City approves feasibility study

BY LAURA COLVIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's time to step back and take a serious look at shared services, fees and the ways those fees are calculated.

That was the decision of the Clarkston City Council who voted 5-1 Monday to move ahead with a feasibility study proposed in April by Independence Township Trustee Dan Kelly.

Councilman Dan Colombo was absent from Monday's meeting, and Mayor Sharron Catallo cast the opposing vote.

"I just don't see what a huge change it would make," she said. "We're still going to have the same number of shared services."

But other members agreed that the outcome could help spur needed changes.

"We all agreed the current structure we're using for shared services is not fair," said Councilman Cory Johnston. "They may think they need more, we of course want less. But we all understand that basing it on a millage or a 10 percent fee doesn't reflect the cost, it changes as the tax base changes. It's a mess for them, it's a mess for us."

All references to consolidation were removed from the application by township trustees when members of Clarkston's council said such language was a deal-breaker.

The study will focus collecting data that will be used to improve the current service and fee arrangement.

"One of the arguments we had was that they're charging us for service based on millage, and we don't get a vote on that," said Council member Kristy Ottman. "They get to take the vote to their people, but we use the services much less (per capita)."

Members of the council had hoped to include Springfield Township and the Clarkston Community Schools in the study, but, said Ottman, the county had time constraints that would not permit such an expansion on the current application.

Fun on the Fourth of July

Thousands lined the streets in downtown Clarkston to watch dozens of floats, trucks, bands, and performers march by in the Fourth of July parade.

At left, a young parade participant shares a handful of candy with those on the sidelines.

Rain fell early Wednesday, July 4, but held off for the parade itself.

Neighbors join together

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

As Andy and Lee Impola remain hospitalized, friends, neighbors, and coworkers got together Friday to sort through memories and feelings of the July 4 explosion.

The brothers were seriously burned in an explosion and fire at Lancaster Lakes apartments, related to the construction of illegal fireworks, police said.

"Andy's my friend - he means a lot to me," said Elaine Hanes, co-worker who organized a candlelight vigil Friday evening.

"He means a lot to me," Hanes said. Hanes said she resigned her landscaping job in response to the incident.

"I don't want to be associated with an irresponsible company," she said. "They have a duty to make this a safe environment for residents. They didn't."

Andy Impola has been with Lancaster Lakes' maintenance department for two years, said Leslie Chase, regional director for Lancaster Lakes.

Fireworks of any kind are not permitted on the apartment property, Chase said.

"Our biggest concern is him - the rest will go through the process," she said. "A garage can be rebuilt - our thoughts and prayers are with them."

Neighbors gathered to pray, sign posters with get-well messages, and share their thoughts and experiences of the Fourth of July fire.

"I thought it was a firework," said resident Ashley Flowers, who lives at Lancaster Lakes with her grandmother, Joyce Catanzarite

"I thought it was going to spread, like a domino effect," Flowers said. "I went running back to my apartment to get my son."

"I saw a major fire, explosion after explosion," Catanzarite said.

Andy Impola was set to enter the Air Force Reserves on July 21, to work maintenance for a flight squadron, Hanes said.

"He told me that duty called - his family has a military background," she said.

Lancaster Lakes resident Daniel Dinkins said he was sitting at his kitchen table when the maintenance shed about 40 feet away exploded.

"When it went off, the blinds blew in, 'whoosh,'" said Dinkins, who lived at Lancaster Lakes for about seven months. "It sounded like a stick of dynamite going off in the dumpster."

He ran outside and helped the brothers escape from the fire.

"I only slept 35 minutes last night. It was all I could see. Unbelievable," he said.

About 50 residents converged on the scene immediately following the explosion. Some took photos with cell phones and cameras, but many rushed to bring blankets and towels to help extinguish the flames on Andy's clothes and body.

"There were fireworks in the shed - bottle rockets were going off," he said.

"Thank God kids weren't riding their bikes," Catanzarite said.

Moving in this past May, this was their first Fourth of July at the apartments.

"It was very difficult," Catanzarite said.

"We didn't want to go see any fireworks," Flowers said.

Recipe for disaster

Explosive plans found in home

BY LAURA COLVIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Police found recipes for explosives written on scrap paper and notepads in the apartment - and memberships to pyromania clubs in the truck - of a 31-year-old man seriously injured in last week's explosion at an Independence Township apartment complex.

Andy Impola, 31, and Lee Marvin Impola, 32, were reportedly inside a maintenance building at Lancaster Lakes Apartments off Dixie Highway, just south of M-15 when the blast occurred around 4 p.m., Wed., July 4.

Both men, who authorities believe were making homemade fireworks, remain hospitalized.

One witness told police he heard a loud explosion, ran out of his apartment, and helped drag one of the Impolas, who are brothers, out of the building.

The man said the sound of the blast reminded him of an ordinance detonation from his military days.

Another large explosion, followed by several smaller blasts, ripped through the air moments later.

Police believe the men may have been taking orders for the explosives.

"It's easy to make things that go bang," said Lt. Dale LaBair, commander of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Independence Township substation, who was on the scene shortly after the explosion. "But those who manufacture these devices legitimately do it under the strictest conditions. Anyone else is always pushing their luck."

An employee of the apartment complex told investigators the building contained gasoline, propane tanks, paint, oils, an oxy-acetylene torch with tank, and weed killer.

"It's just plain lucky no innocent people got hurt," said LaBair. "There's a lot of pedestrian traffic in that area, kids on bikes. It was just lucky."

Andy Impola is employed as a Lancaster Lakes maintenance person, and also lives in the complex.

Lee Impola is a Burton resident.

Local 4Her wins state honors

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Chelsea Rawe of Springfield Township is keeping busy this week at the Oakland County Fair.

A member of 4H SCRUBS, Students Committed to Research and Understanding of Biological Science, 4H K-9 Tail Waggers, and 4H Livestock Club, she has several projects on exhibit at the same time: a quiz bowl game, with a hour's worth of science questions, another featuring her trained therapy dog, Chloe, and others demonstrating her skills with growing cherry tomatoes, knitting, and refinishing a 100-year-old table.

"It's kind of crazy, but a lot of fun," Rawe said.

The daughter of Steve and Jean Rawe, Chelsea has been with 4H for five years. During that time, she has learned veterinary skills such as x-rays, genetics, blood typing, rehabilitation, vaccinations and sutures. She put her medical skills to use a couple years ago when a neighbor's chicken was injured.

"I sutured the chicken - it's still alive today," said Chelsea, proudly. "We needed an anesthetic, so I used Baby Orajel."

In recognition of her work, she was presented the first-place Veterinary Science Award, one of the highest honors in 4H, at the June 21 State Awards Celebration.

"It's quite an honor," said Sue Stapleton, 4H regional coordinator for Oakland County.

"She really worked hard for that."

To earn the award, she spent two years to create a project book, listing and explaining years of projects in science, sewing, cooking, crafts, and photography, community service, and leadership experiences.

"Everything related to 4H," Chelsea said. "I've always wanted to be a vet or a doctor. Science always caught my interest."

"It's quite a complicated process, like a college process," said Jean.

"It's a great program for kids. They get all these experiences early. It helps them sort through their career paths."

The project, which also earned Chelsea a $2,000 college scholarship to Michigan State University, will help her when applying to colleges. Medical students serving as expert advisors for 4H always recommend keeping extensive records, Jean said.

"Advice is always, 'write everything down,'" she said.

One of the most interesting learning experiences for Chelsea was the dissection of a sheep's brain - sparking an interest in neurosurgery.

"It really interested me," Chelsea said. "What's amazing is what we don't know about the brain."

The county fair runs through July 15 at Springfield Oaks County Park, 12451 Andersonville Road. For more information, call 248-634-8830.

Music brings meaning, joy to singer Beth Stalker

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Beth Stalker took the stage at Friday's Concert in the Park.

"I love to sing. It's a joy," said Stalker, who started singing at 3 years old. She released her first album four years ago, entitled "Jesus Loves Me." She was known as "Little Liz" when she was younger.

"My first name was Elizabeth, but I got teased a lot about my name growing up," said Stalker. "So after junior high, I changed my name to Beth."

Stalker continued to sing throughout high school in musicals and choir; she also formed a Christian folk band with a couple of friends. After high school, the band was unable to continue, and it was at this point that Stalker was introduced to Jazz and became a lover of Jazz vocal styles.

Some of Stalker's musical inspirations include: Eva Cassidy, Patty Griffin, Ella Fitzgerald and Jennifer Knapp.

In 2004 Beth released her album "Here with You." The recording took more than a year, she said.

"It was originally just supposed to be a demo cd," she said. "However, during the process of writing and recording we (my songwriter Allan Goetz and I) just kept writing."

In return the "demo" turned into an 11 track disc, which also landed Stalker 6 awards at the Detroit Music Awards in April 2005.

"It's awesome when we won the awards," said Stalker I didn't expect to take home any, winning six out of seven awards was definitely one of the best nights for sure."

In 2005 Stalker also released her first Jazz album that she recorded with the Cliff Monear Trio entitled: "Hallelujah I Love Him So."

