Kostin runs for judge

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

She believes "our" community and "our" court deserves a judge who is from and is involved in "our" community.

And with her roots here, and her participation in various activities within the area, she feels it makes sense to support her, Kelley Kostin, for Clarkston's 52/2 District Court judge.

The Independence Township resident and Family Law attorney previously lived in White Lake, where husband Robert, fellow attorney, was a Township Board trustee for a number of years.

The two, who have been married six years and have a seven-year-old adopted son, Shay, have their law practice, Robert E. Kostin, P.C., in the beautifully restored Ritter historical home in downtown Clarkston.

The 40-year-old feels the court needs a judge who knows the practice of law and is respected by the legal community.

For Kostin this means past and present memberships in numerous professional organizations such as The State Bar of Michigan, Women Lawyers Association, Family Law Association, American Bar Association and The Oakland County Bar Association where she is a member of the District Court Committee and Legislative Liaison Committee.

In addition, Kostin was appointed by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners to develop and implement the Friend of the Court Advisory Committee; appointed by the Oakland County Circuit Court to serve as Mediator, Arbitrator and Receiver on numerous cases as well as represent children as Guardian (Ad Litem); and appointed by the Oakland County Bar Association to develop an instructional video--"Freedom of Speech in High Schools"--to be distributed to state-wide high schools.

Kostin also served as a clerk in the Waterford

Local priest brings home Olympic size memories

BY KYLE GARGARO

Clarkston's Monsignor Robert Humitz, pastor at St. Daniel's Catholic Church, was able to get a first-hand Olympic experience. Father Bob, as his parish knows him, was one of 30 chaplains to work the Winter Games in Salt Lake City.

"It was bigger than anything I imagined," Humitz said. "It is truly Olympian in perspective. There were people from all over the world and it was a tremendous experience to be in the middle of all that."

Humitz traveled in van with Deacon Archie Noon to Salt Lake City for their assignment. Noon serves at St. Mary Our Lady of the Snow in Milford. They were the only volunteer chaplains from Michigan going to the games.

"We were there to help the athletes by holding Mass and also providing religious counseling if needed. However, most the athletes are professionals and had their support systems so they did not need much counseling," Humitz said.

The pastor arrived in Salt Lake City on Jan. 16. The date was moved up due to the events of Sept. 11. All the individuals had to take training in security as well as training for chaplain activities.

"The training allowed us to get on common ground with all the other denominations. That way we could be respectful of everybody's tradition, background and culture while working together," Humitz said. "It was an outstanding experience to work with different faiths."

The chaplains were right in the middle of everything while staying in the Olympic Village. The dormitories and facilities of the University of Utah were used as the village. It served as the residency for the athletes and included items such as game rooms, coffee shops and laundry facilities.

Personally, Humitz presided over 19 Masses.

Hitting the slopes -- Humitz hit the slopes in Salt Lake City.

There were Catholic Masses in the morning and afternoons. The Interfaith Center served as the chapel and was open all hours.

However, it was not all work and no play for the Clarkston native. Humitz saw some Olympic events including the opening ceremonies and the men's downhill skiing. He was in the village during the closing ceremonies, but had the fireworks going off all around him.

Humitz also took time to hit the slopes himself while he was there. He has been skiing in the city for 35 years. Humitz also attended award ceremonies at the plaza and numerous concerts.

"It is a gorgeous city," Humitz said.

Humitz greatly enjoyed his time in the Olympic Village.

"When you are working as a chaplain you see things differently than when you watch on television. You see the athletes as human beings instead of just performers. You see some of the younger ones call-

Area pharmacies await results

Clarkston Medical Pharmacy and Pine Knob Pharmacies are awaiting next month's announcement of winners of a competition sponsored by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan to help increase consumer awareness of the quality and value of generic prescription drugs.

Participating pharmacies recently employed in-store promotions and other strategies to increase consumer knowledge and interest in generics, which are equivalent to advertised, brand-name prescription drugs, but can help save consumers between 20 to 65 percent on the cost of the drug. In many cases, generics save consumers out-of-pocket costs on their health plan copays.

The pharmacy winners, one for independence stores and one for chain stores, will be determined by a comparison of fourth quarter 2000 and 2001 generic dispensing rates and will be announced next month. The formula combines the final generic dispensing rate, overall change in the GDR and the number of prescriptions. Winners will be featured in a one-million dollar advertising campaign that they will help design, which will run in the spring. The funds are part of the Blues' existing advertising budget and will cover print, radio, television and outdoor billboards.

Dancing brings rewarding challenge

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was a big step in her life of dancing.

Clarkston's Anne Underwood, a junior at Michigan State University, recently choreographed her first piece for the concert stage, unveiled before audience members at The Fairchild Theater, Feb. 14-17, during an MSU Repertory Dance Company performance.

A member of the company in 2000, Underwood has danced in several performances throughout college, and has studied various dance styles since kindergarten.

Needless to say, she isn't unfamiliar with the dance stage. However, her recent undertaking she found to be quite a challenge.

One that, at first, even scared her.

"I was very excited when I was asked to do this," Underwood said, "but I thought I wouldn't be able to do it. It was so scary. It's not like handing in a paper to a professor, and having it returned with a grade and comments on it, that stays between you and the professor. What I do here everyone sees."

Even more nerve-wracking, Underwood was one of eight choreographers, and only one of two student choreographers. Among the rest were seasoned professionals, some who travelled from Washington D.C. and New York City for the event.

But, the elementary education major said she found confidence from Dr. Dixie Durr, the concert's artistic director who approached Underwood in the summer about choreographing.

"I don't know why she chose me, but Dr. Durr knows how to give people confidence and makes you do good."

A lot of preparation went into the choreography, Underwood said.

In September, she auditioned dancers, then held practices twice a week, approximately four hours a week up until the concert. Prior to showtime, practice was held a week straight.

"Every Stone A Story," Underwood's choreographed piece, featured five dancers. "It's a modern piece with a touch of jazz," she said. "It's a comment on life, and the struggle to find peace."

The nearly five minute performance narrates a division between the dancers. Two of the characters strive to find the happiness they witness in the other three, which later creates a bond. "It shows that ups and downs happen to everyone."

"I wanted something people would enjoy," said Underwood, who receives her dance specialization certificate at the end of this semester and has been certified in elementary labanotation, the ability to notate dance. "I'm glad I took the challenge."

Her mother is glad too. Mom Carol said, "It was so exciting. You couldn't tell who the rookie was. I'm very proud of her."

And Underwood hopes to choreograph another piece before graduating. If the opportunity doesn't present itself again, though, she said as an elementary school teacher she plans to incorporate dancing and movement into her classes.

Dancing, she said, will always have a part in her life, though she isn't pursuing it professionally.

"Dancing has been a hobby for me. It was something I didn't want to let go of when I got to college. And I plan to be old and still take a dance lesson here and there."

Local student wins Dance Masters title

Michelle Marmon, a student at Clarkston Middle School, was recently crowned Junior Miss Dance of Michigan 2002, outscoring 29 dancers from throughout the Detroit Metropolitan area.

She'll represent the state at Dance Masters of America's national championship in Orlando this July.

The 12-year-old honor roll student studies dance at Terri Newman's Dance Shoppe in Waterford Township. During competition, Michelle performed a lyrical piece entitled "Pure Imagination," which was choreographed by Terri Newman, also of Clarkston.

Newman said, "Michelle is a perfectionist in class, but allows herself to enjoy the pleasure of performance. This mix has her headed toward a fabulous future."

Michelle was crowned by 2001 title holder, 13-year-old Ashley Shaw, an eighth-grader at Clarkston Middle School. Newman, who has been a Dance Masters member since 1981, noted how rare it is for two students from the same studio to win back to back titles. More unusual, she said, is the coincidence that both dancers attend the same community school. "I believe that the Clarkston area encourages its young people to strive for excellence."

Sashabaw Middle School was also represented at the event. Jenna Bartholme and Emily Wiggins were finalists for the title. Jenna won the interview high score award as well as a ballet scholarship, and Emily won the high score award for audition classes. Both study at Terri Newman's, and performed ballet pieces choreographed by Christine Wiet.

Not to be left out, Clarkston High schoolers Stephanie Land and Katie Tuson, both freshman, finished as finalists for the Teen Miss Dance of Michigan competition.

