Civic center or new hall for Independence?

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Whether to build a civic center complex or a new township hall is the question Independence Township hopes to be able to answer in 30 days.

The board reviewed the two choices at a special meeting, July 26, prompted by Planning Consultant Dick Carlisle. But township officials want resident input before making any decision.

A township hall, Carlisle said, should be a focal point of a larger project such as the Vision 2020's concept for the Sashabaw Town Center area. "It can and should be a catalyst for how the area grows. It should set a good tone for that area as a statement for what we're doing with this community," he said.

A civic center, he described, as a "campus" or grouping of governmental buildings such as what Waterford or West Bloomfield Townships have.

Carlisle's office along with architecture firm Tower, Pinkster, Titus—who has designed many township facilities—conducted a study on future needs for Independence.

Tower, Pinkster, Titus suggested building an approximately 23,000 square foot building for administrative and meeting functions, Carlisle said. The site would house offices for the supervisor, clerk, treasurer, parks and recreation, planning, and assessing as well as a 200-person meeting room, or "flexible room," also used for training purposes and other needs. Spaces for parking range from either 116 to 125.

The cost of such a project would be around $160 per square foot—3.7 million—with a total site cost of 5 million, Carlisle said.

To accommodate the size of the building, parking and possible future expansion, three to four acres would be needed.

Carlisle said this is a pretty conservative assessment, "a bare bones approach," and doesn't leave a lot of room for future expansion.

On the other hand, the campus approach of a civic center would require more land—in the five-to-ten-acre range.

"Whatever we do let's not sell ourselves short," Carlisle said. He's worried in 50 years this could be an issue again. "Let's be a little generous with the property."

Carlisle said "an excellent broad-based committee" has been evaluating available land, costs, and the advantages and disadvantages of both options. They've not come to a conclusion at which is better for the Construction will continue 6 days a week

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In about three months, M-15 will be back in full swing. And to make sure that goal becomes a reality, construction crews will work six days a week to make up for lost time. The crews are about 10 days behind schedule, due to additional work on the project.

Curb and gutter work began this week. It will be followed by electrical wiring for street lamps, though the street lamps, benches, trash cans and trees will not all be installed by the end of August.

Sidewalk replacement and road pavement will follow, and in about three weeks construction will switch over to the east side.

That was the word from Allan Schneck, a transportation engineer with the Michigan Department of Transportation, at a Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce breakfast July 26.

Approximately 20 local business owners were on hand to listen to Schneck discuss the state of M-15 and discuss their concerns with him.

He said the target date for the project's completion was Oct. 15, but added that additions to the water

Cost to split property in Independence Township goes up

Fees to split property in Independence Township are being raised.

The Township Board adopted the increase at the July 24 meeting. It is effective immediately.

Fees are now $75 for applications seeking two resultant lots. A $25 fee will apply for each resultant lot over two. The new policy also states these fees do not include any fee required for hearings before the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Previously, application fees were $25 fee if the applicant sought two resultant lots. The fee for any additional resultant lots over two was another ten dollars for each.

Assessor David Kramer said fees have not officially been adjusted since 1984. He recently conducted a survey of neighboring townships.

Kramer found, for example, splitting one parcel split in two in Waterford Township would cost an applicant $55. In Orion Township it is $300, $110 in White Lake, $100 in Highland Township, $50 in West Bloomfield, and $80 in Springfield Township. Splits are applied for at the assessing office.

Catching up with Clarkston graduates

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of occasional stories on former graduates from the Clarkston area.

Want to read about old friends? Give us a call. We'll see if we can locate them for an update.

By Jason Pace

Special to The Clarkston News

Every year high school graduates throw their caps in the air and then take off for the unknown. They go off to college or trade school, join the armed services, start jobs near-by or move out of town.

Sometimes the names and faces of those in college or in the service will pop up in the Milestones pages of The Clarkston News. But then what?

The students we've come to know as friends, acquaintances, or have otherwise heard or read about, often disappear from view.

Recently we caught up with seven Clarkston High School graduates who are embarking on new careers. Having left the halls of CHS, they have journeyed to college and back. They've traveled different paths to prepare for meeting the real world.

Mike Allingham, class of '96, and a recent graduate of Western Michigan University's Hawthorne College of Business, is now a staff accountant for M & J Wilkow, a property management firm in Chicago. Allingham relocated to that area and is financially managing shopping malls and other business properties.

"It's hard moving to such a big city where you don't know anyone," Allingham said. "The worst part is when I get on the wrong train on the way home from work and go an hour out of my way. But I love my job and the excitement of the big city. I'm finally starting to learn my way around."

David Ziemann, class of '97, is prepared for a life of firefighting. Ziemann earned an associate's degree in fire science and also an Emergency Medical Technician Specialist license from Kalamazoo Valley Community College this past spring. He also earned Class II Firefighters Certification from Oakland Community College.

"The training and education has been pretty hard," Ziemann said. "But it will all be worth it when I save a life or help someone who is in trouble. My dedication comes from years of watching my father work as chief of the Warren Fire Department. I have always admired him."

Ziemann is currently a CPR and First Aid Instructor at Crittenton Hospital while seeking a full-time firefighter's position. He is also a union carpenter and runs a commercial fleet-washing business.

Recent WMU graduate, Rebecca Ann Delong, class of '97, earned a degree in social work in June. She recently completed an internship with the Boys and Girls Club of Greater Kalamazoo and is now looking for a full-time social work position in the Detroit area.

"I love working with children," Delong said. "I plan on getting my master's degree in the future so I can work at a school, but for now I am looking for a job where I can gain experience working with kids."

Another graduate from the class of '97 is Natalie Vaughn. Vaughn earned a degree in marketing from WMU this spring. She is currently studying business overseas at the Richmond College Kensington in London. According to Natalie's father, Randall, she will begin her job search when she returns to the states and hopes her international experience will help.

Becky Olsen, class of '97, graduated from Michigan State University this spring with a degree in political science and pre-law. She plans to attend Stetson School of Law in Tampa in the fall. Olsen said that she would like to reside in Florida and practice corporate or tax law after obtaining her law degree. "Corporate and tax law is challenging," she said. "I knew I wouldn't be able to sleep at night if I became a criminal defense attorney."

Angela Ruth, class of '97, is preparing for a December graduation from Oakland University in communications. Ruth said her plans are to further her education by attending the Specs Howard School of Broadcasting in 2002. Currently, she is in Spain on a language-study exchange program.

"I would recommend studying abroad to any student," Ruth said. "I came to improve my Spanish but I have also learned a lot about myself and other cultures. Life is so much different in Spain. Right now it's like I'm in a dream world and when I wake up I will be back home."

Heather Unsworth, class of '97, is also gearing up to graduate in December with a degree from MSU in agriculture and natural resource communications. She said it is a relatively new degree that focuses on the importance of communication of environmental issues in business.

"At first I was interested in being a DNR conservation officer," she said. "But now I plan on working in environmental control for a major company, possibly the auto industry."

Unsworth currently has an internship at the state capitol working in the Community Relations Department. She said one of the perks of the job for her was getting to meet the governor as well as the state's first lady who is also involved in supporting major political issues and charity pursuits.

Mayor's son-in-law joins Clarkston City Council

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer
The Clarkston City Council appointed its newest member July 24.

