'Yes' to $83 million bond, Miller, Koval

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Cheers filled the Independence Elementary School cafeteria Monday night upon news that voters approved both an $83.7 million bond proposal and restoration of the full 18-mill non-homestead property tax.

"It's fabulous to see the community support is still there," Board President Kurt Shanks said after Monday's school board meeting, at which the results were announced.

In an election drawing almost 5,000 voters (a healthy increase from the past couple years), Tony Miller and John Koval came out ahead in the race for two seats on the board of education.

"I'm exhausted, but I'm as happy as anybody in this community can be," Miller said.

"I'm so thrilled," Koval said. "This is something I've wanted to do for several years. I've really developed an interest in the decision-making process."

Koval and Miller were winners in an eight-person race to succeed Shanks and Janet Thomas, who decided not to run for reelection. Shanks said the new trustees and the good financial news are a good going-away present.

"Janet and I are leaving with a clear conscience with the condition we're leaving the district in," Shanks said. "I'm thrilled."

Superintendent Al Roberts used the same word to describe his feelings.

"Never take for granted the citizens and their wisdom," Roberts said. "Democracy worked."

The "non-homestead" property tax issue included a partial renewal and an override of Headlee Amendment roll-backs. Although the 18 mills (to be levied against owners of businesses, rental properties and second homes) is considered a local tax, supporters said the renewal was essential to maintain the full per-student foundation grant from the state budget.

Lighthouse tries to cope with layoffs

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Staff and volunteers at Lighthouse Emergency Services are having a bittersweet week, preparing to say goodbye to two key employees.

Katie Stewart, manager of the Independence Township location, and Jane Carr, volunteer/special events coordinator, will work their last day Friday, June 13. They are two of five employees losing their jobs throughout the Pontiac-based Lighthouse of Oakland County because of budget problems.

Stewart started as a Lighthouse volunteer in 1993, then joined the staff in 1997. Stewart later recruited Carr, first as a volunteer, then as an employee.

"We're feeling a little down at times," Stewart said, but the family atmosphere is such that there is laughter, too, she said.

"We had to go through it not only the day we found out," Carr said. "We had to go through it for five days as the volunteers found out."

While feeling their own pain, they are also concerned about the three remaining employees at what is commonly known as "Lighthouse North."

"It's going to be a lot different," Stewart said.

The laid off employees were given the option to begin seeking other jobs immediately, but both chose to work out their two weeks notice.

"The clients mean a lot to us, and the volunteers mean a lot to us," Carr said. "And we wanted to make sure our coworkers were ready to go [after their departure]. I don't know how they could ever learn the things Katie knows."

Briefly

Stakoe introduces environmental legislation

State Rep. John Stakoe recently introduced legislation to streamline and enhance Michigan's Aquatic Nuisance Control Act and help protect the state's inland lakes from the harmful effects of aquatic nuisance plant species.

House Bill 4730 allows certified professional applicators, lake managers and lake front property owners to use U.S. Environmental Protection Agency - approved products and science - based management techniques to control invasive and nuisance aquatic plant species.

"This legislation is vital for Michigan residents," Stakoe said. "We must protect our greatest resource and ensure that water is available to Michigan residents for their health, business and recreation needs."

Exotic species, sometimes transported to inland lakes by recreational boating and sport fish stocking, disturb the balance of existing ecosystems. The continued spread of nuisance species also threatens the ability of residents to enjoy the recreational opportunities afforded to them by the lake.

"The introduction of nuisance species is the single greatest threat to the Michigan's inland lakes today," Stakoe said. "We must fight to keep our waters free from the destruction wreaked by these invasive species. Otherwise, we will be unable to use our lakes for fishing, swimming and boating."

The bill was referred to the House Committee on Great Lakes and Tourism.

Road Commission works in Independence

The Road Commission for Oakland County announced a project in Independence Township.

The project will take place on Deer Lake Road from White Lake Road to east of Sagamore Street. This section of Deer Lake is closed until approximately the end of June so that Independence Township can reconstruct and repave the intersection of Deer Lake and White Lake roads.

The detour is Dixie Highway and White Lake Road.

NOCA hosts substance prevention program

The North Oakland Counseling Associates is offering a free 10 week substance abuse education/prevention program for children 9 to 12-years old.

The program will be held on Thursday evenings from 7 to 8 p.m. at N.O.C.A. at 6401 Citation Drive in Clarkston. The first session will be held on June 19.

For more information call (248) 620-1019.

What is Mystic Tan™?

The Mystic Tan™ Booth is designed to deliver a customized sunless tanning application to each customer based on their body size, skin type, and desired color. There are three tanning level options available to produce the optimal tanning results for each individual customer. Once the proper tanning level for a new customer has been determined they are shown a short instructional video, which is designed to walk them through the entire process step-by-step. This insures that each customer receives the exact same instructions on how to get the best results. Inside the Mystic Tan™ room the tanner simply disrobes and enters the booth. With the push of a button the session begins with a fine mist of Aloe Vera enriched Sunless-Tanning Solution being sprayed through our proprietary patented MagneTan® nozzles. The MagneTan Technology insures uniform coverage over the entire body, which our proprietary sunless tanning solution instantly transforms into a quick natural-looking tan that continues to darken throughout the day.

A perfectly uniform, natural looking tan in less than 60 second

The bronzer is a water-soluble dye designed to produce an instant tan. The brown bronzer will wash off in the shower or bath but will not effect your overall tan. The DHA produces a long-term tan. When applied to the skin, DHA reacts with proteins in the skin's superficial layer to form a golden brown color. It begins to darken 2 to 3 hours after application and reaches its peak color within 24 hours. The DHA tan will begin to gradually fade through natural exfoliation, just like a tan from the sun. The Aloe Vera helps to carry the DHA deeper into the skin and promotes a softer, smoother finish. The Mystic Tan™ tanning solution contains more than 65% stabilized Aloe Vera liquid. Aloe Vera is a natural moisturizer that helps the skin draw moisture to the surface. It softens the skin and helps smooth wrinkles.

Will it turn me orange?

Not in the past, self-tanners gave many individuals an unnatural orange glow and caused streaking. Most of these undesirable results were caused by improper or ineffective application techniques.

Independence residents question sewer assessment

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bill Gregory made his feelings clear about plans to provide an Andersonville Road sewer system with a special assessment district.

"I don't think we'll have a majority of people that are going to want to spend $10,000 out of pocket plus the assessment," he said.

Gregory was among residents who attended a Tuesday, June 3 public hearing before the Independence Township Board. The hearing preceded the board's vote to establish boundaries for the district.

The main issue appeared to be the township's plan to assess affected property owners a total of $250,655 over 20 years. If approved, that would pay only for the main system, thus requiring property owners to pay for the connection and the needed grinder pump for the pressure sewer system.

Gregory argued for the option of a $481,655 assessment, which would include all the needed pumps and connections. He said it should be cheaper in the long run, and would make it easier by spreading the total cost over time among the 25 affected parcels.

