SCAMP Home Tours

This weekend SCAMP encourages everyone to come out see some beautiful homes in their own neighborhood and support a charitable program.

Those familiar with the summer camp program for impaired children and young adults know the organization hosts home tours as a major fund-raiser every year. This year marks the 24th annual home tour which takes place June 3-4. The event features four homes within the village, two mini-mansions outside the village and for the first time, a garden.

The McGraw House

Monica and Mike McGraw are admitted Home Depot junkies. Walking through their historic home at 27 Holcomb, one can only see the fruits of their many visits.

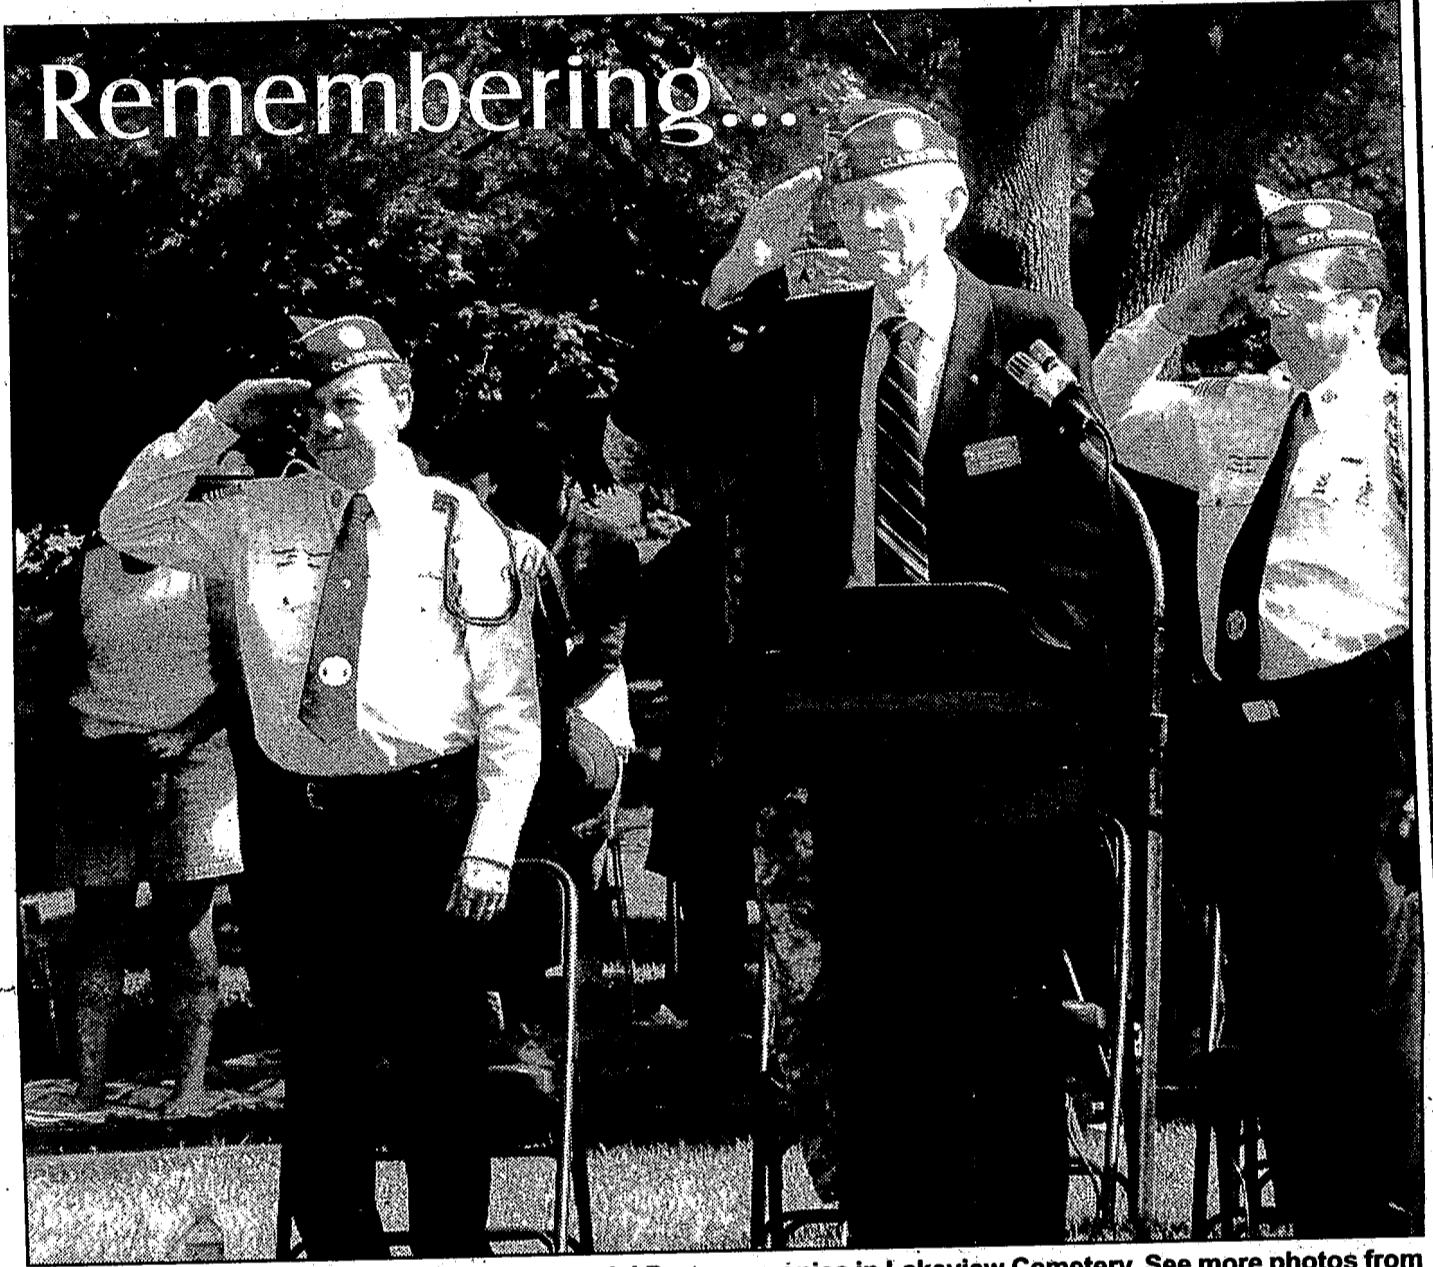

The house, built in 1860, has only seen four owners in its past. The present owners have taken the idea of a home makeover to the next level by returning the home to its historic roots with a modern twist.

Under this husband wife demo/re-modeling team, the house has undergone several transformations over the years. The kitchen alone underwent several changes.

"Sometimes it takes two or three times to figure it out," Monica said. "You have to live with it for awhile before you

CCA closing, services to continue nearby

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Since Mt. Zion purchased the building at the corner of Maybee and Sashabaw roads in 1996, teens have had a safe, educational environment to hang out after school.

On May 28, the Clarkston Christian Association building closed its doors as Mt. Zion is selling the structure.

"Someone has offered to purchase the building and the offer was too good to refuse," said Associate Minister Richard Nowik, who noted sales discussions date back to early 2006. Neither Nowik or other Mt. Zion officials would answer questions related to the details of the sale.

"A lot of the kids and parents are sad to see it go. But we're happy we won't miss a beat by moving programs to other locations," Nowik added.

"It wasn't a financial concern, it was more of an opportunity. There is a sense of loss, but you hope it will all be going again by fall."

Nowik said all the activities - which include in-line skating, skateboarding, a dance school, billiards and after school programs - should continue at other locations.

Currently, plans are in place to move some of Mt. Zion's programs to their Waterford Christian Association building and the school of dance will go to the main church building on Maybee Road, said Nowik.

One parent, Clarkston's Candace

Woodward, who's 12-year-old son Tony has frequented the CCA for the last two years, plans to have her son stay involved despite the move. She also wanted to express her gratitude to Mt. Zion.

"I can't imagine (the CCA) is a money maker for them. I truly appreciate that Mt. Zion saw the need for a place for young people to go," said Woodward.

"It gave me a place for my son to go after school where I knew he'd be supervised and not on his own at home. It provides me as a parent a safe place for my child to go."

Woodward also said the environment provided strong role models for her son.

"I hope the community understands they might end up after school with a lot of kids with skateboards and no where to go," said Woodward.

Nowik also confirmed a purchase of the Christ the Redeemer Church building in Lake Orion by Mt. Zion on May 17.

"It's going to be used for the young adult ministry of Mt. Zion which was housed at the CCA," said Nowik. "It's a beautiful sanctuary that seats about 400 people. It's a beautiful facility and a significant upgrade."

A Sunday evening young adult service and life enrichment classes throughout the week are planned at the newly purchased building, said Nowik.

According to Mt. Zion's Web site, the CCA is a community outreach for youth and young adults "out of a desire to provide a safe environment for you people to hangout and learn about God."

Still makin' melodies

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

If feeling young is supposed to fade with age, the Clarkston Melody Makers don't act how they are supposed to.

The local band made up of at least six area residents continues to play tunes from the 30's, 40's, 50's and beyond at the Carriage House once a week, as well as play an occasional gig.

Like the tunes they play, the Melody Makers, which hosts several military veterans from World War II and the Korean War eras, reflect fading generations and time periods on the minds of many this Memorial Day.

"We just get together and play a bit and have a cup of coffee and talk," said 66-year-old Independence Township resident and Air Force veteran Ken Combs.

"(I come) Because I love it. I love playing with these guys. They make a little better of a squeezer (accordion player) out of me than I would be," said Joe Petroff, a 77-year-old Korean War veteran and Independence Township resident. "I don't think there's anything better in life than music if you hear it done right."

According to member Stan Fay, the band started around 1983 and used to play many shows like the Clarkston Parade, senior events, dances and even venues like Cobo Hall.

"As soon as I retired, I said 'I have to get in a band,'" said Fay who joined after retiring from General Motors in 1982. "It keeps us young. It's always been a

What you should know about mortgages

Bill Langdon, Jr. RFC CFS BCM RFP
Retirement Plans Specialist - Board, Certified

Hurray, it is finally Spring in Michigan! This is the time of year many of us start thinking about buying a house, whether it be our first home, relocating, or perhaps moving up to a larger home. For nearly everyone, purchasing a house is the largest single expenditure we will make in our lifetime. To facilitate this purchase the majority of us will enter into a mortgage, which is a loan secured by the land and the house.

Successful
Lifestyles, Ink

William H.
Langdon Jr.

The following information is meant to help prepare you for this major event by providing a list of terms and subject matter you will need to address when applying for your mortgage.

