Budget approved

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In a brief yet productive Clarkston School Board meeting on June 26, the board approved the budget, appointed a new assistant principal and one school board member said good-bye.

After holding a public hearing, the board voted 6-0 to approve the budget for the 2006-07 school year. Treasurer Ron Sullivan was not present at the meeting. Current estimates by the district expect the budget to run at nearly a $4.8 million deficit.

The board voted 5-1 to approve personal changes, including naming Brett McCall as the new assistant principal of Sashabaw Middle School. Joan Patterson cast the dissenting vote, saying she does not like the current process for staff evaluations and voted no to continue voicing her disapproval.

McCall replaces Glenn Gualtieri, who was named the new principal of Bailey Lake Elementary in May after Stephanie Mitchell resigned.

The meeting was also the last time Sheila Hughes

Festival of Fun returns to Clintonwood Park

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clintonwood Park will once again host The Festival of Fun on the Fourth of July. The annual festival will feature a softball tournament, arts and craft show, canine frisbee competition, live bands, children's activities and fireworks.

Children's activities include a giant obstacle course, jousting, a moon walk, rock climbing tower and carnival games. The price is 50 cents each or all-play wristbands can be purchased for $15.

The festival will also feature a local D.J. and four bands. The Jello Shot Band plays at 11 a.m., Legend the Band at 1:45 p.m., Murphy's Law at 4:30 p.m. and The Beautiful Loser at 7 p.m..

Kelly Hyer of Independence Township Parks and Recreation, which organizes the event, said the festival is a great small town tradition.

"I think it's a unique experience for the variety we offer," Hyer said. "If you look around the state, the bigger festivals are put on by huge cities. For Independence Township to put on a nice festival is unique. It's a family day and a tradition in our community. Lots of residents look forward to it.

"One really neat thing about the festival is the community comes together to support it. We raised about $12,000 to pay for fireworks and other entertainment. Without the sponsors the day wouldn't be possible."

The park opens at 11 a.m. and is open until dusk. Parking is available at Clintonwood for $5 or there is a shuttle running from Clarkston High School.

The event also features a variety of entertainment walking around the park including a mime, magician and palm reader. Local vendors will also be on hand.

Hyer said the day is great for families and her family comes to the event each year.

"You often see three generations there," Hyer said. "I like to see everyone happy and able to enjoy the special holidays. We are really proud of our country and our department really prides itself on continuing to bring this tradition to Clintonwood. We want people to relax, spend a quality day with family and to celebrate our nation's independence. After all we are Independence Township."

A grand parade

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Preparations for the annual Clarkston Fourth of July parade are being made. This year's parade has the theme of "Grand Ole Flag."

On-call sergeant fire fighter Rick Hardy, who helps organize the event, said he expects over 100 entries this year. People can still enter by stopping at the fire station 1 at 6500 Citation Drive to pick up a registration form or by visiting www.independencetownship.org/parade.

There will be cash prizes for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place and Hardy said there will be no cost to enter.

The parade starts at St. Daniel Catholic Church at 10 a.m. and runs through parts of Miller, Main and Church streets, ending at Renaissance High School. People can lineup at any time.

Hardy said his favorite part of the parade is the initial kickoff with the colorguard and the fly over. He also said he enjoys seeing the smile on people's faces, which is one of the reasons he has helped out with the parade for years.

"It's one of those things the fire department has been responsible for putting on for a while," Hardy said. "It's the one big thing we do and a lot of guys get a charge out of it."

Briefly

Twp. board accepts Orco's withdraw

At the June 20 regular board meeting, the Independence Township Board of Trustees accepted the withdraw of Orco Investment's request for site specific relief authorization.

Orco withdrew the request, to the board's surprise, at the May 3 meeting.

The site specific relief authorization was in regards to a 70-acre parcel located in the northwest corner of Waldon and Sashabaw roads, near the I-75 interchange.

Orco's proposal for the property, in regards to this request, was a residential development with 450 single-family homes, townhouses and condos on close to 65 acres, and commercial development on the remaining five acres.

Orco's other proposal for the property - a "big box" proposal involving two large retailers and possible hotel - was denied by the planning commission on April 27.

Fire Dept. looking for on-call recruits

No experience is required, but a background check is conducted. Interested parties are encouraged to apply at Fire Station #1 on 6500 Citation Drive from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Orientation is expected to start by the end of August. For more information call 248-625-1924.

Blood drive at fire department

The American Red Cross is holding a blood drive on June 30 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Independence Township Fire Department's Station 1. Drop-ins are available but appointments are preferred. For more information call 248-625-1924. The Independence Township Fire Department station 1 is located on 6500 Citation Drive.

Summer taxes coming

The 2006 summer property tax bills will be sent out by July 1. This bill includes the second of three transfers of the county operating tax millage from the winter to the summer tax bills.

The net effect is your summer tax bill will be higher than last year's bill. Your winter tax bill, which comes out in December, should be lower than your previous winter bill.

All the county operating property taxes are collected on the 2007 summer tax bills.

'Suite' surprise for Chanae

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An inspiration - that's how people view 13-year-old Chanae who lives with her adopted parents Jim and Carolann Reed in Springfield Township.

Chanae suffered third degree burns over approximately 85 percent of her head and face as an infant. Despite undergoing yearly reconstructive surgery with her 33rd scheduled for this summer, Chanae remains upbeat, having an impact on everyone she meets.

"She's very special. She's very caring, loving and nurturing. She has brought a lot to our life and other people who have met her because of the kind of personality she has," said Carolann, who explained only one picture of Chanae prior to her burns exists.

"She touches many people. She leaves a lasting impression on them," she added.

In recognition of her determination, Suite Dreams, an organization responsible for creating healing environments for children, teamed up with Schuster Homes, local merchants and tradespeople unveiling a re-done vintage glam room for the teenager.

"I think it's pretty cool," said Chanae, who had no idea what the room was going to look like prior to the June 21 unveiling. "I like it. I love it. I like the whole thing," she said following the room's unveiling.

Additions to the room included new floors, carpeting, closet, bedding, drapery, a desk and a computer for those homework assignments next fall.

"It's beautiful. We're going to have to redo our whole house to match it," joked Jim. "It's surprising. I appreciate people donating it."

"I'm overwhelmed. It's awesome. It's more than what I expected. The decorating is beautiful," said Carolann.

A dancing theme - exemplified by a photo frame on the dresser labeled "Dancing Diva" - dominated the room. Dancing is one of Chanae's favorite activities since she started in various dance forms from the age of three.

"She's in a lot of activities. She's really improved a lot," said Jim, commenting on Chanae's social personality despite her severe burns and surgeries.

While Chanae enjoys performing for dance, she asked her picture not be used in this article.

During the renovation, which took about five days, Chanae did not see the room. While the interior designers asked her for ideas in relation to her favorite paint color (blue) and bedding, the rest of the room was a surprise.

"I think this is really neat how they're doing this for her," exclaimed Michael, her 11-year-old brother.

"I think it'll help her quite a bit (following surgery). Now it looks like a teenager's room. She's more like an adult now," said Jim.

The renovations marked the first room completed by the Clarkston chapter of Suite Dreams serving North Oakland County, which started last summer with a charity event sponsored by Clarkston resident David V. Johnson of Victor International Corporation.