"There's got to be a savings by having one contractor all along the way up front," he said.

Township officials said they proposed the first plan to allow property owners the option of when — or whether — to connect to the main line.

"If everybody in the district decided they wanted to do it at once, it would be fine," Supervisor Dale Stuart said. "It's very unlikely that out of the 25 properties, 25 people will connect the first day."

In response to Gregory's suggestion, however, Stuart said the board would consider a poll of property owners to determine whether all 25 owners would be willing to connect immediately.

The June 3 public hearing was only on the topic of the district boundaries. A second public hearing will be necessary before the board votes on the actual funding mechanism of the special assessment district.

Tom Biehl, representing the Hubbell, Roth and Clark engineering firm, said there are also potential liability issues if the township contacted for home connections.

Engineers gave a rough estimate of $6,000 to $10,000 for the grinder pump, $14 to $20 per foot for the connection pipe and $1,014 as the current township sewer tap-in fee.

HRC engineer Jamie Burton said

'If everybody in the district decided they wanted to do it at once, it would be fine. It's very unlikely that out of the 25 properties, 25 people will connect the first day.'

Dale Stuart
Independence Township Supervisor

Dale Stuart

petitions representing more than 50 percent of the affected property asked for the new district. The area needs a sewer system because of environmental concerns, and the topography is such that a normal gravity-fed system would not suffice.

"Lake quality is a big concern, and could be affected due to the failing or diminished capacity of the septic system," Burton said.

While the current plan would allow property owners to choose when to connect to the system, officials said there is an advantage to having the main line in place so property owners have the access when it is deemed necessary, perhaps by health department edict or by a desire to make a property more marketable.

There was less conversation at a public hearing on a proposed special assessment district for a new Sashabaw Road "drainage district."

Not to be confused with the still-pending special assessment for road improvements, the drainage district was also requested by representatives of more than 50 percent of the property in the proposed district.

If approved, the district would assess an estimated $1.3 million for a special drain system to be offered as an alternative to requiring individual property owners to dig standard retention ponds.

Burton said the plan would enhance the "town center" overlay district.

"It's not to have nice, square detention basins, potentially-overgrown fenced-in areas pockmarked all over the area," he said.

The only questions came from a couple property owners asking about details of the proposed district boundaries, the potential effect of drainage from other properties, and exemption of properties with existing drainage systems.

After the public hearings, trustees approved both SAD resolutions without discussion. Second public hearings for both proposed districts will be scheduled at a later date.

Clarkston community mourns death of Olsen

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

"Community" and "family" are words being used to remember the life and impact of Robert Olsen, who died last week at age 58.

"People will remember him for his love for the community, which was shown in all the things he was involved in," according to his wife, Deanna.

He was involved in a lot of things, both in business and in civic service. A founding director of the Clarkston State Bank, he was also president of Planned Financial Services Inc.

Dawn Horner, president of Clarkston State Bank, said Olsen's passion for the community led him to join a group of businessmen in founding the institution when NBD Bank moved out of the downtown building in 1998.

"They felt very strongly that there should be a bank here," she said, noting his continuing involvement on the board and various committees. "He was a very good referral source" for new accounts.

In addition to all that, "He was a great guy," Horner said. "He touched a lot of people in a lot of different ways."

Because he used his financial planning skills outside the job, community charities have been ensured a future. Olsen was instrumental in establishing the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corporation, which has helped the summer camp program survive during the lean times of recent years.

Donna Clancy, executive director of SCAMP, said she did not know Olsen well, but was able to thank him for his help in setting up the endowment.

"Because of him, we've been able to allow SCAMP to keep going," Clancy said. "He showed us how to take advantage of that. We will remember him forever and ever."

Olsen was also the first president of the Clarkston Foundation and was a recipient of the Clarkston Chamber Outstanding Business Person of the Year award.

With all his outside activities, his wife stressed that it was not the priority.

"His business was real important to him, but his family was also important," she said. "It was the most important thing."

That was evidenced by his decision to move the entire family to Florida for the past two years "to focus on his family."

"He pretty much put his business on the back burner," he said, "to live his priorities."

Olsen had three kidney transplants, with the third donated by his sister. His wife said, however, that he did not want anyone to focus on his medical problems.

"Nobody knew," she said.

In addition to his wife, Olsen is survived by three children.

Clarkston SCAMP and the Clarkston Foundation have been identified as desired recipients for memorial gifts.

Township board OKs store design, lease to Comcast

In other business at the Tuesday, June 3 meeting of the Independence Township Board:

• Trustees approved the concept for a 60,137-square-foot Kroger store at the Regency Independence Center, planned at the northeast corner of Sashabaw and Maybee roads.

The development is subject to provisions of the Sashabaw Town Overlay District, one of which requires board approval for any building larger than 50,000 feet.

The conceptual plan includes a variation for roof pitch which met approval of the planning commission and contracted township planners.

• The board granted permission to the DTE Energy Music Theater for an extended curfew for "second and third stage" events.

The township's outdoor gathering ordinance sets a 6 p.m. deadline for the end of such activities, but Palace Sports and Entertainment successfully petitioned for an 8 p.m. curfew.

• Trustees earmarked an extra $2,500 to help install parking lot lighting at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department substation.

Clerk Joan McCrary said the budget already had $1,500 for lighting, but the expected cost will be $4,000.

Officials believed it was prudent to provide ample light for those visiting the sheriff's substation (located in the same complex as Fire Station #1) after dark.

• After a closed session, trustees approved a lease agreement with Comcast Cable allowing the business to lease the township building which previously served as fire station #3.

The company will pay $150,000 toward remodeling of part of the building to be used as local access studios, in addition to $52,000 toward what will become their new business offices.

In addition, Comcast will pay $13,970 in the first year to lease the building.

Take your card and ...

My wallet is busting at the seams.

This is not because The Clarkston News is paying me big bucks, but rather I have about a thousand different cards from every retail store in the metro Detroit area.

These cards have names like the Farmer Jack Bonus Savings Club Card, Kroger Plus Shopper's Card and the CVS/pharmacy Extra Care Card. Here is a thought: if you really cared about me as a customer then you would not make me carry a card to get 20 cents off a bag of pretzels.

What ever happened to stores just having a good old-fashioned sale? That seemed to work really well. I would go to the store, see a price on a product and then make a purchase.

Instead of that easy series of events, I am always stuck behind the consumer who is frantically going through their wallet/purse to try and find the golden card which will quickly shave vital cents off their grocery bill. I always thought technology was supposed to make our lives easier, not more complicated.

Kroger, my grocery store of choice, takes their cards extremely seriously. On the back of mine it states, "This card is the property of The Kroger Co. Use of this card is subject to The Kroger Co's current policies and such privileges may be restricted at any time."

Is that a threat? And if so, what could I do that would be so heinous that my Kroger Plus Shopper's Card would be restricted? Could asking for a double bag or consuming a grape in the produce section be grounds for suspension? Will they lock me up and throw away the card?