Stalker who used to play quite a bit at the Clarkston Café said that she always enjoys coming to Clarkston to perform.

"Clarkston Café is probably the best group of people we've performed for, they are very supportive, we made a lot of friends from there," Stalker noted. "Clarkston is the best crowd we've ever played, for sure."

Stalker always enjoys performing concerts.

"The biggest thing is I have people that are paying attention, an engaged audience that cares about what you're doing. Having my friends and family there supporting me, and having a live band behind me is always exciting, instead of just me and my guitar," said Stalker.

Her favorite songs to perform for concerts include "Black Horse and The Cherry Tree" by KT Tunstall, and the love song that she wrote for her husband Noel "I can't imagine."

"I always make him come up on stage when I sing it," she noted.

When not in the studio or on stage Stalker enjoys spending time with her 1 year old daughter, Chloe. She also enjoys surfing the internet and drawing.

"If I was not into music I would have done something in the arts," said Stalker. "I love to paint and to draw."

Stalker is currently in the process of writing new songs for a new album. It will be a Christian Rock album similar to her "Here with You" album. All of her songs have a spiritual context to them, and they all deal with life's situations.

"I write about the feelings that I went through to get to that point," Stalker said.

Keiser's Role

A column by Trevor Keiser

Value of Life

Every single day millions of babies are born, and millions of people die. Rather it be car accidents, fatal diseases, murder, or even suicides.

Due to circumstances that occurred this past weekend, this hit a little closer to home than I would like.

Because of the situation that took place, I gave much thought to this life that we have.

Once again, I am reminded that life is a precious gift from God and it should never be taken for granted.

There are friends, family, and people we don't know who are reaching out for a bit of hope, but often times we become consumed in our own lives that we don't take the time to help someone else out.

Obviously we cannot always stop death, but sometimes we can prolong it or at least make it a little easier for the one on their death bed.

It's amazing the joy that a simple card, or bouquet of flowers can bring that cancer patient in the hospital.

Or how a hug and a shoulder to cry on can relieve some of the pressure for the parents whose son was killed by a drunk driver.

How about having compassion for the one who sits alone at lunch time.

Life can be hard and full of trials, but those trials can be lifted slightly if we are willing to go a little farther to help someone else in need. If we are not afraid to get a little dirt on us.

Having a true friend or family member to call upon when life seems to be too overwhelming is always a blessing.

I am thankful to all those who have reached out their hands to help me, and all those who lifted me up on prayer when I needed a little extra strength to make it through my day or week.

I am asking you to please think about the preciousness of life that we have been given, and to take the time to grab hold of others in need.

Giving hope to someone else's life is one of the greatest blessings we can receive. Until next time. God bless!

Don't abuse tax surplus

Dear Editor,

It's painfully obvious that tax relief for Independence Township taxpayers will not be coming from the township administrators now holding office.

Thanks to their decisions, our property tax bills are now guaranteed to increase well into the future.

As a taxpayer, I have to wonder what my property tax bill would be if the township was collecting only the taxes needed to support essential public services and not collecting tax surpluses to build projects that we have never supported.

Like it or not, we do not want to fund a new township hall or a new senior center with OUR property tax dollars.

Why is that so hard for this administration to understand?

If township officials ever hope to gain an ounce of respect from the people who pay their wages, they should reconsider funding these projects with our surplus tax dollars.

Returning surplus tax dollars to taxpayers with its sincere apologies would be a good place to start.

Because of the actions of the board, passage of any future millage is already in jeopardy.

Stealing from taxpayers to fund these projects is another example of why taxpayers do not trust or support proposals brought forth by Independence Township officials.

Mike Powell

Letters to the editor

Thanks for helping teacher

Dear Editor,

We are very fortunate to live in a community where local businesses truly support educators and community members.

Recently, our staff was informed that two of our beloved teachers, Barb Huey and Karen Gonzales, were transferred to another building. We wanted to give them a send off befitting all of the years of service, talents, and extra effort they have given the students and staff at North Sashabaw Elementary.

Mesquite Creek/Andiamos, a local business, assisted us in accomplishing this goal.

We would like to thank Tony and the staff at Mesquite Creek/Andiamos for preparing a wonderful luncheon for our send-off.

They graciously gave us a "teacher friendly" price and the use of their elegant banquet room. Both the service and food were wonderful.

Thanks again to Tony and Mesquite Creek for helping us to honor two dedicated teachers.

Teachers, administrators, read what they're saying

I was starting to worry and fret about you reader-types out there. Parents, teachers, administrators, school board members -- nobody wanted to get involved in an educational dialogue, once opened by a local teacher. Which, I guess, is why she wrote in the first place.

Time passed and some did write. I have yet to hear from school administrators, board members or students.

I hope you will get involved. Following are parts from two letters I received. I will post full length letters (minus names), plus others in the on-line version for Don't Rush Me.

So, as promised last week, here is Teacher Dialogue, Part 3.

Don,

I am a teacher in the (blank) school district. Although I didn't write the letter you published, I and many other teachers in many districts in the area could easily write a similar letter. Whomever wrote it described what I see every day, every hour in the high school I teach. Frequently when there is a problem we see an angry parent arrive inquiring as to who was responsible and what did the teacher do that precipitated the situation. That kind of parent rarely holds their own child accountable for anything, it's always somebody else's fault.

Generally the building administration backs that parent and often makes the teacher the fall guy, citing poor class control and management of that student and the situation. The parent generally negotiates with the administrator for a lesser punishment, and sometimes there is little done to the student after the parent is done "negotiating".

I see children come dressed poorly, exposing way too much, and when challenged will often launch into a tirade and become more disruptive. An example says it all. Several years ago I stopped a girl in the hall wearing a numbered jersey with the caption "Porn Star" above the number. I asked her if her mother had seen it when she left for school and she replied, "My mother bought it for me." She had a fit when told she would have to go home and change.

I could go on and on, but the point is that letter you published describes the situation in almost every high school in almost every district. I have talked to many colleagues across the area and they all have similar tales to tell. I have an opinion that this will prevail until

Don't Rush Me

a column by Don Rush

strong building leadership is present but most schools lack such leadership.

As for the teacher who wrote it, it may be she/he fears retribution from building or district leaders for voicing such an opinion/observation about the "clients."

* * *

Don, I was beyond amused reading your column on teachers and education. As a parent, I can tell you that the teacher of today is not nearly as good as the teacher of yesterday. It's not all their fault, because many of the ways they had back then to keep order in the classroom have pretty much been taken away. Administrators fold like a deck of cards anytime a parent gets upset about how little Johnny was disciplined... no matter what little Johnny did to deserve it.

From what I can see, teachers today are ill prepared and unmotivated. My kids have had teachers who pretty much sit at their desks and play games on the computer or chat on a cell after passing out an assignment. I've had the experience of a teacher complaining IN FRONT OF a class that she didn't WANT to teach that particular class next year. What's a kid supposed to make of that? Or a parent?

I'll admit that there are many parents who do not send their child properly outfitted or prepared and really don't care. But teachers today are also very poor examples, they have a horrible work ethic and dress terribly.

And I'd have to say, administrators are overpaid layabouts. I know that for sure, because I worked for (blank) public school district and got to attend many of their meetings. All of these principals and superintendents pulling up in BMWs, Caddys, Mercedes... having a nice breakfast spread of smoked salmon and cream cheese, playfully chatting about their latest acquisitions while the meeting is in progress about some issue that SHOULD be of importance.

And afterward?

Not back to the office, but to the golf course or shopping or the salon! I went to the National Title I conference, a few years back, a place to learn all kinds of things about teaching and funding Title I schools. I saw teachers and administrators there attending FEW if ANY sessions because they were too busy sight-seeing and boozing it up at the MANY parties available to them from hawkers of school products and services."

An old-timer remembers playing "King of the Hill" on a pile of gravel left on a vacant construction site. "When we got hurt, Mom pulled out a bottle of 48-cent Mercurochrome and then we got our butts spanked."

Now it's a trip to the emergency room, followed by a 10-day dose of an $89 bottle of antibiotics, and then Mom calls the attorney to sue the contractor for leaving a horribly vicious pile of gravel where it was such an invitation to disaster.

Competitive eating isn't a sport. It's one of the seven deadly sins. However, ESPN recently televised the U. S. Open of Competitive Eating, perhaps because watching those athletes at the poker table was just too exciting.

What's next, competitive wind breaking? Oh, wait, they're already doing that on way too many shows.

Even in the newspaper business, awkward putting-together-of-words occurs. They are especially noticeable in headlines. They're so big. Like:

"Juvenile Court to Try Shooting Defendant" (See if that works better than a fair trial.)

"New Study of Obesity Looks for Larger Test Group" (Weren't they fat enough?)

"Typhoon Rips Through Cemetry; Hundreds Dead" (No kidding!)

"Panda Mating Fails; Veterinarian Takes Over" (What?)

Hey, you grocery shoppers! Have you noticed how many new names meat marketers have added to steak descriptions?

