Clarkston resident makes it as Navy Seal

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

His parents say he's shy and doesn't like attention, but they're so proud of him they want him to get the recognition he's earned.

He's Kevin Pope, a 2001 Clarkston High School graduate, who graduated Sept. 6 from Navy SEAL (Sea-Air-Land) training, what's been called one of the toughest schools on earth.

And Kevin's father, Mike, a 10-year-Clarkston resident, said, "He not only made it, he's excelled."

In fact, Kevin graduated at the top of his class, even as the youngest in his class, at 18. He was one of only 15 who completed the training, which started out with 187 men. Many must go through the training more than once before successfully completing it, as did the 25 others in his graduating class of 40.

"It's a heck of an accomplishment," Mike said.

Mom Mary added, "His journey has been unbelievable."

Kevin had considered going to Michigan State University or Kettering University for engineering, until a Navy recruiter visited Clarkston High School. He took an evaluation test and received a near perfect score, a 94 out of 96. A lengthier aptitude test, similar to an SAT test, Mary said, was taken next. Again Kevin scored a near perfect grade.

Because of the high score, he qualified for occupations in the service like a nuclear scientist or intelligence officer, or basically any position he wanted, Kevin said.

He's opted for the intelligence officer. (Military information, particularly

For his senior year, Kevin trained for his future, going to the school an hour early to run and train. Having had no formal swim lessons, Kevin began working with high school swim coach Kenwyn Chock to improve various techniques.

"He found areas he might be weak in and trained and found the edge going in," Mike said.

And just to get in, recruits must pass a physical screen test that includes a 500-yard swim in 12:30 minutes, 42 push-

Independence citizens look to inform/persuade voters

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

With the Nov. 5 election fast approaching, the Citizens for the Community group are continuing their hard work.

The group is looking to inform voters about two proposals on the ballot and also persuade them to support both measures. The proposals are:

■ Ballot Proposition No. 1 - This is a request to borrow a sum of money not to exceed $26 million for a new township hall and a community/senior center.

■ Ballot Proposition No. 2 - This is a request for a four-year 1/2 mil millage to support the community/senior center. Basically it is an operational millage that will be used for start-up costs and operation until the center is self-supporting through membership fees.

The group, formerly known as the Senior Advisory Committee, has grown to approximately 20 individuals covering many age groups.

"We have some younger people who have joined us," member and Senior Center coordinator Margaret Bartos said. "We also have some township board members acting as private citizens."

The Citizens for the Community are trying to reach the public anyway possible. Among the plans to inform the voters include:

■ Contacting as many "supporters" as they can. The group is sending postcards to absentee ballot residents informing them on the proposals.

"We have a core of senior volunteers who are signing the cards and putting ideas on the cards. We will be giving out the postcards toward the end of October," Bartos said.

■ Encouraging supporters to write

Letters to the Editor.

■ Passing out information at community events such as last weekend's Taste of Clarkston event.

■ Providing supporters with lawn signs that encourage voters to vote yes on both proposals.

■ A number of individuals will speak on local public access show "Perspective" to inform voters. The program will air on Tuesday, Oct. 22 at 7 p.m.

■ The group also hopes to have a banner hang across Main Street in Clarkston promoting their cause.

■ Speaking to different community groups.

"All the effort and pavement pounding done by our volunteers is our strength," Bartos said. "We would not have this on the ballot without the volunteers on the Senior Advisory Committee. They have done all the leg work."

According to the Citizens for the Community, they are having a lot of success convincing voters the two proposals are right for Independence Township.

"Once we talk to the people and they understand everything about the issue we get a lot of support. They are very much in favor," Bartos said. "It is a very good time to build. Interest rates are down and we already have construction companies calling, so it will be a very competitive bidding."

However, the group also realizes it has a lot of work to do.

"We have a big job to do but I am enthusiastic that we can have a convincing win on the ballot in November," Citizens for the Community member Ray DeFiore said.

Briefly

Nature Center plans two events

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy will host two fun and informative events during the month of October.

Friday, Oct. 11 marks the Conservancy's second annual benefit auction to support its work to protect the woods, fields, streams and other natural resources in the headwaters area of the Clinton, Shiawassee, Huron and Flint Rivers. On the following weekend, Saturday, Oct. 19, the Conservancy, celebrating its 30th year, will host its annual group meeting, open to all individuals interested in protecting the open spaces and natural habitats.

The Conservancy's annual fall meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. on Oct. 19 at fire station #1, 6500 Citation Drive in Clarkston. The meeting will feature Ruth Johnson, Michigan State Representative, District 46, speaking on "Key Challenges in Conservation." Representative Johnson's presentation will address communication and other challenges in the effort to preserve nature and open spaces.

To make reservations for either event, call NOHLC at (248) 846-6547.

Firefighters dinner set to help local charities

The Lake Orion Firefighters Association is hosting their first Fall Dinner Dance, Saturday, Oct. 19 at the Gingellville Community Center in Lake Orion.

Doors open at 6 p.m. and dinner is at 7 p.m. Casual attire is preferred. Tickets are $30 per person and includes buffet dinner, open bar and dancing to live music with "Rescue 911."

The hall, food, entertainment and advertising have all been donated. All proceeds go to local charities including the family of Tricia Ann Taylor, a local girl who recently lost both her legs in a tragic accident.

Admission cost is tax deductible.

For tickets, call Charlie at (248) 693-7047 or Art at (248) 333-8000.

Correction

In the Sept. 25 edition of The Clarkston News there was information omitted from the article titled "Kostin prepares for November judge election."

The fifth paragraph should have read, "In the August primary, Kostin garnered 3,763 votes, while Kostin's challenger Dana Fortinberry received 6,559 votes.

Fierce flames didn't stop Clarkston man from rescuing neighbor in danger

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was a crazy way for new neighbors to meet. But on Sept. 18, Allan and Angela Kuhl introduced themselves to their neighbor of only 18 months and who they barely knew, by rescuing him from a vehicle fire.

Around the midnight hour, Angela awoke from bed to use the restroom. She had heard the neighbor's vehicle idling for quite some time, and being curious, looked out the window.

Across the street at the 64-year-old man's Parview home she could see sparks coming from his 1997 Cadillac Seville. She went out into the garage for a closer look and believed the car was on fire. She then hurried to wake Allan, who sleepily stumbled outside to assess the situation. They called 911.

Allan couldn't tell if anyone was in the car. But the thought of that possibility being true and doing nothing about it, sprang Allan into action.

"I was a little nervous, but what are you going to do? Can you imagine living here everyday and knowing someone burned up and you watched it?" he said.

Hesitant at first, but observing that the fire was contained to the engine compartment and away from the gas tank, Allan ran to the flaming car.

"I shouted, 'Is anyone in there? Is anyone in there?' and knocked on the window." The man, (who did not return calls to The Clarkston News and shall remain anonymous) opened the door partially. Allan flung the door fully open and pulled the man out, carrying him across the street to the Kuhl's driveway.

According to police reports, the man had fallen asleep after moving his car into the driveway.

The flames from the car had started burning the eaves of the home. "I was afraid his neighbor's home would catch on fire, so I ran over and pounded on their door."

Their home, fortunately, wasn't touched. But the man's home suffered damage to the eaves, front door and windows, and of course the result of the fire to the car was severe. No one was injured.

"The Fire Department and Sheriff's Department were very professional," Allan, a technology consultant for Hewlett-Packard and General Motors, said. "They had a great response time. They were here in less than five minutes, and they really did a good job."

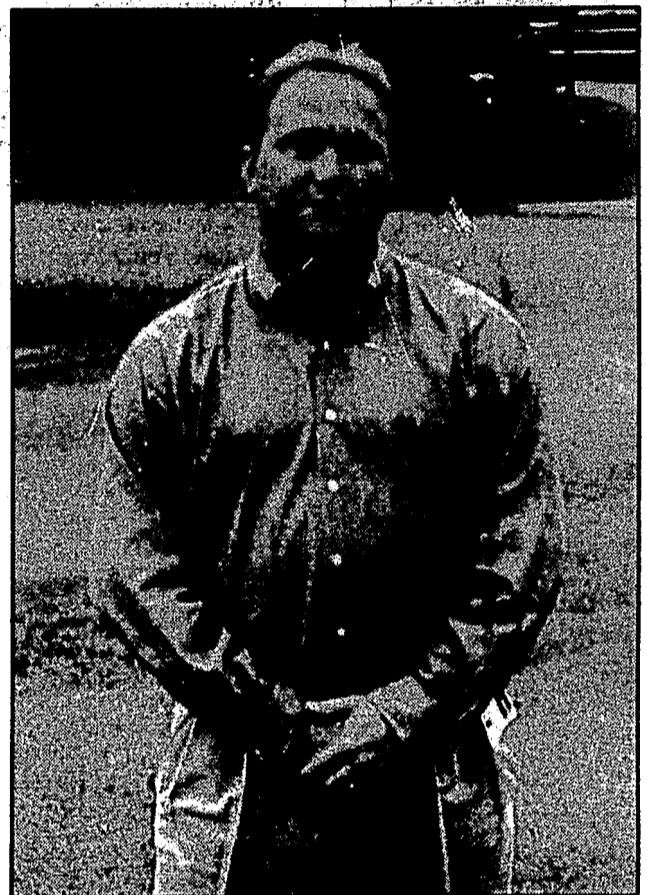

Oakland County Sheriff Deputy Chris Miller of the Independence Township substation told Allan he should not have approached the fiery vehicle.

"You've got kids," he said to me," Allan recalled. Allan, a former police officer in the United States Air Force, and Angela, an attorney, have two children Megan, 12, and Jeffery, 11.

"When you're in law enforcement that's just what you do. You respond," Allan said. "Burning is a horrible way to die. If we just sat here and someone burned up...I wouldn't hesitate. I'd do it again. But the whole thing is really on Ang. If she hadn't have gotten up to go the bathroom, he'd be dead."

Allan and Angela feel they've developed a new friend in this unexpected rescue.

"He offered to take us to dinner. He's really a nice guy."

Annual event hosts more than 4,000 people

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

More than 4,000 area residents invaded downtown for the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce's 5th Annual Fall Fun Daze and Taste of Clarkston Saturday, Sept. 28, helping raise an estimated $11,500.

The money will go towards Independence Township Parks and Recreation as well as community events and projects like the Concerts in the Park, July 4 fireworks, lighted holiday parade and Halloween Howl.

"We are delighted by the turnout!" Julie Cornell, chair of the Taste of Clarkston, said. "The restaurants outdid themselves."

Participating area restaurants featured were Clarkston Big Boy, Clarkston Cafe, Clarkston Union, Clarkston Village Bake Shop, Genesys Conference & Banquet Center, Giacomo's Ristorante, Gregg's Gourmet Cafe, La Villa Ristorante, Mesquite Creek, Mt. B's Restaurant, Outback Steakhouse, Rudy's Quality Market, The Restaurant at Shepherd's Hollow, and Smokey Bones.

The restaurants are judged in several categories and this year's winners include for Most Attractive Booth

Display, Castello Di Bologna; Best Appetizer, Giacomo's Ristorante; Best Entree, Smokey Bones; Best Dessert, Clarkston Cafe; Friendliest Service, 221 B Baker Street; Best Overall Menu, Gregg's Gourmet Cafe; and Most Creative Menu, Rudy's Quality Market.