I assume they have these cards so they can track what we are buying. That might be a valid reason but at some point shouldn't the comfort of the consumer come into play?

Where is Rev. Jesse Jackson?

I was just wondering when the Rev. Jesse Jackson will come to town and complain about the injustice of Rick Carlisle being fired as head coach of the Detroit Pistons?

I mean, he was quick to speak up for former Michigan State football coach Bobby Williams when he was fired a year after leading the Spartans to a bowl win and former Green Bay Packer coach Ray Rhodes when he was fired after a 3-8 season.

Carlisle coached the Pistons to two division championships in two years and an Eastern Conference Finals appearance this last season only to get dumped in favor of Larry Brown. Surely, Jackson would love to bring attention to this injustice.

Now I don't mean to make light of racial injustices, including some in sports, that still occur in this country. It is sad this is happening in the year 2003.

However, I think it is important to remember every time an African-American coach is fired in sports does not mean it was a racist decision. It annoys me when Jackson tries to cash in on these situations to get more media attention.

Many thanks to those involved with opening day

I am writing this to thank everyone who helped make the Independence Township Parks and Recreation 2003 Youth Baseball/Softball Opening Day a huge success on Saturday, June 7.

The weather held out for a beautiful day and the turnout of teams and spectators alike showed this. I would first like to thank the sponsors, parents, coaches and players for putting forth their time and money to help continue a great tradition of youth baseball and softball in Independence Township. Without the sponsorship of many local businesses, the teams would not have the wonderful uniforms that they proudly wear out on the field.

I also would like to express my appreciation to the Independence Township Fire Department for supplying our sound system and the Independence Township

Library for supplying our flags.

Finally, I would like to thank some specific people at Independence Township Parks and Recreation for their dedication and help to our youth baseball/softball program. ## Always keep your head up, boy

The other day I was walking in a local parking lot and I saw a dirty old penny. It was dinged up pretty good so, it had been run over a few times. Despite the fact President Lincoln's face was turned down, I bent over and picked it up and slid it in my pants pocket.

I know, some say not to pick up a penny that is face down, for fear of bad luck. Luck, schmuck. A penny's a penny and a penny saved is a penny earned. I pick 'em up whenever I see them. I probably pick up (tax free) a nickel's worth of pennies a week. So, over the course of a year I make an extra $2.60. If I live to be 120, that could add up to be some serious jack.

The point of this pit of Don't Rushmedom, however, is not my cheapness. Rather, the fact that I saw -- see -- pennies laying on the ground in the first place.

My dad came to watch the end of one of my football practices when I was a lad in school. He came at the point after all the scrimmaging and planning. He came and saw the last part of practice -- the part where the coaches made you run your guts out. I think Clarkston Coach Wyniemo called the particular exercise "Cowboys." Basically you run, hell bent for leather, in full gear around the football field on the track until the coaches feel they have inflicted enough pain.

Trust me, it's as fun as it sounds. Thanks, Walt.

So my dad sees us chugging around the track. The little guys, the speedsters tore up the place and the big guys, the linemen, kind of chugged up the rear. That's where Pops Rush catches a gander of his only son. Head down, sweating lots, breathing hard -- not a pretty sight.

After I got home that night, Dad said, "I saw you running after practice tonight. Run with your head up. Always keep your head up."

And that was it.

That has stuck with me all these years later. Was

Don't
Rush Me

Don Rush

he telling me, "Don't be a sissy. When you play football, always keep your eyes up where you can see."

Or, rather was he casting some sort philosophical wide net about life? "Keep your head up, boy -- even when the cards are stacked against you, you keep your head up high."

I think it may have been a bit of both. He loved sports and loved playing hard, but he also tried really hard to impress other things on me. Honor, duty, respect, honesty and love, were some of the things he was about. By any monetary standard Dad was never a wealthy man. He was not good with money, as he said, "it burns a hole in my pocket."

But, he was rich with his belief in himself, family and though it sounds corny, truth, justice and the American way. Gosh, I don't know how many lectures I got about stealing, cheating and the like. I got those lectures not because I was a problem child, rather, Dad just wanted me to hear these things over and over and over a million times so I would remember them. I guess it worked.

These things were important to him. If he was able to stick to his standards and pass them on, he could always hold his head high. Though it's considered a sin in the Church, I guess he was a proud man.

So, here I am.

Forty years old, still walking with my head looking down, looking for discarded or lost change and remembering my dad's words (but as usual, not heeding them). It's funny, this column started about picking up pennies, and turned into a good lesson from Dad. I can hear him and see him. Even though he's been gone for nearly six years, I can feel his love.

I say this is funny, because I just looked down at the calendar and see that Sunday is Father's Day. Coincidence, I don't know, but I don't think so. He must have reached out from wherever he's at and touched me -- probably reminding me to keep my head up and to teach my boys the same values.

Thanks, Dad. I almost forgot to say, "Happy Father's Day."

No long thoughts

At this writing Hillary Rodham Clinton's book is five days from being released. And, the only thing being quoted, and apparently the only thing people are interested in, is how she handled husband Bill's tryst with Monica.

She cried, she yelled, concluded she loved him and ran for public office in another state.

Did you hear her statement, "He came to my bed to tell me about the affair?"

Hmmm! HER bed!?

A few months ago the BIG EYE in the Porcupine Press in the UP had this to say about Ms. Clinton.

"Hillary Rodman Clinton now comes under this fancy 'Congressional Retirement and Staffing Plan,' which means that even if she never gets re-elected, she STILL receives her congressional salary until she dies.

"If Bill outlives her, he then inherits HER salary until he dies. He is already getting his Presidential salary until he dies. If Hillary outlives Bill, she also gets HIS salary until she dies. Guess who pays for that? WE DO!

"It's common knowledge that in order for her to establish NY residency, they purchased a million dollar-plus house in upscale Chappaqua, New York. Makes sense. They are entitled to Secret Service protection for life. Still makes sense.

"Here is where it becomes interesting. Their mortgage payments hover around $10,000 a month. BUT, an extra residence HAD to be built within the acreage to house the Secret Service agents. The Clintons charge the Federal government $10,000 monthly for the use of that extra residence, which is just about equal to their mortgage payment. This means that we taxpayers are paying the Clintons' salaries, mortgage, transportation, safety and security, as well as the salaries for their 12 man staff - and, this is all perfectly legal.

Jottings

"When she runs for President, will you vote for her?"

In a related matter, let's talk about earwigs. Just kidding!

We all know people who openly express their hate of earwigs. To those people I report the following: Earwigs have been crawling about the Earth for about 208 million years. Only people who submit stuff to The Old Farmer's Almanac know such things.

We're seeing so many more of them today because, according to MSU entomologist Tom Ellis, "Our backyards are ecosystems, and we've altered them by adding decks and mulched beds full of organic matter. These environments are tailor-made for earwigs, so it stands to reason we see more."

