Car crash claims life of 'great kid'

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

There is so much that can be said about Keenan Shawn George.

"He was truly a gentle soul," Mike George, Keenan's father, said. "He was a great kid who cared a lot about people. He had a unique way about him."

Keenan, a Clarkston resident, died in a vehicle crash Tuesday, July 9. He was 16.

Lt. Rick Mitchell of the White Lake Police Department said witnesses indicated Keenan was eastbound on White Lake Road, about 4:20 p.m., when he reached into his back seat, quickly looked away, and unfortunately pulled the steering wheel to the left, causing him to veer over the center line and strike a large truck hauling equipment on a trailer.

"He was a good lookin' boy. All the girls at school always liked him," Mike said. "He was laid back, had a sarcastic wit, and had a quiet determination to succeed at what he wanted in life."

Most of all, Keenan had a growing passion for music.

Keenan's mom, Kim, plays the drums, and Mike has also loved music, so it was in his blood.

"At two and three years old, he would carry a toy guitar around the house," he said.

Eventually the Georges had to buy Keenan a real guitar because of the continual interest he showed.

"Gradually we got him better and better guitars."

At around 13 years old, Mike said he was thinking about Keenan's future. "I asked him if he couldn't play music what would he do?"

"He said, 'You know dad, I never thought about it. I can't imagine my life, doing anything other than music.' And he felt that way until the day he died."

Keenan was also the lead guitarist for the band Euphoria. He will be sadly missed by his bandmates Dave Torrone, Matt Vercauteren and Mike Baker.

This summer Keenan was working at C & G Cement in Milford to earn money towards more equipment for his music.

"He was a 16-year-old boy who matured late physically," Mike said. "But he was getting strong; working out everyday."

"For two solid weeks he worked at C & G. Eight and nine hour days in the hot son. That's hard. And for an artistic type like him, I give him so much credit for working there."

"I kept telling him, 'I'm so proud of you.' He just said, 'I know dad you told me a million times.'"

The Georges recently returned home from an east coast trip, where Keenan participated in a guitar instruction camp in Connecticut.

The family, and a buddy of Keenan's on the trip, made a stop in New York City, where they paid respects at Ground Zero. Mike said Keenan, being so into music, was excited to go to the Virgin Megastore and see the MTV studios. "It was cool for him."

This fall, Keenan would have been entering his junior year at Clarkston High School.

Mike said, this past year in school, Keenan played junior varsity football, but never got off the bench. "He didn't care. He always cracked jokes on the sidelines."

Mike admits personally he is a more sports-oriented guy, more so than music, like Keenan. "Sometimes I felt he went out there (on the football field) just for me."

In reflection, Mike said, "What has been giving me comfort, if you can, is the fact he was really blossoming as a young man. He was in good shape, strong, tan and his music was coming together. He went out on a high note."

A funeral service was held Saturday, July 13 at Clarkston United Methodist Church. Memorials can be made to the Clarkston Community Schools Keenan George Memorial Fund to support the fine arts or the American Cancer Society.

Over the past few days since the accident, Mike said, "Keenan must have been called an angel 100 times by so many different people. The fact that he touched so many lives shows me as his father we raised him right."

"What really stands out to my wife and I is the community," Mike said. "We are overwhelmed by the love the community is showing. I had no idea how many would support us and that loved our son. You just try to go through life and be a good parent and husband and give back to the community. I'm really amazed by the outpouring of love. It has really helped my wife and I."

Besides parents Mike and Kim George, Keenan was also survived by brothers Kris of Walled Lake and Derek of Clarkston; grandparents Ron (Carol) Steimel and Jeannie Osentoski, Paul George and Eva (Bud) Morford; great grandmother Betty Aubuchon; and many aunts, uncles and cousins.

Juveniles cause string of fires in Independence Sunday

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two 13-year-old Clarkston boys confessed to starting three fires on Sunday, July 14 in the Oakhurst subdivision off Clintonville Road.

Independence Township Fire Department Chief Steve Ronk said the boys were responsible for a brush fire, grass fire and a home under construction.

A grass fire on Oakhurst Lane occurred at 3:42 a.m. Detective Jerry DeRosia said the boys started the fire with pine needles and gasoline. The fire was heading up a hill toward the golf course, before it was extinguished.

Later that day at 5:11 p.m., the boys were seen by a security guard running from a home under construction on Oakhurst Ridge. Ronk said the boys started a fire at the home in the middle of the living room area floor, which burned straight through.

Simultaneously, the boys had a fire started in the brush behind the home.

> 'It's good to put a name on this. And the county did a good job combing the surrounding neighborhoods.'
> —Steve Ronk, Independence Township Fire Department Chief

The security guard was able to give Oakland County Sheriff's deputies a clear description of the boys, who were found nearby. The boys' parents were then contacted and interviews were held, at which the boys confessed.

"It's good to put a name to this," Ronk said, adding they could not have done it without the help of the security guard. "And the county did a good job combing the surrounding neighborhoods."

Since Oakhurst has been in development, Ronk said there have been a rash of fires including an abandoned farmhouse which burned last year, and a home under construction which was totally consumed by fire in 1999. Ronk said he does not have proof, but suspects the boys were responsible for the other fires which occurred on the same street as this past weekend.

Fire Marshal Greg Olrich said, "This is pretty unusual for this community."

DeRosia is waiting on word from probate court on what will happen with the boys. They will either be turned over to youth assistance or charged as a criminal case.

Clarkston couple reap benefits of gardening

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's like stepping into a tranquil world of beauty away from the real world.

A stroll through the backyard and gardens at John and Wanda Lohmeier's Clarkston home overlooking Middle Lake is one not easily forgotten.

And it recently was one of several Clarkston area gardens featured on a tour through the Meadowbrook Hall Garden Club, of which John is a member.

The couple hosted a brunch June 27 welcoming the Meadowbrook group. Sweet breads, tortes and a variety of berries and melons were served as they toured the Lohmeier gardens as well as neighbors Larry and Patti Barnett, Dick and Sue Haviland and Roger and Karen Eckert. Also on the tour were the Clarkston gardens of Bill and Susan Basinger and the rose gardens of advanced master gardener and roserian, Gerald Carney.

"It was nice; an informal affair," John said. "It was nice to have them out in Clarkston and to see our area."

A newly appointed master gardener, John said he has taken "different approaches to gardening" in his yard, with raised beds, rock gardens, a bog area, shade garden and much more.

"When we first moved in, we couldn't walk to the lake," he said. The Lohmeiers received dirt from the neighbors who had just put in a pool. They used the dirt to make a raised pathway to the lake, and then lined it with nearly 100 Hostas of several varieties.

Their shade garden is a haven. Amidst a forest of trees, woodchip covered paths lead you through a maze with benches and more along the way.

Hidden discreetly among the trees and atop several light posts are about 40 bird houses. A wooden bench swing, picnic table, and rustic chairs are scattered throughout the yard next to flower gardens to take in. And yet the two-acres have still so much more to discover.

But John said he wasn't always into gardening. In fact, it was the exact opposite.

At their former 12-acre residence in Groveland Township, he said he felt forced to do yard work, and joked he had no qualms about mowing flowers down.

Growing up, his parents had always been avid gardeners. For John, "it wasn't the macho thing to do then in the '50s and '60s. Cars were the thing."

Now years later, he wished he would have thought differently. "I missed the chance to learn from them freely. If someone has the opportunity to learn from family members take advantage of it. You'll most likely learn more from them then anywhere else."

However, John, retired in 2000 after 35 years at Chrysler, is enjoying his new found hobby. He admits though, it is a lot of work, and at times, it feels guests to the home are the ones who benefit from the beauty the most.

But he and Wanda are reaping many of the benefits as well. The two have breakfast on their covered back porch overlooking the gardens every morning. They also often head on out to the lake for a quiet supper.

And, John said, "even on rainy days its enjoyable."

"We don't like to run I-75 all the way up north to get away. This is instant. Everything is right here," he said.

Celebrating 100 years of 4-H, the fair is back for 2002

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's not your grandfather's 4-H Fair.

The Oakland County 4-H Fair, celebrating 100 years of 4-H, is combining old and new interests this year at the Springfield Oaks County Park, July 23-28.

"What's great about 4-H is you don't have to live on a farm to participate anymore," L.C. Scramlin, president of the Oakland County 4-H Fair Board, said. The club has even expanded from traditional interests like growing crops and raising steer to photography, computers and much more.

"We have a huge interest in raising poultry because that's something kids can do in their own backyards. We also have 20 kids showing alpacas," Scramlin said. "They commute to a local farm where the owner lets them help care for the animals."

With almost seven million members nationwide, 4-H has become the largest non-formal youth education organization in the United States. And more than 600 youth will participate in the 2002 Oakland County fair.

Daily activities free with admission include:

4-H Farmer for a Day: Fair visitors can have a hands-on farm experience. Intended for children under age 12, they are invited to pick apples (off a wooden tree), gather eggs (from a stuffed chicken) and dig potatoes (from a sandbox). There are also life-size replicas of horses, sheep and cows (complete with milk bottles for udders). There is a hay maze to explore, tiny tractors to pedal and corn to shuck.

4-H Petting Farm: Kids can meet calves, goats, sheep and other farm animals face-to-face.

Racing Pigs and Paddling Porkers: With five shows daily, fair goers can see pigs zoom around a tiny track or see the lively porker who dives into a small pool.

Hayrides and Exhibits: Tour the fair grounds on a hay wagon or visit the animals hand-raised by 4-Hers.

Club Drill Teams: Choreographed routines are presented by youth on horseback, Monday, July 22 at 7 p.m.

Selected highlights of the fair include:

Tuesday, July 23: 4-H Fair Birthday Party from 1-7 p.m. Visitors will enjoy an ice cream social, games, contests and more.

