Wolves host annual Blue and Gold game

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The Clarkston football team hosted its annual Blue and Gold game on August 12. The Blue and Gold game is an inter-squad scrimmage designed to give the team its first game action. Clarkston Head Coach Kurt Richardson said he thought the scrimmage went well.

"We got out healthy. That's my biggest worry when we have these things," Richardson said. "We didn't put the ball on the ground and we weren't sloppy with the football. Those two things, which mean a lot, were pretty good."

Richardson also said he did not have anything in particular he wanted to work on during the game.

"We were just trying to get a pecking order for the scrimmage," Richardson said. "There were a lot of good things and I'm sure once we watch film there were some bad things too."

The Wolves host a four-team scrimmage on August 17 and open up the regular season by hosting Rochester Adams on August 25.

For more photos of the action see page 20A.

Senior center on Nov. ballot

BY JENNY MATTESON
Clarkston News Editor

This November, residents will finally decide whether or not Independence Township needs a new senior center and operating millage.

At the Aug. 5 special board meeting, trustees voted unanimously to place a 4-year, 0.4 mills operational millage and $3.1 million (.12 mills) bond issue on the general election. The votes were met with cheers and applause from the audience.

"I can't say this passionately enough," said Parks and Recreation Commission Chairman David Lohmeier, "our goal is to replace (the current senior center)."

The final ballot proposal is requesting a 14,000-square-foot stand-alone senior center. A health and wellness center is not included, but the addition remains open as a possibility for the future.

"A health and wellness center is appropriate, is needed, but is inappropriate at this time," said Lohmeier. "The recommended strategy is more judicious in its use of taxpayer funds."

According to Township Financial Director Sue Hendricks, the current senior center costs around $650,000 to operate. The projected operational costs for a new center are about $200,000 more.

"Coming up with these increased costs are assumptions from everyone - Margaret (Bartos), Mike (Turk) and myself," said Hendricks during the meeting. "These numbers are not set in stone."

During public comment on the issue, one voice spoke against the ballot proposals. Township resident Rudy Lozano, who is also chairman of the board for the Road Commission for Oakland County, does not feel the proposals will "fly."

"The board should be taking care of parks and recreation," said Lozano. "We have young families with children moving into this community and they want parks and recreation."

"I think our focus should be on parks and recreation, and I have a back up plan for the seniors."

Lozano suggested the board put forward a 0.7 or 0.8 mills proposal on the ballot for parks and recreation in addition to the senior center proposals. He said the amount would cover the operating costs of both services, and if the senior center were to fail, "the parks and rec millage would pick up."

"The senior plan is way too exorbitant for the needs of parks and recreation," said Lozano. "At least now we would have a back up plan."

Lozano's comments did not receive favorable reactions from township trustees or parks and rec commission members.

"Our focus up till now has been a very conservative approach," said Township Treasurer Jim Wenger. "Due diligence has been done and we don't want to muddy the waters with too many

Blood drive set

The American Red Cross is holding a blood drive on Aug. 21 at the Clarkston American Legion Post 65 from 1-7 p.m. Walk-ins are welcome. The post is located at 8047 Ortonville Road (M-15), a half mile north of I-75.

Attention homeowner's associations

The Independence Township substation has two deputies specifically assigned to work with neighborhood homeowner's associations to address neighborhood safety issues. This includes items such as preventing home invasions, theft from automobiles, vandalism and speeding.

However, the substation does not have a master list of homeowner's associations and their representatives in Independence Township.

Here's where residents can help.

If anyone knows someone in a leadership role with a homeowner's association in Independence, please have them contact Deputy Sheriff T. Allen at 248-620-4968 to register as a contact.

Chamber to accept board nominees

The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce nominating committee selected the following members for the six board seats open for election: Dawn Homer, Steve Hyer, Michael Packard, Carolyn Parcha, Jim Summers and Sue Welker.

Chamber members have the right to nominate additional candidates, and can do so by submitting a written petition with 25 signatures of members in good standing. All petitions are due by Aug. 25 at 4 p.m.

If additional petitions are submitted, a ballot election will take place at the Annual Meeting on Sept. 9. If none are received, the above panel will be elected by voice vote at the same meeting.

For more information, please contact the chamber office at 248-624-8055.

Teaching success Everest parents teach life skills to students

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

There are "book smarts," which everyone is taught starting in kindergarten, and there are "street smarts," the practical skills that help people become successful in the real world but are rarely taught in classrooms before college.

This is something Everest Academy parents Kristi Heft-Kitz and Ann Marie Allard wanted to change, so they did.

Both Kitz and Allard are parents of girls attending the private Clarkston school. Like most parents, they want to see their children grow up to be successful women.

Both having background in business, the mothers saw a lack of programs that prepare young women for professional life, so they started their own.

At the beginning of the 2005-06 school year, the women started the Leadership Development Program and enjoyed a very successful first run.

Both women expressed their pleasure with the way the program turned out during the pilot year, and their sentiment was echoed by Executive Director of Everest Academy Michael Nalepa.

"Exposing the students at a young age to fundamental skills such as why it's important to be organized and how to make an effective presentation allows the students to gain confidence in themselves and their ability to lead others," said Nalepa.

Modeled after Saint Edith Stein, a martyr who died in a Nazi concentration camp during World War II, the coursework of the program is geared to encourage women to be strong and independent.

Kitz said the goals of the workshops include developing organizational skills and assertiveness while teaching the students to use their talents for Jesus.

Part of the program brings in other students' parents once a month, who spend 90 minutes talking to participants about their careers and the skills they use on a daily basis.

Allard said the parent speakers act as role models and seeing their classmates' mothers as "more than just a mom" really makes a lasting impression on the girls.

Nalepa said he was very pleased to see the program in action, so much so that one month after the program started he extended a similar program into the boy's school.

"I have received many comments on the Leadership program from parents expressing their appreciation for the creation and implementation of this program because of the positive impact the lessons learned in the program has changed their child and their family," said Nalepa.

Using Everest Academy's founder as a model, Nalepa said teaching the boys leadership and life skills is equally important. Both programs work with students in grades 3-8, and Nalepa indicated he plans on having both incorporated through out the upcoming school year and into the future.

Horse-assisted therapy group gets new board

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

There's a new herd of smiling faces at the OATS (Offering Alternative Therapy with Smiles) center.

The OATS of Clarkston has a new board of directors and new executive director — long-time volunteer and Citizen of the Year Sandy Mabery. The new board of directors was appointed this past spring, but is still taking shape after only two meetings.

OATS is a non-profit organization with an all-volunteer staff that uses a unique equine assisted therapy for more than 80 students on a year-round basis. The program offers summer camps and several parties and holiday events.

The program sits upon 50 acres of land on the north side of Clarkston. The facility was founded in 1997 by Nancy Lee Heussner and provides therapy for children and adults with autism, cerebral palsy and Down Syndrome.

Mabery has volunteered with the group for more than a year. He is the owner of Pine Tree Place Assisted Living in Clarkston.

"His background and his caring ability for the elderly...that's a big asset here," said Heussner.

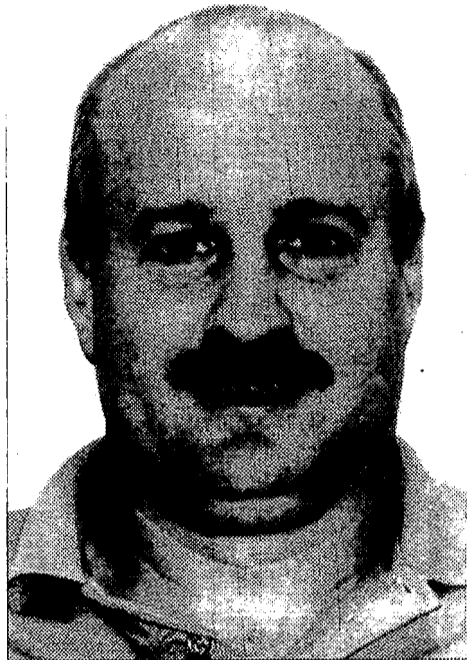

Mabery said he is looking forward to utilizing the business connections the new board members have to secure more grants, both business and government.

"I think it will be very interesting, we have a very well qualified board," Mabery said.

"We all come from different walks of life, we all offer something different," he added.

Mabery said he is hoping that through grants, OATS will expand its services by adding an aquatic center or an activity center.

Mabery received his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Oakland University in 1981. He is a former automotive consultant at Hartwick Professionals Inc., which he founded. He is currently working toward his horse riding certification through the North American Riding for the Handicapped Association.

The new board of directors includes: James Henderson, Chairman of BNP Media; Izabela and Richard Koscieny, both physical therapists and founders of "Cerebral Palsy Magazine;" Amy Gross, president and CEO of Entech's Medical Staffing division; Debra Pullen, owner of the Clarkston Pharmacy; Jeff Reed, assistant vice president of Comerica Bank's Clarkston branch; and Sharon Robertson serving as the OATS parent advisory position.

OATS is located at 3090 Weidemann Drive. For more information visit <http://www.oatshrh.org>. OATS can be reached at 248-620-1775.

