Post office extends hours for taxes, passports

The Clarkston Post Office will be open until midnight on tax day, April 15, and will also extend their passport hours to 9 a.m. that day to allow area residents to make the most of the trip.

"We're making it as easy as possible to take care of some tasks that are easy to put off," said Jane Haugen, Clarkston Postmaster.

Acquiring a passport has renewed importance since the announcement by the State Department that passports will be required to cross the border from Canada by 2008.

All passport applicants should bring the following items with them:

- Two forms of identification - birth certificate with official raised seal or naturalization certificate and current driver's license or state identification card.

- Those 13 and under must be present at the time of application, have both parents or legal guardians sign the "Statement of Consent" (Form DS-3053), and for those where both guardians cannot be present the "Statement of Consent" must be notarized.

- Two identical color passport photos (2½ X 2½ inches), plain white or off-white background. Pictures can be taken on site.

The following costs apply to passports: passport fee is $67, fee for children under 16 is $52, execution

Expo to provide lots of ideas for family activities

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Kids will have no reason to say, "There's nothing to do" if families attend the "Clarkston Connects" Community Expo on Saturday.

From 9 a.m. until noon in the Clarkston High School cafeteria, more than 40 organizations will offer ways for children and families to be involved in positive activities.

Exhibitors include schools, churches, volunteer organizations and businesses offering displays and demonstrations of fun programs for all ages.

"If you are busy, come," said Cindy Keil, one of the co-chairs of the third annual expo, because the event provides information busy families would have trouble gathering on their own.

Formerly known as the "Summer Happenings" Expo, the event will now offer information for year-round family fun.

"The focus has expanded," Keil said. "Rather than focusing on things to do in the summer, it is one-stop shopping for all the great things going on in Clarkston."

Organized by the Clarkston Coalition for Youth, the expanded expo is the latest effort to promote the community initiative, "Each One Reach One... Connecting For a Better Community." Keil said the expo, like the initiative, is not attempting to invent new programs, but is trying to capitalize on groups already involved in community-minded activities.

The expo is also another attempt to promote the "40 Assets of Healthy Development," the foundation of the "Connecting" campaign.

"Our community is so great, because of the invest-

Kids using cell phones to download porn

BY CHRISTINA ULAJ

Clarkston news Staff Writer

Cell phones are not just for making calls anymore - a bigger issue is at hand.

According to Clarkston School Liaison Officer, Detective Darren Ofiara, Oakland County Sheriff Office, parents who purchase cell phones for their children need to have knowledge of every feature that comes with the contract.

Recently, a Clarkston parent learned about this the hard way. (Because of the sensitive nature of this topic, The Clarkston News is withholding the student and mother's name.)

The mother of a Clarkston High School freshman noticed one month that her cell phone bill came in a lot higher than usual. Why, she wondered. According to the mother, she was surprised to learn the answer - the downloading of pornographic material.

A concern is definitely in the air - many parents don't realize that this is possible with a cell phone. The internet and camera features on cell phones are advanced, and not only is downloading an issue, but inappropriate pictures as well.

"As for the downloading of pornographic material from a legitimate web site, I am unsure on its frequency, said

Ofiara. "I would hazard a guess and say often, but I have not been advised of any similar occurrences prior to this incident."

I am finding the camera phones are being used to take indecent pictures of others (private pictures) showing up more often."

Cellular phones are allowed in Clarkston High School as long as they are not being used, seen or heard during school hours. Before and after school hours they are allowed. If the school finds someone in violation of the policy, the phone is often taken by school staff until after the school day to be picked up by student or family. If the problem is repeated, they are allowed to enforce the suspension policy or make a parent retrieve the phone.

As for downloading - the phones are usually purchased by adults and often put in their names. The parents may allow or not know the phone has an internet option. According to Ofiara, kids do the rest. Any downloading would then go under the parents' name as phone owners and bill payers.

"Internet downloading could be seen as a child in possession of a Playboy magazine. Proper? No. But could it be

Clarkston Scout earns Eagle rank

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Brandon Boozer believes Scouting has provided experiences not to be found anywhere else. Now he has a unique distinction as an Eagle Scout.

The 16-year-old Independence Township resident was honored on April 10 at a Court of Honor at St. Daniel's Catholic Church. A member of Troop 199, Boozer has been a Boy Scout for six years, after enjoying Cub Scouts for four years.

He joined Cub Scouts shortly after his family moved to the Clarkston area.

"The first really solid friends I ever made when I moved out here" were in Scouting, he said. "It turned out to be a good experience."

Only about 4 percent of those who join Boy Scouts achieve the Eagle rank, and Boozer admits it was a challenge.

"It's such a long and drawn-out process," he said. "Keeping up the motivation you started with throughout the thing was probably my biggest obstacle."

One of the toughest requirements of Scouting's highest award is organizing and coordinating a major service project. He chose to build a deck at the home of the Dominican Sisters of Mt. Thabor Monastery in Ortonville.

Boozer and other Scouts were already in the habit of helping the nuns with cleanup of their property.

"They had this really nice back of their house that went down to a nice lake, but it was kind of unusable because of the grade of the land," he said. "I thought, 'Someone should put a deck there.'"

Boozer earned 32 merit badges, exceeding the required 21. His favorites were in the "high adventure" category, such as shotgun shooting and whitewater rafting. Indeed, his favorite activities have been travels with his troop across the country for horseback riding, canoe trips, rappelling and mountain biking.

This summer, the troop will head to Florida for a week of sailing.

"The program provides so many different experiences," he said.

Boozer is also active at St. Dan's and in school activities. A junior at Clarkston High School, he is a member of the National Honor Society and a scholar athlete. He also is a member of the band, "11 Letters Long," which has played at Clarkston's Concerts in the Park and other venues.

"I'm a jack of trades as far as hobbies go, but it provides you with a broad experience of life," he said.

Scouting is not considered the most popular activity by everyone, but Boozer said he's never met anyone openly opposed to it.

"Sure, people make the common stereotypical jokes once in awhile, but as long as you take it as a joke, it's fine," he said. "I've never found anybody that I don't like in this program."

Scouting will continue to be part of Boozer's life throughout high school. His college plans include a major in engineering, and he believes the title of Eagle Scout will be a benefit in the future.

"It's a symbol of achievement," he said. "It gives you a unique classification. I know when I've met people with [the Eagle rank], I think differently of them."

Area band finishes third in 'Battle of the Bands'

BY CHRISTINA ULAJ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A local rock band now knows the true meaning of competition.

Brian Shepanek, Jon Brown, Brandon Boozer, Alex Johnson, Greg Davis and Brennan Haase make up 11 Letters Long. The group performed in the Detroit News' "Battle of the Bands" on March 19, and placed third out of 125 bands.

"This was only our fourth live show," said Shepanek, lead guitar. "To hear the screaming fans and the stage lights beaming, it was an experience that none of us will forget."

The competition brought local fans together, supporting the group with t-shirts.

"This was the most rewarding time our band has ever had," said Shepanek. "Everyone just pumped energy to us and we sent it right back."

So, what is next for 11 Letters Long? The group will be recording a demo and will begin distributing them to local venues. They also hope to eventually record for a label and sign a contract.

"We all decided that to make music a career is not our first choice in life," said Shepanek. "If everything goes well, we will definitely ride it as long as possible."

M-15: Detour to everywhere?

BY DON SCHELSKE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Building a sense of community is one thing, but some motorists may be forgiven for wondering why everyone in the community is being invited to use the same road.

M-15 through Clarkston has again been chosen to serve as a detour around traffic work scheduled by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Last summer, Main Street was used as part of the official detour while MDOT did repairs on the I-75 bridge over Dixie Highway.

This year, MDOT has again closed the entrance ramp from southbound Dixie to southbound I-75, sending traffic further south on Dixie to northbound M-15 to meet I-75.

In addition, MDOT's work on the Sashabaw Road bridge over I-75 has traffic detoured along I-75, Clarkston and Maybee roads to M-15.

Since Main Street has the potential to back up even on a good day, the construction traffic has caused new headaches for motorists, and those who live and work in Clarkston.

"Monday [April 4] was bad," said Clarkston Police Chief Ernest Combs. "The second day, it lightened up a little bit."

This week, what Combs called the "displacement" effect had lightened more.

Public reactions to Pine Knob proposal mixed

BY JENNY MATTESON
Clarkston News Editor

Reactions were mixed at the April 5 Independence Township Board meeting as trustees and residents alike listened to the first formal proposal for a new development on the Pine Knob Golf Course.

Robert Mollicone, head of sales and marketing for Mario D'Agostini's Pine Knob Enclaves, made a presentation requesting the board to consider two points:

- moving a scenic easement currently covering nine holes of golf course added in 1998 to an area near the easement for the original 18 holes and,

- approving a preliminary site plan that involves building approximately 150 single-family detached condominiums priced between $400,000 and $1 million.

"Allow me to open with these words," said Mollicone. "We have available property right now at Pine Knob that we can develop without coming before the board or planning commission..."

"We are here to bring forth a proposal from which everyone can benefit."

According to Mollicone's proposal, the nine newest holes are no longer economically feasible to maintain, and "will be terminated in two years."

Mollicone stated that, without asking for any changes or approvals, the developer has approximately 25 acres on which 150-180 smaller units (apartments or condos) can be placed. However, Mollicone told the board this plan is unappealing to all those involved.

"We don't want to go the high density route," he stated. "We have two options - 150 units on 25 acres or 150 units on 52 acres - it's not equal to lose density for those living there and in the township."

