Wolves claim OAA Red title

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The gridiron gang of Clarkston High has officially earned bragging rights, after they defeated arch-rival Lake Orion Dragons 21-19, and earned the OAA Red Division league title with an undefeated 8-0 record.

"Typical Clarkston-Orion game. They were pretty banged up but they did a great job of putting their game plan together. It was a battle, it always is," said Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson. "If we see them again (in the playoffs) it will be another classic match-up. It's fun, these games are fun."

Lake Orion (5-3) opened the game by recovering their own kickoff, after recovering a fumble on Clarkston's first play of the game with 11:45 still on the clock.

On fourth and three, the Dragon's A.J. Palko was able to gain a first down on the 10-yard line. As the Dragon's fought their way to the 1-yard line, they decided to risk another fourth down play in hopes of a touchdown.

However, the Wolves' defense proved strong enough to hold Palko back from the end zone forcing a turnover. Both teams battled back and fourth as the first quarter drew to a close with no points on the board.

In the second quarter, the Dragons found themselves once again on the Wolves 1-yard line, determined not to turn the ball over again. Branden Oakes rushed for a touchdown, putting the lead at 6-0 with 9:46 on the clock. The extra-point was blocked.

The Wolves, not losing any focus with 7:46 left in the half, took the lead after Jimmy Popp ran a 2-yard touchdown.

As the teams' battle continued, Clarkston saw one last chance before the half to get another touchdown, when Nick Shamoun threw a 22-yard pass to Erik Thompson, who was tackled inches away from the goal line.

Pineda to face trial for murder

BY LAURA COLVIN

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The man accused of killing off-duty Flint police officer Vincent D'Anna was bound over Monday for Circuit Court trial after two days of testimony—including graphic and emotional eyewitness accounts of the accident scene.

Ramon Felix Pineda, 25, an illegal Mexican immigrant, is charged with second-degree murder in the death of D'Anna, 26.

Six witnesses took the stand Thursday, describing the scene on Sashabaw Road Aug. 26 as preliminary exam began in 52-2 District Court: The driver of a white Camaro repeatedly revved his car's engine as he hit the motorcycle D'Anna, 26, was riding, then hit it again, causing D'Anna to fall, then hit the motorcycle a third time, trapping D'Anna and his bike underneath the car.

The driver then attempted to speed from the scene, witnesses said, but was hindered by the bike and rider dragging and rolling under his vehicle.

Investigators say D'Anna was dragged along Sashabaw Road for about 60 feet.

Witnesses also testified Pineda attempted to flee on foot after the car finally stopped.

"All of a sudden the driver starts running toward me," said witness Brandon Wakeman, who was about to cross Sashabaw Road and head into DTE. "I yelled to some other guys 'get him, he just killed somebody.'"

Several people tackled the driver, witnesses said, testifying Pineda tried several times to get up and run away, while alternately laying on the ground moaning 'Why me? Why me?'

"He said it (several times) until another witness said 'you just killed a man. Why him?'" said Wakeman.

All witnesses who testified to hearing Pineda ask 'why me?' said the man spoke clear English. Pineda's comprehension of the language was an issue during the exam.

Assistant Oakland County prosecutor Rob Novy questioned Wakeman about the written statement he provided to police the day of the incident; Wakeman originally described the motorcycle rider as a black male.

"He was so black from the accident, his face

Planners stuck with rezoning controversy

BY LAURA COLVIN

Clarkston News Writer

It's back to the drawing board for rezoning plans in Springfield Township.

Township trustees flatly refused a request by the planning commission Thursday to appoint a steering committee to study hotly contested rezonings.

Property owners' concerns about the proposals need to be solved by the planning commission, officials said.

"It is... my opinion that the township board appointed a committee to deal with planning issues," said Collin Walls, township supervisor. "It's called the planning commission."

The issue first came to light at an Aug. 2 public hearing attended by about 150 angry residents.

Surprised by the outpouring of property owners who said plans were vague, unnecessary, and would ultimately result in lost income and decreased property values, the planning commission passed a motion Sept. 17 requesting the township board assemble a steering committee to look at proposed rezoning at Bridge Valley and Caribou Lake Estates.

A large number of complaints came from property owners in these areas.

But the board—including Planning Commission Chairman Roger Lamont, who also Ramon Pineda, center, confers with Defense attorney, Elias Escobedo Jr., in the 52-2 District Court, where his preliminary exam began Thursday. Pineda was bound over for Circuit Court trial and faces second-degree murder charges in the death of Vincent D'Anna.

Witnesses provide graphic testimony and hands, I thought he was a black person," Wakeman said.

Mary Miracle testified she was at leaving Subway when she saw the accident, and ran to help after seeing D'Anna dragged under the car.

Bystanders quickly lifted the car, she said, where D'Anna remained trapped after Pineda ran from his vehicle.

"His eyes were closed," she said. "I told him 'Hold on, help is coming.' He was gasping and gurgling, and blood was coming from his face."

Family members left the courtroom in tears several times during Thursday's testimony.

Dr. Patrick Cho of the Oakland County Medical Examiner's Office, testified D'Anna, who died early the following morning, was killed by multiple blunt force injuries to the torso.

Witness Richard Falck told prosecutors he was in front of the motorcycle and saw the events unfold in his rearview mirror.

"I saw the man hit the ground and the car just kept going," he said. "The car was bouncing like it was stuck on a log or a big rock. I can tell you for sure it didn't appear he was trying to stop. It seemed like he was trying to continue to go southbound."

Nathan Gearhart told prosecutors he helped lift the car from D'Anna in the moments after the accident.

"I fully expected to look to my right and see the driver helping," he said. "And he was not there."

Detective Sergeant Gary Miller testified that in an Aug. 27 interview Pineda said he had a few beers in the afternoon, then met with friends at Independence Oaks park, where he consumed four or five more before climbing back into his car and headed south on Sashabaw Road.

Moments later, he collided with D'Anna's motorcycle. A blood draw later that evening showed Pineda had a blood alcohol level of .16, twice the legal limit of 0.08.

According to Miller's testimony, Pineda also said he was driving too fast and not paying attention to the road, and that he became nervous during the accident because he was an illegal alien and driving without a driving license.

Pineda said he knew D'Anna was under the car, Miller testified, but continued revving his engine and trying to drive away.

Defense attorney Elias Escobedo Jr., argued his client's Miranda rights were violated because Pineda did not have a firm grasp of the English language and therefore did not understand the implications of proceeding with the interview without an attorney.

Miller, however, said Pineda's wife told him the man understood English "very well," and he determined the fact to be true as well.

