Back to school Trustees set rules, roles for upcoming school year

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

It's a new year for the Clarkston Board of Education, with a new trustee, schedules, and assignments.

Stephen Hyer was reelected board president in a 4-3 vote. Karen Foytech earned the three votes.

"I didn't expect to be nominated," Foytech said. "There are no special privileges (as president), just extra work."

Hyer said he is looking forward to the new school year.

"It will be a challenging year," he said. "I appreciate my colleagues electing me."

Other officers are Vice President Barry Bomier, Treasurer Ron Sullivan, and Secretary Joan Patterson.

Cheryl McGinnis took her seat on the podium for the first time, volunteering for Oakland Schools designate, Oakland County School Board Legislative Committee representative, Michigan Association of School Boards legislative member, and Policy Revision Committee.

The school board renewed its membership in lobbying groups National School Board Association, $4,750 dues, and Michigan Association of School Boards, $7,171.

The associations lobby state and national public officials and public opinion on issues such as school funding, health care costs, and curriculum standards.

McGinnis and other board members, who can attend if they wish, will attend association meetings for informational purposes only.

"If there is a need for an action item, I'll bring it back to the board first," McGinnis said.

Briefly...

Man injured in fire dies

Andy Scott Impola, an Independence Township man who was injured in a July 4 fireworks-related explosion and fire, died July 11.

Impola, 31, was injured along with his brother, Lee Impola, when the Lancaster Lakes apartment maintenance shed they were in exploded and burned. Lee remains hospitalized. Andy, a maintenance man for Lancaster Lakes, was pulled from the burning shed by residents, and suffered severe burns.

The Sheriff's Office, Independence Township Fire Department and the ATF are continuing the investigation, and police are requesting that anyone possessing illegal fireworks turn them in to a local police agency or fire department as they are very dangerous.

Register now for parade

Clarkston Rotary Club, sponsoring the Clarkston Labor Day parade, is accepting registrations for parade participants, including floats, walkers, horse groups, bands, singers, dancers, bicycle riders, classic or antique cars, service clubs, civic organizations, scouts, and businesses.

Clarkston Rotary has sponsored the parade since 1940. The parade is set for Monday, Sept. 3. The theme of this year's parade is "Celebrate Clarkston," to recognize Clarkston's 175th anniversary.

For an application, call Joel DeLong at 248-625-9741, or clarkstonrotary.org, Gary.Hanna.Rotary@comcast.net. Applications are available at the Clarkston Chamber of Commerce office, Independence Twp. fire station on Citation Drive, or the Clarkston Village office.

Big Chiefs to sing at park

The Big Chief Barbershop Chorus will perform in the "Local Talent Spotlight" at this Friday's Concert in the Park.

The chorus, directed by Tom Blue, has been entertaining in the North Oakland County area for the past 64 years. Several members, including Bill Auquier, Walt Bachmann, Neil Braun, Walt DeNio, Roger Hohn, Darwin Johnson, and Jeff Spires, reside in the Clarkston area.

Above is Oakland County Fair Queen Michelle VanderVoord with the skeleton of a horse, which she and fellow 4-Hers prepared and mounted for scientific purposes. Below are VanderVoord and Catherine McGhee, Miss Jr. Michigan. VanderVoord designed and made the dress she is wearing.

New county queen serves community

BY PHIL CUSTODIO

Clarkston News Editor

Unlike queens who inherit their titles, Michelle VanderVoord had to earn her crown.

As a candidate for Oakland County Fair Queen, she prepared applications, wrote essays, gave a speech, and shared her views in a live interview with Mrs. Michigan, Miss Michigan, and fair officials, asking questions such as favorite politician (state Rep. John Stakoe), favorite Disney character (Piglet), and greatest weakness and strength.

"I said my greatest weakness was also my greatest strength," VanderVoord said. "I'm too trusting — sometimes I get let down."

Her duties as Oakland County Fair Queen include parades throughout the year, school-group tours at the fair, and outreach programs.

"Anything the fair board wants me to do," she said. "It's been a lot of work, but it's a nice culmination of a lifetime of community service."

She plans to spread awareness of 4H programs throughout the county, she said.

VanderVoord has been with 4H for 11 years, including 4H SCRUBS, Students Committed to Research and Understanding of Biological Science, and Veterinary Science Club.

She was very busy at the fair, preparing about 20 projects for exhibit in science, sewing, cooking, gardening, and other topics.

"Tons of activities," she said.

She spent much of Friday preparing for the livestock auction, at which she was to sell poultry and other birds she raised for market. As County Fair Queen, she helped make announcements and pass out prizes.

"It's fun, I really like it," VanderVoord said.

She lives in Springfield Township with parents Sue and Fred VanderVoord, and brothers Gregory and Steven VanderVoord. She graduated this year from Clarkston Community Schools' OSMTech program.

She plans to attend University of Michigan-Flint on a full-ride scholarship she earned for academics, to study nursing.

In her speech at the fair, she described how 4-H and other youth programs helped her decide on a career.

"In the Veterinary Science Club, we learned a lot about the body — it was very interesting," she said.

Their club mentor, Dr. Elizabeth McGee, a veterinarian, taught them using dissection of farm animals and pets that died of natural causes or had to be euthanized.

Michelle also volunteered in several departments at St. Joseph Memorial Hospital.

"I'd like to work in pediatrics — I love working with kids," she said.

On guard at Deer Lake

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

About a hundred people drown each year in Michigan – fortunately, none at Deer Lake. It's the lifeguards' job to keep it that way.

"Over the past five years Ellis & Associates Lifeguard Company has had zero drown," said Kevin Breen, 25, Independence Township Parks and Recreation aquatics director.

Breen holds his staff to high expectations to maintain the safest environment for those visiting the beach.

"We train double to quadruple the amount required," he noted.

What does it take to be a lifeguard? Requirements include being at least 16 years of age, and able to swim a distance of 200 yards and back. Breen has his crew swim 400 yards. Lifeguards, whose job starts at 8 a.m., are also trained in CPR.

"We are trained to handle any situation from first aid to spinal injuries, and boating accidents," he said.

He recalled a rescue he made four years ago when a jet ski exploded. Instincts take over in rescue situations, he said.

"We practice so much that when we have to jump into a scenario, it's second nature," he said.

Each rescue is still an "adrenaline rush," he said.

"It's nerve racking sometimes. It's scary every time you hear an air horn go off, it makes your heart skip a beat," said Breen. "Even when you hear it at a sporting event, you are trained to go into response mode."

Lifeguard Adam Koziarski agreed that it was "nerve racking" but is confident that all the lifeguards are well prepared for stressful situations.

"Everyday that I come to work, I feel that nothing will happen because our guards are so prepared," he said.

The best part of the job is the beach, said Sagel Tremblay, 17.

"It's fun and it's great to be on the beach in the summer. I'd much rather be active instead of sitting in an office all day," she said. "I have also learned skills that I can use outside of work."

Parks and Recs also offers a Jr. Lifeguard training class, for anyone considering becoming a lifeguard. They go through all the same training, and at the end receive a certificate.

"It gives them a chance to learn what we do here and a better chance when they fill out an application," Breen said.

Not only does Breen hold his staff to high

Please see Lifeguard of page 5A

Through the eyes of a Lifeguard

expectations, but Ellis & Associates does as well.