By shifting the scenic easement, Mollicone told board members the developer would be able to maintain low-density housing with high property values.

In addition, Mollicone informed township trustees the plan would include donating land for a new township pump house in Pine Knob. The developer is also willing to build the new pump house structure at cost.

"Our goal is to work with the township in any manner to benefit all of us," said Mollicone.

A preliminary site plan presented during the meeting listed the golf course as having 180-plus acres of conservation area and 54 acres of new development under a PUD agreement.

The plan calls for approximately 150 detached, single-family ranch or colonial-style homes on 70- by 135-foot lot sizes. The ranch homes would be around 2,000 square feet, and the colonial would be as large as

Attorney must rule on easement question

BY JENNY MATTESON
Clarkston News Editor

Any decisions related to the scenic easements on the Pine Knob Golf Course remain in limbo as township board members await a formal, written opinion from township attorney Karlstrom Clooney, LLP.

At the April 5 regular board meeting, trustee Dan Travis requested that his motion from the March 15 meeting be amended in the township minutes. In the motion, Travis requested the township attorney to return to the board with an opinion on whether or not the township can share the Pine Knob golf course scenic easements.

The minutes were amended and the item was added on the agenda under old business.

Township attorney Kathryn Caruso stated in a verbal opinion during the meeting that the scenic easements are a "property right held by the township and the board cannot confer those."

Caruso said sharing the easements could be seen as the township conveying their powers.

Travis, who is also a member of the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy, said the conservancy has indicated sharing the easements would be "very appropriate."

"The granting of these easements are in perpetuity," said Travis, who continued to explain that township boards do not exist with the exact same members year after year.

He emphasized that sharing the easements with the conservancy would provide more individuals with an understanding of the situation, thereby creating a wider knowledge and history base.

"I think we take a sort of cavalier attitude if we forget and allow changes to what these easements are for," Travis stated.

Several township trustees voiced the need for more information.

"We need to maintain our rights in this matter: the right to hear all points, the right to discuss, the right to let it settle, the right to think about and research this and not make it a quick decision or on emotion," said Township Treasurer Jim Wenger.

The township board voted unanimously to have Caruso return in 30 days with a written opinion.

Until that time, any action on the scenic easements is also tabled for 30 days, including that requested by Mario D'Agostini, owner of White Lake Development, and Robert Mollicone, head of sales and marketing for the Pine Knob Enclaves.

Don't listen to nay sayers... fight Big Box

Dear Editor,

Independence Township and Clarkston indeed face a long, difficult fight to keep Big Box development out. Of that there is no doubt. I do strongly disagree, however, with the nay sayers who have recently written to the Clarkston community on the Opinion Page.

While it is true that fighting mega developers and national Big Box retailers is a hard fight, it can be won. They will not simply go away because we say one time we don't want them. This will be a fight in which hundreds of residents, the township government and planning consultants must band together to show that our community is not the place for their monstrous, regional structures. We've never allowed them, we have intentionally developed with a small town, bedroom community atmosphere and we will continue to insist upon orderly growth that fits the needs of our residents.

Harry Knitter and Teresa Coventry have both written letters basically telling us all to give up before the fight and just accept the fact that Big Box always wins and we should just let them steamroll over the wonderful community we have built.

Big Box does not always win. Charlevoix has successfully fought off Wal-Mart and there are communities all across America that have done the same. Entire organizations have been established to fight off this threat in communities large and small.

Ms. Coventry lamented that Clarkston no longer has liveries, coopers, milliners and other old-fashioned businesses. Times do change and progress does dictate that some industries fade while others blossom. That does not mean we should all just give up everything we know and love and shop only at Big Box retailers. There is plenty of room in the retail environment for all sizes of development. We need to make sure Independence and Clarkston have the ones best suited for us.

Don't give up the fight! Just say no to Big Box and we can protect our quality residential community.

A 'Locks of Love' story from Red

Hi, my name is Red. I've had long hair for seven years, one third of my life. My hair has always been a part of my identity; it is also very symbolic of my heart.

I grew my hair in rebellion and defiance. My hair would never grow past my shoulders, and once did I became determined - long hair would distinguish me from others. I would be unique.

It was also a way to hide. I had always used my hair to hide in some way, but with the added length it was showing the added bricks to the walls inside my heart.

I had read a story of a girl who was much like me.

She had hip length blond hair and used it to hide. I was determined to find such a comfort in my hair. Comfort in my walls. She was described as a beautiful girl who couldn't see her own beauty and thought herself ugly. I thought I was ugly.

I always held this belief that once I got older, I would grow into beauty. So long hair was a tool I could use to hide behind until I became beautiful. My long hair was not only hiding me physically, but was symbolic of me hiding emotionally. I learned a long time ago that I was

A healthy 'thank-you'

The Independence Township Senior Center and United Health Organization would like to thank Reverend Marty Hall, Lisa Oja, Carole Masters and staff of First Congregational Church of Clarkston for their outstanding contribution in collaborating with us on the Project Healthy Living (Health-O-Rama) event on April 2. One hundred and three adults of all ages took advantage of the free and low-cost health screenings.

A special thanks to senior center volunteer nurses Louis Seddon, Mary Lou Schell, Gerta Powell and Bev Walters who recruited the volunteer medical professionals and worked so diligently to develop this community health program.

Medical screenings and literature were provided by OCC Nursing School, POH Medical Center, Dr. Cabrera, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Pulmonary Function Lab, Beaumont Rehab, Physiotherapy Associates, Oakland County Health Division, Karmanos Institute, O'Gawa Dermatology, Dr. Bruce Tabak, Clarkston Medical Group, Quest Diagnostics, Carol Lippencott and Independence Township Fire Department EMS.

We would like to thank the senior center and church volunteers who learned the procedures and manned the stations with great care. We all enjoy the delicious breakfast and lunch prepared by church volunteers with donations from Dunkin' Donuts, Big Apple Bagels, Hungry Howie's, Sashabaw Market Square, Quiznos and R.T. Specialists. Thanks also to Dave Smith at State Farm for the bags and pens.

It was due to the cooperation from many entities in the community that we were able to offer the Project Healthy Living event Clarkston.

In memory of Sasha...

Being a reporter, I should have done my research - but when I saw that little face, our bond became an instantaneous love. It was a love that I cannot begin to describe; however, I have to dig deep into myself and explain to everyone my latest story. This is the story of Christina and Sasha.

I have wanted a Maltese puppy since I was a little girl. We were never allowed to keep animals in the house so I finally grew up, saved up and brought one of my dreams to life - I brought home my one-pound, white-haired baby Maltese and I called her Sasha.

This is where I find trouble writing, because this is where the trouble began.

I picked her up on March 10, and just two short hours later, Sasha stopped breathing and almost died. Thankfully, a dog trainer was present and he performed CPR on her. After a couple deep breaths, Sasha came to, I was fast off to the Animal Emergency Hospital.

To my surprise, Sasha had been mistreated from the breeder. She was not properly taken care of; resulting in a sugar level drop 60 points below average - she was hypoglycemic. Also, she was sold to me too young, and she was stressed without her mother.

I was beside myself. I kept thinking, what type of person does this? Who, in their right mind, would sell a puppy to someone, knowing she came with health issues? If she had been breeding for years, as she said, then she would be an honest person and not sell a sick puppy to another. There is not only the attachment, but also the emotions gained.

I did what any person would do and contacted the breeder, who in turn wanted nothing to do with me. She even had the audacity to blame Sasha's condition on me. A few days had passed and I took Sasha into the vet for her follow up. Again, I became surprised.

Sasha had an open fontanelle, or soft spot. This is normal for puppies; however, for an eight-week-old puppy, the fontanelle should have been a great deal smaller, or completely closed. This problem would eventually lead to other problems. Sasha could develop water on the brain and suffer from seizures.

All of this information hit me hard. I had to deal with a puppy that suffered from hypoglycemia, and now her beautiful little head had problems.

Now, the day is April 5, and my puppy was put to sleep. Her condition had worsened and her time was near. The vet advised me that this was the best thing for Sasha, and even though I have never felt this type of pain, I agreed for her sake.

She looked at me with confusion and began to lick my face. To date that was the hardest moment in my life. I told her I was sorry, kissed her as many times as I could before handing her over to the doctor.

I am emotional, but even more, I am an angry person right now. I will do whatever it takes to assure the breeder returns my $1,000.

I want to be very clear, I am not after the money; the principle is at hand, and I will not walk away and allow such a person to sit pretty while tears flow from the other side. I do not care what it takes or how much it will cost, I will resolve this.

I cannot seem to get one thing out of my head though. The vet told me that if the breeder had ever taken Sasha to the vet, they would have put her out of her misery in the beginning. Sadly, this is something that happens.

Unfortunately, it happened to everyone who ever met Sasha and to myself.

To the person responsible for hurting Sasha and myself: I tried very hard to find the words to describe your actions... there are none. The only thing I can come up with is that your actions were unacceptable, unethical and everything but humane.

Will I get a new puppy, absolutely. Anyone know a good and honest breeder? This is my reality.

Reality

A Look Back

At our community's history through the pages of
The Clarkston News

15 YEARS AGO (1990)

• School board reinstates $1.6 million in budget: The deep budget cuts that slashed Clarkston School programs and staff last year will be reinstated in the school budget for 1990-91— including money that could eliminate pay-to-play requirements and could reinstate the high school SEARCH program.

• Seven to run for two school seats: Seven candidates will run for two positions on the Clarkston Board of Education.

The two separate positions will become available in June; one is a four-year term and the other is a one-year term.

