Top Novi scholars Jeff Laverty and Cathy Daugherty

Jeff Laverty, Cathy Daugherty head up 1979 graduating class

Jeff Laverty and Cathy Daugherty have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1979 graduating class of Novi High School.

Laverty earned top academic honors in his graduating class by compiling a perfect 4.0 grade point average during his four years at Novi High School. Miss Daugherty also compiled an outstanding academic record during her high school career in Novi, achieving a grade point average of 3.8.

Both students plan to enter college in the fall. Jeff has been accepted at Harvard, while Cathy has been accepted at the University of Michigan.

A lifelong Novi resident, Jeff is a product of the Novi School District. He attended Orchard Hills Elementary School before moving on to Novi Middle School and Novi High School.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert and Dolores Laverty.

The 1979 valedictorian has been very involved in extracurricular activities at the school while maintaining a perfect academic record.

He was president of his junior class and was re-elected to serve as president of the senior class. He also has held top offices in the local chapter of the National Honor Society, serving as vice-president during his junior year and president during his senior year.

He was a member of the school's debate team last year, is a member of the National Forensic Society and is a four-year member of the French Club.

He was a school representative to Wolverine Boys' State last summer.

Additionally, he was a member of the school newspaper (The Wildcats Roar) staff last year and is one of four co-editors of the school paper this year.

He also was the local winner of the century Three Leadership competition.

The 1979 salutatorian also has compiled an outstanding athletic career in football, basketball and baseball.

He has been starting quarterback on the Novi football team for the past two years and was captain of the Schools foresee rise in '79-'80 enrollment

Enrollment in Novi schools is expected to increase by at least 250 students during the upcoming school year, according to the latest estimates by the district administrators.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz explained that projected increases in student enrollment for the upcoming year were determined by looking at the list of proposed subdivisions in the city.

From there it was determined which subdivisions were most likely to be completed.

After deciding approximately how many homes may be completed, that number was multiplied by a factor of 3 children per residence.

Kratz explained that figure was derived from a door to door survey of Northville homes conducted to determine the average number of students per household. The survey revealed the figure of 3 children for every single family home.

Kratz said conversations with Larry Nichols, superintendent of Northville Schools, also revealed that three-eighths of the total number of children were secondary school age.

The superintendent said the formula for estimating the future enrollment is not exact because it is impossible to determine the number of students who will leave the district.

In addition, Kratz said, preliminary kindergarten screening has shown the district will maintain about the same number of kindergarten youngsters it has had in the past.

Enrollment projections should be realized by the beginning of the school year, Kratz explained that on the fourth Friday of each school year a count of enrolled students officially is conducted.

From that count it is determined the amount of state aid for which the district is eligible.

During the past school year, the district has seen an enrollment increase from the original fourth Friday count in September of 3,067 to the latest count of 3,095. That figure is up from an enrollment of 3,000 which the district reported nearly a year ago.

To cope with the additional enrollment, the school board last week approved the hiring of some new staff members, provided funds are available.

Salaries for the approved positions are expected to cost the school district an estimated $141,500.

Kratz told the board he recommended adding the new positions with the full understanding that should enrollment increase beyond the projections, additional staff may have to be considered.

These teachers could be put on a stand-by basis and would be called to work only if necessary, Kratz told the board.

These positions accepted by the board include two additional middle school teachers, a teacher for learning disabled students, half-time school psychologist and speech therapist and an elementary special education teacher.

Other personnel hirings approved by the board include two noon aides, three paraprofessionals for middle school special education classes and a secretary for special services.

Trustee Ray Murphy questioned why 87 percent of the positions being added represented special education positions. He was informed the district was required by law to staff those positions.

Ex-councilman charged in felony investigation

Six felony warrants for the arrest of a former Novi city councilman have been obtained from the 52nd District Court in Walled Lake by the Novi Police Department.

Named in the warrants secured by police last week is Louie Campbell who served on the council for six years from 1969 to 1975.

Campbell is charged with two counts of statutory rape, two counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct and two counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct.

The statutory rape and first degree criminal sexual conduct charges carry a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, while the second degree criminal sexual conduct charges carry a maximum penalty of 15 years imprisonment.

Names of the alleged victims and the details of the charges are being withheld.

Police reported that the warrants were obtained from 52nd District Court Judge Michael Batchik on Monday, April 30. The former city councilman has not yet been arrested, however.

Police theorize that Campbell became aware of the investigation on Thursday, April 28. Police allege that he left town after learning of the investigation and impending charges.

Corporal Robert Starnes, who is in charge of the investigation, said that Campbell apparently drove to Jackson where he abandoned his company car and mailed the keys to his employer. The suspect then caught a bus to Toledo, according to Starnes.

The Novi detective said that police were unable to keep track of Campbell after he arrived in Toledo. Starnes theorized that he could have taken another bus to an airport.

Police said that Campbell's name has been entered in the national criminal intelligence network and that police agencies across the country have been informed of the pending warrants.

Campbell served on the Novi City Council from 1969 to 1975. He ran for

Interchange progresses

With the resumption of the construction season, progress is continuing on the completion of the Novi Road bridge over I-96, according to state highway officials.

Drivers will soon notice the latest construction around the bridge as they drive over a two-lane temporary road, which is being built to hold traffic while work is done on the eastern half of the Novi Road approaches to the bridge.

Ralph Langdon, project engineer with the Michigan Department of State, reported the temporary road which is presently being constructed will probably be in use until August.

He indicated that at that time the eastern approaches should be completed and traffic will be routed over them and onto the new bridge. Traffic will be moved over the eastern approaches, while the western half of the project is being completed.

Eventually, there will be five lanes of pavement approaching the bridge from both the north and south, Langdon explained.

Final construction on the bridge portion of the project is nearing completion, according to Langdon. He indicated the employees were laying an inch and one-half of latex concrete last week. Completion of the bridge is slated for June 1, Langdon said.

The entire interchange project is supposed to be completed by mid-November, he added.

Besides construction of the temporary road, other work being done in that area includes the upgrading of the two ramps in the southwest quadrant of the interchange.

City Manager Ed Driewall said he had been informed by state highway officials that they hope to award the bids by July 13 and begin construction within 10 days following that. They also anticipate that the majority of the construction work on the project will be completed this year.

The Grand River-Novi Road safety project has been in the works for several years. Plans for the construction call for improvement of the traffic flow from the expressway to Grand River.

As part of the project Novi Road would be reconstructed to improve the five lanes of traffic between Grand

'Mall abduction rumors false'

Parents can rest assured it is safe to take their youngsters to Twelve Oaks Mall despite rumors to the contrary, according to Novi Police and mall security personnel.

Corporal Jerry Burnham of the Novi Police Department said he had continued to receive queries from concerned parents regarding rumors of abductions, molestings and drugings at the mall.

Burnham reported the stories are completely fictitious and he had no idea how they could have been started.

Daily the police department has been receiving calls from concerned parents and the rumors have spread so far that a Detroit television station called the department to check on the rumors, Burnham reported.

"Probably the most ridiculous rumor he has heard concerning the mall came from a person who called to find out the condition of the girl who was in a coma after being drugged at the mall, said Burnham.

Burnham said the story was that the girl was shopping with her mother and they became separated. While she was apart from her mother, the girl was given a mysterious injection by an equally mysterious stranger.

The rumor goes on to say the mother appeared on the scene as the needle was being removed from the girl's arm and asked the man what he was doing before he fled. The injection caused the girl to be hospitalized and she remained in a coma for three weeks, the rumor has it.

"It's all bunk," Burnham maintained. "I ask these people how these things could possibly be happening at the mall and the police department never be notified or informed of it."

He emphasized there is "no basis for truth in these allegations."

Mike Kuzilla, director of Twelve Oaks security, agreed there was no truth in the rumors.

He indicated that Novi police had thoroughly gone through all reports from the mall and notified local hospitals in an attempt to insure that mall security was not covering up any incidents. No cases resembling those rumored could be found, he said.

"We've heard the rumors, but we actually haven't gotten any calls," Kuzilla said.

He indicated he did not know how the rumor could have begun and he is amazed at the way it has grown and spread.

$3.35 million proposal eyed

Novi council to consider final approval of budget

With no public comment from the audience at a special hearing Monday, the Novi City Council made plans to officially adopt the 1979-80 budget next Monday (May 14).

During the public hearing on the proposed budget last Monday there were no comments from the audience. It was brought to the council's attention that citizens have requested that a warning siren be installed to serve the south and southwestern portion of the city.

Another resident wrote to the council, telling them the city is not recovering enough revenues from the "greatest industry in the city, namely the construction industry."

John J. Brett told the council in his letter that the city "has been subsidizing the developers for too many years through open space ordinances, reduced lot size options, sewer and drainage construction and a system of an apparently low tax base to make home purchase very desirable in Novi."

He suggested the city study obtaining more revenue from more realistic construction and inspection fees substantial enough to ensure good inspection procedures.

Council members questioned the effect of approving the proposed budget for the fire department since raises for the fire department volunteers have not been agreed upon.

They learned that whether council approves or denies raises for the fire department there will be no great effect on the department budget.

Assistant City Manager Alex Allie told the council that if the raises are approved the budget will be slightly tight. If the raises are denied the budget will run a little high.

He indicated the fire chief has shown the ability to work within a budget and will be expected to do so whether the council approves raises or not.

The council also agreed not to delete $90,000 from the budget and will levy the tax collection fee as recommended by the administration. (see related story.)

The proposed budget which the council will consider for adoption next week calls for expenditures of $3.35 million with a recommended levy of 11.66 mills.

To the local taxpayer that means for every $1,000 of assessed valuation on taxable property, slightly more than $11 in taxes must be paid to the city for services and general operation.

As a result of the Headlee Tax amendment the recommended levy shows a decrease from the 12.29 mills applied to city assessments last year.

Revenues lost through the decreased millage rate comes to about $72,000.

Overall the proposed budget is up about $448,000 more than last year's budget, an increase the city administration attributes largely to inflation.

Council members have reviewed the proposal in various budget work sessions throughout April. Questions were mainly regarding new areas of the budget this year, since many areas included in previous budgets have remained fairly constant.

Council members have questioned the administration's proposal to hire a weighmaster as a high priority item in the budget for the upcoming fiscal year.

In defense of the establishment of that position City Manager Ed Kriewall told the council that if the city were to suffer $100,000 in damage to its newly paved roads because of overloaded trucks the city would realize losses four times the expenditure it would incur through hiring a weighmaster.

He added the city was probably two years late in adding this position.

Questions concerning the purchase of a site for a new Department of Works garage also were raised. It was explained the city was rapidly outgrowing its current DPW site. Council members also learned the city would not purchase the site until the administration had a better idea of what its revenues from the state would be.

Council members learned the revision of federal guidelines regulating Comprehensive Education and Training Act (CETA) employees could result in an anticipated loss of about $190,000 in federal revenues.

In total the proposed budget requests an authorized level of 97 employees which is six less than those employed a year ago.

It was noted that the personnel requests do not include the four additional patrolmen sought by the police department or any additional employees for the building department.

Council members learned that increased patrol needs would be covered in part by four officers currently on surveillance work for the police department. They also were told the revenues generated in the building department will not support or justify the hiring of additional building department personnel for the upcoming year.

Currently that department employs 13 persons — down by eight employees from the number working for the department in 1976.

Council members also learned the building department currently is not self-sustaining and as a result the administration is reviewing its current rate structure. It also was explained the city is investigating the possibility of bonding seasonal help to relieve some of the burden on the building department.

One councilmember also told the city administration he would like to see provisions for regularly trimming grass along city streets possibly by putting an employee on that job full-time.

Some major expenditures forecast by the administration in the upcoming year include at least $65,000 for a road grader, some $17,000 for a tractor mover, $26,000 to replace four police patrol cars, $30,000 for building department automobiles and $57,800 to replace police department radios which are malfunctioning.

On the revenue side of the ledger is an estimated $1.6 million in property taxes, $660,000 in state revenue sharing funds, $200,000 in federal revenue sharing funds and $247,000 in building department permits.

The council will continue to consider adoption of the budget Monday, May 14.

Novi to levy tax collection fee

Novi's City Council has decided against cutting $90,000 from the proposed budget for the upcoming fiscal year by approving the levy of a one percent tax collection fee.

Council members earlier had requested information regarding alternatives to collecting the one percent tax collection fee.

They requested information regarding the ramifications of rolling back the millage levy to offset charging the collector fee. They also asked for information on areas which could be axed from the budget if the city did not levy the collection fee which represents some $90,000 in revenues for the city.

In an administrative report the council learned that reducing the millage levy to offset collecting the tax fee would result in the permanent loss of $90,000 in revenues for the city, because of the nature of the formula limiting millage increases included in the Headlee amendment.

The administration reported that reducing the millage levy would also negatively affect the state revenue sharing formula.

As a result of those observations, the administration concluded a decision not to spread the tax collection fee will necessitate the elimination of $90,000 of proposed expenditures.

Areas which could have been deleted if necessary included purchase of a Public Works garage site, a tractor mover, a public service department vehicle, some police radios, building department vehicles, a road grader, a weighmaster and some legal fees.

The administration did not recommend deleting all those areas, but merely showed how much the city could expect to save in expenditures if any of those were cut from the budget.

If cuts must be made, the administration recommended that the Public Works garage site, the building department vehicles and the police department communication system be eliminated from the budget.

The council had authorized the budget and include the revenues it expected to generate from the tax collection fee.

The motion to rescind was defeated on a 5-2 vote. Council members Robert Schmid and Guy Smith favored rescinding the previous council action.

Council members Martha Hoyer, Patricia Karevich, James Shaw and Mayor Rommie Roedel opposed rescinding their previous action. The city now will be able to proceed with the levying of the tax.

The tax collection fee is authorized through the state in order to offset costs incurred for processing taxes for the school districts and county. Novi had never elected to do so in the past.

It is estimated the tax collection fee would cost the average homeowner in Novi-based on the average tax bill — about $9 per household.

City grants Art Van rezoning

Rezoning of a six-acre parcel near the Twelve Oaks Mall which is slated to be the site of an Art Van Furniture store was recently approved by the Novi City Council.

Council approval was made contingent upon the planning board carefully reviewing site plans for the proposed building in order to insure all four sides are developed in a uniform manner.

The rezoned property is located on the west side of Novi Road between I-96 and Twelve Mile. The Art Van parcel is immediately north of a 37-acre parcel which is slated to be the site of a Montgomery Ward Shopping Center.

Existing plans call for construction of a 60,000 square foot furniture store. Art Van officials have said the company hopes to begin construction during this building season and urged a speedy approval of rezoning for the site.

Council members expressed concern at a recent meeting that a site plan submitted which the rezoning request showed only two sides of the proposed furniture store to be finished.

The plans called for loading dock and parking areas at the rear of the building, while the remaining side will be blocks painted a dark brown.

Frederick Keywell, an attorney representing Art Van Furniture, told the council he could not commit his client to finishing all four sides of the building because it would likely raise construction costs.

However, he assured them that the council's concern about the sides of the building would be conveyed to his client.

He explained the building would be built to resemble that of the company's stores in Taylor and Flint.

"These are our highest volume stores. They have been highly accepted by the public largely as a result of their attractiveness," Keywell said.

Council members expressed concern because the sides which appear unfinished in the plans would be exposed to future proposed road rights-of-way and be visible from stores which eventually will be built around the Art Van Store.

The council also learned the city will be assured of the construction of a marginal access road before the company receives site plan approval for construction of the store. The road is designed to remove traffic from Novi Road.

Planning consultant Charles Cairns told the council the company will be required to show easements for the road and post bond to cover its construction before getting approval to proceed with the building.

The plan explained that the planner did not demand a complete traffic study as is usually required in the application for rezoning. He told the council the company instead submitted a traffic study to the effect that furniture stores are low traffic generators and the store itself would not create a traffic problem.

The rezoning was unanimously approved.

Novi fights for more funds

Problems caused by the five different postal zones throughout Novi go beyond the confusion of misplaced mail. This year the mix-up nearly cost the city $14,000.

The different postal zones make it difficult for the federal government to determine the actual population of Novi. Those population figures are used in the formula for federal revenue sharing funds.

In the past, the city has merely put up with the situation. But Assistant City Manager Alex Allie said that this year Oakland County began using the same type of erroneous figures when it determined eligibility for Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funding, so the city decided the matter must be resolved.

It appeared the government had taken the area's wide trend for southeastern Michigan, which shows a declining population, and applied it to Novi, though the city's population has continued to increase in recent years.

"They actually had the city losing population, while we're predicting construction of 200 houses this year," Allie said in amazement.

Figures in the formula used to determine how much funding the city was eligible to receive showed a population at 16,852 in 1976 and a drop to 15,196 in 1979.

Based on those population estimations, the city's CDBG funds were scheduled to drop to $99,290 from last year's level of $94,200.

