It might look like we have a new Crocodile Hunter in town, but this is actually Tony Demain of BACA working on the dam on Mill Pond. Demain and Corey Klemon were moving planks and four-by-fours into position next to a bronze sculpture of a crocodile. Mayor candidates talk issues

BY LAURA COLVIN

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Incumbent Sharron Catallo and Clarkston City Councilman Steve Wylie face off at the polls Tuesday, Nov. 7. We sat down and asked each to tell us a little bit about themselves, their contributions to the community and the issues they believe are important. We also gave each the opportunity to ask the other a question and receive the answer in our public forum. Clarkston, meet your mayoral candidates.

What is the best thing about Clarkston?

Catallo: The people. We're a small community, and most everyone knows everyone else. It's an eclectic mix of people, and everyone has something valuable to offer the community. We're like one big neighborhood.

costs down while still providing quality services tailored to our specific needs. And focusing on the larger picture and remembering what's best for the village as a whole.

Wylie: First, the budget. We have about $55,000 in the rainy day fund, and that's not enough if we have a problem. Second, the taxes are too high. We're paying 13.2 mils to fund the general fund, and another 4.5 for the street and water project. That's compared to 7 mils in the township. I'd also like to make sure that the downtown retains its vibrancy, and that we're taking care of Depot Park.

What was the most significant contribution you've made, or helped to make, in Clarkston?

New law firm for township

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

There's a new law in Independence Township, or at least a new set of lawyers.

Following the recommendation of a subcommittee made up of township Supervisor David Wager, Clerk Shelagh Vanderveen, and Trustee Daniel Kelly, the Independence Township Board of Trustees voted 5-2 to approve the motion. Wagner and Trustee Charles Dunn voted against the motion. Vanderveen made the motion to replace the Karlstrom Cooney legal firm with:

- Secrest Wardle for general tax work;
- Dickinson Wright for bond counsel; and
- Greg Schultz for labor.

Attorney Peter Keenan will be retained for prosecutions.

Subcommittee members did not agree on the recommendation to the board. Vanderveen and Kelly were in favor of the change, while Wagner was not.

"(The Karlstrom Cooney firm) has done a great job for the community," Wagner said. "They've done a lot of good for us."

The change will raise the cost of legal representation for the township by as much as 35 percent, Wagner said.

"I have to go back and make budget adjustments," he said.

The increase could result in cuts to other parts of the budget, he said.

Vanderveen said the law firm has had problems, especially with municipal law, which led to the decision to seek replacements.

"We didn't feel they were getting our work done in a timely fashion," she said.

Secrest Wardle was the township's attorney firm for about 24 years before Karlstrom Cooney replaced them about two years ago. Secrest Wardle helped write many of the township ordinances and documents that come up as issues today. Because of that, they would be more likely to successfully protect the township from any lawsuit, she said.

"You can't measure quality in dollars," she said.

At the Oct. 17 meeting, Dunn said he objected to how information about the prospective firms was handled.

The Second Front

Briefly

Speak your mind about Sashabaw Rd.

The public will get a chance to weigh in on proposed Sashabaw Road development projects.

The Independence Township Board of Trustees scheduled a public hearing on the Sashabaw Road Corridor Improvement Authority plan for Nov. 22. Richard Carlisle, of Carlisle Wortman, advised at the township board's Oct. 17 regular meeting that the hearing be set for Nov. 8. This would have provided the most time for consideration by the board and still meet the end-of-year deadline for establishing 2006 as the plan's base year.

However, that date is too close to the Nov. 7 election, trustees said.

Projects under consideration by the Sashabaw Corridor CIA Board include new sewer lines, underground power lines, landscaping, two additional lanes on the Sashabaw Road bridge over I-75, widening Sashabaw Road to six lanes, street lighting, safety paths, and strategic land acquisitions. Still to be resolved is the degree to which Oakland County will be involved. If the county does not opt in, the township board may not go forward with the CIA plan, said Supervisor David Wagner.

Expo set for Nov. 2

The Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Expo is set for Thursday, Nov. 2, from 5-8 p.m. at Clarkston High School.

The Expo, held since 1986, is a great place to learn more about local business. Music and raffles will be featured. North Oakland Technical Center's culinary arts program will serve refreshments.

For a free pass, present the advertisement in this edition. Free passes are also available at the Chamber of Commerce office, 5856 S. Main St. For information, call 248-625-8055.

School fair Oct. 28

North Sashabaw Elementary is hosting its annual community fair on Oct. 28 from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m. on school grounds. Visitors will have a chance to adopt a dog in need from the K-9 Stray organization.

Exotic animals will also be available for viewing. The fair will feature live music, games, food, a raffle, silent auction and cake walk. The fair is presented through the combined efforts of volunteer parents and NSE staff. However, Beth Selke, one of the parents helping put the fair together, said the fair is "sponsored by the community" because donations from community members make the fair possible.

Correction

The story "Building a winner," page B1, Oct. 4 edition, should have said that Wickersham Homes Incorporated built more than 40 homes at the Pebble Creek development in four years, not annually.

The story "Fire Safety is year-round," A1, Oct. 18, should have instructed readers not to use water to control a grease fire, nor to move the affected pan.

Students learn about domestic violence

BY ANDREW DUPONT

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Knowledge is power, especially knowing when to take action and stand up against domestic violence. Being able to identify the signs of an abusive relationship at home or in other social situations can literally be a life-saving effort.

As part of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, Kelly Kanigowski, social worker for Renaissance High School, started "girls' day." During the morning hours on Oct. 20, female students participated in several workshops. Kanigowski said they learned about "what leads to unhealthy relationships and suggestions how to get out of them."

The day's programs were intended to show the young women the importance of keeping control in their relationships, and how to identify the telltale signs of abusive and dominant personalities in men.

The students also heard from a young woman who recounted her personal experiences with an abusive boyfriend.

"It was really emotional, it was like hearing your sister talk to you. I felt really close to her," said Jennifer Evans, sophomore.

Junior Kaylin Place said she could relate to her because of personal experiences with abuse and said the lessons taught that day were very valuable.

"They were very blunt about everything," Place said, saying that with such a serious subject, being as forward as possible helps. Place said the students were given contact information for outside counseling services as well, which she said could be really helpful for students who need an outlet outside of school.

Tommiann Montney, senior, said "it's really helpful for people our age," remarking about learning the signs to look for in friends' relationships as well. Montney said even those students who do not have personal experiences to examine can be there for friends who may be blinded to the signs by their relationship.

"Don't let anyone control your life" either physically or emotionally, she said. "You shouldn't have to go through that at this age."

During the last portion of the day, the girls created T-shirt designs, which they hung up as part of The Clothline project. Started in Massachusetts in 1990, the project is designed to illustrate the struggles of women who have survived domestic abuse. Each shirt represents an individual woman's story, and each student had her own to design.

"This is a way of helping them reflect on what they learned today," Kanigowski said.

Kanigowski said she was pleased with how the day went and will hopefully plan a similar event for next year.

Board split on law firm hiring decision

The subcommittee did not provide the materials to board members about the 17 attorney firms applying to represent the township. Because of this, the item should have been tabled, he said.

"I think it's inappropriate to be on the agenda," he said.

The subcommittee was supposed to collect the materials and present them to board members, then the board would discuss them, Dunn said.

"I for one never received the materials," he said. "This is not consistent with the motion (at the Sept. 19 regular meeting)."

Dunn's motion to table the matter died without support.

The information was available to board members at the township hall, Kelly said.

Subcommittee members discussed the applications, and it was 2-1 in favor of the change. They took into consideration comments made by trustees at the Sept. 19 meeting, Kelly said.

The subcommittee did not meet formally, but should have, Wagner said.

"There was no 2-1 vote," he said.

At the Oct. 17 meeting, Vanderveen "called the question" on the issue, which, under Robert's Rules of Parliamentary Procedure, ended debate and required a vote.

"I'm very disappointed with what just happened - it's unbelievable," Wagner said just after the vote.

"As Neil Wallace has said, there's a long-standing tradition of letting people talk. I agree with that," Wagner said.

The decision is effective Nov. 1.

House becomes stage for personal, up-close concerts

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nobody can question how much Craig Carrick loves music, especially after he hosted three concerts in his own home earlier this year for other local music lovers.

With large turnout and positive feedback from his first endeavors, Carrick decided to host another round of home concerts starting in November.

Pete and Maura Kennedy are celebrating the launch of the ninth album with the Carrick house party. Photo provided.

Originally inspired by visiting a home concert hosted by the Paint Creek Folk Lore Society, Carrick said he was immediately attracted to the more intimate setting and relaxed atmosphere the concerts provided for audiences.

