Family to acquire conversion van from Brighton dealership after Channel 7 report is broadcast

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

As Clarkston resident Megan

Goldberg continues to recover from spiral meningitis, her family will be acquiring a vehicle to help in her recovery process.

Megan's father, Bruce Goldberg, said his family will soon purchase a new conversion van from a Brighton car dealership to help the family transport Megan to her appointments. He said Megan currently uses a 300-lb wheelchair, which necessitates a specialized vehicle.

"They're going to take care of it," he said. "We're going to buy a new van. We're going to return the old one. We'll buy from a dealer that specializes in handicapped vans."

Goldberg had run into problems with Ford Motor Company getting out of his lease with his current vehicle. He said Ford does not have the type of vehicle the family needs.

However, he spoke with Heather Cattallo, a reporter for WXYZ-TV, Channel 7 in Detroit. Cattallo then did

Citizens for Orderly Growth (COG) formalizes commitment

'Township government can't hear us if we don't speak'

BY MARALEE COOK

Clarkston News Editor

Citizen involvement in growth in Independence
Township has moved to a higher level. A group of people who've been meeting for over a year formalized their commitment recently.

Holiday Inn, that is not the case with all issues.

"There are issues where we're divided, Taylor. "Our purpose is to be organized and get mation out as quickly as possible. We're still learned."

The group, Citizens for Orderly Growth (COG), is made up of area residents concerned that the nature and pace of development in Independence Township be focused on continuing to build a quality residential community.

The group first was mobilized by a proposal to build a Holiday Inn Express on the east side of M-15 north of I-75, said Beth Taylor, one of COG's five directors.

Literature about the group states, "COG offers the opportunity for every citizen to have a voice in how our community develops. With the help of folks who have been involved in township government and others who are knowledgeable about the the planning process, we have been educating ourselves so that we understand the issues and can speak knowledgably to development proposals."

Taylor would not name the people who've been involved in township government. But COG does have a primer to help people learn about the township planning process.

While the group is unanimous in its opposition to

"There are issues where we're divided," said Taylor. "Our purpose is to be organized and get information out as quickly as possible. We're still learning, but we just want to report truthfully so people are informed. Our motto is: 'Our township government can't hear us if we don't speak."

Other current issues of concern to COG members are the Home Depot proposed for the northeast corner of Sashabaw and Maybee roads, a cell tower proposed for Clarkston Road west of M-15 across from the Independence Township Library, and additional medical office space proposed for Independence Pointe on M-15 south of I-75.

The group is unanimously against the Home Depot project, said Taylor. "It doesn't fit with the (township) Master Plan and the vision for a town center on Sashabaw Road. Home Depot is also a regional draw, and one is opening in Lake Orion."

Taylor said COG members supported Northview Drive residents in their quest for cooperation from the developer at Independence Pointe. "The developer has done a lot to work with the neighborhood and we applaud that," said Taylor. She added the group questions if another medical facility is really needed at that location.

COG members have just begun to investigate the cell tower proposal, said Taylor, Research will be done on regulations, among other points

That research is the job of another director, Therese Bickford-Laub. Each director has a specific responsibility, said Taylor. She handles communications, while directors Frank Rivers, Craig Bennett and Mike Phillips keep tabs on the Independence Township Board of Trustees, the Planning Commission and the Zoning Board of Appeals.

If one of the directors can't attend a meeting, a substitute is recruited to fill in. "Someone attends each meeting," said Taylor.

Taylor said as many as 35 people have attended meetings in the past and the group hopes that number will grow.

The next meeting is Thursday, July 5 at the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Road, at 7:30 p.m.

The cell tower and Home Depot will be on the agenda, but the agenda will not be limited to those issues.

COG members intend to represent a broad cross-Please see COG on page 14

Public forum on student testing

State Rep. Ruth Johnson will sponsor a public forum in Clarkston to discuss ideas for testing Michigan students.

Parents, students, teachers, administrators and interested residentS are welcome to attend the event Monday, July 9 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the Independence Township Library, at 6495 Clarkston Road.

"I invite Clarkston area parents, residents and school personnel to participate in this important public forum," said Johnson, R-Holly. "People closest to the issue can provide the best insight. The thoughts and concerns of local residents could be turned into sound reform policies to improve the way we test students."

Defibrillators donated to Clarkston schools

The Clarkston Board of Education, at its June 25 meeting, recognized the donations from two Parent Teacher Associations toward the purchase of defibrillators.

Pine Knob Elementary's PTA donated $1,000, and Springfield Plains' PTA donated $100 toward this purchase.

The Independence Township Fire Department offered the Clarkston school district the for each building.

Arhictectual firm chosen for Independence Twp. Fire Station #3

At the June 19 Independence Township Board meeting, officials chose Desrosiers Architects for design on a new Fire Station No. 3 to be built on property adjacent to the existing building on Maybee Road.

Interviews with three firms—Straub, Pettitt and Yaste; Ehresman Associates Inc.; and Desrosiers—were conducted at a special board meeting June 18.

Township Facilities Maintenance Manager Dave Belcher, who is acting as general contractor on the project, said Desrosiers was picked because their designs fit better in relation it the township's development plans for the residential area.

Designs for the 7,000 square foot building include a brick front and residential feel, said Belcher.

Construction may begin early fall if all plans are approved and weather permits, said Belcher. It's expected to be a six to eight month project.

At Sayles Studio in Waterford...

Old negatives support charity and pick up spirits

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Behind the walls, cameras and snapshots which make up Sayles Studio, is the heart of two people who, as their motto states, "seek to exemplify the highest ideals of dignity, honesty, quality and ethics."