Dance Masters of America has been certifying and setting the standards in dance education since 1884. The organization, with more than 30 chapters throughout the U.S. and Canada, consists of dance educators certified by exam to teach. Students of affiliated teachers may enter the annual competition to be judged by nationally renowned adjudicators. Entrants must compete in at least two of four audition classes offered in ballet, jazz, tap and acrobatics. They are also required to submit to an interview by the panel of judges, and then perform their dance solo. The dancer with the highest combined score from all three areas is then honored with the "title." The winner receives scholarship money for Dance Master's conventions and a variety of other prizes.

Travelling overseas as a student ambassador

A chance of a lifetime for one Clarkston youngster who needs your help

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

One young lady from Clarkston has an opportunity of a lifetime and is in search of help from generous readers.

Danielle Weddle, a sophomore at Clarkston High School, was recently interviewed and has accepted to participate as a member of the Michigan branch of the People to People Student Ambassador program.

The 21-day program of exchange, that will take Danielle to England, Wales and Ireland this summer, consists of meeting with government officials, interaction with student peers, educational activities and home visits with host families.

"Student ambassadors are carefully interviewed and evaluated before their acceptance," Danielle said, "and I am excited to share my experience with school and civic clubs when I return."

As a student ambassador with People to People, which was founded by President Dwight Eisenhower in 1956 to bring countries together in peace and friendship, Danielle can also earn high school and college credit.

"Personally, I would like to become a student ambassador because I think that this year the world needs a lot of healing after the tragic events of September 11 and because of the current efforts in the war in Afghanistan," Danielle said. "Countries from around the world need to band together now more than ever to make this world not only safer for children and people but to make it a better place."

This will actually be Danielle's second trip as a student ambassador. Previously, through People to People, she visited Australia and New Zealand.

"I enjoyed the trip very much and got many incredible things out of it. I hope that this one will be just as much fun. It means so much to me."

Danielle—who has a 3.8 GPA, participates in choir, assists in the school district's Autism program and works everyday after school in the elementary program and high school program during the day—is currently seeking financial sponsors to help her with her goal.

"Is it possible for you to assist me by making a contribution?" she asks readers. "I plan to give a speech and share my journal, photographs and experiences with all my contributors upon my return."

She is asking contributors to make a donation amount of $50, and is also accepting donations of merchandise for a silent auction featured at a fundraiser party Saturday, March 9 at Deer Lake Athletic Club from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.

There will be buffet dinner, dancing, karaoke, DJ, cash bar and 50/50 raffle of a handmade queen size quilt. Cost is $25 per person. Tickets can be purchased in advance by calling Beverly Weddle at 625-9063. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Area businesses donating goods and/or services to raffle are asked to contact either Beverly at the above number or Marian Lohff at 625-5777.

Program tuition for Danielle is due by May 1. Checks may be made payable to People to People Student Ambassador Program and forwarded to Danielle at 6150 Overlook, Clarkston, MI 48346.

"Your generous donation will enable me to share in this wonderful program," Danielle said. "I thank you in advance for your generous consideration and support."

Combs appointed Clarkston deputy police chief

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Chief of Police Paul Ormiston will have some help in running the city's police department.

On Feb. 14, Ormiston appointed Clarkston police officer Ernest Combs to fill the newly created position.

The move became official when the Clarkston City Council, at its Feb. 25 meeting, passed a resolution creating the position of deputy chief for the department.

According to City Manager Art Pappas, the deputy chief's salary would make no difference in the city's budget, as the deputy's salary would be taken from the chief of police's allocated salary with no increase in the budget. Ormiston and Combs would split the allocated salary.

City Councilman Scott Meyland said Ormiston is cutting back on his hours, and therefore the city wanted someone that could step in and run the department in his absence.

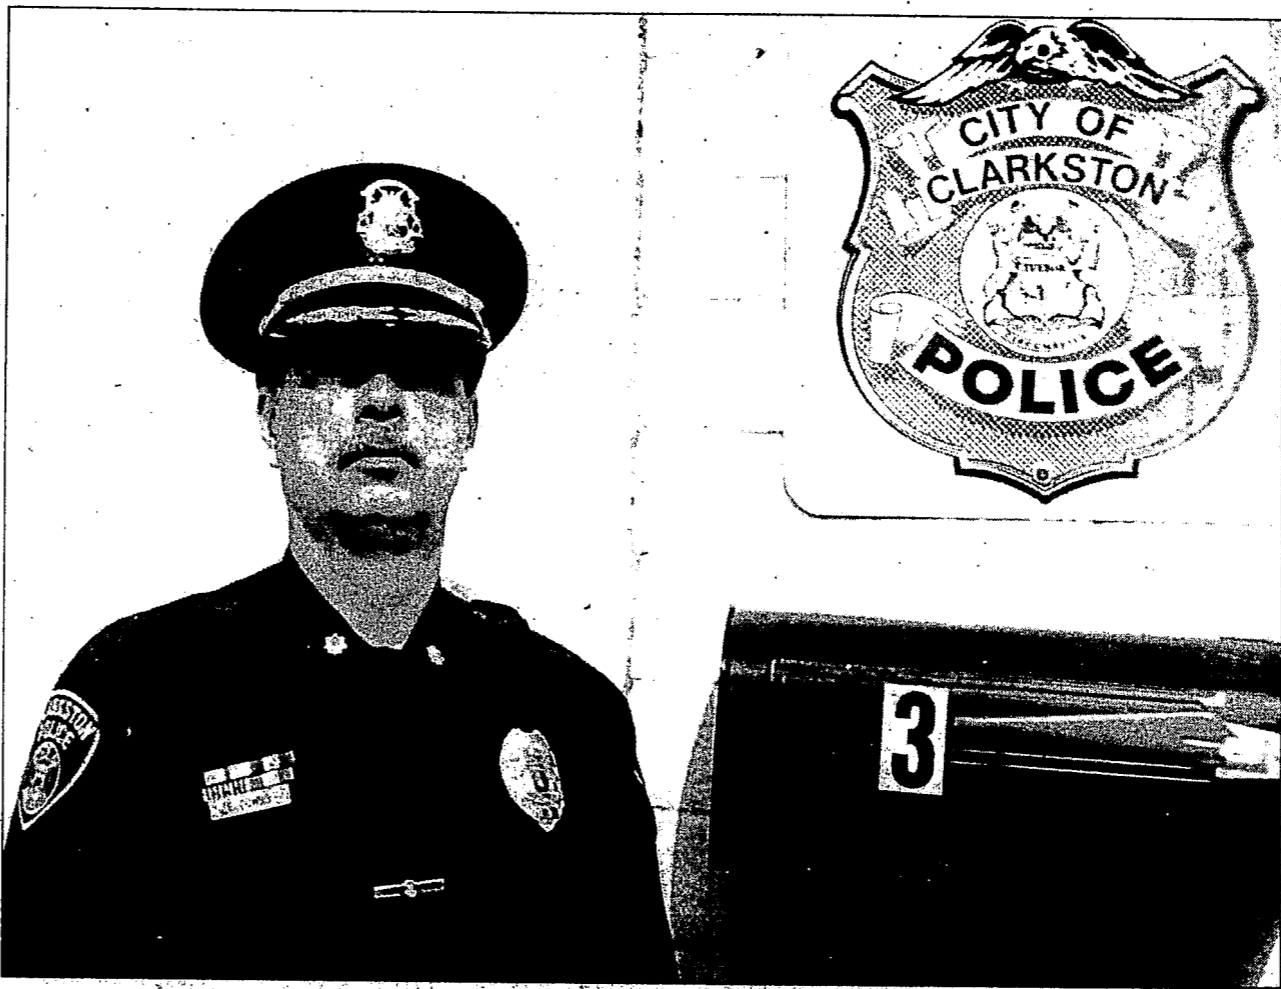

"The position was created because there will be periods of time where the chief is not available," he said. "It affords us to have someone in a position of authority."

Meyland said the move will also benefit the public because it will give citizens and fellow officers someone else they can speak with about their concerns. He also said he believes the position will be around on a long-term basis. "I don't see any disadvantages to it," he said.

Combs has already had some experience running the Clarkston police department, as he filled in for approximately a month when Ormiston took a leave of absence in January. The duties in his new position will be along those same lines.