"I think people like to meet other people, for one thing. It's in a house so you feel pretty comfortable and 'at home,' pardon the pun," Carrick said. "It's a mix of ages and people; some kids even come. It's not a club setting so it's smoke free and you hear every single nuance of the music and songs — sometimes it gets a little rowdy on stage if the song calls for it, but, the audience is there to listen to the songs and visit during breaks, so the musical experience is unmatched — you just don't get to hear it this well in any other setting."

The largest turnout Carrick had was approximately 60 people, which may not seem very large until you try to fit them all in one house along with a stage for the performers.

"After a little remodeling of the space and installation of a sound system, I think things are actually going to be easier to get up and running. A buddy of mine set me up with some great sound gear and we have a pretty good layout. Now we just need the people to come and check out the shows," said Carrick. "Lots of work but well worth it. We've met some of the most incredible people from this area and beyond that have become great friends and hope to meet new people all the time. Plus we get to turn folks onto this music that we think is so exceptional."

This round of concerts kicks off on Nov. 5 with the Kennedys, a folk-bluegrass duo from New York, and Annie and Rod Capps.

Pete and Maura Kennedy are celebrating the launch of the ninth album "Songs of the Open Road" with the Carrick house party. The couple hosts a weekly folk music show on Sirius satellite radio and the appropriately titled album marks another stop on the touring they have made a regular part of their musical careers. Carrick said he is most impressed by their songs and attitude toward their music.

"Pete is one of those guitar players that guitar players watch every move he makes and go home saying 'that's not possible what that guy does,'" Carrick said. "I mean, he's really that good and cool to watch. They

Write-in vies for votes

BY LAURA COLVIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Former city council member Walt Gamble says he's ready to roll up his sleeves and get back to work.

Gamble sat on the council from 1995-2005, losing the election last year by what he calls "a few votes" to current Councilman Cory Johnston.

But with three vacant seats and only incumbent Kristy Ottman up for reelection, the council announced in August they were accepting paperwork from eligible residents wishing to run as write-in candidates.

"I've spent the past year reflecting," he said. "I'm rejuvenated and ready to get back."

Gamble is the second official write-in candidate for city council. Peg Roth, a membership coordinator at Deer Lake Athletic Club and a long-time schools volunteer, was the first. At least one other candidate has filed paperwork, with a fourth announcing intention to do so before the Nov. 3 deadline.

The paperwork, explains City Manager Art Pappas, reduces the hassle created for election workers when voters write prank names on the ballot. With the new system, only the names of those officially registered with the city will be counted.

With Councilman Steve Wylie running for mayor against incumbent Sharron Catallo, and Councilman Scott Meyland deciding to end his tenure on council, Gamble thinks his 10 years of experience might be beneficial to the Clarkston community.

"There's a lot of pressure on the city currently," he said. "There's talk about doing away with the police force and talk about getting rid of cityhood. I think at this juncture we need a person of experience."

Gamble, 70, has lived in Clarkston 23 years and speaks adamantly in favor of maintaining both the police force and city status.

Walt Gamble

One of his main concerns, he said, is the traffic situation around the downtown area. Many of the homes on Holcomb are now occupied by families with small children, while the street continues to get busier.

"Our guys stay out there so people see them and slow down," he said. "If we go back to using the Sheriff's Department, all we're going to get is a drive through and that won't do a darn thing about traffic."

Gamble remembers his years on council as the years "we really redid the town" including the water and sewer project, new trees and landscaping and increased parking that revitalized the downtown area.

He has been married to Christie Shull for 17 years, and is the father of two grown daughters, and grandfather to four.

Golf, amateur radio and antique collecting are among the activities he counts as hobbies.

Gamble earned a BA in geology and an MA in Psychology, and retired from his position as a sales manager with AT&T in 1989.

Voters wishing to cast a vote for Gamble should write "Walter Gamble" in the appropriate space on the ballot.

CHS Drama club presents 'Fools' on stage

BY ANDREW DUPONT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

One thing you will not hear Jeff Tice say is "stop acting so stupid!" At least not now, because his students are supposed to be acting that way.

Tice, Clarkston High School teacher and drama club director is helping his students with the final preparations for their performance of "Fools," a play by Neil Simon.

Set in the late 19th century, "Fools" is the story of a small Ukrainian village under a centuries-old curse that makes the residents stupid.

"They're just not smart, they have no common sense," said Tice, who said he chose the play because it is a clean comedy with a lot of diverse characters for his students to perform.

"It's a good vehicle for these young actors," he said.

Enter Leon Tolchinsky (played by sophomore Brent Manhart), a school teacher the villagers hire to help break the curse. Unbeknownst to Leon, he only has a day to do so, and things become even more complicated when he falls for villager Sophia (played by senior Julie Williams).

Other cast members include Stephanie Campbell as Yehenna, Joseph Chaney as Snetsky, Tom Alty as Mishkin, Nick

Do only fools fall in love? Leon (Manhart) and Sophia (Williams), right, hope that is not the case. Above, neither Lenya (Krajenke) or Dr. Zubritsky (Costine) seem to know just what the problem is. Photos by Andrew DuPont.

McFadden-Keesling as Gregor, Alex Hosbab as the Magistrate, Amanda Krajenke as Lenya, Mike Costone as Dr. Zubritsky and Matt Bleau as Slovitch.

Williams has been part of the CHS Drama Club for four years, but said she has been acting since she was eight. Williams said her fellow drama club members are a "bunch of characters" and that working with on stage is a lot of fun.

"You meet a lot of fun people here," she said about the club.

The CHS Drama club hosts semiannual performances, the first in the November, the second in March, which is usually a musical. Only two performances of "Fools," Nov. 3 and 4, are scheduled; both begin at 7 p.m. in the CHS Performing Arts Center. Tickets are $6 each. To place a ticket order, call 248-623-4024.

Clarkston mayoral candidates share their views on community up a charter committee of residents to write the charter, and finally put it to a vote. We faced a lot of stop-gates, and we were constantly finding new problems, as well as new solutions. We set up the community to meet the needs of the people who live here.

Wylie: I've done a lot to reach out to the township to make sure our relationship is a strong and healthy one. The fact is that we are a tiny city in the middle of a very largely populated area, and we depend on Independence for fire, library and midnight police services.

How will you spend your first week in office?

Catallo: Delegating responsibilities and setting committees such as SEMCOG, the police and DPW liaisons, and the Michigan Municipal liaison.

Wylie: There are a lot of positions that need to be filled on various commissions. I'd also talk to key city employees to see what I can do to make their jobs easier, as well as to make sure they are providing residents with the best possible services.

How will you spend the next two years?

Catallo: We redid all the sidewalks in the downtown area, but the sidewalks in the neighborhoods still need to be redone. I'd like to see that happen, and I'd like to get back to our tree planting program, if funds will permit.

Wylie: Increasing the rainy day fund and lowering taxes. Depending upon input from the police committee, we could cut our police costs by three mills.

Who is your biggest supporter?

Catallo: My grandchildren: Clare, Cassius and Coco.

Wylie: My wife, Sue.

What personal characteristics make for an effective mayor?

Catallo: You have to like people. You have to realize that different people have different ideas, and it's important to be open to feedback. You can't do anything alone, you have to have the help of other people. That's how a community works. And you have to have a sense of humor. That's important, sometimes just for being able to laugh at yourself.

Wylie: A sense of fairness, and good communication skills. The ability to set priorities and run council meetings in an orderly fashion so all members have an opportunity to voice their opinion.

What makes you better qualified than your opponent?

Catallo: Experience. I have a history here and I look forward to using my experience to continue the progress we've made in governing ourselves in an efficient and responsible way. Having served with a number of councils helps to sort out the things that have been tried, and to know which ideas have worked.

Wylie: My business background. I'm CFO of my company, Qualis Automotive, and I've put together 30 budgets for business and successfully marketed our company to an investment fund. My background is in accounting, and I can make more of a contribution to the city with that background.

What question would you like to ask your opponent?

Catallo to Wylie: Are you committed to protecting the historic district, providing residents with quality services and maintaining cityhood? Why?

Answer: Yes on all three. First, to protect the historic district, I would make sure the best people continue to be appointed. Quality commissioners should stay in place to protect the rights of the district. Second, to provide quality services, I will use our people (Clarkston services) when it makes sense and when it makes sense we'll use shared services. It is important to provide quality services to the residents. It's not important who provides those services. Finally, I've never considered giving up cityhood.

Wylie to Catallo: Do you think it's important to lower taxes for the citizens of Clarkston, and if so, how would you do it?

Answer: Yes, it is always important to keep taxes low, but it is not as important as providing the services the people want. The community chose to make improvements to the roads, water, and the downtown renovations. As those improvements are paid off, taxes will lower. We have always run a lean budget. For example, our city manager is also the clerk and treasurer, and our police and DPW heads work shifts along side their staff.