Kinda' make you want to de-mulch and burn the deck.

The Almanac also claims earwigs don't lay eggs in people's brains. Oh, well, Almanac contributors can't get all their facts straight.

* * *

June 5 and the daily sports editors are filling their pages with Detroit Lions stuff. But, you know what? As cold as the weather has been the past few weeks football sounds in season.

15 YEARS AGO (1988)

• It was a blue ribbon night for Clarkston schools. When news arrived at the school board meeting that the millage and bond issue were both approved by voters, a large audience, many wearing "Clarkston Kids Need Blue Ribbon Schools," t-shirts, responded with hearty applause. This was the third attempt at a millage increase, which failed twice in 1987. The 5.5 operational millage increase and the $5.2 million bond issue for repairs to school buildings were both soundly approved, by almost 2 to 1 margins.

• Once it was apparent that the 5.5 millage increase was headed to victory, the Clarkston school board had the pleasant task of approving the 1988-89 school budget based on the increase, setting the millage, recalling 40 teaching staff members and 16 non-instructional staff members and reinstating four administrators on Monday evening.

• Flames did not envelope the area beside the upside-down fuel tank truck on I-75, and an explosion did not destroy the nearby homes on Flemings Lake Road, but emergency crews were prepared for the worst June 10. After the 12:30 p.m. mishap, about 30 homes were evacuated in a half-mile radius and the highway was closed in both directions for over five hours while specially trained workers drained the remaining jet fuel from the downed tanker, while towing companies carefully uprighted the truck.

25 YEARS AGO (1978)

• There will be only one candidate from each party on the Aug. 8 primary election ballot for supervisor in Independence Township. Carolyn Place, a Republican, will run against incumbent Floyd (Whitey) Tower, a Democrat, in the Nov. 7 general election. Jack McCall, the third candidate who was nominated to run for supervisor, officially withdrew last week.

• Clarkston School District voters elected Springfield Township resident Mary Jane Chaustowich to the board of education Monday. Winning 348 votes, Chaustowich finished seven votes ahead of her nearest competition, Floyd D. Smith of Independence Township with the rest of the five-candidate field running far behind them. She won the seat vacated by School Board President David K. Leak.

• Independence Township residents along Parview Drive are seeking to stop through traffic between Andersonville Road and Dixie Highway. Petitions containing 56 signatures that call for Parview to be dead ended have been presented to the Oakland County Road Commission. The petitions cite speeding, careless and reckless driving in addition to the failure of police patrols to remedy the situation as the basis for their requests.

50 YEARS AGO (1953)

• Fred Beckman has been appointed as a member of the Land Use Committee by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

• A celebrity in the field of entertainment, Mel Torme, singer, was the guest last Saturday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Don Stackable. Along with him was his accompanist, Al Tellegrini. It just so happens that Mr. Torme is a gun hobbyist and Dr. Don made his acquaintance when he was in California.

• Plans are underway for a "big" Fourth of July in Clarkston. As in the past, the Clarkston Firefighters Association will sponsor the celebration and the Independence Township businessmen will be responsible for the costs for the day.

Roberts thanks everyone who participated in election

The superintendent of schools might be expected to thank voters for their support after a bond election; but the interesting aspect of this column is that I wrote it on Sunday, the day before the election took place. Why did I choose to write such an article before the election results were known? Clearly my timing precludes composing it to take pride in a win, or to whine about a defeat. No, the purpose of this column is to share a perspective that I believe is needed in today's often-skeptical world.

Like most citizens, I have strong feelings about the democratic process; but I also realize that fervor alone isn't good enough! No, maintaining democracy is hard work! It requires time, effort and energy. Voters must be willing to examine the ballot carefully, and to vote with their minds, as well as their hearts.

Since I believe deeply in our democratic ideals, it is important for me to thank every voter who cast a ballot on Monday, June 9th! Whether you agreed or disagreed with my personal view of what is best for our community, I appreciate the fact that you voted. Studying the issues carefully, understanding the impact of each individual vote, and taking a position that supports the 'common good' isn't always easy; but it is necessary if democracy is to thrive.

Frankly, I hope the example of those who voted spreads because far too many citizens seem indifferent when it comes to casting a ballot. This is unfortunate because it is usually the inactive and disengaged citizens that have a tendency to become disillusioned and negative. We can and should do better as a community and as a nation!

Wouldn't it be great if all voters started with an inquisitive, yet impartial attitude? After all, the time to support, or withhold support, is after one has had the opportunity to analyze the facts and to review the implication of the vote. Of course, none of this does any good unless the ballot is cast.

In our country everyone has the right to an opinion. While it is easy to get caught up in our differences, there is genuine value in seeing issues from differing perspectives. As I have said before, when we all think alike, no one thinks very much. Let's celebrate our differences respectfully and in a manner that helps all of us to grow.

Let us be grateful that we have citizens who believe in the importance of school boards. Each of the eight candidates, who chose to run for this office, did so at a challenging time (state budget cuts, school growth, etc). These two newly elected board members will spend countless hours working to uphold the tradition of excellence that has been established by previous school boards in Clarkston. I hope community members will join me in acknowledging the superb leadership that has been provided by our outgoing board members Janet Thomas (28 years) and Kurt Shanks (8 years). Their dedication to the children of the school district can only be described as excellent and their service to the community speaks for itself.

In closing, I hope that everyone will see the value in our democratic society. No matter what the outcome of the election, know that the school district will continue to do what is in the best interest of the children we serve. If the bond proposal is successful, you can count on the district to diligently use the funds to provide the much-needed space for student learning. Again, I want to say thank you for participating in our school election.

pending "restructuring" because of rising demand and decreasing income across their entire system. For more than 30 years, the organization has billed itself as a "beacon of help, hope and encouragement" for low-income families, senior citizens and others with "immediate needs" for food, medicine, transportation or temporary shelter.

At least one local volunteer is not happy about the layoffs or how they were determined. Mel Taylor, who has been a Lighthouse volunteer for eight years, said the announced cuts (in both staff and resources) is not fair.

"They're also taking our truck away," she said. "We do a lot for north Oakland County and now they're cutting us."

Taylor also did not like that all employees were required to reapply for jobs.

"I felt the way they did it was unethical," Taylor said. "They kind of knew who they wanted to get rid of."

Emily Nadeau, executive director of Lighthouse of Oakland County, understands that volunteers would be upset, but she said the decisions were made based on delivery of services, improving efficiency and eliminating duplication.

"We don't think of Clarkston as another agency," Nadeau said. "We looked at the program as a whole. This wasn't a popularity contest."

"Donations are down and demand is up," she said, noting the irony of the economic situation. "It was a significant Nadeau said support services from the Pontiac office will be used to supplement services at Lighthouse North.

The organization continues to seek

Stewart said both she and Carr are looking for other employment.

Referring to a recent feature story in The Clarkston News, Taylor voiced specific disappointment at Carr's departure.