In the end the county became convinced their figures were in error and the city was allowed to maintain last year's level of funding until the information from the next census count is available.

Picture Ladies inspire Walled Lake students

Paul Riddell was sitting quietly at his school desk. But his dreamy eyes revealed that he was actually in a far away place waving a red matador's cape at a seething, charging bull while the crowd shouted for more.

Paul, a second grader at Walled Lake Elementary School, was transformed into a brave and fearless bullfighter through the brilliance of "The Bullfight," a painting by Spanish artist Goya.

For the next month, Goya's "Bullfight" will hang in Paul's room and become a part of his life. No doubt, Paul's imagination will fly each time he looks at it. And, hopefully, this type of pleasant first experience with art will make a lasting impression on the young boy.

Introducing children like Paul to the beauty and joy of art is the special "job" of several dynamic women in the Walled Lake Schools' community. They call themselves "Picture Ladies," and they donate their time, talent and enthusiasm for art to children in Walled Lake elementary schools.

Sheila Hooker, chairman of the Picture Lady program at Walled Lake Elementary School, visited Paul's class recently with reproductions of Goya's best known paintings.

"It doesn't take much encouragement to get the children excitedly talking about what they see in the painting, what they think about it and how it makes them feel, according to Mrs. Hooker.

"There are no wrong answers in this type of discussion and everyone learns from each other," she said.

After the month with Goya is up in Paul's classroom, Mrs. Hooker will return and take them to a different classroom. Another picture lady will then come with a whole new set of paintings by a different master and inroduce them to Paul's class.

By the end of the school year, each child in Walled Lake Elementary School will have met and lived with examples of art by Homer, Renoir, Feininger, Picasso, Vermeer, Vasarely and Goya.

The Picture Lady program at Walled Lake Elementary is run by Mrs. Sheila Hooker and six other women: Nancy Daviskis, Pat Kozub, Sue Gee, Dee Schultz, Ruth Fergin and Diane Ebert.

Two other elementary schools also have Picture Lady programs. Loon Lake's program is run by Rae Momborg, Lynda Schemanske, Kathy Thomas, Mary Ellen Maravati, Martha Clifford, Joan Schumann, Ann DeRoche, Denise Reynolds and Sylvia Prichard.

It was the enthusiasm of Rae Momborg of Loon Lake that carried the program into Walled Lake and Keith Elementary. Alpeya Gaylin is currently organizing a picture lady team at Decker for next year.

Picture lady volunteers need no special background in art. Anyone interested in being a part of the program will be provided regular training sessions and special art workshops.

"Picture ladies must have the time to research the artist/them they choose to present and one day a month for classroom visits," Mrs. Hooker explained. "But most importantly, they must have an interest in art and children, and enthusiasm for the program."

As more schools become involved in the program, the members of the current picture lady teams hope to acquire a library of reproductions that can be exchanged and shared.

In EDC case

City won't appeal ruling

The Walled Lake City Council will not appeal an Oakland County Circuit Court judge's opinion that the city's economic development corporation (EDC) ordinance is not subject to referendum.

Council members also indicated that they will take action next Tuesday to rescind a resolution setting on November 6 election date on the issue that prompted the lawsuit.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer ruled April 12 that the state law providing for local and county economic development corporations supersedes the Walled Lake City Charter's referendum provisions. The judge also ruled that the EDC ordinance was not subject to referendum and he permanently enjoined the city from holding an election on the measure.

City officials had 20 days after the opinion and order were entered in which to file an appeal. At last Tuesday's meeting — a day before the 20-day appeal period expired — the council directed the city attorney not to take any further action on the complaint.

brought against the city by Walled Lake Commons, developers of the proposed Knart store to be located at West Maple Road and Pontiac Trail.

Asked what chance the city might have to win an appeal, City Attorney Richard J. Poehlman said he felt "the judge's opinion accurately reflects the state EDC law."

Poehlman's associate, Paul H. Bibeau, in a letter to City Manager Peter Parker, added that the opinion and judgment do not "offend the Walled Lake City Charter provisions (regarding referendum proposals) and is in basic agreement with this office's opinion relating to the legal issues involved in this case."

The city council set a November 6 election on the proposed repeal of the EDC ordinance after a citizens' group filed petitions containing enough valid signatures of registered voters to force a vote on the issue.

Walled Lake Commons filed suit against the city February 21, the day after the council determined the election asking the court to determine whether the EDC ordinance was subject to referendum and what effect an election would have on its plans to build the $5-million department store.

The city council and the EDC Board of Directors had completed almost every step required to issue revenue bonds to help finance the Knart project. The EDC board still must approve a bond resolution and other closing documents to complete the arrangements.

Stuart Frankel, a partner in the development firm, said he still has some work to do before he's ready to ask the EDC for a meeting to consider the bond resolution.

Under the state EDC law, counties and local units of government may create development corporations to encourage commercial and industrial growth in an effort to keep businesses and jobs in Michigan.

The government-issued revenue bonds are income tax exempt for the purchaser — the lending institution — which usually results in an interest rate of two to two-and-a-half percent less than conventional mortgages.

Frankel has said the lower interest rate offers Walled Lake's relatively high local property tax rate. There is no property tax abatement on EDC-financed projects, he said, and the insurance of the bonds does not affect the city's credit rating or ability to borrow.

Hearing slated on city budget

A public hearing on Walled Lake's proposed 1979-80 budget has been tentatively scheduled for May 21 at 8 p.m. in the city council chambers.

Under the city charter, the council must adopt a budget for the coming fiscal year and approve a local tax rate by the third Monday in May. A copy of the proposed budget must be available for public inspection in the city clerk's office for at least a week before the hearing.

Council members have reviewed the proposed $26-million spending plan at three special meetings in the last week. The council was scheduled to hold another budget session last night, after our deadline.

City DPW investigates complaints on rusty water

Walled Lake city officials are investigating complaints about rusty water.

The problem has been evident for about a month, according to residents in the A-O and Tri-A subdivisions, but city officials say they still don't know what's causing discoloration in water supplies.

City DPW Superintendent John Nall informed the city council of the water problem in a memo dated April 27 and again at a special budget meeting April 30.

Five residents of the A-O Subdivision attended the May 1 regular council meeting to register similar complaints about water quality.

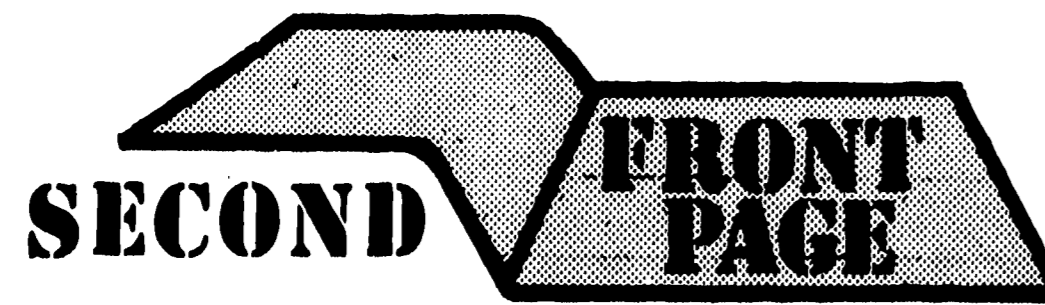

As of Monday, Nall said he was still trying to resolve the problem. The DPW superintendent said he has talked to Chuck Fenske, a project engineer with Johnson and Anderson, the city's consulting engineers, and Larry Wight, of the Layne Northern Company which sold Walled Lake an iron filtration plant several years ago.

Nall added, though, that it is very doubtful that the problem is being caused by the filtration plant.

In his memo to the council, the DPW superintendent said water hydrants were flushed March 27-29 - while he was on vacation - but "did not seem to help in certain areas."

The hydrants were flushed again April 17-20, break-

Western 'brain trust' features five top scholars

Some kind of record?

4 valedictorians reign at Western

Would you believe four valedictorians? That's how many there are at Walled Lake Western High School this year as four students earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages to tie for top academic honors in the graduating class of 1979.

The four valedictorians are Michael Bryant, Suzanne Cook, Judith Mechem and Susan Wickliffe.

Joining the four valedictorians for academic recognition is Kathy Machesky who achieved a grade point average of 3.974 to be named salutatorian of the 1979 graduating class from Western.

Principal Richard Smith noted that it is the first time Western has had four valedictorians. Commencement ceremonies at Western will be held in the school gymnasium on Tuesday, June 12, at 8 p.m.

All five honored students plan to continue their studies in the fall.

Bryant will attend Central Michigan University where he plans to major in accounting in September. Long range career plans are to become a certified public accountant.

He has been extremely active in athletics during his high school career, starring in football, basketball and baseball. He also has served on the yearbook staff and the executive board of the school as well as having served as president of the National Honor Society.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Bryant of Commerce Township.

Miss Cook has received a four-year scholarship to attend Wayne State University in the fall. She plans to go to medical school after graduating from college, possibly pursuing a career in research.

She has been an outstanding performer on the Western gymnastics team during her high school career.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cook of Novi.

Miss Mechem will attend General Motors Institute in September where she plans to study the field of mechanical engineering.

Another outstanding athlete, she has performed on the gymnastics, swimming and track teams at Western. She also has been a cheerleader, a member of the executive board and a member of the National Honor Society. Additionally, she has worked as a draftsman at the General Motors Proving Grounds through the school's co-op program.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mechem of Commerce Township.

Miss Wickliffe, another of Western's four valedictorians, has received a full tuition scholarship to attend Michigan Tech University in the fall. Her field of study will be chemical engineering.

She has been involved in the school's intramural volleyball program.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wickliffe of Walled Lake.

Miss Machesky, the salutatorian of the class of 1979, plans to attend Northern Michigan University in September where she will study medical technology. She hopes eventually to work in a research laboratory.

School activities include the executive board, modern dance, volleyball and the French Club.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Machesky of Walled Lake.

Program cuts may spread to all schools

Budget cuts totaling some $1,322 million have been proposed by Walled Lake School Superintendent Don Sheldon in the wake of voter rejection of a millage proposal on April 30.

Combined with revisions in projected revenues of $138,000, the proposed $1,322 million in budget cuts adds up to $1.7 million - the amount of revenues that would have been gained through voter approval of the four mill proposal in the April 30 election.

The board will again request permission to levy the four mill increase in an election set for June 11.

Sheldon informed the school board and approximately 100 interested citizens at a special board meeting Monday that the list of proposed cuts were not designed to produce an "impasse" among voters.

"The fact is that we are required by law to adopt a balanced budget," said the superintendent. "When the millage proposal was defeated by the voters, it was our only recourse to reduce the budget by $1.7 million in order to make expenditures coincide with revenues."

Sheldon added that the philosophy in developing the proposed list of cutbacks was to maintain as many programs as possible - but at reduced levels.

As a result, relatively few programs have been totally eliminated, but virtually all programs have been affected.

"I regret the fact that the list of cuts may not be construed as too significant by people who don't take the time to look at the overall effect of what has been proposed," stated the superintendent.

"But the total effect of these proposed cutbacks will have a severe impact on the overall quality of education. Virtually every staff member and every program will be affected in one way or another. I'm afraid that there will be very serious implications for programs that are being eliminated."

The board took the first step toward reducing expenditures last week when it issued termination notices to some 43 teachers. Additional cutbacks proposed by the administration at Monday's meeting included:

- Closing the swimming pool. All swimming programs would be eliminated, including interscholastic swimming teams and the down-proofing program in the elementary schools.

- Eliminating the salary of the vision and health consultant. The proposed cut would eliminate the vision screening program currently operational in elementary schools. Total savings were pegged at $26,000.

- Curtail expenditures for the libraries. Sheldon reported that propo-

- sals assigned by the chief. Clark has said the main issue involved in the grievances was determining the swing-shift employee's work schedule.

- Since the first two grievances were filed against the township, the union has lodged three other complaints.

- Township board members upheld one grievance which requested overtime pay for the swing-shift employees and rejected another dealing with notification to the fire department on emergency calls received by the Fleet Ambulance Service Commerce advanced life support unit.

- The fifth grievance, again seeking overtime pay for the swing-shift firefighter, was withdrawn by the union before the board made a decision.

Proposes lease with county

Carey offers to build new court house facility

By DAVID RAY

The Carey Company, a Walled Lake real estate development firm, has offered to enter into negotiations with Oakland County officials on plans to build a new 52nd District Court facility in Walled Lake.

B. H. Carey, president of the firm, made the offer last week to Milton Handorf, director of the county DPW which maintains facilities for the district court. Copies of the proposal also were sent to Walled Lake city officials.

Under the proposal, the Carey Company would build a 24,000-square-foot courthouse on a six-acre site it owns on West Maple Road, west of Decker and southeast of the court's existing facilities in the Walled Lake City Hall.

The county would be asked to lease the new building from the firm.

County officials approached the Walled Lake City Council earlier this year to discuss an extension of its lease agreements for city-owned space for the court and the possible expansion of the court's facilities to make room for a third judge who is expected to be added to the district's first division next year.

The council has indicated an interest in keeping the court in Walled Lake, although there was some question as to whether the county would have to be moved to Novi (see related story).

In his proposal to county and city officials, Carey said the site owned by his firm would be a more favorable location for the court for a number of reasons, including:

- It does not eliminate city-owned land set aside for other uses, such as a library or landscape nursery.
- The proposed site has sufficient space for ample building, parking and underground installations.
- The size of the parcel would preserve the site for court facilities and provide space for possible future expansion.
- The proposed site is a geographically central location within the court's district.
- Close proximity of the proposed court site to the Walled Lake City Hall would minimize travel time by city personnel between the two facilities.

• The site has immediate access to two major thoroughfares - West Maple and Decker - to provide good circulation for traffic and also could be designed with ingress and egress that would prevent traffic congestion.

Carey also noted that private development of the court facility would eliminate the "unfeasible financial burden" on the city. If Walled Lake built the new court house and leased it to the county.

In addition to the space in the Walled Lake City Hall, the county also uses the Michigan Department of Social Services building at 1015 West Maple Road for court facilities.

Plans presented to city officials in March showed two possible new court house locations on the Walled Lake municipal complex - one north of the existing city hall parking lot on a parcel bounded by the Grand Truck Western Railroad tracks, the DPW building and the Walled Lake Firefighters' Association headquarters and the other west of city hall. Another proposal called for expansion of the existing city hall to provide more space for the court.

While city officials expressed their interest in keeping the court in Walled Lake, they also noted several problems with the county's proposal.

The site north of the railroad tracks, posing a possible noise problem, and would prevent future expansion of the DPW or fire buildings. An addition to the city hall would use up much of the open space and greenbelt area. The parcel west of city hall has been eyed as a possible library site.

City officials have recognized, however, a number of reasons to keep the court in Walled Lake.

Those reasons include: freeing up the west wing of city hall for city operations; consolidation of court administrative and support services in one location; reducing police department overtime since officers don't have to travel to a court house in another community and wait to testify; bringing police officers from other communities into Walled Lake to testify in the court, providing a deterrent to crime and better police protection; construction of a new court would fit into the city's revitalization program; and generating business for city restaurants and stores because of attorneys, police officers and others who visit the court.

Novi won't pursue court issue

Novi officials apparently have decided not to pursue efforts which could lead to the establishment of district court facilities in the city.

City Manager Edward Kriewall said he has been informed by Oakland County officials that new district court facilities could be constructed in Novi if the city were to insist on strict application of a state law which requires courts be constructed within the municipality with the largest population in the district.

Kriewall asked the city council Monday whether it would like him to pursue the matter with county officials. The city manager recommended that the city not press the issue at the present time since he could see no particular advantage to having the court located within Novi's corporate limits.

Council members expressed no interest in pursuing the matter further.

As a result, it appears as if the 52nd District Court will continue to be located in Walled Lake.

The proposed site for relocation of the court in the largest populated village or city in the district has prompted speculation that the county may have been required to locate new court facilities in Novi since expansion of the existing court in Walled Lake currently is being contemplated.

Kriewall reported that he had been informed by Milton Handorf, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, that the county intends to maintain court facilities in Walled Lake.

The county's position is that the intent of the law was properly interpreted in Walled Lake. At that time the city was the largest in the district since Novi was still a township at that time.

Handorf informed the city manager that the county does not believe it is expected to relocate the court facility based upon subsequent census changes.

If Novi were to insist the court be relocated within its city limits, the county would probably develop a facility on the northern extremes of the city, Kriewall explained.

In the case of building a facility in Novi the county would likely contract with a private developer for its construction.

Primarily the county argued it would be unfeasible to locate the court in Novi because it is at the extreme south end of the 52nd District.

The district district serves communities as far north as Rose Township and includes White Lake, Highland, Milford, Commerce and Lyon

Artrain visit planned by area arts groups

The Michigan Artrain, a unique display of art contained in specially outfitted railroad cars, will arrive on the campus of St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake, on Saturday, May 19.