New for this year was the People's Choice Award, in which visitors had their chance to vote, and Mr. B's Roadhouse came out on top. The chamber presented an award to the restaurant staff Monday afternoon. First place in this category also won a year's free chamber membership.

The annual fall event also features a Fun Run, 5K and 10K races coordinated by the Wolf Pack Running Club, children's games in The Clarkston News parking lot sponsored by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation, DJ music, a live band, dancing in the street and more.

Youngsters, and attendees to this year's Taste of Clarkston, Clare Mizusawa, Jill Lekse, and Sarah Wulbrecht all agree the event is a lot of fun. All of them have gone for many years, and Wulbrecht said she love it. "It's a reunion with friends because I used to go to Clarkston schools, but don't anymore. And I like the candy too!"

The Taste of Clarkston was a first time event for Ian Gale. "I'm enjoying it. It's very nice." The main highlight, Gale said, was the food, of course!

Clarkston PD on mission to combat decline in seat belt use

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

According to Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston, seat belt use by local residents is on the decline, mirroring an Oakland County trend.

With that in mind, the department is doing something to counteract that trend.

Ormiston stated the department will be increasing its efforts to patrol the city for seat belt use, utilizing a tactic known as "selective enforcement," where checking of seat belt use will be done randomly. In addition, Ormiston noted there will be more than one officer on the lookout for motorists who aren't using their seat belts.

A survey released by the Traffic

Improvement Association of Oakland County Sept. 24 indicated seat belt use among drivers and front seat passengers has declined from 84.7 percent to 78 percent in the past two years. The penalty for a seat belt violation is a $50 fine.

According to Ormiston, the Clarkston Police Department had a unique way of monitoring local seat belt use about five years ago.

"At one time, we had a program through NBD where we would take a weekly survey of seat belt use, and it would be posted on a sign in the north end of town," he said. "We averaged more than 85 percent of seat belt use about 4-5 years ago."

Now, the chief is hoping to get the local average back where it used to be,

and he thinks the selective enforcement method is the right way to accomplish that objective.

"We're trying to bring the awareness level back up," he said. "I think it brings a heightened awareness of what we're trying to accomplish. It clarifies what our intentions are."

Clarkston police officers Alan Kitzens and Jim Keller are the department's two point men for the enforcement of the seat belt rules, and they will be using motorcycles to patrol the area.

Ormiston stated the motorcycle use will help enforcement of seat belt use, and also commended the two officers for putting a lot of their own time and money into the program, such as paying for their own uniforms.

"The motorcycles help enforcement because they're less noticeable to traffic," Ormiston said. "The department takes a lot of pride in these two officers. Their uniforms are different than the average officer's uniform. All this has come at virtually no cost to taxpayers."

According to Ormiston, the motorcycles have been in the department for approximately one year, and are used for events such as the downtown Clarkston parades, the Taste of Clarkston and the Fall Fun Daze.

Kitzens believes the motorcycles have made the officers' jobs easier.

"We've come up on a year, and it's far exceeded our expectations in terms of community policing, enforcement capabilities and positive public reaction," he said. "People are more apt to come to you if you're on a motorcycle."

Council approves sale of Phase II bonds; construction underway

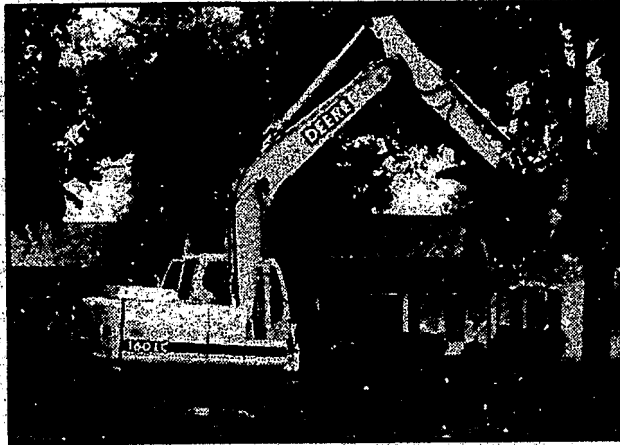

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Phase II of the City of the Village of Clarkston's water project is getting underway, and the financing for the project is now set.

At their Sept. 24 meeting, the Clarkston City Council authorized the sale of special assessment district and general obligation bonds for the project. The vote was 6-0 in favor of the sale. Mayor Sharron Catallo was absent from the meeting, so Mayor Pro Tem Scott Meyland conducted the meeting in Catallo's absence.

Raymond James and Associates presented the winning bid for the special assessment district bonds at an effective interest rate of 3.955 percent, while McDonald and Co. presented the winning bid for the general obligation bonds with an effective interest rate of an estimated 4.67 percent.

City Manager Art Pappas explained since interest rates change year to year, the effective interest rate represents the average interest rate for the length of the bond. The special assessment district bonds will be paid out over a 15-year time span, while the general obligation bonds will be paid out over a 20-year time span.

The cost of the project will be split between the general obligation bonds, sold for a cost of $210,000, and the establishment of the special assessment districts.

The taxes will involve an average millage of approximately 4.8 mills for 21 years.

The special assessment districts have been established at the properties directly abutting the new water main and have access to connect to it. The districts are assessed over a period of 15 years.

In other Phase II news, city engineer Gary Tressel reported excavating began Thursday, Sept. 26 on the north side of East Washington. He stated all property owners in that area have received notices of the impending construction.

Galley golf fundraiser raises more than $30,000

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The fundraiser Sept. 22 for former Clarkston resident Jeff Galley raised more than $30,000 — and the person the event helped out has shown signs of improvement.

A golf outing and luncheon at Pine Knob Golf Course raised approximately $28,000 to help defray Galley's medical expenses, and an additional $5,000 was raised in private donations, bringing the total raised to approximately $33,000, according to Brian Galley, Jeff's brother.

A total of 108 people participated in the golf outing itself, and an additional 70-80 people joined in for lunch, Brian Galley stated. "It went above our expectations," he said. "We had a great time."

The event featured a round of golf with a cart and a lunch/open bar for three hours following. The outing was a two-man scramble with prizes for the first, second and third-place finishers, closest to the pin and longest drive from the front nine and back nine.

In addition, an auction held at the event "went really well," according to Tim O'Neill, one of the event's organizers. The auction featured a kayak, skis, snowboards, and two first-class airline tickets from Northwest Airlines good for anywhere in the world.

Jeff Galley, who currently lives in Vail, Colorado, is fighting a brain tumor. He was on hand at Pine Knob Golf Course for the event.

Brian Galley reported good news on his brother's progress. He stated Jeff's first follow-up MRI has shown significant reduction in the swelling of the brain, as well as no increase in the size of the tumor. A second MRI is scheduled for October.

Former Clarkston resident Jeff Galley was on hand Sept. 22 at Pine Knob Golf Course for a golf benefit organized to help pay for the cost of treating his brain tumor. Here, he is pictured at right presenting Mikel O'Neill with a gift certificate she won as a door prize. Photo provided.

Learn about the issue

There are two proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot which will have a big effect on Independence Township residents.

Ballot proposition No. 1 covers $26 million to build a new township hall and community/senior center. Ballot proposition No. 2 is a request for a four-year 1/2 mill millage to support the operation of the community/senior center until it can be self-supporting through membership fees.

The voting public decided against the building of a new township hall and improvements to Clintonwood Park during the August primary election. Much of the speculation during the days after the primary was the proposal was voted down because no citizen group actively campaigned for it passing. By law the township board is not allowed to campaign in favor of a proposal.

That should not be a problem in the Nov. 5 election. Thanks in large part to the "Citizens for the Community," there should be no excuse for not being properly informed about the ballot issues. The township board should be thankful this group of individuals are out in the field doing the heavy lifting on the project.

The group is speaking to local community groups, is planning on speaking on the local cable access channel and is fielding questions on the issue.

It is important to remember that Citizens for the Community is a group which not only wants to raise awareness about the issue but also wants to persuade voters into voting yes on the proposals. With that in mind the information you will receive from them will in all probability be overwhelmingly positive. However, they are good people and I don't believe they would intentionally mislead anyone on information regarding the proposals.

If you want an impartial view on the subject you can always go to the current Independence Township Hall and take a look at a sample ballot yourself.

This issue has been debated during Independence Township Board meeting for some time. However in talking with members of the community, it has become apparent that many are unaware of the issue. You can also read The Clarkston News as we offer an unbiased look at the issues affecting the community. We also invite you to share your opinions with us and the community by writing a letter to the editor.

The information is out there, so it is on the individual to make sure they are informed when they step into the voting booth.

And make sure you get out to the voting booth. In the primary election, less than one third of the registered voters cast a vote. This is your community, and probably more importantly, it is money coming out of your wallet which will fund these proposals if passed.

In addition, after the people speak it is my hope the Independence Board respects the views of the public and will not continuously put the same issues on the ballot until they finally get them passed.

Reader urges voters to be informed

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ, I had an unpleasant experience last Sunday at a local Catholic mass that at first blush I thought I would just forget about, but on further reflection I thought it is too important not to share with people.

Our local pastor gave a sermon essentially chastising the poor attendance and gift giving especially this past summer. He posed various questions such as the economy, sexual scandals and other problems that may have contributed to but never asked anyone their opinion, sort of like Jimmy Carter's famous malaise speech.

I felt like standing up and probably should have and telling him some of the many things I hear from the local parishioners. However I felt this may embarrass him, so I waited until after mass and took him aside outside and asked him if he really wanted to know. I suggested conducting a session at mass and I'd be there to share my views with many others. He seemed reluctant to this advice so I told him that I would like to hear about the teachings of Jesus Christ and the dignity of life.

I asked him if he knew there were two candidates running for the two highest state and federal offices in Michigan. That is, Jennifer Granholm against Dick Postumus for governor and Carl Levin against Andrew Raczkowski for Senate. I said did you know that Levin and Granholm are against banning so called third trimester abortion which is really infanticide and the silence from you and the chancery office on the dignity of life is deafening.

He lamely said he could only preach according to some Michigan pastoral guidelines. I told him what it says on a sign in my office with a picture of the bible that states, "when all else fails follow the instruction book and you can't be wrong."

In 15 years, we have gone from the destruction of the embryo to killing babies in the birth canal. Wake up, we will have to defend the special needs children, the frail, defenseless old people with the "poor quality of life," in special care facilities.

I bear this misguided soul no ill will, but ask all citizens Nov. 5 to inform themselves about the candidates position on the value and dignity of life. If every life in the image and likeness of Christ from conception to old age is not precious what else fails follow the instructions of the Good Book.

James O'Neill, M.D.

U.S. needs to get out of United Nations

I am very concerned about the civil rights section of the United Nations Charter, compared to our Bill of Rights.

The U.N. Charter grants rights to world citizens but after each right the phrase "unless prohibited by law," is added. Our Bill of Rights grants its citizens rights that are protected from the elected making laws that violate those laws.