• 42 young people honored for community service: Shannon Duby is a card shark, and the patients at Grovecrest Continuing Care love her for it. Duby, who also lifts the spirits of Grovecrest patients in other ways, was one of 42 young people honored April 5 at the annual Youth Community Service Award Banquet at the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

25 YEARS AGO (1980)

• Pine Knob amusement park plans ready to go: A 12-ride amusement park at Pine Knob could be constructed before the music theater season begins.

Final site plans for the facility are to go before the Independence Township Planning Commission Thursday, April 24.

• School board candidates file, Reickel decides not to seek re-election: Four candidates have filed for the two Clarkston Board of Education seats that go on the June 9 school election ballot.

• Village to force septic ban: The Clarkston Village Council has ruled unanimously to proceed with court action, forcing the last remaining 17 village homes with septic systems to tie into the sewer line.

50 YEARS AGO (1955)

• Juniors Sponsor Paper Drive: Remember to have all waste paper bundled and at the curb early on Saturday morning, April 16th. This drive is being sponsored by the juniors at Clarkston High School. They are trying to build up their treasury for the senior trip.

• Women's Chorus At St. Andrew's: A return engagement will be kept by the Pontiac Women's Chorus on Sunday evening, April 17th, when it returns to St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Drayton Plaines, at 7:30, bringing an 'Eastertide and Springtime' concert.

• Cancer Fund Drive April 17-23: Since the united fund in Independence Township did not give anything to the Cancer Fund a drive for this purpose will be held here during the week of April 17-23.

One man can change the world

As it has been since history has been recorded, in the time which we live today there is much turmoil. That said, with the passing of Pope John Paul II, we all -- Christian, Jew, Hindu, Muslim and atheist alike, can find and be a vessel of good.

It is not "good" that he has passed, rather that he lived. You don't have to agree lock stock and barrel with all the man said and did to see he is a man who should be admired. From where he came to what he became is a tremendous story of courage and faith. I believe he is also a role model for all who want to be a part of this modern world. And, while I have thought this for a long time, it wasn't until I read an e-mail from my wife's cousin in Poland, that it really hit home.

don't rush
me

The letter is from Ewa (pronounced Eva -- as I have learned there are no V's in the Polish alphabet) Kwiatek-Sokolowska. It was to Jennie's mom, Ewa's aunt, Maria Cottrell of Independence Township. Ewa is a young woman who is in her twenties.

Ciocia Marysiu (Aunt Maria),

It was so nice to receive your e-mail. It is very good to know that you are all doing well. I often speak to my mom about you and your family, and we wonder what are you doing at the time we talk.

We are doing OK, spring has finally arrived to Poland and we are having sunny warm days. I cannot say these are happy days -- because whole Poland is in mourning after John Paul's passing away. It is very hard to describe what is really happening because it is in the way people talk, look at each other, behave.

What you can see -- almost everyone is wearing black or white colors. Almost every house is decorated with Vatican's or Polish flag. Shops, malls, cinemas are completely empty. Almost in every family there is someone who is going to be in Rome this Friday (April 8).

In front of every church there are candles, photos of Pope, letters to him. There are spontaneous marches and masses with thousands of people in every city, everyday. We talk almost only about Pope's journeys to Poland, about funny things he used to say and important things he tried to express.

TV and radio -- only classic music and programs about him. What you cannot see -- almost everyone cries every day at home or at church. What I cannot believe is that these days many of my friends who haven't been to church for years, confessed and had Communion.

It is really something unique what is happening now and, Ciocia, I wish you could see and feel it. And what is the most important thing, it is not only about being sad. We are sad of course, on the other hand everyone knows Pope is in a better place now.

It is more like people are awoken now. It is more like we all forgot about him and he had to die to let us realize what he has done for Poland and for everyone here. And it is like everyone wants to express being sorry that we do not live the way he wanted us to. And say to him that we love him very much.

It may sound pathetic, but it is really true. These are in some way wonderful days. I just wanted you to know that.

And I really wish you could be here to feel this solidarity which is so weird, but true.

With many kisses, Ewa

The man who would become arguably the most recognized man in the world, was the son of soldier. His mother died while he was still a boy. His older brother died young. He was hit by a street car and later in life by a truck. He worked in a stone quarry. He saw his country overrun by Nazis and then communists. He survived an assassin's bullet. He was the catalyst that helped bring an end to the "Cold War."

One person wrote of him as "a resilient enemy of Communism and champion of human rights, a powerful preacher and sophisticated intellectual able to defeat Marxists in their own line of dialogue."

Yet, just like the rest of us, he was only one person. In this world of billions, one man can make a difference. His touch to his family, friends and community can be one of love and kindness and greatness. As Ewa wrote me later, the Pope was a gift. We all are a gift, maybe not opened.

To my sons and all the sons and daughters who may read this: one man, one woman can change the world for the better, you only need look to Karol Jozef Wojtyla -- the man would become Pope.

Here, Shayna; come girl; Don't leave me, Shayna

For exercise I like to walk. And so my dog doesn't get bored I've taken to finding/visiting new, exciting places to exercise.

On a recent day the new "exciting" place was Meijer's parking lot in Oxford. It's a half-mile around the extreme edges of their property, by car. Just a nice walk.

I hadn't noticed during that trip, dog Shayna had somehow slipped her collar, with leash attached, off her head. So, unknowingly, I grabbed my end of the leash, opened the door and ZOOM, out she went.

Sniffing as she went, and oblivious to my calls, she went into the ditches, back into the parking lot for lamppost sniffing, out across a berm and now out of sight and hearing.

I decided to go get the car, drive around, and when I saw her I'd hit the button to open the back door of our van (Shayna has yet to make a van payment yet it is ours.) She always responds to that noise, jumping in hopeful of a ride to anywhere.

I slowly circled the property twice, got out and looked over the berm, twice, drove up a bordering road and came back to Meijer.

As time passed I realized her license and name tag was in my hand and she had no identification. My mind wandered: When do I abandon this search? Do I give up on dogs all together? Is she really all that much of a companion, or more of nuisance? Maybe I'd travel more if I didn't have a dog.

Thought after thought as an hour passed. This circle I'll take the far outside lanes instead of close to the building.

Looking down each drive between parked cars and toward the store . . . I, what's that brown and white thing? Make the turn and see Shayna laying on her back on the blacktop, feet extended skyward, tongue hanging out in glee while a lady scratched her belly.

She was happy as a pig in manure. As I neared I punched the door-opening button and Shayna jumped in. Turns out the lady is a dog-trainer and she was on her cell phone calling animal rescue.

While thanking the lady, her young son leaned out her car door and said, "Take better care of your dog, mister."

Yeah, right! But, where's the dog's responsibility?

Here's a commercial for Bob's Place, "Civilized Food & Drink," in Alanson, MI, 7572 Burr Road. Daughter Luan and family have eaten there many times, and took me there to buy their dinners on one of their ski trips. Nice place with fine food, delightfully and quickly served by Helen Stavouy.

I'm so proud of our grandson Dan Offer. In just three semesters at Michigan State he tells me he is a Custodial Arts Engineer.

One more commercial. This one is for Bella-cino's in West Branch. George Bubnes, former owner of the IGA Foodliner in Oxford, built a really fine restaurant on the west edge of town and took on the Bellacino franchise. It's quickly served food in a very nice setting.

Clarkston native reaching for the stars

BY CHRISTINA ULAJ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

She was a Clarkston High School graduate; she auditioned for Nashville Star; and she is no stranger to bright lights.

Beth Stalker, mentioned in The Clarkston News "Where Are They Now" section, continues to showcase her musical talent.

Stalker continues to remain active with her music and performs in local spots, like The Clarkston Cafe. But, has her talent gone unnoticed?

Stalker recently announced she is nominated for six Detroit Music Awards.

"If you live in Southeast Michigan and have any involvement in the music business, you are eligible to vote," said Stalker in a press release.

If that is not enough for this Clarkston native, Stalker's music video "Here With You Now" will play on Spirit Television. Finally, Stalker is in the process of finishing her first jazz/soul album, which should be available by the end of April.

"Lots of fun stuff happening," said Stalker. "Thanks for your support."

Stalker performs every Thursday night at The Clarkston Cafe. For more information, visit beth@bethstalker.com.

Celebrate good deeds, positive leadership, differences

The world watched as Pope John Paul II was laid to rest last week. I felt it was remarkable to see people from all walks of life, different religions and differing circumstances come together to pay homage to an individual who led by example.

Certainly the world has changed since John Paul II became Pope in 1979; and one of the traits that made him an exceptional leader was his ability to bring about needed change while holding true to the unalterable tenants of his faith.

It shouldn't be surprising that good people from around the world took some time to celebrate the life and works of a positive and loving man.

In today's column, I propose that the world would be infinitely better if we learned from the events of last week. We really shouldn't need the death of a world leader to remind us that it is wise and good to set time aside to celebrate good deeds, to acknowledge those who make a difference in our life or in the life of the community, and to expect the best from one another.

Please permit me to "practice what I preach" by congratulating The Clarkston News for serving the Clarkston area for 75 years.

The changes that have taken place in our community over that time period are phenomenal; yet this newspaper has consistently made it a priority to recognize the students and staff of the Clarkston School District for their accomplishments.

I congratulate Jim Sherman and his associates for their role in helping our citizens celebrate their schools!

Likewise, the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce has been a presence in our community through the years!

Their members have been a constant source of support for one another, and for the clients they serve.

