This Memorial Day...

Let's honor veterans and learn from them

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

He's full of history, he says, because he's lived it.

Leon C. Sawyer, 72, who has called Clarkston home since 1954, is one of 16 million men and women who gave of themselves in World War II, and who are to be honored this Memorial Day.

With nearly 1,000 World War II veterans dying a day, 41 dying hourly and only four million still living today, it is important we take their knowledge, their experiences and learn from them.

And Sawyer has much to tell--some random stories, some moments in time and some pieces of wisdom.

■A highspeed radio operator and staff sergeant in the Army Air Force from September 21, 1942 to January 5, 1946, Sawyer was responsible for point-to-point ground communication via radio and morse code, and was part of a service group that set up needed departments for soldiers on the field.

"We laid the groundwork," said Sawyer, who was stationed throughout Europe, the Pacific and the United States.

After D-Day, Sawyer said, there were eight radio operators, and one by one, each were ordered to the front line as a spotter. About every two weeks a new operator would be sent. It reached a point, where all had been killed at the front line, and only three operators remained including Sawyer, who volunteered to go next.

"They say never volunteer in the military." But one operator had recently married, and the other was a superior, so Sawyer nobly stepped forward.

Surprisingly, when he arrived for duty, he was told he wasn't needed as they were now heading across seas to the United States.

"You never know what you are getting into!"

■For Sawyer there are so many things that stand out during his time in the military, but mainly the eve of D-Day.

"You cannot imagine walking outside and looking at the sky and seeing a total-global coverage of airplanes, it's mind boggling. Every American ally was in the air for continual coverage, 24 hours a day. You can't realize how many planes can be in the sky at one time."

■At one time, Sawyer wanted to be a pilot. However, "Half as many pilots that we're sent up, we're getting shot down; the odds weren't good," he said.

But he had already applied for his pilot license in the service, when he decided it'd be a bit safer to become an officer.

Amazingly, his application was returned to him by a superior who informed Sawyer they weren't taking any more applications.

■Sawyer wonders, "What would've happened if I had gone on the front line as a spotter? What would've happened if I got my pilot license?"

■But for Sawyer his Army days gave him many a story he looks back at with a smile, too; like the time he shook the hand of the nephew of the Hershey candy company founder; the first time he had a smorgasbord much to his stomach's chagrin; and when he and a buddy were to deliver six bureaus, realized they had seven, and kept the one for themselves they'd thereinafter fondly refer to as the "only bureau in captivity."

Area home for sale is one-of-a-kind find

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

His friends and family told him he was crazy to buy the house.

The landscape was a mess; trees had grown out of control and pressed against the home to the point one couldn't see out the windows. The cinderblock exterior was deteriorating badly, and inside garbage and belongings littered the floors of each room extensively, one couldn't even walk.

The previous owner had not lived in the home for three to four years, and it was apparent.

But, Russ and Cindy Shipley saw it's potential. And, maybe, for Russ, he saw a challenge he knew he could conquer.

It took five years, but Russ transformed the 10191 Allen Road home that was once in disarray and decay to a magnificent sight to behold.

Russ, who owns Shipley Garage Doors, Sales and Service, in fact, did all the work by himself, except he'll admit he hired a drywaller.

Outside, the three-acre property is one-of-a-kind with a park-like setting, vacation atmosphere and up-north feeling right in the Shipley's own backyard.

A rustic archway welcomes visitors in the rear of the house. A limestone patio area with built-in benches and lighting for nighttime entertaining encircles a fire pit.

A custom horseshoe pit, covered wishing well, dog run and hammock between mature pines, all add to the backyard. But a 125x150 foot, 12 foot deep pond, is the main showcase. Bass, trout and blue gill swim about, and the spring-fed pond has a sandy beach, diving board, fountain, waterfall, 32-foot arched bridge and much more. Mature oaks and pines offer complete privacy, and cherry and apple trees can also be found in the back of the pond area.

The previous owner was a horticulturist and dabbled heavily with crossbreeding plants, that Russ dug up and landscaped beautifully around the front and rear yard, amidst boulders.

A custom covered swing, which seats four to six, a half car detached garage, separate 24x24 foot pole barn, 19th century farming artifacts and more decorate the acreage.

The exterior of the home has a 12x14 foot covered back porch, wrap around covered front porch, cedar trim and cedar shutters.

The now 2,620 square foot, three-bedroom, three bath home was previously 1,600 square feet. Everything's new including windows, siding, roof, central air, PVC and Copper plumbing, water softener, carpeting and more.

The kitchen features ceramic tile floor and splash guard, countertops with wood trim, knotty pine cabinets, wood panel ceiling, eat-in breakfast nook and snack bar.

Making up the great room, is a gas fireplace with large wood hearth and ceramic tile, 15 foot ceilings, huge arch windows, surround sound and French door balcony entrance.

There are seven ceiling fans, two natural gas fireplaces, two doorwalls, six panel doors, two jacuzzi tubs, and that's just the beginning of what the house has to offer.

But, alas, after all the hard work and amazing makeover, Russ and Cindy have put their gorgeous home up for sale, wanting to downsize and have less work and more time to devote to their six-year-old son, Jacob.

Those interested in viewing this unique find, should call Real Estate One Realtor Ray Smigelski at (248)407-1856.

McCrary hopes second time is charm in race for commission

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

According to Joan McCrary, it is time to apply her experience in local government at another level.

McCrary, the Independence Township Clerk, has filed as a Republican candidate for the Oakland County Board of Commissioners 4th District seat, which is currently held by former state Rep. Tom Middleton (R-Clarkston).

The spot was vacated last year when former commissioner and Clarkston resident Frank Millard resigned to take a position as deputy clerk with Oakland County.

McCrary narrowly lost to Middleton in a special primary election Jan. 8 to fill the Republican nomination for the position, as Middleton finished with 563 votes to 533 for McCrary. Middleton went on to beat Democrat Charles Inman of Clarkston in a special election to fill the vacant seat.

"I've been clerk for my fourth term," said McCrary. "I think it's just time for me to move up a level because of the interest I have in this community. I feel like it's a good opportunity for me to try again."

If elected to the commission, McCrary said she would focus on economic issues and how they affect local residents.

"What I hope to do is to seek more local funding to be returned to the local area and stay focused on this district," she said. "I'm not overly concerned with what the county is doing in Lansing. I'm concerned with what the county is doing for taxpayers."

McCrary said the county has been proactive in developing programs for the community, such as emergency response measures and dealing with tornadoes. She said the county needs to adopt similar measures for dealing with substance abuse, mental health and senior citizen issues.

She said she hopes to accomplish these goals by continuing to support the Automation Alley program, created by County Executive L. Brooks Patterson that promotes business growth and productivity.

According to McCrary, the county lost 13,000 jobs last year after averaging a gain of 20,000 jobs throughout the 1990's.

"It's a program that will give people hope for a job," she said.

Even if elected to the commission, McCrary said she wants to keep connected to the Independence community. She said she has been able to do that through her work with the schools (Coalition for Youth, Kids Vote and Junior Optimists) and with local businesses (serving on the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and working to help change the Dixie Highway corridor and increase their tax base).

"I still want to be accessible to this community," she said. "I've been able to do that all these years."

She said her years as township clerk has given her experience in dealing with local issues such as planning, zoning, budgets and the election process.

McCrary, a 30-year resident of Independence Township, has served as township clerk for 13 years, and prior to that was on the township's Zoning Board of Appeals and Wetland Board.

McCrary is a member of the First Baptist Church of Clarkston, the Clarkston Area Optimists (working primarily with the Junior Optimists), and a member of the Board of Directors for the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

She holds a bachelor of science degree from Oakland University, and is a certified municipal clerk and parliamentarian, as well as a member of the Advanced Academy of International Municipal Clerks and a State of Michigan Real Estate Broker.

Commission candidates look to serve refigured 2nd District

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Incumbent Oakland County Commissioner William Brian (R-Highland) will face two challengers in his bid to remain on the commission.

State Senator Bill Bullard Jr. (R-Highland) has announced that he has filed to run for Oakland County Commissioner in District 2, which includes the townships of Highland, Rose, Holly and Springfield.

Brian and Bullard will bid for the Republican nomination for the 2nd District seat at the primary election Tuesday, Aug. 6. The winner will face off against Roy Dennison (D-Fenton), who is running unopposed for the Democratic nomination, in the Nov. 5 general election.

Brian, a lifelong Highland resident, is currently in his first term on the commission. Before that, he was Highland Township clerk for 14 years and a member of the Highland Township Library Board.

He said he wants to continue on the commission to make sure the western part of Oakland County gets fairly represented.

"I bring a real grass-roots background for the local municipalities on the western side of Oakland County," he said. "Someone has to make sure the rural townships get their fair share from Oakland County."

Bullard, a resident of Highland Township, is only the second Highland resident to have served as State Representative and the first Highland resident to have served as State Senator.

Bullard is concluding 20 years in the State Legislature this year — 14 years in the State House of Representatives (from 1982-96) and six years in the State Senate.