"It's fantastic. I hope I can do it again. All of us feel that way," said Donnah Milefchik of Personal Touch Interiors, who helped decorate the room.

The selection process began when Chanae was nominated as a candidate by her doctor and then an application was submitted to Suite Dreams.

"She's a child recovering from ongoing medical treatment," explained Leanne Schuster, Director of Marketing and Sales with Schuster Homes. "It can't be very much fun as a kid looking forward to summer break and not being able to enjoy all it has to offer."

"What is unique about children like Chanae is they're kids and have great spirits about them even though they

Council passes budget

The Clarkston City Council passed its 2006-2007 budget at their June 26 meeting, but the vote was not unanimous.

Council members Cory Johnston and Kristy Ottman voted no, with the rest of the council voting yes. A brief discussion was held.

The approved budget has revenues set at $777,514 and disbursements at $753,133. For a breakdown of expenses including fire, police and library go to www.clarkstonnews.com and search "Budget hearing becomes heated."

Prior to the meeting, the council held a special meeting on June 6 and a public hearing on June 12 to discuss the budget.

Look in next week's edition of The Clarkston News for full coverage of the budget approval.

Concert series continues

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Depot Park overflowed with music lovers on June 23 for performances by the Clarkston Community Band and Blackthorn as part of the summer Concerts in the Park series.

The series continues on Friday, June 30 with "the entertainment experience" of Trilogi, a band whose playlist spans more than 50 years.

Originally formed in 1986, Trilogi was named for the three founding members: Terry Stafford, Gary "Bubba" Michels and Jim Alexander. Together, the group pledged their band would follow the creed, "If you can't dance to it, we shouldn't play it." Their style mixes motown, classic rock and oldies.

Several members have come and gone over the years, but since their debut the band doubled in size. Tim Adkins, Lloyd Slaven, Dennis Gabbart and John Liddell joined the group over the years, and Alexander left for personal reasons.

The group performs music dating back to the 50's and incorporates a little of everything leading up to the hits of today. The result is a variety of music that could not fit into a single category, radio station or music channel.

"If you don't like a song, stick around for a few minutes," said Adkins, emphasizing the eclectic variety of music the group performs.

Trilogi has performed at more than 1,500 venues in Michigan and Ohio, hosting more than 70 shows per year. They even headlined a concert series for VH1 called "Save the Music." This year marks their second performance as part of the Concerts in the Park series.

The concert runs from 7-9 p.m. at Depot Park. The Concerts in the Park series is a free summer music program presented by the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Local Talent Spotlight

Get to Depot Park early to see Clarkston United Methodist Church's own "CrossWord" band perform before Trilogi takes the stage. CrossWord, a Christian rock band, will begin performing at 6 p.m. and play until just before Trilogi takes the stage.

Don't judge by the cover

BY JENNY MATTESON
Clarkston News Editor

Last week, The Clarkston News took a look at the condition or "quality" of the actually senior center building. We reported on the building's continued deterioration and many repairs.

This week in the third article of a series discussing the proposal for a new senior center building and operational millage, we review the many uses of the center and the Carriage House.

Although the Carriage House was not listed in last week's article, the structure is under continuous repair, according to both Senior Center Director Margaret Bartos and Independence Township Building Director David Belcher. Since the structure is commonly used for senior center activities, the Carriage House will be referred to in this article.

All information in this article was provided by Margaret Bartos, who does the scheduling for the two buildings.

The primary senior center building, a two-story farmhouse, can handle 25 people in the dining room and rectangular kitchen area.

In addition to this space, the building also has a small reception office with seating for two; a sitting room with two tables, chairs and a couch; and a pool table room/library with one pool table, book shelves and one computer station.

On the second floor, the home's original bedrooms are converted into four offices: two for Youth Assistance; one for the senior center coordinator and one shared by the homechore manager, outreach coordinator and two programmers.

In the basement there are two rooms: one room used for ceramics and the other storage.

Across the senior center's main driveway is the Carriage House, a 20 by 70 foot single room that accommodates 72 people seated. The area also has a small storage area.

During the day, senior center programs dominate the main building; site meals are made, prep is done for homebound meals, cards, crafts, ceramics, singing, games and some health programs. Many of these activities are held in the dining hall, which is also the primary entrance for the building.

"The meal delivery and volunteer drivers are in and out, people come in to sign up for programs or gather for trips, young people and their parents come in to find Youth Assistance offices, and the daily participants chat, work crossword puzzles and read or knit there," said Bartos.

For those seniors who require a confidential appointment at the center, Bartos said either a trip up the steep staircase is required or one of the larger first-floor rooms must be closed. Many seniors find the steps difficult to navigate.

"There is no space for confidential meetings because the two back rooms are open," explained Bartos. "The healing touch nurse often hangs a sign on a chair at the entrance to the pool room that says, 'Please Do Not Enter' so she can work in the corner out of sight. It is not unusual for someone to come in to select a book or use the computer while a meeting is being held."

For large daytime programs, senior center staff utilize the Carriage House — and transport everything for the event from the main structure to the side building.

According to Bartos, some common programs at the Carriage House include a weekly band practice (4-10 players), bingo (18-40 players), Stretch and Stretch (12-15 participants) and a bi-monthly bridge tournament (around 28 players). Parties, theme dinners and speakers are scheduled around the other programs.

"Seniors often are reluctant to leave the main building in inclement weather to go to the Carriage House for a party or activity," said Bartos.

Bartos said evenings and weekends are often a scheduling nightmare at the center. Common senior programs include a monthly spaghetti dinner.

New cop on the beat

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An officer of the four-legged variety is joining the Oakland County Sheriff's Independence Township substation.

Boomer, a 14-month old German Shepherd, joins officer Lonnie Mullins to create the new canine unit set to patrol the township following their graduation from the Oakland Police Academy at the end of June.

The duo will work midnights, but be available for other calls, according to Lt. Dale LaBair.

"I think Lonnie will do a great job with that dog. It gives us immediate access to a tracking and drug dog," said LaBair.

Boomer will function as a patrol utility dog used primarily for narcotics, tracking, handler protection and building searches, explained Mullins, who believes the unit will add to the department.

"Whether people want to admit it or not, there are drugs in the area and with I-75 going through it he'll have a lot of detection opportunities along 75 and make a positive impact," said Mullins, noting Boomer will be certified to detect heroin, cocaine and marijuana.

Over the last four or five weeks, Mullins and Boomer have trained at the canine academy through the Oakland Police Academy, learning how to work together while conducting tracking and detection exercises.

While Mullins acknowledged there are always growing pains during the training as the two coordinate their skills, he expects all the kinks to be worked out soon.

The good news

With so much interesting news happening in the world of schools and politics, I really haven't spent much column space on personal matters.

That said, I figure the time has come to announce my latest good news.

Almost a year ago – July 13 edition of The Clarkston News to be specific – I wrote a column on my "Baby troubles." I talked all about the baby radar my now 4-year-old acquired and his desire to have a sibling.

Well, his wish is granted.

For those of you not already in the know, I officially exited my first trimester (a.k.a. completed my third month) of pregnancy this past Friday. That's right, I'm taking the chance and once again spinning the baby roulette wheel. Now let's hope my luck holds out.