Beth Sayles and daughter Kathleen Richards, longtime Clarkston residents, are not just imaging artists at another photography studio. They've set higher goals—helping and inspiring others for God's glory.

In their latest project, Clarkston Village Players, Drayton Plains Nature Center, and Waterford Historical Society will get the assistance.

Sayles, a second generation owner of the 50-yearold Waterford business on Dixie, and Richards have taken on the task of cleaning out their extensive files of composite negatives and are making them available to past clients.

Dating from the 1960s through 1994, Sayles said the files became burdensome over time, prompting the clean up. Having the original film gives the possessor the copy rights, which is why the files were kept for so long. But, she said, it is really only necessary to keep files from seven years back for paperwork reasons.

Clients who take advantage of this offer are asked to give a minimum $10 donation. One hundred percent of the proceeds will go to the charity of the client's choice, between either of the three organizations. So far, $640 has been given to the nature center, $60 to the historical society, and $40 to the village players.

Donations will be matched with a no expiration gift certificate for clients for any photography service, and the family that is most represented in the files will get a complimentary sitting and 16 x 20 photo, a $400 value.

Sayles warned those who are looking for negatives of high school seniors will need to know the particular year. However, all other files have been integrated and alphabetized, so it is not necessary to know the year.

Sayles said the best part of the undertaking has been seeing old acquaintances again, and being able to give back.

But their desire to help others extends further than cleaning out files for charity donations. For example, Richards, 20, wants to use her work as a venue for sharing personal experiences as encouragement to others.

The 1999 Clarkston High School graduate recently

overcame a severe battle with depression, which at it's climax led her to a hospital stay last November.

"That's when I almost died," Richards said, who suffered with low self-esteem. "But God met me in the hospital. He showed Himself to me, gave me these passions for photography, and gave me a second chance."

Richards, who recently joined the family business, wants to be an example to other young people who walk through the Sayles' doors. And since the studio caters to high school seniors and specializes in children, "It's an opportunity to share you're not alone," she said.

"God has put me here for a reason. I have faith God is going to use me," she added. Her encouragement may come in the form of exchanging prayer requests with clients or a simple hug. "He's given everyone a gift and I know that God wants me to use mine."

Richards said, "God's love is so selfless. He gave me love and mercy and that's what I want to give back. I want to bring His love to anyone I come in contact with; for His glory."

"There's no counselor out there that can compare to the healing power of God," Sayles said, who added working with her daughter is a blessing. "It's like a miracle."

Richards said, "Our mission is to love those who come in here and to treat them with the utmost respect."

Sayles Studio, a full service studio, is located at 4431 Dixie Highway in Waterford. Call (248)674-0413.

Clarkston Conservatory will host summer camp for kids

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's not your average summer camp that takes you to places like Germany, Japan, and Mexico.

Nonetheless, that's one of the two types of camps for kids ages 1-1/2 to 7 currently offered by the Kindermusik Summer Camp at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music. The classes started June 21, and will run for five consecutive weeks, excluding the week of the July 4 holiday.

The internationally-themed camp, Adventures Around the World, is geared for kids ages 4-7, and is held each Thursday beginning at 1

Through the course of that class, students are exploring the cultures of five foreign countries: Germany, Japan, Africa, England, and Mexico.

During their June 28 session, the five students in attendance learned about Japan, and took part in many Japanese-oriented activities, according to teacher Susan Kissinger.

"They will listen to Japanese music, and will help to prepare white rice, which is the most important food of Japan," she said.

After that, the students learned how to use a den den drum, which is a traditional Japanese musical instrument, and then made a volcano out of clay, and helped watch it "erupt."

The framework for the Japan lesson, as well as the four others the students will be taught, incorporates music, movement, drama, and instruments native to each country, according to Kissinger.

In addition, they will take part in arts and crafts activities unique to each country, such as making an African decorative mask and Mexican pinatas, she said.

The other camp offered by the conservatory, designed for kids ages 1-1/2 to 4, is called Creatures at the Ocean, and is offered at two separate times Thursdays, at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

During each class, students take part in story time, singing, playing instruments, and other activities suited for children in that age group, Kissinger said. In addition, she said the lessons allow the children to play with their parent or guardian, who is on hand during each lesson.

Lessons offered during this class include the following: Ahoy There, On My Beach Blanket, Coastal Waters, Riding the Wave, and In the Deep Blue Seas.

Seven candidates interview for DPW post

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

trimmed its list of candidates for its Department of Public Works head in half.

Supervisor Dale Stuart, along with treasurer Jim Wenger and trustee Dave Wagner, interviewed seven candidates for the job, with interviews lasting approximately 45-50 minutes. A total of 15 people originally applied for the job.

After the interviewing process is completed, Stuart said he will narrow down the field to three or four candidates before selecting a person for the job. He said he hopes to have the process completed "within the next 30 days."

The seven candidates for the job are as follows:

■Muzaffar Lakhani, who has served as Department of Public Services director for the City of Inkster since July 1998. Prior to that, he was senior engineer for Imaging Subsurface Inc., and supervisor of public services for the City of Grosse Pointe Park. He holds a master of science degree in civil and environmental engineering from Wayne State University.

Linda Richardson, acting director of the Independence Township DPW. She has served in that post since August 2000, and before that, served as assistant director of the DPW since 1993. She is a 25-year employee of the township. ■Paul Shearlock, who has served ship since 1997. Before that, he worked as an environmental engineer for Rouge Steel and Hoskins Manufacturing. He holds a master of science degree from Wayne State University in hazardous materials control through the university's engineering department.

