'Trust' an issue in Clarkston

Community wants to know what happened with school budget

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Applause and cheers erupted throughout the Clarkston Junior High School auditorium Monday night, as Trustee Joan Patterson finished her comment.

She had just addressed administration on an issue bothering her since $13 million in cuts to the school budget came up this past January.

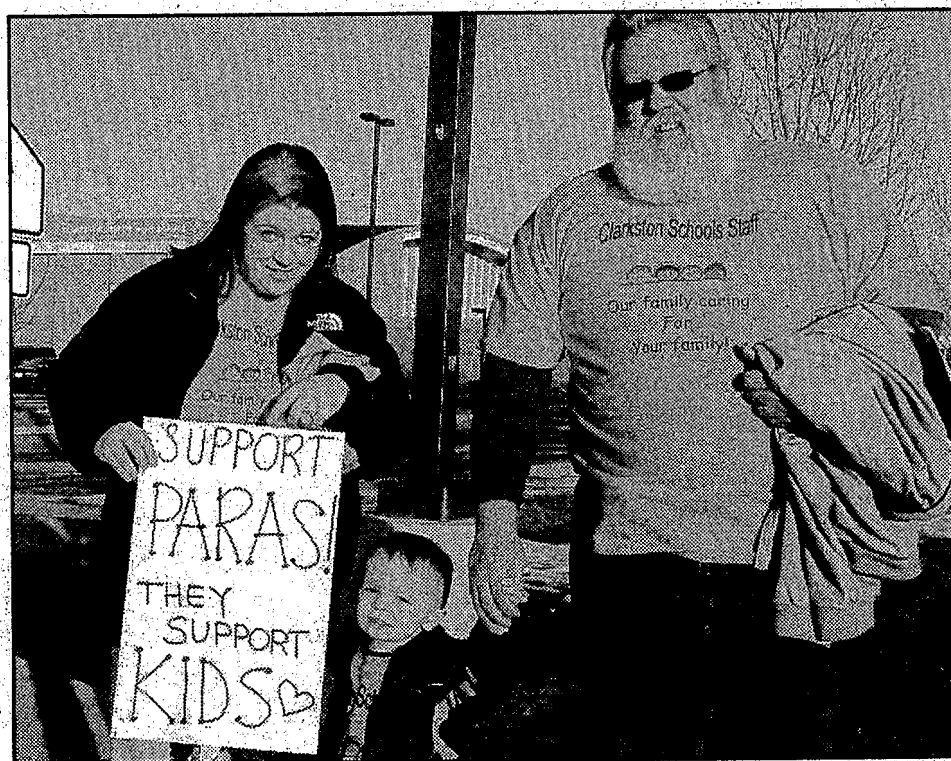

"I want to respectfully disagree on your analysis," she said. "Over the past two years I have consistently asked where is the money is coming from, knowing our economic times, seeing the cuts from the state and asking how is it reflected in our budget and not seeing it."

"Then, Jan. 25, to be told we have a $13 million deficit. Yes, I was surprised and I don't think I was naive to think there were issues coming forth. When I hear these things, like it wasn't a surprise, I have a difficult time accepting that."

After the last applause died down, Superintendent Dr. Albert Roberts spoke into the microphone and said the documents have been available at all times.

As the newest member to the board, Trustee Rosalie Lieblang asked Deputy Superintendent David Reschke when he knew the deficit was as much as $13 million and where she could find the budget projection document before Jan. 25, 2010.

"On Jan. 22, 2009, I ran a budget for 2010-2011," he answered. "I don't know if it's necessarily shared with all the board members."

"If he shared with me, he shared with all of you," Roberts interjected.

Lieblang was not satisfied with Roberts' answer. "If we were supposed to know, it would be helpful to me to know what report, what meeting, what conversation and what minutes," she said.

Both Patterson and Lieblang, along with the audience, prodded the administration to answer why the district has to make so many cuts when the state, as of now, is going to cut $433 per student for this year and next year.

"Rosalie, I understand you are new to the board and information is coming at you very quickly," said President Steve Hyer.

The audience groaned.

Hyer continued, "as early as this fall we established the budget process for fiscal year 2011. On Sept. 28, we established the budget. We finalized the parameters on Nov. 9 and Nov. 23. After that it is their own fault for not understanding the numbers."

Looking for a sign

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

When township officials bought the new Township Hall in 2008, handicap accessibility was a major selling point.

When William Chamberlin stopped by this past week, he wasn't impressed.

"Township Hall has no handicap-parking signs," said Chamberlin, Independence Township resident who has advocated for handicap rights in the past. "The township is supposed to set an example."

The hall's parking lot has eight spaces marked in blue for handicap parking, but no "handicap parking" signs posted.

The problem: police can't issue tickets to parking scofflaws if spaces aren't marked with signs.

"Stripes mean nothing by themselves," Chamberlin said.

State regulations require handicap spaces to be marked with a mounted sign on a post or wall to be enforceable. Spaces marked with only paint on the ground are not considered legally re-

School survey shows public against cutting 'specials'

Clarkston schools released results of its Parent/Community Budget Consideration Survey on its website, www.clarkston.k12.mi.us. About 1,675 people responded.

Administrators took responses to the online survey and averaged them together. Respondents were asked to rank proposed cuts by how much negative impact it would have on student learning, community and student safety.

Results include:

- Return to a secondary six-period school day, eliminating trimesters for grades 8-12?

No, very low, or low impact, 54%

High or very high impact, 25%

- Close one elementary school, site to be determined, and redistrict students to remaining schools?

No, very low, or low impact, 28%

High or very high impact, 52%

- Redistrict all seven elementary schools to create "sister schools," which would pair student populations to create an elementary grade level structure of separate K-2 and 3-5 buildings?

No, very low, or low impact, 25%

High or very high impact, 54%

- Outsourcing/privatization transportation?

No, very low, or low impact, 40%

High or very high impact, 44%

- Outsource/privatize custodial services?

No, very low, or low impact, 52%

High or very high impact, 30%

- Cut elementary "special" programs, such as art, music, P.E. or media/information literacy?

No, very low, or low impact, 11%

High or very high impact, 74%

- K-12 class size increase by 3-5 students per classroom?

No, very low, or low impact, 12%

High or very high impact, 65%

The survey also included sections for comment. The question asking to "list three areas that should be reduced, restructured or eliminated" had 1,229 responses. The first 10 were:

1. Funding for sports programs waste ...
do you have anyone who knows how to redesign processes (e.g. six sigma or lean experts) who could help redesign or restructure wasteful processes? If not, you should;

2. Equity with advanced programming, class sizes, concessions for all employee groups;

3. Increase all employee medical premium contributions, eliminate IB program, return to half day kindergarten, restructure custodial services, return to semester schedule;

4. Pay to play for sports, music and special activities;

5. IB program, full day kindergarten - why did it start when money was short to begin with??? Young fives program, sports and sports bus budgets;

6. reduce administration costs to a minimum, increase pay to participate costs for sports, anything that is not directly related to transporting and educating K-12 students;

7. Administration/teacher salaries - contract reopen. Sports - coaches should be volunteers and be teachers of that school sport, parents/students should volunteer more; i.e., concessions, and if a child wants to play, they should have to pay. Reduce the number of kids that play a sport - why have kids on a team if they don't get to play? This doesn't do the kids self esteem any good. We shouldn't be purchasing or implementing new programs when the funds are not there to spend or we have to take from other areas that cause people to lose jobs. This only makes us move backwards. Our goal should be to move forward;

8. Transportation;

9. Public relations administrator, info lit classes and media specialists; and

10. Administration - public relation rep., clerical staff, etc. Info Lit. - Media Specialists, IB classes - consolidate to better use teachers.

Parks proposal

Springfield Township Board will consider ballot language, March 9, for a dedicated parks and recreation millage.

Board members recommended a .75 mill, estimated to raise $428,360.68 for township parks and rec. This would fund 85 percent of the $512,873 program.

The board meets at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, at Civic Center, 12000 Davisburg Road. Public vote on the millage would be during the Aug. 3 primary election.

School funding forum

Former state Rep. Lynn Jondahl, executive director of Michigan Prospect, and Dr. Charles Ballard, Michigan State University professor of economics, present "Understanding School Funding" community forum, 7 p.m., Thursday, March 11, at Clarkston High School Performing Arts Center, 6093 Flemings Lake Road.