"They are the first lifeguard company to audit their jobs," said Breen. "They come here unannounced to videotape the lifeguards to make sure we are doing our jobs properly."

The audit breaks down into three sections. First is the "individual lifeguard evaluation."

Each lifeguard must provide 10/20 surveillance of swimmers, 10 seconds to recognize a swimmer in distress or dangerous situation, and 20 to make it to that situation; attentiveness to the zone of protection; address environmental concerns; professional behavior and demeanor; and rescue ready.

Lifeguards must also proactively scan the water and beach, and place watch stands in the best locations, allowing for surveillance of the entire zone and immediate access to rescue equipment.

The second stage has two parts. The first is the "Airway/Circulation Management Simulation Report," using proper CPR techniques. Second is "Unconscious Guest in Distress Simulation," based on team effort, individual performance, and proper use of water rescue equipment.

The third section was a facility, supervisory and administration evaluation. The facility must have a safe environment with proper water clarity, fencing, signs posted, water depth markers, and special equipment.

They also made sure enough lifeguards were on duty, wearing proper attire for the sun, including hat, shirt, and sunglasses, and paper work was well organized and easily available.

Deer Lake has received the highest score, known as an "Exceed," for the past two audits. Last year, they won the silver award. If they receive one more Exceed, they will be up for the "Platinum award."

"Only nine percent get the award," Breen said.

Breen also takes great pride in his staff members, who range from 16-25 years old. Many are college students who are studying education, so they work well with people and kids.

"We strive to be playful and friendly with the community," said Breen. "We say 'hi' to all that come in and 'bye' to all that leave."

Not only are they engaged with the community during work hours, but off as well.

"We raised $3,000 for Relay for Life," said Breen.

Andrea Nichols is alert and ready for action. Photos by Trevor Keiser

The best part about being a lifeguard is being outside and working with his team.

"We are very personal and close knit. We do a lot of things stuff together like Pistons and Red Wings games," he said. "We really know that we can count on the person next to you to back you up in any situation."

Lifeguard Andrea Nichols said that she loves teaching swim lessons.

"I really like swim lessons, the kids make it entertaining" she said. "A lot of the same kids come year after year, some of the little boys sing to us in the lifeguard shack. We get the chance to establish relationships with the parents and watch the kids grow up."

The third session of swim lessons begins July 23-Aug 2. Mon-Fri, 30-minute lessons are $38 for Independence Township residents and $48 for non residents; 45-minute lessons are $48 for residents and $58 for non residents.

On Aug. 8, the lifeguard staff will hold a "family fun night" for children in swim lessons. This year's theme is "Super Hero Bash." Kids can dress up in their favorite superhero costume.

Beach hours are Mon-Fri. 12-6:30 p.m., 10 a.m.-7 p.m. during swim lessons, and Sat-Sun 10 a.m. - 7:30 p.m.

Garden Walk today features tour, art, music

The Clarkston Garden Walk, featuring five unique Clarkston area gardens, will be held Wednesday, July 18.

The box luncheon and garden tour, sponsored by the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club and Clarkston Community Education, will feature artists, music, and boutique items at each garden.

Lunch is available between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. The gardens are open noon to 6 p.m.

Start the tour at the Community Education Center on Waldon Road. Present your ticket to receive a map to the gardens.

If not having lunch, proceed to the gardens. A Garden Club member will be at each site to greet visitors.

Tickets are $22 for lunch and the garden tours, or $20 for garden tours only.

Tickets are available through Clarkston Community Education, 248-623-4555, at the Clarkston Country Store, 21 N. Main, and from Garden Club members.

School day care available

Clarkston Community Schools Summer day care continues through Aug. 31.

Taught by certified teachers, programs for children 3-6 are at the Clarkston Early Childhood Center, 6397 Clarkston Road, 7 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Friday, and include weekly camps and two-days-a-week sessions. Call 248-623-4350.

Out loud

A column by Laura Colvin

An ounce of prevention

Take your stuff in the house at night. Week after week, people call the police to complain that someone entered their car during the night—either by simply opening an unlocked door or, in the case of more ambitious thieves, by smashing out a window.

Once they're in your car, these thieves will take just about anything—laptops, iPods, and iPod transmitters, cell phones, digital cameras and other electronic devices commonly go missing.

Wallets, watches, purses, checkbooks, cash, loose change and CDs? Absolutely. Bowling bags and balls disappear too, as do golf clubs and other sports equipment.

Although Sgt. Matt Baldes of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Independence Township substation told me these crimes are down significantly since township officials approved funding for two dedicated patrol deputies, I'm still finding reports in the basket every week.

Save yourself the aggravation. The cost of replacing the missing items is bad enough, but what about the things that can't be replaced, and the feelings of violation you're left with?

What about all the information you've got stored on your laptop? Work files, family photos, correspondence, your entire iTunes library—gone forever. And how about the hassle of canceling your credit and ATM cards, and replacing your driver's license and social security card? Have a health insurance, library or Kroger card? A gym or video store membership card?

Those need to be replaced, too.

And then you've got to file a report with your insurance company and take your car in to have the broken glass replaced.

What a nuisance, and for what? Because some punk thought it was OK to go into your car and take your stuff during the night. Stuff he or she will pawn, trade for drugs or simply give to friends for the sake of looking cool.

It drives me nuts.

And here's another warning: when you're out on the road at night—or during the day, for that matter—look out for drunk or high drivers. I see lots of reports on those, too, entirely too many for my driving comfort.

The OCSO deputies seem to be doing a fine job of getting these people off the road and in front of a judge where they belong, but it only takes one drunk to kill an innocent family.

Bill would set hidden tax

Dear Editor,

While taxes are a necessary part of maintaining community services, they must be appropriate, relevant, and kept as low as possible without jeopardizing public health and safety.

HB 4852, a bill currently under consideration in the Michigan House Appropriations Committee meets none of these criteria. This bill would add a monthly tax to every telephone and cell phone bill in the state in order to fund law enforcement activities.

This tax is neither appropriate nor relevant to phone bills, but rather an attempt to pass along shortfalls in the state budget by creating hidden taxes.

It may be that the services to be funded by this legislation are necessary and vital in order to protect our residents. If that is the case, then that need should be addressed openly and honestly and a funding solution arrived at in the appropriate forum. A hidden tax on our phone bills is not that forum.

I urge everyone to contact our state representative and encourage them to stand firm against hidden taxes and reject this tax shift.

Eileen Kowall (R)
Oakland County Commissioner

A Look Back

From The CNews archives

15 years ago - 1992

"Schools institute pay-to-play for grades 7-12" Clarkston School District saved interscholastic sports by instituting a pay-to-play system. Athletes would pay $75 to participate in sports, including cheerleading and pom-poms.

"Schools $185,000 richer, thanks to DDA" Independence Township and school officials decided to rebate surplus funds in the Downtown Development Authority.

15 years ago - 1982

"Court grants go-ahead for ski ramp" Michigan Supreme Court ruled in Pine Knob's favor in its request to build a 185-foot ski ramp and 20-story hotel. Independence Township was expected to appeal.

"1982-83 school budget reflects drop in state aid" The school district was dealing with the loss of almost $1 million in state funding in its $13.6 million budget. A poor state economy was blamed.