I am also concerned about the U.N. World Court which would deny U.S. citizens our Constitutional rights: No trial by a jury of our peers; You are guilty until you are proven innocent; No right to confront your accuser; No right to an appeal.

U.S. Congressman Ron Paul of Texas has initiated a bill each year to get the U.S. out of the U.N. and the U.N. headquarters out of the United States. The United Nations is now asking to tax United States Citizens which is another reason to get us out of the United Nations. Please support Congressman Paul's efforts to get us out.

Fortinberry is best qualified judge candidate

As a "retired" member of the Oakland County Sheriff Department and a "local" resident.

I would like to say that Dana Fortinberry is the best qualified for the judgeship of the 52nd District Court 2nd Division. The endorsement for Dana Fortinberry, by the Deputies Sheriffs Association and Command Officers Association of the Sheriffs Department, means several hundred "locals" agree that your vote for Dana means a vote for the "Best Qualified" for the Judgeship of this District Court.

Rally for Galley a big success in Clarkston

Special thanks to Jeff Patrus and the other members of The Clarkston News staff for their coverage of the fundraiser.

We had more than 180 people attend to spend the day with Jeff Galley and help us raise nearly $32,000.

Jeff is doing well and continuing with his chemotherapy back in Colorado.

Also, thank you to all of the individuals and businesses who contributed.

Organizers of the Rally for Galley

Fortinberry has qualifications for judge seat

I would urge the people of the 52/2 Court District to support Dana Fortinberry. I have known Dana for many years and have great respect for her judgement. I believe her experience and qualifications, plus her ideas and plans make her the better candidate to serve all the people in the community.

New Springsteen CD worth a listen from beginning to end

*Come on up for the rising
Come on up, lay your hands in mine
Come on up for the rising
Come on up for the rising tonight*
— Bruce Springsteen, "The Rising"

Your fearless reporter has now branched out into the world of music reviews.

Granted, this is uncharted territory — I have never done a music review before — but there hasn't been a CD out there in recent months compelling enough to review.

That's where rock icon Bruce Springsteen enters the picture.

The New Jersey native has largely been absent from the rock scene for the past few years, but the events of Sept. 11, 2001 helped provide the musical inspiration for his newest CD, The Rising, which was released July 30.

There are very few CD's you can listen to from beginning to end and say there is not a bad song in the bunch, but this is one of them. It will be a shock if Springsteen does not win several awards for this piece of work.

Granted, several songs on the CD — "Into The Fire", "You're Missing" and "My City of Ruins". to name a few — drew their inspiration from 9-11, but there are also plenty of other songs on the CD that are also great listening.

The first single, "Lonesome Day," is proof of that. It's a rousing number that shows Springsteen and the E Street Band, who collaborated on their first studio album since 1984's landmark Born in the U.S.A., haven't missed a beat.

What's up with that!

Jeff Patrus

After the 9-11 inspired "Into the Fire," Springsteen delivers the hope-filled "Waiting on a Sunny Day" and the more melancholy and reflective "Nothing Man." The group switches back to a hopeful tone in "Counting on a Miracle" before delivering another solid 9-11 inspired tune in "Empty Sky."

Springsteen and the E Street Band then delve into uncharted territory, making effective use of African rhythms in "Worlds Apart". Then they explore relationships between men and women in "Let's Be Friends" and "The Fuse." Between those two songs is the weak link of the CD, "Further On (Up the Road)," which is okay but not quite up to the high level set by the rest of the CD's songs.

The group delivers another rousing number in "Mary's Place," then delves into two songs of contrasting tone, the somber "You're Missing" and the defiant title track, in which Springsteen implores listeners to come together in the face of adversity.

After the sad tones of "Paradise", the band closes out the CD with a studio version of "My City of Ruins," which was first heard on the 9-11 televised special "America: A Tribute To Heroes." Like "The Rising," "My City of Ruins" implores listeners to come together during troubled times.

Reportedly, some people have accused Springsteen of using the events of 9-11 for commercial gain. However, these charges ring hollow when you hear how Springsteen spent countless hours talking to those affected by that event and then pay attention to the passion he and the E Street Band put into this piece of work.

In the end, Springsteen did draw on 9-11 heavily for this CD, but he did so in a way that honors those impacted by the event instead of using the event to make money. That's what makes it an excellent piece of work.

The field is ready, the city is not

Ford Field is a magnificent football stadium - for the fans, players, concessioners, advertisers, etc - once inside the dome.

It has a very wide concourse, the ceiling is netted for better (than Silverdome) acoustics, the replay screens are huge and the play-by-play boards quick and complete.

The negatives, the first and last impressions. These are huge and extreme. Immediate attention has to be paid to correcting these images.

Whereas the Detroit Tigers new playground has green landscaping, the Lions' new den has broken sidewalks, crumbling street surfaces, poor signage and a large board-fenced area with a sign reading "Locate your business here."

I was in a group of eight men. One has eight season tickets and two parking passes. The tickets read $60 and the parking $30.

For this 4:15 game we got to our parking places at 12:15. Our combined reasoning was as long as we're going to downtown Detroit we might as well have a Greek luncheon, and as long as we're in Greektown, we might as well increase our financial satisfaction at the Greektown Casino.

After an hour and a half in the Casino we were all financially lighter, but hungry. Adult male reasoning needs work.

Ford Field has been under construction a couple years. Though we walked across one street that had been recently resurfaced, we walked on others, Beaubien, Madison and Beacon, to name three, and their sidewalks, that are crumbling.

It's like the City fathers did nothing to give visitors a "welcome" image of their city. They let the Fords and Comerica spend their money to help bring people to town, while they, the fathers, welcomed the taxes and pedestrian spenders - period.

We, being old and having seen the Lions lose too many times, left near the end of the third period. Others did too, but not that many. However, already the traffic congestion was monumental.

Our driver inched ahead about 100 yards the first 20 minutes. There were plenty of police around, some even directing (I think) traffic. But the very narrow streets, filled with transit buses, limos, police parked vehicles on the streets, and leaving fans, made exiting Ford Field a nerve racking, frustrating chore.

Fireworks are big at the park. They go off for the National Anthem, for the heck of it and for the entrance of the Lions, an entrance that features explosions and swinging up of the door of a cage where the Lions had been held.

Players on both teams have their ego infested, hot dogging, arrogant professional athletes who do their thing when introduced as starters. It's sickening.

Quick notes: The place is noisy, unless, I guess, if you're 25. I was told it was Guns N' Roses' "Welcome to the Jungle" that was pumped into the loud speakers. Pepsi must have paid big money for their continuously flashing, streamer sign. The Lions need a marching band to cheer for. I'd guess the inside temperature at 70. The Lions should not have six men calling the coin toss. The stadium yellers have four letter vocabularies. There's too-loud music for all, country western, rock, rap (I think it was rap) and a hymn. The hymn must have been for the prayer which was the only hope the Lions had in winning. If they couldn't be motivated enough to win in a new, fan-packed facility, there can be little hope for the rest of '02.

Overheard: The Silverdome is just as good a place to watch football, and the surroundings are better.

A look back

From The Clarkston News

15 YEARS AGO (1987)

■ Enrollment in Clarkston schools continued its upward trend this year, with an increase of about 97 pupils in kindergarten through 12th grade on the fourth Friday in September. State aid is based on the pupil count. This year, the district expects to receive $2,762 in state aid per pupil. Figures are audited by the state in November, so the number remains unofficial until later in the school year.

■ A combination senior citizen center and community center could be the result of a feasibility study underway in Springfield Township. According to Sherry Swindell, Springfield Township parks and recreation director, phase one of a feasibility study should be completed by the township's planning consultant, Richard Carlisle, within two weeks.

■ When the traffic light on M-15 and Waldon Road is installed next spring, Main Street will lose four street-side parking spaces, Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) officials said. In a meeting with Village Council President Sharron Catalo, it was determined that the spaces will be eliminated to help the flow of traffic on southbound M-15.

25 YEARS AGO (1977)

■ Clarkston's Historical District may include all of the village, if village officials accept the recommendation of Vilican-Leman, the village planning firm. According to Chuck Cairns, representative of Vilican-Leman, the historical district could include the entire village from Waldon Road north and also the five homes south of Waldon Road, and could become a part of the zoning ordinance.

■ The Independence Township Board Tuesday approved the transfer of $20,000 to beef up a police department budget that is already $1,500 in the red. The funds will be taken out of the improvement revolving fund, and loaned at a rate of five percent simple annual interest. Treasurer Betty Hallman advised the board to loan the money a month at a time in order to keep a handle on the expenditures.

■ The Clarkston High School Band marched off with first place honors Saturday in Marlette, new director Cliff Chapman's former home. On Sunday, the Marching Wolves, now up to 100 strong, captured third place in the Michigan Invitational. Clarkston was entered in the open class for schools with enrollments of 1,200 or more.

50 YEARS AGO (1952)

■ The Clarkston Firefighters are sponsoring their Sixth Annual Ball Saturday, Oct. 4. This is really the big dance that starts the fall season. Great preparations have been made to assure a good time for everyone. The dance will start at 9 p.m. to the music of Don Smith and His Orchestra. Door prizes this year will be two $25 defense bonds.

■ Monday's meeting of Rotary was an open meeting in which the discussion covered proposed projects for the benefit of the community, such as landscaping for the school and lights for the school athletic field. Guests included J. Thompson Miller of Clarkston and Miami, Fla., Judge Russel Holland and Steve Stephanos of the Pontiac Rotary Club and Keith White of the Ortonville Club.

■ The following items were on special at Terry's Market in Clarkston: beef pot roast, choice grade, 69 cents/lb.; frozen orange juice, three cans for 49 cents; pascal celery, 19 cents/bunch; S&W coffee, 79 cents/lb.; butter, Remus, 75 cents/lb.; skinless Viennas, 45 cents/lb.; sweet potatoes, two pounds for 27 cents; ring or large bologna, 45 cents.

Historical Society president thanks those who helped

The 28th Annual Crafts and Cider Festival, sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society, proved, once again, to be very successful, raising more than $16,000 to help fund the Clarkston Heritage Museum along with other CCHS programs.

Many thanks are due to those who helped with Crafts & Cider, an event that features more than 100 artists and crafters, 15 local civic groups selling food and five local entertainment groups.

Thanks to Rudy's Quality Market for becoming our first Crafts & Cider Corporate Sponsor. Your support of CCHS over the years has been outstanding.

Thanks also to the many, many community members who supported our first silent auction and to Rene Weaver-Wright for organizing it on behalf of CCHS. The city's DPW workers, Brian Meloche and Adam Frank put in many hours of help prior to and during the festival. Clarkston Boy Scout Troop 199 handled trash and recycling maintenance and Smith's Disposal providing us with trash removal. Independence Township Senior Center handled the shuttle service to our off-site parking, which was provided by the Clarkston School District. Thank you to the City of the Village of Clarkston staff and police who helped prior to and throughout the weekend.

Thank you to all of the Clarkston High School volunteers in addition to the CCHS members who volunteered their time working in the cider tent and silent auction tent. Thanks also to the many community members who donated their time: Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bice, Barbara Rush, Kristy Ottman, Kathy Martin, Cameron Hahn and Wes Suttles of the Clarkston Police Department. We appreciate your support.