Topics include history of Proposal A, how it changed education budgeting, and state economy's impact on school funding. It is hosted by Clarkston High School Parent Teacher Student Association.

Spring road restrictions

Road Commission for Oakland County applies seasonal spring weight restrictions to its non-all-weather roads on Wednesday, March 10, at 6 a.m. Restrictions limit the amount of weight trucks can carry on the roads to reduce damage to roads as the ground thaws.

Local roads designated for 25 percent weight restriction include Andersonville Road, Sashabaw Rd north of I-75, Davisburg Road, and White Lake Road.

Roads requiring 35 percent reduction include Allen Road, Clarkston Road, Clintonville Road, Deer Lake Road, Cranberry Lake Road, and Easton Road.

served, confirmed Lt. Dale LaBair, Oakland County Sheriff's Office Independence Township substation.

Building Director Dave Belcher had three signs installed that day, March 3.

"I'll make sure the spaces are marked correctly," Belcher said.

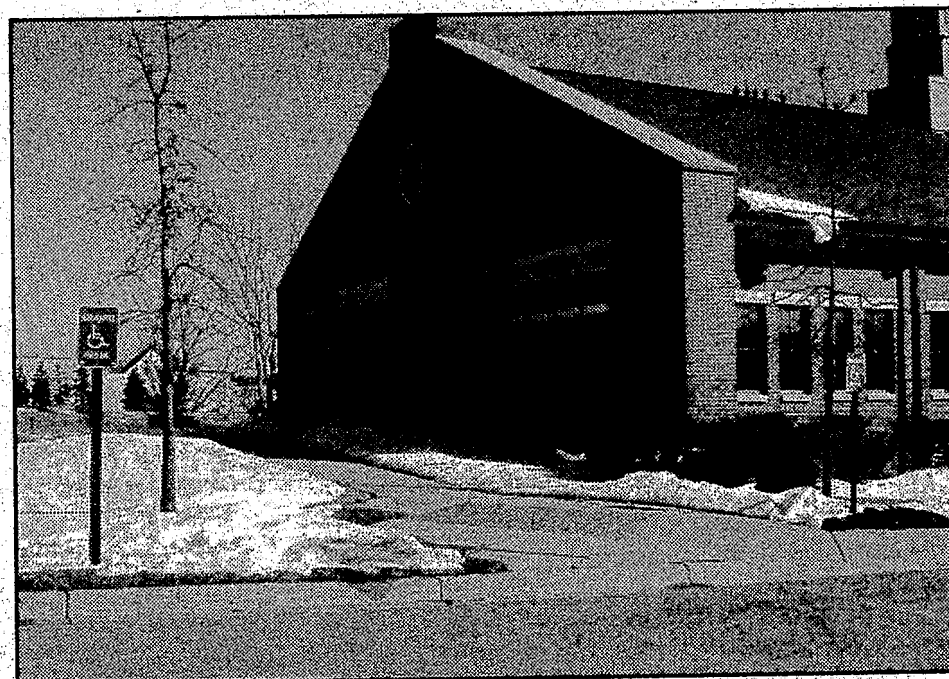

Chamberlin, who has limited mobility because of a spinal injury from a workplace fall, also said the handicap parking spaces are too far from the township hall's main entrance, its elevator seems small, and the door-opening button at the main entrance was stuck.

Belcher said the parking spaces and elevator meet code, and he would repair the button. Parking spaces are closest to doors on the north face of the building, leading to department offices, and south doors, leading to the lower floor and meeting hall.

Chamberlin continues to pursue other ideas benefiting those with disabilities, such as handicap-parking spaces in downtown Clarkston and authorizing citizens to issue handicap-parking tickets.

"That would generate a lot of money – $250 per ticket," he said.

City officials looked into downtown parking, but said M-15 is under state regulation and space is too limited on side roads. More

Township workers installed signs later that day. Photos by Phil Custodio should be done, though, Chamberlin said.

"I feel we are a forgotten and abused citizen. So many of us are frustrated," he said. "Something needs to be done."

The 18,000-square-foot township hall was purchased in 2008 for $2.7 million. The township spent $800,000 for moving and remodeling, but ran out of money before signs could be installed – paper signs are used instead.

The Township Board voted 4-3, July 7, 2009, to reject a motion to bid out a signage plan to four sign companies for up to $25,000.

Clarkston grad collects for kids

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For weeks Meredith Clark and her roommate have been collecting socks and various school supplies.

The 2007 Clarkston grad volunteered to spend her winter break with Central Michigan University's Volunteer Alternative Breaks program.

She spent her days with 11 CMU students at the International Community School in Atlanta, Georgia helping in the language arts support classroom.

And she met extraordinary students with the biggest smiles she has ever seen.

"It was a lot different than I imagined," she said. "Kids came from all over the world. They were refugees and immigrants. It was interesting to work in an environment where there was no dominant language, religion or culture."

The principal took the group on the tour of the school the first day pointing out all classes were in small portable buildings. Then, he took them outside and said this is the gym.

He explained they were trying to raise money for a new school for a more suitable building for the students and they didn't have to walk building to building.

Clark also noticed some children didn't come to school without socks or coats and it was common for a teacher to buy socks for her class or a pair of pants or a jacket for another student.

The teachers were also spending their money on school supplies.

"Whatever the kids brought was what they were allowed to use for the day just because funding is so limited because of the lack of money and support," said Clark.

The students sometimes didn't even have pencil or paper to do their work on.

She worked along side a teacher in the language arts classroom she had a different group of students every hour from grades Kindergarten through fourth and would work with them on their English word recognition.

All of the students knew English, their home language and had to learn a third language - either in Spanish, German, Japanese or Chinese.

Clark was able to learn about the students as they learned from her.

"They were culturally diverse," she said. "Knowing their own culture and knowing about different part of the worlds. The students were able to learn so much from each other."

When Clark came back to Michigan the school was still on her mind and her roommate's mind.

"I am passionate about helping the school," she said. "We really appreciated being there because it was a learning experience for us."

Together with the group, Clark and her roommate set to work collecting donations of socks, school supplies and clothing.

"The response has been overwhelming from CMU students," said Clark. "We didn't know what we would get."

At last count they had over 3,000 pairs of socks, over 2,000 colored pencils, and more. So much more they had to start another collection - for shipping.

Clark is ready to visit ICS again and also plans to sign up for another Alternative Break next winter.

Working with the students is something she plans to do after she graduates with a degree in elementary education.

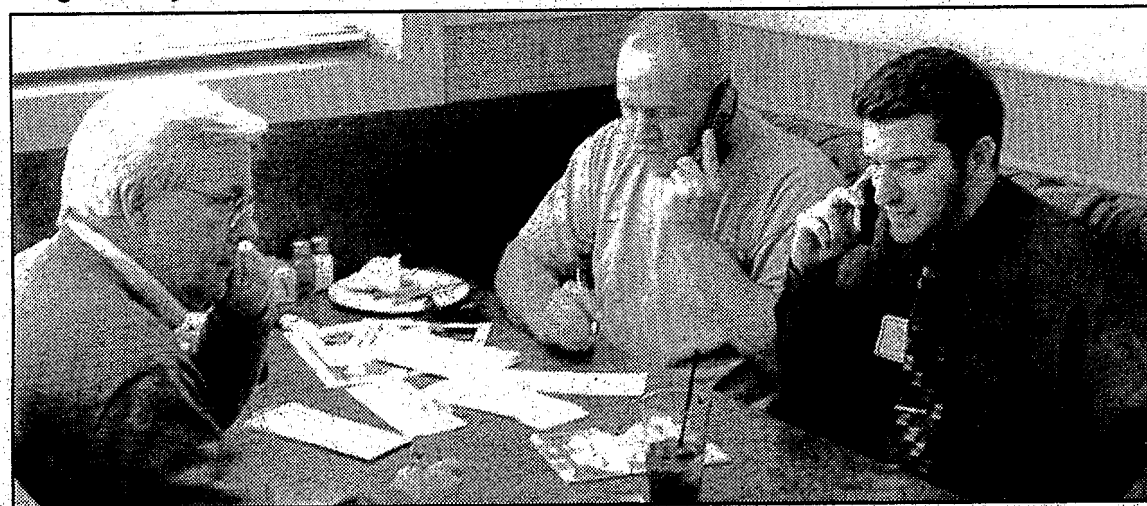

"I am really passionate about working with children and educating others," she said.

