Adult ed. faces challenges with large cuts

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Educators with Clarkston's adult education program should be excited. Last year the completion rate for the program was 74.74 percent, the highest it's been in the past five years. But teachers aren't excited- they're worried.

The adult ed program is one of many areas severely hurt by recent cuts in funding to educational programs in Michigan.

This year's funding was cut by 75 percent from last year. With a budget of $42,000 for the entire school year, program coordinators are taking the good news with a grain of salt. Last year's program, which had to be reduced in size, had 77 participants. The year before had 193.

"This is really hard to see," Marilyn Allyn, director of Clarkston adult and community education, said. "This is a program that has graduated so many people. This is a really scary time for adult ed in the state of Michigan."

Adult ed currently offers classes to adults over the age of 20 on a variety of topics, ranging from vocational skills, English classes and courses needed to receive a graduate equivalency degree. Classes are held three times during the week at various buildings throughout the school district.

Due to the cuts in funding, program officials have been forced to consolidate classes into bigger groups and reduce the amount of choices a student has with the curriculum. And for the first time instructors are turning students away to keep classes as small as possible. This year's budget has already been accounted for both semesters.

"What we're finding is that we have more people than we can serve," Allyn said.

So far the program's "English as a second language" courses are full and operating above the number of students the district has funding for.

"It's amazing, but there's more that need it and we can't help them," Allyn said.

Currently 52 people are enrolled in ESL courses. The group meets at the South Sashabaw Early Childhood center.

The budget constraints have not only cut the number of students in the program but what kind of students are in the classroom. Last year program officials decided to accept only students who could finish a track quickly.

"The people we have now are hard workers," Allyn said.

It is still too early to determine if the increased completion rate is a result of the smaller classes and student selection, according to Allyn.

Crowds pack Main Street for Taste of Clarkston

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce promised a bigger and better "Taste of Clarkston" this year and they delivered.

Approximately 10,000 people attended the seventh annual event on Sunday, Sept. 26. For the first time "Taste" was held on Sunday afternoon instead of Saturday night.

"We are very pleased with how the event went," Chamber Director Penny Shanks said. "We received many compliments. A resident told me it had been a long time since Clarkston had a block party. They wanted us to have another one next weekend."

The other notable change this year was the closing down of Main Street to host the event. In years past, the event had taken place on the corner of Main Street and Washington Street. However, "Taste" had outgrown that area and the Chamber thought closing down Main Street would create a great atmosphere.

The Chamber received help from the Clarkston City Council and City Clerk Art Pappas in receiving permission from the Michigan Department of Transportation to close Main Street.

"With the change to Sunday we had many more restaurants and residents coming out. We really wanted to make it a family event," Shanks said. "It did not surprise me that so many people came out. What did surprise me was that those people stayed so long. I thought it would be more come and go but we did have a lot of stuff to do."

A total of 30 restaurants participated this year which was more than double what participated last year. Some establishments had sample size food available while others featured full meals.

"Everything I have tasted has been so good. It is a real diverse menu," Independence Township resident Steve Noble said. "This is such a great event. This is the first time I have brought the family to this."

In addition to the food, the crowd was entertained by a ventriloquist, a magician and a puppeteer at the children's stage, while local bands took turns performing from various music styles.

"Everybody seemed to like the local talent which came out of our Concerts in the Park series," Shanks said.

Shanks said the Chamber is already looking forward to next year. She said numerous restaurants attended to see what the event was all about and have already committed to next year.

NOHLC set to host nature walk

"Fall is a time to get ready" is the title of a special nature walk conducted at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 9 by the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy at the Kimball Nature Preserve in Clarkston.

What is going on in nature this fall season in preparation for the winter ahead? Join Naturalist Ann McInnis on a colorful walk in a quality lowland hardwood forest. Discover clues that tell the stories of nature's fall activities.

For more information and to register, call NOHLC at (248) 846-6547.

Township designates Halloween hours

The Independence Township Board of Trustees designated the local trick-or-treating hours for Halloween at their Sept. 21 meeting.

Trick-or-treating will be designated from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 31.

Lions Club to have informational meeting

The Clarkston Area Lions Club is having an informational meeting Sept. 30. The meeting is to organize the service club.

The meeting is at 6:30 p.m. at Independence Elementary. For more information you can call Lion Jim Henkel (517) 764-6230 or Lion Lee Palshan (248) 627-4363.

T&C Federal to open new branch

T&C Federal Credit Union will soon be moving its Clarkston branch to a new location in the area. Construction of a new building began on May 3 and is expected to be completed Feb. 28, 2005.

"We listened to our members and to our staff and we are opening a state of the art branch that will include drive ups, 24-hour full-service ATM and night depository," said Chris DeWitt, VP of Branch Operations. "This will enhance our service deliveries to our members and will allow us to continue to provide excellent member service."

The new branch will be located at 7357 Deer Lake Road.

Local attends national women Marines convention

BY ALICIA DORSET

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Homecomings can be a memorable event. Especially if they're 60 years in the making.

Phyllis Bradford recently attended the biennial convention of the Women Marines Association Sept. 4-9 in San Diego, Calif. and was able to tour the base she was stationed at during World War II.

"I had a really good time. I hadn't been there in 60 years," Bradford, a Davisburg resident, said. Bradford served as a female Marine from 1943 to 1945 as a payroll clerk in San Diego during the height of the war. She has been a member of the organization for the past 30 years and has attended three conventions during that time.

During the recent convention, Bradford had the chance to tour the base she was formerly stationed at as well as meeting with other female Marines from across the country. Lectures and appearances from military officials were also part of the experience, although Bradford spent most of her time meeting others and sharing stories.

"I was too excited to listen to anything," Bradford said.

A thrill for Bradford on the trip came when she was allowed to observe current Marine recruits training on the bases. This wasn't allowed when Bradford served.

"It was kind of thrilling," Bradford said. While Bradford didn't see any of the women she served with in her own unit, she did meet current soldiers whom she "adopted" and share experiences with.

"I met some really precious active-duty Marines," Bradford said.

Back at home, Bradford is an active member of the community. She can often be found at the Hart Community Center in Davisburg for a meeting of the "Young at Heart Seniors" group or practicing her bowling.

Bradford hopes to spread the word about the organization for women Marines, especially those that might have served during World War II, a generation that is decreasing in the population. There are two chapters of the group in Michigan.

"I think they would join if they knew," Bradford said. "It's for all women Marines past and present." Bradford is already trading pictures with the people she met on the trip and looking forward to the next meeting.

Phyllis Bradford stands outside the base she was stationed at during World War II. Bradford recently toured the area for the first time in 60 years during a recent convention.

"It meant a lot to me to go back to where I was 60 years ago," Bradford said. "I felt like I was at home and had never left. They say, 'Once a Marine, always a Marine,' and that's true."

Walkowski attains Scouting's top honor

Kyle Walkowski, 17, a member of Boy Scout Troop 189 of Clarkston, is the latest to join the elite group achieving the rank of Eagle Scout.

The award, earned by only about 4 percent of all Scouts, was conferred to Walkowski June 13 at a Court of Honor at Calvary Lutheran Evangelical Church in Clarkston.

"It took a long time to get it," he said. "It will be nice to have for my resume."

To be eligible to earn the Eagle rank, the scout must complete a minimum of 21 merit badges, serve in positions of leadership within the troop, participate in numerous community service projects, earn seven lesser ranks and plan and execute an Eagle service project.

Walkowski earned a total of 24 merit badges. His favorite was Sailing, but he found Communications to be a particular challenge.

"It took me awhile to do all the stuff that was required," he said.

Upon completion of the requirements, the Eagle candidate submits an application through the local Boy Scout Council to the Boy Scout national office. The scout also participates in an interview with Council representatives.

Walkowski's Eagle project was to design and coordinate the building of two lifeguard towers for the Independence Oaks County Park. He and a group of about 25 scouts worked a total of more than 100 hours on the project.

"It's worth it," he said of his Eagle rank. "It's nice to walk into meetings wearing the badge."

As a member of Troop 189, he has served as senior patrol leader, assistant senior patrol leader, patrol leader, scribe, troop guide and quartermaster.

He has enjoyed many High Adventure trips during his Scouting career, including backpacking at the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, kayaking in the Algonquin Provincial Park, sailing on Lake Huron, canoeing at the Boundary Waters Canoe Area and backpacking on the Appalachian Trail.

A senior at Clarkston High School and the Oakland Schools Northwest Campus, Walkowski is an inaugural member of the CHS bowling team. He is also a member of the Clarkston United Methodist Church's youth group and he has participated in many community service projects.

