Powers named Teacher of the Year

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Tears were flowing as members of the Clarkston Foundation awarded the unexpecting Springfield Plains Elementary teacher.

On May 17, Susan Powers was named Teacher of the Year.

Together the Clarkston Foundation and Suburban Ford of Waterford sponsor the Outstanding Classroom Teacher Recognition Program, which annually honors teachers who demonstrate the ability to create a love of learning in students of all abilities and backgrounds, and who possess a strong sense of values, integrity and professional ethics.

After being surprised in her classroom, Powers was treated to a standing ovation by students, parents and staff as she walked the halls of Springfield Plains towards a special assembly in her honor, where her family and others greeted her with open arms.

"We're so proud of Susan," said Springfield Principal Dr. Sharon Devereaux. "I've known her for 16 years. Susan represents all the wonderful educators who love children and learning, and will do whatever it takes to develop their minds."

After the brief assembly, a substitute teacher took Powers' place for the rest of the day as she was escorted to Suburban Ford to pick out a car of her choice, to drive free for one year.

Her choice: a brand new red Mustang, something she said she wouldn't have normally chosen because she's too practical.

Powers, who has taught for 29 years, was nominated by a parent, Judy Zielinski, who's daughter had Powers for both first and second grade.

"Mrs. Powers has this unique talent and ability to capture her students eagerness and willingness to read, write and spell," Zielinksi said.

In addition to her general education degree, Powers has a special education degree and master's degree in reading. She has held several leadership posi-

Advanced Life Support program begins in Independence

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

After approximately two months of training, Independence Township is now better protected with the Advanced Life Support season.

The process for implementing the 14 new paramedics began in August 2000 when the voters of Independence Township overwhelmingly supported a millage increase to have the fire department provide paramedic services. The department currently uses American Medical Rescue services in paramedic situations.

"AMR is a huge international conglomerate who we have dealt with fine for years. But their response time had gotten to 20 to 25 minutes for an ambulance which is crazy," Fire Chief Steve Ronk said. "We felt we could do a better job so we approached the voters."

So the fire department began the process of finding the most qualified individuals. The department processed 141 applications before dwindling the number to 14 who were sworn in at the Independence Township Board meeting on Feb. 19.

Since then the group has been training for the implementation of the program. While everybody came into the program with experience, they still needed to be brought up to speed with Independence Township's way of doing things.

"We came in with a wide range of experience," paramedic Ross Green said. "We now have a working knowledge of the department. We have so many new people but we all know what to do after the training rather than having to wait to be told how things are run here. We are very well prepared."

The group had a very extensive training which the paramedics said kept them extremely busy. They focused on items such as rescue skills, firefighting skills and department operations.

"I have never heard of or seen a program as in depth as this one. It was as intense as the fire academy. It was broad, yet specific to Independence Township," new employee David Karakuc said.

Beginning May 20 the department has two ambulances fully staffed and available 365 days a year and 24 hours a day. The township will still work with AMR and their services will be available if the township's ambulances are in use.

The township decided taking on an Advanced Life Support program was prudent for the township.

Dog license deadline set for June 3

It's that time of year to purchase a 2002 Oakland County dog license for your pet. Since the deadline falls on Saturday, June 1 this year, pet owners are being given until the close of business on Monday, June 3 to make sure their dogs are properly licensed.

All dogs over four months of age are required by law to be vaccinated against rabies and wear a valid dog license at all times. The law covers dogs of all sizes, regardless of whether they are kept in or out-of-doors, or live in the city or county.

The cost of a new license is $15, however there is a $7.50 discount for pet owners whose pets are spayed or neutered. Licenses are available at local municipal offices, some veterinary clinics and at the Oakland County Animal Care Center, 1700 Brown Road in Auburn Hills. Beginning June 4 all licenses will be delinquent and cost $30.

Residents can further help protect pets and their community by vaccinating all dogs and cats against the rabies virus. There were eight confirmed cases of rabid bats in Oakland County last year, although no dogs or cats were affected, rabies remains a potential threat to the community. Please vaccinate your pets and keep them away from all wildlife.

OLHSA sets distribution point

Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency (OLHSA) will be distributing free food, through the Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP), in Oakland County during June.

The local distribution point is the Independence Township Senior Center on Wednesday, June 12 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Senior who are income eligible and not registered may do so at the site by bringing social security cards for all household members, verification of household income and photo identification.

For income eligibility requirements or additional information, call OLHSA's Community and Family Services Department at (248) 209-2686.

Area Oakland School receives accreditation

Three Oakland Schools Technical Campuses - Northwest, Southeast and Southwest - were notified that the schools' North Central Association of Colleges and Schools accreditation has been extended through the 2001-2002 school year. This action was taken at the NCA's Annual meeting in Chicago on April 9, 2002.

Along with hosting periodic on-site evaluations by a visiting team of educators, each NCA school is accredited on the basis of an annual report.

On the Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour...

Living in a dream home for this Clarkston family

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Laura Covintree didn't have to walk past the first room at 49 S. Holcomb to know it was the house she wanted.

"I said, 'okay, how much do you want?'" she chuckled. "My husband and I always wanted a house on Holcomb. We always said if a house goes up for sale, we'd buy it."

Looking to relocate from Waterford, a family friend (now their neighbor) told the Covintrees the house next door to her would be going up for sale the next day. The Covintrees jumped at the chance.

A year later, Laura, her husband Lars and their three-year-old daughter Emilija, are enjoying their move immensely.

"I love it, love it, love it!" Laura, a fundraiser for a company in Farmington Hills, said, with true happiness.

Built in 1865 during the Civil War, the home has come with a bit of an indistinct background. Laura said she has heard various stories on the home's history, and isn't sure how true they really are. Mainly, she said, "We've heard the house was built by a local funeral director because his daughter, or wife, didn't like sleeping at the funeral parlor."

True or not, what is clear is that the home was passed on from generation to generation from it's first owners. "We're only the fourth family outside of the original family to live here."

The approximately 1,200 square foot home initially was much smaller, while the land encompassed two lots to the south and went deeper west.

The eating area and first floor bedroom, which has been converted in to a play room for Emilija, was the first addition to the house.

Within the eating area, a Covintree creative touch highlights the room. Laura and her mother-in-law did a beautiful decorative painting on the wood floor surrounding the dining table. "Come dear old friends, drive up in state, your welcome extends both early and late," it says, which came from a tea towel Laura's great-grandmother had, and mother has framed in her home to this day, that Laura always liked.

