

Calling for new on-call firefighters

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer Ever feel the siren's call to action, fighting fires and rescuing people from injury or even death?

If so, Independence Township Fire Department wants to talk to you about joining them as an on-call firefighter.

According to Captain Gary Sharp, oncall firefighters go through the same academy and training as full-timers.

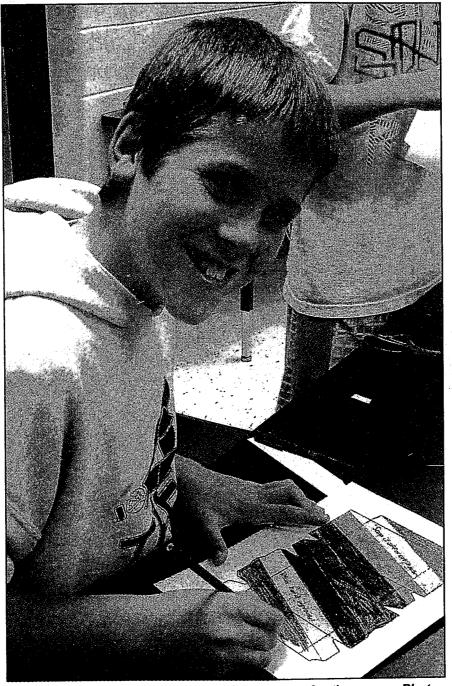

"The difference is the career firefighters are assigned to the station for 24-hour shifts to respond," Sharp said. "The on-call firefighters are at home or at work and we give them a pager. When there is a fire or a car accident where we need extra firefighters their pager will go off and they'll respond from home to either the emergency or to the fire station."

Sharp noted on-call firefighters have declined nationally as families have gotten busier and people have less time to volunteer.

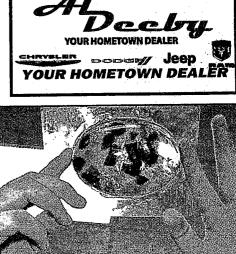

"We're hoping there are some people in the community who have a desire and the time to commit to it," he said. "It's definitely an important job and we're going to need somebody who's willing to do it."

Sharp said there are many times they have small emergencies where they have just enough full-time guys to do handle the situation, but it's the "bigger, less

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Clarkston City Council approval lake access for 90 N. Main, Mayor Joe Luginski was relieved.

At the end of the day I think we got a good resolution and everybody seems to be in good unison about it," Luginski said. "I just wish it would have been a quicker process than what it ended up taking us."

City Councilman Steve Hargis called it a "good example of how government works."

Local business owner Curt Catallo was a potential purchaser for 90 N. Main but lost interest.

"I couldn't risk negative publicity in the press and I didn't want to further offend the residents of Parke Lake," he said. "I was just in no mood for controversy."

Building owner Bob Roth was disappointed the council lost sight of what was important.

"It's about jobs, businesses and supporting businesses," Roth said. "Last I talked to Curt, cities want him to come and bring his business. I still think it's a great spot for his business the building is perfect for his use and it's close to his home."

Overall Roth is happy.

"We have an approved site plan and approved uses," he said. "It's progress."

Hargis added it was too bad Curt couldn't act on purchasing 90 N. Main.

"It would have been a great addition to the city, use for that building and I think Curt would have been a great owner," he said. "Maybe there is still enough of a chance, I don't know.'

Catallo said he hasn't ruled out the property entirely.

"I'm still committed to finding a good tenant for Mr. Adler and Mr. Roth for that building - Clarkston needs a good tenant in there," he said. "If it could still be us that would be great."

Christmas thoughts

After all these years, I still love the Peanuts holiday specials.

Charlie Brown's Christmas tree, Linus explaining the real reason for the season, the Christmas party dancing.

Charlie Brown's impromptu Thanksgiving feast. I sometimes prepare dinner like that.

Charlie Brown's scissor's impaired Halloween ghost costume. He got a rock while trickor-treating, which made him sad.

Kid Rock brought some extra national exposure to Clarkston, stopping by the Union and Woodshop to film a segment for Food Network's "Diners, Drive-ins and Dives."

The troops get out of Iraq for Christmas this year. Whether they won or not can be discussed later. Now let's just be happy they're home, or on the way.

Tom Stone and his group Clarkston Cares for Military Families group work to make it easier for local troops and their families as they readjust back to civilian life.

Clarkston Community Schools also has Dr. Rod Rock.

For myself, I got the Christmas tree up on time, right after Thanksgiving. The cats only brought it down once so far. This is an improvement. My oldest cat Henry gnawed on it a bit, but probably just for old times sake. He did that a lot when he was a kitten but is now more than 14 years old.

The office Christmas party was fun. What went on there will not be reported in these pages, which is for the best. I got a barbecue set in the White Elephant gift exchange, which was nice.

Clarkston High School basketball players will stay busy during Christmas break. The Wolves hit the court on Thursday, Dec. 22 - Boys Basketball hosts a tripleheader vs. Troy Athens, freshman game, 4 p.m.; JV, 5:30 p.m.; Varsity, approximately 7 p.m.

On Monday, Jan. 2, Girls Basketball hosts their triple-header vs. Troy Athens, freshman, 4 p.m.; JV, 5:30 p.m., Varsity, about 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 3, Boys Basketball hosts Lake Orion, JV, 5:30 p.m., Varsity, about 7 p.m.

An explanation for township board

Dear Editor.

The analysis of the supposed costs to the township of doing the supervisor's job misses the mark by asking the wrong question ("$135,000 to fill in for supervisor," Dec. 14).

The implication is that the Township Board has done something wrong. The board faced a difficult situation in not having a supervisor who first was up to the job and then simply gone.

An HR director was needed because the current supervisor had cost the township hundreds of thousands of dollars for mishandling basic personnel functions. Similarly, a budget analyst was necessary to improve the prior process involving the finance director who had other duties and then because the current supervisor was gone. A superintendent was necessary because the current supervisor had been gone so long that just "getting by" in township operations was no longer acceptable.

As a board we had a responsibility to make certain basic government functions were being handled. Each of these personnel moves has proved by results to be the right decision and actually has saved us money and that trend will continue. Looking at the costs is too narrow and is not balanced by looking at the significant benefits to the community.