Presently they are engaged in a project called Leadership

Clarkston. This project is about building collaboration and partnerships.

The chamber also accentuates the positive by hosting an annual community breakfast reception to honor people, groups and organizations that have made a difference in our community. In addition, the chamber is presently reviewing applications for scholarships that will be offered to graduating seniors. Such efforts display consistent, positive leadership and it should be acknowledged.

By the way, please consider nominating a worthy citizen for one of the Chamber's Citizen of the Year awards. Information can be found on the chamber website. Congratulations to Penny Shanks and her team on a job well done!

The school board is yet another example of positive, productive leadership. This seven member board is in the midst of guiding our school system through significant changes.

They do their homework, listen to citizens and make decisions within a framework that always focuses on that which is best for close to 8,000 students. They understand the mission of public education and refuse to politicize situations for personal gain.

Congratulations to Karen Foyteck, Steve Hyer, Sheila Hughes, Ron Sullivan, John Koval, Joan Patterson and Barry Bomier for their constructive leadership and for their commitment to build an academic program that is second to none.

As for our school employees, I can honestly say that I have never worked with a more dedicated group of professionals. These are people who care deeply about the community's children and understand that we must continue to work hard to help our kids be the best they can be. Their focus on best practices and research findings, and their dedication to high quality public education is still another reason to celebrate Clarkston.

Readers can take pride in growing numbers of Blue Ribbon Schools, the increasing numbers of highly academic courses that are being offered to our youngsters and by our desire to maintain those long-term traits that best describe our community. Integrity, honesty, hard work, fiscal prudence and achievement (academic, athletic and in the arts) are more than words here in Clarkston.

Given the rapid changes taking place around us, I propose that everyone take a few minutes to celebrate someone or something that contributes to our community. By celebrating together we can continue to build upon our successes and create a positive future for all.

SMS honors reading club winners

Sashabaw Middle School students rose to the challenge and exceeded the goal of 450 books for their winter reading incentive program, the Cougar Book Club. The program concluded April 6 with a grand prize drawing.

The program began in January when Media Specialist Joanne Steckling visited every language arts class to present book talks on the 16 selected books. The students earned a raffle ticket for each book read, and weekly winners received passes to Pine Knob, Star Theater at Great Lakes Crossing or Game Works.

Students who read at least five books were entered in the grand prize drawing. During the morning news program last Wednesday, Assistant Principal Glenn Gualtieri drew the grand prize winners: Meghna Dhir won a $50 gift certificate to Meijers and Danny McKean won a $100 gift certificate.

In addition, nine students were recognized for reading 15 or more books: Matt Buckley, 8th grade; Mike Buckley, 7th grade; Kortni Chrisman, 8th grade; Zach Comos, 7th grade; Spencer Ford, 8th grade; Evan Markarian, 8th grade; Danny McKean, 8th grade; Jillian Schwab, 8th grade; and Lydia Sherwood, 7th grade.

These students received a gift card to Borders' Books for $10 and an invitation to lunch with author Pam Flowers, who will visit Sashabaw on April 26.

When asked what he liked best about the Cougar Book Club, sixth grader Johnny Williams responded, "All the fun, funny, exciting books."

Mrs. Steckling was especially pleased with the number of boys who participated.

"We hear that boys tend not to be readers," said Steckling. "That doesn't seem to be the case at Sashabaw. This is the second year that the majority of students who read 15 books were boys."

The Cougar Book Club is sponsored by generous donations from the Sashabaw PTA, Meijers of Auburn Hills, Star Theaters and Pine Knob Ski Resort.

Local church reaches out to help Haiti

BY CHRISTINA ULAJ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Passion, a love for volunteering, and a good heart is the key to reaching others.

The Church of the Resurrection in Clarkston carries all of these traits, and is a part of the Detroit Haiti Outreach program.

These churches travel to Mirebalais, Haiti and work with the Roman Catholic church and school and Episcopal church and school.

The mission began eight-years-ago with Roger and Dr. Dominique Matthews. The mission group has built a clinic to serve about 1,000 families.

"Since 1997, we have built and completed the clinic," said Fr. Don Duford, Pastor Church of the Resurrection.

The clinic has eight exam rooms for doctors, a surgical suite, a dental suite, pharmacy and waiting rooms.

"Annually, 1,500 children have been inoculated and received fluorination for their teeth," said Fr. Duford.

The mission has also added a second floor to St. Pierre's School, and a four - room high school was built.

The mission has painted the churches and made repairs while upgrading technology with microphone systems and cooking utensils.

The mission group will be traveling to Haiti in May to complete the current project of an orphanage, bakery and a library dedicated to St. Pierre's.

Once the current projects are completed, the mission group will begin to build a hospital to accommodate the 360,000 people in the area.

"This will be a multi-year project and an enormous undertaking," said Fr. Duford.

Fr. Duford works closely with two Haitian priests, providing administrative leadership and is the spiritual director.

This year, about 40 people from the Detroit area will travel to Mirebalais, Haiti.

Fr. Duford will take a Rotary Flag from the Clarkston Rotary Club to Haiti to present Yves Germaine, who started a Rotary Club in Mirebalais.

Fr. Duford hopes the two clubs can work together in the future to benefit the people and children of Haiti.

"Once one goes to Haiti, you become addicted to serving others," said Fr. Duford. "You realize you can never give away a good gift, it always comes back."

Case of Springfield sexual assault suspect still pending

Local man pleads guilty to computer porn charges

BY DON SCHELSKE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

An Independence Township man faces sentencing on April 25 after pleading guilty to 10 counts of computer-related pornography crimes.

Nicholas Michael Baker, 20, entered the plea on March 21, according to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Matthew Roth.

There were "no deals," Roth said of the case, which developed through a Pennsylvania state trooper's investigation into distribution of pornography over the Internet.

"I think we had a rock solid case," Roth said, giving credit to interstate law enforcement cooperation. "It was a real good investigation."

Following a tip from the Pennsylvania trooper (who reported tracing pornographic images of children to a file server at Baker's address), the Oakland County Sheriff computer crimes unit arrested

Nicholas Baker

Baker and confiscated his computer in December 2004.

Baker later admitted to having around

David Benton

4,000 pornographic images of children as young as two and three years old, reports said, in addition to having pornographic video files.

Formal charges included three counts of distributing child sexually abusive materials (a seven-year felony), two counts of possession of child sexually abusive materials (a four-year felony) and five companion charges of use of a computer in committing a crime (a four-year felony).

Despite the potential long prison sentence, Roth said Circuit Judge Fred M. Mester may find that Baker qualifies for "youthful trainee status," an option available to first offenders between ages 17-21. The judge could allow a shorter jail term, community service and probation, the successful completion of which could allow the felony charges to be expunged. That would also allow Baker to be exempted from the state sex offender registry.

Baker has been in counseling, Roth said, and the counselor's report will be presented to the judge with the probation department's pre-sentencing report.

Another local case involving charges of computer-related pornography is moving through the court system more slowly.

A circuit court pre-trial conference for David N. Benton, 44, of Springfield Township, has been postponed again until April 19.

Assistant prosecutor Hala Jarbou said last week that Benton's attorney needed more time to review the charges, which include two counts of criminal sexual conduct-second degree (children under 13), eight counts of possession of child sexually-abusive material and eight counts of using a computer to commit a crime.

Benton was arrested in November 2004 after a woman employed to clean Benton's home came across evidence of pornography.

Investigators found evidence of pornography on Benton's computers, then interviewed two children who were allegedly victims of sexual assault by Benton.

Armed robbery reported at gasoline station

The Oakland County Sheriff's Office is investigating a report of an armed robbery at the Shell gasoline station on Sashabaw Road near I-75 shortly after 1 a.m. on April 9.

According to deputy reports, a man came into the station, waited for other customers to leave, then implied that he had a gun in his pocket.

"Are you going to give it to me?" the suspect allegedly asked the clerk. When the clerk asked what he was talking about, the suspect allegedly said, "Do you want me to kill you?" while pointing at his pocket.

The clerk left the cash drawer on the top of the counter, allowing the suspect to take about $75 cash before leaving the store.

The clerk called 9-1-1, and sheriff units converged on the scene. A K-9 unit was able to track the suspect's path to the nearby Ruby Tuesday's restaurant, but lost the scent there, reports said.

The suspect was described as 5 feet, 4 inches tall with a red bandana covering his face. He wore a University of North Carolina hooded pullover sweatshirt, blue jeans and brown leather gloves. He reportedly used a "squeaky" voice.

The clerk told deputies that a friend who works for a gasoline station in Orion Township said he was robbed twice by a similar suspect. Independence Township investigators plan to cooperate with the Orion substation in the investigation, reports said.

The gasoline station had a surveillance camera in operation, but not in a compatible format for sheriff investigators, who on Monday said they were still waiting for the business to provide a copy of the video.

Move seen as only way to ensure barn restoration

Board to allow McCord farm to go residential

BY JENNY MATTESON
Clarkston News Editor

The Independence Township Board is taking yet another step to try to save the McCord farmhouse.

At the April 5 regular board meeting, trustees voted unanimously to amend the planned unit development agreement between Stonewall Farms LLC and the township.

Currently, the agreement states the McCord property, including the old farmhouse, barn and other outbuildings on 2.23 acres of land located on Pine Knob Road, must be used for "public use or purpose." The board voted to amend the PUD agreement to make the purpose to restore the building, but allow for residential use.

"We checked with a title insurance company and they will not cover the home for residential use (under the current PUD agreement)," said township attorney Kathryn Caruso. "They want us to amend the PUD agreement."

