Good times, good pay

Schools superintendent to earn $130,000 a year, plus

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Citing the "great progress" that has been made this year, the Clarkston Board of Education has extended the contract of Superintendent of Schools Dr. Al Roberts.

The extension, announced at the board's June 11 meeting, is for one year, meaning Roberts' contract now runs through July 1, 2006.

He also received a raise for the 2001-02 school year to $130,000, up from his $125,000 salary for the 2000-01 year. In addition, Roberts will receive life insurance for three times his annual salary.

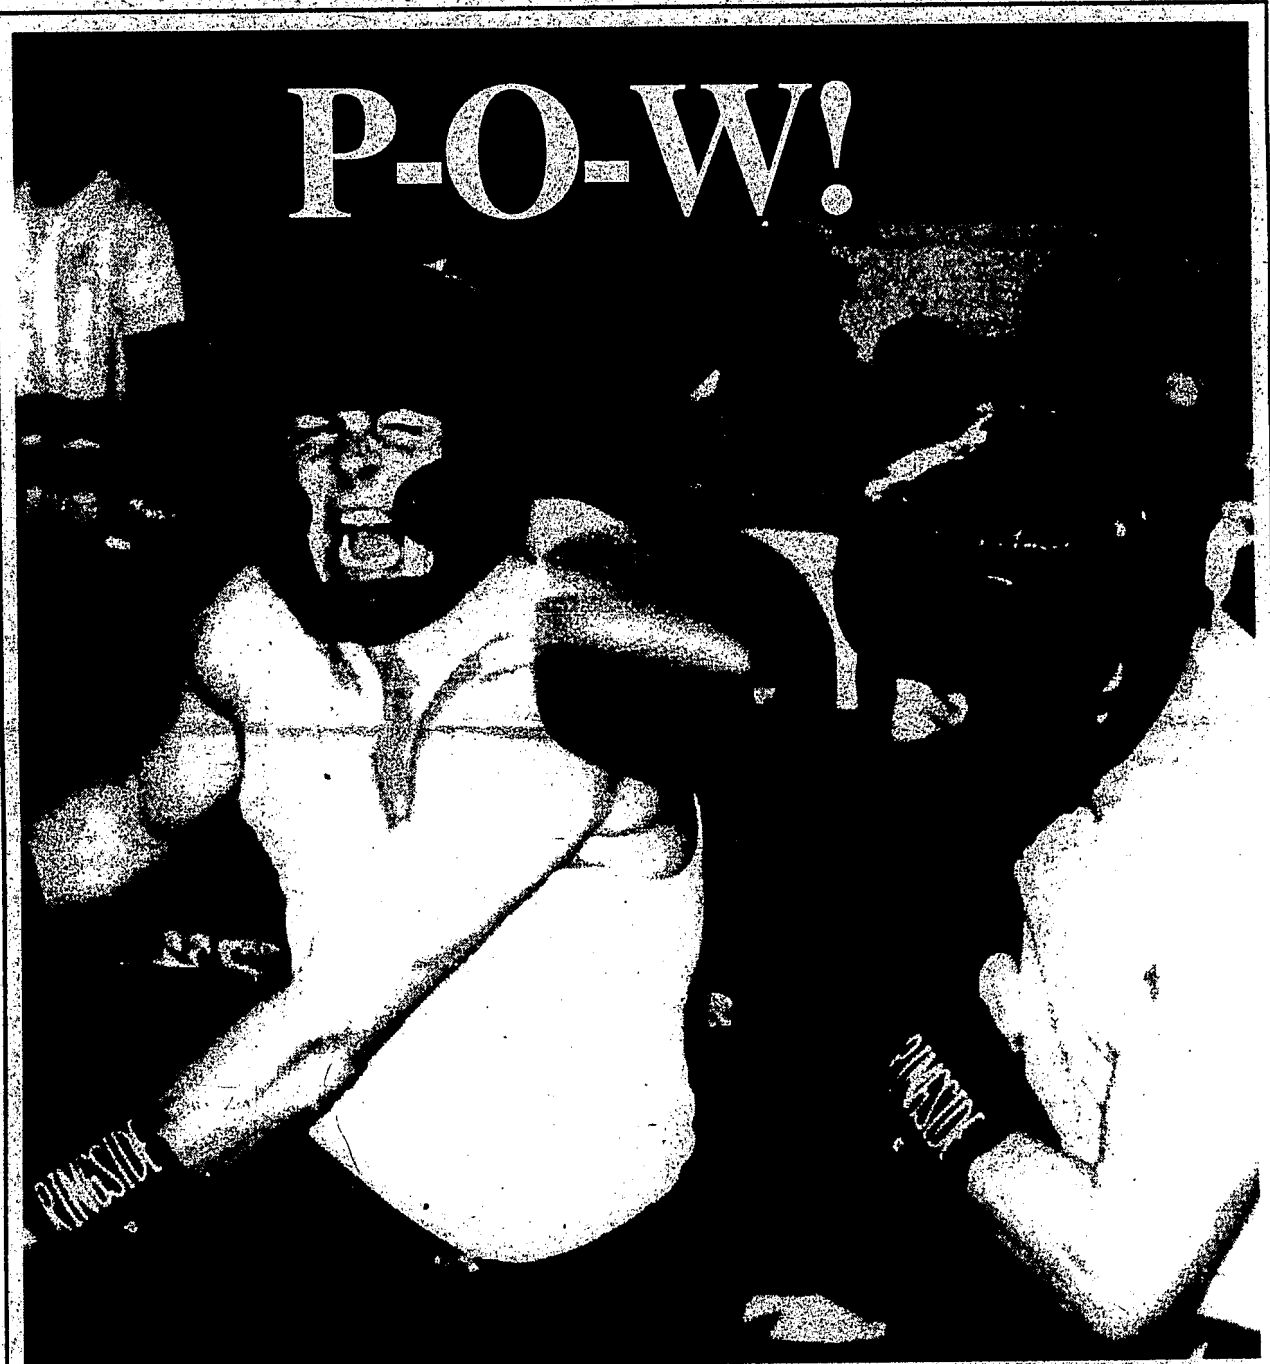

This marked the second consecutive year Roberts has received a contract extension and raise. He has been superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools since 1996.

Clarkston Board of Education President Karen Foyteck said the monthly board workshops "have established a strong sense of trust and commitment" between the board and administration, and said the board appreciated Roberts' commitment to the Clarkston district.

"Great progress has been made this year," she said. "Each school year brings unique challenges and the unexpected."

After the board approved the raise and extension, Roberts thanked the school community for their hard work.

"I'd like to thank the board for their vote of confidence, and express my thanks to the administrative team," he said.

Wagner and Rosso say hiring policy may violate state Open Meetings Act

Last week's board of trustees meeting heated up after two trustees suggested a change be made to the way Independence Township hires its department heads.

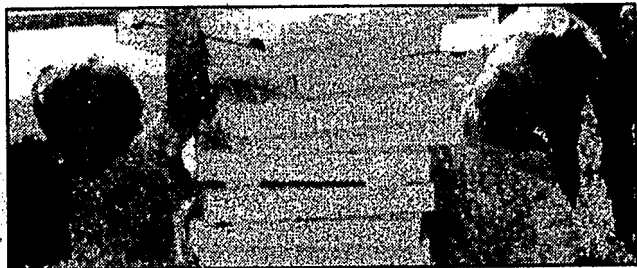

Trustees David Wagner and Larry Rosso, unhappy with the current policy, brought the subject to the board's attention. Wagner said there are two major concerns: the supervisor's elimination of preliminary applicants, and the length of time it takes to fill the open positions.

Wagner is waiting to hear from township attorneys if the current policy is a violation of the Open Meetings Act.

Library provides special paper cutting machine for public use

If you need fancy shapes and letters cut out of paper, poster board, fabric or anything that can be cut with a pair of scissors, pay a visit to the Independence Township Library.

The library now has an Ellison Machine, as it called, that may be used by the public. It can cut up to 10 sheets of copier weight paper or up to 7 sheets of construction paper at a time.

Ellison Machines have been popular with schoolteachers who make a lot of bulletin boards, and with people who like to create scrapbooks and students doing school projects.

The library has 2-, 3- and 4-inch letters and a wide range of shapes for the machine. Use of the die cutter is free to the public, but users must provide their own paper. A complete list of dies is available at the circulation desk.

