The 21 incoming freshmen at Everest Academy's boys and girls high schools won't have to worry about fitting into a new environment.

As founders, they'll be creating it as they go.

"I'm excited by the opportunity to be the first high school class," said Patrick Nalepa, 14, of Clarkston. "We'll set traditions - student council, elections, drama programs, set up a game room, when dances will be."

"We'll set examples for other classes," said Anne Toohey, 14, of Clarkston. "The teachers are very good. We have a small teacher-student ratio to help us learn more."

Everest dedicated the new schools with a Mass and ceremony with Cardinal Adam Maida, Archbishop of Detroit.

"I am very excited to have this opportunity to preside at the Dedication Ceremony for not one, but two new high schools in our Archdiocese," Maida said. "In these times of economic uncertainty in our area, this growth is truly good news for Catholic education in Oakland County."

"I'm impressed he chose to take the time out of his busy schedule to be with us," Toohey said.

"I thought it was amazing, really exciting," said Tiffany McGrath, 14, of Oxford.

"He's down to earth," said Pablo Calzada, 14, of Waterford.

Maida said he is looking forward to watching the students graduate in 2012.

"Be sure to write me a letter and invite me so I can come celebrate with you," he told them at the Sept. 5 ribbon-cutting ceremony.

The announcement last year of the new high schools was good news for students and parents who wanted to continue at the Catholic school.

"Everest High School is the perfect home for me - I couldn't wait to tell my parents Everest was going to have a high school," said MacKenzie McClelland, student representative at the ribbon cutting.

"It's a huge honor to be the first class. The four years to come I know will be a lot of hard work. I know I'll become a Christ-centered leader, a positive impact on the world, thanks to Everest Acad-

Test scores fall

But results reflect larger testing pool, officials say

BY LAURA COLVIN
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

Parents and school officials around Clarkston got some good news—and some not-so-good—when Michigan Merit Exam results were released last month.

The good news: Clarkston High School juniors placed above state average on the Spring 2008 MME.

In some cases, scores were significantly higher; 18 percent of Clarkston High School juniors, for example, achieved "advanced" level scores in mathematics while the state average was 10 percent. Another 47 percent at CHS were rated "proficient" in math, while across the state, 36 percent scored at the proficiency level; 13 percent were "somewhat proficient."

The not-so-good news: 22 percent of CHS 11th graders—this year's seniors—were "not proficient" in math, and several MME scores were down from 2007.

In spring 2007, the MME replaced the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) at the high school level. The MME, now used as the state high school assessment test, is administered to juniors, as well as some seniors, each year in March. The MEAP is still used to assess students in grades 3-9.

Good or bad, said David R. Reschke, deputy superintendent, the scores are a learning tool for the district.

"In general terms, the district sees the Michigan Merit Exam as a chance for students to display a

Teacher found drunk on first day of school

A seventh-grade teacher at Sashabaw Middle School is on administrative leave pending investigation into her behavior on the first day of school, Sept. 2.

According to Oakland County sheriff reports, administrators summoned Det. Kirk Matich, school liaison officer, as well as union and human resources representatives, because they believed the teacher was under the influence of alcohol.

Matich administered a breathalyzer test, which indicated a .089 Blood Alcohol Content. Asked if she had been drinking alcohol, the teacher reportedly said she drank vodka the night before.

As she stood up, she lost her balance, fell, and hit her head. Independence Township EMS was called to help, and took her to Beaumont Hospital in Troy.

According to policy, Clarkston school district considers alcohol abuse a treatable disease, and offers the same consideration and assistance it would for other diseases.

Comment is limited by personnel privacy issues, said Anita Banach, director of Communications and Marketing.

However, "at no time was any student ever in jeopardy - safety is our top priority," Banach said.

"We will continue to work with any staff member within contractual confines, policies, and practices to promote healthy recovery."

ONLY $15.00 TO ANYONE WHO NEEDS HELP BUT HAS NEVER BEEN TO A CHIROPRACTOR BEFORE (Or Hasn't Been In A Long Time)

Dear friend,

If you've ever thought about going to a chiropractor but you've hesitated because you weren't sure it was right for you, please read on...

My name is Dr. Krista Seiter.

We are celebrating our eight-year anniversary here in Waterford.

I have agreed to "give away" (to anyone who asks for it) $250 worth of our services for only $15-that's right, $15. We've helped hundreds of people in Oakland County feel better and live healthier, more productive lives through chiropractic care. And now, we'd like to introduce even more Oakland County residents to the many benefits our profession has to offer.

For instance, chiropractic care may be able to help you if you are suffering from any of the following conditions:

- Migraine headaches
 - Lower back pain
 - Numbness or soreness in your arms or legs
 - Constant fatigue; lack of energy
 - Muscle spasms, sprains & strains and a whole host of other problems ranging from dizziness to ringing in the ear. These symptoms can be caused whenever the vertebrae in your spine are out of alignment, because these "misalignments" directly affect your nervous system.
- Fortunately, if you are suffering from any of these problems, or similar affliction right now, they may be relieved or eliminated by proper chiropractic treatment (commonly called an adjustment). So, if you have always wanted to "check out" chiropractic care and see what it can do for you, now is the best time to do so because...

For one week only, $15 will get you all of the services we normally charge new patients $250 for!

What does this offer include? Everything. Take a look at what you will receive...

- An in depth consultation about your health and well-being...
 - A complete chiropractic spinal examination...
 - A full set of specialized x-rays to determine if a misalignment in your spine is causing you pain or symptoms...(NOTE: Nobody gives these kinds of x-rays free, they would normally cost you at least $200).
 - An analysis of your x-rays and spinal exam results so we can see what needs to be done to help relieve your problem.
 - Helpful literature that shows how your body works and why you experience pain..
 - Answers to all your most probing questions about chiropractic care and what it can do for you...
- The appointment will not take long at all. And like I said, I normally charge $250 for this (most of which just covers the full set of x-rays). But now, as part of this one-time offer, you can come in and find out for certain if you need chiropractor care and how it might help you eliminate the pain you are feeling.

Before you come in though, you will probably want to know a little bit about me. So let me tell you...

Meet the Doctor

I have brought professional, quality, state of the art chiropractic care to the Waterford area. I graduated from the prestigious Palmer College of Chiropractic in 2000.

I have done extensive postgraduate work in research and science of chiropractic. I am certified by the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners. Having completed many hours of postgraduate studies has allowed me to successfully deal with problem cases, migraine headaches, chronic back or neck pain, pain/numbness in the arms or legs, fibromyalgia, whiplash, asthma, allergies, pediatrics and pregnancy, just to name a few.

Does Chiropractic Really Work?
Absolutely! Here are some findings from studies done by chiropractic and orthopedic surgeons...

Harvard Medical School Health Letter-Sept. 1990

"Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors, a major British study has concluded. Chiropractic almost certainly confers worthwhile long-term benefits in comparison with hospital outpatient management," said Dr. T.W. Meade, a British medical doctor who headed the study conducted at 11 hospitals and chiropractic clinics.

Federal Medical Study Endorses Chiropractic for Back Pain-US Agency for Health care Policy and Research December 8, 1994-A panel of 23 doctors headed by Dr. Stanley Bigos, MD, Professor of Orthopedic Surgery, studied 3,900 medical articles on low back pain. Their conclusions were that, "Chiropractic's manipulation of the spine was more helpful than any of the following: Traction, massage, biofeedback, acupuncture, injection of steroids into the spine, back corsets, and ultrasound." Surgery was beneficial only in 1 out of 100 cases!

Would you like even more proof that chiropractic works? Then listen to these comments from a few of our patients...

Patients Success Stories
When I first came to see Dr. Seiter I was in constant pain, with tingling sensations in my legs and severe pain in my left side. My upper back hurt most of the time, and I was tired, depressed and moody.

Searching for help, I tried physical therapy, Neurontin and other pain medications. Taking the drug Neurontin was a nightmare for me. After seeing Dr. Seiter, I don't need to take pain medications anymore, and my overall health has greatly improved. It has been more than three years since I have felt this good.

Sincerely,
Marie Van Zandt

When I first came to see Dr. Seiter, I suffered from low back pain, poor sleeping habits and high levels of work-related stress. Now I have much more energy, less pain and feel well rested in the morning. My visits to the medical doctor have been reduced by 90 percent, and common colds and flu are almost non-existent in my life. I am also able to deal with stress and as an unexpected, added benefit, I am able to exercise more to keep off the extra weight. I would recommend Dr. Seiter to anyone that wants to find and get rid of the cause of their pain.

Sincerely,
Tony Savarese

Guarantee of Great Service
Obviously I cannot guarantee results. No one can. But there is one guarantee I can give you, and that is a guarantee to give my best effort. Plus, if I do not think I can help you, I will tell you, and refer you to another specialist who might be able to help.

Limited Time Offer

Obviously, with an offer like this, I cannot afford to do it for very long. So I picked September 10th-19th. If you'd like to take me up on my offer and see what chiropractic can do for you, all you have to do is call our office and set up an appointment.

Fortinberry gearing up for annual motorcycle fundraiser

BY LAURA COLVIN

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Question: What's cool and fast, blue and silver, and up for grabs?

Answer: a custom built motorcycle to be raffled off Sept. 21.

Chuck Fortinberry, president of Clarkston Chrysler Jeep, is gearing up for the annual David and Wanda Harrison Memorial Charity Ride to raise money for Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan. He's hoping about 350 friends and neighbors will join him.

Participants will be treated to a late lunch while they mingle with friends and get ready to ride, and at 5:30 p.m. the group will roar out of the dealership with a full police escort.

After winding through the countryside, riders will cap off the evening with a performance by Lynyrd Skynyrd at DTE. "This ride is unique," Fortinberry said. "It's a beautiful ride through our own backyard here in northern Oakland County, which is some of the most beautiful land in the state, and let's not forget it's for a great cause."

CLF is a non-profit organization founded in 1952 by a group of parents who each lost a child to leukemia. Today, the organization assists families by providing information, financial assistance, and support to children and adults affected by leukemia, lymphoma, and related blood disorders.

Fortinberry said he likes the fact that much of the money raised by CLF supporters stays in Michigan and funnels directly to families affected by the disease.

"All the services they provide are for our friends and neighbors right here in the community, and across Michigan," said Fortinberry, who now sits on CLF's board of directors. "Often, one parent has to leave work when their child becomes sick; most of the money raised goes directly to helping those families."

This year, in addition to the ride and concert, organizers brainstormed and came up with a new idea: a custom-built motorcycle to be raffled off on event day.

Betsy Bonnell, CLF's director of special events, approached the folks at Dozer Cycle—the owner is known simply as "Dozer"—and Great American Chopper in Clawson to see if they were interested in helping out.

