County turns down recall a second time

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer"

"Close but no cigar," was the message sent to activists seeking to recall Independence Township Supervisor Dave Wagner.

The County Election Commission denied the recall petition language for the second time, at a Jan. 4 hearing in Pontiac.

"When we went in the first time they said it wasn't specific enough, so we were more specific the second time, and then they say it's too specific," said Mike Powell, president of Citizens Against Independence Township Waste (CAITW). "There is such a fine line it's almost ridiculous."

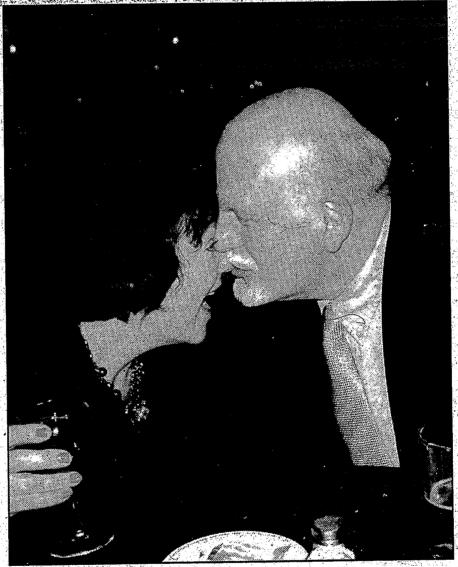

Though relieved for the moment, Wagner questions the group's true intentions.

"I find it interesting that an attorney (Henry Woloson) who was instructed on the right way to present it and all the research he's done looking at all these Supreme Court cases and everything else, can't even write the language properly,' Wagner said. "I wonder what the real motive is here, just to strictly get his name on the front page of the newspaper six or seven times, or is he just that incompetent?"

Woloson, treasurer of the group, said he perceives his involvement with the recall campaign as "community service."

"I do not decide what is newsworthy so if something is written in the newspapers, it is beyond my control," he said. "I look forward to again becoming a less visible investment advisor and estate planning

2009 year in review

The past year brought a new multi-million dollar project to the Clarkston area in the McLaren Health Care Village project. The development so far, however, couldn't overcome millions more lost in property tax revenue, forcing local municipalities to cut services and staff. Here are those and the other stories of Clarkston, the highs and lows, successes and less than stellar moments of 2009:

Making their move: Clarkston Medical Group's new building on Sashabaw road was ahead of schedule and under budget.

City looks for its share of stimulus: Michigan was slated for up to $25 billion of President Obama's $300-$350 billion stimulus package. Local officials looked to get a cut.

January 14

School officials vow to avoid budget woes: Less money was coming into Clarkston's sqhools than going out, but school board officials had a plan to weather the storm.

January 21

Stimulus plan hurts in long run, Ottman says: Councilwoman Kristy Ottman warned that stimulus money for Clarkston may just be a band-aid on a larger problem.

January 28

Contemplating cuts: To help with possible budget problems, Clarkston School Board considered extensive lists of possible

February 4

School board may vote on May vote: The school board discussed changing the date of its elections from May to November.

School board resistant to change: Trustee Susan Boatman's motion to move school board elections to November was tabled in a 5-2 vote.

February 18

$16,000 for Dixie Highway improvement study: Springfield Township officials planned improvements to the Dixie Highway Corridor to hopefully make it safer for everyone.

Resolutions

The holidays are over, now it's time for the tradition of making resolutions.

I do admit I spent the first day of the new year avoiding one of my 2010 goals. I thought if I was going to break the resolution, why wait a few days.

I waited a few hours before the darkcolored sugary beverage beckoned me to the refrigerator.

The rest of the day was used as an antidetox pop day.

I know what a bad way to begin the year, already going back on the goal of no pop. But it worked in a way. I shivered as I looked at the 2-liter sitting in the fridge the next day. My stomach had enough and the temptation was gone.

It has to stop. For the last two years I drank pop everyday - more than my college years, even more than when I was working in places I could drink it - for free.

Since the lapse I have been good and looking at each day as a new day.

Now coffee is a different story and I need it on the late Mondays and long Tuesdays. It is rarely one of my goals to give it up. Though I will limit my visits to a certain coffee chain and since their special holiday drinks are disappearing from the menu it won't be as hard.