Could all these tasks be handled more efficiently with fewer personnel? Perhaps, but the current supervisor's conduct and misfortune did not give the board the time to develop that solution. But now we have the time and are moving in the direction of handling these duties in an even more efficient manner.

As a community we have the opportunity for an experiment of sorts to see the important benefits of having professionals providing assistance to elected officials while all are responsive to the public we serve. It is my belief this will demonstrate another way township government can provide more value to the community.

Sad to see Christmas spirit lacking for some

Dear Editor,

On our way to church recently, I casually asked my 15 year old nephew how work went. His reply shocked and saddened me.

He was working outside selling Christmas trees at the gas station on M-15 just north of town. There he was, the dancing Santa, dressed to the nines in the traditional holiday costume; red pants, beard, fur trimmed coat and hat; dancing and waving to the cars and kids. I wasn't outside for more than 5 minutes before the cold whipped through me, but there he was for hours. Doing an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

As we continued driving in the car, he explained alot of the people were very nice. One man bought him a cup of hot chocolate, another a candy bar, others greeted him with a "Merry Christmas" or honked their horns and waved.

He said he did his best Santa voice when children came near, but confessed he still needed a bit of practice in that department. Independence Township

Not everyone, however, was kind. He said some made jests and yelled slurs out the window, which he's not allowed to repeat. And one man decided to roll down his window and sling an almost full bottle of water at him. He tried to dodge the bottle, but it all happened so quickly, it hit him square in the face. He dropped to his knees for a couple of minutes to shake it off and the manager of the tree sales ran over to him to make sure he was alright. He is okay, but I want to say "shame on you" to whomever threw that bottle out the window. What is this world coming to? I would never dream someone could be so cold hearted and morally void and deliberately hurt Santa!

So I say publically to my precious nephew, may God bless you for working out in the freezing temperatures to help a Michigan business man keep his business thriving!

Merry Christmas! Diane Sutherland

lems with our accounts receivable department and thinking the day couldn't end soon enough. It was just before one in the afternoon, and I remembered that I had forgotten to check my email at the normal time (lunch). As I read the electronically sent not note from the 59-year-old grandmotherly reader, my smile grew. (Heh, heh. I smell a column coming on!)

What follows is a little Dickensonian, so bare with me as I try to conjure up a fresh blanket of snow to set the scene.

Dear Don,

I would like to apologize to the wonderful children who were singing Christmas carols in my neighborhood. I have been here over 25 years and this is the first time anyone has come caroling.

This is a true story.

I was sitting in my front room watching a boxing movie with a lot of action sounds, etc. From nowhere all these sounds -- bells, singing, and stomping and all sorts of sounds seem to be coming out of the speakers.

The one dog flies off the chair, all four paws off the floor and ends up facing me barking, scared. The other dogs start barking at the front windows. I yell, "What the Fudge?!" (Except, just like Ralphie in the movie, A Christmas Story, I didn't say fudge, I said the queen mother of all swear words, the f--word.)

And, I said the word, many times. I turned the volume off and I still hear these strange sounds. Out of the corner of my eyes, less than a foot away, I see candles, hear bells and singing and children, about eight of them singing Christmas carols. They were fearless and they kept right on singing.

I really do feel bad about the swearing.

I ran out of the house and gave them some money, hoping to get them outta' there. They turned and left, but one, the littlest, turned back and looked at me. Huge eyes, terrified, sad or both? I don't know. I went back in and after thinking about my words, I wanted to apologize, but could not find them on my block. I really did go out to look for them but didn't see or hear them anywhere. I guess the money I gave them will now be used for therapy.

If any of the singers read this, I really am sorry about the words, and did enjoy your singing. (My behavior really was worse, but I tried to clean this up for your family publication).

Don, I do not know how to get this message out to them.

Thank you, Mrs. Grumpy

Well Mrs. Grumpy, it warms the cockles of my heart to be a tool of healing, to help thaw your cold, cold heart as you reach out to the wee-ones who only tried to spread some holiday cheer.

I am sure they will accept your apology, as would I. Even after Ebenezer Scrooge was crotchety to folks he was able to feel love during Christmas.

Remember, too when the Grinch figured out the errors of his ways his heart (once two sizes too small) grew three sizes that fateful day.

Merry Christmas, Mrs. Grumpy and merry Christmas readers one and all. May the love of family and friends and strangers from afar keep you warm.

Merry Christmas From The Grandkids

When we first started this Jim's Jottings holiday tradition, the two grandchildren Dan and Karen Offer (inset picture) were small enough to fit on my knees. It was 1988. Dan was 3-years-old and Karen was four-months-old. In that first picture, Karen had no hair, I had more and I still wore a suit and tie to work every day. Now they are grown and living out west and I only wear a tie if the occasion arises. They are the children of our daughter Luan and her husband, Bob Offer. The Offer children both live in Colorado.

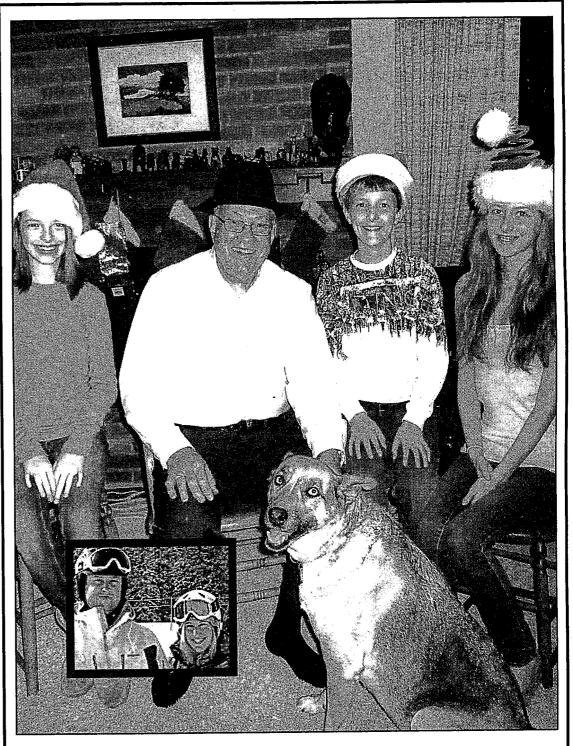

Back then, the three grandchildren standing around me, were only being dreamed of and anxiously waited for. Now, too, they are growing and becoming fine young people. The Speed siblings seated with me, from the left are Haley and then Trevor (both 12) and Savannah, 16. Their proud parents are our daughter Susan and her husband, Tim Speed.