On June 7, 1996, Bullard was sworn in as a state senator after winning a special election to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sen. David Honigman. He was reelected to the state Senate in 1998.

He is currently serving on five Senate committees: Transportation and Tourism (Chairman); Financial Services (Chairman); Finance (Vice-Chairman); Hunting, Fishing and Forestry (Vice-Chairman) and Judiciary (Member).

He said now is the time to make a run at a commission seat.

"I've always had an interest in county government," he said. "It's not visible to a lot of people. I decided sometime last fall to run for the job."

Bullard graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of arts in political science in May 1965 and earned a Juris Doctorate from the Detroit College of Law in June 1971.

He served as a Highland Township Trustee and Highland Township Supervisor from 1978-82. He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police, Oakland and Michigan Bar Associations, State Bar of Michigan and serves as a Mediator in Oakland County Circuit and District Courts.

Bullard is a member of the Huron Valley, Holly, South Lyon, Lakes Area, Novi, West Bloomfield and Farmington Chambers of Commerce and the Highland Business Association.

Dennison did not return phone calls from The Clarkston News as of press time.

Opinion

Commercial full of hypocrisy

Some random thoughts floating around my unusually large cranium this week:

■ The government's drug-free America commercials which use the terrorist angle insults our intelligence.

In case you have not seen them, it has young individuals stating they support terrorists with the link being the paper trail of drugs brings money to the terrorists in the middle east.

Gargaro's World

Kyle Gargaro

While I definitely think our youth should steer clear of drugs (although much like everything else, screaming at kids not to do something only drives them to it even more) the commercial is insulting and hypocritical.

How about producing commercials discouraging the purchasing of gas and diamonds? These two items are big-time sources of income for the terrorists.

One of the major reasons kids tune out messages from adults is when it reeks of hypocrisy. Preach about the dangers of supporting terrorists but don't hesitate to buy a gas guzzling SUV.

Scrap the terrorist tactics, the condemnation of drugs can stand on their own by showcasing the devastative effects it has on family, friends and the community.

■ I don't know if it is because of my maturation process (doubtful) or the fact that Detroit radio has declined mightily (probable), but I find myself tuning into talk radio while in my car.

The station 1130 WDFN is a favorite of mine, but I will also tune into WJR and WXYT. It makes for some interesting listening.

Maybe I just need a CD player in my car.

Being new to the area and a big music fan, I am excited about living such a close distance to the music theatre.

Despite the fact that I noticed ticket prices have seen a reasonably big increase during the past few years, I still plan on attending a multiple of shows this summer.

I was in the mood for a tasty blizzard last Saturday and pulled into Dairy Queen at 8:50 p.m. This should not have been a problem since the ice cream business states it is open until 9 p.m. However as I walked towards the building with 10 minutes to spare, an employee saw me coming towards the building and quickly locked the door to leave me blizzardless.

That is not a business I want to support although the blizzards will probably bring me back.

Perfect women's world combats editor's man world

A few weeks back, Editor Kyle Gargaro raved about the First Annual Motor City Men's Expo, and wondered in a testosterone-filled column what a perfect man world would be like.

Well now it's my chance to turn the tables.

Just Jen

Jennifer Nemer

I, too, recently dropped in to an expo, this time of the women's sort. I've attended the International Women's Show at the Novi Expo for about five years now.

Instead of appearances by the WRIF's chauvinistic Drew and Mike and "The Man Show" boy, like Kyle enjoyed, the women get E's fashion expert Leon Hall and the wise advice of Judge Hatchett.

We don't ogle cars, gadgets and motorcycles at such an event, but rather peruse clothing displays, get makeovers, pamper ourselves with a massage and walk away with a bag full of perfume samples, lotions and more--just a taste of what women want.

To counteract Kyle's perfect man world, I sought out several ladies to get their idea of what would be the perfect woman world.

Here's what they had to say:

■Football would be played once every 10 years.

■Sports-filled weekends would be nonexistent.

■Spouses would ask for directions instead of driving around for hours, and/or read directions when putting something together.

■There would be more chocolate in the world, and it would be fat free but have the same great taste.

■You wouldn't gain an ounce, but could eat anything you wanted.

■Spouses would take the initiative to ask their partner to dance and/or just whisk them out onto the dance floor with a grab of a hand.

■All women would have an unlimited expense account for shopping.

■The word exercise would not be found in the English vocabulary, and, of course, isn't necessary for the perfect figure you would have.

■Pantyhose would never run.

■A woman would be able to do a project without being asked by another, "Where is this?" or "Where is that?"

■Each woman would have a personal maid and gardener.

■Back massages would come on demand.

■And cable would feature an all Russell Crowe (or insert your favorite movie star here) channel.

I think the women that I asked could have gone on with their great ideas, although I'm leaving out their suggestion that a perfect world would be without men.

Of course, we all know we don't live in a perfect woman world, man world or just plain old world. But we do know there was one thing in this world that was perfect and that was Jesus Christ in the flesh. "He is the Rock, His works are perfect, and all His ways are just," the Bible says in Deuteronomy 32:4a.

In 2 Samuel 22:31, it says, "As for God, His way is perfect; the word of the Lord is flawless. He is a shield for all who take refuge in Him."

And as men and women in this world we can strive to be perfect like Him. "Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect," Matthew 5:48.

"It is God who arms me with strength and makes my way perfect," 2 Samuel 22:33.

Pass the valium and let's get lasering

In about a week, my butt will have occupied the same seat at work for 17 years. And, while said backside has waxed and waned in those 17 years, one thing has remained constant for about 16-and-a-half years.

That would be the need for my peepers to have corrective lenses to see anything beyond the computer screen. And, I blame the newspaper business for my affliction. Focusing on a computer screen hours a day was too much for my eyes to handle.

don rush
don't rush

For the first time in my life I needed glasses. I became nearsighted at the age of 22.

Balderdash!

Two year old son, Sean, a drill sergeant at heart, pads into our bedroom every morning by 6, and every morning he comes up to my side of the bed to roust his poppy.

"Get your sorry waxing and waning butt out of bed, you lazy maggot. It's a glorious morning!" I think he says. I'm not too sure as I'm groggy, but he wakes me and hands me my glasses. Not too long ago (back when we had those 70 degree April days), the morning routine was clicking like clock work, but when Sean handed me my specs, I noticed something amiss – the glasses were bent in half.

Apparently little Sean don't know his own strength. Or he was just whizzed off at his old man for taking so long to get up, regardless, at that moment I made a decision about something I had thought about for at least all of the 1990s.

I was gonna' get my eyes lasered, dang it!

It's been since 1986 that good ol' Doc Walton (Ted to his buds) looked at my bloodshot blues and said, "Yep, Don. You're nearsighted." He then gave a dissertation on the history of nearsightedness. Did you know, he said, that prior to the Industrial Revolution most folks good see distant things just fine. But, when the masses started focusing on whatever they were assembling 12-24 inches from their noses, bingo! Things far away started to blur and folks like me were thrown into a myopic haze (there's a little eye-doctor lingo for you).

Doc set me up with glasses and contacts. For the first 10 years, as my sight changed, he checked me for glaucoma and sent me on my way with a new prescription and a couple of good jokes.

Doc's a good guy, so it was with guilt that I made this decision about my eyes without first consulting him. I mean, I owed it to him. He'd been straight with me for years and I ditched him. I guess I didn't want to here what he would say.

I didn't want to hear him say, "Don. Now many, many people have this done every year successfully, but . . ."

I didn't want to hear the "but."

I was just gonna' do this and suffer the consequences if there were any. Besides, dear wife Jen didn't like the frame style I always picked for my glasses. Amazingly, the style of frames I chose were practically the same from 1986 to 2002. Unfortunately that style went out of style before Ronald Regan left the White House.

Guilt aside, a-lasering I would go.

On a lark, I contacted the public relations company for the Windsor Laser Eye Institute sometime in early April.

"Hey dudes. I'm a reporter type (which means I cheap), do my eyes and I'll write a story," is what in essence I typed up on my computer. Without checking for spelling errors (my English teachers at Clarkston High would be so proud) I zipped it off via e-mail, expecting a non-reply or a negative one.

Just the opposite happened.

Jim Kleczewski from The PR West Group, e-mailed me back. "Dr. Tayfour will go for this. I'll find out more and get back to you."

I had just bartered my craft for an eye surgeon's. What did that make me? The word "prostitute" popped in and out of my head, but I batted it down and bottled it, such was my mania for new eyes. I has started the ball rolling and it was too late to stop its momentum. No glasses. No contacts. No cleaning solution. No scratched lenses. No bent frames. Oh yes, I would do what I needed for laser surgery.

A date was scheduled and all I had to do was wait. Wait and think. Did I grow nervous? Are the Kennedys gun shy? Is the Pope Catholic? You bet I started to get nervous.

Co-worker Cathy Kowalski (another of Doc Walton's patients) asked if I was really going to have the surgery done. "It sounds risky, Don."

