$7.5 million proposal set for August

BY KYLE GARGARO

Clarkston News Editor

After months of debate, discussion and studies the Independence Township Board is finally set on what they will ask the voters on the August ballot.

In a special meeting on April 18, the board ve combine a new township hall with مناسب intonwood Park improvements in a $7.5 million bond proposal. The Clintonwood Park improvements would include road improvements as well as the addition of new soccer fields...

It took numerous votes for the final decision to be reached by the board. Much of the confusion centered around whether the items should be separated on the ballot or combined.

We are always told don't give the voters a menu," Township Clerk Joan McCrary said. "The ballots are very long and the more you put on the more confused you get people. The simpler we can make it the better.'

Supervisor Dale Stuart was also concerned about separating the items.

They should sink or swim together, Stuart said. "People might look at the two if they are separated and say 'I will give them half.'"

A similar motion to the one finally passed was voted down earlier in the Please see Independence on page 14

I had been dealing with neck and shoulder pain with stiffness for about 10 years. The neck and shoulder pain had developed into such severe headaches that I sought the attention of a neurologist. The neurologist put me on multiple drugs and about 60% of my symptoms decreased. Although, I had experienced some relief, the neurologist had increased the dosage of my medications to the point where I was too drowsy to function normally. It was beginning to affect my life and the things I do with my kids. I began coming to Rumph Chiropractic Clinic two years ago and after about six months of care my symptoms were gone. Not only did my pain

(Clarkston) subside, but now that I know what it feels like to feel good I am quicker to identify when something is wrong. Now I come into Rumph Chiropractic Clinic and stay healthy long before a chronic situation occurs. Thanks RCC

Centered around Johnny Appleseed, the play, put on the week of April 15 by the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club, discussed the value of trees in Michigan, historical information on Independence Township, and told the fable of the squirrel who could skip through the white pines from the Ohio border to the Straits of Mackinac.

Four foot white pines were also donated to each school, and white pine seedlings were sent home with each student as well as faculty and staff. About 4,000 seedlings were bagged.

School Board amendment means more money

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer.

The Clarkston Community School district's financial state is looking brighter, at least for this fiscal year.

Members, at the April 15 Board of Education Fund. meeting, approved the second amendment to the 2001-2002 general fund budget. (The first occurred in Noccease vember.)

The result will mean an increase in revenue of $2,371,299 and an increase in expenditures of $1,075,689.

This causes an operating surplus of $1,295.610, while increasing the ending fund equity balance to $4,299,886, or 7.26 percent, allowing the district to attain its equity goal in 2001-2002. The schools rely on fund equity for emergencies.

The original budget, first developed in June, had an operating surplus of $673,537 which would increase the ending fund balance to almost $3.7 million. Due to the changing estimated revenue, Clarkston is seeing an added $1.3 million to it's equity.

"The financial goal for fiscal year 2001-2002 was to control expenditures while increasing our fund equity," said Director of Business Services Bruce Beamer, who presented the amendment to board members at the meeting. "This amendment achieves half of that successfully (fund equity); the other half we need to work on and be careful."

Modifications to the budget were made as a result of the supplementary $200 per pupil state aid and the Oakland County Special Education tax, which helps the district cover their additional costs this year.

"The factors of the passage of the recent special education levy and additional state aid from our increased enrollment have caused our revenue to grow. The additional dollars improved the district's financial reserves," Beamer said.

General fund revenues are projected to rise from cause of gradual the original projection in June. The amount of the introduced on ercrasse is $2,874,076, which is 4.98 percent above the Business original estimate. The estimated revenue has increased—terest on a loan to a total of $60,606,366.

Amended revenue sources include:

■Local sources--decreased $19,589 due to the relocation of the Plus Program to the Early Childhood Fund

■State sources--increased $502,730 due to increased enrollment:

Federal sources-increased by $33,058 due to a Capacity Grant and a new English Literature Grant. These additional monies were not included in the projected federal revenue in June or November.

Other operating sources-increased $1,855,100 since November. The increase amounted to $1.5 million from the special education levy, due from Oakland Schools in May.

A final amendment will be done before the end of the fiscal year, June 30, Beamer said.

Increases in expenditures include:

■ Basic instructional program--increased $700,675 from substitute teachers, printing, Equity and Excellence Grant, worker's compensation and lifeguards.

■Added needs,-increased $27,526 from Career Prep amendment, special education paraprofessionals and autistic program expenses.

Adult and continuing education--increased $92,691 due to the inclusion of professional services and additional adult education supplies.

■Pupil and guidance services--increased $54,485 for sponsors and advisors at Clarkston High School.

■Instructional support and media services--increased $67,149 from the Capacity Grant amendment, English Literature Grant and Excellence and Equity Grant General administration—increased $83,771 from the Career Focused Grant and worker's compensation.

■School administration--increased $22,972 because of graduation expenses and a new clerical position based on enrollment.

■Business services--increased $61,700 from in-■Operation and maintenance--increased $30,470 for elementary repairs and phone maintenance.