In 1988, I wrote, "From time to time their names appear in Jottings and I thought you might like to see who we're writing about." These days, I sometimes mention m'dog Shayna (that's her in front).

While situations, and stations have changed in the 23 years since 1988, some things do not change. We still find more joy in giving than in receiving and me and the grandkids still wish you a Merry Christmas!

- Jim Sherman, Sr.

Why All the Household Dust?

T'm Keith Meadows, owner and operator pany. Most companies use portable units, of American Power Vac, Inc. For years, I've been improving community's health one family at a time. By now we've all heard the statistics: 50% of all illness is a direct relation to dirty indoor air and our indoor air is up to 90 times more polluted than outdoor air. Yet, 90% of the calls I re-

are from desperate people complaining about dust. They tell me they dust the T.V. on Friday, but by Sunday they are pushing the dust out of the way again so they can watch Desperate Housewives, and none of them know exactly where it's coming from. Well, I'm here to tell you that it's not because you're a bad housekeeper, I tell people that by simply having your ducts cleaned will drastically reduce household dust, and the reason is, your cold air returns.

Cold air returns suck in dirty air, and overtime it builds up until you have the same type of debris that you would find in your vacuum bag.

Visit our website at www.americanpowervac.com for an actual photo of the debris that is pulled from a typical home.

Cold air returns are also reason the new homeowners are experiencing dust. While your drywall was being sanded, your cold air returns sucked all of the dust through the system and it settled on the bottom of the duct lines where a little at a time gets blown back into your home. To prove it, take a walk down into your basement, look up at the ceiling for thin sheets of tin nailed between your floor joists. These are your cold air return lines. Give them a good pounding. You'll see puffs of dust seeping out of the edges. That my friends, is the reason you have uncontrollable dust problems!

This debris cannot be removed without a professional. Which brings me to my next point: choosing an air duct cleaning com-

American Power Vac has the equipment that is powerful enough to get the job done right and that equipment is a Power Vac truck. It is the most powerful equipment in the industry. This is where the entire truck is the vacuum and the truck motor powers the equipment. You'll know it's a Power

> Vac truck because it's the size of an ambulance and when engaged twelve large air bags will come out of the roof. What makes the difference in equipment? Power! To put things into perspective, your furnace moves 2,000 CFM's (cubic feet of air per minute), basically what you feel coming out of your register. Truckmounted equipment only moves 4,000 CFM's. American Power Vac moves over 16,000 cubic feet of air per minute, more than quadruple the power of any truckmounted equipment. Beware of companies using cheap equipment and advertising cheap prices... most are unlicensed or advertise that they are licensed and are not!

Mark VanBuskirk adds his soap to the drying rack.

Cleaning society, one hand at a time

Sashabaw Middle School seventh grade students in Julie Renaker's health classes learned the importance of soap and shared their knowledge as part of the Holiday Stocking Project at Lighthouse North of Oakland County.

The students created homemade bars of soap and boxes to put them in – creating their own unique design on the boxes with an informational tidbit about the importance of using soap.

Mrs. Renaker demonstrated to the students how soap makes the germs slide off their hands.

She put water into a bowl, sprinkled pepper on top and quickly added a drop of soap. The pepper reacted by sliding to the side of the bowl.

They learned why soap is important and why they were making soap to donate to Lighthouse North – because not everyone has soap.

They also learned interesting facts.

"One of the facts the students learned is from a 2006 American Society of Microbiology study," Renaker began. "It revealed only 75 percent of women and 50 percent of men wash their hands after using the toilet. Only 33 percent of middle and high school female students wash their hand and only 8 percent of males."

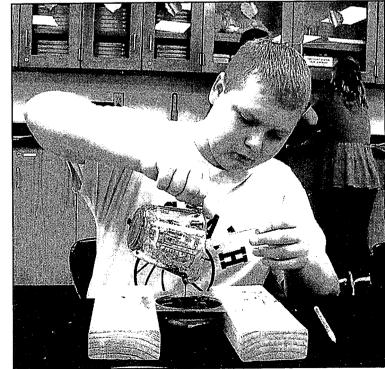

Students at the middle school participate in the Holiday Stocking Project every year.

Cagers were practicing their shots and plays Monday afternoon with only a few days until school let out for break.

The practice would get them ready for a few more tough opponents this week and hopefully continue the success from their last three wins - most recently against Flint Carman-Ainsworth and Farmington Hills Harrison.

Cagers opened last week with a pair of 3pointers and kept the momentum going through two games, posting over 80 points in both.

The Wolves held their home opener against Carman-Ainsworth on Dec. 13 and posted a 81-45 win.

"Defensively against Carman-Ainsworth we did really well," said Clarkston Boys Varsity Basketball Head Coach Dan Fife. "Carman was a better team than what they showed when they played against us."

Senior Nick Tatu opened the game with two 3-pointers to get the game going. By the end of the first quarter Tatu had posted four field goals and senior Mitch Baenziger added two more to lead 25-7.

The next quarter began the same way but this time with three 3-pointers from Tatu. Points from senior Matt Dellinger and junior Jordan Dasuqi put the boys 46-13 before the half finished.

'We were on fire shooting," Fife added. "It ignited us on defense. When you shoot well you play defense better. We did especially in the first half."

Tatu led the team with 28 points and scored seven 3-pointers. Dasuqi added 13 points, Dellinger had 11 points and Chance Huth added 10 to the board.

"Tatu and Baenziger have been playing well." Fife added. "Defensively it starts with Dellinger and Zach Collins. Zach has been able to help us a lot this year because he talks so much on the floor."

The Wolves continued with a 86-46 win over Harrison last Thursday.

"Harrison has a young program," Fife explained. "They lost a lot of experienced players and have a first year coach."

The 22-9 lead after the first quarter gave Fife the opportunity to put more players on the court from on the bench.

"It was a great opportunity to give kids some time and experience," he said.