The kitchen and the home's only bathroom was the second addition, the only part of the house with running water.

Upstairs there are two bedrooms. The larger bedroom contains a wall of closet space. "These are the only closets in the whole house. Everything else is on pegs. It's been quite a challenge," Laura said, who is learning to be clever with storage.

Like the floor in the eating area, the upstairs child's room and stairwell has also been hand-painted by Laura and her mother-in-law, who are beginning an interior design business focusing on speciality painting.

In almost every room of the historical home, are little pieces of history, in the form of antique collectibles. "We have quite a few antiques in the house," Laura said.

In the living room, a red velvet rocker was Laura's great grandmother's wedding gift from her second husband in the 1920s. A trunk on the landing in the stairwell was the chest that Laura's grandmother used when immigrating to this country from Yugoslavia at the turn of the century. A small chest in the eating area was Laura's uncle's dresser from childhood. The pie chest was inherited by Lar's mother from an old family friend. The twin bed in the children's bedroom is an antique from Lar's family with an unknown history. And there's much more.

Other furniture throughout has a family feel as well. The hat rack and toy chest in the playroom were made by Laura's brother, who also made the plant stand on the patio outside the kitchen door and a coat rack in the eating area.

A screened-in side porch, Laura said, is great for summer get togethers. And in the backyard is a beautiful stone walkway leading to one of the last original horse barns in Clarkston, which still holds horse shoes, bits and bridles.

Living in an old house doesn't come free of quirks, though. "The home has no foundation," Laura said. "It was built directly on the ground," which is why there are some uneven areas of the house. Also, in the eating area, the door leading to the basement is rather short, and because the way the beams are to the home, cannot be made any taller. "My husband is 6'3", and one day I heard a loud crack and then a boom. I looked and my husband was on the floor, knocked himself out cold!"

This is the first time the Covintrees have ever participated in a home tour. Lars, a certified physical education teacher at Pine Knob Elementary, had worked with Geri Batt of SCAMP for several summers. "When she heard we moved here, she said 'you're on the tour, you don't have a chance,'" Laura laughed.

Wheel-y great art!

Students at Independence Elementary learned a new technique to add to their art repertoire.

Special needs wheel chair students from the Basic Plus and Dual Diagnosis programs participated in Wheel Chair Art on April 29. Paired with their general education peers these students had fun while creating very special paintings.

Cindy Babcock, president of Very Special Arts facilitated the event and provided the necessary equipment to attach to the children's wheelchairs. The Clarkston Foundation, who supports the enhancement of the arts and sciences in Clarkston schools, partially funded the event.

The artwork, that utilize unique combinations of oil pastel, chalk, tempera, colored pencil, crayon and watercolor, was displayed at Oakland Schools throughout the month of May.

DTE Energy Music Theater gets okay for multiple stages

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

The Independence Township Board approved an agreement at their May 21 meeting to allow DTE Energy Music Theatre to include as many as eight second and third stage events this season.

In the past the music venue approached the board each time they wanted to add stages for a concert, but that process sometimes made it difficult to book shows.

"Sometimes we get called up and only have 24 or 48 hours to decide whether we can do the show or not," Director of Operations of The Palace and DTE Energy Music Theatre Tim Smith said. "We would rather get a seasonal license and have the ability to add shows rather than come to the board at the last minute."

There was some discussion amongst the board that eight events were too many, before it was cleared up that the same show playing two nights would be counted as two events.

DTE said they would continue to tell the township of the specific dates as they came up.

In other action taken by the board:

■ Approved the second reading of two rezoning requests. The rezoning occurred on Sashabaw Road north of Flemings Lake Road and on Sashabaw Road south of Clarkston Road. They were rezoned to Office Service Two from Single Family Residential.

■ Approved a resolution authorizing the conveyance of two township-owned property to the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy.

The board purchased the deeds from the DNR on March 13 at the request of the NOHLC. The first parcel is located on West Princeton and is a wetland. The second parcel is a triangular-shaped parcel located at Lakewood and Dixie Highway.

The final price for the NOHLC to reimburse the township is $301.

■ The board also approved the promotion of Bob Cesario to EMS Coordinator from Fire Inspector at the Independence Township Fire Department. The board moved Ralph Przybylski from engineer to the EMS Coordinator position.

Practice soccer field approved

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A recent offer of a donation of a new soccer practice field at Clarkston High School has gotten the final go-ahead.

The Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education approved the acceptance of the $68,622 donation at their May 20 meeting.

The field is a gift from a committee of concerned residents/soccer parents, who collected funds from throughout the community including $20,000 from Clarkston High School Boosters and $12,000 from Student Council.

The board approved phases one and two (excavation and topsoil) on April 15, and at their recent meeting approved a bid for phases three and four which consists of irrigation and pump as well as a final grade and seed.

Wes Goodman, supervisor of buildings and grounds for Clarkston Community Schools, recommended the district invest additional funds to supply a larger pump station.

A larger pump will provide the pressure necessary to serve the entire school and grounds, and be a back up in case of an emergency with the well. The additional cost, plus coinciding electrical work, will cost the district between $4,502 and $14,302.

The plan is to have the full-size field, to be located between the tennis courts and retention pond behind the high school, ready for use next fall.

The soccer parent committee took on this project two years ago, researching and developing a plan to meet what they feel is a high need for a practice field.

Currently, the 120 kids in the soccer program practice on the baseball outfield, football field and occasionally on the soccer game field.

This causes extra wear to the grounds.

Business expo set

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township citizens will have a chance to get an up close and personal look at local businesses.

The Davisburg Business Expo, sponsored by the Holly Area Chamber of Commerce, will be held Sunday, June 2 at the Holly Area Chamber of Commerce, 12850 Fountain Square in Davisburg.

In addition to Springfield Township, the expo will encompass the village of Holly as well as the townships of Holly, Rose and Groveland.

According to Kim Scherman, executive secretary of the Holly Area Chamber of Commerce, this is the first time the area has held a business expo in at least 10 years. She said approximately 25 business have signed up for the expo as of press time.

Scherman said Davisburg business owners approached her about the idea of holding an expo to promote business in light of the current economic situation. She said the expo is designed to make residents more aware of businesses in their community.