"In the absence of the chief, I will be running the department," he said. "Basically, I'll run the department on a day-to-day basis."

Combs has prior administrative experience, hav-

He started out his police career with the Ferndale Police Department, and worked there for 26 years, the last 12 as sergeant.

TV show eats up competition

Did you happen to catch "The Glutton Bowl" a week or two ago on T.V.?

If not, you missed some quality programming. FOX, the network that has brought audiences such classics as "When Pets Go Bad," "Who Wants to Marry a Millionaire" and "When Animals Attack," has once again come out on top.

Even when you think FOX can't get any lower, they go and totally redeem themselves with "The Glutton Bowl."

I mean, it's no "Temptation Island." Let's face it, adulterous couples are always the way to get ratings to soar, I understand.

This time, though, instead of bikini-clad women and guys with washboard stomachs, we had big-bellied men and a couple of very large women.

Like WWF superstars, each contestant came out to musical anthems in front of a screaming crowd.

Some even had their own eating-related identity, like "The Bottomless Pit," or champion title, like "The Jalopeno King."

Viewers were also treated to some personal facts: John "likes to eat too much" Doe is 5'7", 400 lbs and once ate 50 hamburgers in five minutes.

For two hours, yes, two hours, viewers could watch numerous players stuff their face, gag a little, stuff their face some more, and either raise their arms in victory or hang their heads in defeat.

Contestants downed anything from hard-boiled eggs, to pounds of mayonnaise, to cow brains and more, all in a five-minute time limit, all while an eating-contest expert commented.

"Look at this guy's form" or "Look at this guy's technique," the play-by-play would go.

"These are athletes at the top of their game," the commentator stated in awe, as I laughed hysterically.

Why I even watched more than an hour, embarrassing enough, of this ridiculous show, I'll never know.

I think I was just completely enthralled with how ludicrous television can be at times.

It'll be interesting to see what special FOX has in store to top this filling spectacle, though, I'm sure there's great demand to make "The Glutton Bowl" a weekly series.

But even this next time around, I'll bet, there will be plenty of people intrigued enough, or stupid enough, to tune in.

Including me.

Hey, who came out "The Glutton Bowl" champion, you may ask?

Thirty hot dogs and 50 cow brains later--an early 20-something, Japanese man, about 5'6" with not an ounce of fat on him, amazingly enough.

What an athlete!

On yet another food note... "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be filled," the Lord promises in Matthew 5:6.

Letters To The Editor

Resident in favor of overlay district

In response to last week's Clarkston News article, "Residents petition to put Sashabaw overlay district on ballot," I have to say I am puzzled as to what folks, particularly Mr. Sweet are opposed to in the ordinance.

Although not certain, I would venture that almost all of us are concerned with "sight and sound barriers, and that we want to development that is unobtrusive and doesn't reduce our vision line." I believe these very planning issues are at the heart of the Sashabaw Town Center Overlay District Ordinance. Its intent and purpose are to promote development of the area in accordance with the Vision of 2020 Strategic Plan and township Master Plan. These three documents together, thoughtfully carried out, should insure that the very kind of development Mr. Sweet considers appropriate do in fact happen.

With my reading of the overlay ordinance, I see further refinement of the Vision 2020 and Master Plan. This is a complicated world in which we live. And yes, our small corner as a township requires, and certainly deserves the consideration the overlay district provides. If done right, it will and should have very positive, practical impacts on the community for years to come.

Residents should and do have the right to voice their concerns, opinions and ideas in a variety of forums before township officials. Mr. Sweet and his group have exercised that right. They appeared before the township Planning Commission and the Township Board. On Jan. 9 the Township Board approved the second reading of the overlay district ordinance. Because of this approval, Mr. Sweet stated he and others are now working to have the ordinance put to the residents for a vote through a petition drive. This is their prerogative too.

But, I would caution any resident to know what they are signing before they put their signature on that petition, and specifically why they are doing so. I would also encourage residents to travel to the township hall and read the overlay ordinance before you make a decision, that could jeopardize the safeguards this very ordinance provides, our township.

The directors of Citizens for Orderly Growth have reviewed the ordinance and believe it is a solution to the very concerns that are being raised. We don't believe it's in the best interests of the residents of that area, or the township generally, to repeal this protection. We at COG would be happy to meet with those residents, or anyone else, to discuss the best way to effectively address these concerns.

Guest Commentary

Committee wants to let voters decide

Residents of Independence Township who have visited the current senior center in Clintonwood Park, recognize our need for a larger, handicap accessible building to provide services and activities to older adults.

Our services include site and home delivered meals, transportation, home chore, legal advice, bereavement support group, information and referral. Activities include sports, exercise classes, dinners, parties, health screenings, trips, crafts, cards and music programs.

Some seniors want a new separate facility and others are anxious for a fitness center of all ages with a separate area for seniors. The younger seniors of today (and many older seniors) are demanding health programs that could be included in a community fitness center. Because the population over the age of 50 is increasing every year, the demand for such programs is growing. According to the 2000 census, about one third of the population in the township is over the age of 45. Older adults of different generations differ in needs in the same way children of different ages differ. The school system adjusts its planning for the changing school population.

Seniors in this community are not reluctant to ask for a new senior center. On the contrary, many of them feel they have been paying taxes in the township and the schools for decades and deserve a more appropriate building.

According to current building costs, we estimate the cost of a senior center and community center to be $15 million. Grants, private donations and fund-raisers can help raise this amount. The figure of $20 million also includes a new, badly needed township hall. The fees from a combination senior and community center would generate more revenue than a senior center alone and could be self-supporting.

The efforts and cooperation between the township and school administration are very admirable. However, the school administration building that was suggested as a possible "new" senior center is 32 years old and would require extensive remodeling to meet the needs for increased programs. If the senior center is a priority, let's build one for the 21st century and not the 1970's. It is our intent that a new combination senior/community center will be for all to enjoy regardless of the time of day, although some time slots may be scheduled for certain groups.

We appreciate all input from concerned residents and understand the concern about over-burdening taxpayers with too many new projects. Let's ask the tax-payers what they think instead of guessing.

It was suggested the Township Board "walk before they run" on the issue of the senior/community center. Please note that in 1999, the Township Board approved the concept of a community center under the heading of Public Workshop Priority Issues. It states that among the top ranking issues include "to develop the following facilities/programs: new community center with kitchen and recreation areas... more athletic programs for young teens (middle school), computer classes and sports programs for seniors, high school sports..." We think we have walked long enough. It is time to pick up the pace and start running.

Oh joy, we're getting a state fossil

Okay, by a show of hands out there, who knows what the state fossil is? Bad question. How about: By a show of hands out there, who knows that some in our state legislature are working on making the mastodon our state fossil?

I didn't see many hands go up.

Which leads me to the conclusion that not many folks know that Senate Bill 397 has passed the mustard in both houses and is now being referred to the House Oversight and Operations Committee.

Yep.

Michigan will have an "official" state fossil. Makes me just want to jump up and shout, "I'm moving to Ohio!"

I won't move to Ohio, and I shouldn't have made that statement, lest I get lumped into that group of leftist actors who proclaimed they'd move to Europe if Geo. W. Bush got elected president, and we all know what happened there. Bush got elected and they're still in the good ol' US of A.

I'm not moving to Ohio, but I can still say, "Doesn't the legislature have anything more pressing to think about than giving us a state fossil? Without burning up too many brain cells, I can come up with these issues facing Michiganians:

- Protecting our Great Lakes water from exportation (exploitation) to the rest of the nation -- which fully a third is in drought condition.

- Stopping school districts from running around Proposal A.

- Keeping those who need to be in mental facilities there, and finding more room for those that were pushed out on the streets.

Well, if I were to really think about it, I'd come up with issues to overshadow the need for a state fossil.

Don't get me wrong, I think mastodon bones are really nifty, especially if you're digging in your back yard and run your spade into one. That would be cool.

It'd be exciting. And you can be sure that if that were to happen to me, my neighbors would really be upset, cause the property on which I pay property taxes would be dug up until I found the rest of the ancient elephant.

Besides, what is a fossil? Is it the entire fossilized skeletal remains of ancient critters (or plants). Isn't a fossil, a bone, or tooth, tusk -- ergo some part of something bigger. We're not just gonna' find "Fossil Mastodon" whole and intact in a hunk of stone. We're gonna find bits and pieces of him, fossilized.