When I'm nervous I tend to look toward humor. "Risky? What risk Cathy?" I said. "I'm just risking being able to watch my boys grow to men and the birth of grandchildren, that's all."

I was thinking way too much. I was getting a little edgy, but what's a guy to do. "Honey," I said to Jen, "Pass the valium and take me to Windsor. Let's get lasering."

And so we did. Next week I'll show you pictures and tell you how it went. Hint: I didn't go blind.

Anniversaries important to some, ignored by me

As Hazel and I neared our 50th wedding anniversary, a pretty good milestone, we repeatedly told our offspring we wanted no recognition. We even left town.

The anti-significant-occasion rejection has been so implanted I didn't realize until this week that I've been in the newspaper business more than 50 years.

It came to me while reading the Gringo Gazette, "Baja's English Language Newspaper." It bills itself also as the Priceless Gringo Gazette. While it's freely distributed on the Baja peninsula, it will cost you $46 for a year (26 issues) by mail. And, they do not accept Canadian money.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

I thank Tom and Irene Schaible for bringing me the volume 7 #11 issue from their week of funning and sunning in the peninsula south of California.

It's a fun paper to read, sprinkled with non-family newspaper language, interesting headlines and stories that are broken up with completely unrelated comments like:

"What's the Cuban national anthem? Row, Row, Row Your Boat." And: "Where does an Irish family go on vacation? A different bar!" And, "What do you call it when an Italian has one arm shorter than the other? A speech impediment."

There's at least one of these observances breaking up news stories. They are not all ethnic.

Headlines are catchy to we gringos, too. Like, "Soldiers repair Gringo's car at checkpoint." Here's a warning headline: "Spring Break is Coming! Spring break is Coming! Hide you Daughters, Stay off the Streets."

Besides the stories being interrupted by comments, they are also run around and jumped over advertising of various sizes throughout the paper.

Interesting to me is that the Gringo Gazette has a Long Beach, CA box number for an address, that it's published in Los Angeles and has offices in Cabo Maritime Center, Baja.

I have no idea why reading the Gringo Gazette made me think of newspaper anniversary date of January, 1951.

Recent Detroit Free Press headlines: "Ravaged roads loom as key to campaigns," and "Decaying Mich. schools need $9.9 billion in fixes."

Michigan's roads were so ravaged in 1997 we approved a 4-cent per gallon tax increase on gasoline. Some wondered then if our leaders let the roads decay until the public got so upset they would vote for anything to get smoother rides.

Of course, the media helped by frequently pointing out potholes with contests and repair bills.

Now the "decaying Michigan schools" are getting leader attention, and our cynicism makes us wonder again if the schools have been allowed to decay to get we voters behind some kind of tax increase.

Several cities in Michigan are decaying to the point of state take-over because leaders had vote-getting priorities that came way before maintenance.

We home and business owners have to maintain our surroundings, sometimes putting a new roof ahead of a new car this year.

Seems like schools, cities and our state could find a maintenance way instead of a new tax and catch up way.

If we owned the Gringo Gazette, perhaps some of their more colorful language would make my point more understandable to our leaders.

Look back

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

■Recent decisions by the Clarkston board of education hinge on the results of the June 8 election. Only if voters approve the renewal of 3.79 mills and approve 4.25 additional mills will new textbooks be ordered. And although the taxes would not pay for the proposed new high school, the board will not proceed with plans to ask for voter approval to build the high school unless voters OK the June 8 millages.

■Developer Ben Benson passed the first step for a 121-acre subdivision on Sashabaw Road when the Independence Township Board approved a zoning change. On May 19, voting 5-1 against a planning commission recommendation, the board approved rezoning that will allow 1.5-acre lots. The previous zoning required a minimum of three acres.

■On May 19, the Independence Township Board unanimously approved computer purchases totaling approximately $26,000 for three departments. An IBM personal computer and terminal at $5,000 per set were approved for the clerk's and for the treasurer's office. For $4,000, the department of public works is to receive one terminal and the equipment to connect it via phone lines to the township's main frame.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

■Variances have been granted which will allow construction of a seven or eight store shopping center at the corner of M-15 and Cranberry Lake Road. The Zoning Board of Appeals, upon request of abutting residential property owners, substituted an evergreen greenbelt for the masonry dividing wall required under the zoning ordinance.

■Hiring under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) could come to an abrupt halt in Independence Township next fall under revised policies of the federally funded program. The major changes in the CETA policy are that a person has to be unemployed for a 15-week period instead of the present 30-day stipulation and consideration of the total family income which is not part of present guidelines.

■Clarkston Area Rotarians and Band Boosters still have tickets at $2 per person and $6 per carload for the 5th Michigan Regiment Band concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 28 at Pine Knob Music Theater. The international touring unit will be dressed in Civil War infantry, artillery and naval uniforms.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

■On May 19, the members of the Clarkston Rotary Club were hosts to their wives of the regular weekly dinner meeting. The dinner was prepared and served by a committee of the Rotarians. The members were more than pleased to welcome back the president Albert Lee, who has been ill. Ed Rummins presided at the program and introduced district governor Lloyd C. Megee.

■Poppies in profusion will brighten the streets of Clarkston May 22-23 when the local Legion Post and Auxiliary will offer them to be worn in honor of the war dead. Made of green and red crepe paper with paper-covered wire for stems, the poppies are lifelike duplicates of the wild poppies of France and Flanders which provided the only floral decoration for World War battle graves in those countries.

■The following items were on special at Terry's Market in Clarkston: Koegels Skinless Viennas, 49 cents/lb.; Frozen Birdseye French fries, two packages for 41 cents; Florida oranges, two dozen, 49 cents; butter, 72 cents/lb.; tomato, hot house, 37 cents; bologna, ring or large, 49 cents/lb.; green peppers, three for 25 cents.

Local woman needs your help for charity walk

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three days and 60 miles isn't stopping Rebekah Friesen from doing her part in finding a cure for breast cancer.

The Western Michigan University student and Clarkston resident is involved with the Pollatta TeamWorks in the fight against breast cancer, and is participating in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day Walk from Ann Arbor to Detroit, May 31 through June 2.

"I'll be walking with 3,000 people just like me," she said. "It's going to be long days, but will be worth it."

Everyone in our community has been touched by breast cancer in one way or another, Friesen said. "We will all know someone in our lifetime that has been effected by breast cancer. This is our chance to help, to really make a difference, and that's exactly why I'm doing it."

Friesen--who has also participated in a walk for Multiple Sclerosis--needs community support, though, before she can make a difference.

"My fundraising minimum is $1,900. If I don't raise that amount I simply can't do the walk," she said. "This goal is possible, but I need your help."

The final donation deadline is fast approaching on May 28, and Friesen has only been able to raise a few hundred dollars so far.

"I want to represent the Clarkston community on this walk. Your donations will carry me to the event, and I will carry you with me those three days. Everyone in the Clarkston community supports each other, whether it is family, friends, neighbors or businesses. We take care of each other. Your support will get me there, and keep me going on my journey."

Any amount donated is tax free. And those with a donation amount more than $250, will receive a letter from the Pollatta TeamWorks as a receipt.

For a donation form or more information, call Friesen at (248) 705-9374; Pallotta TeamWorks toll free at (800) 825-1000; or make a donation online at www.BeThePeople.com.

"Thank you in advance for your faith and support in me and the cause," Friesen said.

Gymnastics academy to have programs for deaf

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

The Stars and Stripes Gymnastics Academy is set to teach gymnastics to all - including the hard of hearing.

The academy, which will be located on the corner of Andersonville Road and White Lake Road, is being started by Cassie Nelson and Becky Miles.

The two have been coaching gymnastics together at another gym for some time. Nelson has been coaching for five years, while Miles has coached for 10 years.

"One day we just got to talking and decided we wanted to do this," Nelson said.

Miles is fluent in sign language after receiving her degree in sign language from Madonna University. Nelson is finishing up a business degree at Oakland University.

"This is just something we always wanted to do," Miles said. "When I graduated with the degree in sign language the focus was child development. I wanted extracurricular programs for deaf children as well as special needs children because it is just not offered around here. I wanted something kind of special."

The construction commenced last week and the goal is to open the academy in September of this year. The duo is already signing up members and have had a great response with 50 kids signing up including five deaf individuals.

The academy is for children ages 2 to 18. There will also be a competitive team at the academy.

"We will host the Special Olympics of Waterford. They will also be practicing at our gym," Nelson said.

The two are looking forward to the opening.

"This has always been my dream. This is what I wanted to do my whole life. We are excited. We both love gymnastics," Nelson said.

Miles agreed.

"This is what we know and this is what we enjoy doing. You want a job where you can come to work and be excited to be there. We want to start kind of small and eventually get bigger. This is a great location and everyone has been awesome," Miles said.

The two have a lot of work to do before a September opening.

"We will be busy," Nelson said. "We are very appreciative of our family support. They have helped us out a lot. They have supported us every step of the way."

Local graduate has music success

James Territo's composition, "Post Covers" was premiered in concert by the University of Wisconsin Wind Ensemble in Stevens Point, Wisc. on April 24.