■William Pottinger, who has been supervisor of the Department of Public Utilities for the City of Auburn Hills for the past six years. He has been an employee with the city for 12 years.

■Linda Harris, who has been a water maintenance operator with the City of Madison Heights since January 1998. She has been an employee with that city since May 1988.

■Frank Wessel, who has been a streets supervisor for the City of Sterling Heights since 1996 and is a 32-year employee with that city. He has also spent 15 years as a water and sewer supervisor/superintendent in the U.S. Air National Guard.

Larrie Ordus, formerly a consultant and contract manager with the City of Ecorse. He also worked for the City of Lincoln Park for 20 years before retiring in 1996.

Lakhani, Richardson, Shearlock, and Pottinger were interviewed on June 27, while Harris. Wessel.

and Ordus were interviewed June 29. During the interview process, candidates were grilled about the water licenses they hold, management philosophies, applying discipline in labor situations, their career goals, and their familiarity with Independence Township.

When asked what he saw himself doing within 5-10 years, Lakhani said he would like to continue working in the public works field, particularly on the management side. "I hope to refine my management skills," he said.

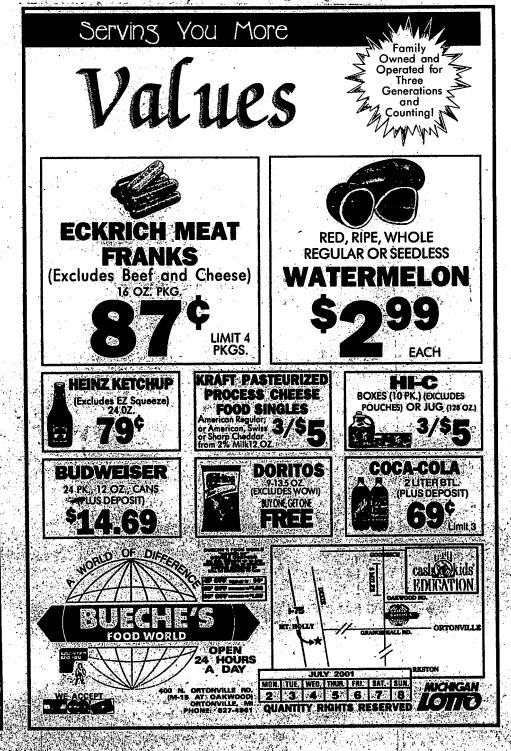

He said his engineering background and supervisory experience in both Grosse Pointe Park and Inkster would make him a good fit for the Independence Township job. In Grosse Pointe Park, Lakhani supervised a staff of 25 employees, while in Inkster, he supervised a staff of 30 employees.

He admitted to not being very familiar with Independence Township, but did say the area had a quality school sys-

Stuart said the DPW head would earn approximately $59,000 per year, along with several benefits, such as hospital insurance, dental reimbursement, optical, disability, and a pension program. The person selected would also have 10 vacation days in their first year on the job, followed by 15 in the second year, and then would earn more vacaation days for each year spent working for the town-

Stuart requested the seven candidates write formal letters to him by July 6, describing the qualities they have to offer the township, their management style, and the changes, if any, they would make to the department.

She's happy to be working in her hometown

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Anne Evans likes Clarkston so much, she's decided to work here.

The 23-year Clarkston resident was recently appointed as the new assistant director of student support services for Clarkston Community Schools. She began her duties June 18.

"I'm trying to feel my way around, and getting to know as many people as I can," she said. "It's been a nice transition. My youngest son (Matthew, who will attend the University of Michigan this fall) graduated from Clarkston High School this year."

Evans said now is a good time to take on her new job. "It's a good time for me to delve into an administrative position," she said.

In her new post, Evans will report to Patricia Brumback, assistant superintendent for grades 9-12/ special services for Clarkston Community Schools. Brumback was on vacation and could not be reached for comment as of press time.

She said she is happy to be working in her hometown. "Working here is like coming home," she said. "I'm thrilled to be in Clarkston. It's a fabulous, supportive community. It's a community that works hard for its kids. You still feel that there's a small-town atmosphere, even though it's grown."

Evans was a school social worker in the West Bloomfield school district for the past 15 years. Before that, she was a school social worker for the Pontiac school district for 13 years, and had taught special education in that district for three years.

Evans holds a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University in elementary and special education, and a master's degree from Wayne State University in social work. She also has her education specialist's certification, with emphasis on special education administration, from Wayne State.

Anne Evans is assistant director of student support services for Clarkston schools.

'There's a lot to my job," she said. "In a nutshell, I think it's to try and preserve and promote the high quality of education for special education students, which Clarkston is known for, and add what I can to make it better. I'm in charge of the support staff. We have a fabulous staff here. My job is to make sure kids are receiving proper services, and provide leadership to younger teachers. Part of my job is to make sure they have what they need to do a good job."

Evans said she will help teachers generate ideas for working with their students.

She also said part of her job is to make sure the district complies with federal and state laws. "We have to follow special education laws, and make sure we're in compliance with the federal and state guidelines,"

Evans said members of the support staff write a plan for each special education child for the academic school year, and follow that plan to the best of their ability, making adjustments when needed.

To that end, she said parents are actively involved in that process. Evans said another key part of her job is making sure she is accessible to parents.

She said the teachers she had during her school years played a key role in her decision to enter the field.

"I think teachers have always influenced my life," Evans said. "I had a counselor in high school in Lake Orion who made sure I could go to college. I was the first person in my family to attend college. It was a big deal back then.'

She also said her desire to work with children has played a big role in her work in special education.

