Residents to give field to district

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Soccer players at Clarkston High School may soon have a new practice field they'll get a kick out of. Clarkston residents David Spencer and Mark Verlinden and a handful of other concerned community members have hopes to raise money to present the field as a gift to the school district.

The volunteer committee took on the project two years ago, researching and developing a project plan, to meet what they feel is a high need for a practice field.

Currently, the 120 kids in the soccer program practice on the baseball outfield, football field and occasionally on the soccer game field. This causes extra wear to the grounds when they need to be recovering in the off-season, Spencer said. And with 50 home games a season, the game field shouldn't be used for practice if it is to stay healthy, he added.

With 1,400 kids playing soccer in the Independence Township Parks and Recreation programs, the sport isn't showing any signs of dying down and the need for a practice field will become even stronger as the school program grows during the next years.

Verlinden said he feels good about the receptivity from the public. "We've got nothing but 100 percent support."

Working with the athletic program, coaches, groundskeepers and others to get an accurate idea of what the plan should entail, the committee brought their proposal to School Board members at the Board of Education meeting March 25 for their opinions and blessing to move forward.

Understanding the school district is under cost constraints, the group expects to raise all the money needed themselves.

Spencer said a preliminary indication of community support, without having accepted any formal commitments as of yet, shows approximately $30,000 in monetary donations and in-kind support, which includes a $20,000 donation from the Clarkston High School Boosters.

An offer of dirt has been made if the group responds in the next few weeks, saving the committee $16,000.

Additional monies will still need to be raised with a fundraising efforts targeting the soccer club, soccer alumni, businesses who support the school sport, soccer parents and other

"angels in the community" like the Clarkston Area Optimist Club, Verlinden said.

Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts made it clear the school's contribution to this project will be kept at zero, and no signature funds will be taken out of the general fund.

The committee's initial plan is to have the designated playing area seeded by mid-May for use next fall. The full-size field, with six inches of top soil to prevent injuries, would be centrally located between the tennis courts and retention pond behind the high school.

Trustee Kurt Shanks wanted to know if the committee considered any alternative locations. But Verlinden said this was the available open space, trees would have to be cut down otherwise.

Secretary Sheila Hughes was concerned with drainage. Spencer assured there would be no problems. He explained the field is crowned, so runoff goes around the field directly to the retention pond. This was the longest aspect of the project the committee worked on, Verlinden said, noting Kieft Engineering donated their time to the project.

The School Board was in agreement this was a worthy project and approved the preliminary acceptance of the gift and granted the go ahead for fundraising.

After money is raised the committee will come forward again for final acceptance of the gift.

Roberts said there is a lot of talented and giving groups in the community, but noted this particular group has distinguished themselves by really doing their homework before approaching the board.

Also at the March 25 meeting, School Board members reviewed and discussed the financial, communication, curriculum and facilities and space goals as they continue to prepare for larger decisions in the future.

Reflections winner recognized by superintendent

A surprise visit—Clarkston schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts congratulated fifth-grader Jessica Goyke in Mrs. Kathy Noble's class, March 26, and presented her with a certificate for her win in state competition for Reflections, a Parent Teacher Association nationwide program that promotes students of any age to submit work in art, music, literature and photography. Goyke is one of only three in her age group, in the visual arts category, to win in all of Michigan. Photo provided.

Clarkston City Council amends domestic violence law

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As new state laws dealing with domestic violence take effect at the beginning of April, the Clarkston City Council took a step toward keeping better track of domestic violence offenders.

At its March 25 meeting, the council approved a second reading of an amendment to the city's domestic violence ordinance. The amendment will increase the penalty for domestic violence convictions from a 90-day misdemeanor to a 93-day misdemeanor.

According to Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston, by increasing the time of the penalty to a 93-day misdemeanor, domestic violence offenders are required to be fingerprinted and notification made to the state about their status as an offender.

"It's a better tracking system," Ormiston said.

He said a couple of years ago, the State Legislature allowed local municipalities to put into effect 93-day misdemeanors under local ordinances.

"There's a couple of advantages to doing that," Ormiston said. "It's a simpler process. We don't have to go to the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office for a period of time and get authorization for a warrant. There's a time savings. Also, when someone is fined, a greater portion of the fines comes back to the local law enforcement branch."

Briefly

Local Kiwanis club forms, conducts drive

Kiwanis International announces the formation of a new chapter organized to service the communities of Brandon, Independence Township (Clarkston), Waterford and surrounding areas.

Kiwanis International is an organization of service-minded men and women who respond to the unique needs of their communities and address worldwide issues by "serving the Children of the World."

The Kiwanis Club of North Oakland Lakes is affiliated with the Michigan District of Kiwanis. Kiwanis clubs sponsor youth organizations that provide young people with opportunities to perform community service and develop leadership skills. Kiwanis chapters focus on the needs of young children and families in need.

Those interested in joining the Club, should contact either Brett Bankston at (248) 323-3828 or Rob Whitcomb at (248) 969-7227 to receive information on Kiwanis.

The Kiwanis Club of North Oakland Lakes is currently conducting a drive to collect items not covered by foodstamps. Proceeds from the event will help benefit families with children that are in need of items not covered by foodstamps. Proceeds to be dispensed by Lighthouse of Clarkston.

Donations may be dropped-off at Morgan's Service, 28 S. Main, Clarkston, Century 21 Val-U-Way, Waterford and Tammy's Enchanted Florist in the Waterfall Plaza.

Village Players present music

The Clarkston Village Players is proud to present an evening of music with David Mosher, Dan Hall and Clarkston Village Players own Bob Gerics. Come enjoy these talented musicians as they sing, share their acoustic playing of the guitar and enchant listeners with their beautiful original tunes.

One show only on Saturday, April 13 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $15. The performances will be at the Depot Theater, located at 4861 White Lake Road in Clarkston.

Chamber hosts Olympic breakfast

The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce will host a Breakfast for Success with guest speaker Father Robert Humitz from St. Daniel Catholic Church.

Father Bob recently attended the Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City as a volunteer Chaplain with the International Olympic Committee. Father Bob will share photos, stories and inspirational moments from his experience at the Olympics.

The event is open to the public and will take place on April 11 from 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. A continental breakfast will be served at Deer Lake Banquet Center. Cost is $10 and reservations are strongly recommended.

'Everyone's smart in their own way' at Pine Knob El.

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

You could be smart in math, smart in music or smart in people skills. No matter what your expertise, everyone is smart in one area or another.

And that was the message meant for students during a special assembly, March 22, at Pine Knob Elementary.

Part of their Diversity Hour, which are periodic school-wide get-togethers that tackle a variety of pertinent issues related to diversity, a handful of teachers and students presented a skit on "what makes you smart."

In a classroom setting, students, in character as fictional students, are asked by their teacher to find a particular workshop area--math, reading, music, nature and more--related to what they are interested in and what they are good at. But poor Tristan, played by Mattan Alalouf, doesn't know what area he fits into.

Through a series of circumstances, Tristan travels to each table of students and helps them figure out a dilemma they are facing. In one instance, he helps an artist come up with a way to complete her painting. And in another, he helps a singer finish writing her lyrics.

Still, Tristan only sees that everyone else has something they're good at, but doesn't know what's his forte. Teacher Miss Smart, played by Briana Sorrells, thinks otherwise. She points out Tristan's talent is helping others.

"Everybody's smart!" the kids yelled out at the conclusion, breaking into song, "Everybody's Smart in Their Own Way."

The students, and little thespians in this case, gave up more than two weeks of recess to rehearse. PKE teacher Lisa Harris, who wrote the "smart" play, said, "They did a great job!"

Hogan looking to capture state representative seat

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Sean Hogan is hoping energy and passion will help lift him to a victory in the 44th District State Representative race.

Despite being only 23 years old, the White Lake resident is no newcomer to politics. He graduated from Michigan State University with a bachelor of science degree in public administration. He has also seen his father, Matt Hogan, go through numerous elections. Matt Hogan ran unsuccessful campaigns for Oakland County Sheriff in 1996 and State Representative in 1998 and 2000.

However there is a political difference between the two, as father is a Democrat and son is a Republican.

"I found when I was at Michigan State and studied political science that the Republican philosophy was closer to my own. It leads to some arguments but it's all right. He understands. Dad loves his son and I love my dad," Sean Hogan said.

Hogan has already set goals for if he is elected to state government. One item he wants to work at is making college education more affordable for Michigan families.

"I am open to any ideas on that subject. I am very concerned about that issue," Hogan said.

The other item Hogan would like to work on is automobile insurance and making sure rates do not get too high.

"A lot of families with 16 and 17-year old kids are telling me they can't afford to buy a car because insurance is so high," Hogan said.

