claims result within a township portion of the July 4 "alternative" parade.

The parade, which will travel along Holcomb Road, will pass through the township's jurisdiction between Bluegrass and Deer Lake.

School Board approves field trip requests

The Clarkston Board of Education approved field trip requests for two different groups at its May 14 meeting.

The first request was submitted by Chuck Locklear, dean of Oakland Technical Center-NW, for OSMTech Academy students. The group, accompanied by teacher Michael Olsen, will travel by chartered bus to Mammoth Caves National Park in Kentucky. Students will experience the ecosystem of a mountain river and falls at Cumberland State Park.

A total of 11 students from Clarkston will be making the trip, which will last from May 30-June 3.

The second request was by the Destination Imagination team at Independence Elementary School, requesting permission for a field trip to attend the Destination Imagination Global Finals at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, Tennessee. The trip will last from May 23-27.

Board members wished good luck to city resident, Gini Schultz, who's mission has been to keep the Clarkston tradition alive. The Fire Department, which is the usual parade sponsor, cancelled it this year due to Main Street road construction.

Treasurer Jim Wenger said, "to deny this is to deny apple pie and motherhood."

Christmas on Cranberry Lake featured in SCAMP Home Tour

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

"We're nuts about Christmas," they'll confess.

Dan and Blanche Meloche feel Christmas is a time to reflect on the past and give hope to the future. And every season the two estimate they spend nearly 100 hours decorating their four-year-old Cranberry Lake home.

This year, it's double the effort for the 23-year Clarkston residents as they open up their home, display Christmas treasures, and share fond memories on SCAMP's Home Tour, June 2 and 3.

Guests at the Meloche home can admire two dozen Christmas trees, inside and outside, ranging from one foot to ten feet tall. The Christmas tree in the "great room" is filled with memories of ornaments made by the Meloches' sons, Brian and Jon, as they were growing up. Others were made together as a family, by family members, given by friends, or collected on family vacations, Blanche said.

Each tree has a theme, and most coincide with a particular room. Themes include patriotism, angels, toys and more.

When entering the downstairs, a sign informs visitors they are entering the cottage. Blanche said instead of having a cottage up north, with a long drive, the family simply goes "down to the cottage." The Meloches loved the openness of the lower level, so after finishing it themselves, they designed it as one large area, but appearing to have separate rooms with enclosing columns and half-walls.

The lower level is decorated, of course, in a cottage theme; and what best to go along but hunting and fishing trees. Also in the cottage, a fireman tree pays tribute to the Meloche's son, Brian, an on-call firefighter for Independence Township.

Many of the decorations throughout the home were made by family members or given to them by friends, Blanche said, and each piece is labeled with the date and story behind it.

One particular "treasure" brings back memories each year as it is displayed. Dan's father was a carpenter and hand made dowels to put together a 2x2x2 creche. Blanche's mother crafted the nativity figures.

"At the time, the thought was to have an inexpensive set the boys could play with," Blanche said. "However, they never broke a piece and now it is a family treasure."

The Meloches also have a collection of over 50 Santas. Two of the figurines special to Blanche and Dan are from Russia, date back 50 years, and were gifts from friends. Another special Santa has a yearly home on the Meloche hearth. Blanche's sister made this one, using velvet from one of their mother's dresses.

Also in the home are three Santa paintings adorning the walls year round; dried flower garlands Blanche creates out of gifts from her husband and sons; stained glass Dan made from Blanche's designs; and over two dozen Department 56 village pieces.

Typically, the village is set up in a large display in the lower level, but will grace the kitchen cabinet tops for the tour. The cabinets at Christmas time are reserved for cards. In fact, the Meloches keep many of their cards and even have one from a friend while in the Persian Gulf War. "We save everything!" Blanche said.

Perhaps, that's why they had a large storage area in the lower level specifically built for all their Christmas belongings.

Blanche said one thing that caught their eye when deciding to purchase the home was its many nooks and crannies great for Christmas decorations. Blanche remembers thinking, "oh, we can really decorate this house for Christmas!" And each year they do exactly

Independence Parks and Rec hiring

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Since being named director this year, Mike Turk has said one of his goals for Parks and Recreation is "to get better at what we already do."

That means adding personnel. The Independence Township Board, at their May 1 meeting, approved Turk's request to post three positions plus hire Beth Walker as assistant director.

Turk said "in order to keep our department running smoothly, it is in the best interest of the department to hire Beth Walker" as assistant director.

Walker has worked with the department since 1991 as a baseball and softball supervisor. She worked as a supervisor in other capacities where needed and was hired full time as a recreation supervisor in 1998, said Turk. Since that time she has taken on the department magazine, website, office operations, summer camps and some special events.

"Walker is a University of Michigan graduate and is a very knowledgeable person," said Turk. "She takes the initiative, without being asked, to get things done. She is very serious about her job and takes pride in what she does. She has the respect of the other staff and is considered a leader in the field by her peers. Her expertise is in recreations. And with mine being in parks, we make a great fit, feeding off each other's strong areas."

Starting at a salary of $44,000, the assistant director will be responsible for summer camps, staff development, magazine, website, all athletics, stats, school clubs, office operations, concessions, athletic counsel, programmers, budget, special events, gym and field scheduling, and act as school liaison.

Recreation programmer

Walker's former position, recreation program-

Parks and Rec Director Mike Turk

mer, is now vacant.

A recreation programmer is responsible for the administration, planning, and implementation of township special events such as Taste of Independence and Fall Fun Daze.

This will be a nonunion position with a salary range from $31,000-$34,000, depending on experience. Typical hours of work would be Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Interviews for this position will be conducted in May and June.

Recreation specialist

In October Aquatics Director Rich Ashley--who ran the aquatics program at Clarkston High School along with Bay Court Park Beach and Deer Lake Beach--resigned. Although he will still run the aquatics program at both beaches this summer as a seasonal staff person, a full time person is needed.

Turk requested the title be changed to recreation specialist, responsible for all adult and youth athletics, teen programs, budget requests, and all after-school activities among others.

This will be a union position starting at $15.01 per hour. Working hours will be Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

A full fringe benefit package is available. Applicants should have a bachelor's degree with a major emphasis in municipal recreation or a related field, and previous experience working for a municipal Parks and Recreation department.

Six laid-off teachers recalled

Six teachers who thought they were out of a job in April have been given a second wind.

The Clarkston Board of Education approved the job recalls at their May 14 meeting. The recalls were announced by Linda Nester, director of personnel/auxiliary services for Clarkston Community Schools, at the meeting.

Back at work in Clarkston for the 2001-02 school year are:

Gail Berman, English teacher, Sashabaw Middle School; Amy Gillespie, art teacher, Independence Elementary/Springfield Plains Elementary; Diane Knakal, kindergarten teacher, Clarkston Elementary/North Sashabaw Elementary; Inger Nelson, music teacher, Clarkston Middle School; Laura Stevenson, first grade teacher, Independence Elementary; Wendy Stuart, orchestra teacher, Clarkston Middle School.