The library is located at 6475 Clarkston Rd. Call 625-2212 for more information.

Lunch prices increased at Clarkston High School

Students at Clarkston High School will have to pay a quarter more for lunch next year.

The Clarkston Board of Education approved a recommendation to increase lunch prices from $2.00 this year to $2.25 for the 2001-02 school year. Clarkston will be one of three districts in the area to charge that amount for lunch, along with Lake Orion and Rochester.

Brandon, Oxford, and Waterford will charge $2.00 for lunch, while West Bloomfield will charge $2.30.

She's daddy's little girl

Not only does daughter own his heart, she's now his partner

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

This Father's Day, Dr. Paul Rumph is reflective.

"She's been a true blessing since the day she was born," the proud dad said of his daughter, 27-year-old Becky Rumph.

Since Becky was a little girl she's wanted to follow in her dad's footsteps. Accomplishing that, the new chiropractor has joined her dad in the business, becoming a part of his practice last October.

Even in preschool, though, Becky said she knew what she wanted to do as an adult.

In fact, as a graduation gift from chiropractic school her parents gave her a report card that dated back to her preschool days. On the bottom of the card was a comment from an instructor who wrote, "Becky wants to be a chiropractor just like her dad."

But Paul, who opened his practice on Becky's first birthday, recalled when she was young how she'd visit the Waterford office and "play" with the patients in the waiting room.

In fact, just recently one longtime patient of Paul's told the Rumphs she'd been waiting for the day Becky got into the practice.

"It's like going full circle," Paul said. "The little girl I've been adjusting and treating--whose been my patient for 26 years--now treats and adjusts me."

Now Paul and Becky, both Clarkston residents, enjoy discussing the practice together, problem cases, and "pretty heavy stuff," he said. "It was a gradual transition from father to daughter, to doctor to doctor. It's like now your best confidant and colleague is your own daughter."

For Becky, working with her dad is better than she expected. Then again, she didn't know what to expect, but said she does know she treasures the advice her dad gives her and is thankful for the opportunity.

"It's nice to know you can trust who you're working for completely," said Becky, who most admires her dad's confidence and his caringness for others.

But it's not all business for the Rumphs. The two have a good time working together, too.

"It's kind of a loose situation," Paul said, of the office atmosphere. "Sometimes it gets almost too loose."

Paul said Becky and he will talk from room to room as they work with patients, and the patients will just laugh.

"Sometimes I think, 'I can't believe I said that,' or 'I can't believe she said that,'

but the patients love it and that's the bottom line," Paul said. "It's comfortable that way. The looser we get, the better we are in serving our patients."

"It's a heck of a team. We're not any different out of the office than in. And that's what makes it fun," said Paul, who feels working with his daughter is heaven. "It's like a real live miracle, this is my daughter I'm working with!"

Paul continued, "Anyone who has raised a child knows it changes your life. She's been changing my life ever since. It wouldn't be life without her."

He added, "She's always been my favorite daughter."

"I'm his only daughter!" Becky laughed.

Handicap access at Clarkston post office a concern

A resident wants automatic doors at the post office because some handicapped customers have to wait for help to enter the post office.

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For one local resident, the Clarkston Post Office has delivered a bit of a concern.

Beverly Ratt is worried entrance to the building on M-15 near Dixie is not suitable for handicapped individuals and senior citizens.

"There's no way a person in a walker or wheelchair can get in (the doors) easily." And Ratt, 38 and healthy, wants to know why there are no automatic opening doors.

"It's not like it's a mall, a store, or a dress shop where, if it was difficult to access the building, you could go somewhere else. It's the United States Post Office!"

Recently, Ratt was at the post office when a gentleman in a wheelchair struggled to get in the door and was forced to wait until someone assisted him.

"At least three people walked by without helping him," she said, and expressed her concerns to employees that day. "This is a problem. It is not user-friendly for the public."

However, other Clarkston Post Office customers say the entrance is fine. Senior citizen Gloria Brown has had difficulties, specifically with the weight of doors, at other places of business, but said, "I haven't noticed any problems here." She added she has always been pleased with the quality of service at the post office as well and said the employees "are very nice here."

But Ratt said this isn't the first time this has concerned her. A year ago, she filled out comment cards stating her feelings and got nowhere. So she recently contacted The Clarkston News for help.

Since then, Inspector Jim Howard, of the Independence Township Building Department, checked out Ratt's complaint at the post office and said one of the doors was too tight and loosened it up.

Postmaster Gabe Viviano had maintenance personnel check the doors as well and fix similar problems this past week.

Viviano said he is actually surprised by the complaint and noted he's never received any complaints since the building was constructed approximately two years ago.

He said the building is handicap accessible according to ordinance requirements at the time it was built, such as having a ramp and lowered counters.

Viviano said it is not required for a federal facility to have automatic opening doors, but instead, must be able to be opened with not more than five pounds of effort.

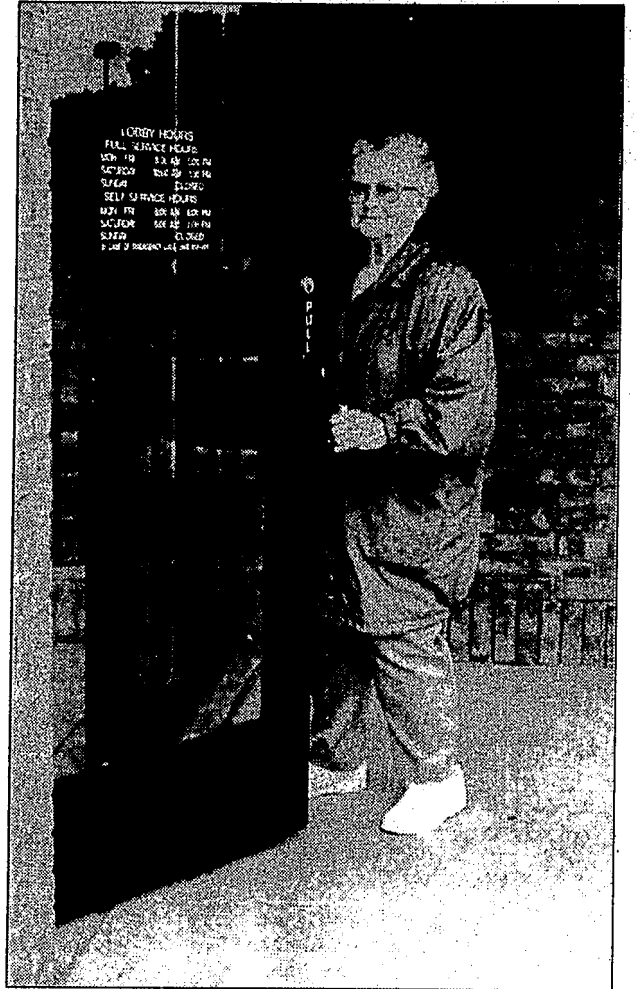

In fact, handicap access regulations for government buildings vary. The post office, for example, falls under Michigan Barrier Free ordinances, because it is a leased federal building, said Leon Genre, assistant director of the Building Department. Other buildings may fall under the American Disabilities Act.

"Everything in the building is according to federal regulations," Viviano said. "We may not please everyone, but we've never had a complaint."

Ratt is still concerned. She said she doesn't see handicap individuals or seniors speaking out "because I think they don't want to draw attention to themselves."

She added, "Clarkston is supposed to be this nice, family-oriented place, but we're forgetting the older residents. It's a government building...that's why it's such an issue."

Viviano offered Ratt any other help he could possibly give.

One concerned citizen is speaking out about handicap access at the Clarkston Post Office. "There's no way a person in a walker or wheelchair can get in (the doors) easily." However, others say the doors are okay like Gloria Brown, pictured here. "I haven't noticed any problems here, like maybe I have at other places," she said.

Coke and a smile Schools ink deal with soda giant

JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Pepsi may be the choice of a new generation, but Coke is the choice of Clarkston Community Schools.

The Clarkston Board of Education authorized Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts to negotiate a three-year deal with the Coca Cola Bottling Company as the successful bidder for the district's soft drink products.