Glossary of Terms

Adjustable Rate Mortgage (ARM)

- Interest rates and payments vary periodically with this form of mortgage, based upon a predetermined index (economic indicator), such as the Cost of Funds index or Treasury Bills. Rates may change at specific times such as each year or every three years

Amortization - This is the method by which monthly payments are spread out over the life of the loan. A fully amortized loan is one in which the payments made throughout the term of the loan pay off the loan in full by the last payment. The proportion of interest paid in the early years of the loan is much higher than the principal (remaining balance of the loan) being applied to the loan balance. An amortization table reflects the breakdown of principal, interest and balance outstanding for each payment over the length of your loan.

Appraisal - The property value as determined by an unbiased party who is licensed and trained to evaluate the current market value of real estate. This opinion of value is based on current and historical information of similar properties sold in the immediate area.

Balloon Payment Mortgage - When the term of the loan is less than the amortization period there will be a balance due (balloon payment) at the end. In this type of mortgage the amortization period used to calculate the payments may be 30 years while the number of payments will be over 5 to 10 years resulting in a balloon payment due at the end of the loan period

Buyer's Real Estate Agent - A real estate licensee that represents the buyer in a real estate transaction. A disclosure document signed by the buyer and presented to a seller outlines the terms of the relationship.

Closing - The meeting that takes place at the end of the real estate transaction where the final sale papers are signed and the home transfers ownership from the seller to the buyer. This meeting typically takes place at a Title or Escrow Company, but it can take place in Attorney's or real estate Broker's office.

Closing Costs - These can be broken down into two groups: mortgage and real estate. Mortgage closing costs might include document fees, points, and private mortgage insurance. Real estate closing costs are those associated with the purchase of the home and include taxes, assessments, negotiated concessions, Broker's commissions, and add-ons.

Commission - This is a previously agreed fee paid for the services of the real estate agent who listed the house for sale. A listing agreement will spell out the percentage of the sale price to be paid at closing by the seller

Fixed Rate Mortgage - When a long-term loan has a constant payment, the principal and interest are amortized over the life of the loan. A 30-year term is the most popular, although 15-year terms have become more common as a way to avoid paying a larger amount of interest.

PITI - Mortgage payments, which include Principal, Interest, Taxes and Insurance.

Prepaid Items - These are mortgage fees that are paid in advance of the closing. Items that might be included are insurance, appraisal fees, and application fees.

Seller's Real Estate Agent - This agent represents the seller of a home and is commonly referred to as the "listing agent." An Exclusive Listing Agreement signed by both the seller and the real estate Broker establish this relationship.

Tax and Insurance Escrow - Money set aside at closing to ensure you will have sufficient funds in your account to pay your property taxes and homeowner's insurance premium when they come due. It is generally two to three months worth of taxes and premium. Each month, thereafter, you will contribute to this account as part of your mortgage payment. If there is a shortfall when they are due the lender will make payment and adjust your payment accordingly at a later date, usually on the anniversary of your mortgage.

Title - A legal document describing specific property, extent and right of ownership and its possession or use.

That was a lot to digest. Next month I'll finish up with questions most folks have about mortgages. Questions like, How Much Home Can I Afford? or What Is a Reasonable Amount of Time to Be Approved for a Loan? And a lot more.

Welcome into Spring! Thank you for taking the time to read my column and I sincerely hope it helps you become more informed.

City Council holding special meeting

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The time for crunching numbers and deciding how much money gets spent where is upon the Clarkston City Council again.

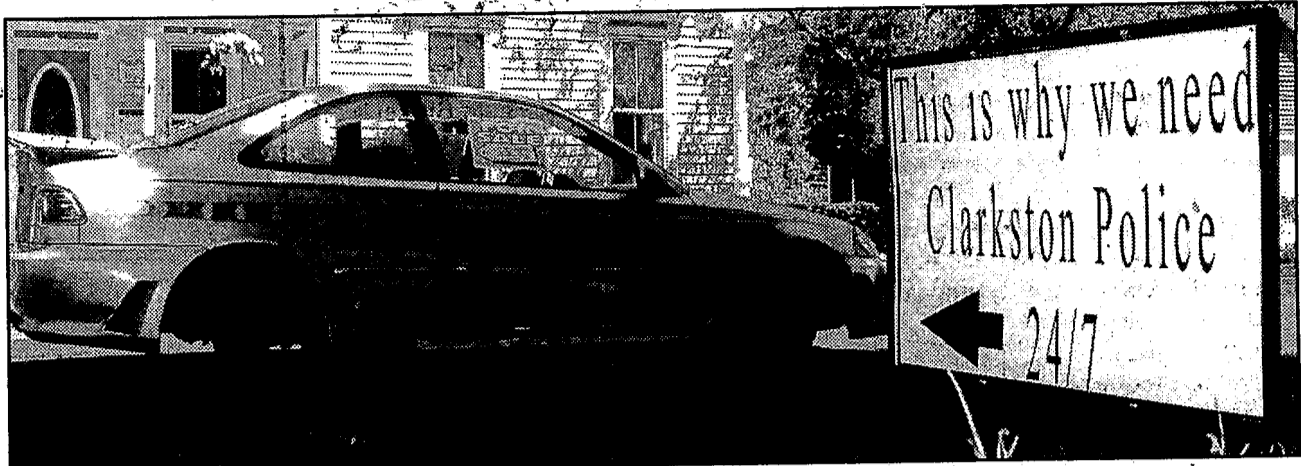

Two dates in June are set for the council to review and approve the 2006-07 budget. On June 6 at 6 p.m., the council is holding a special meeting to discuss the upcoming budget. On June 12 at 7 p.m., there is a public hearing at the council's regularly scheduled meeting. Both meetings are at City Hall in Depot Park and are open to the public.

"Basically, we decided to have that (first meeting) because council hasn't seen the budget," said Mayor Sharron Catalo. "I'd really like to see public comment at the public hearing (June 12). This (first) meeting is so we're not presenting to the public and council at the same time."

"It's a chance for the council to get together and approve (the budget). We want to get it out there so people can review it," said Council Member Scott Meyland.

Up to this point, the Budget Committee – consisting of Catalo, Meyland and Council Member Dan Colombo – have met on a few occasions to create a draft budget.

"There's nothing very different than what's come

This owner of this car located on Main Street in Clarkston, expresses his opinion on the utility of the Clarkston Police Department. According to Police Chief Ernie Combs, the car tires were stolen earlier this month by an unknown person/s. Photo by James Martinez up before. There's always more scrutiny. We looked at last year's budget for where we might have over and under budgeted," said Meyland, when asked about previous council discussions regarding issues like the library agreement and police department contracts with the township.

Council Member James Brueck, elected last November, concurred that the budget would probably not have any significant changes.

"I'm always open-minded to explore other opportunities to save money, but I don't anticipate any major policy or budget changes," said Brueck.

Catalo said a few new things this year to be discussed include potential cost of living wage increases for DPW and police department employees (none were given last year), looking for a more cost effective bid for auditing and money for the continued updating of the master plan.

Two challengers face Stakoe for 44th district seat

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With the deadline to file for elections passed, two men from area townships plan to run against incumbent John Stakoe for state representative of the 44th District.

According to a candidate list for the August 8 primary election on the Oakland County Web site, Democrat Mark Venie of Davisburg and Andrew Goss of Independence Township are set to challenge Stakoe.

"For a long time I thought we needed some changes around here. I've been supporting other people and thought it was a good time to take it to another level and see what I can do," said Venie, a technical writer who has not held previous political office.

"It seems a lot of the work being done is just common sense. I have experience with figuring out problems. That's what I did for GM... As a writer I took in a lot of technical data and taught it to people. So I think I can handle the legislative process."

The other candidate, who will have to run against Stakoe in the August primary, is Republican Andrew Goss. The 28-year-old is taking time off college to run.

"It's out of frustration. I'm a full-time student for the last couple of years... basically, I was getting ready to graduate and found out all those awesome opportunities I was promised at the beginning are not the ones there at the end," said Goss.

"My whole generation is leaving (Michigan) and that's a problem. We lost a huge generation in the 80's, we're losing another one now and that has some serious tax implications for the state."

While neither of his challengers have held office, Representative Stakoe, of Highland Township, has an extensive political history. He was first elected to the Michigan House in November 2002 and was reelected to a second term in 2004.

"When I went in in the first place, I went in for the long haul," said Stakoe. "I've gotten comfortable in the position and think I'm doing a good job advocating for the district and their residents and the township officials."

All three men sighted the economy and related topics like unemployment as major issues for the district's residents.

"The big issue will be economic. Unemployment and jobs are what people worry about, and rightly so," said Stakoe.

Venie explained how he feels the governor has some plans ready, but needs more support.

"I think Governor Granholm has the plan and needs more Democrats in the house to carry out these plans," said Venie, who also mentioned education, minimum wage, prescription drugs and incoming trash from Ohio and Canada as other important issues.

Andrew Goss

While Goss has not held previous elected office, the 1996 Clarkston High School graduate said he was on the 2001 ballot for Pontiac mayor – a campaign he felt was more about changing the issues for discussion rather than winning. He also ran for the Pontiac school board in 2002.

Goss and his wife Shakia have been married for seven years and have five children. While attending school he worked as a waiter. His hobbies include reviewing budgets and studying Michigan law during his frequent visits to the Michigan Legislature Web site.

Mark Venie

Venie, a 51-year-old free-lance technical writer and trainer has worked for many of the major automotive companies. His work experience includes developing training programs in the automotive industry

In addition to his technical writing jobs, Venie coaches the Oakland Community College coed soccer club and is an elder at Tri-County Christian Church in Livingston County. He lives at his Springfield Township residence with his wife of nearly 30 years, Jacquie, and their three college-age children. Venie has completed several liberal arts classes through Oakland Community College.

Rep. John Stakoe

Rep. Stakoe and his wife of 26 years Carol have two daughters, Elizabeth and Catherine. He was raised in Dearborn and has been a resident of the Huron Valley area for 27 years.

Prior to his election as state representative, Stakoe served as Highland Township Supervisor for six years and was a Milford police officer for 19. He earned a bachelor's degree in secondary education in 1975 and a master's degree in criminology in 1996 from Eastern Michigan University.

One voice, no answers

It takes a lot of courage to stand up for what you believe in, especially in the face of stone cold adversity. So, Allie Swanson deserves a lot of credit for what she did at the last school board meeting on May 22.

In the last two weeks, I received numerous phone calls and e-mails about parents and students protesting a teacher at SMS not receiving tenure and being terminated. From the start, there were conflicting reports over why the teacher didn't receive tenure, whether or not the teacher quit or was fired, and when those decisions were made.