A major project he participated in was the week-long Righteous Missions projects for those in need. These mission projects have served residents in the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation in Nevada and in Oakland County.

He is currently employed by the Clarkston Auto Wash, and plans to attend college in the fall of 2005.

He is the son of Mike and Nancy Walkowski of Clarkston and has an older brother Jay, also an Eagle Scout, who is a sophomore at Western Michigan University.

Fence builder says he's victim

BY DON SCHELKSKE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As with every fence, there are two sides to every story. Charles L. Smith now admits to some anger-motivated actions, but defends the fence as being for his own protection.

Smith is the Norman Road neighbor accused by Kathy Paul of building an unsightly and allegedly dangerous fence next to her property. Paul has launched a campaign to revise township ordinances to prevent such structures in the future, and she wants the current fence to be removed.

Unavailable for comment when The Clarkston News ran Paul's story, Smith now admits to some anger-motivated actions, but defends the fence as being for his own protection.

"I put this up because I had constant harassment from her," Smith said. "It's a privacy fence."

Paul had claimed Smith made no efforts to resolve issues before he started his property work.

"Had this been addressed properly from the start, it wouldn't have escalated to this point," she said earlier.

Smith, however, said he tried to be a good neighbor when he bought the neighboring property in 2001. He is in the process of adding an addition to the existing home and, because he desires access to Susan Lake, wanted to make it possible to drive a boat to the lakeshore on his property.

The problem, according to Smith, is Paul's encroachment onto the property he purchased. A boundary survey, recommended by his mortgage company, says Paul's porch overlaps onto his property and violates the existing township setback ordinance. Further, bushes toward the front of the property extended between eight and 10 feet onto his property.

Smith's action in cutting down the bushes was mild compared to what he could have done, he said.

"As a neighbor, I didn't want to hire an attorney and have the porch removed. I don't have to get the law changed. This is already an enforceable restriction," Smith said. Nonetheless, "I wasn't looking to have her remove her porch. I was just trying to utilize my piece of property."

Smith claims an attempt by Paul's insurance company to collect more than $4,000 for reimbursement for the bushes. He said the agent quickly dropped that claim after sharing the boundary survey.

Paul's fence was erected after Smith cut down the bushes. Since the porch already violates what his boundary survey shows, Smith believes the fence was a deliberate act of rebellion, as was Paul's placement of lawn furniture several feet into his property.

"She installed the fence on my property," he said.

The continuing friction led Smith to erect his own fence, but the second story of the fence did not come until after Paul's videotaping from her second story of her house (which she admits).

"He's upset with me because he thinks I watch everything he does," Paul said previously. "Well, after you cut down bushes I do tend to watch what's going on with my property."

The extension of the fence toward the lakeshore (which Paul says ruins her "panoramic" view of the lake) came only after Paul threw yard debris on his property, Smith said.

Smith denies the "danger" of the second story fence, noting 6-inch by 6-inch support beams. Township officials have already indicated there is no ordinance violation, but Smith has all the building permits and letters from township officials in his files.

"This isn't a Kathy Paul issue; it's a Susan Lake issue," Paul said in the earlier story, claiming lower property values would be the result of Smith's work.

Smith, however, said his property has increased in value by $100,000 with the improvements he has made.

A construction worker himself, Smith said he has to do a lot of his home construction during evenings and weekends. Paul took some of those actions as being unneighborly, but Smith said it has been a necessity.

He admits to putting the "bad side" of the fence toward Paul's property, but he said he made the offer to do a "shadowbox" effect if she would pay for part of it. She declined, he said.

"After three years of repeated harassment, I was angry," he said. "I can't deny my anger. Why should I eat the bad side?"

Smith estimated a cost of about $8,000 for a fence he did not want to build. He said he told Paul he would be willing to take it down if a subsequent buyer of Paul's property is willing to pay for the demolition.

Both Paul and Smith claim a desire to resolve the issue, but Smith said he is not very hopeful.

"Anything I do or say is misrepresented. There's nothing I do that's right," he said.

Replacement surgery isn't just for the elderly any longer

Breakthroughs for Aching Knees & Hips

So you think you are too young to have aching knees or hips? Where once this kind of pain was generally reserved for seniors, today's younger adults are already complaining of bum knees and hips.

"Many men and women are experiencing problems with their joints earlier than the previous generation," says orthopedic surgeon Edward J. Lis, Jr., DO. "Like so many ailments, knee and hip pain can be traced to our modern lifestyle."

Despite recent reports that chide Americans for being couch potatoes, many young adults today grew up participating in competitive sports, while many others are still devoted to regular fitness programs. "These activities are good for you and you shouldn't stop doing them," continues Dr. Lis. "But where there is physical activity, there is also potential for injury. For instance, broken bones can result in the early onset of arthritis. And arthritis is one of the most common precursors to joint replacement surgery."

New products in the marketplace are making it advantageous for adults to embrace knee and hip replacements earlier in life. Ceramic balls and caps as well as the new metal-based solutions are built to last for decades, an important factor for those who plan to live with their replacements well into old age. "Our goal is to perform a knee or hip replacement once in a lifetime," says Dr. Lis.

"These newer materials are making that possible."

People shouldn't fear the surgery either, according to Dr. Lis. "At POH, orthopedic surgeons have become so successful in performing the new minimally invasive replacements that we now perform them using only two small incisions. The surgeries are so patient-friendly that even complicated procedures can be completed with a low threshold of pain. "You come in, get treated, then get on with your life. Most patients handle the procedure so well, they are released within 24-36 hours."

Those in their 30s are already seeking treatment, and the new knee and hip replacements are especially good news for today's baby-boomers — who have spent a lifetime defying aging. "I see baby-boomers in here all the time, amazed at how little it takes now to injure themselves. The fact is, we are all remaining active a lot longer. The real answer is in maintaining our quality of life."

While you may know POH Medical Center as one of the most respected emergency and trauma centers in North Oakland County, orthopedic surgery — including knee and hip replacement surgery — is one of its leading subspecialties. For more information about knee and hip replacements, contact Dr. Lis at 248.620.2326.

Resident captures horseshoe championship

Clarkston's Doug Bailey won the state horseshoe pitching Class A championship Labor Day in Portage.

He defeated each of the other top seven pitchers in the state, twice scoring a perfect 14-0. He had to outlast the winner of the past four years, Tom Williams of Albion.

The tournament, held annually since 1923 by the Wolverine State Horeshoe Pitchers Association, allows men, women and children the opportunity to compete in classes based upon their ability. Bailey first entered the state tournament in 1990 and has won in lower classes, but never the top one.

When asked how he felt about being declared the best horseshoe pitcher in the state, Bailey said, "It was hard to describe. A real dream come true. It was overwhelming... the support from so many people who were equally excited by my win."

Bailey's high game was 86.3 percent ringers and maintained an average for the tournament of 60.6 percent.

Bailey and his wife, Pat, have been married 38 years and have four sons.

He retired from General Motors, where he was able to convince the company to put in horseshoe courts outside the plant for employees to use on lunch breaks.

Police apprehend bank robbery suspect

The man wanted for a Sept. 14 robbery of the Sashabaw Road branch of Bank One was apprehended by Farmington Hills police Friday, Sept. 24 in connection with a robbery in that community.

Christopher Michael Halpern, 23, has been arraigned for the incident at a Comerica Bank in Farmington Hills, and is expected to face charges in the Independence Township case as well, according to Jerry DeRosia, a detective from the Independence Township substation of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Christopher Halpern

DeRosia said the suspect was wearing the same Detroit Tigers baseball cap he wore at the local Bank One incident, in which he demanded money with a note saying, "Don't jeopardize your fellow employees." The suspect fled via a waiting cab with about $300 cash, reports said.

Detective Lonnie Mullins recognized Halpern from a previous arrest, and word was passed throughout the area. The suspect is technically considered homeless, although investigators believe he frequents the Clarkston area.

Halpern was being lodged in the Oakland County Jail pending other charges, DeRosia said.

5K fun running and a big bowl of Cinnamon Life

As I signed up for the 17th annual "Fall Fun Run" last week as a fun story idea, my editor, Kyle, told me he'd run my column only if I won.

It's a good thing I came in first place for my age division...

I decided to run in the 5K race in a last-minute decision before preregistration ended Sept. 22. The event sounded like a lot of fun and gave me an excuse to wake up early on a Sunday morning.

The last time I raced was three years ago at Michigan State. I did relatively well, not great, but had lots of fun. Why not do it again?

But the day before the race, I started to get nervous. What if I walked half of the course? What if I got tired? What if I forgot to set my alarm, forget to show up and not have anything to write my column on?

