Ellis Bam to stay in Springfield

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A piece of Springfield Township's history will remain right in the area.

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department recently received a $600,000 state grant to relocate the historic Ellis barn from Dixie Highway, north of I-75, to Springfield Oaks County Park.

The parties involved in the move unanimously agreed it will benefit the community.

"I think it's pretty fulfilling and a definite opportunity for the community to celebrate the fact that here's a 120-year piece of history that will be preserved," said Dan Stencil, Administrator of Parks Operations for the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department. "Future generations will have a chance to learn about history.

Another person who is glad a part of Springfield's history will be preserved is Clerk Nancy Strole.

"I think it's terrific," Strole said. "I think it's wonderful. We're very happy that the grant application went through."

In addition, she said developer Tim Birtsas deserves a great deal of credit for doing the necessary legwork to make sure the historical barn stays in the township.

"He said he would do everything he could to find the means to preserve the barn," Strole said.

Strole said Springfield Oaks County Park is the ideal spot for the relocation barn, because it stays right in the Springfield area. "It's a perfect location for the barn," she said. "It will fit there perfectly."

Stencil said the relocation of the barn, in a bestcase scenario, would likely take a year to complete.

"We have 30 days to submit a project schedule to the Michigan Department of Transportation," he said. "We will start the project in the fall. We're also looking to solicit volunteer participation in erecting the barn.'

In addition to the $600,000 grant, several parties have put together a 25 percent matching donation of $150,000, which is divided as follows: $75,000 from developers Birtsas and Kirk Gibson; $50,000 from the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department; $20,000 from Springfield Township; and $5,000 from the Oakland County 4-H Association.

Stencil also said a total of $36,500 has been aised for an endowment fund toward maintenance of the project; divided as follows: $20,000 from the 4-

Local band set for summer tour, cd release

BY KYLE GARGARO

Clarkston News Editor A group of local residents are following their dream to make it big in the music industry. The group "Mike Moran" has a soon to be released compact disc and are set to tour the Midwest this summer.

The group consists of Mike Moran, vocals; Chris Haag, drummer; Billy Perkins, bass guitar; and Ron Ledwell, guitar. Ledwell was the latest to join the group when he came on a month ago.

"I don't know all the songs yet but I am learning them," Ledwell said.

The group members, who ages vary from 19 to 21, first started working on their cd three months ago. There is a lot that goes into the production and distribution of a compact disk, including a substantial financial investment.

'Recording a cd cost a lot," Moran said. "It puts a hole in the pocket book."

The group was just recently formed. Moran, who is a student at Michigan State University, played shows in the Lansing area. He decided to make a cd so he called Haag and Perkins to play on it. The three, who knew each other from Clarkston High School, then decided to put the band together.

They came in and they liked the songs," Moran. said.

Mike Moran's music is difficult to categorize. It is a type of acoustic rock but has also been identified as part reggae and funk.

There are a lot of different opinions," Moran

Everybody in the group said it has been their dream for some time to play in a band and record a cd. "This is something I have always wanted to do:"

Haag said. The tour will take the band to Ohio. Illinois. Indiana and Southern Wisconsin. They set up the tour them-

'It is going to be a lot of fun. We wanted to start. off small and each time we go out get a little bigger," Moran said.

At such a young age, the band has plenty of time to grow and mature. The group is happy to have a cd and a tour at such a young age.

Moran has only been playing for about three years, but is enjoying every minute of it. He fell in love with the guitar upon graduation from CHS.

"It has been moving fast but normally that is the way that it goes. You only get a chance to do this for so long so I am enjoying it," Moran said. "It is a really good time."

The band plays original songs with everybody participating at least partially in the writing of the mu-

Additional information including tour dates for the band can be found at mikemoranmusic.com. The group is set to play "Clutch Cargo's" in Pontiac on June 9.

Fortinberry was re-elected at CLF's spring Annual Meeting and will begin her term on July 1.

Since joining the board in 1996, Fortinberry has played an active role in the growth of CLF. She co-hosts the annual Glen W. Fortinberry Memorial Golf Classic and the annual Charity Ride. She also served as chair of the first annual Boo Ball Spooktacular gala, CLF's Halloween fundraiser.

NOHLC announces contribution

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy is proud to announce the contribution of two conservation easements for the preservation of two parcels in Springfield Township. Conservation easements are formal restrictions placed on property deeds by land owners to protect parcels in their natural state, for current and future generations to enjoy.

It was for just such a purpose Steve Riga donated a conservation easement on 68.9 acres of the Hidden Ridge of Springfield site condominium development on Neal Road. This contribution protects a portion of the uplands region for the ecologically significant Shiawassee River fen. In receiving the easement, the NOHLC will share in stewarding this natural preserve. The 58 home sites will border the Hidden Ridge nature preserve.

Local women empowered by 3-day charity walk

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

One out of nine women in America will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. But if found at an early stage, 97 percent of women will survive.

Clarkston resident Barb Diliegghio knows this first hand. On January 27, 2000, Diliegghio received the news that would change her life.