Miller: former Detroit Lion and longtime resident passes away

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Longtime Clarkston area resident, businessman and former Detroit Lion Robert Miller passed away on Aug. 7 at the age of 76.

Miller, father of three and step-father of three, leaves behind his children and wife of 32 years, Delphine.

The Millers were introduced through mutual friends and married in 1974. The couple moved to the area from Birmingham in the latter half of the 1970's.

Together, they operated the Del-Rob farm in Springfield Township raising thoroughbred racehorses. Robert trained the horses on the farm and raced them.

"We had two fillies and we needed some place to put them, and this was the best place," Delphine said.

Robert founded Cavalier Manufacturing in 1958, a metal stamping plant in Hazel Park, which he ran until 2003, when he sold the firm. The business performed work for the Big Three automakers.

Robert found time for laughter also.

"He liked a good joke, he was quite a prankster," Delphine said.

Robert also excelled athletically. Delphine recalled he was talented at track and discus with the University of Virginia, where he graduated in 1951. He got to the university on a football scholarship.

The Lions drafted Miller with the 58th pick in the 1952 draft. He played the tackle position for the team until 1958.

Robert also enjoyed hunting, but his wife said he did not have time to venture to northern Michigan once the couple had horses to raise and train.

The Millers have seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

"They loved him because he was like another child," Delphine said.

"He was a very wonderful husband and grandfather," she added.

For Miller's obituary, please see page 8B of this week's edition.

Speed trailers give drivers a heads up

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The City of Clarkston recently acquired a tool aimed at reducing speeds on local roads — speed gauge trailers.

A speed gauge trailer posts drivers' speeds in plain view while at the same time posting the speed limit. The equipment is nothing new for most drivers, but a useful resource for the police.

Police Chief Ernest Combs said he wanted to add one to the department's arsenal for a while, but the cost for a new model was not within budget.

However, the department was able to acquire the speed trailer at no cost from a source connected to the department. Combs believes the equipment will be an asset.

"You would be surprised at the number of brake lights," Combs said. "It makes them (the drivers) aware of the fact. Most drivers don't speed intentionally."

The trailer is still being tested by officers, but once cleared will be on the roadways day and night. In addition to posting a drivers' speeds, the equipment can also keep a record of all speeds recorded. The equipment runs on a battery which charges similar to a car battery.

The Independence Township substation of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department has two such instruments, which are owned by the township.

"It's a real deterrent for slowing them down," said Lt. Dale LaBair.

One of them can be used to record traffic data while in the streets, creating pages of organized information used by the department. The machine can be set to record speed averages in 15 minute increments, minimums and maximum speeds and traffic counts.

"(This is) money well spent, I think the township has gotten some good use out of it," LaBair said.

The township paid roughly $33,000 to get the machines, the first in 2000 and the second three years later.

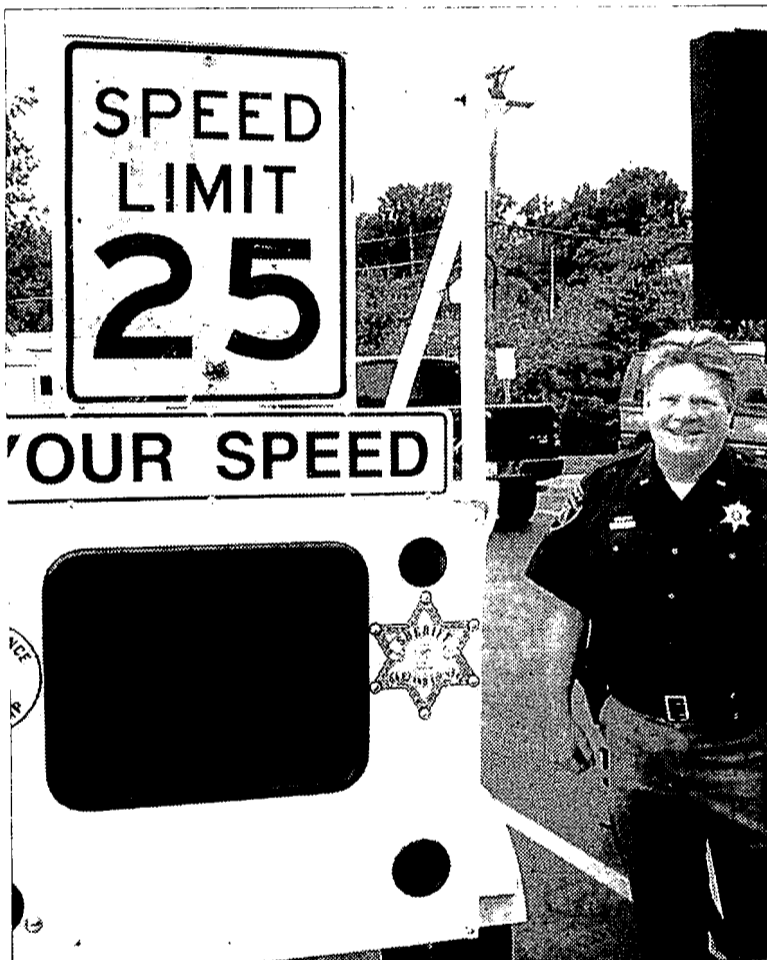

The first piece of equipment is nearly half the size of the newer component and strictly displays speeds. However, the second speed monitoring device can also be used as a message board to alert drivers to changing road conditions or to inform drivers to buckle their seatbelts.

"They're a nice tool, we've gotten a lot of compliments," LaBair added.

LaBair said residents can request the use of the machines in their area if they feel there is a traffic problem of some kind, they just have to contact the station.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department Independence Township substation can be reached at 248-620-4968.

Don't become a statistic

This might be the first week since I began at this fine newspaper that I have not come across a common problem facing both Springfield and Independence townships residents.

This isn't something that can be put on a ballot, but it can be argued. I am talking about larcenies from vehicles without force. Every week I see multiple reports of missing property taken from garages that were left open overnight or phones, wallets and credit cards taken from cars that get left unlocked.

I was told that this false sense of security comes from living in the suburbs. I had actually heard that before, but it was not anything that I kept on my mind because I (knock on wood) had never been the victim of a vehicular burglar. I assume the big difference between myself and those who file these police reports on a weekly basis is that I lock my car doors when I know the vehicle won't be in my line of sight. So, pretty much every time I go to work or I park the car in my driveway.

It never fails that I get to read reports about cars that get broken into, and I can sympathize with a victim of that type. However, when people are naive enough to think they can leave their vehicles unlocked not only in their driveway, but in the street along their friends' yard while they take a trip out of state and expect nothing to go untouched, I have little remorse. We don't live in the 1950's anymore. For the record, I am not aware what petty crimes entailed in that era, but I am reasoning that they were much fewer than now.

On another note, yes... this is a sad and horrible commentary on the state of the world. But, you can cancel the "Doomsday" invitations; I don't think this is the end of the world, because I feel the problems with theft in the area can be stifled if residents simply lock up their belongings.

The garage door goes down at night; just tell yourself you are doing it to keep the critters out if you prefer to think of it that way.

Before exiting your car for the house or bachelor pad that awaits you, take a moment to roll up your windows. You can pretend it's supposed to rain... every night. Hit that lock button on your way out while you're at it, it won't bite.

Sure, we all have insurance and these are the types of things it's designed to handle, but who really wants to go through all that hassle? Not me for one. Theft not only takes personal items, but it steals your time and energy along with that iPod on your front seat that you don't have the serial number for.

I'm telling you, I see this happen all the time, often several homes in the same neighborhood. It can happen to you, or me, but I hope that it doesn't. So take care of your property, you bought that stuff for a reason!

Hopefully, I can write to you next time and report the wonderful progress we're making.

Pay attention now to city elections

Dear Editor,

It won't be long before the residents of the City of Clarkston elect members to the City Council. It is not too early to be considering the issues we would like to have addressed. I propose that at least the following:

- The condition of our roadways is unfortunate at a minimum, perhaps scandalous at a maximum. Don't get me wrong, the road surface are the best they have been in years, and the work on the installation of the storm sewers and of access to the township water supply were well done.

But after the multimillion dollar expense involved, you would think that there wouldn't be ruts adjacent to the surface all over town so soon, and that more thought would have been given to filtering the storm water before dumping it into our waterways. What went wrong? What should be done about it?

- We deserve the public safety (police) services we want. The community needs to be consulted, and the means found to pay for it. Do we want public presence such as patrolling our streets, checking our homes when we are away, enforcement of traffic ordinances, patrolling 24/7 or not? Do we want this done by our own force, split between our force and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, or just on a contract with the OCSD? What kind of police presence do we want for community events? Do we need/want a separate millage for public safety?

- Too many of the city council meetings are an embarrassment; sometimes, it a good thing that more residents don't attend them. Some ways need to be found to make these meetings more efficient, more organized, more responsive to community concerns, more decisive and more civil. How is that to be accomplished?