"It's been very exciting," Bonnell said. "They've been great. Dozer is very creative and he knows the business well; he really stepped up to the plate and make things happen for us."

But first things first, said Dozer. When CLF came knocking, it didn't take him long to see the obvious course of action.

"I said 'Let's bring the kids into the showroom,'" he said. "We have lots of different motorcycles to look at, let's get them involved."

So they made some phone calls and brought in a couple of boys currently battling leukemia, along with their siblings.

"We let them go a little bit crazy," he said. "Young boys in a motorcycle shop—it's a thrill. They ran around and looked at everything."

Dozer and colleague Steve Brown listened as the boys came up with one idea after the next as they discussed the project.

The group, he said, talked about everything—from color combinations, exhaust systems, handlebars and wheel shapes to how the gas tank lines and fender lines should look.

Finally, Brown, a graphic artist who frequently works with Dozer, came up with a rendering of the bike.

"And that's what I'm building," said Dozer. "It's the motorcycle the kids saw and what the kids dreamt."

Based on a Prostret Softtail design, Dozer describes the bike as a low fast-looking motorcycle—cobalt blue and silver—with a wide rear tire and nice sweeping lines.

ABC Harley, sponsor of Fortinberry's charity ride from the beginning, donated an 80-cubic inch evolution engine and a 5-speed transmission, and a number of others came through with private donations, as well.

In the meantime, the boys have been back to the shop several times while the project gets underway.

"It's actually very enjoyable to get them involved and see their faces light up," Dozer said. "They're kids; they really don't know what they're doing. But they'll be there to hand me wrenches and point out parts and laugh and giggle and joke and have a good time. And that's what it's all about."

Interested? Purchase tickets for $10 each at Clarkston Chrysler Jeep, online at leukemiamichigan.org or call Betsy Bonnell at 248-353-8222, ext. 227. Only 5000 tickets will be sold.

History of going green

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Local environmentalists see a threat to wetlands and open space. Coming up with a clever, alliterative name, the volunteers band together and draft a millage proposal to purchase Independence Township land for safe-keeping.

The group is Gravel Isn't Green, and the year, 1979.

An entry in "A Look Back," Aug. 27 edition of The Clarkston News prompted a response linking this year's Independence Goes Green group with the 25-year-old effort.

"It's really the same interests," said township resident and attorney Gerald Fisher. He was active in both millage efforts.

"We recognized the degree to which developers wanted to take away our natural areas, our open spaces, would have a huge impact on the character of the community."

From 1979-1983, township officials and residents fought against a plan by the Edward C. Levy Co. of Detroit to gravel mine 500 acres of what is now Independence Oaks County Park.

"The history associated with this mining plan, and the township's unflinching response to it, are important to bear in mind as the planning and development of the township now continues," Fisher said.

According to a Sept. 19, 1979, story in The Clarkston News, Levy attorneys said the project would have included environmental safeguards and restorations.

The Levy Company is a well-run business providing a needed resource — however, outside experts who examined the proposal at the time, said the mining would have destroyed a large expanse of the wetlands, Fisher said.

"This whole area would have been industrialized, heavy industry," he said. "There would have been a gravel pit in the wetland. It would have destroyed everything in the area."

Trucks would probably still be hauling gravel down Clarkston and Sashabaw roads, he said.

"It would have changed the character of everything — it mobilized the people," he said. "Many individuals and groups worked tirelessly to protect the township."

About 72 percent of voters approved the 1979 millage proposal, 0.3 mills over five years, expected to collect about $350,000.

The money was intended to purchase about 80 acres of Levy property.

This year's effort is not in response to a particular project like in 1979, instead directed against general development.

"Open space is so significant," Fisher said. "Easy properties are developed first, the more difficult ones are developed last. That's where we are now. If you fill it all in, you lose the character of the area — that's what attracted people to the area in the first place."

Take a walk to Stomp Out Stigma of mental illness

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

When James Fortune was a college junior at Holy Cross in Massachusetts, he found the simplest tasks unbearable.

"Brushing my teeth and getting dressed was too hard," Fortune said. "I was paralyzed, sleeping, frozen in a ball in bed."

Diagnosed and treated for Bipolar disorder, he recovered and graduated, going on to earn a master's degree in sociology at the University of Pennsylvania.

"How I recovered — an extremely supportive family, network of doctors, professors, friends," said Fortune, community educator for Community Network Services. "What I preach now is how important community support is for people with mental challenges."

One way the community can show support is to participate in Stomp Out Stigma, a 5K run and walk fundraiser, 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 20, at Independence Oaks County Park.

"The number one barrier to treatment is stigma," said Laura Richards-Farwell of Oxford, organization and community education supervisor for Community Network Services. "We want to create education in the community so people with mental illness can get help."

"We want to bring people together to show their support and rally together," said Fortune, member of the CNS Anti Stigma Team.

Registration is 8-8:45 a.m. The 3.1-mile race course starts at the Twin Chimney's pavilion and winds through the park on paved trails.

"We wanted a central, family-friendly location," Richards-Farwell said. "This is a beautiful, picturesque location, with pavilions and activities for the kids. It will be a nice morning."

The race, timed using ChampionChip technology, is sponsored by Runners World magazine, Oakland County Parks and Recreation, Oakland County Community Mental Health Authority, PCE Enterprises, St. Joe Mercy Oakland hospital, and Meijers. Governor's Council on Health and Fitness endorses it.

"Bring your dogs, kids, wagons, cats, whatever you need," Fortune said.

Entry fee, $25 before the race, $30 race day, includes T-shirt and refreshments. Top five finishers will receive trophies.

CNS, a private, non-profit agency, offers mental-health and social services. It's Anti Stigma program was created three years ago, funded by a two-year Michigan Department of Community Health grant. The program is now on its own for funding.

Fortune, along with Anti Stigma Team members Margaret Thele and Malkia Newman, give presentations throughout the community about their experiences, creating awareness and dispelling myths about mental illness, he said.

"We all faced mental health challenges and successfully recovered from them, to live happy and productive lives," he said.

Fortune grew up in Grosse Pointe. He moved to the Clarkston area to be closer to his CNS office in Waterford as well as his church, Mt. Zion Temple in Independence Township.

"Clarkston is a great town to live

What to do to show support?

Based on his experiences, James Fortune said family and friends can support those suffering from mental illness with small, random acts of kindness.

"It doesn't take talent or teaching experience. It's the power of love," Fortune said. "My parents' love — I finally caved to that. It was so powerful."

The road to recovery includes medication and therapy, along with family and community support, eating well, sleep, exercise, and staying socially active, all to achieve balance in life, he said.

"Everybody knows somebody with a mental illness," he said. "We're regular people."

Common Ground Sanctuary offers a crisis hotline serving Oakland County, 800-231-1127.

Richards-Farwell has been with CNS for 10 years, with Martha Rogers and Marti Hurford. She has been in social work for 15 years, working with mental health for 12.

"Every day, we help people live the most independence lives they can," she said.

CNS Anti-Stigma Program is working with St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland in Pontiac to offer "Your Blues Ain't Like Mine," Community Forum on Minority Mental Health Issues.

All Day Depression Screenings, also in partnership with St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland, is set for Oct. 10 at the Fox Center in Pontiac.

Wendi's Word

A column by Wendi Reardon

Where did it all go?

Fall is slowly creeping upon us. The gray clouds are settling in.

Good-bye sunshine. Good-bye garage sales.

I know seems a bit drastic considering it's only raining right now.

The weather forecast for this week is partly cloudy and in the mid-70s, but because of the rain my thoughts are on fall. I am really trying to dispose of them since it will be warm the next week, but it keeps coming back to September and the season approaching.

A good thing about the change in weather is it will be colder so no more iced coffees. My caffeine habit really has to come down.

Also, while it has been really nice to watch football games in warm weather, it's just not the same.

The countdown for the end of September began on Labor Day and it will continue until the last weekend hits.

It's a birthday approaching. Mine in particular. It's not a milestone year, more like an in between year.

Last year was the Golden Birthday, turned 28 on the 28th. Even though it's not technically over with, it has been a good year.

How will this year go?

Well, I already have the weekend planned.

It begins with Clarkston playing Southfield-Lathrup in their homecoming game on Friday night and ends with a visit to the Renaissance Festival on Sunday.

As for the day in between, I don't know yet. Maybe indulge in a few luxuries I have missed and have been craving, scrapbook a few pages, catch up on movies in the theater - well the movies coming out soon - I was able to see a few lately.

I have accomplished a lot more than I did the previous year, I paid off one bill and another one will be paid off within the next.

Even though I haven't seen my friends a lot, I do feel like it is easier to plan a time to see them. I know my schedule a month in advance.

Any wishes for the upcoming year? No, not really. Yes, I still close my eyes and make a wish when I blow out the candles.

What did I wish for last year? I couldn't tell you. It's not in fear it won't come true. It's because I really don't remember.

Well, that's my space.

In closing, "a very merry umbirthday to you!"

Where's our Obamamania?

Dear Editor,

Lonely little petunia in an onion patch, ever feel like one?

In the last election, I noticed something I had never seen in all the years I have been voting, a slate comprised entirely of one major political party, the Republican Party.

Until that time, I had not realized the extent our community is being underserved by not having a representative who may be able to offer perhaps another viewpoint. This uneven representation gave me pause and I began thinking of the upcoming presidential election.

Is it possible my town and neighbors are satisfied with the direction the current administration has taken our country as well as the promise of a candidate who has voted with it 90 percent of the time, assuring more of the same? Does my community accept the lies Americans were given for going to war? Are they ignoring the fact we, the United States of America, allowed the torture of prisoners? How can they accept the twisting of executive power by this administration for the purpose of not having to testify before Congress?

The economy, especially in Michigan, has failed miserably. Job loss and poor oversight of the mortgage lending industry have had many lose their hold on the American dream of home ownership.

Oilmen in the White House have allowed and encouraged our continuation of dependency on oil. More of the same, you may be sure it will be if McCain is elected.

I have tried to find others in Clarkston who share my concerns and have not been able to find a gathering of those who believe a new direction for our country is imperative. There must be others in Clarkston and surrounding areas who question the wisdom of continuing the policies we have lived with for eight years.

Where are they hiding? Are they hiding, or just timid about showing themselves in a community only able to produce a slate of one party? Perhaps it is the length of the primary that has some waiting for a more appropriate amount of time before the election to show their support. The time is growing short and the need for your support is now.

A glimmer of hope which put a smile on my face came just the other day as I drove along Main Street; I saw a yard sign of support for Barack Obama for president, then another at the end of my court sprouted. Perhaps there are more petunias than I know.