I would like to extend very special thanks to our Board of Directors who volunteer hours and hours of time in the year of planning it takes to present each Crafts & Cider Festival and throughout the entire weekend: Toni & Jon Smith, Kim Huttenlocher, Lydia Strnad, Debbie DeVault, Frank Latimer, Amy Wilson, Ann Mizusawa, Laura Covintree and Jo Macek. These individuals strive to improve the event each year and always appreciate your feedback.

We hope you can make some time to come visit the Clarkston Heritage Museum. The current exhibit is titled, Pastimes and Parades: Clarkston at Play. This exhibit takes an in-depth look at how Clarkston's earliest residents had fun. The Clarkston Heritage Museum is located inside the Independence Township Library.

Religious group thanks businesses for support on project

Thanks to the generosity of our sponsors, the Women in God's Service group at Clarkston Community Church was able to raise more than $9,000 for community outreach and our support of a Habitat for Humanity Home through an extremely successful auction, held at the church on Sept. 21.

The Habitat home is being built along with the membership and support of St. Daniel's Catholic Church. Construction began on July 21 and should be completed within the next few months for a single mother and her children in Pontiac.

If not for the following sponsors who donated items and services for the auction - our support of Habitat and other community projects would not be possible:

Affinity Day Spa, Amy Cakes, Artful Framer, Avanti Salon and Spa, Baskets by Cookie, Blockbuster, Bonnie's Hallmark, Bordine's, Cerified Metal, Charise Colbert, Clarkston Cafe, Clarkston Chrysler, Clarkston Eccentric, Clarkston News, Clarkston Flower Shoppe, Clarkston Muffler and Brake, Clarkston Union, Clarkston Village Players, Classy Nails, Coach's Corner, Coldwell Banker Schweitzer, Country Cord, Cowan Chiropractic, Costco, Dickson's Bible, Drive One, East Ocean, Frame-N-Art, Glitz, Grondin's, Hair Depot, Harvey's Office Products, Helping Hands Massage Therapy, Images by Renee, Inside Out Fitness, It's

About Time, John Bowman Chevrolet, Klever Kreations, LA Cafe, La Villa, MacPhee's, Meijer, Mesquite Creek, Metropolitan Tanning Salon, More than Hair, Oakhurst Golf Club, Opa, Pandora's Box, Papa Romano's, Plum Hollow, Powerhouse Gym, Rebner Massage, Reflections, Salon D'elegance, Shepherd's Hollow, Simpler Times, Stars and Stripes Gymnastics, The Birdfeeder, The Parsonage and Country-Kinetic.

Thanks again to all who contributed to this extremely successful event

SCAMP thanks newspaper for helping with golf outing

Thanks for making the SCAMP/L.E. Wint Golf Outing a "Hole in One!" Everyone enjoyed a wonderful day; the weather was perfect and the drives were long and the putts were short.

Your auction or prize donation of four 52 week subscriptions to The Clarkston News was greatly appreciated. We raised more than $19,000 for the SCAMP program and the L.E. Wint Nature Center at Independence Oaks County Park. SCAMP, a summer day camp for special needs youth and young adults allowed 354 "SCAMPers" the chance to enjoy five weeks of sun and fun this summer. One part of the summer fun is a chance to visit the L.E. Wint Nature Center. Opportunities like this don't come easy for the families of the SCAMPers and we are so privileged to be able to provide this enriching experience.

Without the generosity of people like you the special needs youth of North Oakland County and Southern Genessee County would not be able to benefit from the SCAMP program. On behalf of the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corporation and Oakland County Parks and Recreation, we would like to thank you for your contribution.

Mentors Plus help students return to school in style

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Several local students got a generous welcome back to school.

Thanks to the Clarkston Community School District and Mentors Plus, a subcommittee of the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, Clarkston kids in need found themselves in need no more with brand new backpacks stuffed with school supplies and school spirit wear.

The Mentors Plus mission is to "strengthen youth and families and prevent and reduce delinquency, neglect and abuse through volunteer involvement." Adult volunteers in the Mentors Plus program provide time, help and encouragement to males and females, between the ages of five and 17, in need of positive role models.

"By working together with the schools we are trying to help the children feel good about themselves in hopes they will build stronger friendships and feel connected in school," Joyce Bleim, a mentor in the program, said.

Together, the school district and Mentors Plus applied for grants as well as asked for local donations to give the 30 Mentors Plus children a back-to-school shopping spree.

The original goal was to provide a $100 spree for each child, but when grant money fell short, it was decided to spend the available funds on school spirit wear for the students.

"Participating in school pride is one way to keep kids interested in daily school life and activities," Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said. "Helping kids feel a sense of belonging to school is one way to ensure they get off to a good school year."

The monetary donations from Clarkston Window & Door of Pontiac, Embroidery by P&F Pavers of Waterford and Clarkston Community Schools staff at the Administration Building allowed for the purchase of the spirit wear.

Also donated were calendars from VALIC Financial Advisors, Inc. of Auburn Hills and a gift certificate from Meijer of Auburn Hills.

In addition, the children received a backpack stuffed with school supplies from T&C Federal Credit Union through the Stuff-A-Bus program, created to provide school supplies for underprivileged children in Oakland County.

The Stuff-A-Bus program not only provided supplies to the children involved in the Mentors Plus program, but also to students at Pine Knob Elementary and North Sashabaw Elementary.

"This was fantastic," Pine Knob Elementary Principal K.C. Leh said of the donation. "It was unanticipated, but wonderful. Seeing the children with their new backpacks and being so proud of it; it was wonderful."

Clarkston schools and Mentors Plus plan to continue to apply for grants in hopes of providing shopping sprees in the future.

The Clarkston Village Players will hold auditions for production of "Extremities?" on Sunday, Oct. 13 at 2 p.m. and Monday, Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. The play is about an attacker who tries to rape a woman in her own home, but she manages to overpower him and hold him captive. She and her two roommates then contemplate killing him for fear he will escape prosecution if turned over to the police. A suspenseful and concurrently insightful gaze into the psychology of brutalization, humiliation, revenge, human conscience, and the powerful relationship between victim and victimizer. There are speaking roles for one man and three women of varying ages. Please be aware there is strong language and sexual content. There is no nudity, but the play does open with a graphic attempted rape scene. Director strongly recommends auditioners read the play before auditioning for any of the roles. Auditions will be at the Depot Theater, 4861 White Lake in Clarkston. Call 248-625-8811 for more information.

More than Hair cut for charity

Cutting with care—Approximately $1,500 was raised during a cut-a-thon at More Than Hair in Clarkston on Sunday, Sept. 29 for Clarkston resident Tricia Taylor, who recently lost both of her legs when she was hit by a drunk driver. Owner Joanne Zulinski said they had 30 cuts during the day, and even more financial donations by customers, staff and more. "We thought it'd be busier, but we were happy with the outcome. We felt it was a worthy cause," she said. Donating their time for this charitable event were Zulinski and employees Cathy Krupp, Tina Durnen, Kenny, April Petruska, Debbie Pullins, Leah Casper and Kristen Myers. Many of their family members helped out as well, and Mike Bahri donated a hot dog stand, Zulinski added. Photo provided.

Bones discovered at East Washington

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff
Writer

Construction workers on East Washington got a little more than they bargained for Sept. 26.

As they were digging a trench for Phase II of the City of the Village of Clarkston's water system, workers discovered a set of bones that likely belonged to a cow from the 19th or 20th century.

Reseachers from the Cranbrook Institute of Science reviewed the bones and determined the bones likely were those of a cow, according to Heather Hall of Cranbrook's public relations department.

"It's probably from either the 19th or 20th centure," Hall said. "It's difficult to tell."

Hall further stated the Cranbrook researchers would not do any further studies of the bones.

According to city engineer Gary Tressel of Hubbell, Roth & Clark, the bones were found by workers installing a water main for the Phase II project.

"It was found about six feet in there, with three feet of natural soils," Tressel said. "We called the state historical preservation office."

Clarkston schools count kids, numbers as predicted

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff
Writer

Clarkston Community Schools conducted their annual student fall enrollment count Wednesday, Sept. 25, and according to school representatives the numbers aren't a surprise.

Community Relations Coordinator Anita Banach said the numbers were "right on what we were expecting."

The results reflect an unaudited head count of students. Banach explained it is not the same number as used for budget calculations.

"It looks like we're up 236 kids, but some of those students are only with us a couple times a week, like the SPICE (a special education program) kids."

These are students who are not Full Time Equivalent (FTE), and the state allotment of $6,947 per kid is only for FTE students.

The actual counting process in the state takes up to 30 days.

Clear understanding helps create positive partnerships

The school year is well underway and I am pleased to see great things happening in and out of our classrooms. Our continued success is dependent on the support and partnering that we have come to expect from our community and its residents. While your support is greatly appreciated, I understand that it is my role to keep all members of our school family well abreast of the work that is ahead of us. Allow me to focus on a few critical issues like funding, space concerns, and budget control and also address a few things that you can do to make a difference.

Clarkston Schools

Dr. Al Roberts

1. Funding

We can take pride in the achievement levels of our young people, particularly when the data shows us to be among the lowest funded districts in Oakland County. Our comparison group receives far more per-pupil than we do, so it is even more important for our school personnel to be prudent, creative and focused. After all, "doing more with less" is a reality here in Clarkston.

2. Space and Enrollment Concerns

The administrators and school board have been publicly discussing this issue for close to two years. As you know, we are out of classroom space at the secondary level. We are in the process of developing a bond plan that will be brought to our citizens for their approval in June 2003. The plan will offer relief to overcrowded schools and provide academic and extra-curricular improvements. After all, our goal is to take a great school system and make it even better!

3. Budget Control

Given the state funding formula, it is important for employees and community members to understand the difference between our operational budget and bond dollars. Our operational budget is based upon the per-pupil amount that we receive from the state. Keep in mind, we do not receive local tax dollars except as funneled through the state-aid formula which includes only 9% from non-homestead taxes.

Just as individual citizens must deal with a fixed income and increased costs of health care and utility costs, so must school districts. For example, this past year our health insurance costs increased by approximately fifteen percent!

Now, let's address a few areas that I need your assistance. First of all, please understand that we are careful to select faculty and staff who work hard, are motivated to do a good job, and who care deeply about our young people. We recognize that disagreements do occur from time to time. Therefore it is vital for all parties to realize that genuine concerns are important and should be brought to our attention. In the seeds of discontent, there are a real opportunities to help us get even better than we are! I must admit that I occasionally receive an anonymous letter. A problem cannot be dealt with effectively without an opportunity to dialogue. Please contact us and give us the chance to respond directly to you.

Another way to bring about productive change is to understand that the people closest to the job have specific skills and training that can/should be used to ensure student learning. This concept has gotten lost somewhere along the way and must once again become a stronger part of the societal mindset. I can't drive a school bus, but I am pleased that we have experts that do this job well. The picture of me doing any of the thousands of mechanical tasks that are necessary to maintain our buildings and grounds is scary - just ask my wife. So, we are fortunate to employ people that know what they are doing when it comes to such tasks. Teaching and administering a program that is designed to serve students of all ages is no different. Continue to support our staff and let them know when you are pleased with a job well done.