The nine day area visit is sponsored by the Lakes Area Council for the Arts and the Greater West Bloomfield Arts Council. A special champagne preview of the exhibit is scheduled on Friday, May 18, from 8 to 10 p.m., at the Galleria of the college. The preview allows patrons of the traveling art museum the opportunity to preview exhibits before the train officially opens to the public.

Geared to everyone, Artrain has established special hours to allow school children the opportunity to visit during the day. Open only to those children from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. during the week, public hours are scheduled each day from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday hours are noon until 6 p.m.

Best of all, Artrain is free to everyone.

Through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and through fund raising efforts of local arts councils and communities, the train has toured 10 Michigan areas with special emphasis on those not served by major museums. Almost two million people have toured the displays and exhibits contained in the length of three gallery cars making up the train.

A virtual museum housing a revolving collection of outstanding art, the train contains sculptures, a retrospective view of American culture as seen through the lenses of distinguished photographers, as well as some 30 works by contemporary American folk painters. In addition, the Indians of the Great Lakes region and their cultures are represented by an exhibit of finely created, works including beaded clothing and basketry.

Even a bit of Michigan history is included in Artrain with a display of illuminated transparencies of the capitol in Lansing along with views of 100 years of growth and development.

A borrowing institution, the exhibitions housed on Artrain are regularly changed to provide the broadest and most exciting range of art to all segments of society.

Of the train itself, various railroad companies donate the services of engines and crews to move the train about the state. The Artrain caboose is a 1965 Michigan Central car, thought to be the last car still on rails in the country. The coaches are of the 1940 era.

The studio car, a reconditioned baggage car, contains three work stations highlighting the talents and abilities of studio artists employed by Artrain. Local artists also will be working in the onboard studio, giving visitors the opportunity to view their talents and techniques.

In addition to spreading an interest in art to all corners of the state and nation, Artrain is pointed to as the major factor in the development of arts programs, art centers, historical inventories and other cultural programs in Michigan.

Appeal still pending in court

Township officials respond to annexation changes

Though the final appeal has yet to be heard in court, Novi has proceeded to take jurisdiction over seven disputed township parcels after receiving authorization to annex them. In the latest action five of those parcels have been rezoned by the city.

"They are acting perfectly within their rights," Kalota said. He indicated that if the court should reverse the zoning established by the city, Kalota speculated.

statements, James Bauckham, the Michigan Township Association attorney who has represented the township in court, said there was little to be gained by the city as it assumes jurisdiction in that area.

School board eyes possibilities for Fuerst Farm

Guidelines for the development of the Fuerst Farm were unveiled before the Novi school board last week along with a presentation of an existing school farm in a nearby school district which showed some programs which could also work in Novi.

"I've seen kids who were completely turned around by the hands-on experience they can get through a farm program," Woodland told the board.

Woodland explained the students have specific goals and objectives. They first learn the theory and then the application of farm management.

Novi would be interested in hiring a person with a farm management background, probably someone who was raised on a farm, explained Dr. William Barr.

Eighth graders from Novi Middle School South have claimed a total of 12 awards in regional industrial arts competition at Milford High School.

Impetus for participation in the regional competition is provided by John Lawrence and Jack Jordan, the industrial arts teachers at the school. They have been encouraging their students to enter the competition for the past five years.

Although all the award-winning projects were a part of class requirements, participation in the competition is strictly voluntary.

In western Novi Planners veto rezoning

A rezoning proposal which would create larger lot sizes in the western section of the city has been recommended for denial by the Novi Planning Board.

The planners held a public hearing last week to consider a petition from the city council for the rezoning of all property in sections 21 and 28 from their existing R-4 classification to a R-3 designation.

Sections 21 and 28 lie between Taft and Beck roads on the east and west and between Eleven and Nine Mile on the north and south.

The council has petitioned for the rezoning of the property to encourage the development of larger lot residential areas in the western section of the city.

The R-4 designation requires minimum lot sizes of 10,000 square feet and minimum lot widths of 80 feet, while the R-3 designation requires minimum lot sizes of 2,000 square feet and minimum lot widths of 30 feet.

A final decision on the rezoning petition will be made by the city council at a public hearing next Wednesday (May 10).

The council's rezoning petition was recommended for approval by City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Villacore-Leman.

Cairns told the planners that a total of 508 acres were involved in the rezoning petition. Under the R-4 zoning classification, the 508 acres could be expected to produce some 1,676 dwelling units. Under the R-3 zoning classification, the same 508 acres could be expected to produce some 1,371 dwelling units.

Cairns also projected that the R-4 designation would produce a total population of 4,960 people on the 508 acres, while the R-3 designation would produce a total population of 3,990 residents.

The R-4 designation would lead to the construction of 22 percent more homes, stated the planning consultant.

"The estimated 2.7 net dwelling units to the acre generated under the R-3 district falls well within the density guidelines proposed for the area on the city's master plan," stated Cairns.

"Reclassification of the subject area to the R-3 district not only would bring dwelling unit density into concert with the master plan, but also opens the area to a greater degree of residential development flexibility than exists under the present R-4 zoning," he continued.

In recommending approval, Cairns said the city's request represents a logical upgrading of zoning and also provides for greater flexibility in development potential, a fact that can greatly enhance development in the area because of the natural amenities that exist on much of the land.

Opposition to the proposed rezoning was expressed by several property owners in the area, however.

In fact, Max Sheldon, one of the property owners, presented the planners with a pre-preliminary plan for a subdivision on a 100-acre parcel on the northeast corner of Ten Mile and Beck Road.

The subdivision, Green Orchard Meadows, was submitted under the existing R-4 zoning designation.

George Atlas, representing the developer, reported that Sheldon has been considering development of the parcel for the past four years.

"We were caught a little short with this rezoning proposal, but it's not a Johnny-come-lately deal," stated Atlas.

He also stated that Sheldon would suffer financial repercussions if his "investment in the 100-acre parcel is cut by 22 percent."

For Decker improvements

Walled Lake approves light, engineering expenses

The Walled Lake City Council has agreed to pay its share of costs for two road improvement projects that also are being funded in a large part by the federal government.

Council members voted to use some $21,350 from the capital projects reserve fund and capital improvement funds to pay for higher engineering costs incurred by Giffels-Webster as part of the Decker Road improvement.

The council agreed last summer to cover the added engineering costs, if the feds provided 72 percent of the funds.

Walled Lake will pay the total cost of the additional engineering charges out of capital improvement funds, pending the receipt of $15,429 as the feds' share of the cost. The city's net cost will be $5,917, according to City Manager Peter Parker.

The federal funds will be deposited in the capital projects account, Parker said, for a net reduction of $4,482 in the fund until the end of the 1979-79 fiscal year when another $4,500 will be available for the account.

The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) also paid for 72 percent of the actual Decker construction costs.

Council members also unanimously approved an agreement to participate with the FHWA and the Oakland County Road Commission to install and maintain a traffic signal at West Maple and Decker roads.

The FHWA will pay 72 percent of the cost, or $4,338, while the city and county each will cover about 14 percent, or $826. Parker said local funds for the traffic signal are included in his proposed 1979-80 budget which is now being reviewed by the council.

Based on the manager's report, the council last week:

- Transferred $4,100 from funds set aside for the city's share of the cost of the South Commerce-Pontiac Trail intersection improvement to cover a workman's compensation premium payment. Parker said the new wages provided in the contract with DPW and the city's employees are "underestimating a year ago" resulted in a need for the transfer. He added that there still are sufficient monies in the budget to cover the intersection improvement costs.
- Tabled action on a request from consulting engineers Johnson and Anderson for approval of a rate schedule for municipal plan review services. The schedule covers hourly charges for different level engineering employees and includes a formula for increasing the fees based on hikes in the national Consumer Price Index (CPI). Charles Fenske, a project engineer with the firm, said the CPI increases parallel higher costs incurred by Johnson and Anderson.
- The engineers' request was tabled for further information after City Attorney Richard Pochman noted that there are several different consumer price indexes for various areas of the country and types of businesses.

City is cleaner this year, volunteers tell LaMarca

Walled Lake is a lot cleaner than it was a year ago.

That's the consensus of volunteers who participated in Saturday's clean-up program, according to Mayor Gaspare LaMarca.

About 20 persons took part in the anti-litter campaign along Pontiac Trail and West Maple Road, the mayor said. Although the turnout wasn't as big as LaMarca expected, the mayor said he was pleased with the progress made last weekend.

Enough rubbish was collected to fill two dumpsters, the mayor said. Last year, almost twice as much refuse was picked up and volunteers only concentrated on West Maple, LaMarca said, "and those who helped last year said they thought the city was a lot cleaner."

"One woman said she thinks we're bringing pride back to the city."

The mayor singled out the owners of the Maple Plaza and McDonald's restaurant for special praise in the clean-up campaign and added that the business community in general has done a good job of keeping Walled Lake clean.

Saturday's activities were part of "Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up Month" which started April 21 and runs through May 19.

Mayor LaMarca, following the lead of Governor Milliken, has proclaimed the four-week period as clean-up month and urged citizens to participate in the effort.

Councilman proposes dog shelter

Walled Lake Councilman Walter Lewandowski would like to see the city build a dog shelter to house stray animals on a temporary basis.

Lewandowski made the proposal at last week's regular colleagues to consider the estimated $500 expense in the 1979-80 budget.

At present, stray dogs are tied to a communications tower or dog house on the city property between the DPW and Walled Lake Firefighters' Association buildings until they can be picked up by the Oakland County Animal Control Division.

The councilman suggested that a fenced area with several cages or houses on a concrete slab be built near the DPW facilities to provide better shelter for the animals. Lewandowski's wife, City Clerk-Treasurer Ruby Lewandowski, added that she sometimes buys food for dogs that are being kept on the city property.

Mayor Pro Tem William C. Staman noted that the city was forced to shut down an animal shelter several years ago by the county health department. He cautioned the council against "going into the pond business."

"Bedwetting is Serious and Harmful... If you have a bedwetter in your home I strongly urge you to take steps at once to end it. The correction of bedwetting is an important mental health aid. It is very harmful to the child, distressing to the parents and can lead to very serious complications later on in life. Don't be blind on this problem no matter what you have been told by anyone else. Do something about it now!"

Joseph G. Walker, M.D., M.P.H., Master Public Health

Many procedures, such as restricting liquids and taking children on a schedule to the bathroom do not usually end bedwetting. We will provide FREE OF CHARGE a booklet that will answer many questions on this problem. Equally effective for adults. All inquiries are confidential.

Walled Lake officials eye citizen support of millage

A campaign to win voter approval of a request for four additional mills will be launched by the Walled Lake Board of Education next week.

The school board has slated a special meeting for all citizens interested in education in administration offices next Monday (May 14) at 8 p.m.

Administrators were directed to issue invitations to representatives of parent-teacher organizations, homeowner associations, church groups, civic clubs and anyone else interested in learning more about the millage proposal.

The special meeting has been slated partially in response to the request of Trustee Stephen Lasher, who maintains that the board must "do something different" if it wants the voters to approve the request for four mills in the June 11 election.

Lasher has maintained that the board can realistically expect the same results (a two-to-one defeat) when it takes the identical millage proposal back to the voters on June 11 unless strong efforts are made to gain support for the millage proposal.

The proposal to invite interested citizens to next week's special meeting was set forth by Evelyn Brown, a teacher in the Walled Lake district.

Mrs. Brown told the board that school board members are the least credible during a millage election.

"The administrators are the second least credible group, and teachers who are negotiating a new contract are the next least credible group," she stated.

"If you really want to win support for the millage proposal, you're going to have to go directly to the people and convince them that the four mills are really needed. When your civil groups are in favor of the millage, it will carry more weight than support from board members, administrators and teachers."

Board member Leo Wessinger suggested that the board had only itself to blame for the overwhelming defeat of the millage proposal in the April 30 election. The request for the additional mills was rejected by a margin of 2,313 to 1,077.

"We have more than 1,000 employees in this district and a large number of them live within the district," stated Wessinger. "Plus, I would assume that most of those employees have a spouse."

"And yet, those numbers are not reflected in the number of 'yes' votes for the millage proposal."

"If everyone would go to the polls, take their spouse and maybe a friend or two with them, we could have passed the millage," he said.

"In essence, we defeated the millage ourselves because we didn't get out and vote for it."

Commerce planners meet tonight

The Commerce Township Planning Commission has scheduled a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. today.

On the agenda for tonight's meeting are consideration of a rezoning request and review of the proposed zoning ordinance and master land use plan updates, according to Commissioner Robert McFee, who also serves as township clerk.

The rezoning request from Mary Wilson to change 20 acres located northwest of Wise and Carroll Lake roads from R-1-A to R-1-B, both single-family residential, was tabled by the commission following a public hearing April 30.

Although lot sizes in both zoning districts are the same, a smaller size can be built in the R-1-B area. Mrs. Wilson's real estate representatives told the commission that the proposed zoning would provide a more feasible market for prospective buyers without pricing certain types of homes out of the market.

Residents of the nearby Carroll Lake Heights Subdivision One raised several questions on the proposed zoning change at the public hearing.

Commission members delayed action on making a recommendation on the request in order to give Planning Consultant Steve Lenocky a chance to make a market analysis of the area as part of his recommendation.

Once the Commerce planners make a recommendation for approval or denial of the rezoning request, the proposal will be reviewed by the Oakland County zoning coordinating committee which also makes a recommendation to the township board. Final action on the request rests with the township board.

Novi hosts special potluck

Novi residents who were born in a foreign land have been invited to join the mayor and city council for an international potluck dinner.

The dinner will be held in conjunction with the World Trade Day as part of the city's Michigan Week festivities.

The dinner will be held in the Novi Woods Elementary School on Thursday, May 24, at 6 p.m. Nick Serkanan will be the special speaker following the potluck.

There is no fee for the dinner except that participants are asked to bring an ethnic dish to share with others.

Anyone with a friend or neighbor who was born in a foreign land is encouraged to make them aware of the international potluck. Further information is available from Donn Watson at 349-3939.

Interchange work resumes

River and the expressway interchange. Grand River would be improved 600 feet to the west of Novi Road and 1,000 feet to the east. Construction of curb and gutter, a median divider and remarking would be included.

As another part of that project the current intersection of Eleven Mile with Grand River would be closed off.

tion would be created east of its present location.

Under the agreement for financing the project Novi is responsible for picking up more than 55 percent of the construction costs.

Novi also was responsible for paying right-of-way costs for obtaining property on Eleven Mile and half of the right-of-way costs for the rest of the project.

The County Road Commission Board is responsible for assuming about 45 percent of the remaining non-federal funded costs of the project.

ANNA ANSCOMB

A funeral service was held for Anna A. Anscomb Thursday, May 3, at the Richardson, Bird and Lynch Funeral Home, Walled Lake. Pastor Wendell Biglow of the First Baptist Church officiated at the 2 p.m. services. Interment was in Orchard Hills Memorial Gardens, Novi.

Mrs. Anscomb died April 30 at St. Joseph-Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She was born May 5, 1903 in Bloomington, Michigan to Edwin and Mary Grace (Canniff) Decker.

A resident of West Bloomfield for 60 years, Mrs. Anscomb was a member of the Wixom VFW Ladies Auxiliary.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Spicer of Westland and Mrs. Robert (Elsie) Jones of Rochester, and a son Glenn of Lakeside, Arizona. Other survivors include six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband Allen J. Anscomb in 1939.

A VFW service was conducted May 2 by members of the auxiliary.

Funeral service is being held at 10 a.m. today at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated, in Northville with Father Leo Shealtrean of St. John Bosco Catholic Church of Redford officiating. Interment will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield. Rosary was held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Dyar was a member of Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville and was retired from Cadillac Casket Company of Detroit.

He was born June 2, 1893, in Church Town, Ohio, to John and Bridget (Flanigan) Dyar.

He leaves his wife Nora Marie; seven children: Mrs. Ted (Marie) Weeden, Raymond P., both of California, Joseph Francis of Detroit, Mrs. Robert (Dorothy) Fisher of Dexter, Edward Jr. of Birmingham and Mrs. John (Patricia) McClure of Northville; three sisters: Mrs. Catherine Maloney of Troy, Mrs. Mary Durbin of Akron and Miss Margaret Dyar of Franklin; 22 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Other survivors are a son Robert of Novi, sister Mrs. Maude Herdt of Oak View, California, and four grandchildren Steven, Todd, Tully and Brett.

Arrangements are being made by Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated, in Northville. The funeral home may be contacted at 349-6111 for additional information.

DANA CUMMINGS

Dana M. Cummings of Highland died May 3 in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital following a long illness. A funeral mass was held Monday at St. William Catholic Church, Walled Lake from the Richardson, Bird and Lynch Funeral Home. Father Henry Waraska officiated.