Wednesday, July 24: Rodeos at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Free rodeo tickets can be printed off the Oakland County 4-H Fair website at www.oakfair.org.

Thursday, July 25: Entry is free with a 2002 Oakland County Parks annual vehicle permit. A special cheer/dance competition starts at 9 a.m. Participating schools include Brandon, Clawson, Holly and Livonia.

Springfield Oaks County Park is off I-75, exit 93. Admission to the fair is $4/person/walk-in and $7/car, bus or van.

There is an extra charge for some arena events. These include demolition derby (Thursday), monster trucks (Friday), Figure 8 car races (Saturday) and NWA Wrestling (Sunday).

Regional art tax moves closer to November ballot

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Area voters will most likely be looking at an art tax when they hit the voting booths this November.

That is because the county's General Government Committee voted 6-3 Monday on a resolution to establish a regional arts and cultural council with a half-mill property tax to fund the project. The entire county commission is set to vote on the measure Thursday, July 18.

Oakland County Commissioner District 4 and Clarkston resident Tom Middleton broke the news at the Independence Township Board meeting July 9.

"The writing is on the wall that the art tax will be on the November ballot," Middleton said.

The plan has Oakland and Wayne counties joining the city of Detroit to form a regional council. That council would place a 10-year, half-mil property tax on the November ballot to help fund arts and cultural activities and institutions in the two counties.

The General Government Committee rejected amendments before voting to approve the same language that already had been approved by Wayne County and Detroit.

Among the concerns Middleton has with the project is the language says up to three percent of the money can be used for administrative costs.

"In the first year that would be about $800,000 that would not go to art institutions but rather administrative costs," Middleton said.

Middleton also wanted a guarantee that the counties or Detroit could not reduce funding in an institute if they received this art tax funding.

"Let's say the Detroit Zoo receives $4 million, I don't want the city of Detroit to cut their funding of the zoo by $4 million," Middleton said.

The commissioners stalled in committee so the issue would not be on the August ballot.

A similar proposal failed two years ago by a slim margin in Oakland County.

"It was proposal L and some people think the voters got it mixed up with proposal A," Middleton said. "They feel it can pass this time."

Middleton does not agree the proposal should be passed.

"I am not against the arts. I will pay for the arts when I go," Middleton said. "However, I do not think this is a priority at this time. I think transportation, sewer and health are more important items at this time."

An owner with a home with a taxable value of $100,000 would be looking at about $50 a year with this new tax.

An estimated $44 million a year would be collected with the tax. A total of $29 million would go to fund 17 institutions, of which seven are in Oakland County. The rest would be sent to local communities.

"I don't know how much the Independence Township area would see," Middleton said.

Springfield board gives okay to Forest Hills site plan

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After months of waiting, Forest Hills is now a go.

The Springfield Township Board, at its July 11 meeting, approved developer Howard Friedlander's propsoal for the development.

The board had tabled the matter at its May 10 meeting because of several concerns the township board had about the development.

Among the items the board needed more information on were: the grading and landscaping of berms, elimination of internal signs in the development, and changes to the conservation easement.

Friedlander addressed the berms issue by stating he would eliminate two relatively small berms that are not needed for the project. He provided for elimination of the internal signs in the revised plan, except for the street sign, the entrance speed limit sign and the exit stop sign.

The changes to the conservation easement will be made as part of the township board's approval of the project. Other conditions of the approval included establishing an escrow for the community sewer system and addressing legal issues. In addition, the board suggested placing boundary markers as outlined by Township Planner Dick Carlisle.

Clerk Nancy Strole complimented Friedlander for making the effort to improve his site plan. "I think you've really made an effort to respond to our request," she said.

Forest Hills is located at the south side of Rattalee Lake Road, between Eaton and Weber Roads. The property is zoned R-1-A, Suburban Estates, and the applicant is proposing to construct a 20 unit, single-family site condominium cluster development on 59.71 acres, with 37.68 acres (or 63.1 percent of the property) as open space.

Thirty acres of the open space are proposed to be a wooded conservation area, keeping the Oak/Hickory woodland intact. The remaining 7.68 acres are proposed to be a buffer conservation area between Rattalee Lake Road and the development, the location for the manufactured wetland, and additional areas required by the township board. In addition, 17 of the 20 units are adjacent to the open space within the site.

The revised site plan was reviewed by Springfield Township Planner Dick Carlisle of Carlisle/Wortman Associates prior to the township board meeting.

In a July 3 memo to the board, Carlisle said he had reviewed several documents in the revised plan: the master deed, conservation easement, sewer escrow fund agreement, Exhibit B, landscape site plan, landscape guidelines, bylaws, community sewer system agreement, quote from Wagner Excavating, site plan and landscape specifications.

He said the firm's previous review on April 8 indicated three areas of concern. These areas, along with Carlisle's review of how those were addressed, are as follows:

■Review of the conservation easement and master deed and bylaws by the township attorney: Carlisle said many of the concerns of township attorney Greg Need have been addressed in the revised master deed and bylaws. However, Carlisle recommended Need review those documents again.

> 'I think you've really made an effort to respond to our request.'
> –Nancy Strole, Springfield Township Clerk

■Include boundary markers delineating conservation areas along all property lines: Friedlander provided nine conservation boundary markers, as indicated on the most recent landscape plan of June 2. Carlisle recommended adding boundary markers at seven other locations.

■Approval from Oakland County Health Department for septic systems: Carlisle said that was not provided with the revised plan. However, Supervisor Collin Walls noted at the May 9 township board meeting that the Health Department has indicated approval of the system.

In other business, the township board:

■Approved the 2003 budget workshop schedule. The dates that have been set are: budget hearing, September township board meeting (Sept. 12); board budget workshop, week of Aug. 19; draft budgets to township, August board meeting (Aug. 8); departmental budgets requests to Walls by July 18.

■Established a Fall Clean Up Day for Saturday, Oct. 12.

■Approved a pair of amendments to the township's Zoning Ordinance No. 26. The amendments are:

■Subsection 18.07.2.n, under Criteria of Site Plan Review: "Buildings, parking, drives, landscaping and other improvements on the site are appropriate and consistent with good design standards for the lot size, shape, general location, and consistent with and/or an enhancement of area buildings and properties.

■Subsection 18.07.3.b(4), under Physical Features: "All buildings with dimensioned floor plans, setback and yard dimensions and elevation views, of all sides of the building, exterior materials and colors."

■Authorized an ordinance establishing design and construction standards within the township.

Opinion

Farm living ain't the life for me

Look up suburbanite in the dictionary and you might just see a picture of yours truly.

I have lived in the suburbs of either Detroit or Milwaukee for almost my entire life. I enjoy the lifestyle of convenience and comfort.

In my opinion, Clarkston is a perfect example of the positives of the suburbs. Here I am close to DTE Energy Music Theater, The Palace and much other night life. In addition, a trek down Dixie Highway offers one any fast food restaurant you could imagine which is perfect for a slightly portly young bachelor with the cooking skills of the chef from Hot and Now.

Gargaro's World

Kyle Gargaro

This stance was solidified for me this past weekend when I traveled to Alpena for a wedding of my old college roommate Mike Moran and Jenny Baxter.

My friends Eric Stepaniak, Tony Thompson and Ben Baxter always refer to their town as "God's country." Even so, it is not the place for me. I mean, I'm sure the Garden of Eden was nice too, but it had nothing but fruit.

My drive up US-23 took me through a multiple of "Everytown, USA." By that I mean there was a gas station, McDonalds and a small town restaurant run by someone named Marge.

While Alpena ended up being larger than I imagined, it left me wanting more. How you can build a JC Penny's and Gordon Food Service Marketplace and call it a mall is beyond me?

However, Alpena did have its positives. The traffic was minimal, the people were friendly and their local bars had character. I was even introduced to the country bloody mary which consisted of Busch Light and tomato juice.

In addition, Northern Michigan knows how to throw a wedding. Anytime you can combine the musical stylings of Neil Diamond, Tone Loc and Bob Seger you have a party in my book. My only complaint was would a little Foghat have killed them?

So while I greatly enjoyed my trip to Alpena, it just reaffirmed my belief that I need to live near a big city. A place where squirrels can be classified as wildlife and the local concert venue can sell out to corporate sponsorship.

Gargaro's Hall of Fame: The newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Mike Moran. While imagining Mike married with a job a few years ago would be like imagining Richard Simmons at a Monster Truck Pull I wish the couple the very best.

Mike has been a great friend ever since we became roommates in my sophomore year at Central Michigan University. While my grades would have been more impressive if we would not have wasted so much time playing Playstation or watching Sally Jesse Raphael his heart was in the right place.

And Jen is a fun loving individual who had no problem assimilating into our quirky and highly immature group. Amazingly she did not mind the childish nicknames we dubbed her or the concern we had that her mono would derail the productive life of one Jebree Thomas.

I wish them both good luck, especially Jen.

Gargaro's Hall of Shame: It was a good week so nothing in the hall of shame this week.

Community should take responsibility for cleanup

The Fourth of July parade in downtown Clarkston was enjoyed by thousands of residents, as the various floats and bands made their way downtown the parade route.

Unfortunately, the scene afterward was also a spectacle — but for the wrong reason. Garbage cans were overflowing, the streets were littered with political flyers, and candy was stuck to the ground.

The matter was brought up at the July 8 Clarkston City Council meeting, when the council instructed City Manager Art Pappas to write letters to both the Independence Township Fire Department and the Clarkston Rotary, who are in charge of the Fourth of July and Labor Day parades, respectively. The letters would deal with the council's concerns about the cleanup for both parades.

Several members of the council contended it is the responsibility of the two organizations to take care of the cleanup for their respective parades. When Independence Township Fire Chief Steve Ronk was contacted about this, he responded that this was the first time they've heard about this concern.