Derek Werner, who's married to Sharron Catallo's daughter Kara was appointed as the council's seventh member at its July 24 meeting. Werner takes over for former councilwoman Karen Sanderson, who resigned in May.

Derek Werner was appointed to the Clarkston City Council July 24.

City councilman Scott Meyland was the one who recruited Werner to join the council.

"He's energetic, interested and he's got a good head on his shoulders," Meyland said. "I think he'll be a real asset to the council."

The rest of the council agreed. The council unanimously approved of Meyland's proposal, although Catallo was not allowed to vote. City Attorney Tom Ryan said in a case where a spouse, sibling, child or combination, as in this case, of a current council member was interested in joining the council, the related council person could not vote. As a result, Catallo abstained as the rest of the council approved the move on a 5-0 vote.

Werner's first term could be a short one. He, like anyone else who wishes to join the council, must submit a petition to City Manager Art Pappas with at least 20 and no more than 40 signatures by Aug. 7 in order to run for office in the November election.

Werner said he has not compiled signatures yet, but does plan on running for election this fall.

Werner, who is 31 and married with no children, works as an account executive for an advertising company. He said he is looking forward to being a part of the council and feels his youth may be the strongest quality he brings to the council.

"I think I'll bring some new ideas and a new approach, maybe a new outlook on things," Werner said. "I think it's important to be involved in the community."

Werner also volunteers at Pine Knob Ski Patrol. He was not present at the meeting when he was appointed.

"Parking is a big concern of mine. I have no solution yet, but I know the matter needs to be addressed," he said.

"I think it's an exciting time to join the council with all the changes going on. Some of the business owners are for it (the changes) and some are against what's going on. But I work hard and look at things as objectively as possible," he said.

Meyland said even though he feels Werner is very qualified and will be a strong addition to the council, he wishes he had more candidates to choose from.

"I was hoping we'd have a list of people to choose from. But we don't have a lot of people coming forward," Meyland said.

Catallo said having her son-in-law appointed may be odd for the council and expressed her concern.

"I want everyone to be comfortable with it," Catallo said.

Everyone was, especially councilman Dan Colombo who said, "Public service is just that, public service. If he's willing to put the time and energy towards the city than I'm all for him."

Councilman Dave Savage was also happy with the decision.

"I think it's great if he's willing to put time into public service," Savage said.

Werner will be present at the next council meeting, which is scheduled for Aug. 13 at 7 p.m. at 375 Depot Street.

Council doesn't attract interest/members call job rewarding

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The city council appointed its newest member, Derek Werner earlier this month. And while the council was happy with Werner, members said they wish they had more community members to select from.

Werner was appointed July 24 and will run for a one year term this fall.

However, city councilman Scott

Meyland, who initially recommended Werner to the council, said he wished there were more people actively seeking public office.

"I was hoping we'd have a list of people to choose from. But we don't have a lot of people coming forward," Meyland said.

Perhaps that's because many people have the idea that becoming a council person takes up too much of their time. But that's not the case according to councilwoman Anne Clifton.

"People today just think they don't have the time," Clifton said. "But it's a lot less than what people think."

Clifton estimated that only about four hours a month are spent at council meetings. Only about two additional hours are spent on strictly council related material.

"If someone is on a certain committee there are busy times depending on what's going on, but overall it's not as bad as people think," Clifton said.

"People think that they can't make a difference, but because we're so small (the city) you really can make a difference. We've done a lot of things. Take the water for example," Clifton said.

Members of the council studied

Springfield Twp. hall completion set for winter

Project behind 24 days because of weather

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township's civic center is still on target for completion by the end of this year, according to representatives of the company heading up the construction.

Project superintendent Michael White, of Kirco Construction in Troy, said the objective is to get the center completed this year. The proposed project milestone schedule for the civic center project lists the target date for its completion as Feb. 12, 2002.

According to Kirco's David Tropf, project manager for the civic center, even though the company's contract with the township is set to expire at that time, he hopes to get the project done before the year is out.

"We're trying to get it done by the end of the year for them," he said. "It's getting harder and harder because of the rain we had earlier this year. We have lost 24 construction days because of the weather."

White said a couple of key parts of the project should be completed in the next month. He said the roof should be completed during that time, and also said the basement slab should be poured beginning Aug. 20.

The cost of the civic center has increased slightly, from an original cost of $6,320,731 to a projected cost of $6,351,731, an increase of $31,000.

Tropf said that increase is due to several changes that the township has authorized.

The most notable changes, he said, are an increased amount of field stones on the exterior elevation of the building, and the addition of a passing lane on Davisburg Road, across from Davisburg Elementary, leading to the entry approach in what will be the new township library.

Springfield Township's new civic center is still on target for completion by the end of the year, according to officials for Kirco Construction Company, the builders for the project.

The Springfield Township Board received an update from Tropf in a June 29 memo.

Tropf said the following projects pertaining to the civic center are ongoing:

■Site balancing: Parking lots have been cut to grade. Topsoil is being screened and will be distributed around the site.

■Site lighting: Underground conduit and pole bases have been placed.

■Underslab plumbing and drain tile: The concrete slab pouring was completed July 16.

■First floor masonry backup: This work is also in progress. At the time of this report, the west elevation has been completed, with work commencing on the north elevation.

■Second floor exterior walls: North elevation has been completed. Work is progressing to the west elevation.

■Light gauge metal roof trusses: north, east and west elevations are about 85 percent completed, with work commencing on the south elevation.

According to Tropf, the major civic center projects still to be completed include the second floor exterior walls, roofing, and all interior finishes.

Michael White left, project superintendent for the Springfield Township Civic Center, and Dan Muschong, project engineer, are in charge of making sure construction stays on schedule.

It's too late for campus style civic center in Independence

At the July 26 special meeting regarding housing for Independence Township offices, township planner Dick Carlisle said the issue should first answer a question.

Should the township build a new township hall, or plan for a campus style civic center similar to West Bloomfield or Waterford townships?

We think that question has already been answered. It's too late for Independence to build a complex modeled after those communities.

Why is it too late? Consider both:

Waterford and West Bloomfield began planning for their complexes around 30 years ago, before the great boom and demand for property. Simply put, it's too expensive now.

In both townships the properties house a township hall with conference and meeting rooms, a library, parks and recreation offices and police department.

In Waterford Township, the Department of Public Works and 51st District Court are also on the site and the fire department is adjacent to it. In West Bloomfield, the DPW and fire department are off site.

Waterford's campus, at the corner of Hatchery and Crescent Lake roads sits on 47 acres, according to Doug Bradley, the building department director. The 3-story 20,000 sq. ft. administrative office building was built 25 years ago.

A new 60,000 sq. ft. police headquarters with a jail is under construction, as is a 65,000 sq. ft. DPW facility that includes a garage.

The West Bloomfield Township hall includes a 27,900 square foot main floor, with basement storage of 3,200 square feet and a second floor mezzanine of 2,722 square feet. It houses about 100 employees, according to Phil Gentile, building department director.

The complex sits on 40 acres with another 50 acres of nature preserves at Walnut Lake Road west of Orchard Lake Road.

Also consider population. Waterford Township's population is 74,000, and West Bloomfield's is 64,800 -- both already double that of Independence Township's 33,000. The target population for Independence is 45,000, well below that of Waterford or West Bloomfield.

Our population goals and the fact that Independence Township's DPW, Library, and police and fire services are already spread throughout the township make the choice clear.