The change will mark the end of Pepsi products at Clarkston High School. Beginning with the 2001-02 school year, the district will sell Coca Cola's soft drinks, bottled water, and juice products for the high school, including concession areas.

Coke's commission rate was 55 percent, while Pepsi's was 35 percent. According to figures provided by the district, the commission totals for the two companies, using the vending sales between March-May, would be $8,782.55 for Coke and $5,588.90 for Pepsi.

The bid request included all dispensing and vending equipment, to be provided and maintained free of charge, according to Linda Nester, the district's director of personnel and auxiliary services, in a June 6 memo to Roberts.

Nester was unable to be reached for comment as of press time.

Coke's sponsorship bid of $82,250 included a $50,000 cash sponsorship bid, to be spread out over the three years of the contract -- $25,000 in the first year, $15,000 in the second year, and $10,000 in the third year.

In addition, their proposal included $750 worth of free product each year of the contract, marketing programs worth $10,000 per year (each documented), fountain dispensing equipment installed and maintained free of charge, and vending machine fronts/sides that adhere to the district's commercial sponsorship policy guidelines.

By contrast, Pepsi's sponsorship bid of $15,450 came without a cash sponsorship proposal, and included $1,500 for tuition funding software; $1,000 for vending game promotions; $750 for a recycling program; $1,000 for the athletic sideline program; $500 worth of free product for the high school's all night graduation party, and $400 for a Pepsi print-out CD-ROM.

New left turn signal for Dixie

Excessive delays at White Lake Road

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

Drivers who frequent the Dixie Highway and White Lake Road intersection in Independence Township, take heart. A left-turn phase is being added to the traffic signal for drivers turning onto White Lake Road from Dixie. It should be operational soon.

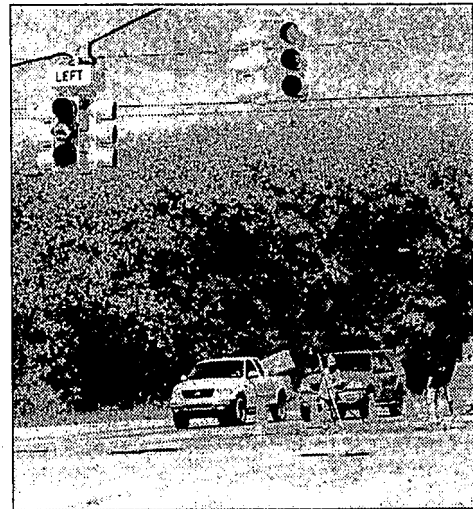

Ross Bremer, metro area traffic signal specialist for Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), said the contractor was given 60 days from mid-May to complete the work.

Construction for the new phase began at the intersection last week and will cost about $35,000. Bremer said to his knowledge, a controller must still be installed and inspections conducted before the project will be finished.

In late 1999, a left-turn phase for drivers on White Lake Road turning left onto Dixie was added to the traffic signal, said Bremer.

While area drivers are aware of frequent accidents at the busy corner, they had no bearing in adding the left turn phase, said Bremer.

"We based the need for a new left turn phase on a study conducted in late 2000 that showed excessive delay for left turn traffic from Dixie," said Bremer. "Accident statistics were looked at, but they weren't a factor in the decision." There were 83 accidents recorded at that corner from January 1, 1997 to December 31, 1999 (the most recent statistics available), according to Tim Heideman of the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County.

Bremer added that decisions of this kind are based on current statistics, not future projections. Exceptions are made if a traffic generator like a major mall is going to be built in an area.

There are no other stoplight projects planned in the near future for either Springfield or Independence townships, but Bremer said a left-turn phase is being added to the stop light at Dixie and Sashabaw Roads. It is expected to be completed during the same time frame.

Congratulations to Clarkston High School students and community for a fine send off

Congratulations to the Clarkston High School Class of 2001. You've done your community proud. Godspeed in the future.

Congratulations too, to the parents, volunteers and community for another inventive, night to remember in the Post Graduation Party.

Each year new ideas are creative, inspiring and delightful, offering a fabulous send off for the senior class.

This year's CHS Post-Graduation Party was held at the Clarkston Christian Association on Maybee and Sashabaw Roads. See next week's issue for a story about the volunteers.

Letters to the Editor

Kevin should keep in touch from jolly old England

I add my gratitude for the columns that Kevin Kosbab has written during his high school years. He's a witty, literate young man who will represent us well at Oxford University's Lincoln College. I hope he will write (probably e-mail) us about his adventures there.

However, I must set the record straight. The column he wrote about Clarkston High School football games that irritated the coach was based on an observation that I shared with Kevin. Mea culpa.

I respect both Kevin and Coach Richardson very much. They are tributes to our community. Now I'll take my medicine.

Many summer activities on horizon

Believe it or not, summertime is approaching.

Yes, there actually is a summertime here in our great state of Michigan, the area which inspires the saying, "If you don't like the weather, wait five minutes and it will change."

The change of season will become official June 21, but, in actuality, has already kicked off with Memorial Day, Clarkston High School graduation, and, lest we forget, M-15 construction.

Don't expect too much sympathy from our friends in other areas of Michigan — it seems like there's construction everywhere you turn: M-15, I-75, I-94, M-59, your neighbor's driveway (OK, maybe not that last one).

Just the same, it can make for an interesting work environment for those of us that work downtown, including the staff at The Clarkston News. Construction seems to be a necessary evil — you know the workers in the trucks and on the streets are doing their jobs, but it still drives you nuts to hear the pounding of drills, and the trucks working their way through the construction.

The people in charge of this renovation project say that M-15 will be vastly improved once it is completed. Let's hope they're right.

On another front, the change in weather means the concert season is once again underway at the (ahem) DTE Energy Music Theatre. The usual mix of familiar faces and rising stars will make their way to the theater for the 2001 concert season.

However, it doesn't look like I'll be at any concerts there this year — maybe I'm getting old, but there just doesn't seem to be any particular acts on the list that are worth seeing. Maybe, if the circumstances are right (i.e., someone has free tickets and wants me to come along for the ride), things may change.

Summertime parties are often a staple of this time of year as well. There are the obligatory high school graduation parties, where every relative and friend under the sun drops by, and the smallest detail has to be taken care of.

Having been on the receiving end of such a party (I won't say how long ago), I can say the atmosphere on the day of the party, on the part of the family planning the party, is akin to a Three Stooges skit in terms of the helter-skelter activity.

In the end, things always seem to work out, even though the parents are left with one heck of a clean-up job afterward.

There are other types of parties held this type of year, such as wedding parties (I will be attending one of these in my cousin's honor later this month), and tailgate parties (more common at Pine Knob...oops, DTE Energy Music Theater than at Comerica Park this time of year). There are also parties thrown just for the sake of getting together with friends.

Overall, summertime is the best time of the year to have a party. You don't see too many parties during other times of the year — except, of course, tailgate parties during football season. More on that another time.

There are plenty of enjoyable ways to spend the summer months — traveling, hanging out with friends, going to a beach or a park, or just taking a stroll around the block.

Even if you're at a Tigers game, knowing that they are out of contention for the umpteenth year in a row, a baseball game outdoors is still a great way to spend an afternoon, particularly at a gem like Comerica Park.

Appreciate the next couple months ahead — before you know it, the sound of school buses and the sight of leaves changing colors will be at hand.

What's up with that?

Fun in Canada? Never admit to it.

THAWOP!

"You big jerk!"
Upon arriving on Canadian terra firma, dear wife Jen physically and verbally assaulted me. (I guess husband abuse is okay across the border.)

"What kind of smart-alec answer was that?" she continued, landing another punch on my right shoulder.

I plead the Fifth, momentarily forgetting I was in Canada and that they don't have the Fifth Amendment to save individuals from self-incrimination.

I shook my head, having no real good answer, "I was just being honest."

"Arg!" she said.

Jen didn't like my response to the Royal Canadian Border Cop's question, "Purpose for your visit to Canada?"

This was the last question in a series that were asked before Don, Jen and the boys could continue on our way to Samia.

"Citizenship?"

"US."

"Hometown?"

"Goodrich, Michigan."

"Length of stay in Canada?"

"Overnight."

"Any tobacco or alcohol?"

"No."

"Any firearms?"

"No."

"Ever been here before?"

"Yes."

"Purpose for your visit to Canada?"