"Long may it wave" More than 5,000 people jammed Clarkston's downtown for the Fourth of July parade.

50 years ago - 1957

"John Watson seeks election" The Clarkston resident was running for school board. Watson worked with Springfield School District before it was consolidated with the Clarkston system.

"Garden Club hears book review" The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club heard from author Mrs. John Naz, who spoke about his book, "The Last of the Curlews."

The voice of a free people

Letters to the Editor should deal with issues affecting our community. They not only criticize, but also praise. Where they point out problems, so too should they offer suggestions.

The Clarkston News reserves the right to edit for accuracy, brevity, or clarity. Maximum of 300 words. Letters must include the full name of the writer, home address and daytime telephone number (which will not be published). Anonymous letters will not be published. For consideration for each Wednesday's edition, the deadline is noon the Monday before (earlier is better!). Submission does not guarantee publication.

Student, former board member chime in

Well, I was gonna' end this discussion last week, the third swing in Teacher Dialogues. But I have received some good input. My third swing last week must have been a foul tip and I get another pitch. Following are parts of letters from a student and former board of education member. Fulllength versions will be posted online.

Without further ado, Teacher Dialogue, Part 4.

This is in response to the dialogue taking place regarding teachers/students. First of all, let me frame this by stating I happen to be a home school student who will attend college as a freshman in the fall . . . The dialogue taking place between parents and teachers is a large part of why my parents began homeschooling over 12 years ago. The dialogue also reaffirms comments made by my peers who attend public school and who are extremely discouraged with the educational experiences they had, even though they are also honors students/high achievers.

It is unfortunate for both qualified, caring teachers and interested students that they have to contend with the nonsense that takes place daily in public and private school classrooms. One of my favorite teachers quit teaching at the public schools because he was so discouraged with, not only behavior but also the bureaucracy of the system and the lack of interest from the parents of students he cared so deeply about. He used to say he loved teaching but he spent 90 percent of his time reprimanding the 10 percent of students who did not want to be in his classroom.

Unfortunately public education is just what it implies — it is public and no matter who walks through the doors they must be dealt with on some level. . . . There are also too many parents who aren't deeply involved, leaving the teachers and administrators at a disadvantage, shaking their heads and wondering what to do when they are not allowed to truly discipline or hold students responsible.

My point? I was held responsible for all my actions, as were my friends. However, I was also extremely lucky to have parents who plucked me out the system and provided me with every tool I needed to succeed. -- C a column by

Don't Rush Me

Don Rush

As a former school board member, I have found your writings of the last two weeks very interesting.

While I was on the board, I, on a regular basis, was amazed to see just how dysfunctional the education had become. The most heated of debates were never centered on quality education . . . Seemingly, every new rule passed and every new standard set seemed to be geared to "Education to the Lowest Common Denominator."

Case and point, approximately 5 percent of the student population at (blank) high school were "in trouble" with absences and/or truancy. Taking "swift and decisive action," the administration proposed a sweeping new attendance policy that would eliminate ALL EXCUSED ABSENCES unless a note from a doctor, lawyer, or clergy-person was produced.

After five "unexcused absences," the child would be expelled from school. Of course, no one ever took into account there are children who have ongoing medical issues or that the ADA protects those folks under the law. No small oversight, to be sure.

I know someone that had to miss five days of school for college freshman orientation and this was considered, under the new rules, as an "unexcused absence." This situation put her at six days and they actually talked about expelling a 3.95 GPA Honors Student in her last week of her senior year.

Sheer brilliance!

Would it not have been easier (and wiser) to address the real problem of 50 malingerers instead of punishing the other 950 students? I use this only as an example of how things are twisted and doctored to make life easier for the poor teachers and administrators.

Remember the push to get kids to "feel good about themselves?" This was yet another mindless, noneducational boondoggle thrust upon us by "experts." I asked aloud what was going to happen when we had a district full of happy children that were so illiterate that they could not write a sentence on paper to tell you why?

Remember "Character Education?" Remember the 3R's? If you do, you're obviously not an educator or school administrator. -- Former board of ed member

Administrators, I have yet to here from you. --
Don

Be very clear when saying Huh or Hu-huh

Chic (pronounced Chick) and Charlie (pronounced Chuck) Drumheller are among the great couples of the world.

They are just plain fun to be around. They laugh easily, are refreshing, hospitable and blend with everyone. We've known them from the time they bought the IGA store in Oxford over a quarter century ago, so I think I'm safe in exposing one of their experiences.

Monday, July 2 Chic was leaving for one of her weekly golf games, when her husband complained aloud of a pain in his chest.

Please realize the Drumhellers are not new people. They've been married 60 years. Chic was 17 at the time . . . oops, I think I just told you her age. I also have to tell you Charlie wears a hearing aid, but like many hearing aid wearers, he didn't have his in this particular morning.

So, when he complained of the pain, Chic said, "Do you want me to call 9-1-1?"

He asked, "Huh?"

Chic thought he said, "Uh-huh!"

She quickly dialed the emergency number then went to her golf game.*

In minutes two police were at their Lapeer house door, immediately followed by EMS employees with needles, pills and cot.

Before Charlie could even reach for his hearing aid he was in Lapeer County Hospital.

Charlie said the white-coated people continued pushing syringes in him, making him pop pills and otherwise making him uncomfortable the rest of that day and all that night.

He said he had more tubes in him than you see in emergency rooms on CSI tv programs.

When a doctor came in that Tuesday morning Charlie was worn out from the hourly, disrupt-tions, and could hardly understand the doctor when he asked how he slept.

The doctor suggested Charlie spend another night, but, realizing few "professionals" would be on hand July 4, he opted to go home.

All is fine with Charlie. I played golf with him July 11 and he beat me. He had pleurisy.

*Chic didn't leave her husband to play golf. She went with him to the hospital. I just added the golf story to stimulate an emotion.

I also forgot to tell you July 2 is Charlie's birthday, and that his granddaughter was there, wanting to bring him some "Happy Birthday" balloons to hang on his bed rail.

But the hospital staff brought him a card and a cupcake with a candle.

And, that Chic chided Charlie telling him, "I could have been on the eighth hole by now."

And, that Chic asked her husband, "While you're here why don't you get a colonoscopy?"

Even in his sedated state he managed a fit of anger over that suggestion. But, nobody stays mad a Chic very long.

A 23-year-old Shelby Township woman filed a police report after her purse was stolen from a lounge at DTE. The woman said she was drinking and inadvertently left without her purse. A credit card from the bag was used in Detroit two hours later.

Sun., July 15 a 44-year-old Warren man filed a police report after someone stole a motorcycle helmet, which he'd left on his bike while attending a concert at DTE.

Springfield Twp.

Sat., July 7 A woman riding her bicycle near Bridge Lake Road and Holcomb turned in a set of keys she found lying in the road.

Mon., July 9 A 30-year-old woman called police after her former husband refused to return the couple's two children after his every-other-weekend visit, saying he was keeping them long enough to save 50 percent of his child support payments.

A 54-year-old man living in the 5400 block of Hillsboro called police after discovering someone-unsnaped the cover to his boat, which was parked in his driveway, cut the screen door and stole a radio from inside.

Wed., July 11 A Davisburg man reported discovering that someone had used his debit card to purchase gasoline at two area gas stations after he lost his wallet.