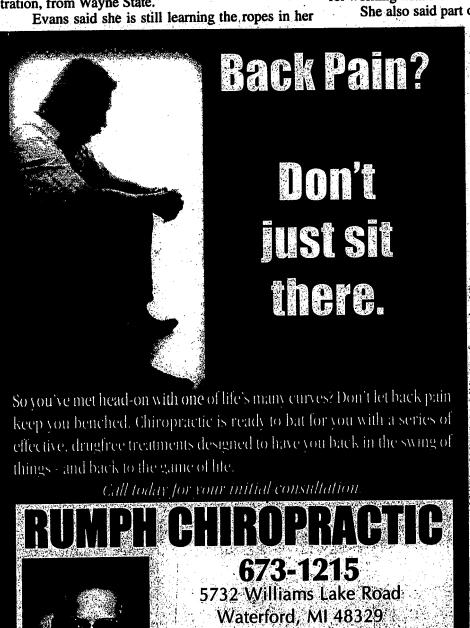

"The love of working with children has been a huge force behind my career," Evans said. "All kids need to feel successful. Special education kids have very unique needs."

In her spare time, Evans said she enjoys bicycling, gardening around the house, outdoor activities, family activities, and being with her children and hus-

Evans and her husband, Jim, also have another son, Christopher, who is a CHS graduate, and graduated from Harvard University this spring.

She said to the best of her knowledge, Christopher is the first CHS graduate ever to graduate from Harvard. He is currently living in North Carolina and works as an investment banker.

"Both of my boys are a perfect example of the opportunities provided within the Clarkston schools,"

Independence lucky to have quality citizens participating on Planning Commission

Richard Oppman's contributions to the Independence Township Planning Commission will be missed.

Among other input over the years, in 1998 Oppman recognized the Ryder truck company would be using its proposed 450,000 square-foot facility on Sashabaw Road as a trucking terminal and not a warehouse.

Since Ryder would be sequencing and scheduling automotive parts for delivery to GM plants rather than storing them, it made the use inappropriate for that location, which is zoned Industrial Office Park, a light-industrial designation.

That gave citizens and officials opposing the project the ammunition to demand Ryder, which would have added 500 truck trips per day to the busy Sashabaw corridor, look elsewhere for property.

Oppman also participated in a well-organized and -presented joint Planning Commission/Township Board meeting which rezoned several properties on M-15 north of I-75.

That meeting also showcased the qualities of two other intelligent, thoughtful former Planning Commissioners, Todd Moss and Joe

During the last year Moss and Figa also left the Planning Commission, although not by their choice. They were not reappointed by Supervisor Dale Stuart. Stuart replaced them with qualified candidates Theresa Gillis and Cheryl Karrick.

Gillis recently resigned and has not been replaced.

This township is blessed with many intelligent, community-minded individuals who, like the above-mentioned people, possess integrity and and a sense of commitment.

Former township trustee Neil Wallace suggested last week that Figa and Moss replace Oppman and Gillis, if they choose to

However, if that is not an option, it's obvious, from the quality of the rest of the Planning Commission members, that there is a fine selection of residents in this community w choose from.

Support House Bill 4995 for open space preservation

The North Area Citizens Conference held its annual picnic, open to the public, in the pavilion of beautiful Oxford Township Stony Lake Park.

State Representatives Ruth Johnson and Mike Bishop, as well as Tom Athans, executive assistant to U.S. Congressman Dale Kildee, and Peggy Johnson, board member of the Clinton River Watershed Council and Oakland Conservancy, and Oakland County Commissioner Larry Obrecht addressed the crowd. Among the participants were many township supervisors, and trustees from Addison, Oxford, Brandon and Orion town-

State Rep. Johnson reported about the introduction of House Bill 4995 to amend the township zoning act. It would require townships to establish an open space presevation ordinance. This provision would allow houses to be clustered on a developable parcel in order to preserve natural features, such as wetlands, wood lots, and farmland. A minimum of 50 percent of the land would remain in an undeveloped state (golf courses cannot qualify).

The NACC strongly supports this initiative, and all chapters will contact their township boards to enact this provision as speedily as possible. Some of our townships already have this provision on their books.

Please don't sell the 50-yard line for $50

Even though some of you may not believe it, I do more at The Clarkston News than cover Clarkston sports. I also cover Clarkston city council meetings, which sometimes can be even more fun than a triple overtime thriller.

Last week, we ran a story entitled, 'Do ATM's violate city character.' The article discussed the possibility of Clarkston State Bank putting automatic teller machines just outside city hall. Two days before the story ran, I headed over to 375 Depot Street like I do almost every other Monday and took my seat, grabbed the agenda and said hello to several council members as well as City Manager Art Pappas. It looked to be business as usual, which for a 20-something, non property or business owner like myself, can be a little dry, to put it lightly.

After the usual formalities of saying the pledge of allegiance and approving the agenda and the minutes of the previous meeting, things got underway.

One of the big topics at the meeting was the idea of putting two CSB putting ATM's just off Depot near city hall. There was no formal proposal made by Ed Adler, the man who approached the council with the idea. Nor was any decision or action taken by the council. But councilman Walt Gamble and a few other council members expressed their concern over whether throwing a CSB logo around Depot Park would take away from the character of the I'll be the first to admit that at times I think certain members of the council get a bit carried away with "maintaining the character of the village." I probably feel that way because a) I wasn't born or raised here and b) I've only lived in the area for a year and a half and c) I'm only 24 — how much of a history sense can a guy my age really have, right?

But during the discussion I thought about one thing

Mr. Gamble said.