The pressure was intense and it only got worse when I woke up on Sunday. It didn't help I had spent part of the evening before at a party and then watching new movies with my best friend. To clear my head and focus on the race I decided a bowl of cereal was in order. And of course, I walked downstairs to find I was out of rice milk for my wheatie puffs. I took this as a sign of things to come.

After a quick trip to Kroger, I was stocked with not only rice milk, but an ample box of Cinnamon Life. (Hey, sometimes you need a little more energy than wheatie puffs can provide for racing).

Per usual, I arrived to the race site just a few minutes before the event started. I had already forgotten my Walkman and wallet. I was positive I would be crawling the entire race. It's just the way the morning had been going.

However, once I arrived and realized I'd be running to my own singing, I looked around and saw people of all ages ready for a beautiful morning of running. All of a sudden I didn't feel so nervous and started thinking of songs to amuse myself with.

The course was a good mix of hills and flat terrain. I definitely got a workout and was pretty sure my time would reflect that. Then something strange happened: I started running somewhat well. For me, anyway.

"Good job runners, time is 7:33," the course timer said after the first mile.

What? My first mile time was just over seven minutes? Clearly this was wrong. I never time myself on the YMCA treadmill, but I'm positive it's nowhere near seven minutes.

With that inspiration the race was on.

Things were going well until I hit the hill on Church. Good grief! I honestly thought my life might end right there. It was a good thing I was close to work, maybe someone would notice I was absent on Monday morning and come looking for me.

After a quick rest I was at it again. I decided to focus on a useful racing technique a friend of mine once told me: Pick a person ahead of you and try to pass them. Once you've passed that person, pick a new one until you finish.

And that's what I did. All of a sudden I was

Letters to the Editor

Art in the Village was a great success

The 30th annual, newly named, Art in the Village, was a resounding success due to the thousands of patrons and beautiful Michigan fall weather. Thank you to all who supported the Clarkston Community Historical Society's (CCHS) main fundraiser. Over $20,000 was raised which will be used to fund the Clarkston Heritage Museum and other CCHS programs. The Clarkston Heritage Museum has been housed at the Independence Township Library since 1999. CCHS is proud of the museum's themed exhibits which highlight Clarkston history using Clarkston artifacts. Be sure to visit the current exhibit, Clarkston in Action: From Hometown to Homefront.

Many thanks are in order for what it takes to pull off this two-day event which requires planning beginning in January each year. The team that begins the process and sees it to the very end is the CCHS Board of Directors that includes: Laura Convintree, Debbie DeVault, Kim Huttenlocher, Frank Latimer, Ann Mizusawa, James Schultz, Jon and Toni Smith, Lydia Strnad and Amy Wilson. Thank you to the City of the Village of Clarkston, DPW worker Adam Frank and his crew, the city police and Independence Township. Thanks to our corporate sponsor for the third year, Rudy's Quality Market.

Thank you to the many CCHS members who helped work the event, without you there wouldn't be a show.

Special thanks to Rene Weaver-Wright who chaired the Silent Auction Tent which raised almost $2,000. Thank you to Chairs, Gini and James Schultz and their group of volunteers who raised more than $2,500 with CCHS' newest endeavor, the Antique Tent Sale. Special thanks to Tim Birtsas of RBI Inc. for his support.

A special mention has to be made on behalf of Smith's Disposal and Boy Scout Troop #199. These two groups have repeatedly over the years donated their services to keep the park tidy and trash-free. Thank you to the Clarkston High School volunteers who worked the Cider Tent, along with Aubrey Latimer and Katie DeVault our youth helpers. Thanks to DiamlerChrysler Corporation and Frank and Lori Latimer who provided free shuttle service throughout the weekend for artists and patrons. Thank you also to Tom Braun and the Masons of Clarkston Cedar Lodge #60 who donated their time to help with the show set up.

We welcome community feedback regarding Art in the Village, the Clarkston Heritage Museum or any of our other programs. Please give us a call, 248-922-0270.

Long time reader enjoys Jim Sherman column

To: Jim Sherman

I am a long time reader of your column and always enjoy it. I just wanted to say however, that I especially enjoyed last weeks column that said you like to laugh. I like to laugh too and it seems that in this weary old world we have very little to laugh about right now.

So.....I will continue to read your column, enjoy it and know there is at least one other person out there who likes to laugh too.

Don't make school name changes too complicated

The Clarkston School Board requested new name suggestions for the buildings currently known as Sashabaw Middle School and Clarkston Middle School. According to an article published in the September 22, 2004 Clarkston News, "The majority of those making suggestions offered "Sashabaw Middle School"...and "Clarkston Junior High School." This is the simplest solution, there are no "new" buildings but new functions. If we are interested in maintaining historical tradition, lets leave the names as they are, but with better definition as to function.

The past changes in grade levels for particular buildings has created enough confusion, the "old" Clarkston Middle School vs the "new" Clarkston Middle School, the "old" Clarkston High School which is now the new Clarkston Middle School, etc. Why make things more complicated than they need to be?

Bob Jones left a great legacy for all of us to follow

Bob Jones has left a legacy for us.

During his many years at the original Clarkston State Bank he said he heard more than his share of people's ailments. He made up his mind he would always have a "Couldn't be better" attitude. He lived that philosophy through his 90 years, and especially the last 32 after a heart attack and surgeries.

His other lesson to us is to have friends in all age groups. We see someone in their golden years with only friends of equal age, when those friends pass on they become very lonely. We all gain so much from those both younger and older as well as our contemporaries.

May Bob's legacies "Couldn't be better," dwell on the positive and enjoy friends of diverse generations be lessons to us all.

You will be missed.

Why have so many of our trees been destroyed?

Never in my wildest imagination would I have guessed that so many trees would be destroyed in preparation for the paving of Maybee Road from Clintonville to Rohr. This used to be a beautiful tree-shaded road and now all the trees are gone. The road commission says that the curves have to be taken out because of safety issues. Can drivers not negotiate curves anymore? What is being done as far as beautification restoration for this project. I would bet nothing. How can citizens prevent this from happening again?

Don's take on being a dad

I must say my strategy of brainwashing is (so far) going as scheduled. I'll be honest, I am trying to influence my boys' lives to my way of thinking.

Publicly, some dads say they plan to let their boys be boys, to let nature and the environment take their courses. Publicly, they say they don't care. I say they are pretending. Deep down they care how their boys dress, what they listen to or watch, who their friends are and how they wear their hair.

Dads everywhere put up their arms in surrender without an attempt at fighting. Why should they, they surmise, they have little weight in how boys grow up. But, deep down inside their hairy chests, they care. Dare I say, they cringe (albeit inside) when Junior comes home wearing black clothes, black lipstick, and black eye shadow with loud piercings and tatoos.

At least I am honest when I say that kind of getup makes my eyes hurt. (Hey, give me some bonus points for being honest.) I never really got that whole "Gothic" thing, and I even read Bram Stoker's Dracula when I was in seventh grade. To me it is one thing to read about vampires or watch them on TV or in the movie theater -- it is completely another thing to want to "look" like one.

I am not saying dark-everythinged folks are freaks of nature. Oh no. A person can be kind, gentle, compassionate and loving with spikes and things protruding from his or her body. There's nothing wrong with that look, but let's just say it's better when it's somebody else's kid.

I am also old enough to fully understand the ever-changing ebb and flow of fashion. It is a given that when the tide comes in, you never know what will be washed ashore. I also know the scope of my influence, as a dad, starts out big and continually diminishes over time. Just like Kryptonite weakens Superman, friends, fads and fashion will surely lesson the iron grip I try to hold over Shamus and Sean. I dread the day when, God forbid, they start feeling their oats and actually want to express their individuality by being like everybody else. Diversity-schmirshity. I want conformity, dang-it!

So I am acting now. Swiftly and decisively. I am planting the seeds of being "nice boys." I want them to have respect for themselves and how they look. And, as I started, I think my strategy of brainwashing is working.

Why just the other day, Sean looked in the mirror at himself and his hair that I had slicked down and brushed. "Perfect," the four year old said. "It looks like Elvis' hair."

And, he was right, aside from being blond and not dyed black, it looked like Elvis hair. Let me further say, it was not the big, bush Elvis hair of the early-to-mid 1970s (No mutton-chop side burns and no, Sean doesn't own a rhinestoned jump suit, thank you, thank you very much). Our boy Sean likes the cool Elvis hair pre-1960 -- slicked back, short cropped with a big swoop of a curl up front on his forehead.