The way Hogan would like to accomplish that is by trying to reduce the liabilities for the insurance companies by getting more drunk drivers off the road and those who are driving on a suspended license. He believes that should lower insurance for everybody.

Additional issues the 23-year-old would like to tackle is stricter enforcement of probation programs and criminal parole violations and to increase environmental standards to protect the quality of the water and air.

While some may think youth could be perceived as a hinderance when running for public office, Hogan is looking at it as a positive.

"I am energetic and want to show proactive leadership. I have a passion for government," Hogan said. "Ever since I have been in high school I have been interested in this. It is not the first time because David Woodward won when he was 21 down in Royal Oak and John Engler started very young too."

Hogan went to Clarkston High School until tenth grade when he transferred to Our Lady of the Lakes due to the fact they had a hockey team and at the time CHS didn't.

The candidate headed to Iona College in New York where he played Division I hockey on scholarship and was awarded Iona's rookie-of-the-year title. After a coaching change cut into his playing time, Hogan decided to return to Michigan and attended Michigan State where he played on the club team.

"I absolutely love playing hockey," Hogan said.

Upon graduation, he called and wrote letters to minor league teams trying to get an opportunity to play. After kicking around a few teams, Hogan decided to give up the hockey dream.

Hogan is getting a lot of support from his family including some advice from his father. Hogan has twin 21-year old siblings, Ryan and Emily.

"I am doing the grass roots thing. I am knocking on doors, shaking hands and meeting people," Hogan said. "I want to go in there and get things done. I am real excited about the opportunity. I am not looking at it as a career move. I am real excited about public service."

Kaleidoscope director has history of community service

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

After several stops in other parts of the country, Oakland County native Helen Vergin returned home to give back to her community. She does everything from heading up a church group to organizing a sesquicentennial celebration for Springfield Township.

Today, she is the director of the Kaleidoscope Foundation, a nonprofit organization serving as the fundraising arm for Northwest Oakland Community Services (NOCS), an agency serving seven townships: Groveland, Highland, Holly, Independence, Rose, Springfield and White Lake.

The organization has its temporary offices on Broadway Street in Davisburg, and is currently seeking funds to build a permanent facility in either Rose or Springfield Townships.

She grew up on the outskirts of Pontiac, in the area now known as Auburn Hills. She went to school in Chicago and earned a degree in recreational group work at a small YMCA school there. Most of the people who came out of that school were people with degrees in recreation," she said.

After she graduated from the YMCA school, Vergin took a job as the director of a youth community center in Keokuk, Iowa, where she stayed for seven years.

She returned to Pontiac after that time to teach school for seven years. She then married her husband Lloyd, who passed away a couple of years ago, she said. They raised two daughters, Tammy Vergin and Cyndy Rodriguez, and Helen helped her husband run the family's dairy farm.

She also became involved with the Davisburg United Methodist Church, organizing their youth church, which still runs today. "The high school students gave sermons," Vergin said. "We were downstairs having our service while the people upstairs had theirs. We would learn Bible verses and would know what the sacraments meant. We would learn the importance of the ritual ceremony. They were good kids."

Giving back -- Springfield Township resident Helen Vergin heads up the Kaleidoscope Foundation, a nonprofit organization serving seven townships in the Northwest Oakland County area. Photo by Jeff Patrus.

She said the youth group learned the importance of community when they adopted a Korean child and paid for the child's education. "They learned to care for someone else," she said. "This helped them realize there are people in worse shape."

Vergin was also instrumental in helping to organize Springfield Township's sesquicentennial, or 150th anniversary, in 1986. The celebration featured a huge quilt show, with more than 200 quilts on the 4-H grounds, a garden show and a Miss Springfield Pageant.

She said the 150th anniversary period was, in reality, a three-year period, with 1984-85 spent planning for the event before the big anniversary in 1986. "We had a real fun time with that," she said.

Vergin was involved with the group Neighbor for Neighbor before helping to found NOCS, which is now in its 13th year. Today, her efforts are focused on helping to expand the organization's ability to serve the community.

"We want to continue doing the things we've been doing for 13 years," she said.

She said she has received a great deal of support from community members who have volunteered their time to help. "We go to universities, high schools," she said. "Those kids are so eager to help. Honor students, Girl Scouts and others work on the program."

Above all else, Vergin said volunteering your time in the community leads to rewards far greater than expected. "No matter what we do for someone else, you get the rewards greater than you give," she said.

For more information on the Kaleidoscope Foundation, visit their Web site at www.kaleidoscopefoundationmichigan.org or call (248) 634-9100.

Youth might be positive in political game

I have found that being an editor of a community paper allows you to meet many interesting people from various walks of life. It is one of the great parts of the job.

Given the time of year, many politicians running for public office walk into The Clarkston News office to introduce themselves and see if they can get some media coverage.

To be honest, it is hard to get a good read on the individuals in those short meetings. They all seem like decent people who genuinely want to help the community in which they are running for election. Sure they have different ideas, but that is to be expected.

Most of these individuals are seasoned veterans to the political game. They have great pride in their political accomplishments, and rightfully so.

However it was interesting when 23-year-old Sean Hogan, candidate for 44th District State Representative, came in to speak with me last week. I am not going to lie to you, when I heard he was fresh out of college I had some trepidations about his ability to be a state representative. Maybe it was the thought that 10 years ago someone that age might have been watching "Saved By the Bell" while sporting a pair of Reebok Pump basketball shoes.

Despite my original thoughts, Hogan impressed me with his high energy and excitement about his campaign. When speaking of the election his eyes got as big as mine do in the summer months when McDonald's finally brings back the McRib.

The Michigan State University graduate made me believe he would work hard if he got to Lansing and would not lose touch with the people who sent him there. He also showed me he has a passion for politics and believes strongly in his stance on the issues. Basically it was evident he was serious about doing a good job.

Maybe he hit home with me because we are basically the same age. Although when I was sporting the beard, a co-worker assumed my 24-year-old self was in fact 36. I chalked it up to my vast maturity and then proceeded to shave the beard. Just for an update I am now showcasing a goatee on my face. I believe those were cool about eight years ago.

This is not to say experience is a bad thing. There is a lot to be said for individuals who have paid their dues and want to put their vast experience to work.

However, I would urge my loyal three readers to not write off Hogan due to his age. I recommend you read his opinions on the issues (see story on page 4) and make a decision about whether he is the right candidate for you or not.

Kostin election signs irritate resident

I couldn't help but notice that District Judge candidate Kelly Kostin has put her campaign signs up at the corner of Dixie Highway and Andersonville Road, just outside of Independence Township.

I don't know anything about Waterford Township's sign ordinances, but I assume they are similar to ours here in Independence, where candidates are forbidden by law to litter the landscape with their signs until 14 days before the primary and general elections.

I find it shocking that a person who wants us to vote to elect her to a position where she will be responsible for enforcing the law would knowingly and blatantly violate the law in this way.

Putting up her signs only a few feet outside the Independence Township line demonstrates to me that Kelly Kostin is indeed attempting to get around the law. I don't want that kind of person to be a judge in any court, and certainly not in our court.

Jo Ann Kretsch
Clarkston

(Editor's note: The Clarkston News contacted Kelly Kostin who said she was not sure who put the sign up outside LA Cafe. Kostin also stated once it was brought to her attention she called the restaurant, thanked them for their support, but told them they needed to take down the sign and it was within 10 minutes of the Kostins noticing it. Kostin had instructed her workers not to display the signs until the law permits.)

Commentary

Safety lessons will reduce spring injuries for children

The first day of spring has come and gone, and though by the weather it might be difficult to tell, it is here to stay. Baseball season has begun, the days are getting longer and already a few flowers have started to bloom. People are just itching to spend some time outside after a dreary winter.

With the increase in outdoor activity, the season for injuries also is upon us. Everyone, children in particular, are at risk of injury during the heightened months of activity. There are some things you can do to prevent injuries.

One of the most popular outdoor activities is bike riding. Bicycles are associated with more childhood injuries than any consumer product except the automobile. That is why it is so important to teach your kids bike safety. Then they can enjoy their increased independence and you can have a greater peace of mind. Wearing a helmet alone can reduce the risk of head injury by as much as 85 percent. Remember these important rules too:

- Ride with traffic, not against it.
- Use appropriate hand signals.
- Respect traffic signals.
- Be alert—Stop! Look! and Listen!
- If riding after dusk wear reflective clothing.
- If riding after dark use a light on your bike.

and

- Ensure bikes are a proper fit and in good repair.

Following these simple rules will help your family enjoy many safe bike rides this year.