Finally, the relationship between our community and its schools should be based upon trust and cooperation. When we all think alike, not much thinking takes place! The most important aspect of the community school relationship isn't found in any one action. It is found in the integrity that places kids, all 7900 of them, first and foremost in our thoughts and decisions.

Then and now: COG concerned about local development

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Citizens for Orderly Growth (COG) has been a presence in Independence Township since last year, voicing their concerns regarding local development.

What residents may not know is the original version of COG was formed 15 years ago and deals with many of the same concerns the current group is tackling.

According to local attorney Neil Wallace, a member of both versions of COG, the group had its first meeting Sept. 23, 1987 at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music, and attracted about 35-40 people. The group was led by the late Ivan Roush, who at the time was the director of the Clarkston Conservatory of Music.

"We were concerned with the growth in the community," Wallace explained. "We wanted to have some influence on the planning process. It went on for several years, and we got involved in a lot of decisions, whether it was to object to or support a given issue."

In the Sept. 30, 1987 edition of The Clarkston News, COG's Douglas Carlson further explained the group's purpose. "We want to be a sounding group to pass information to the township," he said. "We want to work with the township

In addition, Carlson stated the group hoped to act as a liaison between the government and the individuals of the community and hoped to have at least one representative from every voting precinct as well as representatives from neighborhoods or living areas.

Among the key issues of that time, Carlson stated, were the onset of condominiums in the area, the growth potential in the Sashabaw Corridor and the potential dangers of Dixie Highway.

The first edition of COG lasted for approximately five years before disbanding about 1992-93.

"It was very strong at first, then it disappeared over time," Wallace said. "There were too many other committees and groups. Development was occurring, but there were not any hot-button issues."

Roush passed away about 7-8 years ago, and Carlson has since moved to Arizona, leaving Wallace as the chief link between the two editions of COG.

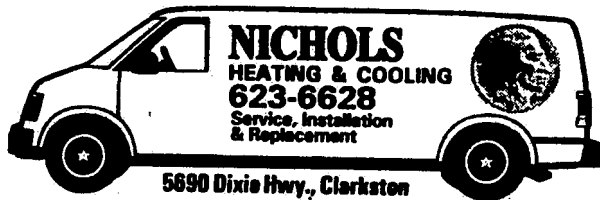

Wallace talked about how the newer version of COG got started.

"In 2001, a group of people got together and were concerned over the nature and extent of development in the area," he said. "They found out about COG, and that seemed to fit what they wanted to do, so they went with that name."

The group has members monitoring Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals in Independence Township, according to Wallace.

Recently, COG has made its feelings known about a proposal to put a truck depot off of Sashabaw, as well as the possibility of bringing a Holiday Inn to the area.

"It's often those type of issues that cause a group to come together," Wallace said.

Local resident publishes in whole foods cookbook

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Skimming through the 450-some page cookbook, you'll find everything from Shrimp and Scallop Chalupas to Sweet Potato Chili, and a whole lot more.

Most notably, you'll find Fattoush, a traditional Lebanese salad, from the kitchen of longtime Clarkston resident Laurie Stern.

"The Whole Foods Market Cookbook: A Guide to Natural Foods with 350 Recipes" is the first cookbook created through Whole Foods Market, the world's largest natural and organic foods supermarket, founded in 1980 in Austin, Texas, and featuring 135 stores in the United States and Canada.

Stern, 50, is the marketing and community relations coordinator for the Rochester Hills Whole Foods Market location, and has been with the company for four years.

"This is a company I believe in and an area I have a lot of knowledge in," the self-described open-minded vegetarian said.

At 16, Stern revamped her eating habits to vegetarianism because she said it was a natural and easy transition.

Around this time, she began realizing her passion for cooking as well. Her mother gave her "free reign" in the kitchen and Stern and her girlfriends would experiment with various dishes.

Before joining Whole Foods Market, the 26-year Clarkston village resident taught cooking classes at Clarkston Community Education. She's had several of her recipes published in various newspapers, but this is the first time she's had one printed in a work of this magnitude.

"On a personal level, I'm really thrilled to have been asked to be a part of this cookbook," Stern, who owned Country Greens, a flower shop on Main Street in downtown Clarkston, for 12 years, submitted numerous recipes for publication in the book, and Fattoush happened to be the lucky winner.

"It's a great salad to make in summer, when tomatoes are good. But I eat it all year round."

Fattoush uses romaine lettuce, cucumbers, red onions, tomatoes, parsley, chopped fresh mint, bite-size toasted pita bread, and is covered in a lemony dressing.

"(Vegetarianism has) been a very important part of my life," Stern said, who is a current member of the Clarkston Conservatory board and volunteer at the Independence Township Library as well as a past president of the Friends of the Library and former member of the Planning Commission.

She enjoys promoting the vegetarian lifestyle and sharing her knowledge of it with others. "And I get to do that here. I'm really fulfilling a passion in working at a job that suits what I believe in."

Prior to her current role at the store, she was a freelance sales representative, selling baskets. "I was in a lot of food markets at that time when Whole Foods came to Michigan." (There are only four stores in Michigan including Rochester, Troy, West Bloomfield and Ann Arbor.) "I was grabbed off the floor and asked to work here."

The Whole Foods Market cookbook features some recipes specifically for the publication, but others drawn from the best-selling ranks of prepared foods from the company's own kitchens. Still other original recipes showcase the talents of the company's own knowledgeable, dedicated and food-savvy team members, like Stern, who contributed family favorites from their own kitchens.

"It's a fantastic cookbook. The chapter on soups excited me the most."

The book's author and well-known chef Steve Petusevsky said, "This is more than a natural foods cookbook or just a collection of recipes, it is a guide for anyone who is passionate about fresh, great-tasting food, and it is an ideal kitchen companion for everyone from the cooking novice to the experienced gourmet and even those who are just curious about good food."

Also included in the cookbook are suggestions for stocking pantry shelves with foods that not only satisfy the appetite but also tend to your well-being. More than 200 recipes are either vegetarian or vegan, but there is also a vast selection of recipes for fish, seafood, poultry and meat.

Chapters include stocks, soups and chilies; big and small salads; hand to mouth; between the bread; beans, legumes and whole grains; one-pot meals; desserts; main attractions; burgers, patties and griddlecakes; beverages, nectars and smoothies; cooking with kids; pasta and other warming starches; on the side; sauces, dressing, dips and salsas; wine recommendations; the cheese course; a basic introduction to natural foods; cooking with natural foods; how to build a natural foods pantry; and menu suggestions.

"The Whole Foods Market Cookbook: A Guide to Natural Foods with 350 Recipes" is available at Whole Foods Market on Walton near Livernois in Rochester Hills.

And Stern offers her assistance to readers. "I'm here to give advice to anyone considering becoming a vegetarian."

Navy SEALS

ups in two minutes, 50 sit-ups in two minutes, six pull-ups, and a 1.5 mile run wearing boots and pants in 11:30 minutes. All of this with no more than a 10-minute rest in between each set.

Once in, the men begin Phase one, an eight-week basic conditioning, designed as the ultimate test of one's physical and mental motivation.

This includes Hell Week, where students participate in five and a half days of continuous training with a maximum of four hours of sleep. It proves to those who make it that the human body can do 10 times the amount of work the average man thinks is possible.

Teamwork is the lesson here and men work together to accomplish such tasks as lifting and maneuvering logs weighing 400 to 600 pounds, running carrying 170-pound boats over their heads, surviving the cold of the ocean waters, and much more.

"If he did (Hell Week) he can do anything," Mike said. "It's inconceivable people can do this stuff and he did it. It's amazing."

Phase two is seven-weeks of diving operations. Part of this training sees men with hands tied behind their back, feet tied together, and thrown into water where they are to stay afloat for 45 minutes. Many actually drown during this exercise. They are revived, before seven minutes has passed, (the time that brain damage would occur), and thrown back into the water. This training course teaches the men skills that separate the SEALs from all other Special Operations forces.

Next is 10-week land warfare training, where physical training continues to become more strenuous. As parents, it's been "brutal" for Mike and Mary. "We want Kevin to know we're behind him, and there was no doubt he could do it, but it's been beyond torture for a year," Mary said. "I wanted to hear from him all the time."

Except she said during Hell Week. If they got a phone call from Kevin then, it meant he didn't make it through the difficult training. "During Hell Week, Mike and I both had dreams about being in water. Your mind plays tricks on you."

Mike agreed. "I said to (Kevin), 'I don't know how this week's been for you, but it's been really hard on me.' I got no sympathy from him."

Through it all, Kevin has had a lot of people pulling for him, Mary said. "People ask us about Kevin all the time. Everyone is interested in his progress."

Currently, Kevin is participating in a three-week jump school in Georgia. He'll be going on to the chilly mountains of Alaska for cold weather training, then be assigned to a Navy SEAL team with a six month probationary period, along with much more training ahead.

"He wants to take in as much (training) as he can," Mike said.

After his five-year obligation in the service, if Kevin decided to leave the military, he faces career options in the CIA, FBI, secret service, foreign affairs, or anything he desires.

"There's no limit," Mike said. "At 19, he has cemented his future. He can go anywhere and do anything. There's no entry level job for a Navy SEAL."

"One hundred and eighty-seven guys went in. This is what they wanted to do too and only 10 percent made it out, and he was one of them," Mike said. "We have a 19-year-old boy, who's done very well for himself. It's so gratifying. I mean, who knows anyone who's a Navy SEAL? Our boy's a Navy SEAL."

Clarkston High School homecoming court 'tapped'

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston High School's homecoming court were selected from each grade Friday, Sept. 27.

The Student Council and Media class teamed up to turn the "tapping" ceremony into a video production broadcast into each classroom.

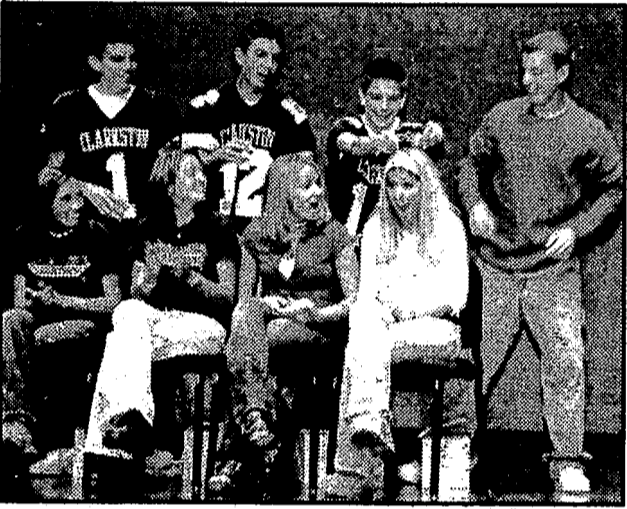

The winners include freshman Katy Kleinedler and Nick Meola, sophomores Kim Vincent and Craig Thomas, juniors Lindsay Mozer and Elliot May, seniors Amy Houston and Jon Szyilivagi, and king and queen Dan Howard and Courtney Robinson.

The 2002 homecoming court will be presented to the student body at the Queens Assembly Oct. 11 at 1:30 p.m. in the CHS gym. A field day follows bringing in competition between all four classes as well as faculty and staff. Volunteers from each class will compete in a series of silly contests, races and other games.