Local voters have say in millage election

Local voters have a say in the millage election. The local senior center and the activities it presents (they settled on Davison).

People have disagreed about who would get to use a new Independence Township center, but I doubt if many would argue that the current center is just fine. It's not. It's a house, built for a family young enough to climb stairs and small enough to get by with narrow hallways.

Not to be too irreverent, but it reminds of the Brady Bunch movie they made a few years ago. One of its jokes was that the Mike Brady character, an architect, would present designs for things like gas stations or restaurants that would all look just like the Brady family house, just with a sign or a few gas pumps on the outside. Brady did manage to find a client who was interested in his design, but in real life, hopefully people won't settle on using a house design for a public building.

Several have written in to share their views, which I've put into the paper. That's great — this is an issue to be settled by the local voters. They should be the ones to get a say in it.

As for the state-wide issues, which apply to me and everyone else in Michigan, my decision is coming down to which campaign is the least insulting. When I get to the polls, I'm probably going to go with my gut, which has been influenced by all the television advertising, though probably not in the way their sponsors meant.

The affirmative action ban was sponsored by some guy from California, so I should oppose it. I thought all the good ideas came from California. Morning doves need to be protected? They're one of the most abundant game bird in the United States. Supreme Court justices standing outside people's homes? I hate it when that happens. Mandatory school funding levels? Wasn't Proposition A supposed to take care of that?

The important thing, of course, is to vote. At least then we'll know who to blame.

Michigan economy burying us alive

Dear Editor:

All I have heard is negativism and avoidance in the governor's debates.

She has a plan for jobs and business.

What about us who are being buried alive now; we, the average, who are the ones who support the state and can no longer bear the burden. Between the state imposing its taxes, etc. and the local government and its own personal mismanagement, greed, and agenda. Government management giving themselves pay raises while asking for this proposal and that proposal. No pay raises for employees to keep up with the cost of living. We the retired and the young need relief now. We are going into debt, not because of our spending, but because of the high cost of the economy and government spending, and greedy big business.

We are the ones who need the tax breaks, not some big business who will profit on us the consumer and then from the state, which is us also. They create jobs, maybe, but at what real cost to us? They get tax breaks and we still have to support the state, even though the worker will pay taxes.

Granholm has "flipped a switch" and buried us and our economy. We are being bled to death. We would like to get a new house. However, we can't afford to move because of the high taxes and yet we can't afford to stay where we are. We are trapped and sinking. Stop the "legal" robbery of our incomes. We also need to consider a unicameral government.

What about the 10% across the board tax, and help with: gas prices and taxes; heating, electrical, and medical; licence-plate costs should decrease as the car ages; and personal property tax. What about the children in school who had vouchers that got taken away? Stop supporting illegal aliens and scammers

Just for the record the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy serves all of northwestern Oakland County, and beyond, not just Springfield Township.

Its preserved properties are in several townships, and its history dates back to 1972 when it was formed in Independence Township. There was a nice photo of Dr. Fred Roeser, who along with his wife Gail, were the honorary chairs for the evening, in recognition of Fred's long and varied service and leadership for NOHLC. Unfortunately, the photo was captioned Jim Pistilli, the current president of NOHLC, instead of Fred.

Bouchard, Devos, Johnson needed in office

Dear Editor:

Nov. 7, I hope you will join our family and vote for Mike Bouchard for the U.S. Senate, and Dick Devos and Ruth Johnson for governor and lieutenant governor. With the collapse of the Michigan economy and the need for new state leadership in the governor's office that can work with Mike Bouchard in Washington, we can turn this state and federal government around.

Mike Bouchard, as our sheriff and state senator, is a natural for state, national, and international security, opening the 6th Circuit log jam of the federal judicial appeals and working with Dick Devos and Ruth Johnson to bring jobs back to Michigan. Dick Devos and Ruth Johnson can work with the legislature to grow jobs in the private sector rather than the bloated government and over-regulations that chase jobs to other states and countries.

There are two polls that really count. One is Nov. 7 and the other is our last thoughts at night for our children, security, and well being, and whom do you trust the most to protect them. It is not even a close decision. It's Mike Bouchard and Dick Devos on Nov. 7.

Spend taxes on community, not senior center

Dear Editor,

After seeing the new Auburn Hills Community/Senior Center there should be no question to Independence Township voters that the proposals for a stand alone Senior Center are not an efficient use of our tax dollars and both should be voted down.

The proposal's wording change from "Senior Center" to "Adult Activities Center" clearly attempts to create voter confusion. The change creates the illusion that the Senior Center is now for use by those 18 and older, but nothing could be further from the truth. This is still a stand-alone Senior Center building proposal. Because Independence Township still doesn't have a Community Center, voting no twice really does make sense. If we must spend tax dollars on a luxurious new building, then let's do it right and build a Community Center/Senior Center, not just a Senior Center. A No-No vote on Nov. 7 is a Yes-Yes vote for the community.

If in doubt about millage vote, visit senior center

Dear Editor:

I recently attended a meeting where Margaret Bartos spoke of the need for a new Senior/Adult Activity Center. The Parks and Recreation Commission did a study of the usage of the Independence Township Senior Center buildings. The study was for the months of February and March of 2006. They found the use of the two senior center buildings by other groups was equal to the number of hours used by the seniors. These groups include Youth Assistance, and the Recreation Department, which has Karate classes and therapeutic recreation events plus many other classes, and non-profit groups. If you question the need for a new Senior/Adult Activity Center, I urge you to visit the two senior buildings to see for yourself how the buildings are inadequate for our present needs.

A Look Back

A peek back to those thrilling days of yesteryear as reported in the pages of The Clarkston News.

15 Years Ago 1991

"$11 million township budget OK'd" - The Independence Township Library and the police fund both received more funding in the 1992 budget. This would allow police to add two officers. The library, which was still under construction, was to use the funds for more books. The township Parks and Recreation Department's budget was cut by about 10-15 percent.

"Springfield board approves $1.88 million budget" - The township board approved the 1992 budget of $1,882,154, an increase over the past year. Department budgets, including police, fire, parks and recreation, cable TV, and Shiawasee Basin, all increased.

"New group studies school" - Local residents formed the Citizens for Fiscal Responsibility in Government group to find ways to fund school improvements using existing budgets. The group was formed in the wake of failed bond issues that would have provided $85 million for new schools and building improvements.

25 Years Ago 1981

"Average 1981 tax bill totals $1,879" - The county, school, and local taxes were tabulated and the typical Independence Township resident was to pay $1,879 in taxes. The typical tax payer had property assessed at $40,000, with a market value of $80,000. The taxes were shown to have increased by $288 from the year before.

"Fire fighters sign one-year contract" - The Independence Township Board ended 10 months of negotiations and signed a one-year contract with Independence Township Fire Fighters Local 2629. The contract included a 11.3 percent salary increase.

50 Years Ago 1956

"Eleven-year-old gets bronze cross" - Barbara Blue, 11, was awarded the Bronze Cross by the national executive committee of Girl Scouts, U.S.A. She earned the award on July 8, 1955, when she saved her 6-year-old brother, Harry, from drowning.

"Localite rides in Nixon special" - Mrs. Floyd Andrews was an honored guest on the Dick Nixon Campaign Special. The vice president was campaigning by train through Michigan.

From spring, through summer, into fall: Tiger Love

I have to come clean.

I need to purge my soul. Get things straight with The man upstairs. Ummm... I have been immersed in a summer-long affair. Yep, it's true. But, what you don't know is that dear wife Jennie -- always a gamer -- was involved, too.

I know, I know... to some this relationship sounds kind of tantalizing. To others, kind of freaky. But, hey -- this is the new, "anything goes" age, ain't it? Before you cast judgment, you should also throw this into the mix: Our two sons, Shamus, 8 and Sean, 6, have taken part in this torrid love, too.

We've been watching the Detroit Tigers all season and are loving it!

(Hey, what did you think -- some harlot of a woman had slithered into my life? Come on, get real.)

It has been a treat to watch the Tigers with the family. Each night they're on, we're in the living room gathered around the family TV. It's also been fun listening to the boys when a Tiger comes to bat.

Who's Your Tiger?

"Oh, he's my favorite. Didn't he hit a grand slam that one game, Dad? What's his name?"

"Yes, Sean, he did. His name is Craig Monroe."

"He strikes out a lot, doesn't he Dad? What's his name?"

"Sean, that's Pudge Rodriguez. He's our catcher."

The Tigers have been all around great fun. We all have our favorites. Jen is ga-ga over Magglio Ordonez and, according to her, 41-year-old southpaw Kenny Rogers is the new hottie in female circles.

Shamus likes the entire team. Sean also likes Sean Casey (same first name). I like Curtis Granderson.