Trustee Dan Travis motioned to

"A great deal of introspect went into finding any possible way to make this viable," he stated. "The money to do that, even to stabilize the barn, was a very high outbuildings were given to the township by Stonewall Farms, LLC several years ago.

The property originally belonged to the Stickney-McCord families. Janet Stickney McCord sold the property to Stonewall Farms, LLC, which then transferred a portion of the property to Independence Township during some development negotiations.

"It's a shame to see how it's been deteriorating over all these years," said Supervisor Dave Wagner. "It's a truly beautiful property."

The township board unanimously approved the motion, and the PUD agreement will now go to the planning commission for amendment.

According to Caruso, the work at the planning commission stage can take 30-45 days.

After planning commission approval, another 30 days will be needed to bid the project to developers, who will restore the home and adapt the structure to residential use.

Keller Williams Realty announces expansion of services

Keller Williams Realty, Clarkston Market Center, announced its office is expanding because of its growing agent base.

The Market Center is relocating to new and larger offices at 6510 Town Center Drive, Suite D, near the intersection of Waldon and Sashabaw Roads just south of the I-75.

Matt Ochs, operating principal, Tim Winter, owner/broker and Paul Tompor, team leader, will continue with this expanded Keller Williams Realty office to offer exceptional service to buyers and sellers in the Tri-County area including Oakland, Genesee and Lapeer counties.

In addition, the commercial development department, headed by Mr. Bill Ballard, is looking forward to the additional space in which to serve the company's growing list of commercial clients.

"Keller Williams is proud to enlarge its presence in the Clarkston area," said Mo Anderson, CEO of Keller Williams Realty. "Our company has a policy of limiting its market presence by selecting only the premier partners in any given area. These individuals are top producers, or have the potential to be so.

"By maintaining our standards of excellence, we can provide Keller Williams Realty customers with the best real estate experience possible," Anderson said.

Clarkston Market Center's affiliation with Keller Williams has been in operation just a little over a year. The new offices will be located at 6510 Town Center Dr., Suite D.

Golf gets into swing of things early

BY NOAH PURCELL

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Like spring Crocuses, the girls golf team bloomed early this season winning their first match

of the year 201-211 against Troy.

"There was a lot of nervousness at the first tee. The team is still getting to know each other. It is going to take two or three weeks for everybody to get used to one another," said Clarkston Coach Larry Sherril.

Minjoo Lee was Clarkston's medalist on the day with a score of 45. Filling out the score card for the Wolves were Jackie Schram with a 47, Courtney Henderson's 54 and Lyndsey Kitson's 55.

While the sky was clear, both teams had to battle winds early in the day, but once the golfers disappeared into the forest of Oakhurst Country Club's golf course, the wind was mostly negated.

"The only time the wind was really bad was on the first tee and they were so nervous at that point it did not matter anyway," said Sherril.

The match against Troy was the start of a busy week of golf for Clarkston. The Wolves match against Brandon on April 13 finished too late for this edition of The Clarkston News. After Brandon, Clarkston will host Rochester Adams on April 14.

Sherril feels after the Wolves have three matches under their belts, the team will take a look back on the week and determine their strengths and weaknesses going forward.

A 7-1 defeat of Avondale on April 7 has the Wolves' boys tennis team leaping into spring.

"We just wanted to get our first win under our belts," said Clarkston Coach Chaz Claus. "You can think about what you have in practice, but you never know how the kids will do in competition until they get out there."

In Claus' opinion, Clarkston was carried by the strong play of their doubles teams.

Clarkston's number two doubles, sophomore Chris Graczyk and junior Pat McIlraith defeated Kevin Portelli and Josh Waldorf 6-1, 6-0.

The Wolves three (junior Zach McDonald and senior Dan Osterhage) and four (juniors Chris Hammond and Sean Kurowski) doubles pairings also dispatched their opponents in two straight sets.

"Our two, three and four doubles really put the match away early for us," said Claus.

Also playing well for the Wolves was junior Erik Maesch, Clarkston's number four singles who trounced Avondale's Jeff Rybak 6-2, 6-3.

Senior Amit Surapaneni triumphed in two straight sets as well in the number one singles spot.

Sophomore Zach Kerr vanquished Avondale's number two single, Faleh Syed, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Clarkston's seventh victory in match play came at the number one doubles spot as seniors Paul Chun and Paul Gunckle rallied to defeat Kris Howard and Jeff Pawlowski 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Clarkston's record is now 1-0 on the season. Last year the Wolves went 1-7-1.

The Clarkston tennis team's next two matches are both at home, Lake Orion's Dragons come calling on April 14 followed by the Rochester Falcons on April 19.

Just because the NHL season was cancelled does not mean the Detroit metro-area is not home to some of the best hockey in the nation.

Two Clarkston seventh graders, Brandon Graham and Jack Schlau, recently helped the PeeWee AA Michigan Eagles win a state championship and finish in second place at the USA National Hockey Championships in Voorhees, New Jersey.

"When we started out, the national championships seemed really far away," said Schlau, a right wing who plays from corner to corner and is "more of a passer than a shooter."

"(Playing in the national championship tournament) was really cool. It was a pretty big crowd. It took a minute before I got over the nervousness," said Graham, who from the center position is a playmaker for his teammates.

On their way to the national championship game Schlau and Graham's team railed off five victories against competitors from as far away as Alaska and New York. The Eagles also went 8-0 in district play in Michigan and triumphed over the reigning state champions, Grosse Pointe, 4-3 in overtime for the opportunity to play on the national level.

"Winning states was awesome. (Grosse Pointe) had beaten us the year before," said Graham.

With a travel season featuring 70 games with practices sprinkled in between, both boys have been able to maintain straight A's in school; Schlau at Clarkston Middle School and Graham at Sashabaw Middle School.

"I always have to do my homework before sports. Sometimes on the way to sports," said Schlau, who began skating at the age of three, earning the nickname "Forest Gump on skates."

Playing for such a select hockey team means the boys are not on the ice with their next door neighbors. The Eagles are comprised of children from 11 different metro area cities.

Both boys felt the other's presence on the team helped because they know they have a kindred spirit just a mile or so away.

"I know I have someone that I can always hang out with," said Graham, who started skating when he was four years old.

Aside from hockey, both boys play a large assortment of sports and will be teammates again on a high-level travel baseball team this summer. Both boys somehow also find the time to play basketball although when they reach high school playing both sports will become impossible.

The boys agree playing middle school sports has left a lasting impression on them.

"It seems pretty cool to be playing for my city," said Schlau, perhaps foreshadowing Wolves' hockey's next great duo.

2005 Girls Golf

Despite losing four of the six starters from last year's team, which finished 11th at the State finals, the coaching association's preseason girls golf poll has the Wolves at No. 10 in Division I.

"We will be competitive this year. Right now our weakness is our youth," said Clarkston Coach Larry Sherril. "I would be happy with steady improvement over the season."

Returning to help carry the Wolves this year is two-time All-League golfer junior Jackie Schram. Sherril feels that senior Lyndsey Kitson will also play a big role for the team this year.

As far as competition in the league, Sherril feels that Rochester is "always the team to beat."

"Last year as the season went on we got stronger and stronger," said Sherril. "The more the girls (this year) play together, the more they will come together as a team."

Sherril also feels regional draw could be tough this year as the Wolves could meet up with last year's State champion, Grand Blanc.

Upcoming matches for the Wolves golf team: (Matches played at Oakhurst Country Club) 4/7 vs. Lake Orion postponed; 4/11 Clarkston 201 Troy 211; 4/12 vs Brandon inc. 4/13 vs. Rochester Adams.

Even superstars make mistakes

By Ernie Harwell

In baseball there is an old saying that if you get three hits out of 10 times at bat, you're a big league star. A guy who in his whole career makes seven mistakes out of 10 is considered a superstar.

I think we all have to remember that we all make mistakes. We just have to accept them, hitch up our britches, pull up our socks and go ahead and get to the next project.

A perfectionist really has a tough time in life, because we're all human and we're all going to fall short once in awhile. If we just realize that, we can save ourselves a lot of worry and stress that can affect our mental and physical health.

That doesn't mean we don't try to do our best. But if we accept that we can't always be perfect, we can keep our feet on the ground and our heads up. We won't always get a hit, but we can keep on swinging.

And please remember to take care of your health before it's lonngggg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and Blue Care Network, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns titled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Soccer evens record with Kettering win

BY NOAH PURCELL

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Having already managing a 2-2 tie against Stevenson on April 6 and suffering a 5-0 defeat to Stoney Creek on April 7, the Clarkston Wolves evened their record at 1-1-1 with a 1-0 win against Kettering.

While the score of the game was close, the actual play on the field was not. Clarkston allowed only one shot attempt on their net and were constantly clogging up the Kettering box with crosses and shots on goal.

Clarkston Coach Annette Richardson would have liked to see the Wolves convert on more of their opportunities around the net.

"Our shots weren't really on goal. We have to take our time in front of the net and finish our crosses," said Richardson.

Clarkston senior midfielder Jenna Przybycien gave the Wolves their lone goal with 31:28 remaining in the first half on a corner kick which pinballed off Kettering players in front of the net before nestling into the back of the goal.

"Clarkston is a good team. You can gauge yourself against them," said Kettering Coach Tony Williams.

After scoring the eventual game-winner, Clarkston continued attacking the Kettering net. For the first 30 minutes of the game, the ball hardly graced the Wolves defensive pitch. Kettering did make some runs at the Clarkston net towards the end of the half, but was unable to sustain enough pressure to crack the Wolves defenses.