These are just some of the issues I think need to be addressed publicly by every candidate for every position on the Clarkston City Council. We have generous and caring neighbors serving on the council; and I'm sure that all the candidates will be similarly dedicated.

But we will get the city government we deserve. It would help to know the positions of council members and candidates.

Please support the Farmers' Market

Dear Editor,

Every Saturday morning through Oct. 7 our community has the opportunity to visit the Clarkston Farmers' Market along the river in front of Depot Park.

What a shame the market, along with other wonderful community events, has not been weekly front-page news in your paper. People should be aware about the wonderful opportunity we have to enjoy our summer weekends in Clarkston.

Visiting the Clarkston Farmers' Market is a lot of fun, full of education and has plenty of healthy foods. What an opportunity for us to obtain healthy fresh fruit and vegetables without traveling far, while enjoying the walk along the river with friendly people eager to educate us about their product.

Among the details I have learned are how onions grow, about the different kinds of honey, which melon to pick, where to get wonderful treats for an old dog and pure decaffeinated coffee. Each time I visit there is a new vender eager to share!

It is fun to see old friends among the shoppers walking along with a fresh cup of coffee. There is even a little entertainment by local volunteers.

Thank you so much to the staff that has made this all possible. Anissa Howard and Lynne Milles are market managers. Chris Hardman (public relations), Pam Aughe, Jill Cascone and Joe Waldron work very hard to make the market successful. The amazing thing about this is not one of them takes a paycheck.

It sure makes sense to me that the market would be more guaranteed of a future if the managers were paid. They have contributed so much to our community.

Please take the time to visit our market. Supporting our market will stimulate other vendors to join and the present ones to stay. It really is an outing, not just a chance to purchase.

Thank you so much volunteers and vendors for this opportunity.

Blood drive a success thanks to donations

Dear Editor,

I want to thank all who donated blood at the American Red Cross Blood Drive on June 30 at the Independence Fire Department.

I especially want to thank Kellie Shelton and her fellow members of the Clarkston Lions Club for providing volunteers, as well as the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce and Clarkston Public Access (Comcast) for their assistance in advertising this event.

The drive was very successful. The goal was to acquire 60 pints of blood, and 66 pints were the final count. According to the American Red Cross, this will help 198 patients in need of blood or blood products.

Look for another drive over the Christmas break.

Sincerely,
Bob Cesario

Readers angry over millage editorial

Dear Editor,

Readers of The Clarkston News were subjected to a grave disservice in a recent misinformed editorial regarding the Springfield Township Library operating budget proposal.

Newspaper endorsements of candidates and proposals are a valuable and time tested factor in our electoral process providing a quick snapshot of issues to help educate the public before it votes. But in this case the editorial was laced with falsehoods, half-truths and distortions, fueled by emotional phrases like "taxation without representation," that served only to confuse readers. And perhaps worse, when confronted, the newspaper's reluctance to correct its errors was totally irresponsible and a great disservice to the community.

A review of the editorial shows the writer had a great lack of understanding of the issues and further confused the uninformed by comparing the Springfield library's current budget with that of the Independence Township library which has a much larger budget. And then incredibly questioned why Springfield doesn't measure up.

• Lightning claims life of golfer: Three golfers were struck by lightning at the Heather Highlands Golf Course in Springfield Township last Thursday, resulting in the death of one man.

At 5:50 p.m., Aug. 15, the trio was hit while taking shelter under an apple tree on the fifth hole of the course. Elwyn Hillman, assistant chief of the Springfield Township Fire Department, said the lightning bolt stuck the ground near the tree and entered the men's feet via the ground.

• Labor Day parade plans in place: Floats, musicians and festive bicycles and vehicles are wanted for Clarkston's annual Labor Day parade.

25 YEARS AGO (1981)

• Smith, village clash on M-15 stance: Clarkston Village Council Trustee Jackson Byers is adamant that

M-15 south of the village, from Waldon to Paramus road, shall not be widened.

Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith is not making any promises.

While both men agreed Clarkston's Main Street should remain undisturbed, the possible chasm developed when Byres and other council members queried Smith at the Aug. 10 meeting, intent on discovering more of the state's plan to widen M-15.

• Council seeks thief catchers: Angered by vandals and thieves defacing and stealing public property, Clarkston's Village Council is gearing up to fight back and has begun investigating secret witness programs to apprehend lawbreakers.

50 YEARS AGO (1956)

• Edison Opens New Building: Dedication ceremonies Tuesday, August 14, marked the completion of Detroit Edison's new combined Oakland district headquarters and local customer office. The modern one-story office building, located at West Huron and Pine Streets in Pontiac, opens for business on August 15th.

• School Tax Explained: The State Tax Commission approval of Independence Township's appeal for a greater share of the allocated 15 mill tax, limited the Clarkston Schools to the lowest school operating tax rate ($8.40) in Oakland County while granting Independence Township the highest tax rate (1.92) of any township in the county.

• Fire Fighters Host Association: On Tuesday, August 21, the Independence Township Fire Department will be host at a meeting of the recently organized North East Oakland County Fire Fighters Association. This will be a joint business and social meeting.

Don't expect to get my cell phone number

I have had a cell phone now for a couple years, but don't expect me to give you the phone number. Even if I like you. Also, don't look for the number on the bottom of my business card.

My cell phone isn't really for talking. It is for dear wife Jennie to be able to call me whilst I am driving to or from work and other destinations.

I turn off the phone when I am home.

I turn off the phone when I am at work.

I sometimes forget to turn on the phone while I am in the car -- which means Jennie can't always get a hold of me when she needs to. I mean, it is pretty cool looking and I feel like Captain Kirk when I whip it out.

"Kirk to Enterprise -- get me the hell off this planet! Kirk out."

I think it has games programmed into it, but I am not sure.

The cell phone's not really a part of my life. As a matter of fact, my minutes last and last and roll-over all the time. I got about a million minutes of cell phone use coming to me. And even though I have paid for those minutes, I probably won't use them.

I am just not that comfortable talking on a telephone. I do much better when I can look at the person I am talking to -- which isn't to say I am good at interpersonal communications (there is a reason I took up the written word). I am not much of a talker -- less so when it comes to verbalizing into any phone microphone.

My phone etiquette is not polished. Matter of fact, I bet it sounds pretty sharp. Rude, if you must. When somebody calls me, the conversation from my end goes like this:

"Hello." "Yes." "No." "Okay." "Bye."

Click.

I think I come by that conversational ineptness honestly. It was drilled into me by my father, but not directly. We had one phone, Mom, Dad, Me and three sisters. Which really only meant we needed one phone

don rush
don't rush

for Mom, Dad and Me and one for each of the girls. That was then, but I am sure even if we had cellphone technology, Dad wouldn't have it in our house.

The phone we had was black, hung on the wall between the kitchen and dining room and had a cord of about 12-feet in length. There were no really private conversations. (Oh, and if you must know, yes, it was a rotary dial phone, too.) Dad didn't get it switched to a push button operation until he and Mom moved in the early 1990s. His opinion: No need to get a new phone when the old works just fine.

To Dad, the phone was a necessary tool. It wasn't a toy or an extension of your social status. You get on, say your piece and get off.

Period.

It used to drive him crazy when one of my sisters would spend minutes (yes, just minutes, not hours) on the phone talking to their friends who they had just seen at school and would see later in the afternoon or evening. He didn't get it. I suppose I don't either. I just feel awkward talking on the phone. I mean, it's a phone, not an extension of my hand or a growth on my face. It's a piece of plastic.

Like I said, I have a cell phone. I obviously have a computer and an e-mail address, but when it comes to gadgetry, I at times am uncomfortable with technological advancements. I am not saying my life bares an eerie resemblance to that of Ted Kaczynski (even though the Unabomber did have a graying, bushy beard.) No, don't expect me to blow anything or anybody up.

While we are free to communicate all the time now, I just don't want to become a slave to technology or gadgetry. That's probably why I resisted the temptation to get a pager in the 1990s and why I haven't any kind of small, pocket-fitting music player nowadays (if I wanted something like that, I see all sorts of "Walkmans" and transistor radios at garage sales).

Next week, a reader warns of scammers on the prowl.

Second tv voice in game booth major redundancy

Baseball was my game in my growing-up years. As a freshman in Owosso High School I pitched three, 5-inning games for the Trojans, allowing a total of five runs, but lost two games.

Next year, I was in Morrice High School where the coach-science teacher-librarian-counselor "knew" that a tall baseball player had to play first base. A short guy with a big ego pitched. I had half that requirement.

Those were the days when the umpire called pitches from behind the pitcher.

When Hazel and I moved to Gladwin, I tried out for the White Oaks Tavern baseball team, and was doing fine until the college players came home for the summer. Besides, I had to move to St. Johns. Through it all, I was a Detroit Tiger fan.

Jim Fitzgerald, the Lapeer County Press editor who became backpage columnist for the Detroit Free Press, was an equally ardent Tiger fan. He invited Hazel and me to join him and his wife Pat at what turned out to be the final game of the 1984 World Series in Detroit.