In closing arguments, Escobedo argued his client's repeated revving of the engine was the natural instinct of anyone who knew their vehicle was hung up on something.

"The normal reaction would be to get off whatever they were on," he said.

Although Escobedo said his "heart goes out to the family" and did not dispute his client was responsible for the death, he argued second-degree murder was too harsh a charge.

"Did he panic? Yes. Did he run? Yes," said Escobedo. "But that was all after the incident and does not establish that my client acted in a willful and wanton manner. This may very well be a case of (operating while intoxicated) but it is not second-degree murder."

52-2 District Court Judge Kelley Kostin, who presided over the preliminary exam, however, said the prosecution had met the burden of proof and the charge was appropriate.

"I'm glad he got second-degree," said D'Anna's mother, Eileen D'Anna as she left the courthouse surrounded by family and friends Monday. "Everyone keeps talking about where the bike was. There was a person under that car."

"We feel like what happened (in court Monday) is exactly what should have happened," said D'Anna's sister Camile Leinbach. "Our whole family is still terribly overwhelmed by everything that's happened, but this is a stage we've completed, and maybe it is the start of the healing process."

D'Anna's brother Elliot D'Anna added he felt much better leaving the courthouse Monday than he had after hearing eyewitness accounts last week.

However, he said, those accounts did help the family with unanswered questions.

Novy said the case was assigned to Circuit Court Judge Wendy Potts, but he couldn't speculate about when the trial would begin.

In addition to the second-degree murder charge, Pineda also faces charges of operating a vehicle while intoxicated causing death; failing to stop at the scene of an accident; operating a vehicle with a suspended license; and false certification of personal information.

Antiques up for auction at historical society fundraiser

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Community Historical Society will host its first antique auction at Independence Township Library's meeting room on Friday, Oct. 26 at 7 p.m.

"It should be a fun evening, even if people don't buy anything; it should be fun to come to," said Toni Smith, Heritage Museum director.

Auction items include a child's sled, Oriental rug, cane chairs, parson's table, 1920s-era mahogany armoire, antique jewelry, paintings, and an 1890's stimulator doll, which is a figurine dressed and carrying products offered by the store. This would show shoppers what they had for sale. Boxes filled with small antique items will also be up for bid, Sith said.

"It is something new and unique that we have never done before - we're curious to see what the turnout will be," said Jennifer Arkwright, CCHS president and publicity chairperson Refreshments will be served during the auction. All proceeds will benefit the Clarkston Heritage Museum, located in the library.

Quality quilts

Fall Into Quilts show this past weekend featured dozens of colorful quilts, many made by hand.

This was the first show for Town Hall Quilt Guild, which is about five years old, said Linda Britton, show chairperson.

"It's going so well," Britton said. "Talking about the next show, it's 'when,' not 'if.'"

The guild first met in 2003 at Ortonville town hall.

"We quickly outgrew that," Britton said.

The group now meets at First Congregational Church of Clarkston, 5449 Clarkston Road.

Community projects include making quilts for local women's shelters and fire departments — firefighters keep a couple quilts on board their trucks for people burned out of their homes.

Guild members include people of all ages from all over the county, Britton said.

They meet the third Tuesday at the church. Newcomers can attend two meetings free.

Out loud

A column by Laura Colvin

'All that matters is the love you give'

I'm thinking of calling my column The Ryan Report.

That'd be cute. Then I can find all kinds of reasons to write about my Lil' Sweetie.

Ryan recently developed an adorable little smile, for example.

This is big news.

Better yet, I know exactly how to make that lil' smile lift one corner of his mouth, leap into his eyes like sparklers on the Fourth of July and spread all the way across his face until that toothless grin lights up the room. And my heart.

I just stick out my tongue, make a couple of silly noises and there it is—my grandson's beautiful smile.

I know, I know. I'm getting mushy-gushy.

But I think it's OK.

See, at The Clarkston News we frequently hear from readers who tell us what they like and don't like about what we're doing.

But I get more comments when I write about my Ryan than anything else (I checked in The Official Grandma's Handbook; I'm definitely allowed to call him "my Ryan," even though he's technically my Christy's Ryan).

Usually, people smile and say something like: "I read about your grandchild. It's your first?"

Or (this happens often): "How's that granddaughter of yours?"

He's a boy, folks. I've changed enough diapers to be absolutely certain.

Or, my favorite: "I didn't know you were old enough to be a grandma."

See, I think people relate. News is news, we've got plenty to fill our pages every week.

But without things to sustain us—the love of our family and friends, our children, our grandchildren, what of it matters?

None, I dare say.

It's been a difficult year for me. Divorce brought a chapter of my life—the story of a man who was once my biggest fan and best friend—to a close after 19 years. It was my doing, and his not-doing. We were just done.

Lay blame where it belongs

Dear Editor,

I disagree with my old friend Tom Stone's criticism of Margaret Bartos, the Independence Township senior coordinator. No one has done more for the seniors and senior programs in Independence Township than Margaret Bartos has. No one worked harder for the new senior center ballot proposal than she did. And, no one is more pleased with the new "temporary" senior facility than she is. She deserves every citizens' praise and support.

Rather, the criticism should be of those members of the Township Board who led the board to ignore the clearly expressed wishes of the voters by the resounding rejection of the ballot proposal for the third time. The vote was so significant that it clearly signaled the rejection was not just on an economic basis, because a substantial number of voters believe we should not have a separate senior facility or programs.

I was an active member of the ballot proposal committee and worked hard for its passage. I believe that if we are going to have a senior center, we should have one that adequately meets the needs of the seniors and senior programs. The voters disagreed. I accept that. Our "leadership" did not accept it.

They could not accept it because an election

State part-time reform needed

Dear Editor,

I could not agree more with the recent movement for a part-time legislature in response to the recent state budget mess.

Not only would a part-time legislature save millions of dollars for the taxpayers of the state and reduce the exorbitant amount of useless legislation, most importantly it would send a true message of reform to our so-called elected leaders.

Proposed legislation already exists which would require the legislature to complete their work within the first four months of a calendar year and meet in session no more than 90 days during that period. Since on average the current "full-time legislature" has only been in session approximately the same number of days, the change would simply require that they get down to the business of the State in a quicker and more efficient manner.

Such legislation would force the legislature to deal with the budget and all legislation in a timely manner, thus avoiding the ridiculous current situation of State programs not knowing year now looms at which they would have been called to account for their failure to get a new senior center. At the last election, those "leaders" garnered the senior vote by promising a new center. Unfortunately, they did not actually work on the ballot proposal campaign. If they had, they might have been able to deliver on their promises directly.