A great number of childhood injuries occur in the streets. Children darting into roads after loose balls or pets, playing around parked vehicles or playing games in the street account for 25,000 injuries annually. Between 25 and 50 percent of those injuries require hospital admission. By following these simple guidelines you can help prevent injuries.

- Prohibit playing in driveways, roads and parking lots.
- Help your children find a safe route to popular play spots or friend's houses and make sure they follow the same route.
- Teach them to cross at corners using crosswalks if available; and
- Never run into the street without stopping and making sure it is safe.

For more information on how to keep your children safe, surf the information superhighway and visit the National Safe Kids Campaign Web site at www.safekids.org. You can learn more about the issues discussed in this column as well as other important issues like water safety, playground safety and hidden hazards around the home.

If you have any comments, questions or suggestions on these issues or any other state business, please call me at (800) 510-RUTH or send an e-mail to rujohnson@house.state.mi.us. You may also send correspondence to P.O. Box 30014, Lansing, MI 48910.

1. He never cut his hair.
2. He walked around barefoot all the time.
3. He started a new religion.

But then there were 3 equally good arguments that Jesus was Irish

1. He never got married.
2. He was always telling stories.
3. He loved green pastures.

But the most compelling evidence of all - 3 proofs that Jesus was a woman

1. He had to feed a crowd at a moment's notice when there was no food.
2. He kept trying to get a message across to a bunch of men who just didn't get it.
3. Even when He was dead, he had to get up because there was more work to do.

And, if that didn't get anybody's hackles up (what's a hackle?), this should.

Democrat: You have two cows. Your neighbor has none. You feel guilty for being successful. You vote people into office that put a tax on your cows, forcing you to sell one to raise money to pay the tax. The people you voted for then take the tax money, buy a cow and give it to your neighbor. You feel righteous. Barbara Streisand sings for you.

Socialist: You have two cows. The government takes one and gives it to your neighbor. You form a cooperative to tell him how to manage his cow.

Republican: You have two cows. Your neighbor has none. So?

Communist: You have two cows. The government seizes both and provides you with milk. You wait in line for hours to get it. It is expensive and sour.

Capitalism, American Style: You have two cows. You sell one, buy a bull, and build a herd of cows.

Democracy, American Style: You have two cows. The government taxes you to the point you have to sell both to support a man in a foreign country who only has one cow, which was a gift from your government.

Bureaucracy, American Style: You have two cows. The government takes them both, shoots one, milks the other, pays you for the milk, then pours the milk down the drain.

American Corporation: You have two cows. You sell one, lease it back to yourself and do an IPO on the 2nd one. You force the 2 cows to produce the milk of four cows. You are surprised when one cow drops dead. Your spin announcement to analysts states you have down-sized and are reducing expenses. Your stock goes up.

French Corporation: You have two cows. You go on strike because you want three cows. You go to lunch. Life is good.

Japanese Corporation: You have two cows. You redesign them so they are one-tenth the size of an ordinary cow and produce twenty times the milk. They learn to travel on unbelievably crowded trains. Most are at the top of their class at cow school.

German Corporation: You have two cows. You re-engineer them so they are all blondes, drink lots of beer, give excellent quality milk, and run 100 miles an hour. Unfortunately they also demand 13 weeks of vacation per year.

Florida Corporation: You have a black cow and a brown cow. Everyone votes for the best-looking one. Some of the people who like the brown cow the best, vote for the black one. Some people vote for both. Some people vote for neither. Some people can't figure out how to vote at all. Finally, a bunch of guys from out-of-state tell you which is the best looking one.

Alan Greenspan and the other Feds better get off warnings of "no" or "some growth" and get back to warnings of "inflation." The postage and gasoline prices are only the beginning.

In my file is an article on fingernails. I saved it because in 1947 I was told my fingernails' ridges were signs I had tuberculosis. At the time I was hospitalized with tuberculosis. My skin and bones stature could foretell the same thing, but this all-seeing person chose my nails to impress me.

The article kills the still-alive belief that fingernails and hair continue to grow after death. They don't! That's an illusion caused by the retraction of skin against bones.

And, if you are right-handed the nails on that hand will grow slightly faster than nails on the left. If you are left-handed, the opposite is true. The middle fingernail grows faster than all other nails.

The article doesn't give us an answer for that. I can only guess that the middle fingernail gets more use, more exposure to high air and more sunlight.

Get a load of this brilliant observation made by this fingernail-reporter at the Arizona Republic:

"Of course, nails also will alter when subjected to external forces such as hitting them with hammers. These types of unexpected traumas often cause permanent deformities." No kidding, Sherlock?

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

■ Tootsie Rolls go on sale April 10 and 11 during the Clarkston Knights of Columbus annual fundraiser for the mentally retarded. This year, as in previous years, there will be over 125 Knights working in shifts at nine locations throughout the area. Last year's drive exceeded $12,000, which was distributed to area organizations with the most need.

■ On Thursday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m., the Clarkston High School Jazz Ensemble presents a free evening of Big Band Jazz. Students featured in the concert include Scott Orth on guitar; Craig Heyward, Russ Simonson and Matt Jensen on saxophone; Tracy Rock and Tasha Vaara on trumpet; Greg Hall on bass; Rod Swanson on drums; and Andrew Newman on piano.

■ Laurie Stewart, a graduate of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, spoke to students at Sashabaw Junior High School April 6 about setting goals and having a positive self-image. She told stories, sometimes painful, about running high school track and always finishing last in the 100-yard dash; judging others only by how they looked; the death of someone close to her.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

■ With or without a Salary Review Commission, Independence Township's elected officials received pay hikes higher than the recommended figures. The 81 electors attending the township's annual meeting exercised their lone legally binding vote in giving the supervisor, clerk and trustees an 11 percent increase and the treasurer a 15.3 percent hike to provide parity with the clerk's post.

■ Springfield Township residents took their 1977-78 budget sitting down Saturday, April 2. The 40 to 50 who attended the annual meeting questioned minor points in the proposed budget, but no major objections were voiced. All salary hikes were okayed without incident.

■ The Business Association of Independence Township (BAIT), organized four years ago to help local businessmen in problems with the township, is heading in a new direction. The president, D'Arcy Gonzales, says there are plans to turn it into a Chamber of Commerce-type operation, handling complaints from the general public against specific businessmen as well as representing the businessmen in their various needs.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

■ Duffy Daugherty will be heard at the Clarkston School April 3. He will be the guest speaker at the annual athletic banquet sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club. Mr. Daugherty is the assistant football coach to "Biggie" Munn at Michigan State College. Daugherty is mainly responsible for the great lines at MSC and has developed several All-Americans.

■ The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club will meet on Monday, April 7 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A.E. Butters. A dessert will be served. Mrs. Charles Robinson will be the assisting hostess. The guest speaker will be Mrs. George Boughton who has been the director of the Detroit Garden Center at Belle Isle for many years.

■ The following items were on special at Terry's Market in Clarkston: beef pot roast, choice grade, 69 cents/lb.; frozen peaches, one lb. package in sugar, 29 cents; California oranges, large size, 29 cents/dozen; Franco American spaghetti, two cans for 27 cents; butter, 73 cents/lb.; cottage cheese, 21 cents/lb.; fresh and crisp radishes, three bunches for 20 cents; Kix crispy corn puffs, two packages for 29 cents; Pascal celery, large, two bunches for 35 cents.

Houlihan to run for 52nd District Court judge

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In his first effort at an elected office, attorney James T. Houlihan has announced he'll run to fill the vacancy at the 52nd District Court, 2nd Division, created by the retiring Judge Gerald E. McNally.

The Independence Township resident is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law and holds a bachelor of science and master of business administration from the University of Detroit-Mercy.

The 42-year-old said he brings with him a broad mix of legal experience including family, civil and business law as an attorney since 1987. He has worked various clerking jobs, practiced at different law firms in the metro Detroit area, and is currently employed as corporate counsel for Nationwide, where he has been for more than seven years.

Houlihan said his varied experience distinguishes him from the other candidates, and with his business background has learned the importance of efficiency, which he seeks to bring to the court.

Most importantly, he said, he has gained life lessons which would follow him to his role as judge. "My father taught me to obey the law, treat others fairly and with respect, and to work hard. These are qualities I've tried to do all my life and will bring to the bench."

He added, "While seeking primary ballot petition signatures, I have had the opportunity to hear the concerns of district residents. I share many of these same concerns. If elected I will treat all those who come before the court fairly and with respect. Everyone who comes before the court will be held accountable for their actions."