Silence. The border cop glared at me.

For a moment I thought she was going to pull out a big Canadian fire arm and shoot me, or worse, make me pull over to the vehicle inspection area. "Take this, aye, Yankee swine." Then Jen came to my rescue, blurting out, "We're staying overnight, going to the beach and Cantera Park."

don rush
don't rush
me

"Do you have reservations?"

Again, Jen answered, "Yes, at the Holiday Inn."

"Have a nice trip."

I pulled our mini-van forward, making sure to follow all the signs and not to go over the posted speed-limit (luckily, most car speedometers these days have the metric conversion right there, under the American, Miles Per Hour number). And, that's when Jen struck and grilled me for my "fun" answer.

What probably whizzed-off Jen was the fact that not five minutes before it was our turn for the interrogation, we had discussed how smart-alec answers were banned while crossing the border. We actually talked about it, then when it came to our turn to answer questions, I froze, my mind went blank.

"Purpose for your visit to Canada?"

I knew we had reservations at the hotel. I knew we would head to the "ocean" (what Shamus calls the big, blue, icy-cold waters of Lake Huron); I knew we would take the boys to the petting farm. I knew all that, but I panicked.

"Fun," was all I could muster.

Thanks to fixer Jen, we made it through to Samia, did all the things we wanted and watched the boys have a great time. The beach, all the fossils, shells, and sand, with waves washing in, were all hits. By the way, the weather was grand -- sunny and warm. It only rained as we started back stateside.

When we reached the American Border Cop, I looked at Jen, then back to the lady in the booth and answered all the questions correctly. The border cop looked at her computer screen, typed some, looked back at the computer and then turned and smiled at us.

"Thank you. The computer has randomly selected your vehicle to be inspected. Please follow the arrows around to the inspection area."

Obviously border cops from both sides of the bridge converse. I was narc'ed on, set up. If they don't get you coming, they get you going. Our vehicle was inspected. And the moral of the story is this, dear readers: Never admit to wanting to have fun in Canada.

Ellen spelled backward is Nelle. Not Important

We all know people like Ellen, the know everything, caustic, purveyor of cures, insulting, presumptuous worker (?) in the front office of Sherman Publications in Oxford.

This is the gal, who, when I told her the trouble I had with my undershorts turning inside out when I washed them, said (and demonstrated), how men take their shorts off by stomping on them.

Like other of her statements, that isn't true. Since then, I've made sure my shorts are right-side out when I toss 'em in the tub, and they still get reversed in the swishing.

I coughed or cleared my throat in the office one day. Ellen quickly pulled open her pharmacy drawer, poured out some vitamin C and ordered, "TAKE THESE!" I haven't showed a symptom of anything in front of Ellen since.

I've suspected many times since her vitamin ordering, that she gave me her hormone pills and called them vitamins because she doesn't like me. Actually, she doesn't like anyone.

Patterson Pharmacy could call her when they run short. Her medical desk drawer which held office stationery for every other person who has had her job since 1955, has both over-the-counter and under-the-counter drugs.

That drawer has pills, vials, syringes, salves, ointments, washes, softeners and sprays. She even has a hotwater bottle, and I'm not going to tell you what purpose it served when mother hung it on our bathroom door.

Ellen insults me at every chance. She knows son Jim runs the joint and I can't fire her. When I complain to Jim, he chuckles, and says, "Dad, what am I going to do. Until the job market loosens up I think we're struck with her."

There's a ringing endorsement for an employee. Wait 'til she asks for a recommendation for her next job.

I know some of you are reasoning, "I'll bet she's good-hearted." To which I say, "Maybe she will be when she gets the transplant."

Ellen does serve one very important purpose for the newspaper. She takes employees' minds off their own troubles to the point they work harder, thus paying more attention to their own job.

Of course, we love her. But we love de-fumed skunks, caged rats, nonpoisonous snakes, prehistoric monsters and shorts that don't turn inside-out during washing.

I read recently in the Porcupine Press some reasons for going to work naked.

Son Jim will not give Ellen an excuse to do that by ever saying loud enough for her to hear: "I want to see your butt in here by 8:00!"

On the other hand, Ellen might come to work naked some day because she knows no one will ever steal her chair.

'Hauntfest' will scare up some fun at DTE Energy Theatre this fall

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Warm weather and sunshine have finally arrived, and it's hardly a time to start thinking about Halloween. But DTE Energy Music Theatre is conjuring up tons of spooky fun for the haunting season.

For 19 days in October, Hauntfest—a joint effort between Palace Sports and Entertainment and Great Lakes Promotions LLC—hopes to scare, thrill and entertain.

Since the event would extend beyond the typical concert season and activities are planned for the parking area of the venue, Palace Sports and Entertainment officials met before the Township Board June 5 to request an outdoor gathering permit. The request was passed subject to approval from other township departments such as police and fire.

Hauntfest will feature three haunted houses: Lizzie Borden's House of Terror, the Dungeon of Darkness and 3D Nightmare plus seven carnival attractions like the Scrambler, Tilt-a-Whirl, Swinger, Fun House and more.

There'll be food concessions (no alcohol will be served); a games area; musical, theatrical and magical shows; and special guest appearances from those in the horror film industry like make-up artist Tom Savini and sci-fi comic book stars like Vampira. There will also be celebrity look-a-like autograph sessions and live music by Destroyer, a local tribute band to Kiss.

Tickets, which will be offered through Ticketmaster or at the East Box Office at DTE, will be $15 and include unlimited access to all haunted houses and carnival rides. Parking will be $3.

Hauntfest is scheduled to start October 4 and run Thursday through Sundays throughout the month.

It is proposed the event will be open to the public weekdays from 6 to 11 p.m. and Saturday and Sundays, noon to 6 p.m. (for a more family-oriented time) and 7 to 11 p.m.

However Dale Stuart, township supervisor, wants the event to end at 10 p.m. for the sake of neighboring residents too often accustomed to late-night noise. Stuart is to discuss this matter later with Palace Sports and Entertainment officials since Senior Vice President Hugh Lombardi said this was a matter of economics.

Also at the meeting it was noted Pine Knob Road will not be used during the event so not to disturb residents, and rides will be positioned as to avoid disturbance as well. The maximum permitted attendance per night will be 5,000.

If this is a successful attraction, said Building Department Director Bev McElmeel in a memo to board members, Great Lakes Promotions will be back.

Destination Imagination team competes at nationals

Six Independence Elementary students recently represented Clarkston at a national competition.

Adam Drews, Jeremy Baetz, Dan Ullrich, Robert Julian, Chris Kirsch, and Christopher Hipsher competed in the Destination Imagination Global Finals, held May 23-26 at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, Ten.

The six students were the first Clarkston team in history to reach the finals of the DI competition. A total of 47 states and 10 countries were represented at the finals.

Independence Elementary's team placed 17th out of 51 teams competing in their event.

The Clarkston team competed in the "Dinamic Improv" category. This entailed months of researching 12 cultural performances, 12 famous innovators, and 12 cultural landmarks.

At the competition, the teams randomly select one item from each category, and they have 30 minutes to create an improvisational piece. In addition, just prior to their performance, the team was given a "character action" and a surprise element that they have two minutes to discuss and incorporate in their performance.

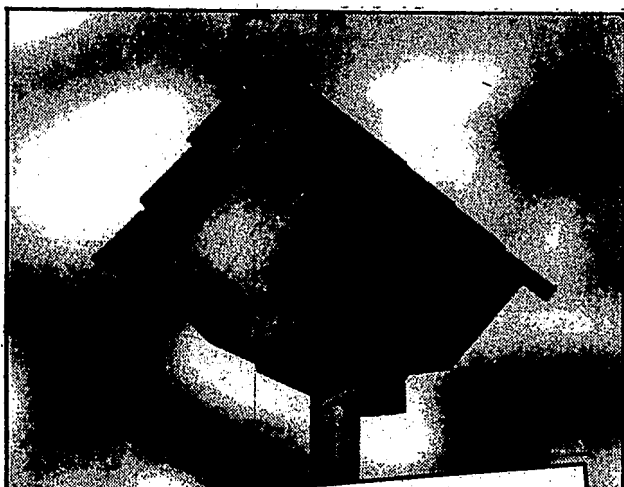

Prior to competing at the national level, the Independence Elementary team finished second in regional competition, and first in state competition.