These teachers, along with Tresa Reneaud, a physical education teacher at North Sashabaw Elementary, were originally laid off at the school board's April 9 meeting.

According to Nester, resignations and retirements in the schools' teaching staff played a key role in the reinstatements.

"The biggest factor was that we had retirements," she said. "Those people that were reinstated will be filling the spots vacated by those teachers that have retired or resigned."

At this time, no further staff reductions are planned for next year, according to Nester.

"We are not planning on laying anyone else off this year," she said.

The staff reductions were part of $1.5 million in budget reductions for the 2001-02 school year, which was announced by the Clarkston Board of Education in February.

CD-ROM educates residents on using native plants

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township is turning to technology to educate citizens about native plant vegetation.

The township unveiled a CD-ROM on native plants at the spring meeting of the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy, held at the Cedar Crest Academy May 12.

Over 100 people watched intently as Springfield Township Clerk Nancy Strole, a member of the conservancy, made the presentation.

The CD-ROM features a list of native plants, where to go to find them, and a glossary of terms on the subject. It also includes an interactive guide to help locate native plants that may be found in a given habitat.

According to Strole, the CD contains the names of additional resources for those seeking further information.

"It has some resources with Web sites and books," she said.

The audience at the meeting came away impressed with the township's efforts, and residents said the CD would prove to be very helpful.

"I think it's a great piece of work," said Jim Reed

Springfield Township's CD-ROM is free to the public until the supply runs out.

of Independence Township, who picked up a copy at the meeting. "I'm going to do a little studying on it."

Martina Dorn, a White Lake resident, said that the array of information on the CD will benefit all residents, from those well-versed in the subject to those who have no understanding of native vegetation.

"It was very well done," she said. "There is a lot of information, even for those who don't have a lot of knowledge. It also shows that everyone can at least incorporate some of it into their yards."

According to Strole, the initial run of the CD-ROM is 1,200 copies. She said that amount will be used for its intended audience, such as township residents, local developers, other developers who do business in Springfield Township, and other agencies, such as Oakland County Planning & Economic Development.

She said that the township has produced additional copies of the CD-ROM, which will be sold for $6 apiece to cover production costs.

"There has been so much interest in this," Strole said. "We're trying to figure out how to handle it...I've received requests that go beyond the scope of the project."

For more information about native plants, see the Environmental Protection Agency's Web site at www.epa.gov/glnpo/greenacres. For further information on obtaining a copy of the CD-ROM, contact the Springfield Township offices at (248) 625-4802.

Springfield tangles with another dangerous building

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Springfield Township Board has set a hearing date to deal with another dangerous building.

A show cause hearing for 663 Broadway in Davisburg will be held at the next regular Springfield Township Board meeting, scheduled for June 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The building was built in 1881, and has been owned by Charles Moore for 31 years.

According to a report received by the township, the building has several problems:

■ The stone foundation wall shows signs of beginning to fail along the westerly side near the rest of the building.

■ There are two vertical cracks in this wall, one of which extends to the full height of the wall.

■ The building is open in the rear at the upper level, thus exposing the structure to the elements.

■ There appears to be inadequate openings for natural light and ventilation, and there is no evidence of assisted or year-round mechanical ventilation.

A hearing was originally held Feb. 14, conducted by hearing officer John Steckling, and including Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, Charles Moore Jr., representing his father, Charles Moore, and

Hats off to Springfield Township Board

Unless you regularly attend Springfield Township Board meetings, you may not realize how fully committed the forward-thinking board members are to preservation of their natural resources.

Now there's physical proof, and it's free (for the time being).

The township has released an interactive CD-ROM entitled Native Vegetation Enhancement Project.

It is a database of over 237 plants, trees, shrubs and flowers native to Michigan, including full-color pictures and extensive explanations of growing conditions.

There is also a glossary which explains gardening terms from A to Z.

To say it's impressive is an understatement.

Springfield Township had 1,200 copies of the CD made, thanks to a grant from the EPA's Great Lakes National Program Office.

It's part of the Shiawassee and Huron Headwaters Project, whereby ecosystems are identified to protect the river systems.

In recent years, researchers have become concerned about invasive plants such as purple loosestrife, which threaten Michigan's rivers and wetlands. Re-introducing native plants is one way to keep the others out.

The CD was introduced to the public at a North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy meeting Saturday to much acclaim.

If there is a national award given to townships for activities such as this, please let us know so we can nominate the board.

This proactive stance, made free to the public is deserving of national recognition.

Board members, you've done your community proud.

The CD is available at the township board offices free until copies run out. There may be a charge after that. Call 625-4802 for more information.

Home Depot developers misleading in statements

In response to your article last week, Home Depot center's 'gonna move forward', I take issue with what are untrue and misleading statements made by the developers.

First, the developer states that he will likely go before the Zoning Board of Appeals next. But Independence Township has an ordinance to be used in just such a case as the Knights' request: Site Specific Relief Authorization.

This ordinance provides site specific relief to property owners who demonstrate, among other things, that current existing zoning precludes "all use of their property." Further on in this document it is stated that the applicant must prove that the property cannot be used for the purpose for which it is zoned.

The Knights property is, and always has been used as OS2 (office service) which is consistent with its current zoning. Very importantly, it has been demonstrated by the township planner that the property could be used "as zoned" for uses that could be incorporated into the land, so they can profit.

That the developers are not willing to use the property as zoned should be a significant concern to the community, because once it is rezoned they can do things with the property they are not willing to reveal now -- for whatever reason.

Secondly, it is also untrue that there are other options, e.g. a developer's agreement. And that there is a "paper trail" in their favor since 1999, as well as other documents "since the developers beginnings" that support their arguments against the township vote.

Three truth is the rezoning was the result of changes in the Master Plan that resulted from a community wide analysis of what we are and where we are going -- Vision 2020. The truth too is this rezoning was part of a package of rezonings to make the rezoning consistent with the Master Plan. The truth should matter. The truth is that the township delayed the rezoning for four months expressly at the Knights' request. Through four board meetings they never whispered, "Home Depot."

Next, it does not serve our community when any developer continually threatens a lawsuit if the township does not bend to their demands, and use as a guise the protecting of property rights and fairness to property owners as demands to get their way.

We as a community should not cower at the threat of a lawsuit. Every once in awhile it might actually be a good idea to take a lawsuit just so everyone knows we mean what we say about how we want OUR community to be.

Yes, fairness is important, and balance in development is important too. But NO ONE has any right to a particular zoning, or to profit from it at the community's expense.

Clarkston's Holiday Festival a winner

Don't make any plans to leave town the first weekend in December. It looks like there will be just too much fun happening around here.

Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce members have been working hard to organize events for that weekend (and beyond) that should set the holiday season off with a bang.

There will be Christmas carols, holiday lighting contest for residents and business owners, a parade with Mr. and Mrs. Santa and many more activities.