Born in Pennsylvania on May 15, 1954 to Richard and May (Brandt) Robison, she was 24. Her parents survive.

She leaves her husband, Richard A. Cummings and a daughter Gina. Other survivors include sisters, Linda Parrino and Pat Woerner, both of Walled Lake, and Connie Green of Wixom, and a grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Robison of Wayne.

A 1972 graduate of Walled Lake Western High School, Mrs. Cummings had lived in the Walled Lake area since 1958. She had just recently moved to Highland.

A scripture service was held Sunday at the funeral home. Interment at the Walled Lake Cemetery followed the mass.

Novi approves Romanow rezoning

A rezoning recommendation which originated with the Novi City Council was given final approval by that body recently.

Council members approved the rezoning of about 18 acres of property on Eleven Mile owned by Peter Romanow. The land was rezoned from small farm use (R1-F) to an R-4 zoning which will allow the construction of cluster-housing units on the property.

Originally the owner had requested the property be rezoned to allow construction of apartments on the site, but that proposal met with stiff opposition from neighboring residents who were concerned about the increased traffic that could be created.

As a compromise the council proposed the R-4 zoning, which would maintain the approximate population density in effect for the property under the multiple zoning classification. Under the cluster option, the developer can attach the homes to get greater use of the property than he could if he were forced to construct conventional single family homes.

Residents still expressed some reservations with the R-4 zoning before it was approved by the council.

John Schupe told the council his concern was the drainage of the property.

"That property is under water and has bullrushes growing on it but now," Schupe told the council. "I don't see how they can build there without filling it in and they can't fill without flooding."

The R-4 zoning was proposed to serve as a transitional area between the industrial property to the north and the residential property to the south.

The zoning was unanimously approved by the council.

Fifth grade teachers to resume conferences

The past practice of conducting conferences for parents of fifth graders in the Novi School District will be resumed during the next school year.

"Prior to this school year, the fifth grade teachers were part of the elementary schools and parent-teacher conferences were regularly scheduled.

This year fifth graders became part of the middle school and special teacher conferences were dropped. Instead, fifth grade teachers were allocated a forty-five minute period each day which could be used for planning or for conferences with parents.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz recently told school board members the teachers have found the daily periods are more often used to discuss crisis situations with parents than as a general method of increasing communication between parents and teachers.

Board members also learned the conference period would be used to interpret test scores, report cards and related remarks. In addition, parents may be able to explain individual differences in their children which will enable teachers to do a better job, Kratz said.

One teacher also pointed out to the board that parents who have gone through conferences with teachers when their children were in the fifth grade are more open with teachers when their child reaches the sixth grade.

It was recommended to the board that they approve conferences to be held in the late fall of the 1979-80 school year for the parents of fifth graders and their teachers. The conferences would be held two afternoons and one evening during the selected dates.

Walled Lake board eyes cutbacks received by the North Central Association which accredits the district's secondary schools.

—Reduce expenditures for the athletic program from roughly $238,000 to $150,000. Slocum said that no determination has been made as to which portions of the athletic department budget would be eliminated.

He added, however, that some consideration has been given to a proposal to eliminate ninth grade interclassroom programs. Students could conceivably be absorbed in junior varsity programs, suggested Slocum.

—Reduce driving training programs. The proposed calls for the district to offer just one session of driver training.

—Eliminate all field trips.

—Eliminate plans to implement a program for "gifted and talented" students. Estimated cost of implementing the program had been pegged at $40,000.

—Reduce the budget for elementary instruction by $175,000. The proposed reductions would include elimination of eight of the 14 teacher aides in the reading support program. Also eliminated would be approximately $64,000 in teaching supplies and $5,000 for textbooks. Additionally, four itinerant teaching positions would be eliminated.

—Impose a 30 percent reduction in extracurricular activities at the high school level. Sheldon stated that no determination has been made as to which extracurricular activities would be curtailed. Student participation and cost of the program would be determining factors, he said.

—Impose a 2.5 percent pay cut on administrative personnel. The proposed cut would be taken from 1979-80 salary levels which had not yet been negotiated. Total savings was pegged at $39,000 which would enable the district to avoid having to eliminate administrative positions.

—Eliminate one position of bus mechanic. Deputy Superintendent

Rolland Langerman said that the Walled Lake District has one mechanic for each 20 buses and that the recommended level by the Michigan State Police is one mechanic for each 10 buses. "Our concern is that the state police may red tag some of our school buses if we're unable to adequately service the vehicles," he said.

—Reduce the budget for plant operation and maintenance by $282,000. The reduction would involve the elimination of some seven custodial positions.

—Reduce capital outlay expenditures by $125,000. Assistant Superintendent for Business Harry Carlson reported that he had received requests from staff members for replacement of classroom equipment in excess of $250,000.

—We originally budgeted $150,000 for capital outlay, but all we have left is $25,000 in the capital outlay account for the purchase of some very serious needs," he said.

Several board members expressed reservations about the proposed cuts. Trustee Kenneth Tucker said he felt the elementary programs were hit harder than the secondary programs. "The reading support program will be practically eliminated in the elementary schools," he said. "And we're also proposing to cut funds for elementary supplies when those accounts already are out of money."

Trustee Leo Wessinger expressed concern about the virtual elimination of funds for the purchase of library books.

"I don't see how a school can stay in business if it doesn't buy books for its libraries," he commented.

Trustee Warren Williams questioned proposals for further cutbacks in supplies and building maintenance.

"I don't see how we can reduce an account which already is at a bare minimum," he said. "I would prefer to eliminate programs instead of cutting back on supplies and allowing our buildings to fall down."

Board members asked for more time to study the proposed list of cutbacks. They indicated that they will examine the proposals at the regular May board meeting next Monday at 8 p.m.

Proposed cuts prompt criticism what programs are going to be cut," she told the school board.

"If you don't make an impact on the people, they're not going to support the request for four mills in the June 11 election."

Similar sentiments were expressed by another resident who said the cutbacks proposed by the administration would have only a "minimal impact" on the general electorate.

"I just can't see where the general public parent will feel the true impact of the proposed cuts on the overall educational program," commented the resident.

"The woman also suggested that instead of keeping libraries open with minimal staffing it would be preferable to shut them down entirely."

"If you're only going to have one or two people trying to operate a school library, you should close it altogether," she said. "That way the impact of the financial situation would be a lot more clear to the people who vote on the millage."

Several teachers called for the board to eliminate athletic programs and all extracurricular activities.

Thomas Szociński, a teacher and a coach at Walled Lake Western, said he did not understand why the board would eliminate 43 teaching positions and continue to offer football, basketball and other athletic programs. Szociński is one of the teachers who has been "pink-slipped."

"The basic purpose of the school system is to educate children," he said. "We should teach reading, writing and arithmetic and eliminate the athletic teams."

"When you eliminate the basketball team, it will give you the clearest need to make an impact on the voters."

Similar sentiments were expressed by Ted Felegy, a teacher and varsity basketball coach at Western. Felegy also has received his termination notice from the school district.

"I'm a teacher by vocation and a coach by avocation," he told the board. "I dearly love athletics, but if 10 or 15 teachers can keep their jobs by eliminating the athletic program, then we should eliminate the athletic program."

Nancy van Leuwen, president of the Walled Lake Education Association, asked the board to consider alternatives to the cutbacks proposed by the school administration.

Specifically, she stated that the teachers' association has set forth its own proposal for operating the schools under the existing financial constraints.

That proposal calls for the board of education to continue to operate the district "with no reduction in present program, staff, supplies, materials, equipment and maintenance for as long as the district is financially able."

In other words, she proposed that no cutbacks whatsoever be implemented and that all programs instead of cutting back on supplies and allowing our buildings to fall down."

"When the money runs out, the money runs out," she said. "We'll just have to close down the schools when there isn't any money left."

Ms. van Leuwen said the proposal was made because the proposed course of action is "ridiculous."

"The proposed cutbacks would make our reading support program completely unviable," she said. "We're talking about eliminating 43 teachers and 40 support staff."

"We're nickle and dimeing the educational program to death. The only result will be educational malnutrition."

Rusty water checked the system. The water study report is expected to be ready by June 1, according to city officials.

The A-O residents who attended last week's council meeting said Hall, who lives in their subdivision, told them that the filtration system does not always function adequately.

Mayor Gaspare LaMarca met with the A-O residents for 15 minutes before last week's council meeting and suggested that the city may reduce quarterly water billings by one-third to make up for the month of rusty water. The residents said they would view the rebate as a form of appeasement and urged the city to find a solution to the problem.

When the mayor took his rebate suggestion to the council, though, City Manager Peter Parker proposed that the matter should be turned over to the city attorney's office to determine whether the city can reduce the water bills and, if so, the proper procedure for making the adjustment.

After the A-O residents left last week's session, Councilman Walter Lewandowski said the city would be careful when it considers a rebate on water bills for subdivision residents.

Area Police Blotters

Stolen car found submerged in golf course pond

In Wixom

Sunday morning golf games were interrupted on the Hickory Hills links with the discovery of a submerged vehicle in the pond of the Wixom course.

Tire tracks in the turf led to the discovery of the totally submerged vehicle reportedly stolen earlier from Wolverine Lake Village.

Divers from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department located the car in the murky waters of the deep end of the pond and attached tow lines. The doors and the windows of the car were found open with the keys still in the ignition.

Police theorize the car was ditched sometime early Sunday morning.

Although the family dog was at large in a home on Loon Lake Road, thieves managed to work their way around the animal and help themselves to several antiques contained in the home.

In the Saturday breaking and entering incident, unknown parties walked off with nearly 700 worth of collectors' items. The owner reported an antique fluting iron, flat iron, and oil lamp were taken along with an unusual wood storage cabinet.

A traffic incident apparently led to a verbal confrontation between two drivers and wound up with one of the men involved being knifed.

Although no warrants have yet been issued, Wixom Police are continuing their investigation of the incident. Their reports indicate one driver failed to heed a stop sign at Beck Road and West Maple. In so doing, he cut in front of another car almost causing a collision.

The cars continued north on Beck Road where both drivers pulled into the Maple North complex. According to police, the hassle began with one driver calling the other foul names and further commenting on his driving ability.

As the two approached each other, one reportedly drew a knife and slashed at the other. That man sustained a cut to his left forearm. As he turned to escape the assault, police reports indicate he was slashed an additional three times as evidenced by the marks that were left on the jacket he was wearing.

When several weeks passed and the tape recorder did not appear the owner noticed other items also were gone. Police reported those included 10 charms from jewelry worth an estimated $50, an Elgin watch valued

In Novi

Police reported that more than $1,400 in goods were stolen from a home on Rockledge, but the owner of the home was unsure as to when the theft occurred.

Speedway service station employees reported the theft of $81 to Novi police last week.

Attendants of the gas station told police they suspect the money was taken by a man who had been allowed to wait inside the gas station for a ride to pick him up there.

The man reportedly was loitering in front of the gas station and told the attendants he was waiting for a ride. They told him he could wait inside to keep warm.

He then asked whether he could sit at about $800 and the tape recorder worth an estimated $100.

The complainant told police the garage door to the home was left unlocked.

When the gas station was closing for the night the man was told he would have to leave. He then ran across the street to where the same blue car was parked, according to reports.

As they were counting the money in the cash drawer, the employees noticed $81 was missing.

Police reported the suspect is a Mexican male about six feet tall and weighing 170 pounds. He was described as having black shoulder length hair and being 19 to 20 years old.

Motorist hits deer near Twelve Oaks

As Robert Denbo drove his truck along the deserted eastbound I-96 expressway in Novi last Saturday (before dawn), the last thing on his mind was having an accident.

He was driving the stretch between Novi Road and Meadowbrook when three deer stepped onto the dark highway.

"I tried to swerve, and two of the deer ran out of the way," Denbo said. "But the third deer lagged about 25 feet behind the others, and my truck hit her."

Denbo, a Northville resident, was not hurt in the 4 a.m. crash. But the impact caused more than $500 worth of damage. Denbo's truck which belonged to his Novi employer, Michigan Tractor Co.

When State Police arrived, the doe was dead on the shoulder of the expressway. She had been slow to run, Denbo said, because she was pregnant with two fawns.

Car and deer accidents are relatively rare in this area, but they do occur, said David Arnold, biologist with the State Department of Natural Resources.

"The problem for drivers is that they may see one deer, but suddenly there are two or three on the road," he said. "It may be impossible to avoid hitting all of them."

Arnold said that deer often move around during the spring months as the foliage changes.

Basically nocturnal creatures, deer travel most often just before sunrise or two hours after sunset, Arnold added.

Novi seeks volunteers to clean local roadsides

With spring comes spring cleaning and Novi residents are being asked to participate in a roadside clean-up this Saturday.

The city is seeking volunteers to clean the roadside of major thoroughfares and county roads. Interested citizens are asked to meet at the UAW Local 36 Union Hall, 2970 Wixom Road, where plastic trash bags will be issued.

There also will be soft drinks supplied by the UAW Local 36 for those who work up a thirst while cleaning the roadsides.

The clean-up is part of the statewide effort known as Operation Cleansweep. The goal of the program is to mobilize thousands of citizens across the state in a unified effort to clean-up Michigan and rid the state of left over "throwaways" and other debris that has accumulated over the years.

Novi is working with the City of Wixom, the UAW Local 36 and the Oakland County Road Commission to clean up the streets in this area.

The road commission has committed itself to collecting the trash picked up by the residents. City officials said they first anticipated using local Department of Public Works employees on overtime to complete the project, but that may no longer be necessary with the help from Oakland County.

If there is a good turnout by residents it is likely no one will be tied up cleaning the roadsides longer than three hours, city officials indicated.

"We should be able to get a lot accomplished if we have enough volunteers," said Robert Shaw, department of public works director.

City officials have approached local civic clubs and homeowners associations in an attempt to receive additional help for the clean-up.

Residents are asked to meet at the Union Hall on Wixom Road at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 12. More specific directions will be given at the union hall.

Operation Cleansweep has been promoted by environmentalists, conservation groups and consumer groups, as well as labor unions and governmental agencies.

Kick-off dance, Youth Day

Wixom revives 2 traditions for Michigan Week

The revival of two favorite events will mark this year's celebration of Michigan Week in Wixom. The week-long series of programs set to begin on Friday, May 18, coincides with the state-wide celebration.

Consistent in their support of Michigan Week since its inception over 25 years ago, Wixom residents have missed only once in planning for the popular celebration.

Chaired this year by Linda Carr and Doris Olschefski, the first revival to mark the week is a kick-off dance on Friday night at the V.F.W. The Wixom Goodfellows and the Wixom CB Club have joined forces to sponsor the evening.

Featuring the "Soft Touch," dancing hours are from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m. A BYOB event, the Goodfellow tradition from past dances will find set-ups, snacks and beer provided. Tickets are a nominal donation price of $2.50 per person and are available from any member of the sponsoring groups.

Lucky ticket holders will share in CB equipment offered by the Wixom CB club as well as door prizes. Special desserts, freshly made by Wixom's finest cooks also will be offered during the evening.

Tradition is carried on with the Wixom Parks and Recreation Commission's annual Youth Day celebration planned for Saturday, May 19, on the grounds surrounding city hall.

Ever popular, kids of all ages are invited to join in the fun from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be a yo-yo contest, sack competitions, water balloon toss, a frisbee contest and a skateboard contest. Participants must bring their own yo-yoes, frisbees and skateboards.

The most freckles and the curliest hair contests as well as a "guess the right number" — win all the gumballs! contest are just a few of the fun events geared to the youth of the community.

Prizes galore, clowns, and inflation crushing prizes of ten cents for hot dogs and five cents for Cokes mark the day.

A full day of activities including an official dinner in the evening are slated for Monday, May 21, as the city hosts visiting officials from Milan for the annual Mayor's Exchange Day.

A tour of the Ford Motor complex and the Southwest Vocational Education Center are included in the day's activities meant to introduce the mayor of Milan and accompanying council people to the area. Mayor Lillian Spencer and part of the Wixom city council will journey to Milan for similar activities.

The Friends of the Wixom Library will again host activities geared to the senior citizens of the city in a specially designed program on Tuesday at city hall. The Walled Lake Senior Citizens Band, the "Gramma's and the Grappa's" will be on hand to provide entertainment at the tea.

The Finnish Summer Camp Association will host the revival of another popular event, the Ladies potluck luncheon, on Heritage Day, May 24.

All ladies of Wixom are invited to the Finnish clubroom for the luncheon at noon. Tradition again states that luncheon-goers bring their own place setting of plate and silverware, a dish to serve 10 people, and a friend.

Planned by Norma Demberger and Sharon Junnola, activities include a special program at 2:30 p.m. by the Walled Lake Players — vaudeville and amateur theatrics at its finest.