I have just ordered my own yard sign so before the election I may be able to coax out of the onion patch some other petunias.

If you wish to join me in helping to cultivate a garden of others who would like to help bring about change by supporting Barack Obama, please contact me by emailing MaParke2u@hotmail.com.

Thanks for successful parade

Dear Editor,

The Clarkston Rotary would like to thank all of people who attended the annual Labor Day parade.

Beautiful weather, enthusiastic children watching fire trucks, floats, classic and antique cars, and zany clowns wandering down Main Street all added to the day.

We appreciate all of the parade participants that took time out of busy schedules to take part in Rotary's 68th annual sponsored parade.

Rotary looks forward to seeing all of you at next year's Labor Day.

Thank You From The Clarkston Rotary Club

Some extra days for paying taxes

Dear Editor,

The last day to pay summer property taxes without penalty is Sept. 14. The exception to the rule is if Sept. 14 falls on a weekend or legal holiday. Sept. 14 falls on a Sunday this year, making Monday, Sept. 15, the last day.

Winter tax bills will be sent out by Dec. 1.

The last day to pay winter property taxes without penalty is Feb. 14. The exception to the rule is the same. Feb. 14 falls on Saturday, plus, Monday, Feb. 16 is a legal holiday. The last day to pay winter taxes without penalty will therefore be Tuesday, Feb. 17.

A Look Back

From The CNews archives

"1 more year" Despite the objections of two trustees, Clarkston Board of Education granted Superintendent Gary Haner a one-year extension on his contract. Haner told officials he would accept a salary freeze the following year.

"Re-deeding, sound wall easement nixed by board" For the second time in three months, Independence Township Board voted to deny a sound wall easement near M-15 and I-75. The property was under the care of the Independence Land Conservancy.

"Tuesday hearing on proposed tax increase for township police, fire" Independence Township was considering a 7.63 percent increase to replenish its rainy-day funds.

"Enrollment tops expectations" While enrollment in Clarkston schools continued to decline, early tallies indicated it wasn't as bad as predicted. Instead of 263 fewer students, the district was showing a drop of 189. The district had 6,032 students the year before.

"Safety path route opinions wanted" After eight months of debate, and after negotiating to acquire the necessary easements, the Independence Township Board wanted public input on five proposed safety path routes before approving construction. The routes included portions of Maybee Road, Clarkston Road, and Eston Road.

"PK workers raise $8,000 for SCAMP" The maintenance crew at Pine Knob Music Theatre collected thousands of returnable cans over the summer season and donated proceeds to Clarkston SCAMP.

Parade shows wonder of Clarkston

Dear Editor,

Clarkston – what a wonderful place to live!

The Labor Day Parade was grand. It was enjoyable, well orchestrated by the Rotary Club, and well managed by the Clarkston Police Department (as well as Oakland County deputies and Independence Township EMS).

Speaking of the police department, we want to thank them for trying to improve our property protection by attempting to close our garage door one midnight. Normally, we close it and lock the door between the house and the garage; that night we did neither.

Also, what a beautiful site to go downtown and see the very pretty flower boxes maintained by the Clarkston Area Farm and Garden Club. They are a labor to be loved.

Now, there are many issues and challenges the city needs to meet. But, is there a better place to live?

Rēdistricing didn't solve class sizes

Dear Editor,

This letter is regarding Robin McKenzie's letter to the editor in the Aug. 27 edition of The Clarkston News ("Large classes unfair").

I too am a parent of a fifth grader. Three years ago, our son was part of the redistricting Clarkston Schools did to alleviate overcrowding at the elementary schools. We were switched from Bailey Lake to Pine Knob.

That year at Pine Knob, there were four classes of his grade, the following year, 3.5 classes of his grade, and now this year there are only three classes!

We are also at 30+ students per class with no teacher aide. How did this redistricting help? Throughout the district, only a small number of kids had to switch schools.

Was the traumatic upheaval of these students worth it when we still have such overcrowding?

The Clarkston News was diligent in following the redistricting developments of three years ago and I would like to see a follow-up story to see what it really accomplished.

Green tax best investment we can make

Dear Editor,

A current ballot issue is the Independence Township "Green Tax" to purchase desirable local natural land for conservation, both for the present and long term.

We favor this very timely and economical approach to enable all citizens to help preserve our fast diminishing and irreplaceable natural resources right in our own area.

We live in an area of intense land development, and water and energy consumption. All of us are now seriously thinking more "green" in everything we do – to save and conserve for our own future and our children's and grandchildren's future.

Those who oppose this very minimal tax state there are other ways to save land and they ask, why should I pay to preserve land in someone else's neighborhood?

Our answers from our own personal experience: most all land saving resources, whether government funded or private, also require seed money to start the process. And we all pay ever more in taxes for the costs of increased goods and services in the next new or enlarged subdivision.

So isn't this green tax indeed an excellent small investment in future planning? To save some remaining prime land now as well as reduce the cost of ever more infrastructure?

It has become a proven method as more and more foresighted communities both nationally and in southeast Michigan go ahead with similar means to save our invaluable open land.

As for ourselves, we have been residents of the Independence Township community for almost 50 years and participating members of the North Oakland (Independence) Land Conservancy for 20 years.

In that time, we have permanently set aside in conservation easements our own homestead property, and not just for our own benefit but also so others in the area may enjoy walking, seeing animals, nature, and open space.

If you do not have land of your own to conserve, or even if you do, please join in this effort at a very minimal cost to save for future generations.

It is a best investment we as individuals can ever make. We are reminded of a large sign seen in one of our vast and still sparse western states. By only changing that other "M" state to ours, it would read, "Michigan's Land: When It's Gone, It's Gone!"

Thank you for reading our position on this.

Sincerely,

Tom and Loraine Hall

Rotary clown seeks photographs of herself

Dear Editor,

To all the onlookers at the Labor Day Parade, I want to thank all the people who got out of bed then waited on the streets to watch our parade.

The clowns had a great time

CLOWNING around. In the confusion of the day I forgot to get some pictures of myself to prove that I was as silly as I was.

If anyone has pictures of the clown with the crazy hair and toilet paper from her shoe I'd love a copy.

If you have some please call me 248-625-9741 to make arrangements.

Cudo's to the Clarkston Rotary for the great parade and all those who cheered us on.

Just Jotting, again

Another week, and again I have no single thought. So, I'll just try to lighten your day.

• A lady was extremely upset because her husband forgot their wedding anniversary. She warned him, "Tomorrow morning I expect to find a gift in the driveway that goes from 0 to 200 in less than 10 seconds. IT BETTER BE THERE!"

The next morning she found, in her driveway, a brand new digital bathroom scale.

• There's a sushi bar that caters to lawyers. It's called Sosumi.

• How does an attorney sleep? First he lies on one side, then he lies on the other.

• Epitaph in Scotland: Stranger, tread this ground with gravity: Dentist Brown is filling his last cavity.

The it-wasn't-me syndrome:

The mayor of Detroit said aloud in court, at least twice, "I lied." Then, at separate times, he and his lawyer both blamed the media and our governor for Kwame's troubles. Without that interference they'd have gone to trial and won, because he was innocent. I believe he believes it wasn't his fault.

The Detroit Tigers signed the world's greatest hitters and starting pitchers before the season started. They were World Series bound. But, here in September the umpiring was especially bad, injuries mounted and too many had off-days. Not their fault.

China is blamed for this country's economic slowdown. Michigan's roads are lacking repairs because the Federal government hasn't helped enough. Other states are taking Michigan jobs. There's nothing we can do. It's not our fault.

Professional golfers are different from other sports pros. Golfers are paid in direct proportion to how well they play. Golfers don't hold out for more money, or demand new contracts, because of another player's deal. Golfers keep their clothes on while being interviewed.

At the beginning of every school year my thoughts turn to my one-room school days.

Schools without kindergarten, when everyone walked to school (2-miles each way, uphill, in two feet of snow), when a good deed was rewarded with the privilege of wiping the blackboard. Today that's probably a chalkboard.

Days when a teacher could rap your knuckles with a ruler, sit you in a corner with dunce hat on and we had inkwells in our desks, but no ink; desks with somebody else's initials carved, belfry bells and seatmates.

Recently there was a report of a 98-year-old lady named Irena, who died. During WWII, Irena got permission to work in the Warsaw "ghetto" as a plumbing/sewer specialist.

She had an ulterior motive. Being German, she KNEW what the Nazi plans were for Jews. Irena smuggled infants out in the bottom of the tool box she carried, and she carried in the back of her truck a burlap bag for larger kids.

She also had a dog in the back, that she trained to bark when Nazi soldiers let her in and out of the ghetto. The soldiers, of course, wanted nothing to do with the dog, and the barking covered the kids/infants noises.

During her time and course of doing this, she managed to smuggle out and save 2,500 children. When she was caught, the Nazis broke both her legs and arms and beat her severely. Irena kept a record of the names of the children she smuggled out, and kept them in a glass jar buried under a tree in her yard.

After the war, she tried to locate any parents that may have survived and reunited them with the family.

Most, of course, had been gassed. Those kids she helped get placed into foster family homes or adopted.

Last year, Irena was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize. She lost to Al Gore.

Business owners bring back Junior Miss program

BY LAURA COLVIN

Clarkston News Staff Writer

When two local business owners decided to revive a forgotten program and help send young women to college, they didn't anticipate their biggest problem would be money.

Until recently, Michigan's only local Junior Miss programs were taking place in Houghton Lake, Inkster, Plymouth-Canton and Wayne-Westland.

But Debbie Wertz and Kathy Chojnowski, both of Clarkston, set out to change that.

"We want to stress heavily, this is not a beauty pageant or a Miss America-type thing," said Chojnowski, co-chair of the new North Oakland Junior Miss program. "It's totally scholastic, the girls are never asked to put on a bathing suit or anything like that."

Quite the opposite; America's Junior Miss was founded in 1958 to encourage personal development, emphasize education and provide scholarships to college-bound high school girls.

Today, more than 5,000 young women participate at local and state levels each year, competing in scholastic, talent, interview, spirit, community service, fitness, self-expression and "Be Your Best Self" categories.

Years ago, Chojnowski explained, Clarkston hosted a Junior Miss program, but the tradition ended when the chairperson stepped down.