"It is the day that I sat in my doctor's office and heard the confirmation that I had breast cancer," she said. "I also found out there were four different cancerous growths, meaning I faced a mastectomy."

Fortunately, because the cancer was found early on, and had not spread, Diliegghio did not have to face further treatment and was able to undergo reconstructive surgery when she had the mastectomy.

But Diliegghio said at that time in her life she was so weak she could not even walk from the couch to the kitchen.

Nowadays, it's a different story.

She and good friend and fellow Clarkston resident Debbie Elert participated in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day Walk, May 31 through June 2.

"We walked 20-miles a day, slept in tents, showered in trucks and enjoyed the ambiance of Port-a-Potties," Diliegghio said: From Ann Arbor to Detroit, the ladies walked with approximately 3,000 others.

Proceeds benefit Avon's Breast Cancer Awareness Crusade which funds medical research and clinical care, a national financial assistance program for medically under-served women who need breast bropsies and support services, community-based breast health programs and more:

In the three years the walk has been a go, more than $65 million has been put in the hands of breast cancer charities.

To participate in the walk, a fundraising minimum of $1,900 is required, and both Diliegghio and Elert raised above and beyond that, with $5,000 a piece.

"That's $10,000 right here," Elert said, and with

3,000 participants the amount will be significant. "I'm amazed by the power of people joining together."

And Diliegghio and Elert feel great to be able to find a way of "giving back" and giving the "gift of life."

For Diliegghio, two years after being diagnosed with breast cancer, she is thankful to all the people who helped make her surgery and recovery a success. "That is why I decided to undertake this huge challenge."

Diliegghio, who has also walked to find cures for diabetes and cancer, said this "adventure" helps her feel powerful and allows her to reclaim her life.

"I am also walking for my daughter; Stephanie," and for your daughters," she says to readers. "I'm walking for my sisters and for your sisters. For my nieces, cousins, sisters-in-law, for your granddaughters and daughters-in-law; so they may never hear those dreaded words, 'You have breast cancer," Diliegghio said. "Every women is entitled to early detection."

In Elert's case, her life has been touched by breast cancer with nearly 10 family members and friends diagnosed. "I am elated to say that all of my family members and friends who have been diagnosed are survivors! I'm so grateful for that." she said. "Because of this, I decided to participate in the walk."

Elert, who is in pharmaceutical sales for Johnson & Johnson and has also walked for Alzheimers research, said, "I have been truly blessed in my life with good health and I have decided that with this blessing I need to give back."

The women, who have known each other for 20 years, geared up for the challenge by walking two to three miles a day three to four times a week, with back-to-back 16-mile days on the weekend as the event neared. They even had to buy a second set of shoes, having worn out the first with so much walking!

Both say they greatly benefitted from this commitment and after turning 50 last year, say they've never felt better. "We're learning how much we can really do," Elert said.

Making a difference—This year, approximately 182,800 women in the United States will be diagnosed with invasive breast cancer. That's 500 per day. More than 40,800 will die. Clarkston residents Barb Diliegghio, a breast cancer survivor at right, and Debbie Elert, touched by breast cancer among family and friends, are doing something to help. The ladies will participate in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day Walk. Photo by Jennifer Namer.

A retired Waterford schools teacher, Diliegghio has now come to a point in her life where she's realized, cancer is not just a journey, as the saying goes, "but it is actually more of an adventure."

Diliegghio and Elert wish to thank the community, friends and family for their generosity and support

Pine Knob Elem. principal moved by unique experience

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was unlike anything she'd experienced before. K.C. Leh, Pine Knob Elementary principal, is also a recent participant in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day Walk.

Leh's sister-in-law, Carol, of Minnesota, is a breast cancer survivor, diagnosed with breast cancer just this past fall. After: Carol's successful surgery, Leh felt led to do something special and recruited Carol and her other sister-in-law from Atlanta. "I said, 'We need to walk!"

The training began in December for Leh, working her way up to 17-mile treks a day on the weekend as the event neared.

This past weekend, together the three trooped through 20-mile days May 31 through June 2, and called it a night each day in "mobile cities."

"There were huge semis that were showers hooked up to fire hydrants; there was more than enough food, good food; and entertainment each night. You felt like a new person and were ready to move on to the next day."

Leh said 375 crew volunteers worked to have the mobile cities and more ready for the walkers each day. "They are as much the heroes as the walkers:"

To Leh, the overall experience was incredible.

The people she met moved her: like the sickly man suffering from a disease of his own walking in memory of his mother who died from breast cancer at 28, and a woman participating in all 13 Avon Breast Cancer 3 Day walks this year in honor of her mother who passed away from the disease. These people were inspirations, she said. "It was emotional the stories you'd hear from others; the kindness. There was no bickering between people for three days."

The support she received was tremendous.

Walking along a "nice route" through downtown areas and subdivisions, residents would line the streets to cheer on the walkers. Children would squirt the walkers with refreshing water from a sprinkler, others offered dixie cups of lemonade and ice cubes. And police officers were very supportive as the walkers crossed intersections, she said.