Warrior harriers rally, stay undefeated

By REID CREAGER

John Fundukian's Walled Lake Western track team is rapidly becoming a force to contend with in the Western Six conference.

The Warrior harriers kept their recent string of impressive outings alive Thursday, coming on strong at the end of a dual meet with tough Livonia Churchill to gain a 96-66 tie.

"With the stalemate, Western remains undefeated this season in four dual meets. It has won three times.

Coach Fundukian was impressed with many aspects of his team's performance last week, and he had every right to be. In gaining the tie with Churchill, the Warriors battled on even terms with last year's Western Six champions.

The manager in which they did it was equally encouraging. Trailing by a score of 65-53 in the late stages of the meet, Western rallied for eight crucial points in the pole vault and then won the mile relay to catch Churchill in dramatic fashion.

Most impressive for Fundukian and Company, however, was the depth that was demonstrated in Thursday's thriller.

"I was really happy with the overall team balance and depth that the team showed," Fundukian reported. "I think Churchill figured we had a weak spot, and they kept looking for it. But they never found one."

In what Fundukian termed "an exciting and very competitive exhibition of boys' track," each squad rang up eight first-place finishes. Bad weather conditions prevented either team from performing like they had hoped, but their ability didn't subtract from the excitement of the meet.

The Warrior firsts were highlighted by the performance of Tom Plautz, a freshman who surprised all by winning the long jump competition. Plautz reached a distance of 18 feet, four and a quarter inches in finishing on top.

Six other Warriors ended the afternoon with one first apiece. Dale Keener won the high hurdles event, finishing in 16.4 seconds. Another consistent performer for Western, miler John Yuhn, took his event with a time of 4:47.

In the quarter-mile, the Warriors packed a potent one-two punch as John Meyer and Will Libby finished first and second, respectively. Meyer turned in a time of :53.5, and Libby finished at :54.3.

Libby completed the 800 run by finishing a notch higher, winning with a 2:06.3 time. His first-place effort was matched by teammate Andy Juszczyk in the 330 intermediate hurdles, as he clocked in at 4:17.

In the all-important pole vaulting competition, the Western combination of Jack Conley and Frank Tozzi saved the day. Conley finished first with a height of 12 feet, and Tozzi gained runner-up status on the strength of a 10-foot jump.

The only Western first-place team performance was attained in the mile relay, as the unit of Meyer, Libby, John McCormick and Rick Spher combined to finish number one with a time of 3:42.5 that clinched the tie.

"It was an excellent team effort," Fundukian noted. "The kids really put out. I hope we can just keep getting better."

John McCormick shines for Western

Wildcat nine drops two of three

The Wildcat baseball team maintained its position in the thick of the league title race by downing Chelsea 4-3 Friday, behind the three-hit pitching of Dan Bunker.

Novi, now 3-3 in the conference and 4-0 overall, jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead in the first inning. Keith Crossin, Jeff Laverty and Bob McCallister all walked to load the bases. Jeff Ford then pitched a double that brought home two runs. A double play ball and a pop fly ended the inning for the Wildcats.

In the second inning, catcher Ken Blevins walked, advanced to second on a throwing error, went to third on a wild pitch by the Chelsea pitcher, and came home on a suicide squeeze bunt by Crossin.

In Chelsea's turn at the plate, Bunker gave up four straight walks. Those, plus a sacrifice fly, gave the Chelsea team two runs and cut the Wildcat lead to 2-2. Chelsea tied it in the fifth when the novice committed an error to put a man on second, and Bunker surrendered a long double.

In the seventh, Mike Shingler singled to lead off the inning and Bill Bishop rapped a line shot into center field for another single, leaving men on first and second. McCallister walked to load the bases and on a two-out, two-strike pitch, Ford sent a screamer down the third base line for a hit and the winning RBI.

The win leaves the Wildcats in fifth place in the Southeast Conference, behind Brighton at 6-1, Saline at 5-1, Milan at 3-2 and Dexter at 1-4. Novi is ahead of Chelsea, who is now 2-3, South Lyon at 2-6 and Lincoln at 1-6.

Earlier in the week, the going was even rougher for the Novi squad as they dropped two games, one to Dexter and the other to Saline.

Against Dexter, the Wildcats came up on the wrong end of a 10-6 score. "We beat ourselves," Coach Bob Weinburger said.

In the first inning, Novi again jumped out to a 2-0 lead, as Bishop knocked in Laverty and Brent Gross. In the third, three hits and a Dexter error combined to give the Wildcats a 2-2 lead. Shingler and Bishop both doubled to knock in Laverty, Charles Curry and Ford. But the lead didn't last as the Dreadnaughts bombed four Novi pitchers.

Bishop started the game and went four innings. But he tired and gave way to Bob Dranglins in the fifth. Dranglins was the losing pitcher as Dexter scored the winning run off of him. Laverty and Bill McCauley mopped up the last two innings.

On Wednesday, the Wildcats looked horns with Saline, but the Novi team again came up on the wrong side of the score, losing 8-2.

Laverty, who tossed a one-hit shutout his last time out, got rocked from the start. In the second inning, Saline got five straight hits off of him. The score after the end of two innings was 5-0 in favor of Saline.

Central's Scott Boone leads netters to split

The Walled Lake Central netters of John Shadford came back down to earth April 30.

After winning two of their first three matches — with the only loss being a 4-3 loss to Walled Lake Western that could have gone either way — the Vikings were blasted by a powerful Livonia Stevenson squad, succumbing by a 6-1 score.

The loss was a disappointment to Coach Shadford, who admitted afterward that "we're not quite the tennis team I thought we were."

However, Central got right back on the winning track two days later with a 5-3 victory over Pontiac Northern, lending hope that Tuesday's whitewash was a one-day occurrence.

In the Stevenson defeat, only a fine performance by Central's Scott Boone prevented the Vikings from being shut out. The number four singles man won in straight sets, claiming 6-3 and 7-6 victories to interrupt the Stevenson dominance.

Otherwise, the news wasn't too good for the locals. First singles player Rod Kamenoff was dumped by 6-4 and 6-1 tallies; Doug Gruber gave it a real battle before falling by 7-5, 2-6 and 5-7 counts in second singles; and third singles man Ray Ejujs was eaten up twice, 6-0 and 6-0.

In doubles, the Central number two duo of Eric Paine and Bill Patrick also got a taste of some goose eggs. They went down by identical six-zip scores, while the first doubles team of Curt Burstein and Tom Ptas lost, 6-8 and 6-1. The rout was complete when Greg Boone and Imants Ejujs fell twice by 6-2 scores in third doubles.

With that forgettable performance behind them, the Vikings gained a measure of revenge Thursday with their 5-2 conquest of Northern. In that win, Viking singles men took three out of four matches, while the doubles tandems were victorious twice in three tries.

Kamenoff got back in the groove in first singles, claiming a pair of 6-3 wins to set the pace. Then Gruber also came back in second singles, winning by 6-2 and 6-1 scores.

Ray Ejujs continued to struggle, dropping contests by 6-3 and 6-2 counts in third singles, before Scott Boone made it two fine efforts for the week with easy 6-1 and 6-0 triumphs in fourth singles.

In doubles action, Burstein and Phelps rebounded, too. They had an easy time posting 6-1 and 6-2 victories as Central's number one pairing.

However, Imants Ejujs and Patrick couldn't quite pull one off in second doubles, losing by scores of 2-6, 6-3 and 1-4. Greg Boone and Jim Chinarian then posted 6-1 and 6-0 wins in third doubles.

The Vikings were scheduled to play Milford, Lakeland at Milford Thursday, but that encounter was washed out. It has not yet been rescheduled. Central stands at 3-2 right now.

Central harriers fall again

The Walled Lake Central boys' track team fell to an 0-4 record in dual meets after last week's action, but Coach Dick Woodworth isn't pressing any panic buttons yet.

Woodworth's harriers dropped a 70-82 verdict to Farmington Tuesday in their latest setback; but the decision was much closer than the squad had experienced in previous losses. And, according to Woodworth, that's an encouraging sign.

"The boys are picking up," he commented. "After all the bad weather we've had, plus the Easter vacation, we're finally starting to get in shape a little."

"If they hadn't swept all 18 points in the discus and pole vault," Woodworth noted, "it would have been our win instead of theirs. We just have to keep working."

Despite the loss, the Vikings still had eight individual first-place efforts. Jeff Detweiler and Randy Piotrowski won two events apiece to lead the way.

Incidentally, Detweiler wasn't alone in one of his victories. He tied for the best performance in the long jump with a leap of 19 feet, two inches. Detweiler won the 100-yard dash outright, though, turning in a time of 10.8 seconds.

For Piotrowski, his effort was just a matter of doing what comes naturally — and that's excelling in the half-mile and mile runs. He finished first in both of those events, ending the mile in 4:39 and clocking in at 2:04 in the half-mile.

Elsewhere, Chris Harrington and Doug Sheldon continued to look good for Woodworth. Harrington won the high jump with a six foot, two inch measurement, and Sheldon paced all high hurdlers by clocking in at 15.8 seconds.

The other two Central firsts came when David Oastyn, who's come on strong of late, took the 200-yard dash with a time of 24.3 seconds and Bob Slats grabbed top honors in the two-mile by finishing at 10:08.

One more Viking first took place that afternoon, and that was a relay triumph. Piotrowski, Harrington, Don Christensen and Hand Richardson collaborated in the mile relay, finishing at 3:46.

Pitchers surprise for Western nine

The Walled Lake Western baseball squad of Steve Demar is enjoying some excellent pitching right now, keeping the Warriors in most of their ballgames.
Now if the guys can just start hitting...

The Warriors split the two games they played last week, but the mound corps certainly couldn't be faulted in Western's loss. In fact, Western's pitching efforts represent somewhat of a surprise, since Coach Demar anticipated some difficulty with his throwers.

Last Wednesday against Plymouth Canton, for instance, the Warriors got a fine pitching effort from Ken Bennett — only to lose by a 5-0 score. Bennett and Canton ace Scott Dawson were hooked up in a classic pitchers' duel in that one until the fifth inning, when the Chiefs tallied three times. The winners then added two more in the sixth.

Even then, Bennett was hampered by a shaky Western outfield performance, which contributed greatly to the Canton cause. Bennett wasn't given the best of offensive support either, as his teammates managed just one hit — a line drive single by John Turner in the first inning.

Fortunately, Western was able to shrug that one off. After a cancellation against Northville Friday, the Warriors bats woke up somewhat in a 6-3 win over Farmington Harrison Monday.

Ladycat nine struggles through three defeats

Although it is called the mercy rule, the benefitting team members usually do not think of it as merciful. They think of it as humiliating.

The Novi softball team was the beneficiary twice last week, in both games of a doubleheader against Chelsea on May 4. The Wildcats lost 11-0 in the first game, and came right back to drop a 22-7 contest in the finale.

In the first game, Chelsea pitcher Beth Push fired a no-hitter in blanking the Novi squad. Only two Wildcats reached base, both on walks, and both were gunned down trying to steal second base.

Tracy Sobkow was the pitcher of record for Novi, giving up six hits, six walks, striking out two and giving up 11 runs. The Novi defense was a tad sloppy as they gave up seven errors in defense of Sobkow, and the Wildcat catcher gave up eight passed balls. Sobkow fired two wild pitches.

In the second game, Anne Robinson started on the mound for Novi, but her arm stiffened up after three and two-thirds innings. Sobkow came on in relief. Robinson gave up seven runs on four walks, and three hits. Sobkow surrendered 15 runs on nine walks and five hits.

"We had a real lack of concentration," Coach Jim Tinsley said. "It was due to the extremely cold weather and the fact that Push was pitching. She was really firing them in and not missing the plate either."

In the second game, Push relieved the Chelsea starter after Novi started scoring. Thereafter, Novi didn't get another hit.

"Their fielders didn't have a thing to worry about," Tinsley said. "With Push pitching, they never got a chance to field a ball."

Earlier in the week, the Wildcats took on Dexter, losing to the Bulldogs 28-8. Robinson started the game, but was injured in the first inning. Sobkow came in in relief with two outs and finished the game. She allowed the 28 runs by walking 27 batters. She also struck out six while giving up just six hits.

Heather Barr went three-for-three, including a run producing triple. She knocked in three of the Wildcat runs. Lori Georgio had two hits in five at bats to help the Novi cause.

The Wildcats collected the eight runs on 11 hits and didn't have an error. It wasn't all bad news for the Novi team. They also played Saline during the week and came away with a 7-4 win for their efforts. Robinson pitched seven innings, giving up five hits, striking out five and giving up six walks.

Sue Beale led the Wildcats, collecting two hits, while Sobkow, Robinson and Georgio had the other hits for Novi.

Ridenour, Johnston brighten Wildcat tracksters' outlook

Novi boys' track team rolled over a rock in the road to success but got swamped by a tidal wave from Ypsilanti later to complete last week's track action for the Wildcats.

On May 1, the Novi team buried Clarenceville 90-41, but traveled to Ypsilanti Lincoln two days later and got smashed 101-31. Against Clarenceville, Dwayne Ridenour and Jeff Johnston led the Wildcat charge as each placed in three events.

Johnston captured first places in the mile, the two-mile run and the 800-yard dash. His times were 4:54, 10:43 and 2:10, respectively.

Ridenour took the shot put with a toss of 42-feet-1/4 and the discus, heaving it 125-feet. He also came in second in the high jump, reaching a height of 55-feet-4.

Pat Dudley and Tim Smith also added to the Novi cause. Smith copped four second place finishes while Dudley added three firsts and a second.

Smith came in second in the shot put behind Ridenour, with a toss of 35-feet-9/16, the 120-yard high hurdles in a time of 1:18.9, the 330-yard hurdles with a time of 4:27.2 and in the pole vault, going 9-feet-6.

Dudley took the 100-yard dash in 1:11.1, and helped the 800-yard relay team to a first place finish. He also came in second in the 220-yard dash, finishing with a time of 2:26.1.

The mile relay team of Tim Morris, Glen Caudell, Bruce Russell and Chris Caudell came in at 3:57.5, also good for a first.

In the 120-yard high hurdles, Mike Han walked the tape in 1:18.3 for first and in the 330-yard hurdles with a time of 4:45.0, also good for first.

The 800-yard relay team of Jeff Bolk, Mark Wroten, Mickey Gopigan and Dudley blistered the track in 1:43.4 for first. Gopigan also took a first in the pole vault, reaching 9-feet-6.

Tim Morris broke the tape for first in the 400-yard dash, bursting in at 1:56.2, while Glen Caudell came in third, going 3:57.8. Against Ypsilanti Lincoln, Johnston was again the big gun for the Wildcats.

The senior took honors in both the mile and two-mile run, recording times of 4:43 and 10:14, respectively. Ridenour copped a third in the discus, sending it out 113-feet from base, and a second in the shot put, tossing it 41 feet-8 1/2.

Morris came in third in the 440-yard dash, with a time of 56.9, and Dudley captured second place in the 100-yard dash, clocking in at 1:11.5.

In the pole vault, Smith took second, going 10 feet, followed by Gopigan, who also lofted to 10-feet.

The 440-yard relay unit of Gopigan, Wroten, Bolek and Dudley finished up for the Wildcats, captured first in 4:39.9.

In other track news, a contingent of Novi tracksters traveled to the Howell relays Saturday but only two athletes came away with points.

Johnston won the two-mile event running a 9:53.8 time and Dwayne Ridenour the high jump with a leap of 5-feet-10. The Wildcats are in action at home this week, tangling with South Lyon on Thursday.

The bats are silent for the Walled Lake Central baseball team right now — and, consequently, so is the squad.

The Vikings were successful just once in three tries last week, scoring just two runs in each of their outings. Ironically, things started off well for Ken Butler's crew, as it rung up a 7-2 triumph over Pontiac Northern last Wednesday. Central scored early in that one to make a winner out of John Coder.

On Friday, two runs weren't enough, however. The Vikings fell by a 3-2 count against Milford Lakeland that day in a crucial league game, as pitcher-outfielder Bob Burnmeister's record dipped to 1-1. Butler termed that one "just a real good, close ballgame that we ended up on the wrong end of."

Monday was another matter, however. Farmington crushed the locals 12-2 in that one, wiping out an early 1-0 Central advantage. Coder was coasting along with that lead in the Farmington third, when the winners had two out and a runner on third base.

However, an easy pop fly — which should have ended the inning — was then lost in the sun, scoring the tying run and leading to six others before the nightmarish frame had come to a close.

Coder's 1979 record dropped to 1-2 with the defeat, another crushing league setback. The Vikings are now just 1-3 in the Inter-Lakes conference and 1-5 overall.

"We just can't seem to hit the ball," Butler lamented. "We've got to get our offense going in order to start winning ball games."