The piece, which was under the baton of University of Michigan graduate conductor Scott Teeple, was commissioned by the University of Wisconsin early last year. It is a suite in six movements, reflecting the Norman Rockwell paintings used on Saturday Evening Post covers.

The six movements are title Cinderella, No Swimming, Lost Battalion, The Farmer and the Birds, Presidents and The Barbershop Quartet. They reflect the moods of simplicity, mischief, patriotism, tenderness, grandeur and humor in Rockwell's work.

Territo is a 1997 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 2001 graduate of University of Michigan School of Music presently teaching and at Detroit County Day High School.

Interntional Retake

Former resident Biondi now producing TV show in Florida

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Wherever he's been, Homer Biondi has maintained his love for the theater and the performing arts.

That was the case when he was a Clarkston resident and a member of the Clarkston Village Players, and that has continued since Biondi moved to Florida in 1988.

Today, Biondi, who lives in Wildwood, Fla., is producing a television program sponsored by Lake-Sumter Community College and broadcast through Comcast of Lake County's Channel 13, a community access station.

The hour-long studio show touches on a wide range of subjects, including theater, sports, community events, Social Security and health issues.

While he may live in Florida, Biondi still has roots in Clarkston. All four of his children graduated from Clarkston High School and have moved on to various corners of the country. Daughter Michelle lives in Colorado; daughter Laura lives in North Carolina; daughter Marilyn lives in Indiana; and son Paul lives in Auburn Hills, where he works as vice president of marketing for Star Theaters.

Speaking of the theater, Biondi recalled when the Clarkston Village Players first opened in 1961 at the Depot Theater, with several teachers among the founding members of the group, including Pat Thomas, Jim Tyrell, Pete Rose and Janet Rose.

"They started at a train station in 1961," he said. "When I was active with the group, there was no running water. We had an outhouse with no door. It was a converted train station. It was very interesting to perform there."

Biondi said his two favorite roles with the Village Players were in the Odd Couple, where he played Oscar, and A Thousand Clowns, where he played the role of Murray Burns.

He said his favorite type of performances to play in were melodramas, because of the audience participation and characters he portrayed. "I did villains most of the time," he said.

After he moved to Florida, Biondi once again took up the theater, this time in Leesburg, located in north central Florida between Orlando and Ocala. In fact, he would up performing in the Odd Couple once again, although it didn't start out that way.

"I started out directing it, and I lost my lead," Biondi said. "I took over that role."

From there, he began taking courses at Lake Sumter Community College. While at the college, he learned of a one-hour studio show that was in the works, and Biondi wound up volunteering for the show. He was asked to produce the show eight months ago and oversee all aspects of its development.

"That's what I'm doing now," Biondi said. "We're highlighting youth theater in Lake County. I love doing it."

Resident vies for School Board seat

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After years of interest and volunteer work in the Clarkston Community School district, John Koval is looking to take another step.

The Clarkston resident of 18 years is running for School Board, up against current member Sheila Hughes, for the secretary position on the June 10 ballot.

A Bloomfield Township front line firefighter and emergency medical technician for 26 years, Koval has been very active in the schools, especially through his two daughters.

"Over the years, I have been involved in almost every school activity which my daughters participated in," he said, explaining he was also president of Band Boosters, involved with parent support groups and has coached Destination ImagiNation teams for several years.

In fact, Koval and his wife Karen coached their daughter Leah's Clarkston Middle School eighth grade Destination ImagiNation team to global competition this year. (The couple's other daughter, Julie, 22, is a student at the James Madison College of Michigan State University.)

Koval said he's always felt it important to be involved with school activities with his children.

Throughout his participation in the schools, he said, he's garnered a real admiration for the "phenomenal students" and "many excellent teachers" Clarkston has to call their own.

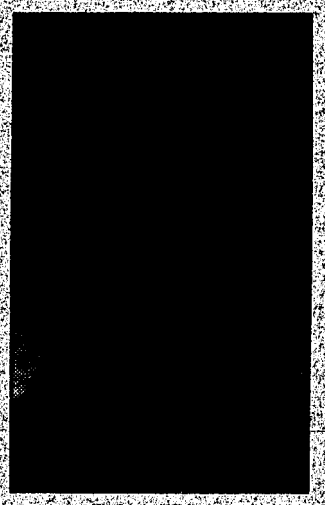
"I have come to appreciate the many fine talented students and very dedicated teachers which we have here in Clarkston," Koval, 47, said.

Not only that, but his participation in school activities inevitably led him to an interest in how the school system operates. Koval started attending School Board meetings five years ago, and found a desire to be part of the decision making process.

"I consider the Clarkston Schools to be the most important entity in our community," Koval said. "I know that the School Board has very difficult decisions to make in the administration of our schools and I would like to be a part of that process."

Koval, who describes himself as task-oriented and focused, knows he has many things to learn to get him up to speed if he were to become a member of the board, but says, "I am willing to contribute the time and energy that it takes to be a responsible School Board member as well as responsible parent."

He also said he knows there are many problems the district is facing, such as overcrowding and restricted budget, that require hard thinking to resolve and says, he can contribute to that.



John Koval

Regarding funding concerns in the district, Koval said the situation is unlikely to change unless the state changes their funding policy. "Pressure needs to be put on the state."

The space issue, he said, is a very complex problem and he would need to study further to understand which direction would be best for the district to go.

Koval--who's community involvement has included restoration of the Independence Township Clock, woodworking at Clarkston United Methodist and more--thinks the school system is best at providing an all around academic education and hopes to be a part of its continuance.

"I would work to enhance the educational opportunities which are available," Koval said. "I want what's truly best for the kids."

Clarkston School Board purchases property

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Community Schools are adding to their property ownership, but at the same time are attempting to release land elsewhere.

At the May 13 Board of Education meeting, school officials authorized the purchase of 6800 Hubbard Rd., a lot just under six-acres, at the Ortonville Road intersection.

An appraisal was conducted in the fall of 2001, and after consideration, the administrative staff believed ownership of the property would be beneficial to the school district.

Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said the owners, the Baylis family, made it clear they wanted the property to fall in to public school hands. Roberts commented at the meeting the land was a good addition to the district.

The property, which has a home and two barn structures on it, will be used immediately for storage, but also has the potential to provide space for expansion of the adjacent Independence Elementary, if necessary.

Once the purchase agreement is finalized, payments will be deferred over three years with interest. Public Relations Director Anita Banach could not give an exact amount, she said, until the purchase finalization.

Also last Monday night, the board authorized the disposal of excess property, 18.9 acres on the north side of Holcomb adjacent to Springfield Plains Elementary.

With adequate land surrounding the elementary and another school building, the property has become expendable to the district.

The final monetary proposal will return to the board for approval, and they hope to have a selection of a buyer in August.

Roberts clarified the school wasn't getting locked in to a deal. "Essentially, it means were just making the land available. It doesn't mean we need to sell it. If we are going to sell it, we need to do well on the selling price. If not, it is no value to the district."

General fund proceeds from the sale of the Springfield Plains property along with the Oakland Schools revenue payment for the purchase of previously-owned district property known as the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus will be the funding source of the property purchase on Hubbard.

Also at the meeting:

■Several received the Employee Recognition Award for the fourth quarter including Clarkston High School teachers Jodi Yeloushan, Shawn Ryan, Danielle Fuller and Linda Denstaedt; Springfield Plains Elementary teachers Bill Gunther and DeAndra Smith; Bailey Lake Elementary speech pathologist Jane Loveless and teacher Laurie Eller; Pine Knob Elementary teacher Lisa Harris; Production Learning Center teachers Jenny Daniels and Jeff Peariso; Sashabaw Middle School teacher John Yorke; Clarkston Elementary media specialist Sandra Gallivan, secretary Lynn Hess and custodian Jere Brewer; Andersonville Elementary teacher Corena Bell; and Administration Building accounting supervisor Evelyn Bihl. A surprise award went to K-8 assistant superintendent Dave Reschke.

■Clarkston High School and Renaissance Program handbooks were approved for the 2002-03 school year. Board policy requires the approval of the student handbooks each year prior to family distribution.

■Changes in administrative, instructional and non-instructional staff including candidates offered employment, resignations and terminations were approved.

■The Board of Education approved the resolution to participate in the Michigan Career Preparation System providing students the opportunity to increase personal success by having an educational/career focus as well as guide for constructing educational/career choices at the high school and post secondary level.

■The Clarkston Athletic Boosters were approved the donation of materials and labor for the construction of an athletic storage building at the high school. The approximate value of the donation is $18,000 for initial costs.

Przybylski's attitude carries on in benefit golf outing

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

While she was alive, Renee Przybylski enjoyed working with kids, especially during the summer.

Now, a golf tournament organized in her memory hopes to benefit child day camps. The Renee Lynn Przybylski Memorial Golf Outing, a four-person scramble, will be held at Pine Knob Golf Course Friday, June 14.

