Young Clarkston girl victim of drunk driving accident

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Many are still in disbelief.

Disbelief that their daughter, their neighbor, or their best friend's life has changed at only 17-years-old.

But life did alter for Clarkston resident Tricia Ann Taylor on Saturday, Aug. 31.

At 2:15 a.m., Taylor and her date, Noah Menard of Pontiac, were enjoying a night out at the Arts, Beats & Eats festival in downtown Pontiac, walking along the sidewalk on Huron near Mill Street when a vehicle, jumped the curb and struck the two, Pontiac Police Sgt. Roy Johnson said.

Taylor was pinned against the Ameritech Building, and later had to have both legs amputated. Menard, 20, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

The driver, Jose Carcamo, 25, of Orion Township, was arrested on the scene and is being charged with two counts of operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor, causing serious injury. Each is a 15-year felony.

He faces a preliminary exam at the 50th District Court in Pontiac Sept. 12 at 9 a.m. before Judge Christopher Brown. He remains in jail on a $10 million bond; $5 million for each charge.

Johnson said the man is an illegal immigrant, originally from Central America, but had a valid Michigan's drivers license at the time of the accident.

Today, recovering at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and Medical Center, Taylor is in serious, but improving condition, spokesman Dr. Bob Aranosian said. Menard is in stable condition.

Taylor awoke from an induced coma Sept. 5.

Her father Randy Boesl said she doesn't remember anything which occurred.

"I was right by her side when she woke up," he said. "In the accident, she lost four front teeth. She woke up crying because she could feel her teeth were gone. Explaining what happened to her was very difficult."

Boesl said, "The first thing she said was she wanted to see Menard. His mom wheeled him up to see her."

It wasn't easy for Taylor, who will be 18 on Sept. 21, to learn the news, her father said.

'The perfect girl'--Tricia Ann Taylor of Clarkston recently lost both of her legs, after being struck by a drunk driver. Photo provided.

"She's been up and down. She's depressed and confused. This is a 17-year-old kid, you know."

A June graduate of the Renaissance High School, an alternative program in Clarkston, Taylor was planning on taking a couple of courses at Oakland Community College, including Child Development and Understanding.

"She's really good with kids," Boesl said.

Before the accident, she was working a babysitting job and had talked about opening a day care with a friend in the future.

"There's a disbelief," he said. "This tore the hearts out of a lot of people and family. This is the worst tragedy that has ever happened in our family."

Independence Township raises fee for sewage disposal

BY KYLE GARGARO

Clarkston News Editor

It will cost Independence Township residents more for sewage disposal starting Oct. 1.

At the Sept. 3 Independence Township board meeting the township trustees approved a memorandum to increase the sanitary sewer usage rate from $45 to $52 per REU (Residential Equivalent Unit).

The fee increase stems from an increase the Department of Public Works is receiving from the Detroit Water and Sewage Department. In March, they received a notice from the Oakland County Drain Commission that due to the increase from DWSD, their REU would increase from $29.19 to $34.56 for the disposal into the Clinton-Oakland Sewage System.

This is the first fee increase since 1984 when the township's disposal cost was $19.08. Department of Public Works Director Linda Richardson stated they have received seven increases from Oakland County since 1984 but have not passed on the increases to their customers.

Also at the board meeting:

■ The board voted not to participate in the North Oakland County Household Hazardous Waste Interlocal Agreement. The board had tentatively approved the measure on May, 15 but at that time they believed state funds would be available to the township for entering into the agreement.

Being part of the NO HAZ consortium would have made Independence Township accept hazardous household materials from other communities on certain days throughout the year. Currently, the township has one day when Independence residents can drop off hazardous household materials.

"Having people from all over North Oakland County dragging their hazardous waste here three or four or five times a year is not appealing to me at all," Township Supervisor Dale Stuart said. "I don't see any benefit for us doing it."

Among the reasons discussed for entering into the agreement was the addition of drop-off days being more convenient for the Independence residents.

The board voted against the measure 6-1 with Township Treasurer Jim Wenger voting alone.

"We offer our parks as locations for quiet reflection and remembrance of the victims and their families," executive director Ralph Richard said. "Visitors can hike the trails, bring a picnic lunch and be thankful for the bounty of beauty that surrounds us in the great outdoors."

Free entry will also be available at Addison Oaks, Groveland Oaks, Lyon Oaks, Orion Oaks, Rose Oaks and Waterford Oaks in addition to Independence Oaks.

Independence Board sets special meetings

The Independence Township Board of Trustees has scheduled two special meetings for the month of September.

The board will meet on Monday, Sept. 23 and Wednesday, Sept. 25 from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. for a budget workshop. Both meetings will be held at Fire Station #1 at 6500 Citation Drive.

Edison clearing trees in Independence

As fall weather returns to Southeastern Michigan, Detroit Edison line-clearance crews will be working in more than 40 communities in September and October to keep trees and branches away from the power lines. Independence Township is one of the communities Detroit Edison will be working on in the next two months.

"Since tree interference is responsible for about two-thirds of the power outages that occur during storms, we will spend approximately $40 million this year on our line clearance activities," Detroit Edison senior vice president Ron May said. "Maintaining a 10-foot clearance between tree branches and power lines reduces the possibility of tree-related power outages."

Detroit Edison customers can help prevent tree-related power outages, May said, by planting trees where they won't interfere with power lines, or by planting tree varieties that don't reach power-line height.

Detroit Edison trims an average of 800,000 trees each year to reduce the potential for power outages. Storm-related outages can occur when high winds, rain and lightning damage trees and branches, which cause them to fall into power lines.

Family Law Attorneys bring special skills to Clarkston

Okros & Okros Family Law Attorneys are new to Clarkston, but they are not new to the legal business.

With more than 20 years of combined experience as Family Law Attorneys and a successful practice in Bloomfield Hills, Joseph and Ann-Marie Okros bring a depth of legal knowledge to the Clarkston area.

The couple moved to Clarkston a few years ago and are excited about relocating their practice from Bloomfield Hills to downtown Clarkston. They have made Clarkston their new home with their three children and are confident that their new business will be an asset to the Clarkston community. Previously an individual had to travel to Birmingham, Southfield or Bloomfield for a family law firm of this caliber.

"Clarkston will now have a law firm solely focused on family law to meet the needs of the growing community," 1982 Clarkston High School graduate Joseph Okros said. "Family law includes issues such as divorce, child custody, parenting time, spousal support, child support, property division, pre and post-nuptial agreements, paternity and post-judgment issues."

The couple will fill a need in Clarkston, which currently does not have specialty law practices, but general law firms. Family Law is becoming a more complex area of law and many individuals believe that a specialist is the best option.

The strength of Okros & Okros Family Law Attorneys is their ability to personalize each case.

"We offer a highly personalized approach to each client's case. Certain divorces involve fiercely litigating issues surrounding assets, while another case may require sensitive negotiation of emotionally charged issues such as infidelity or treatment of a child. Different cases require different approaches," Ann-Marie Okros said. "We determine that approach by actually listening to our client's concerns and then acting to protect their interests."

Family lawyers - Joseph and Ann-Marie Okros are opening a new law office in Clarkston. The couple previously ran a law office in Bloomfield Hills.

The firm has a network of experts from accountants to psychologists to assist them in building a case for their clients.

While both attorneys earned their law degrees from Michigan law schools, Joseph further educated himself by earning an MBA from Michigan State University, Eli Broad Executive program, giving him special knowledge in property settlement issues involving businesses and more complex financial issues.

Both attorneys understand that divorce is considered to be one of the most stressful events that a person may experience in their lifetime.

Joseph Okros said, "People going through the divorce process must be confident in their attorney's ability to deal with all of the issues in a divorce."

His partner, Ann-Marie Okros agrees, "We advocate for the client's interests while helping them through the process in a way that minimizes the trauma of a very difficult situation."

Hartmans enjoy natural atmosphere at Springfield homes

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Larry and Mary Hartman like Springfield Township so much, they have two homes in the area.

Their primary residence is at Crosby Lake Road, off of Andersonville Road, which has been in their family for 52 years. About eight miles from there is the Hartman's "home away from home" for the past 12 years, located near the Springfield Township Civic Center.

In both cases, the Hartmans and their family members are surrounded by lakes and ponds, offering a natural setting they all enjoy.