And, while I'm on a roll: Isn't our state stone a fossil? Call me kooky, but, the last time I looked at a Petoosky Stone I thought I saw fossilized plant life in there. I'm no geologist, so I could be wrong, but it sure looked like a fossil to me. If it is a fossil then wouldn't having an official state fossil be redundant and a big waste of time and moola?

"Don," you're saying, "you are such a kill-joy. Lighten up. Senator Thaddeus G. McCotter (R-Livonia) received over 250 letters from students in support of this legislation. And, at a recent rally on the steps of the state capitol, our man Thaddeus was giving a petition with over 2,000 signatures of Michigan residents supporting his Mastodon bill. It's for the children, Don, to show them how the government works."

Boulderdash! For the children, my eye!

Since when does the government act so fast when lots of people want something done? In the real world if real people want something done legislatively they have to have a special interest connection and a high paid lobbyist to pour the liquor and do the schmoozing.

Since when do a bunch of kids, not even old enough to vote get to dictate state policy? If they want to show the kiddies how it is really done, show them the ugly side of state politics. Don't fill their heads with fairy dust and tell them how it works in theory.

Jottings from a quick drive to Florida

Do motels and hotels set beds so the head is never facing East? My daddy-in-law told me it was bad luck to place the bed so you could see the sunset over your feet. My daddy-in-law also said, when I asked him if I could marry Hazel, "If she'll have you!"

My prejudices often lead me to make stupid decisions enroute to Florida. I started looking for a motel three hours north of Clearwater, that's about Gainesville, and that's where the University of Florida, home of the Seminoles is.

I can't stand the team or Coach Spurrier, even though he's no longer there, so, on to Ocala.

The Ramada Inn looked best, by billboard judgement, but they have a New York Yankee logo on that sign. I took a Travelodge. It was old, unkempt, smelly and in need of a wrecking ball.

The Ramada's Damon Restaurant was the closest eatery. Once seated I looked around. The walls were covered with Yankee memorabilia. I inquired why. Well, that Damon's is owned by George Steinbrenner, owner of the damn Yankees, who I refuse to root for. How could I enjoy my meal?

The I-75 drive to Florida is mostly boring. Why do I drive it when I have so much time? Maybe it's the enjoyment I get trying to drive through big cities, like Atlanta, 60 miles an hour.

Maybe it's to see if Tennessee, or is it Kentucky, has taken down the "See Live Nudes," and "We Bare It All" billboards." Or, to count the number of lane closure signs. Or see if I can drive through Georgia again without getting a ticket, and having to prove my name is Jones and not Sherman.

The first morning of my visit with my sister in Clearwater she said, "Tell me what you want for breakfast, and I'll point out the restaurant." She's the same sister that used to have two refrigerators, one for food and the other to hold sprinkled clothes until she got around to iron them.

I don't know, after all these years, if she is practical, lazy or nuts. Though she was born two years before me she believes I'm older since I was born in August and she in September.

Regardless of these "jottings," my trip without Hazel was often uncomfortable. It isn't just the "fifth-wheel" experience. Our Oxford friends have been most generous in including me in many activities.

When I left my sister after three days I told her I would just as soon go home. I ignored her advice to fly home and come back (as I do most of her advice) and continued to visit friends whom I had promised to see.

All were great hosts, but my discomfort continued. I crossed to the east side of Florida to see more friends, but the urge to go home grew.

I wondered about my feeling a lot, especially when alone near sleep time. I drove long hours enroute home to get here in two days. It was just short of Toledo that what I think was the cause of my unrest came into focus.

I just missed Hazel. I miss her just as much at home, but somehow it's different.

Jottings

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

Of the 380 registered voters in Clarkston, 9.2 percent turned out March 9 to reelect three trustees to the Clarkston Village Council. The 35 voters chose uncontested trustee candidates James Schultz, Douglas Roeser and Fontie ApMadoc for two year terms. Schultz, a 16-year council member, received 35 votes, while Roeser received 34 votes and ApMadoc 25.

Two seats on the eight-member board of education for Clarkston Community Schools are up for election June 8. Janet Thomas and Elaine Schultz, the current office holders, said they are running for reelection. Also on the ballot will be a 3.79 millage renewal request. For property owners, the figure represents $3.79 in taxes for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

A neighborhood is in the works for about 75 acres at Sashabaw and Pine Knob roads near the northern boundary of Independence Township. Independence Valley received tentative preliminary approval from the township board March 3. Owned by Dr. John Ylvisaker, the subdivision's first phase is to have 13 1.5-acre lots, with 51 lots in the total project, and eventually access to Round Lake.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

On March 14, Clarkston village voters go to the polls to select Village Council Trustees. A full slate of six candidates are running for the three vacancies. Three are Democrats and three are Republicans. Two of the Republicans are incumbents James Schults and James Weber. Incumbent Mike Thayer is not seeking reelection to the council.

The Springfield Township Board last week took the first step in their attempt to force reconsideration by the State Highway Commission of the M-275 Freeway cancellation. The board March 2 directed its attorney to demand the state commission reopen hearings on the proposed freeway contending the commission acted improperly in cancelling the highway at its Jan. 26 meeting.

Springfield Township became the seventh North Oakland community to return the proposed 1977-78 sheriff's contract with only a five percent increase per deputy, half of what the county has demanded. The five percent increase of $25,900 is the figure recommended by the Oakland County Association of Township Supervisors (OCATS), who is spearheading the drive to lower the county's $27,206 per deputy figure.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

On Feb. 25, the United Fund organization met with chairman Floyd Andrews at the Township Hall. The following officers were elected: chairman, Mrs. Robert Waters; secretary, Mrs. R.E. Spohn; treasurer, Robert L. Jones. The directors appointed for this year include Mrs. Walter Barrows, Don Pringle, Dr. Fred Tucker, John Tisch, Edw. Whipple, Earl Terry, Robert Waters, Rudy Schwarze, Arthur Rose Jr., William Sharpe, George Lang, Arnold Barrett, Herbert Beach, Floyd Andrews, Charles Rockwell and Mrs. Shirley Delterman.

The Clarkston P.T.A. will meet at the school on March 13 at 8 o'clock. At the business meeting election of officers will take place. Mrs. Dorothy Brooks, who is employed by a Pontiac florist, will talk on flower arrangements for the home and will demonstrate ten arrangements using the St. Patrick motif.

The following items were on special at Terry's Market in Clarkston: spare ribs, 43 cents/lb.; frozen raspberries, 12 oz. package, 35 cents.

Farm and Garden Club increases scholarship budget

The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club is delighted to announce they have increased their scholarship fund by 100% from $2,000 to $4,000 for this year's Clarkston area seniors.

The club plans and works through the year, especially hard through the fall months, for their major fundraiser, their Christmas Greens Market. This last December, community support for their effort has unexpectedly boosted their budget.

Their scholarship committee will look at applications they receive from all Clarkston area seniors by the March 23 deadline. The club wants to honor those students who use whatever talents they've been given academically, athletically, or artistically and show concern for others whether in school, family, neighborhood or church.

Clarkston Farm and Garden Club's application is combined with three other community organizations, Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, Clarkston Area Optimist Club, and Clarkston Rotary, to make it easier for seniors to apply.

Lighthouse president earns award for good work

Lighthouse of Oakland County President Noreen Keating, a long-standing champion for the underprivileged, will be recognized March 7 as one of only four women nationwide to receive the prestigious "Unsung Heroines Award" this year from the Mitsubishi Motors USA Foundation.

Keating will be honored and profiled, along with three other award recipients, by PBS-TV public-affairs show, "To the Contrary with Bonnie Erbe" in a Capital Hill ceremony. Awardees will also receive a $5,000 grant from the Mitsubishi Motors Foundation to recognize their leadership and encourage their organizations' continued success.

Mitsubishi Motors Sales of America Vice President for Corporate

Communications Gael M. O'Brien said of Keating, "Noreen is a shining example of service to others. Through her work, the hungry are fed, the homeless are sheltered and thousands needing a helping hand are served. The Mitsubishi Motors USA Foundation is honored to recognize Noreen's invaluable role in providing critically-needed help to so many in her community."