Involved in the community, Houlihan has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for four years, and for the past year has worked on the safety path committee for the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The lifetime Michigander has been married to Kathleen for 11 years. The couple, who have lived in the Clarkston area for four years, has three children: Mary Clare, 9; Thomas, 8 and Cathleen,

5. The Houlihans are members at Our-Lady-of-the-Lakes Church in Waterford.

In preparation of the November election, Houlihan said, "We're going to run a grass roots campaign, built on hard work and support from our community. I will be running a positive campaign and look forward to personally meeting families throughout the district in the months ahead."

Houlihan said he plans on investing "sweat equity" in his campaign, going door to door, rather than spending thousands and thousands of dollars.

The 52nd District Court, 2nd Division in Clarkston serves most of northern Oakland County. The current jurisdiction includes the villages of Holly, Ortonville and Clarkston in addition to the townships of Holly, Brandon, Groveland, Springfield and Independence. New legislation has mandated that Rose and White Lake townships become part of the district Jan. 1, 2003.

For more information on Houlihan's campaign and upcoming "family-oriented" fundraisers, call 620-1658.

Clarkston candidate—Independence Township resident and attorney James T. Houlihan, pictured here with wife of 11 years, Kathleen, and their three children, Mary Clare, 9, Thomas, 8 and Cathleen, 5, has entered the race for the seat of 52nd District Court judge.

The Widowed Support Group will meet Thursday, April 4 at 7 p.m. at the Independence Township Senior Center in Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road. For men and women of all ages who have recently been widowed, the topic for the evening is "Caring and Sharing." The meeting will be facilitated by Alicia Brown, bereavement counselor at Lewis E. Wint and Son Funeral Home. There is no cost to attend and registration is not necessary. Refreshments will be served. Any questions, call the Lewis E. Wint and Son Funeral Home at 625-5231.

Calvary Lutheran Church invites the general public to join Youth Encounters Captive Free on Sunday, April 7. Come hungry for pizza at 6 p.m. and get spiritually fed by music, drama, puppets, personal sharing and ministry afterward. A freewill offering will be taken. Call 625-3288.

Thinking about remodeling your kitchen or bathroom? Contemplating an addition or sunroom to your home? Have you been putting off finishing your basement? If you are considering a home improvement project but don't know where to begin, a free seminar offered

Saturday, April 13 will help you get started on the right foot. The seminar will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Best Western/Concorde Inn, 7076 Highland Rd., near the Oakland International Airport on April 13. Topics will include Planning and Designing Your Project, Timelines and Budgeting, Doing It Yourself vs Contracting, Choosing the Right Contractor, Avoiding Construction Pitfalls, Financing Options and a Question and Answer Session. The event is sponsored by Clarkston State Bank and will feature several local, professional specialists. For more information, call Jill Popour at 625-8585.

Maranatha Baptist Church holds a deep respect for those who put their lives at risk to protect others--the men and women who serve as law enforcement officers and firefighters. In honor, Maranatha will celebrate their 1st Annual "Blue and Red Sunday," April 14 at 11 a.m. The purpose is to motivate and challenge people to pray for, support and express appreciation for these men and women. Law enforcement officers and firefighters are invited as well as friends and family. There will be a complimentary dinner immediately following the service. For planning purposes, RSVP at 625-2700.

Relay team sets mark at meet

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls track team started off its 2002 season with two first-place finishes at the Macomb Community College Indoor Meet Wednesday, March 27, setting a meet record in one of those events.

That record came in the 3200 meter relay, as the team of senior Carla DelVecchio, freshman Liz Mengyan, freshman Anne Oltman and sophomore Lauren Witt finished with a time of 10:10.3. Clarkston's other meet win came in the distance medley relay, as Oltman, Witt, senior Allison Spinweber and Mengyan won that event with a time of 13:08.3.

The Wolves were well represented in the other events, as nine competitors placed in eight different events.

Junior Beth Randall notched a second place finish in the pole vault with a jump of 6'. Junior Amanda Sawyer took third in the high jump with a jump of 4'10", while two Wolves placed in the 3200 meter run: DelVecchio took third in the event with a time of 12:26.7, while sophomore Jennifer Baibak finished sixth with a time of 14:07.2.

Other Clarkston placers were as follows: freshman Stephanie Parkin took fourth place in the 55 meter hurdles with a time of 8.98 and fourth in the long jump with a jump of 15'7-1/2"; sophomore Whitney Bomier took fifth in the one mile run with a time of 6:10.7; the 800 meter relay finished fifth with a time of 1:56.8; and the 1600 meter relay team took sixth with a time of 4:32.4.

After spring break, the Wolves return to action when their freshmen and sophomores compete in a meet at Farmington Hills Harrison Thursday, April 12. The full team returns to action Tuesday, April 16 when the Wolves travel to Rochester to take on Rochester Adams and Rochester in a dual meet.

Henneman sets record at Macomb meet

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Several Clarkston boys track team members distinguished themselves at the Macomb Indoor Meet March 26.

Although no official team results were announced, Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemo estimated that the Wolves finished in the middle of the field. He said the meet was a valuable experience for the team.

"We thought we did well," he said. "It was the first time out for some of the guys. It was a chance to see where we're at and go from there. It gave us a chance to see where we stand."

One of the Wolves set a meet record in the pole vault, as senior Cory Henneman took first place with a jump of 13'. Jon Lynch added a fourth place finish for the Wolves in that event with a jump of 9'6".

A couple other Wolves placed in individual events at the meet. Senior Shane Bennett took third place in the 55 meter dash with a time of 6:62, while junior Brian Curry finished fifth in the 55 meter hurdles with a time of 8.56.

Three relay or medley teams also placed for the Wolves. The one mile relay team of sophomore Steve Chenet, senior Grant Henderson, junior Brian Oltman and junior Matt Tolbert took third place with a time of 3:42.1, the distance medley team of Chenet, Tolbert, sophomore Jack Kinsey and junior Mark Sitko took fourth place in the distance medley with a time of 11:36.1, and the 3200 meter relay team of Sitko, Henderson, Kinsey and Chenet took second place with a time of 9:10.

After Easter break, the Wolves will scrimmage against Sterling Heights Stevenson at 3:45 p.m. April 9 at Clarkston High School, then the ninth and tenth graders will travel to Farmington Hills Harrison April 12. The varsity returns to meet action at 4:30 p.m. April 16 against Rochester and Rochester Adams at Rochester High School.

He who is in love with himself has at least this advantage — he won't encounter many rivals.

Soccer team starts year with win

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls soccer team may have some rustiness to shake off, but they were fresh enough to defeat visiting Brandon, 1-0, in their opening game of the year March 27.

Coach Tam Mitchell said the Wolves started out slowly as they made their way into game form, but improved as the game progressed.

"I think we were a little bit rusty," she said. "The second half was a little bit better than the first. I was pleased with how we played in that half. I think we did a good job defensively. I think we did a good job of shutting down their scoring opportunities."

The Wolves return to action after spring break April 9 when they take on visiting Troy at 7 p.m.

Netters seek trip to state competition this season

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys tennis team is looking to follow up a successful season last year with an even better one this year.

The Wolves won the Oakland Activities Association Division II tournament last season and took third place in regional competition. They also won the Clarkston Invitational last season.

This year's team returns six players, including the top two singles players: junior Andrew Brown (#1 singles) and senior Mike Rashid (#2 singles). Others returning to the team are juniors Mike Claus, Jon Szilvagi, Bharath Surapaneni and Andy Smith.

Coach Kevin Ortwine said five newcomers are likely to start the year on varsity: freshmen Amit Surapaneni and Justyn Roderick, senior Mark Catanese, junior Chris Baker and junior David Sommers.

In addition, Ortwine said a couple other players, sophomore John McNew and senior Carlos Galaviz, will be competing for the last spot on the team.

Ortwine said the team's makeup may change throughout the season, depending on how players at the lower end of the varsity and the upper end of the junior varsity fare.

"It may be changing throughout the year," said Ortwine of the team's lineup. "Anyone can move up at any time. If things don't work out at the bottom, we can always bring some JV guys up."

As far as goals for this year are concerned, Ortwine said while winning the league is right up there, a trip to the states would be a significant accomplishment for the team.

"We'd like to win the league again," he said. "We've won it two years in a row. Realistically, our regional is by far the toughest in the state. Rochester, Rochester Adams and Novi were added this year. We're going into the year thinking we can place first or second in the regional and go to states."

To successfully defend the league title this season, the Wolves will have to fight off Birmingham Groves, who tied with the Wolves last year for the regular season championship. "They're probably better than us, because they have everyone back," Ortwine said.

In addition, Ortwine said Lake Orion has improved and could challenge for league supremacy.