"(Our one goal lead) was quite scary. When you play a team like (Kettering) anything can happen," said Richardson.

In the Wolves first game of the season against Stevenson on April 6, Senior Taylor Hosner and Lauren Smith were the goalscorers in a 2-2 tie.

Next up for Clarkston is a matchup against Kimball at home on April 14, followed by an away game against Waterford Mott (at Pierce Middle School) on April 18 and a home tilt versus West Bloomfield on April 19.

Wolves' baseball open season 2-3

The Clarkston boys baseball team has shown some growing pains having opened the season with a 2-3 record.

"Nobody's really beaten us this year, we've beaten ourselves. We have had a lot of errors so far. I sort of expected that because we are so young," said Clarkston Coach Phil Price. "As the season goes along, I am sure those things will work themselves out."

The Wolves opened the season with a 9-8 win against Davison on April 4, but then lost to Troy Athens 13-2 on April 6. Clarkston then went 1-1 at the Kalamazoo Valley Tournament before dropping another game on April 11 to Farmington in a 9-4 defeat.

After being on the road for four of their first five games the Wolves will get the chance to play in front of their home fans for the next three. On April 14, Clarkston will host Rochester, Kimball will come calling on April 18 and the home stand will wrap up on April 20 against Troy High.

Track previews

GIRLS - This year's girls track team's backbone will be supplied by the members of the Wolves State champion girls cross country team.

Clarkston Coach John Yorke feels that Liz Mengyan, Jenny Morgan, Gillian Nordquist, Anne Oltman, Lisa Sickman, Elle Kuhta, Lindsay Smith and Beth Hoekstra dominance in the distance events will go a long way for the Wolves. Four-year varsity member Stephanie Parkin's deft hurdle heats will also help the Wolves as they reach for their goals of league and regional titles.

This is Yorke's first year as head coach of the girls track team, having taken over from Jamie Labrosse, the girls cross country coach, who will concentrate on the distance runners this season.

"We (Yorke and Labrosse) are just switching positions. His focus will be on the distance runners, while I will focus on different events," said Yorke, who has been involved in the track program for 10 years at Clarkston.

Yorke feels that Pontiac Northern will be a tough opponent for the Wolves this year in the league and Grand Blanc is the team to watch in the region.

According to Yorke, the Wolves' competitors in the field events are young, but there is great potential there.

Clarkston won their first dual meet of the season 97-82 against Rochester Adams on April 7. Yorke was somewhat surprised that Adams did not give the Wolves more trouble.

Clarkston's matchup with Southfield on April 12 finished too late for this edition of The Clarkston News. Next up for the Wolves is away meets at BOYS - Having already equaled their win total from last year with an 80-48 victory over Rochester Adams, the Clarkston boys track team is off and running this season.

Last year the track team finished the season with an 1-5 record in dual meets.

"Our program is based on three things: run as hard as you can, do the best that you can and improve every race," said Clarkston Coach Walt Wyniemo, who has coached boys track at Clarkston for 26 years.

Coming into the season, Clarkston has only five seniors on their 63 man team.

Wyniemo feels the Wolves will find a source of strength from, of all places, their strength events: shot-put and discus. However, Wyniemo is reserving judgement of his team until they are immersed in the season.

"Sometimes a young man doesn't show what he is capable of until a competition," said Wyniemo.

The boys track team's meet against Southfield on April 12 finished too late for this edition of The Clarkston News. The boys next action is April 14 at Troy High followed by another away meet on April 19 against Lake Orion.

Volunteers wash cars to help fight cancer...

On April 9, Oxford Bank in Clarkston conducted a car wash to support the work of the American Cancer Society. Oxford Bank employees, like Angela Williams, volunteered their time washing cars, selling hot dogs and other good treats to those willing to make a donation.

Shred-It Day a success in Clarkston

T&C Federal Credit Union held its first free Shred-It Day on March 19 at the new Clarkston branch. The event was available for both members and staff to do a little "Identity Spring Cleaning." Over a ton of material was shredded including some documents dating all the way back to 1954. The shredding equipment was provided by Iron Mountain, T&C Federal's document shredding company. All participants received a 10 percent off coupon for the purchase of a shredder at participating Kmart stores. T&C Federal Credit Union plans to hold another Shred-It Day in the near future. Expo ment of the people who are in it," she said. "This is not a program. It's a tool. It is more about connecting and awareness of building community."

The event is also about fun. More than 20 businesses will offer door prizes; Jim Tedder Productions will provide music and the morning will be filled with demonstrations.

The Independence Township Fire Department will have fire trucks on display; Waterford Hills Racing and the Michigan Midget Racing Association will bring cars for display; Oakland County Parks will bring their "moonwalk" attraction; and attendees will enjoy demonstrations from groups such as 4-H dog club members, Celtic dancers, the Spraymasters water ski team and a youth drama team from Sashabaw Presbyterian Church.

Keil is excited that young people themselves are part of the program. In addition to several youth organizations presenting their programs, middle school students Emily Allen and Emma Burder will make bracelets as part of a project to benefit the Make A Wish Foundation.

Keil believes the event will go far in helping channel other youths into positive activities.

"It is not enough to tell kids what we don't want them to do," she said. "We need to show them what's out there."

Through a partnership with Clarkston Community Education, the expo will also offer help to parents with several workshops throughout the morning. Keil said the school district was planning their event and coincidentally chose the same day as the expo. Working together seemed the logical choice, she said.

Admission to the expo is free of charge, but parent workshops have a $5 fee and require advance registration.

Keil is working with Alesha Keelean, who organized the first expo two years ago. Keelean did a great job, Keil said, then took last year off when she got married. The two joined to chair this year's expanded expo.

"I'm really excited about it," Keil said, predicting it will be a larger event each year. "We're going to keep doing this."

For more information on the expo, call Keil at 248-394-0334 or Keelean at 248-625-5092. For a full schedule of exhibitors, participants, sponsors and parent workshops, visit the Clarkston Coalition for Youth Web site at www.clarkstonyouth.org.

seen as childhood curiosity by a court?" asked Ofiara. "I am sure the parents who give the phones have only the best of intentions, but they are giving them a lot of room."

Many parents pay strict attention to the home internet behavior, but then give them a mobile internet terminal that they pay no attention to.

"As most kids are, if you give the inch they will take the mile," said Ofiara.

New downloading options are continually becoming available on cell phones. According to newstarget.com, Playboy is considering to market in cell phone internet to reach the older demographic, and X-rated movies will also become available for easy viewing.

What can be done?

Kids today have access to internet downloads through the push of a button on their cell phones. If parents are worried about this kind of behavior, they can disconnect the internet feature and get a phone without a camera.

Removing this option is simple - contact your cellular phone provider, either by phone or in person, and request the option be removed.

According to Ofiara, a cell phone in the hands of a teenager should be used for the sole purpose of emergencies.

"They should pay attention to the phone records and the phone itself. Often it is still their property," said Ofiara. "Pay attention to who their kids are talking to or text messaging. Many parents don't want to 'spy' on their kids, but then have the problem that they have no idea that their kids are in trouble until it's too late."

Easements

"People will find their own alternative routes if they know their way around," he said. Those who use M-15 as their daily commuter route, for example, have alternatives along county roads in Brandon Township.

There are still concerns, however. Congestion at Main Street and Clarkston Road has the worst potential, with detour traffic coming from all three directions.

At one point, Combs said, southbound traffic waiting to make a left turn onto Clarkston Road veered into the lane reserved for northbound traffic to make left turns onto Miller Road.

Although the incident did not turn violent, Combs said one motorist reported two others yelling at her last Wednesday, making a confusing situation more stressful.

"Not everybody is polite," Combs said.

Another potential problem is the illegal use of Robertson Court off Main Street to gain access to Clarkston Road. Combs said he does not wish to have his officers write a lot of tickets, but, "I'll do what I have to do" if problems arise.

Work on the Sashabaw Road bridge is expected to be finished by the end of May, before work is scheduled on the M-15 bridge over I-75. That MDOT project has local officials concerned, but Combs said there is little to do but grin and bear it.

"This is going to be the trend all summer long," the chief said. "Be patient, especially when the detours begin."

fee is $30 for all ages and passport photos on site are $15.

And now for the taxes... the postal service offers the following advice:

- Use pre-addressed labels when possible. Write clearly. Include a return address.

- Affix sufficient postage. One ounce is 37 cents. Weigh any tax return when unsure. Tax agencies do not accept postage due mail, tax returns bearing insufficient postage will be returned - meaning taxpayers may be penalized.

- Avoid the made rush at the post office. Mail returns in local mail collection boxes, but remember to make certain that the posted pick-up time has not passed to ensure returns will have an April 15 postmark.

- For customers sending original receipts to tax agencies, registered mail is a good choice.

- Make certain bulky envelopes are sealed and have adequate postage.

"No one wants to pay Uncle Same more than they have to just because they missed a deadline," said Haugen. "Getting the April 15 postmark assures that doesn't happen."

Proposal

2,800 square feet.

The preliminary plans call for private roads with 40-foot easements with an entrance off Sashabaw Road through a commercially zoned area. Also, a safety path will create a loop with the existing township infrastructure.

"It will be there; that's an important part," said Mollicone.

Finally, the plan calls for a new entryway to the Pine Knob Golf Course and developments. Although the specifics are not yet available for the design, Mollicone assured the board the bridge will be widened and some type of water display will be included.