The signature event will be a two-day open and professional woodcarving contest December 1 and 2 with nationally acclaimed woodcarvers, including local woodcarver Gary Elzerman.

The committee considered ice sculptures, but since nothing is less predictable than Michigan weather, they decided woodcarving would be more practical -- and exciting, judging from Elzerman's work and photos of work done by other carvers.

You can see two examples of Elzerman's work at North Sashabaw Elementary School and Canterbury Assisted Living on Hatchery Road in Waterford.

The woodcarving contest and exhibition is expected to attract about 30-40 woodcarvers. It will take place in Depot Park in downtown Clarkston.

Cash prizes and ribbons for the professional competition will be: 1st place, $1,000; 2nd place, $750; 3rd place, $500; 4th place, $300; 5th place, $150.

Open competition prizes will be: 1st place, $500; 2nd place, $375; 3rd place, $250; 4th place, $150; 5th place, $75.

There will also be a People's Choice Award: $1,000, Professional; $500, Open.

Rolling Along
Maralee Cook

The holiday parade will take place at 5 p.m. Saturday, December 1, and will travel the usual parade route in Clarkston. It's expected to be about a half-hour in length.

There will be cash awards for floats ranging from $400 to $500 each.

A community sing with Christmas Carols and other winter and holiday songs will be Friday, November 30 beginning at 6:30 p.m. at Independence Township Hall at 90 N. Main Street. Local church choirs, school choirs, service clubs and student organizations are encouraged to participate. And of course, The Clarkston News Carol Book will be there.

The caroling will be followed by the lighting of the Tree of Caring for Lighthouse Clarkston. The Tree of Caring provides a symbolic way for residents to demonstrate their sense of loss and caring for those who are ill or who have passed away while raising money for Lighthouse Clarkston.

The lighting contest is open to homeowners and businesses. Homeowners can win cash prizes: 1st, $200; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $50. Businesses will receive plaques for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place.

Judging will take place up to December 15, with prizes awarded at a Chamber mixer at The Clarkston Cafe on December 20.

There is also a charitable giving committee, to increase awareness of local charitable giving needs and increase support for the programs. The current list of charities includes: Lighthouse Clarkston; SCAMP; Prison Ministries; Toys for Tots; Humane Society; Baldwin Center; Rotary Goodfellows Shoe Drive.

There are also several other community activities taking place like the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club Christmas Greens sale and the Clarkston Congregational Church Festival of Trees.

I'm pumped. It sounds like a wonderful weekend, and a great way to start the holiday season and winter. Volunteers will be needed, and participants for all events. Call the Chamber at 625-8055 for more information.

I'm an All-American Chi-com

All right.

I guess I have to 'fess up. I need to get things out in the open. It's hard, but I think I can do it. So, here goes nothing . . .

I am a round-eye, communist sympathizer.

I know, I know. It shames me to admit it, as much as it hurts you to read it.

"Don," you're saying to the picture of the bearded man on the page before you. "Don, say it ain't so. Say it's all just some sort of terrible mistake."

I'd love to folks. For years I thought of myself as the red-blooded, All-American guy. I love my wife and kids, mom, apple pie and old John Wayne movies. I think of all those little, green plastic, toy soldiers I sent to their death protecting America. On the sandy beaches of my back yard they went to battle against the Soviets. All the sound effects of rapid machine gun fire, exploding bombs and shrieks of pain, all for nothing -- all part of my self-delusions. It worked. I thought I was a fine example of Americana.

Heck, I even fooled my wife into thinking I was a product of the McCarthy Hearings. Her favorite pet name for me isn't "Darling," "Honey," or even "Pookie-wookie." It's "Nick." Nick as in Nick at Night -- the cable station Nickelodeon has made a mint by rebroadcasting television shows from the 1950s and 1960s.

When I throw on a Frank Sinatra recording, identify model year, and make of pre-1970 vehicles, buy shoes, wear my fall fedora or winter tweed hat, it's "Hey Nick, nice hat." Or, "Gee Nick, what a surprise you're playing that music on the stereo."

I guess it's all been a sham -- some sort of Manchurian Candidate facade. Just like in the controversial black and white movie, on the outside I look

rush
don't rush

like a Yankee-swine, capitalist pig. But, on the inside I am red. I'm a Chi-com. (For all of you post Cold-War babies, that stands for Chinese Communist).

So much for keeping them behind the 38th Parallel. Thirty-eighth Parallel? Heck, they're in our backyards, our homes and on our children's feet.

That is how I came to the conclusion that I have colluded with the commies. I looked at my children's feet -- well actually their shoes. I checked out their shoes and found they were made in China. My family's money went to Communist China.

This wouldn't have bothered me a few years ago, but after all the hullabaloo with the Chinese, and the fact the U.S. was bounced out of the United Nations' Human Rights Commission, made me sensitive. It got me thinking about who I really am, where my allegiances lie. Don't believe me, read on.

We went to Wal-Mart this weekend and bought some lawn chairs. Motel chairs they are called -- they're metal with tubular arms/legs with big metal backs and seats. They're a great old, American style of lawn chair.

We bought them, brought them home and upon assembly, discovered they too were made in China.

I must be a sympathizer to the Chi-com cause, cuz I finished the assembly then proudly displayed my handiness to my wife. You see, I didn't throw them away or return them or the kids' shoes. I didn't snatch back our good-old American greenbacks from the iron grip of Marxism.

Where else have they infiltrated? Lets see: They bought former President Clinton and slept in the Lincoln Bedroom; stole computer files from Los Alamos; and now our butts will sit on seats crafted by the hands of some poor Chinese peasant, toiling away in a sweat factory, bringing home a whopping 37 cents a year. Is nothing sacred?

As a newly discovered party member, I guess the answer is, "No. Nothing is sacred."

Our pro sports teams like West Coast utilities

As last year's Detroit Tigers started to fold, which was two weeks into the season, sports writers and talkers started trumpeting the Detroit Lions.

As soon as they showed all their potential, which was about October 1st, the Detroit Pistons became the darlings of sports pages' lead stories.

Realizing very soon there was but one player on their roster who could score, the pro writers/talkers jumped quickly to the Detroit Red Wings.

Now, here was a professional team that could fill arenas, excite fans, score and provide work for medical professionals.

They roared to a second place finish, and headed to the Stanley Cup playoffs with a "Get The Red Out" slogan and Cup hungry fans salivating. Alas, poor Caesar, they tumbled in the first round.

Ah, but we have the Detroit Tigers, with new management, practically new stadium and a roster of, well, of injury and error prone players, one pitcher (Weaver) and prolethera of newspaper clippings from Spring training.

The 2001 Tigers proved in April to be unable to perform any better than the April 2000 Tigers.

So, in the waning days of April the pro sports writers and talkers pushed the Tigers lower on front pages and elevated a 3-day Detroit Lions mini-camp to the lead.

There's so much potential, a draught-filled fan and writer/talkers can't get enough ink or sputum. New management, two Ms, Matt Millen and Marty Morninhinweg, they write/speak, when it's really four Ms.