Larry Hartman recalled a time about 30 years ago when he was able to hunt and trap fox near his home. "I would just get on a snowmobile," he remembered. "When it was dry, I would walk and use a trail bike."

During a visit to the Hartmans' Crosby Lake residence Aug. 7, the wildlife was still in full force.

"Just this morning, a coyote walked across the back field," Hartman said. "Before I could see him, he was gone. We saw a deer last evening, and we were able to feed geese. We also saw an albino wild turkey. We try to keep coyotes and groundhogs. They push them into a small area. There's no natural predators here for coyotes. There are rattlesnakes here and lots of rattlesnakes out there

(at their other residence)."

Decorating the Hartmans' home at their Crosby Lake residence are some of Mary's oil paintings, a hobby she has taken up for four years. "I do oil paintings while he goes out deer hunting," Mary said. "I do landscapes and oil scenes."

Also on the Hartmans' wall at their residence are remnants of various animals Hartman has hunted through the years, including the hide of a rattlesnake and the head of a deer he hunted in the Porcupine Mountains of the Upper Peninsula, a favorite hunting ground of Hartman's.

"For serious hunting, I like to go to the western end of the Upper Peninsula," he said. "I like to bow hunt in the area and rifle hunt up North."

There is another place the Hartmans like to go to for some rest and relaxation, and they don't have to travel very far for it — it's their "vacation home" on the other side of the township.

Hartman commented their 60-acre residence on Davis Lake near the Shiawassee River is a great place for them to get together with their family, which includes son Tim, daughter Melanie, and the Hartmans' three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

At that location, the coyotes are still prevalent, and they are feasting on some other animals in the area, according to Larry Hartman.

"The coyotes are wiping out their predators," he said. "The foxes are getting scarce now. You hardly see them. They're cleaning up the small dogs and cats. We've got deer here. The geese stay here all winter long."

One of the places he likes to get away to at their Davis Lake home is a small lake, less than five acres, referred to as Dollar Lake. "This is where I come to swim, right here," he said.

The home also offers plenty of room for their family and friends to play, a scenic view of the Shiawassee River and plenty of fishing activity.

"It's very quiet and very peaceful here," Hartman said. "This is my pride and joy."

Historical Society educates residents about heritage

(Editor's note: This is the sixth in a series of articles on service organizations in Clarkston.)

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Thirty years ago, a proposal by the State of Michigan for the widening of M-15 spurred a group of Clarkston residents to take action to preserve their community's history.

Today, the Clarkston Community Historical Society is going strong, and they focus their efforts on educating residents about the area's background.

Kim Huttenlocher, a member of the board of directors for the Historical Society, explained how the organization came together.

"A group of residents were concerned because the state was talking about widening Main Street," she said. "Their initial goal was to prevent that from happening. They succeeded in getting most of the homes in the village listed on a national register of historic places. It took years of research to do that."

After that, the society decided to shift its focus to education and making sure the community knew its history, according to Huttenlocher.

The main way they do so is through the Clarkston Heritage Museum, located in the Independence Township Library. The idea took root in the late 1980's, when Independence Township was considering building a new library.

"The Historical Society and township administration thought it would be a great idea to have a museum," Huttenlocher said. "The historical society raised a great deal of money, and donated $50,000 to the library, where a room was erected to feature local history."

She stated the primary two methods they used to raise that money were membership fees to the historical society and the Crafts and Cider Festival, which started in 1976 and continues to this day.

The group's main focus today remains the upkeep of the Heritage Museum. "That takes a very large chunk of money and a large amount of our time," Huttenlocher said. "We continue to host the Chamber of Commerce festival and hold programs for the public."

The society also focuses on educating the community's children at an early age about Clarkston's history, taking their message to the Clarkston school district.

"We continue to go into the schools and teach children about local history," Huttenlocher said. "Last year, we put 500 second graders through our history program, where we have activities for them and teach them about local history."

In addition to the maintenance of the Heritage

Museum and their visits to local schools, the Historical Society has also published three books to inform residents about Clarkston's history:

■ The Original Heritage Book (a basic history of Clarkston)

■ The Children's Heritage Book (a history of Clarkston from a children's perspective)

■ The Way We Remember It (an oral history of Clarkston, featuring interviews of people that have lived in Clarkston their whole lives).

The Clarkston Community Historical Society meets the fourth Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Clarkston Heritage Museum. For information on becoming a member, call 248-922-0270.

Roberts trip to England focuses on special ed.

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A two-week stay in Oxford, England for Clarkston Community Schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts this summer meant more than bringing home fond memories and souvenirs.

Rather it meant bringing back knowledge he hopes to apply to the improvement of special education in the district, and to do so, bring about a partnership with Oakland Schools and other districts.

Amidst the history and prestige of St. Antony's College at Oxford University, Roberts along with Oakland Schools Superintendent Dr. James Redmond and approximately 45 other superintendents, educational representatives and professionals from Great Britain and the United States joined the Oxford Round Table for panel discussions twice a day on the improvement of education for children with special needs. (Roberts said he doesn't know how the Oxford Round Table received his name and selected him to take the trip, which cost the district $2,795.)

This entailed looking at the protection of student's educational rights in America, the guarantee of transitional services from school to work, a journey to a hate free millennium, mandated federal statutes and case law, the plight of juveniles with learning disabilities in correctional or custodial facilities, perceptions of general education teachers regarding placement of learning disabled students in their classrooms, and promises made/promise broken.

The journey to set consistent standards for educating children with disabilities started 27 years ago," Roberts said. "Public Law 94-142, the Education for All Handicapped Children Act and the forerunner of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) legislation, called for the reparation of a system that tolerated the existence of vast disparities for millions of children who, prior to passage, had little protection under the law. The directive to provide disabled students with a free and appropriate education in the least restrictive environment furnished parents, students and educators with a road map."

But along the way, Roberts said, too much attention was paid to legalities, losing sight of what was most important. "The journey to equal opportunity and academic progress must be a labor of love, not an exercise in bureaucracy," he said.

This bureaucracy includes 814 regulations required for special education leaders to know and understand.

"The fact is that dedicated teachers are leaving the field because they perceive compliance to be a higher priority than competence. It is troubling to know that keeping records, in the eyes of many, has taken precedence over the act of teaching itself."

Using an analogy of a journey, Roberts outlined with the Oxford panel, steps for a successful change including a clear understanding of the destination, ability to set the right course, understanding of why you want to go there and being motivated to do so, resources required to reach the destination, and a trip plan that gets you there safely and on time.

If any of these aspects are missing you get travelers who become lost, anxious or fearful, disappointed and frustrated, who don't travel far and miss opportunities, and who never leave their driveway.

"The journey embarked upon so many years ago had its share of detours," Roberts said. "Some of the alternate routes provided additional perspective; others stopped progress in its tracks. Future travelers must be even better prepared for the trip than those who came before them. However, they must also avoid the long delays that occur when planning efforts focus more on reports, forms and compliance, then they do on clear directions, common sense guidelines, coordinated efforts, and the overwhelming support of those who work daily with students."

To begin the change, however, means working together.

"We ought to take our 27 years of experience with special education and take that patchwork quilt of laws, pull experts together and amend the patchwork, widening into the fabric an education that is recreating legislature rather than revising it."

Roberts has begun discussions with Anne Evans, the district's special education director, and has set a draft to set up a partnership with Oakland Schools and will present the plan to the Oakland County Superintendent's Association in the near future.

Technology will help, Roberts feels, in aligning teaching and learning and foresees the future of education "connecting the dots" between special, career-focused and general education to merge into a more unified "connected education."

"As the connection of these programs occurs, more authenticity and more meaningful regular education activities will provide greater advantages and opportunities for all students including those who have special needs," Roberts said. "These programs will not just be good for special education or career focused education students, but rather they will be the basis for programming that is beneficial to all students."

Narrowing the field of possibilities to combat overcrowding

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Community School Board is getting closer to making a decision and implementing a plan to address overcrowding.

At the Sept. 9 meeting, Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts urged board members to stir up questions and offer feedback in relation to various possible configurations for restructuring facilities within the district, to help prepare for a "successful" workshop meeting on Sept. 23.

That meeting will be designed to address all auxiliary and support functions which include district facilities such as the Administration Building on Clarkston Road, the Community Education Center on Church Street which houses the Renaissance Program, the South Sashabaw Early Childhood Center on Maybee, and the Special Education Center adjacent to Clarkston Middle School on Middle Lake.