"We assumed the DPW would clean it up," he said. "It is a product of having 10,000 people in an area. We've never had any discussions. We're open to talk about it to them. We'll definitely cooperate in any way we can."

Hopefully, all parties will come together in the near future to discuss the matter and come to a workable resolution. Certainly, there should be enough garbage cans made available during a parade to accommodate the number of residents on hand.

In the meantime, there is one other group of people that can do something about the situation — the community's residents.

It doesn't take much effort to clean up the little area where you sit during a parade. If you don't want to hold on to the political flyers, then throw them out, but don't leave them on other people's property.

If you have any food or beverages in the area, then throw them out when you're done instead of leaving them on the ground where they can stick and leave a mess.

The Clarkston community has a lot going for it, and has proven it can come together to support one another, as evidenced by the parades organized throughout the year, the Clarkston Relay for Life that was held this weekend, and the strong turnouts for Clarkston athletic events.

We're optimistic they can come together to keep their community looking good during festive occasions.

Fortinberry supporter sets record straight

In a previous edition of The Clarkston News, the campaign manager for Kelley Kostin mentioned that Dana Fortinberry isn't the choice of law enforcement for 52-2 District Judge because one particular law enforcement group endorsed Ms. Kostin.

I am not Dana Fortinberry's campaign manager, but I am an involved, registered voter. The following groups and individuals know, and trust Dana Fortinberry enough to endorse her for 52-2 District Judge:

- Oakland County Deputy Sheriff's Association
- Oakland County Sheriff's Department Command Officers Association
- Police Officers Association of Michigan
- Michigan Police Officers Association
- Oakland County Undersheriff Thomas Quisenberry
- Macomb County Sheriff Mark Hackel
- Macomb County Undersheriff Kent Lagerquist
- Michigan State Police Troopers Association
- Michigan State Police Command Officers Association
- Mt. Clemens Police Lieutenants Association
- Chesterfield Township Command Officers Association
- Police Officers Labor Council
- Warren Police Officers Association
- Sgt. Thomas E. Clark - Holly Police Dept.
- Officer James A. Lorente - Holy Police Dept.

As far as I can tell, the above are all Law Enforcement endorsements.

Dana is also endorsed by Secretary of State Candice Miller, four State Representatives, UAW Region One, two Oakland County Commissioners, various Township Supervisors, Trustees and a City Councilman, five Circuit Court Judges, one Court of Appeals Judge, one Probate Judge and 13 District Judges.

That's quite a list, and it speaks for itself. I also know, and trust, Dana Fortinberry like those listed above and I'm voting for her on Aug. 6.

So when's a planet not a planet? Read on

After the weekend, I've come to an altered state. Maybe there is something to all the malarky regarding the women's revolution. Maybe they have gotten the raw end of the deal, the short end of the stick -- shafted, if you will.

I guess it really is a boy's world out there and has been since the end days of ancient Egypt's Cleopatra. Where am I going with this?

Straight to hell, probably. You can decide after you finish reading. But, I'm getting ahead of myself. What brought me to this expansion of the cerebral plane, of course, were the two blue-eyed, blond-haired, sawed-off, half-pint beings, commonly referred to as Shamus, 4, and Sean, 2. Those two lads who have consumed their mother's and father's lives, have struck again. The sons, Jen and I are rearing -- oh, the sons we're rearing -- are ones to watch for. When you see them, turn the other way. You have been forewarned.

don't rush

For the past week or two, ever since Seany picked up his new musical toy, the discussion of planets and outer space has been prevalent. The toy? Oh, it's this rat-smackin', plastic Blue's Clues sing-along thingamabob (and, by the way I say, "rat smackin'" with the utmost of sincerity). Blues Clues, for those folks without any connection to children under the age of five, is this whacked-out show for kids on the Nickelodeon cable TV network. There's a blue dog, talking salt and pepper shakers and this smiling, chipper guy with a green-striped shirt named Steve.

Steve sings a lot.

At any rate, this toy has a recorded song by "Steve" about the planets. It goes something like, "Well, the sun's really hot, and Mercury's hot, too. Venus is really bright, and Earth's home to me and you . . ."

(I just realized I know all the words to that blankity, blank, blank song. Somebody just shoot me -- in the head -- to get me from thinking of and singing that song.)

So, we've talked about the planets. We've talked about the sun and the Earth, how big Jupiter is and about the rings 'round Saturn. Somehow, while Jen was alone in a car with the boys on a two hour trip north, the topic of Venus came up -- I think it was because she showed them that planet in the sky. Well, before long the Planet of Venus became the Planet of Penis. And, all Jen could do was drive. Drive like the wind to get to her destination as fast as she could.

(Jen often wonders why the boys say and ask things like that when I am not around. All, I can say is timing is everything, baby.)

Three days later the novelty and hilarity of saying the "Planet of Penis" had not lost its luster on the boys. Jen wasn't phased by it, she knows boys will be boys. But, by the end of the third night, the giddiness the boys displayed whenever they said, "The Planet of Penis," had started to make me squirm.

"Guys," I barked. "Enough about the Planet of Penis. You don't need to talk about that all the time. It's the Planet of V-V-V-Venus. Venus not Penis."

At that moment in time (just before bedtime when the boys were only in their underpants), I knew how much clout I carry in the house and with the boys. And, it's a good thing. Fathers need to know where they stand, it helps them to adjust strategies and tactics. I know I need to adjust mine, for at that moment Shamus pulled the front of his under-roos open, looked down and said, "It's great to be a boy. I can see the Planet of Penis anytime I want."

Seany repeated the antic and the only thing I could think of was, "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em." No, I didn't pull my pants out and look down. All I said, was, "Ah yes. The Planet of Penis, in the Galaxy of Seany. How nice, now get to bed, boys."

I am hoping this galactic reference to (and the obsession with) the male anatomy is some sort of short phase; a phase, by the way, I do not remember ever going through. If it's not, it could be a rough couple of decades in the old homestead.

Oh man. I just had a bad thought. I have to make sure I am not around when they discover all the fun they can have with the Planet of Uranus. God, save us all.

Do you get the idea sometimes that our Supreme Court isn't supreme? We have to live by what this final authority rules, but when the court reverses its own rulings, one has to wonder.

In its last term this Court forbid indefinite detention of deportable aliens. This term the Court ruled the exact opposite.

In London recently, scientists said satellites will soon track sheep-grazing habits to design farms that make animals happier.

Is mutton from a happy sheep more tender? Juicier? More nutritious? Is an unhappy sheep's wool harder to shear? Less woolly?

At least the study is funded by a couple supermarkets, not a governmental agency.

Jim's Jottings

I suppose a lot of households have a similar collection of drinking glasses as ours. We have crystal glasses for looking at through a windowed case, good glasses, everyday glasses and an assortment of plastics, mugs, tins and fast food carry out assortments.

I find a single guy needs only one drinking glass. Milk, juices, water, wine and cocktails don't care what what they're served in.

As long as the glass is rinsed once a week all's fine. Ensure, Mountain Dew and beer should always be drank from the can they came in to assure the drinker nothing is lost in the pouring.

It's part of the guarantee.

The Sam and Cokie television show from 10:30 to 11:30 Sunday mornings has brought me in from yard work for years.

Sam Donaldson will soon be replaced by George Stepon-a-polis, a guy who was a whole lot closer to President Clinton than Mrs. Clinton for many of his White House years. That alone takes him off my watch list.

I haven't learned Cokie's replacement, if there is one, and if George Wills stays, which he shouldn't because the ship is sinking, he isn't strong enough to offset Stephan-a-police.

It's not that big a loss to me now. They've changed the format of this "news" program so much hoeing, pruning, digging ditches and painting trees has more appeal.

It's nice to know you're being thought of once in a while. I wish I could remember who thought I needed bed-making tips, I'd thank them. They sent me one of Martha Stewart's free booklets of hints.

One reads, "The top sheet should be facedown on the bed. This may seem backward to some, but it makes prefect sense. When you fold the sheet back, the finished edge, monogram, or other decorative detail faces up."

Well, thank you Martha, et al. Ain't nobody allowed in my bedroom while I'm alive to check any foldback. Plus, when a sheet is white the edge is finished on both sides isn't it?

A look back

From The Clarkston News

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

■In the first half of 1987, building growth in Independence Township has remained steady and slightly below last year's record-breaking figures, said Beverly McElmeel, director of the township building department. The township has also met the pace of the rest of Oakland County, said Marlin Rubin, associate planner of the Oakland County Planning Department.

■Athletes caught abusing substances will be given a second chance under the revised Athletic Conduct code proposed for Clarkston High School and junior high school students. The revised code also covers penalties for students who violate criminal or civil laws. The proposed changes were presented July 13 by former athletic director Paul Tungate.

■An easement for construction of a sidewalk in front of Clarkston Elementary School was granted July 13 by the Clarkston Board of Education to the Independence Township Board. The 600-foot long, eight-foot wide safety path will connect to an existing path that ends at the Woodglen subdivision off Waldon Road.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

■Independence Township residents will be paying up to $8 more per quarter on their sewer bills beginning Aug. 1 as a result of an apparent agreement between Detroit and the Environmental Protection Agency. There is no way to get around the increase, according to George Anderson, head of the township water and sewer department.

■Donald E. Stoll, an 18-year veteran of the U.S. Postal System, was sworn in as Clarkston's new postmaster July 15, replacing Ray Klein, who retired earlier this year. Stoll, who started his postal career in April 1959, will officially begin his $24,766 per year position later this month following his vacation.

■Independence Township has received approval of a $43,000 federal grant for the lighting of Clintonwood Park and the purchase of playground equipment. The original grant request of $66,000 was submitted to the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation early this year, according to Parks and Recreation Director Tim Doyle.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

Following the election, Leak was elected president, Robbins secretary and Weber treasurer.