Western netters keep on streaking

It had to happen sometime. The Walled Lake Western tennis team has finally left the ranks of the "underdog" — but not without a struggle. The Warriors fell by a 4-3 count Friday, as Northville pinned Noah Gregory's netmen with their initial 1979 setback. "We've won a lot of four-three games," Gregory noted. "You can't win all the close ones. The bubble had to burst sometime."

The bubble didn't burst, however, until Western had added two more entries into the win column. As it turned out, the Warriors still enjoyed a successful week after disposing of Plymouth Canton Wednesday, 4-3, and routing Livonia Churchill the next day by a 6-1 score.

In the triumph over Canton, Gregory's doubles partner once again made the difference. All three of the Western duos were winners, while only Doug Poland was able to secure a victory for the Warriors in singles competition. Poland lost his first set by a 6-2 score, but came back with 7-5 and 6-2 wins to emerge triumphant in first singles.

In second singles, Wayne Glessner fell in the only one-sided one-on-one match of the day. Glessner lost by 6-0 and 6-1 scores. Jay Campana grabbed the advantage with a 6-2 first-set win in third singles, but lost by 6-4 tallies in the next two sets and Stu Chura was defeated to the tune of 6-2 and 7-6 in fourth singles.

The wins kept coming in doubles, though. Western's potent pair of Mike Draheim and Bryant kept on smacking in first doubles with 6-3 and 6-1 conquests, keeping the Warrior doubles teams undefeated at that time.

But victory didn't come nearly as easily for the second and third doubles teams. Both had to come back after losing their first sets. In second doubles, Jeff Chura and Brent Taylor rebounded from a 6-3 loss in game one, capturing 7-6 and 6-1 tallies to close out their win. Mike Sacco and Larry Garza then lost their first set of the season, 6-1, before grabbing a pair of 6-4 victories and their match.

Thursday's triumph over Churchill might have been a whitewash job, had it not been for the absence of Glessner. Tim Green took his place in second singles and dropped two hard-fought 6-4 sets, but that took nothing away from a very fine afternoon of tennis by Gregory's squad.

The other Western singles players not only won, they won big. Poland sailed to 6-1 and 6-2 straight-set triumphs. Campana rode to a couple of 6-0 laurels and Stu Chura rounded out the singles action with two 6-2 wins.

Draheim and Bryant got off to a slow start in doubles, losing their first game by a 6-3 count, but came back for 6-4 and 6-2 victories. After that, the Warriors didn't lose another set. Jeff Chura and Taylor won by 6-2 and 6-3 scores, and Sacco and Garza were victorious by 6-4 and 6-0 tallies.

In Friday's first loss, the Warriors actually lost to be in pretty good shape after the singles competition. Western's Campana won by 6-2 and 7-5 scores in singles, meaning that the Warrior doubles teams needed "only" one win all of their matches for the locals to emerge a 4-3 winner.

With the way Gregory's doubles crew had been going — sporting an undefeated record up to that point — that feat didn't seem impossible to accomplish. But Western's luck finally gave out when Sacco and Garza were beaten in three sets, 5-7, 6-4 and 3-6.

Hensel leads the way for Novi girl harriers

It was the best of times and it was the worst of times for Novi track coach Gene Gutierrez.

His Ladycats had two meets this week and experienced the sensations at both ends of the track spectrum.

They hosted Clarenceville on May 1 and destroyed the visitors 79-44, but traveled to Northville for a triangular meet with the Mustangs and visiting Redford Thurston Friday, and came out on the losing end with only 28 points to Northville's 56 and Thurston's 60.

At Northville last Friday, Ginger Hensel carried the load for the Wildcats as she took a first in the high jump and helped the Novi 880-yard relay team to a first place finish and the mile relay team to a second place finish.

Hensel won the high jump with ease as she sailed to a height of five feet. She helped the 880-yard relay team to a first place finish and a 2:04 time.

Ann Mackay placed second in the high jump behind Northville's Lissa Carter with a leap of 15-feet-5. Mackay also placed in the 100-yard dash, taking a third with a time of 12.6.

Melissa Hammond clinched a third place with an 18.3 time in the 100-yard hurdles and a fourth place in the 220-yard hurdles with a time of 38.11.

Against Clarenceville it was a different story.

Dena Christman got the Wildcats off to a booming start by tossing the discus 66-feet-3, good for first. In the high jump, Hensel and Cindy Iban went 4-4, with Hensel going 5-feet-2 and Iban 4-feet-8.

Ann Mackay came in second in the long jump, sailing 14-feet-8 1/2, while Carrie Wastelowski took the honors at third place, traveling 12-feet-10.

Holly Johnson put the shot 24-feet-10 1/2 for second place, with Mackay coming in third with a toss of 24-feet-7 1/2.

In the 110-yard low hurdles, Hensel ate the competition up, blazing across the finish line with a time of 18.3, while Mackay took second in 1:18.3. Natalie Colliu finished third in a time of 21.5.

In the mile run, Ann Prine slashed the winners tape at the finish, clocking in at 6:25. Hammond took the honors at second place, recording a time of 6:31.

Iban took a third in the 100-yard dash, coming home in 13.0. Wastelowski took second in 1:07.9 and Paula Dobransky chalked up third place in 1:10.4.

The 880-yard relay team took first in 2:04.7 while the 440-yard relay team of Iban, Yvonne Crawford, Mary Robinson and Mackay took first with a time of 57.7.

Janice Petriken broke the tape in the 800-yard dash, recording a time of 2:59.2 with Margie Rentner coming in third at 3:09. Ann Prine was a double winner, taking the honors in the two-mile run in 14:14.4 with Colliu third in 15:38.8.

Wastelowski took second place honors in the 220-yard dash, running a time of 30.3.

The mile relay squad of Wastelowski, Lisa Anthony, Hensel and Jill Giola, came in first with a time of 4:54.1.

Bats help girl Viking nine to blast two opponents

Look out, area softball foes — The Walled Lake Central bats are alive.

The Vikings of Nancy Smith scored 41 runs in two victories last week, besting Pontiac Northern 24-8 Wednesday and winning by a 17-10 count Friday over Lakeland.

Central then dropped a 15-5 decision to Farmington Monday.

In the rout of Northern, Central fanned eight times in the second inning and added 12 in the sixth. The win over Lakeland was a bit tougher to come by, however, as the winners rallied from a 4-5 deficit. The Vikings scored eight times in the sixth inning to make a winner out of Johnna Drost (2-0). Drost also won against Northern Central's offense, which was responsible for 11 stolen bases, was led by Sue Austin's two-run triple.

Smith's run machine has now averaged 3.68 at the plate through six games. The Vikings are also scoring at a rate of 12 runs per outing, and Smith says the team is playing good defense.

However, the team has had pitching trouble, which has cost them in all of their setbacks thus far. Central's record stands at 3-3, and 2-2 in Inter-Lakes Conference action.

"If our pitching would come around, we'd be a much tougher team," Smith said. "Obviously, we score enough runs most of the time to keep us in ballgames. We can only hope that the pitching will improve for us as the season wears on."

D'Marlin & Oleg Cassini Co-ordinate Carpets (A marriage made in heaven!)

D'Marlin presents the one & only, totally co-ordinated line in carpeting. A TOTALLY CO-ORDINATED LINE, YOU SAY?

"Let us put it this way," states Oleg. "If we had a 100 room mansion to carpet (only heaven knows...) we could start with any one of the Cassini styles (stripes, sculptured and plushes) in the center and work out in all 4 directions, never repeating but always color co-ordinating. And still have enough left for a total change of heart (heaven forbid)."

Yuhn, Murphy hot; Western triumphs

The Walled Lake Western girls' track team got the month of May off to a good start last week, and the result was its first dual meet victory of the spring season.

The Warriors trounced Plymouth Salem by an 87-55 score May 1, and the win was a success not only for the team, but for several individuals as well.

No less than 12 first-place efforts were rung up by Western in the Salem meet. Judy Yuhn, Connie Murphy and Cathy Van Putten led the way with two individual firsts apiece, and three Western relay teams were triumphant also.

Yuhn led the field in both the mile and 800-yard runs. Her time in the mile event was 5:47.9, and she clocked in at 2:25.6 in the 800. For Murphy, the wins came in the 110 and 200 hurdles, as she posted times of 15.9 and 31.9, respectively. Van Putten won the 100 and 200-yard dash events, taking the shorter course in 12.1 and the latter in 27.8.

Western girls also finished one-two in the long jump. Janet Wilson's 15-foot leap led all the rest and Sandy Dixon reached 14 feet, 15 1/2 inches.

Yet another personal best was recorded by Western in the discus throw. Babette Nissen finished first with a throw of 101 feet, six inches. Karen Duskey was runner-up at 86 feet, five inches.

Wilson, in addition to her first-place long-jumping effort, had two runner-up efforts against the boys' team in the 110 and 200 hurdles. In the 110, she posted a time of 15.9, and in the 200, she clocked in at 31.9.

On May 1, the Wildcats took on Brighton and came away a 4-3 victor. All the singles slots won their matches for Novi as Ted Wrobel, John DeBrule, Mike Rice and Anderson and Rob McPherson all beat their opponents.

The doubles department didn't fare as well, as all three pairs lost to the Brighton doubles.

Against Saline McPherson won at the fourth singles slot and the last doubles team of Kent Kratz and Greg McComas beat their foes. The rest of the Wildcat contingent went down to defeat.

Things got a little better, but not much, as Howell took a 4-3 win over Novi May 3. DeBrule lost at first singles, but Anderson, Mike Rice and McPherson all won their matches.

The doubles teams had problems again, however, as they all lost to their Howell opponents.

Against Chelsea on May 4, the Wildcats bounced back for a 6-1 win, as everyone but DeBrule managed to win. Anderson, Rice and McPherson all tagged singles victories, while the doubles teams of Paul Disher, McComas and Dean Marshall, and Kratz and Sheri Alexander all won.

Wildcat net squad splits four outings

The Novi tennis team had a busy week, playing three scheduled contests and plugging in a make-up game that had been rained out earlier in the season.

On May 1, the Wildcats took on Brighton and came away a 4-3 victor. All the singles slots won their matches for Novi as Ted Wrobel, John DeBrule, Mike Rice and Anderson and Rob McPherson all beat their opponents.

INSTALLING A FENCE? BE SMART!! BUY OUR NORTHERN WHITE CEDAR FENCE

Invest your money and hard work in Habitant Northern White Cedar Fence — a fence that will last 7 times as long as ordinary White Spruce Fence. Cedar Fence is NATURALLY preserved against rot by the chemicals inherent in the wood!

MORE GOOD NEWS! Our Cedar Stockade fence items cost only a little bit more than ordinary Spruce Fence. When you invest in Cedar you obtain tremendous additional value for each of your hard earned dollars.

CHECK OUR LOW PRICES ON White Cedar Post & Rail styles as well as our 42" Cape Cod spaced picket.

YOU CAN HAVE THE BEST FOR LESS!!!
*Source—Forest Service U.S. Dept. of Agriculture

HABITANT INDIAN RIVER STOCKADE $25.95
A pleasing blend of urban sophistication and rich natural beauty. All pickets are uniform in size and milled to a smooth, silver free surface. The tightly assembled pickets assure complete privacy and protection. Posts and rails are peeled to match the smooth perfection of the pickets.

HABITANT NANTUCKET TENON RAIL $9.95
Pleasingly simple in design, and amazingly inexpensive, this Sunranch style complements the personality of traditional or contemporary homes alike. Its quality features include extra heavy full-round rails, drilled posts and large, sturdy tenons for strength and durability.

HABITANT CAPE COD PICKET $13.95
This variation of a favorite style is more contemporary in appearance, yet needs no paint or maintenance. The Michigan White Cedar weathers to silver grey further enhancing its neat good looks. Construction features are identical to our spaced picket fence, except that the equally-spaced pickets are milled smooth. Popular heights.

HABITANT CONCORD SPACED STOCKADE $19.95
This graceful fence adds a note of charm to any home. The top rail ends display the rich, heavy heart wood. Mortised posts are classic examples of Early American fence-building. The extra-heavy full-round rails adjust to fit uneven ground lines.

HABITANT BAR HARBOR LAP RAIL $15.45
This variation of a favorite style is more contemporary in appearance, yet needs no paint or maintenance. The Michigan White Cedar weathers to silver grey further enhancing its neat good looks. Construction features are identical to our spaced picket fence, except that the equally-spaced pickets are milled smooth. Popular heights.

Harris leads Central harriers to dual win over Farmington

It was one of those Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde weeks for the Walled Lake Central girls' track team. The troops of Dave Flammer got the week underway in impressive fashion Tuesday, pasting Farmington in a dual meet by an 83-40 score. Unfortunately, however, the week didn't end there. Just two days later, Central showed its other side, the other end of the score, suffering a 104-19 setback at the hands of Livonia Stevenson.

Consequently, the obvious question was put to Flammer: What happened?

"Stevenson's just out of our league at this time," the Viking coach said. "They have a lot more depth than we do. They're a bigger school, besides. We always have trouble scoring points against them."

Despite the Stevenson setback, Flammer could take heart in his team's win over Farmington, plus the fact that the girls continued to show improvement. Standouts like Kathy Harris are beginning to show some consistency and others are making noticeable strides.

In the win over Farmington, for example, Harris captured three first place finishes. The versatile performer led the 110-yard hurdler with a 16.3 time, paced the 440 dash with a 1:06.9 time and led all high jumpers with a five-foot, one-inch leap. Cheryl Griem was next in line for Central, accomplishing two firsts. Her 36.5 time in the 200 hurdles led the field, as did her 16-foot long jump effort.

Several other Central girls won events with Lori Moser taking the 100-yard dash in 12 seconds; Pam Smith, winning the 800 in 2:46; Barb Burke capturing the two-mile in 13:39; Liz Farr leading all shot-putters with a toss of 28 feet, three inches; and Kyle Galbraith heading the pack in the discus with an 84 foot, 2 1/2 inch heave.

The Viking girls also chalked up relay wins in the 440 and mile events. Moser, Galbraith, Donna Glennie and Ann Ingham teamed to win the 440 in 58 seconds, and Griem, Harris, Lori Bologna and Felicia Lambert joined for a winning time of 4:36 in the mile.

Against Stevenson, however, the heroines were few and far between. Harris stood out once more though, winning the high jump with a four foot, 10 inch leap and the 440 in 1:01.4. She also was second in the 110 hurdles, clocking in at 16.2. Smith was the only other point-getter for the locals in this one, finishing second in the 800 with a 2:46 time.

Central tried to ignore that outing Saturday and concentrate on improving in the West Bloomfield Relays, and that's just what it did. Harris' fifth-place effort in the high jump gained the Vikings their only two points of the day, as she reached five feet, one inch.

Warrior bats blaze in key victories

The fortunes of Nancy Komenga's Walled Lake Western softball team seem to be picking up. The Warriors won two of their three games last week, and had plenty of run production to back them up, scoring 39 runs. Twenty-two of those tallies came in one contest.

That game took place last Tuesday as Komenga's squad rebounded from a 5-0 first-inning deficit en route to a wild 22-18 conquest of Livonia Churchill. Western scored eight second-inning runs on 10 walks and a single in that one to take the lead for good. As it turned out, however, the Warriors needed almost every run they got. Despite scoring five runs in the third inning, Western led then by just 13-11. But Western's winning pitcher, Jackie LaMotte, settled down at that point, blanking Churchill in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

In the meantime, the Warriors scored nine times, with six of those tallies coming in the fifth inning. That proved to be crucial later, when Churchill exploded for seven seventh-inning scores to girl Warriors countered with a big inning of their own, scoring six times in the fifth frame on the way to a 12-6 win over Northville. That outburst broke a 4-1 tie and handed the victory to Connie Sacco.

LaMotte, who had been salling along with a 4-2 lead until the Canton explosion, was tagged with the loss.

Friday, however, the

Wildcat of the Week

Novi trackster Ann Prine is a true winner. In her second year on the team, Prine comes off a not-to-be-forgotten campaign last year. Her inexperience and lack of physical ability hurt her. During the summer she decided to get serious about running and trained every day logging miles and miles of distance.

Now, it looks like her hard work has paid off. Coming off an Easter break that took her away from the team and consistent training, she ran in her first meet against Clarencville May 1 and swept both the mile and two-mile runs, recording times of 6:25 and 14:14.4, respectively.

Connector roadway will enhance uses at Brighton area park

By JOHN BECKETT

Like a fine wine, Brighton's Island Lake State Recreation Area just gets better with age.

And while extensive construction work at the state park may prove slightly irritating to park users this summer, the $1 million road and bridge building program now underway should make the 4,000-acre park an even more attractive spot by next summer.

Presently under construction at the park is a five-mile-long connector road and two bridges which, when completed, will link the area's two main recreational spots, the Kent and Island Lake beaches.