I'd also like to take this opportunity to thank the creators of the first Shrek movie for introducing the boys to the Monkee's song, I'm a Believer. This have given me carte blanche to play the Monkee's Greatest Hits compact disc. Shamus, 6, and Sean now routinely ask for the disc to be played and request other Monkees' "hits" like, I'm Not Your Steppin Stone, Pleasant Valley Sunday, Last Train to Clarksville and my personal favorite, Hey, Hey, We're the Monkees.

As far as their clothing goes, well, their mother has taken that from me. She just doesn't believe that socks should be expressive. She's from the school where dark colored socks are worn with dark shoes and dark slacks and light colored socks with light colored shoes and light colored slacks. Jennie also doesn't hold dear to the belief Hawaiian shirts match any pattern and can be worn for any occasion.

Imagine that.

Oh, and what do they like to watch? Besides science fiction, this year while at the Renaissance Festival, Shamus and Sean couldn't take their eyes off the belly dancers. Them's my boys!

A Look Back

At our community's history through the pages of
The Clarkston News

15 YEARS AGO (1989)

• The ultimate educational award was bestowed on Sashabaw Junior High in Washington, D.C., one day after President George Bush's educational summit. A flag and plaque were awarded to SJHS Thursday as symbols of the school's excellence in education. Traveling to Washington to accept the award were Principal David Reschke, Assistant Principal Vince Licata and Cynthia Hartwell, teacher representative for the SJHS staff.

• The fourth Friday count is in for Clarkston schools, and the enrollment figures from Sept. 29 show 36 fewer students than in 1988. Total enrollment for 1988 was 5,708, and 1989 figures show 5,672 students, said Bill Neff, director of administrative services for Clarkston schools. At the elementary level, student figures are up by 10, and at the junior high level, student figures are up by 60.

• A Springfield Township man was charged with cruelty to animals Sept. 29 after more than 100 chickens, gamecocks and several dogs were found on his property without food and water. Ron Myers of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township, was ticketed for cruelty to animals and not having licenses for the 11 dogs, including eight pit bull terriers, found on the property.

25 YEARS AGO (1979)

• Pine Knob's quest for a 22-story, ski-run-roof hotel has hit another zoning snag. Controversies over whether recreational districts should include hotel-resort-convention facilities on 10 acres or more (use) and whether such facilities can be built up to 200 feet high (height) are on the Oct. 16 ballot with the use a binding referendum and the height an advisory referendum. Now, zoning that appears on the map for the proposed Pine Knob hotel site is in dispute.

• The Clarkston News, the Clarkston High School Students Against Smoking organization and the American Cancer Society are sponsoring an essay contest for youths on the topic of "What I think about smoking." In recognition of this being the International Year of the Child, entrants are limited to youngsters aged 12-14. Essays should be limited to between 100 and 125 words and postmarked no later than Oct. 31.

• Emergency repairs on a railroad crossing have closed Andersonville Road in Springfield Township near Farley Road. Although residents will be able to reach their homes on either side of the track, crossing the track will be impossible, said an Oakland County Road Commission spokesperson.

50 YEARS AGO (1954)

• A group of women interested in the Girl Scouts met at the Community Building last Tuesday and all agreed to help with the Brownie or the Senior Scout troops. Brownie leaders are well organized and plan to start their program as soon as school starts full time.

• Friday night the Wolves bit at the Brighton team to win a score of 31-6. At the kick-off Pat Thompson ran 80 yards, down the sidelines, to cross over Brighton's goal line for a touchdown. The extra point was missed, putting the Wolves ahead 6-0.

Pie a la asphalt; help for plumber's crevasse

It was a nice, foggy morning. Time to take Shayna for a drive. She loves to ride in our van.

Now, for those few who have told me "No more stories about your dog," this not about a dog, unless it's me.

Ah, there's Achatz, makers of pies and soups. Soups don't have much of an appeal on a summer day, but pie always does.

I just happen to have a coupon that says if I buy a 10" pie I get a piece of pie free. Great time to get a cherry pie and a piece of pecan. Pecan is my favorite, but Shayna prefers cherries. Oops, sorry.

With the dog in the van, I exit the pie plant, car key in hand. This key has all sorts of buttons on the holder.

I think I hit the button opening the driver-side door, but the tail gate opens giving my untrained dog the opportunity to jump out.

I yell, "No, Shayna." She stops and I reach up for the now-open door, which causes my pie-holding arm to drop, thus making the plastic container slide off the other box, open and spill the pecan piece.

I quickly, for me, bend down to push at least some of the ingredients back into the box, and the box of cherry pie falls, and, of course, opens.

So, now I have $13.95 worth of two kinds of pie laying there. I look up into the van window and (one last 'sorry' to you anti-doggers) there's Shayna smiling, drawling, wagging and wishing.

I'm glad I couldn't see my own face. I'm sure I had all the expressions she didn't.

So, while sitting around after golf, trying to forget our games, the discussion turned to how disgusting, sexy, immodest, entertaining, etc. low slung pants are.

No mention was made of boys dragging bottoms.

The spot just above the beginning of these rear fissures has become a popular place for tatoos of roses, names and stuffed animals.

Comedian Tim Allen helped make himself famous by daring to call this area "Plumber's Crack."

Well, one of my friends said he pointed out this non-filled crease to his teenage daughter, and she shot back, "My pants are, like, a lot higher than, like, a lot of my friends."

"Same way with my daughter," another piped in. "She's always pulling down her shirt in back or pulling up the back of her pants, always saying 'my crack doesn't show.'"

A third guy offered to give everyone the name of a doctor who could eliminate, or at least discourage oggling.

"Who's that?" more than one asked.

"Dr. Phil!"

"Not that guy who says he's Dr. Phil on television?"

"No, no. This Dr. Phil is Dr. Phil McCrackin!"

We adjourned the meeting.

Around our state and nation do-gooders often urge votes to take property off tax rolls and create more "open space."

Reasons vary from 'we're here, lock the door,' to beliefs that having more parks is the only way to have a place for kids to play (nothing is too good for our children) to 'I love to see acres of nothing.'

There are several thousand acres of non-taxed county, state and local "open spaces" in our four adjacent townships.

When the resolution passes, tax bills arrive on the 10th of December and we scream about getting higher bills.

Hm-m-m. Maybe private industry that is required to have "open space" would have been a better plan.

Kindermusik goes beyond learning songs, playing instruments

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The brochure says it all: "Shakers to social skills. Castanets to coordination. Cymbals to self-esteem."

Kindermusik is much more than learning about music. It's about preparing today's youth for tomorrow's adventures.

"I'm amazed every semester at what it (class) accomplishes," Giselle Graham, Kindermusik instructor, said.

Kindermusik is a national program found in many communities throughout the country. Clarkston is home to the 15-week course inside the Clarkston Conservatory under the director of instructors Graham and Christine Murrell.

Classes are divided by age groups, starting with newborn babies and going all the way up until age 7. Each class focuses on a specific set of goals and objectives for the given age group.

The overall fundamentals of the program, for all ages, are language development, physical development, cognitive development and social and emotional development.

It's the power of music that helps achieve these properties.

"It's been a good first chance to get her around kids," Heather May, parent, said of daughter Grace Ann. "And she likes to listen to the music."

During a typical class, students, along with their parents, engage in a number of different songs and utilize various instruments depending on the age. Both are designed to entertain and build skills.

"The combination of music and rhythm really aids in memory retention," Christy Sweeney, parent, said. "I think that helps them learn and start the learning process."

Every class features familiar songs to encourage memory skills. However, new songs are constantly added throughout the duration to the semester to increase variety. Students can learn more than 40 songs during a given course.

"Repetition tends to stimulate the brain for remembering and basic recognition," Graham said.

Another bonus of the class is the social interaction the students receive. For many, attending a Kindermusik class is the first time for such an interaction.

"I'm kind of like their first teacher," Graham said of her younger students.

Often hearing instruction from someone other than a parent, such as a Graham, is a beneficial method for students to learn how to follow directions from others.

"With us, it's been like a first learning experience," Gretchen Diver, parent, said of her class time with son Luke. "You watch your kid take direction from someone other than you."

Graham has seen the class work for all kinds of children. "The ones that are shy interact better and the ones that are talking sit better," Graham said.

Kindermusik isn't the type of class where the participants sit down the whole time. Both child and parent are constantly dancing, playing with props or moving around the room to the beat of cheerful music.

"It's satisfying for me, unbelievably satisfying," Graham said. "I'm amazed at what can happen after 15 weeks."

Registering Securities in Firm Name Can be a Bargain
In this day and age of $150 designer purses, $50,000 cars and $1 million homes, bargains can be difficult to find. One bargain that's no secret, however, is registering securities in firm name.