"My family was wonderful and the staff in the (PKE) building were wonderful with their financial support and kind words."

Overall, Leh said the event was a success bringing in 3,500 walkers from ages 18 to 73, and 160 of that men. "Out of those people, $5.2 million was raised. It's amazing."

*Leh was able to raise $8,500, a substantial amount above the $1,900 minimum. "I've gained a whole new appreciation of generosity from other people."

The 48-year-old who enjoys walking for exercise and has walked in the Relay For Life for cancers said if you would have asked her a year ago if she could walk 20-miles a day for three days, she dlaugh. It's not the case now.

"You can do anything if you put your mind to it in a positive manner. If we are to win the battle against breast cancer or any other disease, we have to step forth and do something," said Leh. "I would hope everyone in their lifetime has a change to set a long range goal; something that challenges them physically, mentally and pushes them to the limit.

Now, she wants to take what she has learned from this experience and apply it.

"I hope to bring some of that compassion and kindness; and how to make a difference back into the (PKE) building. We need that and we (as role models in the school system) have such an impact on the kids."

*Clarkston Middle School principal Linda Armstrong, CMS social worker Pam Schoemer and Independence Elementary secretary Pat Douglas, a breast cancer survivor, also participated in the weekend's charity walk.

Inman makes another run at Oakland County Commission

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Chuck Inman still feels there are important budget and environmental issues to be dealt with in Oakland County

With that in mind, the Clarkston Democrat is running again for District 4 Representative on the Oakland County Commission. Inman is the only Democrat to file for the position.

He will face the winner of the Republican primary, which will be held Tuesday, Aug. 6, in the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 5. Three Republicans - current commissioner Tom Middleton, Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary and Hope A. Brown – have filed for the position.

In a Feb. 5 special election to fill the 4th District spot on the commission, Middleton defeated Inman 1,175 votes to 722. The spot was vacated when Clarkston resident Frank Millard resigned from the commission to take a deputy clerk's position with Oakland County.

Inman, a 51-year resident of Oakland County, said. environmental issues within the county are too important to be ignored.

"I'm still concerned about the county and the budget, as well as sewers, septics and water," he said. "It is important. It's our environment, the future of our people."

His other concern is the county's budget, particularly Proposal A, or the Headlee Amendment. "That may have a major effect on our taxes," Inman said.

He said when the amendment was first passed in 1995, the area's property taxes were cut drastically, but they are now back to where they started seven area seniors who are living on fixed incomes.

'People work all their lives and can't pay their taxes or pay for prescription drugs. It isn't right." Inman

He said the only thing he will change about his approach to this campaign as compared to the previous one is he will go more door to door and attend different functions to try and get his message to the public.

Inman is a business agent and 32-year member of Pipefitter's Local 636. Currently, he is the chairman of its Political Action Committee and has served on the board for the past 15 years. He has also served as a health insurance trustee for the past nine years.

In addition, he also serves on the AFL-CIO COPE Committee as well as the Greater Detroit Building Trades Political Action Committee.

He said his service on the board of the pipefitter's union would be beneficial as a member of the commis-

Thave a lot of experience dealing with balancing the budget," Inman said. "We have to negotiate contracts and balance spending on health insurance. I'm responsible for 8,500 people, between the members and their families."

Inman also said his dealings with a number of people in his capacity as a union official would be an asset to the commission.

"You see both sides of the aisle," he said. "It's not always the union ways. You have to deal with the customer, the contractor and the member and try to make everyone happy.'

In addition to his union duties, Inman is also involved with other community initiatives, such as Christmas in April (a program that provides home repair improvements for elderly, low-income citizens) and Heat's On! (an initiative that provides free furnace, heater and fire alarm checkups for hundreds of low-income residents around the Metro Detroit area).

Inman is a member of the Waterford Hill years ago. He said this may have a negative effect on Homeowners Association, an active member of both the Elks and Eagles service organizations and a member of Calvary Lutheran Church in Clarkston. He is an active member of the Waterford Democratic Club and the Michigan Democratic Party, and served his country as a U.S. Marine Corps reservist from 1966-1972.

He has been married for 32 years to wife Jan.

Joint facility for township and schools is dead issue

BY KYLE GARGARO

Clarkston News Editor

The idea of a joint administrative facility between Independence Township and Clarkston Community Schools looks like a dead issue.

A letter from the Clarkston Board of Education to Independence Clerk Joan McCrary ended talks:

The letter stated "...the school board has directed our administration to prepare an alternate plan to meet our facility requirements. The need to maintain a suitable site for a future elementary or middle school will be a critical piece of this alternate plan. Therefore we are not interested in selling any property that could be used for this purpose, including the Clarkston Road site."

The schools and township officials have been discussing the possibility of a joint facility for some time after the issue was brought up by the schools. The land they were talking about was a 23-acre site on Clarkston Road next to the township library.

In the first move, members of both boards visited a South Lyon joint facility nearly two years ago. Talks grew more formal last year with Township Supervisor Dale Stuart and Clarkston Schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts talking about the project.