Ethan – my blonde, blue eyed, energetic, daddy replica – is an easy going little guy. Shaping and molding his developing mind and character has been calm and smooth.

As I've stated before, Ethan is a carbon-copy of my husband: calm, laid back, a relaxed personality. Even physically, he looks just like his daddy.

Enter my side of the genetic pool.

I am the complete opposite of my husband and son. I'm as uptight as they are easy going. They can turn into couch potatoes for hours on end, I need to be moving. They don't worry, fret or stress. I do all of the above.

Hence my game of roulette.

Can anyone tell me the odds of whether I will end up with another blonde angel or will my genes finally get in the game? What are my chances that long nights and days of crying and colic lay ahead?

Is the second child always the "evil" one?

Will my mother's threat (Just wait, one day you'll have children) finally hold meaning for me?

Hmmmmmm... maybe I should consider a nanny.

Now that our little one knows his wish is fulfilled, a new list of Ethanisms have begun – and most of them are questions we just haven't figured out how to answer:

"I want a girl. How do we get a girl baby?"

"How does the baby get out?"

"Are they going to cut you? Will you die?"

"How'd the baby get in there?"

And the list goes on and on. So anyone with advice on a really great baby book for big brothers-to-be, I'd love the title and author. Goodness, send me as many suggestions as you have. I'm sure there are answers out there to questions he hasn't even thought to ask yet.

***

One last tidbit of good news. This last Monday my husband and I celebrated seven years of marriage.

Many would say we are still in the "honeymoon" phase, but I say they are deceived and I, at least, deserve a little more credit... I've been doing his laundry for 11 years!

The News to Me

New lawyers for Independence?

Dear Editor,

I was startled to see that the Independence Township Board is now planning to change to a new law firm again. Not much more than a year ago, the then new supervisor pushed the board to hire a new law firm, though he publicly said there was nothing wrong with the lawyers we had.

Letters to the Editor

Several of the board members expressed their support of the then-existing law firm, but said they would vote to go along with the change just because the new supervisor requested it. It should be no surprise to anyone that it cost the township substantial money to pay for the transition from our long-established legal firm to this new law firm.

For sometime now there have been rumors there was dissatisfaction with the new law firm; that work was not being done timely and often not correctly. For such problems to occur so quickly seems to indicate that this new firm was unqualified/unable to tackle the township business. Apparently, the township did not do an adequate job of screening this new law firm. The problems that led to this change should have been determined before we incurred the significant expense of changing lawyers.

Now, not much more than a year later, we are going to pay for another transition to yet another law firm? Will the process for selecting the new law firm be any better? Is the board some how wiser now so the mistakes in the last selection are not repeated?

Apparently, this means that the supervisor's "experiment" by bringing in new attorneys has not worked. So we are stuck and we need new lawyers. The township board should examine this very carefully to make certain that a year from now we are not switching attorneys again and paying for a third transition.

Very truly yours,
Joe Glaser

Boosters say thanks for donation

Dear Editor,

The Clarkston Athletic Boosters would like to thank Dr. Abraham Renny, Dr. Larry Bayliss, Dr. Dean Moscovic, Dr. Josh Newblatt, Dr. Tim O'Neill, Kevin Walsh and the POH Sports Medicine Department – as well as athletic trainer Stephanie LeBeau – for their generous donation to the Clarkston Athletic Boosters.

On June 6, this group of professionals provided sports physicals to approximately 140 Clarkston student athletes and donated all proceeds to the Clarkston Athletic Boosters. Their donation of the proceeds collected from the sports physicals will help to fund many needs of Clarkston student athletes.

Their desire and willingness to provide professional services was remarkable. Their commitment to help further the well-being of our student athletes goes far above and beyond the call of duty.

We are fortunate to live in a community with people of character, and a desire to invest in our youth and programs that help to provide opportunities of success to our kids.

On behalf of the Clarkston Athletic Boosters, thank you for making a difference!

Sincerely,
Keith M. Clement
President

A Look Back

At our community's history through the pages of
The Clarkston News

15 YEARS AGO (1991)

• Report: Few dropouts: Apparently, word of the national education system's demise hasn't reached the Clarkston area yet.

According to the Clarkston Community Schools 1990-1991 Annual Report, this district isn't about to fall under a shroud of illiteracy as many of this country's doomsayers predict.

Statistics show quite the contrary. The two factors hurting the nation's schools - student dropouts and the lack of adult interaction - are two of Clarkston's strong points.

• When the saints come marching in...: Dixieland jazz music is the forte of The Pontiac Playboys Jazz Band, who will perform Friday in Clarkston's Depot Park.

25 YEARS AGO (1981)

• Company seeks 5 more years, Salem gravel pit requests mining extension: J.P. Burrough's Aggregate Division is seeking an extension to mine gravel from the 200-acre Salem pit on Oak Hill Road, Independence Township.

The pit has been in operation since 1960. It is now bound by a 1977 consent judgement which extended the pit's operation an additional five years with specific plans for restoration of the 200-acre site.

While the operation should be winding to a close by the end of April 1982, it appears mining may continue at least until 1987, with an additional year for reclamation, following a written request by Burrough's aggregate division President E. John Perry.

• Ka-boom!: The roar of fireworks and their bright colors are to light up the skies over the Pontiac Mall on Friday, July 3.

The annual free event sponsored by the mall is to begin at dusk in the parking lot. Co-sponsor this year is WPON Radio.

50 YEARS AGO (1956)

• Celebrate July Fourth In Clarkston: Bang! Bang! The Fourth of July program will be off with a bang in Clarkston when the parade starts at ten o'clock in the morning. All of the participants are asked to be at the Methodist Church corner in plenty of time so that every event will take place as scheduled.

• Reception Sunday At Seymour Lake: Next Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock a reception will be held in the basement of the Seymour Lake Methodist Church to welcome Reverend and Mrs. Isaac R. McPhee.

• Scouts Arrive For First Roundup: The schedule for the arrival of the special Girl Scout Roundup trains has the girls from the western half of the nation arriving in Detroit on Thursday of this week and Scouts from the eastern half on Friday.

• Rotarians Hear Winning Orator: The Clarkston Rotary Club had the privilege of hearing the speech of Sheldon Smith, who won second place in the National Oratorical Contest, at its meeting Monday, held at the Community Center.

Some bits of this and that

Notes from the war front. My battle with the Scalopus Aquaticus (the common Eastern Mole) has taken a decidedly dicey turn. I have taken to walking in my yard, near the veggie garden, barefooted. When I feel the hard, clay earth beneath me give, I smash my heel in as far as I can. I follow along the length of the enemy's underground bunker, smashing and cursing as I go.

Reader Dave Kugler, of Ortonville and president of Critter Catchers, Inc., wrote me this weekend.

Said he, "Stomp away! You will feel better, if nothing else. To solve the problem, you have to turn your attention to the mole, not the hole. (Nice, Mr. Kugler, Fran and Ollie -- rhyme away at my time of need. thanks buddy.)"

"Moles are accustomed to having their tunnels destroyed, and it does not change their behavior. It is a mere inconvenience."

Dave, as he so aptly put it, watches holes, not moles. For $129 he'll come out, inspect the site and take the war to a whole new, high-tech level. He'll whack 'em and stack 'em for $75 a head.