It was exciting, of course, but so was escaping the commotion leaving the parking lot afterward, especially when some guy jumped on the hood of Jim's car.

There was the World Series victory in 1968. And, before that, were double play heroes, Rogell, Gehring to Greenberg and pitchers Eldon Auker, Tommy Bridges, Hal Newhouser, etc.

I was so into baseball and s-o-o naive, that when they were looking for a new announcer I applied. Ty Tyson's letter said they would probably hire someone with experience.

Then came the way too many years of .500, or less, teams, and interest waned.

Despite all the great announcing of Ernie Harwell and Paul Carey, it just became too boring to hold my interest.

Now we're into 2006 and Tiger owner Mike Ilitch has Jim Leyland managing a bunch of unknowns (at least to me) and they're playing great baseball. I'm "into" the Tigers on radio and tv, especially when the summer repeats are stuff I wouldn't watch in the first place.

Through those down years, the Tigers lost exposure on strong radio stations and major Detroit tv stations. I get my radio coverage of games from an Ann Arbor station.

With all this listening and watching, I've found the color/fill-in announcers to be just as their too-wordy counterparts in football. They can't stand to have viewers see what's happening, but must explain what's happened, diagram it and add assumptions.

The absolute worst is when the sidekick talkers tell me what a runner, hitter or player is thinking. In the first place, much of what a player does is instinct, so there may have been no thinking.

And, they say it as fact, not "I think they thought, etc."

Mr. Announcer-guy, I was watching.

I know the hitter was thinking of scratching, not about a high insider. I can make reasons on my own for faults on the field, and I know they aren't facts. These color guys believe dead time on airwaves is a lost opportunity to impress me, and that's not a guess, it's a fact.

So, I go to my obvious option. I punch the mute button. That'll show 'em!

I also listen to more radio reports on the Tigers. Radio, where the unseeing can follow the games... and, you know what I found?

There is more no-talking time on radio than on viewable tv broadcasts. The announcers give us the complete picture of the games on radio, with a whole lot less elaboration.

Which means the time-filler isn't needed and definitely not wanted. Radio announcers listeners are smart. TV doesn't.

GO TIGERS!

Dancing the night away

The Clarkston Lions Club threw its first '50s and '60s dance party Aug. 12. President Mike Mercier hopes the dance will be expanded next year with the addition of a car show and become the group's signature annual fund-raising event.

"We're still fairly new at this, but we're building and growing," Mercier said.

The Reflections, a doo-wop band from Dearborn, put on a show worthy of the poodle skirts, slick hair and drive-in movies.

Several area businesses sponsored door prizes and the club held hoola-hoop and twist contests as well as a 50/50 raffle.

The group meets every second and fourth Thursdays of the month in the carriage house in Clintonwood Park. For more information call the Lions club at 248-922-3350.

School board discusses 06-07 goals

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new school year is about to begin, and Clarkston School Board members and administrators are in the process of discussing their goals for the 2006-07 year. The board meeting on Aug. 14 started two hours earlier than usual at 5 p.m., allowing officials to break into small table discussions about the district's future.

President Stephen Hyer said one of the purposes of these talks is to build relationships between board members and officials.

"We have to develop a level of trust between board members and administrators to be an effective district," Hyer said.

Following an initial group of small table discussion, Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts spoke to everyone in regards to the "State of the District." Besides looking at the district's goals, Roberts said examining the procedures is important.

"We have to make sure those procedures result in the results we want, otherwise we have to alter those procedures," Roberts said.

Six key areas were outlined prior to a second round of small group discussion:

- Developing and improving instruction with a results drive orientation.

- Managing safe and orderly school environments with a focus on clear direction and good discipline.

- Maintaining and improving building appearance and protecting equipment and other assets.

- Demonstrating fiscal responsibility.

- Effectively utilizing technology to support learning and administrative applications.

- Developing exceptional employees who understand and support the district vision.

Look in next week's issue of The Clarkston News for more information on the district's goals.

Youth Assistance seeks volunteers

CAYA is currently seeking volunteers for various positions - from public relations, to committee work, to office work.

The following list details on each volunteer position available:

Board of Directors: The Board of Directors meets the second Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. The meeting lasts approximately one hour. At this meeting, subcommittee members and liaisons from other community groups, schools and governmental units report on their activities. This committee has voting power and needs additional community input.

Membership Chairperson: The membership chairperson keeps track of members and prepares the lists for approval by sponsors. Much of this work can be done at home with occasional follow-up phone calls and a once per year list to prepare and mail out.

Family Education Committee: This committee meets during the day approximately six times per year. Members brainstorm new programs to put on for parents.

Annual Golf Fund-Raiser: Members of this committee are needed to obtain hole sponsors and gifts for the golfers. The committee has approximately three evening meetings in the spring. Golfers are also needed to participate.

After-School Tutoring Program: The program runs from 3:30 to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at the Bridgewater Apartment Complex. Tutors are still needed for elementary students for approximately 45 minutes per day, starting at 4:15 p.m.

Camp Committee: This committee meets once or twice per year in the spring. One of the meetings is for the sign-up for the campers.

Youth Recognition Committee: This committee has approximately four meetings per year in the early spring and attendance at the function, usually held in April.

Mentors Plus Committee: Regular mentors make a weekly commitment for a visit with a child. The committee puts on a monthly event for the children. Monthly mentors are also needed. These mentors accompany a child from the waiting list to the regular monthly program event. There are currently children on the waiting list for a mentor.

Public Relations: Able to attend the monthly Board of Directors meetings to track what is happening with the organization and get the necessary information to the chairperson who works with the local media.

Grant Writing Committee: This is a newly formed committee for the sole purpose of finding and applying for grants. Meetings are called as needed. Need grant writing experience and/or grant research experience.

In addition to the above positions, CAYA also needs help with fund-raising activities, writing and/or journalism skills, office work and computer skills.

Clarkston Area Youth Assistance (CAYA) in Oakland County is a non-profit volunteer organization, established in 1961, for the purpose of preventing juvenile delinquency and neglect in the community. CAYA offers family education programs, school presentations, a mentoring program, a youth recognition event, summer camps and skill building experiences for the youth in the community.

Clarkston Village Dental gets ready for back to school

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When they learned Lighthouse Emergency Services needed help gathering school supplies for needy families, Dr. Robert Bice and the staff at Clarkston Village Dental were quick to lead a hand.

"It's our way of giving back," said Hygienist Amy Wilson. Wilson and other staff members visited Clarkston schools in the past to help demonstrate proper care for teeth.

This time, the staff answered the call from Lighthouse, who put together back-to-school supplies for 60 children who preregistered for support. The staff volunteered to supply lunchbags for students, only they decided to go a step further and put together a healthy start carepackage.

Inside each bag the staff included toothpaste and other oral hygiene products and a bottle of water, a healthy alternative to soda.

"The healthy start idea is a great idea," said Bice, who indicated the prevalence of soda in schools makes the decision easier for children to turn to unhealthy snacks. "This is a good starting point for kids to start good habits for this school year."

Springfield voters turnout more than Independence Township's

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Aug. 8 primary election saw significantly less voter turnout than a presidential election, as expected by officials at both Springfield and Independence Townships.

"I anticipated that it would certainly be lower than 2004," said Springfield Township Clerk Nancy Strole.

The township saw nearly 21 percent of its registered voters make the step into the booth, whereas two years ago, 25.1 percent voted in the primary election.

Strole attributed the downturn in votes to the lack of hotly contested local races. Strole added when people forego their voting privilege in a primary election, they also pass up the right to vote on local issues that affect them directly.

These elections also saw the introduction of the AutoMARK voting machine furnished to all voting precincts as a result of the Help America Vote Act of 2002.

The AutoMARK machines are used to assist disabled voters through touch-screen capabilities and hearing assistance programs.

The machines went largely unused in the township, Strole said, because voters may take longer to complete their ballot with the machine than to do so by hand. Also, disabled voters who typically use absentee ballots may simply feel more comfortable with that method.

Strole said election volunteers operated the M-100 tabulators, also mandated by HAVA with ease, however she noted there is a potential problem when the machines stack the ballots.

In Springfield Township, all the millages on the ballot were passed. Fire and police renewals passed with flying colors and a 0.5 mill proposal for an additional millage for the township library succeeded 1,184 to 812.

"It really speaks a lot about our residents and their willingness to vote for what are needed millages," Strole said.

"I salute the residents of Springfield Township who don't hesitate to support services they value even in economic times like this... it really says a lot," Strole reiterated.

Independence Township saw a bit more than 17 percent of its voters in the booths Aug. 8. Voters approved the renewal of both the library millage (2,737 to 1,446) and the police millage, 2,793 to 1,394.

Clerk Shelagh VanderVeen said there were no major issues during the polling.

"I'm really pleased with the way things turned out," VanderVeen said.

She said she was mildly nervous being this was the first election other than school elections under her watch. Pleasantly though, everything moved smoothly, VanderVeen said the township's results were submitted in a very quick time - around 9 p.m.

"It was wonderful... it was a good forecast for November," VanderVeen said.