I saw copies of letters sent to administrators, and heard about petitions circulated by students (and how they were stopped). The appropriate place, if there is one, to clarify the issue would be a school board meeting. Prior to the May 22 meeting, I was told by multiple people that a large number of parents and students would be present in protest, but they decided not to at the last minute when the teacher resigned on May 19.

That alone confuses me as I've heard people say the teacher resigned in February and April. So why again in May, three days before people were going to publicly protest? I tried contacting the teacher directly but he didn't return my call. I cannot blame him for not wanting to make a public spectacle of the situation.

At the meeting, only six or seven people actually attended, and Ms. Swanson was the only one to speak.

"You succeeded in getting rid of (the teacher) but you did not get rid of me," she said, vowing to complete her education through the district. Her comments seemed to rebel directly against the idea that she would be targeted or branded by the administration, that she would be pressured into silence or to leave the district.

Bravo, Swanson. You may not have achieved your goal, but you did what seems many other people are afraid to do, you stood up and voiced your opinion. Why people are so afraid I'm not sure, but I'm glad you weren't that day. Whatever started this all, I'm sure the teacher is glad someone cared enough to do what you did.

The applause that followed Swanson's comments was silenced by a short response from Dr. Roberts, who said due to privacy laws, staffing issues cannot be discussed publicly. Even though Roberts "commended" Swanson, following the meeting most board members fled the room.

Joan Patterson and Ron Sullivan stuck around and spoke briefly with Swanson and a few of the adults who showed up in protest. Tears were shed, emotions were expressed, but no answers were given.

I knew these board members could not disclose any more information, and their decisions to talk were more for comforting and attempting to act as peacemakers rather than problem-solvers, but at least they tried. I decided to extend some courtesy in return and not eavesdrop on their conversation and have them worry about being quoted.

However, I was disappointed to see Dr. Roberts leave the room without further comment to Swanson. With the emphasis placed on taking care of each of the 8,000 students in the district, this was the perfect opportunity to show support. I can respect the reasons for not being able to discuss the issue publicly, but I cannot respect the dismissive attitude you gave this child.

I only hope the next student who comes to a board meeting for something other than receiving an award gets more respect.

School board 'blew it'

Dear Editor,

I am so embarrassed! While I'm beginning to understand the politics involved, I am embarrassed for the school board that they had so little regard for a 12-year-old girl who poured out her heart in front of them at the meeting. Joan Patterson was the only one who demonstrated enough grace and respect to acknowledge Allie.

Wow, the board spoke loud and clear; how little regard they really have for their students and the families. No one expected them to act on the issue Allie raised - that of the non-renewal of Randy Goldsworthy's contract - we expected you to reassure her and the community that you would re-open this issue if necessary, that you would respect those who address you.

It was clear to the audience that Allie's comments fell on deaf ears. Is the same true for all the letters and petitions? What the board gave her and us is the assurance they stand behind privacy acts and the Freedom of Information Act when it serves you. That night, my daughter lost some of her innocence.

Of course, there are a lot of emotions swirling over this issue and I admit that. Setting the issue of Randy Goldsworthy aside for the moment, the board needs to understand they have really let us down.

How nice it would have been on the other hand if Allie's principle, who was present, or the president of the board or the superintendent to have merely come and shaken her hand and encouraged her for the courage it must have taken to carefully prepare her comments and then stand before the school board and read them.

You blew it.

Thanks for a successful USO party

Dear Editor,

On the evening of May 16, the Social Studies Department of Clarkston Junior High School staged a USO part for our ninth graders as enrichment to our study of World War II. We could not have staged this successful event without the help of many people in the community.

We would like to thank the following people for their help:

- The Downbeat Band who brought to life the music from the 1940s.
- Mrs. Loretta Herring for her help with refreshments.

• The Clarkston Junior High PTA for their financial support of the event.

• The community members who spoke about their war experiences - John Thomas, Navy; Bob Dodge, Anzio; G. Thompson, Jungle Warfare; Jean Kettler, Nurse; and Bob Wills, Army/Air Force.

• The CJHS administration for their support with this project.

With your help we were able to stage a memorable evening for our students.

Yours truly,
Members of the
CJHS Social Studies Department

Dear Editor,

For those who still think local governments don't need "legal defense funds," I refer you to what has been happening in Waterford Township.

The Michigan Supreme Court recently denied an appeal of a Michigan Court of Appeals decision overturning a $19.5 million judgement against the State of Michigan, concerning the Department of Environmental Quality's denial of a wetlands permit requested by a construction firm. The case may still be taken to the U.S. Supreme Court.

While this is an important decision in support of the preservation of wetlands in the state, and the precedents supporting them, it also shows the lengths and costs to which some developers will go to get their way.

In this case, the state has born the costs of defending wetland precedents. Would a local community have the resources to have provided such a defense, or would it be forced to "compromise" principle in order to save money?

Only those communities which have dedicated funds for such legal challenges may be able to stand by their principles. If your community has not set aside such funds, or cannot do so, then it may need to pass a millage for funds to be dedicated for defense of its principles.

Let us support efforts to protect ourselves and our communities. Set up a legal defense fund, or pass a millage for that purpose - the sooner the better!

A Look Back

At our community's history through the pages of The Clarkston News

15 YEARS AGO (1991)

- Clawson Tank workers on strike: About 110 Clawson Tank workers in Springfield Township hit the picket lines May 29 after their contract expired at midnight May 24.

- Don't forget, school election Monday: Three school board seats and a partial millage renewal proposal are on the ballot in the Clarkston Community School District election, Monday, June 10.

- Saturday special 'Day in Burg': A Day in the Burg on Saturday fills the heart of Springfield Township with food, entertainment and good buys on antiques and collectibles.

- Sponsored by the Downtown Davisburg Business Owners Association, the Davisburg Rotary Club and the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Department, the second annual Day in the Burg is planned for all day Saturday, June 8.

25 YEARS AGO (1981)

- Near-accident prompts action, Schools band shaving cream battles: It's been almost a year since students on bus number 78 staged a shaving cream fight that nearly caused the driver to have an accident.

Twelve months have probably faded a lot of people's memories from that last day of school last year - the shaving cream, smoke bombs, stink bombs, fireworks and harmless celebration among Clarkston High School and Junior High School students.

Several Clarkston Community Schools' administrators remember the situation last year quite vividly, however.

50 YEARS AGO (1956)

- American Students To Study Abroad: Eighty-eight students, including twenty-six men and sixty-two women, have been accepted for the 1956-57 Junior Year in France, a year's foreign study program, the group will represent forty-two American colleges and universities, seven of which are included for the first time.

- Seniors Return From Washington: Fifty-six members of the Senior Class, under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Dom Mauti, left last week on the first leg of the greatly anticipated Washington trip.

- School Election Monday, July 9: The Annual School Election will be held July 9, 1956, for the purpose of electing one member to the Board of Education. The term currently held by Mr. Kenneth Thayer expires July 9, 1956.

- Memorial Day Edition: Memorial day coming on Wednesday, the regular press day of The News, it was necessary to produce the paper in two days so that our help might observe the holiday and still have the paper in your hands at the regular time.

Send those breast pumps to Iraq (really)

I know Memorial Day has passed. And, I am sure all of you at least gave a moment of silence for those men and women who sacrificed their lives in support of this country.

But, we still have men and women in harms way. Whatever your feelings for the politicians who sent our forces overseas to fight, I hope you continue to think of, pray for and support the troops.

One gal, Louise Downs, makes sure we here at the newspaper office never forget our soldiers. She visits our offices and sends us e-mails. She and her cohorts try to take care of the soldiers and their families needs. As such she gets e-mails from the front with requests.

Here's the latest. After reading, if you can help, e-mail her at desertangel@intouchmi.com

Dear friends and family, many of you have asked if we need anything or if you could mail us anything. We are fine, most of our needs are met and we have access to a mini-PX that carries the essentials.

Over the last few weeks, the Combat Support Hospital has taken care of pregnant patients as well as infants and children. It is no secret that this is a COMBAT hospital, and thus, we do not have an abundance of supplies needed in some cases, especially the supplies needed for the aforementioned patients. Medications and basic supplies are available, but some of the extra materials which we take for granted at home, here are scarce.

A few of the providers here have seen the need and have had their loved ones send some supplies. However, in response to our need, we came up with the idea of registering at Babies-R-Us. If you would like to help us, please donate from the available list. The list is not all-inclusive, so feel free to send any supplies you feel are appropriate. Our basic needs are as follow:

- Diapers and baby wipes; infant and toddler clothes; AVENT® bottles and nipples of assorted sizes (we want only one kind of bottle so that all our supplies can be interchangeable)
- Burp cloths and receiving blankets

don

- Infant formula and baby food
- Toys; breast pumps (manual), breast milk storage bags; diaper bags; baby, infant, or expectant mother supplies

The registry is under my name: Jose Vazquez and Combat Support Hospital Iraq, registry # 99326615. My e-mail is Jose.vazquezvicente@us.army.mil.

We chose Babies-R-Us because they ship to an APO address, but alternatively you may choose to mail it yourself. Our address is:

All donations will be used here at the Combat Support Hospital and any surplus will be donated to the local hospitals.

In 1915, Canadian military medic John McCrae penned the poem, In Flanders Field:

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

In 1918, an American woman, Moina Michael wrote:
*We cherish too, the Poppy red
That grows on fields where valor led,
It seems to signal to the skies
That blood of heroes never dies . . .*

Some reminiscing, some observations

I'm writing this on a beautiful, sunny day (May 22) so it's difficult to concentrate on one subject. Of course, it can be difficult to think of just one subject on rainy days, too.

I'll bet not many of you Jottings readers know there is a National Hanging Out Day. It's April 19. When I read that my mind flew to my preteen days when Mom ("Don't ever call me Ma!") ordered me to take a damp cloth and wipe off the clothes line.

In those days the line was called, Walla, Clothes Line Rope.

Naturally, anything besides playing cowboys and Indians was work, so I wiped the line grudgingly. Here was Mom, pushing dirty clothes up and down a washboard, rinsing them and wringing out clothes through rollers with a hand (what else?) crank, and me complaining of having to spend five minutes helping her.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Anyway, this article in Natural Awakenings says that electric washers and dryers consume six to ten percent of a family's household energy bill.

Look at the money you'd save if your subdivision rules allowed you to hang out your wash. Many don't. And, look at the money you'd save by not having to go to a workout joint to exercise. But, hand washing laundry isn't fun and games like walking a treadmill while talking to your neighbor.

The article goes on, "Natural drying also means fabrics last longer, smell better and can be left on the line for any length of time without wrinkling."

It's time to hang up on this topic.

I haven't quoted Ben Franklin lately, so: "The sleeping fox catches no poultry." "Great talkers, little doers." "A cup of wisdom is worth a bushel of advice." "An empty bag cannot stand upright." And, "Three may keep a secret if two of them are dead."

