School Board member Miller resigns

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Believing the fight on the football field is more productive than the fight in the political and legal arena, Tony Miller has decided to resign from the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education.

The resignation, effective July 1, was delivered via a May 2 letter to board President Karen Foyteck, and was announced at Monday's school board meeting.

Miller made no comments at Monday's meeting, but later said his motivation is go back to being an assistant coach with the Clarkston High School football team.

"It's time to go back to doing something I really love to do in the community," he said Tuesday.

A Clarkston High School graduate who was the top vote-getter in the June 2003 school board election, Miller found himself in an alleged conflict of interest position because of his coaching position.

Citing a conversation with Deputy Superintendent David Reschke prior to the June 2003 election, Miller said he was told there would be no conflict of interest because of his unpaid coaching status, but Superintendent Al Roberts did not renew Miller's coaching contract last fall.

Roberts and fellow trustees followed school district attorney George Butler's opinion that the state's Incompatible Public Offices Act prohibited Miller from holding the coaching position, even as a volunteer, while a school trustee.

Miller filed a lawsuit against Roberts contesting his interpretation of the law. In a Sept. 3, 2003 hearing, Oakland County Circuit Judge John J. McDonald ruled in Roberts' favor, not because of the Incompatible Public Offices Act but rather on Butler's assertion that the school board had delegated to Roberts the authority to hire and fire coaches.

Miller's attorney has continued attempts to appeal that ruling, but Miller said Tuesday he will ask his attorney to drop the case.

"There's no reason to fight the legal system if these people don't like that scenario," he said.

Independence board aims for $1.4 million senior center

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

The Independence Township Board is looking to Clarkston Community Schools for help in making a new senior center a reality.

The board hopes to build a new senior center on land near the Independence Township Library, but that land is owned by the school district. The board will attempt to obtain an extension of their property line south 200 to 300 feet to build the center.

They will also ask the schools to grant them an easement for road purposes that is 50 to 100 feet in width, running along the east border of the library property. The board would commit in advance to share that drive with the schools to give them a second access to their property.

"The library area is a very appropriate site," Clerk Joan McCrary said. "It is the perfect answer. I hope the school district sees our dilemma and the dilemma of the seniors and helps us out. We really need their help."

Dale Stuart

In a memo to the board, Stuart wrote, "I approached Dr. Al Roberts to ascertain if the school district would consider allowing us to obtain one-two acres from them. After reviewing their published plans for the administrative building site, it appeared that they were not planning on developing the land that abuts the library property. Dr. Roberts indicated to me that he would recommend that the School Board accommodate our requests, subject to working out the details."

As part of the most recent bond proposal passing, the schools are set to begin construction on an early childhood center and an expansion of the administrative offices. There has also been talk about a possible new elementary school by the administrative building if needed in the future.

While Roberts did not return phone calls from The Clarkston News, in a prepared release issued by his secretary Roberts said, "The school district has been and continues to be very interested in exploring any partnerships that have the potential to positively impact our community."

The plan call for a 12,100-square-foot senior center facility with two levels. The estimated project cost, without factoring the acquisition of land, is $1.2 to $1.4 million.

The ground level includes a 2,400-square-foot room used for dining/conference needs along with a reception area, library space and storage area.

Briefly

Voter registration date approaching

In order to vote in the June 14 Clarkston Community School election, residents need to register by 5 p.m. Monday, May 17.

To register, visit any Secretary of State branch office or the county, city or township clerk's office. Individuals planning to register with their respective county, city or township clerks must check the hours of their clerk's office.

Clarkston resident receives Medders award

Joe Cocciolone, president and CEO of Easter Seals, received the Myrtle M. and Tom B. Medders Award.

The Medders award is presented annually to an Easter Seals affiliate Chief Executive Officer in recognition of excellence and outstanding achievement in management.

The Clarkston resident was nominated for the Medders award by both the Easter Seals Michigan Board of Directors and management staff.

"From the reaction of the audience when the winner was announced, John was obviously a popular choice," CFO of Easter Seals National Don Jackson said.

The award came as a complete surprise to the astonished Cocciolone.

"For once I am totally speechless," Cocciolone said. "Wow."

Clarkston Health Center plans Open House

Clarkston Health Center is celebrating its one-year anniversary with a community Open House and Health Screening on Saturday, May 22 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The facility will be open for tours and free health screenings, including bone density testing for osteoporosis, body fat measurement, blood pressure screening and height/weight measurement. Sports physicals will be available for $20.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department will be on-site to offer free children's finger printing, the Independence Township Fire Department will have a fire engine for children to tour and Star EMS will show the children an ambulance up close.

Free raffle tickets will be given to individuals and families with prize drawings held several times each hour.

Free balloons, popcorn and other refreshments will be available for all who attend.

Correction

In a May 5 article, district court candidate Jonathon Douglas was incorrectly identified as Jason Douglas. His first name is Jonathon.

Child porn deputy to serve jail time

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It will be jail time, but not prison time, for a former Oakland County Sheriff's deputy who became involved in viewing and distributing child pornography.

John Gomez, 43, was sentenced to one year in a county jail, an additional year of house arrest with electronic tether, three years probation and 500 hours of community service by Oakland County Circuit Judge Nanci Grant.

The 17-year sheriff's department veteran who had worked out of the Springfield Township substation for about a year had resigned from the department prior to his arrest. Waterford police had raided his home to find computers and related materials with thousands of pornographic images.

John Gomez

He pleaded guilty March 30 to multiple felony charges. Investigators found no evidence of Gomez using work computers for the pornographic activity.

The Gomez case also was connected to interstate trading of pornographic images, with his arrest spurred by an investigation by police in Orange County, Calif. and Rockland County, N.Y.

Assistant Prosecutor Matthew Roth said the sentence was appropriate, although not quite as severe as hoped, as the judge will allow Gomez to serve time in a county jail rather than a state prison.

"We were hoping the judge would give prison time," Roth said.

Gomez will be allowed to serve his sentence in another county jail, not Oakland County, Roth said, but there were no compromises in the prosecution.

"We will not plea bargain this kind of case," he said, noting the "emotional and physical harm" to each of the children depicted in the pornographic images.

Alcohol, drugs suspected in rollover crash

A 52-year-old Ortonville man was hospitalized Tuesday, May 4 after his vehicle left the roadway and rolled several times on Sashabaw Road near Pine Knob Road.

According to Oakland County Sheriff Department reports, the driver was reported to be erratic while traveling northbound on Sashabaw approaching a right-hand curve at about 5:50 p.m. Rather than follow the curve, the vehicle crossed the center line and left the roadway on the southbound shoulder.

The vehicle struck three road signs before coming to rest about 150 feet from where it left the roadway, reports said.

The man, who was wearing his seat belt, suffered what reports called "non-incapacitating" injuries and was taken to Genesys Regional Medical Center.

Because of his condition, a preliminary breath test was not possible, but a blood test was scheduled. The driver confessed to investigators that he had consumed about a half-pint of vodka and had also taken the prescription medication Vicodin, reports said.

Formal charges are awaiting results of the blood test.

Local same-sex couple hopes to promote awareness with holy union

BY ALICIA DORSET

Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Heidi Barnette and Angela Kurtz stood in front of the Oakland County Courthouse to exchange vows with one another on April 29, they had no idea just how much attention their holy union would generate.

"We love each other. We're not taking away from marriage, we're just adding to it," Kurtz said.

Barnette and Kurtz, members of Clarkston's Divine Peace Metropolitan Community Church and local residents, participated in a "holy union" to help recognize International Day of Clergy Support for Same-Sex Marriage on April 29.

The ceremony was performed by the church's pastor, Rev. Deb Dysert. Similar ceremonies took place in New York, Florida, California, New Zealand and Great Britain.

"I didn't want to get involved politically," Dysert said in regard to her original thoughts toward the day. "All of a sudden, I just got convicted."

Dysert received an e-mail a few weeks before the day of recognition encouraging Metropolitan Community Churches, of which Clarkston's is a member, to perform a holy union to promote community awareness.

"My very favorite thing is to do spiritual support and pastoral care," Dysert said.

A holy union is a ceremony in which two people, of the same sex, exchange vows and commit themselves to one another, just like that of a traditional legal marriage. Holy unions are not legal.

Dysert sent out an e-mail to the 80-plus members of her congregation looking for volunteers to apply for a marriage license and then take part in a holy union. Barnette and Kurtz responded.

"Without hesitation, they got all geeked about it," Dysert said. "They've got political action in their bones. They have been an incredible blessing for me to know and to pastor."

The couple, along with their 21-month-old son Paul, arrived at the courthouse with Dysert on the day of recognition and unsuccessfully applied for a marriage license.

Michigan does not grant marriage licenses to same-sex couples.

"Our relationship is no different," Barnette said. "We're just the same and have the right. We're raising families, whether they like it or not."

With local print and broadcast media outlets in tow, the couple moved outside where Dysert performed the holy union. Dysert and the couple were joined by MCC minister Brenda Hunt and Jill Zundel, assistant pastor at Clarkston United Methodist Church.

"Ultimately, the press has been very positive," Dysert said. "We'll never achieve equality if we don't take these steps."

Since the ceremony, both the couple and Dysert have not received a great deal of negative feedback. Barnette has only encountered problems from her own family, but Kurtz has received a good amount of support from her family and co-workers.

"This union is just the same as others," Kurtz said. "The bond is strong. We are a family."

Since the public ceremony, Dysert herself has been recognized as "that pastor on T.V."

Barnette and Kurtz are both back to their day-to-day lives and raising their son, Paul. The couple spent 18 months trying to conceive their son with the help of a sperm donor.

"He was like our little Christmas miracle," Kurtz said referring to when the couple realized Paul was on the way before Christmas. "We had to stay committed through it. That's what makes us a family."

Back at the Divine Peace MCC, Dysert is happy with the outcome of the ceremony.

"One of the reasons why I was so excited was because it was this couple: Heidi, Angela and Paul," Dysert said.

Independence Board delays decision on sound ordinance

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Concerned about moving too quickly on a complicated manner, the Independence Township Board of Trustees tabled revisions to their sound ordinance after discussion at their May 4 meeting.

The board is reacting to complaints of noisy dirt bikes and off-road vehicles in the Deer Valley and Cranberry Lake subdivisions.

"I don't think it is the level of the noise but rather the location and the hours," Supervisor Dale Stuart said. "If we had something where individuals could use these vehicles from say 2 p.m. to 6 or 7 p.m. with one day being for no use at all I think that would be fair."

Trustee and Deer Valley resident Larry Rosso disagreed with Stuart.

"I think this certainly is an issue of noise level. The worst thing about these ATV's compared to lawnmowers is if you give them a four-hour block, they will take the whole block," Rosso said. "They are becoming more of a common occurrence and it is better to take care of this issue now rather than later."

Larry Rosso

While the board put the item on the agenda and welcomed public comments, less than 10 residents spoke at the meeting.

"This is a very serious issue," Deer Valley resident Bill Goga told the board. "I hope you move forward with the strictest compliance possible."

Resident Dave Cook said he was at the meeting to speak up for private land owners.

"I sympathize with these people but where do we stop? I have a bulldozer across the street who works from dawn to dusk. How about chainsaws or lawnmowers? Many people purchase property for personal rights and want the freedom to use the land as so desired."