Where in the world is Dr. Roberts?

School employees were making hundreds of signs last week, preparing to march in the streets to protest proposed layoffs and budget cuts.

Parents worried over how their children would get to school if bus service was cut, and who would be roaming the hallways if services were privatized.

Amidst all this, the calls came quickly and anonymously.

"Didn't know if you heard. The superintendent is in Italy!"

We hadn't heard that, but a quick email confirmed it. Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts and his wife were on vacation for the week, celebrating their 40th anniversary.

"As a school superintendent, there is never a good time to be away; but I suspect most people would understand taking some time to celebrate such an event," said Dr. Roberts in his email. "That being said, I left specific directions for the administrative team; and I was in touch by both phone and e mail. Today (Sunday), I am in the office reviewing the week's work. Dave Reschke joined me to provide me with a verbal update."

More emails to school board members for their opinion: no big deal.

"I am glad Dr. Roberts has passion for his family and his wife and to plan such a trip for their 40th wedding anniversary," emailed board President Steve Hyer. "There is never a good time for such an absence. Our budget development process is a cycle that runs all year. I am glad that our educational leader in this district values his family and I am glad he brings that same passion to work every day and advocates on behalf of our children."

I agree, there is no good time for a superintendent to take a vacation, and I congratulate the Roberts on their milestone.

However, some times are better than others. Christmas break wasn't long ago, and summer is coming up. Now, in the midst of district-changing decisions, not so much.

Who's on first?

Time to right the hierarchy in Clarkston Schools

There's an old comedy routine by Abbott and Costello called "Who's On First?" Today, seventy-some-odd years later, it still generates laughter. Unfortunately, when it comes to Clarkston Community School District their hierarchy structure is such that who's on first now, shouldn't be.

The underlying problem is the school district elite have forgotten who should be on first. It's not a single person. It isn't the superintendent. It is not the school board president. On first should be the voting/taxpaying public (including their children); then the duly elected board of education (as a whole), then down the pecking order, the hired superintendent and administration.

In Clarkston we have watched with dismay the abdication of the board's responsibilities to the administration. We were stunned, as many in the district, to read quotes from school Boardmembers Joan Patterson and Rosalie Lieblang.

"I've heard teachers and counselors want to talk to me, but were told all requests have to go to Steve (Hyer, school board president)," said Patterson. "That is so wrong -- if someone wants to provide me with information, I should have that right."

She also had trouble arranging a meeting with Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts and Bruce Beamer, executive director for business services, and was again asked to forward questions to Hyer instead.

Lieblang, had to threaten using Michigan's Freedom of Information Act to get information from the administration. Said she, "My understanding of our budget and our financial situation has significantly changed since June 2009... The 2011 budget information we received at the Jan. 25 meeting was very surprising. To see numbers that show that we must make at least

$7 million in cuts, which uses all of our remaining fund equity, was very unexpected."

Why are boardmembers -- entrusted with running the district -- not getting information they need in a timely matter? Why is it difficult for a school boardmember to meet with members of the administration? Why cannot a school boardmember, in the course of executing their duties to the best of the ability, talk to the district's frontline officers -- teachers?

Why must all information be filtered through one or two people, then to the board and only to trickle down to the public? Is there something to hide?

We don't know.

We have repeatedly tried to move the district into a more transparent operation. To open the books so all could see. To educate the public on the process and why decisions are being made. Each attempt has been thwarted, pushed aside with comments like, "It's too complicated for the public to understand."

And, now there are more questions than answers. People are scared, angry and starting to point fingers. Rightly so, for they have been shut out of the process. Knowledge has been controlled and released in amounts only the administration thought was needed.

The hierarchy needs to be put right -- and quick -- if there is to be the trust between the district and the community.

We applaud the recent efforts of Lieblang and Patterson and implore the rest of the board to ask the tough questions. Challenge the administration, challenge yourselves. Take back your responsibilities of running the district, direct the administration. You ran for office and were elected. Do not be directed by someone who answers to you. -- dpr

Reader supports mural decision

Dear Editor,

I wish to applaud Jim Sherman's decision to remove the mural from your Clarkston property - I drive by every Tuesday, on my way to Cedar Crest Academy, and have long wondered what was motivating the artist to produce such a work.

I have found the mural distracting, disjointed and quite incompatible with the more charming character exuded by the Clarkston Village Main Street and surrounding homes. I was tempted many times to inquire, but then decided no one would really care what I thought - I don't even live in the area.

Evidently many others share my perceptions.

I appreciate your original intentions as I'm sure you envisioned a more charming image that would invite patrons into the village. It's a bit like selecting house paint - you can't always tell what it's going to look like until the paint is on the wall, and then sometimes it just isn't what you like at all! lol

I'm sure this project has left you torn - I'm sure it has cost you plenty of money, and I'm sure the artist is a fine person, but preserving the historic integrity of your community should be the overall goal....we're very fortunate to live where we do.

God bless you and your future endeavors.

My two sentries: an owl in back, Shayna in front

As winter started closing in last fall, I decided some 40-year-old pines in the front yard should be eliminated. They'd served as a great screen from traffic noise, etc., but some thinning was due. I asked the cutter to leave at least one 4-ft. stump in case I wanted a monument some day.

Before the first snowfall, I asked Gary "the custom carver" Elzerman to carve me an owl out my back door. You may remember seeing it in a Jottings some months ago.

Elzerman's reputation is printed on the side of his pick-up: "You know, the guy on Baldwin Road." That site has a dozen or so carved things - fish, birds, bear, deer, etc., of varying sizes, roadside.

So, a couple months ago I asked Gary if he could carve m'dog Shayna. He set a date and showed up at nine one morning.

Shayna greeted him and they looked at each other for a while. Then Gary said, "I think I got it, a bent ear and blue eyes."

He started his 4-ft chain saw and began slashing. About three hours later Gary knocked at the door. He said, "I've got to measure Shayna's tail."

Aha! An Elzerman flaw. He forgot a detail, or as I tell it, the d-tail. With that figure he set about wrapping Shayna's tail around her butt. Then he was off to Michael's to find the right color felt-tip for the eyes.

So now our house is protected front and back by a wise old owl and untrained German shepherd-huskie mix.

Water, sewer increases point reader at township errors

Dear Editor,

I'm sure most Independence Township Water and Sewer users are now fully aware of the massive price hikes that were instituted by the Independence Township Board and were predicted by the Citizens Against Independence Township Waste in their fliers.

Those would be the same fliers Mr. Wagner has repeatedly claimed were "untruthful." I believe it is our Water and Sewer bills that are now being "untruthful."

For sewer users alone, the hike is a whopping $48 increase just this year! Though township Trustees claim rate hikes are needed because "past boards refused to raise rates", the extreme amounts being charged are questionable and are contradictory to the Plante Moran Water and Sewer report Dated: Oct. 29, 2008. As you'll see, the numbers just don't add up.

The Plante Moran explains: "Water rates are inadequate and need to be raised." Then goes on to say: "The current Sewer rate is adequate with only nominal annual increases going forward."

The report goes on to explain what annual increases they recommend for both the Water and the Sewer funds. Page Three and Four of the report shows two rate hike scenarios.

Scenario One: Rate hikes needed without taking the town hall loan.

Scenario Two: Rate hikes needed with taking the town hall loan.

Water and Sewer rates under both scenarios were to have net annual increases over a five year period (2009-2013). These are the Water and Sewer fund recommendations according to the Plante Moran report:

Water: Scenario One (without loan): $32 - $60, net annual increase.

Scenario Two: (with loan): $40 - $79 net annual increase.

Sewer: Scenario One (without loan): $2.48 - $2.56 net annual increase.

Scenario Two (with loan): $7.38 - $8.31 net annual increase.

Because the town hall loan obligation has since been moved to the general fund, one can safely assume all rate increases should fall under Scenario One (without town hall loan) and we should ignore Scenario Two altogether.