Tripping Down Memory Lane

I was a little younger than Shamus and Sean when the Tigers played the St. Louis Cardinals for the World Series title in 1968. I don't remember seeing any games in person or on TV, nor do I recall listening to them on the radio. Heck, I don't even remember being cognizant of the fact they were in the big series -- but, I do remember the players. I do remember my friends pushing me on one of their bikes, telling me to peddle faster, sit up straight, and when I should have been thinking about learning how to ride a two-wheeler, instead I was thinking that Denny McClain was "the best pitcher." I crashed the bike.

Stormin' Norman Cash was/is my favorite all-time Detroit Tiger. I felt sad when he died after walking out onto a dock in his cowboy boots, slipping and drowning in Lake Superior in the mid 1980s.

I remember when Cash was announcing Tiger games on ON-TV. He was recalling a time he and his son went fishing in a row boat. Said he, "I told my son, 'Stroke, stroke!' He said, 'I am, Dad. I am.' And I said, 'No, I'm having a heart attack!'"

Hopefully, Shamus and Sean will have a favorite Tiger from their youth to share with their children.

I recently went downstairs and retrieved the old LP (that's long playing) record, released by the National Bank of Detroit after the '68 season. It's narrated by Ernie Harwell, recounting their season, including a song by Artie Fields, "Go Get 'Em Tigers."

Even though the boys can't hear it (we don't have a record player anymore, just compact disc player), it is proudly displayed on Shamus' bedroom shelves.

Bringing the family together

We all stayed up and watched the Tigers beat the New York Yankees in round one of the playoffs and the celebration at Comerica Park afterwards. The boys got to stay up way past their bedtime, so I think they are grateful for the Tigers in a way only youngsters can truly be thankful.

We're a pretty close family to begin with, but during the World Series, we're even closer. We all wear our baseball caps with the Old English D, sit on the couch, eat chips and drink Vernors.

Shamus even found Granddad Rush's umpire pitch counter and has been keeping track of the balls, strikes and outs. When Granddad Rush got too old to play sports (and bear listening to Grandma Rush harass him when he limped home), he stayed in the action by umpiring. Granddad Rush died in 1967, so the pitch counter is at least 40 years old.

The thing is, I don't care. I am glad -- and I'm sure Granddad Rush is glad -- that his great grandsons are using it, keeping track of balls and strikes while the Tigers play World Series ball.

Ain't it funny how a stupid game can make people feel. One more thing: Go Get 'Em TIGERS!

Adding my WOWs to the Tigers

Nothing has excited, thrilled and animated our State like the Detroit Tigers winning the American League baseball title.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Their domination of the news is absolutely wonderful!

What war?

What political campaign?

What layoffs and buy-outs, housing slowdowns, work stoppages, orange barrels and illegal immigrants?

They're gone from news leads. The newspaper headlines wouldn't be bigger if he appeared in person.

A.L. CHAMPS!

Wow! Doesn't that sound great? (Or g-r-a-a-a-t!)

The million dollar men, Pudge Rodriguez and Magglio Ordonez, just became billion dollar men and they are worth every penny.

Detroit has had championships in other sports in recent years, the Red Wings in 2002, Pistons in 2004, The Shock in 2003 and this year, but baseball remains America's game and the Motor City Bengals are in the lead.

The Tigers went from nothing to everything in one year. Hollywood couldn't have made it better.

I give total credit to the seemingly quiet man with the slow walk to the pitcher's mound, manager Jim Leyland, with bringing this winning excitement to us.

And, I really like his comment in an after-game interview... "I wanted to be Yogi Berra, the player, not Casey Stengel, the manager."

Leyland was brought into major league baseball by the Tiger organization as a catcher.

I'm completely satisfied with the American League championship, but of course, I'll continue to watch every World Series game.

And, should they win that series, I'll be hoping and praying fans celebrate peacefully and not blemish the images Detroit has gained from the Tiger successes.

GO, TIGERS!

I've been wondering...

Does every agency in our state have a trust/slush fund like the Department of Natural Resources?

The Novi City Council accepted an $846,338 grant from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund through the Department of Natural Resources.

What are they doing putting our money in a trust fund and why were they allowed to do it? Do the Health, Agriculture and Justice departments all have such bank accounts?

Been wondering a lot lately, with the rise in Japanese carmaker Toyota's sales. If our victory over Japan in WWII was an idle victory? I believe we've been a whole lot more generous with our enemies than they would ever have been to us.

Last fall I paid $150 for a pair of shoes. They are good shoes, but I concluded that's too much to pay for something you're going to walk on. So, I bought a pair of tennis shoes for $10 at Kmart and wear them all the time, even though they have no support. Is that dumb, stupid or both?

We seem to be hearing much more these days about sexual offenses, like the number is growing rapidly. Then I saw where the population of the United States has reached 300,000,000. Maybe, just maybe, that's why there is more crime. There's just a whole lot more of us.

I've been wondering about the overnighted whole following a submarine. Every time I start a telephone conversation...

18-month old Abigail Wingman enjoys a dance riding piggy-back on the shoulders of her dad, Chase.

Instructional aide Renee Dean nearly lost her head for her haunted house role.

Halloween Fun at PKE

On the evening of Oct. 20, the staff at Pine Knob Elementary hosted a Halloween dance for students. The staff turned the school's hallways into a haunted house for the event.

Photos by Andrew DuPont

Now there's something you don't see everyday. Daniel Kinsey and Connor Mann won the most unique costume contest with their bacon and dog biscuit costumes.

What is scarier to a student? Their principal or a vampire? K.C. Leh decided to find out.

Police and Fire

Independence Township

Mon., Oct. 16 An employee of a telephone company reported that two ground copper bars worth about $1,500 each had been stolen from the tower located at Ortonville and I-75.

Tues., Oct. 17 Stolen ladder. A 16-foot extension ladder was stolen from property off Andersonville Road near Dixie Hwy.

Tues., Oct. 17 An Independence Township resident reported that a man estimated to be in his early 30s claimed he was with a cable company and needed access to the home. The residents, who did not let the man inside, said the man did not wear a uniform, and they saw no cable vehicle, but did spot an older pickup with a ladder on the side. The cable company said no employees had been sent to that address.

Wed., Oct. 18 Police were called to the 6000 block of Maple to check on a report of a woman wandering confused and disoriented through the neighborhood. After determining the woman had no place to stay and could be a danger to herself, police transported her to a local care facility.

Wed., Oct. 18 Tire theft. A resident of the Lancaster Apartments off Dixie Hwy called police when he discovered that the front tire, rim and lugnuts had been stolen from his car during the night.

Thurs., Oct. 19 A resident of the 5000 block of Greenview Road reported damage totaling an estimated $1,000 to a rented excavator. The man also complained that his roadside mailbox had twice been pulled from the ground recently, with damage totaling about $150.

Sat., Oct. 21 Police responding to a call from a restaurant on Dixie Highway and M-15 arrived to find two highly intoxicated men bleeding in the parking lot. Neither man knew what happened, or how he arrived in the parking lot.

Sun., Oct. 22 An intoxicated 16-year-old youth was arrested after crashing the car he was driving into a telephone pole on Holcomb near Washington around 4 a.m. Sunday. The youth became aggressive with police responding to the scene and was subsequently charged with several offenses, including assault and battery of a police officer.

Oct. 16 A thief entered a home on N. Main Street in Clarkston and made off with an Xbox video game system. No other items were stolen, Clarkston police said.

Robbery suspects admit guilt

BY LAURA COLVIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The husband and wife accused of robbing an Independence Township bank—while their four children sat waiting in the getaway car—pled guilty in Oakland County Circuit Court on Wednesday.

Sentencing is set for Nov. 3.

Michael Carter, 43, entered the Comerica bank inside Kroger's on Dixie Hwy and Maybee Road July 28 with a demand note and implied that he had a gun. Tellers described him as shaking and aggressive.

The couple was confronted at a nearby gas station by Clarkston Police Chief Ernest Combs just moments after fleeing the bank. They were later

Clarkston citizens in action

When Andrew Sokolnicki of Clarkston discovered vandalism last week to the cars for which he was responsible, he decided to take action.

Someone had made a hole in the Waterford Township storage lot's fence and pushed their way through. Then they used rocks to break car windshields and vandalize other vehicles.

Sokolnicki, a driver with Speedy Auto Shipping, found the damage on Wednesday, and it happened again on Thursday. He and partner Casey Preston contacted police, but they were unable to maintain surveillance of the lot. So Sokolnicki and Preston decided to stake it out themselves.

"We knew it was going to happen again, so we waited for them," Sokolnicki said. "We hid in one of the vehicles."

They only had to wait about 10 minutes when four young teenagers appeared at the fence.