The only regulations the current ordinance puts on recreational equipment is, "utilization... after sundown and prior to 8 a.m. where the noise emanating from such an activity is clearly audible more than 50 feet from the property line," is prohibited.

The ordinance was adopted in October 1990.

The ordinance amendment under consideration would make it a civil infraction for persons to operate recreational equipment such as snowmobiles, dirt bikes, all-terrain vehicles, and the like, within a certain distance of residential uses, churches, hospitals and schools, subject to certain exceptions.

"A few hours each day seems to be the most enforceable," Clerk Joan McCrary said.

The board hopes to vote on the issue at the May 18 meeting.

Travis seeks sixth term

VanderVeen looks to replace retiring McCrary

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Two more Independence Township residents are entering campaign mode as Dan Travis announced he will run for another term as Trustee and Shelagh VanderVeen announced she will seek the office of Clerk.

Travis is seeking his sixth consecutive four-year term. Travis also serves as the Chairman of the Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee and a Township Planning Commissioner.

"The challenges and opportunities facing Independence will require thoughtful board policy decisions," Travis said in a release. "As an experienced township board member and planning commissioner, I have gained substantial knowledge and have been able to help in the managed growth of Independence."

Travis said the township is embarking on exciting projects including a new senior center and a community garden.

Travis is a member of the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy and the Clarkston Area Historical Society.

VanderVeen is hoping to succeed retiring Clerk Joan McCrary. McCrary has already endorsed VanderVeen for the post.

"I am running because of my deep desire to give back something to the community," VanderVeen said. "I truly believe I have the experience, ability and energy to effectively serve the citizens of Independence Township."

VanderVeen received her bachelor's degree from Oakland University in 1983 and her juris doctorate from the Detroit College of Law in 1989.

Prior to practicing law, VanderVeen worked for the Veteran's Administration in Washington, D.C., the United States Army and Citizens for Better Care, which is a watchdog agency for nursing homes.

VanderVeen is a member of the Board of Directors of Reading for the Blind, the Clarkston Chamber of Commerce, the North Oakland Republican Club and the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Send a child to SCAMP and help move the barn

The greatest gift is love...shared. This motto for Clarkston SCAMP will be revealed in many ways when the whole SCAMP community comes together for the barn June 17, 18 and 19 at the historic Ellis barn on Dixie Highway.

The "Send a Child to Scamp and Help Move the Barn" concept started when Tammy Layton, a transportation employee of the Clarkston School District, wanted to have a fundraiser for SCAMP. She asked if she could gather the support of all the employees of the district to have a rummage sale and donate all the funds to SCAMP. The idea has garnered the support of the employees and many others and should be a huge success.

Tim Birtsas, a longtime SCAMP supporter has offered the use of the historic Ellis barn on Dixie Hwy for the sale. The barn will be moved sometime this summer and a portion of the proceeds from the sale will be donated to the cost of this project.

Tom Delke of Saturn North and the new Citizen's Bank in Springfield Plaza will donate the funds necessary to have shirts created to distinguish the volunteer workers from the customers at the sale. John Spokaeski, another longtime SCAMP supporter will donate the use of Dumpsters and friends from Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford will be donating all their expertise and labor to make the event a success. Oakland County Parks and Recreation will have their climbing rock wall onsite to amuse kids of all ages.

Anyone can donate to the sale and all are welcome to volunteer. Donations to the sale will be accepted during Memorial Day weekend at the barn from anyone wishing to help support SCAMP. Volunteers can sign up to work shifts before (sorting and pricing) and during the sale by calling Tammy Layton at 248-425-5237 or Donna Clancy at 248-620-1882.

Team Reptile 2004 Summer Programs

Team Reptile's mission is to provide people with information and education regarding reptiles, amphibians and other wildlife that inhabit Michigan. Camps and Exploration Days are designed to teach participants to appreciate and respect our environment by providing information and education about our local environment and wildlife using a hands-on approach. Members of Team Reptile will provide camp participants with information about the descriptions, habitats, and eating habits of local wildlife, especially reptiles and amphibians. Camps will include many hands-on experiences, including: exploring at local parks for snakes, salamanders, turtles, frogs, and other wildlife. Camp adventures will be recorded so that they may be aired on Team Reptile's local television show, Team Reptile Adventures. Campers will also participate in educational activities such as developing charts, displays, and exhibits for the public to enjoy. Camp & Exploration Day participants will receive a t-shirt. Participants must dress for exploring the outdoors, bring a sack lunch and bring a change of clothes. Resident rates apply to those residing in Springfield Township. For additional information, call Springfield Township Parks & Recreation at 248-634-0412.

Election year magic

It is amazing what can get accomplished in an election year.

After years of debate and study, a new Senior Center looks like it is on the fast track to getting done. The Independence board approved the concept of having the new center built on land near the library and even hired local company Design Resources to begin the process.

The one hitch is the township needs to purchase the land from Clarkston Community Schools. Now, the township board and the schools have not exactly always played nice in the past. In fact, at times, it seemed as if Roseanne and Tom Arnold had a better relationship than these two government entities.

However, here is hoping common sense and remedial public relations are exhibited and the schools sell the land to the township for a fair price. The two governments are serving the same people so should work together whenever possible. I mean any way you dissect it, the taxpayers are paying for that land.

I think the schools will be able to see the big picture and make a deal.

The schools will not want to anger a big voting block like the seniors. Irritate them now and the schools will have a front row seat to watch them vote down the schools next request for more money. Keep in mind we are talking about Clarkston Community Schools so they will be hitting us up for more money in the near future.

After this hurdle is cleared the only item left is how to fit this $1.4 million project into the Independence Township budget. While the board did not talk specifics, they would be wise not to go to the voters for a millage approval. They would get shot down faster than your truly used to at the bar when I was a bachelor.

While local governments are feeling the pinch from the state, if this senior center is going to become a reality, it is up to the township board to get creative with the money they have.

And while I believe the seniors deserve facilities much nicer than that horrible building at Clintonwood Park, they should not be holding their breath for a gymnasium, pool or whatever else they have on the wish list.

Many recent letters to the editor have stated seniors today need much more to do than bingo and Bob Barker. I agree with that premise but don't agree it is the responsibility of the government to provide it. If seniors would rather shoot hoops than watch Plinko, more power to them. However, they should go to an open gym at one of the schools or perhaps rent a court at Basketball America.

I mean I like to play basketball also, but I would not feel right about asking Independence Township to build me a place where I could play ball seven days a week free of charge.

Since when does the government need to provide me everything I wish. Sure President Bush is pushing us in that direction, but I would hope we are not there yet.

I applaud the seniors. I hope they live long and fulfilling lives. I just ask you not to look for the taxpayers to fund your entire social life.

Group host successful summer expo

On Saturday, April 24 the Clarkston Coalition for Youth presented the 2004 Summer Happenings Expo to the Clarkston community.

This was the second year for the expo and we're proud to announce another success. This year we had 37 exhibitors and more than 300 expo guests.

In addition to the information and opportunities available from exhibitors, the day included music, free door prizes and demonstrations from several groups. We'd like to thank all sponsors, door prize donors, demonstrators and exhibitors for their support. We'd also like to thank the Clarkston High School Leadership Class for their assistance with the expo.

Thanks for supporting SCAMP Walk & Roll

Wow, what a cold day Mother Nature decided to throw upon us on Sunday, May 2.

Aside from the rain and cold weather, we had a tremendous amount of support. From the workers, volunteers, and walkers, to the sponsors, pets and SCAMPers, everyone was gracious enough to bundle up in their mittens and gloves to show their support for SCAMP.

The Walk & Roll for SCAMP was a resounding success and we couldn't have done it without you. Even though the sun wasn't shining, the hot dogs, cookies, and chips were delicious. Words can't express our gratitude for your hard work and generosity. Making an event of this caliber come off without a hitch is truly a work of art. We applaud and appreciate your efforts.

The SCAMPers, their families, and the SCAMP staff, along with the entire North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corporation Board of Directors, would like to personally thank you for your kindness.

West Michigan community needs help

A Detroit based entertainment company wants to erect a proposed amphitheater/flea market/festival complex in our township which is 30 miles north of Grand Rapids.

It appears that a substantial majority of residents oppose the rezoning of the land to permit this. It would operate as much as four days a week and the zoning would permit the sale and consumption of alcohol.

We would like to present the planning commission and township board any information we can from other communities that have a similar venue in their area such as DTE Energy Music Theatre.

We know it provides revenues for local government, but we want to know how it has affected your lives with respect to noise, traffic problems, police protection, traffic accidents and drug arrests.

Could you please help us make our decision by sending us your e-mails and faxes. Let us know the truth about how DTE Energy Music Theatre events have affected your daily and weekend living. We want to know what concerns we should have.

Who pays for services and have your taxes increased because of this? Our next meeting is May 20 so we have to act fast.

Send faxes to (616) 636-4593 or e-mail dpJb@comcast.net.

Thank you in advance.

Time to 'Ask a Bunch of Questions'

Oh joy of joys. Another election year is upon us. It's time we get soundbite answers, negative campaigning, do-nothing TV commercials, slanted reporting and mudslinging. Yep, things will get pretty hot and heavy as ballots this year will be cast not only for national issues, but for people, ideas and increased taxes locally. It's a year, we, as sentient beings need to begin exercising our critical thinking powers.

In short, we need to start asking questions.

This past April, Dave Lieber, a columnist-type from the daily newspaper Star-Telegram in Texas, penned a column headlined, "It's our right to ask questions -- use it." He had been scolded by a reader who, in part wrote:

"I feel sorry for Lieber and others who feel the need to cause trouble and stir dissension... Where's the good in that?"

"... I've seen a lot of good people have their careers and reputations ruined because a few people have nothing better to do than spend countless hours researching all aspects of a person's or a district's financial, business or personal records."

In his column, Lieber responded, "I understand better than most you cannot force people to think, become curious or want to improve society. But I believe we all should feel a measure of sorrow for those who would turn a deaf ear and a blind eye to abuses committed by people in positions of authority."

"Some may wish to wallow in a dark cave of ignorance; but thankfully, these see-no-evil people represent a small minority."

"Still, when those in power are caught abusing their authority (think Oakland Intermediate School District), I sometimes hear their defenders make remarks like, 'We don't need to know everything,' or 'You have asked for too much information.'"

"Our democratic system is built on the public trust. This does not mean the public trusts its officials. This means officials work hard to earn and keep the public's trust."

"The only way to do that is to constantly monitor whether that trust has been rightly placed and ought to be maintained."

He went on to say a lot of city council and school board types say they're all for "probing and direct questions," "which stimulate dialogue and ensure the best decisions are being made." Few govern that way.

Some locally elected-types leave their questions at the door before a meeting. It's almost as if they believe there should be no dissent among their board -- that all should agree lest a negative light shine on them. School boards are great for "consent agendas." Consent agenda items are discussed in private but voted on in public. Wink, wink, nod, nod.

Locally, I don't think there are any elected crooks. But, as Dave wrote, officials must work hard to earn our trust. It's the public's job to monitor their elected and appointed officials. It's the newspaper's job to help the public's. Columnists and reporter-types should be curious. They should ask tough questions and write about disturbing trends or actions.