Przybylski, a former Independence Township resident, died of leukemia Dec. 1 at the age of 23 after a 22-month struggle with the disease.

"That was her passion," said her father Ralph Przybylski, who works for the Independence Township Fire Department. "From her senior year in Clarkston High School to her senior year in college (Renee graduated from Michigan State University with a degree in advertising), she worked at Independence Township Parks & Recreation as a camp counselor and director."

Renee was first diagnosed with leukemia in the last semester of her senior year at Michigan State University. She was working for SMZ Advertising in Troy when she relapsed. Renee also worked for local dentist Dr. Michael Prudhomme.

Ralph said Renee's upbeat attitude was her trademark, and that attitude carries on today through the people she touched.

"Her attitude was so positive," he said. "Up until the time she passed away, she always had a positive attitude. That's carried on through other people in the community. What she did was inspiring."

Ralph and wife Michelle, a secretary at Sashabaw Middle School, have two other children, Erin, 20, who is enrolled in cosmetology school, and Mallory, 16, a student at Clarkston High School.

The cost for the golf outing is $125 per player and includes 18 holes with cart, continental breakfast and buffet dinner. There will also be a three-hour open bar after golf. Money must be in by Friday, May 31.

There will be cash prizes for the first place team, closest to the pin and longest drive, as well as a 50/50 raffle and a multiple prize raffle.

For more information, contact Ralph Przybylski at (248) 625-1386 or E-mail at sanibeli@hotmail.com.

Board member wants to keep seat

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

She's already got 12 years under her belt as a Clarkston Community School Board member, and she's ready to jump into yet another four-year term.

Sheila Hughes, current board secretary, will be on the June 10 ballot, up against 18-year Clarkston resident John Koval.

"I have served this board for 12 years and taken all the classes to be a certified board member," Hughes said, who is a third level certified board member, ranking her second highest among her board colleagues. "I would like to use this knowledge to continue to help lead our school district to become better."

Hughes is seeking re-election mainly because, she said, "We (the board) have set a goal to make Clarkston the best district in Oakland County and I want to see that goal through. We have growth problems to resolve and budget constraints to deal with. These are issues that we (the board) have been working on for four to six years and to change horses in the middle of the stream could set the district back and we can't slow the pace down that we have set for the district."

Hughes has lived in Clarkston all her life, since 1953, with the exception of five years when she first married husband James, 30 years ago. (The couple has two sons: Scott, 24 and Jason, 21).

Employed in the credit union business for more than 30 years, Hughes currently works at the Clarkston Brandon Community Credit Union in the accounting and human resources department.

In Hughes' life, the schools have always had an importance. Prior to serving on the board, she was a parent volunteer at Pine Knob Elementary, Sashabaw Middle School and Clarkston High School.

"I have served as PTA/PTO president and treasurer at each of those buildings. I served on the blue ribbon committee, multi-purpose campaign and all of the bond campaigns for the projects that have taken place during the past 15 years."

She also served on the middle school planning transition team and the planning of the ninth grade move to the high school as well as been a member of the Clarkston Athletic Boosters, and Band Boosters. As part of the School Board, Hughes serves on the policy committee with Vice President Janet Thomas and assisted this year on the communications committee, structuring a recent community survey.

Within the community, Hughes has held membership with the Clarkston Area Optimist Club and the Clarkston Area Women's Club, but has realized full-time work and being a board member takes up much time to continue with these clubs.

A contributor to the Clarkston Foundation, Hughes was in the past a School Board representative to the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, and at present is a representative for her employer on the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

On occasion, Hughes said, she can be found in various Clarkston schools educating herself on what's happening in each building, or visiting there simply to say 'hello' to staff members--something she feels is very important.

Concerning pertinent issues the school is currently confronting, Hughes said, "We (the board) all bring our own ideas on the budget and growth problems that we are facing. We do not stand alone, we share our ideas, and since I have been part of the team, I want to continue. My contributions to this board would be to extend the knowledge I have of this community (for more than 44 years) and the commitment to serving our students for another four years."

Think Twice Before Borrowing from Your 401(k)

The Enron story has made people aware of the importance of protecting their 401(k) plans. And yet, not all hazards to your 401(k) come from irresponsible management - you can endanger your plan's well-being all on your own-how? By borrowing from it.

At first glance, you might think that a 401(k) loan seems like a pretty good deal. After all, some plans may allow you to borrow up to 50% of your account balance for any purpose, provided you pay it back within five years. In fact, you could have up to 30 years to repay the loan if you use it to purchase a home. Plus, your loan's interest rate will likely be competitive. And, because you'll be paying yourself back through automatic payroll deductions, you won't have to worry about missing a payment, as long as your employment situation doesn't change.

Despite these apparent benefits, however, you won't want to rush into taking out a 401(k) loan, because you have some substantial drawbacks to consider. First of all, if you leave your job voluntarily or involuntarily - you no longer have five years in which to repay your loan. Instead, you'll have to pay it back right away, typically within 90 days. If you've just been laid off, that repayment will represent yet another financial burden for you.

And that's not the worst of it. If you don't repay the loan right away, it is considered a withdrawal, which means it is taxable income. Not only will you have to pay taxes on the loan balance, but you'll also owe a 10 percent early withdrawal penalty if you're under 59-½.

Even if you stay at your job and make regular repayments on your loan, you may not be making the wisest use of your money. Your 401 (k) contributions were made with pre-tax dollars, which lowered your annual taxable income, but your loan payments are made with after-tax dollars, so you don't get any tax advantages. Plus, your 401(k) loan carries significant opportunity costs. Although you're repaying the loan at a reasonable interest rate, your money could possibly be earning a higher rate if invested elsewhere. Many loan programs also carry additional costs, such as annual fees or disbursement fees. You'll need to evaluate these expenses when you're considering the loan's real cost.

Finally, the more money you borrow from your 401(k), the less your total amount will grow, because you'll lose some of the value of compounding. So, after you retire and start making withdrawals from your 401(k), you'll have less money to draw from.

You may find it frustrating that a 401(k) loan carries so many problems. Yet, there is one overriding reason for all these obstacles: Your 401(k) is designed to help you build resources for retirement. That's why this type of plan was created, and that's why it's so popular today. So, use your 401(k) wisely. And, if you do feel compelled to take a loan from your plan, at least be aware of the true costs involved.

On the Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour...

This 1860s farm house: quite a 'prize'

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's almost like stepping back in time at 6650 Pine Knob.

The rustic decor and original features of the home give it a unique feel, but with personality that coincides nicely with today's modern world.

And homeowners Shirley and Gar Wilson, who are both lifetime residents of Clarkston, have made this house a home.

"If I won the Big Game, I wouldn't move," Shirley said. "This house is a prize. I walk in the door and I know that I am home."

Built in the 1860s, the residence was previously owned by the Beardsley family, one of Clarkston's first settlers. "We bought it from the original owner's granddaughter," Shirley, owner of The Parsonage, a floral and design shop in downtown Clarkston, said.

As you walk through a side doorwall, you enter the kitchen and dining area Shirley has set up like that of a tavern. "I like tables and chairs," she admitted.

A 12-foot serving table in the dining area, and bench that remains on the porch, Shirley got for $35 at a grange hall in Amish country, Liberty, Ohio. Two painted portraits, of a friend's ancestors, are visual accents of this room.

A picture in the kitchen shows the house when it was first built, before the addition was put on in 1929. "It was tiny."

The kitchen contains not one kitchen cabinet. To compensate, Shirley has placed items on shelves or in antique cupboards that fit in with the old-fashioned theme.

The first floor also features a living area, bedroom, bath and "den," a former bedroom which showcases Shirley's collection of baskets. In the larger bedroom, she noted the headboard of the bed is actually an old door. Her creative touches, like this or like a quilt-turned-shower curtain in the bathroom, abound all throughout the house.

A short hallway on the lower level, Shirley explained, used to have doors on its ends and was an area designated for storing all the dirty chamber pots way back when.

Shirley said she and her husband, retired Independence Township Fire Chief, put a lot of time into the home. "When we bought it in 1984, there was no electricity or water upstairs. So we had to do all that."

Two upstairs walls are original and made of horse hair plaster. "If a hole was made in the wall," she said, "you'd find hair."

Different-colored and various-sized floor boards are all original as well. The darkest board is black walnut made from a tree that used to live on the property.

Original beams show in Shirley's mother's bedroom. A former attic was turned into a bathroom and another bedroom has been made into a living area, for an apartment-like area for her 93-year-old mother upstairs.

A spare bedroom on the upper level is Shirley's favorite room. "It's so simple; so primitive. It reminds me of Greenfield Village." She'd like the whole house to be this way, but realizes it isn't liveable in these days.

Hanging on pegs in the room are her great-grandmother's old dress, bonnet and sewing basket. "I like to keep things like this of the family as much as I can." A rug in the room was left when they bought the house, and just speaks age, though Shirley isn't sure how old it actually is.

The two acres the home sits on also has two garages, a smoke house, and a three-story barn, with all hand-hewn beams, built in 1898. The original barn burned down.