VanderVeen concurred with Strole in regards to lower voter turnout typical of a primary election.

"It's unfortunate... that 17 percent of voters are making decisions for everyone," VanderVeen said.

Stole said voter turnout for the 2004 Presidential election was 76.6 percent, while fewer voters voted for the 2002 Gubernatorial election, a 53.26 percent tally.

Library Yes! volunteer group helped push library millage

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Sometimes people need a little bit of help from their friends.

The Library Yes! Committee, made of volunteers with various ties to the Springfield Township Library, spread the library millage message leading up to the Aug. 8 primary election.

That message, asking township voters to say yes to an additional funding millage for the library, paid off when voters approved the addition 1,184 to 812.

The millage is for 0.5 mill, expected to generate $339,000 in its first year and is held in perpetuity.

That is in addition to the current millage on the books passed at that same rate in 1990, also levied in perpetuity, that provides approximately $300,000 annually. Due to Headlee Rollback, the amount of the original millage is reduced yearly.

Library Director Cathy Forst told The Clarkston News the money will go to pay for operational costs, new materials and technology as well as more staff funding.

Library Yes! has a membership base of 15-20 volunteers who meet weekly Forst said. The group formed in late spring after the decision was made to push for this ballot initiative.

"The Friends are very pleased that the community and our grassroots effort were successful and we are happy we will be able to continue our great service and move forward," said Susan Kraly, President of the Friends of Springfield Library and member of Library Yes!

"We couldn't have done it without them," Forst said. "I'm very appreciative of that, it was really a group effort."

The group spoke to absentee voters and businesses. They also made an appearance at voting precincts on election day to distribute bookmarks.

One big accessory the group utilized was the free standing yard sign, which Forst said numbered somewhere near 90.

The committee also made brochures available at the library detailing the funding that the library receives as compared to others from the area.

The library moved from its former location, which was an old schoolhouse on Andersonville Road, in 2002. The department's new home within the lower level of the Springfield Twp. Civic Center is roughly four times larger.

Kraly said she thinks the library has still held onto a warm atmosphere despite being in a much larger facility, "I think we have the best of both worlds."

Membership and circulation have both doubled for the library since the move.

The editorial further went on to insult the Township Board and also the library's hard-working volunteers — the Friends of the Library — who have donated hundreds of hours of their valuable time and energy. The editorial opined the board should be "ashamed" and suggested the Friends need to "step up to the plate and seek private support for library extras." The proposed operating budget was essential for maintaining the current level of service while trying to keep pace with increased costs and demands for new technology. The Springfield Township Library has been operating a new building, with increased circulation, on the same budget it had in the old, one-room schoolhouse. The biggest misconception for voters was that they approved a bond proposal several years ago for the new civic center, but this had not provided any funds for operating the larger library facility.

Whether the editorial was intended to denigrate the efforts of conscientious volunteers or puff up a neighboring group is inconsequential. The view is both a short-sighted and mean spirited approach to a very serious issue at hand: funding that would affect current and future generations of patrons of the Springfield Township Library. Point of information: residents of Independence Township also utilize the Springfield Township Library.

Perhaps most reprehensible is The Clarkston News' inability to respond in a timely manner to correct these glaring mistakes. Most reputable newspapers, large and small, have a mechanism in place to handle published errors. It's called a correction, or in some cases, a clarification. In the case of elections, most newspapers choose not to publish articles immediately before an election without having sufficient time to retract.

But The Clarkston News apparently had no such policy in place and their initial response, when questioned about the unsigned editorial, was that no one was certain who was responsible for the exact wording or rewording of a portion of it. And further, because of publication schedules, there was nothing that could be done to correct the mistakes until after the election. Too late, of course, for a reader who relied on the misinformation before casting their vote. This oversight, or lack of a policy, is something that needs to be seriously addressed by the newspaper's publisher, editor and editorial board so it's not repeated in the future.

Lastly, while editorials are traditionally only opinions, they do have an effect on readers and their families and all of those they have contact with on important issues. It's anyone's guess how many votes were swayed against the proposal based on erroneous or misinformation expressed in The Clarkston News.

Fortunately Springfield Township voters approved the proposal and affirmed the importance of the library. Whether this newspaper agrees with it or not is of no consequence. That is our system, that's why it works. Editorials are an important part of that system too and a newspaper's credibility is both its greatest asset and strength. That same power is not to be taken lightly or misused.

More comments on the election...

Dear Editor,

We are happy that the citizens of Springfield Township believed in the importance of supporting our library millage on Aug. 8. This action came in spite of a Clarkston News editorial advising citizens to vote "no" for the millage.

We are proud of our library and for our helpful and professional staff of employees.

Sincerely,
Bob and Margaret Bloom

Clarkston welcomes new boys soccer coach

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

A few summers ago, one of Adam Bican's friends asked him to come to one of the Clarkston boys soccer conditioning practices to help out. Bican helped out at the practice and less than three years later he is entering his first season as head coach of the Clarkston varsity boys soccer team.

"I came out here and I was addicted," Bican said. "I had a great time. It's really easy when the kids are extremely coachable. It's kind of odd because before I wouldn't have seen myself here doing this. Now it's great. I couldn't be happier about the way it turned out and getting a chance to work with these kids. The thing about these kids is they listen, they are coachable and they work hard, which makes my job so much easier."

Last season, Bican was the junior varsity coach and the varsity assistant coach the year before. He said he never went into coaching with the intent of becoming a varsity head coach.

"I really didn't look at it as a goal of mine to take over a varsity soccer program," Bican said. "Working with the kids was so rewarding that I found out this is what I wanted. I'm really here for the kids. I'm not here for me at all. Yeah, it's rewarding to give back, but these kids mean a lot and I'm here for them."

Bican will coach many of the kids

he had on the junior varsity team that went 4-8-8 last season. Bican said he thought last season was a success because the team continued to improve.

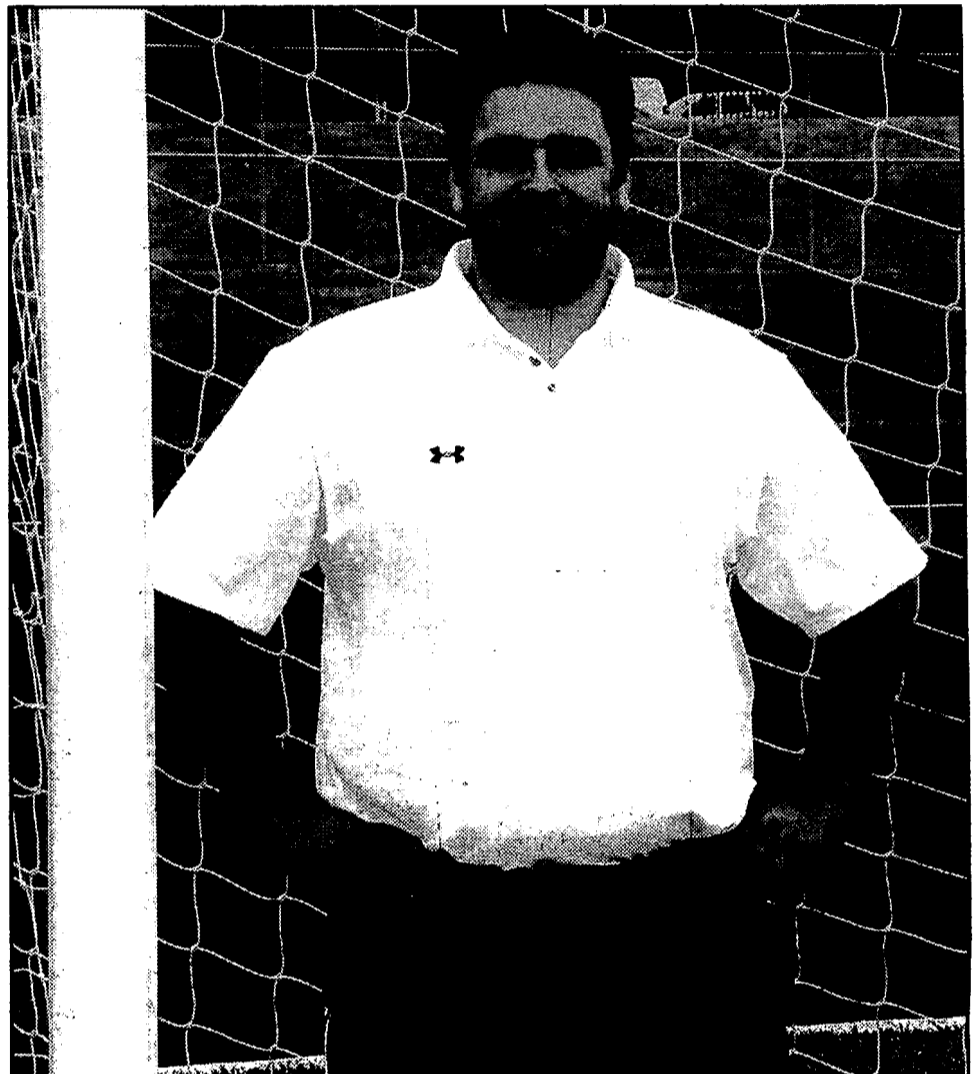

"I don't think you can measure the success of last year by the record," Bican said. "We were a family and we played the right way. Even if it didn't show in the wins and losses, we took some strides."