Senator Stabenow echoed Ms. O'Brien's remarks. "Noreen has shown the kind of commitment to her fellow citizens that sets an example for the rest of us. In her role as President of Lighthouse Oakland County, Noreen has helped tens of thousands of underprivileged residents in need of food, clothing, medical attention and shelter."

Lighthouse provides a full range of human services that move people from poverty and crisis to independence and self-sufficiency.

"I am truly humbled by this recognition," Keating said. "But I know that Lighthouse is about more than just one person's work - the truly remarkable deeds are done by the many everyday people who bring their time and talents to our efforts. During this economically trying time, with donations drastically down and new client numbers up as high as 45 percent, those efforts mean even more. So while I'm honored by the kind words about me, this award really highlights Lighthouse's 30 year dedication to helping those in need."

Career Connections plans employment fair

Career Connections, a partnership between Clarkston Community Schools and the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, is sponsoring an Employment Fair at Clarkston High School Wednesday, March 20 from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The employment fair is open to the public. This is a wonderful opportunity for students to find a summer job and others to find part-time or full-time employment.

A partial list of participating businesses include Bordine Nursery, Clarkston Auto Wash Co., Clarkston State Bank, Gloria Jean's Coffee, IGD Solutions, Independence Parks and Recreation, Meijer Inc., Oakland County Personnel Department, Palace Sports and Entertainment, Pet Authority Animal Hospital, REX Manufacturing Inc., Shepherd's Hollow Golf Club, Springfield Township

Parks and Recreation, State Farm Insurance-Smith and T & C Federal Credit Union.

Career Connections chairman, Chris Cotter states, "Invitations have been sent to chamber members to participate in the employment fair. However, any business is welcome to join us, there is no cost to participate, so it's a great way for our local businesses to showcase themselves and at the same time recruit interested and dependable employees."

"We're very excited to have the CHS business department assisting us. They will be holding several workshops for students the week before the employment fair to instruct students on how to write resumes, fill out applications, effective interviewing skills and proper interview etiquette," Cotter said. "Also, representatives from Great Lakes Crossing Marketing Division will be on hand to offer students assistance with filling out applications the day of the event.

While most employment opportunities will be targeted at people 16 and older, Career Connections is working with participants to identify which business and what type of jobs might be available for 14 and 15-year olds.

"We recommend that job seekers come prepared to fill out applications and for on-the-spot interviews," Cotter said.

Please bring your social security number and names, addresses and phone numbers of three non-family references.

For more information regarding the employment fair, call 625-8055.

Area resident helps stray dogs find loving homes

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Independence Township's Linda Meadors has always had a love of dogs. The former journalist has taken in dogs on her own since 1980 and is now part of the K-9 Stray Rescue League.

"I watched them march in the Fourth of July parade for about 10 years or so and always thought I wanted to get involved," Meadors said.

Finally a few months ago, Meadors decided to do something. Her first thought was to make a financial donation to the organization, but instead she decided to volunteer her time after finding out what an outstanding job the K-9 Stray Rescue League does for the animals.

The rescue league is a state and federally licensed non-profit group formed in 1990 to save dogs on the euthanasia list at the Oakland County Animal Shelter. The group checks the shelter on a daily bases for any deserving dog they might be able to save.

Because they always find more deserving dogs at the shelter than they can house, the group limit the number of "give-ups" that they take.

"They are a very dedicated group of people who want to place dogs who don't have a home," Meadors said. "I was overwhelmed with the amount of effort they put into it."

The group transports dogs from the kennel to Petco every Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in order to find the animals good homes.

K-9 Stray Rescue makes sure all of their dogs are spayed or neutered. They try to bring the rescued dogs up-to-date on all medical needs. If there are still remaining medical needs for a dog at the time of adoption, they give the adopter a "vet authorization" to take the animal to one of their vets to make sure everything is current.

"It makes you feel real good to volunteer and make a difference. As a kid I always had dogs and cats. Dogs are definitely my first love," Meadors said.

Meadors is a former employee of The Detroit News. She moved to Independence Township from Birmingham in 1975 and is active in area organizations such as the Clarkston Garden Club.

In addition to helping, "dogs in need," the group also works with organizations that use dogs to help people in need. K-9 Rescue has given dogs to U.S. Customs, Leader Dogs for the Blind and PAWS with a cause.

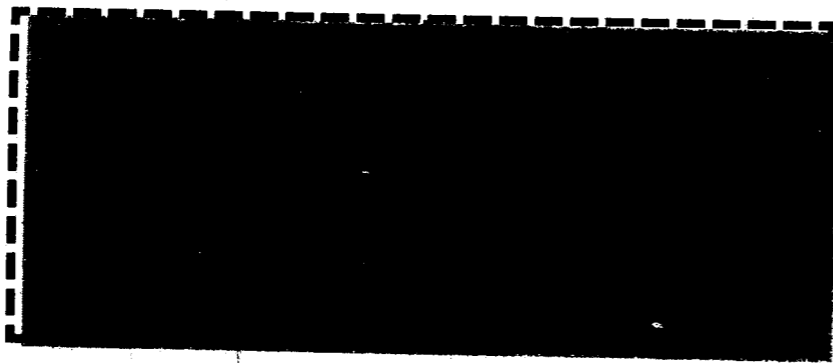

"They are operating by donation only," Meadors said. "They really do an amazing job. I couldn't believe it when I saw all the work they did hauling the dogs from the kennel. I am proud to help in any way I can."

Renewing wedding vows carries special meaning

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Sheila Bullard came up with the idea for her and her friends to renew their wedding vows while rummaging through her home.

"Actually, I was going through some things in the basement and saw my wedding dress," said the Clarkston resident. "That's how I came up with the idea. It snowballed from there."

The festivities took place Saturday, Feb. 23 at Bullard's home, with Tony Richter, a student at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit, who is staying at St. Daniel Catholic Church, presiding over the renewal.

"We used an old wedding candle, and we had wedding cake," she said.

Six couples took part in the ceremony: Sheila and Jeff Bullard, Jane and Dan Bullard, Gay and Rick Prasil, Mike and Laura Curdy, Mike and Laura Madison and Judy and Don Vachon. According to Bullard, the couples' marriage length ranged from seven to 22 years, and at least one person in each couple is from the Clarkston area.

The women brought out their old wedding dresses for the event, while the men sported tuxedos.

The ceremony was followed by a dinner at the Bullards' home. According to Sheila Bullard, everyone in attendance picked someone else in the group to offer a toast. Afterward, the couples played The Newlywed Game, with a prize basket given to the winner. In addition, there was 1970's and 1980's music playing in the background, she said.

Bullard said the renewal ceremony rekindled a lot of old memories for everyone involved.

"It was very emotional," she said. "It brought us

Conservancy to set up shop in Springfield Civic Center

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township officials will have a friendly neighbor at their upcoming Civic Center.

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy, an organization whose stated purpose is "to protect the rural character and quality of life in Northwest Oakland County," will set up their offices in the new facility when it opens for business March 19.

The Springfield Township Board approved the move at their Jan. 10 meeting. Clerk Nancy Strole said some extra space was available, so the move was a logical fit for both sides.

"They needed a new home," she said. "It made a lot of sense. We're certainly supportive of the work they do."

Strole said the main expense on the conservancy's end would come from phone services and usage.

Currently, the conservancy is sharing facilities with the Springfield Township public access cable channel in an office complex on Cad Boulevard off of Dixie Highway, past Cedar Crest Academy, said conservancy president Bob Inskip.

Inskip said the conservancy was searching for office space that would be readily accessible to the townships the conservancy serves: Springfield, Independence, Holly, Brandon, Groveland and Rose.

"We've been looking around for various office spaces in Springfield Township because we want to stay centrally located," he said. "It continues to give us an opportunity to be close to and focus on one of our major preservation efforts, Shiawassee River. We've been in partnership with several other community groups to help preserve the very pristine water system. We still will continue to move our monthly board meetings from township to township."

Inskip said he is grateful for the township's willingness to help out the conservancy.

"We appreciate the offer to use the Springfield Township facility," he said. "This underscores the partnerships we've been able to engage in."

For her part, Strole said the township is just as happy to have the conservancy on board, and said township officials and residents are fully behind the conservancy's efforts.