Kudos to everyone who has still kept their resolutions since January 1. As for resolution breakers like me, it's not too late you can still do it!

I also look forward to a better 2010. The future looks bright from the beginning of a new year. I have yet to break the news to my Vue, Saturn is closing in hopes someone will buy it from

Many events are yet to be determined as how close each sport will get to the state finals or how much Michigan plans to cut in November (months after each district has already planned for the fiscal

But the anticipation grows for the planned events throughout the community and all of the schools and a little concert in March I anxiously waited 48 hours until the moment 10 a.m. to hit the buy button for tickets.

I am looking past the grayness of the economy and looking towards the promising future. May those without jobs find them and those with jobs keep them.

I am writing to tell you that I am appalled at the steep late fees that you charge for DVDs. It is my opinion that the late fee schedule is grossly unbalanced and is not based on value of materials.

I was charged $12 today for two DVDs that were both six days late. That's one dollar per day for a late DVD, with a $10 cap. If these were CD-ROMs, books, or magazines, according to your late fee schedule, I would have been charged fifteen cents per day for a total of $1.80. So, patrons are being charged over 6.5 times as much for late DVD than for books.

Let's look at the value of the materials I checked out. The two DVDs I rented are currently sold as a three disk set on Amazon for $21.99. A typical bestselling, hardcover book from the same publication year, 2006, is currently selling for $17.32. So, two books would cost $34.64 and these two DVDs would cost $21.99, substantially less, yet I am being charged substantially more if I return the

When you look at the numbers it becomes clear that taxpayers are not being charged a fee aimed at discouraging the late return of materials, but a fee that shows that you are aligning yourselves with for-profit DVD rental organizations such as Blockbuster.

As a not-for-profit organization supported by the taxpayers of Independence Township I believe this is reprehensible and should be changed.

Margret McDermott Independence Township

Recall effort sour grapes, reader says

Dear Editor,

Having been to the hearing on the recall language Dec. 14, and again today, Jan. 4, I am a bit perplexed that recall petitions were again rejected.

Notwithstanding the recall proponents' protestations to the contrary, my Dec. 23 letter to The Clarkston News was exactly on point and accurate. Read the hearing transcript if there is any doubt. In his (Henry Woloson) response, the proponent used the inflammatory, confusing language that his original petition was rejected for.

Today he presented two petitions to the tribunal, after having been instructed by the original tribunal as to what was necessary to have his recall language approved. The language doesn't have to be true, it just can't be confusing.

Once again, the carefully crafted language, by an attorney, was rejected not just on one petition, but on both, as being confusing.

Now I have to question the motivation, if not the ability, of the proponent to come up with language that is not misleading and/or confusing. Certainly he will be back for a fourth attempt. One thing is clear to me: this recall effort is orchestrated by trustees, clerk, and other "sour grapes" individuals who refuse to accept the will of the majority of township residents who overwhelmingly reelected Dave Wagner supervisor in 2008.

Catching up by wading ir

Gosh, it's been so long since we talked.

How you been? How's the family? Seen any good movies?

For me, it's been a time for accumulation. I've been taking notes on everything from whatever happened to Condoleezza Rice, to aging, vegetables, dog food, advertising slogans, to happiness according to current son-in-law Bob.

Please note the omissions of health care, Tiger Woods, the professional (?) teams in Detroit and the weather, Actually, I have these memorized as opposed to actual written notes.

Multiple ads drew my attention. Like the one about the walk-in bath that provides hydro therapy. Isn't that akin to waterboarding, which the current administration has outlawed? The makers of that bath should be given a fair trial, then hanged, like in the old west.

Why have I put YAZ birth control pills right next to Coors and Bud Lite notes? Thoughts come and go too fast during the holiday season. - - - 0 - - -

One of the rewarding experiences I've been able to get away with while aging stubbornly, is greeting babies being pushed around stores by the mommies.

They are so darn cute (both the babies and their mothers) that I can't help praising them. Their reaction is warming to an old guy. Used to be I'd hesitate offering greetings lest I be looked at as a pervert. Now I' can say things like, "You have a beautiful child. Did you get her in aisle seven?" Oh, well. It's fun for me.