In order to make the talks more informal and casual; Independence Township Trustees met with members of the school board. Finally, Stuart asked local attorney Neil Wallace, who successfully negotiated Liberty Golf Course, to get involved in the talks.

There were also discussions of Independence Township purchasing part of or all of the land if a joint facility could not be agreed upon.

"It would have been a very good location for us. I was surprised because they didn't at all express the idea to put another school there to us. Clarkston Road already has a traffic overload," Township Clerk Joan McCrary said. "We are not upset with them at all. We understood that this was a major undertaking from the beginning. It just couldn't be worked out in a logical time frame."

The clerk believes time was a major factor. The township is set to go ahead and ask the voters to fund a new township hall. In fact, they have a $7.5 million bond issue set for the August ballot for Clintonwood Park improvements and a new township hall.

"The time factor was probably 40 percent of the problem. We are ready, had our study and are set for the August ballot," McCrary said.

School Board Secretary Sheila Hughes said the property is one of the larger parcels the school district owns that is, in particular, conveniently located in relation to Clarkston's biggest population area south of I-75.

The property, she said, needs to be held on to in case of a need to build a new middle school, intermediate school or elementary.

President Karen Foyteck added further the property is in such a good location, it would be irresponsible to rid of it.

But she said, overall, "It was beneficial for all of us to talk; to understand our differing needs. I'm disappointed (joint facility talks) are not going forward, but there are other areas we can work together on and I look forward to working with the township in the future."

Wallace said the negotiations just could not be worked out to appease both sides.

"Both sides worked real hard but it just did not fit the needs of both parties. If we were able to pull it off it would have been something extraordinary," Wallace said. So the two groups are set to go in their own directions. For the schools this means making a decision this fall as to what they'll do regarding facility issues.

Independence Township is set to go ahead with the bond issue and will look into different locations. The possibility still exists to purchase land.

"We would like a central location. We are considering both land that we own and the possibility of purchasing land," McCrary said.

Motorcycles return for 2nd annual charity ride

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Local motorcyclists will once again be revving up their engines for a good cause.

On Saturday, June 8, the second annual Charity Ride to benefit the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan (CLF) will kick off from Clarkston Chrysler Jeep on Big Lake Road.

At 11 a.m. that day, motorcycles will depart from the dealership and take off on a 50-mile scenic ride, fully escorted by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department's Motor Unit, finishing at Independence Oaks Park.

Entry fees for the ride are $35 per motorcycle and $15 per passenger. A fully catered picnic lunch will be provided, along with beverages, games, live music, and a raffle with prizes.

The event is sponsored by ABC Harley Davidson of Waterford, Clarkston Chrysler Jeep, Oakland County Parks and Recreation, and Country 99.5 WYCD.

Get the band back together

"Hey, let's get the band back together!"

I said this to my writers after scheduling an interview with local band "Mike Moran." It was meant to get a little chatter in the strangely silent newsroom and it accomplished its goal. We joked a few minutes about having a band and even came up with a name: The Paper Jams. (Pity laugh here, please)

Gargaro's

However, it has long since been a dream of mine to be a part of a band. Don't get me wrong, I absolutely realize this will never materialize due to the simple fact I have no musical talent.

My original thought as a youth was to be a lead singer but my singing voice would rival that of Roseanne. The next idea was drums but mother and father Gargaro put an end to that

So I will leave it up to the individuals who have talent: The Clarkston band "Mike Moran" is such a group. The band is made up of Mike Moran, vocals, Chris Haag, drums, Billy Perkins, bass guitar and Ron Ledwell, guitar.

After interviewing the group with members between the ages of 19 and 21, the guys gave me one of their demo compact discs. Despite being so young, the group is immensely talented.

I put it into my CD player at work and used it as background music for the rest of the work day. I must say I was pleasantly surprised with the quality of the music.

Their music is difficult to categorize. It is a type of acoustic rock mixed with a multiple of different music forms including reggae and funk.

I urge anyone who enjoys music to check out this local band around metro Detroit. The band will be playing Clutch Cargo on June 9. Interested individuals can go to their website at www.mikemoranmusic.com.

Gargaro Hall of Fame: The Fox 2 Problem Solvers. If anyone can uncover corrupt action it is Scott Lewis and his gang. The news segment is informative yet also entertaining. I can't see enough of annoyed business individuals shoving cameras in anger.

Gargaro Hall of Shame: Peter Forsberg. Patrick Roy and the rest of the Colorado Avalanche who attempted to prevent our mighty Red-Wings from advancing to the Stanley Cup Finals. How enjoyable was the 7-0 home victory in game seven last week?

To the Avalanche, I simply say, "Clean out your desk Avalanche, you're gone.

I believe the Cup will come home to Detroit

Call me kooky, but I am either just really cynical or I'm stupid and have blown countless opportunities to make millions.

Since I don't believe I'm a cynical old fart, I must be stupid. At this very moment, if only I had acted. my family could have been set for life. We could be living large in a big house with a cement pond out back. I reckon if I wait around long enough, and answer enough faxes here at work, I'll have another opportunity to make my millions.