Our now-18-year-old granddaughter, who by her own words is mature, of voting age, adult, ready to be out on her own and very capable (though she barely passed home-ec), told me to plan on our house for her graduation party.

She, Karen, said she'd help, but so far all she's done is ask if I've started getting our place ready. I know she's been very busy, because whenever I go over to her house she's sleeping, thus tired. I figure I have to plant about 400 geraniums, pansies, impatiens, ivies, marigolds, zinnias, sunflowers, hyacinths, Sweet Williams and four tomato plants. (Those are for me).

Of course, to make sure they all grow I have to work more mulch and peat into the soil, throw on some Preen, add fertilizer and make sure the sprinklers keep them all wet the next five weeks.

I'm sure sometime Karen will be over to help, but not until the pool is ready, the temperature is in the 80s and it won't interfere with her driving time to the malls, movies and concerts. After all, one has to have priorities in an adult life.

Each pre-planting season I read all that's new about gardening tools, planting, etc. Detroit News' gardening columnist Nancy Szerlag wrote about her "new Radius NRG Weeder," a real workhorse.

She said, "It's the newest thing in ergonomic gardening and it does a dandy job on deeply rooted weeds. It's made of strong, yet lightweight, aluminum/magnesium alloy.

"The curved handle, called the Natural Radius Grip, allows the blade of the tool to be positioned so the natural strength of your large muscles can flow in a parallel path to the radius bone in your forearm through the center of the wrist.

"When the wrist remains in the neutral position, you suffer less muscle fatigue."

Jacobsen's Garden Town had 'em. They are an ugly, outer-space-attack-looking weapon that fatigued my muscles by just looking at it. My ergonomics overruled its ergonomics.

The dining room also shows off the efforts of the McGraw touch. The room’s warm pumpkin color compliments the mission dining table and chairs. An archway located in the corner of the room contains a large window that overlooks the front street.

“That arch was painful,” Mike said as he reflected upon the hours it took to strip the many layers of paint from the large curved wood. “I don’t count the time in hours—instead I count it in profanities and the amount of dust I raised.”

The Brosseaus House

Whatever the season, Barb and Ron Brosseaus’ view can’t be beat. In the winter, they watch the snow fall on Clarkston’s popular Mill Pond. In the spring and summer, they watch people, ducks and geese enjoy the water. And the fall is a palette of rich colors all around.

The Brosseaus built the old world-looking home at 74 North Holcomb Road seven years ago. They wanted a house that fit in with Holcomb Road. The house both blends with the surrounding neighborhood and looks unique at the same time.

The Brosseaus changed certain aspects of the plans to better suit them such as an archway in a wall between the kitchen and the great room. Barb saw a similar design in a magazine and thought it would add to the ambiance of the house, creating a more open feel.

“I love my great room. It has the high ceilings. I just love it in here,” she says.

Having those high ceilings meant the Brosseaus had to change their furniture. The old furniture “looked like doll house furniture here,” she laughs. So, the home’s furnishings are all new, starting with an 80-inch mirror in the entryway.

The Callahan House

There’s an old saying that “every man’s home is his castle.” That phrase might spring to mind when one views the Callahan family residence.

This well-appointed home at 7424 Foxburg Court in the Oakhurst development certainly boasts castle-like details. Featuring rounded turrets along the flanks, the home invokes the image of a medieval fortress.

One step inside, however, reveals this fine Clarkston home to be thoroughly and tastefully modern. The owners, Cheryl and Patrick Callahan, created an opulent but comfortable setting for their family, overlooking the Oakhurst Country Club golf course.

Upon entering the travertine marble-lined foyer, visitors immediately notice the soaring 30-foot ceilings and the expanse of two-story windows that offer a commanding view of the golf course’s ninth hole.

The Callahan House

The 11,000-square-foot house is filled with natural stone, including limestone, marble (both rough and polished) and several kinds of granite. Tumbled stone, tile and mosaic are used to excellent effect in the home’s magnificent kitchen. Limestone is used prominently in the interior and exterior (as in the ornate balustrade that skirts the terrace, and in architectural detailing around windows and doorways).

Another prominent theme is the use of the radius as a design element. These curves can be seen throughout the house, helping to break up the monotony of four walls.

The Coin House

Imagine having to renovate a brand-new home.

Strange as that sounds, this was exactly the predicament that faced Linda and Dana Coin after purchasing the house at 5123 Dorsetfield Court.

The 4,700-square-foot house was built in 1999 as one of the original builder’s models for the upscale Oakhurst development. Sadly, the structure soon became a reflection of the declining fortunes of its builder.

Though starting out proudly on a grand scale, the house began to suffer from a nasty case of “cheapskatę syndrome” as the construction progressed, with the quality of materials being compromised as the builder’s financial situation worsened. Eventually, the builder declared bankruptcy, and the property ingloriously was returned to the bank.

Enter the Coins, who acquired the distressed property in 2003, initially as an investment.

“Our original plan was to fix it up and sell it,” says Linda, a real estate professional. “We recognized that this house had good bones, even though it lacked a lot of quality materials. But the more we thought about the place, we realized that it was exactly what we needed for our family of six.”

Thus began the Coins’ extreme home make-over, a process that took a solid year of nonstop activity. For the family, this meant living with a daily invasion of workers and craftsmen who turned the Coins’ investment project into an inviting showcase home.

“We replaced every hinge, every knob, every lighting fixture, stairway banisters, all the carpeting ... and every door — all 38 of them,” recalls Linda. “You name it, we replaced it.”

The barren fireplace in the great room was properly dressed with a stone facade and flanked with built-in glazed cherry cabinets. In the otherwise luxurious kitchen, additional cherry-stained cabinets, granite and custom details were installed. A designated media center off the kitchen was repurposed as the informal dining room and the would-be dining area converted to a multiuse/computer lounge.

Decorative elements such as wainscoting, crown moldings and baseboard moldings were installed, and fresh paint or wallpaper applied to wall surfaces, which gave every room in the house a dramatic facelift.

The Flaughter House

From the moment she first walked through it, Cyndi Flaughter loved her home. She knew the house was just where she wanted to move with her two children.

Almost three years later, Flaughter still loves the house at 68 North Holcomb Road and its location within walking distance of downtown Clarkston. Flaughter has put her own twist on the interior, updating much of the 1914-built house.

In the kitchen, Flaughter added new cherry floor-to-ceiling cabinetry. She kept the high-end appliances from the previous owners, but changed their locations in the sprawling room. The original kitchen across the back of the house was changed years earlier and now acts as almost an extension of the fresh kitchen. Flaughter “re-modeled the remodel” as she says.

The granite countertops stretch along the wall and atop a large island which includes an under-mounted sink and an instant hot water dispenser, a special request her daughter made for making hot chocolate.

Amid the new cabinetry and other touches, Flaughter kept the kitchen’s wood floor, which all but tells the story of the house’s age and changes. Another part of the kitchen that Flaughter loves is the lighting. She started with the chandelier and matched other hanging lights with it, then carried that look throughout the first floor and even onto the front porch.

The Lowrie Garden

A new addition to the SCAMP Hour Tours is the first garden.

Instead of opening their home to visitors, Tom and Tami Lowrie of Lowrie’s Landscaping are revamping their home garden for an outdoor tour.

Being in the landscaping business, Tom decided to put his effort into displaying the outside of his home instead of the inside.

Lowrie began working the exterior of his home, removing dead brush from the previous seasons and laying the groundwork for fresh plumage back in April.

Visitors can casually stroll through blossoming perennials as they make their way to the back. Pass through the white pillars and visitors feel like they are in a storybook setting. The backyard, nearly three acres with a lake front view, includes a variety of flowers and exotic trees.

Tours are available on both days. On June 2, tour registration begins at 5 p.m. Tours run from 5:30 — 8 p.m. with a reception at Oakhurst Golf and Country Club at 8:15 p.m. On June 3, registration begins at 11:45 a.m. at Depot Park. Tours run from noon to 5 p.m.

Tickets are $22 for advanced reservations and seniors (60+) and $28 if purchased at the door. For more information, visit www.clarkstonscamp.com or call 248-620-1882.

Improve yourself through healthy curiosity

By Ernie Harwell

I've always believed that one of the best things a person can do, from a mental perspective, is to develop a curious mind about life.

One of my favorite hobbies is asking people about their families, where they grew up, their jobs, whatever. I joke that I'm the biggest busybody around, but the truth is that I like finding out about people, what experiences have shaped them, what makes them tick. It's great fun and a wonderful way to learn and build relationships with people.

There are other things we can do, too, to exercise our minds. Next time you come across a word you don't know, instead of skimming by it, find a dictionary and learn about it. What does it mean? How did it originate? How is it used? It might just stick in your head for the next time you're searching for that perfect word or phrase. Traveling is another great way to expand your horizons and see how other people live. Our country is so beautiful and diverse, and full of learning opportunities. I also highly recommend traveling abroad, if you're able, because it can really give you a new perspective on the world and life.

When we cultivate our minds, we improve ourselves and become more well-rounded. And that's a healthy way to be.

And please remember to take care of your health before it's longgggg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

fun thing. We just get together and have fun."

While the band, which Fay estimated has had over 30 members over the years, cut down their appearances, they still play about 10 shows a year and practice for three hours most Tuesdays.

"The sad thing is we're playing to a dying audience. Our segment of the population is dwindling," said 79-year-old Clarkston resident Ray DeFiore.

DeFiore played as a musician in the Army during World War II and continues to come because he enjoys playing piano for the band.

"It was fun (playing in the Army). Making music is always fun," laughed DeFiore.

Trombone player Bob Dodge epitomizes the bands' goals and attitude. Dodge took a 50 year break after playing in high school and in the army, before picking up his trombone again 22 years ago, after his retirement from the tool and die business.

"It's a nice bunch of fellows and I enjoy playing with them. As I get older my breath gets shorter and I can't play as long, but they still want me to come so I keep coming," said Dodge, an 84-year-old World War II Army veteran and Rose Township resident.

As in years past, the Clarkston Melody Makers are always open for more company and new players.

"Any who are interested are welcome to play.

There's no qualifications," said clarinet player and Independence Township resident Sue Gronemeier, 57.

While the group is not strictly veterans, the presence of World War II and Korean War veterans causes the group to hold this time of year and Memorial Day with a certain level of reverence.

Petroff, who was an Air Force mechanic from 1950-54, spending one year overseas, still thinks its important to remember the past contributions of veterans.

"(Memorial Day) gives people something to think about... You have to look back and see what you've done," said Petroff. "A lot of times I think about the guys. We were pretty close to the frontlines and you think about the guys you were with and you never forget those guys."