When you register securities in firm names, a bank or brokerage firm takes physical possession of and manages the day-to-day responsibilities associated with your securities. Even though you no longer physically hold your stock or bond certificates, you retain control of the securities and can do with them as you wish. Registering securities in firm name is truly a bargain when you consider this service typically costs little or nothing and could offer many advantages.

When securities are registered in firm name, the bank or brokerage firm that takes possession of your certificates:

- Collects all interest and dividends from the securities for you;
- Provides regular updates on the status of your securities;
- Notifies you whenever your bonds are called or mature; and
- Furnishes one simple annual tax-reporting form.

All of these are attractive services; however, the biggest advantage of registering securities in firm name is the safety this service provides. When your securities are registered in firm name, you no longer have to worry about them being lost, stolen or accidentally destroyed.

Consider, for example, this true story of a Washington investor. This self-made millionaire invested regularly in bonds. Although he registered some of his bonds in firm name, he didn't trust his investment firm's computer system with all his bonds. Unfortunately, this proved to be a costly mistake. When a group of children started a fire while playing with matches, the local fire department couldn't control the inferno. When the last ember had died, an entire apartment complex and 32 homes, including the one of the bond investor, were completely destroyed, even though the fire department was located just two blocks away.

Fortunately, no one was injured in the fire, but the bond investor lost $1.2 million worth of securities in the blaze. Of course, the bonds could be replaced, but the cost of doing so was about $24,000. That's an expensive lesson.

Some investors think it's safer to hold onto their stock and bond certificates. If you insist on holding your securities, remember to keep written records of all your certificates. Record the description, amount and certificate number of each security before placing it in a safe deposit box. Then be sure to keep a close eye on the financial news to be on the lookout for bonds calls, mergers, etc. In case you overlook an important piece of mail, and don't forget to notify each company of any change in your mailing address, even for a stock that does not pay dividends.

No one wants to lose a security, to have their property stolen or to lose their possessions in a natural or man-made disaster. Unfortunately, these are everyday occurrences. Why take a chance with your stock and bond certificates when registering securities in firm name is one of the best bargains available today?

Call or stop by today with questions.

Kids Day Celebration brings out large crowd

Lifepointe Chiropractic's Kid's Day Celebration Saturday, Sept. 11 was a great success. Dr. Greg and Dr. Becky Simmons, along with Elmo and Blue from Blues Clues, welcomed more than 275 people.

The event included health screenings, fingerprint ID kits, carnival games and face painting.

"We are doing this out of love and appreciation for our town. We want our children to be healthy, happy and safe. This is a great educational tool for children and their parents, and a great way for us to help make our community a healthier, better place to live," Dr. Becky Simmons said.

September 25: Assist fire department with fireworks complaint at Dixie Highway and Oak Hill Road. Deputies eventually apprehended a 17-year-old who allegedly fired a "mortar" type shell. Case is under investigation.

September 26: Malicious destruction of property on Bigelow Road. Someone broke the rear window of a van.

Open door alarm at Szott Ford on E. Holly Road. A K-9 unit responded and conducted a search, but found nothing.

Voters look for absentee ballots

BY KYLE GARGARO
Clarkston News Editor

Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary is trying to get important voting information out to the public.

The Clerk's office has been receiving information from individuals who have registered to vote in the November general election by either mail or the Internet and are now requesting an absentee ballot.

"Those individuals can't vote the first time by absentee ballot. We are getting a lot of requests from college kids who registered up at college and want us to send them an absentee ballot," McCrary said.

Individuals who register at the Clerk's office or the Secretary of State office can vote absentee ballot.

"We just need to see them once. If we don't see them we can't tell if it is legitimate," McCrary said. "A lot of clerks have been having this same problem."

Recently registered voters can go to the Independence Clerk's office to apply in person for the absentee ballot.

For more information contact McCrary at (248) 625-5111, ext. 203.

Children participate in interactive singing and storytelling as part of "The Hill" at North Oaks Community Church. The special children's worship program is offered the second and fourth Sundays of each month. Photo provided

Church offers special children's program

North Oaks Community Church believes elementary-age children are important, and they are offering a special program to prove it.

"The Hill" is designed to provide a fun and safe environment where the children learn about God and his Bible in a creative and age-appropriate way. This year the twice-a-month Sunday morning program will teach God's story from Genesis through Revelation.

"The Hill" meets every second and fourth Sunday. On the first, third and fifth Sundays of each month, children remain in the sanctuary with their families.

Children are greeted at "The Hill" registration table, where they receive a color-coded nametag corresponding to their grade level. They join their families for the beginning of the regular 10 a.m. worship service, then are dismissed for "The Hill" program.

All children meet in a large room for lively, child-relevant music, followed by a large group Bible lesson. The children may see a drama, a game show or even participate themselves in a fun and effective skit.

Then, the children divide into small groups where they apply the Bible lesson through fun activities which make the Bible relevant to their lives. Small groups are divided by grade level and led by volunteers who desire to shepherd and guide the children with games, conversation and prayer.

The program is called "The Hill" based on Matthew 5:14, which says, "You are the light of the world. A city on a hill cannot be hidden." Parents are always invited to sit in and enjoy the program as well.

North Oaks Community Church currently meets at the Mt. Zion Center for the Performing Arts, 4453 Clintonville Road in Independence Township. For more information, call (248) 922-3515.

heading toward Washington and about to finish.

Then another strange thing happened.

"Good job, ladies. You're the first women to cross the finish line," a volunteer said.

What? I think I must have accidentally joined a different race. Not only was my time doing well for a recreational runner, but I was apparently one of the first gals to finish. Clearly the planets were misaligned that morning.

Sure enough, I was one of the first women to finish. And my time wasn't too shabby either. My official finish was 24:20. I was happy with that considering my last race time had been 28 minutes.

Ok, so I'm not captain of the cross country team. But I'm still pretty proud.

I have a handsome plaque to showcase my achievement and remind me of the fun you can have from local races. This race in Clarkston has made me look for other races this fall.

I also realized something else that Sunday morning: Cinnamon Life is quite possibly a miracle food. If I had consumed my normal bowl of wheatie puffs that morning, you might be reading a column about how I walked the whole race.

If you'll excuse me, I need to go purchase a year's supply. I have lots of big activities coming up in the next few weeks...

Clarkston hoops team staves off Kettering

By NOAH PURCELL
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The Wolves posted a 44-39 win against Waterford Kettering on Thursday Sept. 23. Clarkston fell behind early but finished the game strong, converting 17 of 26 free throw attempts in the fourth quarter.

"I think we did really well. It's good to get this win especially against Kettering since we lost three times to them last year," Chelsea Kouri said.

Clarkston stumbled out of the gates as Kettering raced out to an 8-3 lead in the first quarter. The Wolves went on a 13-8 run in the second quarter to even the score at 16 going into the half.

Julia Connor scored eight of her 12 points for Clarkston in the second quarter to help get the Wolves back into the game.

"The big thing is we just need to take care of the defense and the offense will come," Coach Ann Lowney said.

Late in the third quarter, Jill Kouri gave Clarkston its first lead of the game 20-18. The Wolves were able to build some momentum after the bucket by Kouri as they finished the third quarter with a 25-20 lead.

"We are struggling shooting the ball ... the other thing is they shut us down inside," Kettering Coach Lisa Cox said.

Both teams struggled to score in the paint throughout the game. When a shot from the paint did make it through the suffocating defense, forces beyond the control of the players seemed to guide the ball out of the basket.

Two big steals by Leigh Christy, which led to Clarkston scores in the fourth quarter, forced Kettering to start fouling on every possession, hoping the Wolves would not be able to convert from the line.

Chelsea and Jill Kouri each sunk seven free throws in the fourth quarter to keep the game out of reach for Kettering. After the game Chelsea, who led all scorers with 13, credited Lowney's practice regimen of 25 free throws a day as key to the Wolves success from the line.

"Anytime you beat your cross town rival it's a whole lot of fun," Lowney said.

Clarkston was coming off a 36-28 loss to Southfield. Clarkston's record now stands at 4-3 overall and 1-1 in the league.

The Wolves were unable to overcome five turnovers, including two fumbles on the goal line, as they lost to Troy Athens 21-14 on Friday Sept. 24.

"Turn the ball over five times and you can't expect to beat anyone," Coach Kurt Richardson said.

The Wolves found it hard to run the ball against Athens. Clarkston had amassed over 200 yards on the ground the past two weeks, they were held to 53 total rushing yards this week.

Quarterback Scott Leigh passed for 225 yards going 14 for 30 with one touchdown and one interception.

Athens opened the scoring at 6:50 of the second quarter when Quarterback Richie Ortman found receiver Desmond Purnell for a 12-yard touchdown completion.