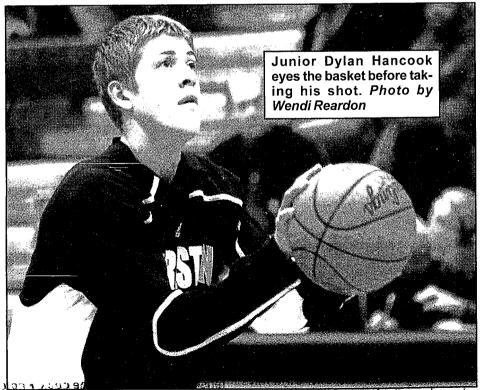

Dasuqi led the team with 24 points, shooting two 3-pointers. Dellinger and Nick Owens added 12 points each and Baenziger added ten points.

The boys played Flint Northern on Tuesday in a non-league game.

"We know they are the most athletic team we have seen so far," said Fife. "We are going to their gym. It is a gym with a lot of tradition and their program has a lot of tradition. Plus, they beat us last year. We are looking forward to going there. It should be a good test."

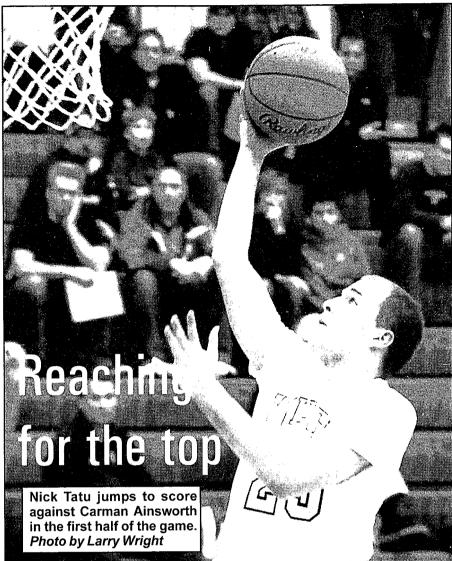

They host Troy Athens on Thursday for the last game before break. It is a triple header as the freshman team begins at 4 p.m., JV is set for 5:30 p.m. and varsity follows. All games are at Clarkston High School.

"Each game gets the kids to play the Clarkston way," Fife added. "It gets the kids to understand who they are and what they need to do to be successful."

HLETE OF THE WEEK

Fans watched as senior Nick Tatu stepped into position outside the three point lane, Dec. 13.

He let the ball go from his hands for his third consecutive field goal at the top of the second quarter. Fans cheered as the ball passed through the rim and down the netting.

Not only had Tatu just boosted the Clarkston Boys Varsity Basketball team to 34-8 against Carman-Ainsworth but he scored his seventh 3-point shot for the game.

The boys finished their home opener game with a 81-45 win and Tatu led with 27 points.

Tatu joined the team in his freshman year. He set the goal at the beginning of this season to help the Wolves' 19th consecutive MHSAA District title and his fourth since joining the team and help the team build from there.

Tatu began his journey as a cager when he was in first grade. His older brother, Tom, played and would take him to practices.

Nick would shoot and play in a few scrimmages. He started to play on a team with Clarkston players and became involved with the winter basketball program, McGrath league, held by Clarkston's head coach Dan Fife and coaching staff.

Becoming more involved with Clarkston basketball and closer to his teammates, Nick transferred to Clarkston from Holly during his freshman year.

Nick and his teammates take on Troy Athens on Thursday night and open the new year against Lake Orion, Jan. 3 at Clarkston High School.

Grapplers took the top fifth spot during the 52nd Annual Oakland County Wrestling tournament on Saturday.

"I am proud of them," said Derek Moscovic, head coach for the Clarkston Boys Varsity Wrestling team. "They all wrestled hard. Fifth place is a nice accomplishment but it is still four behind of where we ultimately want to be. The kids already feel that. They are proud of how they wrestled but they are not satisfied with accepting it."

The Wolves qualified in all the 14 weight classes on Friday night in the preliminary matches.

"It is the best first day performance we have ever had," Moscovic added. "I can't remember when we had all qualify the first day. It is one of the positives we can look at and say it is one of the things we did great."

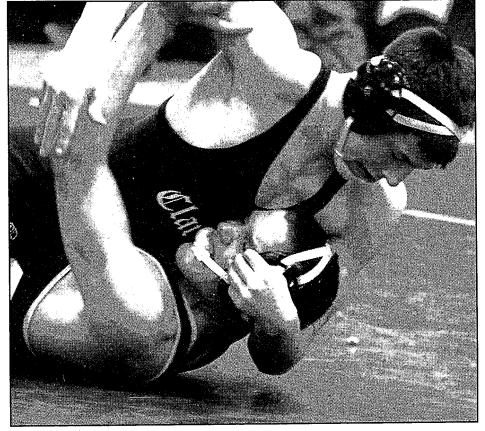

Four Wolves finished the tournament in the top six of their weight class.

Nick Vandermeer took second place in the 152-pound weight class after a 6-3 loss to Detroit Catholic Central's Alec Mooradian.

"He had a great match in the finals against a state champ," Moscovic added. "He ended up pushing Mooradian to the limits in the meet."

Ethan Frick (189) scored a pin on Schwan Shadaia from Rochester, taking third place.

"Ethan wrestled well," Moscovic said. Adam Myers and Cameron Wilkie finished in fifth place with their wins. Myers won by injury default against Waterford Kettering's Matt Okayie in the 215-pound weight class.

Wilkie defeated Milford's R.J. Poole with a pin.

"All 14 guys wrestled well," said Moscovic. "They all competed with passion. We had guys like Chris Calvano who didn't have the tournament he wanted. A guy like Bret Foltz that didn't have a second day performance like he wanted to. The second day competition heated up."

He added the tournament gave the wrestlers a peek at what they are doing well and other things they need to work on.

"It is an early tournament in the year and there is room for a lot of improvement," Moscovic continued. "They are accepting the challenge to work hard to improve on the areas we need to by the end of the year."

Detroit Catholic Central finished the tournament in first place with 367 points against the 30 teams from around Oakland County, followed by Oxford in second; Rochester in third and Holly in fourth. Clarkston finished in fifth with 162 points.

The Wolves beat Waterford Kettering at the dual on Dec. 14, 41-23.

"We wrestled well. It is a cross town rival we take very seriously. It was a good dual meet," Moscovic said. "It was fun. It was a good experience for the kids and a good experience against Kettering."