So the tunes and good times will continue at the Carriage House with songs and heroes of yesteryear.

Ride for wishes, 'Making dreams come true'

By Susan Bromley
The Citizen Staff Writer

Billy Flanders had his dream of seeing Shamu fulfilled when he was 4-years-old and terminally ill.

More than 20 years later, his mother, Hazel Flanders, still recalls how her son laughed as the killer whale splashed people in the front rows.

"Everytime people got splashed he'd crack up," she says, smiling at the memory. "It was a wonderful feeling to have his wish granted. I just remember the smile on his face."

Billy's wish was granted through the Rainbow Connection, a non-profit organization that grants wishes for children with life-threatening or terminal illnesses. On June 17, Hazel Flanders will be able to show her gratitude by giving back to the organization that made her son's dream come true. She and her husband, Bill Flanders, members of local band, The Ortonvillins, will play at the Village Pub, the final destination of the 2006 Ride for Wishes.

The event is an approximately 55-mile motorcycle ride through three counties, with all proceeds benefitting the Rainbow Connection.

Tabethia Tiseo-Shell, owner of Premier Employee Insurance Benefits, LLC, organized the event in conjunction with Cummings Harley-Davidson in Burton.

"I am the mother of a child who is healthy, but there are a lot of parents who don't have a healthy child," said Tiseo-Shell. "I would like to take a proactive approach to raise money to help these kids."

Billy Flanders was diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia in April 1985. Chemotherapy was begun, as well as numerous blood transfusions. Billy spent his third and fourth birthdays in the hospital and only a year after he was diagnosed, doctors told Hazel and Bill Flanders that their son wasn't going to survive.

A few months later, the Flanders' were at the hospital with Billy when they would learn about the Rainbow Connection. Volunteers from the non-profit organization that grants wishes with life-threatening or terminal illnesses wanted to make Billy's last wish come true.

Hazel Flanders thought her son might want a trip to Disney World, but what the little boy really wanted was to meet Shamu after seeing a commercial for Sea World in Cleveland. Within a month, in September 1986, Billy was there, with his parents and older brother Tony.

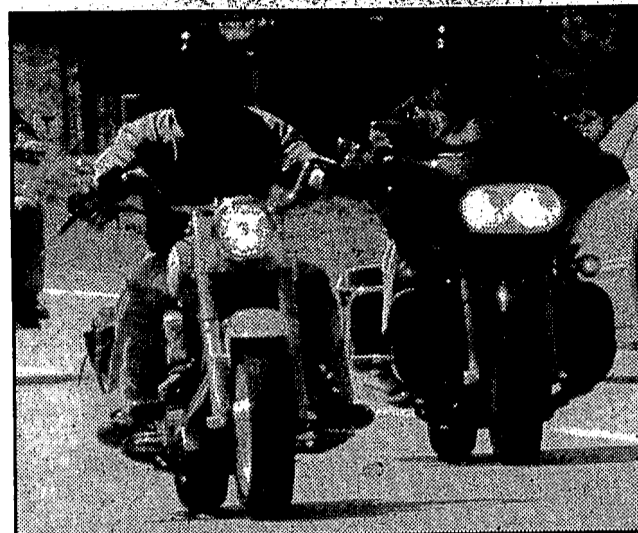

"It was great," says Flanders. "At that point, it was hard to go places because of his blood count, but they made arrangements for a doctor and hospital to go to if there was a problem."

The Flanders' didn't encounter any problems, however, just fun. Billy enjoyed feeding the geese, as well as the more novel experience of petting a beluga whale.

"He thought that was neat and to see Shamu was really cool," says Flanders. "He was a little ham."

Billy Flanders died six months later, in April 1987. His mother says she will never forget that day.

"I don't think people realize how many families have terminally ill children," says Flanders. "(The Rainbow Connection) is a wonderful gift to kids and their families. They can make a lot of dreams come true."

Tiseo-Shell hopes they do just that with funds raised from the Ride for Wishes.

"I am so excited," she said. "I can't wait to see all these people. We're going to take over downtown Ortonville. I'm aiming for every two-wheeled motorcycle to show up for this charity ride."

Morgan sisters dominating the track

BY DAVE PEMBERTON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston Track Coach John Yorke knew he would have to rely on his distance girls at the postseason meets — and so far they haven't let him down.

The distance runners scored 54 of the Wolves' 80 points at the Oakland County meet to help them capture the county championship on May 26.

"The distance girls are doing a nice job," Yorke said. "I knew we would have to rely on them in the bigger meets and they have run well."

The top finishes by the distance runners included Stephanie Morgan and Jenny Morgan finishing one-two in the mile run, with Lisa Sickman taking fourth place. Jenny Morgan won the 3200-meters.

Stephanie Morgan took second place in the 800-meters, with Lyndsay Smith finishing fourth. Stephanie Morgan also teamed with Jenna Manilla, Smith and Melissa Martinez to take fourth in the 1600-meter relay, and the 3200-meter relay team of Lisa Sickman, Beth Hoekstra, Tiffany Kincaid and Jenna Leach finished in second place.

Other notable finishes for Clarkston were Stephanie Thorstad winning the high jump, Lauren Frank finishing second in the discus, Autumn Touchstone taking home a fourth place finish in the 100-meter hurdles and Heidi McMahon and Dana Johns finishing in the top 10 in the pole vault.

Back on May 23, Clarkston won the OAA I meet to win the overall OAA I championship. The Wolves finished with 103 points which was 20 points ahead of second place Pontiac Northern.

"They were excited to win both meets," Yorke said. "We thought we were the favorites in both meets and

Sisters key to each other's success

BY DAVE PEMBERTON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Running to the Morgan sisters is as a natural as flying to a bird or swimming to a fish. Jenny and Stephanie Morgan are a one-two punch any track team would love to have.

Jenny is the older of the two. She won three state championships last season and would like to add a few more on June 3 before she heads to the University of Michigan in the fall.

Stephanie is a freshman, but has already shown she is just as talented as Jenny. Stephanie broke Jenny's record in the 800-meters at the OAA I meet last week and defeated Jenny to win the 1600-meters at the Oakland County meet on May 26. Jenny finished in second place and less than a second behind her younger sister.

The two are competitive, but openly root for each other. Stephanie said it's nothing personal but she also hopes to break Jenny's school records in the 3200 and 1600-meters. Jenny doesn't mind at all.

"I'm sure she will break them," Jenny said. "She has more speed than I did at that age. I know she can break them and I hope she does. Records are meant to be broken."

Stephanie credits Jenny with teaching her different techniques and finding ways to help motivate her. The relationship is not one way though. Stephanie played a big role this season for her older sister.

Jenny has been recovering from a foot injury she suffered in the fall. Stephanie made sure Jenny stayed patient and did not try to rush back too early from the injury.

Jenny returned with a vengeance and won the 1600 and 3200-meters at the regional just three weeks after coming back. The two sisters feed off each other and love to see the other succeed.

"Sometimes if we run together she will tell me to stay beside her. Right now she is getting back into shape so at the regional meet she told me to help her," Stephanie said. "We go back and forth. Age, doesn't matter we just help each other a lot."

The two will attempt to make sure Clarkston continues to have it's most successful season in school history when they compete at the state finals.

The Wolves already went undefeated in dual meets, won the regional with a record amount of points, won the OAA I meet and the Oakland County meet.

The only thing left is the state finals, where the Morgan sisters plan on bringing home some state championships.

Clarkston Distance Coach Jamie LaBrosse said he expects the two to go one-two in the mile, Jenny to win the 3200-meters and Stephanie to win the 800-meters.

Stephanie has never been to the state finals, but she is not intimidated. She echoed her coach's expectations.

"I want to win the mile or go 1-2 with Jenny as long as both of our times are good," Stephanie said. "I also want to win the 3200-meter relay and the 800-meters. We want to win the team championship. It's a lot, but it's something we are going to go for. We have to make sure we are running our best and it should be fun."

Jenny's high school career will come to an end on June 3, but she confident the program will be fine next season with Stephanie back for three more years.

Athlete of the Week — Stephanie Parkison

BY DAVE PEMBERTON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston tennis player Stephanie Parkison will be taking her game south in the fall. Parkison signed to play tennis at Middle Tennessee State University.

Parkison had several offers from different universities, but chose a full-ride to Middle Tennessee. Parkison said she chose to play for the Blue Raiders because of location and the competition.

"It's a Division I school so it's really competitive," Parkison said. "I also liked the school because I love playing outside. It's mild in the winter down there, so there will be no snow, which is nice."

Parkison first came in contact with Middle Tennessee at a tournament she played in last summer. The Blue Raiders coach talked to Parkison and sent her information about the program. Parkison went on an official visit and decided it was the best choice for her.

"When I signed it was a relief," Parkison said. "It feels good after you work so hard for something and your finally done working for it. I'm really happy and excited to start something new."

During the recruiting process, Parkison stayed in contact with former Clarkston tennis player Lauren Little, who currently plays tennis at West Bloomfield played spoiler for the Clarkston baseball team on May 24. The Wolves had a chance to tie for the OAA I title, but fell to the Lakers 6-5.

"Our kids didn't come to play today," Clarkston Coach Phil Price said. "West Bloomfield was mostly throwing one-pitch fastballs and our kids couldn't hit it. When we had guys on base, we couldn't come through and we made six errors. We had a chance for a league title and we didn't go for it. We didn't deserve it today."

The game against West Bloomfield was Clarkston's third in three days. The Wolves defeated Lake Orion on May 22 and Royal Oak Kimball on May 23 to give themselves a shot at the league title. Clarkston needed four straight league wins to end the season to tie Farmington.

Clarkston started off the conference season 1-3 and then won four of its next five. Price said he was pleased with the team's play in the two wins over Lake Orion and Kimball, but is unsure why the team didn't play well against the Lakers.

"I wish I knew that answer," Price said. "I'm beating myself up. I don't think we did a very good job coaching. We didn't put kids in the right spots and we didn't do what we should have done. We have to take our hats off to West Bloomfield. Those kids didn't have anything to play for and they out-competed us today."

The loss also came at a crucial point in the season. Clarkston begins the state playoffs on May 30 by hosting Waterford Mott. The Wolves and Corsairs are the two favorites in the district, which also features Pontiac Northern, Pontiac Central and Waterford Kettering.

Price said he's not taking anybody in the district for granted, but he is more worried about his team.

"What it comes down to, we just have to prepare ourselves," Price said. "If we come out and play good baseball we can compete with anybody. We can't have six errors and not compete at the plate. When we play good defensively we will be ok. I'm not worried about the other teams. I'm worried about us."