"What's next? DTE Gazebo?" he said. It's not out of the realm of possibility is it?

Is it really out of the question to think in ten years or less we could see a big corporate logo at the 50 yard line at the Clarkston High School football field.

Money talks and most everyone listens when the green stuff has the floor.

> I'd like to think the only thing I'll ever see at the 50 yard line of the Clarkston High School football field will be a sacked Lake Orion quarterback or a Wolf celebrating a key third down conversion against Troy, but it may not always be that way.

> Things always change and I've been in the area long enough to see a lot change around here. From DTE Energy Music Theatre to all the road construction on Main Street.

> You don't have to be a rocket scientist to know most area residents would consider themselves conservative.

And more residents have been showing up to council meetings in recent weeks expressing their concerns with various. That's good, Get involved. Learn about what's going on. Ask questions. Talk to neighbors.

For the next three or four months this area will undergo a lot more change and it's not going to stop once Main Street's done. Things will always change.

I'm just hoping there's never a big DTE or other corporate logo at the 50-yard line of the CHS football field.

That's a place for kids and their parents to make memories that last a lifetime. Not a place to remind fans where to do their business.

E-Mail Ed your take on the happenings around town. Letters can be sent to aedavisli@aol or clarkstonnews@adni.net. Come join the fun! Clarkston city council meetings are held the second and fourth Monday of every month at 375 Depot Street at 7 p.m.

It's around this time of year we usually hear somebody whining about our national anthem, the Star-Spangled Banner.

"It's too hard to sing," the boo-hoo babies cry.

"It's not even American. It was an English drinking song -- what kind of message are we sending to our children?" the pouty-faced intellectually elite moan.

Well, to hell with them. This column's not about them. It's about Francis Scott Key and the danged English drinking song he ripped off for the good of Americans every-kept aboard the ship Tonnant. Key and Col. John Skinner went to the British flagship to secure his release. All three Yankees were put aboard a sloop behind the British fleet and forced to wait until the Brits finished some business.

Their business was bombing Fort McHenry before moving on to Baltimore. They spent 25 hours and 1,500 shells bombing the fort. When the Americans did not surrender (they also sank 22 British vessels), the English abandoned their attack. When the bombing stopped, and the American flag still waved over the fort, Key was said to start penning his verses on the back of a letter (or handbill, depending on the account you read).

First titled, Defense of Ft. McHenry, the song was quickly popular with the American Army and Navy, and adopted as their anthem. It wasn't until 1931, however, Congress made it the official national song.

But, what about that English drinking song? Nobody ever talks about it. The song is called, Anacreon in Heaven. So, without further eloquence, here it is --well most of it.

(By the way, it is sung to the tune of Star-Spangled Banner.):

Anacreon in Heaven

To Anacreon in Heav'n, where he sat in full glee, A few Sons of Harmony sent a petition; That he their Inspirer and Patron wou'd be; When this answer arrived from the Jolly Old Grecian;

The news through Olympus immediately flew; When Old Thunder pretended to give himself airs. If these Mortals are suffered their scheme to pursue,

The Devil, a Goddess, will stay above stairs.

"Hark", Already they cry,

"In transports of joy,

Away to the Sons of Anacreon we'll fly. And besides I'll instruct you like me, to intwine, The Myrtle of Venus with Bacchus' Vine."

"The Yellow-Haired God and his nine lusty Maids, From Helion's banks will incontinent flee, Idalia will boast but of tenantless Shades. And the bi-forked hill a mere desert will be. My Thunder no fear on't, Shall soon do it's errand, And damme I'll swing the Ringleaders I warrant, I'll trim the young dogs, for thus daring to twine, The Myrtle of Venus with Bacchus' Vine."

Ye Sons of Anacreon then join hand in hand; Preserve Unanimity, Friendship, and Love! 'Tis yours to support what's so happily plann'd; You've the sanction of Gods, and the Fiat of Jove. While thus we agree,

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1986)

The next stop may be Oakland County Cincuit Court for Mt. Zion Temple parishioners. In a special meeting of the Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals, a planning commission decision to deny a special land use permit was upheld in a 4-I vote. The church had sought the special permit to build a 52,000-square-foot building off Maybee Road near the I-75 overpass at Clintonville Road.

The independence Township Planning Commission proposed to the township board that Maybee Road be extended. Commission Chairman Neil Wallace attended the meeting to represent the commissioners and to recommend that the township make efforts to obtain land rights for the extension. Citing traffic safety, Wallace suggested an elongation of the road through a field at the Maybee and Dixie traffic signal.

Having diverted a mining operation with the purchase of 40 acres off Sashabaw Road, Indopendence Township is now ready to sell 20 of those acres to Oakland County. The 40 acres weer obtained for $3,300 persons from the Edward C. Levy Mining Co. in 1985, according to Supervisor Frank Ronk, Levy had planned to mine gravel at the site. and the township's purchase came after five years of negotiating with the company.

Main Street construction

Electrical, curb work slated to start

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Work along Main Street took a break earlier this week, but by week's end a good portion of the work on the west side of Main Street will be completed.

Construction continues for the on-going water project which includes the installation of a 12-inch watermain on Main Street so residents and business owners can hook up to the water supply of Independence Township. Hookup is not mandatory, but encouraged by members of the Clarkston city council for health and safety reasons.

Construction workers stopped working July 3 and did not work July 4 because of the holiday. Construction may pickup again July 5 and run through July 7, resident engineer Jim Natschke said Monday. No construction will take place July 8.

Natschke said workers are pressure testing the watermain, making sure there are no leaks. He said the majority of the watermain is now in place.