If you have a war going on in your yard, I guess you can consider Dave your personal mole mercenary. Call in the cavalry at 248-432-2712.

Was just reading the last Michigan Press Association newsletter, The Bulletin. I found the following paragraph particularly interesting and have chalked it up to being an election year, union bosses and behind the scene cigar smoking.

"House Bill 6213 passed out of the State House yesterday by a vote of 57-49. Although nine members of the House Democratic Caucus co-sponsored the bill, not a single Democratic lawmaker voted in favor of the bill in committee or on the House Floor..."

It doesn't matter what HB.6213 is about, only that if you co-sponsor something you must believe in it... and if you don't vote in favor of something you believe in, what do you vote for?

Lawmakers, Democrat and Republican alike, need to understand the voting population rank politicians in trustworthiness right below journalists for a reason -- that paragraph is a good indicator of why people don't trust 'em.

(As not to make you guess, HB 6213 is legislation on fixing previous overtime legislation.)

Folks, gas up the family wagon, pack the cooler full of bologna sandwiches and Towne Club soda pop. On Friday and Saturday (July 7-8) Elvi invade Michigan.

Yep, there'll be a whole lot of hip shakin' going on in "historic" Ypsilanti when the Michigan Elvisfest starts at 5 p.m. that Friday. It's true, I have the press packet in front of me this very moment. I see full-color old Elvises, young Elvises, fat and skinny Elvises. There'll be tight-fittin' leather breeches and jackets plus sequinned jumper suits for Elvis fans to walk amongst. Just remember, don't be cruel. No laughing too loud.

For more information you can call 1-734-480-3974, extension 2.

Recently, college kid Chris Gray, did a report on columnists -- and somehow I was wrangled into answering questions, and giving my opinion, as were about a dozen other columnists from around the state (name drop time) including the Detroit News' Neil Rubin, the Oakland Press' Keith Langlois, MetroTimes' Jack Lessenberry and the Flint Journal's Andy Heller.

Why anybody would ask a columnist his or her opinion when they can be readily read, is beyond me, but Chris did. Here's what Chris wrote...

"Columns are like a sandbox for reporters, allowing them to create whatever they please within the given space... it was discovered that while all columns are made of the same idea of telling a truth, they are as different as a sandcastle is to a dragon sculpture."

How poetic. I guess the other writers gave substantially more philosophical answers to their questions. When asked about what type of column I pen, said I:

"Mine -- my thoughts, my opinions, my mistakes, me, me, me..." Do you think that sounded too self-centered? Nah.

Maybe that's why Chris didn't pull an "A" on this report.

Those donated political $s are buying something

Can you think of any way that all the millions of dollars being spent on political campaigning will result in a brighter future for our state/country?

I don't like starting a column with a question, particularly one to which there is no defensible answer, but doggone it, this apparent buying of offices has me very disturbed.

Four years ago Jennifer Granholm won the office by defeating then-Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus. The Dems spent about $9.3 million and the GOP about $8.5.

This gubernatorial campaign spending estimates range from $50 million to $100 million. My column writing friend Dick Milliman wrote in his "Almanack," "That amount of money to elect a governor is frightening. It's obvious somebody thinks winning the governor's office is worth a whale of a lot of money, and motivations likely are not limited simply to good government."

Then there is the money given to go-betweens who have an "in" with politicians, who are given money by someone, or some cause, or some company, who expect their contributions to buy something. Like an Abramoff.

We're deluged with stories of graft and corruption in other countries, and we're suspect of congressional actions here that bring particular favors to certain industries, states, programs, etc.

I, too, am a political donor. Every two years when our county commissioner runs for office I give him $200.

That will hardly buy me any political favors, and I'm equally certain Bill Patterson wouldn't sell me any favors. I've known him as a good and honest man for over 30 years and mostly my $200 gets me a thank you and an old story.

Some Michigan Senate contests are expected to raise $2 million. Some house seats $200,000. When that much money is being given it can't be wrong to conclude something is being bought.

In Michigan, where we have the highest unemployment rate in the U.S., our Dem. Governor has yet to improve our economy, and our GOP legislature is opposed to allowing it to happen with her getting an iota of credit.

So, we have a standstill in Lansing. We have millions of dollars being spent to elect people who apparently would rather make the whole state suffer than pass meaningful, economic legislation.

Milliman continues, "It is amazing and sad that elective politics costs so much money. What's even more amazing and just as sad is that individuals and interests are willing to invest such amounts to determine who is elected to public office."

Then he asks questions, for which neither he nor I have answers: "What are the motivations of the givers, and what do they expect in return for their money? What strings are attached to such extensive and intensive fund raising? How do takers react once in office?"

"Are we selling our government to the highest bidder? If so, how do we get away from it? Is an effective system of representative government -- that is, government of the people, by the people, for the people -- in danger? If so, can it be rescued and how?"

"We the people better take an intensive, clear look at these problems before it's too late."

Don't you love some church bulletin bloopers? "Barbara remains in the hospital and needs blood donors for more transfusions. She is also having trouble sleeping and requests tapes of Pastor Jack's sermons."

"For those of you who have children and don't know it, there is a nursery downstairs."

Hello Governor!

The Davisburg Rotary Club hosted Governors' Night for Rotary International District 6380 in the Miracle of Birth Barn at the Oakland County 4-H Fairgrounds on June 23. Davisburg's own Rotarian Gerry Jackson was installed as governor and will serve the 50 clubs in the district starting July 1. The night included remarks by 2005-2006 District Governor Robert P. Baker from the Mt. Clemens Rotary Club, Jackson's speech, dinner, a 50/50, live music and closing remarks by Davisburg Rotary Club President Elect Susan Wallace.

Piano man and Davisburg Rotarian Steve Gore entertains the crowd on the keyboard as Rotarians and guests mingled before dinner.

Several Rotarians pass the banner towards Gerry Jackson signifying Davisburg as the home club of the District 6380 Governor. Mt. Clemens had the banner during Rotary's last year.

Rotary neighbors Skip Wendt of Davisburg Rotary and Mary Sloan-Lichty of Clarkston Rotary serve up salad.

The luck of the draw. John and Jane Coccione sell 50/50 raffle tickets to fellow Davisburg Rotarian Joe Hassell. Later in the evening, Hassell dazzled the crowd playing guitar and singing a song he wrote shortly before the event to honor Gerry Jackson and Rotary.

O Canada! Al and Nancy Lopez sing the Canadian national anthem after the toast to the queen. Shortly afterwards, the group toasted the President and sang the United States national anthem.

Even superstars make mistakes

By Ernie Harwell

In baseball there is an old saying that if you get three hits out of 10 times at bat, you're a big league star. A guy who in his whole career makes seven mistakes out of 10 is considered a superstar.

I think we all have to remember that we all make mistakes. We just have to accept them, hitch up our britches, pull up our socks and go ahead and get to the next project.

A perfectionist really has a tough time in life, because we're all human and we're all going to fall short once in a while. If we just realize that, we can save ourselves a lot of worry and stress that can affect our mental and physical health.

That doesn't mean we don't try to do our best. But if we accept that we can't always be perfect, we can keep our feet on the ground and our heads up. We won't always get a hit, but we can keep on swinging.