"Entering into the Pine Knob community will be refreshing and exciting," said Mollicone. "We are looking for a win-win for all, not a one way street."

During public comment, a few individuals spoke in agreement with Mollicone's presentation. Jim Odett, a previous developer, complimented D'Agostini and Mollicone on the Enclaves development.

The developer for The Fairways at Pine Knob also spoke in support, "I was livid when I first heard of this plan, but after meeting with the development team, I found there was some flexibility. I have no problem with this development, and no vested interest. It would quiet down the area for The Fairways."

Ron Liles, a member of one of the homeowners' associations in Pine Knob, also spoke well of the plan,

"They worked with us, they listened to us... they changed their whole plan. As a homeowner, I'm all for the development... we don't object to that project as long as we have some say with the development."

Not everyone however was pleased with the proposal. Fiona Brown was unhappy with what she saw as a "threat" from the developer to build apartments.

"I feel very threatened by your remarks that you will build on the nine acres if we don't agree with this," she stated.

"My concern is that he is threatening with this," she said directly to the board.

Thomas Stone had several concerns. "It does bring to the light of day several topics that have been brought about behind the scenes."

Stone said he was uncomfortable with whether or not the term "scenic easements" were being used consistently. He felt it was important to understand the terms since "open spaces save communities money."

Resident Judy Cole said she would be pleased to "let the nine holes go wild."

"I'd be very happy to have it. I miss the deer, the wolves and the fox that disappeared when the Enclaves came in," she told the board.

Township board comments on the proposal were kept to a minimum. Many of the board members simply expressed the need for more information and time.

After all was presented, the township board unanimously tabled for 30 days any motions or decisions in relation to the presentation until after a legal opinion is received from township attorney Karlstrom Clooney, LLP in regard to scenic easements.

Letters to the Editor

beautiful, I just couldn't see it.

For about two years now I've felt that my long hair no longer represented who I was - I was still closed off and afraid of change. During this past year God has been opening me up more, giving me reasons to be more trusting and less afraid. It was time. Where there was fear, He placed trust; where there was rebellion, He placed obedience; and my walls broke down and He made me open. He is the protector of my heart. And only He can protect my heart. All of my wall... they don't protect me.

With this change in my life, I felt I needed to express it by cutting off my hair. It would profess that my heart has changed and I am not ugly and I am not afraid. I am not closed off emotionally.

My good friend Sara came with me and shed some tears when Maria (of Make Over Salon) made the first cut. I am glad she cried. It was the tears my soul couldn't produce because of the abounding joy that I was filled with. My loss was my gain.

I am five feet, three inches and my hair was two feet, five inches. I am donating twenty inches to Locks of Love and after trimming things up, my hair is seven inches long. I haven't had short hair since third grade, but this feels right.

I'm really excited about this new transformation in my life - forming a new chapter in my life.

I am also very glad that my friend Maria cut it off. Every time I've ever gone into a hair parlor to get my hair trimmed, they all dote on how beautiful it is and squeal about how I better not be in there to get it all copped off. But Maria understands hair and its symbolism. So she was very loving and even made me write about it on a card in her shop! She loves soul searching and growth.

Disappoint over twp. legal firm

Dear Editor:

Am I the only one who was shocked to see that the Independence Township legal firm was unprepared to give a written opinion about the Pine Knob easement at the April 5 Township Board meeting, even though the Board at its March meeting had requested such an opinion? Interestingly, a representative of that legal firm did give a verbal opinion, but did not produce documentation for that opinion.

Clarkston man likes Lyons' grit

Dear Editor,

Largely unnoticed deep in the sports pages of The Clarkston News last week was the selection of Scott Lyons as a Most Valuable Player of this year's Clarkston High School hoop squad. To a player whose time in the spotlight was as limited as his low-to-the-ground profile, Lyons deserved every accolade he was afforded by the coaching staff.

He wasn't touted as a high-scorer and, consequently, kept his shots to a minimum. With Brad Goodman and Robbie Clark launching high-arching rackets to and through the opposing team's nets, Lyons wasn't called upon to display his shooting eye with any sort of frequency.

His forte was to drive the opposing team crazy with aggressive play that resulted in turnovers and helter-skelter play as they attempted to bring the ball over the mid-court line within the required ten seconds.

His low center of gravity worked in his favor as he darted, slashed, and poked at the ball, often converting the opposition's trip up the court into a fast break bucket going the other way for the Wolves.

There is no reason to question the obvious selection of Goodman and Clark to MVP status, based on their excellent play throughout the long season. But once you get beyond that explosive tandem, it's good to see his extraordinary effort properly rewarded, with credit going to a low-scoring guard who knows the value of solid defensive play.

A tow truck driver connects a cable to a semi-trailer caught on a decorative boulder at the shopping center on Dixie Highway and White Lake Road on April 8. Traffic on eastbound Dixie Highway was slowed for a short period of time, but most of the activity was in the turn lane. No one was injured, and the driver reported no damage to the trailer. Independence Township Supervisor Dave Wagner welcomes U.S. Congressman Mike Rogers to the Marine family night. Photo by Noah Purcell

Clarkston plays host to Marine family night

BY NOAH PURCELL

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Thanks to many generous people in Clarkston and the rest of Oakland County, Deer Lake Athletic Club was the site of a family dinner to thank and welcome new recruits to the Marine Corps family.

"I didn't have anyone tell me 'No,' said event organizer Rudy Lozano. "From major contributors who gave in the four figures to a waitress who wrote me a check for $50."

The evening featured several prominent politicians, on both local and national levels. U.S. Congressman Mike Rogers gave a speech focusing on his time with troops in Iraq and Afghanistan. Michigan State Representative Fran Amos and Independence Township Supervisor Dave Wagner were also in attendance.

"(This dinner) is about telling (the marines) that we value their service," said

Rogers.

Rogers made his entrance via helicopter, arriving from Howell where he was holding a fund-raising event.

Serving as an Emcee for the evening was Waterford Chief of Police John Dean, who also helped organize the dinner.

"My good friend John Dean mentioned the idea to me and I said let's put it together," said Lozano, who in the past has raised money for charities and politicians including L. Brooks Patterson.

Dean echoed Lozano's comments as to how easy the money for the dinner was raised for in his address to the crowd of approximately 230 people.

"There were no 'No's' when we said we needed to raise money for (the dinner)," said Dean. "This is not a political event, this is about the marines."

"I didn't have anyone tell me 'No.' From major contributors who gave in the four figures to a waitress who wrote me a check for $50."

Offering precision hiring systems Delta Staffing moves to the Clarkston area

BY JENNY MATTESON
Clarkston News Editor

Thanks to a rapid growth spurt, Clarkston is now the proud home of Delta Staffing Precision Hiring Systems.

Delta Staffing is a full-service staffing and recruiting provider offering full-time employee placement services, as well as contract staffing for businesses in need of short-term help. The company works with medium- to large-sized companies in fields such as auto suppliers, engineering, IT, healthcare, financial and sales industries.

Begun in the basement of owner Brad McKouen, the company has grown from grossing $350,000 in 2003 to a projected $3 million in revenues for 2005 – and needs more space for additional staff.

"Moving to Clarkston locates us closer to our client base and metro-Detroit," said President Brad McKouen. "We're right by Automation Alley and that's important."

"I like the town. I love the Clarkston area. I'm looking to buy down here and move my family here soon."

McKouen, 31, graduated from Michigan State University with a marketing degree and engineering background. After several years in the staffing industry, he began Delta Staffing with a few clients in December 2002.

Today, the company has grown to 25 clients and five employees, many with technical background in either engineering, tool and die, or Computer Aided Design.

"Our employees are what set us apart," said McKouen.

"If you want to do business with engineers, you must understand their thinking and lingo. That's the secret behind our success."

Delta Staffing utilizes a precision hiring system created by McKouen to find "one perfect candidate" for a potential employer. The system is based on the Six Sigma System, a tool that provides extensive information on potential clients and ensures only the best candidates are presented.

"Six Sigma System is something that engineering managers can easily understand," said McKouen.

"Seventy percent of the time, we send a client a candidate and they hire them. However, if we don't have the right person available for a client, we'll call and tell them. We're honest and up front, and I think that gives us an edge."

Delta Staffing is located at 6100 Dixie Highway, Suite B. When visiting the office, please park at the bottom of the lot, down the hill, and follow the sidewalk to the left side of the building.

For more information, please call locally 248-623-6696 or toll-free 1-866-393-3582. Information is also available online at www.delta-staffing.com.

Pentecost calls for action

It is still Easter. We spent 40 days of Lent to renew our commitment to the Gospel. Eastertime now is 50 days — until Pentecost (May 15) reminds us not to keep huddling in the "upper room" like the apostles first did, but to go out on mission.

Unless you belong to a Pentecostal Church or to a Charismatic group, Pentecost may not be a major feast day to you. However, growing up in the predominantly Roman Catholic state of Bavaria, I enjoyed three great holidays each year: Christmas, Easter and Pentecost.

On these three major holidays of the year, we would get an extra day off school or work. Easter and Pentecost always fall on Sunday, so Monday would be a holiday. And it is still that way in Bavaria and Austria today. (Who wants to give up a Monday off?)

At Easter, the first new life emerged. The first green would sprout. By Pentecost the first flowers would be in full bloom. I still recall the beauty of the Pfingstrose ("Pentecost Rose") that would only show the first green leaves at Easter, but stand in gorgeous full bloom at Pentecost. My mother always insisted on having a few of these plants in the front yard, next to the crocuses and lilies of the valley.