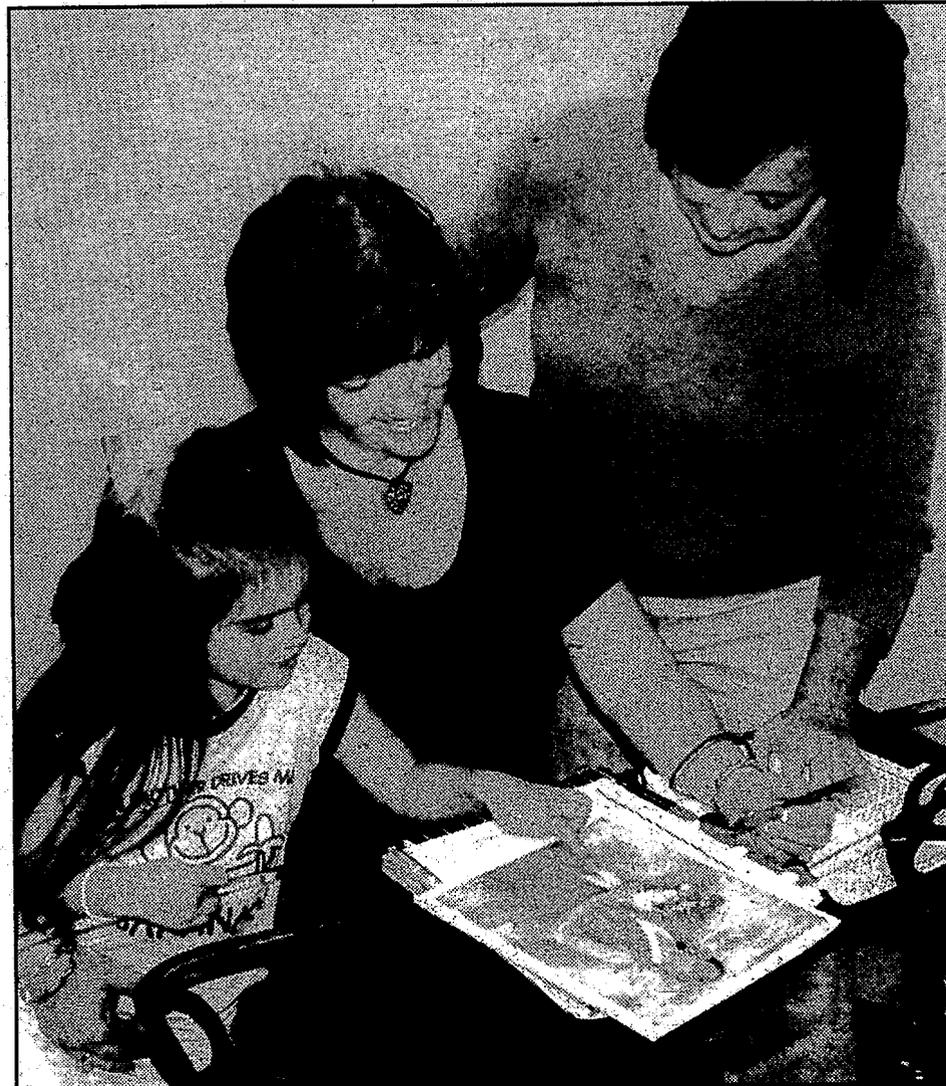

But Chojnowski, who owns Emotions Dance Productions in Clarkston, along with friend and co-chair Wertz, who owns Bella Pointe Dance and Performing Arts, also in Clarkston, decided it was time to bring the program back.

And brought it back they did—the new North Oakland chapter of America's Junior Miss, which includes Clarkston, Lake Orion, Brandon and Waterford, is gearing up for its inaugural season.

High school senior girls from each community are eligible to take part—no one is turned away, and there are no fees to participate.

America's Junior Miss programs exist on local, state and national levels. Typically, girls begin at the local level; top-finishers move to the state level—Michigan's competition takes place in Ann Arbor—and one top finisher from each state moves on to the national competition in Mobile, Alabama, this year for the 52nd Annual America's Junior Miss National Finals, June 25-27, 2009.

Past participants include Diane Sawyer, Deborah Norville, Kathie Lee Gifford, Kim

Basinger and Debra Messing.

"The girls get a real sense of accomplishment from taking part in this," said Wertz, noting participants come away with new skills in interviewing, public speaking, and community service, as well as reinforced self-confidence. "I wish it were around when my girls were seniors in high school; unless you know you can enter at-large, you wouldn't even know about the program."

Chojnowski's daughter, a Clarkston High School graduate, in fact, did enter at-large since there was no local chapter, and participated at the state level without any real preliminary preparation.

When that happens, Chojnowski said, the girls miss out on local scholarship opportunities and don't get the ground-level experience as those who hail from communities with local programs.

"When they get to the state program, they're ten steps behind all the other contestants," she said. "The other girls have had some coaching and some experience in to how to actually work the program."

The inaugural competition—themed "Premiere"—is slated to take place at Clarkston High School on a Saturday in December, although the exact date was not yet certain.

But while plans are becoming reality and details are falling into place, Wertz and Chojnowski still have one large problem on their hands: money.

With a flagging economy taking its toll, many local businesses have been forced to scale back on charitable donations.

"The first thing everyone says is 'We would love to, but times are tough,'" said Wertz. "It's understandable, we both have a business, we know times are tough."

But Junior Miss can't fund scholarships without support from the community. Student loans are getting tougher to obtain, Wertz pointed out, and many families are having a difficult time saving for college. "There are a lot of kids who don't end up going to the college they wanted to go to, or at all," Chojnowski said, noting each sponsor will be listed on the organization's website, as well as in the event program. "Every little bit people can donate will help us with scholarships."

Wertz echoed the sentiment, and said while it's taken some work to get the program up and going again, obtaining funding has been unexpectedly difficult.

"It's been a lot harder getting the support from local businesses than I thought it would be," she said. "We're not even close to any goals we had for raising money; that's the biggest challenge."

For more information on entering or sponsoring the North Oakland Junior Miss program, contact Debbie Wertz at 248-202-3480 or Kathy Chojnowski at 248-821-9467.

Reports from Clarkston Police, Oakland County Sheriff Deputies and Independence Township Fire Department

Improper guest behavior

A Lancaster Hill Drive couple found their guest, a 20-year-old Waterford Township man, passed out in their bathroom, about 11:30 p.m., Sept. 4.

The guest had a needle in his arm, so they called 911. Responding Independence Township EMS and Oakland County deputy took him to POH. Before heading off to the hospital, the deputy collected the needle and spoon, which held a small rock testing positive for heroin.

The suspect was cleared medically, arrested for possession of heroin, and taken to Oakland County Jail.

Sloppy road work

An 18-year-old Davisburg woman was driving under the I-75 overpass on Clintonville Road, about 11:15 a.m., Sept. 3, when wet cement splashed onto her car, from freeway construction work.

She washed her car but couldn't get the cement off. Sheriff deputies recommended she file an insurance claim.

Opportunists in the dark

A homeowner on Mann Road forgot to lock her car's doors after getting her purse, Sept. 1. The next morning, she told deputies her doors were opened and stereo equipment, missing.

A call for help

A Cedar Knoll Court resident called police to report neighbors blasting his home with high power laser beams, about 8:13 a.m., Sept. 2.

Talking to the 54-year-old man, the responding deputy found he had not been taking his medicine for anxiety for a couple weeks.

Neighbors, who had no lasers in their home, said they were worried about him. The deputy called his out-of-state sister to talk to her about their concerns.

Speeder goes to jail

On Clintonville Road radar duty, 8:45 a.m., Aug. 28, a deputy watched as a blue Buick zipped by at 64 mph in a 45 mph zone. Stopped at Waldon Road, the driver, a 20-year-old Independence Township man, had a warrant for parole absconder, no bond, and failure to appear.

He was taken to Oakland County Jail and his vehicle impounded.

Smoked chicken?

Independence Township firefighters and deputies were dispatched to an Autumnwood Court home, 5:35 p.m., Sept. 2. Smoke was coming out of a window when they entered the apartment, and found the stove left on with a burnt chicken inside.

Must not be Spartan fans

Someone entered a Klais Drive homeowner's two unlocked vehicles, Sept. 2, and stole $6,350 in property, including jewelry, electronics, and eight University of Michigan football tickets.

Close call

A Fenton man called Oakland County deputies, 8:55 p.m., Aug. 27, to ask them to check on his ex-wife and daughter.

They found the mother and child at home on Susin Lane in Springfield Township. The girl was in a vehicle and her mother was getting ready to leave.

She reportedly admitted to drinking six beers and tested 0.25 Blood Alcohol Content - drivers must have less than 0.08 BAC.

Her ex-husband drove down to pick up the child.

Too much curiosity

A 50-year-old Independence Township man was looking around a construction site on Maybee Road, 7 p.m., Aug. 31, when he slipped in a puddle of water and hurt his left hip.

Responding deputy noted "no trespassing" signs at the site, but found nothing in the man's vehicle. He was taken to Genesys for treatment.

Where's the beef?

On patrol, a Oakland County deputy noticed a pickup truck equipped with freezer, about 7:25 p.m., Aug. 28, on Timber Ridge Trail. Two men, one from Detroit and the other from Flint, said they were selling meats door to door. They didn't have a permit. The Flint man, however, did have two traffic warrants out of Saginaw. The deputy cited them for soliciting without permits.

Students have high hopes for high schools

The high school continues Everest's mission of Catholic formation education, said Dr. Miguel Lis-Planells, father of student Alexandra Lis-Planells.

“The mission goes beyond just the high school experience and college – 85 percent of behavioral disorders such as smoking, alcohol, and drugs are acquired between the ages of 13 and 19,” Miguel said. “The vulnerable high school years demand the nurturing, sheltered environment.”

“I know the school will help me live a Christ-centered life, with God's help,” Calzada said.

Founded in 1991, Everest has grown from 20 students to 440. The 90-acre Clarkston Road campus also includes Everest Academy Girls' School and Boys' School, grades 3-8, and co-educational Elementary School, kindergarten-second grade, and Preschool, ages 3-4.

“Credit goes to the Holy Spirit,” said Beverly Thewes, who with her husband Thomas Thewes helped found the school.

At the time, she remembers discussing the name for the new academy. One was “Mary's Little Lambs,” Beverly said.

“Father (Lorenzo) Gomez said no,” she said. “Could you imagine going to a high school called ‘Mary's Little Lambs?’ – that's the Holy Spirit.”

The new school is like the Parable of the Talents, told by Jesus in the New Testament, Gomez said.

In the parable, good servants take their master's talents, which in Biblical times were units of treasure, and increased them through investment. The bad servant, however, just buried his talent, gaining nothing.

“It's like Jesus is giving us a talent, the high school,” Gomez said. “He will come back years later and ask what we did with it. That depends on the work of parents and students – we put everything in the hands of the Blessed Virgin.”

Everest Catholic Boys' High School is in the International Building on the campus' east side. Everest Catholic Girls' High School is on the second floor of the Girls' School. Everest will add a new freshman class each year.