For years I've managed with t-bone, Porterhouse, sirloin and hamburger steak. Maybe a dozen years ago Delmonicos gained a presence.

Here's a list of steaks I've seen in the counters lately: Flat Iron steak, rib eye, Texas broil, beef tri-tip, chuck eye, eye-of-the-round, eye steak, strip (which looks like New York Strip) and tip sizzler.

Many, I think, should come with a grading: Tough, really tough, semi-tough, tenderer than semi-tough, some call it tough and tender.

I was watching the Masters Golf Tournament with grandson Dan, the 21-year-old Master in his own mind, and I commented about the appearance of the younger professional golfers.

Their shirts were too tight, sleeves too short, the unsightly growth on their chins and lips and hair unkempt.

Dan said, "They are probably over-groomed. They have on designer shirts, pants and shoes, their hair, wherever it is, is styled and you're too old to even understand styling and to know what's in and what's out."

From now on, when anyone asks me about him I'm responding, "Dan who?"

I never watched a first-run Seinfeld show. But now the re-runs fit in one of my open-time slots, between Vanna (Wheel of Fortune) and baseball, football, basketball hockey or any of the CSI shows, I watch. It's a funny show, as they say, about nothing. Which, sometimes, is the description of baseball, football, basketball and the CSI shows.

Promoter targets talents of his new hometown

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Filmmaker and promoter Norman Pardo has had a busy retirement in Independence Township.

Since moving to the area last year, Pardo helped design his custom house, cast and started filming a horror movie, and is in post-production of a video series starring O.J. Simpson.

His newest project: developing a new talent-search show for television and the internet.

"Now I just want to do something good," he said. "My goal is to create something good for this area, for the people, and create a new business. I'm very excited about it."

He and his wife, Jill, moved to the Clarkston area from Florida for his "retirement" — he took public his company, Charys Holdings, also known as Spiderboy International, then sold it.

Their entire house is designed and built, by local builder Jeff Harrell, with the movie in mind.

It is equipped with eight embedded cameras.

One room has a vault door and 17-inch concrete walls, serving as a panic-room-style set, and also safeguarding valuable video equipment.

Windows are the biggest available, with no curtains — the better to film scary scenes from outside. The kitchen has no ceiling — the better to film overhead shots.

"The lighting is perfect in every room of the house," Pardo said.

A trail through his five acres of lakefront property was set up with park benches and lanterns for outdoor shots calling for park-like settings.

He describes the movie as a cross between films "Panic Room," "Saw," and "When a Stranger Calls."

"It's a girls' slumber party gone wrong," he said.

Filming is underway, set to wrap within two months. He is still casting the film, looking for "anyone who wants to be in a horror movie," he said. "I still need some of the female leads."

His house plays the role of two buildings in the film: the house where most of the film takes place and a smaller, apartment-type dwelling for early scenes.

"They're totally different, like another house," he said.

His talent show, "I Got Skills," was picked up by Colours TV, a multicultural network available on satellite and cable.

All types of talent or skills are welcome, music, magic, ventriloquism, anything.

"Whatever you have, bring it," Pardo said. "I want the talent of the area."

The show's concept evolved from his idea for "The D," which would have featured talent of Detroit residents. Efforts to seek cooperation from the Detroit mayor's office were unsuccessful, so Pardo decided to broaden the scope.

Why the title?

"Keeps keep coming up to me and telling me, 'I got skills,'" he said. "They do have skills, and I want to put them out there and market them to 33 million people."

The show will be set up as a multi-round tournament, pitting the talent of various cities against each other, Detroit vs. Atlanta, Los Angeles vs. Las Vegas, Chicago vs. Trenton, etc.

People watch the videos posted on www.Igotskills.tv and vote. Winning cities advance through the brackets until two are left. They will compete in the Super Soul of Talent Contest, "like the Super Bowl," Pardo said.

He hopes to launch the show around October, a very short time by TV-production standards.

"I'm getting the upload site ready," he said.

He is also looking for four hosts, people who can introduce segments and serve as expert judges.

Jill has family in Oakland County. Both said they love the Clarkston area, with the small shops of downtown and mega stores just down the highway.

"We go downtown about every other day for breakfast," Norman said. "It's a very friendly downtown area, very nice."

He's interested in helping out in community events, such as Christmas and Fourth of July parades, he said.

"I have light sets, studio equipment, night vision cameras (for recording the evening Holiday Lights Parade)," he said.

For more information, call Pardo at 239-218-8750.

Fundraiser for Herron family set for July 20

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

A fundraiser for the Herron family of Clarkston is set for 6 p.m.-midnight Friday, July 20, at Knights of Columbus, 5660 Maybee Road.

Mike Herron, 1976 graduate of Clarkston High School, was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer in October of 2004. It was considered inoperable at the time.

"They said it was terminal - there wasn't much hope," he said.

The tumor wasn't large at first, but its location close to vital arteries caused complications. Three months of chemotherapy shrunk it to the point where a doctor was willing to risk whipple surgery, rerouting the digestive system around the tumor.

The treatment worked, until last August.

"A CAT scan showed the tumor had spread to my liver," he said.

An experimental laparoscope procedure failed, and chemotherapy directly on the tumor caused an infection that caused a fever lasting six weeks, through February and March.

The infection is gone now, but more bad news awaited - the tumor returned, larger and spreading.

Because of his illness, he had to leave his job at Wint Funeral Home, nine years as family service director, losing insurance benefits. They spent their retirement savings. The family has been approved for government help, but it won't kick in until October.

"We're relying on family and friends - we just need to get to October," he said.

His wife, Kathy, provides nursing care for her husband at home. His five brothers and sister are organizing the fundraiser, with help from the Knights of Columbus and others.

"There has been an outpouring of support from people I don't know who just came forward," he said. "It's just fantastic. I thank everyone for that. I wish I could do more for them."

The event will include hot and cold hors d'oeuvres buffet, entertainment, cash bar, and silent auction, and raffle for a 42-inch LCD TV, and a 50/50 raffle. Tickets are $15. All proceeds go to the Herron family. For more information, call the Herrons at 248-625-7856.

Citizens Bank thanks local community

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

On Friday June 29 Citizens Bank held an open house gala at the branch in Springfield Township off of Dixie Hwy to say thank you to the local residents and businesses for three years of support.

"This is the least we can do to show our appreciation for the tremendous support by the businesses and residents of northern Oakland County," said Gregory Mink, vice president and branch manager for Citizens Bank. "Citizens Bank is dedicated to serving this area and plans to be here for years to come."

Festivities included chances to win $100 gas cards, gift certificates to area merchants, a clown, face painting, refreshments, ice cream and popcorn.

"The kids really enjoyed the clown (Bubbles)," said Jill Vidlund. "She was a big hit."

There was also a piggy bank in which kids try to guess how much money was inside.

Mink said the best part was watching the kid's guess and the different dollar amounts they came up with.

Also opening new accounts and making new clients was a success. According to Mink they had easily 125-200 people show up for the event.

"It's a beautiful day we could not have asked for a better turnout," he said.

Car Company Saturn also brought out their new car line including the new "Sky Turbo." They were offering free test drives. "House of Trailers" also showed up in which one of the public will win one of their trailers. Both companies' are clients of the bank.

The day was a great success for Citizens Bank.

"It was great all the way around, kids, clown, ice cream, customers and clients really enjoyed it," said coordinator of the event Cathe Williams.

"Seeing everyone happy and smiling is the best part."

Treasure hunting at township hall

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A couple of weeks ago on June 16, a group of treasure hunters were on the front lawn of the Independence Township Hall hoping to find lost treasure with the use of metal detectors.

As many know the Township hall is a place of history. The first building there was the Union School built around 1840, and then the current brick building was built as a schoolhouse around 1910.

This event was sponsored by Clarkston Community Historical Society.

"It was a great learning experience for everyone, no big treasure was found, but square nails and other period items did surface and the kids had a great time," said Toni Smith

Kids and parents from the Historical Society and also the Independence Township Library Teen Group showed up to help dig whenever the detectors found something.

Richard Ellis had gotten the idea to do some treasure hunting there about a year or so ago and talked to a member of the historical society about doing some treasure hunting on the Township lawn, and said that whatever was found would be given to the Historical Society. Both the CCHS and the Township approved the idea.

"My mother and her brothers and sisters went to high school there back in the 20's I thought that it would be a good place maybe to find some old coins," said Ellis.

Ellis has been treasure hunting from the 60's to mid 80's, but mostly in water he said, but thought that this would be a good opportunity to dig up a little history.

"I thought it was a good experience overall. I think the children really enjoyed it. The kids said that they learned a lot about the process of treasure hunting and they learned about the history of the building of course," noted Ellis. "Anytime kids are involved in that (treasure hunting) they are excited. There is an excitement about finding things."

Ellis also enjoyed having his grandson Jared Aldrich along for the hunt.

The historical society and Ellis had the unexpected help from another man by the name of Jason Gilbreath, who also is an avid treasure hunter.

Gilbreath happened to be passing by at the right moment when he noticed the group standing on the front lawn of the township hall with a metal detector.