And please remember to take care of your health before it's longggg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Police search for suspects

For the second time in just over two weeks, an indecent exposure by an adult male towards a young girl was reported in an Independence Township store on Dixie Highway.

The most recent incident occurred on June 23 at around 3 p.m. when a 7-year-old girl informed her mother that a man allegedly exposed himself to her by lifting his shorts more than once.

According to police reports, the mother, a Waterford resident, did not witness the incident but observed the suspect passing them many times in different aisles.

A separate witness also verified the young girl's account, stated police reports.

Following the complaint, the mother called 911, but was unable to keep track of the man. A police search conducted of the store and area was unsuccessful.

The suspect is described as a white male in his mid 30's standing 5 foot 4 to 5 foot 7 inches tall with a slim athletic build. The man also reportedly has sandy brown hair, a possible mustache and was wearing dark red running shorts, an unknown color t-shirt and sunglasses.

The first alleged exposure took place at a different Dixie Highway store on June 8 around 9 p.m. as a Clarkston resident entered the checkout line with her three children. Upon returning to line after checking on her two boys at the front of the checkout, the woman noticed the man's shorts undone as he exposed himself to her 9-year-old daughter.

According to reports, the girl was looking at the cashier and did not see.

The suspect is described as a 40-year-old white male who was balding with gray hair, no facial hair or glasses and wearing a white jersey with the blue number 32 trimmed with yellow.

The suspect was seen being picked up by another white male in a late model burgundy 1980's GM Sedan.

The woman notified police after paying her bill and exiting the store quickly.

According to Detective Tim Hein, police believe the suspects involved are two different men.

Both cases remain under investigation.

Man strikes officer at concert, is tasered twice

Police arrested a man during a concert at DTE Energy Music Theater after he allegedly struck a police officer following a dispute with venue security.

The 57-year-old Highland Township man was arrested for disorderly persons, assault and battery of a police officer, and resisting and obstructing arrest around 9:30 p.m.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies were called to the scene when the man refused to leave the venue after becoming hostile towards security who confronted him about sitting in the wrong seat at the June 23 concert.

When deputies arrived, they asked the man to leave again when he allegedly started swinging his arms and fists in an aggressive manner, state police reports.

Following several verbal commands from a deputy, the man continued to swing his arms, eventually striking a deputy in the face.

According to reports, the man was tasered twice in the torso and upper legs as he continued to resist arrest.

No injuries were reported and no medical treatment was needed.

Preliminary breath test results were .07.

Deputy injured in car accident on Sashabaw

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An Oakland County Sheriff's Office (OCSO) deputy for the Independence Township substation was injured and transported to the hospital following an accident at Sashabaw and Maybee roads.

The accident occurred around 4:58 p.m. on June 22 while the 33-year-old male deputy was responding to another accident near that location.

"The officer was responding to an emergency call and got to the intersection with his lights and siren, all of his emergency equipment running and actually came to a complete stop. It appeared that all traffic had stopped for him. As he got out into the intersection, the other driver came through and hit him in the passenger side," said Major Damon Shields of the OCSO.

Driving westbound on Maybee Road in a fully marked 2005 Ford Crown Victoria, the deputy was attempting to cross Sashabaw Road when he was struck by the southbound 2004 Chevrolet Trailblazer.

The other driver, a 62-year-old woman from Clarkston, refused treatment at the scene, according to Shields. Her vehicle's air bag deployed during the accident and she was not wearing a seat belt, explained Shields.

Due to the impact of the accident, the officer received soft tissue injuries and the patrol car's dashboard had to be removed in order to extract the officer. The Independence Township Fire Department transported the deputy to the Genesys Medical Center in Grand Blanc for treatment and he was released after observation around 2 a.m.

"He was feeling okay, other than some bumps and bruises," said Shields. "This is just one of those things that happens when you're in our business. I think when you drive as many miles as we do and especially when you have to run emergency calls, it's going to happen," he added. "It's unfortunate. We're just thankful the woman was okay and our officer is okay."

No citations were initially issued, but the accident remains under investigation. The deputy was wearing his seat belt stated an OCSO press release. Alcohol is not believed to be a factor in the crash.

Racing presents opportunity to fight lung cancer

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For racecar drivers zipping through the twists and turns at Waterford Hills race track things can change in a split second with unexpected crashes and equipment failures.

During races this summer, visitors to the track, on Waterford Road in Independence Township, can raise money to fight lung cancer and honor the memory of a local racecar driver whose life off the track was cut abruptly short.

During the six amateur racing events at Waterford Hills Road Racing Inc., Groveland Township's Dan Criss is racing to raise money for "Racing for Jim." The program was started by his friend Sammi Hawkins of Waterford, whose 40-year-old husband, Jim, passed away on Dec. 17, 2005, about six months after being diagnosed with Stage IV lung cancer, which spread to his brain.

As Criss earns points during the races piloting Jim's dream racecar, donors make pledges per point he earns, all of which go to the Lung Cancer Alliance.

"When he was diagnosed, I was working on-line every day looking for an answer," said Hawkins, who married Jim in August 2005 following a 16-year friendship. "When Jim got sick, I was incredibly overwhelmed and scared."

While desperately trying to help the husband she thought would be in her life forever, Hawkins was impressed by the information and resources provided the Lung Cancer Alliance. The information galvanized her will to both save Jim and get the word out about lung cancer.

"What stuck with me throughout his battle was the chemotherapy drugs are the same ones they used 10 years ago that didn't save anyone then," said Hawkins, who believes too many people think of lung cancer as a disease restricted to smokers.

According to Hawkins, that stereotype causes the disease to get less attention than other cancers. She acknowledges Jim smoked, but says the disease is taking non-smokers and smokers much too early.

"People are dying younger and younger. People think this is an old man's disease and it's not," said Hawkins.

Following his June 9 diagnosis, Jim's amateur racing career ended after two races just as he finished his dream racecar and finished driving school in the spring of 2005.

Although Jim is not physically present, signs of the former mechanical engineer's presence, impact and personality are every at Waterford Hills — many of the race cars sport "Racing for Jim" stickers.

Jim's 1982 Ford Mustang, which he owned in college and brought to Michigan from his native Tennessee during the winter of 2004-05 can still be seen on the track driven by Criss. During races, Criss even dons some of Jim's gear and has a large "Racing for Jim" over the glove box.

"To know Jim was to love Jim. He could connect with a 9-year-old or a 57-year-old. He covered the spectrum. If Jim wasn't Jim, we wouldn't be sitting around talking about this," said Criss.

While maintaining the car, Criss experiences change from sadness over his friend's death to anger when thinking about what he and Hawkins say are shortcomings in detection that could prevent premature deaths.

"The people are living their life (like Jim) and then they are gone because it's not being detected," said Criss.

Hawkins and Criss hope through the fund-raiser that continued research can result in increased success against lung cancer as people detect the illness well before it includes brain metastasis like Jim experienced.

Up to the race on June 24, Criss accumulated 20 total points in races. This means contributors who pledged $1 a point would be committed to a $20 contribution thus far. Last year, Criss finished with 75 points.

Visitors to the June 24-25 racing event could also contribute a $1 donation and get their picture placed on a souvenir magazine memorializing Jim and calling for a cure.