Here in lies the problem...sewer bills were increased $48 annually in the first of the five years. How can that be? Considering that scenario One of the Plante Moran report recommends a total net increase of $12.86 in Sewer rates over five years (2009-2013), the $48 annual increase is almost 300 percent more than the Plante Moran 5 year rate hike recommendation. That's a 15 year increase pull ahead!

How could Plante Moran have been so wrong? And if they were wrong, why are we paying them to audit and make reports if they are that far off in their recommendations?

Looks like we're paying for the new town hall and some extras with this hidden tax increase! For more information, the Oct. 29, 2008 Plante Moran Memorandum titled: "Preliminary Results of Draft Financial Model for Water and Sewer funds." can be found at the township hall or in the documents link of the www.recallwagner.com website.

Sincerely,

Michael Powell

ImagiNation students take first

With their creative ideas and ability to think on the spot the Pine Knob Elementary Tigers won first place in the regional Destination ImagiNation.

They competed against seven others in an improvisational challenge. Their challenge was title "Do or DI" and during September to February they researched 10 different things threatened with possible extinction and created 10 potential characters.

They were randomly assigned one of each and had seven minutes to develop a skit before they performed it in five minutes.

The skits called for improvisational acting, story development, theater arts, team work and technical innovation.

It was the second time in three years they won the competition in its category.

The team is made of one fourth-grader and five fifth-graders - Caroline Dargay, Anne-Marie Dargay, Kalei McLennan, Mitchell Page, Alex Pouttu and Andrew Ross. Team managers are parents Ruth Dargay and Dawn McLennan.

They head to the state Destination ImagiNation competition on April 17 in Holt.

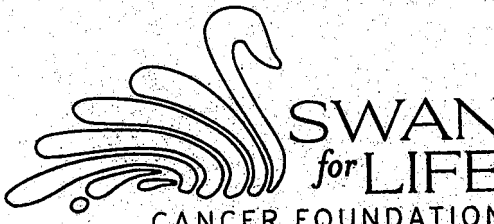

Destination ImagiNation is a creative problem solving program for students from elementary school through college. It incorporates processes and tools to help teams develop and integrate many useful, lifelong problem solving skills.

Public Safety

Reports from Clarkston Police, Oakland County Sheriff Deputies and Independence Township Fire Department

That's a gas

A car owner in the 4000 block of Ennismore Driver found the front passenger window broken, gas cap unlocked, and gasoline stolen, Feb 17.

Doggone it

At least two suspects worked over the neighborhood along Pheasant Run Road, Old Cove Road, and Timber Ridge Trail, Feb. 27. Tracks in the snow show suspects walked down the roads and up numerous driveways, checking vehicles for unlocked doors. Unlocked vehicles were ransacked. A county police dog tracked the suspects, but lost them when they apparently got in a vehicle and drove away.

Nap station

A deputy pull into Dixie Highway gas station to refuel, 5:19 a.m., Feb. 27, when he noticed the car in front had its engine running but its driver asleep. The 18-year-old Waterford Township woke only after several minutes of knocking, and smelled of alcohol. Voice slurred, he said he was there with a friend, but didn't know where he was, and asked why he had been pulled over. With a preliminary breath test of .09, he was cited for drunk driving and minor in possession of alcohol.

Caught in a lie

A deputy watched a 26-year-old Clarkston man pull up to a Sashabaw Road business, 1:40 a.m., Feb. 28, walk around the front, then drive away. Noticing the deputy, the driver quickly pulled into another parking lot. Running his license plate, vehicle owner came back as suspended, so he was pulled over. The driver, who had a misdemeanor warrant on a marijuana charge, was cited for driving with suspended license, equipment violation for a cracked windshield, and giving false information to an officer, because he provided a fake name at first.

Just checking the weight

Someone forced open a pole barn in the 5000 block of Oak Hill Road, Feb. 28, moved a heavy generator, but didn't take it.

Vodka on the run

A woman set off the alarm when walking out of a convenience store with three unpaid-for bottles of vodka, in the 5000 block of Main Street, 5:45 p.m., March 2. She is described as an African-American woman, about 5 foot, 9 inches tall, wearing a white waist-length down jacket with blue around the bottom. The suspect escaped in a red, older model Trailblazer.

Door no more

An employee of a business in the 5000 block of Dixie Highway arrived to find the front door removed from its hinges, March 2. Inner doors were still locked, though.

Gotta have a license

A deputy noticed a car with a headlight out and stopped it, 8:40 p.m., March 3, on Ortonville Road at I-75. The driver, a 42-year-old Waterford Township man, had no driver's license, but had misdemeanor warrants out of Pontiac and Oakland County. His passenger, a 47-year-old West Bloomfield Township woman, had a driver's license, but didn't want to drive because she had been drinking. She also had misdemeanor warrants out of Birmingham and Novi. The driver was cited for driving with suspended license, and jailed on the Oakland County warrant. Novi Police picked up the passenger, who was also cited for allowing a person with suspended license to drive.

Imaginary green

A 23-year-old West Bloomfield man heading south on Dixie Highway thought the light at Ortonville Road was green, so he hit the gas and drove into the car in front of him. Responding to the crash, 10:06 p.m., March 4, a deputy smelled alcohol on his breath. With a .15 preliminary breath test, and was arrested for drunk driving.

Plasma stolen

A Lancasterhill Drive resident returned home, March 4, and noticed his door forced open and 37-inch, plasma flat screen TV missing.

Bottled up

A 30-year-old Ortonville driver bent down to pick up a baby bottle, 4:20 p.m., March 4, on Ortonville Road at I-75, and hit the vehicle stopped at the light. She was cited.

Show me the money

Deputies are investigating an attempted armed robbery, around 8 p.m., March 4, in the 2500 block of Mann Road. Two 14-year-old boys approached two 14-year-old girls on foot and demanded money. When the girls ignored them, one of the suspects pulled a knife. The girls fled and told their parents, who called police. Deputies found the two boys and recovered the knife. The suspect who used the knife was lodged at Oakland County Children's Village. No injuries reported.

School info needs to flow

have been practically begging for more complete information since January, when they were surprised by the size of proposed cuts.

The sheer enormity of the information gaps is becoming clear.

More anonymous callers said the costs of International Baccalaureate and Fast ForWord have been grossly underreported. Instead of tens of thousands, they have cost hundreds of thousands of dollars each so far, despite being new, in effect for about a year.

I called a source of my own and he said he's seen it and will send a copy. If this is true, that means the boatload of other rumors flying around about these new programs have a good chance of being true as well.