Jim's
Jottings

They're bringing in the West Coast offense to Detroit. Are you excited yet?

Let's see! West Coast! Isn't that where they have all those power failures? Where they have rolling blackouts? Where they've been unable to build a power plant in over 10 years?

This is the icon, the goal, the dream scheme that will elevate fans hopes of seeing their hometown team in the Super Bowl in Detroit in 2006?

Yeah! Nuts!

Wouldn't you think the four Ms could have come up with a better name for what they hope to accomplish with this team than to adopt a slogan based on utility and political failures?

West Coast anything does not make us think of winning, unless we spend too much time in Napa Valley.

I'm not really down on our professional sports teams, nor am I blaming and condemning everyone associated with them.

It's just that I, like other sports fans, want a winning team, in all sports, all the time. I don't like "my" team finishing out of the lead, whether its the Ryder Cup, World Series, Super Bowl, Stanley Cup, NBA or any of our area high schools' teams.

Local cable show features city

Savage said he plans on focusing primarily on the downtown district and will feature pieces like the usual Clarkston favorites including Depot Park's Concerts in the Park series and Fun Days. He said there is a possibility that sometime in the future the show may feature local sports teams and athletes.

"Our initial and primary interest is to focus on the downtown, but if that means we can feature our area teams and athletes that could be something we would look at. But the activity within the village is something we will always focus on," he said.

The Golden Rule of Smart Tanning:
Don't EVER sunburn.

The ability to tan while minimizing the risk of sunburn is one of the main reasons people come to indoor tanning facilities. Although many people know that too much ultraviolet light exposure results in sunburn, most don't really understand what it is. So what exactly is a sunburn?

Sunburn - medically referred to as erythema occurs when too much energy is absorbed by the skin. That bombardment of light causes tiny blood vessels in your skin to swell or even burst. That's why a burn appears red on the surface of your skin.

Today, we know that sunburn is an unnecessary injury on top of a tan. Unfortunately, previous generations of sunlovers thought that sunburn was simply an inconvenient precursor to developing a tan. They thought their burns were necessary "jump starts" to their tan, and that sunburn would eventually fade into a tan.

Today we know better.

Metropoli Tan Tanning Salons are dedicated to helping you achieve the best tan possible while teaching you how to avoid sunburn and overexposure, both outdoors in the sunshine and indoors in our facilities. Call us today to schedule an appointment with one of our certified tanning specialists. Mention this Smart Tanning information and your tan is free!

Frederick Toca, Moore's attorney.

At that meeting, Toca said his client was concerned about repair costs, since he has a limited budget to make the repairs. He also said Moore should have the opportunity to find out how much the repairs will cost, and if it will take longer than expected.

In response, Steckling said June would provide ample time to complete the repairs and did not see how extending the deadline by 30 days would accomplish anything. He also said if the building falls down in the meantime and someone is injured, both the township and Moore would be at fault.

Therefore, "due to liability and safety issues," Steckling would not issue a postponement.

Toca also said at the meeting that he was originally hired by Moore because of traffic concerns in the area behind the buildings. He said semi-trucks and local traffic have been using the alley to get from Andersonville to Davisburg Road. As a result, the volume of traffic and trucks shakes the foundation of the buildings.

In response, Walls said the alley behind those buildings is not within the township's jurisdiction; therefore, any decision to close off that alley would be in the hands of the business owners.

For his part, Moore said he wants to preserve the property and its history.

"My grandparents bought this place and gave it to my dad," he said. "We want to be good neighbors. We want to be good for Davisburg. We don't want to fight the system — we don't want to fight anybody. We just want our rights respected."

The Springfield Township Board has set a date to hear the case of this 120-year-old building owned by Charles Moore for 31 years which the township says causes liability and safety issues. The hearing will be June 14 at 7:30 p.m. during the next regular township board meeting. Moore said he wants to preserve the property and history.

CHS freshmen dig into garden project, reap lessons

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Freshman in two classes at Clarkston High School are digging their latest assignment.

"I told 'em I wanted them to get dirty, I just didn't know how," said language arts teacher Jennifer Stairs. Until an idea arose.

Now the nearly 50 students in the combined classes of Peggy Marko, social studies teacher, and Stairs have indeed gotten dirty. They've shoveled soil, hauled rocks, planted, and more for a garden they're creating simply for the enjoyment of everyone at Funshine Preschool.

And the students--who began April 23 and hope to wrap up work this week--are reaping lessons along the way. Though, in the beginning, the freshman were a little iffy about the project.

"The first time we went out there it was hot and muggy, and the dirt was like cement," student Courtney Bollman explained.

Plus the classes, broken up into eight subcommittees such as budgeting, designing and steering, had a rough start working together. Organization seemed to be the main problem until a spokesperson was chosen from each committee. Ideas amongst the spokespeople were brought back to each group and things began to click as a whole.

"In two weeks we've made such an improvement," said Bollman. "This project has brought us together as a team."

"We've worked as a team before," Jessica Lewis said of her classmates. "But this work is harder, especially with each subcommittee."

Stairs and Marko's students have had a hand in every aspect of the project from planning a field trip to Highland Tree Farm, to getting supplies, plants and flowers, to teaching the preschoolers about gardening. "I've done nothing," revealed Stairs.

"The greatest part of the project is that we've truly been facilitators," Stairs noted. "They've done all the hard work. They picked where we'd go for our field trip, they've gotten dirty, they've carried rocks...."

And the students say they've benefitted from this hard work.

Mike Compagnoni said he's gained leadership skills and people skills as a result to this project and his involvement with the steering committee. While Matt Pruenete has learned more about teamwork and coordination.

"Before this project," Heather Curry said, "I really didn't care about school. Being on the steering committee has helped me to organize myself in school and realize how much responsibility I need to have as I grow older."

Students in Jennifer Stairs and Peggy Marko's freshman classes want to thank Highland Tree Farm for donating $100 in plants, Elite Landscaping for topsoil, and CHS parents for the donated equipment used to create a garden for everyone at Funshine Preschool. Funds for the project came mostly from donations. But Stairs said the group is still in need. "We need to replace a broken garden claw, we could buy more seeds, tools since they were borrowed, and establish a fund for next year."

Amanda Nichols has developed a new found respect for her teachers as well as parents. "A lot of times you rely on your parents to take care of something." But she now realizes, "not everything is just automatically taken care of."

Along with the lessons learned is the admiration of the earth's beauty.

Curry admitted she's been noticing a lot more around her. "When we were coming back from the field trip there were lilacs everywhere. I can value that more now."

For Lewis, "I went home and said 'Mom, I want to have a garden.'" She said this unique project "makes me want to be in ninth grade longer."

Each student's comments only supports more Stairs' idea that not all is learned by "doing the paper and pencil approach." Stairs has tied in the garden to

Lighthouse Clarkston gets its new home

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

You might call it a booming year for Lighthouse Emergency Services. The non-profit organization recently finished construction of a new main facility in Pontiac. And by the end of June, the Clarkston branch will have a new home too.