The team will take a few days off for the Christmas then it is back to the mats as they prepare for the Tournament of Champions at Goodrich High School, Dec. 30.

"It is one of the toughest tournaments if not the toughest," said Moscovic. "It has all the top teams from all divisions from all around the state. It is a great experience for our kids. We are looking forward to it and carrying on the things we did right this past weekend."

After the new year begins the Wolves begin their new with league matches and another opportunity to compete against Oxford and Rochester.

The Tournament of Champions begins at 9:30 a.m.

Icers split their annual Christmas tournament during the weekend, ending in third place.

They beat Davison in the consolation round on Saturday, 5-3.

"We played pretty well," said Clarkston Boys Hockey Head Coach Bryan Krygier. "We had some letdowns and they capitalized on a few opportunities. Overall I thought we played hard."

Clarkston opened the game in control of the puck but the Cardinals were first to score with 11:15 in the first period.

The Wolves grabbed control from the face off and scored seconds later off a shot from junior Adam Larkin, with an assist from senior Joshua Sowers and junior Zach Gootee.

They kept the lead going with a goal from sophomore Garrett Polish and a shot from senior Gabe Comos to the top of the net before the period ended.

Davison narrowed the score three minutes into the next period with adding their second goal.

Clarkston grabbed the puck from Davison's control and took it back into the Cardinals' turf.

Senior Joshua Sower took his opportunity with five minutes remaining in the second period to make a shot on the net. It went into the net to put the Wolves further into the lead, 4-2.

Davison's Steven Sull answered two minutes later putting one goal between the two teams.

The boys added a cushion in the third period. After a battle on the edge of the ice for the puck, senior Adam Bruderick got it away from the wall and passed to Larkin. Larkin put a shot on goal and it bounced back out. He took another shot putting it in with 11:19 left in the game.

"Larkin played exceptionally well," Krygier added. "Gabe played well. He had a goal and an assist. Our goalie Nick Surovec came out with some good saves." Clarkston defense kept them out of their net and Surovec made key saves as they held onto the lead. Surovec had 22 saves and the Wolves made 33 shots on goal. "We played more consistent," said

"We played more consistent, said Krygier, comparing the game to the 3-2 loss against Hartland the night before. "It was a better overall game. Last night we basically played five minutes of the third period. You can't win when you play five minutes of a 51 minute game."

He added the difference was also in the energy on the ice and movement of the puck.

The two games puts the Wolves at 4-5-1 overall.

"We have to work better on our plays, power plays, penalty killing and I think that is going to make a difference," Krygier said before the boys went on holiday break.

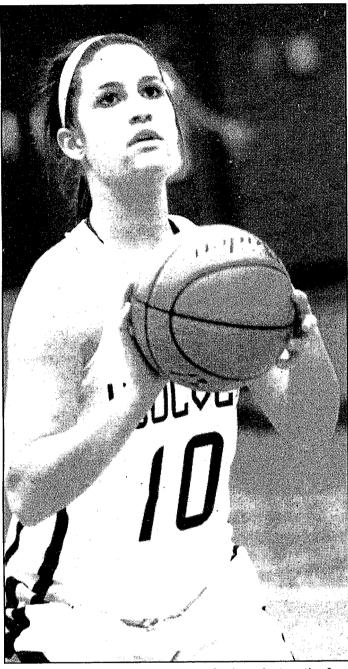

The boys come back from break on Jan. 7 when they head to Rochester Onyx when they take on Rochester United, 8 p.m.

Lady Cagers rule court on defense powers

Junior Delaney Kenny took action after Southfield-Lathrup's Michele Hayes scored a three pointer to tie the score, 30-30, with less than four minutes to go in last Friday's game.

Kenny positioned herself on the top of the arc and scored a field goal to pull the Lady Wolves back into the lead.

Kendall Terrell responded with three more points to tie the game again, 33-33.

But that's where the score would stop for Southfield-Lathrup as senior Jessica Ming and junior Erin Davenport would add two points each to bring the Lady Wolves their sixth win, 37-33.

"We had a lot of players set up," said Clarkston Girls Varsity Basketball Head Coach Tim Wasilk. "Jessica had some big free throws at the end and Delaney had a big three at the end. I was proud of our girls and proud of their effort."

Senior Tori Trimmer opened the game scoring on both of her two free throw shots to put the Lady Wolves on the board. Clarkston tied the game by the close of the first quarter with two baskets from senior Breanca Cantrell and one point from sophomore Carly Giroux, 7-7.

Trimmer broke the tie with one point at the free throw line and the Lady Wolves held on to the lead with baskets from Kenny and Anna Manilla, ending the first half with a 14-11 lead.

"The biggest thing was we battled through adversity," said Wasilk. "We constantly preach defense in practice. In the huddles we walk about getting stops even if we struggle offensively. We can always rely on defense. There were a couple of times it was like we could have broke it open but with a miss here and a miss there we couldn't break out."

The Lady Wolves continued to lead in the third quarter and a basket from senior Christina Jokisch gave Clarkston a 6-point lead with two minutes to go.

Lady Charger Hayes narrowed the lead to one point before teammate Erica Longmire added her own basket to put Southfield-Lathrup in the lead by one.

Kenny picked up a ball loose on the court and ran down the middle of the court. She throw it through the rim just before the buzzer sounded.

Trimmer widened the lead off one free throw shot to open the last quarter. Clarkston slowed Southfield-Lathrup's response and they were unable to respond until 5:32 left in the game when Hayes tied the score 27-27.

Fouls against the Lady Wolves boosted the girls as Manilla scored two at the line and Trimmer scored one more.

With 3:48 left Hayes scored her 3pointer to tie the score.

"Southfield-Lathrup was starting to get momentum," said Wasilk. "For us to get back and start playing defense it was big."

After Kenny and Ming responded to put the girls into the lead, Clarkston's defense kept close watch on the Lady Chargers and were ready for any movement.

The readiness paid off when Southfield-Lathrup's attempt on the basket was unsuccessful.

The ball went loose and Clarkston grabbed it. Davenport scored with only seconds to go from a pass from Kenny.