The Wolves will face a stiff test when they return from Easter break, as they host a tournament Saturday, April 13, featuring some of the toughest competition in the area, including Detroit Catholic Central, whom

Softball team looks to gain experience during season

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Last year, the Clarkston softball team, led by six seniors, captured the Oakland Activities Association Division I title and finished with nearly 30 wins.

This year, they will move forward without those seniors. Coach Al Land said only three seniors will be on this year's team.

Stacie Giroux, Jen Fredericksen and Kathi Wiegand and their inexperience will be their biggest obstacle this season.

"We'll need a lot of patience," he said. "That will be real important. It will take a while to get comfortable against varsity pitching. They need to be patient with themselves. I think we'll be okay with a couple weeks under our belt."

Last season, the team finished with a 29-7 overall record and a 15-2 league record to capture the league title. The Wolves lost to Waterford Kettering in the first round of districts.

Land said he plans for the team to play aggressive style, focusing on stealing bases and making things happen offensively instead of waiting for things to come to them.

He also said two returning sophomores, sisters Suzie and Heather Giroux, will be counted on for offensive production.

"They make our offense go," he said. "Heather's our leadoff hitter, and she has a nice on-base percentage. Suzie's a nice power hitter who can knock in runs."

On the pitching side, the Wolves will turn to Wiegand to handle the bulk of the duties, with sophomore Courtney Bollman also seeing time in that department.

"I think she's earned that," Land said of Wiegand's role. "She'll get as many innings as she can afford. She can mix the ball up well and keep batters off-balance."

Land said the team's strengths will be defense and pitching, while offense will be a concern heading into the season.

"Offensively is where I lost some players that made a difference," he said. "That will be the number one mark."

Although the Wolves lost a number of seniors from last year's team, Land said a number of the other top teams, such as Waterford Kettering and Lake Orion, have also lost several players to graduation.

He also said a number of other teams in the league have improved as well, making for a competitive division. Land said the Wolves have a shot at the league title despite their inexperience.

"I think it's a well-balanced league," he said. "I think it's wide open. I really think if we play aggressive, I don't see why we can't win the league for the second year in a row."

He also said a 20-win season is "not out of our reach" and said winning the district championship is another goal for this year.

Land said the team's outlook heading into the season is positive.

"Our attitude is excellent," he said. "I'm really excited about the attitudes on our team. That's part of the enjoyment of coaching."

Pitching looks to be strength for baseball team

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Coming off a second-place finish last season, the Clarkston baseball team will look to its pitching staff this season in its efforts to win the Oakland Activities Association Division I league title.

Coach Phil Price is in his 11th year of coaching the varsity, and will be assisted by Pete Gallagher, in his third year as the varsity's pitching coach, and Tim Sinischo, in his first year on the varsity as an assistant.

Last year, the Wolves finished with an 18-8 overall record and 8-4 in the league.

In addition to their pitching staff, Price said the team's strengths are their versatility and their enjoyment of the game. "Our kids like to play baseball," he said. "They're not waiting for practice to end."

He said the Wolves will need to gain experience, with only five seniors among the 18 team members (Chris Cutler, Tony Melki, Ben Munce, Jared Ostrom and Ryan Weiss) and also said catching is a "big question mark" right now.

Two of the seniors, Munce and Cutler, figure to play important roles for the team, Price said.

"Ben Munce will be a big key for us," Price said. "He can be a dominating high school pitcher if he wants to be. He won a quite a few games last year by throwing fastballs. He's added a few pitches and should be that much better. Cutler is the anchor in the outfield. He's the man in charge."

Ostrom figures to be in the mix at first base this season, and Weiss is in the running for the catching position, Price said. He also said both players will see time at designated hitter.

Other key players on this year's team are left fielder Derek Ranck, pitcher/middle infielder Bobby Slaughter and pitcher/outfielder Matt Orris, according to Price.

Of Ranck, Price said "he's probably the best hitter on the team. When he's hot we're going to be pretty good."

"Slaughter was 5-0 last year as a sophomore pitcher," he continued. "He's a big key for us. Matt Orris is in his third year on the varsity as a junior. He's really got to step up and excel. He's got the ability to do it."

The team will have three sophomores this season: Sam Palace, who will be the team's starting catcher; Aaron Powell, who will be part of the mix at first base; and Chad Zelinski, who will be the Wolves' fourth outfielder.

Price said one of the team's goals this year will be to win the league title, but he realizes they will have some tough competition if they want to achieve that goal.

"West Bloomfield will be very good," he said. "They have a couple of good pitchers. Lake Orion will be very good. They've got a good pitcher in Randy Fry. We can play with the better teams. I think we have a chance to win the league. We have a couple of good teams in the league, but if we play the way we're capable, I think we're going to surprise some people."

Other goals for the season, according to Price, are to win 20 games this season and to win the district championship, which Clarkston will be hosting this year.

Price said he has "a great staff" with assistants Gallagher and Sinischo, and also said freshman coach Rod Hool and junior varsity coach Jerry Ostrom have laid down a good foundation for the program.

Ortwine said will probably be ranked first or second in the state in preseason polls.

"We'll see where we're at," he said.

Ortwine said the team's morale heading into the season is "pretty good," although he added the weather has made it tougher to get in the necessary practice time.

"It's tough because of the weather," he said. "It's difficult to get everything done. With 26 guys on two courts, it's tough. I think we've got a lot of improvement from last year. They're ready to go outside."

Ortwine said the team's schedule will be a challenge in their quest to reach the state meet.

"Our schedule has 17 teams that went to the state finals last year," he said. "It may be one of the toughest in the entire state."

Athlete of the Week — Rockie Tripi

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston High School senior Rockie Tripi may be the only senior on this year's edition of the Wolves' girls soccer team, but that hasn't hampered her relationship with her teammates.

"It's not bad," she said of the age difference. "Everyone treats one another with respect."

Tripi just completed her last season with the Clarkston volleyball team. She said she enjoys soccer more because of the physical nature of the game.

"Soccer has a lot more contact," she said. "That's why I like that a lot more than volleyball. Volleyball is a lot more anticipation."

She first discovered soccer when she was about six years old, and played on the Clarkston Shadows and the Red Team, programs offered through Clintonwood Park, before joining the team at CHS. Her two older sisters, Jackie and Katie, also played on the girls soccer team.

Tripi has some big goals set for her and her teammates in her senior year. "We want to win districts and win our league for sure," she said.

She said Clarkston coach Tami Mitchell has worked with her quite a bit to improve her fundamentals. "She's helped me so much," Tripi said. "Lately, I've had a hard time making runs. We've been doing a lot of drills in that area."

After graduation, Tripi will attend Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. "I might go into architecture or teaching," she said. "I'm not sure which one yet."

She currently lives in Clarkston with mom Kandi, and has two sisters, Jackie, 22, and Katie, 20, and one brother, Frank, 17, a sophomore at Clarkston High School.

Comcast to raise cable bills in April

Independence Township residents will see an increase in their cable bills beginning in April.

According to Olivia Visperas, Comcast's Corporate Affairs Manager for Southeastern Michigan, depending on the level of service customers currently receive, their monthly bills will increase by up to $3.40.

Currently, we are undertaking an upgrade, she said. We will be informing residents of new channels, new services, and high-speed Internet services, which is very popular.

She also said the company has invested $1 billion in network infrastructure, which averages out to $1,000 per customer.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a special assessment roll has been prepared for the purpose of defraying the special assessment district's share of the cost of the following described public improvements:

Project Description - Proposed Improvements

Water main improvements, consisting of new water mains and necessary water service leads to the property line connection with the new 12" water main in m-15, together with pavement repair for the water main construction.

The special assessment roll is on file for public examination with the City Clerk.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the City Council will meet at the Independence Township Fire Hall No. 1, 6500 Citation Drive, Clarkston, Michigan at 7:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on April 22, 2002 for the purpose of reviewing the special assessment roll and hearing any objections thereto.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that appearance and protest of the special assessment at this hearing is required in order to appeal the amount of the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. An owner of or party in interest in property to be assessed, or his or her agent, may appear in person to protest the special assessment, or may protest the special assessment by letter filed with the City Clerk at or prior to the time of the hearing, in which case appearance in person is not required. If the special assessment is protested as provided above, the owner or any party having an interest in the real property may file a written appeal of the special assessment with the Michigan Tax Tribunal or other court of competent jurisdiction within 30 days after the confirmation of the special assessment roll.

Any interested member of the public who requires reasonable accommodation in the form of auxiliary aids or services, other than personal aids such as hearing aids or wheelchairs, to ensure such person access to the public hearing should notify the City at the City Clerk's office no later than five business days prior to the hearing of such requirement. In the event the provision of such accommodation does not impose an undue financial or administrative burden on the City, the City will undertake to provide such accommodation at the hearing.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a special assessment roll has been prepared for the purpose of defraying the special assessment district's share of the cost of the following described public improvements:

Project Description - Proposed Improvements.