---0---During my growing up days on the farm, we had lots of dogs and always our gardens had carrots. Never did one of our dogs dig up a carrot to eat. So, why does Beneficial Dog Food brag about having this veggy in their food? If dogs liked 'em they'd dig 'em! Sometimes

---0--Early in football's bowl season I noted that Kay Jewelers became a sponsor. At first I couldn't understand why a jeweler would spend all that money on what is basically something for gals. Then a couple reasons forged their way through my thick skull. First, I believe every broadcast now features an attractive woman attempting to ask selfanswering questions, just like their male counterparts. So, female audiences are the Kay target. Second, earrings and necklaces are apparently now an official part of the player's dress. I'll feel a lot better about this when all the coaches join and milk at the check-out counter or hand a passerby a Lottery ticket. Recently, a young lady was ahead of me in the gas station. She was paying for $5 worth of gas. I said to the clerk, "I'll pay hers." She lit up, all smiles and thanks. But, while I thought of savings, she apparently had her mind made up to spend the $5, so she went to the snack rack. But, like Nolan said, it felt good for a while.

Daughter Luan's Bob, "Happiness is a deer and a beer and pictures with the guys by the lunchtime cook-out in the woods." Of course, he was the only one who got a buck.

There's an old Statler Brothers song that laments the direction of (then) today's entertainment industry. Its chorus goes, "Whatever happened to Randolph Scott ridin' the trail alone? Whatever happened to Gene and Tex, and Roy, and Rex, the Durango Kid? Oh, whatever happened to Randolph Scott, his horse plain as could be?..."

That "whatever happened to..." phrase came to me as I was wondering about former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice.

In my mind, she was far superior to current Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. Ms. Rice has class, smarts, style, charisma, courage and leadership qualities.

In addition to her political career, she is an accomplished concert pianist, as well as a big-time National Football League fan and former Stanford U professor and provost. She signed with the William Morris Agency to represent them however they wish, but not on talk shows.

Home invader charged

Craig Alan Cooke of Independence Township faces up to 20 years in prison if convicted of First Degree Home Invasion for a series of breakins over the holidays. The Waldon Road resident allegedly stole beer from a neighbor's home. twice on Dec. 24, the second time breaking through a pet door. The home was unoccupied at the time. He was arrested Dec. 25 for the break-ins, telling investigators he was looking for beer. He was jailed, charged with Cooke one count of Second Degree Home Invasion and released on a $25,000 personal bond

He used a mallet to break into the home of a second neighbor, who was home at the time, about 3 a.m., Dec. 29. The resident called police while the break-in was in progress. Police quickly tracked Cooke to his home and arrested him. He was again jailed, and charged with First Degree Home Invasion with bond set at $75,000 cash, no 10 percent. The bond on the first charge was also changed to cash. His next court date was set for Jan. 5 in 52-2 District Court. He also has a prior conviction in Crawford County for burglary and carrying a concealed weapon, and a pending drunk driving charge in Lapeer County.

Reports from Clarkston Police, Dakland County Sheriff Deputies and Independence Township Fire Department

Smoke but no fire

Independence Township firefighters and deputies responded to an apartment filled with smoke, 11:22 p.m., Dec. 16, in the 5000 block of Parview Drive. The resident said he heated something in the microwave and forgot to take it out.

Burning car

Springfield Township firefighters and sheriff deputies responded to a car fire that caught a garage on fire, 6:30 p.m., Dec. 26, in the 9500 block of Wellington near Dixie and Grange Hall Road. No injuries were reported. Investigation continues.

New Year's trouble

Julie Drive residents started off the new year fighting off a shotgun wielding neighbor. The 25-year-old Springfield Township man had an argument with the homeowner at about 2:30 a.m., Jan. 1. He left, and returned with a loaded shotgun and pointed it at several people at the residence, police say.

One of the victims struck him in an attempt to get the shotgun away, possibly breaking his hand in the process. The others wrestled the shotgun away from the 25 year old, who fled but was located a short time later and arrested by deputies. The victim who suffered the possible broken hand refused medical treatment at the scene. The shotgun and shells were recovered.