"I was on my way to see a friend who owns a metal detector shop in goodrich, and I saw that they were using an old machine, so I stopped to ask how old the machine was and how long he (Ellis) had it," said Gilbreath.

Gilbreath thought it was a neat thing that the CCHS was doing and told them he had two detectors in his truck and was asked if we wanted to join and help out.

"To be asked to search on property that you normally could not legally do, that was awesome," noted Gilbreath.

Gilbreath is very knowledgeable in treasure hunting and said that he had the best equipment that money could buy. He said really enjoyed the kids.

"I like working with the kids. Its good education for the children, and gets them interested in history," he said "Anything hands on demonstrations is what makes kids interested, it's not just out of a book."

Both Ellis and Gilbreath have offered their services for future hunts with the CCHS.

The Historical Society hopes to do this again this summer in the yards of some of the homes on Main Street and anyone interested in letting us survey should call the CCHS at 248-922-0270

Clarkston's Clark earns spot on dance team

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A weekend-long tryout with Central Michigan's dance team paid huge dividends for Clarkston's Meredith Clark. The 18-year-old graduate will advance to the collegiate level after being a four-year member of the Clarkston High School pom pon team.

"I couldn't imagine not doing that because that was a big part of my high school experience. I'm really excited to be able to do that at college too," Clark said.

Clark went into the tryout with an open mind, but saw her competitive spirit awaken as her time went on with the team.

"If I don't make it, it's not a big deal," she thought.

"We started practicing and I got really competitive.

"I had to make it."

Clark was deciding between CMU and Michigan State University.

"I really liked that (dance) program and the school," Clark said.

Her mind was set on going to Central even before she had earned a spot on the dance team's roster.

"I went to a couple of basketball games and I had talked to the coach, so I was really hoping I would be able to dance their after I had decided to go there."

"I really like their style of dance. It's different than Clarkston's.

"Central is really jazzy, it's more like the studio dance I did. I really like that part of it."

Meredith will be in Mount Pleasant before many of her classmates because the Chippewa dance team has summer practice. At tryouts, Clark has already learned two dances and the school's fight song, giving her a bit of preparation for the fall football season. Meredith will continue the Clark family's legacy at CMU, her parents Max and Harriet were also Chippewas.

"My parents didn't care if I went to Central or to State, but both of them had really good experiences at Central, so they're comfortable with me going there.

As a Chippewa, Clark will also be a recipient of the Leadership Advancement Scholarship. CHS LEAD Advisor Aaron Dobson encouraged Clark to apply for the scholarship. The communications and leadership skills as well as the life lessons learned under Dobson's guidance should be helpful for the freshman.

"(CHS LEAD) teaches you how to work with people who don't (necessarily) work like you do and to accept people's differences," Clark said.

At CMU, Clark is hoping to go into broadcasting. "I like public speaking and it would be cool to be on the news," Clark said.

Clark is also looking into elementary education and hopes to keep up her 3.61 GPA. Clark has been dancing since age 3. During high school, Clark managed to dedicate 15 hours a week to her sport. In her free time, Clark enjoys playing the piano.

"It's relaxing at times, but also stressful at times," she said.

Out for a ride

Sandy Mabery, owner of Pine Tree Place Assisted Living in Clarkston, takes new residents Marjorie Hood and Barb Thomson for a ride July 3.

Pine Tree Place teams with Clarkston's O.A.T.S., Offering Alternative Therapy with Smiles, joined forces to create ElderCart Therapy. Pine Tree residents get outside for rides in a cart pulled by Debbie, a champion draft horse.

Pine Tree Place and O.A.T.S., a therapeutic riding center for special needs children and adults, teamed up through the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Hood and Thomson are both longtime Clarkston residents. Hood was office manager at Clarkston Medical Group for many years. Thomson has lived on Main St. for 60 years, sponsors Concerts in the Park, and is a founding member of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club.

The fireworks-related fire reduced this maintenance shed to charred timbers.

Police continue explosion investigation

According to a police press release, the two were manufacturing flash powder M-series-type devices, such as M-80s, M-200s and "quarter sticks"—all dangerous explosives—inside the maintenance building.

Flames engulfed the structure almost immediately following the explosion, leading to a Fourth of July accident among the worst in recent history.

"I've been here 30 years I've never seen one like this," said Undersheriff Mike McCabe, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office. "We've had people blow fingers off, blow hands off, but I've never seen one that's basically become a fire ball and consumed an entire building and almost kill two people."

The situation, said McCabe, was complicated by the fact that other materials—such as the paint and gasoline—were stored in the shed.

The Sheriff's Office, Independence Township Fire Department and the ATF are continuing the investigation, and police are requesting that anyone possessing such devices turn them in to a local police agency or fire department as they are very dangerous and illegal.

Students celebrate prom, commencement

The home schoolers of Meadows Co-op, a ministry of the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road in Clarkston, celebrated their first graduating class with a Formal Prom Friday night, followed by Commencement the next day. Ten seniors graduated.

Friday night's dance, organized by junior Abigail Lee, was held at the Holly Hotel with the theme of 007. Attendees enjoyed dinner, program including a DVD featuring each graduate, followed by an evening of dancing.

"These home schoolers were not what we expected," said an employee of the Holly Hotel. "They were so nice to the staff and to each other and I have never seen a group of teenagers dance so many different kinds of dances. They were a fun group. One of the guys even gave his buttoner to one of the waitresses. That was sweet."

The next day, Sashabaw Presbyterian Church hosted commencement services. Eight of the 10 graduates participated in the service. All the graduates have been accepted by various colleges and universities throughout the country.

The service was conducted by David Lee, member of the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church and attorney in Oakland County. Businessman Blair Rosenhan gave the key note address, which encouraged students to continue to think like home schoolers, "outside the box," do things in non-traditional ways, and not to be afraid of mistakes.

Each of the graduates was given an opportunity to speak and each one expressed their thoughts, thanks, hopes and dreams in their own unique way.

Music was provided by graduate Shannon Meiner, on violin. A vocal duet by Abigail Lee, class of 2008, and graduating senior Shane Lichtenberg, singing the folk song "Homeward Bound," concluded the service. A reception followed.

"We are very proud of these kids," said David Lee.

"Among our grads are two full four-year scholarship recipients to U of M and University of Louisville, a Michigan Merit Scholarship recipient, and a member of the National Honor Society."

'Behind the Beans' with Starbucks

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Starbucks is coming to town, ready to offer coffee lovers fresh new flavors.

The new store is located at 6673 Dixie Hwy. It officially opened to the public June 29th, but will be having a grand opening on Friday, July 13.

The grand opening will include: the Fire Department, members from the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, and Oakland County Executive Brooks Patterson.

"We're very excited to be in Clarkston," said Store Manager Eileen Landry. "We have been trying to get a store in Clarkston for a while."

Not only does Starbucks serve coffee and pastries, but they help out with charity groups, both in the community and nationwide.

The store donates coffee and pastries to lighthouse, an emergency relieve for families in any kind of need.

They also work year around with Echo Grove Camp, helping out with the Santa breakfast and cleaning up the camp.

Starbucks also sells Ethos bottled water, in which all the proceeds go to help get clean water for other countries around the world. For some this is the best part about working for Starbucks.

"Everything we do for the community, Ethos water, the green apron concept within the store," said employee Tiffany Mallory.

To others the best part is everyday is different.

"Meeting all different people that come in, and you never have the same day twice," said employee Michelle Kriebel.

Landry, who used to be the manager at the Lake Orion store, said that she loves the partners that she works with at Clarkston.

"There are a lot of season partners from different stores and people from the community that work here," said Landry. "They are wonderful."

Landry invites all the public to come check out the grand opening on Friday, July 13.

"It's going to be exciting," she said.

Sources around the world for Starbucks coffee

Latin America, Africa and the Asian Pacific are the three main regions. Each region has a distinct flavor of its own.

- Latin American coffee tends to give a hint of cocoa and nut flavor;
- African coffees bring out a citrus

- flavor with a floral aroma;
- Coffees from Indonesia are known for mellow, earth flavors;
- New Guinea and other Pacific islands are known for more lively flavors, with herbal or spicy undertones.

Power outage doesn't lessen crowd's energy

BY LAURA COLVIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Susan Surma of Redford Township didn't mind hanging around DTE for several extra hours last week when storms knocked out the venue's power and held up what was, for some, a much-anticipated Toby Keith concert.

Surma, who came to the concert with her husband Kevin and several other family members, said she'd been to every one of Keith's Michigan performances, and wasn't going to miss Thursday's show.

"We've been Big Dog Daddy fans from the beginning," she said. "So it's worth the wait. We've been people watching, having a few cocktails and just going with the flow. As long as Toby comes on, nothing else matters."

Many concert goers seemed to agree, with most passing the time by wandering around, talking to others and having a good time, but occasional grumbles surfaced, as well.

"DTE owns this place," said a Detroit-area real estate broker who asked that his name not be used, "and they lose electricity? What's going on? Where's the backup plan?"

But Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, who regularly patrol the venue, reported few problems, although a few extra uniforms were posted for other reasons.

"Toby Keith is a high-profile person with an outspoken, nationalistic personality," said Lt. Dale LaBair, commander of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Independence Township substation, who was at DTE during the power outage. "He attracts a lot of attention, and he's had a number of threats, so it didn't hurt for me to be there."

LaBair noted that no specific threats were made on Keith's performance at DTE. The crowd got a little antsy, he said, but no more or less than usual, and most who know how rowdy an impatient crowd can get, seemed to agree.

"It's a great crowd tonight," said a DTE employee who also asked not to be named. "Everyone is pretty much behaving, but most people I've talked to said they wish (officials) would go ahead and call the concert if that's what they're going to do."

But around 9:30 p.m. the near-capacity crowd began to cheer as stage lights flickered, then came on in full-powered brightness just as generators were arriving to save the show.

"It's my first country concert," said Beth Chubb, who drove from Taylor and said she'd be disappointed if she didn't see the 46-year-old Keith perform. "I had to go to the bathroom in the dark, and I had to drive through a hail storm to get here."

Like other concert-goers, Chubb found credit card machines down, pop dispensers off, and restrooms without air conditioning or lights made more uncomfortable by automatic toilets that wouldn't flush.

Still, representatives from the venue said they received few complaints, given the circumstances.

"There were people who filled out complaint forms (the night of the concert)," said Jeff Corey, director of public relations for Palace Sports and Entertainment. "But it was a relatively small amount. People were very patient and very understanding that it was obviously an act of god that was out everyone's hands."

Corey said storms previously knocked out power at the venue for a few minutes at a time, but he couldn't remember another incident with the duration of Thursday's event—with the exception of the August 2003 blackout—since the Palace took over operations in 1991.

"Obviously situations like this are few and far between," he said. "It wasn't anticipated and doesn't happen often, and having and the idea of having the generators on hand to generate the power you need for a full concert performance would be a major undertaking."

The show ended at 12:15 a.m., more than an hour past DTE's 11 p.m. curfew.

"It was obviously extenuating circumstances," said Corey. "We wanted to give ticket holders as full a show as possible."

New exhibit ready at Clarkston museum

The Clarkston Community Historical Society's newest exhibit is ready at the Clarkston Heritage Museum, "A Village Vacation: P.S. Wish you were here!"

The museum's 15th exhibit presents two distinctive views of Clarkston history.

First explored is the time when Clarkston was a tourist town, starting around the late 1800s. On display are unique Clarkston souvenirs, early cameras, traveling necessities and vintage luggage. These items all tell the story of heading to Clarkston for a vacation in the country.

In addition, there are more than 80 real photo postcards included in the exhibit. These postcards offer the second view of Clarkston history by providing actual photos taken in the village and surrounding countryside. A variety of early Clarkston scenes can be seen in this display. From local merchants on Main Street to the shores of Deer Lake, the visitor can view just what Clarkston looked like in the early 1900s.

The large collection of postcards is due in part to a "postcard mania" that swept the country from approximately 1905 to 1915.

New technology available by KODAK made the real photo postcard a possibility, and it wasn't only the tourists who purchased these cards.

Local residents snatched them up from merchants and general stores to send greetings and news from their own hometown. According to official figures from the U.S. Postal Service, almost one billion postcards were sent in 1913 alone; 10 times the population of the United States at that time.

"A Village Vacation is a wonderful exhibit full of local images from over a century ago," said Jennifer Arkwright, Clarkston Community Historical Society. "This was a time when traveling involved a train or buggy and air conditioning was provided by a cool breeze across the lake."

Clarkston Heritage Museum is located in the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Road. The museum is solely supported by the Clarkston Community Historical Society. Questions can be directed to their office at 248-922-0270, or the society's website at www.clarkstonhistorical.org.

Reaching the 'Pinnacle' of lacrosse potential

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lacrosse players looking to achieve the most out of their summer were at the third Pinnacle Lacrosse Camp, hosted by Clarkston lacrosse coach Brian Kaminskas and his staff, as well as Clarkston players.

The camp, split into two sessions for third-eighth graders and the following week for ninth-12th graders, was at Clarkston High School Stadium the last two weeks of June. More than 70 players enrolled in the camp, which was for the truly adventurous on the heat-soaked field.

"The system we run is all based on the man with the ball distributing the ball or shooting and we're trying to teach that at all levels," Kaminskas said.

The coach's favorite part of the camp is when the players engage in shooting competitions.

"Shooting is such a vital part of the game and the kids like it," Kaminskas said.

"They go for shot speed, they challenge each other and see how fast they can get it going."

Clarkston player Rob Julian made his third visit to the Pinnacle camp, but his first as a mentor.

Julian likes to mentor the program's younger players, and like Kaminskas, teaching others to shoot.

"Shooting on the run is an art in itself...there's a lot of mechanics you have to get right before you can master the skill. I'm offensive-minded and shooting is just fun for me," Julian said.

Julian encourages the younger players to keep looking for the extra pass when they have the ball and to work as hard as they can without possession.

"When you get into higher levels, having off-the-ball movement is crucial," Julian said.

The camp also serves as an initiation for future Wolves, Julian said.

"A lot of the Clarkston kids come and you get to see the freshman and JV talent. You get to help them get better because you don't get to see them much during the season," he said.

"We go through a lot of the practice stuff in camp. We get to get the younger guys into a routine and we get a connection with the younger (players)."

"This is like cheating, you get to see what's coming up, assuming they develop (as expected), you can plan your future," Kaminskas said.

"That can put you ahead three or four weeks when the season starts because you're not looking to fill spots.

"We're really working (on) our talent base."

CSSC Shadows '94 win trophies at MYSL blue

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After an incredible start, the Clarkston Select Soccer Club Shadows '94 U13 Girls received finalist trophies and finished second out of eight teams at the 25th Midland Invitational Tournament May 11-13. The Shadows are coached by fifth-year head coach Rean Turner and assistant coach Bob Toth.

The Shadows shut out 3 teams on their way to the finals. They defeated the Traverse City Northstars 2-0 in their first game. The Shadows came out strong in their second game against the CW3 Extreme with another 2-0 win.

The Shadows' third game against the Midland Fusion was another 2-0 win, advancing them to the championship game. The Shadows fell 3-0 to the Michigan Burn in the finals, earning them second place.

"They really stepped up. They definitely had to play up to their potential."

Everest La'crosses new sport off the list

New girls team 7-2 in season 1

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Looking to test the athletic water at Everest Academy, Athletic Director and Physical Education teacher Ann Lowney had decided to introduce the girls in her class to something new: lacrosse.

What resulted was not just a sport to stick between dodgeball and floor hockey, but the first sixth-eighth grade girls lacrosse team at Everest.

"Everybody had a great time. They did well and adapted quickly," Lowney said.

The girls played in the Michigan Youth Lacrosse Association and finished with a 7-2 record in their inaugural run.

The girls joined the boys at the school, who have an established lacrosse program.

Lowney, also new to the sport, sought guidance as the team's coach.

She had also heard the similarities between basketball, which she has coached for 15 years, and lacrosse makes for an easy transition.

"It was different enough that I enjoyed it. I've coached enough basketball, I needed a break," she joked.

"It was fun learning it with the girls."

Lowney found "The Baffled Parent's Guide to Coaching Lacrosse" helpful in explaining the rules.

She also got advice from a fellow coach, Betsy Criton of Flint Powers. Criton cited the parallels to roundball, such as man-to-man defense schemes and making short, crisp passes, to produce a winner.

"It took us a few weeks (to learn the sport)," Lowney said.

"You learn as you go."

An eighth-grade member of the team, Brigid Wilson, 14, left the season with a new choice to make during springtime tryouts.

Wilson will be a freshman next year at Bloomfield Hills Marian, which has a strong girls lacrosse program.

Wilson plans to tryout for lacrosse and for her usual spring sport, soccer.

"It was fun and exciting to play a new sport," Wilson said.

"At first it was frustrating, but that's what made me want to play on the team, (coach Lowney) made it exciting and fun."

Wilson, who scored nine goals in her first season of lacrosse, said she liked seeing her team progress as the season went on.

"You're starting from scratch and the other teams have already played. It's challenging, but we enjoyed it enough to keep working at it. We liked our coach and our team had good chemistry together," she said.

Wilson has continued honing her lacrosse skills, playing with family members in her free time, and she is still planning on playing with her soccer travel team.

The girls at Everest Academy established the first girls lacrosse team, for sixth-eighth grade girls. Members of Catholic parishes are also eligible to play. Photo provided

Avery and Schram steady Wolves' attack

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Change has a way of working out better than anticipated in sports. Whether it's a professional switching teams via free agency or a trade, or any athlete retooling a swing or shot or even switching positions.

The later worked in the cases of Clarkston lacrosse freshmen attackers Jon Avery and Andrew Schram, who were moved from mid-fielders to the offensive-minded spots near opponents' cages. "They were both middies at the beginning of the year. As we kept playing, their attributes led them to be attackers," Clarkston coach Brian Kaminskas said.