"They were trying to enlarge the fence," Sokolnicki said. "We saw them and called the police." Please see State out, page 21A

Carrick said the more local Capps are a favorite of his entire family. Coming from the Chelsea area, Carrick said the Capps have become friends with him and his family over time. "They are very down to earth people with a passion for great songs and great music. Annie has this sort of Rock Star quality in her performance and Rod is once again, one of those guitar players that sets the fretboard on fire. Their songs are intense and hopeful and have a sincerity to them that displays Annie's craft for songwriting," he said.

The concert begins at 4 p.m. Coffee, soft drinks and snacks are provided, but visitors are expected to bring any other food. A $12 donation is requested to support the performing artists.

Get your daily five helpings of fruits and veggies

By Ernie Harwell

There's an old saying, "an apple a day keeps the doctor away." What it really means is to be sure to eat your fruits and vegetables.

In fact, the FDA recommends at least five servings a day to help maintain your health - apples, okra, bananas, spinach, broccoli, whatever you like.

You can have them with meals, and they make quick, healthy, easy-to-eat snacks.

They're loaded with the natural vitamins and nutrients that we all need. They can provide a quick energy boost as well as help to satisfy those "carvings" we all get every once in a while. Research also indicates they can help lower your risk for certain cancers, stroke, heart disease, high blood pressure and other conditions.

There's no doubt that fruits and vegetables pack a wallop and their effects are long lasting.

So eat that apple, and include more of your favorite fruits and veggies.

Take care of yourself before your health is lonnnnggg gone!

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and Blue Care Network, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Nine and oh no!

Wolves stumble on way to playoffs

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

After a split in the underclassmen football in Lake Orion the night prior, Clarkston Wolves fans were ready to see their undefeated varsity squad take down cross-town rival Dragons in the rubber match on Oct. 20.

Expected was a smash-up between the only two teams yet to lose in the Oakland Activities Association Division I, with Lake Orion ranked first in the state in Division I football, and the Wolves no. 3. The game that took place was a bit different, as the Dragons dominated and retained an unblemished record with a 32-8 victory.

Lake Orion stopped the Wolves' rushing game, a force for them all season, especially as of late.

"That's key, that's where it starts, our guys did a great job," Lake Orion Coach Chris Bell said.

In place, Lake Orion running back Aaron Allen was dominant from the Dragons' backfield, rushing for 136 of a team total 178 yards, on 19 carries.

"We felt we could do the job running the ball and Aaron did the job," Bell said.

"I waited and was patient, I knew something would happen...it's all on the O (offensive)-line," Allen said.

Lake Orion started the scoreboard's digits moving midway through the first quarter, after a Clarkston turnover.

On the first drive of the game, Wolves quarterback Eric Ogg fumbled the football after taking the snap. Dragons linebacker Zak Clouse recovered the ball at the Lake Orion 43-yard line. Quarterback Chris Lum found receiver David Wurst over the middle of the field for a 26-yard touchdown pass at 6:48 in the first quarter, giving the Dragons a 7-0 lead.

After the Wolves punted away their next possession, the Dragons moved the ball 77 yards in 10 plays, capped by a Cody Vettraino three-yard rush for the score with 11:26 remaining in the second quarter.

The Dragons added a Dylan Van Fossen 41-yard field goal on their next drive for a 16-0 lead.

The Wolves began to move the ball on the ensuing possession, but Joe Barnes stepped in front of Ogg's pass near midfield and made the interception, running the ball back for a touchdown. A two-point conversion gave the Dragons a 24-0 lead, which they would take into halftime.

At that point, the Dragons' shutout half seemed to drain the energy of the passionate sellout crowd. Clarkston High School expected more than 8,000 fans for the match-up of the unbeaten. Parking lots were filled to capacity and more and several hundred fans were left along the perimeter of the stadium in the standing-room only crowd.

Clarkston came out of the half with its best drive of the game, scoring on a fourth down conversion when Ogg found receiver Kevin Badgley over the middle for a 25-yard score with 9:20 left in the third quarter. Ogg found him again for the two-point conversion, putting the Wolves on the board behind Lake Orion, 24-8.

The Dragons added their final tally as the quarter came to a close, on a nine-yard rush from Vettraino, his second touchdown of the game.

Clarkston Coach Kurt Richardson said the Dragons beat the Wolves in every asset of the game.

"They were effective on everything. Their passing game was outstanding, their running game was outstanding, they're a very good football team, but we'll bounce back."

The Dragons' victory makes them 9-0 for the first season since 1989 and gives them the outright Oakland Activities Association Division I championship.

On Oct. 27, the Wolves (8-1) face the Romeo Bulldogs (7-2) at home and the Dragons will face Waterford Mott (6-3) at Lake Orion.

Athletes of the week Wolves swimmers go for seconds

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

With a sound victory over Rochester, 121-65, the Clarkston Wolves girls swim team completed its second consecutive undefeated season.

"To go undefeated, 8-0, for the second season in a row...I expected us to be successful, but to come in to (OAA playoffs) with an unblemished record, that's remarkable," said Wolves Coach Kenwyn Chock.

"Every year you get a new team, and it's a long season and you expect them to get sick. Dual meets are grueling. To be successful week in and week out is really remarkable."

Accomplishing the feat is a huge feat of its own, Chock said, but beating every team in a league where three two-loss teams are tied for the second spot is special.

Chock credits the eight seniors on the 29-member team for the role their leadership has played in the team's success.

"Your team is not going to be successful if you don't have leaders, and those eight seniors (are that)," Chock said.

Megan Bland, Jessica Colombo, Amanda Hassett, Ellie Kuita, Kelsey Merz, Rachel Napier, Michelle

Vandervoord and Ruth Wang make up the seniors on the team.

"I have the two (senior) captains and the other six really took charge from the beginning. From setting down rules and goals down to putting pictures in every underclassman's locker for motivation, all the seniors pitched in for this team."

Chock said Colombo helps keep the diving team in order.

"They're kind of separate because they are one event, but Jessie makes sure they're at the spaghetti dinners and all the social gatherings and that helps."

Chock is expecting big things from the team at the upcoming league championships at Lake Orion High School from Nov. 1-3.

The Wolves finished their second consecutive 8-0 season with a victory over Rochester.

"The sky's the limit, they're great, watch out," she said.

"They're swimming with a lot of confidence this year, so I'm looking for a good OAA meet."

Wolves cross country running for league title

Girls finish second at OAA's behind Adams

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's girls cross country runners came up second at the final Oakland Activities Association meet at Bloomer Park in Rochester Hills on Oct. 19.

The third OAA meet counted for half of the teams' overall league scores, with the other tallied at previous league meets this season.

The Wolves (90 points) finished behind Rochester Adams (56 points), the winners of the OAA. The Wolves won the league the past four seasons.

"We ran average," Coach Jamie Labrosse said. "Average doesn't win championships."

Labrosse gave credit to the Highlanders' preparation.

"Adams ran phenomenal. They had a nice plan and they followed it.

"We learned a lot yesterday. Adams showed us how to run with a plan, to pack-up and run together," he added.

Clarkston's inability to stick together was its downfall, Labrosse said.

"I don't mind if things spread apart at the last quarter-mile, but at two miles, we were all over the place."

Inexperience could have been another factor in the race. Kristen Smith was the only runner for the Wolves with league-meet experience, while Adams has nearly 15 years experience between its runners, Labrosse said.

Smith was the first finisher for the Wolves in 19:14.2, and Olivia Allen was second, finishing at 19:33.0.

Katie Vondette (19:40.6), Tiffany Kincaid (19:43.4) and Bailee Braunreuther (20:14.3) rounded out the top five for the girls.

On the boys' side of the event, the Bloomfield Hills Lahser Knights took a tight victory with a score of 91. Troy Athens (93) and Rochester (94) were right behind.

The Wolves boys runners placed ninth with 229 points.

Jeff Kuhl finished first for the Wolves with a time of 17:06.3 and Andrew Chaffee second with a 17:37.1. Forbes Dever (18:00.4), Eric Nordquist (18:24.1) and Evan Lesenthien (18:24.5) were the other top-five finishers for the boys. Chaffee, Nordquist and Lesenthien marked personal best times at the meet.

Coach Mike Taylor was proud of the team's performance.

"We're a young team. I was worried how they would respond," he said.

"They did more than just show up, they showed heart class and character...I'm glad to see these guys out competing and doing their best and not throw in the towel."

Both the boys and girls teams will go to the cross country regionals at Clintonwood Park in Independence Township on Oct. 28. The top three teams from that competition will go on to the state finals at Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn, Mich. on Nov. 3.

Taylor said the team still has a chance to qualify for the state finals despite its record.

"We are definitely a dark-dark horse, but it could happen."