This season, Bican said he would like the team to become a family like his junior varsity team last season.

"I would like them to come together so there is no factions," Bican said. "I want us to be a family and of course I want to win some games. We are going to have a young team. I'm going to be throwing some young kids right into the fire, but I wouldn't be doing it if I didn't think they could handle it. I also think the guys who are left over from the varsity team last year know my style and are comfortable with me. I don't think it will be a tough transition at all."

Bican's goals for this season are to compete for the OAA I title and go as far as possible in the state playoffs. He also has long term goal to build the boys soccer program into one of the elite programs in the state.

"I want to get the soccer program to where the basketball and football programs are, where they expect to win," Bican said. "My goal is to have the soccer program on that level."

Athlete of the Week — Walt Wyniemko

BY DAVE PEMBERTON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston Boys Track and Junior Varsity Football Assistant Coach Walt Wyniemko will be one of 15 coaches inducted into the Michigan High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame on September 17.

Wyniemko, who is entering his 41st year as a track and football coach and his 28th year at Clarkston, said the induction is a huge honor.

"It's one of the highlights of my coaching career," Wyniemko said. "I'm really fortunate to be recognized by my peers. It's a thrill and it's really fun for me and my family."

Wyniemko started off as the varsity football and track coach at Bishop Foley High School and was at one point the athletic director.

He came to Clarkston in 1979 as the varsity football and varsity boys track coach. He remained the varsity football coach until 1986.

Wyniemko said he was glad he made the decision to come to Clarkston.

"It's a great community," Wyniemko said. "The athletes are very dedicated. The parents are really supportive. And the school has strong academics to go along with athletics."

In addition to being a coach at Clarkston, Wyniemko has also taught history and social studies at the school since 1979. He said he enjoyed teaching outside of the classroom through athletics.

"I enjoy the fun and interaction of working with kids," Wyniemko said. "Setting goals and trying to reach them and trying to put things in perspective for kids. I like teaching the different things athletics teach kids. It's like life. There are good days and bad days. Sometimes it's a struggle to reach success. Everybody can't be a starter, but they can contribute to a team. They can contribute to the success of a team."

Wyniemko's teams have enjoyed success over the years, but Wyniemko said he doesn't measure success by wins or losses.

"There has been some great wins and some really tough losses," Wyniemko said. "I think the whole point of coaching is seeing young boys come together and later becoming good citizens. That's where the real success is."

Riverdaws 14U team takes second in Grand Blanc

The 14U Clarkston Riverdaws travel baseball team ended their season by placing second in the 19th Annual Grand Blanc baseball tournament July 14-16. The Riverdaws went 4-1 over the weekend defeating teams from Chippewa Valley, Berkley, Farmington and Flint Kearsley before dropping the final game 4-2 to the Oakland Outlaws.

Aidan Murdock and Greg Keller both had key home runs over the weekend. Matt Miller and Tyler Scarlett also pitched well.

"This was a good finish to our season," Riverdaws Head Coach Chris Freeman said. "The boys worked hard all year and I'm very proud of their effort."

The team finished with a 17-13 overall record and 9-7 in the NOBF.

"I feel this season has prepared these boys for the next level in High School," Freeman said. "Stay focused and work hard and good things will happen."

Tryouts for for the 2007 Clarkston Riverdaws will be held soon. For tryout forms and additional information visit www.clarkstonriverdaws.org or call Benson Lange at 248-673-8853.

confusing proposals."

"We came before the board at the beginning and said this is the path we are considering. We asked the board to give us direction at that time, and the board said keep going," said Lohmeier. "We need passionate advocates on the board for this - we can't put this out there just to see what happens."

The formal proposals on the ballot will request the following:

• A 4-year, 0.4 mills operational millage that will generate an estimated $494,296 in the first year for the operations and maintenance of an adult activity center. This breaks down to $61.88 per residential property (based on an average taxable value of $154,709).

• The 21-year, .12 mills bond issue will generate a usable amount up to $3.1 million for construction of the adult activity center. This breaks down to $18.56 per property.

The total for the two proposals is $80.44 per year.

More than music Clarkston Kindermusik recognized internationally

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A good beginning never ends. Such is the motto for Kindermusik International, a world-renowned program for children from birth to age 7.

Instructors at Clarkston Conservatory's own Kindermusik program reached a new beginning recently, as they recieved the Maestro Award. This distinction places the program in the top five percent of all 5,000 licensed programs throughout the world.

The local program started at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music six years ago by Gisselle Graham, who continues to work as an instructor.

Graham pointed out that even though music is the subject matter, the goal is to stimulate a child's brain and encourage growth in all areas including memory, counting and rhythm.

For those unfamiliar with the program, classes last for 15-week intervals and are divided into four age groups. Graham admitted some people cannot believe a program is available for children as soon as they are born, but indicated the class holds benefits for both the children and their parents.

"It's a bonding experience for parents and their newborns," said Graham, adding parents are always present during the classes and participate. "It's amazing what we can do in a 15-week course."

"I have been really happy with our Kindermusik experience with Miss Giselle. You can tell she really enjoys working with kids and appreciates the unique qualities and strengths of each child. I will surely enroll in another class," wrote Stacey Taplin on the Kindermusik website.

Likewise, Graham stressed the classes have proven to be beneficial for children with learning disabilities.

"Music and movements help their brains develop stronger," said Graham, who also mentioned the Sign and Sing program for children with hearing disabilities.

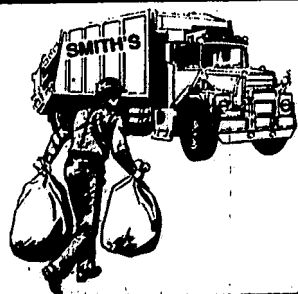

"It's for anyone who wants to learn to sign or children who are hearing impaired."

Graham recalled working with a child with down syndrome who had a difficulty speaking. She said after the first course the student has started forming short sentences and by the end of the second course they were speaking full sentences.

"It was unbelievable,"

But perhaps the best testament to the success of the local program is customer

Faded Ink

InkLink Zone: Good for the enviroment and your wallet

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nowadays, everyone has a computer and printer in their home, saving trips to the library or one-hour photo shops. Such conveniences come at price, however, and while printers may last for years, ink cartridges usually only last a few weeks or months. The cost of replacing those cartridges can really add up.

That's where Ink Link Zone comes in. Recently opened in Waterford by Doug and Ruth Nesbitt, ILZ is an inkjet refill store whose goal is provide their customers with the highest quality products and services while saving them money and helping the environment.

Here is how the business work: Customers bring in their empty inkjet print cartridges. A quick check can determine whether or not the cartridge can be refilled and what ink is needed using the InkTec system. A cartridge is then refilled and a test strip is printed to ensure quality, all in 10-15 minutes.

If for some reason the cartridge cannot be refilled, customers can purchase a once-used cartridge for only $3 more than the price of refilling the cartridge.

What is the benefit to all this? For starters refilling an ink cartridge saves nearly half the cost of a new cartridge without sacrificing print quality. Also, re-using cartridges is good for the environment. While the cartridges may be small, think of how many people in the world use them and how many are thrown out every year.

Individuals and businesses can both

benefit from the cost saving use of an inkjet refill service, but you don't have to be on a tight budget to make use of the ILZ. With a 100 percent satisfaction guarantee, there's no reason to spend more money for the same quality of ink.

Ink Link Zone is located at 4184 Pontiac Lake Rd. in the Pine Tree Plaza shopping center. Store hours are Monday-Friday 9 a.m.- 6 p.m and on Saturdays from 9 a.m.- 2 p.m. For more information, call 248-674-7280.

A longing look toward home

Do you remember when you left home for the very first time? Perhaps you went off to college, or to the military. Maybe feelings of both exhilaration and trepidation overcame you at the same time. So you put your bravest face on and embarked on your journey into the big, wide world.

Leaving home is a hard thing to do. It represents forsaking the familiar in order to embrace change and uncertainty. Leaving is hard not only for young people, but also for parents. Remember the first day you sent your wide-eyed kindergartener to school? All too soon, you turn your back and then they're off to college and then marriage and then... well, so goes the story.

When Jesus left His heavenly home, He knew His mission exactly. He was to leave its splendor and glory to come to lowly earth in order to die for sinful humankind. Earth's inhabitants would largely reject him. He would be considered, by many, to be a false prophet if not a madman.

One might think Jesus would never want to leave a place of absolute joy (Psalm 16:11) to come to a sin-filled place such as planet earth. Yet the Bible mentions that he came to accomplish His Father's plan with joy. Hebrews 12:2 states that Jesus is... "the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God." (NKJV) Simply put, Jesus left heaven, thought nothing of the temporary shame He endured, died for us and then went back home to heaven.