"With the economy, businesses are struggling," she said.

Each business participating in the expo is asked to bring a $10 gift or gift certificate for drawings that will be held every 15 minutes.

Clarkston resident concerned with dumping

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Clarkston resident Charles Inabnit is concerned about what he feels is dumping going on in wetlands behind Depot Park.

Inabnit lives in the area and is concerned the City of the Village of Clarkston Department of Public Works is breaking the law by dumping multiple items into the wetland area.

"Filling in wetlands is illegal," Inabnit said. "You are not supposed to be putting anything back there that is not natural. I have seen tires and concrete back there as well as DPS barriers. It looks to me that they are burying things right there in the wetlands."

The resident first noticed the dumpings when he was walking his dog a few weeks ago.

Inabnit said he tried to approach the Clarkston City Council quietly to get the problem solved. He brought it up at a City Council meeting on April 29.

"They said they would look into it and take care of this but two weeks to the day of the meeting they were dumping woodchips into the swamp," Inabnit said. "They probably want to keep this quiet but people need to know how their city government is being run."

Inabnit is concerned about the DPW and how they are being run. He has taken pictures of the woodchips, concrete and tires which litter the wetlands area.

"It concerns me the most that the DPW is walking around with no supervision and have destroyed a lot of wetlands," Inabnit said.

City Manager Art Pappas said he does not believe the DPW is doing anything wrong, but has asked them to contact the DNR to find out if they can continue to do this. Pappas said to his knowledge the only items that are being stored back there is brush which they run through the chipper.

"We are in the process of making sure we are not doing anything illegal," Pappas said. "They don't think they are doing anything illegal now."

Depot Park dumping? – Clarkston resident Charles Inabnit is concerned about dumping he believes the DPW is doing in wetlands at Depot Park. Inabnit has raised the issue to the City of the Village of Clarkston. Photo by Charles Inabnit.

Inabnit said he just wants someone to give him an answer.

"Someone needs to be held responsible. I brought it up to them and they didn't take care of it. We need better leadership."

Opinion

Underrated or overrated?

Rather than continue to write about important topics like crock-pots I thought I would share some overrated and underrated items. Here we go:

Sitcom Television

Overrated: Friends. This sitcom has been coasting on fumes for years. You can always tell when a show is headed downhill when they start having cast members get married and have kids.

I mean when the Cosby Show was going in the tank it seemed like there was a new kid with Cliff and Claire every week.

Underrated: The King of Queens. This hilarious sitcom seems to get lost in the Monday evening shuffle. The cast is solid and the writing is excellent. Just the right mix of witty comebacks and cheap humor.

Reality Television

Overrated: Survivor. I admit I watched it the first time but am proud to say I have not since. It seems like there is a new season every three months.

Underrated: Cops. Has been on forever but will never get old. Can't see enough toothless, shirtless men getting arrested.

Fast food

Overrated: The Big Mac. Sure it has the flashy name, but it has no substance to back it up. You have a decent amount of meat but it gets overwhelmed by the amount of bread.

Also they can call it their secret sauce, but I will go ahead and just call it Thousand Island dressing.

Underrated: The Whopper. Now we are talking heart attack waiting to happen, but I can't help but indulge. This sandwich is indeed the Rolls Royce of the fast food industry.

Music

Overrated: Creed. They might as well have only one song because they all sound the same and get continuously played on area music stations.

Underrated: Tom Petty. The man has been rocking for decades and still hasn't lost his power. It is rare to listen to an entire CD without having any lulls. That can be said for every Petty CD.

Movies

Overrated: The new Star Wars series. They don't even come close to the first three movies. George Lucas is like the Palace in the playoffs, it took awhile but the sellout finally happened.

Underrated: Office Space, The Big Lebowski, tie. I can't recommend these rentals enough.

Gargaro's Hall of Fame: All the veterans who have served our country or our currently serving our country. While we tend to forget about them unless it is Memorial Day or July 4, we should not forget all they have done to protect our freedoms.

Gargaro's Hall of Shame: Pizza places. Why do they all grossly overprice toppings? Since when does four slivers of ham or a few chopped green peppers equate to $2 worth of nourishment. Seems to me I can get an entire green pepper for less than 50 cents at the local grocery store.

Letters To The Editor

Comcast provides poor local service

I could not concur more with Mr. Patrus regarding the poor state of cable television in Clarkston. However, it isn't just Comcast. They are only the latest incarnation of the problem. Before Comcast it was AT&T. Before that it was TCI. The name keeps changing, which also provides a convenient excuse for current ills, but that seems to be about all they've accomplished in the past 15 years to which I can attest. The same surly attitude and incompetence has prevailed regardless of whose name was on the trucks.

Comcast's employees have become past masters at apologizing, which may be all they can do. I get a real charge out of the telephone menu system and the importance attached to the sequence of the prompts. Evidently, they don't think there are any problems because you have to go through the entire menu to get to service or to report a problem and then your only selection is to report "all channels are out." To get to talk to someone, I've found that using the prompt for possibly disconnecting your service usually works. When I mentioned that this was the only way I could communicate my difficulty the Comcast employee advised me to continue to use it if it works. Amazing.

When you have an outage, which is quite frequent, the service restore time estimates are not even close. Usually, they'll post two or three succeeding ones before finally just lying to you or better yet, not bothering to post any more times on the phone system. Also, if the cable goes out on a weekend you can probably forget it until Monday.

During walks in my subdivision, I've begun to count the number of satellite dishes and noticed that about 40 percent of my neighbors have opted for this method of reception. I'm glad to see that something is finally taking a toll on the monopolistic grip of Comcast cable. I could not help but notice too that Comcast is spending advertising dollars in prime time in an attempt to disparage satellite TV's picture quality, which would seem to confirm that they're losing market share to satellite TV.

Actually, the video feed quality of satellite is superior to all but digital cable. And while you may experience rare changes in picture quality due to certain weather conditions, it's not as bad as Comcast's advertisement would have you believe. After all, the signals Comcast broadcasts over its cable network come from a satellite feed also. The real advantages to satellite TV over cable is reliability and programming once. Comcast just doesn't get it and neither did their predecessors.

Most cable companies still believe that selling broadband Internet access is going to save them. The broadband ship sailed a few years ago. They're just now starting to penetrate that arena with an overpriced product. Let's see, I need to spend 10 times more per month than my dial-up service to watch web pages load faster. What's wrong with this picture.