■District fringes, pupil transportation, community services and transfers out—these programs had no changes or a reduction in their spending pattern, totaling $65,750.

The amended general fund expenditures for fiscal year 2002 total $59,197,035.

"The continued expenditure growth does demonstrate the need to continue to monitor the spending patterns of our district," Beamer said. The central office team is continuing to review budget modifications at weekly staff meetings. "We believe we have improved the awareness and importance of the district's general fund budget."

The administration has already anticipated a restrictive revenue pattern for fiscal year 2002-2003 and beyond. The district has developed budget plans for the next three years in an attempt to prepare the district for future financial limitations.

Local business owners say Dixie rezoning will benefit area

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff-Writer

Now that it appears likely a gas station/fast food restaurant will be coming to Springfield Township in the future, residents and business owners have mixed views.

The township board voted 6-1 at its April 11 meeting to rezone the property at 7701 Lavon, off of Dixie Highway, from residential to commercial. Trustee Dave Hopper cast the lone "no" vote, citing the fact that other properties in the area are zoned residential but used for commercial purposes.

The decision cleared the way for Auto City Services, which owns the property on 8500 Dixie as well as the Lavon property, to build a combination gas station/fast food establishment/party store on both properties.

If all goes according to plan, it would not be the first time a gas station has sat on that property. According to Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, the property at 8500 Dixie used to be a combined gas station, coney island and office complex before it was torn down last year.

Surrounding business owners, when questioned on the matter, generally think the new business will be a boost to its neighboring businesses.

Tom Delke, co-owner of Saturn North, said the business will be an improvement over the empty lot that has marked the area since last year.

"There was a gas station there before," he said.
"I don't have a problem with it as an auto dealership.
This has been talked about for 3-4 years. I think it will be better than an empty lot with a torn-down foundation."

Calvin Bordine, vice president of Bordine's Nursery, also said the new business would be an improvement. He said with the new landscaping surrounding the business and the improved appearance of the area, it would benefit surrounding businesses.

"I think that will have a large improvement on the surrounding area," he said. "I think that site has been an eyesore for years. I think that will help everyone involved. It's hard to get it worse than what it is."

Several township residents at the April 11 meeting said the move would be harmful to their property values and were thus opposed to the move.

Delke, for one, doesn't see that happening. "I don't think there will be an impact there," he said. "The township does a good job of protecting its citizens."

By contrast, Bordine said there could be some impact for those property owners adjacent to the business, but said the businesses on Dixie Highway would not be adversely affected.

"The immediate residential property possibly will be affected negatively," he said. "Overall, there's not going to be that much impact on Dixie Highway."

Springfield board looks to add tables

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Now that they're settled into their new digs, the Springfield Township Board would like some quality furniture to go with their meeting room.

With that in mind, the board, at its April 11 meeting, allocated up to $10,000 from the furniture allowance of the township's Civic Center fund for the contruction and purchase of a township board table and a display table for people making presentations before the township board

Clerk Nancy Strole said the board is in the process of seeking out tables before getting the go-ahead to order them. She estimated it would take 6-8 weeks from the time the tables were ordered before they were ready to be put together and used in the township.

Strole said the table currently used at the Civic Center is outdated and not a good fit for the new facility. She said that table was used when the township board consisted of only five people.

"We're using those old eight-foot foldable tables that were in the old township hall that we used to keep the recording equipment on," she said. "The one that was used at the old township hall was meant for five people. It doesn't fit. For years, we've been working elbow to elbow."

In addition, Strole said the new table will be equipped to handle the new miking system that is being installed in the meeting room.

In other civic center-related business at the meeting, Kirco Construction Corp. of Troy gave the township board a report stating a final "punch list" for the library and township offices has been assembled and presented to Supervisor Collin Walls. In addition, an exterior punch list will be issued as soon as weather permits.

Kirco Project Manager David Tropf also stated that the company met with Walls Monday, April 8 to establish a game plan and schedule for completing the final course of asphalt paving in the parking lots, and the completion of the landscaping.

However for my money, the biggest hero I had the pleasure of meeting occurred last week when Clarkston resident Ryan Shaul came to my office.

Shaul, a: 1999 graduate of Clarkston High School, is back in town after serving six months in Afghanistan with the U.S. Military. (See story on page 1)

The first reaction I had when Shaul came to The Clarkston News offices was how young he looked. The 21-year old could pass for younger and it was difficult to imagine him fighting a war many miles away from Clarkston.

As the war against terrorism continues, it is sometimes easy to forget about the individuals involved. The war becomes a nightly update on the news as we get wrapped up in our everyday lives.

But meeting someone like Shaul reminds us a very serious war is still going on overseas. Amencans stationed out of the country continue to put their lives at risk everyday.

Anyone who would decide to risk their life to defend our country has my utmost respect. Shaul could not speak specifically about his adventures in Afghanistan, but it really did not matter.

The fact he signed up to defend our country and then did so in a foreign country is the only important item in my book. The specifics of how much immediate danger he witnessed is of no consequence to

The least we can do during these times is to make sure our troops overseas realize the American people are behind them. This can be accomplished as easily as flying a flag or sending a letter to our troops in the Middle East...