■On Thursday evening of last week the Clarkston Firefighters Association met at the Fire Hall for their regular meeting. The usual routine of business was dispensed with and the group went to the local telephone office above the drugstore for an interesting program presented by representatives of Michigan Bell.

■The Clarkston Royal Neighbors held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Arvil Williams at Williams Lake last week. A picnic luncheon was enjoyed at noon. The Royal Neighbors have completed a beautiful quilt which will be on display this week in the window at Kelley Hardware.

Local doctor endorsed qualified political candidates

On Aug. 6 you will have an opportunity to choose a new District 6 Commissioner to the Oakland County Board.

Senator Rick Fessler has served Michigan well especially on the head of the Senate committee on Transportation in the past. He is unequivocally skilled and qualified to represent you and I endorse him whole heartily.

Also, I am casting my vote for Kelley Kostin for 52/2 District Court because her experience, commitment and qualifications make her the best candidate to serve our community.

Kostin's tenure as a Magistrate in the Clarkston court for the last six years has given her the opportunity to gain experience and wealth of knowledge as to what is required for efficient administration of justice.

Kostin's practice as a litigation attorney in Oakland County for the last 10 years has also given her the trial experience from the other side of the bench. The Oakland County Family Court Judges have endorsed her abilities by appointing her as an arbitrator, mediator, receiver and guardian ad litem.

Her commitment and dedication to her community is what distinguishes her the most from her opponents. She is on the board of the Optimist's Club, a member of the Clarkston Area Task Force for Youth and Clarkston Area Youth Assistance. She actively participates to develop programs which provide positive opportunities to youth and assist those that are in trouble.

She and her husband, Bob, support and participate in the activities of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, Clarkston Community Schools and Calvary Lutheran Church.

Kelley will continue to serve our community with a high degree of integrity and professionalism.

In addition, Joan McCrary has served us well and long as the Independence Township Clerk. She is now seeking the District 4 Oakland County Commissioners position. I believe she is hard working and uniquely qualified to serve us.

Please join me and our family in endorsing and voting for McCrary for District 4 County Commissioner.

Finally, we have a new State Representative district in our area. We are fortunate to have Steve Sanders for a candidate.

I believe his work with the Baptist Church and youth and his deep spiritual values, qualify him to be our state representative.

Please join me and my family to endorse and vote for Steve Sanders on Aug. 6.

James O'Neill, M.D.

Maranatha pastor has high praise for candidate Sanders

I would urge the folks in our community to support Steve Sanders in his bid for State Representative in the new 44th District that includes Independence, Highland, Springfield and White Lake Townships.

I have known Steve for more than 15 years as his pastor, co-worker and friend. Steve is one of the most decent and honest people I have ever known. There is no one I would trust more than Steve Sanders.

Steve has served very faithfully as the Assistant Pastor of Maranatha Baptist Church for 18 years. He has shown a great depth of maturity that far outweighs his age. Steve has demonstrated great compassion for people and their needs ministering with a genuine servant's heart. He would be willing to give someone the shirt off his back to help them in need. As the treasurer of our church he has shown great fiscal responsibility. He has steered our church through four building projects worth more than $1 million and the projects were completed debt free.

Steve understands the importance of his family, showing unwavering love and loyalty to his wife, Robin, and their four children. It is obvious that they have a great relationship and are a model family for many others to follow.

I have met dozens of people the last few months who have personally known Steve as his teacher, coach, neighbor or fellow school mate and all have testified to Steve's character. It would be tremendous to have a man of his reputation, conviction and caliber in the State Legislature. I urge you to vote for Steve Sanders on Aug. 6.

Glen Currie
Pastor, Maranatha Baptist Church

Providing family entertainment by families

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

They compete for regional titles and entertain crowds around the state, but most important they focus on family.

The Spray Masters Water Ski Show Club, based in the Clarkston/Davisburg area, provides family entertainment. But what is most special is it comes from several families, including three generations of skiers that make up the club.

"We try to emphasize this as a family sport and we try to keep it that way. We have several little families working together, and in doing that, we become one big family," said Kurt Bemman, club president.

For Bemman, who has been a driver for the skiers for 11 years, his family is just one of the many working together. His wife Lois is a spotter release attendant and their two adult daughters and their husbands are now a part of Spray Masters as well. Even their three grandchildren, Mitchell, Matthew and Mark, who range in age from one to five, are getting used to the ins and outs of skiing.

"We like families to be involved. It's an opportunity for fun, and to play and work together in a safe manner. Also, if parents are involved, they know what their kids are doing and they can grow together," Bemman said. "It's exciting to see your kids grow as skiers, and add to their repertoire."

Ranging in age from two to 48, members--who are also members of the USA Water Ski and Michigan Water Ski associations--work in various capacities, and the 19 skiers perform anything from pyramids, to barefooting, to ballet and more.

"If you look at all the sports out there, this is the only one that can truly be called a family sport. There is no division of age or sex," Bemman said.

Bemman is also proud of the atmosphere surrounding his Spray Masters club. For three years it has been a smoke free environment, and kids are required to sign a pledge to refrain from alcohol and tobacco products as long as they are a member of the team.

The high standards have spilled into competition as well. The team, who practice twice a week on their Davisburg home site of Big Lake donated by property owner Shirley Podpora, are back-to-back champs in 2000 and 2001 taking first place in the Michigan State Championship and third place in the Central Region Championship.

But Bemman insists the team doesn't look forward to winning, but rather to simply have fun. And though they compete at state and regional levels, their primary purpose is to perform around the state for various associations and festivals.

Bemman invites the public to come and see "our families working and playing together." All of their shows are open to the public and are free of charge, (county/state park admittance fees not included).

Check out the Spray Masters, one of only four show ski water teams in Michigan, at these upcoming events: Springfield Parks and Recreation Show July 18 at 7 p.m. on Big Lake; Lake Voorheis Show July 20 at 12:30 p.m.; Williams Lake Show July 21 at 11 a.m.; Michigan State Show Ski Championships July 27 8 a.m. to dusk at Stoney Creek Metro Park; Clarkston Rotary Show August 1 at 7 p.m. on Big Lake; and Greenville Danish Show August 18 at 12:30 p.m.

The Spray Masters, founded by Bob Dowling in 1987 in Fenton, are always looking for new skiers, too.

"If you don't know how to ski we can teach you, and if you know we can help you get better. We don't look for professionals, we just look for anyone with a desire to water ski," Bemman said. Membership fee is $125. For $60, two and three year olds can get used to the world of water skiing as part of the Training Team.

Planning Commission tables condominium proposal

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

After much audience feedback on proposed condominiums near Maybee Road and Dixie Highway the Independence Township Planning Commission chose to table the issue.

The public hearing was supposed to cover the wetlands in the area, but the topic soon turned to whether the condominiums should be built at all. Many who spoke were from the Birdland subdivision which is right next to the proposed construction.

"This is an abomination and traffic is the prime reason. We should turn it into a park and save a little green oasis," resident Tom Bullen said.

Bullen is interested in the township and the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy getting together to purchase the land and stop the development.

The proposal includes 132 multiple units in a three story development. In the year 2000, the land owner, James Scharl of Berit LLC, pursued a senior citizens complex but the commission decided the proposal was too intrusive. The developers said the only wetlands that will be effected would be a 50 foot man-made ditch which would be filled in during construction.

Some of the audience who spoke voiced their frustration at the proposed development. Among the concerns raised was traffic, which many believe is already extreme on Maybee Road, and effecting the wetlands in the area.

"I think the developers are trying to make a profit at our expense," resident Charles Newman said. "The schools are already overcrowded and this will just add to the problem. Also, the noise buffer between Maybee and the neighborhood will be removed."

The board and township planner Dick Carlisle each voiced that the decision is complex.

"The planning commission needs to think about the welfare of the residents near the area, the residents of the township and also the rights of developers to develop their land," Carlisle said.

"We are here to protect the wetlands and we do our very best," planning commissioner Dan Travis said. "I appreciate everyone in the neighborhood."

The commission tabled the issue so additional information can be gathered. Among the items the commission wants reconsidered is traffic, wetlands and landscape.

Independence passes resolution to oppose drains

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

The Independence Township Board passed a resolution opposing the establishment of Chapter 20 drains at their meeting July 9.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's proposed Phase II Storm Water Regulations under the Federal Clean Water Act identify the communities responsible for the pollution reduction measures within their municipal boundaries.

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality encourage communities to work cooperatively on a watershed basis. So Independence Township voted to participate in and continue to support a collaborative partnership approach to watershed planning and oppose the creation of Chapter 20 drains. The resolution also implores the Oakland County Board of Commissioners not to adopt a petition for the establishment of such Chapter 20 drains.

"I believe we can do better for ourselves and keep the cost down," Supervisor Dale Stuart said. "I think we can provide better service to our community."

In other action taken at the meeting:

- The board approved the proposal by DTE Energy to receive a permit for fireworks on Aug. 7 and 8.
- The board accepted bids to sell a 1993 Pontiac Sunbird for $952.01, a John Deere Gator for $709 and a hustler lawnmower for $527.
- The board approved the hiring of Benjamin Weeks as Information Systems Coordinator.

Dixie construction delayed

The widening of Dixie Highway between I-75 and Davisburg Road in Springfield Township has been delayed.

The construction, which was set to begin Monday, July, 15 is now set to start on July 29. The construction is still expected to be finished by Oct. 3

This project was one of three major Road Commission for Oakland County projects which have been delayed. They were temporarily delayed because final paperwork had not been signed by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

SCAMP thanks writer for support with 2002 home tours

On behalf of the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corporation Board of Directors, I thank The Clarkston News for your generous support of our 20th Annual SCAMP Home Tour.

We appreciate Jennifer Nemer's willingness to use her talent to help ensure the success of our event. Your stories on the Wilson Farm and the Covintree House were exceptional and both homeowners were pleased as punched. You seemed to capture the essence of the home and the people in it.