Independence Township deputies and firefighters responded to a house fire in the 5000 block of Timber Ridge Trail Saturday, July 14, when a grease fire got out of hand. The 44-year-old homeowner received injuries from falling debris as he attempted to douse flames with a fire extinguisher. The man woke his 9-year-old son, who got out of the home safely.

Knowing the score is a must in life's later innings

By Ernie Harwell

One of the first things I learned in broadcasting baseball games was that I had to give out the score every three minutes or the listeners would lose interest. I used an egg timer to develop this "habit."

In the game of baseball, knowing the score in every inning is an absolute must.

The same is true in the game of life-especially in the later innings.

Having said that, I imagine you're wondering what "score" I'm referring to.

Well, I recently read an article about a World Health Organization report recommending that older adults regularly assess how well they can carry out daily activities.

What score would you give yourself today? Do you consider yourself "winning" or "losing" at the challenge of living the healthiest life possible? How easily can you prepare meals, climb stairs, do housework and care for pets? Do you walk regularly, even when it's not necessary?

Paying attention to the quantity and quality of our daily physical activity helps shift our perspective. Rather than desiring to be healthier so that we can be healthier.

And please remember to take care of your health before it's lonngggg gone!

'Clarkston for Cure' Breast Cancer walk

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

"Clarkston for a Cure" is set for the three-day Breast Cancer 3-Day Walk Sept. 28-30. The team was originally known as "Sisters in Stride," founded by Melissa Traver.

In 2005, Traver registered for the walk with a coworker because she thought it would be fun, good exercise, and achieve some personal goals. But she never thought about the meaning behind the walk.

A few months later, it took on a new meaning when Traver found out her sister, Kim Beardsley, had been diagnosed with breast cancer. That was when Traver and her younger sister Julie started "Sisters in Stride."

The team originally included the three sisters, Melissa, Julie, and Kim, and their mother, Ginny Beardsley. They changed their name to "Clarkston for a Cure" because of the group's increasing size.

"We are really proud to be in the Clarkston community," said team member Gina Daniels. "We really enjoy training here, we never get tired of our walks in town, and everyone in the community is very supportive."

This year, the team includes six walkers and two crew members, who set up meals and cheer.

Walkers include Melissa Traver, Julie Alexander, Gina Daniels, Kristi Feyers, Christa Covey and Sally Janecek.

Traver's mother Ginny and her sister Kim, (who is cancer free and in remission) are the crew members.

"What happens in those three days is truly amazing," Daniels said.

Over the course of three days, teams walk 60 miles, 20 miles a day, and sleep in tents.

"It's such a great support system, it's so well organized," she said. "It's a community that comes from all over and it just touches your life. It's amazing."

Seeing cancer survivors and having people pass you when you get tired is very inspirational to Daniels.

"You feel like you don't have it in you anymore and you just keep going because you know you can help somebody else," said Daniels. "If you know you can help one person, it's worth it because it touches so many lives, family and friends. We've all lived in this community so many years and we all know someone it's touched."

'Call 911 -- because we aren't going to make it!'

Baby Ellery Susan comes into the world at home, in the dark

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

"God has a way of having the baby arrive when it's time, no matter what the circumstance," said Amy Hernandez of Independence Township. "Every birth is pretty amazing and each birth has its own story."

She should know.

Friday, July 6, the weather was dark and stormy, knocking the power out. Amy decided it was time to wake her husband, Dave, at 2:20 a.m. due to severe contractions. She told him to call his dad so they could drop their daughter Avelynn off at his house on the way to the hospital.

"You better call 911 and your dad back and tell him to come get Ava now, because we aren't going to make it," she told her husband in a panicked voice.

In the meantime, Amy thought that she had to go to the bathroom. When she sat down, her water broke.

"She started screaming 'the baby has fallen in the toilet and you need to come fish her out,'" Dave recalled.

"It felt like the baby had come out with the water," said Amy.

While Amy was fishing around in the toilet for the baby, Dave went and grabbed his head lamp so that he could see because of the power outage. After realizing there was no baby in the toilet, Dave ran to the front door to flash down police and EMS.

As Dave ran to the front door, Amy got down on her hands and knees and the baby's head came out.

"I started screaming her head's out, her head's out," said Amy.

Dave didn't quite believe her at first because she had just been wrong about the baby being in the toilet.

"He flung the door open and nailed me in the head. He said 'you got to crawl forward, I can't get into the bathroom,'" said Amy.

After Amy crawled forward and Dave was able to get into the bathroom, the light shined right on the baby's head.

"As I turned my head the light is shining on her (the baby's) face and it's looking up," said Dave. "Then one of the police officers that followed me in was panicky at that point and said 'you've got to push.'"

They grabbed what towels were in the bathroom and with one big push the baby came out.

"She came out so fast he (Dave) almost dropped her," said Amy.

It was at that time they saw EMS lights coming down the road and when they ran in, they realized they needed more towels, so "nurse" Avelynn, the couple's 3-year-old daughter, took them upstairs to get more towels.

"I just kind of held her, the baby head down and rubbed her back to try and hopefully get some of the fluids out, and then the EMS came and wrapped her up," said Dave.

"Finally she screamed, and cried one good wail," he said.

It was then that they loaded both Amy and the baby into the ambulance and drove them to the hospital.

Ellery Susan Hernandez was born at 2:35 a.m., seven minutes after 911 was called, and weighed six pounds, 12 ounces.

"All of our family and friends keep calling her 'Latrina,'" said Amy with a laugh. "Latrine" is the French word for toilet.

Amy and Dave are thankful this was their fourth child instead of their first. It might have been a little rougher the first time around.

"It's unique delivering your own, I went into panic mode for a few, but it's something I will never forget," said "Doctor Dave."

Amy had gone to the hospital three times previously, but each time the doctor sent her home telling her that she was not dilated enough and her contractions were not close enough together.

"They were going to induce me into labor one of the times," said Amy, "but St Joe's did not have enough staff on hand to do it."

Little "nurse Ava" stood at the bathroom door and watched the whole thing take place, noted Amy and Dave.

"Baby born in the bathroom, then come out of toilet," said 3-year-old Avelynn.

"The story is pretty amazing," said 8-year-old JT.

Schram moving up collegiate ranks

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

At times, golfers like to change their swing to liven up their game. 2006 Clarkston High School graduate Jackie Schram is getting her fresh start by transferring to NCAA Division II Grand Canyon University in Phoenix.

Schram, a four-year player at Clarkston, played for Lindenwood University (Missouri) of the NAIA last season. As a freshman Schram finished in the top-10 in seven tournaments.

Playing in the warmer climate leaves her the option of practicing and playing year-round, not an option at Lindenwood.

Schram led the Wolves to appearances at the Michigan High School Athletic Association state finals in 2004 (11th place) and 2006 (eighth place). 2004 was the Wolves' first time at the finals in 27 years. During the 2006 run, Schram earned an All-State designation for her 10th place (154) performance in the finals.

Presently, Schram has a full golf card. She played in the 91st Women's Michigan Amateur event at Egypt Valley Country Club in Ada, Mich. last week. She also played in the 14th Michigan PGA Women's Open Championship at Crystal Mountain Resort in Thompsonville, Mich. earlier this week.

For the past two years, Schram has been working on her game with Golf Professional John Lindert at the Country Club of Lansing.