Paving improvements, consisting of the pulverizing of existing roadways and a 3" bituminous pavement, including any necessary minor drainage repairs

The special assessment roll is on file for public examination with the City Clerk.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the City Council will meet at the Independence Township Fire Hall No. 1, 6500 Citation Drive, Clarkston, Michigan at 7:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on April 22, 2002 for the purpose of reviewing the special assessment roll and hearing any objections thereto.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that appearance and protest of the special assessment at this hearing is required in order to appeal the amount of the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. An owner of or party in interest in property to be assessed, or his or her agent, may appear in person to protest the special assessment, or may protest the special assessment by letter filed with the City Clerk at or prior to the time of the hearing, in which case appearance in person is not required. If the special assessment is protested as provided above, the owner or any party having an interest in the real property may file a written appeal of the special assessment with the Michigan Tax Tribunal or other court of competent jurisdiction within 30 days after the confirmation of the special assessment roll.

Any interested member of the public who requires reasonable accommodation in the form of auxiliary aids or services, other than personal aids such as hearing aids or wheelchairs, to ensure such person access to the public hearing should notify the City at the City Clerk's office no later than five business days prior to the hearing of such requirement. In the event the provision of such accommodation does not impose an undue financial or administrative burden on the City, the City will undertake to provide such accommodation at the hearing.

We Are SIDING Trim & GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. What we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We do not sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Total customer satisfaction is our only acceptable standard. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

Clarkston resident works hard on pond

It's been called peaceful, tranquil, relaxing and wonderful.

Clarkston residents Debbie and Bob Gay can't say or get enough of their water garden. To them it's become a hobby, a way to soothe the soul.

More than a year ago at the Gay's home, anyone visiting would've found a simple 100-gallon pond with a few fish and lilies.

"The problem with having a pond is that you want to get bigger, bigger and bigger," laughed Debbie.

Nowadays, to step into the Gay's backyard is a unique experience. Off their deck is a 4,000-gallon, 19 by 15 foot pond, with riverbed, three waterfalls and slate bridge.

There are five varieties of waterlilies, 12 imported Japanese Koi fish; surrounded by an array of perennial plants.

Within the garden are ornaments to enhance the environment. If you look closely you'll find a turtle camouflaged so well with the rocks it's hard to notice him; bouncing frog that's actually a numbered piece of art; brass sculptures of a dragonfly and butterfly; a large welcome sign; bird feeder; lighting; and stepping stones.

"I'm thinking about adding a bench," Debbie said. "It's a work in progress. We'll always keep adding to it."

In the early evening, when the shadows are just so, the Gays enjoy sitting before the water garden, watching and noticing nature.

"Observing nature is so relaxing," Debbie said. "It's soothing for the soul. We get lots of interesting creatures out here—lots of frogs. We have one frog that's so big, it ate another frog. I've never seen a frog eat another frog."

They also see many dragonflies, hummingbirds and butterflies.

Building a pond -- Debbie Gay sits next to her 19 by 15 foot pond.

Debbie said the biggest problem for ponds are heron.

"We haven't had that problem, knock on wood," she said. "Crucial to keeping predators out is building a pond with straight up and down edges, so all those heron and raccoons can't get to the fish."

The Gays can be at ease and enjoy their pond, now that all the hard work is done.

Aguaflina helped the Gays with the design of their pond, but the Gays did all the construction themselves last summer.

It took two weeks, with about seven working together, and almost every waking hour devoted to building the pond.

Bob, the master gardener in the family, landscaped the whole thing.

"We hand-placed every single rock. I never want to touch another rock," Debbie said.

The pond has four tons of rocks, the Gays hand carried from the front yard.

The filtered pond is easy to maintain, now. Debbie said it only takes around 15 minutes, once a week to clean. "It totally runs itself," she said.

However, over the year, there have been a few bumps along the ride.

When the pond was first constructed, Debbie became anxious to fill it with fish.

"I bought goldfish. Then reality sets in and you realize you want quality. We learned a valuable lesson—goldfish multiply. At one point we had 150 babies."

The Gays tried different tactics to rid the pond of the goldfish and even sought direction from experts.

"No one gave us good advice, they just said, why did you do that in the first place?"

Finally, the Gays found the best way to rid the pond was to drain it. They still have about 10 babies they're trying to catch.

"It's been hilarious," Debbie said. "You learn by your mistakes."

For others interested in putting in a pond, Debbie suggests having it installed and say people should be educated before taking on such a hobby.

Fruits of their labor

After much hard work, the Gays have a great looking pond in their backyard. The pond is 4,000 gallons and 19 by 15 feet. It took more than a year for the couple to complete the pond.

Beware: bad plants in your backyard

Help stop the spread of "America's Least Wanted" in Michigan

On the first day of spring, The Nature Conservancy is asking Americans to check their yards and gardens for plants that can escape cultivation and cause tremendous damage to the natural environment and the national economy.

In Michigan, plants such as purple loosestrife, baby's breath, spotted knapweed, glossy buckthorn and St. John's wort have been used widely in horticulture, landscaping and erosion control, and can be found in backyards and business lots around the state, as well as throughout the country. At first glance these plants may look pretty, but their beauty is deceptive.

Known as invasive species, plants like these are typically transplants from distant places. Once free from the natural checks and balances that had kept them under control in their native realms, these plants are able to establish themselves in new areas and proliferate and persist to the detriment of native species.

They often hoard light, water and nutrients, and can even alter entire ecosystems by changing soil chemistry or hydrological processes. As a result, invasive plants can overtake native plants and, in turn, displace the animals that had relied on the native plants for food and shelter. With intentional and unintentional assistance from people, these problematic plants are spreading at an alarming rate, infecting natural areas across the United States.

"Keeping invasive plants out of America's backyards helps the environment and the economy," Steve McCormick, president of The Nature Conservancy said. "Taking the time to remove invasive plants and replace them with non-invasive varieties is a great example of bringing new energy to the old adage: think globally, act locally."

"Nursery growers, landscape designers and others who make their career in horticulture have become increasingly concerned with the issue of invasive plants," vice president of the American Nursery & Landscape Association, and chair of that organization's Invasive Species Task Force Wayne Mazitt said. "Consumers look for plants that establish quickly, withstand environmental stresses and generally grow without much care. Unfortunately, these characteristics can also be the features that make plants invasive."

ANLA, the national trade association of the nursery and landscape industry, is working with the Conservancy and other organizations to develop codes of conduct to help stop the spread of invasive plants.

Plants that escape from yards and gardens are an example of the larger problem the intentional and accidental introductions of invasive plants and animals poses to the environment and the economy. Invasive species, taken as a whole, are now a threat to the survival of native plants and animals that is exceeded only by the threat of habitat loss. Invasive species are contributing to the decline of 46 percent of the species (57 percent of the plants and 39 percent of the animals) listed as imperiled or endangered in the United States. And, unfortunately, the cost of invasive species does not stop with the damage done to plants and animals. In fact, the cost to the national economy has been estimated as high as $137 billion per year and increasing, due primarily to losses in agriculture, forestry and fisheries, as well as the cost of clearing invasive-clogged waterways and fighting invasive-fueled fires.

Across the continental United States, five plants stand out as examples of how serious the situation can be when a plant intended for limited use escapes its intended purpose.

■ Purple loosestrife, also known as the "purple plague," an ornamental plant promoted for its purple flowers, has the ability to produce millions of seeds which spread easily by wind or water. Once limited to gardens in the Northeast, it now chokes wetlands across the country.

■ Kudzu, which can grow as fast as a foot per day, was planted widely to combat soil erosion. Unfortunately, it grows out of control, smothers native plants and even uproots entire trees through the sheer force of its weight. Although most states have banned its sale, kudzu still has its adherents, who now sell the seeds via the Internet.

■ Giant salvinia, a water fern from southeastern Brazil, has been spread to many parts of the world for use in aquariums and garden ponds. Yet, when small fragments are introduced to larger bodies of water, the plant will grow quickly out of control. It can double its numbers in as little as 2-10 days, and can completely dominate waterways, making lakes and streams look like putting greens, and eliminating opportunities for boating and fishing.

■ Multiflora rose, introduced from Japan as an under-stock for ornamental roses and as a "natural fence" for farms, has escaped both of its original uses. Birds have spread the seeds, and the plant has done the rest, invading pastures and other unplowed lands, crowding out native vegetation and creating dense, impenetrable thickets.