"They're becoming very active, and they obviously need space," she said. "They've become very active in Springfield Township. The residents have made it very clear to township officials that they want to preserve the rural quality of the township. The work of the conservancy is consistent with that."

Inskip said the conservancy would like to hold an open house for the public once they are settled into their new environment.

Kostin runs for judge

Township Prosecutor's Office, and a judicial clerk to Circuit Court Judge Fred M. Mester.

As a District Court judge, Kostin pledges to "move our criminal and civil dockets steadily and efficiently."

It isn't uncommon for citizens involved in civil disputes to wait up to two years for their case to go forward, and Kostin feels this is unfair.

Her pledges don't stop there, however.

She also will strive to treat all who enter her court with courtesy and respect, dispense fair and impartial justice for all and make convicted criminals accountable for their actions.

"I will be tough, but fair," she said. "I'm not going to be a gentle giant. My goal will be to see that people don't come before me again."

Kostin has been magistrate at the 52/2 District Court since 1996 and handles traffic cases, small claims cases, arraignments, mediates civil cases and issues search and arrest warrants. Her greatest pleasure is performing marriages.

Her goals as a district judge are vast including implementing a program allowing court sessions in local high schools.

"This program will teach our youth the real consequences of bad choices. It will also encourage youth toward a lawful and productive life."

Kostin also hopes to put into effect a sobriety court within the system.

"This program will make convicted alcohol offenders accountable for their actions as well as provide the court the authority for intervention where necessary," she said.

Novi and Waterford courts have begun a similar program and Kostin said preliminary results show its effectiveness.

Some of her other goals consist of providing court administration the necessary tools for efficient service to the citizens of the community; developing a court schedule with more convenient hours for citizens, attorneys and police officers; and starting a domestic violence "rocket docket," where cases of the sort are placed on a fast track program allowing swift justice and immediate protection to victims.

Kostin—who has a bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Michigan and a law degree from the University of Detroit—is deeply involved in the betterment of the community.

A member of the Board of Directors for the Optimist Club of Clarkston, she has chaired the Community Oratorical Contest for the last three years, and was involved as a member of the committee for Law Appreciation Week.

She is a part of the Bailey Lake Elementary School Parent Teacher Association, where her son attends; a member of the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, where she has been appointed community leader to help promote community developmental assets; is founding president of the White Lake Township Business Association; and is a member of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, through which she was nominated as Business Person of the Year 2001.

The Kostins are members at Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church in Clarkston.

In addition, Kostin is in demand as a speaker at numerous local high schools, bringing high school students a real-life perspective on a variety of legal topics and issues.

Even as a District Court judge she plans to continue her involvement in the community.

Kostin, who previously was employed in the Financial Management and Accounting Division of Ford Motor Company, is backed by endorsements from Judge Gerald McNally, whose seat she wishes to fill, as well as Oakland County Deputy Clerk Frank Millard, Dr. James O'Neill, Clarkston Mayor Sharon Catallo, Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John J. McDonald, Oakland County Commissioner David Gallo-way and State Representative Michael Kowall.

Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary also feels Kostin should be 52/2's next judge.

"I think she's a gentle, caring person and is cognizant of what needs to be done as a judge," McCrary said. "She also works with youth, which is an important factor."

Campaign manager Brenda Orlando, a litigation specialist and certified public accountant, said Kostin has a demeanor which has gained her respect in the courtroom among judges and clients.

"She has a way of getting things done. She always keeps her cool and always gets the job done. Kelley's one of the hardest workers you'll find. She is a person of integrity and is committed to the community not just by words but by actions."

A "real grass roots" campaign is the goal, and Kostin plans on getting out in the community, knocking on doors, gathering resident input and working hard, she said.

Kostin will hold a fundraiser, March 21, at Deer Lake Athletic Club. Anyone interested in attending or volunteering their time, is asked to call Brenda Orlando at 620-1187.

Local priest works at Olympics

ing home because they are homesick," Humitz said.

The priest also said you could not tell the winners of medals in the Olympic Village since those items were not flaunted.

The St. Dan's pastor was able to bring a little bit of Clarkston to the games. In the Olympic tradition, the trading of pins was alive and well in Salt Lake City. Humitz explains it as "the cultural sport of the Olympics," and it is a great way to meet people and accumulate mementos of the games.

Humitz estimates he gave away approximately 400 pins from St. Daniel's Church. The pin depicts the patron saint of courage holding the Olympic torch. It reads "St. Daniel Catholic Community, Clarkston, Michigan, USA. Fr. Bob Humitz-Chaplain. Salt Lake 2002."

The most exciting experience for Humitz was the relationships he established during his trip to Utah. He came away from the games with an even deeper appreciation of the Olympic spirit.

"The Olympic spirit involves the coming together of all cultures and faiths. Harmony and unity were very evident at the Games. The Olympics are a powerful symbol of the gathering of humanity. It was absolutely amazing," Humitz said.

While security was always an issue and was extremely tight, Humitz said he always felt safe at the Games.

"It was a great moment for the United States," Humitz said. "It showed that we were loving and caring people who are able to overcome adversity."

Although Humitz is back in Clarkston, he has plenty of memories and pictures from his time in Salt Lake City. The parish had a Lenten celebration last Saturday and combined it with a welcome home party for their pastor. Of course, it included Father Bob's famous bean soup. The church cafeteria was covered with photos Humitz had sent back to his parish during his trip.

The priest was even featured with Deacon Noon on the PBS show "Religion and Ethics News Weekly" in a segment about the chaplains at the Winter Games.

For Humitz it was a once in a lifetime experience, and one he will never forget.

"It was a fantastic experience to meet so many outstanding people of so many different faiths. It was a real honor," Humitz said.

Clarkston Community Schools is not just a name

If there is one thing that I find special about Clarkston, it is the way our citizens respond to their schools. This community is not only supportive of our schools and students, it is involved! Residents attend school activities and athletic events, donate time and money to district committees and clubs and work with our students in both formal and informal ways to ensure success. Clarkston is truly a great place to live.

Clarkston Schools

Dr. Al Roberts

One population that continues to impress me, is our senior citizens, or in politically correct terms, our veteran Clarkston residents. Many of my counterparts lament about how they are unable to reach their senior citizen population. Listening to such concerns causes me to count my blessings.

Last week more than 250 senior residents braved the snowy conditions to preview a special dress rehearsal of our high school drama production. The students at CHS had been working to perfect their rendition of Oklahoma for the past few months. In order to work out the bugs, and eliminate any last minute stage jitters they asked for a supportive audience. Our senior citizens met the challenge with smiles and applause.

In the fall of this school year, our senior citizens were asked to attend a special production put on by Palace Sports and Entertainment. This production was unique, in that it offered our newest community members (those that were under age four) time to sit side by side and enjoy and intergenerational activity. This unique event provided our very young residents an opportunity to share time and laughs with residents that they may not otherwise have had the chance to know. Both the experienced and young enjoyed this day tremendously.

Each year, members from the Clarkston Community Historical Society volunteer time in our classrooms to share artifacts, stories and information to build a stronger sense of community with our youngsters. Sometimes, these same individuals are dressed in attire representing a time period the students are studying. These meaningful lessons make learning fun and memorable. It is those lessons that will forever leave an impression in the hearts and minds of our youngsters. There are too many groups to mention in one article, but it is safe to say that community groups like the Optimist, Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, Garden Club has a profound impact on the school district. This impact is no doubt positive, and just one other example of the fine community in which we live.

Clarkston Community Schools are 'your' schools. We encourage and invite any resident to find a niche within our district. For many, simply participating in our Community Education classes is one link to the schools. For others, the link is enjoying the pool during open swim. Attending plays, concerts and athletic events are always a good way to support our youngsters and see your schools in action. Career Days, Guest Readers and Classroom Volunteering are opportunities to share your skills with students and to make an impact within our community.

More importantly, we want to hear from you. Our residents, young and old, are very important members of the school family. If there is something you think we should know about or opportunities to make our facilities more available to the community, let us know. It is two-way, open and honest dialogue that make great organizations function properly. Two minds are always better than one, and I am certain that by working together our schools will continue to succeed. And, our community will continue to be one of the best places to live, work, retire and call home.