The big game against Troy Athens starts at 7 p.m. that night.

Clarkston resident plans to make a difference in Samoa

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Shawn Delasko is looking to make a difference in the world. So the 25-year old Clarkston resident is set to travel to Samoa as a member of the Peace Corps.

The recent Oakland University graduate will be teaching computer literacy to people in Samoa.

"In Samoa there are not many jobs for locals so they have to go overseas to find work," Delasko said. "However, they do not have technical skills so they were looking for someone to help teach them." Delasko is that somebody.

"Ever since I can remember I have always wanted to help people. When I saw someone lacking something I also had the inclination to do something. I didn't know what to do so I gave money but I was always looking to do other things to help people," Delasko said.

The Peace Corps actually entered Delasko's mind when he was 16-years old. However, he was not sure what it was all about so he put it on the back burner.

The Our Lady of the Lakes graduate when on to Oakland University and graduated in May with a B.A. in Psychology.

The next time Delasko thought about the Peace Corps it had more to do with alphabetical order than anything else. He was on the Michigan State University website looking into going to psychology graduate school when he scrolled through the "P's" and saw the Peace Corps.

"I looked into it and it sounded like a good place to make a difference," Delasko said.

The process of entering the Peace Corps took the Clarkston resident approximately a year and a half. There were written essays, letters of recommendation, background checks, medical exams and mental exams to endure. Only about 15 percent of the individuals who send applications in actually become a part of the Peace Corps.

"It is really hard to get into," Delasko said. "It is a long process and takes a great deal of perseverance. I think they do that on purpose so they know you will stick with it and not quit and decide this is not for you after you are in the field."

Delasko is set to leave on October 8. He has signed up for a two-year commitment in Samoa. He was chosen for this program due to his knowledge in computers stemming from a college job working technical support at a Troy business.

The first three or four months will be a training period. He will also spend the first three months in Samoa with a host family who will help him with the language and culture.

"I want to use this as a cultural exploration. I have always been fascinated with other cultures and other communities. In my volunteer work, I find the day-to-day improvements most rewarding. It is not always life changes, but rather the daily moments that I enjoy. It is much more applicable than just giving money away," Delasko said.

One of the reasons Delasko said he has always wanted to help people is because he suffered from social anxiety disorder. He believes going through that has made him more aware of others suffering.

"It opens your heart to the suffering of other people," Delasko said.

The Clarkston resident hopes to make a difference in Samoa. He said his mom was hesitant when she first heard the news.

"She definitely had a lot of questions. She felt better when I told her what I would be doing, that I wouldn't be alone and that I would be in a safe environment. The first priority with the Peace Corps is the safety of the volunteers," Delasko said.

Voter registration deadline approaches

With the Nov. 5 general election only weeks away, Secretary of State Candice S. Miller reminds Michigan residents that they have until Oct. 7 to register to vote.

"It is so important for everyone who is eligible to register and vote," Miller said. "Your vote is your voice and every vote does count. The right to vote is one of the greatest strengths of our society."

Residents may register at any Secretary of State branch office or at their city or township clerk's office. To register, you must be a U.S. citizen, at least 18-years old by election date and a Michigan resident.

Three rushing, two passing TD's help Wolves; defense forces three turnovers

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Less than a week after learning one of their previous wins may be overturned, Clarkston's football team was hitting on all cylinders in their Sept. 25 game against visiting Troy.

The Wolves' offense hit for five touchdowns, three rushing and two passing, and their defense forced three turnovers as the Wolves held off the Colts 34-14 in Oakland Activities Association Division I action.

Clarkston is now 4-1 or 3-2 overall and 2-1 or 1-2 in league play, pending a decision on a possible forfeit of a Sept. 19 game against Rochester, which Clarkston won 31-28.

On Monday, Sept. 21, Clarkston's athletic department voluntarily reported the use of a potentially ineligible player to the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Clarkston High School acting principal Janice Meagher, athletic director Dan Fife and coach Kurt Richardson have written a letter of appeal to the MHSAA requesting the result of the Rochester game remain the same. Fife stated he is not sure when the MHSAA will rule on the matter. The MHSAA's next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 9 (see separate story for further details).

AD contends JV player should have been allowed to play Sept. 20

The Clarkston varsity football team's 31-28 win against host Rochester Sept. 19 may turn into a loss, depending on a decision by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA).

The Clarkston athletic department voluntarily reported the use of a potentially ineligible player two days after the game to the MHSAA.

Clarkston athletic director Dan Fife explained how the decision came about.

"We played a kid in a junior varsity game (against Rochester Sept. 18 at Clarkston High School) that was cancelled Thursday night due to lightning, and played the same kid in the varsity game Saturday night," Fife said. "It was brought to my attention Monday morning. We thought it could be a rules violation, and we self-reported it to the state."

Fife, along with varsity football coach Kurt Richardson and Clarkston High School Acting Principal Janice Meagher, have written a letter of appeal to the MHSAA. Fife stated he is not sure when the MHSAA will make a decision on the matter; the association's next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 9.

Fife contended his interpretation of the situation was since the junior varsity game was cancelled, the game never officially happened, and therefore, the player in question was eligible to take part in the varsity game.

He stated the Clarkston athletic department has strived to handle the situation in an up-front manner.

"We didn't try to hide behind what

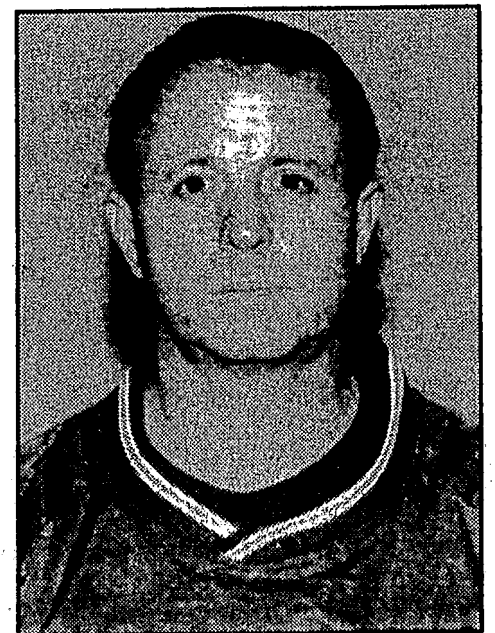

'There was no intent to jeopardize our team or deceive anyone.'

we did," Fife said. "There was no intent to jeopardize our team or deceive anyone. We wanted to do the right thing. We don't want a tainted win by any way, shape or form."

Fife also commented he has received "pretty good support" from other area athletic directors regarding Clarkston's handling of the situation. He also stated he has no hard feelings toward the MHSAA regarding the rule.

"They're not the bad guys in this situation," he said.

Carlson's 24 points helps cagers rout Rochester

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston established themselves as the team to beat in OAA I — and they used a little help from a coaching legend to do so.

The Wolves thrashed the host Rochester Falcons 63-27 Sept. 26 to take command of the league race. Clarkston improved to 8-2 overall and 7-0 in the league, while the previously unbeaten Falcons fell to 7-1 overall and 6-1 in the league.

A few days before the game, Clarkston coach Ann Lowney, borrowing from a book written by former North Carolina coach Dean Smith, installed some new wrinkles in her offense to combat Rochester's matchup zone defense.

The senior-led Wolves mastered the offensive plays during practice and used them to their advantage against the Falcons. "They're smart enough to pick it up quickly," Lowney said.

Clarkston stunned the Falcons by taking a 23-5 lead after the first quarter, led by senior guards Jenn Carlson and Anna Trim, who scored all but two of the Wolves' first-quarter points.

Carlson knocked down six three-pointers in the contest and led all scorers with 24 points, while Trim converted three three-pointers on her way to 18 points in the game.

The Wolves continued their onslaught in the second quarter, outpacing the Falcons 20-11 on their way to a 43-16 halftime lead. From that point, the Wolves slowed down the tempo and put away the Falcons.

Clarkston's defense shut down Rochester's leading scorer, Jennifer Harby, who was held to eight points. Lowney gave credit to the team for their defensive presence.

"I think the key was Leigh Christy did a great job of trying to deny her," she said. "Kira Karlstrom helped out quite a bit when Leigh was in trouble."

While Lowney admitted the team's margin of victory "definitely" surprised her, she also stated the team shot exceptionally well against Rochester, with Carlson getting a lot of open looks.

Before the showdown at Rochester, the Wolves soundly defeated the host Troy Coits 56-30 on Sept. 24. Clarkston improved to 6-2 overall and 6-0 in OAA I, while Troy remained winless on the year at 0-7 and 0-4 in the league.

The outcome was never in doubt, as Clarkston raced to an 18-6 first-quarter lead and took a 35-14 lead into the half.

Jenn Carlson led the Wolves in scoring with 15 points, while Kira Karlstrom added 10, Anna Trim nine and Stephanie Parkin eight.

The Wolves are off until Tuesday, Oct. 8, when they travel to West Bloomfield for a 7 p.m. rematch with the preseason OAA Division I favorite Lakers. Clarkston shocked West Bloomfield 68-42 at Clarkston Sept. 8, and Lowney is expecting the rematch to be hard-fought.

"It will be a tough test," she said.

Hot hand -- Clarkston's Jenn Carlson drained six three-pointers and scored 24 points as the Wolves thrashed host Rochester 63-27 Sept. 26 to take sole command of first place in Oakland Activities Association Division I. The Clarkston News file photo.

A favorable tiebreaker enabled the Clarkston boys golf team to finish in the upper half of the Oakland County Meet Sept. 30 at Pontiac Country Club.

The Wolves tied for 12th place out of 24 teams at the meet with a score of 330, but won the tiebreaker based on their fifth golfer's score of 86 (Colin Madole and Matt Baker both shot that total).

Novi took first place with a score of 307, while Milford finished second with a score of 310.

Bill Haun medaled for Clarkston in the meet, finishing eighth overall with a round of 76. Dustin McMillen and Adam Peters both shot a round of 84.

Coach Tim Kaul was hoping the Wolves would finish a little higher, but wasn't surprised they wound up where they did.

"I was hoping to finish in the top ten, but I wasn't predicting it," he said. "Usually, we're in the middle of these tournaments. I was pleasantly surprised by Bill Haun breaking 80, but I was also expecting Dustin to shoot under 80."

On Friday, Sept. 27, the Wolves finished fifth in a best ball tournament at Hartland. In a best ball tournament, there are three teams for each school, and two people on each team. The lowest score per hole for each team is counted.

Clarkston finished with 228 points, seven behind first-place Hartland, which finished with 221 points.

Matt Baker and Eric Hurd were the low team for Clarkston, finishing with a round of 74. Dustin McMillen and Robert Wood contributed a round of 75, while Bill Haun and Brandon Hampton finished with a round of 79.

In OAA I dual meet action, Waterford Kettering defeated the host Wolves 168-172 in a match Sept. 25 at Oakhurst Country Club in Clarkston. The Wolves' dual meet record is now 4-4 overall and 3-4 in Oakland Activities Association Division I play.

Colin Madole set the pace for the Wolves with a round of 40, while Matt Baker, Eric Hurd and Adam Peters each contributed rounds of 44.