Why would He do this? The answer is simply stated in John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (NKJV) It was love. God wanted us to be with Him. Our sin separated us from God so Christ fulfilled God's plan by taking our sin penalty on the cross and then rising from the dead. The totally innocent one died for the guilty and then conquered death by rising up from the grave. And then He went back home...home sweet home: heaven.

Why don't we like to think about heaven? Perhaps we're like the six-year-old who was asked the requirement to go to heaven. The school teacher prompted her little students by asking various questions about how people get to heaven. She suggested being good, going to church, giving money.... After the class answered "No" several times, she returned to her original question: "How can a person get to heaven?" Immediately a little guy in the back of the class blurted out, "Ya gotta be dead!"

Maybe the prospect of heaven reminds us of our final exit from this earth and we don't want to think about it. Death, to most people, is the great unknown. Yet for the believer in Jesus, death is an open doorway to home. Of course the fear of dying is present, but the fear of the unknown is eliminated by the certain promises of God. Jesus said in John

The Poetry Corner

My Dad

I was the only daughter,
I was the only one,
But not the only child,
For he had an only son.

He loved her, and married her,
Together they had fun.
The mother of his daughter,
And the mother of his son.

Many happy years flew by,
And then it all turned grim.
The Lord came down that sunny day,
And took her home with him.

He was so lost and lonely,
And had no place to go.
Until he met another at a dance that they did go.

He loved her to the end,
Together their time flew by.
It was a sad and lonely day,
The day he had to die.

And now the only daughter and the only son must know,
They have to just remember him,
To grieve and let him go.

Our father is now at peace.
His ashes were set free.
But to the son and daughter,
He was the best that he could be.

Fair and car show coming to town

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Labor Day fun-seekers have another annual event to add to the calendar, the Clarkston First Congregational Church Country Fair and Classic Car Show will be held on Sept. 4 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The show will feature DJ Mark Farnsworth, who is a regular at the fair.

Pastor Martin Hall said, "Every year, we ask him at the end, 'So are we on for next year?'"

The event will also include midway games, live and silent auctions, 50/50 raffle, a dime auction as well as rummage and bake sales. Children will receive keys at the Clarkston Labor Day Parade that can be used at the fair to open a treasure chest and receive a prize.

In addition to all the festivities, a car show, which saw more than 100 cars of all types, will return.

Hall said more than 100 volunteers are involved in the entire fair from setup through to the end. More than 1,000 people attended last year, and that many are expected again.

"It brings our church together with the community and (it brings) church members together," said Hall.

Admission is free for the event, and the church only asks for a donation for parking.

Clarkston First Congregational Church is located at 5449 Clarkston Road, just north of Pine Knob Road. For more information call 248-394-0200.

NOHLC nature walk planned Aug. 19

Tall and impressive prairie dock, striking blue lobelia and brilliant butterflies are awaiting adults and children at the Suzanne G. Knorr Preserve in Clarkston on Aug. 19 at 10 a.m.

Naturalist and master gardener Trish Hemmig and geologist Emily Duthinh will guide participants on the one-hour walk of maturing recreated prairie located at the Parks at Stonewood. August is the perfect time to view the array of native flowers and grasses found at Knorr.

Open to the public, the walk is one of a series of family-friendly guided nature walks provided by the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy. The Suzanne G. Knorr Preserve is a perpetual Conservation Easement established in 1998. The easement donated to NOHLC by the developer, Victor International, insures that the property will be forever maintained in its current natural, scenic, historic, forested state providing relief from urban closeness nearby.

Directions to the Suzanne Knorr Preserve at The Parks at Stonewood:

On the south side of Dixie Highway in Clarkston, just north of White Lake Road, enter the Parks of Stonewood subdivision. Proceed south on Stonewood Road to the third street on your left. The southwest corner will be the starting point of the walk near the NOHLC sign.

To register, please contact NOHLC at 248-846-6547. Please bring your own water.

testimony, and many satisfied parents are not afraid to make their opinions public.

"Kindermusik was recommended to us by a speech therapist. Our son's ability to follow directions has increased. He loved the fun activities we acted out making the songs come to life. I liked the small home like setting," wrote Lisa Barrett.

The Maestro Award, however, sets the Clarkston school apart from the others. While you have to be licensed by the Kindermusik International program to instruct classes, being awarded the Maestro Award means a particular school goes above and beyond what other schools do. This may not come as a surprise to families who have participated in the lessons, since nearly every parent on the Kindermusik website gave the school the highest rating possible.

Graham herself attributes the success of the program to positive word-of-mouth, saying family testimonials are the best advertising they could get.

"When we started in 2000 we had 12 students participating, now we have over 100 students," Graham said.

Graham indicated that many of the new families who participate in the program were referred to the school by another family.

Eventually though, the students grow up and with six years of operation, students who entered at birth are getting to the age where they must go on to grade or elementary school. Graham said babies begin with a simple concept like movement and rhythm but by the time they are seven are practicing with instruments as though they were in a school band.

"Our Young Child class (ages 5-7) prepares every child for private lesson by learning how to read music," said Graham. Graham added that the lesson help students develop over all skills as they prepare to enter school.

"It helps them with their education. It helps them with reading, and math and their composition. it's pretty amazing what it can do," Graham said.

Start your day in a healthy way

By Ernie Harwell

Read anything about nutrition and one main point you'll see over and over again is the importance of a healthy breakfast, especially for children. Now I have to admit that during my time in the Marines, I wasn't big on breakfast. I hated to get in line for chow, so I'd get me a cup of coffee and a cigarette, and that was breakfast. Certainly not what you'd call nutritious. I've learned, though, that a well-balanced breakfast is a way of starting the day right by giving our bodies and our minds the fuel they need. And breakfast doesn't have to be elaborate or expensive.

Foods like oatmeal, some fruit and skim milk can provide a healthy start to the day without a lot of time and effort. A good breakfast will boost your metabolism. You'll find that you're more alert and energetic, and you won't need a sugary "pick-me-up" from a vending machine.

And remember, take care of your health before it's longgg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 22 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Comedy, mysteries and scary stories performed locally

Summer is almost over, which means two things – school is set to start soon and the Clarkston Village Players are set to begin their new season. Running from Sept until June, the CVP season features six group performances every other month with four special performances in between.

The season kicks off in September with "Red Hot Mamas," a comedy by David W. Christner. What happens when a married couple has both of their mothers move in with them? Chaos and comedy ensue as both women go back and forth in a game of one-upmanship.

For one night only in October, the Flint City Theater brings "Scream Theater," a night of scary stories, to Depot Theater. The performance has become an annual special event for the CVP.

In November, a second comedy takes audiences overseas with "Enchanted April" by Matthew Barber. Opposites definitely do not attract for two proper London ladies who, while looking to share the expense of an Italian getaway, match up with two very different English women. The foursome's vacation keeps them at each other while teaching them a lot about themselves.

Local youths are in for a happy holiday performance this year as CVP regular Nancy Penvose returns with her "Once Upon a Puppet" production of "A Merry Christmas Caper." Jingles, chief elf at the North Pole is on a quest to save Santa's toys from Burglar Bill. Like past productions, the show features several songs and encourages audience participation.

The first production of 2007 is "A Talent For Murder" by Jerome Chodorov and Norman Panama. An aging mystery novelist discovers her own family wouldn't mind seeing her dead. Even with the serious nature of the production, a healthy amount of comedy is mixed into the dramatic suspense.

Bring the kids to a night of magic in February as Merlin the Wizard (aka "Baffling Bill" Schulert) brings his tricks and jokes to the Depot Theater for one night only.

Turning to serious productions in March, the CVP presents "Seven Rabbits on a Pole" by John C. Picardi. The life of a farmer and his three daughters is disrupted when their neighbor and stranger selling rabbits force their way into their lives.

Award winning local musician Beth Stalker will perform in April as part of CVP's "An Evening of Music." Stalker has won six Detroit Music Awards and released an album of multi-genre performances.

Don't let the title of the May performance fool you. "The Last of Jane Austen" by Shirl Hendryx is a dramatic story about an aging boxer, who after encountering two elderly women with a passion for the sport, makes a comeback attempt.

The season closes with a special production written by one of CVP's very own. "Like Mother, Like Hell" by Rikki Schwartz is a comic-drama exploring a mother-daughter relationship that is both maddeningly funny and touching. Be ready for a rocky ride between laughter and tears.

As always, tickets are available for purchase through www.clarkstonvillageplayers.org or by calling 248-625-2511. They are also available by leaving a message on the Clarkston Village Players ticket line at 248-625-8811.

Tickets may be purchased at the door the night of the performance; however, availability can not be assured.

Unsettling Times Still Offer Opportunities for Investors

If you remember 1973, you know it was a difficult period for the United States. A series of events - including the Watergate scandal, the OPEC oil embargo, the Vietnam War and the resignation of Vice President Spiro Agnew - had shaken the public's morals. By November, President Richard Nixon's approval rating stood at 37 percent - and presidential approval ratings tend to track the mood of the nation. Given all this, you might think that 1973 was not a good year in which to invest in the stock market.