"We saw their talent and realized they would be better down low by the cage."

"At first I didn't like the switch," Schram said.

"I wasn't used to dodging from behind the net, but I got used to it.

Their success, along with, the rest of the Wolves, propelled Clarkston to their first district championship in the state playoffs in May.

After being fostered by veteran attackers Chris Salo and Steve Gainmaris throughout the season, Kaminskas expects the tandem to outdo their 35-goal freshman season.

"We're expecting them to pick up where they left off and run our half-field offense," Kaminskas said.

"Attacker is the hardest thing to fill and we have them for the next three years. We're expecting them to come out of the shadows of the older guys and controlling the offense."

The pair began playing together long before they hit the field at Clarkston stadium. Andrew and Jon's older sister's played for the same soccer team six years ago, and the two future lacrosse standouts came together. Avery had already been playing lacrosse for three years before he found his future wingman.

"We've played together since I started and we always know where each other are."

Their chemistry translates well onto the varsity level, Kaminskas said.

"Andrew's a shooter and Jon is a feeder," he said.

"They balanced our attack so we could shoot from one side and feed from another spot up top. It allows us to attack from all points," Kaminskas said.

Avery's toughness is his strongest suit, Kaminskas said. "He has no problem taking a hit to make a feed or take a shot. When we ride the ball, he's an animal, you'd think he's a (defensive midfielder) or a long-stick the way he tries to take the ball away," he said.

Avery's tenacity didn't come without work lifting weights and conditioning.

"It's been pretty tough getting used to the play and how fast and (physical) it is," Avery said.

Schram's intelligence and ability to read the defense is a big factor in the attackman's style.

"Before he makes a dodge, he knows if he's going to shoot or pass," Kaminskas said.

That type of ability comes from being a multi-sport athlete, Kaminskas said. "It's a self-taught type of talent and it takes a heck of a lot of practice."

The impact the two had on the team as freshman came as a surprise to them as well as the coaches. "I thought I'd be there to get used to the game, I didn't realize I was going to start," Schram said.

The 15-year-old Avery has been playing lacrosse for nearly a decade. Nine years ago, Jon began to play the sport with his father, Jim, a former collegiate lacrosse player, before and after recreation league soccer games. He hopes to play lacrosse for University of Michigan or Johns Hopkins University in college.

Soccer league develops skills

Turner said.

"They played well. They got bracketed with higher-level teams and they did well." June 10 at the Gaylord Invitational, the Shadows earned another second-place finish.

After scoring two goals in the final 10 minutes of the first game against the Brighton Eclipse, the Shadows pulled into a 2-2 tie. The Shadows won the next two games, setting up a rematch with the Eclipse in the finals. The Eclipse won the finals 2-0 and the Shadows took home second place.

"They gave absolutely every ounce of energy. I was proud of all of them. I couldn't ask for a better effort," Turner said.

The Shadows finished in third place in the Michigan Youth Soccer League Blue division this season, likely earning them a spot in the premiere league next season, Turner said.

"As a Clarkston Impact coach, our goal is to prepare these girls to be successful at a higher level.

"It's our job to feed the high school (soccer program)."

In the past five seasons, Turner has seen the girls' maturity elevate with their skills.

"They grasp the game easily. They do what they have to do to get the job done," Turner said.

"All their skills and maturity level and their passion for the game have come to where they need to be for success at this level."

Clarkston on Parade

From beauty queens to babies to free ice cream and candy, from tractors, trucks and fire engines to marching bands and pom pom squads, the Clarkston Independence Day Parade had something for everyone.

"Everyone was in a festive mood," said Dale Ryan, who was serving his 16th year as parade MC. "It's Like an old town homecoming."

Ryan, who's known as the voice of the Clarkston Wolves, laughed and joked with riders on many of the parade's 110 entries they went by his post near Clarkston State Bank on Main Street.

Granddaughters Sarah, 9, and Alyson recited the Pledge of Allegiance, and grandson Eli, 1, attended the event for the first time.

Ryan, however, was pleased with all the kids. "It was good to see them cooperating and taying behind that yellow tape," he said, laughing that it did get a little difficult for some when floats with free ice cream came by. "They did a great job,"

Man's best friend
crooks' worst enemy

BY LAURA COLVIN
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

Police knew the man they were searching for was hiding in the attic of a local home, but he remained quiet and refused to come out, despite a houseful of armed deputies waiting below.

The man changed his mind when officers called for reinforcement.

"It wasn't safe to send anyone up," said Deputy Lonnie Mullins of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Canine Unit. "They didn't know if guy had gun, or what."

So the call went out for Mullins and his four-legged partner, Boomer.

With the 80-pound German Shepard on a stepladder leading to the attic, Mullins issued a stern warning: Sheriff's Department Canine Unit, come out or I'm going to send up my dog!

"I only had to say it one time," said Mullins, a contract deputy with the Independence Township substation. "Once I said that, and Boomer started barking, the guy knew I wasn't screwing around. As soon as he heard the dog he was like, 'I give up, I give up, I'm coming.'"

As the newest addition to the 14-member Canine Unit, Mullins and two-and-a-half-year-old Boomer spent the last year getting to know one another, forming a bond and becoming crime-fighting cohorts who drive area streets during the darkest hours.

"Working midnights gives me the opportunity to go out looking for bad guys," said Mullins, noting that he's a hunter and loves the outdoors, so the job suits him well. "If you're out at three in the morning you're either on your way to work, or you're a bad guy."

Mullins, who's been a with OSCO about 18 years, came to work in Independence Township in 1999 and spent five-years as a member of the substaion's detective bureau.

But, he said, when an opportunity to join the Canine Unit appeared, he was ready.

"It was time for a change," Mullins said, "and that's the beautiful thing about this department. There are so many different places we can go."

Mullins and Boomer attended a five-week training at the Oakland Police Academy, where they began working on tracking, bite work, and learning to read one another.

Deputy Lonnie Mullins and K-9 Boomer are good friends. "There's a bond between us," said Mullins. "That only develops through time and training."

"Every dog has different body language," said Mullins. "They all do things a little differently."

Boomer was 14 months old, with his training already started, when he came to live with Mullins and his family.

Now, a little over a year later, Boomer is certified to track narcotics—cocaine marijuana, heroin, meth and crack. Before long, he'll certify in obedience and handler protection, as well as building, article and area searches.

Nevertheless, there's still some growing

K-9 partner on way to becoming top dog with county sheriff

up to do.

"He's still a puppy," said Mullins, noting Boomer won't be considered mature until he's about three or three and a half years old. "But you can tell this dog is different from when I got him in May last year. He's much more protective of me, for one thing. He's becoming the alpha dog he's bred to be."

Although Boomer, as a rule, won't take orders from anyone but Dad, he is willing to make exceptions for a select few.

"He listens to my wife," said Mullins, who's wife Dawn is an OCSO deputy out of Springfield Township, "and he listens to my kids."

Indeed, the German Shepard who can drive a bad guy out of hiding with nothing more than a bark—and maybe the glint of his sharp white teeth—is only too happy to oblige the couple's toddling daughter.

"She'll carry his food bowl into the kitchen and say 'Boomer sit,'" Mullins explained. "He sits, she puts the food on the floor, and he gets it."

The childlike similarities, he said, are fun to observe.

"They're both two, and their attitudes are a lot alike," he said. "She's into everything, he's into everything."

Although Boomer is still a puppy and loves to play, he also knows that when the brown

Oakland County deputy's uniform comes out of the closet, it's time to go to work.

Comprised of 2 bomb dogs, an arson dog and 11 all-purpose dogs trained in tracking, property recovery, handler protection, and narcotic detection, the Canine Unit typically responds to over 1,000 calls each year and is available to any police agency in the county who requests help.

Each applicant must have a minimum of three years seniority in the department, including at least one year in patrol services.

"(Mullins) was a good patrolman, he's an experienced investigator, and he's got a good head on his shoulders," said Lt. Dale LaBair, commander of the Independence Township substation. "His dog is coming along well; they're doing good work, finding stuff and making good catches."

Once the five-week Police Academy training is complete, the deputy is issued a specially equipped police vehicle with amenities like a non-tipping water bowl and sensors to activate cooling fans when the vehicle becomes too hot.

But the training doesn't stop after those first five weeks are over. Deputies work individually with their dogs every day, usually for at least an hour.

Then, every Wednesday the 14-member unit meets at Independence Oaks and trains together in a special 2.5 acre area donated by the Oakland County Parks.

"This team has a unique relationship," said Joe Lamborn, who heads up the unit. "They complement one another well, they look out for one another and they train hard. They've bonded and come together as a group, and we're proud of them."

It's important, Lamborn said, to maintain control of the dog at all times, especially during a dangerous police encounter. The intense, ongoing training ensures the dog will perform well in a high-stress situation.

"We do a lot of group training on obedience," said Lamborn, noting the dogs aren't even allowed to make eye contact with the other canines. "We correct the dog to make sure the dog is paying attention the handler, not the dog doing what he wants to do."