I'll have to watch that work fax machine like a hawk, lest some fellow worker swipe the fax and its millions in US cash out from under my feet. What am I talking about?

Let me tell you. Two or three times a year we get these faxes, faxes from wealthy men in Africa. The amount of letters we receive from rich African men would lead me to believe they could help their continent's debt problem, if only they acted. Alas, they're trying to get the cash out of Dodge.

don rush don't rush

Here's an example of the latest letter:

"I want you to patiently read this offer: I am Prof. Paul Azika the special assistant to the Minister of Petroleum and Natural Resources in Nigeria. I amthe linkman between the Organization For Petroleum Exporting Countries - OPEC and the petroleum sector in Nigeria.

"Through the sale of our allocated oil quota in OPEC, I was able to make US $22.2million, which is currently deposited in a European Security and Finance company. I want you to assist me to claim this money as I cannot claim it directly because I am still a civil servant, and the code of conduct bureau forbids me to acquire such an amount of money.

It is on this basis that I am contacting you for assistance. If you will be interested, all you will do is to travel to the European nation after all official claim documents have been processed and sent to you. The documents with which the fund is deposited will be changed to reflect you as the new beneficiary so that you will be eligible to collect the fund on my behalf.

"I will give you 20% of the fund for this assistance. I am aware of the international monitoring of all large-scale financial movements after the September 11th terrorist attack on America and to avoid any state of financial investigation I will provide a classified clearance paper from the relevant body which will exonerate the money from either drug, money laundered or terrorist related proceeds.

'Kindly respond to my proposal through this email: or Efax number _____ On the receipt of your mail indicating interest I will provide you with my phone and fax numbers for further correspondence. I want to assure you that there is no risk attached in this transaction. You should also try to provide me your own personal telephone and fax numbers. Expecting your response.

Best regards PROF PAUL AZIKA"

Maybe I really am a cynical old fart, 'cuz that's just too good to be true. How can I say it nicely? FOR GOD:S SAKE PEOPLE IT'S A FRACKIN' SCHMACKIN' SCAM!

If we're getting these scam letters, so are other businesses. And, hard as it may to believe, gullible businessmen right here in our state have fallen prey. They have believed the letter, sent money, their bank account numbers, etc., banking on easy money only to be scammed out of thousands (sometimes more) of dollars.

Can you help stop these scammers? You can call the FBI (248-879-6090 in Oakland County), but they'll tell you to call the US Secret Service in Detroit (313-226-6400), as they did me, when I called.

Is this one way terrorist organizations bulk up their war chests? Or is it just an old fashioned flimflam? Don't know, but I am sure the gals and guys at the Secret Service office would like to see those letters. Fax the scam letters to them at 313-226-3952.

The good eye doctor; Ted Walton of Oxford, read about my eyes getting lasered. Doc said he is much more comfortable with current laser technology/eye surgery than in the days of RK surgery.

RK surgery was a technique and techniques had no set standards. Technology for laser surgery can be approved by the FDA. The FDA is the world's benchmark. If something is approved by the FDA, more than likely it's safe," he said.

Doc Walton consults his patients about laser eye surgery, pros, cons and what to expect. Any questions, give him a call at 628-3441.

■Clarkston school district voters soundly approved the 3.79-mill tax renewal and soundly defeated the 4.25-mill increase on the June 8 ballot. Voters also reelected Janet Thomas (1,824 votes) and Elaine Schultz (1,747 votes) to four-year terms on the board of education. They were the only candidates on the ballot.

■To allow weed killer, the Mill Pond in Clarkston is a few feet lower this week — thanks to a working Mill Pond cofferdam. The dam on Washington Street at the south end of the pond was restored to working order June 7, said Ed Adler of Lehman Investments, owner of the dam. Adler also owns Clarkston Mills

A building is planned for the 52nd District Courthouse complex on Lorac Drive, Independence Township. Developer Tom Rademacher applied for a final plat approval last month, but building director. Beverly McElmeel discovered the preliminary approval had expired in February 1986. Rademacher returned to the township board on June 2 for an extension and final approval.

■If a candidate ever had the feeling of talking to himself, it must have come at the forum held June 6-at Clarkston High School when the four school board candidates were to address the electorate. A small crowd of 30 people showed up, the vast majority of whom were school administrators, members of the candidates' families or officers in the Jaycees and Education Association, sponsors of the event.

■Pine Knob Music Theater seated almost 5,000 for Clarkston High School graduation rites June 4. Short talks were given by graduating seniors Richard Huttenlocher, Susan Mallet and Luann Klann, while Mary Jane Anderson and Barbara Lohff spoke the invocation and benediction. More than 500 seniors received their diplomas in the ceremony.

■The Independence Township Board approved the hiring of an architect June 7 to draw up plans for a proposed senior citizens center to be located behind the township library. While the action does not indicate immediate construction of the meeting place, both township officials and senior citizens feel it has gotten the proposal off dead center and moving toward a reality.