If a new building must be built (and we're not so sure that's necessary), it should be a single building for township administration.

Cancer Society appreciates Clarkston support

On July, 21, 2001, over 300 participants gathered at Clarkston Middle School to combat one of the biggest health issues facing Americans today, cancer. Participants did their part by forming teams, raising funds, and walking for 24 hours in the second annual American Cancer Society Relay For Life held in Clarkston. Since the inception of Relay For Life in 1985, more than one half billion dollars has been raised, nationwide, for the fight against cancer!

This year, the Relay For Life in Clarkston raised a phenomenal $75,000, which will be spent by the American Cancer Society on research and fulfilling the needs of local cancer patients and their families. Additionally, the money will aid in our on-going efforts to educate the public of the life-saving benefits of early detection.

The American Cancer Society would like to extend its sincere appreciation to the individuals, teams, and companies who participated and made the Relay For Life a tremendous success. Specifically, we would like to thank Clarkston Middle School for the wonderful site for the relay and the following sponsors: St. Joseph Mercy Oakland, Continental Teves, MIRO cancer center, Brandt Kelley and Simmons, and Haus of Trailers. The overwhelming support put forth by those who took part in the festivities certainly showcases the determination of the community to help end cancer.

To the greater community of Clarkston, the American Cancer Society extends its heartfelt appreciation and we look forward to continuing our relationship throughout the year.

From a lost chapter in the Book of Genesis

My father, Dick Krug, who lives in Florida, sent me the following story that I just had to share.

Adam was walking in the garden and cried out to God. "You used to walk with me every day. Now I do not see you anymore. I am lonely here, and it is difficult for me to remember how much you love me."

And God said, "I will create a companion for you that will be with you forever and who will be a reflection of my love for you, so that you will love me even when you cannot see me. Regardless of how selfish or childish or unlovable you may be, this new companion will accept you as you are and will love you as I do, in spite of yourself.

And God created a new animal to be companion for Adam.

And it was a good animal.

And God was pleased.

And the new animal was pleased to be with Adam and he wagged his tail.

And Adam said, "Lord, I have already named all the animals in the kingdom and I cannot think of a name for this new animal."

And God said, "Because I have created this new animal to be a reflection of my love for you, his name will be a reflection of my own name, and you will call him DOG."

And Dog lived with Adam and was a companion to him and loved him. And Adam was comforted. And God was

Everyone's complaining, even me

Something's up. Lately, when I get home from work, hop out of the car and spread my arms wide for the children to run and greet me. They scream, terrified and run in the opposite direction.

I don't know what it is, but, I'll blame the hot, muggy, humid, smothering, blasted, smacking' frackin' temperatures that are scrambling their brains. Or maybe the heat is just making me cantankerous. Either way, it ain't good.

I feel the need to vent, to let go and just whine and complain like everybody else in the world. Okay, maybe Coca-Cola has a right to cry over spilt soda -- they just lost the Big Boy Restaurant contract to Pepsi after 65 years.

Yeah, I guess Detroit Lions head coach Marty Mornhinweg has a right to throw his sunglasses on the field and tear-off on his Harley in disgust after watching the professional football team "practice."

And, I suppose everybody in the state who thinks bounced-out-of-office-by-his-peers former State Senator David Jaye is a jerk has a right to be foul after learning the Republican from Macomb County will run for his old seat again. (Just how many personal foibles can a man have and still be a public servant? I guess we need to ask former President Bill Clinton.)

I'll even admit said bounced-out-of-office jerk has a right to be cranky -- I don't think it was constitutional what his peers did...

But... what about the rest of us? Those who are wealthy complain about down economic times. Those who are poor complain they're not getting their fair share during economic boom times. Why do we spend so much energy complaining?

Here's an e-mail I received lately. I think it dovetails (how's that for throwing shop-talk into a family paper) nicely with what I've been whining about.

I Am Thankful For

The partner who hogs the covers every night because he/she is not out with someone else.

The teenager who is not doing dishes but is watching TV because that means he/she is at home and not on the streets.

For the taxes that I pay because it means that I am employed.

For the mess to clean after a party because it means that I have been surrounded by friends.

For the clothes that fit a little too snug because it means I have enough to eat.

For my shadow that watches me work because it means I am in the sunshine.

For a lawn that needs mowing, windows that need cleaning and the gutters that need fixing, because it means I have a home.

For all the complaining I hear about the government because it means that we have freedom of speech.

For the parking spot I find at the far end of the parking lot because it means I am capable of walking and that I have been blessed with transportation.

For my huge heating bill because it means I am warm.

For the lady behind me in church that sings out of key because it means that I can hear.

For the pile of laundry and ironing because it means I have clothes to wear.

For weariness and aching muscles at the end of the day because it means I have been capable of working hard.

For the alarm that goes off in the early morning hours because it means that I am alive.

And, finally... for too much e-mail because it means I have friends who are thinking of me. Send this to someone you care about and when you think your life is so bad, read this again.

That's what the e-mail said, but I can still complain about the weather, can't I?

Grant needed to complete my studies

Constant readers, and I'm assuming a lot when I use a plural there, will remember my undershorts washing experience.

I found that the turbulence turned them inside out, however, our accident-prone, acid-tongued office worker(?) Ellen, said, men stomp their shorts off, thus they go into the washer wrong side out.

I couldn't let her observation go unchallenged, nor should I ignore others' comments about my airing my dirty laundry. Criticism of my laundering techniques, my lack of taste, my low morals and my need to fully retire have caused me to think many don't believe my feelings can be hurt.

Well, nuts to them. The public has a right to know about undershort happenings in the tub. Thus, I continue.

My goals, yes, there is more than one goal in this study, are to: 1. Learn once and forever that the inside-out movement is exact; 2. That what the washer does, the drier un-does; 3. Is the detergent and/or softener and bleach involved in the happening? 4. Is the side-out change affected by accompanying "whites?"

See, this is no simple test.

This experiment was started on the non-laundry day of Thursday. Nine undershorts, five boxers and four briefs, were selected.

All nine shorts were tossed into the mixing bowl, just like the Michigan Lotto, after first being turned inside out.

Jim's
Jollings

Jim Sherman

Once washed, they went into the drier. Now for the results you've been waiting for:

Three shorts (one boxer and two briefs) were returned to the store-bought, right-side-out condition.

Six shorts (four boxers and two briefs) remained as presented, inside out.

As you can see, this experiment, this study is incomplete. The shorts were not checked in between washer and drier, cleansing additives' influence was not determined, nor was the affect of other "whites."

Thus, the need for a government grant so the public will know for sure what causes the garment change.

If our government in Washington can find the money to study cow flatuations, which they did, Michigan's Senators Levin or Stabinow should be able to involve me in one of those "pork barrel" things.

Enough of this seriousness. Here's some wisdom from the month of August in The Farmer's Old 2001 Almanac:

Consistency requires you to be as ignorant today as you were a year ago.

No man can think clearly when his fists are clenched.

This isn't in the Almanac, but it's a fact: tomatoes cannot be grown to produce full, red, unblemished fruit on West Drahter Road in Oxford Township, between Spezia and Newman Roads.

If I had a government grant, I'd prove it.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1986)

A tentative three-year contract for Clarkston school district teachers was reached following a week-end of intensified bargaining at the Hyatt Regency in Flint. The next step is the actual writing of the tentative contract, which must be presented in writing to the 292 Clarkston Education Association (CEA) members at least 48 hours before a meeting can be scheduled for ratification.