The Wilsons tried not to get rid of too much, when they fixed up the home after purchase, to keep in tune with its early beginnings.

Original stone steps remain in the backyard behind a deck Shirley said is great for sitting in the summer. Almost all of the flowers and plants around are also original. Shirley dug up scattered bulbs of Lily of the Valley, Tulips and more when they first moved in and organized beautiful gardens.

The Wilson's are happy to be a part of this year's home tour, since SCAMP has a special place in the their heart. Shirley and Gar's son, Ryan, who passed away at 23, was always part of the summer camp for special needs children and young adults.

"It's always been a part of my life," Shirley said. "It's such a good cause." The Parsonage each year provides flowers for the home tour. And this year, Shirley is not only featuring her home, but had a hand in organizing the whole tour.

"I like to give back to the people in our hometown community. This is the best way to do it."

■The retired General Motors 35-year employee was aboard the U.S.S. Pondera in the middle of the Pacific when a radio message from the White House came through announcing the cease of war.

■"I've been past the zero meridian to the east and the 180 meridian to the west. Back in the day that was something. Nowadays, I have a grandson who went to high school in Australia. When I got out of high school, I hadn't even been out of Oakland County," said Sawyer, who has two children, four grandchildren and whose wife passed away in 1991 from complications with diabetes.

■Of his time in World War II, Sawyer doesn't like to be made out a hero. "I went where I was sent and I did what I was bid."

■What Sawyer learned the most, though, from his time in the war is "to look at things black and white to determine if they are good, bad or indifferent."

"The military doesn't want you to think, they want you to do what you are told. I disagree with that, but I've always been independent. I'm that kind of individual. You have to be true to yourself. That's a big thing throughout life."

■Overall, Sawyer said, "If I didn't wake up tomorrow, I've had a wonderful life. I've done so many things that I'm thankful for. There's certainly been more positives that negatives."

He adds, "Life is what you make it, but sometimes somebody helps you out with it!"

Clarkston man sentenced

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Clarkston man has relocated to the county jail.

Michael Bradley Clark was sentenced 15 to 30 years on 13 counts of first degree and one count of second degree criminal sexual conduct.

The man appeared before Judge Fred Mester of the Oakland County Circuit Court on May 15.

The 42-year-old had been employed as a youth specialist at the then-Camp Oakland, now called Crossroads for Youth in Oxford, a center for troubled youths.

Two boys, who visited Camp Oakland during 1997 and 1998, stepped forward with charges, stating Clark sexually assaulted them when taken to hotels in Clarkston, Royal Oak and Lapeer.

Michigan State Police Trooper Brian Budde, who investigated the case, said Clark was only charged with violations on the two boys, but there are at least six victims he knows of.

"He may have more charges coming. There are still victims out there."

Tuesday, May 14, a woman on Kropf filed a disorderly person report after a repairman who was at the house made unwanted sexual comments.

Monday, May 13, a complaintant on Rattalee Lake stated her daughter received threats/harassment over the computer via instant messenger.

Local photographer captures portrait award in New Mexico

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Ron Smith, Davisburg photographer, brought an award back from the Shutterbug Magazine Photography Workshop in Taos, New Mexico.

"I wasn't expecting it at all and it was a very humbling experience," Smith said. "To be the winner was really something."

Smith captured the award in the best portrait category despite specializing in sports, event and landscape photography. The competition was judged by 50 other photographers.

The portrait which won the award for Smith was a photo of a priest framed using the entry arch of the eighteenth century Church of San Jose.

Smith had gone to the church for a different picture but they were having a funeral so he went on to the next site. On the way back he saw the priest and asked if he could take some portraits of him.

This was the first workshop of this type that Smith has attended. He runs Ron Smith Photography located in Davisburg.

"I have been shooting for about 10 years. I really enjoy shooting more action shots. I have a small business here in Davisburg," Smith said.

One of the items Smith specializes in and enjoys doing is photography of amateur sports.

"I will shoot the participants and the parents can come in and buy them or buy them from my website. I have passwords so there is a level of protection and the parents are the only ones with access to the pictures," Smith said.

Smith has goals of hitting it big and ultimately being published in a national magazine.

"An editor advised me to shoot everything you can see and try to get published so that is what I am doing," Smith said.

To contact Smith for pictures interested parties can call (248) 328-1190 or visit his website at www.ronsmithphotography.com.

DTE Theatre

cert Venue for the second consecutive year in Pollstar magazine.

The theatre is once again offering a diverse group of music including country (Brooks and Dunn on June 1), R&B (Usher on May 25), classic rock (The Allman Brothers Band on June 30), blues (B.B. King on Aug. 29), rock (Lenny Kravitz on July 23) and adult contemporary (Righteous Brothers on Sept. 14.)

"We have something for everyone. We have a pretty good mix," Corey said. "Our goal as a venue is we don't want people to think of an artist first and then look at our schedule. Instead we want them to say 'It is Saturday night and I have nothing to do, who's playing at DTE?' We want to be a destination rather than just a concert facility."

While the venue has made major changes in the last few years, the changes for this season are more subtle. They have enhanced the hill-top deck with benches placed along sections of the front rail and added a permanent grill set-up to the deck.

"The deck was pretty popular last year so we wanted to offer more there," Corey said.

There has also been attempts made to make sure most of the sound stays in the theatre and doesn't disrupt neighbors. This was done by the hanging of absorptive materials on the sides of the pavilion.

"It is an outdoor theatre so it is impossible to keep all the sound in here but we try to keep as much as possible," Corey said.

The venue will continue to add their parking fee to the tickets rather than charging at the venue. This is to prevent massive backups on Sashabaw Road.

Corey urges individuals to get to the venue early as security will be stepped up this season.

DTE Energy Music Theatre is an intricate part of the Clarkston business community. Among the programs the theatre has sponsored include the Independence Day Fireworks and Music Stage entertainment at the Taste of Clarkston Festival and the annual Golf Classic. The venue also sponsored the Clarkston High School All Night Graduation Party. It has also underwritten the printing of Clarkston Area postcards and new Chamber of Commerce letterhead and it purchased a new sign face for the chamber's building.

"We are a fabric of life in this area," Corey said.

DTE Energy Music Theatre has a capacity of 15,274. For tickets you can call (248) 645-6666 or visit Palacenet.com. You can also go to The Palace or DTE Music Theatre box offices and all ticketmaster centers.

Garage sales abundant as residents bargain hunt

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Garage sale buyers and hosts come in all different forms, from the grizzled veterans to the untested rookies.

Nonetheless, they were all out in full force last week as local residents peddled their wares and searched for bargains. The items on hand ranged from baseball cards to baby items.

One of the veterans of the garage sale scene was Clarkston resident Robert Guyer, who said this was about the hundreth garage sale he's hosted. He said the number of people visiting him Thursday, May 16 was pretty steady.

"We've had more traffic today than I've seen in the last four or five years," he said.

Guyer, who was selling baseball cards and other sports memorabilia among the items, even had a "pre-garage sale" party of sorts, much like a Super Bowl part. He said eight or nine guys that he worked with came over to join the fun. "They're all sports card enthusiasts, so that helps," he said.

He said there are about 10-15 people each year that buy sports-related memorabilia at his garage sales.

While Guyer has been through the ropes before, one of his neighbors was making their debut in the world of garage sales.

Joyce Doetsch of Clarkston, along with husband Robert and grandson Darrian, hosted their first garage sale last week.

"The whole subdivision has one every year," she said. "Half of it is baby stuff. Things are going pretty fast. We've sold quite a bit of stuff."

One of the shoppers at the garage sale was Holly resident Craig Troutman, a veteran garage sale shopper. He said he shops wherever he can -- "I go wherever I see a sing," he said.

Among the unique items Troutman has bought during his travels has been a small pinball machine and an ice cream maker.

Another relative newcomer to hosting a garage sale is Jack Mirovsky of Clarkston, who brought out several household items and furniture for his guests to take a look at.

"This is only my second one," he said. "I've been to quite a few. I'm a toolhound, and I've bought expensive glasses and things like that."

He described the turnout for his sale as "average", and, in fact, noted the traffic flow around his neighborhood seemed to move right along on May 16-17, when he hosted his sale.

Unlike the other Clarkston residents interviewed, Jennifer Ross is hosting a garage sale for a different reason -- she and her family are moving to Traverse City. She said the residents at her subdivision, Clarkston Pines, have a garage sale once a year, and the move provided a logical reason to schedule it at this time.

"We had to organize it because we're moving," she said.

Among the items on display at Ross' home were children's items and furniture. She said this was the first one she's held in quite some time. "I used to have them all the time, but this is the first one I've had in eight years," she said.

Let's make a deal -- Holly resident Craig Troutman (right) purchases an item at a Clarkston garage sale from Josephine Kubert of Macomb Township, sister of Clarkston resident Joyce Doetsch, one of the hosts of the sale. Photos by Jeff Patrus.