However, Roberts said he did not want to reveal the various configurations—or "visuals" as he preferred to call them—because he did not want the public to confuse them as definite plans for the community. But he said he wanted the "luxury" of discussing the visuals out loud with the board.

Gathered from talks on Monday night, portions of the proposals include aspects like potentially expanding the administration building on Clarkston Road to add a preschool there, using the newly bought Hubbard property adjacent to Independence Elementary for storage, a future preschool, or farm for district students to visit, expand Pine Knob Elementary to house 600 students to keep current overcrowded elementary schools around the 450 enrollment count, and convert the Community Education Center to house the offices of the administration, special education, technology, community education, and the South Sashabaw preschool, among other possibilities.

Any plans considered have a timeline for implementation by 2005, Roberts said.

Questions and comments that surfaced among board members regarded partnerships with organizations such as the Independence Township Parks and Recreation; the possibility of offering all-day kindergarten at a preschool site; the current condition of the bus garage; the location of Community Education classes; and more.

"We need to make sure we have a sensible, well thought out plan and we need to do the best we can for the public," Roberts said. "The questions asked will help narrow down the field of a 1,000 different possibilities."

"It should be understood that there is no one best plan," Roberts added. "The best plan for us is one that is realistic, educationally sound and consistent with our mission, beliefs and vision."

The board reaffirmed at the Aug. 26 meeting to switch configuration for the school year 2005-06 to kindergarten through fifth grade at the elementary level; have two six through seventh grade buildings; one eighth and ninth grade building; and convert the high school into a 10th through 12th grade campus.

Already mentioned at that meeting, was the possible addition of a sixth and seventh grade building on the grounds and adjacent to the current Sashabaw Middle School campus, allowing the district's middle schoolers to be housed at one location; and converting Clarkston Middle School into an eighth and ninth grade facility.

Director of Communications and Marketing Anita Banach said the board is a good month away from adopting a plan. An aggressive timeline would be by the Oct. 13 Board of Education meeting, she said.

City council awards Phase II bid to Lake Orion company

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lake Orion-based Roger Ingels Construction will be overseeing the implementation of Phase II of the City of the Village of Clarkston's water system.

The Clarkston City Council awarded the bid by a 6-0 vote to Ingels Construction at its Sept. 9 meeting. Councilman Dave Savage was absent from the meeting.

The council also approved Thompson-McCulley of Clarkston as a subcontractor to deal with the asphalt for the project and Edward R. White Construction as a subcontractor to deal with the concrete and the curbs, according to City Manager Art Pappas.

The winning bid was chosen from among twelve bids forwarded to the Clarkston City offices by the Aug. 21 deadline. The council was originally scheduled to vote on the bids at their Aug. 26 meeting, but city engineer Gary Tressel was absent, so the vote took place at Monday's meeting.

The winning bid of an estimated $2.86 million was determined to be "the lowest and best bidder" by the council. The original estimate of the project by the city's engineering firm, Hubbell, Roth & Clark, was $2.832 million.

Tressel also announced a project schedule has been established. The project is scheduled to be completed by August 2003. The first portion of Phase II construction will begin Monday, Sept. 23 when East Washington will undergo repairs, according to Tressel. That part will be completed by Oct. 15.

In other Phase II business, the council also took a step toward financing of the project, authorizing the sale of $3 million in general obligation bonds and $815,000 in bond sales for special assessment districts.

The cost of the project will be split between ad valorem taxes and the establishment of a special assessment district. The taxes will involve an average millage of approximately 4.8 mills for 21 years.

Bank throws big party

Clarkston State Bank threw a celebration last Saturday and the Clarkston community came out to enjoy.

On a perfect September afternoon, Clarkston State Bank's "Thanks a $100 Million Celebration," took over Depot Park.

More than 700 individuals came out for the festivities which included music, food and games. All free to the community at the expense of the bank and other supporters who were celebrating the bank going over $100 million in assets since its beginning in 1999.

The event was dedicated to CSB's past president and CEO, Dave Harrison, and his wife Wanda, who were killed three weeks before the event. The picnic was attended by the Harrisons' children, Kevin Harrison and Kim Harrison-Echlin and Kim's daughter Madison.

In the dedication ceremony, Ed Adler, Chairman of Clarkston Financial Corporation, the bank's holding company, compared CSB to the writing of a book.

"The bank happened one page a day, and the book was written by the employees of the bank. The writing was looked over by Dave Harrison, my friend who's not here today. We will continue with the values that Dave laid down for us."

Dawn Horner, CSB President and CEO, added, "Dave and Wanda are smiling down on us today, so proud of what we have accomplished. CSB will live on in their legacy."

The size and enthusiasm of the celebration was a credit to the bank and the love this community had for Dave and Wanda Harrison.

The bank went all out to thank the community. I went expecting to see a few games and some free food. However, I was overwhelmed by the multitude of the celebration including a disc jockey, clowns, games and enough food to make me say I am full.

It is great to see a local business thriving and it is even better to see that business giving back to the community which helped them reach their level of success.

Gargaro's Hall of Fame: The men and women protecting our country both home and overseas.

As we are one year from the tragic terrorists attack it is important to keep in mind those putting their lives on the line to protect the freedoms of our country.

The Clarkston News hopes to bring attention to local individuals protecting our country by publishing their information on pages 10-12.

Gargaro's Hall of Shame: The fact I need to use an area code when making a phone call to my next door neighbor.

Apparently with the increase of cell phones, fax lines and computer lines all the 248 area code numbers have been used so adding 947 was the solution. Evidently the solution means having to dial 10 digits whenever I want to make a call.

It seems to me the powers that be could have thought up a better solution to the problem.

Committee thanks all for support

We would like to thank the CHS football players, parents and the community for their tremendous support of the "Rush for Food" benefiting Lighthouse Clarkston. More than 900 pounds of food was collected which filled an empty pantry and should last for several months.

We would also like to thank Pine Knob Wine Shoppe, Little Dana's, Gregg's Gourmet Cafe and Hungry Howie's Pizza for their donations of pizzas for the players who worked very hard that evening. The Oakland County Sheriff's Department was a huge help with traffic control on the night of the event.

For the fifth year in a row, our community was very generous and helped make this project a big success. We sincerely appreciate everyone's efforts.

Doctor urges voters to think through issues

Let us commemorate Sept. 11 by taking our country back from terrorists both domestic and foreign.

The World Trade Center attack shredded the sanctity of our sovereign geographical borders, however, a retired judge in the 9th circuit in California shredded our pledge to our flag by trying to complete the job of excluding not separating God from our government and her people.

Terrorism comes in many forms as simple as telling people they can't have arms to protect themselves and their loved ones or an elite few self anointed (so called environmentalist) coveting our national forests for only themselves to the exclusion of the masses such as the unclean, unwashed, the unenlightened who believe the forests are for us all. We the people own the forests and we used to employ people called loggers who actually paid us money to harvest our homes and industry with these products.

Now our forests burn and kill the very animals that E.L.F. and other elitists claim as their own, not ours because of "fuel load" which we are no longer allowed to harness for hearth at home. At an international conference, the same self appointed elitists deplore that our President nixed the Kyoto accord that was ill conceived by the previous Vice President and never brought to the Senate for legal advise or consent because 95 percent of the Senate would not approve it because it would destroy the world economy.

These elitist claim to love animals and nature yet burn ski lodges and kill animals used in medical research to bring aid and comfort to ill and dying.

When our government asked Indian Chief Seattle to buy their lands, Chief Seattle said how does one own the sky, the wind, the rain and the air around us, isn't it for all of us?

How does one, as St. Paul said, be a good steward of the forests if there are no trails or plan to protect the trees and animals and to harvest and reforest and wisely rule and protect Lord's creatures and the land, sea and forests in which He willed that we all dwell and rule.

November 5, we all have a choice to make nationally and locally to protect ourselves and our loved ones and choose people who will protect life from the womb to the tomb with all of God's frail, fragile, special needs brothers and sisters along the way through often a difficult life.

Choose those who are God fearing and want to protect our peoples right to protect themselves, their loved ones and our beautiful country and her resources wisely for all of us.

Senators Leahy and Daschle would not allow a superbly qualified judge an up or down vote in the Senate because she believed that a "child" at 15 years needed her mom's advise and consent to terminate her pregnancy. Our federal bench is empty during a war time crisis of terrorism when we need patriotic judges, not ones that shred our flag.