Lighthouse Clarkston will move into a 20-year-old building formerly used by a dentist at 6330 Sashabaw, south of Waldon.

It's an exciting time for Lighthouse Executive Director Rosellen Loye-Bucy, Lighthouse Clarkston Supervisor Katie Stewart, the staff and volunteers.

Last year Lighthouse Clarkston moved from the old Sashabaw Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road which had developed structural problems, to the Clarkston Community Schools Education building.

"The schools have been so good to us. Hopefully, we've been good guests," said Loye-Bucy.

"The new building is in good shape and has lots of storage, lots of shelves and lots of room for our clothing closet," she added. She declined to disclose the cost of the building.

Another plus is the building's access to I-75 for north Oakland County residents. While it sits close to the road, the parking lot and entrance are in the back, giving clients some privacy. Client-interview offices also offer privacy.

The privacy issue is important for clients, said Loye-Bucy. "We want to make this as warm and friendly and inviting as possible. (We help people) who have a temporary situation in their lives. We don't provide substance abuse prevention or intervention. It's a professionally run organization," she said.

For the next few weeks workers and volunteers will be busy replacing carpet, tile and light fixtures, and paint-

Lighthouse Emergency Services Executive Director Rosellen Loye-Bucy and Lighthouse Clarkston Supervisor Katie Stewart look forward to the move into the new facility at 6330 Sashabaw Road.

Seven of the vehicles in the back row were also damaged; the paint was deeply scratched in those vehicles.

Saturday, May 12, a larceny from a motorcycle was reported at Ashwood and Sashabaw. A $600 muffler was stolen from the motorcycle. The victim said he had come home from work, and become aware of his neighbor's car being broken into; the victim checked on the motorcycle parked in the car port, and found the muffler missing.

Tuesday, May 10, an arrest was made for a first offense of operating under the influence at Dixie Highway and M-15. The responding officer was making a left turn from southbound Dixie Highway to M-15 when a vehicle made a right turn in front of her. The officer completed a left turn and stopped the suspect's vehicle. The officer had the suspect, a 51-year old Columbiaville male, step out of the vehicle and perform four sobriety tests. He also took a breathalyzer test with a result of .11. The suspect was handcuffed, placed in a patrol unit, and transported to the Oakland County Jail.

Sunday, May 13, a road hazard and possible stolen boat was reported on Foster, west of Edger Road. A pontoon and trailer was left in the roadway. The owner of the items is unknown. The boat was towed by Morgan's, and was unable to be entered into lein due to no license plate/VIN/MC numbers. A copy of the theft report was forwarded to the auto theft/marine division.

Friday, May 11, a malicious destruction of property was reported on Claypool Road and Hillsboro. The victim said sometime between May 10-11, someone put sugar in the gas tank of her vehicle parked on the side of the garage. She said she and her son went to the gas station to fill the tank with gas. While at the station, she observed a white substance around the gas cap area. She put a small portion of the substance on her finger and tasted it. She believed the substance to be sugar. She said the truck began running rough, so she took it to the dealership to have it checked out. She said the dealership believed the substance to be sugar, and would drain the gas tank and have it checked out.

Cops stay busy with parking and moving violations on Main Street

so contractors can install a new water main, replace sidewalks and install new street lighting and other enhancements.

The most frequent moving violations are left hand turns at the intersections of Main Street and Washington or Church streets, said Clarkston Police Officer Kurtis Harrison. The temporary restriction on left hand turns was made by Michigan Department of Transportation, according to Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston. Left hand turns from southbound Main Street can still be made at Waldon.

The no left turn rule is a problem for Clarkston Café customers, restaurant manager Carroll Harris said Monday. Many of her customers come from exit 91 on I-75 and have complained they cannot access her parking lot behind the restaurant because they can't turn left at Washington or Church.

"I've just been telling them to park in the corner lot (at Washington and Main) rather than go into a long explanation of how to get to our lot. I had the lot all cleaned up, our employees are parking on Depot St., and nobody's using the (restaurant) lot," she said.

Some drivers are ducking around construction barricades to park on the west side of the street. That's considered a moving violation, said Ormiston, and drivers will be warned or ticketed.

All parking in the Washington and Main lot has been temporarily changed to two-hour. There is all day parking on Depot Street west of M-15. Officers have been issuing a lot of parking tickets to drivers who park all day in two-hour designations, said Harrison.

Some people are still parking on the east side of Main Street in front of the Village Bakery or Village Apparel.

A Clarkston Apparel employee said one customer who didn't realize there was no parking in front of the store said she couldn't believe she found such a good parking place downtown. Claudia Jakus, owner of Clarkston Travel, just north of Washington, said a woman who parked in front of her building was almost hit by a truck when she got out of her car.

Temporary no parking signs have not been installed - and won't be, according to Ormiston. "Drivers need to look around and pay attention to what's going on," he said.

Up to this point, officers have issued mostly warnings, but that will soon come to an end. Ormiston added most of the moving violations have come from area residents.

"Please put safety first," said Ormiston. "Be mindful of the construction area. And please support the retail businesses by providing customers a place to park."

Basketful of Yarn owner Carol West, whose store is in the back of The Clarkston News building at 5 S. Main St., said business was very bad last week. However, Louise Kasl, owner of Kinetic Systems, a bike shop at 60 S. Main, said construction has brought her a new customer. A driver stopped in traffic noticed her store and came in for the first time.

Clarkston Country Store and Main Street Antiques owner Gini Schultz said last week she was delighted to make sales to construction workers.

Other residents have commented on the politeness of the construction workers and how quickly they clean up after they're done in a particular area.

The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce is organizing three community scavenger hunts to spotlight downtown Clarkston in June, July and August. Details will be published soon!

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1986)

Officials at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital (POH) announced they have linked forces with three other hospitals to bring a 250-bed, in-patient hospital to Dixie Highway. Health Source group, which consists of POH, Saginaw, Bay County and Flint osteopathic hospitals, petitioned the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan for a certificate of need.

Independence Township, the Village of Clarkston and Springfield Township have adopted host liability ordinances, which hold parents responsible for minors who drink alcoholic beverages in their homes.

Tim McCormick, a member of the NBA's Seattle Supersonics and a Clarkston native, will stage a basketball camp, along with younger brother Mike and former Clarkston coach Larry Mahrle. The camp will be conducted at the high school and is designed for fourth- through ninth-grade boys and girls from all over the area.

25 YEARS AGO (1976)

The supervisor's race in Springfield Township may be hotly contested for the August primary. Three people have indicated they intend to contest Democrat Don Rogers' control of the top spot. Collin Walls, 33, a real estate broker for Walls Real Estate in Davisburg and a Republican, has reportedly taken out nominating petitions. Also indicating interest are Richard Green and John Malloy.