The Home Tour 20 raised approximately $29,000 to help fund SCAMP. As you know, the program started this year on Monday, June 24 with 354 SCAMPers arriving at 9 a.m. The excitement of the SCAMPers seems to make all the effort worthwhile.

We are grateful to you and all in the community who so generously give of themselves to help provide a positive summer experience for our SCAMPers. This is truly a team effort. We couldn't do it without you, the 200 hundred volunteers who help out each year and the hundreds of donations.

Again we thank you for helping make the 2002 Home Tour successful which in turn helps to make SCAMP happen.

Clear positions leads voter to State Rep. candidate Sanders

Republicans in the 44th district (Clarkston, Independence, White Lake, Springfield and Highland) are going to be faced with a choice in the primary election this Aug. 6.

There are five candidates on the Republican side. However, there is only one candidate, Steve Sanders, that has gone out of his way to make his positions clear on some very important issues:

• Although several candidates have made vague statements about being pro-life, there is only one who has both stated publicly and in his campaign literature that he supports making all forms of abortion illegal.

• In questions about education, most of the candidates have said they support raising the cap on the number of charter schools. Only Steve Sanders has stated that additional steps need to be taken to ease the financial burden on parents sending their children to non-public schools - such as a tax cut.

• Only Steve Sanders has stated in his literature and on his web site that he supports protecting our private property rights. At least one other candidate has been involved in environmental projects which would limit our ability to use our own property.

It seems to me if you want a Representative who is willing to take a stand, the choice is clear. We need Steve Sanders in Lansing.

Sean Hogan is bar-none the best choice for the State Representative of the 44th District.

He is a former professional minor league hockey player who has proven grit and determination. His in-depth knowledge on all of the issues and challenges currently facing Lansing will make him a true asset.

His charismatic personality and energetic leadership qualities make him the right person for the job.

I hope everyone will vote, as I will, on Aug. 6, for a fresh, young, able new leader for the Republican Party.

52-2 judicial candidates rated

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

On their way to a sought out judicial seat, Clarkston 52-2 District Court candidates recently were subjected to heavy questioning, background investigations, reference checks and more, as part of a strict peer evaluation.

The Public Advisory Committee on Judicial Candidates, an independence committee of the Oakland County Bar Association, made up of approximately 50 attorneys appointed by the OCBA, released their evaluation results July 12.

Each candidate was required to complete a detailed questionnaire and meet with a panel of the committee to review their qualifications. Prior to the interviews background investigations were conducted by committee members who checked references provided by the candidates and contacted others familiar with the candidate's qualifications.

Of the four candidates that participated, Dana Fortinberry, Kelley Kostin and John Knight earned a "well-qualified" rating, while Kevin McNulty was named "qualified." James T. Houlihan did not participate.

Qualified – Local judicial candidates reviewed, from the left, Dana Fortinberry, Kevin McNulty and Kelley Kostin.

The highest rating that could be earned was an "outstanding," which signified a candidate met the criteria to the highest degree.

Kostin said, "I'm pleased with the results. My understanding, after review of the results, is the 'outstanding' evaluations went to those who are already judges or in office 15 to 20 years as an experienced attorney or in a magistrate position. The 'well-qualified' rating is a good indicator that someone can do the job of a judge."

According to the committee, a "well-qualified" rating was awarded to those who met the criteria to a substantial degree; and "qualified" to those who satisfied the criteria. Other ratings included "not recommended," which signified a candidate satisfied some of the criteria, however, failed to satisfy all and/or lacked sufficient experience to be recommended for judicial offices; and "failed to participate" signifying a candidate did not timely complete the questionnaire in full, sign the waiver form, authorize release of records and/or appear for the interview.

The criteria was as follows:

- Legal ability--scholarship, writing and speaking skills, research skills, procedural/substantive correctness
- Experience--as an attorney, judge or in any field
- Reputation and conduct--punctuality and promptness, management and control of caseload and court, impartiality, fairness, decisiveness and integrity
- Demeanor and temperament--patience, tolerance, mutual respect and courteousness
- Professional ethics--including campaign conduct
- Full participation in the committee process--completing the questionnaire in full, signing the waiver form, authorizing the release of Attorney Grievance and Judicial Tenure records, appearing for the interview and submitting all other requested materials
- Participation in community and professional activities.

Kostin said doing an evaluation like this is important because it gives the public information to utilize and base their decision on when electing a judge.

The other judicial candidates weren't able to be reached before press time.

The Academy of Arts Drama/Music Team will bring to life the events of Sept. 11, at Dixie Baptist Church, 8585 Dixie Highway at I-75, in a musical entitled "America at Ground Zero." The drama follows the lives of two young men who grow up together as good friends and lose track of each other as they pursue different vocations. Both move to New York City, however for very different reasons. When the Twin Towers are attacked, each of them is affected differently--one tragically and one supernaturally. The hour-long program begins at 7 p.m. on August 1. There is no admission, but a free-will offering will be taken for the expenses of the Drama Team.

Audition dates are Saturday, August 3 at 10 a.m. and Tuesday, August 6 at 7 p.m. Roles are available for seven men and three women. Readings will be from the script. Car sets fire in grocery store lot

Smokin'–A vehicle fire occurred in the parking lot of the Farmer Jack's on Dixie Highway, July 11. A red 1999 Pontiac Grand Am caught fire while the driver left it unoccupied, and shopped inside. An adjacent car also caught fire, and another car sustained damage to its front end from the heat. The owner of the Grand Am said she was in the store for 20 minutes when she came out, went in her trunk, smelled smoke and noticed a fire had started between the front seats in the console area. The Fire Department was able to extinguish the flames to both vehicles. The car's cigarette lighter was found on the floor of the car. Arson Investigator David Rowe said there was nothing suspicious about the case. The fire started in the passenger compartment, and appeared to be accidental. Photo by Jeff Patrus.

Longtime Clarkston business burns, after weekend explosion

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 40-year Clarkston family business went up in flames, after an explosion leveled half of the building at 4:29 p.m., Saturday, July 13.

Independence Township Fire Department Chief Steve Ronk said half of the Fine Arts Sculpture Center, Inc., on the southeast corner of Waldon and Clintonville, was totally destroyed, while the other half sustained heavy water and smoke damage.

Ronk said the investigation showed a large propane cylinder had exploded. It appeared gasoline had been emitted, which had found a source to ignite it. The tanks found at the scene had recently been filled just days prior.

Witnesses, including a landscaping company working next door, described hearing a loud bang, typical of what would be expected with an explosion like this, Ronk said.

Nobody was there at the time of the explosion.

Ronk said the family has been in business for many years and most of the family's business records were able to be salvaged. A lot of the bronzing equipment used in the sculpture making is still good as well, he said. Ronk said the owners, a 57-year-old man and family, are planning to rebuild.

Alleged 'Peeping Tom' turns girls' picture trip into nightmare

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A seemingly harmless trip for senior pictures, developed into a violating experience for one 16-year-old girl.

The Waterford resident was at Winship Studios in Clarkston with her mother when the day flashed traumatic as she encountered a peeping Tom when changing outfits between photo shoots.

The young girl told deputies at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Independence Township substation she was in a studio dressing room when she caught the photographer, known simply in police reports as "Kevin," watching her through a vent between the room she was in and an adjacent changing room.

Police reports stated the girl had taken off her shirt and skirt, when she looked up and saw something in a vent near the ceiling. She then looked into the mirror and saw a head in the vent through the mirror's reflection.

"What are you doing?" she yelled out, after which she heard a loud bang, from the area of where the photographer had been seen.

Afterwards, the girl recalled hearing a door shut when she entered the dressing room, but thought nothing of it, assuming an employee was going into another office nearby.

The mother saw the photographer enter the other changing room, but also thought nothing of it. She told police, the man came out of the room buttoning his shirt and stating he was changing his shirt. But the woman said it was the same shirt he was wearing prior.

The mother and daughter demanded for the man's last name, but no staff member would comply, and also told the two the man would never do anything like that. The mother and daughter received their money back in full and immediately left to file a police report.

The two are seeking to press charges.

The case is currently being investigated, but detectives have been unable to reach the photographer.

In a statement released by Winship Studios, it was said, "Kevin Winship, son of owner, Ken Winship had completed the first portion of (the victim's) sitting when she went into the dressing room to change into her next outfit. Kevin Winship at this time went into the adjoining dressing room to change his T-shirt after doing several outdoor sittings prior to (the victim's) appointment. At this time (the victim) came out of the dressing room and told her mother that she saw someone's hair in the cold air return above her dressing room. Mr. Winship stated that there was no one other than himself in the room he was in and that there is no way for someone to reach the nine foot register above the dressing room. Mr. Winship Jr. has agreed to take a lie detector test that no improper behavior had taken place. Winship Studios has been in business for over 33 years, and Kevin Winship has been a photographer there for over 15 years, never in this time having any such incident occur."

"The studio is upset by the false allegation, and has already conducted an official investigation which concludes that it is nearly impossible for someone to spy through the cold air return, the method allegedly used, without the assistance of a six foot step ladder (which, of course, was not present in the dressing room at the time) to reach the nearly nine foot high return. The reputation of the studio is impeccable throughout the community, and Mr. Winship is confident that his name will be immediately cleared of any wrongdoing."

Catallo, Meyland seeking reelection to City Council

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With less than three weeks before the filing deadline, at least two current Clarkston City Council members will be looking to return.

Mayor Sharron Catallo and Councilman Scott Meyland have indicated they will seek reelection to the council in the Nov. 5 general election. The filing deadline for council candidates is 4 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 6.

Four seats on the council are up for grabs — those of Catallo, Meyland, Councilwoman Anne Clifton and Councilman Derek Werner. Clifton said she has not decided whether to run again, while Werner could not be reached for comment as of press time.