So to Shaul and all those fighting for the basic freedoms we enjoy everyday, I offer a sincere thank you. It takes a special person to put their life in danger for our country.

Resident agrees with ideas of Wallace

On the matter of an Independence Township civic center; I think the proposal made by citizen Neil Wallace is a very good one and needs to be kept at the top of the list.

Constructing a new building large enough to house both the Township's and the school district's administrative offices on the acreage of the current school administration building and converting that existing building to a senior center seems the most practical and fiscally prudent to me, if a fair deal can be e negotiated with the school district.

With the library adjacent, the area would be a civic center of sorts. However, I do think the proposed township recreation facility would be too expensive for the taxpayers. The bond proposal for such a facility only covers the construction costs. Will user fees cover all the cost of full-time staffing, maintenance and liability or will additional tax dollars be necessary to keep user fees reasonable? I'm concerned that it will cost much more than is estimated in the long run.

Local Red Cross looking for volunteers

What do you call people who consider themselves on-call at virtually all times, who will leave their families in the middle of the night to help another family find a place to sleep and who don't get paid a dime for: the trouble?

What do you call people who take time to give one of the world's most precious gifts: blood?

What do you call people who teach strangers how to save a life, assist military families desperate to get word of an emergency to a loved one and much, much more with no monetary compensation?

You call them American Red Cross volunteers. Without them, this community would be deprived of a host of lifesaving services. This year, volunteers right here in southeastern Michigan devoted more than half a million hours of service to our community. They re-: sponded to disasters, taught first aid and CPR classes, assisted during bloodmobiles and provided our community a number of lifesaving Red Cross services.

April 21-27 in National Volunteer Week, and we want to thank the more than 15,000 local residents who chose to serve our community this year through volunteer service with the Red Cross. The theme of National Volunteer Week this year is "Celebrate the American Spirit -Volunteer," and it is particularly appropriate at this time.

You don't have to go out on disasters to be a Red Cross volunteer. We need people of all ages and skills. For more information on volunteering for the Red Cross, call (313) 494-2849. Together, we can save a life.

that have been on earth forever, that we use everyday, that don't challenge us too much and can be reasoned

Things like washing machines, garden tractors, snowmobiles, pumps, bikes, toys, furnaces and flat tires.

And every time we tackle one of these chores the thought will cross our minds that the engineers who developed these broken things do not like "guys."

A prime example is where batteries were hidden on early makes of snowmobiles. One of the machines I have today has the battery under a shield, which is under the exhaust system which is held on by springs put into place by Superman.

Batteries are in some places on cars that require the moving of fenders to add acid.

But, it is flat tires that got my attention this week. I drive a 1999

Ford Windstar minivan: Ford engineers connived to put the spare under minivans. Unless you're a skinny elfyou cannot squeeze your body under my van when a rear tire is flat.

column material; so I chose to exchange my flat tire with those of tire pages.

First, read the ownership manual. It takes four pages. to tell one how to change a spare tire. My Model A Ford with the spare tire on the running board didn't even need changing instructions. One look and even I could figure the procedure.

The van has a cute little cubbyhole for the jack and its handle. I also found a net in there, which I assume is for springtime sucker dipping.

The manual points out a bolt in the van floor that has to be turned to lower the spare. Then "remove retainer from the spare tire." What retainer and how do you get to it? The instructions could have used another page.

After I found the retainer I found it needed two hands to remove it. I could have used one of your hands. My changing took place in my garage. I could picture this procedure taking place on a muddy roadside. So could the cunning engineers.

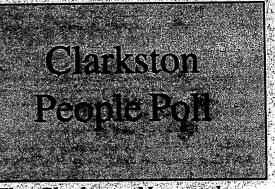

ne picture showing the putting of the under the car frame was drawn by a committee of institutionalized people. Or engineers.

A jack instruction was, "if you have the fender accessory follow the jack instruction that came with them:" I have that accessory, and it did not come with jack instructions.

As I said, I had time, I needed material for a column and I'm a guy, So I stayed with the tire changing task up to the point of repairing the tire and putting things back in place.

Naturally, I couldn't find what caused the tire to leak. Jeff's Tire & Auto Service in Oxford found the leak, I knew that, but I didn't have a lot to do, and I needed returned the spare under the van, reinstalled the fixed tire and sent me on my way in less time than it took me to "remove the retainer," and all for only fifteen bucks.

There's probably a lesson here for us "guys," but I will have forgotten it by the time I get another flat. But I will always remember the engineers who put batteries in inaccessible places for guys......

Independence approves animal control ordinance

BY KYLE GARGARO Clarkston News Editor

The Independence wnship Board approved the first reading of an animal control ordinance at the April 16 board meeting: The ordinance addresses dangerous/vicious dogs.

The topic was first before the board at the Jan. 9 2002 meeting. During the discussion, multiple board-concerns to township at-Joppich addressed those issues and submitted a redraft to the board.