The baccalaureate will be held in the Clarkston High School auditorium on Sunday, June 8 at 8 p.m. Commencement exercises will take place in the school auditorium on Thursday, June 12 at 8 p.m.

■Clarkston Rotarians were treated to as fine a talk June 2 as they have heard for a long time. The speaker was a former District Governor, Cass Piotrowski, an attorney from Hamtramack. His talk on Rotary Information was delivered in a forceful and dynamic manner which bespoke an interesting subject --- settling the world's troubles by understand-

Usually, when I wake up at 5:30 or 6:00 I get up and start my day. The coffee pot timer is heating up, the morning friendly is in the roadside box and 7-8 hours sleep seems like enough.

But the Sunday before Memorial Day I decided to lay awhile. I turned on radio station WJR to get the start of Mike Whorf's 6 a.m. 'Patterns in Music' program.

He began this day with a series of quotes and observations. The final quote got me out of bed and sent me scrambling for pencil and

I've purposely avoided buying Dockers slacks. I don't like wearing clothes with manufacturer's names exposed (they should be buying print advertising from us.)

Too, Dockers are unpressed, loose, wrinkled, not dressy and bland. Besides that they're just another Levi Strauss (jeans) product, which reminds me of overalls.

Second graders 'pioneer' at Andersonville E

Little Andersonville on the prairie-Sandi Larkins' second grade class gets into the pioneer life with classic duds on May 28. Larkins said Andersonville Elementary's "Pioneer Days" started three years ago to allow kids to experience pioneer life through games like marbles and jumproping, entertainment like Farmer in the Dell, and crafts like tin prints. The kids also can dress up in pioneer garb and bring their lunches either in a tin pal or wrapped up in a handkerchief. The kids also took time out of their day to watch "Little House on the Prairie" to let them see what pioneer life was like. Larkins said part of the second grade curriculum is learning the history of the Clarkston community. "This is a great tie-in with what they are learning:"

Clarkston residents lend helping hand to displaced family in need

BY JEFF PATRUS Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston resident. Suzanne Simons said pitching in to help others seems to be her calling and Waterford residents Bret and Danielle Bobo are thankful.

The Bobo family, whose apartment was damaged by fire April 9, were the beneficiaries of Simons' efforts, as they picked out items from her Clarkston residence May

Simons said those items that aren't picked out by the family will be put up in a garage sale, with the proceeds to benefit the Bobo family, which also includes son Christian,

She said she heard about the Bobos' situation through the Clarkston-Waterford Moose organization that she belongs to. The group decided to help the family out as part of their community service project.

The Bobo family is currently staying in Lake Villa Apartments until their old apartment is repaired. The fire caused major water and smoke damage. and destroyed the roof in the living room.

"It should be done by the end of August," Bret Bobo said. "As soon as they get everything done, we'll move back in."

Danielle Bobo said the American Red Cross put the family in a hotel for a with her father in Birmingham for two weeks.

Kinney reached perfect attendance milestone

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Only four in the Clarkston school community have done it before her.

Amy Kinney, a 2002 graduating senior, is the most recent to have never missed a day of school in her life.

She knew she could reach this milestone even in kindergarten, 13 years ago in the Clarkston Community School district.

"It was like my ultimate goal that I started when I was very young.

Fortunately, along the way, there weren't any major sicknesses to keep her from school.

Sometimes, of course, I didn't feel good, but I still came anyway. I'm sure the other kids may not have liked that

A minor accident on school grounds couldn't make Amy go home early and miss a beat of school, either. "In kindergarten, I tripped on a sandbox leg and bit my tongue. The teacher wanted me to go home, but my mom wouldn't sign me out because I didn't want to leave.'

Trips around the world weren't enough of a temptation to give up on the "ultimate goal." Every February her parents take a vacation and every February Amy's missed out.

I've missed out on three trips to Hawaii, Puerto. Vallarta, Mexico; but I think it was worth it just to be able to set a goal at such a young age and stick with it the whole time. My mom said she'd take me on a big trip after I graduated. We've talked about a cruise."

Amy said she's always had the support of herparents, but at times, she'll admit they thought she was crazy "for sure."

A lot of people ask me, 'did your parents make you do this? No, I wanted to do this," Amy said, who added her friends will probably tease her for being at school on Senior Skip Day cipal John Diliegghio told Amy she did not actually have perfect attendance, but missed a day in second grade. He told her to search for certificates or any other documentation of her perfect record for that year.

After "re-looking" Diliegghio was able to confirm At one point this year, Clarkston High School Prin- her flawless school career. But prior, to that, Amy said,

"I was stressing out for one full day!"

Next year, Amy will attend the University of Michigan-Flint on a full scholarship to study elementary education.

She hopes to see the streak continue.

H Fair Association; $11,000 from the Ellis family, the original owners of the barn; $5,000 from Birtsas and Gibson; and $500 from Clarkston State Bank.