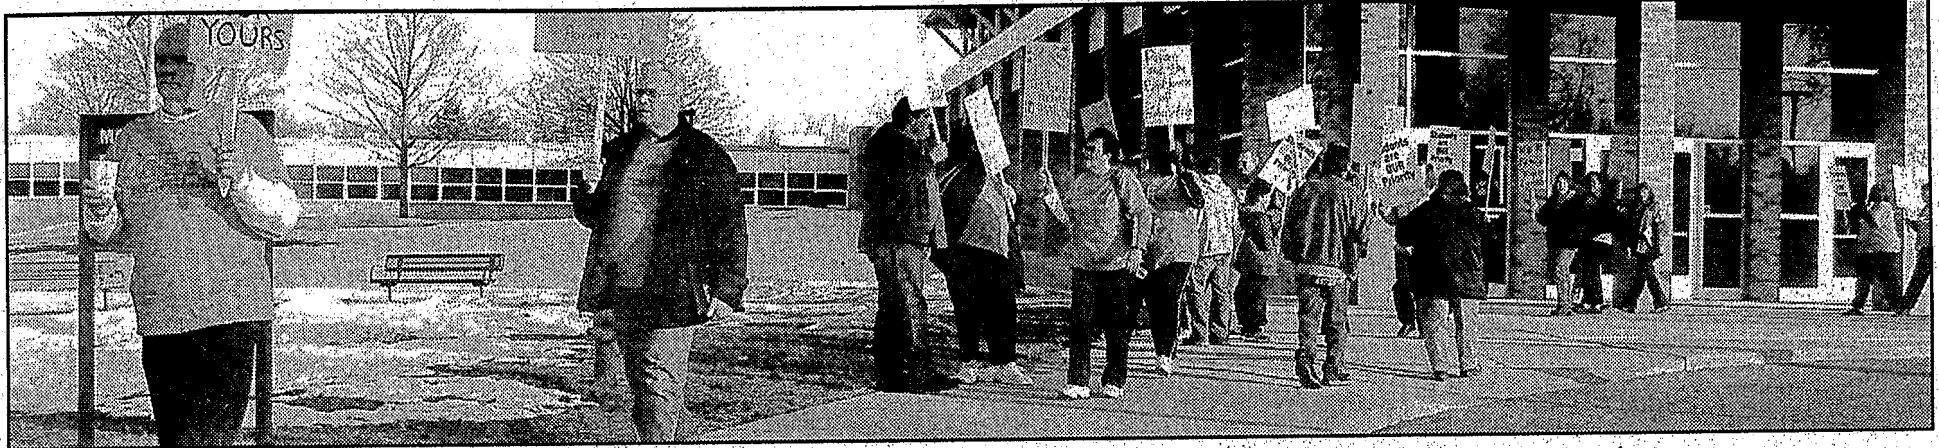

I am amazed and appalled so much cloak and dagger seems to be needed to get complete information out of the schools. I learned some of this sort of thing at Ft. Huachuca when I was in the Army during the Cold War. I didn't think I would need it in Clarkston, Mich.

What kind of leadership allows this sort of environment to persist? Perhaps the type that leaves for Italy for a week during a crisis.

not understanding the numbers."

He continued, the board knew and approved they would balance the budget over the next two years.

"But to say it is a surprise, we look at a financial report every month and look at where our fund balance is," Hyer added.

Patterson pressed on. "Where I get upset is when we heard the state was going to cut $165 per pupil, I asked, shouldn't we be planning for this."

Secretary Cheryl McGinnis spoke up. "We are not moving forward and our job is to move forward for the children of this community. We are supposed to be leading the way. Everyone in the state is in the same predicament. I am here to move forward for every single employee, student, parent, grandparent, business member, every single person. We must come together and solve this problem together."

The board was presented with updated recommendations for 119 items to be cut for the 2011 fiscal year.

Off the table is elimination of art, music, and physical education programs.

Several options were postponed while administration looks at more details, including eliminating transportation, sister schools for grades K-5, closing an elementary school, layoff secondary media specialist, eliminate subject area coordinators, eliminate K-5 special program from general fund and run before and after school programs through community education, return to 6-hour semester schedule, return to half-day Kindergarten, restructure transportation/satellite stops, and open enrollment in grades K-5.

The community also had their chance to speak, and when it came to school budget problems, longtime community leader, Dr. James O'Neill said he has seen it all before.

"I don't come to board meetings because I trust you," he told board. "This is déjà vu all over again. Fourteen years ago they outsourced and we showed up. A year later they got rid of outsourcing and brought back the people and it cost a lot of money. I beg you to sit and try very hard to renegotiate."

O'Neill addressed the board on the recommendation to outsource bus transportation and custodial services in the district. He was also concerned about health issues when outsourcing custodial services.

School custodians agreed, saying they put in extra time and work to clean buildings when there is a flu outbreak.

Jan Davis, president of Clarkston Transportation Association, said outsourcing drivers would impact the community, since most drivers shop in the community, live and pay taxes here, and are more invested in students' wellbeing than outside drivers would be.

Parents also shared ideas to help the district.

Dawn Schaller, mother of a Sashabaw Middle School student, asked for the board to provide more budget details to the Budget Task Force, made up of members of the school board, administration, teachers, staff, parents, and taxpayers.

"Board comments during the last meeting made it obvious there has not been full disclosure to the entire board on the financial aspects of some of the programs they have been expected to approve," she said.

The board scheduled a meeting for this Monday, March 15, to discuss cuts in more detail before they make their final decision on March 22. They will also discuss adding a new budget parameter — if expenses are lower than expected, class sizes will be reduced and instructional aides added. The new parameter was proposed by board President Steve Hyer, March 8, but it was tabled with a 5-1 vote.

School board president, Steve Hyer

Everest students thirst to help others

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Riding in the car with her dad, Lauren Mawson listened to the radio explain the need to fresh water in Haiti.

"They said they couldn't restore their well, and I wanted to help," said Mawson, daughter of Fred and Angela Mawson and sixth grader at Everest Academy.

She quickly learned it wasn't practical to ship water to Haiti from Clarkston, but they could always send cash donations.

Lauren Mawson and her friend Adia Craves, Everest fourth grader, thought up an idea including both.

"I was very nervous about Haiti," said Adia, daughter of Susan and Chuck Craves. "It's very poor, and the earthquake made it a lot worse. I felt the school could help, so people could rebuild."

Their Everest H2O project included distributing bottled water.

"We made all the labels for the water bottles," Mawson said. "People drink the water, fill the empty bottles with coins, and offer prayers."

They also placed an empty water-cooler jug in the school chapel, in which people could place beads to symbolize prayer and sacrifice.

They collected $1,226.41 in donations, along with 5,349 beads.

"They did the entire project," said Chelsea Niemiec, Everest marketing and communications coordinator. "They talked to each class, collected donations, and counted them up."

The project was part of the school's Apostolic Formation, in which students learn to serve the community, Niemiec said.

"From start to finish, Everest teaches that we need to be apostles in the world," she said.

"We can get out there and make a difference – if we see a problem, don't just let adults figure it out," Mawson said.

Local men move car, save driver

Driving north on Pine Knob Road Sunday morning, Larry Giroux of Brandon Township came upon an unexpected sight.

"I drove past Bailey Lake Elementary, and on the right side of the road was a barn and a car lying on its roof," said Giroux, 56. "A man was standing next to it and saw me coming, and he started waving his arms."

The overturned car's driver, a 27-year-old Independence Township woman, was trapped underneath. Giroux and the other man, a nearby resident, worked together to free her.

"The adrenaline flowed," Giroux said. "We didn't pick the car up. I said, 'let's give it a good push.' We got it tilted up at an angle, and I said 'I'll hold it and you pull her out.'"

A neighbor called 911, and Independence Township sheriff's deputies and firefighters quickly responded.

The driver was transported to Genesys Hospital where she is listed in stable condition.

She was traveling southbound on Pine Knob Road at about 9:15 a.m. March 7, when she lost control, went left of center, ran off the road and overturned. Not wearing a seatbelt, she was ejected from the vehicle, a 2008 Nissan Versa, and it landed on top of her. Alcohol does not appear to have been a factor, investigators said.

The crash remains under investigation.

Two men didn't hesitate to rescue the driver of this car, who was pinned underneath. Photo provided

This wasn't the first time Giroux stopped to help at the scene of a traffic wreck.

"There was an accident on I-75 and M-15, eight or nine years ago," he said. "A person was pinned under a Corvette."

Why not just drive by?

"I wouldn't do that," he said. "It's just my nature. When I see someone like that – anyone – one would have done the same thing."

Wolves rank as the best during finals

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

It was third time's the charm for Matt Deitz as he won the championship match for the MHSAA Wrestling Individuals Finals on Saturday.

For his senior year it was his third and final trip to The Palace of Auburn Hills. He had already gone farther than he had his junior year - when he placed seventh in the 135-weight class and had qualified in his sophomore year.

After four wins he was one match closer to being the champion in the 140-weight class in Division 1. All he had to do was take down Oxford's Matt Fritsch, who was also going into the match undefeated for the finals and also was going in with a 50-3 overall record.

Deitz came out tough at the beginning scoring two points on Fritsch in the first round and held onto the control going into the third round.

"I expected him to come out a little bit more tough at the beginning," Deitz said. "My coaches watched him a few times and they knew he would slow down at the end - that's when I would pounce him."

Fritsch gave it one last go in the final round as he held onto his opponent. Deitz flipped at the end to score two more points in the last 30 seconds for the win, 9-2.

"It feels really good," said Deitz after the match, still taking in the win. "The adrenaline is still pumping. I am going to be so happy in about five seconds."

Deitz admitted after last year's seventh place he knew he could take first this year. He spent the year working more on his feet and practicing in the offseason. He also had support from his coaches and family throughout the journey.

"I had my coaches pushing me and wrestled with me," he said. "My parents had me go running to stay in shape."