Residents in Orion Township need to ask why a 50-year community staple such as the Gingellville Community Center was run through the mill by the township assessor. Why did the assessor take away the center's nonprofit status the same year the township is trying to get voters okay to paying for a township-run center? Why?

Residents in the Oxford Area School District need to ask, "who's watching out for us?" How can a building project in a single district be $1.4 million over budget when there's a nearly $2 million contingency fund built into the system to catch budget overruns? I'm no math-magician but, that looks like over $3 million over.

Clarkston folks should question their school administrators for proposing teacher pinkslips while at the same time having plural public relations types on payroll. What's better for kids: teachers or somebody to spin district policy?

There are probably very good answers for all these questions. But, that does not invalidate the questions, the need to ask them, nor the question asker. Asking questions doesn't make you a big bad meanie.

In Texas, Lieber started the "Ask a Bunch of Questions" campaign. He personally paid to have that question printed on 1,000 yellow buttons (he sent me one, too). He's sending them out to his readers and those running for public office.

Dave, who works for a big-time daily can afford the $250 for all the pins. As a local guy, my pockets aren't so deep. Okay, I'm cheap and Dave's great. Regardless, I don't think I'll spring for any pins, but I will say this: Let the campaign begin here! Ask, ask, ask and ask some more.

15 YEARS AGO (1989)

• The unofficial word came last Friday, but it was confirmed Monday: Sashabaw Junior High School was named an exemplary school for the entire nation. Sashabaw, one of two junior high schools in the Clarkston school district, was named an exemplary school in the state last fall and was nominated for the national award. When a national team of evaluators visited the school in spring, Principal David Reschke said they were highly complimentary.

• Over 150 people showed up at Spring Lake Country Club May 12 for an open house in recognition of Jan Gabier's 28 years with Clarkston schools. Guests included parents, former students, bus drivers, teachers, school administrators and Clarkston area residents and officials. A plaque, cake, flowers and gifts filled a table honoring Gabier, who said she was grateful for the support of her friends.

• Plans for a two-story office building got conceptual approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission. The 9,000 square-foot building is proposed by Larry and Nicole Hargett for a three-acre lot on Sashabaw Road north of Clarkston Road. Commission members had a few questions about the development but voted 6-0 to approve the conceptual plan.

25 YEARS AGO (1979)

• Drug traffic is widespread and out in the open in the Clarkston area. "I spent some time last Saturday on Main Street. I can't tell you the number of transactions I saw," said one observer, substance-abuse expert Reese W. Jones. A social worker at Insight of Colombiere, Jones formerly worked in the Huron Valley Center for Drug Studies in Highland. He also is an admitted former junkie and drug dealer.

• Weekend police protection in Independence Township is at an all-time low and the wheels are creaking slowly to correct the problem. Indeed, the situation seems to be a symptom of greater problems facing the township -- lack of communication and lack of agreement between the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Independence Township Police Services. Township board members voted 4-3 to set the police protection budget at $260,000 at last week's special meeting.

• Independence Township Fire Chief Frank Ronk has won the chance to beef up his department with two new full-time firefighters. Ronk's goal of having the three township fire stations manned 24 hours a day will be met when the two positions are filled. The station in the village has not been staffed around-the-clock. The township board approved hiring two additional firefighters -- making the total 13 -- at last week's special meeting.

50 YEARS AGO (1954)

• The schools in the Clarkston school district are joining forces this week for their first Arts Festival. The festival is designed to demonstrate the work that has been done in the school this year.

• Reports of the sixty-third Continental Congress of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution were given at the May meeting of General Richardson chapter.

Fishing writers will not cover our trout opener

By the time you read this we will have returned from our annual trout fishing trip in the UP.

You will not see our experiences - venture - outing - vacation - weekend retreat - whatever, covered in fishing magazines, sports pages or Michigan Outdoors TV show.

First of all, we do not plan on meals based on catches. Trout are smarter than we are. And I speak for all of us, two Jims, Bob, two Tims, Todd and maybe a Ben. Trout are what I call "Mensa Rated Fish." Their IQ outranks pike, bass, perch, etc., while we fishers all advanced through school by age and sympathy.

The only trout we ever catch have been rejected from their schools. They also suffer glaucoma, have lost their sense of smell and their equilibrium is shot.

Also, unlike people in cover stories wading or floating in streams, seen netting colorful Rainbows, we fish from shore. Oh, it's not that we don't have all the right gear. There's no lure, rods, reels and semblerances that we don't have.

We have insect repellent, shirts tight from Orvis, the finest wind and rain proof, but breathable, jackets and pants and footwear for every turf.

The fishing shores I mention are on ponds on a private club. These ponds are stocked with legal size trout. However, only trout that passed academy tests in Department of Natural Resources approved hatcheries are selected.

So, it's we dropouts against PhD's.

We all know this, yet we're persistent. We study major feeding phase charts, memorize best temperatures when fish will be active and scout the shoreline waters for trout hiding places.

We have all read of the newest and best baits. We all have our favorites, our "killer" lures, our "never fail" spinners, our "old reliable" Rapalas, Dardevles, Little Cleos and Power Baits in paste and pellet forms.

We got the equipment PERIOD. Last year son Jim showed up with a gizmo (fish finder) that attaches to a fishline that he would throw out into the pond and retrieve slowly. It would give read-outs of where the fish were.

Opening day, as the gizmo got close to shore, Jim looked into the water and saw a school of trout right in front of him. Now his eyes have replaced his $69 gizmo.

Forever in a fisherperson's life they are told fish bite early and late, two hours at sunrise and two hours at sunset. We finish breakfast in time to head for the ponds at 9:30 a.m. If we are going to catch fish it will be on our time schedule. We are not after the fish with routines.

National Day of Prayer brings community members together

BY ALICIA DORSET

Clarkston News Staff Writer

"Why do we need to pray? I don't think I need to tell you. The Bible commands us to pray."

Host Mark Gilman used that question to remind various community members why they had gathered at St. Daniel's Catholic Church to celebrate the National Day of Prayer on May 6.

Clarkston's celebration was just one of the 40,000 events that took place nationally. Participants enjoyed breakfast by Shannon Warwick and ceremonial flag duties from Boy Scout Troop 189.

Open to people of all faiths, members of the Clarkston area community gathered in the Cushing Center to send special thoughts to the area around them.

"Help us to remember our strength in community begins with our neighbors," Marlene Stone, community prayer leader, told the audience.

In addition to the prayer for the community, members lead prayers for the government, churches, schools, youth and families, the workplace and the armed forces.

"Isn't it a good feeling to have the different parts of the body all together here," Keith Cook, school prayer leader and Clarkston High School science teacher, said.

After the various prayers, the audience was treated to a presentation from Jeff Tuten, chaplain for the Detroit Tigers.

"You could not find a room big enough for the people who have prayer FOR the Tigers, but Jeff has prayed WITH the Tigers," Gilman said.

Tuten described his duties for the Tigers. Tuten is responsible for a chapel service every Sunday before a game and his wife leads a Bible study for the players' wives and significant others.

Tuten stressed the importance of maintaining a view on the world around individuals and completing the daily tasks of life.

"Pray that we are men and women and young people who commit ourselves to one another," Tuten told the audience.

The experience to share his thoughts with the Clarkston area on the day of reflection was welcomed by Tuten.

"I'm happy to come out and share when I get the chance," Tuten said. "I think we need to be refocused on our continued devotion to Jesus Christ."

Joan McCrary, Independence Township Clerk and leader for the government prayer, had worked on the committee that put the event together in the past and was excited to speak at this year's celebration.

"It means a lot to me. I took the whole staff. It was a real treat," McCrary said. "In this day and age, if we can get 200 people in the community to bow their heads for this day, it is a really great thing."

'Dribbling' improvement helps sons celebrate Mother's Day

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

What better way to say "Happy Mother's Day" than with a free throw contest and dribbling drills?

More than 110 moms in red jerseys and sons in white gathered in the Clarkston Middle School's gym on May 7 to spend a Friday evening sharpening their basketball skills at the Mother and Son Pistons Basketball Clinic sponsored by Clarkston Community Education.

"We were looking for something special for moms and sons around Mother's Day," Chris Smith, youth enrichment supervisor for Clarkston Community Education, said. "The Pistons said they'd do it."

Lead by Steve Moreland, director of basketball camps and clinics for the Pistons, the "recruits" were drilled on everything from speed trials, free throw practice and even the meaning of what it represents to be a Piston.

"If you're unselfish, you're the kind of young man we want on our team," Moreland told the young players.

Moreland provided the moms and sons with four guiding principles to make as a Piston for those hoping to be on the team's roster in the future: be on time, be a good listener, do your work and be a good person.

In addition to the motivational lecture on being a good person, Moreland reminded the young men of the important roles their mothers play.

"Without your moms in your lives, they tend to spin out of control," Moreland said. "When I think back to the person who guided my path, I think of my mom."

After the pep talks, the trainees hit the court. Moreland had the recruits do laps around the CMS gym while dribbling, in both directions, to get the playing under way.

"I think I'm better than my mom," Michael Stile said.

Sue Hickey kept up with her son while doing laps around the gym as a unique way to spend time together.

"Oh, just an evening with Tommy," Hickey said about her favorite aspect of the evening.

The evening meant something different to each person who attended.

"Hearing the coach's philosophies and teaching us things outside of basketball," Michelle Christensen said about what she took away from the experience.

The event was so popular that community education had to put a limit on the number of people at the event. The group brings the Pistons out for two different clinics a year for students.

"This is our first time doing it, but I think we're going to make it an annual event," Smith said. "Whenever we have the Pistons out here, it's always successful."

As if spending time together wasn't enough, the participants went home with a Pistons poster, Ben Wallace collector card and other Pistons prizes.

When the night was done, both moms and sons took away a whole new approach to shooting hoops.

"Me and my mom, I think we're tied," Matthew Blake said on skills comparisons.

Erin and Malcolm Hill listen to Steve Moreland's advice on how to be a successful individual during the Pistons Mother and Son Basketball Clinic on May 7. More than 110 moms and sons attended the event. For more photos from the clinic, please see 13A. Photo by Alicia Dorset

Clarkston Middle School celebrates Blue Ribbon award

BY ALICIA DORSET

Clarkston News Staff Writer

"I just want to say, Clarkston rocks."

Clarkston Middle School principal Linda Foran was all smiles as she accepted Michigan's Department of Education Blue Ribbon award during a special assembly on May 5 in the school's gym.

Attending the assembly was the middle school's entire student body and staff members, as well as the board of education, Blue Ribbon committee members and various community leaders.

"We have always known hard work goes on in this building," Karen Foyteck, board of education president, said.

"I can't think of a more wonderful thing than to be surrounded by the community," Elizabeth Bauer, State Board of Education, said. "Community and schools go hand in hand."

CMS was one of 13 schools in Michigan to receive the award. Clarkston High School also received Blue Ribbon recognition earlier in 2004.

"Clarkston Middle School is more than a collection of classes that students master," Dr. Al Roberts, Clarkston Schools superintendent, said. "It is a blue ribbon school."

Students filling the gym's bleachers wore special blue ribbon t-shirts during the assembly as they were treated to the sounds of the seventh and eighth grade choir.

"This is a really great day. Just like the crescendo at the end of music," Bauer said.