No one injured in house fire

Independence Township firefighters responded to a house fire in the 6000 block of Snow Apple Drive, 2:33 a.m., Jan 1. The fire caused extensive damage to the house, firefighters said, but no one was injured.

Opportunity thefts

A 15-year-old Troy boy said he put his snowboard bag, helmet, shoes, gloves, and other items on top of a locker, 9 p.m., Dec. 28, at Pine Knob Ski Resort, and went out to ski. When he returned at 11 p.m., they were gone.

A GPS was reportedly taken from an unlocked car, Dec. 29, in the 5000 block of Fox

A resident in the 6000 block of Pine Knob

Road said someone took an eight-foot step ladder from his garage, Dec. 31. There were no signs of forced entry.

A resident in the 7000 block of Tappon Drive returned home, 1 p.m., Dec. 28, and noticed two tool boxes and a chest-type freezer taken from the driveway. They were among several items left out because they were moving soon.

Light out leads to arrest

A deputy on patrol noticed a car's headlight out, and stopped it at Parview Drive and Dixie Highway, 6:40 p.m., Dec. 27. The driver, a 62-year-old Independence Township woman, had a civil warrant for failure to appear, and the passenger, a 25-year-old Independence Township man, a felony warrant for probation violation. The driver was warned about the warrant and defective equipment, and the passenger was taken to jail.

Hit-and-run driver found

A 50-year-old Orion Township man was tracked down after leaving the scene of a car crash, 7:31 p.m., Dec. 26, at Dixie and Maybee Road. Witnesses had written down his license plate number, and deputies found him at his home, with substantial front-end damage to his van. Police say he smelled of alcohol and slurred his speech. He refused to provide a breath test so blood was drawn for analysis. He was jailed for drunk driving

Summer brought Farmer's Market, concerts to town

Locals get first look in new policy: The township's new official policy of "My Clarkston Buy Clarkston" was well-received by Clarkston residents.

Over taxed?: Rainy-day funds for the city and township were examined and their uses were explained as "for emergencies only."

July 29

$40,000 rescinded: The Board voted to overturn budget adjustment for the extra $40,000 in the town hall fund.

August 5

Cars line up for the clunker program: Cash for Clunkers was a shot in the arm for local car dealers.

Taking a beating: One in every 69 homes fell into foreclosure in Independence Township last year, for a total of 195 homes in 2008 alone.

August 12

School vote may be on way to fall: Clarkston was one vote away from moving May school elections to November.

Townships seek cash from trash: Some in the township were debating whether or not to establish a solid waste authority.

August 19

Sherman puts kibosh on mural: Jim Sherman Sr., owner of the Clarkston News building, fired Michelle Tynan, the artist who was painting the mural on the side of the building.

Academics focus of new school goals: With the new year coming up, the Clarkston School Board put more emphasis on advanced learning goals.

August 26

Schools OK Nov. elections: School board elections would take place in November, to save money and increase voter turnout.

Community takes cross burners to task: The NAACP announced a $1,000 reward for information about the person who burned a cross in the yard of an African American Independence Township family.

Farmers' Market grows on Clarkston: Each week brought new produce and goods to the Clarkston Farm's Market.

September 2

Citizens speak out: After a presentation at CJHS rousing applause was raised for those who weighed in: Stay out of our trash.

Funding for high school liaison pulled: Funding to pay for Det. Crake at CHS was being pulled, with one deputy still covering the junior high, middle; and elementary schools.

September 9

Classy cars on parade: Clarkstonites crowded the sidewalks along downtown Main Stree for Monday's annual Labor Day Parade.

Busted: Two youths who confessed to de-facing the mural in downtown Clarkston told police they'd been planning the sabotage for a while.

September 16

A knight to remember: Business owner Tom Lowrie celebrated 30 years of business by being knighted by Queen Elizabeth, of the Renaissance Festival.

Citizens call for a recall: Efforts to recall Township Supervisor David Wagner were growing.

September 23

Lots to sample at Clarkston's Taste: With an "unbelievable" number of people, lots of Clarkston businesses were afraid they will run out of goods at the Taste of Clarkston.

Stimulating home sales: In an attempt to increase sales, first-time homebuyers could get a federal tax break of up to $8,000.