■ Tree of heaven, a Chinese with the ability to flourish in unfavorable conditions with little care, was common stock in nurseries across the country as early as the 1840s. Yet, the planting of a single tree can have unintended and dramatic consequences. Each tree can produce as many as 325,000 seeds per year; and the seeds are easily dispersed by the wind. In addition, this tree may have a toxic advantage over other

Kirby's Creek Pond and Gardens offers natural beauty

A relatively new addition to downtown Davisburg, Kirby's Creek Pond and Gardens specializes in custom built ponds with waterfalls.

The shop is located on 649 Broadway in Davisburg, and has been in the retail end of the business for 4 months. Owners Mariana Howe and Dennis Kendrick said the Springfield Township area offers an attractive location to do business and a solid customer base.

Howe said the store offers all the necessary items for the customer to design their pond to their own liking, and she and Kendrick will consult with customers toward that end.

"We'll supply everything that people need to maintain their ponds," she said. "We will have fresh water plants, and we offer one-stop shopping for all their ponding needs."

In constructing their ponds, Howe and Kendrick use the "Aquascape Ecosystem", which they said is a proven method to build a pond.

"It's tried and true," Kendrick said. "We've been using it for six years. I've built over 60 ponds and most use that system. We hope to double that this year."

The ecosystem features the Cleansweep skimmer filter, which is buried alongside the pond edge. A recirculating pump is housed inside and pulls water and surface debris into an easily removed catch bag. Maintenance is easy, with only a periodic weekly or even monthly emptying of the bag depending on debris loads.

In addition, adding rocks and gravel to the pond is helpful. Contrary to popular belief, adding rocks and gravel reduces pond maintenance. Gravel provides a surface area for the bacteria to colonize.

Kirby's Creek also offers a number of other nature-based items, such as gardening items, bird seed and supplies, bird houses, butterfly houses and bee houses. She said they will focus on offering alternative garden products and promoting the use of

Where shoppers are 'more than customers'

There's a "good place to come and waste an afternoon" in downtown Clarkston, according to its owners.

The Parsonage's Shirley Wilson and The Country Woodshed's Dianne Bildstein, are extending an invitation to all who've yet to try out these unique shops, and invite back those who've already found the good at 6 E. Church St.

First-timers may not even realize as they stroll through the converted 1880s residence, that two separate businesses call this home.

The Parsonage, a floral and design shop, and The Country Woodshed, specializing in furniture and gift lines, however, both offer accessories to enhance any home.

A variety of styles are featured including anything from casual to country, French to English, shabby to chic and more.

The latest the stores are carrying are new lines of European country-style home accessories and architectural lamps.

"Dark wood is becoming popular again," Wilson said. "And earth tones have taken a real surge—all the tans, browns and greens. Pottery and tinware are also quite popular right now."

Wilson said she and Bildstein are always looking for something new to put out on the shelves and merchandise consistently changes.

"New things come in almost every day. The UPS man is going nuts," she joked.

A full-service florist, The Parsonage offers "attractive floral arrangements for every occasion," and delivery is available. Also find custom silks and plants, a growing selection of antiques and an in-home interior design service.

The Country Woodshed is currently featuring a new line of upholstered furniture and new gift lines as well as lamps, garden accessories, quilts, rugs, baby accessories and candles.

These classy stores, which offer "a nice atmosphere for shopping," won't hurt your pocketbook, either. Wilson said, "our prices are competitive with larger retailers."

The Parsonage has called the heart of Clarkston home for 13 years.

As the community has grown, so has Wilson's business. An increase in walk-in traffic led Wilson to vacate her previous locations, saying good-bye to a store on Washington and then on Main Street.

She moved to the current location five years ago, and at that time, Bildstein opened The Country Woodshed within the same building.

Wilson and Bildstein have enjoyed getting to know those in the community over the years.

"We've come to know the customers very well," Wilson said. "They've become more than customers."

Wilson takes pride in that her staff has stayed the same over recent years and said, "I expect to be here for a while because I love what I do."

The Parsonage and The Country Woodshed, newly painted and redecorated, are located at 6 E. Church. Business hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. Call The Parsonage at 625-4340 and The Country Woodshed at 625-7010.

Twice the fun at 6 E. Church St.—The Parsonage owner Shirley Wilson, standing, and Joan Iacobelli of The Country Woodshed offer a "nice atmosphere for shopping" and accessories to enhance any home.

Macksey Interior Design--Clarkston's 'Best Kept Secret'

With experienced, approachable professionals; personal attention and a large selection of resources, Macksey Interior Design, LLC, has become downtown Clarkston's "premier design center."

The full-service design studio is currently celebrating its third year in Clarkston and 15th year in business.

"We've received tremendous support here," owner Pam Macksey said, "and would like to thank the people of Clarkston for their support."

Pam feels it important to give back to the community and takes pride in that her business is community-oriented. Macksey Interior Design is supporter of Clarkston SCAMP, a summer camp for special needs children and young adults, and has provided services to homes on the SCAMP annual tour as well as furnishings for The Clarence Catalo Memorial Room at the Independence Township Library, St. Daniel Church's Cushing Center and much more around town.

A member of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, Macksey Interior Design features professionals with more than 28 years of experience combined.

"Experience counts in working with clients," Pam said, who holds 22 years of experience herself.

Laurie Bednarczyk, in the business for four years, has a strong background, previously assisting designers with their clients through the Michigan Design Center in Troy. Laurie's forte is furniture, fabrics, wall coverings and area rugs.

Pam is pleased to announce the addition of Decorator Jill Goss, who joined the business this year. With three years of experience, Jill's specialization is in window treatments.

"We collaborate our ideas and work as a team for a more well-rounded decorating experience for the client," Pam noted.

"She assured, "We are very approachable and comfortable to work with. Our qualified help will provide great personal attention from start to finish."

"Designing should be fun for clients, especially for those building for the first time," Pam said. "It shouldn't be stressful. But we're here to smooth out that stress for them. We can help them express themselves, and put their personality into their homes. We will help them represent who they are, not who we are."

Macksey Interior Design offers a wide array of custom design services including window treatments, custom bedding, wallpaper, fabric and trims, slip covers, acquisitions, florals and accessories, space planning, builder selections, home furnishings, carpet and flooring, reupholstery and remodeling.

They are a full-line Hunter Douglas dealer and carry thousands of fabrics, domestic and European, that you can't find in a retail store. Many designer lines are available including Scalandre, Anna French, Brunschwig and Fils, Osborne and Little, Beacon Hill, Ralph Lauren, Nina Campbell and more. The studio is also introducing a fabulous new line of artwork.

"Our selection and service are unbeatable," Pam said. "Whether you are designing one window or a whole home, we can handle the entire project from start to finish. And you don't have to leave the area to get what you want. We're Clarkston's best kept secret."

Reasonable prices abound, and all major credit cards are accepted.

"Our design studio is always available to you, even if you choose not to employ our services," Pam said. "Many of our talented clients don't require assistance, but just need the resources. We sell retail and to the trade." She invites local builders to use the studio as a meeting spot.

"We're very accessible. We will work evenings and weekends for the clients' convenience," she said, adding the studio atmosphere is fun, and even kid-friendly with a children's play area.

The community is invited to stop by and see the newly expanded showroom and design studio and preview the new line of artwork at an open house March 22 and 23 from 1-4 p.m.

Macksey Interior Design is located at 14 N. Main, with public parking across the street. Hours are by appointment or by chance. Call 620-5260 or E-mail Pam at pammacksey@msn.com.

Fun for the kids, too--Macksey Interior Design assures the studio atmosphere is fun, and even kid-friendly with a children's play area, TV/VCR and snacks. Pictured are Michael Joseph Bednarczyk, Mackenzie and Alex Macksey and Joey and Molly Goss.

Bytner Design Associates...

'Details spun from the warmth of tradition'

Always wanted that dream kitchen? There's no reason to wait any longer. Bytner Design Associates, specializing in kitchen interiors, is here to help.

And "you don't have to break the bank to get the kitchen you want," said owner Pam Bytner, a Brandon Township resident, who's custom design studio has been located in downtown Clarkston, inside the Washington Mills Mall, for the past four years.

Bytner's kitchen design work has even received national recognition, being featured in several magazines including "Better Homes and Gardens," "Kitchen and Bath Business," "Renovation Style," and more.

According to Bytner, who's background is in interior design, nor a lot of kitchen designers come into the field with that type of a background.

"This sets us apart," she said.

Jennifer Smith, of the sales department, is a recent addition to Bytner Design Associates and also has a background in interior design.

For those clients not already working with an interior designer, Bytner said, "this gives us an edge to extend service to people they may not get elsewhere. We can interface with other professionals or fill in where there are none."

With kitchen design there are two types of distributors, Bytner explained—stock, where cabinets are pre-made; and made to order.