"Jane doesn't have a 'home' anymore," she said.

Officers suspended after mistake in Patterson traffic stop

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A sergeant and deputy with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, whose names are being withheld, have been suspended for driving home County Executive L. Brooks Patterson after stopping him in Clarkston for driving erratically.

Patterson was pulled over Monday, June 2 at 11:35 p.m. on Dixie Highway, near White Lake, not far from his home.

In a squad car videotape released last Wednesday, Patterson appeared to walk stiff-legged and slur his words. One of the officers noted alcohol on

L. Brooks Patterson

Patterson's breath.

However, the officers failed to test his blood alcohol level to determine if he was over the legal limit to drive.

Patterson did not return phone calls from The Clarkston News, but has said publicly he was returning home from a golf outing and was not drunk. He admits to a couple of glasses of wine at dinner that evening and taking painkillers for a shoulder injury.

Since the suspension of the deputy, who has four months of road experience, and the sergeant, who has about a year of road experience, Gary McClure, president of the Oakland County Deputy Sheriff's Association, has disagreed with the deputy's punishment. He feels the officer was simply following orders, and the punishment should fall on the sergeant.

"It's a frustrating thing to have a young officer enforcing laws and have to run into a situation like this and be suspended on top of this," McClure said. "The pressures the officers are trained to deal with in the academy don't include all the pressures in reality they will have to deal with in road patrol such as politics."

McClure said the union is considering filing an appeal regarding the deputy's suspension, even if the deputy does not personally appeal it himself, because the officer had no say in the decision but was acting upon orders from his sergeant.

Due to a conflict of interest, Oakland County Prosecutor David Gorcyca, who was hired by Patterson in 1988, has asked the attorney general to review the case.

Criminal charges are unlikely to be issued against Patterson, since no sobriety tests were administered.

In a phone interview on Thursday with WJR Radio, Patterson said, "I apologize to these two deputies. I apologize to my staff and to the public for letting them down."

Bishop

'I've never felt insecure about walking around this world. Now I have a sense of paranoia (and) I worry about my family. It's a profoundly new perspective.'

Mike Bishop
Michigan Senator

Island Police Chief William Lenaghan.

Bishop is recuperating from a concussion, multiple contusions, a broken nose and broken teeth. He said he is handling his discomfort with over-the-counter medication, and is grateful for the words of concern and encouragement he has received.

"Time will heal all wounds," he said. "I'll be just fine."

Bishop said he was leaving a congressional reception when he attempted to get a ride back to the Grand Hotel via the island's 20-passenger horsedrawn carriage. He heard someone inside saying he was going to another location. Although Bishop said he was willing to take the long ride, he didn't get the chance.

Although a police department press release said, "A verbal argument escalated to a shoving match," Bishop said he did not engage in an argument.

"The guy came at me," Bishop said. "I was absolutely caught off guard."

It was a rainy evening, and Bishop said the assailant's impact made him slip and fall, hitting his head on the pavement. He lost consciousness briefly, but he said witnesses (including at least one police officer) saw the continuing attack.

"Everyone there saw what happened," he said. "He was on top of me hitting me."

Bishop received stitches and other treatment that night at Mackinac Medical Center, returned home the next day and went to Crittenton Hospital for more in-depth examination.

"I looked like a grape," he said. "It was quite an ordeal."

Although healing physically, Bishop said he has struggled with his feelings about the incident.

"This is not something I'd ever imagine would be happening," he said, especially noting the peaceful atmosphere on Mackinac Island. "You just don't expect it."

A former prosecuting attorney, Bishop has worked with victims of assault in the past. He has never had first-hand experience, however.

"I've never felt insecure about walking around in this world. Now I have a sense of paranoia [and] I worry about my family. It's a profoundly new perspective."

Despite those feelings, Bishop said, "This was a random act" and should not reflect on the island's reputation as a tourist destination. Indeed, he plans to return for another conference on Mackinac Island this fall. "I'm not going to let somebody push me around."

Clarkston softball season ends with shutout loss

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

A strength of the Clarkston softball team all season, hitting, led to their elimination from the postseason last weekend.

The Wolves could not come up with any offense as their season ended with a 1-0 loss to Walled Lake Western.

Kelly Robinson pitched well for Clarkston, but the one run Walled Lake Western scored in the sixth inning was enough for the victory.

"We ran into a very good pitcher but we put the ball in play and had three good scoring chances," Clarkston coach Al Land said. "We just were not able to get the big hit when we needed it."

Heather Giroux had two hits for the Wolves.

Walled Lake Western's Lauren Talbot went the distance for the win. It was her seventh consecutive shutout. Talbot extended that streak to eight with a shutout in the regional championship game.

Clarkston finished the season with a 25-13 record and a district title. They had 10 league losses and finished in third place.

"I thought we had a nice season," Land said. "We won two of three tournaments and finished in third place in probably the toughest league in the state. We were in every ballgame. Our defense was outstanding and we were a good offensive club. The biggest surprise was probably Kelly Robinson who had a nice season on the mound."

Robinson finished with 19 wins on the season.

Freshmen baseball finishes undefeated

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

The Clarkston High School Freshmen baseball team finished their season with a perfect 17-0 mark.

"They were really a good bunch of kids," Clarkston coach Tim Sinischo said. "They were upbeat and always into the game."

Steve Vanderheyden was named team's Most Valuable Player.

"He has good speed, great defensive skills and quick hands. Steve hit lead-off and led the team in on base percentage," Sinischo said.

Other key players for the Wolves included:

- Tyler Sharette (outfield) "Great defensive skills and covered a lot of ground in centerfield."

- Steve McIsaac (pitcher) "Good velocity on fastball and developed good breaking ball."

- Frank Davis (infield) "Good defensive play with not many errors. A good hitter who batted third in the lineup all year."

- Brian Phillips (pitcher/catcher/third base) "All around great ballplayer with a good bat who hit cleanup all year."

Ryan Roy was named Most Improved Player.

The Wolves knocked off Troy twice in one run ballgames.

"But other than those games we really handled teams pretty well. As the season progressed our confidence grew,"

Sinischo said. "If these guys continue to progress as players then someday they will be an excellent varsity team."

The Clarkston News congratulates all the Clarkston athletes who participated in sports this past school year.

Five arrested in home invasion and jewelry theft

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Five have been arrested after entering a home on Lake Forest Drive on more than one occasion and stealing approximately $100,000 worth of jewelry, Detective Lonnie Mullins announced, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department in Independence Township.

Mark Steven Rood, 17, Bradley Scott Paulson, 18, Jared Kim Pruess, 18, all of Clarkston, as well as Andrew Edward Gray, 19,

Much of the ($100,000 worth of) jewelry stolen has been recovered, found along the sidewalk leading up to the invaded home, with Paulson's girlfriend, and three pieces at a pawn shop in Waterford.

of Pontiac, and the homeowner's 16-year-old grandson, whose name is not being released because of his juvenile status, have been arrested and arraigned.