September 30

Highest honors: Dan Fife added one more accomplishment to his coaching career when he was inducted into the Basketball Coaches Association of Michigan Hall of Fame.

People speak out on taxes: When it came time to talk about the possibility of raising taxes, residents of Independence Township were not happy.

Religion Christmas doesn't end with beginning of new year

Spiritual

Matters

The first couple days of each New Year are usually filled with trying to get things back to "normal" after the busy holiday season. I also find myself making some resolutions about how I want things to be different in my life in the year ahead.

My resolutions usually relate to losing weight and getting more exercise as I discover again that all of my clothes have "mysteriously" shrunk over the past month. I know that these resolutions are good things as I try to do better and help me refocus my priorities. However I also know that the most important thing for me is to open my life again to God's love and grace so I can become more what God wants me to be in this new year.

So as I begin 2010 I am taking some time to pause and pray and reflect about my life, my priorities, my purpose, my relationships, and my faith in God. I am also trying to not move on too quickly from Christmas, and all that it means, even though our decorations will soon be this way the Good News of Christput away.

One thing I dislike doing after Christmas is putting the manger scene away - especially packing the baby Jesus into a cold. dark box. Somehow it just doesn't seem

So a number of years ago we began a family tradition of leaving the baby Jesus out all vear instead of packing him away. Then we move him around the house throughout the year.

It's fun because we never know where he will turn up, but even more important it is a reminder to us that Jesus is with us each and every day of each and every year no matter where we are, what we're doing or what is happening in our lives. In mas is present in our home all year.

Something else I am always struck by after Christmas is the thought that we spend so much time getting ready to celebrate the birth of the baby that we tend to forget that the real work begins when you bring the baby home.

Anyone who has ever had children knows what I mean - and I believe the same is true for the celebration of Jesus' birthday if we really take it seriously. So even though Christmas Day is past I am choosing to reflect on this question: "Is Christmas over, or has the real work just begun?"

I am reminded of one my favorite poems by theologian and spiritual writer Howard Thurman called "The Work of Christmas" (from The Mood of Christmas by Howard Thurman). It seems particularly relevant this year as we face together these challenging times:

"When the song of the angels is stilled, when the star in the sky is gone, when the kings and princes are home, when the shepherds are back with the flocks, then the work of Christmas begins:

to find the lost, to heal those broken in spirit, to feed the hungry. to release the oppressed, to rebuild the nations, to bring peace among all peoples, to make a little music with the heart...

'And to radiate the Light of Christ, every day, in every way, in all that we do and in all that we say."

My hope and prayer for you and me is that we live each day in this new year with Christmas in our hearts and lives. And one more thing, I saw a little joke recently that said, Beat the Christmas rush, come to church today." A good word for a new year and another way to live like its still Christmas - all are welcome in God's house every day.

Who said it?

Following the 2008 election, Independence Township Board brought forth a new season of vigorous and spirited debate, with more than a few interesting quotes from board members. See if you can guess which board member said what. Answers are below:

A: "Just as a lesson - we need to slow down the voting part. Maybe do a little less of the discussion part so we all understand what's in front of us and how we're voting."

B: "I want to keep cuts away from where people actually get benefits from the services and quit spending on things that have no value. Township Hall is a beautiful building, but for most people in the township it's just a nicer desk to pay your taxes.'

C: "If you don't do it, there is going to be more consternation and issues of what are we hiding under the rock and what are we covering up. We got ourselves into this situation, we have to be as open as we can with the public and take the chances in spite of some potential legal implications."

D: "I'm not really concerned with the efficiency of these meetings. We are here to serve the public. As a board, we do that in a public meeting. It may be ugly at times and it may be inefficient. As it stands now, it is as easy for a department head or a citizen to get access to this agenda as it is an elected trustee and that's simply not right."

E: "This was a sound business decision, but the interpretation depends on how you view it. It can be interpreted a dozen different ways."

F: "I'm not there to coexist, I'm there to do what's right for the public and they (other board members) are not doing what's right for the public. Those other board members that are there are exactly what is wrong with our township today.'

G: "I don't care who makes the decision, it needs to get done. We need protect the public's interest, we need to protect the taxpayers and get it done."

Kerney-Harris

Marja Macbeth Kerney and Thomas Lloyd Harris, III announced their engagement.