Jackie Schram

"He helps me with my fundamentals and mentally he helps me and makes me look at the whole picture instead of little parts of it," she said.

Lindert is helping Jackie work on fine-tuning her swing and increasing her efficiency as she strikes the ball. Course management is a big part of their work together too.

"As she understands the game more and more, she can manage her game from course to course," Lindert said.

"It's more about harnessing her power. Now she's learning to manage her game.

Schram also seeks the advice of her former coach, Clarkston girls golf coach Larry Sherrill.

"He's a great coach and he helped me go a long way. I'm still close with him today. I still call him and tell him about my tournaments and he can help me with my mental game."

"(Jackie) has a lot of people in her life that can help her and she really utilizes that," Sherrill said.

Sherrill remembers Schram's determination and motivation with the Wolves as a precursor to her collegiate success. Playing for GCU will be another challenge, something Schram likes, Sherrill said.

"She always wants to be challenged. She feels better about improving her game at Grand Canyon.

"It's going to be a good move for her."

Avoiding a post-high-school slump, Schram feels her game has improved since graduating from Clarkston.

"My mindset on playing in college is stronger than it was in high school. I've learned a lot more playing over the summers and going to college, there is a bigger atmosphere where more people are into (playing golf)," Schram said.

Discovering her abilities on the golf course was a stroke of luck for Schram, who had begun playing with her father, who noticed she had excellent hand-eye coordination. That left Jackie with a big choice to make as a freshman, whether to play her first love, soccer, or her new passion, golf.

"It was a big decision for me to (make) because soccer and Former Clarkston golfer Jackie Schram is making the move to Division II Grand Canyon University after one season at Lindenwood. Schram finished in the top 10 seven times in her freshman season after leading the Wolves to an eighth-place finish at the state finals in 2006. Photo provided golf were in the same season," Schram said.

"I chose to play golf because I thought I could go further with it and as of now I am by playing in college."

Playing professionally is a goal of Schram's for the future.

"If the opportunity for that came, that would be great and a lot of fun. It's a lot of work and a lot of time until that point, but it's a goal to reach for sure," she said.

Athletes of the week

Riverdaws' 65-16 to start NOBF season

With two teams in first place and two teams in second place in their divisions in the North Oakland Baseball Federation, Clarkston Riverdaws teams have set a hot pace. The seven-team composite record for the Clarkston Youth Baseball Organization was 65-16 by June 13.

The 14U Riverdaws won 12 of 13 games to lead the Sandy Koufax-14 division in the NOBF with a record of 14-3. June 11, they beat the Metro Detroit Stars at Bishop Foley High School 6-3. On June 10, the Riverdaws edged by the Rochester Bulldogs 6-5 at Rochester Adams High School. On June 9 Clarkston split a twin bill with the Oxford Wildcats at Oakland University winning the first game 17-10, but took a 10-7 loss in the double header. On June 4, the Riverdaws beat out the Orion Chargers at Lake Orion High School 3-2.

The Riverdaws 15U team won their first three games of the season by beating the Oakland Outlaws at Chief Pontiac American Legion field 8-3 June 12. They also beat the Brandon Hawks at Brandon High School 11-10 and 11-1 in a doubleheader June 9.

The 10U Riverdaws jumped to second place in a 12-team division with a 10-game winning streak in early June. Their record in the NOBF went to 15-1. At Clintonwood Park, the Riverdaws beat the Orion Chargers 13-6 June 12, Rochester Rockies 23-8 June 10, and the Clawson Dodgers 6-5. The 11U Riverdaws, also got to second in a 14-team division, were 11-2 in the NOBF. They beat the Michigan Red Sox 12-10 at Clintonwood Park June 10.

For additional information regarding any of the Clarkston Riverdaws baseball teams, visit www.clarkstonriverdaws.org. For more information about North Oakland Baseball Federation, check www.nobf.net.

Hydroplane racers to rock Clarkston area

BY PAUL KAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

This weekend, the waves rippling through Pontiac Lake are going to be coming bit faster than normal. The eighth annual Quake on the Lake, an American Power Boat Association sanctioned event, returns Saturday and Sunday to Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

Proceeds from the event go to The Rainbow Connection, a charity, which grants wishes to children in Michigan with life-threatening or terminal illnesses. The "Sandblast Volleyball Tournament" Saturday and silent auction will also benefit the organization.

"That is the main crust of what we do. That's what everything is about," said Suzanne Massey, executive director of the Oakland County Community Club board.

Organizers hope to raise $20,000 for the group with the races, which consists of seven heats in every class each day.

This year's races will mark the return of the grand prix boat class after a two-year absence. Race-goers will also see the second installment of the antique boat races.

"If you're into speed or you're into racing, we've got it all. We're trying to cover every motor," Massey said.

A family fun zone including moonwalks, rock climbing and face painting will accompany the Detroit Pistons and Shock traveling basketball contest and display area.

The event drew about 28,000 spectators last year and is expected to reach 30,000 this year.

The fastest hydroplane class boats can reach speeds of 180 mph and Pontiac Lake has been classified North America's fastest track, Organizer Dale Hampshire said.

Thirteen world records have been broken in the last seven years, he added.

"The reason we're so fast is because hydroplane (boats) are usually on rivers," Hampshire said.

Admissions is $5 for adults, $2 for children ages 3-12, and free for children 2 and under. Gates open at 9 a.m. both days and races are from 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. Parking is $6 per vehicle.

Pontiac Lake Recreation Area is at 2201 North Williams Lake Road in Waterford. For more information and race schedules, visit www.quakeonthelake.org.

Clarkston standout Karlstrom to play in Romania

BY PAUL KAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

After making an impact in Clarkston, Kira Karlstrom headed for Philadelphia to play college basketball for Drexel. Her next voyage will take a bit longer. Karlstrom inked a deal to play for the Romanian national team, Cluj Napoca, in June.

Karlstrom, a 2003 Clarkston High School graduate, was introduced to the idea by a Drexel teammate who is also playing in Romania. She is set to leave this week to condition and run in the mountains. The team's regular season runs from October through May, but Karlstrom plans to use her time to play in the summer session and get used to the culture and language prior to the start of the season. Other than a family reunion held in Sweden in 2001, Karlstrom hasn't seen much of Europe.

"I'm really excited for the culture and the differences," Karlstrom said.

"I'm really going to miss my family and my friends."

At Drexel, Karlstrom took over starting point guard duties after the team's original starter was hurt early in the 2004-'05 season. The 5-foot 4-inch guard has always been a strict defender and hard worker.

"She was a very good defender and she really attacked the basket and got to the free throw line," former Clarkston girls basketball coach Ann Lowney said.

"She was a smaller girl, but she could defend anybody because she was so athletic," Lowney said. "She was a gym rat - you don't see a lot of kids like that anymore. She knew she wanted to play basketball and she wanted to get a scholarship, that was always her dream."

Karlstrom

Her dedication to the Clarkston program led her to become the Wolves' team manager as a sixth-grader.

"I used to go and play in the gym because I really wanted to play varsity as a freshman and (Lowney) really took me under her wing. She let me hang out with her and help her with everything," Karlstrom said.

"She told me if I helped her with her wedding invitations and cleaned her house, then she would give me my first Clarkston basketball sweatshirt and that was the coolest thing ever, I was so excited," Karlstrom said. "I really looked up to the girls when I was in the sixth and seventh grade."