The road also may provide an opportunity for development of a third beach at a former gravel pit between the two lakes. Also planned along the road, according to John Winters, assistant park manager, are development of a large, modern campground, three parking lots and access points to the Huron River, which winds through the recreation area.

"The road is something which has been needed for a long time," Winters said. "Once it's opened, people can better utilize all the area within the system."

Planning for the construction project began one year ago. A contract for the bridge work was awarded late last year to Great Lakes Contracting, of Warren, which is to finish work on two bridges by November 1 of this year for a fee of $477,000. D. J. McQuinn and Sons, of Dearborn Heights, are handling the road work at a price of $508,025. Their work is to be finished by May 20, 1980.

Once completed, the road and bridge work will link what had been, in practical terms, two separate park operations.

All entry into both the Island and Kent Lake units then will be made at the present Kent Lake entry station, with one branch leading to the Kent beach and the other dipping underneath Kensington Road, then meandering through the recreation area for about five miles to Island Lake.

The present Island Lake entrance on Academy Drive will be closed when the new road opens, park officials say.

The new alignment will allow park officials to consolidate fee collection and bookkeeping at one entry station, according to George Wolborn, park manager. It also will allow easier policing of the area, he said.

But the road project is more than an exercise in simplifying operations. It will open up more of the park lands to users and, as stated previously, may open the door for development of more recreational facilities in the interior of the recreation area.

That interior many years ago was a National Guard camp, according to Winters. When the Guard grew to large for the area and moved north to Grayling, the area became part of the Island Lake complex.

People often come to the area with metal detectors, searching for old shell casings, Winters said.

The Island Lake unit, which years ago was a resort area of great renown, also has a military history. During the Spanish American War, it was the location where Michigan troops gathered for the battle.

Later, Island Lake was owned by the Dodge brothers as Dodge Park Number One. When that use ceased, it was turned over to the state, Winters said.

Remainder of the Island Lake recreation area, including the Kent Lake unit for organizational use only, as well as picnic tables and grills, concessions and hiking trails.

In the winter, the park provides trails for snowmobiling and cross-country skiing. Also operated is a rustic cabin for groups of winter campers.

Last Memorial Day weekend, crowds of over 22,000 persons visited the Kent and Island Lake units, according to Winters.

On a typical June weekend last year, the assistant manager said, approximately 6,000 persons swarmed over beaches, picnic areas, canoe rentals and softball fields.

Winters expects similar or higher attendance figures this year, another reason he welcomes the road construction and the additional recreational possibilities it may present.

"We get many inquiries about the road now," he said. "I think it's difficult for people to visualize how it's going to work. But I think it will be a welcome addition and I think it will make it much easier for people to utilize more of the area than they can now. We have a lot of land here without very good roads right now. This definitely will be an improvement."

Rub-a-dub dub three squash in a tub

This gardener's plot was too small to accommodate the spreading vines of winter squash. Solution? Plant three squash seeds in a 10-gallon tub and set it in an unused corner of his patio.

The squash tub made a great family project and conversation piece. By summer's end he had three fine Buttercup squash for winter storage.

The tub is a rigid wood fiber container purchased at a local nursery and filled with homemade compost. The tub can be reused and should shortly pay for itself in the value of the crop.

Other vining crops such as cucumbers and melons also grow well in tubs. Where space is at a premium plant bush varieties which develop very short runners.

Large vegetable plants don't like containers smaller than 3 gallons in size and do best in tubs or boxes holding 7 or more gallons of soil.

Park topic: wildflowers

"Spring Wildflowers" will be the main attraction during a special program to be conducted at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near New Hudson on Saturday, May 12 at 9 a.m.

Trilliums, violets and other beautiful wildflowers can be easily seen along the nature trails. Join naturalist Dave Mollan for a leisurely look at these spring bloomers and for a discussion of their identifying characteristics, life histories and their ecology.

Advance registration is required for this 2-hour program. Vehicle entry permits are required. (Annual: regular - $7, senior citizens - $2 or Daily - $2).

Painted face of the pansy blossoms

Pansies brave cold to provide warm show

Pansies can endure weather so cold and damp that gardening is impossible. For this reason, gardeners wait for the first dry day in early spring, rush out and "set in" a border of pansy plants or their first cousins, the violas.

And, wonder of wonders, the poor shivering little things bud and bloom despite light frosts, rain or snow showers.

What a cheerful sight to look out on a wet, dreary day and see pansies blooming before spring shrubs have begun to show off!

Pansies have fancy painted faces, violas do not. Pansies have large flowers, up to 3 inches in diameter during cool weather. Violas are slightly smaller.

Traditionally, pansies are massed in beds and violas are used in edgings. This custom makes sense when you see the lovely straight colors of violas: yellow, gold, violet, blue and white are favorites for edgings.

Pansy seeds for spring bloom are customarily started indoors in mid-winter and carefully "hardened off" by gradual exposure to the elements.

It's a much simpler matter to grow pansies for fall bloom because seeds can be sown directly in the garden during late summer.

When winter comes and pansies are long and extremely bitter, they will live over and bloom the following spring.

When a mower becomes clogged, turn off the machine and disconnect the spark plug wire or unplug an electric mower before you try to unclog it, Ms. Butler cautions.

Most accidents involving rotary mowers involve people getting their hands injured when trying to unclog the grass discharge opening.

"Turning the machine off is not enough," she says. "Moving the blades by hand could start the engine up again and set the blades twisting while your hands are still in there."

"If you use a riding mower or lawn and garden tractor, the greatest danger of injury occurs when you're getting on and off. It's easy for your foot to slide under the mowing deck and come in contact with the rotating blades. Unless your machine has a weight detection switch in the seat that disengages power to the blades, you must remember to cut power to the blades and turn off the engine before getting off."

When mowing a hillside with a riding mower, ride up and down the slope to avoid the possibility of tipping over sideways.

To prevent injury to bystanders while you're mowing, make sure there aren't any Ms. Butler advises. Clear children and pets out of the mowing area so they won't be hit by hurled objects. When you're operating a riding mower, look behind you every time before you back up to make sure there's no one there.

"No riders" is an excellent rule for riding lawn mowers and garden tractors," Ms. Butler notes.

The beginning of another lawn-mowing season means that lots of parents are going to be teaching their youngsters how to handle power lawn mowers. Nancy Butler, Washtenaw County Horticultural Assistant, suggests that parents begin by setting a good example of proper safety practices.

"Start the season by rereading your owner's manual," advises Ms. Butler. "Check your equipment to make sure all safety shields are in place and everything is operating OK."

The next step is proper fueling. Store fuel in a 26 gauge, red and labeled gasoline can - not in glass or plastic containers or cheap metal cans that can be easily punctured. Always fill the mower with gas before moving, while the engine is cool. Fuel away from any source of spark or flame. If refueling is necessary, take a break and allow the engine to cool off first. Always fuel and start small engines outdoors, rather than in a garage or basement where gas fumes and carbon monoxide would build up.

"Most lawn mower injuries occur when a hand or foot comes in contact with the rotating blades or a person is struck by an object thrown by the blades," Ms. Butler says.

To avoid injuries by thrown objects, remove wires, twigs, rocks and other debris before you begin to mow. Protect your feet with heavy shoes - mowing with bare feet or sandals or tennis shoes is asking for trouble. Wearing safety glasses to protect your eyes is also a good idea.

Keep your feet under you instead of under the mower by mowing only when the grass is dry. Wet grass is slippery, Ms. Butler points out, especially on hills. With a walking mower, mow across a slope rather than up and down, so that you don't slip into the mower. And push, never pull, the mower. If you slip and fall as you're pulling a mower toward you, you're likely to pull it over your feet.

When a mower becomes clogged, turn off the machine and disconnect the spark plug wire or unplug an electric mower before you try to unclog it, Ms. Butler cautions.

Mama's a sweet winner

Squash, Winter Storage
SWEET MAMA
Hybrid
All-America Selections
Bronze Medal 1979

Vegetable judges awarded "Sweet Mama" a medal because of its early maturity, handy sized fruits, good flavor and texture, and high production.

Fruits of "Sweet Mama" are ready to harvest about 35 days from planting - 36 days in cool climates. Drum shaped and dark green, they average two to three pounds in weight.

They should be harvested when the shell has hardened about 35 days from flower set, but before heavy freezes that could spoil the keeping qualities of the fruits.

Gardeners can control the size of "Sweet Mama" plants without reducing their yield. Watch them; nip off the ends of the runners when they reach about three feet in length.

The pruned plants will form a dense low bush about six feet across with the fruits concentrated near the center. Most plants will form two to three fruits.

Store winter squash in a dry area. Handle carefully to avoid bruising. Leave a two to three inch length of stem on the fruits and do not wash them before storing; gently rub off soil.

"Sweet Mama" fruits will keep for up to four months with no deterioration in their mild, delicious flavor and firm, medium-dry flesh. The moderately thick, orange meat is attractive when baked or steamed for pies. A halved fruit will make two hearty servings.

Delay planting seeds of "Sweet Mama" until the soil has warmed in the spring. Watch for the leafing-out of late starting trees; these rarely show green until frost danger is past. In the northern states, such as in Michigan, plants can be started indoors in peat pots three to four weeks prior to the average frost-free date.

Where summers are long, a second planting of "Sweet Mama" can be made in mid-summer so that maturity will coincide with cool fall weather attain maximum sweetness.

"Sweet Mama" shows field tolerance to fusarium wilt disease and squash borer damage.

If the tips of certain vines tend to wilt, trace back along the stem to see if a grub has injured the stem by boring. Split the stem carefully, remove the grub, mound up soil over the wound and moisten. Roots will form and the vine will recover.

Rose earns title

Queen of garden

There's no doubt about it. The most popular flower in all the world now, and for centuries past, is the rose - richly deserving the title: "Queen of the Garden."

Serious rose hobbyists find great satisfaction in all the ways their care can reward them with blooms, and many enjoyable hours can be spent with their plants. This is one of the benefits provided by rose - its quick response to attention it can receive.

But for many people the care which can be given to roses seems shrouded with mystery, and some hesitate to add the beauty to their yard or garden because of it.

During this "Year of the Rose" efforts are being made by a number of national organizations to ally those misgivings, and to demonstrate how easily the queen of flowers can be planted and cared for. Certainly there is knowledge and skill which can be acquired, but the enjoyment of roses does not depend on it.

The nurseries and garden centers and rose catalog people have the simple information any new rose gardener might need.

How is your pH?

Soil testing is garden aid

Having your soil tested is an easy, inexpensive way to determine the nutrient needs of your garden. In fact, it's about the only way to make sure you're adding enough nutrients in the right proportions for good plant growth and crop production.

Available phosphorus, potassium, calcium and magnesium are reported in pounds per acre. These are the basic plant nutrients. As a rule of thumb, phosphorus levels of less than 40 pounds per acre are very low. For vegetable gardening, 100-150 pounds per acre is desirable. An adequate potassium level for vegetables is 300-350 pounds per acre.

Magnesium is adequate at 75 pounds per acre in mineral soils. Calcium is almost always adequate in Michigan soils. Based on summary information, 50 percent of Michigan gardens can benefit from added phosphorus, 75 percent from added potassium and 11 percent from added magnesium.

Ewart says a good two- or four-tube, cool-white fluorescent fixture about eight inches above the plants is all that's needed. Sufficient light, a sterile, peat-lite growing medium, minimum night temperatures around 70 degrees F for germination and 60-65 degrees for growing should produce good results.

Spider Flower

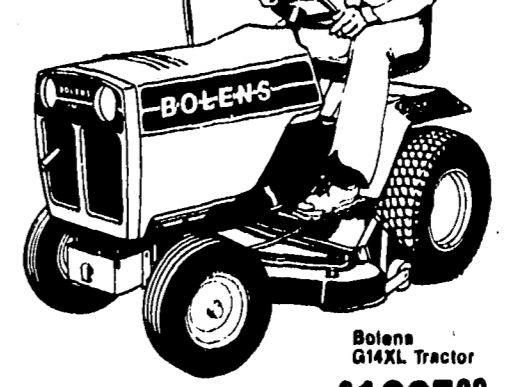

Meet the tall, lissome cleome. It is probably the most popular tall background flower in the USA and Canada. The flowering spikes of cleome are tipped with large fluffy clusters of blossoms. As the spikes lengthen, long delicate pods follow the blossoms and clothe the stems. Cleome comes in white, shrimp pink and purple straight colors and in mixtures. Standard varieties reach three feet in height where summers are short, up to five feet elsewhere. The structure and texture of cleome is open and airy. Cleome grows quickly and easily from seeds sown in full sun directly in the garden in mid to late summer. In short season areas, early indoor starting can add two or three weeks to the blooming span. Rain and wind don't seem to bother cleome and it is troubled by very few insects and diseases. By the way, "spider flowers" are named for their fancied resemblance to garden spiders. They don't attract spiders.

My Garden

It's good to have a power on high Whenever gardening time draws nigh So it will grow and bear the pea So it don't have to watch and weep If cabbage come on my cucumber Or beans on my tomato vines Or tomatoes on my grapes for wines Or beans upon the stalks of corn And grains of beans my cobs adorn.

I'm sure I'll never be so wise A little pea seed to devise So it will grow and bear the pea So it don't have to watch and see If watermelon blooms appear And leave me standing there in fear Of what to do to change the leaf I'm sure I'd stand there full of grief And wonder what on earth to do To make plants do what they should do.

I'm glad we have a power on high And not left up to such as I.

16C—BRIGHTON ARGUS—SOUTH LYON HERALD—NORTHVILLE RECORD—WALLED LAKE-NOVI NEWS—Wednesday, May 9, 1979.

APPOINTMENTS to three key manufacturing managerial positions have been announced by Hellmuth Bickenbach, general manager of Ford Motor Company's Transmission and Chassis Division headquartered in Livonia.

WILLIAM A. GAINES

William A. Gaines — formerly plant operations manager — transmission — has been named general manufacturing manager.

James Dillon, who had been plant operations manager-chassis, succeeds Gaines.

William J. Dignett replaces Dillon. Dignett was manager of the division's Manufacturing and Plant Engineering Office.

Gaines joined Ford in 1963 as engine test superintendent at the former Aircraft Engine Division in Chicago.

A resident of Northville, he earned his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Clemson College in 1949.

Dillon began his Ford career in 1953 as a production equipment designer at the Buffalo (N.Y.) Stamping Plant. A native of Scotland, he studied mechanical engineering at the Royal Technical College in Scotland. He lives in Farmington Hills.

Dignett came to Ford in 1948 as a manufacturing and staff operations trainee after receiving his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering the same year at the University of Detroit. He lives in Birmingham.

THE ELECTION of Larry E. Haney to the position of auditor has been announced by George H. Cress, president of the Ann Arbor Trust Company. Haney will report directly to Robert K. Chapman, comptroller.

Haney attended Schoolcraft and Wayne County Community Colleges, majoring in business administration.

Prior to joining the Trust Company, he was associated with the National Bank of Detroit in the capacity of senior auditor. His duties there included all audit functions, coordinating audit coverage and schedules with external auditors and regulatory agencies and conducting formal training sessions for department staff and affiliate bank auditors.

THEODORE E. NOUTKO, president of Cesko Sales Company, Brighton, announces the appointment of Richard Streng with Cesko, in the position of sales manager.

RICHARD STRENG

The new appointment will give Streng, a long-time county resident, responsibilities which include expansion of Cesko sales representation in the industrial electrical and electromechanical fields.

Cesko is a manufacturers' representative firm, marketing industrial electrical controls and instrumentation in eastern Michigan. The company maintains offices and a warehouse at 26 Summit in Brighton.

"With the ever-increasing and complex markets and the broadening of our principals' lines, a major and continuing expansion program is in order. Dick is just the man we need to spearhead this program," said Noutko.

Streng has been associated with the manufacturers' representative business for over 20 years. His previous positions included vice president and general manager of a Detroit-based firm which markets electronic components also includes sales positions in both the electronic and automotive fields.

He is a U.S. Navy veteran and attended Michigan State University. Streng and his wife, Vicky, reside in the Howell area.

CHERYL L. MATTINGLY

CHERYL L. MATTINGLY of Northville has been named assistant mortgage officer in National Bank of Detroit's NBD Mortgage Company.

Ms. Mattingly underwrites conventional and conventional insured FHA and VA loans to private investors and federal agencies for NBD Mortgage Company, all regional banking centers of National Bank of Detroit and its affiliate banks.

In her seven years with NBD, she has worked as a supervisor in the Mortgage Department of the bank's Metro West Regional Banking Center.

Ms. Mattingly has earned certificates from the American Institute of Banking, the Mortgage Bankers Association of America Seminar on Residential Underwriting and the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

She is a member of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, the Michigan Mortgage Bankers Association and the Western Golf and Country Club in Redford Township.

HENRY MORELLI

NORTHVILLE resident Henry O. Morelli has been named manager of Automobile Club of Michigan's Pontiac office, succeeding Gerald B. Marvin, who was transferred to Auto Club's Lathrup branch.