Golfers wrap up season

Wolves pick up play, fall to middle of pack

Clarkston's boys golf team finished its season at the regional finals at the Flushing Valley Golf Club on Oct. 16.

The team finished in fifth place out of the 12 contestants, shooting a combined 333. Only the top three teams, Waterford Kettering (310), Grand Blanc (318), and Davison (321), qualified to move on to the state finals.

Matt Fuller carded a round of 79 to lead the Wolves. Jordan Roth shot 83, Blake Schmidt 85 and Chris Czaczyk shot an 86 to round out the team.

"We picked the wrong time to have a bad day," Clarkston Coach Mark Wiegand said.

"I don't know what caused our game not to be there.

"It's hard (to win) when all five guys are well above their averages," Wiegand added.

Wiegand knew the team's lack of playoff experience could potentially hinder their play.

The match started on Oct. 12. Due to the snowfall that day, play was suspended after the team completed two holes. The continuation of play had no effect on the Wolves' play, Wiegand said, because the weather conditions were hospitable for golf.

The coach said the team had a good season, but would like to still be playing.

"They had a nice season, we won a couple of tournaments...we played well at times and we were highly ranked," Wiegand said.

Wiegand said next year's crop of players should be a good one also. Between those coming up from the junior varsity and those on varsity who didn't see much playing time. The Wolves will lose four of its seniors, two of whom played in every match.

Yellow Jackets sting Wolves in rematch

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff
Writer

In late September, the Clarkston Wolves girls basketball team kept their undefeated season alive with a victory over then no. 1 Auburn Hills Avondale.

Since then, the Yellow Jackets recovered their pace en route to a 13-1 record and the Wolves have gone to 9-5.

Now No. 2 Avondale sent No. 7 Clarkston home with a 50-44 loss on Oct. 19, improving the Yellow Jackets' OAA record to 6-1, while the Wolves went to 3-4.

"When you drop the first game in the league, it's got to motivate you because the only way you're going to get back in the league race is beat everybody," Avondale Coach Todd Henderson said.

The Yellow Jackets led every quarter of the ballgame after jumping out to a 14-8 first quarter lead. The trio of Sade Johnson (13 points), unavailable for the first meeting due to a concussion, Keisha Hines (16 points) and Talicia Washington (12 points) was too much for the Wolves.

Chelsea Kouri scored 20 points to lead the way for the Wolves, shooting 44 percent from the floor, including four three-point baskets. The Wolves shot 38 percent as a team on the night.

Jessica Palace added eight points and Jennifer Johnston scored seven points for Clarkston.

The game was close all night, and the lead changed hands in third quarter.

Kouri pulled the game close, 42-39 with four minutes remaining in the game, with a three-pointer. She added another with 44 seconds remaining on a bank shot, to make the game 48-44.

Avondale added a pair of Washington free throws after a Samantha Carter foul down low, to make the game 50-44.

"In the second half we responded and played much better on both ends of the floor. Down with four minutes to go, it's anyone's game and Avondale stepped up and made some plays tonight," Clarkston Coach Tim Wasilk said.

Henderson said Johnson's return was the difference maker this time for the Yellow Jackets.

"We just weren't the same team without her on the floor, kids didn't step up they way we needed them to and Clarkston played very well," Henderson said.

This game was the first in a string of rematches for the Wolves. Their next game versus Pontiac Northern finished too late for this edition of The Clarkston News. The Huskies handed the Wolves their first loss of the season after the Avondale upset. Clarkston travels to West Bloomfield on Oct. 26.

Wolves fall in shootout to OAA rival in soccer district finals, 3-1

Adams' victory ends successful season

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff

The Clarkston Wolves boys soccer team got the rematch it had hoped for in the district finals of the state playoffs at Lake Orion High School on Oct. 21.

A victory in the last game of the regular season would have clinched the league title for the Wolves. Instead Rochester Adams took the game and the Oakland Activities Association division I championship with a 1-0 victory.

Head Coach Adam Bican said afterward he hoped the two would meet again in the district playoffs.

His wish was granted after the Wolves (7-3-2 OAA) defeated Troy and the Highlanders (12-4-2, 8-2-2 OAA) beat Lake Orion.

Both teams played intensely throughout the match.

Although the two teams pushed the ball back and forth, the majority of the game, there were few scoring chances for either side.

The game was not decided after two 15 minute overtime periods.

Oliver Kupe had a chance with nearly four minutes into the first extra session, after Barzin Aghamouali fed him a pass up the middle. Kupe raced past the Adams defense, but his shot was denied.

In a 0-0 deadlock, the teams headed for a shootout.

Alex Verville scored the third and decisive goal for the Highlanders in their 3-1 shootout victory.

"It was a tight game, I thought our goal keeper (Dan Withrow) won it for us," Adams Coach Juan Delgado said.

"It was a great game and they are a great team."

He said Kupe was troublesome for the Adams defense, although he did not score.

"He got in behind us three times. He's a very good player and he gave us fits all game," Delgado said.

After the contest was finished, Bican and Delgado spoke with the opposing team's players, offering congratulations.

"There's not a lot of teams that respect each other as we do," Delgado said.

"This is what we wanted, to play against Adams. We gained confidence the second time we played them," Bican said going into the match.

"They won OAA I. You want to play against the best competition and as far as we're concerned, Adams is it."

The Wolves finish the season 15-4-2 overall.

Tennis places seventh in state

Janek wins singles, Judd Coach of the Year

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the second consecutive year, the Clarkston Wolves girls tennis team headed to the state finals in Midland. And for the second year in a row, they returned with a victorious singles player. Also, for the third year, the girls made a top-ten team finish.

Nicole Janek, who captured the no. 4 singles as the second seeded freshman in 2005, finished off Amy Rothstein from West Bloomfield 6-3, 6-1 for the victory in no. 3 singles.

Wolves Coach Craig Judd said after Janek won the first set, she seized the opportunity and won the second set decisively.

"She's fierce," Judd said.

The Wolves earned 14 points at the event, tying with Troy for seventh place. Ann Arbor Huron, last year's runner up, captured the crown with 27 points, and last year's champion, Ann Arbor Pioneer, was second with 23 points.

No. 2 singles player Darylann Trout, seeded third, was eliminated in the semifinals by second seed Niki Shipman of Saline, 6-2, 6-4.

"All of our doubles teams and singles players played with great determination," Judd said.

Judd was proud of the team's finish to the season, only one point away from a tie for fifth place, the Wolves' season-long goal.

The Wolves' seeding may have been a factor in the two-day tournament, Judd said.

"That's tough. To get as many points as we did, that's remarkable," he said.

"We had a competitive first match, but many second matches were against the number one seed in the state."

Personally, Judd received the Coach of the Year Award for the team's region.

"I wasn't expecting to get coach of the year in my first year. I took it as a big honor," he said.

The team worked very hard this season, Judd said.

"They did everything that was asked of them."

Judd wished to thank Geraldine Parkison and the parents of his players for their support this season.

More letters to the editor about the senior center millage

Supporters work hard to help seniors

Dear Editor:

Over the past few weeks we have read so many wonderful letters telling us all about the great need for a new Senior Center here in Independence Township. We have heard all about the deplorable conditions at the center, the lack of handicap facilities, the leaky basement and the benefit to the Parks and Rec budget this millage would provide.

We know where the new center will be (next to the library). We know that Clarkston Schools donated the land (provided it is used for a new senior center). We know that many non-seniors will use the new facility (as they now use the old one). All of these facts are important, and I think everyone has done a great job getting them out there. I would like to tell a different story. I want to tell you about the special people behind this movement.

Every Monday night, a dedicated group of people meets at The Carriage House with one goal in mind, to get those two yes votes on Nov. 7. These meetings are important, but not as important as the incredible work that is done between meetings. First, I must recognize the work being done by the non-senior members of this movement. These are hard working folks who volunteer their time in an effort to make their township a little better. They raise funds, talk to various organizations, write letters and even do TV spots (look for the story this week on channels 10 and 20), all for the sake of our town, and for what they think is right.

Then there are the seniors. They are amazing to me. They serve as a reminder that the older members of this township are a great part of the fabric of our community. They seem to be everywhere, making copies, handing out thousands of fliers, setting up presentations, fund-raising, attending township board meetings and community events (en masse in their trademark yellow t-shirts). There is excitement in the air in our senior community and I feel privileged to be a part of it in my own small way.

Who am I? I am a behind the scenes helper. My husband, David, is very involved in this project and so am I. I am the distributor of T-shirts, the editor of letters, the answering service, the official baker of refreshments. Most importantly, I am a voter. I hope you will join me in voting yes twice on Nov. 7. Thank You.