Sashabaw Presbyterian gets new pastor in Sias-Lee

"Sing a New Song," is the theme as Sashabaw Presbyterian Church of Clarkston announces the installation of the Rev. Laura Sias-Lee. The church has gone almost seven years without pastoral leadership.

Rev. Sias-Lee has been in ministry in Oakland County for the last 20 years. She is an advocate for family ministry and has led workshops for the Family Matters Conference sponsored by Wise Mothers Inc. as well as in other forums. She is married to David Lee, an attorney in Oakland County. They have two daughters, Abigail, 11, and Esther, 5.

The Installation took place on Sunday, Jan. 27. The Moderator of the Installation Commission was Francille Anderson, the Moderator of the Presbytery of Detroit. A sermon given by Rev. Kathryn Thorsen, Interim Associate Executive of the Presbytery of Detroit spoke of promises made and promises kept.

"Many promises are made, but not all promises are kept. One thing however is sure, the promises God makes are always kept."

Also taking part was the Rev. Dr. Thomas

Hartley, pastor of Community Presbyterian Church in Waterford and Rev. Dr. Larry Austin a noted member of the Presbytery.

One of the highlights of the service was the variety of musical talents displayed by the members of the congregation including harp, guitar and piano. Demonstrating the importance of children in the life of the church, Abigail Lee led the congregation in singing Psalm 98 "Sing a New Song unto the Lord." The congregation also joined in the celebration by singing a variety of hymns from contemporary to traditional. The service was followed by a festive reception hosted by the church Deacons.

Although the church first opened its door as Sashabaw Presbyterian Church in 1946, the roots of the congregation go back more than 150 years. The church outgrew its first home in the "Century Chapel" on Maybee Road and a new building with more multiple use rooms was completed in 1972, directly across the street. The congregation currently worships at 10:30 a.m. on Sundays. Children are welcomed in worship. Sunday school is

The church is located at 5300 Maybee Road, between Clintonville Rd. and Sashabaw Road. For more information call 673-3101 or e-mail Rev. Sias-Lee at Sashabaw@acninc.net.

The Wolves capped off the regular season in style, defeating rival Pontiac Northern in the Oakland Activities Association Division I-II tournament final, 75-66, on Friday, March 1 at Birmingham Groves.

Clarkston (16-4) now moves on to district action Wednesday, March 6 at 8 p.m., where they will take on the host Romeo Bulldogs, who defeated Holly 91-52 in district action March 4.

The highlight of Friday's game for the Wolves came during the second period, when the Wolves made 12-of-14 shots on their way to outscoring the Huskies in the second, 26-17, to take a 37-30 lead at halftime.

The Wolves received a boost from their bench during that quarter, as senior Sean Eley scored eight points in the period, while junior Justin Whetstone added five and senior Adam Kretz four.

"Those kids came in and gave us a tremendous lift," said Clarkston coach Dan Fife.

Senior center Dave Ritzema led the Wolves with 22 points, while senior guard Mike Blicher added 13 points and senior forward Eric Kieras 11. Lester Abram led Northern (16-4) with 18 points.

"It was nice to get to the finals," Fife said. "I was happy for the kids. Anytime we play Northern, we hope to make it exciting. We were fortunate enough to come out on top."

The Wolves advanced to the OAA tournament final by defeating Pontiac Central, 63-57, on Tuesday, Feb. 26. Dave Ritzema led the Wolves with 18 points, while Eric Kieras added 15.

Fife talked about the play of Ritzema, who has been plagued by a stress fracture in his leg. He said learning to play with pain will benefit Ritzema, who has committed to Oakland University for next season, at the college level.

"I know it's been very difficult for David to play with that injury," he said. "I think it will be good for him to play with pain. If you're going to play in college, you have to learn to play with pain. He's been able to block it. He's such a factor when he's in the game. I think it's

Wolves' bid for repeat district volleyball title falls short

In the end, it wasn't meant to be. The Clarkston volleyball team's bid for a second straight district championship came to an end at the district finals Friday, March 1 at Clarkston High School. The Wolves lost to Fenton 15-5, 5-15, 3-15 as their season came to a close.

Clarkston finished their season with a record of 24-20-2. Earlier in the evening, they defeated Holly 15-8, 9-15, 15-7 in the first round and Waterford Kettering 15-3, 15-8 in the district semifinals.

Coach Gordie Richardson called the loss "disappointing" and said the Wolves had their opportunities to win.

"I really felt we had a good chance to win the district," he said. "We actually played really well. Our nemesis of not being able to finish hurt us. We'd get a lot of momentum and not be able to sustain it. We had too many unforced errors."

Richardson said consistency was a problem for the team all year, and said that on more than one occasion this season, the Wolves had their chances to win but couldn't capitalize.

"You don't like to feel like you gave a match away," he said. "A lot of times we played like we were afraid to lose. We just couldn't make the right pass or get a good kill... That was probably the most disappointing thing. We had matches that we were in control of and couldn't finish."

The Wolves will be losing five seniors from this year's squad: Sheena Moran, Diana Doyle, Alyssa Bergkoetter, Bonnie Edgar and Rockie Tripi. The team will have eight juniors returning (Jenni McLeod, Alex Heinrich, Megan Gaines, Rachel Tyler, Stephanie Reitano, Courtney Robinson, Corey Sadowski and Jenna Kast) and one freshman returning (Stephanie Parkin).

Richardson said size will again be a problem for the Wolves next season, particularly compared to teams such as Farmington Hills Mercy, Troy Athens and Birmingham Marian, which Richardson said have "real good size." He said the team will have to make up for that by playing fundamentally sound.

"We're going to have to play smart volleyball," he said. "We're going to have to make big plays when it counts."

Richardson said with Parkin already on the team and what he said is "a good sophomore class coming up" next season, the Wolves will be a young team with room to grow.

"We gained a lot of experience this season," he said. "I think we learned quite a bit about the game of volleyball. I think we'll be better offensively. We'll miss the seniors because they gave us good leadership. We're still young enough that we have a lot of room to improve."

Port Huron Northern ends Wolves' season in regional finals

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's drive for the state hockey title ended at the hands of Port Huron Northern.

Northern, ranked second in the state, scored two goals in the third period to get past the sixth-ranked Wolves, 3-1, in regional final action Saturday, March 2 at Flint IMA Arena. The Wolves finish the year with a record of 19-7-1.

Junior forward Myles Purdy scored the lone goal of the game for the Wolves with four minutes left in the second period to tie the game at one.

The Wolves advanced to the regional finals by defeating Flint Southwestern Academy, 15-0, on Wednesday, Feb. 27.

Coach Bryan Krygier said while the team was disappointed in how their season ended, they had a quality season going up against some of the top competition in the state.