Following the results of the Aug. 5 primary election, it appears that Ruth Ann (Hazen) Hines and Charles M. Oaks will be elected to the Springfield Township Board in November. The two Republican candidates were selected from a field of seven. There were no Democrats running for the two two-year trustee positions.

A twist of fate could alter the course, and ultimately the look, of 41 acres now in the possession of the Independence Township Land Conservancy. The conservancy is considering returning the acreage along I-75 and Perry Lake Road to mall developer Ron Helin, who deeded it to the conservancy last year as a part of his Northcreek mall proposal.

25 YEARS AGO (1976)

Nine village residents showed up at the Clarkston Village Planning Commission to hear planners outline work on a limited master plan for the village. The outline, which emphasizes study of the central business district, met with few objections from the commission. Vilican-Lernan Associates, the planning firm chosen by the commission to do the master plan, will charge $10,000 over a two-year period.

Independence Township's plans to purchase additional fire equipment and possibly build a new fire hall have raised some eyebrows in the township's populace. Within the past seven years, the fire department has purchased eight new vehicles, including three pumpers, two grass fire trucks, one rescue vehicle and two station wagons.

Cecilia Wiar, 30, a resident on Warbler Drive in Independence Township for the past three years, has been recommended as principal at Pine Knob Elementary School. She will replace Dave Westlund, who has resigned in favor of a classroom assignment because of health reasons. Mrs. Wiar has a master's degree in reading from Oakland University.

50 YEARS AGO (1951)

Plans are being formulated now for the Rotary Labor Day Parade. Already announcing their intention to participate are the American Legion Post, the Drum and Bugle Corps, the Rotary Anns, Pringle's Chevrolet, Dixie Saddle Club and the Fire Fighters. The children with their pets and in costume will be the big feature of the parade.

The Clarkston Farm Bureau group met at the home of Gordon Bates. There were twenty-five present. During the evening, the group discussed the problems facing the trucking industry in connection with the highways. The weigh station near the corner of Dixie was mentioned as a traffic hazard, and it was determined that there was inadequate enforcement of the law regarding highway enforcement weights.

A reunion for all those attending the old, white school in Clarkston between 1887 and 1914 is being planned for Saturday, August 11. The group will gather at the Independence Township Community Center for a pot-luck dinner and an afternoon program. Each person attending is asked to furnish their own table service and a dish of food to pass.

pleased. And Dog was content and wagged his tail

After a while, it came to pass that Adam's guardian angel came to the Lord and said, "Lord, Adam has become filled with pride. He struts and preens like a peacock and he believes he is worthy of adoration. Dog has indeed taught him that he is loved, but perhaps too well."

And the Lord said, "I will create for him a companion who will be with him forever and who will see him as he is. The companion will remind him of his limitations, so he will know that he is not always worthy of adoration."

And God created CAT to be a companion to Adam. And Cat would not obey Adam.

And when Adam gazed into Cat's eyes, he was reminded that he was not the supreme being.

And Adam learned humility.

And God was pleased.

And Adam was greatly improved.

And Dog was happy.

And Cat didn't give a damn one way or the other.

Assault suspect bound over to Circuit Court

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The next legal stop for self-proclaimed child molester James Todd Cook will be the Oakland County Circuit Court.

Cook was bound over to the circuit court July 30 following a preliminary examination before Judge Gerald McNally at 52-2 District Court in Clarkston.

He is charged with seven counts of sexual molestation in connection with two incidents that occurred last month. One of them took place June 13 at the Spring Grove mobile home park in Springfield Township, and the other took place June 12 at Clarkston Lakes Mobile Home Park in Brandon Township.

In each incident, the victim was asked to testify before the court. Reporters were asked to leave the courtroom before that testimony.

In connection with the Spring Grove incident, Cook is alleged to have assaulted a 14-year-old girl while she was sleeping. Upon arrival, the responding officer saw the window open with the screen out. A lawn chair was directly below the window.

The victim's mother testified that she saw her daughter go to bed around 10:30 that evening, and noticed the door was closed, which she said was unusual for her daughter. She did not see anything under the window at the time her daughter went to bed.

The mother said she woke up about 3:30 in the morning when officers arrived at the scene. She said when she entered her daughter's bedroom, she saw a chair on the outside, underneath the window, and the screen was gone.

Sgt. Gary Miller of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department testified he placed Cook into the patrol car and transported him to their main office in Pontiac. He said he spoke with Cook for about 45 minutes in connection with the incident.

Miller testified that when he questioned Cook about why he was in the trailer park that evening, Cook responded that he intended to sexually molest a child. Miller also said Cook told him when he was looking for someone to molest, he went into the trailer park, drove around and walked around, looking for girls' toys outside.

He described Cook's attire that evening as black jeans, a blue hooded sweatshirt, a bandana, and brown cloth gloves.

After the witnesses were done in the first case, testimony moved to the Brandon Township incident. As in the first case, the victim, an 8-year-old was asked to testify before the court while media waited outside the courtroom.

The courtroom was closed for about 15-20 minutes before the victim left the courtroom, bursting into tears when she saw her family outside.

The fiancée of the victim's mother testified he fell asleep the night of June 12 after checking on the children, and went back on the couch.

He said his fiancée, who lives with him and her children, was at work during that time.

He said he woke up and walked toward the victim's room, and saw "a leg with blue jeans, and a foot with a tennis shoe on — he was almost out the window."

He added after the suspect fled the scene, the victim started screaming and crying. He then called 911, and then his fiancée, both of whom arrived on the scene at the same time, he said.

He said the police were the first to talk to the victim about the incident. He said he instructed the victim to tell the police the truth and to tell them everything she knew about the incident.

"The cops got to talk with her before we did," he said.

and worked long hours in order to get the city to hook up to the water supply of Independence Township. The three phase water project will last several years. The 12-inch watermain on the west side of Main Street has already been installed.

Councilman Walt Gamble said there are definitely times when serving on the council presses his time, but he is disappointed with the low amount of interest in running for council.

"The amount of time you spend all depends on what's going on," he said. "Sometimes it's tough to make all your obligations. But it's too bad and it's a shame that nobody wants to run these days. Maybe people are just too busy."

People interested in running for city council this fall need to submit their petitions to City Manager Art Pappas by Aug. 7. Petitions need to have at least 20 and no more than 40 signatures, Pappas said.

Northview residents frustrated

Independence Pointe back to Planning Commission

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Groans were heard as frustrated Northview residents walked out of the Independence Township Board Meeting, July 24.

That's because after fighting a proposed medical expansion at Independence Pointe plaza at M-15 and I-75 for the past several months in front of the Planning Commission, it's right back to that board.

Commissioners, short one member, were split in June regarding a conceptual site plan approval of a 13,200 elevated, one-story expansion to the existing bank, which is moving. The motion failed and legal counsel suggested the matter go to the Township Board without a recommendation from the commission.

But the Township Board didn't have an easier time making a decision after two hours of arguments were heard from residents and medical professionals for and against.

Many argued the community has adequate medical facilities and does not need the offices proposed, which will include radiological services. Others said because of waiting lists and having the convenience of services located under one roof, the expansion is needed.