Four men will seek election to two open four-year terms on the Clarkston Board of Education. Charles Smalley, elected first four years ago, seeks reelection. Clary V. Luzi, who also sought election at that time but was defeated, will run again; and R. Eric Reickel, who also ran then but was defeated, will run again. Filing nominating petitions was Wayne M. Viergever, a manufacturer's representative.

A new one mill levy for police protection passed in Springfield Township as did the renewal of one mill for fire protection. Independence Township voters refused an additional one mill levy for police protection.

50 YEARS AGO (1951)

In blanking Clarenceville, 11-0, Clarkston's Clark Rouse pitched a no-hit, no-run game. Only 26 batters faced him in the 7 innings. He walked two, hit one batter, and struck out nine. His effectiveness was illustrated by the fact that not one ball was hit to the outfield.

Ruby Lou Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Powell of Clarkston and Pvt. Jack B. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Lawrence, also of Clarkston, were married in the Northville Baptist Church by the Reverend Walter C. Ballagh, pastor. A reception for fifty was held at the home of the bride's parents on Orion Road.

The annual meeting of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Pettengill. The following officers were reelected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. Arnold Bartlett; vice president, Mrs. Frank Lambert; secretary, Mrs. Lloyd C. Megee; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Don Stackable; treasurer, Mrs. Keith Leak.

THE LAW & YOU

by Robert Kostin
Attorney at Law

FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH

Those injured in accidents must be compensated by the liable party for things such as medical expenses, lost income, pain and suffering, permanent disability, emotional damages, damaged property, etc. At the beginning of negotiations on a claim, the insurance adjuster for the liable party adds up the total medical expenses (medical special damages, or "specials"); and uses that figure to calculate how much to compensate the injured party for pain, suffering, and other non-monetary losses ("general" damages). The special damages for relatively minor injuries are multiplied by a factor of 1.5 or 2, and up to 5 or 10 in serious cases. That total is then added to lost income, and the number forms the basis from which negotiations begin. Don't forget that "loss" can apply to the loss of future earnings as well. Located at 11 North Main Street, we are here to help you understand the legal system, and get what you deserve. We handle a variety of legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. Call us at 620-1030, and let us help you. Note: Calculating how much your injuries are worth is probably the most important part of any accident claim.

CHS freshmen dig garden project

Stairs' idea that not all is learned by "doing the paper and pencil approach." Stairs has tied in the garden to the class' recent read, "My Antonia," by Willa Cather, the story of a boy immigrant who moves from Bohemia to Nebraska and spends much time in the country "getting dirty."

But the freshman gang is not the only one getting dirty with this project.

Funshine day care teacher Carlene Holst said it's quite a feat keeping the youngsters out of the mud. "But the garden will be so beautiful. It's neat to see the high schoolers merging with the younger kids. Both are benefitting. They make a good partnership."

Funshine director Linda Olechowski has enjoyed the efforts of the high schoolers and is happy that Funshine preschoolers during the summer program will be able to enjoy watching the everything from broccoli, cabbage to peppers to lilacs, roses, daisies and ivy grow.

Reprints of pictures that appear in The Clarkston News are available. Call 625-3370 to order yours today.

Scholars say Shakespeare picked up most of the story of Romeo and Juliet from a 4th century Greek novel, Ephesiasca.

Complete the Clarkston collection of the Cat's Meow

PTSA brings two buildings out of retirement

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Now, collectors of the Clarkston Cat's Meow collection can complete their set.

Kathie Valeri Carroll, co-president of the Clarkston High School Parent Teacher Student Association (PTSA) announced the return of two favorite collectibles brought out of retirement—The Clarkston News building, formerly The Walter Building, and the Independence Township office building. Both pieces are $15.50.

Collect one or all of the eight-piece set which also includes Rudy's Market,

The Clarkston Country Store, The Clark House, The Lambert House, Clarkston State Bank, and The Clarkston Independence Township Clock.

The Cat's Meow, an Ohio company, produces the wood creations from the handiwork of an artist named Faline, who's trademark is to place a tiny black cat somewhere on the piece. And one can be found on each of these artist-designed pieces.

Orders can be made by calling Kathie Valeri Carroll at 620-8906, or the Clarkston Country Store and Main Street Antiques, 21 N. Main, 625-3122.

The Clarkston News building, right, and The Independence Township office building, left, have been brought out of retirement to complete the Cat's Meow Clarkston collection.

The first license to broadcast regularly went to station WBZ in Springfield, Massachusetts.

Gritty play brings championship

10-4 win over Rochester gives Wolves first league title in 10 years

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

For the first time in Al Land's 10 year career as Clarkston varsity softball coach, his team has clinched the league title.

The Wolves wrapped up at least a share of the Oakland Activities Association Division I title with a 10-4 win over Rochester May 14.

"Usually the league title has gone to either Kettering or Brandon since I've been here. But our girls are getting used to playing with the high standards we've set here. They're getting used to playing in these pressure situations and they've responded very well," Land said.

The Wolves got on the board early thanks to a first inning bases loaded triple by Lindsay Simko, which helped fuel a four-run Clarkston first inning. Missy Parson added two hits, while Lisa Ferguson picked up another win for the Wolves on the mound.

Clarkston improved to 25-5 overall and 14-2 in the OAA I with the win.

The Wolves had a two game lead over defending league champion Waterford Kettering heading into the game, so even if the Wolves drop their final two league games they will at least share the OAA I title. Clarkston visits Kettering May 21 at 4 p.m. and then wraps up its regular season on senior day May 23 at home against Troy.

As happy as Land was to secure at least a share of the league title, he is well aware the Captains are still a force to be reckoned with come playoff time. Kettering is in Clarkston's district this year, which weighs heavy on Land's mind.

"It's nice to beat them for the league title, but Kettering is a very, very good team. Over the weekend they beat Portage Northern, who is ranked no. 1 in the state. By no means can we look past them," Land said.

The Wolves will get a bit of rest as they won't resume action until May 19, when they compete in the Madonna

Gebus sets record in track win over Mott

Record time in 400 helps Wolves crush Corsairs as Wolves improve to 5-1 in OAA I

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

Even with only a handful of seniors left on the team, the Clarkston boys varsity track team still has a shot at the league title.

"We control our own destiny. We're in the drivers seat," coach Walt Wyniemko said.

The Wolves, who have seen a number of seniors drop out of the program this year, saw one of the remaining seniors set a new school record in Clarkston's impressive 108-20 win over Mott May 8. Adam Gebus' time of 49.41 made the record books.

"It was my best race of the year, no doubt about that," Gebus said. "But I'll need to do better at regionals if I'm going to make it to states."

The Wolves compete in regionals May 18 at Holly beginning at 1 p.m. Field events begin at 1 p.m. and prelims begin at 3:30 p.m. Finals in the 3200 relay will be at 4:10 p.m., semifinals will be held at 4:40 and finals will begin at 6:15 p.m. The top two people in each event will qualify for the state finals on an individual basis. Individuals can also qualify by meeting additional qualifying standards.