Concerned more about their re-election than the clearly stated desire of the voters, these "leaders" led the board to dip into the township savings to provide a "temporary" senior center. However, the reality is this new center will not be temporary. The voters, having rejected a separate senior center three times, even faced with replacing a dangerous outdated facility, will now approve a "permanent" facility... not for decades.

I am pleased the community seniors now have a safe and better facility. I am grateful for the volunteers, township employees and those who donated materials and time for the "temporary" facility. I am proud of Margaret Bartos for all she has done for seniors and this community. I am disappointed in those board members who led the Township Board to ignore the will of the voters.

their budget for the following year, and school districts not knowing their funding for three or four months after they have passed their own budget.

It is simply irresponsible for a legislature to wait until the last day of the fiscal budget plus four hours to hash out the behind-the-scenes deals that occurred on Oct. 1.

I have decided to run for State Representative of the 44th District to push for true reform in Lansing, including a part-time legislature. In addition to the above benefits, we will send a message to Lansing and the career politicians that we want change, and it begins with citizens and taxpayers overseeing our government.

It should not go unnoticed that at the same time that billions of dollars in new taxes were agreed to, nothing was done to reduce or save any monies from the legislators' salaries, benefits or lifetime health care. A part-time legislature is therefore needed to send Lansing the message.

News for them that like weird stuff

There are many times in all our lives when we need news that really isn't. Sometimes we need news that doesn't report the number of home foreclosures in Michigan; the number of soldiers killed in Iraq; nor the number of sexual blunders by any elected official.

That, dear readers, is why when I need a little lightheartedness and or a chuckle, I hop on the web and search out News of the Weird (<http://newsoftheweird.blogspot.com>). News of the Weird is "Breaking News Culled for Your Eyebrow-lifting, Sanity-gauging Pleasure by America's Weird-News Anchorman, Chuck Shepherd."

Chuck's the man when it comes to gathering all the weird news that's fit to print. Why, just this week I went to Chuck's place and was able to read about "Cypriot-born eccentric Stelios Arcadius." What is weird about Stelios is not that he is a "performance artist," rather that he has three ears. Yep, two on his head and a third... well, read below the story from the United Kingdom's Daily Mail.

"Performance artists are known for pushing the boundaries, but one Australian has astonished his contemporaries by having a third ear implanted onto his arm.

"The Cypriot-born eccentric Stelios Arcadius spent 10 years searching for a surgeon willing to perform the controversial operation.

"He got his wish after working as a Research Fellow at Nottingham Trent University's Digital Research Unit. The ear was grown in a lab from cells and implanted into the 61-year-old's left forearm in 2006.

"Mr. Arcadius said he thought art 'should be more than simply illustrating ideas.' Once the ear has fully developed, he hopes to get a microphone implanted as well.

"It is more of a relief at present than an ear, but it is still recognizable as an ear," he said.

"The last operation was in September 2006 and it's only now that I'm about ready for the next step.

"I hope to have a tiny microphone implanted to it that will connect with a bluetooth transmitter; that way you can listen to what my ear is hearing."

By the way, there are full-color photos of Stelios with his third ear, growing out of his left forearm. It actually looks like there is an ear under his skin, trying to pop out -- sort of like the alien that popped out of peoples' stomachs in the Sigourney Weaver sci-fi flicks of the same name. Regardless, it wasn't a good look in Sigourney's movie and it is not a good look on this dude's arm. I am sure I will have nightmares of this man and his third ear sometime in my future. I at least have this to look forward to as I grow older.

Pepsi man punches out
Coke man during delivery

By Torsten Ove, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

Pepsi has been trying to best Coke for years in the world-wide cola war, but Pepsi seems to have landed a blow in a hinterlands skirmish recently at a Wal-Mart in Indiana County.

An employee from each company was delivering products to the Wal-Mart on Oakland Avenue in White Township on Monday morning and "apparently bickering back and forth" as they worked, state police said. It's not clear exactly what the bickering was about, but as the Coke employee left the store, the Pepsi guy called him over to the side of the Wal-Mart.

There, police said, he "punched the victim three times in the face," breaking his nose and giving him a black eye.

Police did not identify the Pepsi man except to say he is a "known suspect." Troopers didn't say if charges have been filed, although they characterized the incident as a simple assault, a misdemeanor.

Flash! Michigan ready to take job applications

The sales tax on certain services adopted by Michigan could expand the government to the point where thousands of jobs may be created.

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce so suspects. My own suspicions have the same conclusion.

Jim's Jottings

a column by Jim Sherman

Reason? When the state goes about hitting dating, porter, phrenology and courier services they will have to enlarge the state payroll.

There will also be job openings for people seeking out baby shoe bronzers, palm readers, some astrologers and fortune tellers who may have inadvertently neglected to pay the six percent tax.

And sleuths will be needed to find and fine rest room operation servicers, security system, numerology, social introduction and genealogical servicers.

Isn't this discretionary tax ridiculous? Aren't the adopters ridiculous?

They couldn't live within the state's income so they come up with a discretionary tax. This is how discretionary it is. They picked on skiers, but left golfers alone.

That, dear reader, is good lobbying by stick swingers on green fields. The selection of 49 taxable services is reported to come directly from Governor Granholm.

I relate the final list as coming from a situation I was in a few years ago when a friend brought a question to our "business" meeting.

We were assembling weekly at Rob's Bar. After the kitty was balanced, this member asked us to help him decide on a deal he'd been offered.

A company offered to pay him $800,000 for something he had and they wanted.

After much discussion, and little reasoning, we friends concluded he should hold out for a million.

Asked about the original deal six months later, our friend said there was no longer an offer, that a new solution had been found by the former suitor.

Our friend probably felt like the small business owners of Michigan after the legislature passed and the governor signed, the "discretionary" sales tax increase.

I've been had! Was her's a bar room committee's reasoning?

As the Detroit News stated: "Enforcement promises to be a major headache for the state and the bookkeeping a huge challenge for the small businesses."

The News also said the state budget deal is one of the most unfair and foolishly crafted pieces of legislation ever to come out of Lansing.

However, I won't be taxed for a haircut, which is good news, and Blue Cross will pay for my cut wrists and psychological needs.

How can business executives read body language on a conference call?

The instructions on my pillow read, "Wash two pillows at once to maintain balance." I did and still fell over.

The original point and click interface was the Smith and Wesson.

The 2008 Old Farmer's Almanac offers advice to guys and gals:

Do not write love letters in red ink. It's unlucky.