Special meeting notice

Amateur radio fans to gather at Springfield Oaks

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Amateur ham radio aficionados in Oakland County and elsewhere will be gathering later this month to spread the word about their craft.

Amateur Radio Week is June 18-25, and members of OCARS (Oakland County Amateur Radio Society) will take part in numerous activities to raise awareness about the subject, according to Rick McKibben, a Clarkston resident and member of OCARS.

He said ham radio is a valuable tool to have around to communicate with others and in the event of an emergency.

"We're communicating with other ham operators," he said. "We're using all modes available, without using normal power. Most people don't realize that phone towers and cell phones do not have emergency power."

McKibben added when concerns over Y2K were prevalent, the ham radio operators were summoned to hospitals and different police departments.

McKibben said radio waves between 10-160 meters can be picked up

Clarkston resident Dick McKibben displays one of the tools of the trade he uses in ham radio operation. McKibben and many other ham radio operators will be on hand June 23-24 at Springfield Oaks County Park in Davisburg.

all over the world, depending on weather conditions. "The longer the wave, the more it bounces around the world," he said.

He said while the cost of operating a ham radio varies, depending on what the operator wants to do, if you know where to shop to find the necessary equipment, then the costs will be reduced.

"It can be real expensive or real cheap," McKibben said. "If you're knowledgeable about radio, you can get in cheaply, through trading."

He also said joining an amateur radio club is a big help to those people starting out. "It's good to get involved with a club. There's a lot of knowledgeable people out there."

McKibben said a book on amateur radio, called Now You're Talking, is a helpful tool for newcomers. He said the book covers the rules of amateur radio, general operating principles, and good practices.

He also said a good tip for beginners is to "sit back and listen," and observe how ham radio operators talk back and forth.

He said the group is looking at starting a program which would go to different schools and organizations, and also said OCARS would have a booth at the Waterford Summer Festival later this summer.

"It's a real fun hobby, plus you're an emergency backup for the community, if need be," he said. "We use computers in there for quite a bit (of the operation of ham radios)."

Established in 1937, OCARS is the oldest amateur radio society in Oakland County, according to McKibben.

On-air demonstrations, satellite communications and emergency readiness activities are some of the items in which members of the society will be taking part during that week.

"We hope that anyone who is interested in seeing what amateur radio is all about will come out for Field Day," McKibben said.

According to McKibben, Field Day is an annual event that has been going on for several years. He said the intent of the day is to make people aware of a unique form of communication.

"We try to get the community involved, and promote it among younger people," he said. "People don't realize how good they can be for communication use. We have developed quite a few ways of communication."

To find out more about amateur radio or how to get started, call McKibben at 625-2222 or (248) 515-6194, or e-mail him at kc8ktw@arrl.net.

If you're going . . .

Clarkston Historical Society exhibit: "A Jump in Time: Clarkston Photos Past and Present"

On May 21 The Clarkston Community Historical Society (CCHS) celebrated the opening of their exhibit in the Clarkston Heritage Museum in the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Rd.

This newest display, entitled, A Jump in Time: Clarkston Photos Past & Present, features historic photos of the Clarkston area. These photos date back to the late 1880s to the early 1930s and are each paired with a current photo of the same location. The exhibit will run until mid-November.

The exhibit promises a fascinating way to experience the changes that have taken place in our community. Although many may have seen old Clarkston photos, it is not always clear what is specifically being viewed and where it is in the community!

This exhibit provides an excellent frame of reference by viewing the past and present photos side-by-side. This exhibit truly captures the historic spirit of our community.

To continually expand their collection, the Clarkston Community Historical Society is always looking for historic Clarkston photos that photo owners would like to donate or allow the society to copy for archival or future exhibit purposes.

The exhibit also includes many interesting cameras, camera advertising and film developing equipment from days of long ago that will help put the historic photos in perspective. They will evoke appreciation for advances in today's photographic technology.

The Clarkston Historical Society opened the Clarkston Heritage Museum doors in November, 1999. Each year, The Clarkston Heritage Museum has been host to over 600 Clarkston youth associated with school field trips or community organizations.

Each exhibit is funded, in part, by proceeds from the annual fall Crafts & Cider Festival which is sponsored solely by the Clarkston Community Historical Society who founded and operates the Clarkston Heritage Museum, and by generous donations from the community. Each themed exhibit runs for six months.

The Clarkston Heritage Museum is open during Independence Township Library hours. If you have any questions, or would like to make a donation (monetary or artifact) to the museum, please call 922-0270.

THE LAW & YOU

by Robert Kostin
Attorney at Law

CHECKS AND BALANCES

Some people decry the high awards associated with the tort law system, which holds wrongdoers liable for acts that injure others. These judgements, however, are rare. Consider our society without a legal system for dealing with such injuries. To begin with, people would have less incentive to avoid injuring others, either intentionally or by accident. In addition, businesses and individuals who did act responsibly would be penalized for their good behavior. It is often more expensive to act carefully, and there would be no corresponding reduction in liability. Moreover, the victims of accidents would be left to their own resources, to pay to the consequences of their injuries. Clearly civil litigation has its place in society. If you have suffered an injury and would like to discuss your options within the legal system, contact a professional lawyer. Located at 11 North Main Street we can assist you in understanding the legal system. Call us at 620-1030 for expert advice about legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. We are here to give you the personalized service you deserve.

Note: Tort law puts the power to redress the wrongs in the hands of the individuals who suffer them.

Wagner, Rosso push to change hiring practices at Independence Township

Stuart's office after the positions are advertised to the public, Rosso explained.

Stuart, after conducting his own interviews, decides which three or four applicants are most qualified for the position. The candidates are then brought to an open meeting for interviews and the supervisor makes a recommendation that the board either confirms or denies, Rosso said.

In the township's most recent hiring of Mike Turk as director for Parks and Recreation, board members requested the vote be by written ballot. They were denied when Stuart said the vote needed to be done in the open.

Rosso was concerned not only with this, but also that there were only three people to interview and Stuart would not divulge how many applicants there had been. Plus, Wagner said it took nine months to fill the position.

"We all have the authority to hire by the law of Michigan," said Rosso. "We all have one vote as the seven on this board and that's the bottom line. What we would like is to have access to all the applicants. We the board have a right to decide who to interview."

While the township is seeking applicants for the position of DPW director, Wagner and Rosso suggested two recommendations for a new policy.

The first included developing a three-person board made up of the supervisor, clerk or treasurer, and one trustee. They would pick the top three candidates for the job from the submitted resumes, while also allowing the supervisor to add a fourth candidate should he feel one be needed.

The second recommendation suggested all resumes submitted for open positions be mailed to the clerk's office and remain sealed until a date after the submittal deadline. At that time, the three-person committee would open and prepare them for the Township Board interview committee. The full Township Board would interview three or four candidates in a special meeting. Rosso said the two choices, a hybrid or other ideas from fellow members would be accepted and considered.

Clerk Joan McCrary said Tuesday she would support a change. Treasurer Jim Wenger said he supports discussion of the issue and is open minded to a change.

However, Stuart said he thinks what has unfolded is "a bunch of baloney" and is insulted by the matter.

"It's very interesting to me no one said anything earlier," he said. Because of the discussion, Stuart had to cancel nine interviews he had scheduled with DPW applicants.

Stuart said resumes and applications are always kept on file in his office and no one ever stopped to read any. But Rosso said that was never brought to their attention.

"If the board wants to change the procedure, do it," Stuart said to members at the meeting. "I think we have a system that works accurately."

The discussion was tabled to the next meeting.

"Nobody works harder in this township than Dale. We're not against him," said Wagner. "We're not taking anything away from him, hopefully (a new policy) will relieve his load."

A SIMPLE Way To Invest In STOCKS
 $100 or more per month

It's called dollar cost averaging. You simply invest a regular amount of money into stocks each month. Although this can't guarantee a profit or prevent a loss, your money buys more shares when prices are low and fewer when prices are high.

Dollar cost averaging is a long-term strategy, so you should evaluate your ability to continue investing through up and down markets. Stocks are subject to market value fluctuation, and if sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost.

Wednesday, June 6, three citations were issued at Clintonville and Mann for marijuana possession, driving with a suspended license, and no proof of insurance.