“We are blessed to have the opportunity to open a new Catholic high school in the Archdiocese of Detroit,” said Father Daniel Pajerski, director of formation. “At Everest, we will focus on the development of confident, Christ-centered leaders who will leave here with the ability to go into the world and change it for the better.”

Everest's college-preparatory curriculum focuses on academic excellence, spiritual formation, character development, and apostolic service to the community, he said.

The academy offers sports this year through a partnership with Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic School, with plans to build new facilities and buildings as enrollment warrants, said Kelly Luttinen, Everest media relations coordinator.

Dr Robert Barnes and Dr. Michael Baker believe in community transportation for seniors.

Your help can keep buses rolling

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Last year, Independence Township Senior Center vehicles drove 63,141 miles, transporting nearly 7,500 senior citizens and people with handicaps to physician appointments, dialysis treatments, grocery stores, and elsewhere.

This Sunday, locals can help them stay on the road at the second annual Bucks for Buses at Fountains Golf and Banquet Center.

Dr. Michael Baker, M.D., and Dr. Robert Barnes, D.O., of Clarkston Medical Group explain the importance for seniors to get to their doctor appointments and to the grocery store.

“It’s common for us -- as we get older -- to develop a variety of conditions that might benefit from medical and healthcare services a doctor could provide or coordinate,” said Baker. “The only way to do that practically is the individual has to come in on a periodic basis.”

Phone calls give a little information, but usually not enough to “accurately assess” the situation, Baker said. Doctors are limited to what they can do with a patient without seeing them.

“If we put them on medication or administer some treatment, it’s good for them to come back at some point after that visit to assess the effect of the treatment, whether it’s helping, whether they’re tolerating their treatment, whatever,” Baker said.

Barnes agreed. “A lot of patients are home-bound and rely in visiting nursing agents to help out with care at home, but that’s limited to what a visiting nurse can do,” he said. “I agree as far as diagnostically testing, and physically seeing a patient. We need to treat appropriately, something that requires being seen in an office.”

Over the years, both Baker and Barnes have made “house calls.” But, that’s not enough.

“From my standpoint, it’s a very unsatisfactory way of doing it. I’m never really comfortable that it’s worth the effort and really provides much benefit for the patient,” Baker said. “I think with the technology we have these days, there is a lot that can be done for people of all ages, but in most cases the most practical way or safest way to do that is to have them be seen in the office.”

A common problem affecting seniors is arthritis, which affects their ability to walk and get around easily. Also, their inability to drive may be due to vision problems and they may not have the coordination and reflexes they once had.

“Even some mild confusion, which may not impair them bad enough to going out the community for a doctor’s visit or the grocery store, but would impair them from being able to drive safely,” said Baker.

The doctors believe the local bus system is important because it gets seniors to the grocery store, which is an important aspect to health. Often times elderly rely upon friends, neighbors, or family members to help get them around -- not all seniors have those options.

“Not getting to the grocery store can have negative impact on seniors. They don’t eat appropriately because they don’t have food,” Barnes said. “They don’t have access to get the necessities. Those things may not be emergencies. When you talk about transportation to a dialysis treatment, that is an emergency. You can’t miss dialysis without it being an emergency.”

This is why Baker stressed the need for local transportation.

“I think the community service where people can be transported to the physician’s office or the healthcare facility is really important for many people,” he said. “If they didn’t have that service there would be a lot of people who wouldn’t be able to get in and get the care they need and the follow up they need.”

Dr. Tim O’Neill, president of Clarkston Medical Group, is honorary chairman for the event.

Fountains Golf and Banquet Center is located at 6060 Maybee Road. The event is from 2-5 p.m. The cost is $25 per person and will include food, fountain soda or beer, raffle tickets, and entertainment. All proceeds will go toward maintenance and costs of the Independence Township Transportation Services.

For more information or to sign up for bus service, call the senior center at 248-625-8231.

District using test as new tool wide range of knowledge and skills and in that regard the test can be helpful," he said.

Part of the test, he explained, is based on the ACT, a standardized achievement test for college-bound students.

"Only part of the students in the state used to take the ACT and now all students are taking it," he said. "The scores are going to be lower in general than they would have been in the past so because a wider range of students are taking the test."

In addition to the ACT Plus Writing college entrance exam, the MME is comprised of several components developed to assess Michigan high school content standards.

The test also includes portions of the WorkKeys work skills assessment, a measure used to gauge a student's reading and math skills in a work-readiness capacity.

While individual student scores are protected by federal right to privacy laws, summary information is publicly available for every district and individual school administering the MME.

Information includes assessments in student reading, writing, mathematics, science and social studies. Reading and writing scores are also combined to produce an overall English language arts score.

"We need to look at that data in terms of 'which kids are still doing as we would expect?' and 'which kids do we need to work with to help them understand how to take those kinds of tests and prepare for those kinds of tests and take those kinds of tests?" Reschke said. "So we're seeing it as a new chance to analyze our students' academic and test taking skills."

While all the scores at Clarkston High School were above state level, students at Renaissance, the district's alternative high school, generally performed far below their statewide peers.

In reading, 53 percent of students who took the MME were deemed not proficient; 54 percent were not proficient in writing; 81 percent not proficient in math; 70 percent in science and 27 percent in social studies.

And, with the exception of social studies at 5 percent, no students at Renaissance scored "advanced" in any area.

But, said Reschke, those numbers could be deceiving.

"Generally one would guess when students go to an alternative high school but are measured on a test that's not for an alternative high school, they're not going to not have a match," he said. "There are other tests we're going to look at and other measures of success we need to look at."

The MME, he said, will still be used as a tool to examine individual student responses relative to preparing students for graduation requirements.

Lopsided game, but still lots to learn

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The score at the end of the game did not reflect what Kurt Richardson saw from his players during the game.

As head coach of the Clarkston varsity football team for the last 21 years, he knew what he was looking for from his team and Friday's game showed a few more things needed tweaking.

"I thought we were mediocre at best," said Richardson. "If we hadn't been playing Troy-Athens anyone else on our schedule would have beaten us. They aren't playing good football. There were a lot of mistakes."

The Wolves defeated Troy-Athens last Friday night, 56-26.

The game began and the Wolves' made their way towards Athens' end zone.

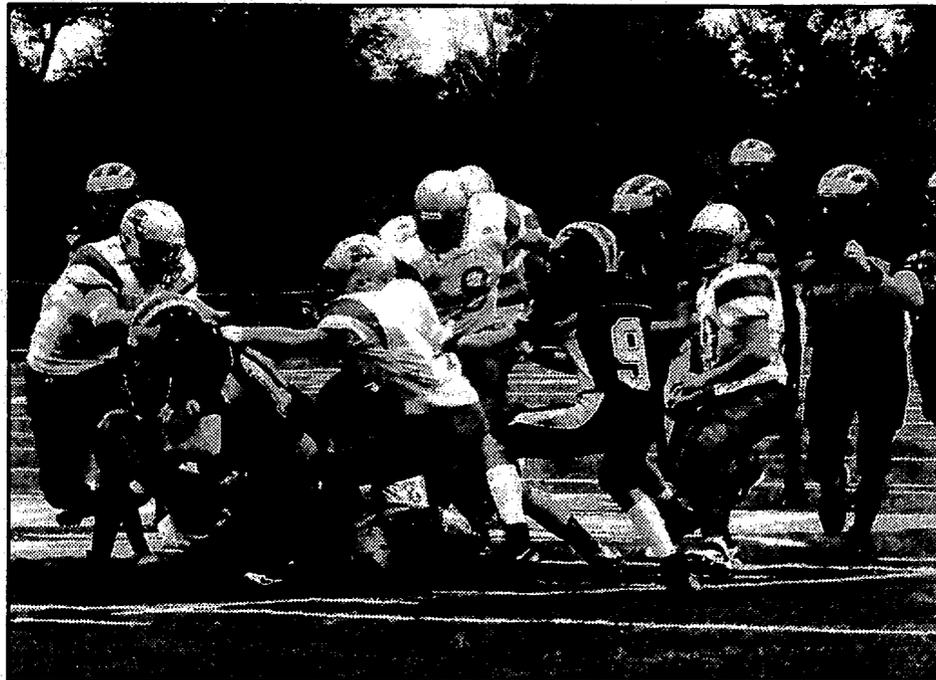

Luke Prudhomme rushed 45 yards before Troy-Athens stopped him at the 20 yard line.

The ball was snapped to Quarterback Tyler Scarlett and he passed it to Dakota Bender.

Bender took it the rest of the way ending with the Wolves' first touchdown three minutes into the game.

It finished a 65 yard drive in seven plays.

Twelve minutes later, Clarkston closed in on Athens' end zone again.

Scarlett handed the ball to Chris Canada at the 15 yard line, and Canada rushed 14 yards.

Scarlett held on to the ball for a keeper play and finished with the Wolves' second touchdown.

Athens scored two touchdowns in the next five minutes. They were unable to score their point after the first touchdown. After their second touchdown they tried for a two point conversion to tie the score, but Alex Popp made the tackle to stop them.

Matt Calvano and Bender scored two more touchdowns in the last minute, and the teams went into half-time, 28-12.

Bender scored the four remaining touchdowns for the game.

Jon Avery kicked the points after touchdown and was 8 for 8 for the night.

"I told the kids, 'I think Clarkston is one of the best teams in the state, they have a great program.' It's always a challenge for us," said Troy-Athens Head Coach Darrel Mayne.

"They really do a great job, their coaching staff and their players play hard. We just made too many errors and got beat by a few big plays, that's stuff we need to fix. They (Clarkston) are a good team so they deserve credit."

The Wolves travel to Troy (2-0) in this Friday's upcoming game.

"We are getting into the meat of our schedule now. We have to improve in a hurry," said Richardson. "They (Troy) are very good."

The JV won their game against Troy-Athens (28-7) and the freshmen team lost (14-0).

Troy High School is at 4777 Northfield Parkway. The game begins at 7 p.m.

Athlete of the Week Starting to make an Impact

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The boys from Impact '97 White team kicked off their season by winning their age group at the Bloomfield Force FC Invitational soccer tournament over Labor Day weekend.

"They were excellent," said Coach Damian Huffer. "The way they played and their passing and movement. They are a talented little group, really talented. Clarkston has a lot of good athletes."

The team began the tournament Friday with a tie against Waza, both teams made two goals on each other.

The boys continued the next morning and shut-out the host team, Bloomfield Force, 4-0.

The sun got hotter but the boys had other things on their mind, like defeating the Michigan Strikers in the next game.

Impact scored five goals against the Strikers. Only one shot from the Strikers made it past defense and into the net.

They were awarded the championship after defeating the Clawson Strikers, 9-1.