The vote was three to two (Trustees Dan Travis and Larry Rosso were absent). Supervisor Dale Stuart and Treasurer Jim Wenger voted against the motion to return the request to the Planning Commission.

"This is a difficult issue to consider," said Trustee Dan Kelly. "I hoped the residents and developers would agree on a compromise. The owners did make a compromise, but it does not appear to be a compromise the residents want. The residents clearly stated their opposition."

Stuart said, "It seems more ar-against (the proposal) than for, in here, but we represent 32,000 people. We can't be swayed by what is said at the meetings."

However, he voted no mainly due to the size of the expansion. He is also worried traffic will be problematic, although a study conducted concluded there would be no increase.

"I hold a strong belief that an individual has the right to use their land, but we must limit adverse development," said Stuart, who also complimented the owners on a nice, well-kept facility and said it was a good decision to approve the plaza when it was first built in 1988.

Clerk Joan McCrary recommended the project return to the Planning Commission because she felt other board members agreed it was the size of the expansion holding back an approval. And because she said a need for the development was demonstrated and a compromise was made with residents.

McCrary said this will allow the developers to come back with revised plans.

John Poponea, of M-1575 Associates, already amended his plans once. Previously, he wanted to rezone and pave 9,000 square feet of a 15,000-plus-square-foot neighboring residential backyard for additional parking.

Changed plans eliminated the encroachment, and instead called for a portion of the lot to be an extensive screen of landscaping.

After developers met with concerned residents on more than one occasion, Poponea offered to compromise by adding the screening as well as a deed restriction ensuring the lot remains residential, paving 275 feet of Northview, and installing landscaping along Northview.

Independence Parks and Rec hires programmer, specialist

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

There'll be a couple new faces around the Independence Township Parks and Recreation department soon.

At the July 24 Township Board, Director Mike Turk received permission to hire Kelly Arcello as recreation programmer and Dave Miller as recreation specialist.

For the past few months, Arcello, a Clarkston resident, has been interning with the Township of Meridian supervising playgrounds, youth and adult programs, and the community center. She has experience with aquatics, and worked in Independence Township before as a camp counselor and with the youth baseball program.

The Clarkston High School and 2001 Michigan State University graduate, emphasized her education in program management and community recreation.

"I believe her skills combined with her pleasant and energetic personality will be a great asset to the Parks and Recreation Department," Turk said.

Turk said 12 applications were received for the position and duties will include organization and implementation of special events, some youth athletics, and supervising summer camps.

The starting salary will be $31,500. Arcello will start September 4.

Clarkston resident Miller has worked for Independence Township Parks and Rec since 1990 supervising the adult softball program, helping with special events, and creating an adult home run derby contest that has grown to over 60 contestants.

A 1995 graduate of Central Michigan University, he has also supervised a number of staff, scheduled umpires and games, and has hired staff for various programs.

Duties as a recreation specialist will include organizing adult and youth athletics, new teen programs, "Schools Out" activities, and special event assistance.

Turk said, "His personality and outgoing charm will make a great asset to the department."

Thirteen applications were received for this position, Turk said.

Wage is set to start at $15.01 per hour and Miller will start August 6.

Love of photography leads to own business for resident

Dominican Republic native specializes in weddings, modeling, and family portraits

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A childhood love has led to her own business for Clarkston resident Cari Ruiz.

Ruiz, a native of the Dominican Republic, operates her own photography studio out of her home. She started the business last year, drawing on her 20 years of experience in the field.

She has made a career out of photography for the past 12 years. Before starting her own business, she worked on her own for a while, and also spent five years working in a studio.

She said the seed for becoming a photographer began blooming during her childhood in the Dominican.

"I love photography, and have ever since I was a young person," she said. "I used to do a lot of landscapes. That's what made me fall in love with photography, trying to represent the beauty of nature on paper."

She went on to earn a degree in advertising and communications in her home country, and photography was part of the curriculum. When she moved to Waterford 15 years ago, she took classes at Macomb Community College and Oakland Community College to improve her photography skills.

Ruiz, a three-year resident of Clarkston, said she specializes in weddings, modeling and family portraits, and estimates she photographs about 20-30 weddings per year.

In addition, she has taken pictures of businesses and politicians, and has traveled back to her native Dominican Republic to take pictures at weddings.

She said taking photographs of weddings are particularly memorable, because each one is so unique.

"They're somewhat similar, but they're all different," she said. "You can do a lot of things. You deal with people and their emotions. As a photographer, you're on a different level."

Ruiz said one of her most memorable series of photographs came when the cable channel VH-1 was bringing musical instruments to various schools throughout the country as part of their efforts to preserve music education in the nation's schools. She said she took several photos during these events.

When asked what advice she would give to those interested in becoming a photographer, Ruiz emphasized learning the fundamentals of the trade.

"Take classes, study so that you get the basics," she said. "Then work for somebody in a studio. That's how you get the most experience, and truly learn photography, being with people and talking with people, trying to make them happy. That's a true art. This is an artistic profession, but it's a business at the same time."

Ruiz's business address is P.O. Box 1524, Clarkston, MI 48347. For more information on her photography studio, call (248) 922-0568, visit her Web site at www.cariruiz.com, or e-mail her at info@cariruiz.com.

main were the primary reason for the project being pushed back to the end of October.

He also said MDOT does not anticipate having to close the road down on Sundays.

Once the water main and road repair issues are addressed, Schneck said the focus will be on beautification of the area in time for the holiday shopping season. The project is slated to be completed in time for the chamber's Heart of Clarkston holiday festival, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1-2.

"We're hoping some of the later items are restoration, signage issues," he said.

Business owners requested directional parking signs during construction. Schneck said the signs will be "somewhat generic", colored orange and black, and designed "in a way that it does not disturb other signs."

"The simpler the sign, the easier it will be for drivers to go where they need to go," he said.

He said the signs are targeted for the following areas: one on the northwest corner of Washington and M-15; one on the east side of Washington, opposite from the other sign; one on Depot and M-15; and one on White Lake and Depot.

"They'll be strategically placed to direct motorists for places to park," Schneck said.

Overall, he said the project is going smoothly.

"Things are moving along," he said. "Most of the work has been underground, so people can't see it. As we get into placing curbs and gutters and sidewalks, people will see it."

Construction to end at noon Friday for festival

People interested in heading to Depot Park for the Concours in the Park this weekend should have a pretty easy time.

Michigan Department of Transportation engineer, Allan Schneck said work would stop Aug. 3 at 12 p.m. in order to make things easier for those who plan to head to the event.

The showcase of elegant cars begins at 6 p.m. and benefits SCAMP, a summer camp for youth with special needs. He said construction may not continue through the weekend, although he had not talked to a contractor to finalize the matter as of Monday afternoon.

"We're going to clean up and make it as easy and decent as possible for people to head down there (Depot Park)," Schneck said.

Last year's Concours in the Park event raised over $5,500 for SCAMP.

Schools approve millage election

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Board of Education has thrown its support behind an Oakland County ballot measure aimed at increasing special education and vocational funding.

The board, at its July 16 meeting, adopted a resolution supporting a special election to be held by the Oakland Intermediate School District (OISD) Aug. 25.

If passed, the OISD would receive approximately $55.5 million from the special education millage increase and $10.8 million from the vocational education millage increase.

Of that total, Clarkston would receive about $1.7 million in additional special education funding and about $330,000 in additional vocational education funding. The millage increases, if passed, would take effect in December.