County commissioner Tom Middleton presented the school with special tributes from Governor Jennifer Granholm and Rep. John Stakoe in addition to the state honor.

During the acceptance of the award, Foran described the detailed process to apply for the award and the hard work required from the school's staff.

"Throughout the application process, the same message kept coming through," Foran said. "Our students were number one."

Bauer was pleased with the large turnout for the ceremony, especially from the 1,061 students. She believed that part of what made CMS so unique was its inclusion of all students, whether it be through activities, staff participation or special education endeavors.

"When you have an inclusive environment, you have very high expectations," Bauer said. "When you have those, you get perfection. Everybody is involved and expected to excel. By in large, you come together."

In addition to the detailed application staff members completed, a site visit from the Department of Education was also conducted. Middle and high schools were eligible for recognition this year as they alternate with elementary schools every other year.

Teacher of the Year selected from North Sashabaw Elementary

BY ALICIA DORSET

Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Jill Santola gathered in North Sashabaw Elementary's cafeteria for a morning assembly with the rest of the school, she had no idea what was in store for her.

Santola was named "Teacher of the Year" by the Clarkston Foundation and Suburban Ford of Waterford on May 7 during a surprise presentation in front of the entire school.

"I was totally shocked. There are so many teachers in the district that go above and beyond," Santola said. "I thought I'd won just by being nominated."

The ceremony was disguised as a "school meeting" for the building.

Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts opened the assembly by updating students on the district's Blue Ribbon winners and quickly introduced a special surprise guest behind the stage's curtains: foundation president Jim Evans.

"I heard this was the hardest year ever," Evans said in response to the committee's choosing a winner.

Principal Debra Latozas was the only member of the staff who knew Santola was this year's recipient of the title.

"She's always nice," Emma Lake, one of Santola's students, said.

Santola was greeted by the foundation, her students and even her own family on the cafeteria's stage. Victoria Martinez, a parent who nominated Santola for the award, was on stage with flowers for the award winner.

"This is a reflection of all the people in the building," Santola said. "The love and support people give in this building is wonderful."

Santola was joined on stage by her students who held up a banner congratulating their teacher.

Santola was quickly whisked away in a stretch SUV limousine, courtesy of NSE's PTO, to Suburban Ford of Waterford where she was allowed to pick out a car to drive, free of charge, for a full year.

Sherrie VanderVeen lead this year's selection committee for the foundation and was very pleased with Santola's title. Part of the nomination process involved a visit to Santola's classroom and meeting with students.

"I think when we walked out of her classroom, everyone who had observed her had changed," VanderVeen said. "We look at the total teacher package. We were all tremendously moved that she had an impact on students and the school."

Other finalists for this year's award were Debbie Licata (Andersonville Elementary), Kathy Noble (Bailey Lake Elementary), Sandy Schutte (Springfield Plains Elementary) and Jessica Sorensen (Independence Elementary).

"Our teachers are pretty humble," Roberts said. "She (Santola) represents a vast number of teachers in our system who are superb."

Santola began her teaching career in 1987 as a special education teacher at Blanche Sims Elementary in Lake Orion. She joined Clarkston schools in 1988 at Pine Knob Elementary and moved to North Sashabaw in 1990 where she has remained ever since. She currently serves as a first/second grade multi-age teacher.

"She's a good teacher," Austin Smith, Santola's student, said.

To be eligible for the award, a current teacher must have a minimum of two years of full-time experience and be nominated by a parent, students (both past and present), community members or colleagues.

This is the 11th year the foundation has sponsored the program. Suburban Ford of Waterford has been a part of the honor for six years.

Jared D'Autremont was excited to see his teacher win Teacher of the Year. His reasoning for why he liked her was pretty simple.

"She teaches us a lot of nice things," D'Autremont said.

Students from Santola's class gather on stage with a banner congratulating their award-winning teacher.

Deputies seek help in multiple burglaries

BY DON SCHELSKE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three recent home invasions with similar circumstances have the Oakland County Sheriff's Department seeking information from residents concerning suspicious persons or vehicles.

The break-ins were all in the northwest corner of Independence Township and all featured a method of operation which included pulling a truck to the rear of the home, with burglars taking property such as guns, computers and legal papers while ignoring jewelry and other valuables.

An April 8 incident took place on Strawberry Lane, with recent break-ins including a May 3 incident on Allen Road and a May 5 burglary on Hubbard Road near Allen Road.

Detective Jerry DeRosia speculated that suspects could be targeting the area because of relatively close access to I-75 for speedy escape from the area.

In the Allen Road incident, stolen items included a computer, two .22 caliber rifles, a 9mm pistol, two pair of binoculars, a video camera, a DVD player, a stereo and legal documents. The Hubbard Road burglary included four long guns, an antique revolver, and a jar with $130 in quarters.

The Hubbard Road homeowner said the doors to the open were never locked because they never saw the need, reports said.

Investigators have noted tire tracks at each location, and at the Hubbard Road home found a latex glove on the floor of the bedroom.

DeRosia said the ease of access to some area homes have been noted by suspects in previous incidents.

"These places are easy pickings to some of the people we've interviewed," DeRosia said, and the three recent burglaries were "very similar" in nature.

This time of year also brings out door-to-door solicitors for home repairs or driveway paving, DeRosia said. While some have a potential threat for fraud in their own right, he wonders if some might have been involved in research concerning possible burglary targets.

Those with information concerning suspicious persons or vehicles are asked to contact the sheriff's department at (248) 620-4968 or (248) 858-4950.

Miller

for both his legal fight and his outspoken opinions on other school issues, attempted to be cordial in reaction to Miller's resignation, with several shaking his hand after the meeting.

Board Secretary Stephen Hyer made the motion to accept the resignation "with much regret," and Foyteck said, "I hope you had a good year, Tony."

Miller said he has had conversations with school officials about resuming his coaching duties this fall.

"As far as I know, that's not going to be a problem," he said, again citing his love for the game. "The sport has taught me more about life than anything."

"Now I've had a taste of politics, too," he continued. "I've learned a tremendous amount."

During his less than one-year in office, Miller has questioned administrative recommendations on budget trimming, advocating pay freezes and other moves instead of a planned "pay-to-participate" athletics fee. He also has asked frequent questions about cost estimates and specifications for ongoing construction projects to be paid from the $83.7 million bond issue approved by voters last year.

He admits some question as to whether he has been an effective trustee.

"I don't know that I accomplished a lot," he said. "To accomplish something, you have to have a team."

Miller said there was no specific reasoning behind the timing of his resignation, other than to ensure he could return to coaching. He didn't think about the legalities of filling his vacancy, other than, "I wanted the community to be able to vote."

While the June 14 election will fill two seats on the board of education, it appears it is too late to include Miller's seat on that ballot.

The state-mandated deadline for ballot resolutions has already passed, and the current policy (based on state law) is for the remaining board members to appoint a successor until the next regular school election (which will be sometime in 2005, when new election timetables go into effect).

Foyteck said Tuesday the procedure will include an invitation for "letters of interest" in late June, followed by interviews with candidates.

The board must fill the vacancy within 30 days of Miller's announced departure date, July 1.

Foyteck said she hopes Miller will be able to "follow his passion" with the high school football team, and denied any sense of "relief" with his resignation.

"There has been some conflict, but he has worked hard this year," she said, crediting Miller with faithful attendance and thorough study of agenda packets. She emphasized the "regret" portion of the board motion.

"You can't refuse a resignation," she said.

Senior Center

The second floor will include conference rooms, offices, employee lounge, billiards room and a craft room. The basement will include an exercise room and multipurpose room with daylight windows.

"Our current senior center facilities are deplorable at best," Stuart said. "They need to be improved. We went to the voters combining it with a township hall, soccer fields and community center but we never talked about a senior center alone. This is a different situation. I view this like any other municipal need."

At the May 4 meeting, the board of trustees approved the library site, allowed Stuart to enter into negotiations with the schools and hired Design Resources, in Clarkston, to design the center.

"I am humbled to be a small part of this and excited to get started," Jay Noonan of Design Resources said. "This facility will have a great impact on the quality of life."

The proposal came out of meetings between the Senior Center Steering Committee and officials from Independence Township. The groups talked about other sites for the center but BayCourt Park was eliminated due to location, Clintonwood Park due to water/sewer restrictions and the Department of Public Works site due to congestion.

"As we developed plans for the new center, our perspective has leaned toward the conservative side, yet the plan that we have seen seemed to meet our most immediate needs," committee member Harry Knitter said. "Construction of a gymnasium should be included in the current building proposal but we understand that because of the additional cost might be prohibitive at this time but would be considered in two to three years."

Stuart recommended funding this project by borrowing from the sewer or water fund, selling bonds or debt millage. He did not recommend going to the voters for millage approval.

The board did not vote or discuss how to fund the center at the board meeting.

"It is way past time to do something for the seniors," Trustee Dan Travis said. "I think this plan contains cost and creates an opportunity for gift giving and grant funding in the future. It is important to point out this is not a community center."

Jottings

At noon we break for a pond-side cookout: hot dogs, hamburgers, cold beer or pop, a few chips, maybe some salsa, lots of conversation about the ones that nibbled, got off at the shoreline and took a bobber down.

If someone has a trout, a half dozen emerald shiners and a camcorder will come out pockets from breathable jackets.

By 4:30 it will be time to meet back at the shore and decide if we should go to The Cove to compare stories with some local or go back to the condo and get the steaks or chops ready for grilling after our evening of reviewing past, equally catchless opening days.

Oh, we will have an evening meal of fish, grilled over charcoal. But, they will be purchased in Naubin-way at one of the three places that commercially net walleyes and whitefish in Lake Michigan.

As all unsuccessful fishers and hunters off repeat, it isn't the sport, it's the fellowship. But, fellowship is better when you net a keeper.

Wolves take down no. 3 ranked Colts 12-5 OAA I league title in their sites

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Their bats came through again.

In a season which has been powered by the big offensive plays of Sam Palace, Addison Turk and Aaron Powell, those three combined again to help the Clarkston varsity baseball team pick up its biggest win this season, a 12-5 win over arch rival Troy May 10 at Clarkston High School.

The three combined for six RBI, went 5-for-eight, drew four walks and scored 10 runs. Turk's RBI single in the bottom of the fifth, which scored Palace and Eric Bryan made it 7-5 Clarkston. Shiel made it 8-5 one his RBI single which brought home Powell. Additionally, the Wolves drew an offensive boost from Nate Davis, who added a late-game RBI hit scoring Brett Gallagher and Steve Shiel.

Clarkston couldn't have started the game any better. Powell ended the day with four strikeouts, but three of them came against the first three Troy batters, Price said.

"That totally set the tone. He came in and started us off with three straight strikeouts. From there, we just rolled," Price said.

The win against the Colts, who entered the game with a state-wide no. 3 ranking a record of 20-2, improved the Wolves' overall record to 14-5 overall and more importantly, puts them alone in first place in the OAA I. Both the Wolves and Colts boast 6-1 league marks, but the Wolves now hold the tie-breaker. The Wolves close the season with the Colts May 26.

"Sheil and Davis gave us a great boost tonight and it was great team effort. You could see it in on the kids' faces before the game that they were excited and focused for this one. They were really into it," Price said.