For more information on "Racing for Jim" visit www.racing4jim.com. or call 248-674-1688. # Dutch Auction concludes 'Welcome Week'

Alex Hadley and Samantha Kissel compete in the smallest ear competition.

Independence Township Parks and Recreation kicked off its summer day camp with 'Welcome Week.' During 'Welcome Week' campers went to the spray park, the movies, Deer Lake Beach and concluded the week with a Dutch Auction. A Dutch Auction is where the campers are divided into groups. Each group would send up one person to compete against the other groups in categories like longest hair, best dance move, loudest scream and most pets. The group, which wins the most categories is the winner. Photos by Dave Pemberton

Millage talks at Springfield Library

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Discussions of educating the public about the library millage question on the August ballot in Springfield Township were held on June 20.

The group, which has met three times this month, included the library board, employees, Friends of the Springfield Township Library and other interested members of the community.

"We met to figure out how to educate the public on why we need the .5 mil. It's been a coming need for a long time, we knew when we got this building (in March 2002) we'd need the other .5 mil," said Library Director Cathy Forst.

According to Forst, the current library millage rate is at .4181 which translates to approximately $245,000. The additional .5 mills would generate approximately $330,000 to cover operating expenses and would roll back under the Headlee Amendment after the first year, said Forst.

Forst defined operational expenses as anything needed to run the library including staff salaries, materials and programs.

Under the current millage, additional contributions from the township's general fund of approximately $60,000 help subsidize building costs as part of the Civic Center. According to Township Clerk Nancy Strole, another $15,000 was also contributed from the general fund the past two years for operational use.

"Without that, we wouldn't be able to open our doors," said Forst, who thinks comparisons of Springfield's library costs to other area libraries would surprise people.

Money generated by the millage would allow the library to assume those costs and potentially include computer upgrades, additional staff and materials, expanded hours and services, such as on-line date bases, and faster internet services.

"With the general fund as strapped as it is, it's a real struggle to keep doing that out of our general fund," said Strole.

While the group chose to focus more on the positives rather than discuss repercussions of the millage not passing, Forst did comment during a phone interview about cutbacks if the millage failed.

"There will be problems," said Forst. "Materials, staff and hours would have to be cut. I can't see any other way around it. But we want to accentuate the positives."

Another meeting to discuss the library millage is scheduled for July 11 in the library's Story Room at 7 p.m.

The library board approved the millage language for the August ballot at a special meeting on April 5.

The township board asked attorney Greg Need to draft the millage language for the library board at their April 13 meeting.

Center

ner (40-75 attendees), grief counseling sessions (6-20 participants) and seasonal parties.

"Other groups dominate the center in the evenings and on weekends," said Bartos. "Non-profit groups meet in the senior center or Carriage House depending on the availability of space."

Some of the groups using the senior center and Carriage House, in addition to Youth Assistance, are Independence Township Parks and Recreation, Christ Shephard Church (recent past), the Clarkston Lions Club and Clarkston Chiefs. Bartos said the center rents the space in order to help pay for senior programming.

"Courtesy Driving School rents the Carriage House almost daily during the summer in the evenings with up to 40 students. This rental is a large source of income for the center," explained Bartos.

In March of this year, the senior center and Carriage House were used by groups for a total of 425.5 hours. Senior programs dominated the space 47 percent of that time. The remaining 53 percent is broken down as follows: 34.55 percent Parks and Recreation, 15.39 percent Youth Assistance and 3.06 percent other groups or parties.

"Due to a lack of space or space limitations, some senior programs take place in other locations," said Bartos.

Examples are the Tai Chi class, Strength and Stretch, Body Recall, Project Healthy Living and Volleyball. Some of the facilities being rented or donated include St. Daniel's Catholic Church, Calvary Lutheran Church, First Congregational Church and Bay Court Park.

"These churches have been very generous in lending space and time for senior programs. Other churches have offered space, but they are usually too heavily booked," explained Bartos. "The township library includes a large meeting room, but only for one-time events, not weekly or monthly programs.

"Community groups have called the senior center for years looking for space for meetings or events."

Bartos added the senior center is struggling monthly to schedule existing programs with new ones in the limited space. Bartos said many programs are lost due to space constraints.

Look in next week's edition of The Clarkston News where the history of millages involving the senior center and related programs are explored.

The lost program

While discussing the uses of the senior center building, Senior Center Director Margaret Bartos mentioned a program discontinued at the center due to space limitations.

According to Bartos, the center's woodworking program was held in the basement until 1999 when work was done to waterproof the area.

At this time, the equipment and tools were moved to the summer camp building, in Clintonwood Park, where the hope was seniors would have more room to participate.

"However, parks and recreation and senior center staff soon realized that woodworking and children don't mix," said Bartos. "The equipment was too heavy to move around, so it was hidden behind a wall and rendered unusable."

According to Bartos, yearly inventories are showing the tools - all purchased through senior center fund-raising efforts - are slowly disappearing. Every year, Bartos said a little more is missing.

"Woodworking is very popular at other senior centers, but Independence Township doesn't have the space," said Bartos. "A wood carving teacher was ready to share his talents until he discovered his large wheel chair wouldn't fit through the senior center."

like a puppy. He's a very friendly and social dog," said Mullins.

Serving on the force for 17 years as a detective and patrolmen at the substation since 1999, Mullins asked to be involved with the canine unit.

"It's something I've always wanted to do. I've always had an interest in dogs," said Mullins, an admitted dog-lover who has his own 11-year-old Labrador retriever. "It's the things they do and their abilities. I've always been interested in that aspect of law enforcement."

In addition to the law enforcement aspects of the canine unit, Mullins looks forward to familiarizing Boomer with the community through demonstrations often conducted for school children.

"That's something I'm looking forward to. The kids love seeing the dogs," said Mullins.

A press release from the Oakland County Sheriff's Office following the announcement of the opening of a new canine training facility in Independence Oaks, states the OCSO canine unit has 14 dogs. Two are trained for bomb detection, 11 in tracking, property recovery, handler protection and narcotic detection and one trained in arson investigation.

Athlete of the Week - Rob Ronk

Ronk finished in the top 64 at the Michigan Amateur Championship.

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

In his first appearance at the Michigan Amateur Golf Championship Rob Ronk finished in the top 64.

Ronk, who graduated from Clarkston this year, shot 150 during the first two days of the tournament which was good for 27th place out over 160 golfers.

After the first two rounds, the field is cut to 64 and match play begins. In the first round of match play, Ronk drew Grand Valley State University's Steve Larson, who was the GLIAC Player of the Year.

Larson led by two holes heading into the 18th hole, which gave him the win. Ronk said he was happy with his performance against Larson.

"I dug myself a hole early, but I battled back," Ronk said. "I was down one through 15 holes, but on the 16th he drained a 40-foot putt on me. After that, there wasn't much I could do. Making the top 64 was my main goal and I was proud I came back against him."

Ronk was also proud of his performance on the second day of the tournament. After shooting 78 on the first day he came back and shot 72. He said overall the tournament was a success.

"It was a good experience," Ronk said. "There is a lot of really good players there. I proved I can play with the best. I also like how it was set up. It was set up like a pro tournament with the ropes and everything."