Rood is being charged with second degree home invasion, a 15 year felony, and larceny in a building, a four year felony. He was arraigned Saturday, May 31 at the Oakland County Circuit Court and was given a $15,000 bond. He has since posted bail.

Paulson, who was also arraigned May 31, is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property over $11,000 but under $20,000, a five year felony. He is still in custody with a $5,000 bond.

Gray and Pruess were arraigned on Tuesday June 3, at the 52-2 District Court in Clarkston. Both are charged with second degree home invasion. Gray received a $2,500 bond and Pruess a $3,000 bond. Both have posted bail.

Mullins said the breakins occurred two to four times between April 22 and May 25. The grandson told police he took Rood to the home where they stole items. Rood then returned with the other men on various occasions and also took items out of the house.

Much of the jewelry stolen has been recovered, Mullins said, found along the sidewalk leading up to the invaded home, with Paulson's girlfriend, and three pieces at a pawn shop in Waterford.

A preliminary exam is scheduled for Rood and Gray at the 52-2 court on Thursday, July 10. Pruess and Paulson waived their rights to an exam.

The case against the 16-year-old boy has been sent to probate court and is pending.

technology and reorganize the current high school and two middle schools into a sixth/seventh, eighth/ninth and 10th-12th grade configuration.

While optimism ran high during the campaign, Shanks admitted some concern.

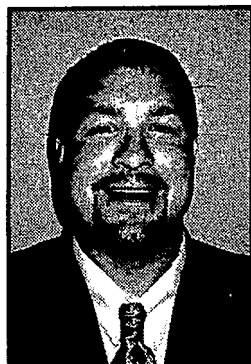

"You never take anything for granted," he said. "It's a complicated thing for people to understand. It was not just money; it's reorganizing how our schools are structured."

The school board has already hired consultants for technology and construction, but Roberts said a construction schedule has yet to be established.

"We hope to have some projects underway this summer," he said. "As soon as humanly possible, we'll see a shovel."

Board candidates had been generally complimentary to each other, and rarely disagreed at a candidate forum prior to the election. Miller and Koval each picked specific themes, however, and gave credit to word-of-mouth campaigning and support from groups in which they had already been involved.

"I've gotten to know a lot of parents on a first-name basis, and I was relying on them to get out and vote for me," Koval said. "Parental involvement is one of the main things I've done and I believe the school district needs."

"I want everything to be equal from the top to the bottom," Miller said, repeating his "equitable education" slogan. He gave credit to friends, family and groups such as the athletic boosters for his victory.

"Without a doubt, they were my biggest supporters," he said. "They proved to me that loyalty can go a long way in this community."

A section dedicated to showcasing all the reasons this is a great area to live and work!

Donna Clancy approaches her job with passion and a smile. Part of the reason she enjoys the job so much, she said, is the great support of SCAMP by people in the Clarkston community. Photo by Bob Flath.

SCAMP is full time job for Clancy

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Organizing a day camp for approximately 350 challenged youth and young adults it quite an undertaking. But SCAMP director Donna Clancy is enjoying every minute of it.

"I love being here," Clancy said.

The 28-year Clarkston resident is in her first year as SCAMP director. She started off as just a volunteer trying to gain some knowledge in how to take care of challenged children.

"I used to take a friend's son overnight and I had no special training so I thought this would be a good way to get that," Clancy said. "The best thing I ever did was volunteer for SCAMP."

Clancy, who had been involved with helping plan the Thanksgiving Day Parade and the Detroit Grand Prix, fell in love with SCAMP. She spent three years as a volunteer and three years as a board member before becoming director.

SCAMP, in its 28th year in Clarkston, services 350 challenged individuals during a five week day camp. There is no age limit. Traditionally about 90 percent of the students have one or more disabilities (autism, mental or emotional impairment, learning disability, speech and language delay or physical handicap). The remaining 10 percent are identified by school personnel as students "at risk" and in need of a positive summer experience.

Activities during the camp include swimming and fishing at Independence Oaks, going to the playground and golfing.

"Our thought is that everybody is somebody at SCAMP. Everybody is good and just as special at our camp," Clancy said. "It is horrible to say but these are the kids that nobody wants in the neighborhoods and that is too bad. That is just how it is."

Every weekday during the camp, the buses pour into the SCAMP office at 8:30 a.m. coming from places as far as Oak Park. The campers, along with the approximately 350 workers (both volunteers and paid), head into the Clarkston Middle School cafeteria for warm-up.

"It is incredible to see those 700 people in the cafeteria singing songs, warming-up and getting excited. It means the world to these kids," Clancy said.

Each day brings a new activity for the camp members. In addition to the road trips, the campers are also treated to special days including an ice cream social, a carnival day and a puppet show.

"Everybody has such a wonderful time," Clancy said.

While Clancy puts in a lot of hard work to make sure the camp runs smoothly, she is quick to point out that there is no way it would happen without the Clarkston community. She credits everybody from the business community to the bus drivers.

"The Clarkston community has really embraced this program and we are so lucky. All I have to do is pick up the phone and ask and the community responds. It is never a question of if it will get done, but rather how it will get done," Clancy said. "We have a great community with great volunteers. The board here also does an excellent job and gives a lot of their valuable time."

Bordines celebrates 25 years

Bordine Nursery in Clarkston recently celebrated their 25th Anniversary celebration.

All four generations of the Bordine family were on hand to pay tribute to the Clarkston store and enjoy cake and coffee with fellow employees and customers.

It was an extra special event as it was co-founder of Bordine Nursery Marian Bordine's 88th birthday. State Senator Mike Bishop gave an official tribute to the Clarkston location and another tribute to Marian Bordine. She resides in Florida, but has to be back in Michigan by May 1 to visit the greenhouses.

The store opened in 1978 and has been growing ever since. Clarkston is the second location, with Rochester Hills being the first location opened in 1939. The Clarkston location is where some of the growing/production is done, especially bedding plants.

The Nursery is giving 25 shade trees to be divided between Clarkston, Independence and Springfield Townships to plant wherever they wish.

Willard (Bill) Wells of Clarkston celebrated his 90th birthday April 26 at Hart Community Center in Davisburg. Approximately 65 friends and family were in attendance including out of state family consisting of two sons with wives, two grandsons and two great-grandsons. Photo provided.

Relay for Life set for Clarkston

By Jillian Quinlan
Clarkston News Intern

The fourth annual Relay for Life will be held at Clarkston Middle School July 19-20. This 24-hour event raises money for the American Cancer Society that will be used for research, advocacy, services and education.

The relay consists of teams of volunteers who raise money, before the event, however they chose. At the relay, the teams are required to have one person walking the track at all times. Teams usually consist of 12-15 people of any age, however, they can be much larger. Local high school students have a team of 50 people called the Cancer Slayers that raised $10,000 last year. This year their goal is $20,000.