The Wolves have rolled out four straight wins including wins over Kimball, Rochester Adams and Harrison. However, mental mistakes remain a primary concern for Price.

"We have to start playing better defense," he said. "We gave up another four unanswered runs tonight. It should've been 12-1 and Troy's a good team, but we just can't beat ourselves. We haven't played anybody better than us, but at the same time we have five losses. This win could get us ranked. If we take away the mistakes, I think we're awfully tough to beat."

The Wolves won three games last week including a 6-4 victory against Royal Oak Kimball.

The win over Kimball put the Wolves at 13-5 overall and gave them a 5-1 league mark. Pitcher Jim Coleman went the distance to pick up the win.

"All those runs were unearned. Jimmy Coleman did a great job pitching. You know, what a gutsy performance. Our two, three, four hitters - Palace, Powell and Turk just did a tremendous job for us," Price said.

Palace went 3-for-4 including an RBI single in the bottom of the third to put the Wolves on the board after falling behind early 3-0.

What has been a disturbing trend for the Wolves this season is their inability to score runs early in games.

"I don't know. I haven't figured it out yet. I've switched our no. 2 and no. 5 hitters and that didn't work out as well today, but our kids found a way to win the game and that's the bottom line," Price said.

Clarkston got the bats going with a four-run fifth inning. But no hits were more important in the win over Kimball than a bunt by leadoff hitter Mike Kittle, Price said. Kittle's bunt followed a single by Nate Davis, who went three-for-three from the number nine spot. The inning started with Bryan Morin getting on first due to a Kimball fielding error. Jono Moehlig then hit a 2 RBI single to cut the deficit to 4-3.

"The biggest part of the game was Mike Kittle's bunt. That was the whole difference in this game," Price said.

The Wolves tied the game at four on Palace's RBI double and then took a 5-4 lead when Devin Fuller scored with the bases loaded after Addison Turk drew a walk. Chad Zelinski drove home Palace to give the Wolves a 5-4 lead. The Wolves added to their lead in the bottom of the sixth when Davis stole home to give them the 6-4 advantage.

The Wolves resume action today at Lake Orion at 4:30 p.m. They return home May 17 at 4 p.m. against Rochester.

Boys track pulls off second place finish at South Lyon

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

It was a definite bright spot for the boys track team last Friday and it wasn't just because it was held under the lights.

The Wolves finished in second place at the South Lyon Sunset Invitational May 7, one spot behind host South Lyon. Livonia Franklin rounded out the top three spots.

"It was a good day for us," coach Walt Wyniemo said. "We weren't quite sure what to expect. It was the second time for this invite and because of the setup of the meet you really had to rely on your teammates, not just treat it as an individual thing."

All the events were relays with some combining the boys and girls teams, similar to the Andover Relays held earlier this season.

Highlighting the meet for the Wolves was the first place finish of the discus relay team of Jake Meissnest and Richard Winbigler. The two also took first in the shot put, winning out by a mere inch. The distance medley relay team of Chris Anderson, Eric Gauthier, Nick Lamora and Andy Kodra also took home first place honors. Jesse Kessler won the 200 meter dash and Matt Hunter finished in second place in the 200 meter run. The 3,200 meter relay team of Anderson, Gauthier, Travis Hughes and Nick Purroll took second place. Kodra won the mile while Tom Fick finished third in the event. Additionally, the mile relay team of Kessler, Brad Flaughner, Gauthier and Mike Vagts. In the 800, it was Matt Hunter taking second while Ed Brennan finished in fourth place.

"For us as a younger team to come in and take second, it was a very, very good feeling," Wyniemo said. "Our times and our distances are both improving. Both were very good for us at that meet."

The Wolves resume action May 15 with the Mott Relays at Grand Blanc. For more information on event start times, call the Clarkston High School athletic office at 248-625-4002.

Clarkston tennis team picks up first win of season

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The record doesn't tell the whole story when it comes to the Clarkston varsity boys tennis team.

While the Wolves are 1-7-1 overall and winless in the OAA II, they are playing their best tennis of the year according to coach Chas Claus, who is in his first year as head varsity coach.

The Wolves were able to pick up their first win of the year in a makeup date with Auburn Hills Avondale 7-1. The Wolves were originally scheduled to open their season with the OAA III team. But while the lone Wolves win came against the Yellow Jackets of Avondale, Claus claims he saw his team's best performance in a losing effort against powerhouse Birmingham Seaholm May 4. Seaholm came into the season as the heavy favorite to win the league. The OAA will realign the tennis divisions next season and Claus said there's a good chance Seaholm will bump up into the first division. He expects his team to stay in division II.

"We played way better against Seaholm than we did against Avondale. We battled it out," Claus said.

The Wolves took on another top ranked team in Rochester Adams, a member of the OAA I. The Wolves fell 6-2, but picked up wins from the no. 1 doubles team of Paul Chun and Paul Gunkle and no. 2 singles player Justin Roderick. Clarkston's no. 1 singles player Amit Surapaneni fell in a hard fought three game set, Claus said.

"We had some three setters against Adams and the last two matches we played (against Adams and Seaholm) I think we really fought hard," Claus said. "Winning at one doubles is a very tough chore. To beat a division I team says a lot about them (Gunkle and Chun)."

"Justin has really learned to fight back this year," Claus said. "If he gets down he'll stick in matches, where in years past he would have a bit of a tendency to get down on himself."

Claus admitted the season has been a bit of test of endurance having only one senior on his roster. He has learned the true value of experience, but says all the challenges that face him and his team this season will pay dividends down the road.

"Every match we play we can sit down and have a good post-game assessment and since we'll have basically the same lineup next year say as a player how can you need to do to get where we're going next year and figure out how we can come back next year and be competitive with the Seaholms out there," Claus said.

Claus said he can already see the foundation for next year being formed.

"I think we're a lot less scared of people now. We came out against Rochester in the first match and I thought we played scared," he said. "Now I don't think we're scared of anybody. We took it to Seaholm and were able to fight through that."

The Wolves resume action May 13 at the OAA Tournament. Call the Clarkston High School athletic office at 623-4002 for more information.

Only you can look out for your outlook

By Ernie Harwell

I think most of my attitude about taking personal responsibility for your own quality of life and health rubbed off from my dad, who contracted multiple sclerosis when he was about thirty years old, and died at seventy-two. Despite being unable to move his lower limbs during those many years, he had a sharp mind and a terrific outlook on life.

He was upbeat all the time and never let his physical condition get him down. He loved to have people visit and always had great stories and jokes ready for them. I think a lot of that was passed along to me. I saw that he had such an amazingly positive attitude and how much it meant to the quality of his life - and to the lives of those around him - every single day.

So it's probably not too surprising to those who really know me, that I consciously decide every day that I'm going to do something positive for my health and my outlook on life. I figure there's simply no guarantee that I - or anyone else - will feel good without making fitness and a positive outlook a personal commitment.

And please remember to take care of your health before it's longgggg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Softball team makes quick work of Raiders in five innings

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The rain didn't cut the game short for the Clarkston varsity softball team Monday night, the Wolves did that all by themselves.

On an afternoon where threatening skies loomed and brought with them the chance for heavy rains and gusty winds, the Wolves figured they'd better make quick work of a young North Farmington team and did just that, defeating the Raiders by an 11-1 mercy after five innings May 10 at Clarkston High School.

"We can hit one through nine. So people think once they get to six or seven that maybe they can let up a little, but our hitters are hitting through the lineup and we're bunting well, that's the key - and executing well and we're quick on the bases and very smart on them. If we can get on the bases, we can raise havoc," Clarkston coach Al Land said.

The Wolves got the bats going early and often as Katie Jorgensen opened the scoring with an RBI single scoring Heather Giroux, who finished the game with three hits. Teammate Suzie Giroux also finished the game with three hits. The Wolves added RBI hits in the second inning by Laura O'Neill and Amber Giroux and then broke the game open to a 5-0 lead when Trisha Martens had an RBI single bringing home Jorgensen. Caitlin McLean added her RBI in the fourth as part of a three-run inning for the Wolves to help put them comfortably ahead. Kelly Robinson pitched the first four innings for the Wolves before coach Al Land decided to go with Sarah McGinnis to finish the game.

The win improved Clarkston's overall record to 12-9 and bumped them up to 8-5 in the OAA I. Clarkston also picked up wins last weekend while playing in the Pieper Tournament defeating Dondero 7-1 and Flushing 5-4.

While an OAA I title is not mathematically out of reach, it is a longshot. However, the Wolves still have an opportunity to capture it with some luck. They still have two dates with league contenders Lake Orion and Troy (at press time).

"A lot of good things have to happen to get there, but this was the first game of the second half of the season," Land said.

Land said following the mercy win over North Farmington that his team's confidence and execution are both increasing dramatically.

"We've made some changes to the lineup and I think in the beginning of the year they were kind of finding themselves out there a bit, but now they're getting more confident each game. We work real hard on fundamentals and we're starting to really execute.

We're only going to get better," Land said.

Changes included putting Heather Giroux at catcher, moving Katy Kleinedler to third base and putting Trisha Martens in right field for the injured Meghan Bonk, who is suffering with back problems.

Clarkston is at Troy today for a double header starting at 4:30 p.m. They return home May 14 when they host West Bloomfield at 4 p.m. Their double header with Lake Orion takes place May 17 at 4 p.m., which could decide the league championship.

Athlete of the week - Elle Kuhta

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Elle Kuhta might only be a freshman, but her coach Jamie LaBrosse sure doesn't think she acts like one.

"It's hard to believe she's a freshman. She's probably the most intelligent runner I've had as a freshman. She picks things up real fast. She's like a seasoned veteran," LaBrosse said. "She's one of the hardest workers on the team. She's the first one to practice and the last one to leave. She does everything I ask of her and she's extremely humble. She'll win a race and then be the first one to congratulate the other runners."

Kuhta, who has her sites set on qualifying for the state meet in possibly both the mile and two mile, had to fight off an early season injury this season. However, on her first race back, she set a personal best in the 800 with a time of 2:28. Her other personal bests this season include a time of 11:40 in the two mile at the Mitchell Roosevelt Meet in Ohio April 30 and mile time of 5:24 at the Macomb Indoor Meet in late March.

"He (coach LaBrosse) helped me with the injury in that he made me feel like when I came back I hadn't lost everything I had fought for. He made me feel like I could come back and jump right back with the team," Kuhta said.

Now, Kuhta is in the midst of trying to qualify for states in both the mile and the two mile. She is leaning more towards wanting to run the mile, but is not ruling the option of running in both events.

"I think I'll end up doing both if I make it," she said. "Personally, I'd rather do the mile. It's more prestigious. It's just a better split. It will help me in my two mile overall."

She has already met one goal she set for herself entering the season, which was to break 5:25 in the mile. Her other goal is to get in the low 11:30's in the two mile. But putting in the extra effort to meet her goals must run in the family. Kuhta's older sister Mo, a senior, has been a standout track athlete for LaBrosse for years. So, LaBrosse figured the younger Kuhta would work hard, but even he was surprised by everything she's accomplished. And the sky is the limit, he said.

"I knew she'd be a hard worker, but I didn't know how talented she'd be. To be a state qualifier for a freshman is a huge accomplishment. The more I see her, the better I think she's going to be. She's an over-achiever. She gets the most out of herself that's for sure. She's going to do some big things here. She doesn't like to settle," LaBrosse said.