On Nov. 5 you can change this and elect people who care and love "our" country.

Reader appreciates story on Senior Miss Poppy

I would like to thank The Clarkston News for the wonderful article and beautiful picture that was in your paper on Aug. 21 about Jessica Puckett from Chief Pontiac 377 Junior Auxiliary.

We are so proud of this young lady becoming National Senior Miss Poppy. Your paper allowed the public to read about what great accomplishments our youths can do.

Our thanks to Jennifer Nemer for all the time she took interviewing Jessica and for the article she wrote. Jennifer is an asset to your paper. It is because of people like her and your paper that we can let the public know just what the American Legion, Auxiliary, Juniors, and sons of the American Legion do for our veterans and their families, our communities and our children and youths.

A little sad and a little happy

I didn't feel the desire to wax nostalgic about the good ol' days (pre Sept. 11, 2001), nor did I feel the passion to write poetically about fallen heroes, America the beautiful. Too, I felt penning something politically sharp inappropriate -- besides, every writer/commentator and his brother has rode his keyboard hard to meet deadlines for September 11, 2002.

I'll defer to a reader, Carol from Clarkston, who has some nice sentiments.

mean life wasn't fair. He knew you're the stronger one. So actually I was the one who was spared. I'm not saying good-bye and I know at first it will be hard to be strong. Just remember when you're dreaming, look very close and you will see me there in your dreams with you where I have always belonged.

Written by Carol

And now, something a little lighter, sent to me by dear wife Jen (who had it sent to her)

Hi,
I am a local writer and I also work in Clarkston and I wrote this for the families of 9-11. I hope you find some-where to put it in your paper. I want to believe that at least one person was really thinking these things and writing something for their family. So here it goes. I hope you enjoy it as many people have.

Letter To MY Loved One

I was sitting at my desk when I heard the cries, the hysterical sounds. I looked over the situation. How do I get out? I'm not too far from the ground. What should I do sit and cry?

Get mad at God or go over the good times in my life? I have to write fast and make it in care of all the Husbands, Fathers, Children, Wives and Friends. I'm sure I can speak for them all. This is no bad dream, death doesn't pretend. I saw the first tower engulfed in smoke and yet was at peace knowing I had no hope.

I want to tell you all -- never to take for granted the good-bye you leave at the door. Had I known I would have given you just one more. I'll sit in all the chaos and remember times on the beach. I even touched the sand and I swear I heard the breeze.

I'm not mad at God in all this madness. I can really feel his peace. It's almost time to stop writing but just a few more things to say. In all this terror can you believe I feel some pride? Because I know what will happen. My fellow Americans will never let this go by. If the others feel the way I do, then take this as our last words to you.

With you I wouldn't trade places, that to me would

Great truths about life that little children have learned

- No matter how hard you try, you can't baptize cats.

- Don't sneeze when someone is cutting your hair.
- Never hold a Dust-Buster and a cat at the same time.

Great truths about life that adults have learned

- Wrinkles don't hurt.
- Families are like fudge... mostly sweet, with a few nuts.

- Laughing is good exercise. It's like jogging on the inside.

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

■ About 150 more students enrolled in Clarkston schools this year than expected, according to William Neff, director of administrative services for the district. Last year, they predicted a loss of about 46 students, and the preliminary numbers show an increase of about 106. The added students mean several classes are overcrowded, and four elementary classrooms are split-levels.

■ Music will mix with donuts, cider and crafts in Depot Park this weekend at the 13th Annual Crafts and Cider Festival in Clarkston. Sponsored by the Clarkston Historical Society, the festival will feature the sale of coffee mugs in addition to the wares of about 60 artisans. The festival also includes a free sidewalk architectural tour of the Village of Clarkston on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

■ The cost of approximately $7,000 to hire workers for the Oct. 27 school millage election was unanimously approved by the Clarkston Community School Board Monday. Usually, the schools don't have to pay for the workers because they store the voting machines for Independence Township in exchange for the election service, Business Manager Marlon Jackson said.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

■ The Clarkston City Council was officially notified by the Detroit Water Board that as of Sept. 1 it would start charging $9.36 more as the new quarterly rate per unit factor. The council had reduced the sewer usage rates from the $21.25 spelled out in the original ordinance to $17 several years ago, according to Keith Hallman, council president.

■ Parents in the Clarkston school district gave up their chauffeuring duties Tuesday morning when the district's school bus drivers gave up their pickets and climbed back into their driver's seats. Eight hours of bargaining between the drivers union and the school board Monday night ended in a tentative agreement between the two sides.

■ The Independence Township Board voted Tuesday, Sept. 6 to extend fringe benefits negotiated in a recent labor contract to most of its salaried personnel, except for CETA workers. This does not include the pension benefits won in an Aug. 2 contract with AFSCME. Among those included are the animal control officer, the deputy clerk and Township Supervisor Floyd Tower's secretary.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

■ The first regular meeting of the Clarkston P.T.A. for this season will be held in the high school gym tonight, Sept. 11, at 7:30. The Student District Educational Program will be the topic of the evening with Ralph Thayer, a faculty member, in charge. Besides a talk on this subject by Mr. Thayer, who will teach student driving in the school this year, he will show a film "Teach Them to Drive."

■ The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club is ready for a large attendance at their first Flower, Fruit and Vegetable Show to be held in the building at the rear of the Township Community Center on N. Main Street on Friday, Sept. 12, from 1-9 p.m. The flower show will emphasize the beauty of the season.

■ The following items were on special at Terry's Market in Clarkston: beef pot roast, choice grade, 69 cents/lb.; frozen peas, two packages for 35 cents; bananas, two pounds for 29 cents; S&W tomato juice, 46 oz. can, 39 cents; butter, Remus, 76 cents; peaches, five pounds for 25 cents; frozen French fries, two for 35 cents; pascal celery, 19 cents/bunch; Armour's bacon, No. 1 grade, 47 cents; Charmin tissue, 12 rolls for 95 cents.

Jim's Jottings

"Jim's Jottings" is a personal column. This is a very personal column.

It's about Jerry Olrich - our maturing together, growing our companies at the same time and the development of a very endearing relationship.

He started with Oxford Lumber Co. in 1953. I came to The Oxford Leader in 1955. He grew his firm to a successful lumber and building hardware store. We've had our share of success.

He was elected president of his state trade association. I was elected president of our state press association. He bettered me in his being elected president of his national trade association.

We had dissimilarities. He's a clear thinker, I'm a plodder. He's aggressive, I'm placid. He's 5 ft. eight, I'm 6 ft. four.

The real major difference is that Jerry Olrich had talent. Workman talent, as well as business acumen.

Several years ago he bought a used GMC Motorhome. He totally gutted it and rebuilt the entire interior, wired and plumbed it.

He completely rebuilt two antique John Deere tractors. At his second home in the UP he has 20 motors - outboards, tractor, off-road, on lake and on-lawn, plus a golf cart and classic Jeep Wagoneer. He keeps them all running.

He played golf and developed his game to a four handicap, low enough to compete one year in the State Amateur Championship.

Last Christmas he built three clocks (all but the face and works) for his daughters. He didn't use ordinary wood. He used cherry wood boards that he'd salvaged from his father-in-law's basement when it flooded in 1975.

He sawed and sanded the Roman numeral letters, boxed them in, put them in the top half of the three-foot high cabinet and left the lower half for shelving. Then refinished them. They are gorgeous.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

When he applied for a permit to build his home at Davis Lake Woods, one of his developments, he had to fight the township to get approval for a 3-car garage, even though it was in the ordinance.

Jerry was an honest, follower of the law to the letter. That alienated him to some who sought shortcuts, and brought accusations of stubbornness and more. Of course, 3-car garages are everywhere now.

He was ahead of his time on that and was ahead of his time with computers and automation. He led his industry in electronic bookkeeping and stock control.

These computers were just part of what was lost in the Oxford Lumber fire that destroyed thousands of dollars in lumber and merchandise in 1984.

He rebuilt the facility (even larger) that same year.

Jerry designed and was general contractor on our Oxford printing company building in 1971. He designed our home and he designed the 3-family vacation condo in the UP which our two families shared at the time with the Davidsons.