Last year the Wolves finished second in their regional. Other teams within Clarkston's region include Pontiac Central, Grand Blanc, Holly and Lake Orion.

Currently the Dragons are in first place in the Oakland Activities Association Division I.

Adam Gebus

However, the Wolves can clinch a share of the league title with a first place finish at the OAA I league meet May 22 at 3:30 p.m. at Rochester Adams High School. Clarkston finished its league regular season with a 5-1 record. Clarkston's lone loss was to Lake Orion.

"We've lived with this (youthful team) all year," Wyniemko said.

"You have to play with the cards you've been dealt, but our kids have worked hard and done a good job this season. But we're not done yet and kids realize they still control their own destiny."

Rupe, Bryan power Wolves with late game homers

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

The Wolves started strong and finished strong in their latest win — a thrilling 7-6 come from behind win against Rochester.

Rob Bryan's solo homer, his fourth home run of the season, secured the win for Clarkston. Bryan also homered twice against Lake Orion May 9 and hit a grand slam May 2 against West Bloomfield.

"Rob's really been hitting the ball well for us lately," coach Phil Price said.

But Bryan wasn't the only big bat for the Wolves in their latest victory. After starting the game with four first inning runs, thanks in part to doubles from Torre Antonazzo and Nick Beadles, the Falcons cut the lead to 4-3.

Rochester tied the game at four in the fifth inning and took a 6-4 lead on a two-run homer in the bottom of the sixth.

However, Clarkston battled back with a leadoff single in the seventh inning by Jared Ostrom. Ostrom was then sent home on a two-run homer by Jason Rupe who hit the ball hard to center field. The homer came with two outs and two strikes, Price said.

Bobby Slaughter pitched the seventh inning and secured the win. Andy

The game — Clarkston tallied four runs in the first inning, but then fell behind 6-4 in the sixth. Jason Rupe's two-run homer in the bottom of seventh tied the game. Rob Bryan had the game-winning solo homer.

Girls track team finishes first at Clarkston Invitational

Wolves win 14th annual Clarkston Invitational, prepare for regional May 18 at Holly

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

Clarkston girls varsity track coach Gordie Richardson said he knew his team could win the Clarkston Invitational. He also said it would be close. He was right on both accounts.

The Wolves edged out second place Marian by six points to win the 14th annual Clarkston Girls Track Invitational May 12. The Wolves finished with 98 points while Lake Orion finished third with 86.

"I knew we had a chance to win it and I knew it was going to be close," Richardson said. "It was just a good team victory for us, one of those where every point counted, or girls put forth a great effort and it worked out to our advantage. I was real pleased."

Clarkston had four first place finishes in the meet and had several other strong performances, Richardson said. Maureen Kutha had an excellent performance

You know you're a senior when . . .

There are only a few weeks left until yet another group of seniors walk out the doors of Clarkston High School for the very last time.

With that in mind that annual sickness known as "senioritis" has now officially blown into a full fledged plague.

I was a senior once too. I had it as bad as any of you seniors, perhaps even more so. Once I got my acceptance letter from Central Michigan University the efforts and interest in just about everything remotely related to school were nearly depleted. My teachers must have loved the fact that I applied so early and got accepted by October. Not only did second semester teachers have to deal with me, but first semester teachers too.

Nonetheless, I made it through those hard to handle May school days when just about anything sounds more appealing than heading to class, more or less staying awake once you get there.

But believe it or not, some of you, and I emphasize the words "some" here, may miss Clarkston High School once you leave. Until then, enjoy being a senior for your last few weeks. Relish it and have fun. Don't be stupid. Be safe. Don't send your teachers into retirement if you haven't already done so. But have a good time. Believe me, teachers are looking forward to you getting out of the building soon too!

I'll leave you with my top 10 signs that you may be a CHS senior with a bad case of senioritis:

10. You haven't opened your locker since spring break.

9. Your school supplies have gone from no. 2 pencils, notebooks and papers to sunglasses and snap-shot of spring break.

8. All of the sudden you're extremely worried about all those absences and tardies you racked up this semester.

7. You stay up an extra hour or so at night knowing full well you're going to make up the lost sleep in first hour and may even carry your nap over into second hour as well.

6. The Clarkston school colors of blue and gold don't seem as important as the colors of the college you're going to attend.

5. Your main priority has become furnishing your college dorm with everything imaginable including a large screen TV (or two), VCR, DVD player, Playstation 2, refrigerator, toaster oven, microwave, furniture you hope mom and dad let you snag from the basement and 10,000 video games and movies.

4. You thumb through college brochures during class imagining how good the ratio of boys to girls (or vice versa) will be in your favor once you hit campus.

3. Next to your dorm room ideas, your tan and car stereo also rank high on your priority list.

2. The only reason you even make it to school these days is so you can stay eligible to play sports.

. . . and the no. 1 reason you may be suffering from a bad case of senioritis and Clarkston High School is — you can't wait to hit the stage at Pine Knob just like so many celebrities have when they perform here. Only in a few weeks instead of doing a killer guitar solo, starting a mosh pit or dodging sod from an infamous "sodfight" you'll be grabbing that piece of paper you've waited 12 years for.

The Bottom Line

Athlete of the week: Tricia Brewer

Most girls love jewelry, clothes and shopping. Tricia Brewer loves bruises and during her four years as a varsity softball player she's collected plenty.

"I love bruises. They're the best," Brewer said.

The senior outfielder and catcher has been one of the reasons the Wolves collected 31 wins last season and have already collected 20 this year. Brewer believes her focus and drive are her biggest strengths on the team.

"I'm determined in the sport. I'm a leader and I want my team to do as well as it can. I want everybody on the team to know they can talk to me," she said.

Brewer's coach, Al Land, said she has tremendous motivation.

"Tricia's best assets are her hustle, desire and attitude. She's a very good outfielder with a strong arm and she catches a lot of balls for us. She's been a very hard worker all four years," Land said.

During her freshman year on the varsity team Brewer played right field. It was during her sophomore year she began splitting her duties between right field and catcher.

Brewer spoke highly of her team.

"I think this year's team is better than last year's," she said. "We have more determination and a lot of team character."

She considers her best game this season a win over Lake Orion May 9 when she connected with teammate Mary Warchuck to make a double play between outfield and home plate.

After graduation, Brewer plans on majoring in secondary education and teach mathematics and physical education. She said she would love to come

Dragons, lightning spoil senior soccer night

Wolves fall 2-0 in home finale, top Lapeer West 6-1 early last week

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The four seniors on the Clarkston varsity girls soccer team waited for years to play their final home game on senior night. But after waiting four years they didn't even get a chance to play the full game.

Clarkston's final home game of the season was cut short due to lightning. The Wolves were trailing league champion Lake Orion 2-0 at the time the game was called, but coach Tami Mitchell said her team played one of its best games of the season.

"I think we played a phenomenal game against Orion," Mitchell said. "Our kids worked hard, never gave up and I think it showed how much we've improved over the course of the season."