Dr. Al Roberts, superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools, voiced his support of the ballot issues at the July 16 school board meeting.

"It will be significant for the infusion of dollars into our special education program," he said. "I think it's important that we support this. We are legally bound to support all our students."

On June 12, the OISD adopted a resolution to hold the election. The resolution was supported by secretaries from all 28 school boards in Oakland County, including Rick Crigger, who was secretary of the Clarkston Board of Education at the time the resolution was adopted.

County voters will decide on two issues: a millage increase of 1.1704 mills ($1.1704 on each $1,000 of taxable valuation) for special education services and a millage increase of .2279 ($.2279 on each $1,000 of taxable valuation) for vocational-technical education programs.

On the vocational side, a passage of the millage increase would generate an additional $331,916 for Clarkston. According to Shelley Yorke Rose, communications director for the OISD, about half of the $10.8 million that would be generated countywide from a potential millage approval would go toward the four Oakland Technical Centers in the county, which includes one on Big Lake Road in Clarkston.

THE LAW & YOU
by Kelley R. Kostin
Attorney at Law

CHOOSING A LAWYER

Whether it is for drawing up a will or purchasing real estate, nearly everyone calls upon the expertise of a lawyer at some point in his or her life. When doing so, a recent survey indicates that three-quarters of Americans rely on family and friends as their resource. When choosing a lawyer, a similar percentage (75%) of Americans indicate that trustworthiness is the most important criterion, while 53% put the greatest emphasis on the attorney's years of professional experience. Forty-two percent choose a lawyer on the basis of cost. These are telling numbers in that they indicate the realization on the part of the public that the serious matter of legal rights requires serious consideration of quality. If you would like to speak to a professional lawyer, even if you don't yet need one, call us. We would be happy to discuss our firm and policies with you. We handle a variety of legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. Don't hesitate to contact us at 620-1030. We are conveniently located at 11 North Main Street.

Note: It is a good idea to have a lawyer on your side prior to needing one, just as you have a family physician or dentist.

Catallo legacy honored with SCAMP 5K run in August

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarence Catallo would be proud of the event being held in his honor Aug. 18.

The first annual Clarence Catallo 5K Run for SCAMP will be held that day at Clarkston High School, beginning at 9 a.m. All proceeds from the run will be donated to the camp, held each summer for disabled youth.

The run is being held in memory of Catallo, an active supporter of SCAMP, who died four years ago.

Curt Catallo, Clarence's son, said his father strongly believed in the purpose of SCAMP.

"He believed in the cause wholeheartedly," he said. "He was proud it was a Clarkston-based organization. I think it's appropriate that the run is in his honor."

A favorite SCAMP fundraiser of Clarence was the home tour held each year, according to his son. "He recognized how much went into the home tour," he said. "Anytime he could lend assistance to SCAMP, he would do it."

In addition, Clarence and his wife Sharron, currently the mayor of Clarkston, were involved in the group's ice cream social, and Sharron served on the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corporation Board of Directors.

Geri Batt, executive director of SCAMP, said Catallo was very willing to open up his home to others as part of the tour.

"He was majorly involved in the home tour," she said. "They hosted the patron reception. There were a number of years where they opened their home to people."

Batt's predecessor as executive director, Bunny Newmarch, said Clarence was always very hospitable in hosting the patron reception for the home tour.

"He and Sharon were involved in the home tour from the beginning," Newmarch said. "They had their home on tour several times. They have been supportive in many ways. He was always friendly and welcoming to everyone. He was very generous and supportive of SCAMP."

She said the home tour has been a SCAMP fundraiser since 1983, and Clarence's willingness to open his home to guests during the early years of the tour gave the event a "wonderful start."

Upon his death, Catallo's family made a contribution of over $22,000 to a SCAMP endowment fund, according to Batt, ensuring that children in the community would be able to attend the camp.

She said the endowment is used to provide "SCAMPerships," or scholarships for those children with special needs who otherwise may not be able to attend the camp.

In addition to SCAMP, Clarence Catallo was a strong supporter of other charities, particularly the Clarkston Foundation and the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, that touched the lives of a community that he was proud to call home.

"He recognized how much of an impact these organizations could have on children," Curt Catallo said. "He always had that interest in mind. He was proud of Clarkston. He was proud that it (SCAMP) was a local charity that worked in Clarkston."

A defining characteristic of his father, Curt said, was his ability to dedicate himself totally to projects he believed in.

He said that was certainly the case with SCAMP.

"When my dad believed in something wholeheartedly, he gave it everything he had," he said. "He believed in SCAMP wholeheartedly. The family is honored to have my father's name associated with the run. My father would have been equally proud."

Registration forms for the 5K run are available at the Clarkston Union, Union General Store, and Clarkston State Bank. For additional information, call Clarkston SCAMP at (248) 620-1882, or register online at active.com.

Living Praise Church celebrates decade of worship

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

About 10 years ago, Fred and Karen Wherritt came home to begin the latest chapter in their ministry.

The result is Living Praise Church, located on 5860 Andersonville Road, off of Dixie, in Waterford. The church features a 10 a.m. worship service and children's worship, as well as several other programs.

"We pastored in Monroe and Southfield," Karen Wherritt said. "We both grew up around here, and were raised in Waterford. We left the area shortly after high school, and then we came back."

In addition to the regular worship service, the church features a Bible study and prayer session each Wednesday at 7 p.m., and a children's and "Cross Heirs" youth ministry that same day. The second Wednesday of each month is designated as a ladies' meeting.

The Living Praise church building was established in 1869, making it the oldest church in Waterford. "Lots of other churches have used this building to get started," she said.

The building belongs to the Waterford Parks and Recreation department, and the Waterford Cultural Pastors Karen and Fred Wherritt have been at Living Praise Church in Waterford for about 10 years. The church offers a 10 a.m. worship service, as well as children's worship.

Council has their offices in the building.

Wherritt said the church's activities are well-established and feature a wide variety of participation. "For our size, we have well-established groups, even though we're not a large group," she said.

She said during the church's history, the worship has developed to include many contemporary features and songs.

"What we really developed a lot is the music," she said. "We have a lot of the musicians. It seems to be one of the areas that God has blessed us. We emphasize worship a lot. Our worship is upbeat — it's more contemporary. We have a lot of good songs. The teachings are Bible-based. We try to address practical issues that will help people."

Wherritt said she hopes to see some new blood in the church to help out those people already involved, whom she said have taken on as many duties as they can handle.

"We'd like to see some new families," she said. "A lot of people that are willing to work are maxed out."

For more information on Living Praise Church, call 623-1215.

Independence Township hall

community, he said.

Committee members include Planning Commission Chairman Steve Board, Commissioner Jill Palulian, Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart, Trustee Dan Travis, former Trustee Neil Wallace, Asst. Superintendant of Clarkston High School Operations Pat Brumback, developer Forest Milzow, resident Dave Vanderveen involved in Oakland County government, and resident Bob Olsen, active in community matters.

Committee members looked at a variety of land owned by the township—privately-owned property; and already existing buildings. Sites evaluated include the following:

■The DPW site.

Carlisle said advantages to this site include township ownership and ample space for the project, but traffic issues along Clarkston and Flemings Lake Road where the high school is located are concerns.

■The Clarkston Schools administration building on Clarkston Road.