Never court on a Friday, or you'll never meet again.

Throw an apple peel over your left shoulder. It will fall in the shape of the initial of your lover's name.

Do not wear mourning clothes when courting, you'll be doomed never to marry.

Meet in advance of a new Moon to be "noosed" together in matrimony.

Do not meet a loved one on a Sunday: Sunday's wooing draws to ruin.

Avoid saying good-bye three times at the end of a date. It's unlucky.

Grasp three cloves in your hand and think about a loved one. Then burn the cloves.

Burn these Almanac offerings, too.

Get federal help if phone becomes a nuisance

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

A ringing phone can promise a pleasant conversation with friends or family. When plagued by persistent telemarketers, it can become a threat.

For Mary Bucacink of Clarkston, phone problems started about two months ago. For her, a nuisance telemarketer wasn't even calling the right house.

"They keep asking for 'Juan' or 'Juanita,'" Bucacink said. "I tell them, 'there's no person by that name at my house. There never has been, and please don't call again.'"

Despite promises to fix the problem, someone soon calls again, two or three times a week. Lately, callers have become more rude, she said.

Calls to AT&T resulted in advice to change her phone number or appeal to the Federal Trade Commission.

"They can't do anything unless the caller says something obscene," she said. "It's so aggravating."

The first thing Bucacink or anyone else in her situation should do is register with the FTC's Do Not Call list, said Mitch Catz, FTC public affairs specialist.

This can be done by calling 888-382-1222 from the phone to be registered or visit www.donotcall.gov.

"In about a month, you should receive fewer calls," Catz said. "It's been very effective - 149 million numbers are on there."

Also, tell the company to put you on their specific do-not-call list, which would put it on record, Catz said.

"If they call again, then it would be a violation and you can report it," he said.

Recording the phone conversations is not necessary, he said.

"Write down the date, phone number and who they are and file it with the FTC," he said.

To file a complaint, call toll free 877-FTC-HELP (382-4357), visit ftc.gov, or mail to Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington D.C., 20580.

The Telemarketing Sales Rule allows law enforcement to prosecute violators who operate across state lines.

When asked, telemarketers have told Bucacink they were calling from places like Arizona and India.

Bucacink said she thinks the telemarketers may have gotten her number from someone providing a false phone number when asked.

"If someone asks for your phone number, just say no," she said. "Why give a false phone number?"

Tips to avoid tele-trouble

To help customers reduce the amount of unwanted calls during private time, AT&T suggests the following:

- Be protective of phone numbers. When filling out subscriptions, signing up for Internet offers or email accounts, buying groceries or shopping, think about whether you'd like to receive calls from them before writing or giving out your home number;
- Evaluate phone directory options, such as listing only last name and first name initial, omitting home address, or no listing at all. Phone information can also be available through directory assistance but not published on the phone book.

- If a return call is needed, ask for a call-back number or provide an alternate phone number, like an office number.
- Don't use phone numbers as ATM, credit card or bank account passwords. Also, keep items such as bills and other paperwork that may list home numbers in a safe place.
- Think about subscribing to phone screening services such as Caller ID or Call Blocker to help filter or eliminate unwanted calls.

The portrait of Civil War soldier Johnathon Phillips, his revolver and saber, all about 140 years old, are still in the possession of his descendant in Independence Township. Photo by Phil Custodio

Preserving family history

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Civil War soldier Johnathon Phillips' great-grandson, who lives in Independence Township, still has his ancestor's service revolver, sword, portrait, and a book filled with wartime letters.

Such a collection could be as Antiques Roadshow appraiser's dream, but they will never see it — it will never be for sale.

"My ancestors would rise up out of the ground and kill me," said Phillips' descendant, who asked that his name and picture not be used, to help protect the items.

"I'm the last surviving male — I'll pass them on to my daughter."

The Colt Army Model 1860 .44-caliber cap-and-ball revolver has notches carved into its wooden grips, perhaps marking battlefield achievements, and the saber has Phillips' name engraved on its steel scabbard.

"Imagine someone riding at you on a horse with this thing coming down," Phillips' descendant said, holding the sword in front of him.

Letters the soldier sent home to Philadelphia describe experiences in Williamsburg, Va., in 1862. They were collected and bound together by an uncle of the Clarkston-area descendant decades ago — he first learned of them about 30 years ago.

"One theme of the letters was, he needed money for tobacco — apparently they weren't being paid," he said.

Phillips died of "consumption," as tuberculosis was called at the time, in a Baltimore military hospital in June of 1864, at the age of 22.

Included in the book is a family tree tracing the family back eight generations to David Jones and Elizabeth Davies, who married in 1760.

Their descendants served in almost every war in which America fought. Their Independence Township descendant served in the U.S. Navy in the Pacific during World War II.

Survey asks for info on teenage drinking

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Do you think underage alcohol use is a problem in the Clarkston area? Do your teenagers drink? Clarkston Coalition wants to know.

The Clarkston Coalition for Youth is working with the Alliance Coalitions for Healthy Communities, which includes 13 other coalitions in Oakland County to conduct an anonymous survey with parents of middle thru high school students regarding underage drinking.

Kelly Hyer, who sits on the Clarkston Coalition for Youth board as a Parks and Recreation professional said, they felt this was important and started going to different schools passing out invitations for parents to take the survey.

Hyer said the survey is a good way to understand parents' perspective on the issue.

"Me, personally, I am not a parent, so it's hard for me to put myself in their shoes. So this will hear right from parents, what they're experiencing, concerns that are happening in their household," she said.

Hyer said it's a way to "get on level with today's parents and kids" and focus on issues that maybe more prevalent in Clarkston as opposed to other Oakland County communities, such as South Lyons or West Bloomfield.

"That way, maybe our community organization Coalition for Youth can maybe focus or reach out to other businesses or community supporters to see if we can't rally together to assist and support parents."

The ACHC is a grant funded organization focusing on reducing substance abuse including alcohol, tobacco and drugs.

Clarkston Coalition for Youth is a non-profit, grassroots organization funded through Oakland County Health Division. It offers parenting advice, organizes activities for parents and youth, and collects information and ideas on how to reduce outh drug abuse.

Donnis Reese, executive director of the Alliance of Coalitions for Healthy Communities. In 2005, 53.8 percent of 12th-grade students in a survey reported they had drank alcohol in the past month.

ACHC information campaigns include "Parents Who Host Lose the Most" and "Project Sticker Shock." Both build awareness that providing alcohol to minors is illegal. It also distributed "A Family Guide For Teen Parties," which outlines how parents can be effective role models and set limits for youth.