Ronk will have a busy summer before heading to Alma College to play golf in the fall. Ronk plans on trying to qualify for The U.S. Amateur Championship and The Buick Open.

He said making The Buick Open is probably a long shot, but he is going to give it a try.

"If I qualify that would be by far my biggest accomplishment," Ronk said. "I would be going against pros trying to qualify. Qualifying for that would be awesome."

This summer Ronk has three more Power Built Junior Tour events. He has competed in just two events so far this year and has two top 10 finishes. Ronk has an average of 75 in the two events and said he plans on at least duplicating his first two performances in the last three events.

"I want to average under 75 for the tour and finish in the top 10 in every event I play in," Ronk said.

During his high school days, Ronk helped Clarkston finish in sixth place at the state finals during his senior year and in 10th place during his junior year. According to Ronk, he has the lowest nine hole average in school history and he averaged 76 for 18 holes

“Medical Breakthrough For Sciatica”

By C. Ann Willet
Oxford, MI - “Sciatica has puzzled doctors and frustrated patients for years. But now space travel and modern technology may have finally cracked the back pain and sciatica code.”
 Those are the enthusiastic words of Oxford’s, Dr. Marc VanHoostraat, D.C. For several months now Dr. Marc has been using nonsurgical spinal decompression - an amazing space - age medical breakthrough to treat back pain, disc herniations, and sciatica.
 “I was shocked at the results spinal decompression gets in such a short time. And how long those results last... without the side effects of drugs or risk of surgery. I was also shocked that so few doctors in the country were willing to invest in this amazing new technology.” Commented Dr. VanHoostraat. “But the best thing is I am able to offer this medical breakthrough to so many low back disc herniation and sciatica sufferers right here in Oxford.”

 Due to his tremendous success with back pain, herniated discs, sciatica and pain radiating into the legs, Dr. Vanhoostraat has made available a free report to anyone suffering with these painful conditions.
 “I just wanted back pain sufferers to know they have an option other than drugs and surgery... and option that really works. I wanted to let them know there is finally REAL hope... that hope is detailed in my free report.”
 To get you free copy of Dr. Marc’s revolutionary new report, “How Space Age Technology Is Solving Back Pain Without Drugs Or Surgery!” just call toll-free 1-888-640-6916 and listen to the 24hr recorded message or visit www.BackreportOnline.com for immediate download. Chanae is one of five kids the Reeds have adopted, after having five children of their own. They have also housed approximately 161 other kids throughout 33 years of fostering.

"I love children. I love having kids around. Kids make you feel younger," said Jim.

So in the room of a young adult, above the desk, wooden letters spell "INSPIRE," something Chanae has and will continue to do - from now on with a beautiful new room fitting her age and personality.

Fun in the sun

Several kids upped the ante in their water fight with a water balloon slingshot.

The hot weather was exhausting, and this little girl was ready for a nap.

There was plenty to do for students who didn't want to play sports, like creating bubbles galore.

Photos by Andrew DuPont

Some students from the Norte Dame Prep soccer team were kickin' it with the children.

Every water fight ended with a hug.

Sometimes the best way to spend a day is just swinging away.

A car show connoisseur

BY JAMES MARTINEZ
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Whether it's trying to coordinate an automobile executive's entrance on stage driving a car or recreating a vehicle crashing through a video wall from a previous marketing campaign, Independence Township resident Arsey Miller has seen all the international car show world has to offer.

Miller is senior vice president in Client Services for The George P. Johnson Company whose world headquarters are in Auburn Hills.

"George P. Johnson is an integrated event marketing company. Part of that is shows and events. With my particular area that I'm involved in is the international motor shows," said Miller, noting the company also deals with IT companies.

"The bulk of what we do is to develop what's actually going to happen at the show. Obviously, the value of the show is to present the client's products in the highest possible light given what their marketing and brand goals are," he added.

Miller deals primarily with client DaimlerChrysler International and works with their public relations department to develop the creative aspects of their integrated marketing program at international auto shows.

"I'm the primary link between the client and everything else that's happening with the support of the show. So I have a lot of interaction with the marketing people on site as well as the executives. If something has to be done or created and there's some kind of challenge, I or one of my staff are the first ones that they come to," explained Miller.

Planning an international car show generally starts 6 to 9 months ahead of time. Miller often faces issues of design, new product positioning and challenges of new markets and their cultural requirements.

"In certain markets there are colors that are reserved for certain things like weddings or funerals, so you have to be conscious of the cultural priorities that you're dealing with," said Miller, explaining shows can differ drastically depending on their location.

For Miller, one of the most important parts of the car show is press day where the automotive world gets a glimpse of a company's latest promotions and vehicles.

"The press day and the first couple of days of the show are the big days because that's when, as in Detroit, all the new products are revealed. That's when the top executives of all the companies are there as well. In the case of the international show, there are in some areas 300-500 journalists all seeking information on some level," said Miller.

Working with the shows leaves Miller

Specialty equipment...

Anyone traveling by Liberty Golf and Banquet Center last week probably noticed a monstrous one-of-a-kind concrete pumper truck "hanging" around the place for a while. The specialty crane was used to move cement blocks from the front parking lot of the main building, over the building, to the deck located off the main banquet room in the back. According to Tony Bashore, in order to repair the large outdoor deck, new steel beams were installed and then the concrete blocks placed on top. Liberty hopes to have the deck open to patrons sometime this week. Photo provided

Island Exotics, not your average pet store

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dogs and cats have things easy. Most pet stores carry everything one would need to take care of their furry friends. But what if their friend has feathers, scales or gills?

In that case, Paul Kraus, owner of Island Exotics pet store, is happy to help them find whatever they need.

Step inside the Island Exotics location at 5899 Dixie Hwy in Waterford and you might find Kraus hand feeding baby birds, something he has done since he was a little boy.

"I've raised birds and reptiles my whole life," said Kraus. "I have probably over 100 different birds that I breed and then I hand raise them."

Having been raised with an affinity for birds and other exotic animals, Kraus found his niche operating a pet store that specializes in exotic pets.

"This is what I've always wanted to do," he said.

Birds of all sorts fill cages along one wall of the store, leading back to the reptiles, pond, freshwater and saltwater fish. Along the opposite wall are small containers for animals like mice and guinea pigs, proving having fur is not against the rules in this store.

Sure, Kraus will occasionally sell a litter of puppies or kittens, but he said he only does so on occasion to help out local breeders.

One thing Kraus points out is the temperament of his birds, which he said is a direct result of hand feeding them from the time they are three weeks old.

"They're all bred at my aviary and raised by me and my family, so they're all well socialized birds," Kraus said, adding that his three-year-old daughter helps him and he owns dogs as well, so the birds grow up comfortable around children and dogs.

Though some of the animals Kraus sells might be considered rare pets - blue macaws and Australian frill-necked lizards - he makes sure customers can find all the supplies they need to care for their exotic pet in one place. "You've probably seen them on the discovery channel," Kraus joked about the frill-necked lizards, which he breeds. "Not aggressive at all... they make great pets."

Above all though, Kraus said he specializes in birds, and on top of selling birds and the products to care for them, Kraus offers to groom and board birds when their masters leave town for a while. Unlike dogs or cats, Kraus said people are generally better off boarding their birds when they leave rather than leaving them in the care of a relative or friend.