But you'd be wrong. From Nov. 30, 1973, to Nov. 30, 1983, the S&P 500 recorded an average annual return of 10.9 percent. So, if you had invested $10,000 in the market at the beginning of that period, it would have grown to $28,139 by the end. And over the next 20 years, from Nov. 30, 1983, to Nov. 30, 2003, the S&P 500 returned, on average, 12.8 percent a year; consequently, $10,000 invested in 1983 would have grown to $111,219 in 20 years. (Keep in mind, however, that the S & P 500 is an unmanaged index, and you cannot invest directly into it. Also, past performance is not an indication of future results.)

In short, if you had started investing in the troubled year of 1973, and you had kept investing, you would have probably done pretty well over the next three decades.

Now, let's look at what's happening in the country in 2006. We are facing global unrest, high gas prices and concerns about economic security. Although there are some similarities between 1973 and 2006 - a controversial war, high gas prices, political concerns - there are also some key differences.

Perhaps most important, our economy today is much stronger than it was back then. And as an investor, you might be particularly interested in the following:

Interest rates are near a 40-year low. When interest rates are low, it is less expensive for businesses to borrow money to expand their operations. And as businesses grow, so does their attractiveness to investors. Corporate profits are growing rapidly. Corporate profits have expanded at double-digit rates for 10 consecutive quarters; profitability is one of the key fundamentals that drive a company's stock price. So, despite the worried national mood, the investment climate of 2006 may actually be quite promising.

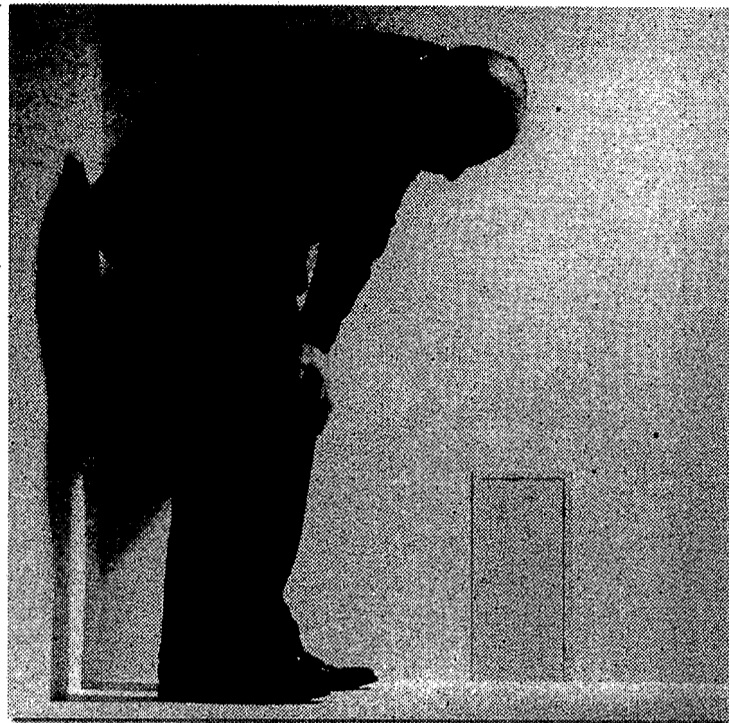

Don't Stop Investing
It's true that 2006 may be an unusually tense year for the country. But as we've seen, 1973 was also a difficult year - in fact, by some measures, considerably more unsettling than 2006 - and yet, many investors who had faith in the financial markets in 1973 were amply rewarded.

Of course, you might not achieve similar returns going forward over the next few decades - no one can predict the future course of the markets. But the experience of 1973 shows the historical importance of continuous investing. A systematic investment plan does not assure a profit and does not protect against loss in declining markets. Such a plan involves continuous investment in securities regardless of fluctuating price levels of such securities, the investor should consider the financial ability to continue the purchases through periods of low price levels.

So, don't let today's headlines keep you on the investment "sidelines." If you buy quality investments, diversify your portfolio and invest for the long term, you may be able to design a strategy designed to work toward your financial goals - in good times and bad.

14:1-3, "Let not your heart be troubled; you believe in God, believe also in Me. In My Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to Myself; that where I am, there you may be also."

Another reason that many don't think of heaven is ignorance. They simply do not know anything about it. Some believe that heaven is nothing more than a state of mind. Your heaven or hell is here on earth. Yet Jesus promised that He was going to go to a real place. Jesus prayed, "Father, I desire that they also whom You gave Me may be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which You have given Me; for You loved Me before the foundation of the world" (John 17:24). We do not know where heaven is, but we do know that for the believer in Jesus, it is wherever God is. Home is where our Father dwells.

Many have accused Christians of being so "heavenly minded that they're no earthly good." While that may ring true for some, the truth is that we do not think about heaven because we're too busy here. It's true that we must fulfill our obligations here on earth. It is also true that we must use our time wisely while we live here. God expects it. But what about the ultimate question "Will you spend eternity in heaven?"

Many believe that it is impossible to know if you're heaven-bound until you're dead. Yet 1 John 5:11-13 states, "And this is the testimony: that God has given us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life. These things I have written to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, that you may know that you have eternal life, and that you may continue to believe in the name of the Son of God."

Because Christ left his home, we can enter it. He paved the way by dying on the cross so that we may be forgiven. The catch? There is none. Admit that you are a lost sinner, believe that He died for you, and place your trust in that alone. Invite him to do so right now and you'll have hope for this life and that to come.

NOTICE OF ADOPTION

AMENDMENTS TO ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 26

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at a regularly-scheduled meeting held on August 10, 2006, the Township Board of the Charter Township of Springfield adopted amendments to Zoning Ordinance No. 26, which amendments are set forth herein and shall take effect seven (7) days after publication of this Notice.

SECTION ONE — AMENDMENTS TO ORDINANCE

Subsection 18.07.4, Site Plan Review Procedures, and Subsection 18.07.4.a, Concept Plan Review, of Section 18.07, Site Plan Review Required in Specific Districts, are hereby amended to read as follows:

4. Site Plan Review Procedures: Site Plan Review shall be according to the following procedures. Whenever references are made to Clerk, Engineer and Planner, it shall mean the Township Clerk or designated representative, Township Engineer and Township Planner. For purposes of these procedures, filing means delivery by the applicant to the Clerk. Application means an application for site plan approval on a form provided by the Clerk.

Site Plan review shall be conducted solely by the Planning Commission for all Land Uses, except as provided for herein. All condominium developments and all Land Uses Permitted Subject To Special Conditions (Special Land Uses) shall have site plans reviewed and final action taken by the Township Board following a review and recommendation by the Planning Commission.

a. Concept Plan Review — The purpose of Concept Plan Review is to provide the applicant and the township the opportunity to review a generalized site plan, discuss the overall idea of the development project and to consider the project's compliance with the criteria of Site Plan Review found in Section 18.07.2 and other applicable township ordinances, policies or standards. The township encourages all applicants to take advantage of Concept Review.

Concept Plan Review is required for all Principal Uses Permitted Subject To Special Conditions (Special Land Uses), all developments containing greater than 25,000 square feet of structure(s), and developments larger than two (2) acres in size. Projects for which Concept Plan review is not required or requested are subject to review pursuant to the requirements of Section 18.07.4.b, Final Site Plan Review. The following procedures shall apply to Concept Plan Review:

Note: The remainder of Subsection 18.07.4.a (i.e., Subsections 18.07.4.a(1) through 18.07.4.a(6)) is to remain unchanged.

SECTION TWO — SEVERABILITY

Should any provision or part of this Ordinance be declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unenforceable, the same shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the balance of this Ordinance, which shall remain in full force and effect.

SECTION THREE — REPEALER

All other ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this Ordinance full force and effect.

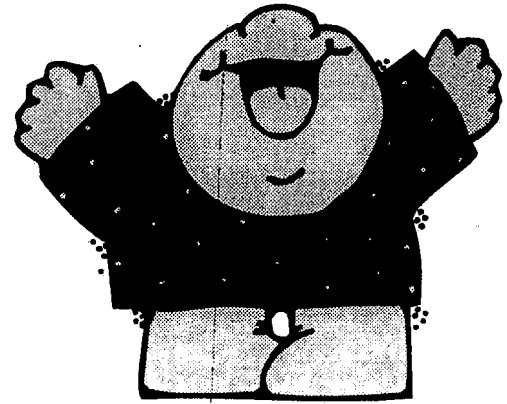

SECTION FOUR — EFFECTIVE DATE

These ordinance amendments shall take effect seven (7) days after publication of Notice of Adoption. These ordinance amendments shall be published in the manner provided by law.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of amendments to Springfield Township Zoning Ordinance No. 26 adopted at the Regular Meeting of the Springfield Township Board held on the 10th day of August, 2006. A complete text of the ordinance and documents related to the amendments may be examined at the Springfield Township Clerk's Office, 12000 Davisburg Rd., Davisburg, MI during regular office hours, Monday through Friday. Those persons needing a special accommodation should contact the Clerk's Office at least two (2) business days in advance. Tel. 248-846-6510.