In a telephone interview, Catallo, who has headed up the city for 16 years, noted she would likely file to once again head up that spot. "At this moment, I'm going to run again," Catallo said.

She has been a fixture on the City Council for almost two decades, having served as a city councilwoman from April 1984 to March 1986. She has served as village president/mayor since April 14, 1986.

Likewise, Meyland, who has been on the council for almost three years, said he would like to continue his work on the council.

"At this point, I am planning to run again," Meyland said. "I would like to continue to be involved with the council. We've accomplished a lot and there are a lot of things we need to continue to work on."

Meyland was originally appointed to the council in August 1999, and was reelected to a one-year term in November of that year. He was elected to a two-year term in November 2000.

He noted the council has taken a more active role in the operations of the city's departments since he first joined the council. "I enjoy working with the mayor, the rest of the council and Art (Pappas, city manager)," he said.

Meanwhile, Clifton, who has served on the council since 1997, is mulling whether to seek another term. In the meantime, she wants to see other city residents take an interest in serving on the council.

"I'm hoping that other community members will step up and run," she said. "I'm going to wait and see what happens before I make a decision."

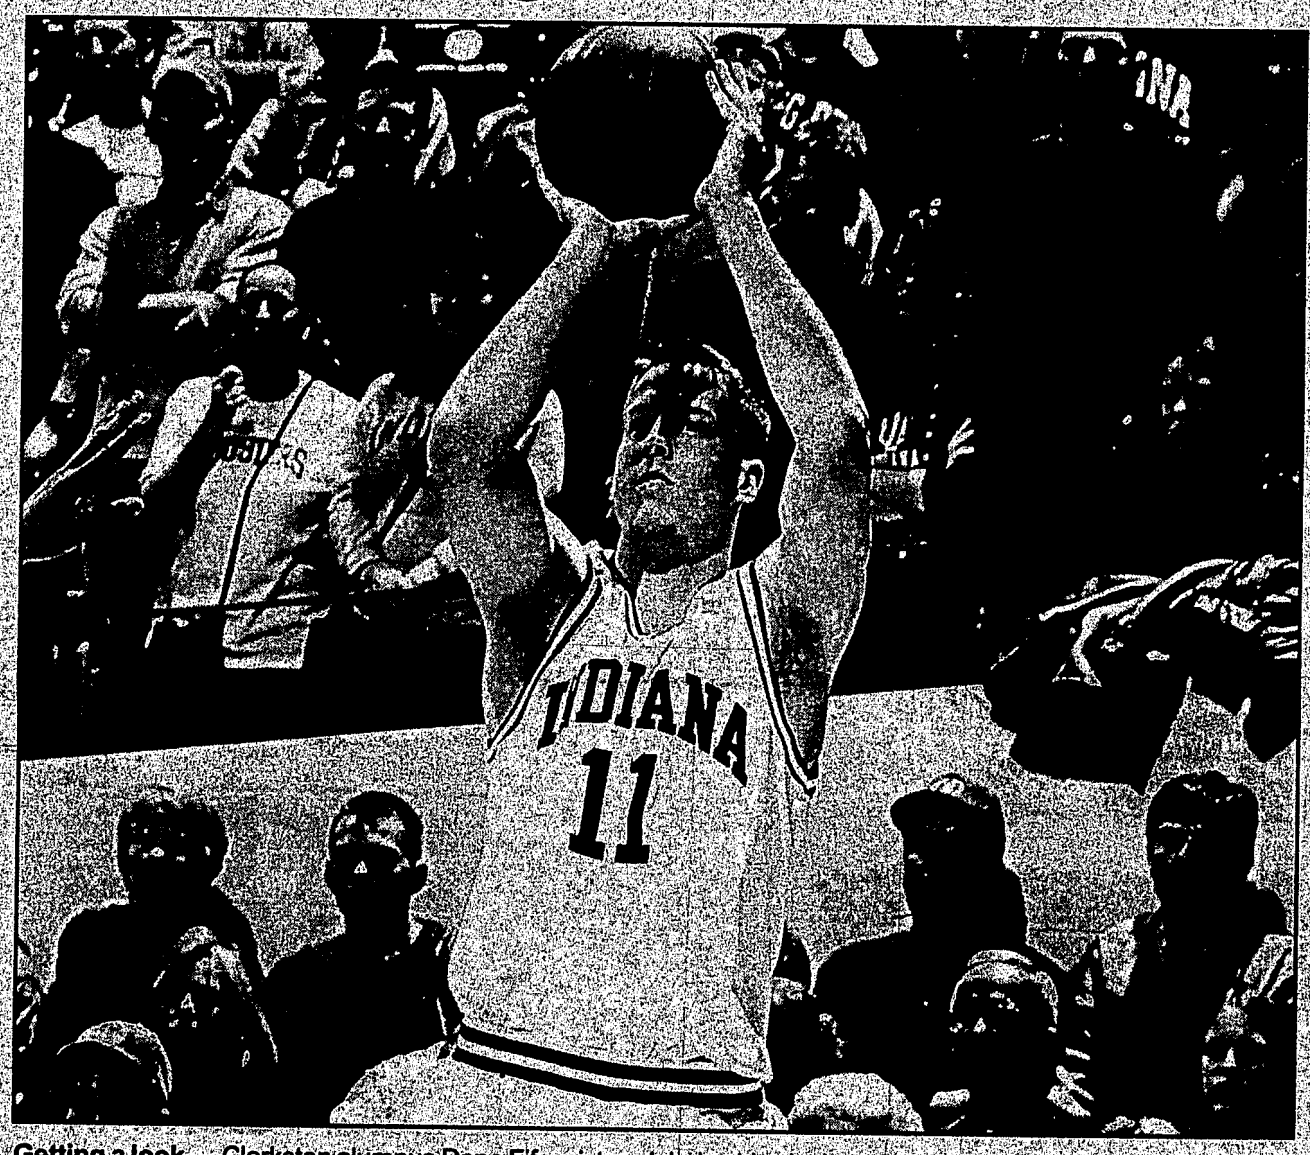
Fife hoping to launch career with Rockets



Getting a look — Clarkston alumnus Dane Fife, pictured during his playing days at Indiana University, has hooked up with the Houston Rockets squad in the NBA summer league this month in California. Photo provided.

Former Clarkston, IU star taking part in summer league action in California

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dane Fife is getting a chance to take his game to the next level.

The former Clarkston High School standout and 1998 Mr. Basketball, who helped lead Indiana University to this year's NCAA college basketball championship game, is a member of the Houston Rockets' entry in the NBA summer league in Newport Beach, California.

The league will conclude Sunday, July 21, at which point Fife will have a better idea of where he stands, according to his father, Clarkston varsity boys basketball coach and athletic director Dan Fife.

In addition to the Rockets, Fife noted his son had free agent offers from the Indiana Pacers, Toronto Raptors and Miami Heat. "Houston looked like the best opportunity for him to make the team," he said.

Dane Fife was co-Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year in his senior year as the Hoosiers finished the regular season with a 20-11 record and a fifth seed in the South Region of the NCAA tournament. He was named to the all-tournament team after leading the Hoosiers to the title game, which they lost to Maryland 64-52.

The Fife family gets regular updates from Dane on how things are going in the summer league. Dan

Theryoung part of U.S. team in goalball competition

Top four teams from world championships to advance to 2004 Paralympics in Athens

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston native Robin Theryoung will try to add to her list of accomplishments in the sport of goalball.

Theryoung, a 1997 graduate of Clarkston High School who is blind, is one of six women that will compete in the International Blind Sports Federation's World Goalball Championships Aug. 31-Sept. 8 in Rio de Janiero, Brazil.

There will be eight women's and 12 men's teams competing in the event. The top four teams in each division will qualify for the 2004 Paralympic Games, to be held in Athens, Greece after that year's Olympic Games.

This is Theryoung's second trip to the World Championships. In 1998, she helped the United States team to a third place finish in Madrid, Spain.

In addition, she played in a tournament in Sweden, helping her team to a third place finish, and was part of the U.S. team that won a gold medal in the sport at the 2001 Pan Am Games in South Carolina.

The sport was developed after World War II as a way to keep blinded veterans physically active. The game is played on a gymnasium floor the size of a volleyball court, and all athletes compete wearing goggles, which prevent them from seeing anything.

Two teams of three players each face each other across a court that is nine by 13 meters. The object is to roll a weighted ball with bells in over your opponent's back line. There are tactile markings on the court that help the players know where they should be at.

The opponents listen for the oncoming ball and attempt to block it with their bodies. Once they are able to stop the ball and take control of it, they become the offensive team.

Theryoung explained that goalball is a sport that requires quick thinking. "The reaction time is very short,"

Please see Theryoung on page 9B

Oakhurst offers local residents taste of two worlds

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston residents can get the best of both worlds at Oakhurst Country Club.

Both the golf course, which opened in the summer of 1998, and the housing development, which started in late 1997, have attracted a great deal of interest in the community.

Recently, it attracted several of the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings as well. Oakhurst membership director Glenn Pulice said about 12 members of the Wings appeared at the course Tuesday, June 18 with the Cup, and took in around the course. Pulice also noted that 12 of the Wings are members of the course.

According to Pulice, many of the club's 253 members are also residents of the homes that surround the golf course. Pulice said more than 200 homes have already been built in the area, ranging from single-family developments to condo-style.

"You can be a member without living here, and you can live here without being a member," he said. "However, many choose both."

A unique feature of Oakhurst's membership fee, according to Pulice, is the fact it is 100 percent refundable if members should leave the club. In addition, Clarkston State Bank has financed memberships for the club.

"That's worked out quite well," Pulice said.

The course is designed by Arthur Hills, the same company that designed Bay Harbor, Red Hawk and Shepherd's Hollow. The property is set on 800 acres, 250 of which are preserved wetlands. Those that live on the development need not worry about interference from golfers — Pulice commented the homes do not come into play.