Clarkston suffered another blow later in the second quarter when Ortman and running back Robbie Wize

Swim team sets six school records against Berkley

By NOAH PURCELL
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The Clarkston swim team trounced Berkley 119-67 on Thursday Sept. 23. The Wolves set school records in the 200 medley relay, 200 individual medley, 50 freestyle, 100 freestyle, 200 freestyle relay and 100 backstroke.

"We're all pretty excited about the way we're swimming," Coach Kenwyn Chock said.

Clarkston finished first in 11 of the 12 events, falling short in only the breaststroke competition.

The team has been steadily improving this season and Chock feels that the Clarkston Sea Wolves swim club has created an influx of talent into the program.

"We have 19 new swimmers on our team this year and those girls are from the Clarkston Sea Wolves," Chock said.

Chock serves as the sponsor of the club, which operates as a member of USA swimming and includes swimmers from K-12.

One of the larger question marks coming into the season was the diving team, which features two girls who are completely new to the sport.

"The divers did really well," Chock said. She added Stephanie Kincaid tied for first on Thursday, improving her previous best score by 30 points, posting a 130.7.

Kaitlyn Hassett set a school record in the 100 backstroke and joined with Kandice Keen, Lauren Dietz and Chelsea Hassett to set a school record in the 200 medley relay.

Chelsea Hassett teamed with Lauren Dietz again as well as Amanda Hassett and Erin Richards to set a school record in the 200 freestyle relay. Chelsea also set individual school records in 100 freestyle and the 50 freestyle.

Keen also set a school record on her own in the 200 individual medley.

Health and fitness are a matter of choice

When it comes to health, there are many factors involved. Some we can't control. Genetics certainly play a part. I've been blessed with good genes and good health. But it's important to remember just how much of our lives we can control to stay healthy and fit, and then just decide to do what's best for ourselves.

It all comes down to a matter of choices.

We can choose to eat junk foods, or we can choose healthy foods, lean meats, fish, fresh fruits and vegetables. I happen to like okra, but that's my choice.

When buying prepared foods, read the labels and choose foods that are low in sodium and saturated fats. Instead of watching television, we can go for a walk and breathe some fresh air to work our heart and lungs.

We can stay up late or we can choose to get the right amount of sleep. Soon those choices become routine and one healthy choice will lead to another.

And remember, take care of your health before it's longgg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and Blue Care Network, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Clarkston kids win at PP&K

By NOAH PURCELL
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The first phase of the NFL's Punt, Pass and Kick competition was held Saturday, Sept. 18 at Clintonwood Park.

"It's a good quality time outside for the kids," Recreation Specialist Jeff Morris said.

The competition at Clintonwood trimmed a field of 18 children down to seven. The seven boys and girls who remain will move on to the sectionals in late October.

"I think it is a great opportunity for the kids," Karen Gotaas said.

For some, like Gotaas' son Garret, Saturday was their first time participating in the event. Others, like Christopher Mocerino, have competed twice at Ford Field, vying for a chance to move on to the national level.

The finals for the Punt, Pass and Kick competition are held at a NFL playoff game in January.

Bradley Barker, Kylie Cohu, Garret Gotaas, Jacquelyn Gipe, Christopher Mocerino, Morgan Smith and John Timm all advanced to the sectional competition.

The Punt, Pass and Kick competition has been held since 1961.

hooked up on a 64-yard pass for a touchdown with 2:34 left in the half.

The teams went scoreless throughout the third quarter and into the fourth quarter until Wize busted into the end zone from four yards out making the score 21-0 with 10:31 left to play in the game.

"The kids never gave up; we tried to bounce back and we had every chance to win it," Richardson said.

Clarkston did answer right back after the Athens score with a drive culminating in a 10-yard touchdown run by Scott Lyons at 8:26 mark of the fourth quarter.

After stopping Athens' next drive, Clarkston was able to bring the score to 21-14 when Leigh hit Adam Briceland for a 16-yard touchdown catch. The score was Briceland's eighth touchdown reception on the year.

Any hope to take the game to overtime was dashed when Athens intercepted the ball on their own 20 yard line with just over two minutes left in the game and was able to run out the clock.

The Wolves' loss drops their overall record to 3-2 and 3-2 in the league. Athens is now 3-2 overall and in the league as well.

Clarkston's next game is Friday Oct. 1, at Waterford Mott.

Golf team rounding into form for finals

By NOAH PURCELL
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The golf team has started to get some more consistent play which helped them beat Lahser on Wednesday Sept. 22 158-166 and finish sixth out of 18 teams at the Hartford Invitational on Friday Sept. 24.

"We've played okay but not great," Coach Tim Kaul said.

The Hartland Invitational was a best ball tournament and the duo of Rob Ronk and Mike Horn shot a 71 to lead Clarkston.

(Hartland) is a real fun match for the kids," Kaul said extolling the virtues of the Dunham Hill course where the Invitational is held.

The golf team is now 4-1 in match play and in the league. Due to losses in the league tournaments to Rochester Adams the league title is out of reach unless Adams drops another match.

The team is not concerning itself with the league title but rather is focused on the county tournament which begins Friday Oct. 1, at Pontiac Country Club.

Kaul is optimistic concerning the team's chances at finishing in the top 10 at the county meet. A top 10 finish in Pontiac would qualify the Wolves for a spot at States.

Athlete of the Week - Mike Fogg

Mike Fogg is the athlete of the week for his play for the Clarkston Golf team. Mike shot a 37 to lead the team against Waterford Mott on Monday Sept. 20, a 37 to lead the team again in a win against Rochester Adams on Tuesday Sept. 21, and shot a 39 on Wednesday Sept. 22 in a win over Lahser.

"I got my game together, I played really good (this week)" Fogg said.

Fogg has been playing golf for five years.

Mike is a senior at Clarkston this year and hopes to attend Western Michigan in the fall. He is thinking about studying business in college.

Mike also plays for the Clarkston hockey team and wants to play hockey and golf at Western as well.

Mary and Mike are Mike's parents. He has lived in Clarkston since he was four years old.

Wolves soccer still going through growing pains

By NOAH PURCELL
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston suffered another tough loss Thursday Sept. 23, at the hands of Troy Athens to the tune of 3-2.

"It's a learning process. Unfortunately we have had too many learning processes this year," Coach Mark Whitcomb said.

Clarkston went up 1-0 in the first half when Oliver Kupe drew a penalty kick which Mike Klemm converted into a goal.

The Wolves took a 2-1 lead in the second half when Young Kwak tallied the go-ahead score.

After taking the lead however, Clarkston was unable to stave off an Athens team which is currently ranked fifth in the state. Quick goals by Athens' Ian Daniel and Chris Hoerel made the score 3-2.

"We are starting to score now we just have to get rid of the defensive lapses," Whitcomb said.

Clarkston has been out of the hunt for the league title for a while now with a 0-6-1 league record. The team remains focused on the state tournament rather than on their current record.

"I don't think (our record) is a good indication of our team," Whitcomb said. He also added several coaches have confessed to him after games that his team is anything but an easy win.

"I would love to see 15,000 people downtown but we will need to evaluate and see how much space we would need," Shanks said. "We want to keep it a nice, family event where everyone can come out and have a good time. This was definitely a big success."

Adult Education

Program completion is based on the following criteria: Graduated, passed the GED, completed an entire course, ESL students who improved on tests or people who established a personal goal at the beginning of a class and saw it through.

School district officials have been supportive of the program and its needs, but with cuts for all entities of the district, not much can be done.

"It's really hard to ask for money against K-12," Allyn said. "Clarkston's doing everything they can to maintain its programs for students."

Allyn worries that the smaller program will have a greater impact than merely increased class size. According to Allyn, adult literacy rates directly impact the educational abilities of children with parents who cannot read.

"Adult ed was that vehicle that was really strong and supported adult literacy, and in turn families," Allyn said.

Clarkston isn't the only district facing problems with its adult ed program. Neighboring community Waterford recently began charging its students for each class they enrolled in. The cost is $200 per course.

"It's not just Clarkston facing this, it's every district around us," Allyn said.

The adult ed program was at its peak during the 1970s and early 1980s. Enrollment ranged anywhere from 200 to 300 students at a given time and featured a variety of programs and courses.

Seeing the change in current events is hard for Allyn to watch. She's been with the district since 1979.

"We don't know what's going to happen next year, we're just struggling to maintain," Allyn said. "I don't see things improving and that's what's sad about this."

While many know about the budget constraints placed on K-12 education, Allyn has found that people often aren't aware of the problems adult ed faces.

"You don't really think about it (adult ed) until you need it," Allyn said. Unless you're the one it affects, I don't think people know about adult ed."