Clarkston Chamber scholarships are awarded

This year I was given the honor of chairing the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Scholarship Committee. Over the last several weeks we have had the opportunity to review 28 senior high school scholarship applications. The scholarship committee was very impressed with the quality of our Clarkston area students. Moms and Dads you can be very proud.

The choice was difficult, but two students, Laura Barnett and Cassandra Hart received the news during the Senior Awards Assembly May 22 at Clarkston High School.

I would like to thank the committee for their dedication and time in making this difficult decision: Stan Garwood, Garwood and Associates; Wendy Halsey, Mt. Zion; Terry Donaldson, Donaldson Embroidery; Sue Jackson and Ann Marie McCafferty, Law Offices of Robert and Kelley Kostin; Mollie Lynch, Independence Township Library; Terri Newman, Terri Newman's Dance Shoppe; Dr. Al Roberts, Superintendent Clarkston Schools; and Marlene Stone, Intellitrends.

I would also like to thank the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club, Clarkston Area Optimists and the Clarkston Rotary Club for partnering with us to consolidate and standardize the scholarship application form. This process economized the time of not only the students but also the high school counseling staff, resulting in the highest number of applications ever for all four sponsors. Thirty students applied for one or more of the community scholarships. Of those applications, 10 students were awarded scholarships to help them attend the college of their choice.

Congratulations to all our seniors this year. You future is bright.

Small business owner hurt by lack of respect

On May 21, 2002 at 4 p.m. Mr. Bob Kostin pulled up in front of Pointe Cleaners. Parked with his vehicle (with magnetic signs advertising Kelley Kostin for District Judge) in front of a sign that clearly reads, "Parking for Cleaners Customers Only."

After 45 minutes, he returned to his vehicle without patronizing the cleaners.

Why would Mr. Kostin, a business owner himself and advertising Kostin for District Judge, show such a lack of sensitivity and respect for other business owners? Where are all the morals and integrity that Mr. Kostin should be showing while advertising his wife for District Judge? Does he believe his is above the law?

Mr. Kostin the advertisement on your vehicle was well worth it on that day, as our customers, who were inconvenienced by having to park across the lot were outraged by such a display of rudeness. They will forever link the name of Kelley Kostin with lack of respect.

Anita Burns
Clarkston

(Editors note: The Clarkston News contacted Bob Kostin who said he was wrong for parking in that spot. He explained he was concerned he would be late for or miss his 4:15 appointment and had driven around the lot once to find a spot with no success. Kostin explained he has a downtown Clarkston business and is a good business supporter of downtown Clarkston business. He added his wife, Kelley Kostin, disapproved of his choice of parking and admonished him appropriately.)

Peace, tranquility and unassailable logic

I think we finally have found the elixir for peace and tranquility at our home. Better than any drug, the five dollar, garage sale jewel Jen found has been worth its weight in gold.

Jen and I spent the entire weekend together with nary a baboon, cleverly-disguised as a blond-haired, blue-eyed, human boy-child, clinging to our legs. Yep, young parents, if you wish for freedom from your primate children, I strongly suggest you build or buy them a sand box.

Both Shamus and Sean (four and two, respectively) have been transformed from the bored, we-have-nutin'-to-do duo, into fine young lads. Fine, because they are now staying the heck out of their parental units' way.

Yeah baby!

This weekend Jen and I planted bulbs, cleaned a window well, fixed a basement window, ran electricity out to the backyard, hooked up some garden lights, mowed, weed-whacked, planted vegetables, cleaned flower beds and even relaxed in patio chairs overlooking our kingdom. All this while the boys played in the sandbox.

Can you say, "bliss . . ."

The only downside I have been able to ascertain has been the five pounds of grit which clings to them by the day's end, and which subsequently gets washed down the bathtub drain.

I am banking on the abrasiveness of the sand to clean the inside of the pipes leading from the bathroom to the sewer line.

Shamus, the boy with the ever-growing brain, has started down logic's path. I can only hope, he will continue this journey -- one of asking questions and seeking truth. I hope to hell, he doesn't become one of the mindless sheep, gullible and easily herded with the flock and feel-good intentions.

The lad doesn't miss much. His blue eyes look everywhere and his ears are seemingly open (and while he hears everything, I don't yet know if he's always listening). But with what knowledge he has gained over the last four-and-a-half years, he is starting to draw conclusions.

Shamus logic includes (but is not limited to the following).

■ If the shirt, pants, socks, underwear and shoes you wear are considered "clothes," then if you only put on one sock for the day and head to work, you are wearing "cloe." Clothes, of course, being the plural of cloe.

■ When mom or pops is driving, Shamus is fond of asking, "Why are we going this way?"

To which his mother will usually answer, "Because this is the short cut."

To which Shamus, the man-child thirsting for knowledge, truth, justice and the American way, will usually ask, "Then which way is the long cut?"

■ Since the portion of his body connecting his elbows to his hands are called, "forearms," then logic dictates, the portion of his body connecting his knees to his feet must be called his "foreknees."

"Shamus, it's time for dinner. Sit your butt down at the table and start eating."

"Okay, Poppy. But, I think I'll sit on my foreknees."

■ And, as there is a yesterday, then something he did last night was actually completed, "yesternight."

With that kind of unassailable logic, he's destined for greatness. I can also see that by the time he's a teenager, his mom and pop are destined to losing great gobs of hair as they try to combat unassailable, hormone induced, peer-pressure honed logic.

It won't be the simple, "Well, all the other kids are doing it," approach. To which we could say something equally as simple like, "If all the kids are jumping off a cliff, are you gonna' jump, too?"

I don't think it'll be that easy.

Were I a betting man, I'd say, Shamus will come up with something like, "Well, dear parents, part of the growth process is making mistakes and learning from them. Were I to miss this party, I would not make those mistakes I would normally have made were I to attend. Therefore, by disallowing my attendance at said party, you are -- in de facto -- depriving me of a growth opportunity . . ."

Maybe I should hope for less logic.

How does something like this get started?

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

What does it mean when you find a whole bunch of white plastic forks sticking in your yard, tines up?

Well, if you have neighbors with kids you theorize they've found a new game.

But, my neighbor with four little tykes said, "I saw the forks, but my kids didn't put them there."