Ms. Kerney, daughter of Beth Kerney of Clarkston, is a 2001 graduate of Clarkston High School. After attending Kalamazoo College for a year, she transferred to Michigan State University and received a Bachelor of Music in Percussion Performance in 2005. Marja received her Master of Music in Percussion from the University of Missouri-Kansas City in 2007. She is currently freelancing while finishing a Doctorate of Musical Arts in Percussion Performance.

Mr. Harris, son of Katherine Harris of Humble, Texas, and the late Thomas Lloyd Harris, Jr., graduated from Humble High School in 1998. He served in the United States Marine Corps for four years, then attended Michigan State University, where he received his Bachelor of Music in Music Education in 2007. After relocating to Kansas City, he received his Master of Music in Wind Conducting from the University of Missouri-Kansas City in 2009. Trey is currently the band director at Yeokum Middle School in Belton, Mo.

A June 2010 wedding in Kansas City is planned.

Swine flu hit in fall

Beyond the pale?: The latest "Recall Wagner" flyer stepped over the line and cited information that was simply not true, the supervisor said.

Head count up, slightly: The number of students in class for Count Day was up four students from 2008's count of

A day to celebrate Davisburg heritage: Downtown Davisburg was ready for its closeup after months of improvements and renovations.

October 14

All hands on deck: Facing $1.3 million in state cuts, administration and school board met to figure out what to do.

Time for frights at night: Respectable members of the community thought of creative ways to scare their friends and neighbors for the upcoming holiday.

October 21

$300,000 oversight: Independence Township lost $300,000-$350,000 in cable-TV revenue and legal costs over the past two years, a victim of incomplete paperwork.

'Swine' flu hits home: After a summer lull, flu bugs, including H1N1, "swine flu," was spreading through the Clarkston area.

November 4

Quick questions on Fast ForWard: Some questioned the computer-based learning program Fast ForWard and how much it actually did for students.

November 11

Township turns to state in Comcast dispute: Independence Township officials told Attorney Kristin Kolb to file a complaint with the state to try and resolve the ongoing cable fee fiasco.

Learn about local businesses at Expo: Those interested in shopping local found out how to do it at Chamber of Commerce's Best of the Best Expo at Clarkston High School.

November 18

Slow down!: Clarkston City Council called for additional downtown speedlimit enforcement and cop presence.

November 25

Thankful students join in service: Students got an early taste of Thanksgiving, courtesy of the Clarkston Free Methodist Church.

Clarkston Rotary needs volunteer help: Volunteers were needed to collect donations on the streets of Clarkston in the Goodfellow newspaper sale. .

December 2

Cop cuts considered: For officials considering a five-deputy cut to the township police force, a $680,781 fund balance offered a tempting solution.

Clarkston goes green for Garden Club: Clarkston Farm and Garden Club was hard at work planning, stocking, and assembling in preparation for the 18th Annual Greens Market.

December 9

New insurance to save township $15,000/year: Insurance-coverage consolidation would save Independence Township $15,000 a year through Mutual of Omaha.

Recall effort continues

attorney as soon as this recall is concluded." Woloson said they are petitioning Wagner on three counts: "bonus payments,"

"car allowance increase," and a "proposed new police substation." The commission voted 2-1 to reject language regarding the proposed substation.

They suggested that I change the wording to make it clearer that the projected cost of the new sheriff substation was $800,000," he said. "Two of the Commission members felt the public might think that the costs of the architectural fees directed by Mr. Wagner were projected to be $800,000."

Though he disagrees with the commission, Woloson said they are amending and resubmitting rather than appealing to the circuit court.

"I have already submitted one revised petition with clarifying language concerning the $800,000 cost. I submitted a second revised petition with reference to just the $6,000 in architectural fees directed by Mr. Wagner for the new substation and no mention of the $800,000 projected cost," he said. "The commission can now decide which one they prefer."

Powell called it "a learning process."

"None of us have ever done this before. I'm sure it's not going to be the only bump we run into, but it's not going to set us back any," Powell said. "If it takes us 20 times, we'll go 20 times that's how strongly I feel about it. I think Wagner has mismanaged the township beyond repair and it's time to replace him."