During the game, the boys showed that they work together as a team as nine different players contributed to each goal made.

They finished the tournament 3-0-1. The Michigan Strikers finished in second place after receiving their only loss from Impact '97. The team will begin league play in a few weeks in the Michigan Youth Soccer League Premier Division.

"It was a great start of the season and everyday they are getting stronger," said Huffer. "Our goal for the season is to go undefeated in our ten league games and in one more tournament."

During the season the team will continue to work on their skills and develop their talent.

"Clarkston High School has a core group coming through," said Huffer. "Clarkston Soccer Select Club is one of the strongest soccer clubs in the area for youth 13 and under, and it keeps getting stronger."

The boys have been together since they began at a U9 team a few years ago.

The team is also coached by Curtis Payment

WENDIREARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The faces may have changed, but the goal remains the same – to qualify for the state finals.

The girls varsity golf team lost five seniors last year, but have five juniors returning.

"We're really young, no seniors," said Girls Varsity Golf Coach Larry Sherrill. "We're just trying to get better with every practice."

Jessica Lazoen, Emily Bullen, Kaelyn Bogart, Michelle Lee and Audrie Bedenis are returning from last year. They are joined by junior Rachel Hampton, sophomore Ellyn Gray, and freshmen Erin Gray and Taylor Hefty.

"They all get along and help each other," said Sherrill. "The older girls help the younger girls. They show them how to compete in tournament play and that's going to get us a long way."

While the last few weeks have been slow, the girls will get busier as state tournament rapidly approaches in the third week of October.

The girls won their season opener against Lake Orion on August 22.

"You could tell it was early in the season as the girls from both teams didn't play as well as they could," said Sherrill. "However we will take the win and learn from the mistakes we made."

On August 27, they played their first OAA league tournament at Pontiac Country Club.

They played better and came out of the tournament in fourth place, scoring 346. They came behind Stoney Creek, Rochester, and Birmingham Seaholm.

Lazoen hit low for Clarkston with a par of 88, and Bullen shot a 98.

The team played Seaholm on Monday and finished in the rain. They lost 182-197.

Lazoen shot a 45 and Leet shot a 45.

"It was a tough course. Jessica keeps getting better and better," said Sherrill. "Michelle had the lowest she has had so far for the year and in the rain. It was a good route for her."

On Wednesday they play in the Charger Invitational. They will continue their league play against Troy-Athens on Thursday and Stoney Creek next Tuesday.

"I have high hopes for the team," said Sherrill. "They are very hard workers and are improving every day."

The Clarkston Auto Body senior softball team recently won the City of Warren 2008 Senior Softball Tournament. The tournament was recently held on August 18-20. The softball team also won the Clarkston senior league this summer which is sponsored by the Clarkston Senior Center. The team ends the game with a run to the bleachers and thanks the fans.

Kickers sweep the week

BY WENDIREARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Kevin Pinkos picked up the soccer ball, twirled it between both of his hands and set it back on to the field.

He took his position and aimed for the net in Clarkston's free kick opportunity in the last half of the game against Rochester.

The ball went into the net and the Wolves added one more point to the scoreboard, 2-0.

"It was a total team effort," said Pinkos after the game. "I just tried to put it in the box where all the people were."

Rochester retaliated two minutes later and scored their only goal for the game.

The game could have gone another direction.

During the first half of the game the Falcons made three simultaneous shots on Clarkston's net.

Senior goalkeeper Scott Messer was too quick for Rochester and saved the shots from going in.

"He stepped up tonight," said Boys Varsity Soccer Head Coach Adam Bican. "He is the glue that holds the team together. Sometimes we rely a little too much on him, but at the same time he would tell you it's a team effort."

It was also during the first half, the Wolves only made one shot on goal.

Bican told them during half time to get back to Clarkston style - to get possession back.

"They got too comfortable with the style of play - relying too much defensively on our defense and playing too direct. We needed to use the space better," said Bican. "We're just happy to come out of here with a win, Rochester is a dangerous team."

The team knows after facing them three times last season, one of which was in regionals when Clarkston took the Falcons out of the running for the state championship, 2-1.

Clarkston made five shots on goal and Messer saved seven.

They beat Stoney Creek on Sept. 2, 1-0. Jarrett Kersten shot the winning goal and had assistance from Nick Posawatz.

The boys now have an overall record of 5-2-1.

The next series of games will be league games, beginning with Rochester Adams yesterday (Tuesday) and Troy on Thursday.

"You don't get a night off in the OAA Red," said Bican.

Thoughts about 9-11?

"I was living in Connecticut last year. It was interesting hearing their perspective and how they were affected - 9-11 fell on a Tuesday, like in 2001. They were hearing the attacks were coming up the coast."

- Erica Sloan, with her son, Connor

"If we didn't have that foreign policy, there would never have been a 9-11. Imperialism - we had troops on holy ground. That's why Bin Laden and the Saudis decided to attack us on 9-11."

- Darwin Spasky

"It initially united us, but in this political year, it seems to divide us. It seems the sacrifice in what happened has been watered down for political reasons. It's important we hold on to that sense of unity."

Pride in past work

BY PHIL CUSTODIO

Clarkston News Editor

Clarkston isn't the small town it used to be - Bob Waid helped make it that way.

Over the years, he worked on the Dairy Queen on M-15, First Baptist Church on Main Street, now Clarkston Union restaurant, and several commercial buildings and houses.

"My houses are still standing," said Waid, 83, who lives in Clarkston with his wife, Violet Waid. "They have a good reputation - that's the main thing."

As a young builder in the 1930s-1940s, he remembers constructing houses by hand.

"People call them the good ole days, but they were a lot of work," Bob said.

Downtown Clarkston had two barbershops, four grocery stores, hardware stores, car dealerships, church, and a fire station with one pumper truck.

"Bill Stamp was a country lawyer. He ran the paper (The Clarkston News). I did work for Bill in his house on M-15," he said. "Morgans (auto service) has been there since the beginning of time - downtown Clarkston was an ideal town, to my way of thinking."

He remembers when 5 S. Main Street, the Walter Building, home of The Clarkston News, was a dry goods store. Attorney Ron Walter, who practiced upstairs in offices now used by the paper's editorial department, owned it.

"He was quite a guy - a good guy," he said.

Bob helped modernize the two-story brick building in the 1950s.

"(Walter) asked me, how much trouble would it be to put a toilet in here. I said it would be quite a bit of trouble and a little money," Bob said.

They dug up Main Street so they could connect to the sewer, he said.

"It was the first time the building had running water," he said.

While working in the building's basement, he found a settee-type sofa, stored there since the 1800s.

"It was black when it was in the basement," Bob said.

Violet refinished the wood and, using fabric she found at a church rummage sale, restored it about seven years ago.

"If it hadn't been for her, it would have ended up in a junk pile," he said. "She has a vision for old stuff."

"We come from a poor background. We see the value in things," Violet said.

Bob worked for Henry Ford in the 1940s, when the car builder experimented with water power in Clarkston.

"He was a great man. He did a lot for the country and for Clarkston," Violet said.

"He revitalized Clarkston," Bob said. "It was a one-horse town when he came in. He built a factory, hired men, dredged Mill Pond and cleaned it out."

When Ford took over the former Clarkston High School on Main Street, Bob helped remodel it.

"I worked for Ford in 1945 in that building (now used as Independence Township Hall). He

Lou Gramm Band brings best of old, new to DTE

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Lou Gramm is no Foreigner when it comes to DTE Music Theater.

"I've played there many times," Gramm said. "Pine Knob, as I like to remember it, is laid out beautifully - I like the setup, height of the stage, way audience wraps around, even the lawn seats don't seem so far away you can't reach them."

The former lead singer of the classic rock band Foreigner performs at DTE, 7:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 12, with Patty Smyth and Scandal.

"I'm doing a slew of my favorites from the old Foreigner days (including 'Juke Box Hero,' 'Head Games,' and 'Blue Morning, Blue Day'), some of my solo stuff and even an old Beatle song or two - they've been my favorite since day one," he said.

"People will get a good taste of rock and roll, probably a number of songs they remember and good musicianship. They'll find me in good voice and a lot of honest energy in the band."

The Lou Gramm Band includes both his brothers, Ben Grammatico on drums and Richard Grammatico on bass and guitar.

"It's something I've always wanted to do," Lou said. "I have my brothers on my solo album and occasionally one or the other would be out on tour with me, but this is the first time that they've both been out on tour with me."

Lou Gramm, former lead singer of Foreigner, brings the Lou Gramm Band to DTE this Friday. Photo submitted

Touring as a family has been interesting, but enjoyable, he said.

"Even though we fought like dogs when we were young, they're real supportive now and I try to be also," he said.

Lou still performs rock hits like "Hot Blooded" and "Dirty White Boy" - his bread and butter, he said - but his current work reflects his life as a born-again Christian.

"In 1992, I decided I've had enough of this world as we know it and gave my heart to the Lord," he said. "I was still rocking out, doing my own thing and working with Foreigner too, when that was possible. But always in the back of my mind I wanted to do a Christian album, and we have one done now."

The album should be ready for release early next year, he said.

"It's a melodic rock, not compromised by a long shot, very powerful music," he said. "The biggest difference, of course, is the message, but even that is done in a way that is palatable."

His faith helped him when he was diagnosed with a brain tumor in 1997. The benign tumor was removed surgically and he has since recovered.

"My health is very good," he said. "Some things won't get any better, damaged by the tumor, but for all intents and purposes I'm in better health than I've been in a long time."

The band is touring the nation, but only on the weekends.

"I've got 8-year-old twins, a boy and a girl," he said. "I have older sons too. They were little when Foreigner was just starting to make it (in the late 1970s-1980s)."

At the time, the band would be on the road 2-3 months at a time.

"I missed a lot of them growing up. I wanted to make sure that didn't happen with the twins. We all decided we would just do weekends," he said.

"We leave Thursday and get home Sunday night. That leaves some time during the week to just have a regular life."

A muscle-car fanatic, he owns 5-6 cars and shows them off at local car cruises.

"I'm always taking the kids to cruise nights in Rochester, New York," he said.

"They play little league soccer, they're busy with that. We spend time really well."

Tickets at $34.50 pavilion, $10 lawn. The show is rescheduled from July 9 - those tickets will be honored. Call 248-645-6666.

God's path may be in dad's footsteps

This summer our youngest daughter became the Director of Youth Ministry at the Oxford United Methodist Church.

Elizabeth had expressed an interest in youth ministry as she came out of high school. I, however, encouraged her to pursue another one of her interests, elementary education.

My thinking was focused around her long term security. I wanted her to have a career with solid income and benefits. I told her to explore elementary education and if it worked out, then she could still volunteer in youth ministry in her church.