Natschke said work on the east side of the Main Street may begin by the end of July.

After that happened, Goldberg said Ford agreed to let the family out of their lease, enabling them to look for the specialized vehicle.

He said although Megan has a "long, long way to go," she is making a tremendous amount of progress, and will be coming home from the University of Michigan Hospital in a couple of weeks.

"She's doing real good — she's been doing her school work, and has started eating real food,"

Goldberg said. "She's ready to get out of the hospital."

He said Megan, who is left-handed, has 85 percent strength in her left arm, and is going through physical, speech, occupational, and recreational therapy at U of M hospital. He said Megan is "talking nonstop."

Goldberg said Megan, a Clarkston Middle School student, had the chance to visit her classmates before the start of summer vacation.

He said Megan visited the school for about 45 minutes, and had the chance to visit with three middle school teachers, her best friend, and several students in the cafeteria.

GOING FOR BROKE

The Senate and House recently passed legislation that overhauled the bankruptcy system. In an attempt to prevent abuse by consumers, the major change under both versions of the legislation affects who can file for Chapter 7 bankruptcy. There are two main types of consumer bankruptcy: Chapter 7, the most common form, and Chapter 13, in which debtors enter repayment plans with their creditors: Presently, anyone can file for Chapter 7 bankruptcy. Under the new law, only individuals who meet a means test will be permitted to file. Any bankruptcy petitions filed before the new law goes into effect, which happens six months after the president signs. it: will be handled under the current bankruptoy legislation.

We are pleased to share information about legal proceedings with the public through our columns. If you have questions about the present and future bankruptcy laws, speak to a professional lawyer. We handle a variety of legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. Conveniently located at 11 North Main Street, we would be glad to discuss your legal questions with you. Contact us at 620 1030.

NOTE: Another major change in the new bankruptcy legislation is requirement that debtors undergo credit counseling.

CHS staff 'Development Days' program set

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A few details have yet to be worked out, but the Developmental Days planning program for Clarkston High School teachers is close to being finalized for the 2001-02 school year.

CHS Principal John Diliegghio said he is moving forward with plans to meet with parents and staff members to discuss the proposal. He said the school will have subcommittees to discuss how the plan will be implemented.

He said there is some fine-tuning John Diliegghio with regard to organizational details, but he said the main aspects of the plan are already in place. "We have the schedule worked out," he said. Under the proposal, each Wednesday of the 2001-02 school year, from 7-10 a.m., will be set aside for teachers and staff at CHS to work on professional development. Students would report for class at 10:44 a.m. those days.

On Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, the school day would begin at 7:20 a.m., 10 minutes earlier than this year, and end at 2:30 p.m., 10 minutes later than this year.

The total instruction time on Wednesdays will be 3 hours, 46 minutes, while the instruction time the remaining four days of the week will be 6 hours, 40 minutes, not including a 30-minute lunch period. Class periods will rotate every Wednesday.

Clarkston Community Schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said the plan will provide a frameworkshop to enhance themselves.

"One of the things we get concerned about each year is that teachers get involved in professional development," he said.

In addition, he said students would not lose any instructional time under the new plan. "The plan that he (Diliegghio) has proposed brings kids in 10 minutes earlier, and they leave 10 minutes later," Roberts said. "We're hoping that part of what John is putting together will keep kids in classrooms," he said.

Dan Ferguson, CHS teacher and Student Council advisor, said, "I think it will give teachers and administrators a better opportunity to look at topics more in-depth than in years past because of time constraints. It gives us an opportunity to give closure on topics and discussion. It allows us to communicate at the same time, so more voices are heard, and the best decision for kids will be made.

CHS Principal

"Students are very much looking forward to (starting school 10 minutes earlier). I think they have a great perspective. I think the kids are accepting the responsibility. I see this as a very positive thing."

Student Stacie Giroux, who will be a senior next year, said, "I think it's beneficial both ways. It's good for kids to take breaks, and it's good for teachers, because they have more time to get their stuff together before class. I don't really think (going to school 10 minutes earlier four days a week) is going to be that big a deal. I think it's a fair tradeoff."

Clarkston needs to look no further than one of work for teachers to attend conferences and their neighbors in northern Oakland County to find a similar program in action.

The Oxford Area Community Schools district has a program in place where their elementary school teaching staff works eight half-days per year, and the secondary teaching staff would work 15 half-days per year, according to Edie Paradowski, communications director for the Oxford district.

"We do have a program like that here in Oxford," she said.

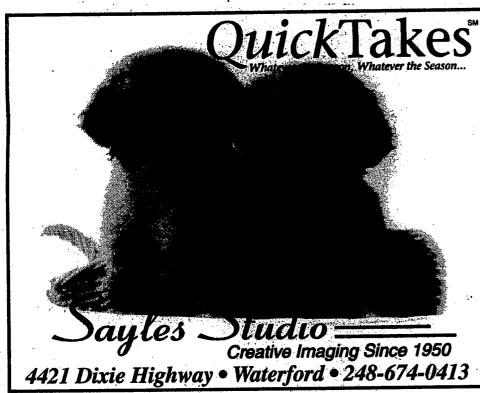

When class is not in session, the Oxford staff spends time working on professional development areas, Paradowski said.

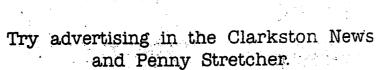

"During those times, they might work on building goals, curriculum issues, learning how to implement curriculum," she said. "By law, all teachers need to have a minimum number of hours of professional development. Part of what we're doing is complying to legal requirements."