Kuhta maintains a 4.0 grade point average at Clarkston High School. Her favorite class is language arts 9 intensively taught by Jennifer Stairs. Eventually, Kuhta said she is interested in perhaps studying either law or advertising.

Ferguson, Pierce help kickers take aim at league title

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Tami Niemi and her team are not in total agreement right now.

While Niemi admitted her team's chances of a league title are probably a distance long shot, she claims her team has still set its sites on the league championship.

The Wolves were able to pick up another league win last week on the road with a 2-1 win over Birmingham Groves May 4. The game winning goal came from Lauren Smith on an assist from Beth Ferguson. The other Clarkston goal came from Jenna Przybycien. The win improved Clarkston's records to 5-4-2 overall and put them at 3-2-2 in the league, still mathematically alive for a league title. Royal Oak Kimball is alone in first place in the league. The Wolves lost their first game against Kimball 3-0 April 29. Clarkston gets them at home May 25.

"I think it's more of a fight for second at this point," Niemi said. "But I think they're still going after first place. With this team and their attitude I think they'll give themselves a check and see what's going on. I don't see them getting down on themselves. They're mentally tough and very determined."

Clarkston is currently at a crossroad so to speak, Niemi said. The Wolves followed up the win over Groves with a tough 5-0 loss at Rochester two nights later. As a result, Niemi said the players called for a players' only meeting where they will sit down and discuss team and individual goals for the remainder of the season.

"I think we are on the rebound a little bit right now. After last night's game (against Rochester) they need to make a decision on mentally how they're going to prepare themselves for the games and get ready for the big time games. Knowing the attitudes on this team, I can only see positive things come up," Niemi said.

Among the positives Niemi noted for the Wolves was the play of several key players in the win over Groves.

"It was a pretty good game. I think we held control of the game pretty well. We had enough opportunities to win the game and that was perfect. Jenna is an outside midfielder and she's super fast and she's creating opportunities. And Lauren Smith who scored the game winner. She was right in the right spot at the right time. It was a nice, easy goal, lots of composure, just tapped it in," Niemi said.

While the Wolves struggled against Rochester last week, Niemi noted the play of senior forward Bess Ferguson as a strong point in the game, and throughout the season for that matter.

"Against Rochester she was really stepping up. Physically, getting to the ball, making things happen and I just see her really stepping up as a senior. Also, Emily Pierce just played awesome. She probably stopped four one-on-one situations. I mean, she's just a great, great goalkeeper. She's just getting stronger, and stronger and stronger," Niemi said.

The Wolves finally return home May 13 at 7 p.m. against Andover.

Great void will be filled with golf and Tiger games

There is a great void in my life right now. Actually, I guess I should try not to think of it as a great void, but rather as an abundance of newly found free time. The 10-year run of the hit NBC sitcom "Friends" is now over.

I will readily admit I was a pretty big fan of the show. Well, that might be an understatement. I can safely say I've probably seen every episode of the previous nine seasons at least a dozen times. Ah the joys of syndication. I am not proud that I have probably memorized a third of the series' dialogue, but I have a rare ability to be able to dictate lines from television and movies nearly word for word. In addition to "Friends," I can also recite nearly the entire first half of "Pulp Fiction" and probably close to 80 percent of the entire "Star Wars" trilogy.

But back to "Friends." Now that it is over, what will I do on Thursday nights? I already had to say goodbye to another favorite in "The Apprentice," and now the loss of "Friends" has left me with only The Simpsons and Sopranos as "must see TV."

Already a few networks have hyped up new shows they will try to tempt us with during the summer, but I doubt highly any of them will be as good as "Friends," "Simpsons" or "Sopranos." I will watch the Pistons as long as their playoff run continues, but as big a hockey fan as I am, I just can't find much interest in Philadelphia, San Jose, Tampa Bay or Calgary - sorry.

So, as the days get longer and television choices get shorter, here is a list of things I would find enjoyable to do this summer.

Continue reading John Grisham books. He and Stephen King are my two favorite authors. Pick up a Grisham book and I bet you will finish it in a matter of days. They are easy, but fun reads with a lot of interesting plot twists.

Play better golf. Well, I can't play much worse, so playing better is about the only way I can go.

Fish. It is one of the most relaxing ways to spend a summer day.

Go to Cedar Point - I haven't been there since Millennium Force was the new ride. I love roller coasters and their collection is second to none.

Catch a Tiger game - It's been at least two years since I last visited Comerica, but then again it's probably been five times that long since they've been .500.

Research for my fantasy football draft - hey, training camp is only about eight weeks away!

So, while "Friends" said goodbye with a finale which was fair at best in my view, I guess I should be glad the show is over. I now have more time to do things on Thursday nights. It made me laugh, but surely not as much as the remaining television choices will this fall. Take away "Sopranos" and "Simpsons" from television and you have the biggest joke of all.

Local Scouts help open new group camp at county park

Boy Scout Troop 192 of Davisburg participated in the May 1 opening ceremony for the new group camp area at Independence Oaks County Park.

A group of 17 Boy Scouts from Troop 192 presented a color guard and flag ceremony at the ribbon cutting for the opening of the new youth group campground.

The troop also participated in opening day activities by camping and organizing a rope-making demonstration, a cooking demonstration (cooking a 24-pound turkey in an open air oven) and a demonstration of turkey calls as part of the public open house for the new campground.

"The facility here at Independence Oaks is outstanding," Scoutmaster Ken Harvey said. "The campgrounds are surrounded by woods and Scouts have access to a nature center and miles of hiking trails. Anybody involved in group camping programs should look into using this facility."

VOLUME 38 10 CENTS

CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016

THURSDAY, Nov. 2, 1967

2 SECTIONS

NUMBER 10

When Jeff Keyser had a little neck trouble in a recent game, team physician Dr. Rockwood Bullard was on hand to check it. It was only a muscle spasm.

Schools recess while teachers convene

School will be out for area youngsters on Thursday and Friday of this week, but for more than 24,000 teachers, they will be leaving their classrooms for something a bit different. Sixteen instructional centers in a four county area will be hosting two-day conferences sponsored by the Michigan Education Association in an attempt to emphasize the improvement of instruction.

Small campuses have been organized to provide in-depth sessions to meet every imaginable interest from art through special education. For example, the Livonia schools are hosting the art workshops, while educators interested in business and cooperative education will find their programs in Detroit, Oak Park, or Ferndale.

Or, teachers will journey to meetings scheduled for Wayne and Ferndale if they are interested in family living or home economics. Those wishing to update their knowledge of audio-visual education will find their interests met in Livonia, as will teachers of foreign languages.

Meetings in language arts are slated for high schools in Warren, Royal Oak, Farmington, and Birmingham. Mathematics teachers will spend their time at specially-prepared meetings in Warren and music educators will go to Oak Park and Mount Clemens.

Instructors in physical education will journey to Port Huron for their two-day sessions, as will teachers of driver education. Utica will host sessions in pre-school and early elementary education. The science programs are centered at Romulus High School, and social studies at Troy High School, and special education at Lincoln Park. A center for professional activities will be located in Garden City.

Maczko hearing scheduled

A decision will be made soon as to whether there is enough evidence to bind the case of Paul M. Maczko over to Circuit Court for trial. The next preliminary court hearing will be on November 15. Justice of the Peace, Kenneth Hempstead of Waterford township is conducting the hearing. The last hearing was adjourned on Friday.

The accused are Maczko 57, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Florence Lewis, 29, both of 9052 Ortonville Road, Clarkston. The charges stem from investigation by Action Line of the Detroit Free Press and subsequent investigation by law officers. Cruelty charges to four of Mrs. Lewis five children are involved. At Friday's hearing Detective Max Little of the State Police, who heads the case testified that Mrs. Lewis had knowledge of the chaining of two of the children together.

Bonds to be sold and bids taken

Tentative plans by the Clarkston Board of Education call for taking bids on November 28 for the 2 1/2 million dollar bond issue. Also tentative, but planned is the taking of bids for the Junior High building on December 11.

Approval for the sale of these bonds was given just 2 weeks ago following a 9 month delay by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission. Voters in June, 1966 approved the proposed plans.

This new Junior High School will be constructed at the North Saahabaw Elementary school site located at Saahabaw and Maybee Roads.

It is estimated that the delay in approving the sale of these bonds has already cost the district approximately $300,000 in construction costs.

If the bids are taken for the building on December 11, construction would be started next spring—nearly a year later than planned. The architectural firm which designed the building is Richard Prince Associates of Kalamazoo.

When completed, there will be no more 9th grade students housed in the Senior High School. The new building will accommodate 1000 students and will have 117,820 feet of floor space.

Jim's Jottings

There are times when I'd like to stick my head in the sand, or close my mind to things about me. Blustery are whistled, troubles pile up, there's not enough time, and nerves get short.

The last three I can stand, but shattered illusions hurt differently. The most recent was the threatened nurses' strike in Detroit. I just can't picture the angels of mercy walking a picket line.

Striking teachers is another incident that was hard to adjust to. The understanding trainers of your children carrying signs instead of books.

I suppose we have to get used to those things. That's the kind of world we're living in.

If the equivalent of the modern-day draft board had been screening men for military talent, some of the world's most famous figures would have been turned down.

U.S. Grant was an alcoholic.

Memark was overweight.

The Duke of Wellington was underweight.

Nelson had only one eye.

Kaiser Wilhelm had a withered arm.

Napoleon had ulcers of the stomach.

Martin Luther was an epileptic.

Which proves there must be merit in the old saying, "You can't judge a book by its cover."

By the time you read this, I'll have returned from Bear Town, U.S.A. and, hopefully, a Milwaukee Gemmologist.

I'm told that's a "big party" and I'm going to love it.

My intention for going is to look at machinery, but I've always wanted to see what kind of a party the beer companies would throw for newspaper people.

Salvation Army Missionary will speak here Sunday

At 2:00 P.M. Sunday afternoon, November 5, Captain and Mrs. William Collins of the Salvation Army will give a talk on their experiences as missionaries. The public is invited to attend and hear this interesting couple.

Captain Collins, who can remember wanting to be a missionary since he was a very small boy, has just returned from three years' in Africa, where he had charge of a mission school. He and his wife Evangelina taught in the territory that was once the Belgian Congo. This was in a little village called Kasungu, just outside Leopoldville, which, by the way, has been renamed Kananga. The Collinses had the spiritual and educational concern of 600 young men and boys—200 of whom lived at the school in dormitories. After the missionaries were driven out, this school was taken over by the present government.

Captain and Mrs. Collins have one month of a three month furlough left. In these past two months they have spoken at meetings every weekend. This Sunday, in addition to speaking at the two o'clock meeting in Clarkston, they are speaking at the morning and evening services at The Citadel in Pontiac. Captain Collins will show pictures of their life in Africa.

At the end of their furlough, Captain and Mrs. Collins will be given two weeks notice for their new assignment. They have two daughters, Melanie born just before they left for Africa and Angela, born since their return to the States.

The Salvation Army is negotiating for the purchase of the Old Methodist Church, which stands at the corner of Buffalo and Church Streets, and are now holding their services there. Following the Sunday afternoon meeting, a coffee hour will be held.