She took my advice and went to college, studied and eventually came away with a clear understanding.

God wanted her in youth ministry. So she worked in youth ministry as a volunteer and gained experience.

It was evident early on that her connection with the youth and the impact she had on the youth she worked with was significant. This summer, she had the chance to lead her own youth ministry and went on staff at Oxford UMC.

Shortly after hiring on, she met with the pastor, Rev. Doug McMunn and began to prepare for the fall. In those early meetings, Doug shared with her he would be gone on vacation in August and she could fill in and preach for him.

This was quite a surprise to Elizabeth! She had never preached before, had not thought about it and was not sure she could do it.

The week before, she called me to talk about preaching, the scripture she was using and some of the details about the sermon.

It was fun to watch her struggle and get excited about the scripture as I have done weekly for almost 30 years.

On the Sunday she preached, I was preaching in my church. However, her mother and other friends from Clarkston were in the congregation to listen to her with confidence preach without looking at her manuscript. She did well, very well.

Besides giving me a chance to brag about my daughter, there is another reason I share this with you.

When you begin to get a sense of the plan God has for your life, don't listen to those who think they have a better idea.

My best intentions for Elizabeth could not surpass what God has in store for her.

The other lesson is this, be careful what you say around your children. One day they will stand in their own shoes and may sound a lot like you.

On Aug. 24, I was grateful and humbled to God that the word of the Lord was on our daughter's lips. May you and your family hear and follow the path God has in store for you.

The Rev. Richard Dake is pastor of Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Batguys rescue people, bats that trouble them

BY DON RUSH

Clarkston News Asst. Publisher

When things are amiss in Gotham, Commissioner Gordon puts out the call to the Dynamic Duo (Batman and Robin). Locally, we can do one better — we can call the Terrific Trio.

While they don't catch bad guys or rid society of pesky penguins, they have been known to exorcise homes from other unwanted guests. You know the kind: squirrels, raccoons, skunks, opossums, groundhogs, chipmunks, moles, mice and of course, the things that give many folks the willies, bats.

And, in case you want to know, we're in the heart of bat season, right now. If you hear something scratching in the attic or walls, or if you're lucky enough to have a bat hang upside down from the corner of your living room, don't get out the trusty tennis racket and start swinging. Call Dave Kugler.

The 1990 Oxford High School grad is president of Critter Catchers, Inc. He, with the help of Oxford residents Bob "Batboy" Lysogorski and Chad Johnson make up the Terrific Trio and are experts at bat extractions. No, they don't wear tights, nor sport capes, but they do sponsor scholarships for the study of bats at Indiana State University and they were also instrumental in publishing Bats of Michigan — a book by Dr. Allen Kurta.

The Terrific Trio — from the left, Chad Johnson, Bob "Batboy" Lysogorski and Dave Kugler. Kugler, who has degrees in Biology and Environmental Engineering, is president of Critter Catchers, Inc., located in Brandon Township.

Kurta is a professor in Eastern Michigan University's Biology Department.

In the book Kugler is quoted, "A combination of hearsay, misinformation and folklore contributes to some of the misunderstandings commonly heard about bats. This book educates the public about . . . these mysterious creatures — from a scientific perspective."

According to Kugler, the most common bat in Michigan is the Big Brown Bat — with an average wingspan just over a 12-inches.

"They've adapted really well to live in the same areas as people, and actually prefer to roost in structures such as homes, garages, barns and dams," he said.

Kugler reports it's been a good year for bats. "They look really healthy this year. The weather was good and there is an abundance of food."

"Food" being insects. In his book, Kurta reports bats in Indiana alone eat almost nine billion insects a year. "They eat the same amount, if not more, here (in Michigan), if only because it's a bigger state."

Besides the Big Brown Bat, which lives in colonies, Oakland County is also a summer retreat for red bats. "These are solitary and they roost in trees."

Kugler said bats are the only predators of night flying insects in Michigan, "So they are a good friend to have in the neighborhood — you just want them to roost in a bat house, not your house."

In these parts, according to Lysogorski, the average colony consists of about six bats, but he has seen colonies reach upward to 800 individual bats (he wouldn't say where these bats were, but verified it was in North-east Oakland County).

Lysogorski said bats need only a small opening to gain access inside a home — a couple inches long, by the width of a Number 2 pencil. Bats can get in through ridge vents and crumbling brick mortar.

"They love chimneys. You wouldn't believe the amount of space and the access bats have to your home through chimneys with loose bricks."

For more information on bats, call Critter Catchers at 248-432-2712; or you can visit their website, www.crittercatchersinc.com.

Kurta's book is 72 pages, full color with lots of pictures and maps (besides most of what you always wanted to know about the bats of Michigan); it costs $10.

To get a copy email John Whitaker, jwhitaker3@isugw.indstate.edu; or click the link from the Critter Catchers website. Funds from the book sale go to the Center for North American Bat Research & Conservation.

Bear brings understanding to children of divorce

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Every year, more than a million children in the United States must deal with a divided home when their parents divorce or separate.

B.B. the Bear and his book, "You and Me Make Three," help children faced with that situation.

Clarkston resident Edna Cucksey Stephens was approached to publish the book, written by Wendy Lokken and Gwendy Mangiamela of Naples, Fla.

"It was a wonderful topic," said Stephens, founder and president of EDCO Publishing, Inc. in Auburn Hills.

Along with illustrator Heather Drescher, the four created Caring Creations, LLC.

Each has experienced divorce in their lives and know the impact it has on young lives.

Stephens' parents divorced when she was 16, she went through her own divorce, and when she was a teacher, she saw her students go through it.

"You would read a story about a family on a picnic and they would burst into tears because they're thinking, maybe my family won't be able to do that anymore," said Stephens.

"I believe in literacy and learning and the best way is promoting them in the classroom. We all had the experience and desire to help children and it's all come together."

B.B. and the book are a support system for children. The bear narrates the story and provides examples of family activities children can do with mom and dad, and reminds children they have a support system in relatives and teachers.

During the story, B.B. also tackles emotions, being worried, afraid, and angry, and how to get through them.

"He's the spokesperson, but is really a character that helps kids find the hero within them," said Stephens.

The book also includes SMILE, Start Making It Livable for Everyone, tips for parents. The tips were written by Richard S. Victor, co-author of the SMILE Program.

Also, Build-A-Bear makes the plush version of B.B.

"This isn't just for kids going through divorce, but for kids being tolerate of it, and just a broader understanding of what goes on in families," said Stephens.

Since the book came out in January, the writers have received a lot of feedback from children, parents, and teachers.

Cedar Crest Academy in Clarkston has books in their library and in their classrooms.

"You can see the shiny, worried look turned to lightness and acceptance of where they are and what they've been through," said Principal Bette Moen, about how Cedar Crest students have reacted to "You and Me Make Three."

"It's a wonderful piece. What I love is it gives a voice to divorce. It doesn't hide it."

Stephens' goal is to have a book and bear in every school in America.

On Friday, Sept. 19, the authors host a fundraiser to provide at least one book and bear to elementary schools in Oakland County and anyplace else people want.

The event will be at the Walter P. Chrysler Museum in Auburn Hills, from 6:30-10 p.m.

For more information about tickets for the event, book signings, and how to donate a B.B. book and bear to a teacher or school, visit www.bbseries.com or call 248-475-4688.

Edna Cucksey Stephens' goal is to put a B.B. Bear and book into every school. Both help children by providing ways to deal their parents' divorce and separation.

Century-old barn destroyed by fire

BY DAVID FLEET

Special to The Clarkston News

In less than an hour, 130 years of township history was gone.

At about 4 p.m. Monday, fire departments from Brandon, Holly Village, Groveland, and Springfield townships, along with the North Oakland County Fire Authority responded to a barn fire at 3694 Jossman Road.

Groveland Township Fire Chief Steve McGee said when firefighters arrived, the 100-by-36 mostly wood structure, constructed in 1878 and owned by the Scramlin family, was totally engulfed in flames. The first fire truck was on the scene in less than 2 minutes, 45 seconds and the second engine arrived in less than 3 minutes, 30 seconds, added McGee.

"Those old barns are like kindling," said McGee. "It's just an old structure, even though they kept the building painted and shingled—it's still an old building. The Scramlin barn was the showcase of the community and within 15 minutes it was all over. The big open doors added air to the fire—a barn is not tight like a house."

McGee said there were no injuries in the fire and no damage to other buildings on the farm; however, township firefighters returned to the building on Tuesday morning after corn began to smolder in the bottom of a silo.

"We understand that no one had been working in the barn that day and the fire is not suspicious, by any means," added McGee.

Smoke from the barn fire was visible for miles.

"I worried every time there was a lightning storm that the barn would get hit," said Marvin Scramlin, barn owner. "Then, in the middle of a sunny day, it just burns to the ground. I was just on my way back home when I saw the smoke—I have no idea how it could have started. I just had the barn re-wired a year ago or so. There was little hay, but a few bales of straw in the barn at the time of the fire."

"I guess all you can do is put a metal barn back up—that's it."

For the past 30 years, the Scramlins hosted the Mount Bethel United Methodist Church's annual living nativity and barn service in the structure. The popularity of the early December Christmas celebration grew over the years, prompting the family to host two services.

"You just can't replace this barn," said Terrie Scramlin, wife of Marvin. "It's my husband's livelihood. The hardest thing will be, why did it happen? At least I'm glad all the animals got out of the barn in time."

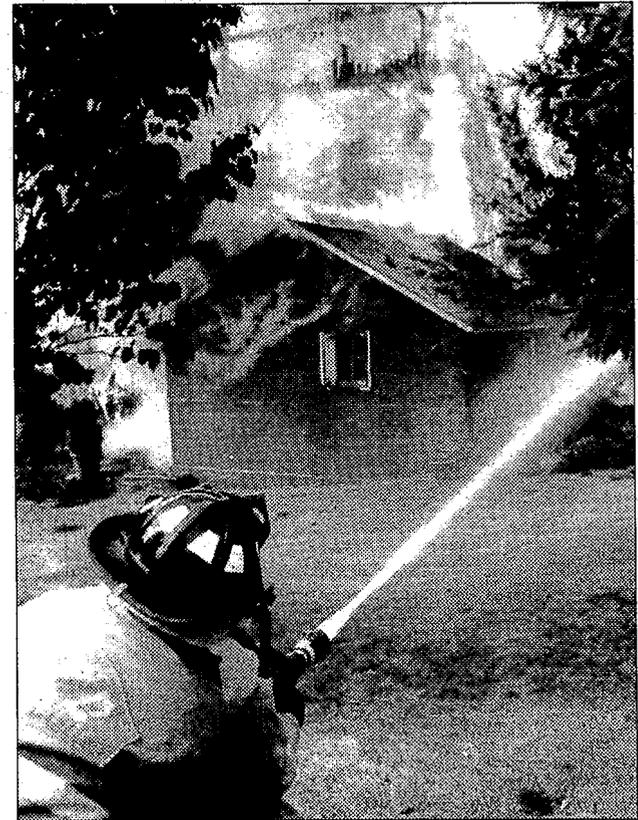

On Monday afternoon, Jason Stahl, 30, was working in the feed barn about 50 yards from the fire.