Allyn and other district officials will keep watchful eyes on how the program does this year before establishing a plan for the 2005-2006 school year.

"We always say there's no child left behind," Allyn said. "Well, I kind of hope there's no adult left behind, either."

Library changes loan policy

The next time you head out to the Independence Township Library, make sure you have your library card.

Since August the library has required a library card or driver's license to check out books, according to Director Mollie Lynch.

Originally the library made exceptions for patrons who had forgotten their cards due to the small size of the community years ago. With the increasing size of the area and the staff inside the library itself, that policy is no longer feasible.

"With a small library, people get in the habit of not having their card," Lynch said. "Clarkston's grown so much, we've just grown too big."

Either form of identification will be accepted by library staff. Replacement cards are available for $2.

Making music inside the Clarkston Conservatory

Sydney Strcklin and Taylor Sweeney concentrate on wooden sticks to use as instruments. Students were allowed to move as they wanted to the music.

Grace Ann May gets a little help with bells from mom Heather. Instruments were an important part of the class. Photos by Alicia Dorset.

Luke and Gretchen Diver start Kindermusik class with an opening song. Students sang familiar songs at every class while learning new tunes as well.

Luke Diver and Taylor Sweeney point out their favorite parts during story time with teacher Giselle Graham. The students had their own copies of the book at home to enjoy.

Age is just a number when you're young at heart

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A group of active seniors are proof that you can be young at any age, just so long as you're young at heart.

The Young at Heart senior group serves individuals, ages 50 and up, of the surrounding communities as a way to spend time with friends and enjoy the most out of life. The group meets every Thursday for lunch at the Hart Community Center in Davisburg.

"They're very open and very welcoming," Sarah Richmond, Springfield Parks and Recreation administrative assistant and senior coordinator, said. "They're very friendly. It's great to work with them."

The group is an extension of Springfield Township's parks and recreation department. On average 30 people attend the weekly a lunch gatherings, which provide not only a chance to chat with friends, but provide a nutritious, home-cooked meal for $4.

"We try to provide a healthy and nutritious meal," Richmond said. "Seniors have special nutritional needs and this way we know they're getting one or two good meals a week."

John Martz is one individual who can vouch for the health aspect of the Thursday lunch.

"I had a pacemaker put in and this just makes me feel better," Martz, an 8-year member of the group, said. "The meals are very healthful and the price is very reasonable."

Meeting topics vary on a variety of topics to keep seniors updated on the latest information that pertains to them.

"We try to keep our seniors updated and informed so they can make good decisions," Richmond said. "We try to make sure all the recent information is available."

An example of this desire to stay updated would be a discussion of the new Medicare cards, a topic that affects many seniors in the area.

"We do not want people to take advantage of our seniors," Richmond said. "That's why we try to provide as much information as is available."

'I love hearing their stories. This is such a kind and caring group, it's a joy to work with them. It's all about camaraderie and getting the seniors out and involved.'

Paperbag Theatre set to debut on television soon

BY ALICIA DORSET
Clarkston News-Staff Writer

Paper bags can do a lot of things: Hold groceries, provide a safe place for lunch and even serve as the all-important Halloween treat sack. With that list of abilities, can paper bags also act? Ric Viers and Gary Allison think they can.

Viers and Allison are the creative forces behind "Paperbag Theatre," a familiar short film series in the area and now the subject of a television series with Detroit Public Broadcasting.

Where did the idea to film a cast of paper bags come from? Sheer boredom.

"We were just trying to entertain ourselves and it just happened that kids liked it," Viers said. "The only reason I make 'Paperbag Theatre' is because no one else will."

Both having background in television and film production, Viers took the idea he came up with one day and applied it to a series of short films for various organizations and groups throughout the area for different topics.

Word started to spread about the funny mini movies. Bridgewood Church in Clarkston has been a large supporter of the small movies and even local events, such as Ortonville's "September Fest" have requested specific films for their own use in the past.

The American Cancer Society asked the duo to create a short film for Clarkston's Relay for Life this past summer. Viers and Allison created "The Boy Who Faced His Giant," a film that dealt with the trials of living with cancer, for the event and was shown every half hour that day.

With word continuing to spread, it was time to take the paper bags to the next level.

"At this point, we thought we needed to take it to someone," Allison said.

Allison and Viers contacted the Detroit Public

Broadcasting Station affiliate in hopes of generating more excitement about "Paperbag Theatre." A tape was submitted and an excited response soon followed. The Detroit PBS station agreed to take on the idea for a 13-episode run as a television program and would provide any support needed to help the show launch.

"This is a great opportunity for corporate sponsors to get in on the ground floor of the next big show," Jeff Forster, vice president of production and station enterprises for Detroit PBS, said in a statement. "We will be happy to include it in our program schedule."

The idea for the soon-to-be series focuses in on a group of independent filmmaking "paper bags" trying to get raise money for their own movies and eventually sell the scripts. The concept hits close to home for Viers.

"It's the story of my life," Viers said. "I am the bags."

Viers and Allison are currently working on raising money and sponsorships for the series before production begins.

"We're lucky to be doing something we love and get paid for," Allison said. "The best part about 'Paperbag Theatre' is watching it."

We celebrate our pets on Oct. 4

As autumn arrives, people around town may notice something odd. A procession of animals: everything from dogs and cats to hamsters and even horses, is led to churches for a special ceremony called the Blessing of Pets.

This custom is a tradition for many Christian denominations, and is conducted in remembrance of St. Francis of Assisi and his love for all creatures, usually on or around Oct. 4, the feast day of this "patron saint" of animals. St. Francis lived in 13th century Italy and legend has it that he could talk to animals. Paintings and statues always portrait St. Francis of Assisi with animals, either birds on his shoulder or little critters at his feet.

That there are over 60 million dogs and nearly 70 million cats in the U.S. attests to the continuing affection we have for our furry, feathered and finned friends. The bond between person and pet is like no other relationship, because the communication between fellow creatures is at its most basic. Eye-to-eye, a man and his dog, or a woman and her cat, are two creatures of love.

For single householders, a pet can be a true companion. Many people arrive home from work to find a furry friend overjoyed at their return. Many a senior has a lap filled with a purring fellow creature.

No wonder people enjoy the opportunity to take their animal companions to church for a special blessing. Church is the place where the bond of creation is celebrated. At Catholic churches, each animal is blessed with a special prayer that usually goes like this:

"Blessed are you, Lord God, maker of all living creatures. You called forth fish in the sea, birds in the air and animals on the land. You inspired St. Francis to call all of them his brothers and sisters. We ask you to bless these pets. By the power of your love, enable them to live according to your plan. May we always praise you for all your beauty in creation. Blessed are you, Lord our God, in all your creatures. Amen."

As the prayer is offered, the pets are gently sprinkled with holy water. Most pets receive this sacramental spritz with dignity.

Some people criticize the amount and cost of care given to pets, saying people are more important. Certainly our needy fellow humans should not be neglected, however, every creature is important. The love we give to a pet, and receive from a pet, can draw us more deeply into the larger circle of life, into the wonder of our common relationship to our Creator.

St. Daniel's is hosting a Pet Blessing ceremony at 6 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 4. The Blessing of Pets is usually held outdoors. If the weather is poor, we'll move everyone into the Social Hall. It's quite a sight to see the myriad of animals and owners together, attempting to create a prayerful experience amid the chaos. Children especially love the site of so many pets together. The Blessing only takes a short time, but it's a wonderful experience. We invite anyone from the community to bring their pets and join us for this wonderful tradition.

Besides the weekly lunch meetings, field trips and special gatherings are always on the calendar for the group. Upcoming activities include trips to Hartland and Oxford for theater performances.

"It's all about camaraderie and getting the seniors out and involved," Richmond said.

The group also raises money for its events by way of events such as an annual spaghetti dinner. An elected board (president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and delegates) oversees the logistics. This year's president is Jane Schaefer.

"I really like to do things that set a really good example and show them they can still do things," Schaefer said. She can often be found reading an interesting passage or inspirational prayer during lunch.

Schaefer meets with Richmond to brainstorm ideas and check in on the parks and recreation end of the group. In addition to this, Schaefer serves as a communication liaison for the group, often updating members on friends' health or events in surroundings areas during lunch.

"I encourage the group to let me know about things so we can get the word out," Schaefer said. "I think my favorite part is being here with these great people and to provide encouragement and get encouragement for myself."

Building a sense of friendship and support is a major interest factor for group member Reta Dodd. She attends each week with her brothers, Don Halsey and Samuel "Pace" Halsey.

"My favorite part is just visiting people and talking about the way things were," Dodd said.