I suggested he was a forward thinker - one time he bought a field of 24-ft diameter pickle vats, 8-ft. high, near Holland that were made of cypress. He knew that wood was scarce. Some were sold to Boyne Resorts for golf course water holes, some was milled for other uses.

His relationship with Boyne involved his working with their architect and supplying thousands of yards of building material for housing, offices and hangers. I didn't mention his skiing - but in our travels together one time he wanted to stop at Vail, Colorado for one last ski of the year.

As I said, this is a personal column. The Olriches and Shermans traveled Scotland and Ireland, China and Hong Kong, the southern states and the western states. He did the driving, I gave him the wrong turns.

If he ever gave me a wrong turn I don't remember it. If I gave him a bad time, he'd get back.

Like the time I offered him a golfing contract for the season in which he, the Pro, would give me, the Pigeon, nine shots a side. He countered by offering a 3-page amendment and asking our State Rep. Mel Larsen to ask Attorney General Frank Kelley to rule on the legality of my document.

Kelley didn't rule but Larsen wanted a cut. I'm sure I won't get over this friendship that has matured over 47 years. I don't even want to

Fifth 'Comedy for a Cause' to be held for Promise Village

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Promise Village: Home for Children is sticking to the theory of "If it isn't broke, don't fix it" for their upcoming fundraiser.

The center, located in Davisburg, will host "Comedy for a Cause V" to be held Saturday, Sept. 14 at Woodside Bible Church of Troy (formerly Troy Baptist Church), located at 3193 Rochester Road (just north of Big Beaver).

The doors will open at 6 p.m., and the show starts at 7 p.m. There is no charge, but an offering will be taken.

Brandy Bussell, administrative coordinator for Promise Village, stated the response to the first four comedy shows has been overwhelming. "The church holds about 2,000 and we've packed it," she said.

Bussell believes the show fills a need for clean-cut humor. "There's a lot of people that want to have that kind of outlet," she said.

This particular performance will feature comedians Bob Nelson and Jeff Allen. Nelson has performed on the "Merv Griffin Show," the "Tonight Show" with Johnny Carson, and as the opening act for Rodney Dangerfield on tour. He was the host of a children's TV show in Philadelphia and received an Emmy Award as "Best Actor" in 1983 for his performances. He produced and starred in his own HBO special, "Nelson Schmelson," and has appeared in three feature films, including "Kindergarten Cop."

Meanwhile, Allen has toured for 18 years on the comedy circuit. He has performed with Jerry Seinfeld, the Temptations, Dionne Warwick, Barbara Mandrell, the Smothers Brothers and many others. He has also been featured on MTV's Half-Hour Comedy Hour, the Comedy Channel, VH1's Stand-up Spotlight, A&E and more. Allen has a new video, "Happy Wife, Happy Life," which "allows the viewer to enjoy his keen perception about what is funny in our world today," according to a press release.

The master of ceremonies for the evening will be Robin Sullivan of WMUZ-FM (103.5), which is the show's sponsor.

Promise Village is a non-profit organization for abused, neglected and troubled children. The facility is located on a 70-acre working farm in Davisburg, and has been operating since July 31, 2000, according to Bussell. Dr. Timothy Coldiron is the founder and current executive director of Promise Village.

The staff is comprised of 16 employees, and someone is on duty 24 hours a day, Bussell noted. There are currently six children at the facility, and their stay averages between six and 12 months. Bussell also stated Promise Village is seeking approval to house 12 children, and she expects that will happen in September.

Around Town

The Clarkston Village Players presents "Visiting Mr. Green?" by Jeff Baron. This is a story of the unlikely relationship between an elderly, retired dry cleaner and a 29-year-old corporate executive who is sentenced by the courts to assist Mr. Green through a series of weekly visits. What starts out as a comedy about two men who do not want to be in the same room together, turns into a gripping and moving drama as they get to know each other, come to care about each other, and open old wounds they've been hiding and nursing for years. Remaining show dates are Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m., Thursday performance begins at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday's performance starts at 2 p.m. Tickets are $10 for Sunday and Thursday and $12 for Friday and Saturday. All performances are at the Depot Theater, 4861 White Lake in Clarkston. Call 625-8811 for further information, or logon to www.clarkstonvillageplayers.org.

Neighbor for Neighbor, a nonprofit charitable organization which provides food, clothing and financial assistance to Springfield, Holly, Groveland, Rose and parts of Independence and White Lake townships, will hold a fundraising event, "Treasures and Treats" will be inside the Hart Community Center, 495 Broadway in downtown Davisburg's Mill Pond Park on Friday, Sept. 13 and Saturday, Sept. 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A wonderful opportunity to buy homemade baked goods and one-of-a-kind donated items.

In cooperation with the Springfield Garden Club, Springfield Township Parks and Recreation is holding a perennial swap on Saturday, Sept. 14. Take home as many perennials as you bring. This is a great way to get that garden or flowerbed started, or add to an existing one. Perennials must be in groups of two or three root clumps and in 4" or 6" containers. Please label all plants as to what they are and their color and whether they grow best in shade, sun, or both. The swap is held rain or shine and will begin promptly at 10 a.m. and will continue until all plants have been swapped.

Refugees arrive in the United States with little more than the clothes on their backs. Homeless families who finally find a place to live often have nothing to furnish their new homes. To help them and others in similar straits, Calvary Lutheran Church in Clarkston will hold a Kitchen and Dining Shower the week of Sept. 15. Donations will benefit clients of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan. Church members and area residents are invited to bring in new and gently used items such as pots and pans, dishes and bowls, cups and glasses, kitchen utensils, silverware, small kitchen appliances, dish towels and plastic storage containers. Donations of paper towels, napkins and dishwashing detergent are also welcome. Donations can be brought to the church at 6805 Bluegrass Drive in Clarkston, before worship services Sept. 15 and 22, or be dropped off any time during the week in between. For more information, call the church at 625-3288.

Free GED Preparation classes for adults age 20 and over will begin Sept. 16 at the Clarkston Community Education Center, 6300 Church St., across from Clarkston Elementary on Waldon Road. The class will prepare students to take the GED test. To schedule and academic advising appointment, call 623-4321.

The Clarkston Community Women's Club will meet Sept. 19 at the Independence Township Library at 7:30 p.m. The speaker will be Rose Heman, a nurse practitioner with her own holistic health practice. She will speak on nutrition including the revised food pyramid and a low glycemic diet. Heman will also discuss the immune system and what we should eat in order to build it up. There will be time for questions. Visitors are welcome. Refreshments will be served. Call Gail at 623-9462 for more information.

Cruise Independence Oaks County Park in a wagon under the light of the Harvest Moon, Sept. 20 and 21 from 7:15-8:15 p.m. or 8:30-9:30 p.m. during Harvest Moon Hayrides. Cost is $2.50/person. Call 625-0877 for more details.

Registration for swim lessons for children at the Clarkston High School pool will be Saturday, Sept. 21 from 9-10 a.m. at the Clarkston High School cafeteria for district residents. Open registration will begin on Monday, Sept. 23 at the Clarkston Community Education Center. Registration for scuba and water aerobics is now taking place at the Community Education Center. The pool is open for community swim Monday through Thursday from 8-9:30 p.m., except for Sept. 26. The pool is also open on Saturday afternoons from 1-3 p.m. Children under 12 must have adult supervision. Cost is $3 at the door, or swim passes may be purchased at the Community Education Center at the discounted price of $2 per visit.

Faces of home

Take a moment tonight and hug your family, smile at your neighbor and feel thankful for the wonderful things we, as Americans, have. Then take another moment to thank all the men and women serving in our armed forces, home and abroad, doing their part to protect what we lay claim to, our freedom.

If you believe in the power of prayer, pray for the safe return of our soldiers from this war on terrorism. If you don't believe in prayer, hope for the end of this war -- as it touches each and every one of us.

We thought we'd take this opportunity, on the year anniversary of September 11, 2001, to share some of the names and faces of your neighbors who are serving their country.

BACK IN BUSINESS

While picking up after my daughter, I felt a pain in my neck. I tried using a heating pad as well as taking Motrin but nothing seemed to help. My father-in-law informed me of chiropractic, so I called Rumph Chiropractic Clinic. After my first adjustment I could feel a difference, I felt immediate relief.

I have discontinued all medications since my first adjustment and on a scale from 1 to 10 I rate myself a 6, and still improving.