Pentecost is the ripening of the faith. The Holy Spirit calls us to action. Renewed during Lent, strengthened by the Word of God and the Eucharist during Easter Time, we now are ready to put our faith into action. Pentecost is often called the "Confirmation" of the first disciples. Gifted with the Spirit, they now go out to spread the faith. I think manifesting God's love by the way we live our life and by our actions witnesses to God's love in a quiet, but powerful way. Like the Pfingstrose, my mother's Pentecost rose, our faith comes to bloom when we put it into action.

That is what brings me to the North Oakland Disaster Relief Team. This ecumenical mission group from Clarkston goes on a long weekend trip each year to help in a disaster area. This year they already went once in late February, with members of St. Daniel and Calvary Lutheran Church participating. They'll go again May 26-29 (and you can still join).

On their first trip, the team left Clarkston late afternoon on Friday, Feb. 25, and arrived in Byesville, Ohio at 11:40 p.m. In Ohio, 59 counties have been declared disaster areas by FEMA. The area in the Ohio River basin was severely flooded by the September hurricanes that had moved north and dumped destructive rains and flooded the valleys. Just as people were getting back to normal after the holidays, the floods of Jan. 6 hit them again.

The team of eight stayed at St. Michael's Byzantine Catholic Church in Pleasant City. St. Michael is a beautiful church and the Byzantine faith tradition dates back to the time of Constantine, the first Christian to become emperor in Rome in A.D. 312. Father Dennis is 78 years old and he invited them into his rectory. Thanks to him, the eight team members had beds to sleep in — better than usual on these disaster relief mission trips.

At the work sites, the team removed and replaced paneling, and tore out and replaced rotted, moldy wall studs. On another site, the team tore out a termite-infested floor and rebuilt it, sanitized everything and repainted.

In the words of a team member, "The trip was truly another memorable faith experience where we received more than we gave." A local team leader told the group that their small gift of caring had a ripple effect on the entire region. Knowing that people from six hours away care and are willing to come help inspired more people to take action.

If you are interested in the May 26-29 trip, call Stan Garwood (248-625-9430), Bob Hadden (248-625-3278) or Gayle Buschur at Calvary Lutheran (248-625-3288).

(Freida Farpoika is director of faith formation for St. Daniel Catholic Church.)

"Ethical Issues in Health Care" will be presented by Ann Suziedelis Ph.D., director of mission services, St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland Hospital. Suziedelis taught religion in Catholic high schools for many years, and holds a doctorate in health care ethics from Saint Louis University. Her research has been published in Catholic and secular health care periodicals.

The presentation will be at St. Daniel Catholic Community, Cushing Center-Weingartz Room, 7010 Valley Park Rd., at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 13. For more information, call Patty Moore at 248-620-6867.

A new Bible study will begin on April 13 at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection.

A thematic study of the Old Testament and New Testament, "Knowing God," will meet 9:30 a.m. Wednesday mornings with Eucharist at 11 a.m., and from 7 - 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday evenings.

The studies will run through June 1 (no sessions on May 11).

The Church of the Resurrection meets at 6490 Clarkston Road. For more information, call 248-625-2325.

Join a journey through the earliest days of the church to explore how it grew from a few frightened disciples to an unstoppable movement empowered by the Holy Spirit.

Calvary Lutheran Church will look to the biblical book of the Acts of the Apostles to learn how the first century — and 21st century — church is shaped and lives out its mission.

The Sunday studies will be from April 15-June 5. Children's programming will be from 9:32-10:45 a.m., with nursery provided all morning. Worship services will be at 8:15 a.m. (traditional), 9:45 a.m. (blended) and 11:15 a.m. (contemporary).

Calvary Lutheran Church meets at 6805 Bluegrass Drive, at the southwest corner of I-75 and M-15.

"Don't think of her as gone away - her journey's just begun, life holds so many facets, this earth is only one. Just think of her as resting from the sorrows and the tears... in a place of warmth and comfort where there are no days and years. Think how she must be wishing that we could know today... how nothing but our sadness can really pass away. And think of her as living... in the hearts of those she touched... for nothing loved is ever lost, and she was loved so much."

Marines

The owner of the the Deer Lake Racquet Club gave the organizers of the Marine family night dinner a deal on both their hall and the staff.

The amount of money which Lozano was able to funnel into the event was reflected in both the catering and extensive decorations of red, white and blue regalia.

The Clarkston High School band was in attendance to give a rendition of the Marine Corp Hymn. The band had specifically learned the tune for the event and one of the marines in attendance told Lozano that they did a wonderful job.

According to Lozano from the feedback he heard, both the families of the new recruits, who came from all over the metro-area, and the current marines in attendance enjoyed the evening.

The catered buffet featured fine cuts of meat, potatoes, salad and fresh fruit was also well received. Several people in attendance, including enlisted marines, told Lozano that the food was especially good since in the past this sort of function might have been catered with a "bunch of chicken wings" in the past.

With the Marine family dinner having gone so well, Lozano is planning to put together another celebration next year.

U.S. Congressman Mike Rogers took time on his way out to pose with some of Oakland County's finest.

The Deer Lake Racquet Club was decked out in red, white and blue regalia.

The Clarkston High School band graced those in attendance with a rendition of the Marine Corps Hymn.

Some 230 people in attendance enjoyed a large and diverse buffet dinner

U.S. Congressman Mike Rogers spoke to the new marine recruits and their families about the virtues of service.

Never feel powerless again

Kohler generators powered by GM provide value and peace of mind

With five children and a rural home in Michigan's "tornado alley," Tom Deagostino needs to be plugged in, despite what ill winds blow his way. And they blow a lot. "One year, a tree fell onto the house. Another year we lost power in an ice storm for five days - we lived like pioneers."

Power outages remind us of how much we depend on electricity and how vulnerable we can be without it. So Deagostino has joined a growing number of homeowners who vow they'll never feel powerless again. They've installed a residential generator by Kohler Power Systems, a trusted backup power system that adds value to their homes and priceless peace of mind. The Deagostino's selected a 15 kilowatt (kW) generator to provide backup power to everything in their home.

The 15kW and 30kW Kohler generators are powered by General Motors engines, well known for their durability in trucks, cars and buses for nearly a century, and generate ample electricity to run today's homes.

"In today's world, the stakes are pretty high," said Don Grau, owner of Gen Power, Inc. in Wixom and an authorized Kohler distributor. "Depending on where you live, no power can mean no water. No sump pump to prevent flooding. No income if you work at home."

A commercial-grade Kohler residential generator automatically restores power in seconds, even if you're not there. It features digital power and provides worry-free, turnkey protection for even the most finicky electronics. In fact, hospitals rely on Kohler standby generators powered by GM to keep life-saving equipment running during outages.

Unlike portable generators that must be plugged in, started and refueled, standby generators are automatically fueled by liquid propane (LP) or natural gas and are installed permanently outside new or existing homes. During an outage, an automatic transfer switch restores electricity within seconds, then shuts down the generator when the grid is back up.

A Kohler Power Systems professional will assist homeowners in choosing a unit that fits both their needs and their budget. Standby automatic generators protect homes, and provide convenience and assurance that portable generators cannot match.

Industry-leading features include:

- Low noise - Kohler generators are about as quiet as the average central air conditioning unit - important in communities with strict noise ordinances.
- Service - Because peace of mind is so important when power is at stake, trained Kohler technicians service Kohler units.
- Electronic governor - A Kohler exclusive that prevents sharp dips in electrical output at startup that can play havoc with sensitive equipment like computers and other appliances with microprocessors. Other generators use a mechanical governor that may cause problems with these kinds of devices.

Reliability was important to Deagostino, an engineer, who was frustrated with the quality of his parents' standby generator. When it was his turn to buy a unit and replace his parents' system, he opted for the winning combination of Kohler and GM.

Now he awaits the upcoming storm season with confidence instead of dread.

"I have a permanent solution for backup power," he said. "I guess you could say I feel very empowered."

nessman and financial professional, in cooperation with Oakland Woods Baptist Church, will conduct a free seminar to educate families and individuals on important biblical principles relating to finance.

"Achieving Financial Independence" will take place at 9 a.m. on Saturday, April 16 at Oakland Woods Baptist Church, 5268 Maybee Road, one-quarter mile east of Sashabaw Road.

With families declaring bankruptcy at the rate of more than 4,300 per day, it is obvious many Americans are struggling financially. The majority of Americans between 55 and 65 have nothing saved for retirement.

Plan to attend to learn what the Bible has to say about wealth, debt and taking personal responsibility for control of finances. Topics will also include what it takes to build a "strong financial house," rules of investing and other critical issues.

The seminar is free of charge but seating is limited. Call (248) 431-3273 to reserve a seat.

Calvary Lutheran Church offers the Wednesday evening FEAST, food for body and soul, continuing through May 25.

A catered dinner will begin at 6 p.m., followed by praise and worship, then small groups and classes for all ages, ending at 8:30 p.m.

For more information, call the church at 248-625-3288. Calvary meets at 6805 Bluegrass Drive at the southwest corner of I-75 and M-15.

Calvary Lutheran Church in Clarkston is offering a monthly simulcast series entitled, "Ultimate Leadership." In partnership with Dr. John Townsend and Dr. Henry Cloud, these CCN simulcasts offer leaders in every arena a unique approach to leadership development.

Each presentation will be from noon to 1 p.m. Bring your lunch, and come learn.

The schedule includes:

May 17, "How to Build Trust as a Leader."

June 21, "How to Define Yourself as a Leader."

July 19, "Boundaries in Leadership."