This would require a joint venture between the schools and the township, and facilities would be shared by both.

Carlisle said the site would work physically with 34 acres and even have room left for a small park.

However, the schools have reserved this as a potential "last resort" spot for an elementary school if needed. School funds are also a concern.

■The former Clarkston Middle School building on Waldon and Church.

This would be an "ambitious" project considering the amount of money needed to renovate the building, Carlisle said.

■Park land such as Clintonwood or Bay Court.

Money is the concern here. Carlisle said the project might take away from park funds if the land was obtained by state or federal park funds. It would then need to be replaced by an equal or greater parcel, he said.

Carlisle explained Springfield Township recently did this for their new civic center, purchasing a 60-acre property for a ten acre site simply for a financial exchange.

■Bow Pointe and Sashabaw.

This is a central location for the township, but is zoned Industrial and is meant to be an economic, job-based area. A civic center would take that away, said Carlisle.

The township hall would be near the Town Center area, but not part of it, he added.

■The Town Center Area along Sashabaw.

Carlisle said advantages include contributing to the Town Center concept and tying this project in "nicely" with the Liberty Golf project. "It would be aesthetically pleasing for the area, and would be a focal point," he said.

However, cost of properties in that area are expensive, he said, and more than one property would probably be needed.

■West side of Sashabaw, north of I-75.

This brings concerns regarding accessibility and traffic, especially during DTE's concert season and rush hour.

■Citation Drive, next to the Fire Station.

With the courthouse, sheriff's department, and fire station located there, the idea for a civic center is already begun. However, there is not enough room for the township's civic center to move there.

A township hall could be done, but still is not sufficient in size for future expansion, Carlisle said.

Other properties looked at include north of Waldon and I-75; the Clarkston Road and Sashabaw area; M-15 at I-75; and the extreme west boundary of the township along Dixie.

One township-owned site evaluated is no longer available and belongs now to the Liberty Golf housing project. This site had been evaluated before the Clarkston Creek deals developed.

Wed., August 1, 2001 The Clarkston (MI) News 19 A

Chairman Steve Board said there's nothing more that can be done until township officials make a decision on whether they prefer the township hall or civic center concepts.

Treasurer Jim Wenger noted previous township hall studies were conducted in 1974, 1980 and 2000.

Trustee Dave Wagner is glad the board is discussing this and said, "the senior center is a disgrace, the township hall is cramped...we've been talking about this for 20 years now, it's time to do something."

Wagner suggested setting a timeline "or else it will sit on the shelf and get dusty again." The motion, which was approved unanimously, was set for 30 days, or no later than the second Township Board meeting in September when it will be an agenda item.

Clerk Joan McCrary said this could be a possible ballot issue next August.

A handful of residents were in attendance for the Thursday meeting. Some gave advice on prioritizing steps in the decision making process, others suggested land in the township they thought appropriate for the project. Resident Ray DeFiore thinks Clintonwood Park would be a good site.

McCrary urges more residents to get involved. "We had input from ten right now, we need input from 10,000."

Pom pon team takes first at OU

Wolves win top spirit and top team award under first year coach Jenny Schultz

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The varsity pom pon team has already made a statement — they're one of the best squads around and the school year hasn't even started yet.

Jenny Schultz, who is in her first year as the Wolves' new coach, was very proud of her girls who recently competed at the National Dance Association competition at Oakland University. The Wolves brought home numerous awards including the top team award and the spirit award, Schultz said. An estimated 15 teams competed in the three day event July 22-25.

"The girls accomplished a lot this summer and they worked real hard and

Chiefs cheerleaders show their spirit at summer camp

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Chiefs varsity cheer team made history this month.

For the first time ever, the Chiefs cheer team attended a summer camp and made quite an impression in their debut.

The girls, who range in age from sixth to eighth grade, won ribbons for toughness and extra effort and also brought home the overall camp mega spirit award.

Coach Julie Maier spoke highly of her team after its performance.

"The girls practice very hard and it showed up in their performance," she said.

The goal of the camp is for girls to enhance their skills before they cheer at the high school level. The camp was voluntary and 15 of the 24 girls on the team took part in the camp.

The camp was held at Rochester College July 12-14.

Cheerleading camp brings smiles, fun to nearly 100 kids

Students from 3-12 fill CHS gym to learn the basics and have fun

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Almost 100 kids were jumping for joy this week at the Clarkston High School gym.

Children from ages 3-12 filled the CHS gym for the Clarkston Cheer Camp July 30. Chandra Price, first year varsity cheerleader head coach, said 91 children participated in the camp, which runs until Aug. 3. The girls learn basic cheerleading and tumbling techniques and also have a lot of fun, Price said.

Price has been involved with the camp for the last six years and is excited to begin her first year as varsity head coach.

"The nervous part is all gone," Price said. "I'm excited for the season."

This year's team is made up of 24 girls, with seven returning varsity cheerleaders. Only 13 girls were on the varsity squad last year, Price said.

"There was more interest in it this year," Price said.

But before her varsity squad begins cheering at all home and away varsity football and basketball games, Price is enjoying watching some prospective future varsity cheerleaders.

"The girls are loving it (the camp)," she said. "It's just a lot of fun to sit back and watch the girls have a good time."

earned everything," Schultz said. "They performed their routine flawlessly."

Schultz said the Wolves' routine was a home routine. It had a 'Survivor' theme and the girls danced to the theme song of the hit reality based television show, as well as a remix of the Donna Summers song, "I will survive" among other songs.

Schultz said the girls underwent extensive technical and cardiovascular training to help them prepare for the competition. They trained for three hours a day two days a week since May and then upped their conditioning to every day, Monday through Friday the week prior to the competition. To get in shape, the girls ran and did push ups and sit ups in addition to other exercises, Schultz said.

"The spirit award was a special one to win because it meant our girls were very helpful and nice to the other dancers. It means that they're well rounded, nice people," Schultz said.

Schultz, who graduated from Michigan State University, used to be in charge of the MSU Motion Dance Team.

No starters returning makes me pick 6-3

This year's Clarkston varsity football team has already made history even though it hasn't even participated in a scrimmage yet.

This year's team is the first in history not to return a starter, offensive coordinator Mike Stefanski said Monday. Stefanski was one of many Clarkston coaches on hand to help out with the Clarkston football camp for students in grades 6-9. In talking to Stefanski I picked up a few things about this year's varsity team.

Size — An estimated 70 kids will play varsity football this season. Last year the Wolves had a team almost as big, but not a single one of those kids started last year.

Experience — Obviously with 22 starting positions up for grabs, this will be a weak point early on in the season. Not a single starting position has been assigned to a particular athlete. As Stefanski put it, "It should be an interesting year." Stefanski estimated about 30 players are returning.

Practice — Because coach Richardson will have to find 22 new starters, that means practice should be a lot more fun to watch. Kids will be fighting for playing time at every position. "It'll be the most fun I've had at practice in years," Stefanski said.

This year's team will have a different look. I wouldn't expect to see as much passing from the Wolves this fall. And it's hard to imagine the Wolves'

Harry E. Schlautmann

Harry E. Schlautmann was born in Germantown, Ill., the son of Fred and Elizabeth (Schmitz) Schlautmann. He was the fifth child out of a family of 14 children. He married Joan T. Nowakowski May 5, 1934 and she passed away in 1970. On Oct. 12, 1971 he married Marie Rausch at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church by Father Delaney. Mr. Schlautmann lived in Clarkston. He died July 28, 2001 at the age of 97.