One of the most significant changes was a new section which effectively eliminated the "one. free bite" and provides a mechanism for the destruction or removal from the township of any dog

However, it is my torney Steve Joppich: opinion that the owner of a dog that has bitten a person should be given a due. process hearing prior to being deemed to have committed a crime for failing to destroy his or her dog," Joppich said.

The adoption of the first reading passed by a Dale Stuart, and trustees to do a good job for our meeting. *** members voiced several - that bites a person -----Larry Rosso, Daniel Kelly -- community?; ------ and Daniel Travis supporting the motion.

By in large I think this is a good ordinance: Loud and aggressive dogs in subdivision living could cause problems for some neighbors," Travis said. "Police have been operating without the strength of an ordinance for too long.

Clerk Joan McCrary, treasurer James Wenger and trustee David Wagner all voted against the pro-

"I think we are getting a little carried away here," Wagner said.

McCrary said the vote for final reading and adoption will probably take 4-3 margin with supervisor. I think we need it for them. place at the next board

Women and the Economy Planning for One's Financial Future

Today's women have money and influence: More than 60 percent of American women are employed outside of the home, earning a collective $1 trillion annually, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Women-owned businesses now number 9.1 million, employ more than 15 million workers and generate nearly $1.4 trillion

But don't let those figures fool you. Women wit high-powered careers and wealth should not be the only ones to concern themselves with investing. Don't drop the ball when it comes to planning for your financial future while juggling day-to-day career demands with one hand and family obligations with the other. Think of the financial arena in terms of your everyday lives.

Based on the realities of today, it's vital that women realize the importance of having their own financial goals.

Take these startling facts for example:

American women still earn only about 76 percent of what men earn:

only 49 percent of working women have pensions according to the Social Security Administration;
Almost 70 percent of the elderly poor are women

according to the U.S. Census Bureau;

As many as nine out of 10 women will be solely responsible for their own finances at some point during

But women can take action now to develop an investment plan.

The following steps can help you form a retirement plan that combines Social Security, a company retirement plan and personal sayings:

Learn about investments. Attend an investment seminar read books and magazines and join an investment.

科·Use an investment professional for guidance. 土 上。Trivest systematically, While this method does not guarantee a profit or protect against a loss, the best way to save is to establish an automatic investment each month.

Youth rewarded for contributions

Each year the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance approaches organizations and schools in the Clarkston area for nominations of students who have contributed in voluntary service to make the area a better place to live and grow. These students are recognized for their willingness to participate in programs developed to assist and/or provide a better quality life for those with special needs; stepping forward and reacting in a positive way in the face of adversity; and for contributing hours of volunteer work without ever wondering "what's in it for me?" This year, 103 students were awarded certificates of appreciation at a Youth Recognition Reception, April 16, at Clarkston Middle School.

A happy Easter—A small group of students from Springfield Plains Elementary recently made a visit to Pine Tree Place, an assisted living home in Clarkston. Candy and personal items were collected by the first and second grade classes; then arranged in Easter baskets and taken to the home, March 26, by these children along with their parents and teachers Susan Powers, Susan Foss and Jennifer Martinson: Photo courtesy of Susan Powers.

meeting. After a motion for the new township hall passed, a motion to have the Clintonwood Park improvements stand on their own failed. Shortly after, another vote to combine the township hall and the park improvements were also voted down.

It was not until Trustee Dan Kelly proposed to vote on each issue separately, then vote. to combine them on the ballot, was the measure passed.

Treasurer James Wenger and Trustee Larry Rosso voted for the new township hall, but against the park improvements on a separate ballot and a combined ballot

They both voiced the opinion the Clintonwood Park improvements should not be combined to the township hall since they are not linked.

"The Clintonwood Park improvements should be lined with the community center. They are on the same property and are: both-recreation," Rosso

The special meeting was called after Stuart suggested the board consider new senior center on another August ballot. Since the board did not have much time to consider the proposal at the April 16 meeting, they decided to meet on April 18 to give them time to consider it. Stuart's request would have separated the senior center from the community center.

However the board decided against putting the senior center on the Auwait for a study by a consulting firm investigating the feasibility a community a new township hall on center would have in Inone August ballot, with the dependence Township. park improvements and a . not only of the initial cost but also the operating cost. This study should go a long way in determining what type of operational cost there would be and how much they would have to charge to break even.

"This township can't take on anything to subsidize the operation of this project. Troy and Canton have the funding to do that but we don't," Stuart said.

The study will likely gust ballot. The board will take around 60 days to complete. This means the soonest a possible senior center, community center or a combination of the two can reach the ballot

It was said this was going to be a transitory time.

And now after almost a year of school with an amended field trip policy in place, Clarkston is doing some additional tweaking.