ATTENTION—JAYCEES

Jaycee members are urged to make plans for their Annual Ladies Night. This year it will be held on Friday, November 10. Those same members are also urged to meet at the Township Hall parking lot at 6 P.M. An outstanding evening has been planned. There will be music by the group known as "The Starlighters."

Members are urged to contact Art Ripley at 625-2215 for reservations.

Campaign near half-way mark

The Monday luncheon of the Pontiac Area United Fund showed that 46.6% of this year's campaign goal of $1,130,000 had been reached. A total of $520,567.28 had been turned in. Frederick J. Poole, general campaign chairman announced the results of the 5 major campaign divisions.

The residential division, headed by Mrs. Robert C. Irwin reported $5,780.88 or 14.9% of their $38,541.71 goal. This residential report includes the following areas: Waterford, under the leadership of Mrs. Cecil Stricklin; Lake Angelus, Pontiac, Lake Orion, Oxford, and Independence under the leadership of Mrs. Carl Birkelo. The Clarkston residential goal is $6,300.

The Pontiac Area United Fund drive runs until November 10th.

Local group hopes to bring cheer to convalescent patients

An enthusiastic group of local women are banding together to form an organization which can work with the convalescent people at the Pine Knob Nursing Home. Seeing the need there for volunteers to come in and aid these people with crafts and to just help them while away the lonesome hours is what started the movement.

The lady behind this project is Mrs. James Seifert who visits patients in the home often. She is having a meeting at her home at 7954 Perry Lake Road this Thursday night at 7:30. She hopes that interested people will come and listen to the plans that the group already has. So far there are 10 volunteers. They have been given assistance in their planning by ladies of the auxiliary of Pontiac General Hospital. Some of the members of the Clarkston Jaycees have volunteered their services.

"These people at the home are so forgotten when it comes to pleasures," Mrs. Seifert says. "Our group wants to go once a week to read to them or to work on crafts and help work with these people. We would like people who feel they could donate 1 hour every week or every other week or even once a month. This really isn't too much time to know that you are doing good," she went on to say.

"We could use old magazines, books, scraps of material, yarn, old nylons, ribbon, felt, cotton, old beads and stones and anything useable for crafts."

If you have any of these materials or time please call Mrs. Seifert at 625-4574 or plan to attend the organizational meeting Thursday evening.

It is hoped that arrangements can also be worked out for Church groups or Scout groups to visit the home especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas time.

According to Mrs. Winfield who manages the home, there are approximately 30 patients who could actively participate in a crafts program.

School crossing conditions being studied by local group

A committee has been formed and is actively working to correct traffic conditions at the school crossing on Waldon Road. This is a direct result of the accident in which Marilyn Bondi was injured on Monday, October 16. Marilyn received a broken leg when she walked into a car being driven by Lillian Mager of 9590 Woodside, Clarkston.

Marilyn, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bondi of 8156 Cramlane Drive returned from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital over a week ago. With the aid of crutches and a wheelchair, she is working with a home bound teacher in an effort to keep up with her school work. She expects to use the crutches and the chair for at least 3 months.

A meeting was held on October 24 with the following persons in attendance: Deane Hurfall, Floyd Vincent, George Barrie, Milford Mason, Mr. Waara, Mrs. Leslie Burton, Mrs. Robert Tilley, Homer Bondi, and Richard Chartier.

The meeting had been called by Mr. Barrie at the request of Dr. Greene. Discussed were ways and means that could be used to improve the crossing conditions on Waldon Road for Junior and Senior High Students.

Prior to any plans, approval must be granted from the Oakland County Road Commission, before lights, crossing guards, or variations in the speed limits may be instituted. Richard Chartier of the Michigan State Police, Pontiac Post has put in a request to his department to have a traffic survey taken there. This survey will be made available to the Road Commission.

In other action at the meeting plans were discussed to set up an educational program for the students regarding safety as pertaining to traffic conditions.

Floyd Vincent was to study a plan whereby the letting out of students would be done on a more staggered schedule thus eliminating the 6 minute schedule now being used which obviously is not sufficient.

There was also discussion relative to contacting a Crossing Guards Association in Detroit. Such a program has been in existence there for 20 years, but there are many complications relative to such a program. Qualified personnel must be available and these same people must be deputized etc.

Another meeting is scheduled for the near future at which time reports will be made on the progress of the various investigations into the crossing problem.

Making the most of the season's first snowfall last Friday were the six O'Rourke children. The children, who live on Show Apple, matched their partners on Saturday shortly before they went the way of all snowpeople. Pictured are Patty, Linda, Nancy, Kathy, Jeanne and Crissie.

Planet Kids bring "Kindertales" to life

McKenna Seibert's Little Red Riding Hood gets a surprise from wolf Matthew Arenz during their skit. The children performed five different fairy tales on April 29.

Kyle Seibert threatens to blow down the brick house as the three little pigs hide behind it. The students sang nursery rhymes along with the plays.

Classmates at Planet Kids Children Center watch intently as "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" is performed. In addition to that story, "Red Riding Hood", "The Three Billy Goats Gruff", "The Three Little Pigs" and "The Gingerbread Man" were presented.

Julia Judge, Tessa Evan and Jordyn Tucker get a surprise visit from the "Big Bad Wolf", Kyle Seibert. Each "little pig" had their own house in the play, just like the fairy tale.

Jaycees find new life in Clarkston

BY DON SCHELSKE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Cheryl Pellici moved to the Clarkston area four and a half years ago because she thought it was a great community. Eventually she wanted to add to the efforts of those who make it great.

Pellici launched efforts to bring back the Clarkston Jaycees, an international organization devoted to "leadership training through community service."

When she first came to town, she was busy with a school-age son, work and some home renovation.

"I didn't have the time," she said, but eventually found time after hearing a co-worker talk of his work with the Sterling Heights Jaycees.

"He used to come in and tell me what they've done with all their community projects. I thought that was great."

After visiting one of their events and hearing their "heart-touching stories," she learned of Jaycees chapters in Rochester and Waterford, but none in Clarkston.

"If I was going to get back involved with the community, I wanted it to be my own," she said, so she got in touch with the state Jaycees and received the encouragement to become the organizer.

The group's name came from the initials J.C., an abbreviation for "junior chamber," and Pellici found great allies in the Clarkston Chamber of Commerce.

"By far the best thing I did was join the chamber," she said. A booth at last fall's Chamber Expo led to good exposure for the fledgling group, and by December there were 20 members and a new official Clarkston chapter.

The "junior" comes from the group's strict age requirements. Members must be between 21 and 39 years old, with a good focus on personal leadership training.

"The Jaycees focus on developing the individual, while the chamber focuses on developing the business," she said. "Hopefully the leaders of today are the business leaders of tomorrow."

As current president of the Clarkston Jaycees, Pellici has the ball rolling with community service activities. They did a food drive at Kroger in April, collecting more than $2,000 in goods to benefit Lighthouse Emergency Services.

"We're looking for things to do that will enhance the community," she said. "We want to let Clarkston know we're here."

Clarkston will definitely know the Jaycees are in town come July 4, as the group has taken on the responsibility of coordinating the community's Independence Day parade.

The Independence Township Fire Department has handled that burden for years, and was seeking someone to take it over.

See Jaycees on page 12B

"I've come a long way in my personal and professional development. I'm living what the Jaycees are promoting."

Road Rally raises funds, awareness for land conservancy

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy is working hard to make this year's Poker Run Road Rally even more of a success than last year's inaugural event.

"It's a fund-raiser, but it's more like fun rising," Karen Krigbaum, administrative coordinator, said.

This year's event is scheduled for Sunday, May 16. Registration begins at 12:30 p.m. at Mesquite Creek in Clarkston. Last year's turnout of 35 ralliers is expected to increase to more than 50.

During the afternoon of rally fun, participants will be able to visit six of the 47 properties maintained by NOHLC in northwest Oakland County.

At each site, participants will randomly be given a poker card and directions to the next site. At the end of the race, whoever has the highest hand wins a $300 grand prize.

"It's a fun afternoon," Krigbaum said.

The evening concludes with a dinner celebration at the Holly Hotel in Holly. The entire race should take about three hours, according to Krigbaum.

Not only do rally participants have a firsthand chance to learn more about the natural settings around them, but the opportunity to find out just how much NOHLC can do for the community.

"A lot of people are surprised at properties that are preserved and are part of our community," Krigbaum said. "Hopefully, people can get to know some of our members and the wide range of backgrounds."

Money raised from the rally will benefit the purchase of new properties for NOHLC and public relations campaigns.

"The people are so much fun," Krigbaum said.

"They really take an interest in our area."

To learn more about the rally, call NOHLC at (248) 846-6547 or visit www.nohlc.org.

Milestones

Chaesa Lynn Moehlig and Paul Brian MacWilliams.

Chaesa Lynn Moehlig and Paul Brian MacWilliams are pleased to announce their upcoming wedding.

The bride-to-be is a teacher assistant and waitress in the Traverse City/Leland area. She has a bachelor's degree in business education from Central Michigan University. Her parents are Anthony and Julianna Moehlig of Clarkston and Wayne and Sharon Livingston of Suttons Bay.

The groom-to-be is a barber at The Hair Shack and graduated from Lansing Barber College. His parents are Dave and Ruth MacWilliams of Mt. Pleasant.

A June 2004 wedding is planned in Northport.

At school...

Tara Nico was recognized for her academic excellence with a William C. Henning Scholarship in Speech Communication at Albion College's annual honors convocation held in early May.

Nico is a senior majoring in speech communication and is a member of the Gerald R. Ford Institute for Public Policy and Service. She is the daughter of Pete Nico and Christie Nico of Clarkston and is a graduate of Clarkston High School.

The award winners recognized at the college's honors convocation are chosen by the faculty and represent the college's best students.

The following University of Michigan students, and Clarkston residents, were recognized for university honors this spring: Matthew Baker, Geoffrey Denstaedt, Allison Spinweber, Adam Wadecki, Thomas Wisniewski, Emily Audette, Emily Fassanella, Daniel Jorgenson, Cosmin Maier, Jonathan Moniaci, Claire Ochoa, Kathryn Parks, Justincci Ricci, Keli Rulf, Nathaniel Topping, Erin Torrone, Andrew Vandekerckhove, Deborah Vanderkolk, Brian Vargo, Justin Walsh, Lindsey Witt and Karen Zynda.

In addition to the university honor, Rulf, Torrone and Vandekerckhove were also recognized as James B. Angell scholars.

To receive university honors, students had to maintain a 3.5 GPA. To be recognized as Angell scholars, students had to maintain an all-A record for two or more consecutive terms as undergraduates.

Achievements...

Marissa Combs

Marissa Combs, a member of Purdue University's All American marching band, has had several travel opportunities with the band this year.

As a participant in Purdue's Goldensilks Colorguard, Combs has performed at the 2004 New Year's Day Capital One Bowl in Orlando, Fla. and most recently performed at Conseco Fieldhouse in Indianapolis, Ind. at an Indiana Pacers game. Later this May, Combs will be performing in the opening ceremony at the Indianapolis 500.

Combs is a 2003 graduate of Clarkston High School and the daughter of John and Marsha Combs of Clarkston.