It also distributed "A Family Guide For Teen Parties," which outlines how parents can be effective role models and set limits for youth.

The survey takes about three minutes to complete and all surveyors will have an opportunity to enter their name in a drawing for a variety of prizes.

To take the survey or learn more about ACHC, visit www.achonline.org and at the top of the page will be a link that says "click here to take the parent survey and enter raffle."

Letter to the editor Get involved to keep success going

Dear Editor,

It may be little early to summarize the year in Clarkston but a lot has happened and this can all get lost in the end of year excitement.

We have a new police chief and a full time police force. By all accounts both are working out quite well.

We have a new bridge in Depot Park thanks to the incredible efforts of Jim and Gini Schultz.

We have agreed to do a study with Independence Township and Oakland County to see if there is a way for our two municipalities to work more efficiently together and perhaps even lower the cost of the services provided.

We celebrated Clarkston's 175th anniversary, had our usual parades, Concerts in the Park, Farmer's Market, and Art in the Village, although those last two groups need to talk to each other since it seems to me that farmers coming to market in Clarkston is part of the history of Clarkston.

Grants were obtained from the Oakland Native Partnership Initiative for new landscaping along the Lower Mill Pond, at the Main Street and Washington parking lot, in the hopes of making a future mini-park by the water's edge. Another grant was obtained from the Wildflower Association of Michigan and used to start a Children's Garden by the Depot Park playground and the new bridge.

We hope that once this is done it will entertain and educate both young and old about interesting plants and their benefit to us and the environment.

It was a lot of fun to plant mostly because of all the help we had from the children who were at the playground. At the end of this year we should have a presentation from three graduate students at the University of Michigan School of Natural Resources and Environment on how Depot Park can be made even better. There is more, but that's not a bad list for one year.

So what's next? In my opinion there are still a lot of things to do but I have been told by more than one person that I have far too many interests and causes.

Probably true and this would become far too long if I went into all of them, but here are a few to think about. Our parks and the environment will remain high on my list. If we damage either one of them it will take an incredibly long time to bring them back.

We need to get more people involved with what is, or should be, going on. We need to make it easier and safer to enjoy our city and to get around with less traffic and parking problems.

We need to keep the Village of Clarkston the unique place it has always been. A place that is better enjoyed at a walking pace instead of just driving by. This can make all of our lives more enjoyable, it can actually reduce our costs if planned correctly, and we can help others understand what many of us already enjoy about living in Clarkston.

If you are interested in Depot Park, walking or bicycling in the area, landscaping at lakes and streams, native plants, or anything else that you think will improve Clarkston, let me know. Let everyone on the City Council know. Let everyone on the Independence Township Board know.

Get involved and believe that you can make a difference. It happened this year and there is no reason to think it can't happen again.

Family makes life worth it

Starting over isn't easy, by any stretch. A new relationship with a man I believed was my "one" went south in just 15 months, and doesn't seem headed back. It's complicated, problematical and heart-breaking on the good days.

But then there's my Ryan.

We were slow dancing our way to Sleepy Town yesterday, Ryan and me, and the words of a Rosie Thomas song coming softly through my speakers reminded me to treasure these tender moments with my Lil' Sweetie.

"Cause when it's over, all that matters is the love you gave away."

Future Wolves?

Lots of kids and their parents took to the turf for a little fun after Friday's victory over Lake Orion.

Perhaps we'll see these guys in a Wolves uniform down the road?

Board kicks rezoning woes back to commission

serves as a township trustee—unanimously voted against the measure.

Walls said he'd like to see the planning commission discuss various parcels, along with comments and issues raised at the public hearing and follow-up meeting.

"There are some pretty clear, easily identified issues that don't take a committee," Walls said. "They just take some discussion by the planning commission."

Walls said he was disappointed the meeting minutes didn't reflect discussion of issues raised at the public hearing by the planning commission.

"But if the planning commission chooses to appoint a committee to handle some of those issues, that should be up to them," he said. "And I think they ought to establish some guideline and criteria for that committee, and I think they can first narrow this down considerably."

Township Clerk Nancy Strole agreed, noting the Bridge Valley Corridor encompasses many different parcels, and looking at where property and zoning lines are—and where they should or shouldn't be—may require closer examination.

Maps, help from consultants, and input from property owners and others could prove beneficial, she said.

"The planning commission might be able to accomplish quite a bit," she said, "if they put those areas that are a matter of concerns—in some cases legitimate questions and concerns—under a microscope."

But Len Gorz, who owns property in the potentially affected area, asked that the motion be returned to the planning commission with instructions to abandon rezoning efforts in particular areas.

"This is about the taking of our property," said Gorz, one of a small handful of property owners to show up at Thursday's board meeting "You don't need to talk to land owners any more. This is a legal issue that's going to strap the township citizens in legal fees to begin with, and in awards later on."

Gorz has several times told both the planning commission and the township board he is prepared to litigate as far as necessary to halt the rezoning of his land.

"I ask you to carefully consider that "It is...my opinion that the township board appointed a committee to deal with planning issues—it's called the planning commission."

— Collin Wall
Springfield Township supervisor

and have the lawyers start looking at this," he said, "so the citizens know what exposure the planning commission is setting forth, and eventually what you people will vote on and will have to address...probably at the polls."

The planning commission started work on the rezoning project about a year ago when a state-mandated review revealed inconsistencies between zoning districts and the township's master plan, as well as some zoning designations that did not reflect current use.

"The intent of the planning commission was to properly zone property in Springfield Township to reflect its use, or its planned use," said Planning Commission Chair Roger Lamont last month. "And to arrive at the best solution to ensure the desires of the residents and the future needs and goals of our township are met. Our intent was never to be unfair or take property."

In order to accomplish those goals, the commission created three new zoning districts: public service, parks and recreation, and resource conservation, which has caused the more ire among residents and property owners.

Documents about the proposed rezonings are available at the civic center. Call 248-846-6510 or visit www.springfield-twp.us

Strong record would mean playoff advantage

"I was real frustrated going into the second half with a couple drops I had, but everyone in the locker room kept telling me keep your head up, keep your head up, be patient and it will come, it finally came," said Thompson.

Thompson found his opportunity late in the third quarter when he was able to run 82 yards to add six more points on the board. An extra-point brought the lead to 14-6.

"Our strategy all year has been to outlast the other team and when they get tired," said Thompson. "We all have faith in our lineman—they can move guys and give us a hole and we got it. It was just a great call by the coaches."

Lake Orion found an opportunity to get six more points with 7:37 left in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Ryan Broth rushed a touchdown on fourth and goal, but a failed two-point conversion left the Dragons' deficit at two points, 14-12.