Since November when the Clarkston Community School Board approved the policy change:

JENNIFER Michigan code, the Elementary and Middle Clarkston News Staff School Teaching and Learning Councils (TLC) have been studying field trips taken within the district.:The group, made up of individuals representing all subjects and grade levels, created a list of acceptable curricular student trips--considered suppletaking: away : from or theatre. classtime=-for grades K-8. # Council approves resolutions for Phase II of water system

Approximately 40 residents show up at public hearing, many voice concerns about cost of water project

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Following a spirited public hearing April 22, the Clarkston City Council approved several resolutions pertaining to Phase II of its water system.

The council approved special assessment resolutions for four districts in the city, with separate water and paving district resolutions passed. They followed that up by authorizing the sale of general obligation funds for Phase II of the project.

In addition, a special meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 2 at Clarkston City Hall to award the bid for the general obligation bonds.

According to City Councilman Scott Meyland, the city's bond counselor, Dennis Nieman of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, will put a package of bids together and forward them to City Manager Art Pappas the day of the special meeting. From there, the city will select which company to award the bids to, Meyland said.

About 40 residents showed up at the public hearing to express their concerns about the cost of the project and hooking up to the city's water system. The hearing lasted one hour and 45 min-

City Engineer Gary Tressel said city residents have the option to stay on the well and not connect to the city's water system. However, he said if a homeowner's well was found to be contaminated, that homeowner would be obligated to hook up to the city well.

City resident Mike Suran, who lives in the Middle Lake area, was one of those residents who expressed concern over the cost of the project.

"I appreciate the efforts and the great deal of time the council has put into minimizing the cost," he said. "My concern is it's still an increased cost even though it's minimized. I appreciate the option for individual districts to petition their districts.

Charles Inabnit, who lives on South Main and was one of the residents affected by Phase I of the project; said he has had problems getting his driveway

'We've just had a lot of problems with the contractor," he said. "Evidently, the state can't deal with their contractor like a private developer would. We were one of the first five houses done for the water main, but one of the last five to have mop up work."

In response, Mayor Sharron Catallo said the council would get together with the Department of Public Works to address Inabnit's concerns.

Meyland said a factor in Inabnit's complaint was the fact that the Michigan Department of Transportation had control over management of Phase I of the project. He said that would change with Phase II.

"We have issues to revisit with MDOT once the weather is decent," he said. "We didn't choose the contractor for elimination of special assessments for both Phase I. That was an MDOT project. We will have a little bit more control over how the project is managed. We're going to continue to work with MDOT to get issues from Phase I resolved."

In addressing residents' concerns getting repaired after the water main over the cost of the project, Nieman said this would be the best time to get the project underway.

> "Doing it now is the most inexpensive way," he said. "It's not going to get cheaper down the road."

Catallo also said it would not get any cheaper to do the project down the

"It's a hard thing to ask people for." she said. "We've discussed this for a long time. I think now is a good time to go ahead and do this. It's not going to be less expensive in 10 years to do this."

them we are not the Infantry of Vietnam and that was not our job anymore."

Shaul was down there for a month before going back to Uzbekistan. Soon after his platoon was told they were going to be the Quick Reaction Force for Operation Anaconda, the biggest mission since Desert Storm.

"It was exciting that we were going to get our chance now and that we were going to be able to make history," Shaul said.

The QRF serves more as a backup in case the operation does not go well so the group did not know if they would be actually going in at that time.

However, they were called into action after Charlie Company went into a hot landing zone and suffered 23 casualties, although thankfully nobody lost their life.

"They were there for 48 hours. Then on March 1, they pulled them in and early morning March 2 they told us we were going," Shaul said.

They were there for eight days, although Shaul is not allowed to say what they did during those eight days.

"I can say we did get involved in a fire fight but everybody made it out alive." Shaul said. "I am asked a lot if I was scared. There were times yes I was scared and times where I was nervous but you have to put it out of your head. We are told if we are scared or nervous it is a distraction. If you are distracted you are not firing and if you are not firing someone else is going to get shot," Shaul said.

Shaul and his platoon returned to the United States on April 2.

"I kissed the customs building at the airport and I kissed the ground because I was on American soil. It was so great to be back in my country," Shaul said.

They were welcomed in by family and friends. Shaul was greeted by his father Rod Shaul and mother Sharon

It was great. There were family, friends, flags and posters. Any sign you could think of was there. It was great to see both my parents there." Shaul said.

Shaul said while over in Afghanistan the troops knew the high level of support Americans back home were givwhile he was over there.

'Our biggest opponent was our emotions. The terrorists were no contest. There was just nothing to it. They were done before they started," Shaul said. "The respect we had for one another when we got out of there was extremely high.'

Now that Shaul is back home in Clarkston he is just getting reacquainted with his home town. He has visited some friends and a few former teachers from high school. He is on leave until April 29.

The 21-year old has a lot of pride ing them. Personally, Shaul got a lot of in the time he spent overseas and is essupport from his parents and sister, Angie, pecially proud of his Combat Infantry Badge.

"We earned them. We went into combat and got into a firefight. We saw planes drop 500 pounds bombs. We were there and we earned them," Shaul said.

Henry Ford Museum and/or Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

■Fourth grade--Lansing's Capitol, the Detroit Science Center and/or Smoklerville (a Camp Tamarack day camp)

Fifth grade--Detroit Institute of Arts and/or Greenfield Village.