"Defensively we played really well," said Wasilk. "We held them to 33 points and that's what we hang our hat on. We struggled offensively. We just weren't finishing and we couldn't really gain any momentum which is tough. Southfield Lathrup's coach, Michele Jackson, does a good job of getting her kids prepared and getting them to the right place. They made some big three's and had good penetration."

Kenny led with 14 points and Manilla added seven against Southfield-Lathrup.

Erin Davenport led the Lady Wolves as they beat Pontiac on Dec. 13, 41-32. She scored 14 points. Kenny scored 10 points and Erika Davenport added nine to the board.

Clarkston was behind 22-15 after finishing the first half of the game before they out scored Pontiac 17-6 in the third quarter.

"We came back and played really well defensively," said Wasilk. "It is a tough place to play so it was great to get a win there."

They finished the last quarter scoring nine points and keeping Pontiac to four.

Wasilk said leading the beginning of the season gives the team confidence before they get into the bulk of their season after their holiday break.

"They are confident with themselves but we haven't done anything yet," he added. "Christmas break is a great time to figure out how we are going to get better offensively. It is going to be huge for us. We did a great job of it last year during Christmas break and hope do do the same this year."

The girls open the new year on Jan. 2 when they host Troy Athens. JV begins at 5:30 p.m., varsity follows.

Parents put cherry on top of education sundae

I like my ice cream sundaes simple – just vanilla ice cream and hot fudge. My sons go for whipped cream, sprinkles, gummy bears, crumbled cookies and maraschino cherries.

They can't imagine a sundae that isn't loaded with all the gooey extras.

If our schools were ice cream sundaes, then our parent organizations are the gooey extras our kids so love.

I can't imagine our schools without our PTAs and PTOs and the armies of parent volunteers who provide assistance in the classrooms, organize dozens of events and activities, and generously contribute thousands of dollars every year that gets reinvested in our schools and students.

Parents in Clarkston are involved at all levels of our district. Parent leaders meet monthly with Superintendent Dr. Rock.

Parents serve on academic and school improvement committees at the building and district level.

Ten of our school buildings have parent organizations, which, this year, will invest approximately $200,000 and thousands of volunteer hours in our schools. That's a lot of cherries!

The Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education recently passed a resolution honoring Clarkston parents for "providing substantial parental volunteer hours and professional expertise along with noted financial contributions to the educational experiences of all students in the district through their organizational efforts."

Through their generous investment of time, money and expertise, parents have responded to the growing needs in our schools for classroom assistance, funding for classroom and building needs, and technology. In addition to field trips, assemblies, book fairs, and social activities, our parent organizations now fund creative teaching ideas like flipped classrooms, portable computer carts, and digital equipment.

A Parent's Perspective

Kelli Horst

At Bailey Lake Elementary, the PTA has worked with students to collect Big G Box Tops and Campbell's Soup labels to earn money, as well as playground and classroom equipment. They are working with their gym teacher to launch a health and wellness program, one of PTA's national initiatives. Last year's purchase of a Computer on Wheels (COW) has allowed mobile technology to be accessible to every classroom.

At Springfield Plains Elementary, the PTA offers a $600 curriculum grant to each grade level to enhance a curricular topic.

Extra funds generated through Kroger Community Rewards has led to the purchase of a COW, equipment for the gym and music teachers, and a one-year membership for every classroom in Raz-Kids, an online leveled reading program.

The Pine Knob Elementary PTA has launched a "buddy" program to welcome new families and educate them about volunteer opportunities.

The PTA applied for – and received – a grant from the Michigan Humanities Council's Arts and Humanities Touring Program for an anti-bullying assembly.

Their lunchtime book club, offered to students in first through fifth grades, involves both discussions and hands-on crafts.

The PTA at Clarkston Junior High School has provided a digital microscope for the science department, graphing calculators for math, a high-res recorder for music, Kobo e-readers for the media center, and portable art display units to showcase student creativity during public events.

This year, the PTA is paying for transportation for every 8th grader to visit the Holocaust Memorial Center as part of the language arts curriculum.

When parents are in our schools, the connection between school and home life is strengthened.

Every time a parent in Clarkston tutors a struggling reader, organizes a fund raiser, bakes a dish to feed a teacher, contacts a legislator, or attends a school board meeting, student achievement is improved.

Next time I'll order that sundae with all the gooey extras and think of the good work of the parent organizations in Clarkston.

Kelli Horst is president of the Clarkston PTA Council and the mother of two elementary-age boys.

Native Christmas greens bring out holiday cheer

Nothing creates a natural Christmas mood like evergreens and holly. The green and red of the holly and the aroma of the Christmas tree fill the home with needed color and scent this time of year.

Wouldn't it be nice to be able to experience that same fresh evergreen scent all year in your garden.

I suggest planting an eastern white pine (Pinus strobus). White pines are native to northeastern North American.

As with all native plants, white pines provide food to many animals and insects. The seeds in the pinecones feed turkeys, grouse, quail, squirrels, and birds.

The pine needles feed 203 species of moth and butterfly larvae, also a favorite of birds.

I love bluebirds. To attract these birds to my garden, I planted white pines. Sawfly larvae, which feed on the pine's needles are a favorite of bluebirds.

So if you can, try and find some room for a white pine. They grow to about 50 feet tall and 30 feet wide and they grow fast, about 1-2 feet per year.

You can use the trees as a specimen, as privacy screen, or as a Home windbreak. When we think of holly, we more than likely picture European holly (Ilex aquifolium), which is native to western and southern Europe. Ancient Celts and Britons believed holly was imbued with special spirits because it remained green in the winter. They brought branches indoors to remember that despite the dead winter landscape, the spirits remained alive.

The holly variety that you can grow in North America is Ilex x meserveae, 'Blue Prince' and 'Blue Princess.'

You need both the male and female plants to get berries. Ilex x meserveae is a hybrid plant developed in New York during the 1960s. Breeders sought to increase cold hardiness and improve visual appeal.

A native plant alternative to holly (in hardiness zone 5) is American winterberry (Ilex verticillata).

It is a deciduous plant with bright red berries that stay on the branches for most of the winter.

American winterberry grows in wetlands and grasslands and the berries are a favorite of birds. You can use the berrycovered branches in floral arrangements or on their own.

By planting a white pine tree and winterberries, you will be attracting wildlife to your garden, improving the native ecosystem, and enjoying the scent of fresh pine. Now that's a great Christmas gift.