Next theory. Read the forks. Are they initials? Are they meant to put the hex on my grub-infested yard? If the latter is true, where were they last fall when the little white buggers were eating all the grass roots, including the crab and quack?

Was it a prank, like tp'ing?

That question took me to my 16-year-old grandson, Dan Offer. He said, "Grandpa, you've been forked!"

Now then, if you're a teenager or a school teacher, you know exactly what I'm saying here. Some of them have also been forked.

To try to determine how popular this prank is I asked a local market manager if he'd had a run on plastic picnic forks. He said he hadn't, but he wondered if perhaps he should order an extra supply.

Next I tried to think of why anyone would fork me. I'm such a nice guy, with no kids at home, with decently kept property and generous to a fault. Why me?

And why did they pick a corner of my property to do their forking? Was it their intention to fork my neighbor and missed by a few feet?

Back to reading the forks for the third time. Nope, no initials, no recognizable sign, nothing. Maybe the count would help. Forty! I recall sometimes plastic forks come in packages of 40, and certainly it is not my age, nor likely that of the forkers.

The best thing about being forked, aside from the recognition, is that they are easier to clean up than tp.

And, it's interesting to observe the looks on people's faces when you tell them you've been forked.

As long as I've brought up my grandson's name,

I was sort of given some kind of responsibility by his mother to be Dan's last resort in any emergency while they weekended.

Dan has all the responsibility of any 16-year-old boy with a relatively new bright red Grand Prix. And, he has been stopped twice by the cops, which verifies his driving aptitude.

So, I certainly didn't expect any emergency calls. However, my beeping answering machine, said, "Grandpa, this is Dan. I've got bad news and I want to know the best way to take care of it."

He didn't answer my phone call. I drove over and couldn't find him; but his neighbor said he left about a half hour ago. Perhaps he's at his job at Paint Creek Golf and Country Club.

Yup. He came strolling out. He's not the hurrying kind. "What's the problem?" I asked.

"I cut myself shaving and . . ." No need to listen to the rest. This kid could have waited until he was 40 to shave and no one would think he needed it then. His complexion is hardly rugged.

He must have thought I had nothing to worry about. No, he didn't think. He's sixteen.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

■When M-15 is widened in Independence Township in the next decade, the plans should include comments from residents and officials. That's the goal of a public hearing scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 25 in the Clarkston High School auditorium. Although not yet scheduled, the widening of M-15 between Dixie Highway and Paramus Drive could happen in or after 1989, said Philip Chisoholm, public hearing officer for the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

■While it's been said the campaign for the June 8 school district election has been low key, Superintendent of Clarkston Schools Milford Mason balks at the suggestion. "Clarkston Connection," the district newsletter mailed to all residents in May, was filled with information about the 3.79 mill renewal and the 4.25 new mills, he said.

■The Clarkston Village Council finally accepted Independence Township's request for additional money for the new police contract at its May 26 meeting. The village council voted 6-0 to approve a 1.5 mill increase for the additional police coverage that began Jan. 1 but was able to avoid raising residents' taxes to pay for it. Clarkston's state equalized value recently increased, said President Sharron Catallo, and that will help cover the additional cost of raising the millage.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

■When Clarkston School District voters go to the polls June 13, they'll be faced with three millage votes totaling approximately 7.95 mills or a hike of $139 on an average home assessed at $17,500. Two board members to serve four-year terms will also be selected. Both incumbents, Robert Walters and Carolyn Place, seek reelection. They are opposed by William Smith, 25, of Eastlawn and Gerald Harbaugh, 41, of Rohr Road.

■Ken Delbridge, chief of Independence Township's building department for the past five years, has resigned and will be leaving June 30. Delbridge came to work under then supervisor Gary Stonerock and served through the terms of Bob Vandermark, J. Edwin Glennie and now Floyd Tower. His advice and expertise have helped shape many of the township policies.

■A total of 536 graduating Clarkston High School seniors will be awarded diplomas in commencement exercises at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 5 at Pine Knob Music Theater. The program will include talks by Richard Huttenlocher, a former graduate, and Susan Mallet and Luann Klann, graduating seniors. As in past years the high school chorus and concert band will perform Battle Hymn of the Republic.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

■The Memorial Day parade will assemble at Church and Buffalo Streets at 9:30 a.m. and march to the Lakeview Cemetery where a service will be held at about ten o'clock. The Reverend Robert M. Atkins will be the speaker of the day. All veterans are asked to be in the parade along with the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies and Cubs. The parade will be headed by the High School Band directed by William H. Janton.

■The speaker at the Clarkston Rotary Club meeting Monday, May 26 was Edgar F. Down, a past district governor who spoke on vocational service. His main theme was the idea that if everyone went just a little beyond the call of duty in their attempts to serve they were fulfilling the idea of real vocational service. He was introduced by Wm. H. Stamp who studied under him in the Highland Park High School and spent some time in college with him as a classmate.

for the AMR ambulance to transport the individual, but we would be also waiting to treat the person so this solves both problems," Ronk said. "We talk about the golden hour in which if we get the person to the emergency room within an hour it greatly improves their chances for survival. If you kill a half hour waiting for the ambulance that chews up a lot of that time."

The recent hires agree this is a great program for the Independence Township community.

"It is great that we don't have to wait for the private service. This is not to knock the prior program, but in these situations every minute counts," Green said.

The recently hired members now performing the duties in the Independence Township Fire Department include, Ron Bray(Clarkston), David Bridgewater (Davisburg), Mark Brown (Macomb), Joshua Dorman (Davison), Thomas Doyon (Clarkston), Donald DuVan (Clarkston), Ross Green (Farminton Hills), Bruce Harbin (Clio), David Karakuc (Holly), Richard Knuff (Auburn Hills), Derek Moscovic (Clarkston), Gary Sharp (Ortonville) and Daniel White (Holly).

Citizen of the Year:

■ Kathy Garwood, local counselor — Ellen Whitehead, an administrative secretary with Clarkston Community Schools, summed up Garwood's work in the community by saying, "I believe there are certain individuals that God put on this earth that are actually angels in disguise. Kathy Garwood is one of those angels."