Over the last few years, Bytner said, she has seen an increase in customizing with stock distributors, "but they don't have that design expertise," she said.

Bytner's approach is "to marry our expertise in space planning and spatial aesthetics with your vision to create truly unique and individualized interiors."

"We pull in the personality of the home as well as the client," Bytner said. "We can do an unlimited number of things. It's only limited by imagination and budget."

Kitchens can cost from $20,000 to $200,000 and everywhere in between. Bytner said there are numerous ways to get that one-of-a-kind kitchen on a fixed budget. She will tailor the project to a specific budget and be creative on how to achieve that desired kitchen.

The range of service is flexible as well; from providing only cabinetry to complete project management.

A broad range of products are offered, plus several lines of custom cabinetry in a variety of styles including hand carved cabinets, inlay design cabinets and cabinets made from reclaimed woods and hard pine—all in many price ranges.

In addition to kitchen design, Bytner Design

Associates specializes in master suites, luxury baths and closets, home offices, home theaters, and libraries, bars and more.

Bytner, certified in kitchen design, has been doing kitchens for the past 12 years and has a strong referral base in Birmingham, Bloomfield and Grosse Pointe. She would like business in Clarkston to grow.

But, because of the minimal amount of traffic the mall sees, Bytner said, "Nobody knows we're here. We're quite a well kept secret in Clarkston."

"We'd like to let the people know we're here," she said. "There's no one in this area who does what we do."

plants. An extract of its leaves has been shown to be toxic to 45 other species.

While the above species are examples of those that pose a problem across the country, Michigan is plagued particularly by purple loosestrife, glossy buckthorn and spotted knapweed. The deceptive baby's breath actually inhibits the flow of wind and water that Michigan's sand dunes need to survive.

"Stopping the spread of invasive species is an uphill battle, but, with the combined work of organizations and individuals, success is possible," McCormick said.

Garden Serenity Made Simple

Seven tips to transform any backyard into a stress-busting sanctuary

It's five in the morning; even the sun is still asleep. Sue Buerkle is working in her backyard garden, picking weeds from between the marigolds, snapdragons and geraniums.

"On my days off, I like to put on a pot of coffee, and head out into the garden early in the morning," she says. "It's quiet. It's serene. It's the most peaceful part of my day."

She's not alone. A recent national survey reported that working in the yard continues to rank as America's number one pastime. Another survey, by a housewares trade organization, identified gardening as one of the top trends for 2002, fueled by people seeking a return to a simpler life.

The rise in gardening's popularity may be just beginning. During stressful times, more and more people tend to rediscover the simple pleasures of caring for a lawn and garden.

"When life or world issues seem out of our control, it's therapeutic to be able to cultivate a special place in our own backyard," says Michael Miller, president of backyard tool company Hound Dog Products, Inc.

Miller's life reads like a chapter in the story of America's return to the backyard. Like a growing number of people, he became interested in gardening as a hobby that soothed his nerves and beautified his backyard. As a corporate cog for nearly 10 years, he often spent the better part of his weekends putting in the yard.

"I found I got a huge payback on the energy I spent in the backyard; I enjoyed the leisurely process of doing backyard chores alone or with the kids. On Sunday night we could look back with pride on what we had done, and we could enjoy a nice backyard sanctuary all week long."

In 1994, he decided to make it his living, creating clever tools that made chore time easier. Miller attributes his thriving business to identifying and embracing the trend toward backyard living. "We're in the simplicity business," he says.

Innovative tools with names like the Weed Hound (a stand-up tool that pops weeds with the punch of a button) and the Bulb Hound Garden Planter (designed with a hinged coring tube to make it easy to transplant flowers or dig holes for bulbs), are flying off store shelves nationwide.

Get your hands dirty -- You can turn any backyard into a peaceful sanctuary.

Miller says homeowners are focusing more time and energy on creating a feeling of tranquility in their own homes and backyards, and they're looking for the right tools -- and tips -- for the job.

Looking to transform your own lawn and garden into a personal oasis? Miller offers some tips to create a peaceful backyard sanctuary with a minimum of effort -- and to enjoy yourself in the process:

* Small, bite-sized projects rule. Even when you're embarking on a larger project in the backyard, view it as a series of small projects. That takes the pressure off and gives you more successes.

* Relax and enjoy the process. Take your time; there's no rush when you're enjoying yourself. This is an uncommon opportunity for you to leave any "Type A" tendencies behind. Who knows? Maybe you'll discover the virtue of patience.

* Remove nuisances and clutter. That ugly shrub, those weedy areas, the branches that block your efforts -- get them all out of your way and start fresh. If something's nagging you, vanquish it. After all, you're the master.

* Involve loved ones. Chore time is really playtime in your own backyard. Sometimes it's even more fun when you share it with someone you love. Plant a tree with your children and it will stand as a memory through their lifetimes.

* Use the right stuff. The tools of your craft should minimize strain and maximize results. Think quality, not quantity here. Rather than aggravating yourself with tools that will break or deteriorate, purchase reliable ones, maintain them well and they'll reward you with a lifetime of loyal service.

* Engage all the senses. The most relaxing garden sanctuaries are the ones that tickle all of our senses. Plant some fragrant herbs next to those beautiful begonias, or save some space in the back of the garden for some tasty onions or tomatoes. Install foot lighting along the path to the back door or the gate. Create a small rock garden and install a pump to enjoy the sound of water trickling throughout the season. Express yourself -- this is living art.

* Enjoy the fruits of your labor. Gardening isn't only about getting your hands dirty. Once you've planted, tilled, cultivated and weeded, remember to appreciate your sanctuary. One of a garden's most vibrant therapeutic qualities is how it makes you feel when you're nearby.

The bottom line is to keep it simple, and to make it your own. No matter which kind of backyard or garden you choose, keep in mind that the best backyard sanctuary is one that you create -- and care for -- yourself. Tips for attracting more birds to your feeder Ever wonder why some backyards seem to naturally attract more colorful birds to the feeder? Chances are that it didn't just happen. The homeowner probably followed a few basic steps to make sure the birds weren't attracted to the feeder just once, but again and again.

Selecting the right food

* Be sure to read package labels carefully to determine the exact ingredients of the bird food you purchase. Mixes that are high in fillers and less expensive cereal grains, such as red milo and wheat, may attract more common birds, but are unlikely to appeal to more colorful birds like finches, grosbeaks, woodpeckers, chickadees, buntings or cardinals.

Premium wild bird feed attracts a wider assortment of colorful songbirds because it contains no fillers. Only gourmet ingredients, including safflower, black oil sunflower, peanuts, tree nut pieces, sunflower kernels, niger, white proso millet, small golden millet, cracked corn, canary seed and striped sunflower are used. Not only does this attract more birds, but it also means less mess and waste around the feeder and a better value for the money.

* Mixes that are mess-free, weed-free and waste-free appeal to gardeners who hate weeds growing in their beds. Since all of the ingredients are shell-free, they will not germinate if they fall to the ground and there are no shells to cause a mess.

Selection and Care of the Feeder

* Choose a feeder that offers smooth food flow with adequate openings so larger ingredients don't jam up food openings. If you're interested in attracting a particular species of bird, look for a feeder that is designed specifically for it such as the Lyric Chickadee, Finch or Woodpecker feeders.

* Keep bird food fresh and clump-free. Always shake a feeder before refilling to ensure there are no clumps of spoiled food at the bottom. Pouring good food on top of bad increases bacteria growth.

* Keep the feeder and surrounding area clean to minimize disease and improve the food's taste. Clean the feeders on a regular basis -- at least once a season. Soak tube feeders in a bucket of hot water and a 10 percent bleach solution, then brush them clean and allow to dry before refilling. Wooden feeders should be scrubbed with soap and water and then allowed to dry for at least half a day to be completely free of any moisture, which can spoil food.

* Keep feeders filled year-round for maximum activity. Late spring and early summer are especially critical times since young ones are hatching, which increases the nutritional needs of birds. If you're hoping to watch baby birds being hatched, be certain that suet is included in your seed. Not only is suet one of the first foods that can be digested by baby birds, but it also provides a fast, high-energy meal for tired parents.

Don't Forget the Other Essentials

* Maintain a fresh supply of water near your feeder. Just like humans, birds like a little something to drink with their meal. Keep in mind that the sound of water is what really attracts them, so consider adding a mister, dripper or re-circulating device to your baths for the greatest success.

* Provide adequate housing. The best way to attract migratory birds and keep them coming back is to provide housing. There is a serious housing shortage for cavity-nesting birds. You can help by putting out birdhouses. Lyric's Custom Nest Box is the ideal solution and makes a wonderful gift for bird lovers.