In her final two seasons in 2001-'02, Karlstrom helped the Wolves to Oakland Activities Association titles, a 20-4 conference record her senior year and a berth in the regional finals. At Drexel, Karlstrom was named Colonial Athletic Association All Academic team selection all four years. She also won the Steve Sher Academic Award and was voted most improved player in her sophomore season, 2004-'05.

This season as a senior, Karlstrom averaged 5.3 points per game and led all guards in the nation with 5.6 rebounds per game.

Karlstrom, 22, graduated Drexel this spring with a 3.4 GPA and a degree in graphic design. As a college student, Karlstrom founded Next Level Marketing and Design with a friend, from which she resigned to concentrate on basketball and schoolwork. She got her craving to be an animator at a young age, drawing cartoons.

"I was always into that and I used to try and sell them to my friends and neighbors or my best friend. I was always trying to make money when I was little," Karlstrom recalled.

Her initial scholarship offer came from Niagara University, but the school didn't offer graphic design area she wanted to study.

"I went to (Oakland Technical Center) here, so I knew what I wanted to do. (Drexel) had one of the top-ranked graphic design programs without actual art school," she said.

Road to the yellow brick

Township's top cop earns prestigious award from FBI

BY LAURA COLVIN
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's just an ordinary brick, painted yellow with black letters—FBINA #229—stenciled on top.

But for Lt. Dale LaBair, the brick symbolizes 10 weeks of intense academic and physical training at the FBI National Academy in Virginia.

As commander of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office Independence Township substation, LaBair is among an elite few to attend the highly-regarded academy—only 12 others have been selected from OSCO since 1987.

"It was a little more intense than I thought it would be," LaBair said. "But it was fun, it was worth it."

The academy, situated on the U.S. Marine Corps Base at Quantico, Virginia, gears the program toward police administrators and offers a course in professional study to leaders of state and local police, sheriffs' departments, military police organizations, and federal law enforcement agencies.

Participants arrive from all over the U.S., and across the world—about 150 foreign nations regularly send agency leaders to Virginia.

LaBair, who chose classes in counter-terrorism, constitutional law, labor law, forensic science and interpersonal communication, said the experience was both a refresher and an opportunity to learn about cutting-edge information.

"The class work was outstanding," he said. "There wasn't the usual lull. Everyday was something brand new, and it kept you very interested."

All the courses, he said, were taught by top-notch professionals.

"We had some outstanding speakers," he said, noting the group heard from high ranking FBI officials, as well as investigators in the OJ Simpson, Jon Benet Ramsey and other high profile cases. "These are people who know their way around."

The academy is accredited through the University of Virginia, which administers the program's academic component.

Talking the talk, taking a walk to fight cancer

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

While Danielle Fenton's grandmother and cousin were both being treated for lymphoma and leukemia, she witnessed difficulties most wouldn't consider.

Both are in remission after chemotherapy, but during treatment, a side effect was dry mouth, requiring them to drink water almost constantly. When going to stadium events, door monitors would confiscate their water, ignoring attempts at explanation.

That didn't seem right to Fenton, 10, fifth grader at Pine Knob Elementary School this fall.

"They don't want to be treated different," she said. "(But) I hope they can come up with something better."

She wants to raise funds to support research into ways to decrease thirst side effects of chemotherapy.

She walked in two Light the Night fundraisers for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, raising $300 last year.

This year, their neighbor and stylist Shelley Sunde suggested she help out at Glitz Salon's Cut-A-Thon and Run for a Remedy in Orion Township.

"We're excited about it," Sunde said. "They cheer me on and help out with the charity."

The event, in its sixth year, raised about $27,000 last year.

"We'll try and exceed that this year," she said.

Proceeds from the fundraiser will benefit Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan.

Fenton is registered for the 5K Run/Walk, for which she is collecting sponsorships.

"I'm raising money to walk," she said. "My goal is to raise $350. I talk to a lot of people: family, friends, people I don't even know."

Danielle's parents Leisa and Steven Fenton, and siblings Lyndsey, Tyler, and Zachary, are all helping out.

"The whole family is doing the walk," Leisa said.

The Glitz Cut-A-Thon is set for 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sunday, July 22, at Glitz NXT Salon, 4868 S. Baldwin, Orion Township. To sponsor Danielle, call the Fentons at 248-391-2370.

Couples celebrate 50 years

On June 22, 1957, two young couples exchanged marriage vows, one in Clarkston, the other in Saginaw.

Fifty years later, friends and family honored Jo and Mel Vaara and David and Carol Bixby at a reception at Christ the Shepherd Lutheran Church in Ortonville.

"We rejoice and thank God for these wonderful role models, their marriages truly reflect the love, respect, and covenants they share with each other," said Penny Bennett, daughter of Dave and Carol Bixby.

Both couples raised their families in Clarkston.

Jo and Mel have four daughters, Anne Marie Vaara, Liisa (Jeff) Lewis, Ingrid (Carl) Fuderer, and Tasha (Chris) Suydom. They have six grandchildren; Nickora, Mac, Claudia, Eric, Nolan, and Fiona.

Dave and Carol have two daughters, Penny (Mark) Bennett and Amy (Gary) Reed. They have five grandchildren; Shane, Chad, Caitlin, Garrison, and David.

A saint for today: Mary Magdalene

On July 22 we celebrate the feast day of Saint Mary Magdalene.

Mary Magdalene, also known as Mary of Magdala, has been given a bad rap in the Western Church. Ever since Pope Gregory in 590 A.D. connected her with the anonymous sinful woman (Luke 7:36-50) in a powerful homily on repentance, Mary Magdalene has been seen as the sinful woman. It made for good preaching on repentance, but didn't do justice to a great woman of the Bible.

There were many Marys in the Gospels and contemporary biblical scholarship confirms it. The start of the confusion between the different Marys in the Gospels can be traced to that homily of Pope Gregory on repentance, using the story of the sinful woman and connecting it with Mary Magdalene.

Other preachers picked up on this connection between the anonymous sinful woman and Mary Magdalene who is mentioned in another passage just after the sinful woman. The seven devils driven out in another story in Mark morphed into the seven capital sins. To add insult to injury Mary Magdalene soon began to be condemned not only for lust but for pride and covetousness as well.

Biblical scholarship finally rescued her reputation. In 1969 the scripture reading assigned to Mary Magdalene's feast day was changed from the "sinful woman" to Mary's discovery of Jesus' empty tomb in John 20. Mary today is understood as the apostle to the apostles, the one who witnesses to the resurrection of Jesus.

Bad reputations though are hard to live down.

In Luke 8, Galilean women are described traveling with Jesus and the Twelve. They include "some women who had been cured of evil spirits and infirmities ... and Mary, called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out. Presbyterian scholar George Buttick in his 1962 Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible, says the phrase doesn't mean possession but physical illness.

"She had been cured of a serious illness," he believes. The number seven would emphasize the seriousness of her condition. Demons possessing men in scriptures are not associated with sin, but with physical illness. Shouldn't the same principle hold for women?

Mary also was not the character in Dan Brown's book "The Da Vinci Code." Some of Dan Brown's sources are traced to gnostic texts. These texts were never included in the biblical canon since they did not reflect to lived faith of the early Christian community. Other assumptions in his book are purely fabricated to make for a good story. After all, it is a novel.