I have continued to work since hurting my neck, but instead of pushing myself I am now able to work each day with ease. I put in 40 long hours of work a week. I also enjoy golfing along with other sports. With the help of Rumph Chiropractic Clinic I will once again be able to enjoy day-to-day activities.

CHS student council to create walk of learning for school

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston High School's Student Council will be teaming up with a neighboring elementary school to help them on their "educational walk."

The council will be at Haveland Elementary School in Waterford Sept. 14 to create the walk as part of United Way of North Oakland County's "Day of Caring," a day-long event that will utilize volunteers at more than 25 projects throughout Oakland County.

The Day of Caring is being held during National Civic Participation Week from Sept. 11-17, and "honors the courageous spirit of the American people as well as paying tribute to the victims of September 11th," according to a United Way press release.

At this point, Cheryl Patterson, co-advisor of the CHS Student Council, stated she is not sure what the walk will be comprised of, but she did note there will be more than 20 students on hand at Haveland that day.

More than 900 volunteers countywide will start with their projects at 8:30 a.m. and finish around 2 p.m.

According to Patterson, the council's involvement with United Way is part of their overall emphasis on getting involved in the community.

"We helped 22 organizations a couple of years ago," she said. "Last year, we had a budget of $40,000. We gave away all but $8,000 to different groups. Our student council is more of an activity-based council. We want to do things in the community."

Among the organizations the council helps are the American Cancer Society, the Great Lakes Burn Camp and Lighthouse North.

Clarkston woman spots dead crow at home; not sure if infected

A Clarkston woman discovered a dead crow Sept. 4 at her residence on Amy Drive, but isn't sure if it's infected with the West Nile virus.

In past weeks, the Oakland County Health Department has been testing dead crows to see if they've been infected with the virus. The woman, who asked not to be identified, stated she spotted the crow at approximately 5 p.m. that day.

She called the Oakland County Health Department, but they were already closed. She then called the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and was given a hotline number.

When she called that number, she was told the county was not testing any more crows. The Clarkston woman then noted since they weren't going to test the crows, she had to go on the assumption they were infected with the virus.

She also contacted the Independence Township offices and heard there were a couple of dead crows reported to that office. In addition, she contacted the school her child attends and was told all principals in the Clarkston district have been given information on the virus. Residents with concerns about the West Nile virus should contact the Oakland County Health Division West Nile Virus information line at (248) 858-8011.

Independence Library offers online tutors for students

When school starts this year, Clarkston area students, and their parents, never have to be stumped by a homework assignment again.

Beginning Sept. 1, the Independence Township Library will offer TutorMe, a new online service that provides immediate homework help from qualified tutors. TutorMe connects students in grades 4 through 12 to expert teachers in math, science, social studies and English via the Internet. TutorMe is sponsored by Metro Net, a consortium of eight suburban Detroit libraries that share resources to provide high levels of services to their communities.

TutorMe is a free service offered daily from 3 p.m. to midnight. Students can use it at the library or from their homes through remote access to the library. Students log on the library's web site at www.metro.net/lib.mi.us/INDE, click on "Connect to a Librarian," and then click on "TutorMe." They enter their grade level and select the subject they want help with. Students are then immediately connected to a tutor in an Online Classroom for up to 40 minutes of help.

The online classroom is where students and tutors can review specific homework questions using features such as controlled chat, an interactive white board and shared web browsing. Tutors and students can type math equations using a special math tool, share educational Web sites using a shared browser tool, brainstorm ideas for papers and writing assignments, even have their papers proofread with revisions suggested and much more. The tutors are certified teachers, college professors, professional tutors and graduate school students from across the country who meet stringent selection and screening criteria.

In related news, the Independence Township Library has also launched a new after-hours reference service called After-Hours Answers. Available when the library is closed, including holidays, this new service enables people to get the answers they need when they need them with help from a cyberspace librarian.

To access the service, simply go online to the library's web site, click on "Connect to a Librarian" then click on the "After-Hours Answer" button. Next, complete a short form to ask a question. Users are then connected, in real time, to a reference librarian. Throughout the session, users can talk with the librarian using the chat function until their question has been answered. The librarian may direct them to web sites and other resources that relate to their questions. Once the session has ended, the librarian will e-mail the user a transcript of the chat and a list of all the web sites visited.

The Independence Township Library is located at 6495 Clarkston Road. The library is open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Their phone number is (248) 652-2212.

Evans named special education director

Anne Evans was named Director of Special Education at the Aug. 26 Board of Education meeting for Clarkston Community Schools.

Evans had been acting director since July. She participated in a formal interview process, up against five "very qualified" candidates, Director of Personnel Linda Nester said. "She came out on top and was the unanimous choice of the committee."

"I'm very honored to lead this wonderful department," Evans told School Board members. "I'm thrilled to provide quality education to our special needs children in the community."

Taylor

I'm not sure how we're going to deal with it."

Fourteen-year-old Christina Babcock has known Taylor for eight years. The two not only are neighbors, but are best friends.

"It's still so shocking," she said. "It just hit me the other day. And when my mom first told me I totally flipped. Now everything is going to change. I just keep thinking 'why? Why did this have to happen to her?'"

The two girls spent a lot of time together and enjoyed doing things like Cedar Point trips, rollerblading, shopping, and spending the night over each other's house. In elementary school they danced for a talent show.

"She's always been there for me," Babcock said. "I can call her or run up to her house any time. She's like the perfect girl. She's nice to everybody and can always cheer you up. She's always in a good mood and never gets mad at you. She doesn't deserve what happened to her."

Babcock and her father Steve have spearheaded a fund to help Taylor's family pay for medical expenses.

"If I were in her position I would like (the fund). It would make me feel better knowing someone was helping me out," Babcock said. "And they need the help. She deserves it for what has happened to her."

Babcock's father urges readers to give. "Please consider a donation to help Tricia put her life back together. Insurance will only cover a portion of the enormous expenses needed for her recovery and rehabilitation."

Donations can be made at any Clarkston State Bank branch, in care of "The Tricia Taylor Fund." Or send donations to Steve Babcock, P.O. Box 901 Clarkston, MI 48347. Call 248-625-4543 for more information.

Third quarter surge sinks gridgers

Three touchdowns in quarter lift Highlanders past Wolves 28-7 in OAA I opener

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's football team hung even with highly regarded Rochester Adams for a half Sept. 6.

However, the visiting Highlanders broken open a 7-7 game in the second half and wore down the Wolves with their running game on their way to a 28-7 victory in the Oakland Activities Association Division I opener for both schools.

The win lifted Adams to 2-0 overall and 1-0 in OAA I, while Clarkston fell to 1-1 overall and 0-1 in the league.

The Highlanders marched downfield on the game's opening drive and moved all the way to the Clarkston 22-yard line before a holding penalty against Adams forced the ball back to the Clarkston 32-yard line. An Adams 49-yard field goal attempt was blocked by senior Mike Ellsworth and recovered by senior Justin Whetstone.

After both teams traded punts, the Wolves put together the game's first scoring drive when senior wide receiver Brian Oltman juggled a 16-yard pass from junior quarterback Sam Palace and held on for the touchdown to give the Wolves a 7-0 lead with 3:13 remaining in the first quarter.

The Highlanders would not be deterred, however, as they answered with a scoring drive of their own. Senior running back Mike LePage ran for a one-yard touchdown on third-and-goal to pull Adams even at 7-7 with 10:28 left in the second quarter.

The first half ended with the two teams still deadlocked. However, the Highlanders would take command of the game in the third quarter.

After the Wolves went three-and-out on the opening possession of the second half, Adams took over and marched down the field. A 15-yard face mask penalty against Clarkston brought the Highlanders to the Clarkston 21-yard line, and on the very next play, Adams senior quarterback Mike Jones found senior receiver Patrick McConahy for a touchdown pass to give the Highlanders a 13-7 lead.

On Adams' next possession, Jones connected with senior running back Karl Daniel for a 35-yard touchdown pass. The subsequent two-point conversion gave the Highlanders a 21-7 lead with 5:36 left in the third quarter.

Before the third quarter ended, the Highlanders would apply the finishing touches, as LePage scored his second touchdown of the game on a three-yard run to seal the victory for Adams.

After the game, Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson stated the Highlanders controlled the action in the third quarter on both ends, and that proved to be the difference.