Township hall can't be senior center

Dear Editor,

As I was reading "3 reasons against senior center" (page A20, Oct. 18 edition), I got to thinking, how would converting the township hall we have now into a senior center work?

The township hall we have is no where near adequate for a senior center. It is small in width and has more stairs than one could imagine. There are no elevators and therefore no way for the wheelchair bound to get around there.

Also, one of big things the current senior center does is make lunch for those who come. The current township hall has no kitchen. How would they continue that great service? That service is vital for the participants of the programs.

My father, Dave Wagner (Independence Township supervisor), has worked very hard to see this plan start to come alive. One of his big campaign promises was to get a new senior center started. It's nice to see someone in this town keep their word. The township is in desperate need of a new senior center and I hope that this millage would pass easily. I know I will be voting for it.

Laura Wagner
Independence Township

Help seniors by voting 'yes'

Dear Editor:

I've been in a fair number of senior center buildings over the years, both in and out of Michigan, but mostly in Oakland County or nearby.

No one is like the other and they have ranged from super spectacular state-of-the-art, to former elementary schools or renovated homes.

When visiting such facilities, I tend to focus on the physical structure and setting first, and then on the people and the activities they are involved in.

Seniors tend to be very serious about their individual and collective activities and they know how to have a good time. They are also very friendly, and warmly welcome fellow seniors such as myself.

Physical elements are extremely important in order to attract and maintain the involvement of older citizens. Paramount is a convenient location with adequate parking, an attractive setting, a ground level building with barrier-free access, well designed and comfortable rooms, and other interior features are very important.

The present Independence Township Senior Activity Center in Clintonwood Park is normally filled with older adults enjoying each other's company while eating lunch, playing cards or table games, doing crafts or just visiting in the old farm house.

Next door, in the small carriage house, others gather for exercise, band practice, travel shows, meetings and other special events.

Unfortunately there are severe limitations in what an outstanding staff and volunteers can do to serve the needs of the seniors who would like to become involved.

Our center is too old, too small, with not enough meetings and activity rooms. Utilities need upgrading and even with major renovations, the old farm house would not meet the needs of increasing numbers of township seniors.

In addition, parking space is severely limited, forcing many with limited mobility to park away from the center.

The good news is township citizens have the opportunity to "vote yes twice" on Nov. 7 for a new larger, well-designed Senior/Adult Activity Center on land provided by the Clarkston Community Schools next to the township library.

Your two "yes" votes will build a modern center, centrally located, provide for maintenance, allow for expansion of senior programs and provide for physically and mentally challenged adults not currently being served.

Trustees endorse senior center

The Independence Township Board of Trustees signed a statement in support of the new senior/adult activity center. Citizens for Seniors representatives presented the statement to the board at its Oct. 17 regular meeting. According to the statement:

"The members of the Independence Township Board recognize that it has been a long standing goal of our community to replace our obsolete Senior Center. Because of this critical and urgent need, we fully endorse and support the current ballot proposals calling for both a construction bond to build a new facility and an operating millage sufficient to operate the new center and its programs — we hope all the citizens of Independence Township will rally to support this critical effort and vote for the Senior Center proposals."

Signed are Wagner, Clerk Shelagh Vanderveen, Treasurer Jim Wenger, and Trustees Larry Rosso, Dan Travis, Dan Kelly, and Charles Dunn.

Fatal explosion in Ind. Twp.

Independence Township fire and police personnel respond to an early morning call on Oct. 24. They arrived to find a home in the 3800 block of Everest engulfed in flames. A 63-year-old man was found dead inside the home, said Lieutenant Dale LaBair, commander of the OCSD Independence substation. No one else was in the house at the time. The township's Fire Investigation Unit, crime lab and sheriff's department detectives all arrived on the scene. The investigation is ongoing. Look for more info in next week's Clarkston News. Sentencing set for Nov. 3 connected to two other bank robberies in Waterford.

Michael Carter was charged with two counts of bank robbery, one count of armed robbery and one count habitual offender. He pled no contest to all three robbery charges, and guilty to the charge of habitual offender.
"If I'd been in Mr. Carter's shoes I'd have been very worried if this case went to trial," said Paul Walton, assistant Oakland County prosecutor. "I'd have been worried that if the jury heard about how I'd committed these bank robberies with my four step-children waiting out in the car that the court would exceed the sentencing guidelines."
Carter confessed in court that he held up the bank to support a heroin addiction.
Aretha Carter, 31, who waited in the car with her four children while her husband went inside, was charged with two counts of bank robbery, and pled guilty to both. A third charge of armed robbery was dropped by the prosecutor's office in exchange for the plea.
"Mrs. Carter indicated that she drove her husband to the bank, and that she knew he was going to commit robbery," said Walton.
"But she did not know how he was planning to do it."
Carter had originally claimed that she hadn't known her husband was planning to rob the bank, but later changed her story and said she only went along because she feared for her life.
"We had a statement from her that she did this because she was afraid of her husband, and that he had threatened to beat her and take the kids away if she didn't go along," said the couple's attorney, Arnold Weiner. "It was a question of whether or not the jury would believe it."
The four children were placed in the care of a relative when the Carters were jailed. A maternal aunt is now seeking custody of the children.

hole," Sokolnicki said.
Just as they were calling police, another customer at the lot drove up, and the teens started to run away.
"We jumped out and chased them into the subdivision," Sokolnicki said. "When they saw how mad I was, they gave up."
They held on to them until police arrived. Officers questioned the teens, who denied that they were going to vandalize any vehicles, then released them to their parents.
Peg Sokolnicki, Andrew's mother, said she was worried about her son chasing car vandals, who might have been armed, but was proud of him for doing so.
"He's a very caring kid," she said.

Halloween motorcycle ride to benefit children

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News
Staff Writer

Most children love trick or treating, but for some, traveling through the neighborhood collecting sweet candies and snacks is not an option.

The second annual Mamon Halloween Ride for Children, planned for Oct. 28, is aimed at helping children with special needs enjoy Halloween.

Kaz Mamon, founder of this motorcycle ride and others is hoping for more than 100 children to attend the event, scheduled from 11 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. in Depot Park.

"If we can draw 200 kids, great. How do you say no to a kid," Mamon said.

Halloween is the second biggest holiday of the year to children, he added.

Children will be served lunch at 11:30 a.m. and when the riders arrive at the park, the kids will be given not only candy, but activity books, puzzles and dictionaries.

"Picture a big, burly biker wearing a 'Blue's Clues' outfit," Mamon said.

"It's a neat thing to see that many people come together for the kids."

Registration for riders will begin at 10:30 a.m. and there will be a $10 cost for participants. Riders are being asked to dress in costume and bring education supplies for the children. The 2005 ride had 123 riders involved, and Mamon said he is hoping for another similar showing this year.

The ride will begin at noon when the bikers will leave from the Ortonville village offices and make their way to the park.

Mamon said the city has been very welcoming to his idea, with the use of the park and offers of police assistance with traffic during the ride.

"People have opened their arms within the city," he said.

"That's a good thing to feel, that a community wants us back."

Mamon said the idea for the motorcycle rides came while he was visiting the child of a friend at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor. During his visit, he wondered how a child's education could continue if they had to stay in a hospital.

The first motorcycle ride Mamon ever organized was in 1997, a trip down US-23 to a University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. Nearly 11,000 people came to support the cause and they raised more than $15,000 to help educate children who were in hospitals.

Mamon said he likes to organize two or three events annually for special needs children and in June he organized a free day at the Detroit Zoo.

Terry Adams of Lapeer, a friend of Mamon for nearly 10 years, assisted with the Zoo trip.

She will help serve lunch in the park for this event.

"It really gives you a good warm feeling inside," she said.

"Everyone is so friendly and nice and this is for a special cause."

Although she has known Mamon for several years, she never thought to ask him if he could use some help with an event.

"As long as he'll let me help, I'll work them," Adams said.

Mamon insists he would not refuse any help or donations offered for the ride.

"If you don't ride and want to help out, call me, we don't say no to anybody.

Mamon can be reached at (586) 995-3500. For registration for children and riders, visit <http://www.mamonride.com>.

Local runner goes the distance

BY LAURA COLVIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Don Balkwell remembers running the two miles to his grandmother's house in Walled Lake when he was a boy, then running back home again.

It was the beginning of a lifelong passion.

This past summer, just months before his 60th birthday, Don discovered the Wolf Pack, a runners' group that meets in Clarkston's Depot Park every Saturday — year-round — to run long distances together. The group hoofs across 10 miles of pavement every week, give or take, talking, laughing, encouraging one another to push on, and usually returning to the park in under two hours.

He didn't know when he joined, but within the Wolf Pack Don would find inspiration and support for a big event he had planned.

Don loped 40 straight miles the day he turned 40, and 48 miles when he turned 48. With his 60th birthday approaching rapidly, Don decided to go for it again. He would attempt to commemorate his 60th birthday with a 60-mile run.