The Wolves found themselves in scoring position again at the two-yard line after Shamoun threw a 49-yard pass to Julius Porter. Jimmy Popp got another two-yard touchdown with 3:27 left in the game.

After Thompson kicked the extra-point, the Wolves held their total at 21 points. However, the Dragons found one more opportunity to score a touchdown and an extra-point with 22 seconds left in the game.

After Clarkston recovered an onside kick, they took a knee, letting the clock count down to their league championship. Popp had 101 yards rushing with 21 carries.

"They made key plays when they needed to—even when we would pull within two, they're able to put a drive together and go down and score," said Lake Orion Head Coach Chris Bell.

The Clarkston defense forced Lake Orion to four, fourth-down turnovers.

"We felt that we moved the ball, we just didn't cash in drives late. Short yard situations, they did a nice job defending us and I think that's the difference in the ball game," said Bell.

Bell said they are still hoping to make the playoffs.

"I'm proud of my kids, proud of their effort. The kids played hard and they have nothing to hang their heads about, they know they came in here and slugged it out and went toe to toe. If we see them again, I like our chances. If we see them again, same type of game, slug it out, here we go, and see who's left standing."

Clarkston will close out the regular season as they travel to Farmington Hills Harrison next week. If the Wolves win, this would be their first undefeated season since 2000.

The win could also mean Clarkston would get to play their first three weeks of state playoff games at home.

"There are some teams out there close to us as far as (playoff) points and stuff," said Richardson. "That's always a big plus to play here."

Kickoff is set for 6:55 p.m.

Church expansion to serve needs of youth, community

More than 100 members of First Congregational Church of Clarkston gathered to celebrate ground breaking of a 5,300-square-foot addition.

"These are truly challenging times not only for our friends within our local community, but also for our nearby neighbors in Lake Orion, Oxford, Waterford, and more," said Dr. Marty Hall, reverend, First Congregational Church.

"Many of our parishioners call these surrounding areas home, and we understand the need for an inviting environment where family members can gather together. We consider ourselves blessed to witness an addition to our church that our children's children will be able to enjoy."

Construction is set to begin Oct. 22 and finish March 1. The addition will be built onto the western end of the existing 12,000-square-foot facility. It will be used for more youth programs, Christian education, fellowship, and other activities for the church and community.

"Building this center also means that we'll be able to vacate our current youth house, which provides the possibility of expanding our 'Kid's Kloset,' a program that's open every Saturday morning," Hall said.

The program provides food, clothing, diapers, and baby formula to families with children through the age of 6, he said.

"Expansion of our existing facility, we hope, will have a positive impact extending far beyond our congregation," he said.

For more information, call 248-394-0200.

From left are Dr. Rev. Marty Hall, minister of First Congregational Church; Wally Campbell, church member and project manager for Woodside Construction; Ron Cieslak, architect with Merritt, McPherson, Cieslak PC; Dennis Weather, owner of Woodside Construction; Shelagh Vanderveen, Independence Township clerk; Pam Andrews, youth director; and Tim Andrews, youth director at the groundbreaking. Flu Shot Clinic set Oct. 18

Independence Township Senior Center and First Congregational Church hosts a Flu Shot Clinic, 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 18, at the church, 5449 Clarkston Road, just east of Sashabaw Road.

Shots are administered by Visiting Nurses Association of Southeast Michigan. If covered by Medicare Part B, HAP, or Care Choices, bring picture ID with current address, Medicare or health card.

Non-covered cost is $25. Must be 18 years old, or accompanied by parent or guardian if 14-18 years old. Pay by cash or check made out to VNAHSS. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, influenza is a leading cause of vaccine-preventable deaths for children and adults.

"The CDC recommends all children 6 months to 5 years old get vaccinated against the flu as well as those in frequent contact with this group - meaning moms, dads and child care providers," said Kay Renny, manager of Community Programs for Visiting Nurse Association of Southeast Michigan.

"More than half of the influenza-deaths to individuals under 18 years of age occurred in healthy children."

For information, call the senior center at 248-625-8231 or VNAHSS at 248-967-8755

Science takes over auto shop

Clarkston High School's former auto shop is making way for a new science lab.

"You don't see the hand's-on engine repair shop much in high schools anymore - it's more of a high-tech situation now," said high school Principal Vince Licata.

The Clarkston Board of Education voted Oct. 8 to approve $213,600 for the science-room renovation project. Work will include removing and filling in an overhead bay door, adding a storage room, doors to existing storage rooms, and restroom, and installing science and technical equipment.

The room will be used by Oakland Science, Mathematics, and Technology academy, based at the high school. OSMTech is a half-day program heavy in math, science, and technology.

The district received seven bids on the project. Builders, Inc. of Clarkston was selected, with the lowest bid of $193,600. Clarkston Building and Grounds Department requested and received $20,000 more for unforeseen conditions.

Work should begin on Oct. 22 and continue in the afternoons after school. The goal is to complete the project within about 60 days, by Christmas break, said Wes Goodman, director of Building and Grounds.

In the Clarkston area, automotive classes will continue to be offered at Oakland Intermediate School District's Technical Campus Northwest.

Historic barns give glimpse into past

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Paul Rumph of Independence Township has lived on the same farm for the past 30 years.

"I like anything that has stood the test of time. Anything old that has lasted decades and decades, especially in the throw away world that we live in now," Rumph said.

He was asked to be a part of this year's Barn Tour, set for Oct. 21, hosted by the Clarkston Community Historical Society. Rumph was told his barn dates back anywhere between 150 to 160 years old.

"It just so happens, the barn tour gave me an excuse to clean it up and clean it out," he said.

Rumph said he is amazed when he thinks about the process of building the original barn, having to cut down trees and square them off using old-fashioned tools.

"I'd hate to think how long it took to build this barn and the fact that it has survived for 150, 160 years is a tribute to the craftsmanship," he said.

A farmer's success was measured by the size of his barn, not his house, because "that's where the livestock and money was earned," he said.

"Nowadays they put the money in the house and let the barn go. It used to be the barn was the pride and the house was little. Now the house is big and the barns are just being let go."

Even though old barns are rapidly diminishing, Rumph has seen both young and old people develop a "romance" with old barns by wanting to take pictures of them as well as look at them. Old barns "give up secrets," he said.

"There's days when the sun is shining on the outside and it comes between the boards, if there is any dust on the inside you get those rays of sunshine that stream through the cracks between the boards," he said. "Late at night when you turn the lights on in the barn, it's just the opposite. If you're standing on the outside now you have all those vertical streams of light between every board flooding out from the inside and that's really cool."