In the Wolves' loss to West Bloomfield they trailed 4-3 entering the fifth inning. Dave Brelinski led off with a double. Ty Taylor knocked in Brelinski with a double of his own to tie the game at four and Steve McIsaac hit an RBI single to give Clarkston a one run lead.

The Lakers tied the game at five in the bottom of the fifth. Clarkston had a man on second and third with one out in the sixth, but left the two runners stranded.

West Bloomfield made Clarkston pay in the bottom of the sixth by scoring the go-ahead run.

Clarkston's game against Waterford Mott finished too late for this addition of The Clarkston News, but check back next week for complete coverage of district play.

Luck must have been on Clarkston's side when the draws were made for the Division I district at Lake Orion. The district features OAA I powerhouses Lake Orion and Rochester Adams, but the two face each other in the first round.

The Wolves open with Holly, who struggled all season in the Flint-Metro League. With a win, Clarkston would move on to face Waterford Mott in the semifinals. The Wolves defeated Mott 5-0 earlier this season.

"I'm very happy with the draw," Clarkston Soccer Coach Sarah Smith said. "We are not taking anything for granted, but I'd like to meet Orion or Adams in the finals. We are going to take it one game at a time though."

Smith is also confident because she believes the team is playing its best soccer of the season right now. The Wolves defeated Royal Oak Kimball 3-1 on May 17 to pick up their first conference win. Kimball is ranked No. 9 in the state in Division 2.

In the Wolves final regular season game, they tied Farmington 1-1. Clarkston fell to the Falcons 2-0 earlier in the season.

"Things are finally starting to come together for us," Smith said. "Every game we are fixing problems we had earlier in the season. We know we can beat any of these teams if we go out and play for 80 minutes. We know we can score goals now, so if we come out focused and ready to play things will go well."

Smith said Lauren Humphreys and Brittany Davis have played well and goalkeeper Emily Pierce will be key in district play.

"It gives us an advantage to have such a good goalkeeper," Smith said. "If the other team gets past our defense, it helps to have someone as good as Emily back there. I have a lot of confidence in her."

Clarkston's game against Holly on May 30 finished too late for this addition of The Clarkston News, but check back next week for complete coverage of all the district action.

Relay team takes fifth

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston's 1600-meter relay team took fifth place at the Oakland County meet on May 26. The team of Nick LaMora, Jesse Kessler, Matt Alexander and Brad Kolano finished in 3:26 which was good for their best time all season. The team has already qualified for the state finals on June 3.

"They ran well," Clarkston Coach Walt Wynnemko said. "We have the opportunity to go to the state finals and we are glad to have that chance. That's all we can ask for is a chance. The weather is supposed to be good and we are excited to be going."

LaMora also took fifth place in the 800-meters at the Oakland County meet.

The Wolves freshman track team took fifth place at the Oakland County freshman meet. Jeff Kuhl finished in second place in the mile and broke the freshman record with a time of 3:38.2. Tom Follis took third in the 110 hurdles and third in the 300-meter hurdles.

we took care of business. We can use that to get ready for the state finals. I think all the girls are peaking and will run their best at the state meet."

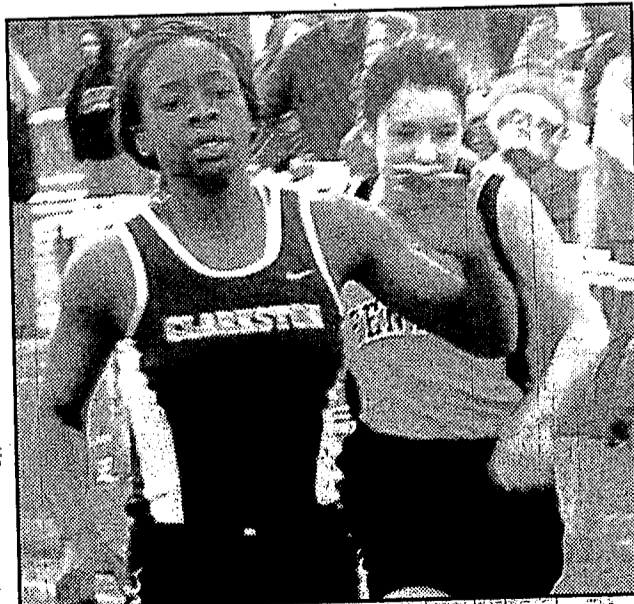

Yorke said his goal is to at least finish in the top three as a team at the state finals.

With 15 girls competing at the state finals a state championship is a possibility.

"It's exciting to think about because winning a (team) state championship is so huge," Jenny Morgan said. "Just to see every part of our team coming together at the end of the season is great. We want to see how far our momentum can take us."

Morgan is the defending state champion in the mile and two mile race and was a member of last year's 3200-relay team which won the state championship.

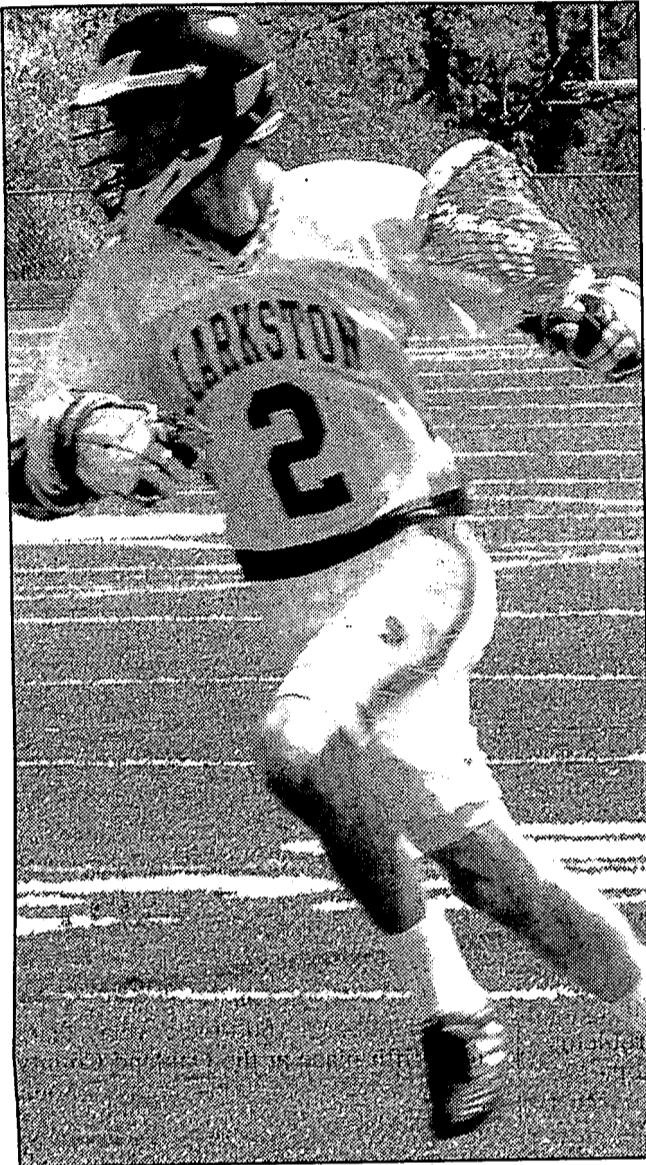

The track state finals are on June 3 at East Kentwood High School.

Farmington hands CHS an early exit

BY DAVE PEMBERTON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The Clarkston boys lacrosse team could not avenge its loss to Farmington earlier this season.

Farmington took an early lead and held on to defeat the Wolves 11-4 in the first round of the state playoffs.

The Falcons scored two quick goals before David Isaac put Clarkston on the scoreboard with 8:34 left in the first quarter.

Farmington scored three unanswered goals in the second quarter to take a 5-1 lead at halftime.

Clarkston's Brent Fisher scored the first goal in the second half, but Farmington responded by scoring four more goals in the third quarter.

Joshua Halka and Matthew Ullrich each scored a goal in the fourth quarter, but Farmington also scored two goals in the fourth.

Danny Goettlicher led Farmington with three goals and one assist, Tim Lehto and Robby Paige each added two goals.

The early exit ends Clarkston's most successful season in school history.

The Wolves won a record 10 games this season. Clarkston has improved its record each season since the lacrosse program began in 2001.

AOW

"I talked to her about recruiting, how to contact schools and what tournaments to play in," Parkison said. "We still play together over the summer. When I signed, she was excited for me because she knew what the process was like."

Parkison also credits Little with helping her improve during her junior year.

"It helped to go against someone so competitive in practice," Parkison said. "Having her to practice with really helped me."

Parkison and Little helped Clarkston finish in fourth place at the state finals in 2004. Parkison won the state championship in the No. 2 singles flight and Little won the No. 1 singles flight.

Last season, Parkison helped Clarkston finish in fifth place at the state finals, second at regionals and tie for the OAA II title.

In addition to her state championship in 2004, Parkison considered winning the Southeastern Michigan qualifier last season as her greatest accomplishments in tennis, but looks forward to having more as a Blue Raider.

Hockey tryouts

Clarkston High School hockey Coach Bryan Krygier is running three tryout sessions to give hockey players a chance to learn about the program. The tryouts are for the Clarkston hockey summer program.

Krygier hopes to assemble three summer league teams and offer other training opportunities to the players.

The tryouts are June 2 from 8-10 p.m., June 3 from 3:30 p.m.-5:30 p.m. and June 4 from 2:30-4:30 p.m. All three tryouts are at the Detroit Skate Club in Bloomfield Hills and there is a $15 cost per player for each session.

Sports and services

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The scene was an A & W Rootbeer commercial. Lomas Brown of the Detroit Lions was there, but the Root Bear mascot supposed to be sporting the bear outfit was not. The bear was needed for the commercial so in stepped sports agent Mike Zehnder.

Before joining L. Brooks Patterson's staff 13 years ago, Zehnder was busy working as a sports agent running Celebrities Inc, Media and Sports Personalities. He arranged personal appearances and product endorsements for major sports stars in the Detroit area.

His mementos from 12 years in the lucrative business cover the walls, hundreds of pictures with personal messages from athletes — a miniature hall of fame and who's who in professional sports from the 70's and 80's.

"These are near and dear to my heart. The comments written on them are mementos," said Zehnder, grabbing the photo from the A&W commercial with him dressed as the bear.

"This is my favorite. I always say, 'This is the best picture I've ever had taken,'" he laughed.