■Sixth grade--Camp experience.

■Seventh grade--Cranbrook/planetarium experience.

■ Eighth grade--Holocaust museum/Holocaust experience.

The TLC suggests sixth through eighth grade experiences be the same at both middle schools.

Moore said some of the recommendations, like the "Holocaust experience." are recommendations that can actually be brought to the students, without students leaving school grounds.

The TLC believes all band, chorus and orchestra concerts and competitions are a critical part of the curriculum, but should not be classified as field trips.

The TLC, though recommending the list, did not recommend a method of funding, but said it should not be at the expense of personnel in the district, since board members just completed several staff reductions to get their budget back in order.

Curricular student trips, since they are enriching classroom instruction, are not to be the financial burden of students, the policy says. Students may be charged a reasonable fee for nonmandatory trips, those considered beneficial to students, but not part of the formal instructional process

This year the district did not fund any student trips. All monies were gained through support groups, organizations or fundraisers.

Dave Reschke, assistant superintendent for K-8 operations, discussed funding with the board. He feels there should be a mechanism for which to approve field trips, stating:

All field trip polices remain in effect.

■The student trip list be reviewed on a yearly basis.

■A fair and equitable budget be given to each school building.

■Each school building submit a proposal of which field trips from the list they will take and why.

Community support groups be included in adding trips to the list.

■All nonmandatory field trips be considered in a school building based on support and should not be taken on school time.

Reschke recommended almost $44,000 be set aside from the district's budget for curricular student trips. This equals $8 per student for K-8. This still will not be enough to cover the recommendations on the list that total about $90,000, he said.

Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said, "Consistency suffers when there are no guidelines. This a step that needs to be taken whether funding is an issue or not. If nothing else, taking time away from class is serious business. If we can do better in class, (the students) need not go."

Reschke also noted the board approved almost every field trip this year. Curricular trips require approval of the superintendent, and board approval is necessary for overnight trips. Nonmandatory trips require the approval of the appropriate building administrator, and approval by the superintendent is necessary for overnight excursions.

The Clarkston softball team is getting solid production in all areas of the game pitching, hitting and fielding.

That production led the Wolves to three victories last week, and has led them to an undefeated start with four victo-

In a doubleheader Wednesday. April 17, the Wolves defeated the Rochester Falcons 5-1 in the opener and 11-1 in the nightcap. Senior Kathy Wiegand. pitched both games and allowed a onehitter in each contest.

Sophomore Heather Giroux continues to be an offensive force for the Wolves, as she knocked out four hits in the second game. Junior Missy Parsons added five hits in the two games combined, while junior Jenna Kast drove in four runs in the doubleheader.

'Overall, Kathi pitched a real nice game and we played some good defense." Clarkston coach Al Land said: "It seemed like the hitting was working and we were win. aggressive on the bases."

What the Clarkston girls golf team may lack in experience, they make up for in attitude, according to Coach Larry Sherrill Sherrill, in his fourth year as the coach, said team members have all worked diligently to improve their games and have a desire to succeed.

"They're the greatest kids," he said. "They come out and work hard. I never have any problems with them. I think we'll be okay."

This year's team is comprised of ten players, including five returning players and one rookie. Last year, the Wolves finished fourth in Oakland Activities Association Division I, and lost three of their top four players. Two of those three, Lauren Benner and Kelly Haggard, graduated, while Taylor Wilburn moved.

Leading the way for this year's team are junior Anna Trim and senior Laura Barnett. Sherrill said he expects big things, in particular, from Trim, who has been selected to play in a national tournament in Hawaii during the summer and is currently raising money toward that end

Sherrill said he is hoping the Wolves will make a climb up the OAA I standings this year and finish in third place. He said Rochester, which features one of a off to a average start. # Clarkston nine takes second at Brandon Invitational

Wolves struggle in 11-10 loss to West Bloomfield April 19, committing 10 errors

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Last weekend didn't start off too well for the Clarkston baseball team; but they ended it on a better note.

The Wolves were "godawful", according to coach Phil Price, in their 11-10 loss to West Bloomfield Friday, April 19. However, they bounced back to take second place at the Brandon Invitational Saturday, April 20, losing the championship game to state-ranked Davison, 7-3. The Wolves are now 4-5 on the season.

Ryan Weiss and Matt Orris led the Wolves' hitting attack in that contest, with Weiss going three-forthree and Orris two-for-three. Ben Munce took the loss on the mound for Clarkston.