All in the family -- It's never too early to get in on the fine art of garage sales. Here, Robert and Joyce Doetsch of Clarkston, along with grandson Darrian, 13 months, welcome shoppers to their sale.

Vaughn Chiropractic adds massage therapist

Vaughn Chiropractic is happy to announce the addition of massage therapist Vickie Evans to the practice.

"I have wanted to add something like this for a few years but this is the first time the opportunity presented itself," Dr. Jacqueline Vaughn said.

Evans has been practicing massage therapy since 1996. Among the programs Evans performs are Swedish massage, aromatherapy, stretching and trigger points.

Evans joined the practice in May and has enjoyed her short time at Vaughn Chiropractic.

They both agree the job is very fulfilling and rewarding. They love seeing people get better.

Evans will also be teaching classes at Vaughn Chiropractic including Aromatherapy, Reiki, Relaxation, how to make lotions, salts, etc., mini classes on Feng Shui, what it is, and how it can work for you and layouts. There will be other classes offered, so call to get a schedule. She is also a Feng Shui professional.

Of course, Vaughn Chiropractic will continue to be the home of Dr. Vaughn who has 20 years experience as a chiropractor. Coming from a family of chiropractors, Dr. Vaughn has been a fixture in this community for some time.

"I really like to be involved and know the community," Dr. Vaughn said. "It helps me better serve my clients to be a part of the community."

Dr. Vaughn performs spinal manipulation, rehab, heal lifts, trigger pointramong other items.

Evans wants to help individuals as much as she can, but realizes she can not do it all.

"I am here in order to help people and I can be a real asset. However, in order to really heal they need to help themselves and take what they have learned here and apply it to their everyday lives," Evans said.

Vaughn Chiropractic is open Monday through Wednesday from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Friday 7 a.m. to noon. Evans, the massage therapist, will be in the building Tuesday and Thursday until 7 p.m. Call ahead for an appointment.

Massage therapist Lisa Selow will be joining the staff for Wednesdays.

(Vaughn Chiropractic is located at 4630 W. Walton Road. Call for an appointment at 674-4898.)

Softball team breaks 20-win barrier at invitational

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's softball team has achieved one of its preseason goals.

The Wolves have pushed their way past the 20-win mark and have won five of six heading into the latter part of the season.

Their latest win came Monday, May 20 when the Wolves defeated visiting Waterford Kettering in a doubleheader, winning the opener 10-2 and the nightcap 3-0.

The wins improved the Wolves' record to 22-8 overall and 11-4 in Oakland Activities Association Division I. Clarkston has a one-game lead in the conference with three games remaining.

Clarkston coach Al Land said the team has been playing well in all aspects of the game, which was a big factor in passing the 20-win plateau.

"We've been playing some pretty consistent softball," he said. "Our defense has been consistent. Our offense has been positive, and Kathi Wiegand has done a good job on the mound."

In the opener, Suzie Giroux drove in three runs, one of them on a two-run double, while Courtney Robinson drove in two runs. In the second game, Robinson, Jenna Kast and Caitlin McLean each drove in runs in the second inning to propel the Wolves to the win.

A constant for the Wolves in both games was the pitching of Wiegand, who notched both victories for Clarkston. "She did a real nice job keeping the hitters off balance," said Land. "We played some excellent defense behind her."

The team passed the 20-win barrier at the Madonna Tournament in Canton May 18-19, winning four of five games at the tourney.

Clarkston's baseball team is hitting its stride as the regular season comes to a close.

The Wovles won four of five games in the past week to improve their record to 16-12 overall and 6-6 in Oakland Activities Association Division I.

Their latest win came Monday, May 20 with a 9-1 win against visiting Rochester Adams. Matt Orris pitched the first four innings and allowed an unearned run while striking out four. Ben Munce came on to relieve Orris, pitching the final three innings and striking out seven.

At the plate, Orris went two-for-two with a triple and a single, while Ryan Weiss went one-for-three and drove in three runs. Aaron Powell got on base four times, doubling, walking twice and getting hit by a pitch once.

"We played pretty well," said Clarkston coach Phil Price. "Ryan Weiss did a great job behind the plate."

The Wolves continued to break out the heavy lumber against visiting Troy Athens Wednesday, May 15, defeating the Red Hawks 14-7.

Matt Orris pitched a complete game for the Wolves. "He pitched just well enough to win," said Price.

In addition, Orris went three-for-five at the plate with two doubles and two runs batted in.

Sam Palace nearly hit for the cycle for the Wolves, going four-for-five with a two-run homer, a triple and two singles. Other offensive performers were Derek Ranck, who went four-for-five, Aaron Powell, who hit a two-run homer, and Chad Zelinski, who hit a double.

The Wolves took care of business Tuesday, May 14, defeating host Waterford Kettering in a doubleheader. Clarkston took the first game 14-1 and the nightcap 8-0.

In the opener, Ben Munce earned the win on the mound. Derek Ranck went three-for-four and drove in two runs, and Aaron Powell went two-for-three with a double and a two-run homer. Chris Webb also had a two-run homer and Sam Palace went two-for-three with a double.

In the second game, Josh Herzog notched the win

Clarkston opened things up with a 7-5 win against North Farmington May 18, then suffered their only loss of the tourney, a 4-3 defeat at the hands of Southgate Anderson. The Wolves rebounded to defeat Carleton Airport 4-1 in the final game of Saturday's action.

On Sunday, May 19, the Wolves scored two victories, 5-1 against Marine City and 7-3 against Birmingham Marian.

Land said the tourney performance was a team effort, with each team member doing their part to contribute.

"Everybody did a little something to help," he said. "Basically, we went into the weekend hoping to work on things for the finish of the league season — bunting, slap bunting, base stealing. We worked on the little things that can help you win a ball game. It was a big plus for us."

After traveling to Troy Tuesday, May 21, the Wolves wrap up their regular season with a home game Wednesday, May 22 against Lake Orion.

Netters wrap up season with sixth place at regionals

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's time for the Clarkston tennis team to prepare for next year.

The squad wrapped up its 2002 campaign with a sixth place finish at the regional competition Friday, May 17 at Troy. The Wolves finished with seven points in the regionals. Birmingham Brother Rice won the event with 27 points.

However, there was a notable individual accomplishment earlier in the week. Senior Mike Rashid broke the Clarkston school record for career wins, notching his 68th career win Tuesday, May 14 with a 6-3, 6-4 win over Birmingham Seaholm's Scott Allen. Rashid finished his Clarkston career with 70 wins.

Clarkston coach Kevin Ortwine said the Wovles will definitely miss Rashid next year.

"You can't really replace the all-time wins record leader at our school," he said.

Ortwine said the Wolves' finish was not what he had hoped.

"I kind of expected us to finish a little higher," he said. "I was a little disappointed with where we finished. We didn't play bad. We lost a few matches that I'd like to have back."

Eight of the Wolves' 12 players were competing in their first regional meet May 17, and Ortwine said that was a contributing factor in their finish.

"Only four out of 12 players were returning from last year's lineup," he said. "You have to expect that when we were as inexperienced as we are."

Ortwine said it was too early to sum up this year's team, but added that whether the more inexperienced players will build on this year's experience will go a long way toward determining the significance of this season.

"I could tell you more after next year," he said. "I think with the progress we have made through the years, this is a slight step back."

Before the regional meet, the Wolves defeated visiting Birmingham Seaholm 6-2 Tuesday, May 14.

In singles action, the Wolves took three of four matchups. In addition to Rashid's win, Andrew Brown, at #1 singles, defeated Drew Palmer 6-0, 6-0; and Bharath Surapaneni, at #4 singles, defeated Andrew Littman 6-4, 6-2.

Clarkston also took three of four in doubles competition. Mike Claus and John Szilvagyi, at #1 doubles, defeated Andrew Walker and Mike Comeau 6-7, 6-2, 7-5; Andy Smith and Mark Catanese, at #3 doubles, defeated Dan Stocker and Matt Easton 6-2, 6-3; and Carlos Galaviz and Shawn Satarmadu, at #4 doubles, defeated Brandon Hagaman and Jeff McCormick 2-6, 6-1 and 6-3.

The Wolves will be losing three seniors to graduation in Rashid, Catanese and Galaviz. In addition, they will have seven players who will be seniors next year: Andrew Brown, Mike Claus, John Szilvagyi, Bharath Surapaneni, David Sommers, Andy Smith and Shawn Satarmadu.

Ortwine said with three players graduating, someone on this year's junior varsity team will need to make it to the next level to help with the transition.

"We have to fill three openings," he said. "Someone has to be ready to step in."

It's lucky seven for Clarkston boys track

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

While the Clarkston boys track team ran into some tough competition at their regional meet, seven of their team members did well enough to move on to the state meet.

The Wolves finished eighth out of 16 teams at the meet, held May 17 in Holly, finishing with a total of 24 points. Flint Central took the event with 104 points, while Grand Blanc took second with 73.5 points and Flint Carmen Ainsworth third with 68 points.