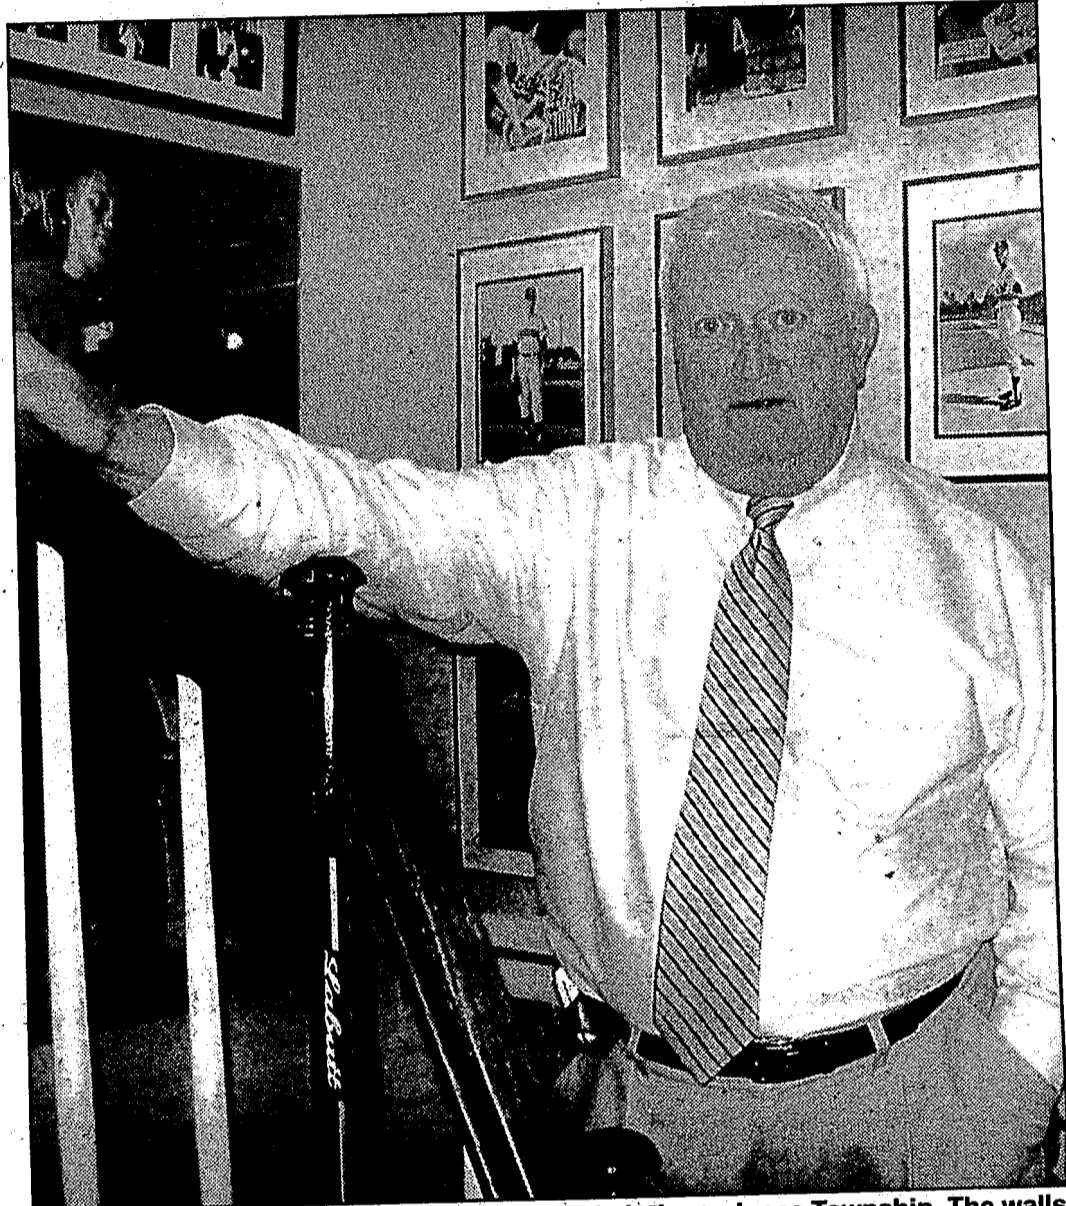

Zehnder highlights the opportunity to arrange Detroit Tiger charity basketball games during the off-season around 1980 as an event that helped spur on his career as an agent.

"It kind of evolved from that," said Zehnder, who was also a manufacturer's representative for sporting goods at the time. "If you do good for one athlete, they have a ton of teammates and it's all word of mouth. We really rock and rolled. We had some good stuff and a lot of endorsements."

Oakland County Director of Public Services

Having representing approximately 50-60 athletes and celebrities, Zehnder cited the good natured personalities as the highlight of his career.

"Vinnie Johnson without a question of the doubt is one of the finest human beings I ever met in my life," said Zehnder, who noted in general hockey players seemed to be the most down to earth of the athletes.

Through the years, Zehnder's friendships brought him up close and personal with athletes from other cities including one of Major League Baseball's biggest legends.

On a day in the 70's, during a Detroit Tiger baseball game, one of Zehnder's friends who managed the visiting team's locker room asked him if he could drive Hank Aaron to the airport immediately following the game. Aaron had a business engagement and needed to go in another direction than the team.

On that particular day, Zehnder drove his wife's car — an orange AMC Gremlin — to the park. Pulling up to the door near where the visitors come out, he encountered a police officer directing traffic. The officer told him to move.

"I said I'm going to tell you something. If you hold the traffic up and get me over to that curb and if Hank Aaron doesn't come out and get in this car, give me whatever number of tickets," said Zehnder.

After the officer let Zehnder drive over and park, baseball's leading home run hitter came out looking for his ride.

"He must of been looking for a Cadillac or a limousine or something. He sure wasn't looking for an orange Gremlin. So I have the window done and I'm yelling 'Hank, Hank.'"

According to Zehnder, Aaron finally saw him and ran over, out racing fans who

CVP season closes with special production

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Following tradition, the Clarkston Village Players are closing out the 2005-06 season with a special production by devoted members.

Vern Vackero and Nancy Penvose are either on stage or working behind the sense for nearly every CVP production. To close the season, the two are not only starring in, but directing, producing and even set building for the comedic drama "Park your car in Harvard Yard" by Israel Horowitz

"I don't know if it's because we're busy or not, but we're always exhausted when we're done rehearsing," Penvose joked.

Jacob Brackish (Vackero), one of the meanest teachers to ever walk the halls of Gloucester High School, needs a housekeeper. Katherine Hogan (Penvose) answers the ad and is hired. Over the span of a year, memories for both characters come into play and change their relationship and their lives.

Vackero has been with CVP for nearly 20 years and most recently appeared as an interdimensional dean of students in "The Whole Shebang." Vackero said the last production is always a smaller cast and he and Penvose worked together in four of the 10 special productions.

"Three of the four have been just us," Penvose laughed. "I actually enjoy doing this for me because it's more opportunity to really get to know a character."

"When you only have two characters in a show, the characters become

Katherine Hogan (Nancy Penvose) plays housekeeper to grouchy teacher Jacob Brackish (Vern Vackero) in the CVP special production of "Park Your Car in Harvard Yard." Photo by Andrew Dupont more well developed," Vackero agreed. "I think these are more challenging and both of us, I think, enjoy it for the same reason.

"Sometimes you're in a play and you have a really good idea how it's going to play and sometimes you don't. This is one of those where I feel I don't know," Vackero added.

"I like it as a play, certainly like the character I'm playing," Penvose concurred. "It may not appear to be but it's one of the toughest ones to rehearse," she added, referring to audio and visual cues they have not been able to practice with yet.

This production will be Penvose's first time on stage this season, at least with her face visible. Penvose has been with CVP for 13 years and worked off stage for several productions this season, as well as being the writer and voices behind the "Once Upon a Puppet" performances.

Penvose, a native of England, said the Boston accent is one of the hardest she has learned.

"I love dialects and I love accents, but this has been one of the toughest ones for me to nail because I've never been to Boston and it's not one that is commonly heard," she said.

Vackero commented these small productions are hard because they require a lot of work in a short amount of time for a week's worth of performances.

Special performances are scheduled for CVP supporters, with only three performances open to the public on June 9-11. The Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m. and the Sunday show begins at 2 p.m.

As of press time, the Saturday show is already sold out. Tickets for remaining shows are available online at www.clarkstonvillageplayers.org or by calling 248-625-8811. Tickets may also be purchased at the door before each performance, however, availability cannot be assured. Due to language content, this play is not suitable for children.

Kristine M. Dany and Christian Hay are pleased to announce their May nuptials.

The bride, formerly of Clarkston, is the daughter of Daniel and Kristine A. Dany of Clarkston.

Kristine is a 1989 graduate of Kettering High School and a 1994 graduate of Central Michigan University. She is employed by Mutual of America, the Cincinnati field office. Kristine resides in Southgate, Kentucky. The groom is the son of Louise Hay of Southgate, Kentucky and the late John Hay of Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

Christian, of Villa Hills, Kentucky, is a 1986 graduate of Highland High School in Fort Thomas, Kentucky. He graduated with his bachelor's from Northern Kentucky University and received his doctorate from Life University in Atlanta, Georgia in 1999.

Christian owns the Hay Chiropractic Clinic in Newport, Kentucky.

A wedding was held this month in Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

Students achieve success

Mark Catanese and Joshua Cartwright, both of Clarkston, were recently named to the Winter Quarter Dean's List at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology.

Robbie Clark, a 2005 graduate of Clarkston High School, now a freshman at Cleveland State University, was named to the Dean's List with a 4.0 GPA for the fall semester. Robbie is a member of the men's basketball team and is majoring in journalism/prelaw.

Austin Michael Haba, of Clarkston, was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll at the University of Mississippi for the fall 2005 semester.

Two Clarkston area students were honored for their fall achievements at Miami University:

Casey Elizabeth Bolton was named to the Dean's List with a 3.5 GPA or better.

Laura Elizabeth Barnett was named to the President's List with a 4.0 grade point.

Clarkston resident recognized

Barb Deradoorian of Clarkston was awarded the Thrivent Financial for Lutherans Eastern Great Lakes Region Volunteer Excellence Award in the Families with Children category.

Thrivent Financial selected Deradoorian for this honor because of her dedication to helping others through volunteerism and service in 2005. During the year, she contributed to the community by leading the ThriventBuilds with Habitat for Humanity project in Oakland County. Barb recruited volunteers for the two builds on behalf of Habitat for Humanity of Oakland County and organized fund-raisers among Lutheran congregations in her chapter.