"We couldn't move the ball," he said. "They have a lot of weapons and can hurt you in a lot of different ways. They're a very good football team. They make you respect everybody. They put you in a lot of conflict."

As for what the Wolves have to do to improve, Richardson commented, "We just have to learn from our mistakes."

The Wolves travel to Southfield Friday, Sept. 13 for a 7 p.m. game against the Blue Jays.

Hitting paydirt — Clarkston senior wide receiver Brian Oltman (14) pulls in a 16-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Sam Palace as the Wolves took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter of their game against visiting Rochester Adams. Girls cagers stun West Bloomfield 68-42

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The West Bloomfield girls basketball team, and in particular their star player Samantha Mahoney, had garnered much of the preseason attention in Oakland Activities Association Division I.

However, defending OAA I champion Clarkston showed they are still a team to be reckoned with, surprising the visiting Lakers 68-42 Sept. 8. The Wolves improved to 2-1 and 1-0 in OAA I, while the Lakers fell to 1-1 and 0-1 in the league.

Clarkston shocked West Bloomfield from the outset, as Jenn Carlson scored two three-pointers as the Wolves scored the game's first 13 points. The Wolves would wind up with a 22-9 lead at the end of the first quarter, and never looked back from there.

Clarkston coach Ann Lowney stated the Wolves did a much better job of keeping their composure offensively as opposed to their opening-game loss against Livonia Ladywood.

"We took care of the ball, and we only had 11 turnovers," she said. "We did a nice job of handling their pressure and did a nice job of getting shots."

Mahoney was held to 11 points on five-of-12 shooting, including two points in the first half.

"We stayed in a 2-3 zone and tried to get her to shoot from the outside," Lowney said of Clarkston's strategy for shutting down Mahoney. "Sam gets a lot of her points from offensive rebounds. We did a nice job of keeping her off the glass."

Carlson led four Wolves in double figures with 21 points. Kira Karlstrom added 18 points, while Stephanie Parkin scored 12 and Anna Trim 10.

Clarkston traveled to Waterford Kettering for an OAA I contest Tuesday, Sept. 10. Their next game is Sept. 12, when they host Rochester Adams, then they hit the road again for a Sept. 17 game at Troy Athens.

Spirits high as cheerleaders prepare for 2002-03 season

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's cheerleading team has its first competition October 26, but the team began to take shape well before then.

Head coach Chandra Price stated tryouts for the 2002-03 CHS squad began in March, and 21 members were selected from that group to form the team. The cheerleaders practice for 2-1/2 hours every day after school except for Monday.

The team will be attending competitions from all around the state this year, according to Price, although she does not know yet what the schedule will be for this year, with the exception of their first competition.

She did state, however, that the team's goal this season is to qualify for the state cheerleading finals at Saginaw Valley State University in March. In order to compete in the state meet, teams must qualify in regional competitions held a week before the state finals.

Last year, the Wolves qualified for state competition and finished fourth in their regional. In order to qualify for states, a team must earn at least 90 percent of the points of the top team at that particular region, according to Price.

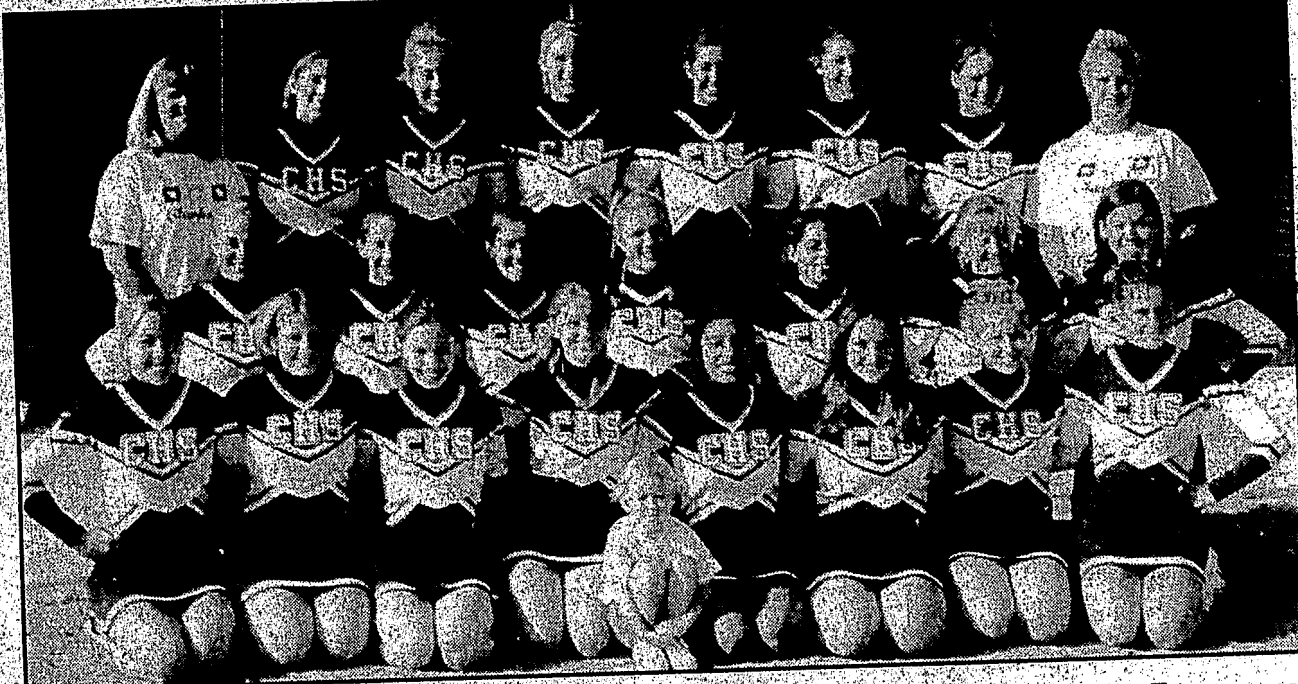

For their competitions, the Wolves compete in Division III. Price stated teams are divided into Division I and II (competitive) and Division III and IV (sideline). Teams are divided into these divisions based on school size and past performance, according to Price.

As a general rule, teams are judged in the following categories at these events, according to Price:

■ Floor mobility: Number of floor movements, effectiveness, creativity, smooth flows.

■ Crowd involvement: How the crowd reacts to the team's performance.

■ Leadership: Voice inflection, clarity and squad volume.

■ Second leadership: Confidence, eye contact, enthusiasm, floor presence, facial expressions.

■ Overall impact: Overall performance of the routine.

Each routine lasts up to three minutes, Price noted, of which 1-1/2 minutes can be dance-oriented. The other 1-1/2 minutes have to be cheer-oriented, and may include tumbling, dance and stunting.

In addition to participating in those events, the team also performs at every CHS football and basketball game.

Price is optimistic the cheerleaders will build upon last season because of their team unity.

"I think what we've improved on is how our team gets along," she said. "They all get along really well. They have a great work ethic."

Boys soccer still winless in league competition

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It hasn't been a good start for the Clarkston boys soccer team in a new league.

The Wolves, who moved up from Oakland Activities Association Division II to OAA Division I this season, dropped a contest to visiting Rochester 8-2 on Sept. 5 to drop their record to 1-3-1 overall and 0-3 in OAA I.

Senior forward Sean Gardner scored on a penalty kick about three minutes into the game to give the Wolves a 1-0 lead. However, Rochester would answer back with a quick goal to tie the contest.

Gardner scored again about 15 minutes into the first half as the Wolves reclaimed the lead 2-1. Again, the Falcons responded with a goal to tie the game, and never looked back. They scored again before the half to take a 3-2 lead into the locker room.

That's when the floodgates opened.

The Falcons would score two more goals in the second half before both teams pulled their starters. Rochester added three more goals to seal the rout.

Even though Rochester is regarded as an upper-echelon team, Fitzgerald was hoping for a little better effort from the Wolves.

"We lacked intensity, and defensively we were not very good," he said of the team's performance. "They're a very good team, probably one of the top

'We have to find consistent players in our lineup. We have to be much better defensively and play with a lot more effort.'

teams in the state, but I thought we would be a little more competitive."

Things weren't much better for the Wolves Sept. 3 as they traveled to Rochester Adams and wound up losing to the Highlanders 4-1. Sophomore Mike Holody scored the lone goal for the Wolves.