"The garbage man stopped by the barn and said, 'Your barn's on fire,' so I called 9-1-1—by the time the fire department got there, it was rolling pretty good."

Stahl said two sheep and a rabbit were rescued from the fire. However, a tractor, a wagon, several bales of straw and hay were lost in the fire. The cause of the fire remains under investigation.

"It's a shame about the fire, you see so many old barns that are falling down," said Nick Mazich, longtime friend of the Scramlins.

"The upkeep is just so expensive—that barn was a piece of history."

EMS billing to increase

The next time you request EMS service, $50 will be added to your bill.

"It's been three years since we've adjusted any rates," said Steve Ronk, Independence Township fire chief. "Blue Cross Blue Shield and the insurance companies adjust their rates every year."

With the rising cost of fuel as well as operating cost, Ronk said they had to up their rates.

"We looked where we stood with the insurance company rates and we adjusted ours to match there average," he said. "We're not in the high, we're not in the low, we're somewhere in the middle."

Ronk explained one of the problems of setting their billing at a certain amount and leaving it there, is insurance companies allow $20 or $50 more and the department is not collecting as much recovery cost from the insurance companies as they could.

"If we don't stay somewhere near it, it's a disservice to the tax payer because we're not getting cost recovery to where we could. When we bill the insurance company we want to get whatever their level is at," said Ronk. "I don't want people to think that we are trying to get in their pocket or raising rates for a reason other than trying to stay current with the insurance industry."

came in once and I shook his hand," Bob said. "Next door was a little house owned by Fanny Irish. One day one of his truck drivers backed over her coupe, so he built her a new one."

Depot Road, the one-way road connecting N. Main Street and White Lake Road past Depot Park, was known as Livery Hill

"That was where the livery stable and feed store were — we were at the end of the horse days," Bob said. "I remember a team of horses coming up the hill and they got winded. The drivers had to rush out and block the wheels until they got their breath back."

Growing up, his family lived at the end of Waldon Road next to the Ronks.

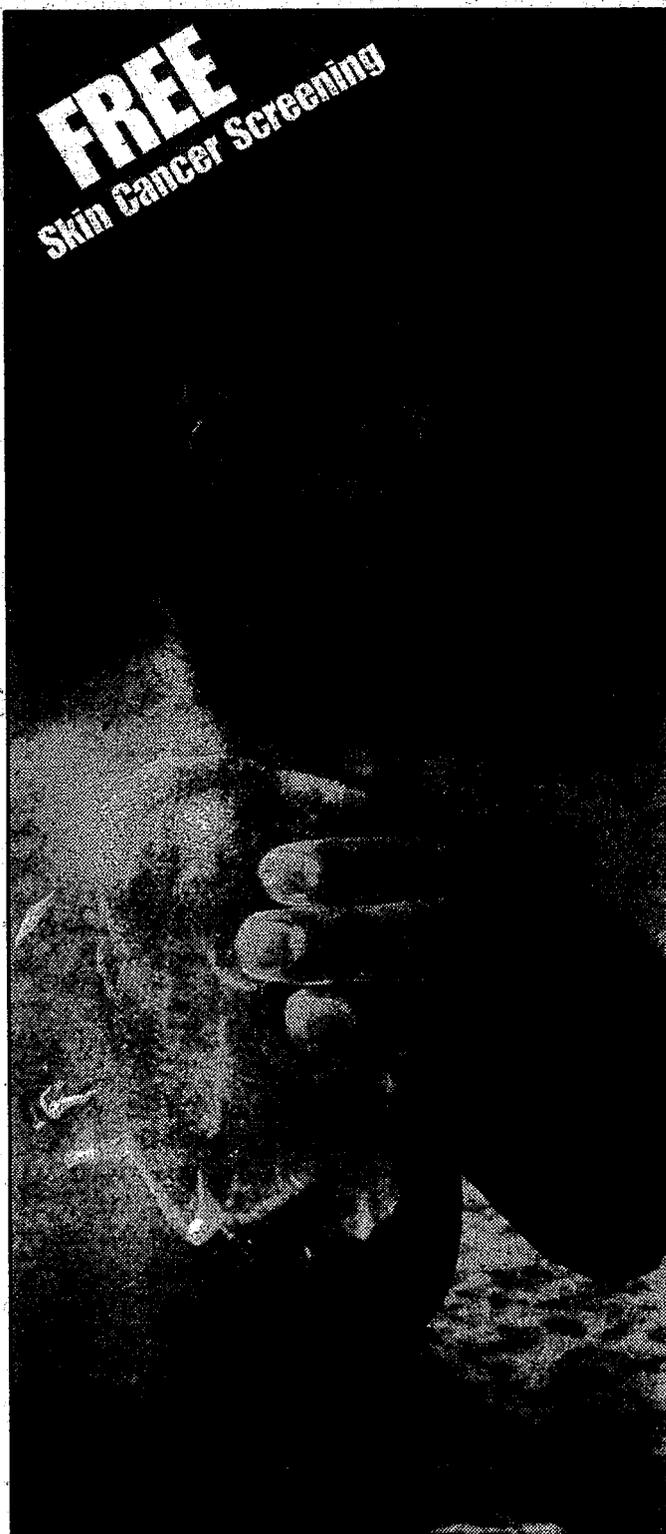

"My dad worked for GM, but you can't take the farm out of an old farmboy," he said. "He bought an old sow and she had 13 little pigs right out on Main Street — Dr. Hill had a cow on Washington Street. Mr. Holcomb won a horse and he kept it. He rode that horse and his daughter rode the horse."

Bob and Violet were married in 1950. He built their first house in 1952 on Walters Road.

"I drew the plans for the house on a peck sack (the size of a paper grocery bag)," he said. "It's still standing."

They also lived in Davisburg and Holly before moving back to the Clarkston area.

Firefighters link with 16 departments through video

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township Fire Department, and 15 other departments in the Southeast Michigan region will be able to communicate through video conferencing.

"This was truly a regional application for a grant. There were 16 departments that put in for this as a regional training group and that's how we got it, we were included with a lot of other departments," said Fire Chief Steve Ronk. "Farmington Hills put it out there and said 'are you interested?'"

The fire department has to pay $17,885.58, which is 20 percent of the total $71,427.88.

"It wasn't something we had to have on the table that we were going to do it anyway," said Ronk. "If that grant would not have come through we wouldn't be doing this."

Ronk said the grant is through "The Assistant to Firefighter Grant," which has many grants that can be applied for, but this is the first one Independence has been able to get.

"We usually never get it because of our community status, our population, and our budget," he said. "Which is good it goes to the people that are somewhat deprived."

The video conferencing will be linked to all 16 sites with the capability to interact with each one with two way conferencing, but the benefit for Independence is that all three stations will be linked together.

"We'll be able to run some training without having to move people," Ronk said. "When it's a foot of snow, its 10 degrees whatever, some of the training can be done through video."

The video conferencing isn't meant to make every department look the same or do the same thing, he noted, but it's "an attempt" to do some regional training, which currently is not done among the departments.

"We really got a lot of capabilities for the amount we are spending," said Ronk. "I think it's worthy what we're paying."

Firestation set to get a makeover

After two years of construction on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township Fire Department is going to relandscape the front yard and repave the parking lot at Fire Station No. 2.

"We haven't done anything to our yard in 22 years," said Steve Ronk, fire chief. "If we're going to sit on the corner we're going to fit in."

Cost of the project is yet to be determined.

THE WOW FACTOR

design

Have you ever wondered why your home never seems to feel finished or special? What is that elusive difference between "nice" and "WOW"?

Often the difference is as simple as choosing exciting accessories that are properly scaled for each room.

Many of the newer homes in our area were built with an open floor plan with high, soaring ceilings and huge two-story windows. Large, impressive accessories are needed to compliment the dramatic architecture in these rooms. Furniture should be chosen to match the volume of space in the room. Fewer, well-chosen accessories arranged in groups or pairs will add impact to a design. In these rooms the cliché "bigger is better" applies. Large accessories are also desirable in smaller rooms. They give an impression of space.

Many small accessories scattered around the room give the appearance of clutter. If you have lots of small "knick-knacks" or collections that you cherish, group them together with some larger pieces to ground them and to give them impact and importance.

Note the word cherish. Do not save something bought in 1990 unless it means more to you than the $30 that you spent on it! Small accessories need to be grouped in clusters of three or more. "Sometimes we go into homes for an accessory call and the fireplace mantle is lined up with many small accessories. It always makes me feel like they are a platoon of little soldiers - ready to march off the edge!" chuckles Mary Lujan, owner and head designer at Hepplewhite's Interiors in downtown Rochester.

"We believe a picture is worth a thousand words, so we have included some sketches from our notebooks to illustrate some of the ways we have found to group and display accessories. The right accessories, suitably placed, can really take a room design over three. This unifies the collection and gives the illusion of one piece of art. We can make this job less intimidating - actually fun!"

(Commercial Accounts $9.00 a week)

YOU WILL GET RESPONSE!
Guaranteed . . .

Our pledge to you: If after 30 days you don't get any inquiries on your want ad, we'll refund your money (less a $2 service charge. Automotive specials not included).
We guarantee it.
Here's how it works.
1. Run your want ad with us for at least two weeks and pay within one week of the start date.
2. If no one contacts you within 30 days after the ad's stop date, fill out a refund application and mail or bring it to us.
3. We will refund the cost of the ad (less the $2 service charge) within 7 days of receiving your refund application.
Or, we'll run that ad again for the original number of weeks. The choice is yours, a win-win situation all the way around.
(We can only guarantee that you'll get inquiries—not that you'll make a deal.)
This guarantee applies to individual (noncommercial) want ads. You can pick up a refund application at any of our offices. In Oxford, at 666 S.
Lapeer Road. In Lake Orion, 30 N. Broadway Street. In Clarkston, 5 S. Main Street. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days of the want ad's start date.

tions in the applicable rate card or advertising contract, copies of which are available from the Ad Dept. at The Oxford Leader (248-628-4801) or The Clarkston News (248-625-3370). This newspaper reserves the right not to accept an advertiser's order. Our ad takers have no authority to bind this newspaper and only publication of an ad constitutes acceptance of the