At the current time there are 25 teams ready to participate in the event, but volunteers are hoping for more. People interested in forming a team should gather up friends, family and co-workers and sign up on-line at www.clarkstonrelayforlife.com

"Different teams raise different amounts of money. The top team last year raised $13,000. Other teams brought anywhere from $500 to $2,000. It is what the team wants to put in," Patty Blaine, relay volunteer said.

There is a minimum of $150 per team unless that team has a corporate sponsor. Many local businesses are getting involved such as, Waterfall Jewelers, Clarkston Family Dental and St. Joe's Hospital.

The event will be much more than just

'You can't help but be moved by the atmosphere. Survivors are walking around with survivor t-shirts on, and some are just little kids.'

Patty Blaine
Relay Volunteer

a relay and is jammed packed with things to do. It will begin with a lap by cancer survivors. After dark luminaries, that have been purchased for survivors or for the memory of someone, will be lit around the track.

"You can't help but be moved by the atmosphere. Survivors are walking around with survivor t-shirts on, and some are just little kids. The luminary ceremony is the most emotional event, but then we pick things back up," Blaine said.

There will be clowns, karaoke, bagpipes, a 24-hour disc jockey, and performances by local bands. Also, the teams, which usually have a theme, decorate a campsite and host little fundraiser throughout the day.

"You have to see it to believe it," Blaine said.

Go, go, grads!

Wednesday, June 4 was the special day, the DTE Energy Theater was the special place and the Clarkston High School Class of 2003 provided the special people.

Proud parents, friends and faculty congratulated proud young people, as the graduates "commenced" a new segment of their lives.

The Clarkston News was there, and this week provides an entire special section devoted to the successful achievements of this year's grads.

Clancy

bus drivers taking the campers all around town or something as simple as local attorney Neil Wallace playing with the kids every Thursday, Clancy said a project like this could not be done without an extreme amount of community involvement.

"It just warms my heart to think about how the community really helps us out. When you see the smiles on the kids' faces you know it is all worth the effort of working 15 to 16 hour days," Clancy said.

The cost to send one kid to the camp is $800. SCAMP asks Clarkston kids to pay $275 while out of district campers are asked to pay $305.

"But nobody is turned away because they can't afford it," Clancy is quick to point out.

In order to raise enough money, SCAMP has numerous fundraisers throughout the year including the recently completed Home Tour, a SCAMP walk, a Councours in the Park on Aug. 1, the Clarence Catallo Run on Aug. 16 and a golf outing on Sept. 12.

"Those are the five big fundraisers we have so no child is turned away for financial reasons," Clancy said. "The turnout we get for those are great. We have high school students coming out and walking for SCAMP. It makes you feel good."

The SCAMP program takes place from June 23 to July 24 this year.

Clancy has had to actually turn volunteers down because the requests have been so high in numbers. She believes the volunteers get just as much out of the experience as the campers.

"This program really provides career opportunities. I would be interested in finding out how many of the former volunteers over the last 27 years decided to go into careers such as social work or speech therapy due to their involvement in SCAMP."

For more information you can call (248) 620-1882 or visit the website www.clarkstonscamp.com.

Susan Hoddinott

Local student tapped to attend conference

Susan Hoddinott, of Clarkston, has been selected to attend the Junior National Young Leaders Conference from July 5 to July 10 in Washington, D.C. The conference is a unique leadership development program for middle school students.

Themed "The Legacy of American Leadership," the conference introduces young people to the rich tradition of leadership throughout American history, while helping them develop their own leadership skills. Hoddinott will participate in educational activities and presentations led by individuals in positions of leadership. Students will also visit historic national landmarks, including Colonial Williamsburg, from which the country took shape.

"While most students read about leadership in books, Susan Hoddinott will complement classroom studies by walking along the same paths and hallways as some of our country's great leaders," Executive Director Mike Lasday said. "The leadership exercises developed by the Junior National Young Leaders Conference will challenge students to think and act strategically when it comes to teamwork, problem-solving and setting goals."

In addition to examining notable U.S. leaders and historic figures, Hoddinott will study the impact of leadership throughout critical periods of American history, including the Civil War and Reconstruction, World War II, the Great Depression and the Civil Rights movement. Upon completion of the conference, students will take home a greater understanding of the role of the individual in American democracy, as well as the responsibilities of being a leader.