Garwood is a counselor working in the field of individual and family grief counseling. She gives her time, energy and abilities in the following areas: organized the "Help for the Holidays" program, grief counseling, member of SOS (Survivors of Suicide), and youth advocacy through the Optimist Club and Clarkston Task Force for Youth. Garwood is an active member of the Oakland County Crisis Response Organization, involved in community outreach through Lighthouse North, Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce and St. Daniel's Catholic Church, Prison Ministry and Hospital Chaplain Services.

■ Janet Thomas, vice president, Clarkston Board of Education: Karen Foyteck, President of the Clarkston Board of Education, said Thomas has gone above and beyond the call of duty in service to the board. "I nominated her because of her extraordinary commitment to our students and Clarkston schools," Foyteck said. "She continues to step forward for what needs to be done."

Thomas has been married for 43 years and has an accounting business in the Clarkston Community. She has been a member of the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education for 27 years, volunteering countless hours by attending various activities, PTA/PTO meetings, study groups, and community planning groups. She has served on several school district committees and is a longstanding member of the Clarkston Women's Club. Thomas is a certified Master Board member working on training and staff development. Since 1994, Thomas has also served as a member of the Oakland Intermediate School Board.

She is eager to raise dollars as well as awareness for a cure for cancer. Geri Fancher, who nominated Blaine, said, "Maria is a gift...she works, dances, plays and gives with a spirit that inspires all who know her, to want to do more in their own lives."

■ Michael Fischer, Clarkston High School senior: Mike Fischer is a graduating senior at Clarkston High School. A high academic achiever, Fischer has been recognized as a member of the Top 10. He is a creative problem solver and a team player. Fischer is very active in his church and participated in a variety of community service projects.

Penny Shanks, who nominated Fischer, said, "Mike is the kind of person who astonishes you with his talents and abilities. His gifts are many. But it is how he has chosen to lead his life; his quiet strength of character, humility and generosity of spirit that moves you to admire Mike for who he is, not just what he knows or what he is able to do."

Adult-Youth Volunteer of the Year:

■ Kelley Kostin, Clarkston magistrate and youth advocate: As a member of the Clarkston Optimist Board she is an active club member, she has chaired the annual Oratorical Contest for the past three years, and she is involved in the Tri-Star Basketball Program and Alpha Club to teach youth about the law. She is currently working with the Oakland County Bar Association, Oakland Schools and Clarkston High School to produce a video dealing with Constitutional issues and how they relate to high school students. The video will be distributed statewide, possibly nationally. Kostin is always willing to lend her support to the Career Connections Program, a partnership between the Clarkston Community Schools and the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce. She recently served as a lunch sponsor and facilitator for the DollarDiva Conference and participated last year as a moderator for the GirlBiz Seminar.

Brenda Orlando, a colleague of Kostin's at the Law Offices of Robert Kostin, nominated Kostin for the award. Orlando said one of Kostin's core beliefs is that "people should use their talents to go out and ef-

Property Beautification:

■Advance Floors/Karen's Carpets, Local Business and Chamber of Commerce Member: Advance Floors/Karen's Carpets have been an established business in the area for many years. This year they relocated to 6465 Dixie Highway. Since their arrival there they have been busy working to give the building a total facelift. They eliminated some older buildings from the site, created a new fascia and signage for the exterior, and added some new landscaping. All this has served to create a very welcoming appeal to their new home.

Community Preservation:

■Independence Township Fire Department, dedicated to community service: For over 60 years the Independence Township Fire Department has planned, staffed and hosted the July 4 Parade on Main Street in downtown Clarkston. However, the Fire Department continues to be the driving force behind the parade.

Richardson says girls track has come a long way

Wolves finish second to OAA I powerhouse Adams in league meet at CHS

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls track team showed they belong among the league's best.

At the Oakland Activities Association Division I league meet May 21 at Clarkston, the Wolves finished second to perennial league powerhouse Rochester Adams, which won its fifth straight league title.

The Highlanders finished with 160.5 points to 102.5 for the Wolves. Lake Orion finished third with 72 points.

Clarkston followed that up with an eighth place showing at the county meet at Lake Orion Friday, May 24. The Wolves earned top five finishes in six categories.

The 3200 meter relay team of Mo Kuhta, Gillian Nordquist, Anne Oltman and Liz Mengyan finished second in their event; Kim Wilson took third in the high jump with a jump of 5'; Casey Bolten took fourth in the pole vault with a jump of 9', and the 1600 meter relay team of Beth Randall, Sarah Jennett, Elizabeth Gorz and Stephanie Parkin took fourth in that event.

In addition, Oltman took fifth in the 1600 meter run, Randall took fifth in the 300 meter hurdles, and the 400 meter relay team of Emily Cushing, Amanda Sawyer, Adrienne Jones and Stephanie Parkin placed eighth in that event.

Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson was pleased with the Wolves' performance at the league meet, and said the team's hard work and dedication has paid off in the home stretch of the season.

"We did very well," he said. "I was very pleased with how the kids ran. The second half of the season is an indication of what happens when kids want to compete and accept the challenge."

Clarkston took first place in two field events at the meet, as Casey Bolten won the pole vault with a jump of 7', and Kim Wilson took first in the high jump with a jump of 5'3". In addition, Erin Richards took second in the pole vault with a jump of 6'.

In the distance events, the Wolves placed in nine out of 12 events, taking first place in the 300 meter hurdles, as Beth Randall won that event with a time of 48.23. In addition, Laura Beamer took third with a time of 49.92.

Basics the key for Wolves baseball

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

No freebies for their opponents.

That's been the calling card for the Clarkston baseball team in their past three games, as they held their opponents without a walk in each of those games on their way to picking up three victories.

Clarkston coach Phil Price said that accomplishment was impressive. "For high school baseball, that's pretty good," he said.

Their most recent pair of victories came in a doubleheader Wednesday, May 22 against visiting Waterford Mott. They defeated the Corsairs 5-3 in the opener and 16-1 in the second game to improve their record to 18-12 overall and 6-6 in Oakland Activities Association Division I.

In the first game, Bobby Slaughter pitched a complete game, going seven innings while allowing two earned runs and striking out 10. A key stretch for Slaughter came in the sixth inning when he retired three Mott batters on three straight pitches, all grounders to the infield.

Sam Palace, Ben Munce and Aaron Powell each went two-for-three for the Wolves, while Derek Ranck added a triple.

In the nightcap, "the floodgates opened up," as Price described it, as the Wolves cranked out 19 hits on their way to the 16-1 win.