The Wolves also fell in a match Sept. 24 at Paint Creek Golf Course against Lake Orion, losing to the Dragons 161-166.

Matt Baker led the Wolves with a round of 39, while Dustin McMillen and Brandon Hampton each shot a 42 and Bill Haun a 43.

"We needed for Dustin to beat their #1 man (Jeff Beier of Lake Orion), and Dustin shot a 42 and the other guy shot a 37, so that was it in a nutshell," Kaul said.

Girls' harriers dominate Hanson Invitational

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls-cross country team split up into two separate teams at the Hanson Invitational Sept. 28 in Sterling Heights — and both teams won.

The Wolves' "A" team finished first in the larger schools division with 29 points, well ahead of runner-up Grosse Pointe North, which finished with 101 points.

Liz Mengyan was the leading runner for Clarkston, finished fourth overall with a time of 19:54. Other competitors on the "A" team were Mo Kuhta (fourth, 20:01); Gillian Nordquist (fifth, 20:03); Anne Oltman (ninth, 20:44); and Lauren Witt (10th, 20:51).

In addition, the Wolves fielded a "B" team for the smaller schools race, and they won that event with a total of 21 points.

Clarkston runners finished in the top three spots in that race, as Beth Hoekstra finished with a time of 21:01, Liz Gorz with a time of 21:12 and Lyndsay Smith with a time of 21:15. Other Clarkston competitors were Whitney Bonnier (seventh) and Carley Gray (eighth).

The Wolves, who are the defending Oakland County champions, will look to hold on to their title during the county meet Saturday, Oct. 5 at Kensington Metropark.

Swimmers achieve first with win against Kimball

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston swimming coach Kenwyn Chock recalls the first time the girls swimming team took on Royal Oak Kimball.

"We saw Kimball four years ago in our first year," she said. "We lost to them 58-128. We never swam them later because they moved up to Oakland Activities Association Division II."

Now, Kimball and Clarkston are back on an even playing field in OAA Division III, and the roles were reversed when the teams met Sept. 26, as the Wolves cruised to a 127-57 victory to improve their dual meet record to 3-3.

"We had some really great swims," Chock said. "We're starting to look good and get some speed behind our swims."

Clarkston set five different school records in the meet. Erin Richards set two of those records, in the 200 yard freestyle with a time of 2:15.44 and the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 27.65.

Other Clarkston swimmers who set records in the meet were Chelsea Hassett in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 27.65; Andrea Forst in the 100 yard flystroke with a time of 1:10.11; and Teresa Kuhta in the 100 yard breaststroke with a time of 1:19.76.

In addition to those events, the Wolves took first in the following events: the 200 yard medley relay, where the team of Forst, Sara Zerba, Kuhta and Hassett finished with a time of 2:07.06; Forst in the 200 yard individual medley with a time of 2:30.23; Kelly Keil in the 500 yard freestyle with a time of 6:22.91; Alex Beck in the 100 yard backstroke with a time of 1:10.47; and the 400 yard freestyle relay, where the team of Richards, Beck, Keil and Forst took that event with a time of 4:14.38.

On Tuesday, the team competed in an OAA crossover meet against West Bloomfield, which is in OAA Division II. That will be the last opportunity for Clarkston swimmers to qualify for the county meet Saturday, Oct. 5.

For the first time in the program's history, two Clarkston girls swimmers have qualified for individual events in the county meet, as Forst has qualified in the 100 yard backstroke and Richards in the 100 yard freestyle.

Chock hopes to add to that total against the Lakers, but her primary concern is keeping the team healthy and on the right track after Thursday's win.

"On Tuesday, we look to get a couple more girls in there (the county meet)," Chock said. "My only concern is keeping them healthy. I was really excited about the meet (against Kimball)."

game's opening drive to give Clarkston a 6-0 lead with 10:58 left in the first quarter.

Richardson stated that first touchdown helped boost the team's confidence. "The kids believed in themselves," he said.

The Colts answered with a field goal by Jim Spencer to cut the Clarkston lead to 6-3 with 6:31 remaining. However, it did not take long for the Wolves to respond, as junior quarterback Sam Palace connected with senior wide receiver Mike Claus on a 43-yard touchdown pass with 4:36 left in the first to put the Wolves up 13-3.

Clarkston's defense would play a key role in the Wolves' next touchdown, as senior defensive back Andrew Breen picked off a pass by Troy quarterback Ryan Griffith and returned it to the Troy two-yard. Blackstone cashed it in on the game's next play to put the Wolves up 20-3 with 9:30 left in the second quarter.

The Colts then went on a scoring drive and found themselves in a fourth-and-seven situation on the Clarkston 13-yard line with 6:02 remaining in the quarter. Troy opted to go for it on fourth down, but Griffith's pass fell short and Clarkston took over possession.

A minute later, the Wolves took advantage of Troy's failure to convert on fourth down, as Palace found senior tight end Brian Oltman open for an 81-yard touchdown pass to give Clarkston a 27-3 lead with 5:01 left in the first half.

The Wolves would take that lead into the locker room at the half, but the Colts would make their move in the third quarter.

Spencer converted a 37-yard field goal with 5:43 left in the third to cut the Clarkston lead to 27-6. On Clarkston's next possession, Palace misfired on third down and Troy's Anthony Adams intercepted the pass, returning it for a touchdown. The two-point conversion cut the Wolves' lead to 27-14 with 4:09 left in the third.

Richardson admitted he started getting a little nervous about things at that point. "I was worried when they started getting momentum," he said.

However, Troy would get no closer than that, and Palace iced the game for Clarkston with 3:44 left in the game, as he cashed in on a quarterback sneak to give the Wolves a 34-14 lead.

The Wolves travel to Waterford Mott Friday, Oct. 4, then return home for their Homecoming game Friday, Oct. 11 against Troy Athens, at 7 p.m.

Athlete of the Week — Derek George

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Derek George has been thinking about other things besides football since July 9.

That was the day his younger brother, Keenan George, was killed in an automobile accident. These days George, a senior linebacker/offensive guard on Clarkston's varsity football team, is anchoring the Wolves' defense, but memories of his brother will always be present.

"It's been hard, but I've had a lot of support from my friends and family (including parents Mike and Kim George and older brother Kris, 23)," George said. "I know he's on my shoulder helping me play. I know he's looking out for me there."

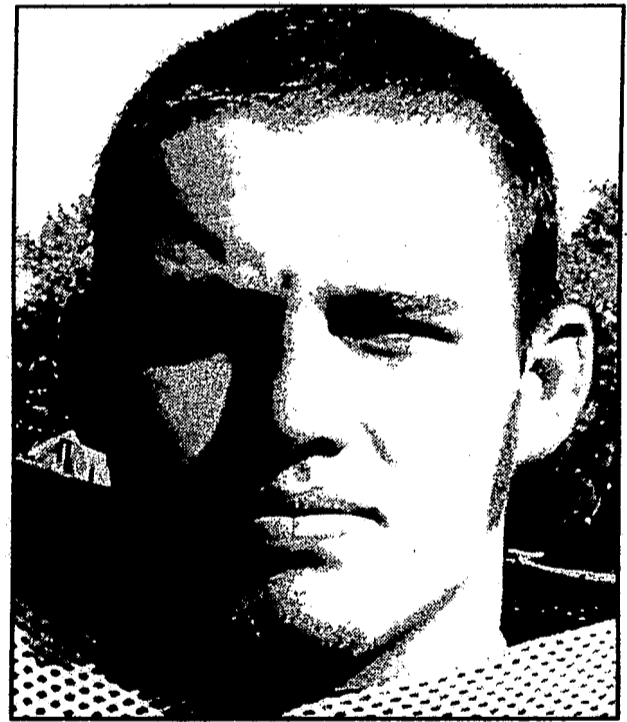

George was once again in the middle of the action Sept. 27 against Troy, registering nine tackles (including two for losses) and three assists. He will be seeing time in the future at fullback in place of the injured Brandon Weaver.

He has played linebacker ever since he first started playing football on the Clarkston Chiefs in fifth grade, and continued at that spot on the Sashabaw Middle School team. In fact, his favorite player growing up was a linebacker that Lions fans idolized for several years.

"One of the big reasons I play is Chris Spielman," he said. "That's why I wear number 54."

George started out on Clarkston's varsity as a sophomore, and stated he learned a lot from the guys that preceded him. "Playing as a sophomore, I've got a lot more experience. I've gotten a lot of advice from the older guys," he said.

He credits head coach Kurt Richardson and assistant coaches Phil Price and Rich Porritt for sticking with him through his ups and downs.

Defensive stalwart — Clarkston senior linebacker Derek George has been a consistent presence for the Wolves' linebacking corps this season. Photo by Jeff Patrus.

"My sophomore year, I came up and was raw," he said. "They've always been there for me and taught me a lot."

George, who is also on Clarkston's wrestling team, enjoys playing sports and hanging out with friends. He hopes to attend Michigan State University and go into secondary education, and also wants to become a coach in the future.

Fife signs with CBA team in Indiana

BY JEFF PATRUS
 Clarkston News Staff
 Writer

Former Clarkston basketball star Dane Fife will start his pro basketball career in the same state where he played his college ball.

Fife, who was in attendance at the Clarkston-Troy football game Sept. 27, will be playing this season with the Gary (Ind.) Steelheads of the Continental Basketball Association. He graduated from Indiana University this year after helping lead the Hoosiers to the NCAA college basketball championship game.

Earlier this year, he played on the Houston Rockets' team in the NBA summer league, but was not invited to the team's veteran camp.

Fife believes he should have gotten more of a chance to make the Rockets' roster, but stated he will make the most of his opportunity in Gary.

"I thought I got a semi-raw deal," he said. "Honestly, I thought I was going to make the veteran camp. I learned there's a place for me in the NBA. Hopefully, a team will be interested in me from either Europe or the NBA."

Fife is still living in Bloomington, Ind., but plans to move to Gary in time for the CBA season.

He looks back with good memories at Indiana's run in this year's tournament, and is grateful for the support he and the rest of the Indiana team received from their fans.

"I guess it's something that hasn't hit home yet," Fife said. "I can't quite fathom what happened. For the Indiana people, it's a great feeling.

People come up to you and say thank you and congratulations. It makes me feel good to know we touched so many lives."

Kickers hoping to turn things around

Clarkston's soccer team managed to break their losing string against Rochester Adams Sept. 26.

Despite losing a 2-0 lead, the Wolves managed to hold on for a 2-2 tie against the visiting Highlanders that evening to improve their record to 1-7-2 overall and 0-6-1 in Oakland Activities Association Division I.

Senior forward Steve Hardy scored about 15 minutes into the game to put the Wolves up 1-0, and sophomore midfielder Mike Klemm added another goal with about 15 minutes remaining in the first half to give them a 2-0. Adams scored with about 10 minutes in the first half to cut the Clarkston lead to 2-1 at the half.

The Highlanders added another tally 20 minutes into the second half to tie the game at two, but neither team found the net the latter half of the game.

Two days earlier, the Wolves dropped a 3-0 decision to host Troy Athens.