To Your Good Health With Ernie Harwell and Clarkston Medical Campus

Our Alzheimer's care begins with what's been forgotten.

Each senior has a history that makes them a unique individual. At Sunrise, our approach to Alzheimer's care begins with understanding the stories and details of a senior's life.

Knowing our residents better means we can help them attain what we call "pleasant days" by finding activities they can enjoy and be successful at. We do this in specially designed surroundings that are both safe and nurturing, where who they are is never forgotten.

Are you ready for your screen test?

By Ernie Harwell

Every year many of us lose family and friends to colorectal cancer, breast cancer, lymphoma and other forms of the disease. Now I believe that death is a part of life, but that doesn't make these losses any easier.

What we all need to keep in mind is that these diseases, if caught early, are treatable. Screening for cancer isn't something we like to think about, but it's an important part of taking care of ourselves.

So talk to your doctor and ask about cancer screening. The decision to have a certain test will take into account several factors:

- * Person's age, medical history, family history, risk factors and general health
- * Accuracy of the test
- * Risks associated with the test
- * Preparation required before the test
- * Sedation necessary during the test
- * Follow-up care after the test
- * Convenience of the test
- * Cost and insurance coverage of the test

After all, you owe it to yourself and to your family and friends to get the screenings you need. And remember to take care of your health before it's longggg gone.

Ernie Harwell, "the voice of the Detroit Tigers" for more than four decades, retired after 55 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie's days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with "Miss Lulu," his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns entitled "Life After Baseball," is available at local bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Freedom finds its source in the Holy Spirit

Though people will disagree about many things, just about everyone is in favor of freedom. The theme of freedom resonates with the human heart, and draws many people to it.

But what is freedom, anyway? And where does freedom come from?

The Bible tells us that freedom comes to us from the Spirit of God. "Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (2 Cor.3:17).

The fact that freedom finds its source in the Spirit of God has enormous implications – both for individuals and nations.

When individuals think of freedom, they commonly view it as the ability to do as one pleases. So, freedom is thought of in terms of doing what you desire.

But is this really freedom? What if you recognize that your desires are destructive, and that you lack the power to control them? In this case, you may be doing what you desire, but are really not free at all, because you are in bondage to your own will.

For this reason, the Bible defines freedom differently. It portrays liberty not as the ability to do as you please, but to do as you ought. In other words, true freedom is having the power to do what you know is right.

The only way to possess this power is to be born of God's Spirit (Jn.3:5). Jesus Christ came to bring genuine freedom (Gal.5:1), and when we come to trust Him, the Spirit of God dwells within us (Gal.3:5).

With the Spirit comes a new ability to do right. You are no longer bound to serve yourself, but you are liberated to serve others. As you walk by the Spirit, you are able to say no to the flesh with its passions and desires, and instead bear the fruit of God's Spirit – love, joy, peace... (Gal.5:16-25).

The relationship between freedom and God's Spirit has implications for nations too. In our own nation, the birth of freedom is marked as occurring on July 4th, 1776. But actually, our freedom was conceived prior to this, when God's Spirit brought about a great spiritual awakening earlier in the century. This awakening prepared the way for not only the founding of our nation, but also the many liberties we have enjoyed right up to our own day.

Beyond giving birth to liberty, the Spirit also maintains it. Hence, when God is denied and His Spirit is quenched or grieved, liberty is lost. Evil begins to tyrannize individuals and the culture to a greater degree. And freedom itself becomes increasingly regarded as a privilege granted by the State than a gift of God's Spirit.

All of this shows us that there is no real freedom apart from God. It is in Him and Him alone that we find the foundation for freedom.

And it is when we abide in His Word that we know the truth that makes us free (Jn.8:31,32).

Township celebrates Independence namesake

With a name like "Independence Township" and a Liberty Bell on its water tower, the Fourth of July is a big deal here, with downtown parade, thousands of spectators, and lots of floats and activities in the park.

Nothing like that at the time of the Declaration of Independence signing, though.

"It was pretty quiet here," said James Schultz of Clarkston, a historical reenactor of the mid-1700s era.

Michigan was under the control of the British, but inhabited by native tribes and French fur trappers. Michigan didn't develop economically much beyond fur trapping until the Erie Canal opened in 1825, Schultz said.

According to the Clarkston Area Historical Society, settler Joseph Van Sycle, who moved to the area in 1834, named the new township after his home, Independence, New Jersey. The eastcoast Independence Township was named in 1782, the year in which England signed a treaty agreeing to American independence.

Clarkston founder Jeremiah Clark's father, also Jeremiah Clark, is a veteran of the Revolutionary War, serving in 1778 under Captain Bigelow Lawrence in Vermont, according to the Michigan American Local History Network.

Royal Oak Ford selected as Michigan's only dealer for liquidate vehicles comparable to government seized vehicles.

ONE TIME HISTORY MAKING PROMOTION! ABSOLUTELY NO CREDIT TURNED DOWN! Most cars qualify for $99 payment.

Government agencies from around the country (FBI, CIA, STATE POLICE, etc.) seize thousands of vehicles every year. These vehicles are held in storage lots costing the government thousands of dollars. Then they are auctioned off to the public. Now in your area government seized as well as rental units, lease returns, dealer trades and repossessions will be available to the general public for $0 down & $99 per mo.

Vehicle originally sold for $12,000 to $14,000, sell for as low as $8,000.

Trucks originally sold for $20,000 will drop as low as $14,000.

Luxury vehicles originally sold for $35,000 will decrease as low as $27,000.

Leilani Taylor, athletic club manager, and Forrest Milzow say kids love the tube slide and waterfall umbrella at Deer Lake Athletic Club.

Best Place to Exercise: Deer Lake Athletic Club

With a variety of activities, classes and equipment, Deer Lake Athletic Club has something for everyone.

"Our staff is certified, and they all take part in continuing education and are always looking at innovative ways to exercise," said Forrest Milzow, Deer Lake owner, noting that teachers work with individuals of all ages—one 92 year-old woman is a regular attendee of the club.

Deer Lake Athletic Club offers yoga, pilates, spinning, and cardio classes, a female-only circuit room, two swimming pools—one with a tube slide and umbrella waterfall—and much more.

"Best summer ever!" Erin Gray, director, and Ahdi Dasuqi, summer camp coordinator, have a great rapport with the kids.

Best Day Care: Lil' People's Place

With hundreds of children in her care every day, Jean Dasuqi knows the value of "family."

"We try to provide the best care we possibly can, and our families are very important to us," said Dasuqi, owner and executive director of Lil' People's Place. "So I'm humbled they would vote for us as Best of the Best."

Lil' People's Place—with two centers in the Clarkston area, one in Fenton and one in Davison—opened its doors to local families in 1998.

Best Car Dealership: Randy Hosler

At Randy Hosler Buick, customer service makes all the difference.

"Everybody's selling pretty much the same cars at pretty much the same prices," said Hosler. "It's how we treat our customers that matters the most."

ers that matters the most."

Hosler said he and his staff were excited to hear of their Best of the Best award.

"It shows that people notice, that the things we do every day are right."

Best Insurance Agent: Dave Smith, State Farm

"My team and I were happy that our clients felt that way about us, because it really is the clients who make what we do worthwhile and fulfilling," said Dave Smith, Clarkston State Farm agent.

"When you treat people the way they want to be treated, that's the way people are drawn to a business," Smith said. "It reflects the vote we got and I appreciate it."

Best Auto Repair: Morgan's

Clarkstonites can trust their vehicles to Morgan's Service station at 28 South Main Street.

Morgan's, a full service repair shop, has been in business downtown for more than 70 years and maintains a staff of longtime, full-time employees.

"It's a real honor," owner John Morgan said. "There are a lot of comparable shops, it's an honor have the customer base we have. That's most important."

Opened by the late Richard Morgan Jan. 5, 1932, John can remember working in the shop in his youth.

"I was working on cars when they were putting points, plugs and condensers in them," he said.

"I was able to grow with the times."

Best gift shop: Bonnie's Hallmark

"It's wonderful, a great boost for our business," said Bonnie's Hallmark owner Bonnie Wolfe.

"We have the biggest selection of cards in Oakland County, and gifts for any occasion," Wolfe said.

The shop offers the latest in gift ideas. "We sell a lot of hot, trendy items, such as Webkinz internet-enhanced stuffed animals and Vera Bradley handbags.

"They're very popular right now, she said.

Best real estate agent: Curt Carson

Curt Carson, RE/MAX Showcase Homes realtor, is this year's Best of the Best Real Estate Agent.

"Frankly, I'm floored," Carson said. "It's a great honor."

Carson lives and works in the Clarkston area, with 19 years experience as a realtor.

"You build relationships when you see people everyday in the community," he said. "The people are so great to work with."

Best Grocery, Best Pizza: Rudy's Market

Andy Sutherland starts a pizza order at Rudy's Market.

Rudy's owner Robert Eshaki attributes much of the store's good reputation to his employees.

"Our staff is phenomenal," he said. "They take really good care of our customers. Chris and I spend a lot of time here too, so we always know what's going on."