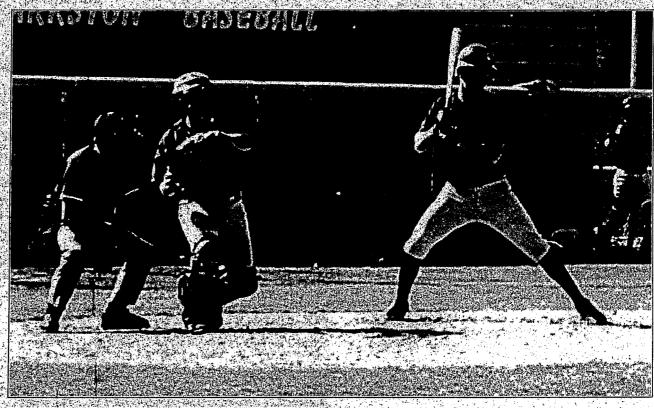

In the Wolves' opening game of the tourney against Lapeer East, they came away with an 8-7 win. The Wolves scored four runs in the fourth inning and two in the fifth to win the game. Orris went two-for-four with two doubles and a walk, while Weiss went one-for-two with two runs batted in and Derek Ranck two-for-three. Josh Hérzog picked up the win in relief.

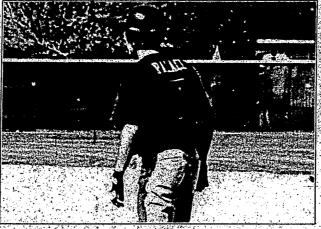

The Wolves advanced to the championship game of the invite with a 7-2 win against Goodrich, ranked sixth in the state. Aaron Powell went two-for-three in that contest, while Weiss went one-for-three with two runs batted in Orris two-for-four and Bobby Slaughter two-for-two-Herzog started the game this time and went all seven innings to pick up his second win of the day.

The Wolves' solid showing at the invite balanced out their 11-10 loss to the West Bloomfield Lakers the previous day. The Wolves made 10 errors in that game.

Clarkston rallied from a 5-1 deficit to score three runs in the third inning and one in the fourth to tie the game at five. However, in the top of the fifth inning, the Lakers scored six runs to make the score 11-5. The Wolves managed to score another run in the sixth and four in the seventh, but couldn't get any closer.

"On Friday, we were godawful," said Price. "We just couldn't field anything. We did poor in every aspect of the game, but our kids battled."

Play ball! — Clarkston's Ben Munce (above) steps up to the plate against West Bloomfield during a game April 19 at Clarkston High School. The Wolves lost to the Lakers 11-10, in a game where they committed 10 errors. However, they rebounded the next day at the Brandon Invitational, defeating Lapeer East and Goodrich before losing to state-ranked Davison 7-3 in the championship game. Although Price said the team has had their ups and downs so far this season, he is proud of how they have improved.

"The young kids are getting better," he said.
"Aaron Powell is doing a great job: We're going to get better as the year goes on."

The Wolves competed Monday, April 22 at Troy and will host Rochester Wednesday, April 24 at 4:30 p.m. On Saturday, April 27, the Wolves will compete in the "Pops" Warner Classic, named for the former Clarkston baseball coach.

The festivities will get underway at 10 a.m. and will feature eight teams: Clarkston, Farmington Hills Harrison, Fraser, Waterford Kettering, Holly, Lakeland, Lake Shores and Flushing. The invite will take place at the Clarkston High School and Clintonwood fields, with the Wolves' first game slated to take place at the high school.

The Wolves are looking to improve in league action down the road, according to Wyniemko. While he said the team has to get healthier, he also said it was important for the team to remember three things that he emphasized to them; have fun, improve your times and do your best.

"We're a young team," he said.

The Wolves competed in a league meet Tuesday April 23 and then take part in the Andover Co-Ed Relays Saturday. April 27 at Bloomfield Hills Andover On Monday, April 29, they will take on Troy and Lake Orion in a dual meet.

Clarkston senior Lindsey Hawley has steadily gained experience each of her four years on the girls, track team, and has put that to good use in the discus and shot put.

In a duel meet against Rochester and Rochester Adams Tuesday, April 23, Hawley notched a throw of 30'10" in the shot put and a throw of 108'7" in the discus, placing for the Wolves in both eyents.

She said assistant coach Kyle Powell "has helped me grow in the sport" and is willing to work with her to improve her skills in both events:

Hawley is hoping for the team to make a strong showing in Oakland Activities Association Division I.

"I want our team to place at least second in the league," she said. "I know we can do it. Maybe we can even place first if we can beat Adams."

Hawley, who was a cheerleader during the fall of 2001, will be attending Oakland Community College this fall and study to become a nurse.

Netters finish second in invite

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

against some of the top competition in the area.

The Wolves finished second in the Clarkston Quad, held at Clarkston High School, behind Livonia Stevenson. In doing so; they finished ahead of such teams as Flint Powers and Warren DeLaSalle.

Mike Rashid excelled for the Wolves at the invite, taking first place at #2 singles. In addition, the #2 doubles team of Andy Smith and Amit Surapaneni, playing together for the first time this season, took first place in that event.

In addition, three other Wolves took runner-up honors at the invite: Andrew Brown at #1-singles, Justyn Roderick at #3 singles and Barth Surapaneni at #4

The Wolves' showing came on the heels of a 6-2 loss to Birmingham Groves in a key league showdown featuring two teams that are usually in contention for the league championship.