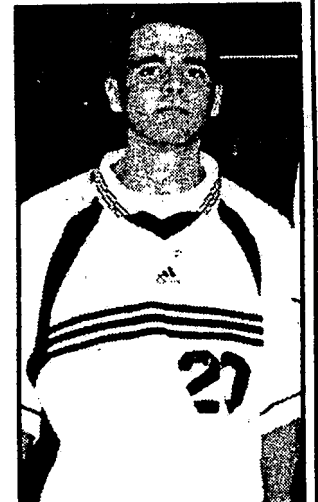

The Wolves have played the past couple of weeks without their leading scorer, senior forward Sean Gardner, but coach Dan Fitzgerald stated Gardner will be back in action this week.

"He's had a sore ankle all year," Fitzgerald said. "We decided to give him some time off."

The Wolves competed in an Oct. 1 game against host Rochester, and will return home Thursday, Oct. 3 to take on Royal Oak Kimball. The team has about four weeks remaining, and Fitzgerald is hoping the team can get their game together before districts.

"We're starting to play with more intensity," he said. "We need to keep that up. We need to try and get a couple weeks in our league and get some momentum heading into the playoffs."

Returning to action — Clarkston senior forward Sean Gardner, who has been out with an injury, will return to action for the Wolves as they head toward the home stretch of the season. The Clarkston News file photo.

As they prepare for the county meet Oct. 5, the Clarkston cross-country team finished fifth in a competitive meet at the Hanson Invitational Sept. 28.

The Wolves finished with 108 points in the meet, and placed five runners in the top 50, which earned them medals.

Mark Sitko led the way for Clarkston with an 8th place finish. Other competitors were: Jared Elmore, 9th; Evan Schneider, 26th; Eric Moss, 27th; and Jack Kinsey, 38th.

"We gained ground on Brother Rice and Saline in that meet," Mike Taylor, Clarkston's boys cross-country coach, said. "That was a good meet for us."

The team's junior varsity runners finished second at the Brandon Invitational last week with 92 points, finishing behind Oxford. Nick Oldenberg finished 12th, while Brandon Parks took 16th and Joe Seibert 20th, all good enough to earn medals.

"That was a real good showing for them," Taylor said.

Other competitors in the meet were Ed Brennan, 21st; Scott Linville, 22nd; and Mark Jackson, 23rd.

The team competed against rival Lake Orion Tuesday, then travel to Kensington Metropark in Milford for the Oakland County meet Saturday.

"We have the potential to be in the top four teams if we do well," Taylor said. "Rochester and Brother Rice may be a little ahead of us."

SUMMARY
CITY COUNCIL MEETING
September 24, 2002

Meeting called to order at 7:08 p.m. by Mayor Pro Tem Meyland.

Roll Present: Clifton, Colombo, Gamble, Meyland, Savage, Werner.

Absent: Catallo.

Minutes of September 9, 2002, accepted as presented.

Agenda accepted as presented.

Meyland reported that the Crafts and Cider week end was run smoothly with no problems and the cleanup went well. Both the D.P.W. and Police Department helped to make the event proceed without incident.

Chief Ormiston further stated that the Crafts and Cider week end went well; however, there is a potential parking issue at the south end of the park. Middle Lake Road was being used as a parking area and this can be a problem due to the narrow road. Parking on one side only may be a solution. Parking in yards is a problem. Chief Ormiston reported that Office Suttles helped with the cider and donuts stand.
Chief Ormiston also reported that Officer Suttles is also working part time with the D.P.W.

Pappas reported that there had been a request to set up an area to distribute pet food for pets belonging to needy senior citizens. Council suggested that this individual contact Lighthouse or the Senior Center. Also, Louise Kasl, owner of the bicycle shop, has adopted a number of stray cats in an effort to find homes for these animals. Council felt this might be another way of donating cat food.

There have been complaints on the length of time political signs are allowed to be posted prior to elections. City Attorney Ryan is to review the situation to determine if there are any legal issues in limiting the time that political signs can be posted.

Pappas asked Council for an update on the proposed bridge in Depot Park. Pappas was instructed to ask the D.P.W.
to look at the plans and assess what we have in materials.
Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., is to review the drawing of the bridge that was submitted.

Pappas had received complaints on the drainage ditch that crosses Glenburnie to the upper Mill Pond. Tressel reported that this property is within Independence Township and Pappas was instructed to contact the Township on this issue.

Pappas reported that a Public Hearing on Community Development Block Grant Funds will be held at the next Council meeting on October 14.

Gary Tressel was present to update the Council on Phase II of the water main project. Tressel reported that digging on East Washington is to begin on Thursday, November 26, and will start from the east heading west to Main Street.

The water line will be on the north side of the street,
When streets are pulverized, the streets should be paved within seventy-two hours; however this time may be relaxed in certain cases.

Tressel reported that there were some problems with the easement for storm drains at Glenburnie and Miller. The drain was modified and will be addressed in next year's portion of the project. The pipe will be located in the roadway and an easement will not be required.

Tressel reported that the City should contact Forrest Milzow regarding the Surrey Lane property. Surrey Lane that services the north side of the complex is a city road. Tressel stated that this is more of a parking area and driveway than a road. Pappas was instructed to write to Mr. Milzow to have the vacation of Surrey Lane considered in exchange for the water main being installed.

Tressel reported on the sanitary sewer line serving the Village West condominiums. The system within the condominium complex is privately owned, and the Independence Township D.P.W. director, Linda Richardson, had contacted Tressel that there was a blockage. Tressel informed the Council that emergency repairs were made and that any charges will be billed to the condominium association.

Kim Long of Middle Lake Road asked if she and her husband could remove eggs from geese nests. They had attended a DNR class and stated that a permit is required for this activity. The Council asked that Ms. Long attempt to collect the required seventy percent amount of signatures around the lake area and then come back to the Council for Council approval. Walt Gamble suggested that Ms. Long contact Steve Hargis of North Main Street for further details as Mr. Hargis had worked on this for the Mill Pond Lake Board.

Tressel reported that Consumers Energy will be moving meters outside, and that company has now decided to change all gas mains on the Middle Lake Road and Overlook area.

Savage asked Tressel if there could be a crosswalk on Depot that would identify the crossing area from the new walk to the City Hall and Park areas. Tressel is to review this and report back to Council.

City Attorney Ryan is working with Mr. Brook on the easement for the walk area adjacent to the Brook Realty building.

Tressel reported that tests indicate that the parking lot can be repaired by putting an overlay on the lot after cold patch is removed from existing indentations. The areas that failed are considered to be due to the heat on the millings that were used for the base.

Resolved That Awarding Resolution (SA Bonds in the amount of $815,000) City of the Village of Clarkston be adopted awarding the bid to Raymond James and Associates, Inc. (A copy of this resolution and bid results are attached to official Minutes.)

Resolved That Awarding Resolution (GO Bonds in the amount of $210,000) City of Clarkston be adopted awarding the bid to McDonald and Company, Inc. (copy of this resolution and bid results are attached to official Minutes.)

A representative for Mike Rogers, Congressional Candidate, was present to invite Council members to a rally at Maranatha Baptist Church for Mr. Rogers on Saturday, September 28.

Meeting adjourned at 7:45 p.m.

Respectfully submitted
Artemus M. Pappas
Clerk

contractual obligations in favor of Secured Party as set forth below under "Payment Terms" and "Default Terms," granting Secured Party full authorization and power for engaging in any and all actions on behalf of User including, but not limited by, authentication of a record on behalf of User, as Secured Party, in Secured Party's sole discretion, deems appropriate, and User further consents and agrees that this appointment of Secured Party as Authorized Representative for User, effective upon User's default, is irrevocable and coupled with a security interest. User further consents and agrees with all of the following additional terms of Self-executing Contract/Security Agreement in Event of Unauthorized Use: Payment Terms: In accordance with fees for unauthorized use of any of BRENT NATHAN GROSSO, RHONDA JOAN GROSSO, and NICHOLAS NATHAN GROSSO as set forth above, User hereby consents and agrees that User shall pay Secured Party all unauthorized-use fees in full within ten (10) days of the date User is sent Secured Party's invoice, hereinafter "Invoice," itemizing said fees. Default Terms: In event of non-payment in full of all unauthorized-use fees by User within ten (10) days of date Invoice is sent, User shall be deemed in default and: (a) all of User's property and interest in property pledged as collateral by User, as described above in paragraph "(2)," immediately becomes, i.e. is, property of Secured Party; (b) Secured Party is appointed User's Authorized Representative as set forth above in paragraph "(8)"; and (c) User consents and agrees that Secured Party may take possession of, as well as otherwise dispose of in any manner that Secured Party, in Secured Party's sole discretion, deems appropriate, including, but not limited by, sale at auction, at any time following User's default, and without further notice, any and all of User's former property and interest in property, as described above in paragraph "(2)," formerly pledged as collateral by User, now property of Secured Party, in respect of this "Self-executing Contract/Security Agreement in Event of Unauthorized Use," that Secured Party, again in Secured Party's sole discretion, deems appropriate. Terms for Curing Default: Upon event of default, as set forth above under "Default Terms," irrespective of any and all of User's former property and interest in property, in the possession of, as well as disposed of by, Secured Party, as authorized above under "Default Terms," User may cure User's default re only the remainder of User's former property and interest in property formerly pledged as collateral that is neither in the possession of, nor otherwise disposed of by, Secured Party within twenty (20) days of date of User's default only by payment in full. Terms of Strict Foreclosure: User's non-payment in full of all unauthorized-use fees itemized in invoice within said twenty (20) day period for curing default as set forth above under "Terms for Curing Default" authorizes Secured Party's immediate non-judicial strict foreclosure on any and all remaining property and interest in property formerly pledged as collateral by User, now property of Secured Party, which is not in the possession of, nor otherwise disposed of by, Secured Party upon expiration of said twenty (20) day default-curing period. Ownership subject to common-law copyright and UCC Financing Statement and Security Agreement filed with the UCC filing office. Record Owner: Brent Nathan Gross©, Autograph Common Law Copyright© 1980. Unauthorized use of any of "Brent Nathan Gross," "Rhonda Joan Gross," and "Nicholas Nathan Gross" incurs same unauthorized-use fees as those associated with BRENT NATHAN GROSSO, RHONDA JOAN GROSSO, and NICHOLAS NATHAN GROSSO, respectively, as set forth above in paragraph "(1)" under "Self-executing Contract/Security Agreement in Event of Unauthorized Use."

Dear Homeowner:

If you have a FHA or VA loan, you may take advantage of the lowest fixed rates in 19 years at NO COST.

FHA/VA has developed a "streamline approach" to lower your interest rate. If you have no more than two 30-day late pays on your mortgage in the last 12 months, you will be eligible for this streamline program.

Under this FHA/VA program, you may lower your payments and you pay:

- NO CLOSING COSTS
- NO ORIGATION FEES
- NO DISCOUNT POINTS
- NO APPRAISAL & CREDIT REPORT FEES
- NO CLOSING FEES
- NO UNDERWRITING FEES
- NO TITLE FEES
- NO INSPECTION FEES
- NO RECORDING FEES

No income verification or credit check is necessary.
I am looking forward to your telephone call TODAY!

Sincerely,

Timothy C. Bland