Currently, the course's clubhouse operates on a 10,000 square-foot piece of property, and features dining, a pro shop, a bar, offices and a patio. However, the size of the clubhouse may be growing in the future.

Pulice noted the club has a membership goal of 275 members, and when it reaches that goal, it will begin a 32,000-square foot addition to reach a total of a 42,000-square foot clubhouse.

Several people are interested in helping push Oakhurst's membership past that magic number — Pulice noted there are more than 200 people that have expressed interest in being in the club in the past four months. The club offers four different kinds of memberships — social, athletic, golf and corporate.

A facet of the club that is important, Pulice commented, is its family-friendly nature. He said the average age of the club's membership is in their late forties, and also said there are 350 kids that are members of the course along with their parents. The club maintains an active schedule of events for kids, adults and guests.

Soon, parents may be able to bring their kids along while taking part in the course's activities. "We will have a large workout facility with a supervised child care area," Pulice said.

Independence Parks & Rec softball team enjoying season

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As they wrap up their season, the Independence Township Parks and Recreation entry in the 12 and under girls softball league is focusing on having fun.

The team sported a record of 5-4 heading into their July 11 game against Clarkston Internal Medicine.

Coach Kim Cross noted the team has been working on all aspects of the game. "We've been working on fundamentals, and I had a high school pitcher come in and do the pitching," Cross said. "We have new players working on fundamentals, getting that down, as well as batting and fielding. That's come along nicely."

Cross is pleased the team has had a good time this season. "They are having a ball," she said. "I think they are really enjoying it. I think they're having a fun time."

Among her hopes for the team this season, she said, "I hope they have learned something new, and met a new friend and had a good time, and that they can come back next year."

Cross credits assistant coaches Mike Upchurch and Todd Hasselbach, as well as the team's parents, for standing behind their team.

"I've had great assistant coach and parent support, and that's added to the spirit of the season," she said.

After Shedding 49 Lbs., Stacey Harrington says ...

Hypnosis Put Me Back in Control!"

My name is Stacey Harrington. I am a homemaker and parttime bookkeeper. This is my true story. I will tell you how I dropped 49 pounds in five short months. And how I made my marriage sizzle. I'm sharing my story because I know that if you are reading this, you may be feeling just as miserable and desperate as I was only a year ago.

"So when's your baby due?" my husband's uncle asked, staring at my bulging stomach.

"I'm not expecting," I said, my cheeks burning with shame.

When I got home, I stared at my reflection in the mirror. Tears streamed down my cheeks. It was true. I was that fat.

Later that night a concerned look crossed my husband's face. "What's wrong, Stacey?" He softly asked. "You pull away when I try to touch you. Sometimes I wonder if you still care about me."

Tears welled in my eyes. I couldn't admit what was really wrong. I felt so fat, I was ashamed to be near him.

"I couldn't stop eating..."

I had become overweight during my first year of college. My weight kept adding on from there. In desperation, I started dieting. My weight went up and down like a yo-yo.

On one of the national diet programs I finally lost some of my weight for my wedding. I felt starved and deprived. Once I stopped the program, I gained my weight back plus more. I had tried every diet imaginable and here I was at a disgusting weight once again.

I was easily insulted in those days. I thought I might strangle the next person who told me, "You have such a pretty face." I knew what they meant. Too bad you're so fat. I was desperate. Yet I couldn't stop eating. I craved and binged. Every day I'd hide a sleeve

"My weight went up and down like a yo-yo."

before Hypnosis

of chips in my desk drawer. I hid it for two reasons. First, I was already so overweight, I didn't want people to see me scarfing down potato chips. Secondly, I didn't want to share them. I wanted them all to myself!

One day I saw a story in the newspaper about a woman who had lost 47 lbs. with hypnosis. She looked so pretty and confident and sexy in her 'after' picture. I wanted to look just like her. I called to schedule my free hypnotic screening.

Glimmer of Hope

I was impressed right off the bat. The reception area was warm and professional. I watched a video and paged through two huge books of testimonials. I felt a glimmer of hope.

My hypnotic screening was wonderful. My consultant listened to my concerns. I told her about my past failures. How my weight was hurting my marriage. She understood.

When I first walked in I was skeptical. I expected an arm twisting sales pitch. It never happened. She explained my program and the guarantee. I felt reassured. I couldn't fail because I had all these people to help me. By the end of the screening, I was ready to get started. I was determined to do this for me!

Choosing hypnosis was the best decision of my life. I lost my weight at an average of 10 lbs. a month. 49 lbs. in all. I lost five inches off my bust, six and a half off my waist and five inches off my hips. That's a whopping 16½ inches in five short months! When I first start I was stretching the seams on my size 16 jeans. I recently bought my first pair of size 6's. That's when I knew I had reached my goal. I cried tears of joy!

Easy and Fun!

Hypnosis made my weight loss easy and fun! I noticed a change in my eating habits after my first session. That night I went home and I didn't snack or drink soda. I didn't even think about it. When I'm full, I stop eating. I don't feel like I'm depriving myself. I don't fight it with willpower. It's automatic.

Being in hypnosis is serenity itself. Any worries or cares seem to drive away. I walk away from my sessions feeling refreshed, invigorated an in control of my life.

After Hypnosis, Her Husband Said... "You're The Sexiest Woman Alive!"

Passport to a New Life

I used to let the scale determine my mood in the morning. Now, I just wake up in a good mood. I no longer think about my weight. If I'm thirsty, I reach for a glass of water. If I'm hungry, I eat a well-balanced meal.

Before hypnosis I stayed home all the time. I didn't want people to see me. My clothes were too tight. I was lethargic.

Now I'm out and about all the time. My friends call me an energizer bunny. I always have a smile on my face.

I made some wonderful new friends during my hypnosis program. They were taking off pounds and inches just like me. It was fun to watch our progress each week. We'd exchange stories and recipes. It's wonderful to be around such friendly and positive people.

Diet programs never gave me the confidence I've gained since being hypnotized. I've thrown out all my fat clothes. I would never have done that before. That's how confident I am that I've lost my weight for good.

Sleek and Sexy

Thanks to hypnosis, I get compliments daily. My mother recently came to visit. He jaw dropped when she stepped off the plane. I saw an old friend the other day. He barely recognized me. "Wow," he said. "How did you do it?" He was astounded when I told him hypnosis.

The best compliment of all came from my husband. One night he gazed into my eyes and said, "Stacey, I think you're the sexiest woman alive." The best part was that I believed him. I actually felt sexy. Our passion has been sizzling ever since.

I know why Keith is thrilled. I am a happier person. I'm no longer self-conscious about my body. I no longer insult myself. I'm confident, energetic, and fun to be around.

Success Happens

I would say choosing hypnosis for weight loss was the smartest investment of my life. I'm saving money every week because I no longer crave junk food and fast food. I drive right past Burger King, McDonalds, and Wendy's without a second glance. Just a short year ago I never would have believed it possible. With hypnosis I feel 100% in control. I love it! I have control of what I eat. Control of how I look. Best of all, my 'after' picture is sleek and sexy and confident.

So that's my story. Everything you've read is 100% true. I have not been paid to write this article. I believe in hypnosis. They've given my my life back.

Now it's up to you. If you're feeling miserable and desperate about your weight, don't wait another minute. Don't suffer another second. Just pick up the phone and call. Don't worry. They won't pressure you. If they don't think hypnosis is right for you, they will tell you so. So call now. If you're like me, it will be the best decision of your life.

MORE SUCCESS STORIES. . .

New Clarkston business, Lily & Ivy,...

Offering gift baskets, more for any occasion

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lily & Ivy has come to Clarkston to help.

No longer will you find yourself stumped for present ideas for your loved one, or stressed at the thought of hosting a special event--this new business will cater to your needs, offering gift baskets and party favors for any occasion.

Mother and daughter team Susan Andre and Elizabeth Andre-Stotz just opened their downtown Clarkston store May 11, relocating from their previous Ortonville location.

In business for two years now, both women left their careers--Susan, a systems engineer with K-mart, and Elizabeth, a contract employee with the Detroit Institute of Arts--to pursue this new venture.

"We put our heads together, thought this would be fun and that's what it has turned out to be," Rochester resident Susan said.

Elizabeth agreed. "It's fun working with my mom. We get along really well. I can't think of anyone I'd want to do this with more."

Elizabeth and Susan have much to offer in themed gift baskets; for new babies, weddings, the office, or for anyone and any occasion.

Is your father a movie buff? How about a Hollywood-themed basket for Father's Day? Or, does mother love sewing? It could be a perfect theme for a birthday basket.

"We really can do anything the customer wants," Elizabeth said.

Unique basket creations have included fresh-baked goodies, Detroit Tigers baseball paraphernalia, vintage baby dresses and Lily & Ivy's famous "Best of Michigan" baskets with an array of hand selected products from Michigan's best farms, orchards and artisans.

Gift baskets range from $15 tea-filled mugs to large scale corporate baskets for $250.

"We will accommodate any price range," Elizabeth said.

The ladies feel gift baskets are no different than any other gift selected. "It is a careful and thoughtful reflection of the person and occasion."

Free delivery is offered to Clarkston and Ortonville residents as well. "It's our way of giving back to the community. Our way of thanking the community for using us," Elizabeth said.

Lily & Ivy also offers delivery throughout Oakland County, and outside the area during holidays. "Regardless, we'll get it out the door for you," said Susan.

The other half of their specialized business focuses on the party favor. From fragrant candles, delectable truffles, decoupaged French country candy holders, Victorian containers with chocolates, Elizabeth and Susan will work with you to find the perfect favor to reflect the style and theme of any event.

"But," Elizabeth noted, "you can also come in and buy off the shelves. We like to think of ourselves as gifts, gift baskets and party favors."

Their 400 square foot store, which they painted and decorated themselves, is stocked with "unusualties," as Elizabeth likes to call the merchandise.