The 1600 meter relay team of Shane Bennett, Brian Oltman, Mike Wilder, Mark Kraus and Steve Chenet will be competing in the state meet June 1 in Rockford, finishing second in the regionals with a time of 3:31.8.

In addition, Oltman also qualified for the states in the 400 meter run by finishing second at regionals with a time of 51.6. Pole vaulters Travis Roche and Cory Henneman also qualified for states, finishing in a three-way tie for fifth with jumps of 12'6".

Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemko was pleased with the meet, given the competition his team faced.

"We did all right," he said. "This is a high-powered meet. This is one of the tougher regionals. The weather was extremely cold."

The Wolves hosted the Oakland Activities Association Division I meet Tuesday, May 21, then move on to the Oakland County meet Friday, May 24 at Lake Orion. The Clarkston freshmen will compete separately in the county meet Saturday, May 25 at Milford.

Athlete of the Week — Mark Kraus

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Mark Kraus turned to running hurdles by chance, and it's paid off for the Clarkston boys track team.

Kraus, a Clarkston High School senior, said he really wasn't sure what direction his track career would take when he first started out on the CHS track team.

"I didn't really know what I was doing," he said. "They stuck me in hurdles for a freshman meet, because we didn't have anyone. I did well in that and kept with it."

Since that time, Kraus has developed his skills to the point where he said the 110 meter hurdles are both his favorite event and the one he is best at. In addition to that event, he participates in the 300 meter hurdles, the 800 meter relay and the 1600 meter relay.

Kraus, along with Shane Bennett, Mike Wilder, Brian Oltman and Steve Chenet, qualified for the state track meet June 1 in Rockford by taking second place in the 1600 meter relay May 17 at the regional meet in Holly. The team finished with a time of 3:31.8.

Kraus originally tried out for track at Clarkston Middle School. "I started running it in eighth grade to get ready for high school football, and I ended up being better in track than football," he said.

He said Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemko helps him during practice by having him compete in drills against his teammates rather than doing the drills individually.

"He's given me a lot of different exercises," Kraus said. "He's helped me with my need for competition."

State qualifier — Clarkston's Mark Kraus will be heading to the state track meet Saturday, June 1 as part of the 4 x 400 relay team, which finished second at regional competition May 17 in Holly. Photo by Jeff Patrus.

After graduation, Kraus will attend Western Michigan University and double-major in aviation and aviation mechanics. He is the son of Mark and Wendy Kraus of Clarkston, and has two sisters (Nicole, a ninth grader at CHS, and Kimberly, an eighth grader at Clarkston Middle School) and one brother (Scott, a sixth grader at CMS).

Girls track succeeds at regionals

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was a good day for the Clarkston girls track team, both collectively and individually.

The Wolves finished second in the regional track meet Friday, May 17 at Holly, notching a total of 89 points. Rochester Adams took first place with 127 points.

"That was a very pleasant surprise," said Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson of the teams' performance.

Leading the way for the Wolves was Beth Randall, who won the 300 meter hurdles with a time of 48.2. Emily Cushing qualified in the same event by placing fourth with a time of 49.9.

In addition, Randall also qualified for the 100 meter hurdles, placing fifth with a time of 16.4.

The Wolves took second place in four different events at regionals. The 3200 meter relay team of Anne Oltman, Mo Kuhta, Gillian Nordquist and Liz Mengyan finished with a time of 9:40.2; Mengyan took second in both the 1600 meter run, with a time of 5:11.9, and the 800 meter run, with a time of 2:19.4; and Anne Oltman finished second in the 3200 meter run with a time of 11:34.90. In addition, Oltman placed sixth in the 1600 meter run with a time of 5:20.7.

Two other Clarkston runners will be joining Oltman in the state finals in the 3200 meter race. Carla DelVecchio finished third in regionals with a time of 11:38.8, and Gillian Nordquist took fourth with a time of 11:39.6.

Casey Bolten continued to excel in the pole vault for Clarkston, finishing third with a jump of 9', the 1600 meter relay team also took third, finishing with a time of 4:14.2.

Other state qualifiers for Clarkston were: Kim Wilson, who finished fourth in the high jump with a jump of 5'1", the 800 meter relay team, which finished fourth with a time of 1:50; Lindsey Hawley, who placed fifth in the discus with a throw of 106'2"; Mo Kuhta, who placed fifth in the 1600 meter run with a time of 5:17.9; and Kristen Bradish, who finished sixth in the discus with a throw of 101'7".

"The kids ran very well," said Richardson. "We had some of our best performances of the year."

The Wolves hosted the league meet Tuesday, May 21, and will compete in the county meet at Lake Orion Friday, May 24. The freshmen will be competing in a separate league meet Saturday, May 25. The state meet will be held Saturday, June 1 in Rockford.

for Clarkston on the mound, pitching a seven-inning shutout. Chad Zelinski and Matt Orris each went three-for-four, while Palace went two-for-four with a home run and two RBI and Brandon Rosengren added a double.

The Wolves take on visiting Waterford Mott Wednesday, May 22 in a doubleheader to close out the regular season, and then wait more than a week to compete in district competition, which will be held at Clarkston.

The Wolves will take on the winner of the Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central game, to be held May 29, in a regional semifinal Saturday, June 1. Waterford Mott and Waterford Kettering will play in the other semifinal June 1.

Soccer team finds offensive game in win against Mott

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A little work on their offense did the trick for the Clarkston girls soccer team against Waterford Mott.

Four Wolves scored goals as Clarkston defeated visiting Mott 4-0 on Friday, May 17. Ashley Hudson, Kelly Boskee, Kelly Dougherty and Bess Ferguson all scored for Clarkston, who is now 6-8-2 overall and 3-7-1 in Oakland Activities Association Division I.

Clarkston coach Tami Mitchell said the team emphasized offense during their practices May 15-16 following a 1-0 loss to visiting Royal Oak Kimball Tuesday, May 14. She said that helped their cause against Mott.

"I think we played really well," she said. "We're definitely improving our offensive game. Three out of the four (who scored against Mott) were first-time goal scorers."

After a trip to Rochester Tuesday, May 21 — "That will be very difficult," Mitchell said — the Wolves will travel to East for a game the following day.

Golfers take fourth place at regionals

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls golf team nearly achieved a milestone for their program.

The Wolves finished fourth in the regional tournament Friday, May 17 at Sylvan Glen Golf Course in Troy, just missing out on a trip to the state competition. The Wolves finished with a score of 385, which earned them a fourth-place tie with Troy.

The top three finishers were Rochester, which won the regional with a score of 338; Port Huron Northern, which took second with 354; and Rochester Adams, which finished third with 365.

Anna Trim and Lisa Lesko both shot 92 to lead the Wolves, while Laura Barnett added a 94.

"The team played real well," said Clarkston coach Larry Sherrill. "It was probably our best team outing of the year. I'm pleased to be fourth in the region. Next year, we're looking to qualify for the states as a team."

The Wolves wrapped up their seasons with matches Monday, May 20 against Troy Athens and Tuesday, May 21, when they travel to Lake Orion for the league tournament.

Bauer earns varsity letter in track and field at Albion

Eric Bauer, a graduate of Clarkston High School, received a certificate as the first-year varsity award for his contribution to the Albion College men's track and field team. Bauer is the son of Steven Bauer and Mary Bauer of Clarkston.

Under the direction of veteran head coach Davve Egnatuk, Albion posted a 4-1 record in dual meets against Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association opponents, and finished second at the league championship in early May. The Britons produced five individual champions and a winning relay at the MIAA Championships.

Three student-athletes who claimed MIAA individual titles are slated to return for the 2003 season. Albion is also scheduled to return four student-athletes who were second in their events at the league championship meet.

Clarkston native Gove letters in baseball at Albion College

Bret Gove, a graduate of Clarkston High School, received a fleece jacket as his second-year varsity award for his performance as a member of the baseball team at Albion College.

Under the direction of head coach Jim Conway, the Britons won 16 games this spring.

The Britons should field an experienced team in 2003, as 19 of this year's letter winners are underclassmen.

Clarkston native qualifies for world archery championships

Clarkston native Adam Wheatcroft is one of three James Madison University archers who have qualified to compete in the World University Archery Championships, scheduled for July 10-13 in Bangkok, Thailand.

Wheatcroft, a graduate of Our Lady of the Lakes High School in Waterford, qualified along with two other JMU archers based on their performances at the U.S. Intercollegiate Archery Championships, which concluded May 18 at the U.S. Olympic Training Center.

The U.S. team for the World University Archery Championships was chosen on the basis of performances in selected rounds of the U.S. intercollegiate tournament.

How I Bought a 3 Bedroom Home in Oakland County for Zero Down
"I couldn't believe when John told me he could do it with a little creative financing. I bought a $183,000 home for absolutely zero money out of my pocket. My payment is only $1,650.00 including taxes and insurance. For years we saved trying to get 20% down, we thought we needed, and something always came up and held us back. John Clancey at Golden Mortgage was referred to us by our boss, and he got the job done. If you want to buy a home call John at (248) 334-9400 ext. 116 and tell him Judy sent you."