He was the husband of Marie (Rausch) and was the father of Frederick (Janet) of Bronson, Henry (Lillian) of Port Huron, Anne (Jerry) Houghton of Bronson and Judith (Pete) Garijo of Ruby. He was the stepfather of William (Jan) Rausch of Clarkston and James (Lorinda) Rausch of N.H. He is also survived by 22 grandchildren, 36 great-grandchildren and nine great-great-grandchildren and many nieces and nephews. He was the brother of Gertrude and Lily Loehner and was preceded in death by his first wife Joan, his parents, six sisters, five brothers and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. Schlautmann was a member of the 50 & Up Club. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus since 1945, having been 4th degree member of the Bronson Council no. 2924, third degree member of the Clarkston Council no. 5436 and served as Grand Knight of the Bronson Council in 1949 and 1950.

He worked on a farm for John Koopman from 1918-1920, worked in a coal mine from 1920-1924, left home (Germantown, Ill.) and moved to Detroit in March of 1924 and landed a job washing windows for Lincoln Motors. He then moved up to sewing machine operator and later became the foreman of the department for 14 years.

When the war broke out after Pearl Harbor they quit building cars and Harry was sent to the Ypsilanti Bomber Plant. He moved to Bronson, Mich. in 1942 and farmed until 1971. Along with farming, Mr. Schlautmann also worked with Ed Ludwick building homes and later with Ken Yesh building some of the very first modular homes. He also did upholstery work for his family and friends.

He was foremost a husband and father. His number one past-time was playing cards, especially pinochle, cribbage and euchre. He also bowled, hunted and fished. In his final years, he was especially proud of his yard and garden.

Funeral mass was held Aug. 1, 2001 at St. Daniel Catholic Church in Clarkston. Interment will be Aug. 2 at 11 a.m. at St. Mary Cemetery in Bronson, Mich. Memorials may be made to Genesys Hospice Care Center, 7280 S. State Road in Goodrich. Funeral arrangements entrusted to the Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston. offense will be as high powered as it was during last year's playoff run. But a lot of people didn't think the Wolves would do as well as they did last year when they won 12 games and made it to the state semifinals two years in a row.

No matter how the season shapes up, it should be a fun season. Last year was quite a ride, but the Wolves will have a quick wake up call and see how they match up with some of the state's best teams. They scrimmage state powerhouse Farmington Harrison before hosting state finals runner up Utica Eisenhower in the season opener Aug.

24 at 7 p.m. That's what I call a rude awakening.

But getting through the opener won't be easy, not by a longshot. And the following week they take on West Bloomfield, who played Clarkston tough last year. After that, it's league favorite Rochester Adams on the road. Anyone who has seen these two teams play the last couple of years know they're in for quite a game. Throw in the annual clashes with Orion and Troy and it's shaping up to be another challenging season.

So get ready, players and fans. Football season is right around the corner. It was good to see the coaches again this week and this time of year, everybody is optimistic and eager to get off on the right foot.

But for now, the Wolves have some awful big shoes to fill which were left from last year's team.

So here's my preseason prediction — Clarkston will go 6-3 and lose in the first round of the playoffs. With that in mind I'll throw out a few other predictions I've made in recent memory.

Last year's Lions pick — 9-7, no playoffs . . . right on the money

This year's NCAA basketball champion — Duke over MSU. So I thought the Spartans would get there, but picking Duke was pretty much a no brainer

This year's Stanley Cup Finals — New Jersey over Detroit. One out of two isn't bad, but I didn't even have the champion in the finals.

Super Bowl — I picked Baltimore before the coin toss, but I would have thought you were crazy if you told me the Ravens and Giants would be fighting for the title.

My picks speak for themselves — so-so I'd say. Prove me wrong Clarkston. Do better than 6-3. It's all in your hands now.

E-Mail Ed your picks to aedavis11@aol.com or clarkstonnews@admi.net.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

SUMMARY

JULY 24, 2001

Meeting called to order by Mayor Catallo at 7:07 p.m.
ROLL Present: Catallo, Clifton, Colombo, Gamble, Meyland, Savage.

Absent: None.

Minutes of July 9, 2001, accepted as presented.

Agenda accepted as presented with addition of Labor Day Parade to New Business.

Gamble reported that the Mill Pond Lake Improvement Board will hold a public hearing on July 26, at 7:00, in the Independence Township Fire Hall on Citation Drive.

Mayor Catallo asked that the Building Inspector confer with City Attorney Ryan when information is received from the City Planner regarding single family zoning and room rentals.

Mayor Catallo reported that the old fire siren will be located on City property in the vicinity of the City Hall.

Chief Ormiston asked about the status of air conditioning for 3 East Church. Mayor Catallo stated that this year's budget did not allow for this expenditure.

City Attorney Ryan asked Chief Ormiston to obtain a new lease agreement for the proposed motorcycles as the lease submitted was dated May, 1999. Pappas was instructed to inquire as to insurance coverage for these vehicles.

A letter from Robert Olsen regarding the condition of the Mill Pond at the City Parking Lot was reviewed by the City Council. Pappas was instructed to inform Mr. Olsen that this matter is to be addressed in Phase II of the TEA-21 grant application.

Resolved That the City Council authorize the placement of an ad for the City in the Chamber of Commerce Membership Directory for the amount of $155.

Resolved That the following progress payments be approved for payment: $3,605.35 paid in June, and $205,283.64 due at present.

Mr. Bill Rausch arrived at the meeting and Mayor Catallo explained to him the action to be taken regarding the zoning question at 60 Waldon Road.

Resolved That those property owners in the Water Special Assessment District No. 1 who wish to remit the entire assessment on their property can do so by the tax due date of September 14, 2001, with no interest charged to that date.

Sample petitions were discussed regarding interest in expanding the community water service. City Attorney Ryan stated that a minimum of 51 percent of the residents in each district were required to proceed with the next phases of the water system.

Resolved That the Labor Day Parade sponsored by the Clarkston Area Rotary Club be approved by the City Council. This parade will use the same route as the Fourth of July Parade, i.e. from St. Daniel Church parking lot to Deer Lake Road. Further, it is requested that West Washington Street be closed beginning at 8:00 a.m. for erection of the reviewing stand.

Moved That the matter of recreational vehicle storage be tabled until the next regular Council meeting.

Resolved That Derek Werner be appointed to fill the Council vacancy until the November election, and this is determined to meet the best interests of the City.

Meeting adjourned at 8:25 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Artemus M. Pappas, Clerk

YOU WILL GET RESPONSE!

Guaranteed . . .

Our pledge to you: if after 30 days you don't get any inquiries on your want ad, we'll refund your money (less a $2 service charge. Automotive specials not included).

We guarantee it.

Here's how it works.

1. Run your want ad with us for at least two weeks and pay within one week of the start date.

Or, we'll run that ad again for the original number of weeks. The choice is yours, a win-win situation all the way around.

(We can only guarantee that you'll get inquiries--not that you'll make a deal.)

This guarantee applies to individual (noncommercial) want ads. You can pick up a refund application at any of our offices. In Oxford, at 666 S. Lapeer Road. In Lake Orion, 30 N. Broadway Street. In Clarkston, 5 S. Main Street. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days of the want ad's start date.