Turkey was the topic for this year's S.T.A.R.S. team project.

"I learned a lot about how food gets contaminated and how it affects people," said eighth grader Matt Covert, member of the Super Thoroughly Awesome Robotic Scientists team, based at Sashabaw Middle School.

The topic was inspired by recent outbreaks of salmonella poisoning from eating turkey. Their solution was to use ultraviolet light to kill the bacteria, said Isabella Imirowicz, fourth grade student. "We made it simpler, something that can be done on the processing line," Imirowicz said.

They researched the topic by talking to Michigan Turkey Producers and other experts, and came up with a process involving ultraviolet light.

Turkeys are placed on Nano UV light wands arranged around a rotating drum. They use heat to kill bacteria on the inside and outside See Robotics on page 24

Learning to cook

Andersonville Elementary students had a special guest chef visit in Nov. 16 for Fuel Up to Play 60.

From the guest chef, Dina Tallman, they learned how to prepare food such as pizza with cheese and vegetables, pasta salad and witnessed a fruit demonstration.

They also received a chef hat to wear during the event before they took it home and decorated it. They also received recipes they could try at home with their families and friends. Part of the Fuel Up to Play 60 grant was won by physical education teacher Tresa Reneaud.

Fuel Up to Play 60 is a program promoting physical fitness and healthy living. It was created in partnership by the National Dairy Council and the National Football League.

The team, also including Trevor Chamberlain, Brandon Imirowicz, Michael McCarty, Thomas McCarty, Alex Skene, and David Woodham, earned a spot at the Flint Championship Tournament, Dec. 10, at Carman-Ainsworth Middle School.

They finished 20th of the 48 teams.

"The team still had a great time and we really did learn a lot," said Kathy McCarty, S.T.A.R.S. coach. "This was our second year in a row that we won a place to compete at the state tournament level and that, in and of itself, is a huge accomplishment." Michigan had 340 FLL teams registered this year.

This was Isabella's first year with the team. "I thought it would be fun," she said. "My dad is a coach. I went to many competitions since they started, and I felt it would be fun to actually compete."

Covert is in his second year with the team.

"It's going great. I really like it," he said. "We've had some great robot runs. I learning how programming works –I've improved quite a bit."

Clarkston designer wins gum contest

Amanda Kelley of Clarkston won $5,000 in the Orbit Spotlight Series Design contest.

She is one of eight winners in the contest out of hundreds of entries from college students and fans nationwide.

Kelley, 21, is a student at the Art Institute of Michigan pursuing a Bachelor of Fine Art degree, majoring in Visual Communications.

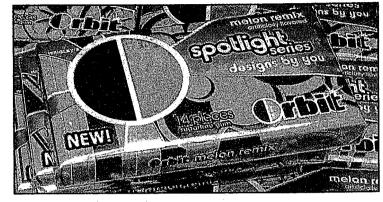

Her winning design concept was inspired by an existing Orbit gun pack design featuring overlapping bubbles. "I loved the retro pop feel of that particular pack," she said. "I just began running with that idea for my design concept."

She plans to use the prize to buy a new computer and design software for her design studies and to build her portfolio. She plans to graduate, May 2012.

Melon Remix gun packs with her winning design and signature will be on shelves through February.

Many joyous possibilities this Christmas

"And in that region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And an angel of the Lord appeared to them and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear. And the angel said to them, 'Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people..." Luke 2:8-10 The message of Spirit is clear and consistent; in the stories of the angel's appearance to the shepherds, to Zechariah (Lk 1:13), to Mary (Lk 1:30) and Joseph (Mt 1:20), it is, "Be not afraid."

We can be tempted to be in fear when life brings us what life brings us.

And fear is not a bad thing, especially when we understand it in the original sense of meaning awe and respect. We fear burning ourselves on a hot stove or falling off a tall building. We respect the power of electricity and of gravity, and have learned to work with them to improve our enjoyment of the physical world. Similarly, we can work with the power of God to improve our enjoyment of life and living.

Life is filled with joyous possibilities. Some we appreciate and others we don't. "Count it all joy, my brethren, when you meet various trials" (James 1:2)

Each moment is an opportunity to live in love, to be love, showing compassion for ourselves and all others. This is the path of joy. These things I have spoken to you, that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be full." John 15:11

The shepherds represent the aspects of consciousness that watch over our mental activity, our thoughts and feelings. They were watching "over their flock by night." Night symbolizes darkness of sense consciousness, awareness without inspiration. Yet they were out in the field, open and receptive to the good news of Divine illumination.

The good news being the birth of a special child, "Christ the Lord." "And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying 'Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace among men with whom he is pleased!"" (Lk 2:12-14) give glory to a greater reality than we normally participate in, we recognize and give thanks to our higher power; we consciously invoke an awareness of the infinite, unlimited, eternal existence that we call God. We know the peace that is God's pleasure for us and in us.

The new birth is called "Emmanuel" or "God with us" (Mt 1:23.) It is a conscious awareness of our intimate connection with the Divine. This is not an egocentric glorification of self. It is a selfless experience of union with the ultimate, infinite, unlimited, eternal existence of the absolute good that is God. From here we can "be the change we wish to see in the world." (Ghandi)

The outer world is a reflection of our inner state of awareness. When we are negative we tend to draw to us experiences to reinforce the negativity.

Likewise, when we are happy, loving and joyous we tend to draw to us experiences to support our joy. And, even those inevitable brushes with unwelcome events and people are easier met with compassion. "If you want others to be happy, practice compassion. If you want to be happy, practice compassion." (The Dalai Lama)

May all that you think, say and do, here, now and always, be in joy with compassion for yourself and all of God's creation.

Blessings of peace, joy & love.

National exposure brings crowds downtown

BY TREVOR KEISER

Clarkston News Staff Writer After being featured on the Food Network's "Diners, Drive-Ins, and Dives," Curt Catallo sees a lot of new faces downtown.

"I just think it's a great day for Main Street to see what Kid Rock can do to put a little place in Michigan on the map," Catallo said. "It's pretty cool to see Clarkston mentioned at such a national level."

The famed rocker rolled into town in late August with his friend and Food Network host Guy Fieri to tape the show. Since the show aired, Dec. 12, Catallo said there has been an increase in requests for the burger "The Porker" and for Kid Rock's own brew of "Bad Ass Beer."