"Pretty much every match was three sets or tiebreakers," Clarkston coach Kevin Ortwine said. "Groves is one of the most improved teams in the entire state. It usually comes down to one of us for the league title. That puts them in the driver's seat."

In the Wolves' opening league match against Kettering Tuesday, April 16, they defeated Kettering 7-1 before losing to Brother Rice 8-0 on Wednesday,

'We didn't play a very good match at all against. Clarkston's tennis team held their own April 20. Brother Rice," Ortwine said: "I think we were a bit intimidated. We didn't play up to our level."

So far, Ortwine said his top two singles players, Andrew Brown and Mike Rashid, have excelled. In fact, Ortwine said Rashid, a senior, needs eight more wins to break the school record.

In addition, the #1 doubles team of Mike Claus and John Szilvagyi has shown improvement, according to Ortwine. "They've lost so many close matches but have played well," he said.

Ortwine said the Wolves have played some tough competition in the early going. Of the seven teams they have played in tournament action and the three they played in dual meet action, five are ranked in the top 10 teams in the state.

The coach said that experience will hopefully pay dividends for the Wolves in the long run.

"We're playing well and getting better," he said. "I'm hoping we start to see the benefit of that. Whether it works out remains to be seen. We'll see in the next couple of weeks."

The Wolves traveled to Royal Oak Kimball for a 4 p.m. meet Tuesday, April 23. They then travel to Berkley on Thursday, April 25 before returning home the following day to take on East Kentwood. The Wolves will square off against archrival Lake Orion Tuesday, April 30.

Girls track shows mettle in meet

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston girls' track team may have split its duel meet against Rochester and Rochester Adams, but Coach Gordie Richardson was pleased

The Wolves fell to Adams 72-56 while defeating Rochester 87-41 in the meet, held Tuesday, April 16 at Clarkston High School.

"I was very pleased," said Richardson of the team's showing. "Adams is an experienced track team. They have an awful lot of depth. We were two relay wins away from being able to compete and that's pretty good."

Against Adams, Clarkston triumphed in six events. Junior Beth Randall got on the board first for the Wolves, winning the 300 meter hurdles with a time of 50.35. Freshman Liz Mengyan followed that up with a win in the 800 meter run, finishing with a

Senior Lindsey Hawley was a differencemaker for the Wolves, as she triumphed in two different events: the shot put with a throw of 30'10" and the discus with a throw of 108'7"

Others triumphing for the Wolves against Adams were junior Kimberly Wilson in the high jump with a jump of 5'2" and Casey Bolten in the pole vault with a vault of 6'6".

The Wolves triumphed in 11 different events when their scores were matched up against Rochester. They took first place in five of the same six events they won against Adams. The only exception was the shot put, where Hawley's throw of 30'10" was only good for a second place finish.

Other events where the Wolves took first place. were as follows: the 100 meter hurdles; where junior Emily Cushing finished with a time of 17.21; the 100 meter dash, where freshman Adrienne Jones finished with a time of 13.44; the 3200 meter relay, where the team of freshman Anne Oltman, sophomore Lauren Witt, freshman Gillian Nordquist and Mengyan finished with a time of 9:58.8; the 400 meter relay, where the team of Cushing, freshman Sarah Jennett, freshman Adrienne Jones and freshman Stephanie Parkin finished with a time of 54.04; the 200 meter dash, where Jones finished with a time of 28.67; and the 1600 meter relay, where the team of junior Beth Randall, sophomore Christyn Reuter, Oltman and Mengyan finished with a time of 4:21.78.

The Wolves competed Tuesday, April 23 in a meet against league rival Pontiac Northern. After that, they travel to Bloomfield Hills Andover for the Andover Co-Ed Relays Saturday, April 25, in which members of the boys and girls teams compete together against other schools.

"It's a real good time and a good way for the teams to get to know each other," Richardson said.

Soccertieam rebounds from losses

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Despite losing two of three games last week, coach Tami Mitchell said the Clarkston girls soccer team is making strides.

The Wolves fell to host Birmingham Groves 1-0 on Tuesday, April 16 and then fell to visiting Avondale Thursday, April 17 by a 6-1 count, with sophomore midfielder Colleen Mead scoring the lone goal for the Clarkston rebounded Friday, April 18 by defeating visiting Oxfaord 3-1: Sophomore defenseman Ashley Lambert, senior forward Rockie Tripi and sophomore defenseman Ashley Hudson all scored for the Wolves. Clarkston is now 3-3 overall and 1-2 in Oakland Activities Association Division II.

"I think our team is definitely improving," Mitchell said. "By Friday, we started playing our game, which is a possession game. I think as long as we stick with that, we'll be okay."

Mitchell said Mead, sophomore midfielder Liz, Hardy, sophomore defenseman Kelly Boskee and sophomore defenseman Megan Mutz have been the top players for the Wolves so far.

The Wolves resumed play Tuesday, April 23 with a game against visiting Lake Orion. Afterward, they travel to Royal Oak Kimball Thursday, April 25 for a 7 p.m. start and then head on to Waterford Kettering Friday, April 26.