There were several key developments in the past. 1-1/2 years that led to last week's grant announcement:

■The Springfield Township Board, at its October: 2000 meeting voted to commend Birtsas and Gibson for their efforts to save the barn. They also voted to formally support efforts to relocate the barn to Springfield Oaks, and to be an applicant or co-applicant on any grant seeking money to relocate the barn.

■In a Sept. 20, 2000 letter to Supervisor Collin Walls, Birtsas originally proposed donating the barn via disassembly and relocation to another area. Birtsas submitted proposals to Henry Ford Museum/Greenfield Village, Oakland County Parks and Recreation, the 4-H Fair Association, the 4-H Fair Association, and Springfield Township Parks and Recreation...

■At the April 2001 Springfield Township Board meeting, Birtsas said the county's parks and recreation department agreed to accept the barn.

The property where the Ellis Barn currently sits was originally purchased in 1873 by the Ellis family, and the barn was constructed in 1883. In 1984, Ingomar Farms was officially designated a Michigan Centennial

The barn was originally home to Ingomar, a nationally known Percheron Stallion. The horse's stud proceeds paid for the farm. The Ellis family hosted several horse shows in the area, and also raised pigs, hens, sheep, corn and potatoes.

It currently takes up over 7,000 square feet, and measures 130 feet by 56 feet, including 11 box stalls as well as an indoor arena and an exercise room.

According to Birtsas, the barn is the only one in the state of Michigan to appear in Randy Lefingwell's book, The American Barn.

Wolves advance to regionals with 8-2 win over Waterford Mott

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston softball coach Al Land said he was a little worried about the team maintaining their focus in the district championship game June 1.

However, the Wolves answered the challenge with an 8-2 win against Waterford Kettering at Clarkston High School to capture the district champion-ship. The Wolves advanced to the title game with a three-inning, 15-0 win against Pontiac Northern in the opener.

After the Wolves thrashed the Huskies, Land said he was hoping the Wolves would stay sharp in the second game, so he had the Wolves working on little things; such as their bunting, during the opener.

"There was a little concern over what we would be like going into the second game," Land said.

After starting out a bit slowly, the have to make a few mistakes."

Wolves got on track and were on their way to the district crown. "It took three innings against Mott before we got our swing back," Land said. "We had some timely hits in that second game."

Suzie Giroux drove in three runs for the Wolves and notched a single and two doubles, while Jenna Kast drove in three runs and had two doubles and Heather Giroux had two hits and three runs scored.

The Wolves face a tough challenge against highly regarded Walled Lake Western in regional action, which opens Saturday, June 8 at Memorial Park in Royal Oak. The winner of that game will take on the winner of the West Bloomfield-Royal Oak Kimball game for the regional championship.

Land said the Wolves will have to be at the top of their game for them to have a shot at the regional crown.

"There are some real nice players on that team (Walled Lake Western)," he said. "They have to be the favorite going in. We're going to have to play our best game and Walled Lake Western will have to make a few mistakes."

Baseball team tops Kettering for district title

Wolves win first district title since 1998; will play Walled Lake Western in regionals

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was four years in the making.

The Clarkston baseball team overcame a lastminute surge by Waterford Kettering to defeat the Captains 8-6 in the championship game of their district, held June 1 at Clarkston High School.

Clarkston (21-12), which earned its first district title since 1998, advanced to the district championship game with a 17-2 win against Pontiac Northern.

"We played well," Clarkston coach Phil Price said,
"It was nice to win the districts—it's been a long time since we've done that."

Matt Orris notched a complete game on the mound for the Wolves, striking out nine. All the runs he allowed were unearned.

Sam Palace went three-for-four at the plate with a single, double and triple, while Derek Ranck went three-for-four and Chase Morris went two-for-three with a key double that scored three runs.

The Wolves advance to regionals Saturday, June 8 at Royal Oak, where they will take on Walled Lake Western beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Henneman takes third at state meet

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Cory Henneman carried the banner for the Clarkston Wolves at the state track meet June 1 in Rockford.

The Clarkston High School senior was the only member of the boys track team to place in an event, taking third in the pole vault with a jump of 14'.

Even though they didn't place, the mile relay team of Brian Oltman, Shane Bennett, Mike Wilder and Mark Kraus ran one of their best times of the season, according to Coach Walt Wyniemko, finishing with a time of 3:29.

Wyniemko said the team had a lot to be proud of this season.

"Our guys did a great job," Wyniemko said. "We had a lot of injuries. It just seemed to nag at us. With all of the cold weather and all of the other elements, we were really proud of our kids."

The Wolves will be losing eight seniors to graduation: Shane Bennett, Ryan Cocciolone, Grant Henderson, Cory Henneman, Mark Kraus, Travis Roche, Mike Wilder and Ariel Darnay.

"They played a very big factor for us," Wyniemko said. "Hopefully, we'll have some people to step in their shoes."

While Wyniemko said it is tough to predict how the Wolves will do next season, he expects they will be right in the thick of things once again,

"It's always hard to project where you should be," he said. "If people come out the way they should, I think we'll be okay. It depends on if we have a good cross-country season and a good off-season. The potential is there. We'll let people know we can still compete."