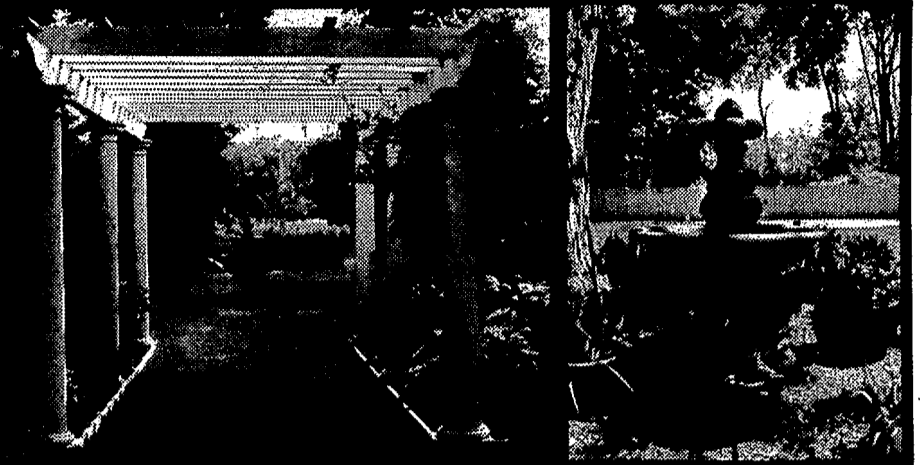

"Deradoorian has the responsibility of caring for her own family but still makes it a priority to volunteer in the community," said Peggy Kalis, manager of Lutheran community services for the Thrivent Financial Eastern Great Lakes Region. "Receiving the regional Volunteer Excellence Award is a tremendous honor and Deradoorian is deserving."

In addition to receiving this award, $250 will be given to Habitat for Humanity of Oakland County in Deradoorian's name.

Peace in the storm

The world is changing! With the economic powers of China and India blossoming and the emergence of radical Islam, we are facing not only changing times but also unsettling times.

In Michigan, we seem to be easily shaken by the changing world economy. Manufacturing, once the mainstay of our economy, is shifting to other places of the world. It is literally causing an assault on the lifestyles to which we have become accustomed. With the developing technology sectors in other parts of the world, an advanced degree no longer guarantees a good job or a secure future. What is a person to do to prepare for this uncertain future?

The first thing is not to panic. Fear and panic are a sure way to make the wrong choices for our lives. I remember the uncertainty of the 70s here in Michigan. The refrain often heard was, "The last person out be sure to turn off the lights."

In my mind, this seems to be the same type of atmosphere I remember back then. We are still here and have had some good times since. Interestingly enough, much of the good that happened took us by surprise. By letting history be our guide, we can be relatively sure the end of the world is not at hand. Yet, it could be true the end of the world, as we know it, is at hand. There is no question we need to discern the times and adapt to the changes without making irrational or emotional choices.

Spiritual Matters

Pastor Loren Covarrubias

To avoid panic we need a plan. The first step of that plan is to grab hold of those stable things in life. For me, that starts with God.

God says concerning Himself, "I am the God who changes not." I remember telling our congregation years ago that we need God to be the center of our life. Our center must be built upon something that is stable or our life will be thrown out of whack when the center changes. The center cannot be anything temporary, which includes things such as other people, children, jobs or spouse.

I remember after I preached that message, it was not long before several people confirmed to me the power of it. When we put our focus on areas other than God it is not long before we become out of kilter and don't have any sense of peace or direction in our life.

Secondly, we need a plan with a proven record. In unsettling times, there are many voices trying to influence us. Looking back over the last 40 years, I have seen how our contemporaries rarely discern the times. If you were an adult during the 70's you may recall the economists speaking about the time when Japan would overtake the United States as a world leader. All eyes were on Japan not realizing that shortly Japan would go into a lengthy recession and become a stagnated economy. Do the experts today know something that they did not know then?

I have learned over time that when the storms are raging and the winds are blowing it is necessary to listen to the voice of Jesus Christ who said, "Therefore, whoever hears these sayings of Mine and does them will be like the wise man who built his house

Planting hope...

Thanks to a break from Mother Nature, the Clarkston Community Garden was able to kick off this past Saturday with the first planting of the season. Volunteering their time and efforts were Springfield Plains third grade teachers Linda Linenger, left, and Dee Smith.

Brittany Raley, 17, was one of several Clarkston Junior Eagles helping give the garden a healthy start.

Photos by Jenny Matteson

Some of the volunteers fulfilled their community service hours for school.

I Have a Secret

Shh! Don't tell!
 Why is everyone so ashamed?
 Why must we all appear flawless?
 What if I told you
 That I am 16
 And still sleep with my blankie,
 And my mom,
 Yep, she's still mommy.
 I don't watch "Laguna Beach" or "Law and Order"
 But rather,
 Spongebob and Rugrats.
 I hate high heels,
 Give me my Converse and I'll be ok.
 I still believe in fairies,
 And write letters to Santa.
 So you know what?
 I dare you!
 That's right!
 I double dog dare you!
 To be who you are.
 To not be ashamed.
 To tell me,
 One of your secrets.

recognized the legendary slugger and swarmed to meet him.

"The cop looked at me amazed and I drove away." Zehnder battled through the post game traffic getting Aaron to the airport. Along the way Aaron saw the book Zehnder brought for the occasion, "Hank Aaron: One For The Record," in his car. After the ride, Aaron signed the book, "To Mike, Thanks for a great ride. Hank Aaron."

While Zehnder continued to work as an agent with success, Patterson, a long-time friend approached him to come aboard the Oakland County Executive's office in the early 90's.

"What I miss the most is the satisfaction of the deal. I put together something. Sure I made some bucks, but everyone made out well in what I did," said Zehnder.

"I left that to join Brooks which was an opportunity of a lifetime. Believe me, there's no regrets. Certainly the money's a whole lot different. But the fact is there's no regrets."

Working for Patterson, Zehnder is the Director of Public services. He handles a wide range of divisions from veteran's services to animal control.

"Of all the things we've accomplished since Brooks' administration has been in place, I'm most proud of bringing the veterans' cemetery to Oakland County," said Zehnder, referring to Great Lakes National Cemetery. "That became my passion getting them to select that site, that's my top accomplishment. No doubt that's where I'll be buried."

The cemetery takes on great importance for Zehnder who spent six years in the Marine Corps from approximately 1963-1969.

"The Corps is the foundation of my personal life. I learned a lot of things in the Corps. God knows where I'd be or what I'd be doing if I hadn't joined the Corp," said Zehnder, explaining he joined to resolve personal issues in his life.

While proud of bringing the cemetery, Zehnder credits the hard-working managers who focus on each division in his department as key.

Prior to working as a sports agent, Zehnder was involved in banking after serving in the military and earning a degree in marketing from the University of Maryland.

Those connections are still paying off as a corner of his room is filled with memorabilia ranging from a signed Super Bowl XL MVP Hines Ward photograph to a Kid Rock picture for a couple of fund-raisers.

Even though lunch guests from week to week may include Mickey Redmond and Denny McClain, Zehnder enjoys getting away to property up north with his wife of over 30 years Ellen. The Zehnders share two sons, Tom and Steven, and three grandchildren.

Local school children step back in time

Aside from running the Clarkston Heritage Museum and preserving Clarkston artifacts, the Clarkston Community Historical Society (CCHS) also offers local history programs to hundreds of schoolchildren each year.

Sometimes the children come to the museum and sometimes members of the society go to the schools. CCHS board members Kim Huttenlocher and Ann Mizusawa are experts at making life in early Clarkston seem real to the children. They churn butter, play old-fashioned games, talk about farm chores and learn all about living in a small town in the Midwest.

In case you didn't know, the second grade curriculum in Clarkston schools includes the study of local history using a children's history book that was published and provided by CCHS.

Some of the interesting facts these children learn about include the early practice of holding school sessions in the winter and summer. Typically, boys attended the winter session in order to be home on the farm during the growing season; while girls were more available in the summertime for school. The many farm chores for a young child are also discussed as well as the differences between Clarkston then and now.

Recently, CCHS was invited to attend the Springfield Plains Elementary School Festival Day on May 9. As part of the program, the children were asked to write down the answer to the question "What was one fun thing about living long ago in Clarkston?"

We thought it would be fun to record some of their answers for this column, and the children were certainly excited about the possibility. So here they are, and we think the kids did a great job!

"That you had to get up at 5 o'clock to do your chores. Boys had to go to school at the winter season. If you have a whole you have to do a lot of work to fix the sock." - Nathan P., 4th Grade

 "It was fun to go to school with a bunch of different kids who were different ages." - Dylan H., 5th Grade

"You got to hit rugs with a big wacky thing." - Chris S., 5th Grade

"One fun thing about living long ago in Clarkston was going to school with big kids." - Leah D., 5th Grade

"When you lived in Clarkston some fun thing would be to go to the soda shop, especially on a hot summer day." - Bailey R., 5th Grade

"I think it would be fun to do all of the chores such as gather the crops and feed all of the animals." - Zach G., 4th Grade

"One fun thing about living long ago in Clarkston would be I would have to go to school in the summer and I might have a fiddle." - Rebecca G., 4th Grade

"You could ride horses." - William S., 3rd Grade

"Being able to listen to the gramophone." - Drew C., 5th Grade

"Being able to go to the stores and get a cold drink for only 10 cents and walking the town." - Nolan M., 5th Grade

"To me if I lived back a long time ago I would have the most fun inventing things for the community." - Kenny S., 5th Grade

"There's more fresh food and more room for playing sports." - David P., 3rd Grade

"One fun thing would be helping on the farm with the harvesting and planting." - Paul S., 5th Grade

"It was easy to discover things." - Jared, 3rd Grade

Well, we can certainly tell that they were listening to us! It is always a pleasant surprise to hear a young child recite a story about Clarkston that they learned at one of our programs, or from the children's history book. They're on the right path, and someday they'll be running the Clarkston Heritage Museum... it will be in good hands.

Written comments should be submitted to: Springfield Township Clerk, 12000 Davisburg Road, P.O. Box 1038, Davisburg, MI 48350.
6. That the Township Board may, after consideration of any objections, proceed to carry out the improvements, unless written objections to the improvement are filed by the record owners of land constituting more than 20% of the total land area in the proposed special assessment district at or before the hearing on June 8, 2006.
7. If the Township approves the making of the improvements, a special assessment may be levied against properties that benefit from the improvements. Act 186 of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1973, as amended, provides that the special assessment must be protested at the hearing held for the purpose of confirming the special assessment roll before the Michigan Tax Tribunal may acquire jurisdiction of any dispute involving the special assessment. The hearing for the purpose of confirming the special assessment roll will be held, if at all, at some time in the future pursuant to notice given as required by law. Appearance and protest at such hearing is required in order to appeal the amount of special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that records pertaining to the proposed lake improvement may be examined at the Clerk's Office, Charter Township of Springfield, 12000 Davisburg Road, Davisburg, Michigan during regular office hours, Monday through Friday, until the date of the Public Hearing. Anyone needing a special accommodation should contact the Township Clerk at least two (2) business days in advance of the meeting. 248-846-6510.