Teens! Enjoy free time...responsibly

Spring is a season that holds more promise than most any other time of year. Buds on the trees promise fresh green leaves. A blue sky and white clouds promise a warm breeze. The calendar promises that soon, students will be free from the responsibility of school. For 10 glorious weeks there will be no more term papers, no more test preparation, no more regimented schedule of getting up early to start a long day filled with obligations and responsibility.

Adults and teens alike enjoy the occasional reprieve from responsibility. There's nothing like a stolen afternoon in the middle of a work week to give us all a fresh outlook on our priorities. Sometimes family and friends should come first. Sometimes, making memories is the most important thing we can be doing at a given moment in time. Yes, sometimes it's OK to hide from our responsibilities and enjoy a little time off.

What gets us into trouble is when we lose sight of our responsibilities altogether. If you're still in school, you're supposed to use the summer to relax and recharge. Sure, you may have a job, but you've probably still got a lot of free time on your hands, and a lot of choices to make about how you'll be spending that time. Summer vacation offers the opportunity to relax from your responsibilities, but it shouldn't mean that you should relax about all the choices you'll be faced with making.

Mom and dad may be rewarding your hard work with the freedom of a later curfew. Or maybe they are going away for a few days and leaving you home alone. These are important and necessary stages to becoming more of a successful, independent individual. It's up to you to be responsible with the extra freedom you've been given.

Yes, you can enjoy yourself with your friends without abandoning your responsibility to not drink, not use drugs or not engage in risky behavior. Free time does not equal free-for-all. Being out late and hanging out with your friends does not automatically lead to trouble. What will get you into trouble with your parents, with the law, or will forever change the direction of your life is when you spend the extra time making irresponsible choices.

Your life is barely beginning. Like spring, there is so much potential opening up right before you...and like many of us, you want nothing more than to push aside your responsibilities and experience every possibility you see before you. But that isn't a choice that will work for you long term. If the buds are removed from the tree too soon, they will never become green leaves. If you try to accelerate life's experiences before you are really ready to deal with them, you may forever alter the plan that you have begun for your life. The risks of ignoring the right choice far outweigh the rewards of experiencing the wrong one.

Your free time will be here very soon. By all means, enjoy it because I'm sure you've worked hard and earned it. But please don't forget your responsibilities. I want to make sure that every one of our teens is back again next fall; relaxed, recharged, with some great memories of time spent with family and friends and a little farther along on the path to becoming a successful, independent individual.

Local senior center volunteers honored at 'thank you' luncheon

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Campbell-Richmond American Legion Post #63 in Clarkston was packed on April 28 as more than 80 volunteers at the Independence Township Senior Center were honored for hard work and dedication they provide throughout the year.

The annual event provides entertainment and lunch to the volunteers as a way to say "thank you". This year's festivities featured the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers, the Clarkston Melody Makers and lunch by Shannon's Cooking.

"You are really the essence of our center," Margaret Bartos, senior center coordinator, said during opening remarks at the lunch.

Independence Township supervisor Dale Stuart started the lunch with an invocation. Stuart was just one of a handful of local politicians who attended the lunch to help thank the volunteers.

Ressie Woods, a regular at the center, was just one of the dedicated volunteers who received recognition at the event.

Helping out since 1999, Woods does it all.

"I always try to help. Anything they need, I help with," Woods said.

Woods helps with center parties, serving food at meal times, assisting with the regular spaghetti dinners and working with Meals on Wheels.

"I don't know what I'd do without her," Kathy Katchka, center party and trip coordinator, said.

Enjoying the afternoon right next to Woods was Catherine Reeve, another facet to the center.

"I do anything and everything," Reeve said.

"Catherine is very extraordinary. She keeps us out of trouble," Katchka said.

The center newsletter gets a helping hand from Ruth Thompson and George Thompson. Ruth helps put it together and George steps up as a collator.

"Somebody has to do it," George said.

In addition to the lunch and a chance to enjoy one another's company, center volunteers were awarded a certificate of appreciation and a small candle in the shape of a flower pot.

"Without the seniors' help, there would be no Meals on Wheels, no spaghetti dinner and no parties," Katchka said. "It's all done strictly by the seniors. They're a big group. If they didn't come in and help, we'd be lost."

Oakhurst celebrates grand opening with families, activities

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Oakhurst Golf and Country Club was alive with celebrations during Mother's Day weekend as the club opened its new clubhouse to members and the public.

Under construction for the past 18 months, the new clubhouse features 42,000 square feet of the latest amenities for its members to enjoy.

"You don't have to live here to belong here," Glenn Pulice, director of membership sales at Oakhurst, said.

The celebration began on May 7 with a black tie event for members. May 8 was devoted to families, both members and those interested in joining and May 9, Mother's Day, played host to a special brunch to honor the day.

"We've got the whole family gamut, from birth to graduation," Pulice said.

The family day allowed members to bring children of all ages. Young ones filled the revamped clubhouse to play mini golf, make crafts, enjoy Harry Potter-inspired cuisine and even receive an airbrushed tattoo.

"I've just been overwhelmed with how nice everything is and how family oriented it is," Kim Clark said. Clark and her family recently joined the club.

The new clubhouse has three levels of various amenities to offer its members.

Spacious locker rooms, a full-service pro shop and a new turn grill make up the bottom level.

On the main level of the clubhouse, a state-of-the-art kitchen offers the finest cuisine to members. The new dining areas can now accommodate up to 250 people for various functions, whether it be a banquet or meeting. A bar adjacent to the dining areas allows the members a casual area to grab a drink between events.

Completing the top level of the clubhouse are conference rooms and administrative space.

One look from the back of the clubhouse and it is easy to witness the massive changes that have occurred.

All along the back of the clubhouse are extensive porches, allowing for a place to meet friends or watch members hit the links on the club's well-known course.

"You won't get tired of playing the course," Pulice said. "It's one of the reasons why our members joined. It's just spectacular."

Started in 1998, Oakhurst is now in the final phase of its development for the property. A new workout facility is underway to complete the transformation to the clubhouse. To learn more about the club, call (248) 391-3300 or visit www.oakhurstgolf.com

Pellici said she heard about that possibility at last year's Business Expo.

"What a great challenge for us as a new chapter. I love a good challenge," she said. "They've created an awesome event. We'll just build on what they've built. They've done a very good job, and we'll just continue that."

The current 27 members represent a wide range of career fields, including business owners, consultants, law and law enforcement, financial professions and more.

"You name it, we have it. It brings a wide range of opinions, thoughts and results," she said. "We're learning from each other, and that's important, too."

While Pellici may be considered the founder of the group, she emphasizes the team effort as crucial to their success.

"I've got a great group of people who have really come forward. We wouldn't be running these projects or coming up with these ideas without the members."

While there is some fear the group could grow too quickly, more members are welcome. Call Pellici at (248) 623-2419 or contact her via e-mail at clarkstonjc@yahoo.com for more information.

"No special skills are required, just a willingness to donate some time," Pellici said.

'We're looking for things to do that will enhance the community.'

Cheryl Pellici

hoping for a group of about 40 by year's end. "I want to focus on slow and steady."

Because of the group's age limit, there is a need for constant recruiting. While Pellici isn't close to "retirement" age, she is already looking for a new president next year. There are some still-open board positions as well.

"I hope the Clarkston Jaycees stick around after I'm aged out," she said. "I've learned so much. I've come a long way in my personal and professional development. I'm living what the Jaycees are promoting."

Her professional life is full, as well, working as a tooling engineer for Ann Arbor-based Ewie Company, a firm supplying cutting tools and abrasives for the automotive industry (she is based at the Ford engine plant in Romeo).

In addition, her home improvement work continues. She's done a good deal of painting (and some "repainting") and is proud that she is almost finished with a full renovation of her kitchen.

Most of it was by herself, but she had some help with some tasks.

"I figured, 'How hard could it be to tear a kitchen down and put it back together?' Tearing it down was not that hard. Putting it back up, now I know why there are plumbers."

Pellici also enjoys golf, and is in her third season in a league.

"I'm improving," she said.

"It's relaxing and unwinding. After a hard day at work, it's nice to get out on the golf course."

She enjoys occasional trips to northern Michigan, and looks forward to quarterly Jaycees state conferences. Those trips have both recreational and training benefits.

The Clarkston Jaycees meet at 7:30 p.m. the third Thursday of each month, currently meeting at North Sashabaw Elementary School but seeking a permanent meeting place.

Membership dues are currently at $40 for the first year, but after May 26 it will increase to $60, so Pellici believes this is a good time for potential members to visit a meeting.

"It's a small contribution for a great reward."

Cheryl Pellici works on Clarkston Jaycees business from the kitchen of her Independence Township home. She remodeled the kitchen almost entirely by herself, and is busy with other home improvement projects in addition to her full-time job and her volunteer work with the Jaycees. Photo by Don Schelske

PB&J helps Clarkston Lighthouse

Independence Elementary School students Mackenzie McClelland, Jessica McArthur, Gina Bollini, Quinn Dabrowski, Emily Ridge, Christopher Goivas, Clarkston Lighthouse volunteer Don Gurk and IES fifth grade teacher Kerri Gualtieri proudly display just some of the peanut butter and jelly collected for the Clarkston Lighthouse. Gualtieri's students collected more than 400 jars to donate to the shelter after hearing that supplies of the staple foods were very low. Some of Gualtieri's students even went above and beyond by earning extra money at home to purchase additional jars of the lunchtime favorites. Photo by Alicia Dorset.

Tyler Miles, 4 year old son of Angela & Ron Miles of Clarkston spearheaded a peanut butter & jelly drive for Lighthouse Emergency Services - Clarkston. The non-profit agency received over 70 jars of peanut butter & jelly to distribute to families with school age children. Photo provided.

First flea market off to a good start for library friends

The Friends of the Independence Township Library will host their first-ever rummage sale to benefit the library on Sunday, June 6.

Only six of the $10 spots remain from the original 48 available. The sale will take place in the library's parking lot.

"It sounds like it will be fun," Mary Jean Baker, president of the Friends, said. "It seems to be going really well."

The sale, which can be compared to more of a flea market, will also feature baked goods and used books from the Friends. Baker expects a lot of toys, flea market finds and even used automobiles to be featured at the sale.

Time is running out to reserve a remaining spot. Call the library if you are interested in being part of the sale.

Supporting the local library

Joyce Fisk takes a look at the wide selection of books available at the book and bake sale sponsored by the Springfield Township library on May 6. Not only did Fisk do some browsing, but she brought in some books to help out as well. The event was a fund-raiser to help pay for two new children's computers in the library. ## WALLY'S $5,000 PLEDGE

WALLY EDGAR WILL BEAT YOUR BEST NEW CAR OR TRUCK DEAL - OR WE'LL GIVE YOU THE $5,000 CASH.

Only at Wally Edgar do you have a genuine written guarantee of the lowest price on your new car or truck. In fact, Wally Edgar guarantees to beat your best deal or we'll give you the $5,000 CASH! For over 15 years, our customers have found that other "low price" promises are just talk. Disclaimer? Here it is, in a type size you can easily read: just bring in any written, authorized new car or truck deal. Wally Edgar will beat your net, out-the-door price, or we'll give you $5,000 CASH. Just to keep everyone honest, Wally Edgar must be able to buy your car at its quoted terms and conditions. (Excludes Corvettes)