Dan Brown asserts that the Church slandered Mary

LaBair gains contacts all over the world at FBI training

"That was kind of tough," he said. "I've been out of the academic circle for a long time."

And while the class work was challenging, so too was the program's physical component.

Previous attendees warned him to prepare for a rigorous training, so LaBair spent several months getting in shape when he learned in October of his acceptance to the academy.

With intense fitness classes scheduled with professional trainers three days a week, the pre-training, he said, turned out to be well worth the effort.

"These are all scary guys," said LaBair, apparently only half-joking. "We did things that made me hurt in places I hadn't hurt, ever."

In addition to the day-to-day fitness classes, participants also took part in a challenge, which grew progressively difficult as the weeks wore on.

The reward for completing the Marine Corps Confidence Course, a 3.5 mile obstacle course followed by a 3 mile run, was well worth the effort—the coveted yellow brick, derived in the 30s from the Wizard of Oz.

"I don't know how we did it, the whole thing was all uphill," said LaBair, who joined the OSCO on his 21st birthday in 1972 and began serving as commander of the Independence Township substation about 10 years ago.

But the 10 weeks weren't all about academics and physical training—LaBair and his classmates took part in several fun weekend trips, as well.

The group went on a horseback tour in Gettysburg, a trip to the White House, and another to New York City, where the New York Police Department supplied an escort so the group didn't get caught in traffic.

A whirlwind tour to NYC's must-see landmarks included the Empire State Building, Times Square, Coney Island, and Little Italy.

Then it was on to the Police museum, fire museum, and down to the NYFD fire boats where they embarked on a tour of the harbor and Ellis Island.

The group also made a few stops not available to the average tourist.

For example, the Port Authority Police gave the group a tour of Ground Zero's non-public areas. They also toured the NYC Police Headquarters where they heard about the department's specialized operations—and took pictures from the roof.

Around week nine, he said, the dorm-style living began to lose its charm. Luckily, he only had a week to go.

"Graduation was a big deal," said LaBair. "We had a lot of people there, a lot of families."

LaBair's wife and 10-year-old daughter flew down for the ceremony, and the trio toured Washington DC, including several Smithsonian museums, the White House, Rose Garden, and all the capital's monuments before flying back home.

"I'm honored to have been selected, and pleased to have done it," he said. "It's something that demands that you push yourself, so you've got to feel good when you're done. I felt I accomplished something, and felt I learned something."

But it was LaBair's already long and distinguished career with the OCSO, said Oakland County Sheriff Michael Bouchard, that made him a good candidate for the academy.

"He's had a solid track record as a substation commander, which is an important position for me," said Bouchard, noting that law enforcement officials consider it an honor to attend the FBI Academy. "So in some respects this is a reward, but in other ways it's kind of selfish on our part, because we get a more experienced and educated commander."

Bouchard has also attended several FBI National Academy events, including NEI—National Executive Institute—a training for leaders of large agencies across the globe.

"Certainly the credentialing and the interactions are fabulous not only for the person but for the agency," said Bouchard, who advocates the institute based on his own experience.

"I use those contacts regularly," he said, noting, for example, that one former classmate is chief constable for the Northern Ireland Police Service. "I could have an issue literally anywhere in the world and be able to pick up the phone and share information and resources with someone I know personally. It's invaluable."

The same is true, he said, for LaBair and others who attend the National Institute.

"It's not only educationally good for the participants in terms of their growth but it's good for the agency because they get someone not only who has furthered their education but they have furthered contacts."

Lt. Tim Adkins took the reins in Independence Township while LaBair was away attended the academy in 2003.

"It was the height of my career," he told The Clarkston News in March. "The academics were great, and with the international student population there were a lot of opportunities for networking. You have connections all over the world when you come back."

Serious face time

Scores of kids got a cool face painting from Show Off's Body Art, owned by Independence Township artist Donna Nowak, then spent Friday evening dancing to the music Last Man Standing at Depot Park.

The six-show Concerts in the Park series wraps up in just two weeks.

Country band Terri Lea and the Mustangs will play at the park July 20, and concert goers can dance to the sound of swing/big band with the Stardusters at the season's last event July 27.

See our website at www.clarkstonnews.com for more photos from Friday's concert in Depot Park.

The fun was bubbling up at Depot Park Friday!

Grrrr! Kendall Klinger made a grrreat tiger.

The pink paint on her face matched perfectly with the flowers on her outfit.

Melody Lynn Blay

Melody Lynn Blay of Clarkston passed away on July 10 at the age of 38.

She was the mother of Chantel; daughter of Margaret "Peg" (the late Allen) Dyer; sister of Alan (Kathryn) Carter, Les Dyer, Cathy (Ed) White; best friend of Rick Gaskins. She will be missed by many friends.

Memorial Service was July 13 at American Legion Post 377, 4819 Mary Sue. Funeral arrangements entrusted to the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Clarkston. Any donations to the family will be used for Chantel's future education. www.wintfuneralhome.com.

Lawrence Knox Parker

Lawrence "Larry" Knox Parker of Lansing died tragically as the result of an automobile accident at the age of 57.

He was born on Oct. 3, 1949, in Pontiac, and graduated from Clarkston High School in 1967. He served in the U.S. Navy during Vietnam, as a medic with the Marines from June of '68 to June of '74, serving several tours in Vietnam.

He worked his way through college at Hurley Medical Center while attending Mott Community College and U of M Flint, where he obtained a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science. After graduation he worked at Sparrow Hospital as an orderly in the emergency room, while he furthered his education at L.C.C.

Mr. Parker worked as an accountant for Fairchild, Lebel & Rice, P.C. He then worked for C.C. & S. Telco in Jackson, and was currently employed as an accountant for the State of Michigan, Department of Community Health, Long Term Care.

He was an avid fan of the MSU Spartans, Dallas Cowboys and Montreal Canadians. He loved to play golf, shooting a hole-in-one on Aug. 14, 2001. He also loved to bowl and was on two leagues at Royal Scot.

He will be dearly missed by his loving family and his many friends. He was preceded in death by his father, William O. Parker, and father-in-law, Waynard Jarrard. Surviving are his beloved wife of 23 years, Debra Parker; daughter, Lindsey Parker; mother, Genevieve Parker; sister, Paula (Larry) Stone; nephew, Jay Blanchard; mother-in-law, Nianne Jarrard; brothers-in-law, Lynn (Kathy) Jarrard and Dennis Jarrard; and his loving pets, Charcoal and Claire.

Memorial services were held June 18 at the Estes-Leadley Greater Lansing Chapel, with the Rev. Charles Herrick of First Presbyterian Church officiating. The family received friends from June 16 at the funeral home.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Capital Area Humane Society; Ele's Place; the American Heart Association; or to a charity of one's choice, in memory of Lawrence Parker.

Stanley David Cool

Stanley David Cool passed away July 14 at the age of 74.

He was born May 16, 1933, in Dearborn, to the late George and Ruth Cool. He graduated from Mt. Clemens High School in 1951, and went on to earn a B.S.E. at the University of Michigan. He served in the Navy from 1956-1958; there he served on the USS Henderson.

He became a traffic engineer while working for the Michigan Dept. of State Highways. He became president of Reid, Cool & Michalski, Inc., and served as the Consulting Traffic Engineer for the city of Midland.