The responding officer stopped the suspect, a 20-year-old Waterford male at the above location. A lein check revealed his license was currently suspended. The vehicle was impounded; during inventory, the officer found a bag of marijuana in the console on the floor of the front passenger compartment of the vehicle. Also, a pipe was found in the driver's door panel, containing marijuana residue. The marijuana was taken to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and logged into evidence.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1986)

The Michigan State Police department has offered free services to six townships in Oakland County, including Independence and Springfield, in exchange for the cost of six dispatchers. The proposal calls for the state police post to be located from Telegraph Road in Waterford Township to a location in the northern end of Oakland County.

An anxious crowd of approximately 25 kept the questions going for over an hour as developers proposed a 300-unit apartment complex for Dixie Highway. The planned apartments, to be called Lancaster on the Lakes, are to be situated behind the new Randy Hosler Pontiac dealership on Dixie and run adjacent to single-family residences on Waterford Hill.

Paul Tungate is back at the athletic director's job full-time after a unanimous vote by the Clarkston school board. Tungate had previously held the job on a full-time basis until the school system cut back on the sports program several years ago. Tungate will be in charge of interscholastic athletics at the high school and two junior high schools in Clarkston.

25 YEARS AGO (1976)

Just under 900 people, or about 9 percent of the eligible voters in the Clarkston School District, have elected two new members of the Clarkston Board of Education. Incumbent Charles Smalley was defeated in his bid for reelection. He garnered 340 votes, compared to 549 for Eric Reickel and 496 for Vincent Luzi, who were both elected to the board.

Dom Mauti, assistant principal at Clarkston High School from 1966 to 1969, will become principal there as of July 1. He replaces William Dennis, who becomes transportation director for the district. Mauti has spent the last seven years as assistant principal at Rochester Adams High School, while remaining a resident of Clarkston.

In a 4-3 vote, the Clarkston Board of Education ratified a new one-year teaching contract calling for an average 10 percent salary increase, including increments. Board President David Leak, who was joined by Trustees Fernando Sanchez and Charles Smalley in opposing the contract, said the raises were outdistancing cost of living hikes.

50 YEARS AGO (1951)

A policy of discontinuing the enrollment of tuition students at Clarkston Community Schools was approved by the Board of Education at a special meeting. Effective at once, tuition students will be enrolled at Clarkston in grades ten, eleven and twelve only. Beginning one year later, eleven and twelve only will be admitted. Two years later, tuition students in the twelfth grade will be permitted to graduate, and no other students will be enrolled.

On June 18, there will be a District Assembly of the 222nd District of Rotary International held at the Township Community Center in Clarkston. The host club will be the Rotary Club of Clarkston. The incoming presidents and secretaries of the clubs in the district will hear many fine talks and discussions at this assembly.

The Clarkston 4-H Club had its first meeting last week, with 12 members present. The following officers were elected: president, Ann Spohn; vice president, Vaun Walton; secretary-treasurer, George Mann. The next meeting will be at the Independence Township Community Center June 20.

Rotary awards scholarships

The Clarkston Rotary Club made its annual scholarship awards to Clarkston High School students. Presentations were made at the school's awards ceremonies.

Rotary Scholarship Chairman Dick Miller and his committee selected two winners from this year's senior student applicants and awarded scholarships of $1,000 each to Tabree Lloyd and Jennifer Kruk, both of Clarkston.

The selections were made using several criteria including grade point, citizenship, work involvement and written responses to specific topic questions chosen by the applicants.

The Rotary Club also awarded scholarships to three winners of its Challenge Scholarship program. Participating students entered the program in the fall of 1999 with a commitment to doing their best work in the last half of their junior and first half of their senior years. The winners were the top three most improved in the areas of grade point average and school attendance.

Clarkston Rotary President Bob Vandermark said "The Rotary Club is a long time supporter of student education. We like to see that students who have potential and show commitment aren't ignored if their grades aren't the highest in the class. The Challenge Scholarship part of our program addresses that goal."

This year's Challenge winners were: Annie Marshall - $1,200; Noah

Spurlock - $750 and Aaron Alley - $500. Miller said "We are pleased to use funds generated by our community projects for student assistance. We also want to recognize the support we received from Tina Chambers at the high school for her efforts in coordinating both programs". Tina is a member of the school's counseling staff.

Sommers at top of her class

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dorothy Sommers doesn't give pop quizzes or tests. Instead, she gives loads of her time and a listening ear to children in the Clarkston school district who are going through some tough times.

Sommers was recently named School Social Worker of the Year for Oakland County through the Michigan Association of School Social Workers.

Sommers said she was nominated by her colleagues and received the award May 8.

"I was very surprised and very honored," Sommers said. "I used to be the one giving the awards. I just try to work as hard as I can for the kids. I didn't expect a formal award. All the social workers in the Clarkston School District work so hard."

Sommers has been employed by the district for the last 11 years. Before her time in Clarkston, she worked as a teacher in the Pontiac school system. She then earned her Master's Degree at Wayne State University and has been helping elementary students ever since.

Sommers currently splits her duties between Andersonville and Pine Knob Elementaries. But she has spent a lot of her time at Springfield Plains Elementary and has also worked at Bailey Lake Elementary.

But no matter what school she's working at, it's listening and helping kids that she finds so gratifying.

"I see students are more confident, competent and happier and more successful in school because of the work we've done as a team, and I can see that I've had an impact," she said.

Sommers works with general and special education students who suffer from a variety of problems. Those problems range from difficult family situations including divorce, domestic violence or family loss, to friendship issues and also some behavioral issues. But she is quick to point out by no means does she work alone.

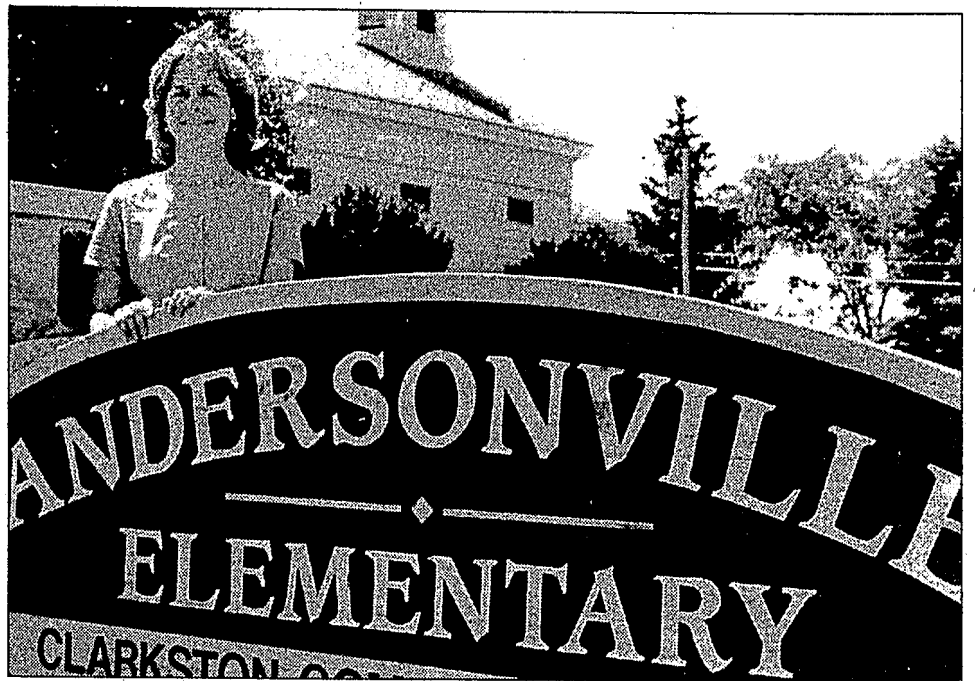

"Each building has a crisis team, which is made up of social workers, counselors, administrators and teachers," she said. "We can call in other social workers from other buildings if those needs arise. When there's a crisis, a crisis team comes together to work with each building."

Sommers said she has seen an increase in students requiring her services in the last few years, but she attributes most of the increase to the growth of the district as a whole.

"I think we're recognizing and addressing the needs more," she said. "The district is growing, so therefore there are more needs."

Sommers has been part of an organizational team which has helped to set up support groups for students going through a divorce in their family, or suffering from other social problems. The support groups have been part of the Clarkston School District all 11 years Sommers has been an employee.