"It's definitely become the official Clarkston combination," Catallo said.

The Porker includes a pork patty, Michigan maple bacon, hot link, pickled chilies, and cold smoked cheddar, all made in house, and South Carolina mayo.

Dave Hunter, one of the Woodshop's cooks said it was great to be acknowledged for the hard work.

"Considering we're a restaurant that makes 90 percent of our stuff in house, even our bacon is made in house," he said. "It's good for business, good for Detroit, good for Michigan to have two hometown local places built from the bottom up."

Server Mike Stevenson agreed. "I think our owners deserve it.

They're great guys and put a lot of heart into the city of Clarkston," he said. "Kid Rock, being a guy that comes in quite a bit, it's awesome for us."

Stevenson has definitely noticed a difference since the show aired.

"We were busy before but we're definitely busier now then what we were," he said.

Hostess Bianca Keitel said the wait for seating on weekdays is between 30-45 minutes, and on the weekends, it can extend to more than an 90 minutes.

"I love our food and I love the fact our restaurant has gotten so much exposure," she said. "It has its own individuality, diversity in food and diversity in décor."

Fellow hostess Emily Jackson loves the food and people she works with.

"I've worked here almost a year and half," Jackson said. "I really like interacting with new people and talking to different customers while they wait."

Customers Nancy Shea and Nick Novak of Saginaw stopped to eat at the Woodshop after seeing it on TV.

"We were in Detroit shopping and we're coming back home and decided to make this our stop," Novak said.

Both ordered the Woodshop Burger.

"It was fantastic," Shea said. "It was really good."

Sue and Mark Deacon, along with Barb and Mike Schillions. ordered everything that was on the show.

"It was excellent," Mark said.

"We've been coming here for years," Sue said. "But we didn't know about the porker until we saw the TV program."

Mark said the show was "a good shot for Clarkston."

"Clarkston is a great place particularly to raise kids. It's got a sense of community and always has," he said. "It's been very nice for us living here for as long as we have."

Food Network will re-air the episode this Friday at 9 p.m. and Safurday at midfilight.

frequent" emergencies such as serious car accidents, structural fires and brush fires where they need more guys.

"We're fortunate in the community that we don't have as many of those car accidents and fires," he said. "That allows us not to have to pay somebody around the clock, but still have people respond when needed."

Requirements include 18 years of age, resident of Independence Township or the City of the Village of Clarkston, birth certificate or social security card, driver's license and good driving record, no criminal history, good physical and medical condition, and must pass a drug test.

An informational meeting will be held Dec. 29 at 7 p.m. at Independence Fire Department Headquarters at 6500 Citation Drive.

Sharp said many of the guys who have staved as on-call firefighters have found it rewarding. Most of their full-time and parttime guys came from the on-call ranks. Some decided to change careers and pursue firefighting as a full-time career, while others decided to keep their current job, but still do on-call basis.

"We have guys from all walks of life serving as on-call firefighters," he said. "We're looking for both people who are aspiring firefighters and want to get their foot in the door as well as people who have an established career they're not looking to change, but want to find a way to help their community that's both exciting and rewarding."

ORDINANCE NO. 129-3

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 129 TO PROVIDE FOR LAKE ACCESS REGU-LATION OF PROPERTY WITHIN THE LIMITED USE OVERLAY DISTRICT

THE CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON OR-DAINS:

Section 1:01. Article XXV, Special Land Uses, Section 25.10.B.35.f is amended to substitute the following: f. Uses and Activities for Property Abutting a Water

Purpose: The water bodies situated in the City are small, with relatively low environmental and recreational carrying capacities, and may be adversely affected by the introduction of new and significant use. Accordingly, considering that the subject property is situated in a single family neighborhood, if the subject property abuts a water body such as a natural or artificial lake, pond, or stream, the exercise of riparian rights and any other access shall be compatible with use and activities similar to normal and customary single-family residential use. If the predominant use of the subject property is approved as non-residential, the standards set forth herein regarding water body access regulation are deemed to be important and necessary in order to balance the interests of the owner of the overlay approved property and people in the neighborhood and the waterfront residents on the water body.

In the application of these regulations, the following restrictions shall apply:

- "Access" for purposes of this section shall mean access to the water body for swimming, fishing, boating, or any other recreational or non-recreational purpose.
- 2) Not more than one permanent or seasonal dock of not more than twenty-five (25) feet in length and eight (8) feet in width may be established. Not more than one (1) off-shore raft with dimensions not to exceed one hundred (100) square feet shall be permitted. For purposes of this section, "dock" means a platform structure extending from the area of the normal high water mark of the water body into the water, intended to provide access for swimming and fishing. A dock permitted under this section shall not be used for the mooring of more than two (2) watercrafts. No other watercraft may be stored on or launched from the property or moored off the shore of the property.
- Residential Users. If an approved special land use authorizes Access for residential users, Access shall be limited to full time residents of the property; such residents' family; and their occasional guests accompanied by a resident.
   Non-Residential Users.
- (a) It is the intent of this ordinance to permit nonresidential Access which is no more intense than the customary usage of a single-family

  - (ii) The following persons are authorized to
    - have Access:
      (A) If a business entity owns the business, the natural person who is the principal owner of the business entity with more than a 50% interest in the business entity (the "Principal Owner");

 (B) The Principal Owner's family;
 (C) Occasional guests of the Principal Owner, accompanied by the Principal Owner or a member of the Principal

- Owner's family; (D) Individuals who work at the business
- on the property; and
   (E) Occasional business guests of individuals who work at the business on the property, who must be accompanied by either the Principal Owner or by an individual who works at the business on the property.
- (iii) Access under subparagraphs (ii)(D) and
   (E) is limited to sunrise to sunset.
- (iv) If, following approval for such a user, the building becomes occupied by more than a single non-residential user, the Access approval shall thereupon expire and be of no effect to all persons.

 The permission in this section is subject to any other more restrictive ordinance and law.
 Section 2:01. Savings Clause:

All pending proceedings and all existing rights and liabilities acquired or incurred at the time this ordinance takes effect are saved and may be consummated according to the law when they were commenced. Section 3:01. Repealer Clause.