Rumph said his next project is historically restoring the barn back to original construction. Over the years, many owners modified it slightly.

"It will be a fun, interesting project," said

Rumph. "We are going to utilize as much of the original materials that we can and what materials need to be replaced, we are going to replace those with original materials from other barns."

Rumph said for the first 15 years, he raised buffalo on the farm.

"I had 13 buffalo, 24 steers, four dogs, six

Bunch of bands at invitational

Clarkston High School marching band hosts 30 bands from all over the state this Saturday, Oct. 20.

"It's probably the largest one we've ever had - we're at the maximum allowed," said Mike Lewis, Clarkston High School marching band director.

Starting at noon, the Clarkston Marching Band Home Invitational will feature marching bands from all over southeast Michigan, competing in four flights. The Clarkston band will conclude the show, marching in exhibition at 9:30 p.m.

The band competes at area invitationals during September and October, working to qualify and compete at the State level at Ford Field in November.

"We're hopeful," Lewis said. "Nothing is guaranteed, but we're hoping."

Admission to the Clarkston invitational, 6093 Flemings Lake Road, is $6.

- Phil Custodio

Listen to Bible warnings about Mideast

In the Bible, the book of Daniel tells an interesting story that is very relevant to our current time.

Daniel was a man of God who fasted and prayed for the Lord to move on behalf of the people of God. In the midst of his prayer an angel appears to him. The angel tells him that God had sent him immediately after God had heard Daniel's prayer but the angel had been detained on the way.

The word tells us he was detained by the Prince of Persia and could only be released with the help of another angel by the name of Michael.

This story informs us that behind the scenes of what we see in the natural order is a spiritual order that interacts with and impacts the natural order.

Have you ever considered that what we see happening is not the full story of what is really going on?

Many people have heard of conspiracies in the world, especially when it pertains to things like the war in the Middle East. People suggest that big oil companies or secret world orders that control the world's economies make the real choices.

According to the Bible, the real truth is that there is a spiritual realm behind the scenes impacting world events.

Spiritual Matters

Pastor Loren Covarrubias

If you are doubtful this could be true, perhaps you should consider other things the Bible says about our present world. According to the scriptures God made a promise to a man by the name of Abraham. God told him that his descendants, the people of Israel, were given the land of Canaan in the Middle East.

When you look at history from a natural perspective it certainly would not have been likely that a people scattered to the nations of the world for almost two thousand years would be re-gathered to their homeland and able to form a nation again.

Yet, that is exactly what happened in 1948 when Israel became a nation. If you also factor in the enormous odds of survival by a group of people like this it becomes even more unlikely.

The talk is that the big oil countries surrounding Israel have much of the world reserves and thus tremendous power over world economic events. Yet with all this influence they have not been able to destroy little Israel as much as they have tried for the last fifty years.

Surely this indicates something mysterious behind the scenes making events happen.

When one looks at the Middle East today could it be possible this "Prince of Persia" is once again raising his head in defiance of the people of God?

Superpremium ice cream served on Sashabaw

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

When Erik and Shelly Alexander were looking to open their own business, they let their sweet tooth guide them.

"Why not ice cream - it makes everyone happy," Shelly said.

The Alexanders, residents of Warren, opened a Marble Slab Creamery franchise at 6315 Sashabaw Road, in partnership with Tim Jarrett. Makers of rich, homemade ice cream, they mix each cone or cup to order on a frozen slab of marble.

"It's super-premium ice cream," she said. "The taste, the flavor makes it so good."

Erik is switching careers from the information technology field, working for a General Motors' supplier for 12 years.

"We decided to get out do something on our own," he said. "Something that's enjoyable for the community."

They plan to join in community activities, joining the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

"We very excited to have them," said Penny Shanks, executive director for the chamber. "Judging by how well the public responded at the Taste of Clarkston, they will have a nice, long life in Clarkston."

Erik is also contacting local schools to invite students to tour the shop.

"I'd explain the history of ice cream, show them how to make their own, and give them a taste," he said. "It's cool to see all the kids light up when they see all the ice cream and the candy on the ceiling."

The shop stores candy, cookies, chocolate chips, and other mix-ins on shelves along the counter and ceiling.

"We make cones around 3-4 o'clock," Erik said. "The cone smell, the look of the place, puts you in the right mood for ice cream - I can't wait to do this full time."

Grand opening is set for 12-10 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 20. Festivities will include Kids Coloring Contest for free ice cream, free temporary tattoos by Show Offs Body Art from 3-6 p.m., games, and guest "scoopers." Twenty percent of sales will benefit Rainbow Connection.

For more information, call 248-625-8211.

Spiritual Matters

The present day country of Iran is actually the historical land of Persia. It is amazing how the defiant madman of Iran is shaking his fist at the world. He had made it very clear that Iran intends to build a nuclear bomb and nobody is going to stop them.

His greatest threat is against the people of Israel of whom he says have no right to exist and need to be destroyed. When surveying the enormous problems of the Middle East and the war in Iraq we must all be aware that there is more going on than meets the eye.

In the book of Ezekiel the Bible tells us of a time in the "latter days" of history when Israel will be invaded by an alliance led by Persia.

Persia will be joined by Ethiopia, Libya and also modern day Turkey. I find it incredible that a person 2600 years ago could have described a political situation so clearly as to what we are facing today in the Middle East, unless, of course, you factor in the fact that there really is something spiritual going on.

I am convinced that we need to be in a state of readiness in the war on terrornot just naturally but also spiritually.

Loren Covarrubias is pastor of Mt. Zion Church.

Margaret R. Woodley

Margaret R. Woodley of Clarkston, formerly of Knoxville, Tenn., passed away Oct. 11 at the age of 87.

Owner to share historic barn with public during tour cats, and three children," he said with chuckle.

Rumph's basement, much like his barn, contains years of history including old farm tools, pictures, even an old poker table.

He was born and grew up on the east side of Detroit with his brother and three sisters. He said all of his ancestors were farmers and "close to the earth," which is probably where he got his love for it all.

At a young age, Rumph had rheumatoid arthritis so bad he couldn't even put on his socks at age 18.

"I worked in the retail food business and they (the doctors) had me on 16 aspirin a day. They said until my stomach gave out to continue taking the aspirin and then they would put me on gold injections," he said.

A man Rumph worked for had a brother who was a chiropractor, Jim Craft. He recommended Rumph check him out. He ended up meeting and talking with Craft at a ball game, where he was told he might have a bone out of place in his neck that wasn't allowing his arms and hands to function properly.