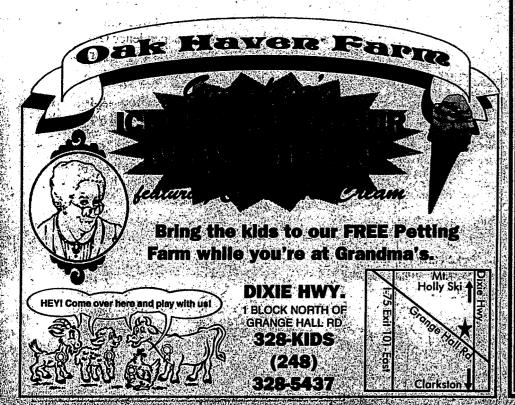

She said during half-days at the secondary level, students follow an abbreviated class schedule, as their instruction time is reduced from 55 minutes to 30 min-

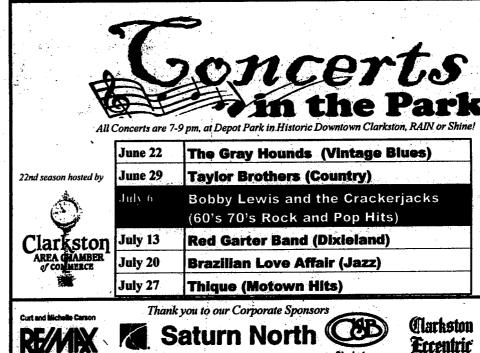

She said professional development time is essential for teacher growth and learning to use the latest technology in their classrooms.

"In order to keep providing a quality program, you keep having to develop yourself," Paradowski said. "One of the quickest paths to failure is to purchase anything new and then not spend time learning how to use it. We want very much to encourage our staff to participate in these activities."

Counseling, teaching leads local to Terry Hood Award

Dr. Thomas K. Stone honored with lieftime achievement

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Clarkston resident is the most recent recipient of the Terry Hood Award.

Dr. Thomas K. Stone was presented with the award at the Oakland Counseling Association annual luncheon May 18 in Bloomfield Hills by president Paula Cairo. The award is given for lifelong accomplishments.

"It's a lifetime achievement award," Dr. Stone said.
"They pick someone who has been active. They look at what a person has done in their work and their life."

Dr. Stone's interest in counseling began while he was doing his undergraduate work at Wayne State University. He said he was an active undergraduate student and worked part time as the assistant director of the alumni office while he worked his way through school en route to earning masters and doctorate degrees.

"When I worked at Wayne I really enjoyed being sort of a facilitator for all the different alumni groups," Dr. Stone said. "It was a good way to serve the community and I enjoyed serving people."

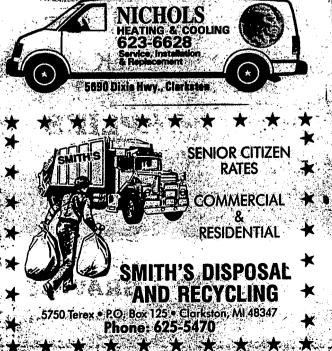

After working at Wayne State for a decade, Dr. Stone then made the move to Oakland Community College in 1969. There he continued to help and serve others as both a counselor and a teacher. Dr. Stone taught mathematics and psychology part-time and continued working as a counselor, which gave him the opportunity to help students for a wide variety of backgrounds.

"When I was at OCC I was dealing with students from all kinds of backgrounds and cultures," Dr. Stone said. "You'd have some students that had very limited resources and couldn't afford to go anywhere else."

"We also had students who were immigrants from all over the world. Some were professionals in their field, but had to become "requalified" if you will in their new country. I think the variety of students I worked with was the most gratifying part of being a counselor," Dr. Stone said.

Dr. Stone officially retired eight years ago, but taught mostly math on a part time basis for the first five years of his retirement.

However, even though he has been out of the classroom and counseling office for the last three years, Dr. Stone has still kept extremely busy.

He served as past president for the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy for 10 years beginning in 1989. The group has worked to preserve open spaces in the area. The group was formed about 30 years ago, Dr. Stone said, and played an integral role in keeping Liberty Golf Course, formerly Clarkston Creek, as open space.

"It's been like an unpaid second career," Dr. Stone said. "It's good to serve the community."

Harold Wiederhold and secretary John Greene.

"I joined the Rotary Club to give back to the community and for fellowship. Those are things that are important to me," Hoff said.

In addition to inducting new officers, the Rotary Club honored two people with the Paul Harris Award. A $1,000 donation to Rotary International was done on behalf of past rotary president Dick Morgan, who served from 1949-1950 and Rotarian Harold Sutherland.

Projects planned for the year include new Christmas decorations for downtown Clarkston, the annual Labor Day Parade, scholarships for Clarkston High School graduates, The Good Fellows program, which provides shoes for needy kids at Christmas time and improvements to a needy orphanage in the Ukraine.

"Our existing Christmas decorations are from the 1980's," Hoff said. "We hope to do more lights and a little less decorating downtown this winter."

CMS track caps off solid season

Girls set eight records, boys set personal bests

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was another successful season for the Clarkston Middle School boys and girls track teams.

The CMS girls' track team completed an undefeated dual meet season with a second place finish in the seventh and eight grade Oakland County meet.