He served on the Clarkston Zoning Board, and was director of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International. He held many memberships in his field of expertise, and helped the Gift of Life organ donation program. He was very skilled at his profession, and took a lot of pride in his accomplishments.

He became a dedicated husband to Sandra Gail (nee Stockton), on Oct. 19, 1963, and for 44 years their marriage endured. They had three children, Dori (Jeff) Zaidel of Elkhart, Ind., Stan (Rebecca) of Middlebury, Ind., and Staci (Michael) Boyer of St. Augustine, Fla.

He was the proud grandpa of Amanda and Brian Zaidel, Jacob and Mathew Cool, and Kelly Boyer. He leaves behind a sister, Grace (William) Schoedel, of Urbana, Ill., and a brother George, of Macomb. He was preceded in death by his sister June Berkhof. Stanley's family will miss him very much.

Joseph A. Miracle

Joseph A. Miracle of Ortonville passed away at the age of 22 on July 5 in combat from hostile enemy fire.

He was the son of Glenn and Judy; brother of Jeanette (Brian) Leshan of Goodrich, Julie (Matthew) Joneson of Lake Orion, Christine Miracle of Burton, Keith Miracle of Davison, Anne (Jamie) Dalton of S.C. and Douglas Miracle of Southfield; preceded in death by his brother Brian; grandson of Roger & Mary Weeks of Ariz.; uncle of Nicholas and Trevor Leshan and Adrianna and Alana Amormino.

He served in Operation Enduring Freedom, Afghanistan, having earned the NATO Medal, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Good Conduct Medal and Combat Infantry Badge. He was a graduate of Brandon High School Class of 2003 and captain of the Brandon football team. He is also survived by his 14 year old Dalmatian, Sissy.

Visitation was July 13 at Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Clarkston. Funeral mass was Saturday at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Waterford. Interment All Saints Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the family for a future scholarship in Joe's name. Online guest book www.wintfuneralhome.com.

Kids need good money habits

My young daughter doesn't have a clue where money comes from. When I told her we didn't have the money for an expensive toy she wanted, she replied, "That's okay. The bank will give it to us." How can we teach her the value of money?

"Our daughter operated a lemonade and cookie stand during a subdivision garage sale. We set up a table, signs and a play cash register. She helped make the drinks and snacks. Everything sold for a quarter. She learned the value of various coins and how to make change, and was able to use her earnings at the neighbors' sales."

-Jolie, mother of 5-year-old and 7-year-old

"I tell my children how much things cost. They're always surprised at the amount, especially since large numbers sound even bigger to them!"

-Moe, children ages 5 and 8

"My 2 1/2 year old knows Daddy goes to work every day. When he says 'Daddy, don't go to work today,' we explain Daddy has to work to make money to buy food and clothes. Whenever we run out of his favorite food, he says 'Daddy, go to work. We're out of chicken nuggets.'"

-Gwen, mother of 2-year-old son

"We give our child a modest allowance. She decides how to spend it but often has to wait to make a purchase."

-Cindy (mom of 7-year old daughter)

"Our #1 Rule: model good money management. This includes: living within our means, no impulsive purchases and "mindful" buying.

-Pat, mom of 15- and 17-year-old girls

Much of what kids learn about money does come from their parents. How we spend, save, even communicate about money shapes our children's future habits. Here are tips to start your kids in the right direction.

• Give your children the opportunity to handle their own money. If you pay an allowance encourage saving, investing and good habits. However, don't put severe limits on your children's spending. Let them learn from their mistakes. And no bailing them out!

• Watch how you speak about money. Don't scare children with adult concerns. Do explain the difference between wants and needs, and help them understand how to make good choices.

• Don't overindulge. As Pat noted, modeling is key.

Farmers' Market returns July 21

Clarkston Farmers' Market returns downtown July 21. The market runs every Saturday 8 a.m. until noon, July 21 through Sept. 8.

The market, now in its third year, received the 2007 Community Enhancement Award from the Clarkston Chamber of Commerce.

It was cited for enriching the Clarkston community by highlighting the efforts of local individuals, increasing the amount of activity in the community, and creating an opportunity for families and visitors to experience an American hometown tradition.

"Community is the key word in describing the Clarkston Farmers' Market," says Co-Market Manager Chris Hardman. "Our market is supported by donations from the community, run by volunteers in the community, and draws from food producers and artists around the community."

Volunteer musicians and performers come from the community as well. Opening Day will feature guitar music by Mike Bohne, who has been with the market since the beginning. Week two will feature music by the Sweet Briar String Band, another local favorite.

The market will open with 28 vendors offering standard and heirloom variety fruits and vegetables, local baked goods, coffee, ice cream, honey, flowers and other locally produced items.

"People are starting to pay more attention to how and where their food is grown and are finding that the quality of locally grown foods is worth paying for," says Co-market Manager Anissa Howard. "We're very excited about our growers and artists and we're anticipating a great response from our community."

New this year is the Clarkston Farmers' Market Cookbook, with 45 original recipes by cooking instructor, published recipe author, and farmers' market volunteer Pam Aughe. Part of the proceeds will go towards running the market.

The Clarkston Farmers' Market is a non-profit market run by local volunteers. It is located in the parking lot across from Depot Park. For more information, visit the web site at www.clarkstonfarmersmarket.org.

Rotary reaches out to SCAMPers

The Clarkston Rotary's first activity of every new term is the picnic for SCAMPers and their families.

SCAMP is a summer camp program for students with special needs. The picnic is an activity which has been a Rotary project for many years. Rotarians purchase and prepare the food. Each year, entertainment is provided for the students and their families.

The picnic, chaired by Rotarian John Priebe, provides an opportunity for families of the students to get to know each other, said Rotarian Mary Sloan.

"Usually, students are dropped off and picked up by their parents, and the parents never have the opportunity to talk with one another," Sloan said.

It also provides parents with another meeting with teacher, and the opportunity to meet the child's adult and student aides as well as the volunteers who work in the program.

Students are excited to have their parents meet their friends and staff members with whom they work and about whom they talk when they excitedly report the activities of their day at SCAMP, Sloan said.

"Everyone benefits, and a great time is had by all," she said.

John Priebe has been chairperson of the event for several years.

Spiritual Matters

because the male hierarchy feared Church leadership would be in the hands of a woman. While women are prominent in the Gospels and Epistles and obviously deeply involved in the early Church, later centuries were less comfortable with women in leadership roles. Maybe this contributed to Mary's demise in the patriarchal Western Church.

For a true picture of Mary of Magdala maybe we need to look to the Eastern Orthodox Church. After all, it was in the Eastern community in Ephesus where Mary lived out her life along with the Apostle John and with Mary, the mother of Jesus.

The Eastern Church praised Mary Magdalene's discipleship and never questioned her moral character. Hippolytus of Rome, in a writing of the late second century, called her the "Apostle to the Apostles." "Equal to the Apostles" became a favorite title for her. (Joanne Turpin, Twelve Apostolic Women)

Today Mary is rediscovered as a saint for the 21st century, especially by women in ministry. As a faithful disciple and an equal partner in ministry with men, she is a model for women and men working together in God's vineyard.

Frieda Arpoika is director of faith formation at St. Daniel Catholic Church in Clarkston.