"I am really excited for him," said Joe DeGain, head varsity coach. "He deserves the state championship and it was up to him to take it. He has put in a lot of time and effort."

Deitz finished 51-3 for his senior year.

Another senior ending the season on a high note was Evan King, who finished in third place in his 160-pound weight class after defeating Seth Hanton from Holt, 8-1.

He lost his first match on Thursday to Dearborn's Dino Berri in overtime, 3-2. He grew momentum taking down Rochester's Matt Waszkiewicz with a fall 3:11 into the match, then Hudsonville's Paul Carbone, 4-0, and Canton's Keith Zech, 3-1 in overtime.

"Anyway I wrestled was going to be tough," said King about going against Carbone. "I beat a couple tough guys that had beaten him but I haven't seen him before. My best shot was to try and ride him out and not go neutral with him. I wasn't going to stop until I had a takedown anyways."

Going in he knew he was ranked below all of his competitors but he kept his cool.

"I was the underdog," said King. "I was ranked lower than all these guys. I came back up and pulled third."

After his first match a coach from Avondale came to him with words of inspiration for the next four matches. He told King about a wrestler who also lost his first match and he went on to take third and finish the season 43-9.

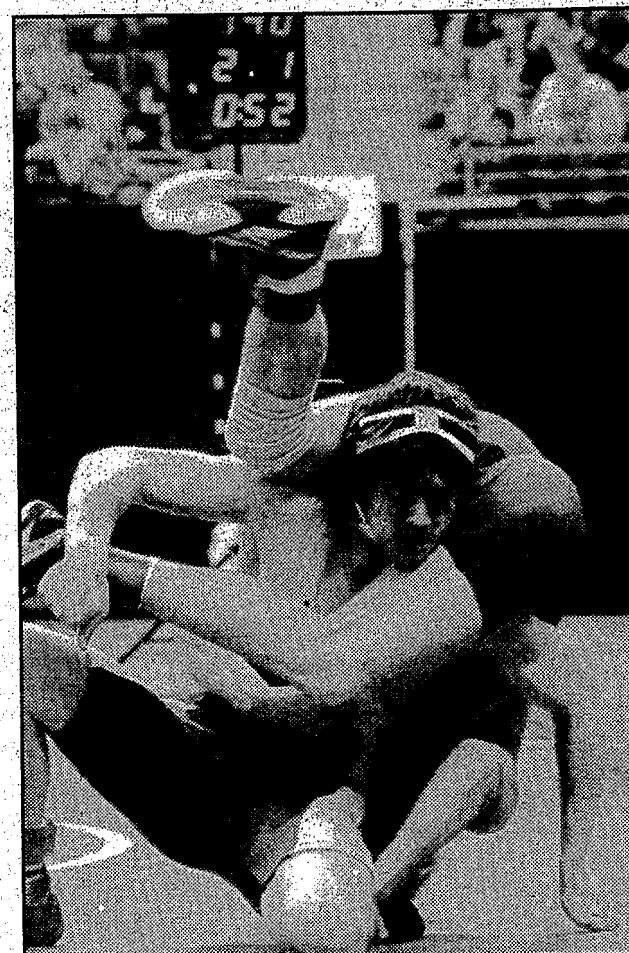

It was also King's third appearance at states.

"I have been afraid and timid when I came here," he admitted. "This year I stepped up and I wasn't afraid. I saw the crowd and the bright lights and got past it."

"He showed a lot of character and guts," said DeGain. "I am so proud of Evan."

For Zac Roberson's second trip to states, he finished in fourth after a loss to Howell's Alex Calandrino, 8-6. The senior ended the season, 43-11.

Athletes of the Week

Grapplers named All-State at finals

They went, they wrestled, they conquered and in the end - all five Clarkston wrestlers finished in the top eight and were named All-State.

Matt Deitz finished the three-day tournament taking state championship away from Matt Frisch, from Oxford, in the 140-pound weight class.

Evan King (160) defeated Holt's Seth Hanton, 8-1, for third place.

Zac Roberson (112) took fourth after a 8-6 loss to Howell's Alex Calandrino.

Matt Vandermeer (171) finished in sixth when Northville's Nick Mudar won with a fall.

Jeff Sloney (125) defeated Kaelen Richards from Rochester, 10-5, for seventh.

"I am really proud of everyone this weekend," said Joe DeGain, head varsity coach.

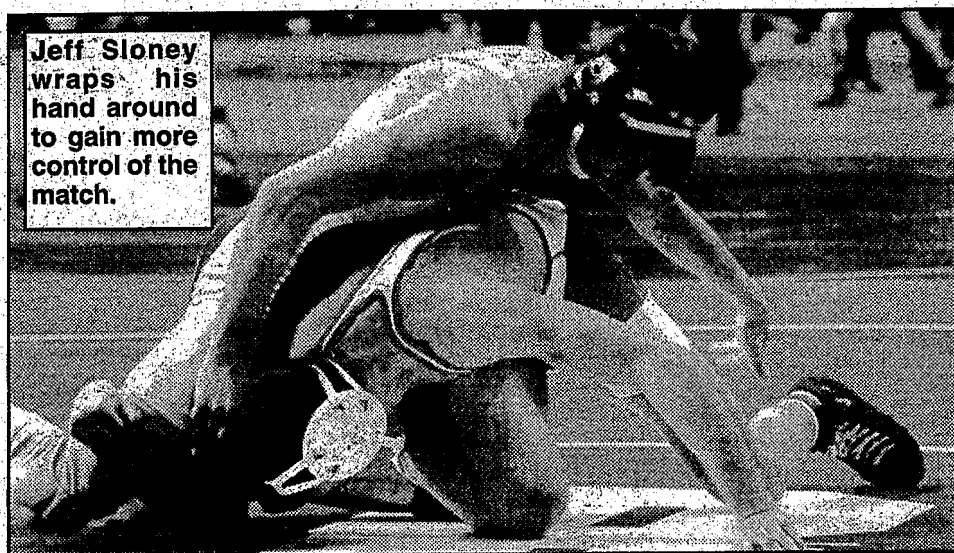

"It's something for the entire team to be proud of. It's a real tribute to all the 40 guys on the team that they were able to produce five All-State wrestlers."

Jeff Sloney wraps his hand around to gain more control of the match.

Juniors finish high, ready for next year

Junior Matt Vandermeer placed in sixth, for his first visit, after a highly-competitive match with Northville's Nick Mudar, who won with a fall 4:31 into the match.

Earlier in the week he faced off with Alec Camp from Rochester and won, 1-0, after escaping from his clutches.

"I was kind of worried going into it," he said. "I have wrestled him before and it was a tight match before. He knows how I wrestle. I know how he wrestles, too. He does stuff to counter me in the match. After I escaped I knew I had him."

He finished 40-14 for the season.

Junior Jeff Sloney took seventh in his second visit to states. He began and ended the finals going against Detroit Catholic Central's Charlie Joseph. He beat him 7-3 in the first round and in the last round, 10-5.

"It was tough," Sloney said about his final match. "I was in his head a little bit but not really. He came hard. Even though I beat him earlier, he was ready."

Sloney admitted he would have liked to have done better during finals but he was happy to place for his second visit and is aiming higher for his senior year.

He finished the season, 41-14.

"It was a really fun week and the guys wrestled well," said DeGain.

Wolves fling Highlanders out of playoffs

BY WENDIREARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Cagers faced off against Rochester Adams in the first round of districts on Monday night.

They took them out of the running for the district crown by beating them, 69-58.

Going into the game the boys were ready after they had just seen them less than two weeks ago.

And just like the previous match-up - Adams had a tough time guarding senior Matt Kamieniecki, as he scored 30 points in the game.

Tyler Scarlett aided with six points and led defense as the Highlanders did what the Wolves wanted them to do - end their season.

The boys prepared for districts last week with two OAA Red games to close the regular season.

They played Avondale on March 2 and won 41-29. Kamieniecki led the boys adding 20 points to the board and Scarlett had 11.

"It was a tough game," said Wolves Head Coach Dan Fife.

They followed it with another win - this time over Southfield-Lathrup, who they had lost to earlier in the season in overtime.

"It was our floor, but we played better," said Fife about the difference in the boys from the previous match-up.