Those under age 50 benefit from the group as well.

"Seeing their smiling faces and seeing how they're doing, I've become so attached to them. It's so rewarding," Richmond said. "I love hearing their stories. This is such a kind and caring group, it's a joy to work for them."

To learn more about the Young at Heart senior group, call the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation department at (248) 634-0412.

The League of Women Voters of the Oakland Area is sponsoring a candidates forum on Monday, Oct. 11 at 7 p.m. for the candidates who have filed for District Court Judge for the 52-2 District. Each candidate will be given two minutes to address the audience. A question and answer period will follow where one minute will be given to each candidate to answer each question. The questions will be presented by a panel intended to represent the interests of the communities within the district. Broadcast on cable television, the forum will be held at the Clarkston Public Access Center located at 5255 Maybee Road.

Trees rustling at Independence Oaks County Park signal new programs at the Lewis E. Wint Nature Center. Sign up and enjoy more than one:

• Homeschoolers "Nature's Noise," 1:30-3:30 p.m. Sept. 30. Explore the noises of fall and learn what they mean.

• Fall Color Car Classic Campfire, 1-4 p.m. Oct. 3. Independence Oaks is hosting a car show. Activities are free with park entry. Stop by the nature center and toast marshmallows.

• Fall Trail Treasure Hunt, 1-3:30 p.m. Oct. 9. Take a hike and solve a mystery. Pick up treasure hunt directions at the nature center. Cost is $2 per person.

• Leaf Peeper Bike Hunt, 3:30-5:30 p.m. Oct. 10. Bring a bike and ride on Hawk's View Trail, a paved trail inside the park. Cost is $1 per person and is due in advance.

The Wint Nature Center is located inside the park at 9501 Sashabaw Road. Persons attending nature center programs before 4 p.m. will be charged the park entry fee of $10 per vehicle or $5 for Oakland County residents. For more information or to register, call (248) 625-6473 or visit www.co.oakland.mi.us.

Clarkston Specialty Healthcare Center invites the community and surrounding areas to its monthly complimentary breakfast on Oct. 6 at 8:30 a.m. to hear an informative talk on "elder law issues." The guest speaker will cover issues such as estate planning, powers of attorney and wills and trusts. An attorney from James P. Lampertius and Associates PLC will educate the audience and host a question and answer session. The center is located at 4800 Clintonville Road in Clarkston. For more information, call (248) 674-0903.

Looking for an outdoor adventure of the season? Join instructors from Paddle Wize, Inc. on Saturday, Oct. 9 as they lead you through beautiful fall colors in the Pinckney State Recreation Area on an extensive kayaking tour. Bring your own kayak or rent from Paddle Wize. All skill levels, from ages 16 and above, are welcome. The tour will include a mandatory instructional session to start the day. Please sign up at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation department at (248) 625-8223 for more information. Advance registration is required.

Jim Wilhelm, one of the Edward Jones investment representatives in Clarkston, will host a free one-hour satellite broadcast, "Why We Invest the Way We Do," at 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 12. The broadcast will feature Keith Murningham, a professor at Northwest University's Kellogg School of Management. The office is located at 7183 North Main St., suite C, in Clarkston.

The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance will sponsor a parent seminar on Oct. 7 from 7-8:30 p.m. "Save Your Sanity! Parent Teens with Confidence and Strength" is free and will be held at Clarkston High School in the LGI room. Seminar topics will include how to act (instead of react) when your teen challenges you, hurts you, annoys you and shuts you out. Please register by calling CAYA at (248) 625-9007.

The Friends of the Independence Township Library will hold its Fall Book Sale Sept. 29 through

Oct. 2 at the library. Hours for the sale are 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Sept. 29-30, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Oct. 1 and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 2. All proceeds go to the library. SPECIAL MEETING
SUMMARY

CITY COUNCIL
SEPTEMBER 23, 2004

Meeting called to order at 7:25 p.m. by Mayor Catallo.
Roll Present: Carallo, Gamble, Meyland, Savage, Werner.
Absent: Clifton, Colombo.
Also present was Attorney Jan Dunn, representing Chief Combs.

Moved That the Agenda be accepted as presented with the tabling of Distinctive Landscaping Bill and the addition of Public Comments.

Discussion followed, regarding Closed Meetings and issues to be discussed relative to this Special meeting.

Ms. Dunn and City Attorney Ryan agreed that any closed Meeting regarding an individual should have prior disclosure of items to be covered, and a chance for the individual to review related documents, etc. Further, it is at the discretion of the individual, involved to have an open or a closed meeting on personnel issues.

It was further determined that Chief Combs will ask for an extension of time to September 30 on the FOIA request by Chris Joyce regarding the public hearing on his dismissal.

In further discussion Meyland stated that the intent of the special meeting was to give the Council an opportunity to discuss police issues.

Meyland stated that he will request the information to cover with chief Combs, and he will prepare an agenda for review by Chief Combs and the Council.

Chief Combs was instructed to notify Chris Joyce that the FOIA request will be extended to September 30.

Savage that he fully supports the Chief, and Savage was not aware of specific issues. Savage felt the Chief is empowered to hire and fire officers as he sees fit.

Meeting adjourned at 7:52 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Artemus M. Pappas
Clerk

Deputies investigate fatal crash on Dixie

A 50-year-old Holly resident died this past weekend, making a Wednesday, Sept. 22 traffic crash a fatal incident.

The woman was a passenger in a pickup truck driven by her 19-year-old son, who apparently turned in front of a southbound Dixie Highway vehicle while attempting to turn left on to Foster Road in Independence Township at about 3:53 p.m.

The impact of the southbound vehicle caused the pickup truck to roll over, according to information from the Oakland County Sheriff Crash Reconstruction Team. Both occupants were taken to Genesys Regional Medical Center in Grand Blanc. The driver was treated and released, but the passenger was listed in critical condition after the incident last week.

Local sheriff officials said the woman died over the weekend, but attempts to reach the crash reconstruction investigator Monday were unsuccessful.

Both drivers were wearing seat belts, reports said, but it was uncertain whether the pickup truck passenger was belted. The driver of the second vehicle was not injured, and investigators do not believe alcohol was a factor in the crash.

Richard Glenn McKibben

Richard Glenn "Rick" McKibben, of Clarkston, died Sept. 27, 2004 at age 41.

He was the beloved son of Dick and Joy; nephew of William (Fay), Vada (Gordon) Pierce, Ghnela (Charles) McDougall, Kenneth all of OH, Veron (Charlene) of Warren, Bettye (Kirk) Lewis of Harrison and Jack (Joan) Stone of Gladwin; also survived by many cousins.

Mr. McKibben was employed at Minacs Group, USA, Inc., Flint. He enjoyed being a Ham radio operator (KC8KTW) having served on the ARPSC response team and belonged to OCARS. Rick graduated from Clarkston High School in 1980 and O.C.C., Auburn Hills. He was an electronics buff. Funeral service is set for Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the Lewis E. Wint & Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston. Interment Lakeview Cemetery. Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Marie Christine Kevern

Marie Christine (Chris) Kevern (Sandquist) of Clarkston died Sept. 24, 2004 at age 67.

She was the beloved wife of Donald for 46 years; precious mother of Susan of Laingsburg and Barbara of Clarkston; sister of Elaine (Robert) Greene of Ann Arbor and Kathleen (Dean) Atkins of Dansville; sister-in-law of Ronald (Marilyn) Kevern of AZ; also survived by five nephews, two nieces and a wonderful Maltese named Norman.

Chris was a member of Clarkston United Methodist Church, having been active with Stephen Ministries and Bible Study Fellowship. She was a teacher for Avondale, Waterford and Clarkston schools. Funeral Service at Clarkston United Methodist Church. Interment Ottawa Park Cemetery. Chris is this day with Jesus, with God. The healing for which we prayed is complete and she lives again. Family requests memorials may be made to Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Purse-snatching suspect nabbed at Mr. B's

A 33-year-old Clarkston woman has been arraigned on larceny charges stemming from a purse theft at Mr. B's Roadhouse on Dixie Highway Friday, Sept. 24.

Yvonne Lynne Robinett was free on $10,000 personal bond pending an Oct. 4 court date before 52-2 District Judge Dana Fortinberry, according to Detective Jerry DeRosia of the Independence Township substation of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Robinett was apprehended after witnesses saw her take a purse, valued at $1,500, from a booth at the restaurant. She then attempted to leave the store, but was detained until deputies arrived.

Reports indicate other purse thefts have been reported at Mr. B's, and DeRosia said some of those thefts have led to unauthorized use of credit cards. The investigation into whether there is a connection with the Robinett case is continuing, DeRosia said.