"The big thing we see in the divorce group is that kids go in and see that they're not alone, they're not the only one going through that. It gives kids a special time to talk about their thoughts and feelings."

Clarkston schools social worker Dorothy Sommers was named best in the county

Sommers said connecting with students is one of the most important parts about her job.

"We try to connect the students and their families to other counseling services within the community — like Clarkston Youth Assistance," she said.

Sommers has also coordinated the Rainbows For All Children group which is a grief and loss support group for students going through a family divorce or death. The program is available for students in Pine Knob, Andersonville and Springfield Plains elementaries.

Sommers may receive another high honor this fall. In October the state board will choose the state school social worker of the year.

"When we have students who are sad or upset about a school situation, just sitting down and listening to them can sometimes make the kids feel better. Just being available and listening can be a big part of it," she said.

Clarkston Foundation Golf Classic

The Clarkston Foundation announces the 12th Annual Golf Classic will be hosted at Oakhurst Golf and Country Club on Monday, July 23. This marks the second year the event will be hosted at Oakhurst, one of Oakland County's premier private golf clubs. The Foundation is especially proud to be the only Clarkston area charitable organization to host their event at the club.

This year's event promises to be even more popular than last year's. Patrons will be provided lunch, on-course beverages, 18 holes of golf on the acclaimed Arthur Hills designed course followed by dinner under the tent, raffle and auction. The Golf Classic is the single largest fund-raising event for the Foundation.

The Clarkston Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization that supports art and science education in schools throughout the Clarkston Area. Funds raised through Foundation sponsored events such as the Golf Classic, Theater Seat Sale, Pontiac Oakland Symphony Orchestra and the Nutcracker provide resources for grants, scholarships, drama productions and the popular Teacher of the Year Program. The Foundation annually returns no less than $17,000 back to the students and staff in Clarkston to enhance educational opportunities.

The Classic begins with registration at 11 a.m. and a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Corporate teams, major sponsors, advertising and individual golf registrations are now being accepted. Register early — openings will fill quickly! More information is available by calling 248.625.7500.

HOW MANY YEARS HAS IT BEEN SINCE YOU'VE HAD YOUR ANNUAL PHYSICAL?

They always tell us how early detection can save our life. But we don't listen because we never believe we'll be a statistic.

At Beaumont, we think you should make the time for an annual physical. A complete, head-to-toe examination by a Beaumont doctor that could be — just in time.

So, if you haven't had a physical in over a year, please take a minute and make a phone call.

Because if you don't take the time for this, you may not have the time for anything else.

IT'S YOUR HEALTH...Do you have a Beaumont doctor?

For specific days/times and locations of tryouts in these other age groups, contact: Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department at 625-8223. Their address is 90 N. Main Street, P.O. Box 69 Clarkston, MI 48347.

The 12-year old Clarkston Riverdawn Boy's Baseball team battled back from two consecutive close losses to knock off the undefeated Manchester, Ohio A's 6-5 in eight innings. David Brelinski pitched all eight innings and he opened the top of the eighth inning with a triple. He scored on J.J. Ciennik's game winning RBI single to centerfield. Outstanding catches by the outfield trio of Josh Hall, Andrew Ciennik and Brandon Harris kept the game close. David Brelinski and Ciennik had two hits each and Nick Sepanski added a hit and 2 RBI.

The 14-year old Clarkston Riverdawn Boy's team beat all opponents except the Anchor Bay Angels (0-3). Riverdawns brought home the second-place trophy after the three-day tournament. J.J. Lange pitched, cutting the offensive legs from under the SCS Mariners during the semifinals. Robbie Hoff hit a one-run triple to tie up the game. Brian Chase hit a two-run double to put the Riverdawns ahead of SCS Mariners and clinch their bracket in the finals.

***

Coming off another successful regular season, Clarkston head coach Bryan Krygier is faced with replacing All-Stater Jon Bemis as well as All-County Jeremy Gabriel and three other senior starters to graduation. Fortunately, a strong core of experienced returning juniors and sophomores will be there to carry the load.

Clarkston has had one of the most successful hockey programs in the history of high school hockey, having been ranked as one of Michigan's top 10 prep teams each of their past five seasons.

To replace such talent, Club General Manager, Jack Leech came up with two squad summer program that would effectively reach out and expose talent and help form the two summer squads, the Clarkston Hockey Club will hold three open skates at the Onyx Ice Arena in Rochester. The sessions are also open to players who will be entering CHS in the fall of 2001. Individual skills development will be the emphasis for these sessions, according to Krygier. The two squads formed from these sessions will be entered into summer leagues to be held at Lakeland and Novi Arenas on the following dates: June 18 and 19 at 7 p.m. and June 22 at 7:15 p.m. at Onyx Arena in Rochester at the corner of Dequindre and Park St. Cost is $15 per session. Teams begin play in their respective leagues in late June. Schedules for summer leagues will be released shortly. Call 394-0513 for more information.

Memories from the all night party and graduation

June 6 was my longest work day since I started at The Clarkston News in January of 2000. Not only was it a work day, but a work night and then a work morning.

With camera and notepad in hand, I headed to DTE Energy Music Theatre to cover graduation. I left my apartment at 5:45 and it took no less than 50 minutes to make the one and a half mile jaunt.

Once I got there, I made my way to the pavilion and was told by Pat Goforth that I could sit in the empty rows between the class of 2001 and the stage.

I thought the ceremony was very nice and hope all the students, parents, grandparents and friends enjoyed themselves. I know I did — for the most part.

Most of the speeches were fun to listen to and most speakers did a good job of keeping them short and to the point. And while I know there is no way to shorten the list of graduates, listening to close to 500 names gets tiresome after a while.

Even though I don't have a younger brother or sister in the class of 2001, it was nice to see some of you whom I've gotten to know a little over the last few years snag that diploma.

After graduation, I headed to the Clarkston Christian Association to take pictures of the senior all night party.

It brought back memories of my senior all night party in 1995 at Novi High School. Hundreds of parent volunteers and endless preparation went into making sure you seniors had a good time. By the looks on your faces, their hard work paid off.

The only part of the party I didn't enjoy was when I realized my truck was surrounded by two other cars and a curb and I was unable leave the parking lot. Thank goodness there was all the coffee and Mountain Dew I could handle to get me through the night. When the sun finally rose, and the auction finally ended I headed to my truck and headed home. My pillow never felt so good.

I'll now leave you with some of my best memories of graduation and the all night party.

The crowd — I couldn't believe the pavilion was filled about three fourths of the way to capacity. Of course, considering I sat on Sashabaw for 40 minutes to get there, it shouldn't have been such a surprise. Plus, we're talking about C-Town here — the same community that comes together to put 10,000 people in the football stadium

Gary Kaul's speech — As some of you may know I want to be a teacher, and Kaul's speech gave me added inspiration. His joke with the step stool was the highlight of the ceremony.

Dr. Roberts speech — Starting the speech with the phrase "good morning" at about 7:30 p.m. added some comic relief to the ceremony.

Food — After sitting through the ceremony the all-you-could-handle-buffet which awaited seniors at the all-night party was a welcome change of pace. I don't think anybody went hungry June 6.

Pool — I would have been a bit out of my element trying to box with you seniors, but playing pool was fun. Sorry I had to hustle you so bad, Bobby Masterson. Maybe you'll beat me next time.

Magician — Trevor Manuel and Rafael Fauza weren't the only ones who were puzzled by that guy. I couldn't figure out how he did that stuff either.

Hypnotist — We had one of those at my party too, but I thought you guys had a better one. Some of the stuff he had you guys doing was simply hilarious. My only suggestion for next year is to put him in a bigger room if possible — the place was packed!

Caricature artist — I had one of these done when I was in middle school, so this was long overdue. I think he did a pretty good job all things considered.

Morning — When I could finally get my truck out of the parking lot I was the happiest guy there. Just ask your folks if they volunteered. I haven't been that tired since final exams in college.

Overall it looked like everybody had a great time and with the exception of the parking problem and an auction that went way too slowly, I'd say everything else went off without a hitch. A great way for the class of 2001 to go out. Come back and visit soon.

By the way, my mug shot this week is courtesy of the caricature I got done at the all night party.