Jordan Clark got the ball rolling putting the boys on the board with two points. After the boys regained control of the ball he put in another basket but this time from past the three point line.

"Kami and Clark were good early in the game," said Fife. "They set the tempo."

The Wolves went on a 16-point run leading into the second quarter before Southfield-Lathrup put two points onto their score.

The boys kept adding points to the board and regaining possession of the ball.

Kamieniecki grabbed the ball from Southfield-Lathrup and as the ball was heading out of bounds he outstretched his long arm passing it towards Nick Tatu.

Tatu ran down the court and found himself blocked from making a shot. He bounced the ball down on the floor and towards Scarlett.

Scarlett lined it up and threw the ball. The ball hit the backboard before going through the rim.

Scarlett continued to have a good game as he ran circles around his opponents, and ended the game with 19 points, and was 9-for-9 on free throws.

"Scarlett was good with the ball tonight," said Fife. "It was a good win for us."

Kamieniecki scored 13 points and Clark had ten.

The win put the boys at 10-4 in OAA Red - tying for first place with Southfield-Lathrup and Southfield.

"It was better to tie than to get second place," admitted Fife.

Clarkston takes on Romeo on Wednesday night at 7 p.m. Lake Orion and Oxford compete at 5:30 p.m. The winners move on to Friday night at 7 p.m. at Clarkston.

Health expo for children

Learn about health and safety for children at the Family Health and Fitness Expo, 9 a.m.-3 p.m., Saturday, March 27, at Clarkston Community Education, 6558 Waldon Road.

Free health kits

The Great Lakes Cancer Institute offers free colorectal cancer screening kits during March, National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month.

The institute recommends regular screening beginning at age 50. Tests can detect cancer at an early stage, increasing chance for full recovery, and prevent cancer from developing by finding precancerous polyps that can then be surgically removed.

"It's the test people are too embarrassed to talk about, but it can save your life," said Susan Yun, nurse navigator for Great Lakes Cancer Institute-Clarkston.

The at-home kits are mailed to individuals aged 50 and older on request by calling 1-866-696-GLCI(4524).

Icers put Bulldogs in the doghouse, fall to Dragons

BY JEFF TURNER

Special to Clarkston News

The Clarkston Wolves hockey team jumped out of the gate in their pre-regional playoff game against Grand Blanc on March 2, and never looked back in a 4-2 victory.

The Wolves outshot the Bobcats 18 to 2 in the first period, and despite a solid performance in net by Grand Blanc goalie Jordan Ballance, were able to take control of the game early.

"We basically beat them in every aspect of the game," said Clarkston coach Bryan Krygier, "we outplayed them, outshot them, but we let them hang around. Yet we found a way to advance and move on, and that's what we have to do."

The Wolves came out strong in the first period, with four solid opportunities to score in the first eight minutes of play. But Ballance was strong in net for the Bobcats, keeping the Wolves off the board until Luke Connor managed to knock a loose puck past him to give Clarkston a 1-0 lead.

"(Ballance) played really well for them tonight," said Krygier, "He kept them around for most of the game. But that's playoff hockey, and that's what we have to expect."

The Wolves also got goals from Adam Frank in the second period and Adam Johns in the third.

The Bobcats managed to cut the lead to a goal at 2-1 early in the third period, but Johns countered with a wrist shot that beat Ballance, and gave the Wolves a two goal cushion.

Chad Wotton added an empty net goal for Clarkston in the closing minutes, before Stephen Basinski capped the scoring with a goal for the Bobcats with a minute to play.

A third period rally brought the Clarkston hockey team back from a two goal deficit.

But it wasn't enough to overcome an early two goal surge by the Lake Orion and a strong performance by Dragons goalie Shawn Horton in a 2-1 Pre-regional loss Thursday.

Lake Orion got two power play goals in the first eight minutes, from Dan Blascak and Jesse Cameron, to provide a lead they would maintain for the rest of the game.

"We took two dumb penalties in the first period, and that was the difference," said Wolves Coach Bryan Krygier, "they were two bad penalties, both away from the play, and they got the momentum from those and took advantage."

With the two goal cushion, the Dragons sat back and kept the Wolves away from the net, as Horton would collect 38 saves, 19 in the third period, to ensure the win.

"We wanted to keep the pressure on, even with the two goal lead," said Lake Orion coach Pat Cherry. "But we got some penalties (in the second period), and we had to sit back and ride it out."

After few opportunities in the second period, the Wolves made a game of it in the third, as a Lake Orion penalty with 13:49 remaining turned into a power play goal for Clarkston.

Senior Adam Frank, the OAA leader in points, put a wrist shot past Horton to cut the lead to a goal.

The Wolves had numerous opportunities in the closing minutes, highlighted by a power play with 3:23 remaining on which the Wolves peppered Horton with four shots.

With their goalie pulled in the closing minute, Clarkston got two opportunities on net, but a puck that trickled past Horton failed to score, and the Dragons survived for the 2-1 win.

"We were hungry in the third, but we ran into a stone wall in (Horton)," said Krygier. "You gotta give credit to their goalie. He played really well."

The game also marked the final contest for Clarkston's six seniors, four of whom have been on the team for the last four years.

"It's always tough for the seniors to play their last game," said Krygier.

"But they've been a pleasure to have on the team. They have accomplished a lot over the last four years. They've won big games, been to the semifinals (in 2008), and have always fought hard and represented the program well."

The Wolves finished the season 9-14-2. Lake Orion moved to 12-12-1, and played in the regional final on Saturday night against Utica Eisenhower.

Comedy, tragedy with Village Players

BY TREVOR KEISER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Looking for a little laughter with drama attached? Then check out the Clarkston Village Players as they perform "Melville Boys," written by Canada's Norm Foster.

"I love any kind of thing that deals with relationships," said Director Vernie Vackaro. "The relationships between the two brothers and the two sisters (in this play) are very interesting and intriguing, particularly the ones between the two brother."

Melville Boys is a story about two distinctly different brothers, Lee, married with children, and younger brother Owen, engaged but still a party boy. They headed to their Uncle's cottage up north for the weekend. Lee had hopes of talking with Owen in order to get him to face a rather difficult dilemma that affects each of them, but Owen would rather avoid talk and get to fishing.

However, he will forfeit fishing for the company of two beautiful sisters, Mary, who is estranged from her husband, independent, and tries to come off confident, and her younger sister Loretta, outspoken wannabe actress, with no want for responsibility.

As the relationship between Lee and Mary grow, as well as Owen and Loretta, in the end each character must evaluate themselves, grow up and face reality.

"I like the play that has humor in it and it's got some meat to it," Vackaro said. "It's what I call comic-drama."

Howard Andress said he likes Lee's "grounded sense of family and responsibility."

Local teens host ball to help children in Honduras

Erica Cale hosts a Gala Ball, 6:30 p.m.-12:30 a.m., Saturday, March 13, at Deer Lake Athletic Club in Clarkston.

The St. Patrick's Day themed Emerald Ball benefits her nonprofit group Helping Hearts Helping Hands for children in Honduras.

"Erica has set a goal to raise $70,000 this year," said Nancy Cale, her mother. "Money will go directly to helping the orphanage get furnished and ready for babies this spring."

The orphanage houses 12-16 children. Erica, 17, will live in the orphanage home, along with a house family.

"She will provide a loving, Christian home with food, clothing, water and all the basic living needs for the children," Nancy said. "They will be provided with a full education and regular medical and dental care."

Erica has helped others since she was a small child, Nancy said.

"Her thoughts have always been on how she can help others," she said. "At the age of 6 she planned a birthday party, but asked that her guests bring gifts for children in a shelter, instead of for herself."

After 9-11, she made red, white, and blue pins and sold them at Depot Park as a fundraiser for the Red Cross. When the Tsunami hit Sri Lanka, she decorated coffee mugs, sold them, and sent the money to a mission group who was setting up shelters and schools for the orphans. At age 14, Erica went on a family vacation to visit friends in Honduras.

"This trip changed her life forever," Nancy said. "No longer did she dream of going to prom, choosing a college, and living an average teenage life. Her dream had now become all about helping the sick and starving children in Honduras."

Over the past three years, Erica made 11 trips to Honduras and founded Helping Hearts Helping Hands, based in Clarkston and supported by the Cale family's home church, Clarkston United Methodist Church.