Josh Herzog picked up the win on the mound for Clarkston, pitching four innings and striking out five. Price emptied his bench in the nightcap, giving the reserves some game experience, and they did their part to help the Wolves win.

The offensive highlight for the Wolves came in the fourth inning, as Slaughter doubled and homered in the fourth, driving in five runs.

The 'eyes' have it -- and they can see

By Don Rush
Assistant Publisher

It probably wasn't a good idea to walk back into the reception lobby after laser eye surgery and proclaim to the ladies behind the counter, "I can't see!"

Cover one eye -- Here, my reading vision is tested.

Just lay down and relax -- The machine that will cut my eyes later, will first "map" the topography of my eyes.

The doctor and his patient -- Dr. Tayfour, right, goes over the topography of my eyes, explaining the procedure. To the left, the good doctor in action. He looks into the laser's microscope, controlling the procedure with this fingers. Notice his arm is stabilized. Below, is a picture of my eye as the operation takes place. A television monitor broadcasts the surgery for loved one to watch. Each eye costs $1,700 to complete.

It was nervous humor, but the fact of the matter was I could see. Things were still a little foggy, but I could see without my eye glasses for the first time since 1986.

I went to the Windsor Laser Eye Institute and trusted the skill, experience and knowledge of Dr. Fouad Tayfour, 48, to do the work.

Dr. Tayfour was the first eye surgeon in North America to perform LASIK laser surgery in 1993. Since its infancy in 1991, Dr. Tayfour's practice has operated on over 15,000 patients -- over 30,000 corrective eye procedures. No wonder, it is quick and painless. The actual surgery with the LADARvision 4000 took under 10 minutes to complete both eyes. Dr. Tayfour performs about 30-40 surgeries a day, Monday through Thursday, and up to about 50 on Fridays.

While technology in laser eye surgery is computer assisted and changing rapidly, the idea behind corrective eye surgery is pretty darned old. According to literature, the concept of "using incision to flatten the cornea to treat astigmatism was introduced immediately after the Civil War . . ." And, "the first record of successful refractive surgery was in 1895 . . ."

According to Dr. Tayfour, with the LADARvision 4000, he can customize virtually any range "of correction for people who are nearsighted, farsighted or have astigmatic vision."

This includes folks with high degrees of farsightedness or large pupils (like me -- my pupils were rated at a "7" with a rating of "4 to 5" being average).

My experience included an initial eye examination, consultation with Dr. Tayfour and the actual surgery all in one day. Most folks, however, get the exam and consultation on one day and the surgery on another.

For the exam, my eyesight was tested, drops were applied, I was checked for glaucoma, drops were applied and my eyes were not only photographed, but a topography of my eyes was also mapped into the LADARvisison 4000 computer. Oh, and did I mention, drops were applied in my eyes? In every little cubical I was led to, somebody was putting drops of liquid in my eyes.

Eyes watering, I met Dr. Tayfour and he explained the procedure. With a color topographical map of my eyes and a couple of plastic eyeball models, he showed what was going on with my eye and why I was nearsighted.

When I asked Dr. Tayfour how his eyes were, he said, "Perfect." And, no he has not had the surgery, but he added, "I did the procedure for my sister."

I was a little bit nervous to have someone poking and prodding in my eyes. Dr. Tayfour said most folks are. "They are afraid of going blind."

He said since 1987, millions of laser vision procedures have been performed, "yet there have been no significant long-term problems." Potential side effects involve infection, seeing haloes around lights at night, reduced vision in dim light, over or under correction.

Infection is prevented with (you guessed it) antibiotic eye drops which you take home. And the night vision problems usually correct themselves in half a year. And, for the under/over correction problems, enhancements can be performed.

After talking to Dr. Tayfour, my eyes were again dilated and then numbed with eye drops. I was given valium (to take the edge off), laid down under the laser and had one eye patched. The eye held open by a eye-holder-opener-thing-a-bob, I felt a slight pressure when he started, heard the laser work and smelt something burning -- that something was minuscule parts of my cornea being vaporized.

A female voice from the computer kept both patient and doctor informed of the surgery's progress. "Thirty seconds to completion . . ." When one eye was done, it was patched and he went to work on the other.

Total time, less than 10 minutes. I could see immediately after the surgery, though as I said, things were a little foggy. Wife Jen drove me home, put me to bed and when I woke up at 6 the next morning. Bingo! I could see the alarm clock! It's been two weeks since, and there have been no problems.

Golfers look to future with third at league meet

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

This year, Clarkston's girls golf team finished in the upper half of the standings at the Oakland Activities Association Division I league meet.

Next year, they're aiming for the top.

The Wolves wrapped up their season with a third-place finish at the OAA I league meet May 21 with a score of 413, behind first place Rochester and second place Troy.

Anna Trim represented the Wolves in the top 10 individual finishers, scoring a round of 100. Lisa Lesko and Kristi Hortsman were right behind with rounds of 102, while Nina Jackson finished with a 109.

"That was a real team effort," said Clarkston coach Larry Sherrill. "This was something we've been shooting for for a while. We seem to have peaked at the right time."

Afterward, Sherrill talked to the team about raising the bar for next season.

"One of the things we talked about is challenging Rochester for first place in the division," he said. "That may be a high goal, but that's what we're shooting for."

The Wolves graduate three seniors — Laura Barnett, Lindsey Pawlik and Ashleigh Tate — and figure to bring back a strong core next year.

"We're building a good program," said Sherrill. "I think we'll be competing for first in our league. I think we're going to be pretty good."

Athlete of the Week — Kathi Wiegand

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's softball team will contend for a district title later this week, and senior pitcher Kathi Wiegand figures to be one of the key contributors.

She is optimistic about the team's chances in district competition, which begins June 1 at Clarkston High School. "If we bring our 'A' game to the districts, we have a real good chance of going far," she said.

Wiegand started playing softball when she was eight years old. She took part in the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department program and on the Clarkston Riverdawgs travel team before hooking up with the CHS softball program.

She actually got a little bit of seasoning before being called up to the varsity last year. "I played a little bit on the junior varsity so I could boost my confidence on the mound," Wiegand said. "That helped a ton this year."

She said Clarkston coach Al Land has helped her improve her mental approach to the game. "He's really encouraging," she said. "He lets me know when I need to step it up and become a leader."