(1) The performance of the particular item or part of the structure with respect to which the variance is requested shall be adequate for its intended use and shall not substantially deviate from performance required by the State Construction Code of that particular item or part for the health, safety and welfare of the people of the Township.

We Are SIDING Trim & GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. What we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We do not sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Total customer satisfaction is our only acceptable standard. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

Congratulations, Graduates!

Family, friends and siblings packed the DTE Energy pavilion to watch the Clarkston High School Class of 2001 graduate June 6.

Class of 2001's 12-year journey ends

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The entire Clarkston community came together June 6 to watch the Clarkston High School Class of 2001 cap off its 12-year journey.

Friends, family and members of the Clarkston schools community packed the pavilion for the first ever CHS graduation at DTE Energy Music Theatre. The crowd was large enough to fill nearly three quarters of the pavilion.

Members of the Clarkston Board of Education and the student body gave thanks to their supporters, including families, churches, businesses and service clubs.

Clarkston High School teacher Gary Kaul was the guest speaker. In a heartfelt speech, he reminded the graduates that they are responsible for their own actions and choices in life.

Student speaker Jaime Green reflected on the last four years. She said the lessons her classmates learned during their stay at CHS helped shape them into who they are today.

Student speakers Alexandra Gerrits, Jennifer Miller, Kelli Morton, Adam Gebus, Tara Nico and Laura Hill spoke of the successes and changes their class had seen in four years -- ranging from the opening of the new high school (in fall, 1998), to the opening of Great Lakes Crossing, and successes of Clarkston Athletic Programs.

It was a beautiful ceremony in an ideal facility -- one that the Class of 2001, and its many supporters, will never forget.

Renaissance, adult ed graduates honored

Clarkston PTA Council President Sue Kilbourne congratulates Ana Moor on receiving a PTA Council Scholarship as Matt Glova looks on.

Graduates express hope, gratitude

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Graduates from Clarkston's Renaissance High School and adult education program had their moment in the sun June 4.

The graduation ceremony for those two programs was held at Clarkston High School's Performing Arts Center. The ceremony featured several students from the programs talking about what the program meant to them.

Neal Sage, counselor and dean of students at Renaissance High School, kicked off the ceremony by thanking Clarkston Community Schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts and the Clarkston Board of Education for their support.

He also mentioned two people instrumental in the success of the programs, who were unable to attend the graduation ceremony for health reasons: Patricia Brumback, assistant superintendent for grades 9-12/special services at Clarkston Community Schools, and Marilyn Allyn, the schools' community education director.

Sage said his first year at Renaissance has been very rewarding. "I have gained another family," he said. "We help one another, listen, guide, learn from everybody. I'm thankful to the students and staff for making this a very successful year."

Roberts and board of education president Karen Foyteck congratulated the graduates and commended them for their hard work. Both urged the graduates to continue that work in the future.

Next on tap to speak were five graduates: Ronda Dendy, Nicole Johnson, and Veronica Verpooten from Renaissance, and Ronald King and Jennifer McAllister from the adult education program.

The speakers talked about a common theme: not being sure if they would make it, and gratitude that they did.

"So much has happened, I never thought I'd graduate," Dendy said.

"I remember when I was a freshman, thinking I'll never make it," Johnson said.

King, who originally was slated to graduate with Clarkston's class of 1977, said he was glad he was able to graduate before his daughter, a member of Clarkston's Class of 2001. "It was a long two years, but I did it," he said.

For McAllister, her graduation was about setting an example for her children. "I wanted to be able to tell my children I did it, and so could they," she said.

Real Patients... Real Results!

Ian Lukas- 5 months

Our family owes Dr. Thomas and his staff at Healthwise so much! He has literally transformed our son. I was referred to him by another mother whose son was born with torticollis (a neck condition). Our son was afflicted with torticollis since birth and it was greatly affecting our adopted baby's skull. The pediatricians said they would wait and see if he "grows out of it", and if not they would have him fitted with a helmet to try to reshape his skull. They were going to wait until Ian was a year old before they would address this issue. So, I took matters into my own hands and I called Early Childhood Program that helps special needs children and infants) and one of the wonderful people there had other mothers like me and tell me what had helped their children. All of them said that chiropractic care helped their children the most. One of the numbers I was given was for Dr. Thomas. We scheduled an appointment for Ian and Dr. Thomas examined him. He was extremely gentle, experienced, and knowledgeable. He even took time to give me additional information and taught us exercises to do for Ian at home, between visits. To my amazement, not only did Dr. Thomas make a tremendous difference in Ian's neck range of motion, and the reshaping of his skull bones (his pediatrician said to keep him going to Dr. Thomas, and also that in the 2 1/2 months under Dr. Thomas's care Ian wouldn't need to wear a helmet to reshape his head). Ian also had problems since birth having bowel movements. During the Doctor's assessment he found an imbalance in his spine that was causing the bowel problems. We would have to have surgery if we didn't have Dr. Thomas's suggestion.

Michael Rollman- 4-1/2 years old

Michael was born with several health challenges, some being genetic. Others resulted from lack of oxygen at birth from the cord being wrapped around his neck. This caused torticollis (a condition where the neck is stuck in a position) and a great deal of nerve damage. As a result of this he has endured hundreds of hours of physical therapy and many visits to various doctors and specialists. His most challenging problem since birth has been low muscle tone throughout his body. It even affected his ability to keep food in his stomach. Several medications were used to try to correct this problem that was diagnosed as severe gastro reflux. When the medications failed to help, the doctors recommended a surgical procedure called Nissen fundoplication as a last resort. Within several days of the surgery, it was evident that the problem was not corrected. Feeling frustrated and striving to find help for Michael, chiropractic care was suggested by a family member. This led the Rollmans to seek the advice of Dr. Thomas, a chiropractic physician in Clarkston.

After only a couple of weeks of treatment, Michael's episodes of throwing up decreased dramatically. Dr. Thomas has continued to treat Michael on a weekly basis. He looks forward to his that our son had to suffer with constipation problems for the first four months of his life. I know now I have been avoided if we had met Dr. Thomas sooner! One of the most impressive traits of Dr. Thomas is that he really cares. He shows everything is going between visits and gives me additional information to help Ian. Ian is just 5 months old and he loves everyone at Healthwise. I would and have, recommend Dr. Thomas to everyone I know.

Terri Lukas RN, BS

I hate pain, and I don't want to choose between the pain that my body is in and the kind of pain created by some of the treatments I've tried. I've tried everything, but I hesitate to go see a chiropractor (which usually meant a lot of pain). I went to see Dr. Thomas and Sharp! Dr. Thomas really cares about me and he helped me to make sure that not only did

Dr. Thomas has provided tremendous chiropractic care for our entire family, including my children. Being skeptical, I had awaited care even though I have had chronic back pain for 20 years. Under the care of Dr. Thomas I no longer have any back pain and have been enjoying a healthier lifestyle.
Jill Verros - Lake Orion

My 4-year-old daughter had chronic ear infections since birth. She was six weeks pre-mat and started her life with a 9-day course of antibiotics. She suffered from respiratory infection and ear infections every winter. She was given antibiotics for each infection and after three infections, the pediatrician put her on "maintenance antibiotics" to prevent further infections and a half ago we were introduced to chiropractic care and learned about the relationship between spinal misalignments and ear infections. We started my daughter's care early in the summer and a year later she has not had any ear infections! As I told my friend, we are so happy with chiropractic in our family that if I have another baby I will have my chiropractor begin her care before we even leave the hospital!
Sandy Fowler - Clarkston

On my first visit I was treated with care and felt very much at ease. It has only been a short time since I have been under care, but the results are coming fast. Talking to Dr. Thomas is like talking to a friend. He spends the time to really listen, answer my questions, and explain things in a professional (and understandable) way. He has shown concern and caring in a different way than the typical doctor. I have received more care and attention from Dr. Thomas than I have received from health care professionals. I am very thankful for the treatment and the caring service I have received from the whole staff at Healthwise.
Luzdzial - Clarkston

I decided to seek a Chiropractic solution to a newly injured shoulder. Thanks to Dr. Thomas I've regained approximately 80% mobility to my arm after six visits. I have finally found a friendly and informative environment where I can begin healing, the natural way.
Richins - Clarkston