She completed her high school on-line so she could travel. She has an adult and teen board of volunteers, most of whom are from the Clarkston area.

Erica raised more than $80,000 in three years. She distributes food, drinking water, clothing, shoes, school supplies, hygiene products, and other necessities on all of her trips. She has visited many orphanages and poverty-stricken villages.

"She has had entire villages of children running to greet her vehicle when it arrives where the homeless families build shacks made of scraps," Nancy said.

Entertainment at the fundraiser includes Katie Scheu, an eighth grader at Clarkston Junior High School and an accomplished pianist, providing dinner music. Bianca Keitel, Clarkston High School senior, will sing Celtic music, accompanied by her violin. Ben Mackie, freshman at Wayne State University, provides DJ dance music.

Sciatica? Herniated Discs?

Having back and leg pain can bring life to a standstill.

You might not be able to play golf, work, or even sit in the car for a 30-minute drive. It's almost impossible for anyone around you to understand how you feel. You can't remember the last time you even had a restful night's sleep.

When cushions in your back joints, called discs, get injured or wear out, they begin to degenerate and cause pain. Bulging and herniations begin to form, pressing on the nerve roots.

The most common invasive treatment for disc herniations is surgery. Even with health insurance the patient is left with their own portion of the bill, in excess of $10,000-$15,000, and sometimes more.

In addition, the recovery time and missed work can be anywhere from 3 to 6 months, not to mention the obvious severe risks associated with all surgeries.

Before You Go Under The Knife And Opt For Spinal Surgery...

You should seriously consider a less invasive approach to solving your back pain and sciatica.

SPINAL DECOMPRESSION has a long track record in helping people with sciatica and back pain. Here's what a study said about spinal decompression therapy...

"spinal decompression therapy reported a success rate of 76.5% with complete remission of pain and disability." -Rio Grande Hospital, Department of Neurosurgery

The conditions this amazing treatment has proven successful for are:

- Herniated and/or bulging discs
- Degenerative disc disease
- Back pain
- Sciatica
- A relapse or failure following certain surgeries
- Lumbar Facet syndromes

Could This Be Your Sciatica And Back Pain Solution?

For 14 days only, $37 will get you all the services I normally charge new patients $257 for!

What does this offer include? Everything I normally do in my new patient evaluation. An in-depth consultation about your health and well-being where I will listen...really listen...to the details of your case. A complete neuromuscular examination. And a full set of specialized x-rays (NOTE: These would normally cost you at least $100). A thorough analysis of your exam and x-ray findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain-free.

Don't live another day like this. Call my office. Innate Specific Chiropractic, PC and schedule your evaluation. 248-393-1211

Sincerely,
Dr. Frank Iulianelli, D.C., FKCS.

Clarkston Rotary restocks ShelterBox

Clarkston Rotarians Mary Sloan and Jeff Lichty met with Tom Henderson, founder and CEO of ShelterBox, at a Florida workshop this past February.

The Rotary supports the ShelterBox program, providing disaster relief all over the world.

More than 8,000 boxes were sent to Haiti and Chile, as well as flooded regions in Egypt, Peru, and Kenya.

Donations are needed to replenish stocks, made to ShelterBoxUSA, a non-profit group, in care of the Clarkston Rotary Club, PO Box 43, Clarkston, MI 48347.

The green, 40.7-gallon plastic shelter boxes each contains a tent, sleeping bags, blankets, cooking supplies, water containers, purification tablets and other essentials. The gear is adjusted for each disaster – mosquito nets in tropical environments, thick sleeping bags for cold weather.

For a presentation on Shelterbox, contact Mary Sloan at marysloan@comcast.net.

Self restraint during Lent builds empathy for others

In my family, the weeks preceding Easter compel us to practice the ancient Christian tradition of fasting.

Before you call us crazy or give us too much credit, you should understand that our "fasting" is relegated to the somewhat simpler idea of "giving something up for Lent."

It's not easy, as I'm sure my sugar-addicted 16 year old daughter would tell you. I ended up eating my ice cream in the closet last week for fear that she would never forgive me eating sweets in front of her. (Guess what she gave up?)

Fasting from food and drink for long periods of time seems much more difficult. I am always fascinated and impressed by the Muslim tradition of fasting during Ramadan, which involves absolutely no eating or drinking from sun up to sun down for an entire month!

We don't go that far; still, any act of self-restraint has traditionally been considered virtuous in all the world religions. I'm good with that.

With many people today believing that the goal in life is to always be happy and free of all discomfort, I believe the concept of fasting as penance can help us to understand that suffering can be beneficial. For Christians, this speaks deeply to the mystery of Christ's death and resurrection.

In our society, the act of self-restraint seems ludicrous. Why, some ask, do our faith traditions promote the idea of restricting pleasure?

After all, isn't being happy the most important thing?

Not necessarily.

Did you know that nearly a third of the 562,000 Americans who will die from various types of cancer in 2010 will die in large part because of their own behavior?

Smoking, overeating, excessive drinking and physical inactivity will do them in. The same self-indulgences also bear on those who will die from heart disease. Perhaps our faith tradition of fasting and self-restraint are making us happy after all.

My experience has taught me that self-restraint done consciously as a Lenten practice does more than promote the virtue of discipline or good physical health. It has a spiritual outcome as well.

Any kind of fasting can teach compassion if it is taken to prayer. It's easy to talk about the world's problem of hunger and to feel sorry that millions of people go to bed hungry each day.

But not until one feels hunger in one's own body is there a real impact; empathy is much stronger than pity. It is also more Christ-like.

Another idea is to restrict yourself from some pleasure and distribute the money you save to someone who needs it more.

The point is, one shouldn't "give something up" just for the sake of proving to someone else that you can do it. (Let alone just to lose weight!)

Rather, in the spirit of compassion and empathy, practicing some form of self-restraint can lead to solidarity with others who suffer.

Try it yourself during these last days of Lent, and I promise the joy of the Easter Resurrection will mean more than ever!

Cheryl Smith is director of Adult Faith Formation at St. Daniel Catholic Church.

Glenn Miracle and other volunteers assemble boxes for shipment to troops overseas.

Socks for the desert

Dozens of volunteers packed boxes full of canned, packaged, and instant foods, personal care items, entertainment items, and new socks for troops overseas, Feb. 25, at Desert Angels' Miracle Box Packing Party.

The theme of the Heroes Sock Hop II at Oakland County Sportmen's Club, 4770 Waterford Road, was socks — each box included a new set of black and white socks.

Louise Downs of Metamora founded Desert Angels in 2001. She and her group ship thousands of boxes filled with needed items and letters to our troops overseas.

Donations are needed to defray postage, about $12 per box. For more information, call 248-623-0444 or check TheDesertAngel.com.

'Melville Boys' runs through March 27

"I like the change he undergoes, which is kind of subtle during the course of the show," he said. "It was a little tough to grab onto at first, but it's been slowly coming to me."

Having done one other show with CVP last fall Andress, noted he was looking forward to working with the cast, which was motivation for him to try out.

Adam Lindemier, who has mostly done comedy and not done a drama in three years, was glad to be challenged by his character, Owen.

"It's completely polar opposite of who I consider myself to be," he said.

Hale Wells, who considers acting her therapy and had worked with Verne as a director in the past, said she liked her character as Mary.

"I have always played in the past some edgy characters, Wells said. "She's (Mary) just down to earth, she's lonely, her husband's left, she's independent, owns a store, kind of has an 'I can take care of myself attitude' and I like that."

Johana Bell who plays the part of Loretta said she likes that her character is "not afraid to say whatever is on her mind."

"She's very outgoing, which is not like me," Bell said. "I'm very shy and she is out there."

As far as cast and crew, Vackaro said "they were fantastic to work with."

Melville Boys is performed March 12, 13, 19, 20, 21, 25, 26, 27 at the Depot Theater, 4861 White Lake Road.

One last snowman

As winter slowly comes to a close, Robert Swansey, 10, left, and A.J. Swansey, 7, built a snowman, March 1. The 7-foot, 2-inch tall figure was four feet around, and colored with food coloring shot through their father Bob Swansey's airbrush. With temperatures warming the well-dressed snowman didn't last long. Photos provided