Clarkston graduates party the night away

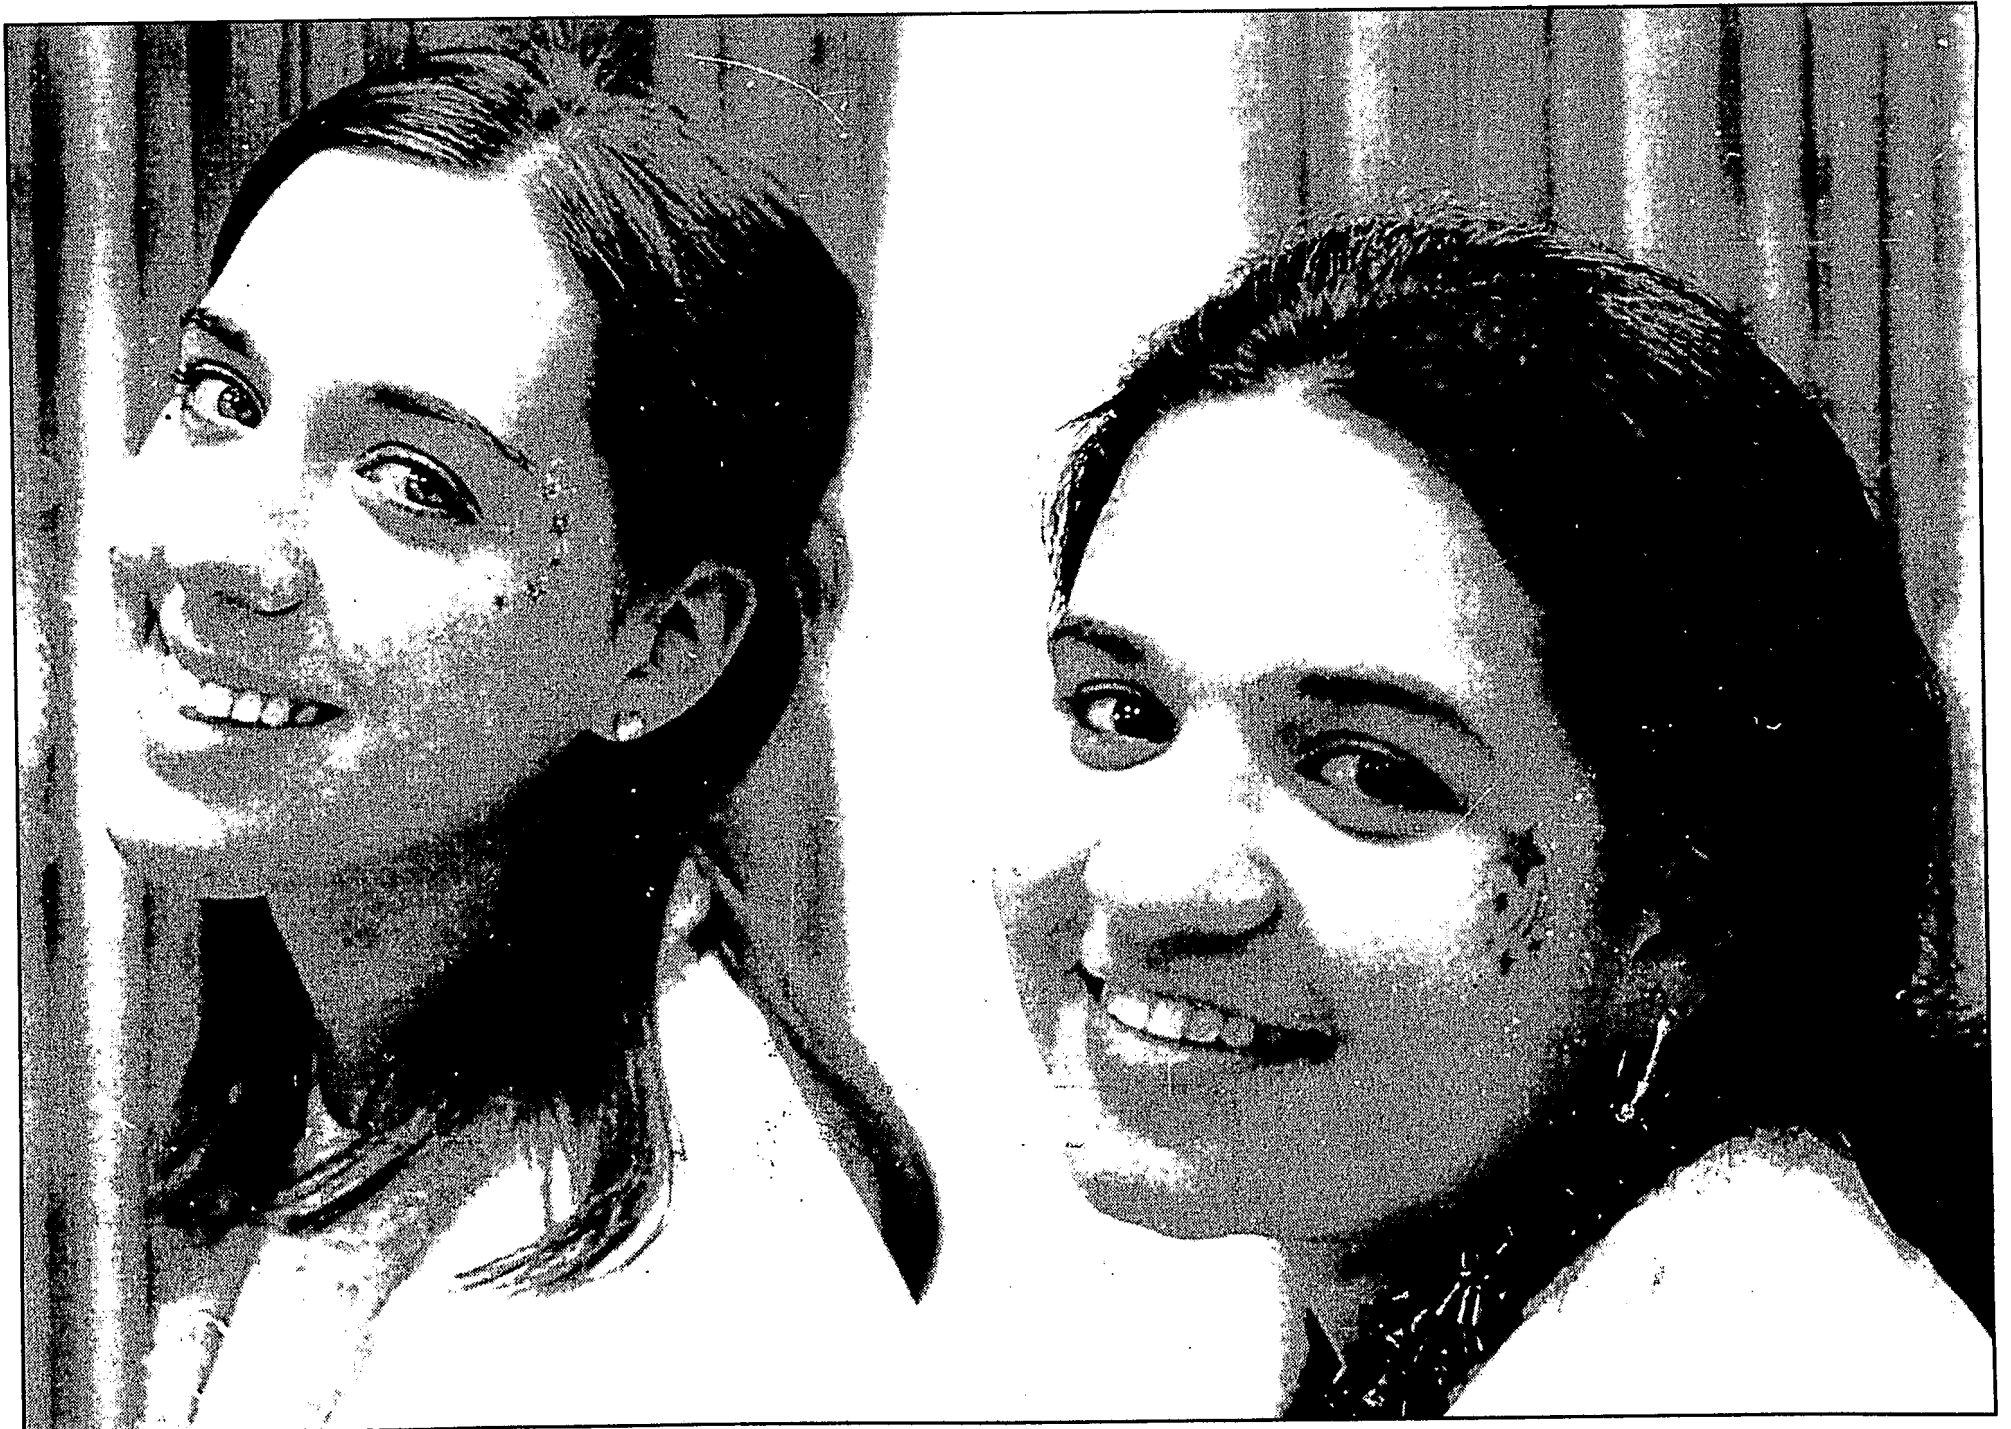

Immediately, following graduation, the Class of 2003 headed over to the Clarkston Christian Association to get the party started at 10 p.m. to 5 a.m., sponsored by the annual Post-Grad Party. This year's theme was "Escape to Paradise," and graduates enjoyed the entertainment, food and fun from the CHS PTSA.