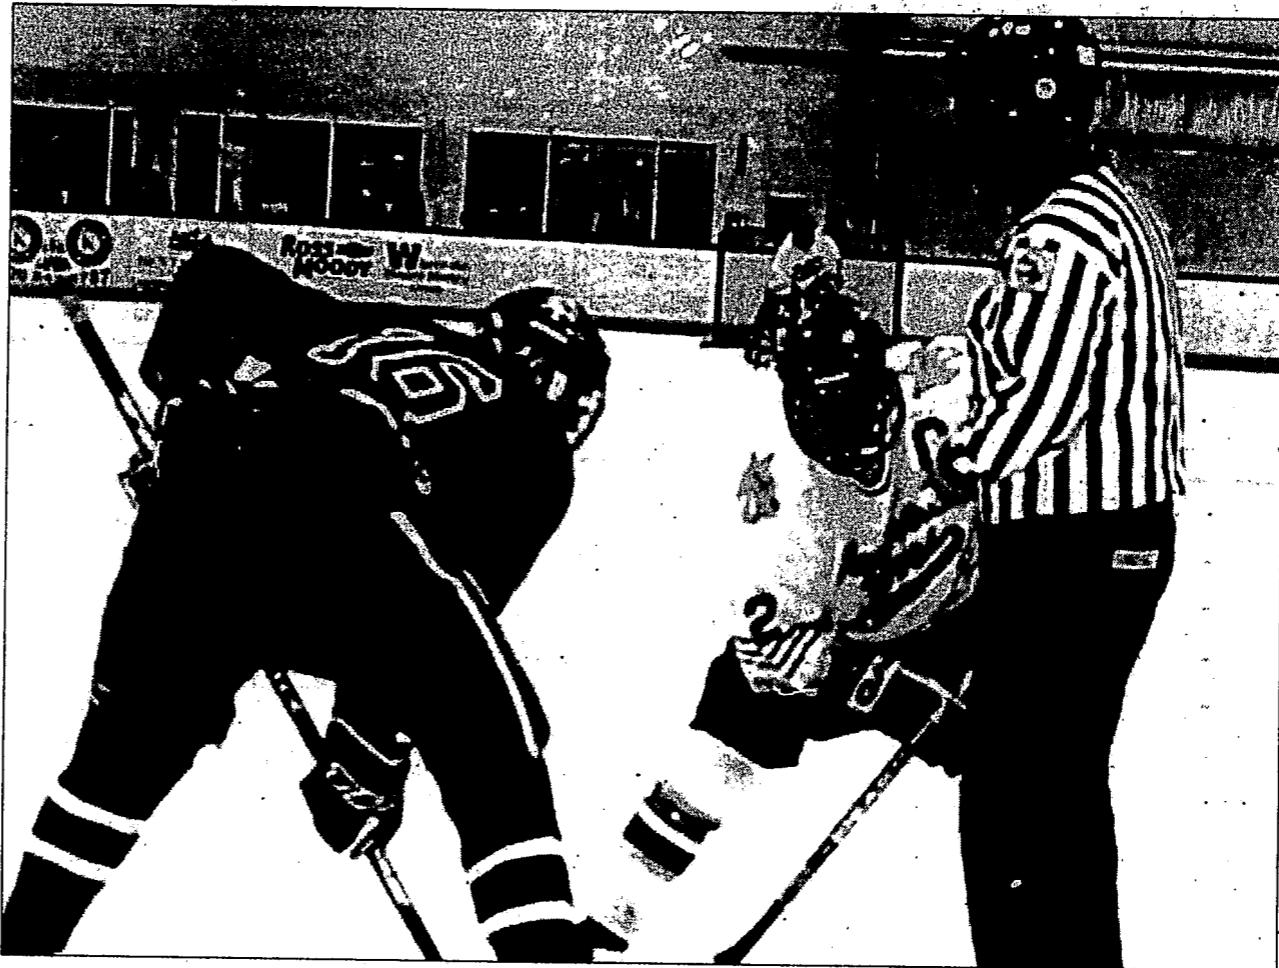

"I think they did a good job," he said. "We had probably one of the toughest schedules in the league. The leadership from the seniors allowed us to be near the top of the state."

Next season will feature a lot of turnover, as the Wolves graduate eight seniors from this year's team: Nick Turner, Alan Marchio, Eric Plante, Adam Postal, Mike Abrams, Mike Cholette, Jordan Conley and Ryan Rathbun.

"We lose eight seniors, so we have some rebuilding to do over the summer," Krygier said. "There's a lot of good freshmen coming in and a lot of good sophomores coming in. Hopefully, we'll find someone to replace them."

Krygier talked about some of the high points and low points of this season. He said one of the highlights came when the Wolves won the Cranbrook Tournament in November for the first time in the four years the school has participated in the tourney.

He also said winning the Oakland Activities Association Division I title for the third time in four seasons was a 'great accomplishment.'

On the flip side, he said the down points came when the Wolves let a couple of games that they should have won get away, particularly in the Alpena Tournament finals against East Kentwood and a late-season game against Detroit Catholic Central.

This season marked a highlight of sorts for Krygier in that this was the first year the team was entirely picked by himself and assistant coach Ralph Humphlett.

"This is my fourth season, and this is the first year that I've had the total team that Ralph and I picked," he said. "It's been great seeing them (this year's seniors) progress. I wish them the best of luck."

Seven grapplers to represent Wolves at Palace March 7-9

The Clarkston blue and gold will be in full force at the individual wrestling finals March 7-9 at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

Seven Wolves grapplers earned the right to compete at the tourney. Those seven, along with their season records, are:

- Joe Wood, 41-8
- Elliott May, 38-6
- Braden L'Amoreaux, 41-12
- Tony LaJoie, 37-11
- John Langdon, 34-11
- Clint DeGain, 44-1
- Jason Talbott, 36-17

The grand march and first round of action is scheduled for Thursday, March 7. Rounds two through five are on tap for Friday, March 8, with the final four rounds, including the championship matches, slated for Saturday, March 9.

been a good learning process for him."

The second season now begins for the Wolves with the start of district play. In addition to the aforementioned three teams, Brandon, Oxford and Grand Blanc will vie for the district crown.

"It is a new season," Fife said. "Our margin for error in games is always real small. You have a bad night and you're done."

Nonetheless, he said he is confident the team will be mentally focused and ready for the playoffs.

"Our kids have been pretty good in getting ready to play," he said. "They know they have to play hard in order to win. I'm happy with our team and I'm excited about our chances."

Athlete of the week: Braden L'Amoreaux

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

In his first year on the Clarkston wrestling team, freshman Braden L'Amoreaux established himself as one of the cornerstones for the team's future.

L'Amoreaux is one of seven grapplers representing the Wolves at the individual state wrestling finals, which will be held March 7-9 at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

When he was 10 years old, L'Amoreaux joined the Clarkston Wrestling Club, a group targeted for pre-middle school competitors. He then competed on the Clarkston Middle School wrestling team during seventh and eighth grades.

He said he has benefited during the team's practices by "just wrestling with (teammate) Tony (LaJoie) and wrestling with the upperclassmen."

He also said coach Mike DeGain has helped him along in his quest to improve. "He's been a great coach," L'Amoreaux said. "He's praising me and giving me motivation."

In the future, he said he would like to earn a scholarship to Michigan State University. "I'm working hard and getting good grades, so that should help," he said.

L'Amoreaux's family consists of mother Jackie Gerblick, dad Pete L'Amoreaux, stepdad Jim Gerblick and two older siblings: brother Ryan L'Amoreaux, who is a junior at Michigan State University, and sister Mandy L'Amoreaux, who is a sophomore at Baker College.

"My brother has always been pushing me harder and harder," he said. "My mom helps me with my weight."

CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON
375 DEPOT ROAD
CLARKSTON MI 48346
City Council Meeting
Summary

February 25, 2002

Meeting called to order by Mayor Catallo at 7:03 p.m.
Roll Present: Catallo, Clifton, Colombo, Gamble, Meyland, Savage, Werner.

Absent: None.

Minutes of February 11, 2002, approved as presented.

Agenda approved as presented.

Resolved That the City Council create the position of Deputy Chief of Police, and that position would be an appointment by the Chief of Police. The salary would make no difference in the budget as the Deputy's salary would be taken from the Chief's allocated salary with no increase in the budget.

A discussion with Gary Tressel, City Engineer, was held regarding those residences with two lots. If a residence consists of more than one lot, the special assessment would be based on one REU unless a lot were sold for the construction of a new residence. At that time, the new construction would be subject to a special assessment. Existing vacant lots that are not adjacent to the owner's residence will be subject to the special assessment in Phase II.

Tressel reported that a computer to handle the special assessments is to be considered.

Discussion was held regarding repairs of streets; Tressel reported that private streets would not be repaired. Also, fire hydrants will normally be located on common property lines.

Resolved That Awarding Resolution for the purchase of the City's $995,000, 2002 General Obligation Unlimited Tax Bonds, Series A show that the bid of McDonald Investments, Inc., be accepted. (Resolution on file and part of official Minutes.)

Resolved That Special Assessment Resolution No. 1 (Special Assessment Districts W02-1, W02-2, W02-3, and W02-4) be adopted. (The four resolutions are on file and part of official Minutes.)

Resolved That Special Assessment Resolution No. 1 (Special Assessment Districts P02-1, P02-2, P02-3, and P02-4) be adopted. (The four resolutions are on file and part of official Minutes.)

Resolved That Special Assessment Resolution No. 2 (Special Assessment Districts W02-1, W02-2, W02-3, and W02-4) be adopted. (The four resolutions are on file and part of official Minutes.)

Resolved by Meyland, supported by Savage, That Special Assessment Resolution No. 2 (Special Assessment Districts P02-1, P02-2, P02-3, and P02-4) be adopted. (The four resolutions are on file and part of official Minutes.)

Meeting adjourned at 7:42 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Artemus M. Pappas, Clerk