She also said the team spirit is high this year and everyone gets along well with each other. "It's a ton of fun this year, because everyone has a great attitude," Wiegand said. "It's fun to come to practice."

Wiegand, who was also a cheerleader this season, enjoys swimming in her spare time. In the fall, she will be attending Michigan State University, although she is undecided as far as her major is concerned.

She is the daughter of Mark and Belinda Wiegand of Clarkston, and has one younger brother, Donny, 12. She said her dad has been a key part of her softball training, and offers support for her game.

"My dad takes me to pitching lessons every Sunday," she said. "I vent to him about softball."

Boys track team edged out for third

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was close, but in the end, Clarkston's boys track team just came up short.

The Wolves finished fourth in the Oakland Activities Association Division I meet Tuesday, May 21 at Clarkston High School.

Clarkston finished with 62 points, barely falling short of third place to Pontiac Northern, which had 64 points. Lake Orion won the league title with 148.5 points, while Rochester finished second with 96.5 points.

"Overall, we thought we did a good job," said Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemko. "Some of our times in the distance events were improving."

Later in the week, Clarkston finished in the middle of the pack at the county meet Friday, May 24 at Lake Orion.

Cory Henneman was the top finisher for the Wolves, placing first in the pole vault with a jump of 13'3". The 1600 meter relay team of Mark Kraus, Shane Bennett, Mike Wilder and Brian Oltman took sixth in that event.

Clarkston also notched a couple of eighth place finishes at the meet. Mark Kraus in the high hurdles and Brian Oltman in the 400 meter run.

The Wolves took first place in two events at the league meet. Travis Roche won the pole vault with a jump of 13', while Cory Henneman took second in the same event with a jump of 12'6". The 1600 meter relay team of Mark Kraus, Matt Tolbert, Mike Wilder and Brian Oltman took that event with a time of 3:31.58.

Finishing in second for the Wolves, in addition to Henneman, were: Kraus in the 110 meter hurdles, where he finished with a time of 15.4, and Oltman in the 400 meter dash, where he finished with a time of 51.4.

The Wolves finished third in the 3200 meter relay, where they finished with a time of 8:20.21, and the 800 meter relay, where they finished with a time of 1:34.23.

Singles helps GTC Level 7 team to second at state meet

Clarkston resident Danielle Singles helped the Gymnastic Training Center of Rochester's Level 7 team take second place at the state championship meet May 18 in Kalamazoo.

First place in the team awards went to Extreme Gymnastics with a final score of 113.125. GTC was second with 112.35 and Airborne Gymnastics finished third with 111.675.

Singles, 13, won a gold medal on the uneven bars, bronze in the all-around and placed sixth on vault.

Baseball

Brandon Rosengren went three-for-four with a triple for Clarkston, while Powell had two hits and Jared Ostrom went two-for-two. Other players contributing for Clarkston were Chad Zelinski, who went two-for-two; Kirk Hanna, who went two-for-two with three runs batted in; and Matt Brady went two-for-three.

On Monday, May 20, the Wolves defeated Rochester Adams 9-1. Matt Orris got the win on the mound for the Wolves, pitching four innings before being hit on the arm in the fifth. Orris struck out five and also contributed a triple and single at the plate. Ben Munce pitched the final three innings, striking out seven of nine to seal the win.

Price said the team excelled in all aspects of the game during the win over Adams.

"All of the guys got hits," he said. "We were pretty fundamentally sound. We moved runners around, and we were solid in the field."

It's that type of play that Price hopes will bring the Wolves a district title. After a game Tuesday, May 28 at Brandon, the Wolves return home for district competition Saturday, June 1. The Wolves will play the winner of Pontiac Central-Pontiac Northern around noon. Waterford Mott and Waterford Kettering are the other two teams in the district.

Price likes the Wolves' chances.

"We match up pretty well," he said. "Our kids are focused. I foresee us winning districts, and anything can happen from there."

Wolves edged by Dragons for OAA I softball title

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It wasn't for a lack of trying, but the Clarkston softball team fell just short in their quest for the Oakland Activities Association Divsion I title.

Clarkston mounted a furious comeback in the bottom of the seventh during their game against visiting Lake Orion, scoring three runs to narrow the Dragons' lead to 5-4. Jenny Tatu keyed the Clarkston rally with a two-run triple.

However, Tatu was left stranded at third as the Dragons held on for the win to capture the OAA I title. The Wolves finished second in the division with a 12-6 league mark, and currently have a record of 23-10 heading into district play Saturday, June 1 at Clarkston.

Clarkston coach Al Land said the Dragons kept the Wolves off balance all game at the plate.

"Lake Orion hit the ball pretty well against us," he said. "They drove the ball and put constant pressure on our defense."

Land said with the league title at stake, the Wolves may have been pressing more than usual.

"The whole team was a little tense for the game," he said. "I think they tried to do more than they're capable of in that game. They were trying too hard. Sometimes you make mistakes when you try too hard. I was very pleased with our effort."

The Wolves open up district play at 12 p.m. Saturday, as they will take on the winner of the Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central game. The district championship game will follow at 2 p.m. Waterford Mott and Waterford Kettering are the other teams in Clarkston's district.

Land said the Wolves have a strong chance at coming away with the district title. He said to do so, the Wolves will have to forget about the defeat against Lake Orion and come out a little more relaxed.

"I think they (our chances) are pretty good," he said. "I think we have a good shot at winning it. I think the team that comes relaxed will win. Hopefully, we will not be so tense. If we can work on that a little this week, I think we should be fine."

Girls soccer heads into districts

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls soccer team is heading into district competition on a winning note.

The Wolves closed out their regular season with a 2-1 win Wednesday, May 22 at Lapeer West. Megan Mutz and Kelly Boskee scored the goals for the Wolves. Clarkston is 7-9-2 overall and 3-5-2 in Oakland Activities Association Division II.

The day before, the Wolves lost 3-1 to host Rochester, as Kelly Dougherty scored Clarkston's lone goal. Despite the loss, Clarkston coach Tami Mitchell was proud of the team's performance. "We played real well," she said.

The Wolves opened up district action Tuesday, May 28 against Waterford Mott at Mott. Other teams competing in Clarkston's district are Walled Lake Central, West Bloomfield and Pontiac Central.

Mitchell said the Wolves, along with Walled Lake Central, will be the top contenders for the district championship.

"We have to play hard every game and we have to score," she said.