"Our goal is to keep getting new products in, revolving products to make each visit different," Ortonville resident Elizabeth said.

But the primary goal is to provide the best customer service possible.

"We want customers to feel they are being treated differently then if they visited a large retailer," Elizabeth said. "We want them to feel appreciated and know they are getting a good gift."

"And we are always open to suggestions," Susan said. "If someone has tried something elsewhere they liked, we'll search it out and get it for them."

Elizabeth and Susan invite the community to "come in and try us. You'll really like us."

Lily & Ivy is located at 64 S. Main St. inside the Tierra Fine Jewelers mall. Hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For more information call (248) 922-1550, E-mail lilyivybaskets@aol.com or logon to www.lilyivybaskets.com.

Robert Bondy

It's not that I cannot explain the latest technologies and computer ideas to the masses. It's just that 99.9% of the time, there's no interest. People are too polite. I'll be completely oblivious to the glazed look in their eyes, while they nod and listen to me ramble on about some new tool or utility I "discovered" today. I always wonder why no one ever talks to me about my work [illegible] after I tell them what I [illegible].

With that said, I would like to introduce myself to you. My name is Robert Bondy, but everyone calls me Rob. I have lived in Clarkston for the last six years with my wife Michele and two children Hailey, 5, and Caitie, 3.

I also own Contemporary Computer Concepts, Inc., a computer service and network consulting company in downtown Clarkston. I've been in business since January of 1991 and moved my company from Rochester Hills to 18 ½ S. Main Street in 1996. My firm helps home users and businesses like you solve those seemingly endless problems with their computers and networks.

I will be writing poignant and relevant articles every month to give advice, answer questions, and hopefully help you have a more loving and fulfilling relationship with your computer-dependent computer or other.

Most importantly, if you have any questions you would like answered on any computer related topic please e-mail me at [illegible]. You never know, your question could be [illegible] in my column.

So, until next time remember that computers are people too. Treat them right and they will [illegible].

SUMMARY
CITY COUNCIL MEETING
July 8, 2002

Meeting called to order at 7:08 p.m. by Mayor Catallo.

Roll: Present: Clifton, Catallo, Colombo, Gamble, Meyland, Savage, Werner.

Absent: None.

Minutes of June 24, 2002, accepted as presented.

Agenda accepted as presented.

Bills in the amount of $62,009.92 approved for payment.

Meyland reported that he felt the parade had gone smoothly; however, the litter presented a problem.

Savage reported that the Downtown Partnership has a meeting scheduled for this week.

Savage will be talking with Gary Tressel to discuss the upkeep of the downtown bricks and lights.

Brian Meloche reported that he had obtained estimates on the removal of wood and concrete from the area behind the Tot Lot; also, an estimate on the reroofing of the Gazebo has been obtained.

Colombo asked if the roof on the Gazebo could be postponed for another year.

Pappas reminded Council of the due date of August 6, 2002, as the last day for candidates for City offices to submit petitions.

Resolved That Special Assessment Resolution No. 5A (W02-1) and Special Assessment Resolution No. 5A (P02-1) be adopted. (Copies attached to official Minutes)

Tressel reported that new conditions were drawn up for the storm drain at East Washington and Buffalo.

Treasel reviewed the drainage on Middle Lake Road and the necessity of a new storm sewer between 6337 and 6345 Middle Lake Roads went of Main Street and at the bottom of the hill.

Resolved That the City Engineer enter into negotiations to obtain proper easements for a storm drain between 6337 and 6345 Middle Lake Road.

Tressel reported that the residents on Pinehurst are attempting to arrange for repairs to the bridge on their own with different solutions and possibly less cost than the original estimate.

Tressel reviewed correspondence with the Road Commission for Oakland County and the regarding West Washington and South Holcomb Road.

Tressel reported that he had sent plans for the water and street projects to Linda Richardson, Independence Township D.P.W. Director, for the Township's comments on the City's system. Input from Township Departments has been received on the water system, and changes are ongoing through the Engineer.

Savage asked about a sprinkling system in the parking lot, and Savage suggested obtaining bids for a sprinkling system in the parking lot area. Tressel suggested that the Council see what the bids are before making any decisions.

The issue of Chapter 20 Drains was discussed. It was pointed out that many governmental units were against this action by Oakland County.

Tressel reported that the contractor wants to be sure the parking lot will stand up to repairs, and the parking lot should be repaired this year.

Clifton asked Tressel to inspect the sink hole on Depot Road at the alley.

Derek Werner was appointed to represent the City on the Cable Board replacing Gary Tressel.

Scott Meyland appointed Voting Delegate for the annual MML Convention and Colombo designed the alternate.

Tressel reported that a punch list was completed so that this project could be finalized.

Both Tressel and Meloche stated that they felt the storm sewers were in good repair after cleaning.

Meeting adjourned at 8:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Artemus M. Pappas
Clerk

The Fife family gets regular updates from Dane on how things are going in the summer league. Dan Fife said his son is a little hesitant about the inner workings of the NBA, specifically whether players with guaranteed contracts (i.e. first-round draft picks) are given preferential treatment ahead of free agents such as himself, regardless of merit.

"He's getting to play every game, but he's not quite sure what the politics of the game are," Fife said.

Just the same, Fife said Dane has approached his situation with confidence. "He wasn't intimidated by anyone," he said. "He doesn't feel like it's something he can't handle."

Fife commented how his son improved last year during the Hoosiers' tournament run, and pointed out how his character, work ethic and defensive play would be an asset to the Rockets if he made the team.

"I just know his confidence changed dramatically last year," he said. "I know he grew as a player."

Although Dan Fife, a former captain of the University of Michigan basketball team, was a college roommate of Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich, Fife said he has not heard much from anyone in the Rockets organization about Dane's progress.

Nonetheless, Fife noted his son is happy to get an opportunity to show his skills at the highest level.

"He's excited," Fife said. "He has a couple offers to go play in Italy, but he wants to give the NBA the first chance."

Theryoung

she said. "You have to make split-second decisions."

Theryoung first came in contact with the sport at 14 years old, when she heard about a camp in Kalamazoo sponsored by Western Michigan University, the United States Association of Blind Athletics, and the Michigan Blind Athletic Association.

The sport was a revelation for Theryoung, who finally had an outlet for her love of sports.

"When I was younger, I could never play competitively," she said. "When I was introduced to the sport, it was a whole new world."

She is currently in Colorado Springs training for the World Championships. She estimates she spends 20 hours per week in the weight room and doing cardiovascular training, and another six hours per week practicing on the court.

She graduated from Albion College with a degree in religious studies, and after the World Championships are concluded, she will attend graduate school at Western Michigan University, where she hopes to obtain her master's degree in blind rehabilitation.

Theryoung is the daughter of Ron and Sylvia Theryoung, and has one sister, Jill.

Third annual Clarkston relay raises $94,000 for cancer research

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Buoyed by the sunny weather, Clarkston residents once again stepped up the plate to battle cancer.

The Clarkston Relay for Life, held July 13-14 at Clarkston Middle School, raised a total of $94,115.91 for the American Cancer Society (ACS). Last year, the event raised approximately $75,000 for the ACS, and the inaugural Clarkston relay in 2000 netted $34,000.

Approximately 900 people turned out for the 24-hour event, which lasted from 10 a.m. Saturday, July 13 to 10 a.m. Sunday, July 14.

Everything about the event worked out perfectly, from the weather to the turnout, according to Sherri Duquet-Whalen, community development director for the ACS.

"It was unbelievable," she said.

During the relay, a representative from each of the 32 teams was on the track at all times, and refreshments were given to the walkers. In addition, the relay featured music and games, as well as other chances for participants to get to know one another.

The relay began with the traditional Survivors Walk, as well as a tribute to Renee Przybylski, a former Clarkston resident who died of leukemia last December. She was instrumental in the first two Clarkston relays. More than 100 cancer survivors took part in the walk.

Later in the evening, a luminary ceremony was held, featuring thousands of lighted candles purchased in honor of someone who is fighting cancer or someone who has lost their battle to the disease. The walkers then took a lap around the track in silence. More than 2,800 luminaries were lit during the ceremony.

One of the relay's most active teams was the Hopetown USA team, which had approximately 60 members take part. According to team captain Geri Fancher, the team members spread the word to people they knew to get involved.

"They all brought family and friends, so there are a lot of people here," she said.

Hopetown received an assist from Hockeytown in their fundraising efforts, as they raffled off a team jersey signed by Red Wings captain Steve Yzerman.

Another team that was active was Frank's Frogs, spearheaded by Bob and Sallie Frank, the latter a five-year cancer survivor. The team featured a number of activities, including raffles, the opportunity to take a picture with a frog display, and works of art from Tom and Justin Wolocko.

In addition, the team had an informational display, called Let's Talk Frank About Cancer, for relay participants to peruse.

"We're a family team," Bob Frank said. "We do have a lot of friends working for us."

The Clarkston relay had law and order on their side this year, as the Oakland County Sheriff's Department put together a team. Captain Barb Tuttle was inspired to form a team with the sheriff's department from her efforts last year with the Waterfall Jewelers team.

In addition, Tuttle's mother, Ellen Almas, who was a survivor at last year's relay, passed away from cancer this year, giving her additional incentive to participate. The team's 18 participants included two people, Gloria Bangart and Charlie Rash, who are cancer survivors.

Like the Hopetown USA team, the sheriff's department received some help from the Stanley Cup champions to raise money for the ACS, this time raffling off an autographed Kris Draper hockey stick.

Several awards were given out to recognized relay participants who distinguished themselves in a given area. These included: Best Decorated Camp Site — Frank's Frogs; Most Team Spirit — Hopetown USA; Most Money Raised — Hopetown USA (with a total of $11,470.91); Highest Raising Individual — Geri Fancher.