Fitzgerald stated the Wolves will have to find players who play hard throughout the game if they are to turn around their season.

"We have to find consistent players in our lineup," he said. "We have to be much better defensively and play with a lot more effort."

The Wolves traveled to Royal Oak Kimball for a Sept. 10 contest. They return home Sept. 12 for a game against Farmington at 7 p.m.

"They're good teams," Fitzgerald said. "For us to win, we'll have to play very well."

Swimmers defeat Lake Orion for first time in history

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's first home girls swimming meet of the season was a tight one, but the Wolves came up victorious in their first league meet of the year Sept. 5.

The Wolves triumphed 94-91 against Oakland Activities Association rival Lake Orion. The win marked the first time the girls swimmers have ever defeated the Dragons.

"We had a great meet against Lake Orion," Clarkston coach Kenwyn Chock said. "The meet was definitely a team effort. It was nice to see everyone participate."

Chock singled out the efforts of diver Kaitlin Kieras, who took first in her event with a score of 113.80.

The Wolves jumped to a 10-4 lead in the opening event of the meet, the 200-yard medley relay. The team of Chelsea Hassett, Sara Zerba, Teresa Kuhta and Kelly Keil took first with a time of 2:09.34, while the team of Alex Beck, Elizabeth Knappe, Grace O'Connor and Amanda Nichols took third with a time of 2:18.49.

In the 200 yard freestyle, Clarkston's Andrea Forst took second with a time of 2:16.67, and Erin Richards was right behind at third with a time of 2:19.73. The Wolves maintained their lead at 26-20 in the 200 yard individual medley, as Sara Zerba took second with a time of 2:36.35, Andrea Galaviz took third with a time of 2:41.20 and Kelly Keil finished fourth with a time of 2:41.23.

However, Lake Orion would pull even at 31 in the girls 50 yard freestyle. Chelsea Hassett finished second for the Wolves in that event with a time of 28.65, while Sarah Napier took fifth with a time of 29.94.

The Wolves reclaimed the lead 40-37 in platform diving, as Kieras took first place and Sarah Southwell third place with a score of 87.10. Clarkston swimmers took second through fourth in the 100 yard butterfly, as Erin Richards took second with a time of 1:14.41, Grace O'Connor third with a time of 1:16.54 and Nicole Kirby fourth with a time of 1:19.65.

The next series of events would see the momentum switch several times before Clarkston clinched the win.

The Wolves took command of the meet for good in the 100 yard backstroke, as the Wolves took second through fourth in that event to take a 78-77 lead. Teresa Kuhta finished second with a time of 1:13.95, Stephanie Friewald third with a time of 1:16.36, and Sabrina St. Peter fourth with a time of 1:17.57.

In the 100 yard breaststroke, Zerba finished first with a time of 1:21.95, while Randall took second with a time of 1:23.67 and Knappe fourth with a time of 1:25.61. The meet concluded with the 400 yard freestyle relay, where the team of Richards, Forst, Keil and Hassett took second with a time of 4:13.63.

In their first meet of the season Sept. 3, the Wolves lost a three-way meet against Farmington Hills Mercy and Grand Blanc. Mercy won the meet with a score of 102, while Grand Blanc finished with 75 and Clarkston 27. Forst set a school record for the 200 yard individual medley in that event.

The team resumes action Thursday, Sept. 12 with a 6:30 p.m. meet against Avondale.

Athlete of the Week — Stephanie Parkin

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

In her second year on the Clarkston varsity girls basketball team, Stephanie Parkin has proven to be an integral cog for the defending OAA I champs.

Parkin, a sophomore, scored 12 points as the Wolves shut down West Bloomfield 68-42 at the Clarkston High School gym Sept. 5.

She first discovered the game of basketball in fourth grade through the Horizon camp, a basketball camp for girls in the Clarkston area. She believes she has gotten better with experience, and credits Clarkston coach Ann Lowney for having faith in Parkin's abilities.

"Ann's been very helpful," Parkin said. "She's never given up on me. This year, I've gotten better down low in the post area, and mentally also."

This year, she hopes the Wolves will win all their games and "go all the way, and win for the seniors this year."

Parkin stated the five seniors on the team — Jenn Carlson, Kira Karlstrom, Megan Renda, Laura Richards and Anna Trim — have been a positive influence.

"They're all very supportive and always helping you out," she said. "If you get down, they'll pick you up."

Parkin, who also participates in girls volleyball and girls track, noted her favorite subjects in school are science and math, and also noted she is thinking about becoming an athletic trainer when she grows up.

She is the daughter of Tim and Lynette Parkin of Clarkston, and has two sisters: Lindsey, 18, and Emily, 11.

Golfers finish in upper half of field at tourney

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston golf team navigated its way through Great Oaks Country Club in Rochester to a solid finish at the Eccentric Tournament Sept. 3.

Clarkston finished ninth out of 24 teams at the tournament, which was won by Orchard Lake St. Mary's. The Wolves finished with a team score of 339.

Matt Baker set the pace for the Wolves with a round of 80, which landed him in a tie for sixth place and was good enough to earn him a medal. Dustin McMillen and Colin Madole each followed with an 86, while Adam Peters added an 87.

Coach Tim Kaul noted McMillen hasn't been playing as well as he's capable of in recent tournaments. "It wasn't a good day for Dustin," he said. "He's in a little slump right now."

Kaul commented the course at Great Oaks was a little difficult to play.

"The scores were a little high," he said. "I think it's because the course is high and there are a lot of water hazards. The low score on the day was 77."

Clarkston suffered their first loss in dual meet action Thursday, Aug. 29, falling to Troy 144-159 at Sylvan Glen.

Adam Peters led the Wolves with a score of 38, while Colin Madole shot a 39, Matt Baker a 40 and Brandon Hampton a 42.

The Wolves had a better time of it Wednesday, Aug. 28 against Lakeland at Prestwick Village, winning the meet 164-166.

Dustin McMillen paced Clarkston with a round of 39, while Colin Madole shot a 40, Adam Peters a 42 and Robert Wood a 43.

The Wolves competed in a dual meet Tuesday, Sept. 10 against Rochester Adams at Liberty Golf Club. Their next meet is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 13 against Waterford Mott at Pontiac Country Club.

Girls cross-country triumphs at Brother Rice Invitational

Boys' harriers take sixth in meet; teams to compete in Holly Invitational Sept. 14

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls cross-country runners ran well ahead of the pack at the Brother Rice Invitational Sept. 7.

Four Wolves placed in the top ten as the team took the Division II crown at the invite with a total of 37 points. Second-place Saline had 92 points, while third-place Livonia Churchill had 102 points.

The boys' squad took sixth place at the same meet with a total of 213 points. Detroit Catholic Central took first place with 111 points, while Traverse City Central finished second with 151 points.

Leading the pack for the Wolves was Liz Mengyan, who finished second, just behind Shannon Stanley of Rochester Adams. Mengyan finished with a time of 19:49.

Gillian Nordquist and Mo Kuhta were close behind Mengyan. Nordquist finished fourth with a time of 20:03, while Kuhta finished fifth with a time of 20:21. Anne Oltman was Clarkston's other top ten finisher, finishing tenth overall with a time of 20:40.

Other finishers for Clarkston were Beth Hoekstra (16th) and Lyndsay Smith (21st).

"The girls ran great," Clarkston girls cross-country coach Jamie LaBrosse said. "Gillian Nordquist had a huge race for us. The freshmen (Lyndsey Smith and Beth Hoekstra) came through for us."

Medaling for the boys team were Mark Sitko, who finished 14th and Jared Elmore, who finished 22nd. Other finishers were Evan Schneider, 50th; Jack Kinsey, 54th; Andy Kodra, 73rd; Eric Moss, 87th; and Scott Linville, 119th.

"That was a pretty good showing," Clarkston boys cross country coach Mike Taylor said. "We did well against our league opponents. Rochester finished right behind us, and Lakeland, which is in our regional, also finished behind us."

The two teams competed in a home meet Tuesday, Sept. 10 against Troy. Their next competition is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 14 when they will take part in the Holly Invitational. The boys junior varsity team will represent Clarkston in a meet at Cheasaning on Thursday.

From there, they have a meet Sept. 17 against Rochester Adams.

LaBrosse stated the invite will be a good test for the girls team, with Rockford (ranked eighth nationally) and Brighton providing strong competition.