"I stopped by his office, he adjusted me about 12, 15 times and all the pain went away in my elbows and my hands," said Rumph. "It blew me away. I was like 'get out of here, how can this be?'"

Rumph said after reading a couple of books Craft had given him and sitting in his office watching people get adjusted and helping people feel better, he knew what he wanted to do for the rest of his life, to be a chiropractor. After much consideration and prayer, he packed his bags and moved to Davenport, Iowa, where he attended Palmer College of Chiropractic and graduated with a 3.85 GPA.

"For me, work isn't work," said Rumph. "I've been doing it for 32 years now, and I love it as much now as when I started."

Rumph says he gets to the office at about 2 a.m. and sometimes stays until 8 p.m. He said he has many patients who are very thankful for what he does, but Rumph says he cannot take full credit.

"I tell them it's not me, you're really healing yourself. All I am doing is taking the pressure off the nerve and allowing the power that made the body to heal the body," he said. "You're body wants to be well, if you scratch yourself it heals. It's just you had a pinched nerve that wasn't allowing it to do what God made it to do. I've got a ring side seat at creation," he said.

Rumph said he takes very few vacations; he is either at the farm or the office. Even though he loves being at the office, he loves coming home too.

"I like being outside and being very comfortable by myself," he said. "Here I am with people all day long, this is my release. I come home and it's like therapy. I can just go outside, nothing I like better than putting fence post in, splitting firewood or moving rocks."

When Rumph purchased the property, he bought 39 acres, but then purchased the 17 acres across the street because he did not want neighbors directly across from him.

"How greedy of me to want a sanctuary and quietness, if I want to sing when I am cutting grass, I sing. If I want to roll down the hill, I roll down the hill," he said. "This is really who I am. Out here I can be me, I can dress the way I want, I can run and act crazy, and I can work as much as I want to work."

Rumph also said when he found his wife,

Paul Rumph's barn is on the historic society's tour this year. Photo by Trevor Keiser he found the women of his dreams.

"Everybody likes Patti. She is the best wife, she is the best mother, she is the best friend, she is the best person, (and) she has the kindest heart of anybody in the world," he said.

Rumph's chiropractic office is also family ran. His oldest son, Paul Jr., 32, is the office manager and property manager of the farm. His daughter Rebecca, 30, and his youngest son B.J. are also chiropractors at the office. Patti takes care of all the money, payroll, and paperwork.

The Barn Tour will be Sunday, Oct. 21, from 12-4 p.m. Patrons will meet under the tent at the Washington and Main Street parking lot to receive their detailed tour program and map beginning at noon.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. Children under 5 and under are free. Tickets can be ordered by calling the CCHS office, 248-922-0207, or purchased at the Clarkston Country Store at 21 North Main St, Chamber of Commerce at 5586 Main, and the day of the event between 12-2 p.m.

"The barn tour is about the love of old barns," say Rumph. "They just have a magic to them."

CLARKSTON
CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON
375 DEPOT ROAD
CLARKSTON MI 48346
SUMMARY
CITY COUNCIL MEETING
OCTOBER 8, 2007

Meeting called to order at 7:02 p.m. by Mayor Catallo.
Roll. Present: Catallo, Brueck, Colombo, Gawronski,
Johnston, Ottman,
Absent: None.

Charles Inabnit was appointed to fill the vacancy on the City Council caused by the resignation of William Rausch. Mr. Inabnit was sworn in by the City Clerk. Minutes of September 24, 2007, accepted as presented. Agenda accepted as presented after tabling Unfinished Business, Items 1, City Signs, and 6. Sidewalk Specifications.

Bills in the amount of $64,498.01 approved for payment. Johnston reported that the Children's Garden in Depot Park was started on Saturday, October 6, and the project is on budget.

Johnston asked that the D.P.W. furnished reports previously requested.

Gawronski reported that the October Planning Commission meeting was cancelled. In November the sandwich board signs will be on the Planning Commission Agenda.

Chief LaCroix reported that he was working on administrative items. LaCroix further reported that the Taste of Clarkston was well attended and police coverage was provided by the Clarkston Police Department, Clarkston Police Reserves, and Police Officers from Royal Oak. LaCroix complimented the work by Bob Pursley and the D.P.W.

Chief LaCroix advised Council that he had hired Troy Estes who will be working part time.

Chief LaCroix reported there will be a $250 cost recovery for arrests adjudicated to the 51st District Court.

Chief LaCroix advised Council on September Police statistics.

D.P.W. Supervisor Bob Pursley was not present; however, he had submitted a memorandum covering recent concerns of the Council.

The sum of six hundred dollars was authorized to be used to haul three 30-yard dumpster loads from the storage area in Depot Park.

Brueck inquired about lighting in Depot Park. Mayor Catallo reported that Ginny Schultz was in the process of obtaining lighting at both ends of the bridge. Pappas reported that Pursley has been contacting DTE regarding lighting in the park.

Council discussed repair of the Gazebo roof. If possible, the Council would like to have a metal roof on the Gazebo. Council felt more bids should be obtained on the roof repair.

Council questioned sidewalk bids and felt that contractors would require square footage amounts to be repaired in order to obtain the best bid prices.

Pappas reported that the FY2007 audit was completed and the final audit report should be received this week.

Pappas asked that the Finance Committee meet to review the FY2008 budget and make necessary changes. Pappas will contact the Finance Committee to arrange a meeting for budget amendments.

Dennis Ritter was appointed to the Planning Commission to fill a vacancy for the term ending in 2009, and Robert Bondy appointed to the Planning Commission to fill a vacancy for the term ending 2008.

Anne Clifton was appointed to the Zoning Board of Appeals for the term ending 2009.

City Council approved moving ahead with the feasibility study as outlined in the Plante Moran Engagement Letter received through Oakland County.

Ordinance No. 139 tabled for further study by Chief LaCroix and City Attorney Ryan.

Chief LaCroix reported that $6,000 was authorized in FY2007 for the purchase of a computer. Chief LaCroix asked that since this funding was not carried over to this fiscal year, that a budget amendment be considered to allow for this purchase this fiscal period as the computers are now available through Oakland County.

Resolved that the City continue paying Officer Thompson his current salary through the month of October and at the end of October revert to the new full-time salary that is to be established.

Council established wages for election inspectors. The City Manager was authorized to execute the County Ballot Layout and Programming Services Agreement between Oakland County and The City of Clarkston.

Halloween hours were set at 6:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Meeting adjourned at 8:28 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Artemus M. Pappas, Clerk