The Wolves fell to the Dragons 3-0 in the teams' first meeting April 24. Though her team fell 2-0 May 10, Mitchell said the Dragons were fortunate to get the win.

"We got beat on the first goal they scored on us. It was a good play, but the second goal came on a penalty kick that was pretty controversial. Take away that penalty and if we had finished the last ten minutes

The rundown

The game — Lightning caused the game to be called with 10 minutes remaining and the Dragons up 2-0. Lake Orion tallied its second goal on a controversial penalty kick.

Where they stand — The Wolves are 5-8-3 and 1-8-2 in the OAA II.

of the game, who knows what would have happened?" she said.

The loss dropped Clarkston's overall record to 5-8-3 and 1-8-2 in the Oakland Activities Association Division II.

(Middle right) Senior shortstop Lindsay Simko hands the bat off to a teammate. Simko is a vocal leader on the team. team," Price said.

The win bumped Clarkston's record to 12-4 overall and 5-3 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I (at press time). Lake Orion remains undefeated in the OAA I. Rochester Adams and West Bloomfield also have three league losses along with the Wolves.

Clarkston hosts Troy May 16 at 4:30 p.m. and Brandon on May 17 at 4 p.m. in a non-league game. The Wolves have a makeup game with Rochester Adams, which was called early on May with the Wolves hanging on to a 5-3 lead through four innings. The makeup game will count as a league game. Clarkston and Adams will also play a full length game the same day, but that game will not count in the OAA I standings.

in the mile, finishing first with a time of 5:31.25. Meanwhile the sprint relay team also earned praise from Richardson for its second place finish at 53.75. In addition, Lauren Witt won the 3200 with a time of 12:03.13 and Lindsay Hawley had her best throw of the season in the discus. Her throw of 107'7" earned Clarkston another first place. Clarkston's novice relay team of Megan Garrett, Lauren Noveck, Kristen Braddish and Whitney Bomier also finished first with a time of 4:54.87.

The Wolves will need to continue to put forth outstanding efforts May 18 when they compete in regionals at Holly. Field events begin at 1 p.m. and prelims begin at 3:30 p.m. Finals in the 3200 relay will be at 4:10 p.m., semifinals will be held at 4:40 and finals will begin at 6:15 p.m.

Richardson said the Wolves have some tough competition in their regional and will also have to get some of their premier athletes healthier before the meet.

"We know with Adams and Romeo there it's going to be tough," he said. "Our goal is to be as competitive as we can be and get our kids as healthy as possible heading into the meet."

Richardson said Karyn Erkfritz and Carla DelVecchio have both been nursing bad hips.

The top two people in each event will qualify for the state finals on an individual basis. Individuals can also qualify by meeting additional qualifying standards, Richardson said.

He estimated about eight Wolves made it to states last year and is hoping for a similar turnout again this year.

"I think Hertzler in the pole vault has a chance and Wilson in the high jump. Pocs and DelVecchio can slide in there too as well as some other girls," Richardson said.

Following regionals, the Wolves compete in the Oakland Activities Association Division I league meet outscored the Panthers 6-1 — for the most goals Clarkston has tallied this season.

Rockie Tripi tallied two more goals, to add to her team high of six on the season. Also contributing to the Clarkston offense were Megan Medina, Megan Mutz and Kristen Brundage. Brundage and Brandy Knapp each have five goals on the season for the Wolves.

"We've improved a lot since the beginning of the season. Other coaches have come up to me after games and said every time we play you it's like it's a new team out there. I think our girls have done a great job this season. They never give up," Mitchell said.

Tournament.

"It's nice to get the break because we can give Lisa a rest. She's been carrying a real heavy load for us this year. We also have a few injuries that need to get better," Land said.

Heather Giroux has a pulled quad muscle and Suzie Giroux has been suffering from a sprained ankle.

"Heather has done an outstanding job for us this year as our leadoff hitter. He had a big role to fill this year taking Mel (Arnold's) place. For a freshman she's done a great job," Land said.

Clarkston is 8-2 in tournament play this year with their four latest tournament wins coming May 12 and 13 at the Pieper Tournament. Clarkston won its pool in the tournament and defeated Harper Woods Regina twice, Mt. Morris and Livonia Ladywood over the weekend. Clarkston fell to Chippewa Valley 3-1 in the semifinals.

Last year the Wolves wrapped up the district title and won a record 32 games under Land. If the Wolves do well at the Madonna Tournament and go on to defeat Troy and Kettering another record may well be on its way.

of Craig Verlinden and Matt Carlson (6-2, 6-4).

Clarkston coach Kevin Ortwine said even though it was nice to have four winners, the tournament was nearly decided before the finals began.

"The key for us was that we got everybody to their championship rounds. With the byes we had that made things easier, but once we got everybody to the finals that really put us in the driver seat to win the whole thing," Ortwine said.

Ortwine praised the play of two doubles teams. The no. 2 team of Brian Chism and Matt Poley had seven match points up against them, but came back and won. In addition the team of Szilvagy and Claus came back from four match points.

"I think we learned a lot from some of the tougher matches we've had earlier in the year and the kids used that experience at the league meet. We were getting used to that tough competition," Ortwine said.

However, that tough competition from non-league weekend tournaments against powerhouse teams may have been the reason for Clarkston's troubles at the Holly Invitational May 12.

The Wolves finished a disappointing fifth out of six teams. Petoskey won the meet, followed by Birmingham Seaholm, Holly and Flint Carman-Ainsworth.

"We played terrible," Ortwine said. "We came in there expecting to win and we finished fifth. We just came out mentally flat. Everybody had disappointing moments for us and that's rare for us. Nobody played to their ability."

"I think part of it was that after we won our league, which was our big goal, the kids and myself too were just mentally drained. Our schedule took a tool on us at that meet," he said.

The Wolves will continue to go up against tough competition at regionals May 18 at Troy Athens High School at 9 a.m. Clarkston is in arguably the toughest regional in the state, Ortwine said. Other teams within the regional include such powerhouses as Brother Rice, ranked no. 1 in the state, West Bloomfield, Troy and Troy Athens who are both in the OAA I. Clarkston did pick up a 6-2 win over Athens May 8, however Ortwine said it will take a near perfect performance if the Wolves are to come out of the regional.

Kevin Ortwine

"It's really a deep regional and when you look at the teams that are in it it's going to be very hard for us to come out of there," he said.

The top two teams from each regional advance to the state final. A team can also advance if it scores 18 points, which means a team would have to have every player make the semifinals and send two to the finals.

If Clarkston does not qualify for state as a team, it can still be represented at the state meet if no. 1 singles player Brown advances to the finals. The last Wolf to make it to state was Mike Aulgur in 1996.

"I think Andrew's got a legitimate chance this year," Ortwine said. "He's going to have a tough day, but if he plays well he could make it to states."

We Are SIDING Trim & GUTTER Specialists
We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. What we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We do not sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Total customer satisfaction is our only acceptable standard. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.