"Some people are afraid of them and they don't let them out. We let them out and socialize with them," Kraus said, adding that he respects customers wishes who may not want their bird to socialize with others.

Island Exotics is open 11 a.m. - 8 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, 11 a.m. - 7 on Saturdays and Noon-5 p.m. on Sundays. For more info, call 248-623-0700.

Recent history

A recent article in The Christian Century, stated the following fact: "Paul McCartney, who wrote the song "When I'm Sixty-Four," turns 64 this month. The Beatles recorded the song in 1967, but McCartney wrote it as something of a joke some eight years earlier when he was about 16."

I am sure that the young McCartney thought that 64 was far removed from his own reality as a teenager. I am also equally certain now looking back he sees those years as much closer together.

Time is, of course, relative. Life is often lived in either a belief that we have all the time in the world, or as if it is running out. As one who passed middle age and not yet qualified for senior discounts, I sometimes feel a little of both. There are moments in my life that I thought time could not pass soon enough, and other moments when I prayed the seconds would freeze. But time did not listen to my wishes and marched on.

The gift of faith is that though we cannot control time, our lives are in the hands of one for whom time has no beginning or end. The Psalmist wrote of his own awareness of God's never ending presence in his life with these words from Psalm 139: 13-18:

"For it was you who formed my inward parts; you knit me together in my mother's womb. I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Wonderful are your works; that I know very well. My frame was not hidden from you, when I was being made in secret, intricately woven in the depths of the earth. Your eyes beheld my unformed substance. In your book were written all the days that were formed for me, when none of them as yet existed. How weighty to me are your thoughts, O God! How vast is the sum of them! I try to count them—they are more than the sand; I come to the end—I am still with you.

Recently, my wife Laura and I were eating out and saw the traffic leaving DTE Energy Theater after a concert. I asked our server who was the headliner and she was not certain. She asked a co-worker who replied, "It was one of the drummers of the Beatles I think."

I sat there amused at the realization of how old I suddenly felt. I thought of explaining that the Beatles only had one drummer and Ringo Starr was his name. But I realized the issue was not music history. It was that I saw the sixties as recent history, and she saw them as the ancient past. To a certain extent, we were both right. But more importantly, for him and me, the God of then and tomorrow is the God still with us today.

Charter Township of Springfield

NOTICE OF SECOND READING AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 26

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Township Board of the Charter Township of Springfield will hold a SECOND READING at its Regular Meeting on Thursday, July 13, 2006, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Springfield Township Civic Center, 12000 Davisburg Rd., Davisburg, MI to receive comments on the following proposed amendment to Springfield Township Zoning Ordinance No. 26:

SECTION ONE — AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE

A new Section 16.25, Safety Paths, shall be added to Article XVI, General Provisions, to read as follows:

SECTION 16.25 — Safety Paths.

1. For any development requiring site plan or subdivision approval, the following regulations shall apply if the development is located on or adjacent to a proposed safety path as shown on the Township's Priority Safety Path Plan:
  - a.) All plans submitted to the Township for review shall include a plan and specifications for a safety path.
  - b.) The safety path shall be constructed as part of the site improvements of the development. The construction of the safety path may be deferred only upon the posting of security with the Township in an amount equal to one and one quarter times the estimated cost of construction as determined by the Township.
  - c.) The safety path shall be constructed on the property of the development within an easement adjacent to the right of way, or upon the request of the developer and permit from the Road Commission for Oakland County, the safety path may be constructed within the right of way.
  - d.) Where unique and peculiar circumstances are present, such as extreme topography, mature trees and/or wetlands, the planning commission shall be authorized to vary the location of the safety path so as to minimize or avoid a safety hazard and/or adverse impact upon natural features.
  - e.) Where the Township determines, in its sole discretion, that a safety path, if constructed, would not connect to any other safety path and would not likely be connected for at least ten (10) years, the developer shall pay a sum equal to the cost, as determined by the Township, of the safety path. The Township shall establish a fund into which said payment shall be deposited and which shall be used exclusively to construct safety paths in locations as determined by the Township in accordance with the Priority Safety Path Plan. It is the intent of the Township to eventually benefit each property paying into the fund with a safety path.
2. For any development requiring a site plan or subdivision approval not located on or adjacent to a proposed safety path shown on the Township's Priority Safety Path Plan, the developer shall grant an easement whose location and width is acceptable to the Township which would allow construction of a safety path in the future. Said easement shall be shown on the site plan.

SECTION TWO — SEVERABILITY

Should any provision or part of this Ordinance be declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unenforceable, the same shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the balance of this Ordinance, which shall remain in full force and effect.

Millstream

traveling overseas about 6 to 8 times per year to cities such as Paris and Frankfurt. During busy years, he may travel between 12 and 18 times if needed.

Miller recalled the days of traveling prior to the euro where the borders were less permeable.

"I remember carrying a special wallet that had like six currencies... Just to have walk around money for a day you'd have like four or five hundred dollars in loose change. There'd be days where you'd start in one country and might end up going to two or three countries—particularly on days where you did a site survey or something like that," said Miller.

Working as The George P. Johnson Company's first expatriate, Miller and his family lived overseas in Belgium and Germany from 1996-2002.

While in Belgium, the Millers lived in Waterloo, the site of the June 18, 1815 Allied defeat of Napoleon.

"It was pretty cool living in Waterloo. It was the battlefield. We essentially lived in the shadows of where Napoleon was defeated and there was a lot history there and that kind of stuff."

Taking advantage of living overseas, Miller traveled on both business and recreation nearly filling his passport completely, leaving the packed booklet nearly half an inch thick.

Also while living outside the country, Miller continued his lifelong passion for working with vehicles restoring English motorcycles, one of which he still owns.

Miller's passion for cars started during his younger days when his father, Wendell, spent days working in the garage.

"My father was a tinkerer and always had something in the garage. You always knew where to find him," said Miller.

Carrying on his father's legacy includes maintaining the 1931 Model A pickup truck his father originally restored in 1972.

"It's my task to keep it road-worthy which is sometimes challenging with a 75-year-old vehicle," laughed Miller.

The Miller family – including mother/wife Delia,

Andrew 14, and Paige, 12 – originally moved to Clarkston in 1992 after Miller joined The George P. Johnson Company after working nearly 20 years for Saab.

While the family enjoyed the opportunity to live overseas and experience the diversity of international schools, Miller said the family knew right where they were moving when they returned.

Among their enjoyment of friends, good schools and a small-town atmosphere, Miller cited his affiliation with the Clarkston United Methodist Church as important to bringing them back to Clarkston.

"We kind of went to Europe with an open contract and weren't sure when we were coming back. When it was time to come back, there was no doubt where we were going," said Miller.

Joining forces with the church's men's group, Miller is using his expertise to help the congregation and community interact in new ways.

Last year, the United Methodist Men's group held their first congregational car show in their parking lot at 6600 Waldon Road. The show attracted 30 cars, which came as no surprise to Miller.

"If you live in Michigan, there are so many cars. On a summer day if you drive around neighborhoods and see garage doors open, there are so many classic cars sitting in garages. The Woodward cruise is the proof in the pudding," said Miller.

This year's show is scheduled for August 13 starting at 10:30 a.m.