During the course of the season eight school records were broken by the lady Wolverines including Liz Mengyan in the 1600 meter (4:37.9), Gillian Nordquist in the 3200 meter (12:10.4), Mengyan in the 800 meter (2:24.3), Megan Tomkiewicz in the shot put (35'3"), the 4x800 relay team, which is made up of Nordquist, Taylor Hosner, Lisa Sickman and Mengyan (10:31.6), the 4x400 relay team, which is made up of Jenna Przybcien, Amanda Leach, Hosner and Mengyan and the 4x100 relay which is made up of Laruen Smith, Jessica Robinson, Emily Muchiando and Michelle Zeile (55.6)

In addition to those records, several other Wolves played strong parts during the season. Head coach April Kosin noted several other Wolves who made solid contributions throughout the year including Anna Kerr in the 3200 and the 1600, Ann Oltman in the 1600, Sickman in the 800, Chelsea Hasset in the hurdles and high jump, Lauren Mesi in the 200 and 800 and Maggie Seaman in the hurdles.

At the county meet several Wolves placed including Nordquist, who finished second in the 3200 meter (12:19.9) and Kerr who finished sixth (13.02:0). Clarkston's 800 relay team finished third (1:56:8) and Mengyan finished second in the 800 (2:29:1). In addition, Jill Kouri placed second in the 200 meter hurdles (31.7), the 1600 relay team finished second (4:30.5) and the 400 meter relay team finished fifth (55:6).

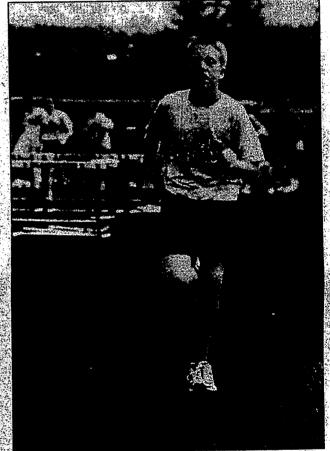

Other strong performances came from Nordquist in the 1600 meter who finished second (5:42.3) and Oltman who finished fifth (5:52.5).

Rounding out the strong Clarkston girls performances were Amanda Leach who finished third in the 400 (64.8) and hte 3200 relay team which finished second (10:43.6).

While no school records were broken on the boys team this year, many personal bests were set throughout the season. Kosin noted several standout athletes including the following: Robbie Clark in the 100, 200 and long jump, Dan Mayer in the 55 meter hurdles, 200 meter hurdles and high jump, Don Minton in the shot put, Eric Moss in the 3200 relays, PatricAlexander in the 800 and relays, Travis Hughes in the 1600 and re-

Girls softball team has been picking up steam, confidence since beginning of season

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Editor

Gary Krause has planted some seeds in his team and now he's having the pleasure of watching his team blossom.

Krause is the head coach of the Independence Township 8-10 girls softball team Clarkston Optimist Club. It is his first season as head coach, and one where he has done his best to teach his girls some fundamentals of the game.

"The first day of practice about half of the girls could hit and half of them couldn't. We had a lot of girls who were afraid of the ball. But they've come a long way since that point," Krause said.

To help his girls improve their hitting skills, Krause has implemented a simple three-step strategy. The first step is for the girls to line their feet up. Secondly, the girls line their bat up with the plate and finally perhaps the oldest motto in the game, keep your eye on the ball. The system has worked well for members of the team and it has helped several of them get over their fear of the ball, Krause said.

"Some of the girls used to shy away from the ball or close their eyes, but they're not as afraid of it anymore," he said.

Krause said one of his players, Kelly Burger, is a great example of his team's progression.

He said Burger went hitless in the first six games, but since then has become one of the team's most consistent sluggers.

"She went to a clinic run through Independence Township Parks and Rec and has learned how to keep her eye on the ball," Krause said. "She's really improved. I'd say she's the most improved player on the team at this point. I try to stress to all the parents to try to get their kids to batting cages to improve their hitting

Although official standings are not kept in the league, Krause remembers his team's best performance this season. It came when his club was down 11-7 and rallied to win 14-7. Becky Furlo pitched a scoreless inning in the game, which included two strikeouts.

"My favorite part is teaching the girls the fundamental skills and then seeing them perform them in a game. Their progress has been great and it's joy watching their smiles when they make a good play," he said.

Another challenge in coaching such young players is keeping their focus throughout the entire five inning game, Krause said.

"At the beginning of the season sometimes some of the girls would lose their focus after a few innings, but the further into the season we get, the longer they've been able to stay focused on the game," he said.

Krause, who coached youth parks and recreation teams in the Wayne Westland Youth Athletic Association and in Fenton Parks and Rec spoke highly of the job the people at Independence Parks and Rec do.

"Everything here has been very well organized and top of the line," he said. "They do a great job of keeping you informed of makeup games and the umps have done a great job too. It's a very solid parks and rec program they have here," he said.

As much as he enjoys coaching youth sports for Independence Township Parks and Rec, Krause was troubled by the amount of support youth baseball and softball get in the

"I think the popularity of soccer in this area has put baseball on the back seat. It's too bad really. Baseball requires a lot more motor skills than soccer does," he said. Krause also coaches the youth t-ball team Spectrum Printing, which is made up of boys and girls from ages

Fire Station No. 3 architects chosen

At the June 19 Independence Township Board meeting, officials chose Desrosiers Architects for design on a new Fire Station No. 3 to be built on property adjacent to the existing building on Maybee Road.

Interviews with three firms--Straub, Pettitt and Yaste; Ehresman Associates Inc.; and Desrosiers-were conducted at a special board meeting June 18.

Township Facilities Maintenance Manager Dave Belcher, who is acting as general contractor on the project, said Desrosiers was picked because their designs fit better in relation it the township's development plans for the residential area.

Designs for the 7,000 square foot building include a brick front and residential feel, said Belcher.

Construction may begin early fall if all plans are approved and weather permits, said Belcher.