Eshaki and business partner and cousin Chris Thomas bought Rudy's in 1991.

"We have a lot of unique products," Eshaki said. "Our prepared foods, our produce, our meat are always really fresh. We only buy the finest quality."

The secret behind Rudy's pizza? Time and lots of taste-testing.

"Chris has a culinary background, and he started messing around with pizza a long time ago, trying a lot of different things," Eshaki said. "We kept letting our customers taste it, asking what they liked, and finally we got it. Finally we said, 'yeah, this is the one.'"

They believe using a convection oven, rather than a standard pizza oven, also makes a difference.

"It's a lot more work but, it has a better flavor," Eshaki said. "We use the right bread, the right sauce, the right cheese: everything is fresh."

Best fast food: Wendy's

Dixie Highway Wendy's Manager Lori Geiger, with employee Marty Sanchez. "We appreciate all the people who voted for us. We think it speaks loudly for the people we've employed."

Best Salon: Glitz

The Clarkston Glitz staff gathers for a group photo. Not pictured, Nancy Buckner, Renee Doran, Nicole Glaeser, Kimi Matharoo, and Jenny Locricchio.

Ongoing education – making sure her staff is always up-to-date on the latest and greatest spa and salon techniques – is important to Glitz Salons Inc. owner and CEO Cherie Barnett.

Educational trainings, workshops and discussions take place frequently, she said, usually at least once a week.

“We run our own race, we do our own thing,” she said. “We tend to be leaders, not followers.”

But while Barnett and her staff are committed to bringing out the beauty in every client, they’re also dedicated to making the community a better place for everyone. With about 100 employees in four salons—Clarkston, Rochester, Lake Orion, Orion Township—Glitz is Michigan’s number one private fundraiser for the Children’s Leukemia Foundation.

The staff is also involved in a number of volunteer projects in local school districts.

“We are definitely committed to our community and proud of our ability to pull a large team together and get the job done,” said Barnett, “We feel very honored (by the award) and connected to our clients and their families.”

Best Breakfast: Pete’s Coney II

Every guest—be it first timer or regular—becomes part of a big extended family at Pete’s Coney II.

“I think our breakfast reminds people of home cooking,” said owner Ed Zull, noting that people enjoy the quality as well as quantity of a Pete’s breakfast.

With great food, the hope of another story or a joke from Ed or his son Andy, and the friendly staff, people keep coming back again and again.

“We treat everyone like family, all our guests are important,” said Zull, who runs Pete’s in partnership with his son. “We like to think of ourselves as Clarkston’s answer to ‘Cheers.’”

Zull said he was very honored to be recognized by peers in the community, and wished to thank everyone who took the time and made the effort to vote for “Best of the Best,” regardless of who they voted for.

Best Physician: Dr. James O'Neill

When Clarkston residents need to be fixed, Clarkston Medical Group is the place to go. Dr. James O'Neill, founder of CMG, was awarded Best Physician.

"I was flattered. I was very happy," O'Neill said.

"It's amazing – you do all the little things quietly and helping any way you can," he said.

The honor is nice, but unexpected, O'Neill said.

"I don't look for rewards. It's great for the family and all the doctors here. We have a great staff. We're blessed with talent."

CMG has been adding specialists and sub-specialists in anticipation of its move to the McLaren medical village.

Founded in 1961, CMG now has 16 physicians in pediatrics, family practice and urgent care.

Jeff Rashmin Patel, Jill Zimmerman, Sandy Harding, Mary Leonard, Christina Perttu, Jennifer Carr make up the Walgreens pharmacy, voted best in the Clarkston area.

Best Pharmacy: Walgreens

Gary Miller, left, and Steve Pearson, owners of Town Center Auto Wash.

Best car wash: Town Center Auto Wash

"We take great pride in the area – we live here," said Steve Pearson, who owns Town Center Auto Wash with Gary Miller, Tom Altoff, and Jim Fitzpatrick.

"We're hometown guys. We work very hard."

"We enjoy being a part of the community," Miller said.

Quality is their top priority, investing in the best equipment and employees.

"It costs more, but quality is the biggest thing here," Miller said. "The reason we do it is to provide the quality people expect."

Jenni McIlhargie, store manager, and Adam Stansberry, district manager, know great service and a great product make happy customers.

Best Coffee: Caribou Coffee

Friendly, knowledgeable service and a top-notch product make all the difference, say those who love Caribou Coffee.

"Our staff have great, friendly personalities, and really know the products," said Adam Stansberry, district manager. "We stand by our coffees; they're the best in the world."

Stansberry said small-batch, bean specific roasting makes Caribou coffees better—different beans require roasting at different temperatures and periods of time.

And then there's the service.

"We want to be number one in experience and environment," said Jenni McIlhargie, store manager. "We offer a great product and great service hand in hand."

McIlhargie said she and her staff work hard to provide the customer with whatever he or she is looking for, whether it's a quick cup of coffee at the drive thru, or a relaxing sit by the fire inside.

The store is now providing free Wi-Fi, as well.

Best Dance School: Roxana's Dance Expressions

"I think it's very exciting because I have been in the community my whole life and I enjoy giving back to them," said Roxana Chambers, Roxana's Dance Expressions.

"I am very excited to have their vote and support. Roxana's Dance Expression's philosophy is to give all our dancers a quality, fun, disciplined, dance training class, positive education in dance, and provide them with a positive role model. We will show them how dance can help them throughout their lifetime to love the art of dance."

Charles F. Munk, right, with son and partner Charles W. Munk, has been serving the Clarkston area for 40 years.

Best Orthodontist: Dr. Munk

Dr. Charles F. Munk and son Charles W. Munk have earned the honor of Best Orthodontist. After beginning in Drayton Plains, the elder Munk moved his practice to the Munk Professional Center, located at 5825 South Main Street. The Munks can be found in suite 201.

Charles F. Munk attributes the doctors' success to personal attention of patients. "We're very service and quality oriented. We have expanded hours, we work evenings and some Saturdays. It's very seldom one of us isn't there," Charles F. Munk said.

The communication between the doctors and their 11 staff members, accessibility to patients and their parents, combined with their commitment to seeing a patient each time he or she comes their building, keeps patients coming back, he said.

Roxana's Dance Expressions

Best Restaurant, Customer Service: Clarkston Cafe

Clarkston business owner Curt Catalo walked away with three Best of the Best awards: his Clarkston Union earned Best Bar/Pub, and Clarkston Cafe took Best Restaurant and Best Customer Service honors.

"We've been very fortunate," Catalo said. "It means a lot when it comes out of the community itself. They recognize the pride our staff takes in the place. Everyone cares, (guests) are not just customers, they're friends."

Independent businesses such as the Union and Cafe make Clarkston a unique place to live, he said.

"Any independent business who decides to do business in Clarkston is a win-win. Whether it's a flower shop or a car wash, if they put their neck out, that's what makes it a special community."

Best Photo Studio: Winship

Winship Studio, which has been serving Clarkston's photo needs since 1970, earned Best Photo Studio.

Winship credits Clarkston Community Schools in part for his staying power. Winship has been a contracted senior portrait studio for 36 years.

"Starting the business in what used to be a small community was the smartest thing we could have done," Winship said.

"We're very, very thankful for the support of the community. Even during tough times in the 1980s, we didn't lose any of our customers, regardless of income at the time."

Winship and his wife Gail have made the studio a family business, passing down the reins in the last 20 years to their children. The couple's son Kevin is head photographer and daughter Kym is studio manager.

Brigitte Nielsen is the manager of Troy Cleaners of Clarkston.

Best Dry Cleaner: Troy Cleaners

"We've been serving for over 70 years in the Genesee/Oakland area, and almost 20 years in Clarkston," said Dave Motter, Troy Cleaners corporate owner.

"We are honored to be voted the Best of the Best by our citizens, and their appreciation for our hardwork and dedication to our customer service and quality."

Best Landscaper: Lowrie's Landscape

Lowrie's Landscape was voted best landscaper in the Clarkston area. Lowrie's, located at 9539 Dixie Highway, has been doing business in the area for 28 years.

"I was floored," owner Tom Lowrie said.

"There's a lot of good landscapers out there."

Lowrie's staying power can be attributed to his commitment to getting the job done right.

"It's easy to do things wrong, but it's harder to do things right year after year," he said.

"It's easy to cut corners, but we don't because we want to keep our reputation intact."

Best burger: Red Knapp's

There's no better place in Clarkston to stop in for a great burger than Red Knapp's on Dixie Highway. The eatery was voted tops in the Best Hamburger race.

The delicious burger (or cheeseburger) goes for $5.25 or $5.70 deluxe with mayo, lettuce and tomato.

"This hamburger has been in my family for years and years," owner Roger Knapp said.

The homemade buns leave a lasting impression on the overall taste, he said, as well as the lengths the restaurateur goes to get high-quality beef.

"We've had a high standard for years and we want to keep it," Knapp said.

"We go to great expense for that burger."

Red Knapp's is located at 6722 Dixie Highway.