"It was a personal thing," he said. "I knew I could do it 10 years ago and I wondered, 'can I do it again?'"

The love of running started with the sprints through Walled Lake to his grandma's and back.

Don's two older brothers ran to condition for the high school wrestling season, so naturally, Don wanted to run too. He landed a spot on his school's cross country team. After high school he helped carry the Oakland Community College cross country team through regional and national events, and even made the all-American team.

But it was a turbulent time in American history, and in 1966 Don received notice that his student deferment had been cancelled and he was off to duty in the Vietnam War.

He served first as a mail clerk, then as the chief clerk for his company. With such a job, it was easy to get news, and it wasn't long before Don heard that the U.S. Agency for International Development was looking for volunteers to train Vietnamese athletes to compete in the Southeast Asia Peninsular Games.

"I wrote myself up a nice letter of recommendation and left it for the commander to sign," he said. "I could hear him yelling all the way down the hallway."

Don remembers how the man chuckled out a response to his request.

"He said 'I'm going to sign this, but only because I know you're not going to get it. They're looking for jocks."

A few weeks later Don was on temporary duty in an air-conditioned Saigon hotel working two-hour days with Vietnamese distance runners.

Once he'd served the standard tour, Don came home, went back to school and eventually landed a position at the General Motors Powertrain headquarters, where he now works as a build floor analyst. That's the guy, he explains, who works on experimental engines.

But he never really stopped running, not for long.

So on Oct. 6, his 60th birthday, Don found himself driving toward Indian Springs Metro Park in White Lake Township, getting ready for his longest run ever.

He's estimated the run would take 10-12 hours, and he was hoping for some company while he circled the park's eight-mile loop.

During the early miles, he ran a bit with a woman who showed up to train for a marathon. Then he was alone again.

But after Don had run through 16 miles, a fellow Wolf Pack runner showed up to jog alongside him.

"It was remarkable to me that he was even attempting this," said Maureen Tippen, a long distance runner and nursing instructor at The University of Michigan Flint campus. "I ran a couple of laps with him, and he was unbelievable, talking and laughing and joking along the way."

They finished the 34 mile together, and when she left, Tippen remembers her friend laughing that he only had to run a marathon — 26.2 more miles — and he would be finished.

Alone again, Don's mind flooded with doubt as the miles dragged on.

"I was stiffening up pretty bad," he said. "It was more shuffling than running and I started to wonder if I'd have to walk, and even if I walked, would I make it?"

The miles between 45 and 55 were the worst, he said. An awful struggle.

With one lap to go, Don got a lift. A 26-year-old man who had run with Don and Maureen earlier came back to make sure he was okay.

"That gave me a lift," he said. "I knew I was going to make it and I started feeling really good."

And he did make it. Sixty miles, almost 12 hours, stopping only briefly for restroom breaks and hydration — he drank almost two gallons of sports drink, and ate two bananas during the course of the day.

At the end of the run, Don's wife showed up to take him out for a birthday dinner.

Will he do it again at his next milestone birthday?

"Seventy? I don't know. It's got to be more of a challenge than 60. But maybe. Who knows?"

Religion

Halloween's Christian connection

When Christianity spread in Europe, Christians often gave new Christian meaning to old pagan customs. Christmas is an example. The Romans celebrated the equinox with a festival of lights, to mark the end of the long dark nights and the return of more day light. Christians began celebrating at that time the coming of Jesus into the world. Jesus is the light that dispels darkness and evil like the longer days after the equinox dispel the long nights. Christmas lights on every street in December are the Christian festival of lights now, a sign now of the light of Christ.

Halloween comes from "All Hallow's Eve" - the eve of All Hallow's or All Saints Day. Hallow means holy. It is the same word that we find for holy in the Lord's Prayer when we pray, "hallowed be thy name." November 1 is All Saints Day in the Roman Catholic and Anglican calendar and November 2 is All Souls Day, the day when we remember the dead.

In my home country, Germany, we called October 31 Walburgisnacht. It was the night when the pagan spirits like goblins, witches and ghosts are loose until St. Walburgis banishes them at midnight. At midnight the saints "take over" and All Saints Day begins. St. Walburgis, like many other saints, brought Christianity to many villages, helping to dispel the darkness of magic and paganism with the light of faith.

In some areas of Europe people would dress up the night before All Saints Day and parade through town.

Spiritual Matters

Frieda Arpoika

Soon others would dress up as goblins and devils and witches to taunt them, symbolically trying to turn them from their Christian ways. In the end however, the saints would win out, as All Saints Day began and gone were the devils and ghosts. The tradition celebrated the victory of good over evil, of faith over dark forces, of Christianity over paganism.

In Mexico the Day of the Dead from local Native American tradition coincides with All Souls Day. Blending Catholic tradition about the souls of the dead with old local customs, Mexicans decorate their homes with playful imagery of human skeletons on the Day of the Dead, leave food for wandering spirits and tend graves of the deceased.

Halloween, like Mardi Gras, is a time when we can laugh at our dark side, yet trusting in the promise that good will overcome evil when the light of the new day dawns. Just as the saints, both living and in heaven, overcome the dark forces in their lives. It is only when we lose sight of our faith in the victory of good over evil that All Hallow's Eve becomes "hollow" rather than "hallow" (holy).

Maybe the old tale of Jack O'Lantern tells it all. He tried to trick both God and Satan and ended up wandering lost in the dark forever. He could have repented and been saved rather than delaying and delaying a change of heart. He thought he could trick everyone. In the end neither heaven nor hell has a place for him and he ends up wandering in the dark with only the light of a burning coal in his pumpkin. There is a Halloween moral in that story.

Frieda Arpoika is the director of faith formation at St. Daniel Catholic Community.

Metro area restaurant moving into Clarkston

Hamlin Pub to bring 'Cheers' feel to area

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With three locations already established, one in Lake Orion, the Hamlin Pub is bringing its atmosphere to the Clarkston area.

Hamlin Pub will occupy the space vacated by La Villa Italiano Ristorante at 6397 Sashabaw Road and is hoping to be open for business the first week of November.

Crews began making renovations in June to remodel the 4,000-square-foot building. The whole building has been stripped apart and is being remodeled, area General Manager Jim Tavano said.

The restaurant will be modeled after the existing locations, he added.

Owner John DeAngelis said the company is in an expansion phase with more locations planned for cities such as Novi, Canton and Ann Arbor.

The company's original location in Rochester Hills has been in business for 14 years and the Lake Orion location for 10 years. The company also opened a store in Shelby Township in 2005.

The perimeter of the building will feature 15 32" high-definition plasma screen televisions, four 32" flat-screen TVs and three big screen TVs on the outer walls of the restaurant.

The restaurant and bar will have a maximum occupancy of 132. Of those seats, 120 will be dedicated to the dining room. The tables will be "signature pub tables" with seating for 8-10 people. Both the tables and the bar will be made of oak.

The floor of the room will be tiled and carpeted, and the inside of the walls will be finished with stone.

A decorator is expected to be in one of the latter stages in the remodel, hoisting nostalgic and local photos along the pub walls.

The menu will be similar to the other locations, including pizza, an item hot available at all stores. The menu items are from a pub menu, Tavano said, ranging from chicken and dumpling stew to fish and chips. There will also be daily food specials created by the kitchen manager.

The pub will also have happy hour from 2-6 p.m. Monday through Friday, with both beer and mixed drink specials.

Tavano said the service that guests receive at the Hamlin Pub makes a significant difference in return business for the restaurant.

"Our staff is what sets us apart. The TV and live entertainment are great, but if you don't have the staff, people won't come back," he said.

"We like to give it that 'Cheers' feel."

The restaurant will feature live entertainment Tuesday through Saturday, with acts ranging from a one-man acoustic show to a full-band.

Sunday night's entertainment will be ... anyone, as the pub opens its microphones and music catalogues for karaoke.

The laid-back appeal of the restaurant should make the restaurant attractive to people from the area, DeAngelis said.

"It's not a destination, it's in your neighborhood. We'll give you everything you would get in going to a destination (restaurant)."

Both Tavano and DeAngelis agreed the Clarkston area is a good spot to expand Hamlin Pub into.

"We're excited about the area because it's growing, it fits our niche. From what I've seen, there isn't a pub like us around here," Tavano said.

"They're (the Clarkston area) in a growth pattern and we want to grow with them," DeAngelis said.

The Clarkston area has a good number of young families, a demographic the pub would like to reach.

"We know where we want to be. Clarkston is the utopia of what we want to be."

The Hamlin Pub is planned to be open every day of the week from 11 a.m. until 2 a.m., with the exception of Sundays, when it will open at noon.