Athlete of the Week — Derek Ranck

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Left fielder Derek Ranck has been one of the offensive cogs for the district champion Clarkston baseball team this season.

Ranck, a junior, went three-for-four as the Wolves captured the district title with an 8-6 win against Waterford Kettering at Clarkston High School June 1: For the season, he is batting .423 with 27 runs batted in.

He started playing baseball when he was approximately 4-5 years old. He played with the travel baseball team the Clarkston Riverdawgs before making the Clarkston varsity last year.

He said he has improved his fundamentals, with the help of Clarkston coach Phil Price, since joining the varsity. "I learned a lot about hitting and mechanics, and Coach Price has taught us a lot about; the mental part of the game," Ranck said.

Ranck said one player in the major leagues he enjoys watching is St. Louis Cardinals outfielder Jim Edmonds. "I like his style in the outfield," Ranck said.

He is optimistic about his team's chances when they go up against Walled Lake Western when regionals kick off Saturday, June 8 in Royal Oak.

"I think we're going to play real well," Ranck said. "The second half of the season, we've been pretty dominant. I think we have the potential to go far in the states."

Ranck played varsity football this past season, but has decided to concentrate on playing baseball exclusively for his senior year. He hopes to continue with baseball once he graduates from CHS in 2003.

"I'm definitely going to play baseball in college, but I'm not sure where," he said."

Ranck is the son of Michael and Michelle Ranck of Clarkston, and has a younger brother, Nick, a sophomore at CHS who plays for the Wolves' hockey team.

Metzger takes regional vaulting title

BY JEFF PATRUS Clarkston News Staff

Writer A local resident has mastered a unique sport; that combines gymnastics, dancing, and choreographed music, all while riding on a horse.

Katherine Metzger, a junior at Clarkston High School, won the regional vaulting championship in a competition held in Herndon, Virginia, just outside of Washington, D.C. from May 10-12: Competitors from as far away as Missouri, North Carolina and Pennsylvania were on hand.

She is a member and co-captain of the Triple B's demonstration vaulting team in Davisburg, which is coached by Camille Drost. Metzger is also a member of the Agape Competitive Vaulting Team of Eau Clare, Mich.

She competed infour different events in the regionals, placing sixth in a doubles barrel routine, a fifth in individual barrel compulsories on the horse at a trot, and a first in freestyle kur. Her combined score in these events gave her the title in the regional competition.

The latter of the four events allowed each rider unlimited creativity to music with shoulder stands, splits and many other difficult moves at a trot, according to Metzger. She said the doubles routine involves her and a partner going on a barrel, while the singles routine is similiar to the freestyle kur, except on a barrel.

She said competitors routine, a second in are judged on compulsones as well as creativity. strength and gymnastics

> Metzger said she first became interested in vaulting approximately five years ago.

> "My 4-H club started messing around with it, and then I decided to go to a competitive team," she said. "I make a lot of friends and have fun. It makes you happy being around those energetic people."

Nonetheless, vaulting takes up a good deal of Metzger's time, particularly when practicing as part of the Agape Team in Eau Claire.

"It's about four hours from here," she said. "I've been going there every weekend, and I went there for my spring break."

For the horse portion of the routine, Metzger competes on the agape horse called Lady Guinevere, or "Gwen". The giant 16.3 hand Percheron is commonplace with vaulting due to their size, strength and gentle disposition, according to Metzger.

In addition, she said larger horses of this nature also allow for doubles and triple routines to be performed.

Metzger hopes vaulting and horses will be a part of her life for the rest of her life. She hopes to attend Michigan State University upon graduation from Clarkston.

"I want to be a horse trainer and I want to do some vaulting training,"

Women's socceralive and kicking in Independence

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

After this coming weekend, the Independence Township women's soccer spring league will be coming to a close.

However, that is only the beginning of the fun for women in Independence Township that enjoy the game.

According to Lisa Pawlik, one of the coaches in the Independence Township Parks and Recreation league, the Lake Orion Parks and Recreation Department has picked up the members of the Independence league for their program, which starts next week and goes through the end of August, a span of 10 weeks.

Another coach in the program, Betsy Martin, said the women in the league enjoy being a part of the leagues. "All these women like playing it," she said. "They wanted to play it themselves. Most have played it before or have children who play."

The amazing thing about the league, according to Martin, is that many of the women in the league are age 40 or older. "We all just started playing soccer in our 40's," she said.

Pawlik, who played on a women's team in Lansing for ten years, enjoys the exercise and camaraderie associated with the sport.

"It's just a lot of fun," she said. "It's a great way to meet other women and stay healthy."

According to Dave Miller, who is in charge of the women's soccer program for the Independence Parks and Recreation Department, there were four teams that took part in the spring season, with approximately 10-12 women on each team for a total of between 40-48 members.

While Miller said he would like to see the league grow further, he acknowledged it will be difficult to come together with a plan toward that end.

"Obviously, I'd like to see it grow, but we'll have to see what happens," he said.