Morelli, 43, is former manager of the Club's Troy and Downtown Detroit offices.

A 19-year employee, Morelli began his Auto Club career as an underwriter-trainee, becoming a regional underwriting manager in 1966 and an underwriting staff assistant one year later.

He was named a field operations assistant in 1972 before becoming Downtown office manager in 1975 and Troy branch head in 1977.

The Detroit native is a graduate of Wayne State University. He and his wife, Elizabeth, have two children.

ANN ARBOR TRUST Company has received approvals from bank regulators to open its third branch office, at South State Street and Ellsworth Road in Ann Arbor.

George H. Cress, trust company president, indicated that remodeling of an existing building on South State Street, just beyond the I-94 overpass, would begin as soon as final plans are prepared and local permits secured. Opening of the branch is scheduled for late this fall.

Total assets of the Trust Company at March 31, 1979, were $75,296,479, compared to $70,610,746 one year ago. Cress noted, while deposits increased from $23,029,134 to $26,134,134 on the same dates. Outstanding loans from March 31, 1978 to March 31, 1979, increased from $38,774,317 to $48,666,311, up approximately 25%. Total earnings for the first quarter of 1979 were $182,542, compared to $179,844. On a per share basis the first quarter earnings amounted to $.89 compared to $.88 for the same period in 1978, after giving effect for 2 for 1 stock split payable April 12, 1979.

THREE NEW STYLISTS have joined the staff of the One Ten West Salon in Northville. They are (l to r) Mary Hughes of Northville, Corky (Corky) Cuff of Novi, and Lisa Frank of Detroit.

All three have 2½ to 3½ years of experience in another local salon. All specialize in men's and women's hair cutting, having been trained in the European method of cutting.

Located in the upstairs quarters of the building at 110 West Main Street, the salon is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday; and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

NATIONAL BANK of Detroit has announced the appointment of John J. Ronayne, M.D. of Northville as vice president in its personnel division.

As medical director, Dr. Ronayne is responsible for NBD's officer health examination program which involves the clinical operation for administration, health evaluation of new applicants and consultation on medical services to other departments in the bank.

He has worked as medical director for NBD for three years.

He is member of the American Medical Association, Michigan State Medical Society, Wayne County Medical Society, American Occupational Medical Association and the American Academy of Family Practice.

Dr. Ronayne received a letter of commendation for bravery during his service with the U.S. Navy on the assault of Guam.

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONIES for the new home of D&G Heating and Cooling at 4343 Grand River in Novi were held recently.

D&G President Don Green noted that the company has been in business 25 years and was "tickled pink" to be expanding into "the growing community of Novi."

D&G Heating and Cooling will construct two buildings at the Grand River location. The first will be a sales, service and demonstration area where parts for air conditioners, furnaces and other products will be exhibited. Featured will be solar heating equipment for both residential and commercial use.

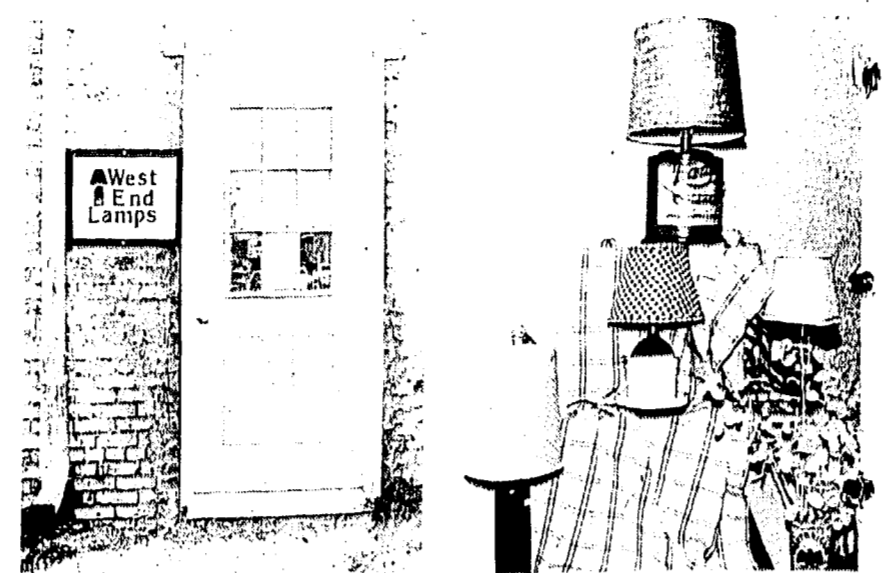

The second building will contain a small metal shop and storage area.

In addition to the Novi location, the firm will continue to maintain facilities at Seven Mile and Farmington Road in Livonia.

D&G Heating and Cooling will employ 10 to 12 people in its Novi location.

REALTY WORLD-SCHAEFER, INC., with offices in Milford and Hartland, has named Pat Evans as an associate broker, announced Joyce Burkhead, president of the firm.

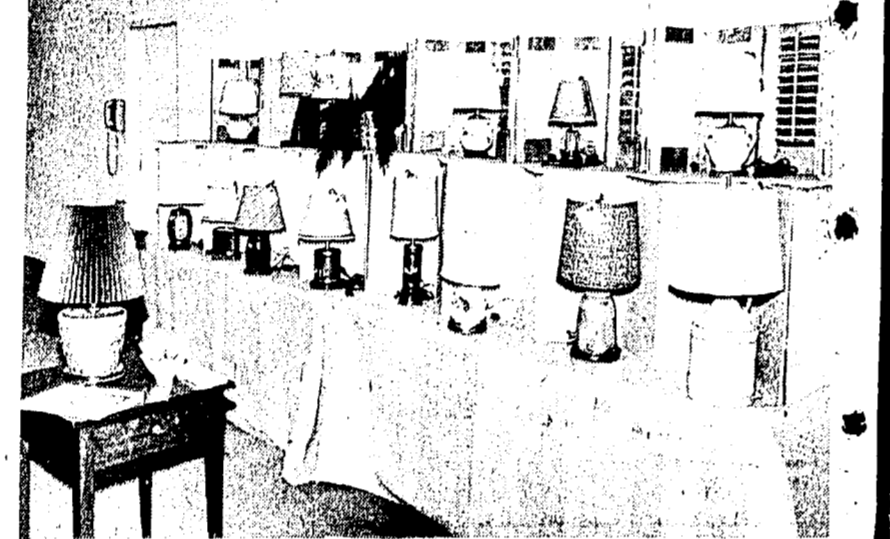

Evans joined the firm two years ago as a realtor-associate after selling real estate in the area for the previous four years. She heads up the firm's Milford closing department.

WEST END LAMPS is a new Northville business that grew from the friendship and talents of two Northville families. Pat Wright creates shades, mostly from antique pieces of quilts, coverlets and other scraps of material, with her partner Carol Forrer, who does the illuminated piercing along with daughter Sue. The antique bases of tea tins, jugs and other collectibles are converted by Mrs. Forrer's husband, Gordon.

They began displaying their lamps last year at antique shows, including the Antiques Market on Ann Arbor-Saline Road, and now are opening a shop at the rear of 144 North Center, reached by a narrow walkway from the street.

Presently it's by chance or appointment. Officially, the shop will be open beginning the day of the city garage sale, May 19. Then hours will be 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and by appointment. The phone number is 348-2412. In addition to a varied assortment of lamps designed to live well with antiques and priced from $30 to $135, the shop is worth discovering for other antique accessories and small pieces of furniture. It also stocks log cabin-design pillows by former Northville resident, Nancy McKay, now of Fairfield, Connecticut.

Bird count set May 13

The "Third Annual May Bird Count" will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near New Hudson on Sunday, May 13 at 8 a.m.

Mid-May is the peak period of spring bird migration. To celebrate, join naturalist Bob Hotelling and other staff members on an all-day bird count. You may spend as much or as little time as you wish. The object is to census the birds within the confines of the park.

Binoculars are essential. Meet at the Nature Center building.

The most productive time of day is the morning.

The three faces of Joan of Arc: Joan the peasant girl... Joan the warrior... Joan at the stake

Joan of Arc comes to life in exhibit

The figures are so life-like one could almost anticipate they would speak. One could easily believe they were in a small corner of Madame Tussard's famous London Wax Museum.

The exquisitely costumed life-sized figures are not in England but in the center court area of the Twelve Oaks Mall. Numbering 25 in all, the figures are arranged in five vignettes depicting the life and times of the famous French saint and heroine, Joan of Arc.

Burned at stake for refusing to confess to heresy, Joan was beheaded in 1909 and canonized a saint ten years later. In 1920 it was proclaimed that the French Republic would yearly celebrate May 8 as the Festival of Joan of Arc—a festival of patriotism.

The only city that will enjoy the display during the French holiday, Novi is but one of 17 coast-to-coast stops in the premiere exhibition of the realistic figures created by Bermans, Ltd., a division of Bermans and Nathans.

The company is the world's oldest and most prestigious costume company with countless credits and films from television, stage productions and movies. On 16 different occasions they have won academy awards for film costume design.

The figures have been sculpted in fiberglass and magnificently costumed in 15th century vestments. Silks, real furs, hides, and rough peasant cotton cover the figures.

Soldiers are dressed in suits of armor. The figure Pierre Cauchon, Catholic Bishop of Beauvais is a stunning, paunchy figure. According to

Interlochen presents youth theater in Novi

They have the unlikely titles of "The Insulting Princess of the Great Western Wulfberry National Maroon and How all began," and "The Mermaid's Tale," but they are meant to capture the minds and imaginations of youngsters everywhere.

The original plays by Sandra Asher of Springfield, Missouri, are two of three touring plays that will be presented to area school children by students from the Interlochen Arts Academy's theatre division.

A part of the "Interlochen Outreach" program, the fully costumed plays will be staged in the Novi High School Fuester Auditorium on Friday, May 11. Curtain time is 7 p.m.

Through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and funding from the Novi Foundation for the Performing Arts, the plays will bring the magic of children's theatre to life on the local stage.

Student performing groups from the internationally acclaimed academy spend about one week touring a specific part of the state with music, art, dance, drama, and poetry.

The Interlochen Center for the Arts, comprising both the boarding school Academy and the National Music Camp, has been identified by the Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA) as one of the state's major cultural institutions. This is the fifth year of MCA's "Interlochen Outreach" project.

Curator Brian Sloman, the bishop is the only figure molded from a human.

The French designer of the exhibition is reported to have seen a French farmer and determined his face was exactly what he was looking for in the shop. Molds were made of the farmer's head and hands later to be cast in fiberglass.

Not encased in glass and protected only by a velvet rope, the vignettes depicting Joan with her peasant family, at the French Court, at war, on trial and Joan in martyrdom circle the center court area.

Of great interest to art students, drama and costume directors, the exhibition is one of color and authenticity that is truly a work of art for all to enjoy.

Dicken's characters will move into the mall in August. Again produced by Bermans and Nathans, the costume house established in 1790 as military tailors, the second exhibition could surpass the Joan of Arc vignettes on display until May 17.

A second exhibition featuring May 17.

'Achievement night' slated

The Walled Lake Junior High School will hold its annual Achievement Night on Thursday, May 10, at the school on Pontiac Trail. A full round of events showing the skills, talents, and efforts of the students will be carried on throughout the evening.

Parents and students are invited to view displays of projects in all classrooms which will open at 7:30 p.m. Parents and their incoming seventh grade youngsters are urged to attend the night as a good introduction to the junior high.

Demonstrations will be on-going in many classrooms along with both choral and instrumental music presentations. Gymnasts will present a series of routines in the gymnasium, while the Puppeteers Club under the direction of John Moffat will stage "Hansel and Gretel" in the puppet theatre.

Conversations in French, Spanish and German will be included in the evening along with a TV demonstration of student plays. A used book sale is slated for the media center.

The science department will have on display an overview of the works and projects of the entire school year as well as an exhibit of the award-winning science projects from the Detroit Science Fair.

The art department will feature student demonstrations in pottery making. Various projects covering the full art field including stitchery, rug hooking, drawing and painting will be shown. A full listing of special events in- cluding time and location will be available to visitors the night of the Achievement Fair.

A Matter of Taste

By Maria Sarivalas Kokas Novi Nutrition Consultant, R. D.

Do you find yourself baffled by Calorie content of foods? Do you wonder how many Calories are a lot and how few are a few? Does your "Calorie" counter seem to be leaving something to be desired?

Each food we eat contains a set number of Calories depending on how much of it is eaten and how it is prepared. Calorie counting cuts have cropped up throughout the country with only vaguely applicable information that clues us into how much energy is really made available to our bodies by those foods. How often do foods get labeled because they "sound fattening"?

Technically defined, a Calorie is "the amount of heat it takes to raise one gram of water one degree. If spelled with a capital 'C,' we are referring to Kilocalories or units of measure commonly referred to in our daily dealings with diets, nutrition labeling, etc.

Though Calories surround us, usable definitions are all but elusive. Take the technical definition out of a laboratory, and it means little - especially when we think about lamb roast, banana splits, gravy, carrots or strawberries and cream.

Some phrases can throw the Calorie-conscious into a frenzy. Exercise equivalents can help to eliminate that haziness from your day. For example, what does it mean if someone says:

- bananas are more "fattening" than strawberries;
- beets are almost two times as "fattening" as green beans;
- baked potatoes are "high" in calories;
- cucumbers are six times more "fattening" than celery; or
- carrots are more "fattening" than lettuce.

All five statements are true only to a degree. The whole truth is that none of these foods is going to lead to the rapid decline and fall of a carefully laid out diet. The whole truth is:

- one banana contains 100 Calories and one cup of strawberries contains 55.
- Neither is very much if compared with a one cup serving of popcorn which contains 340 Calories,
- one cup of beets, cooked, does contain 55 Calories as compared with the same amount of green beans which contains 30 Calories. Compare that with approximately 160 calories in a one ounce serving of potato chips.
- baked potatoes are high in Calories? Compared to what? A medium baked potato (plain) contains 10 Calories less than one cup of unsweetened applesauce. The applesauce is approximately 100 Calories and the potato is 90 Calories. That one and one-half tablespoon of butter you add to the potato is the killer. With that butter comes approximately 250 Calories in topping.
- cucumbers are six times more fattening than celery. That is really deceiving. One stalk of celery is only five Calories and one seven-inch cucumber is about 30 Calories. That's all.
- carrots do contain more Calories than lettuce. One cup of cooked, sliced carrots will add 45 Calories to your diet while one four-inch head of lettuce will add only 30. Either or both are all in the bucket when an individual's total daily caloric needs are considered.

By looking at Calories and foods in terms of activity required to work off the foods eaten, it will be easier to evaluate statements like those just described. The following information will give you a listing of some common foods, their caloric content, and how many minutes of walking or running will be required to work off that amount of Calories:

Fish and Poultry: Four ounces of cod, haddock or sole (16 minutes walking, four minutes running); four ounces of canned tuna (43 minutes walking, 11 minutes running); four ounces of fried chicken (67 minutes walking, 17 minutes running); four ounces of roasted chicken (44 minutes walking, 12 minutes running).

Meats: Four ounces ground beef (68 minutes walking, 18 minutes running); hot dog with bun (56 minutes walking, 15 minutes running); four ounces lamb chops (80 minutes walking, 24 minutes running); two strips pork bacon (22 minutes walking, six minutes running); two ounces salami (34 minutes walking, nine minutes running).

Dairy Products: One tablespoon butter (10 minutes walking, three minutes running); one-half cup cottage cheese (23 minutes walking, six minutes running); one ounce processed cheese (20 minutes walking, five minutes running); one tablespoon sour cream (11 minutes walking, three minutes running); one ounce whole milk (29 minutes walking, eight minutes running); one medium boiled egg (14 minutes walking, four minutes running).

Fruits and Vegetables: One-half medium cantaloupe (eight minutes walking, two minutes running); one half cup orange juice (10 minutes walking, three minutes running); six dried prunes (26 minutes walking, four minutes running); one average candy bar (52 minutes running, 14 minutes running); one tablespoon white sugar (four minutes walking, one minute running).

Desserts: One chocolate éclair (53 minutes walking, 15 minutes running); one donut (29 minutes walking, eight minutes running); one oatmeal cookie (17 minutes walking, four minutes running); one average candy bar (52 minutes running, 14 minutes running); one tablespoon white sugar (four minutes walking, one minute running).

Beverages: 12 ounces beer (29 minutes walking, eight minutes running); 10 ounces soft drink (20 minutes walking, five minutes running); 10 French fried potatoes (30 minutes walking, eight minutes running); one tablespoon salad dressing (11 minutes walking, three minutes running).

Pearl McCollom to head PTA

Pearl McCollom was installed for a second consecutive term as president of the Walled Lake Parent Teacher Association (PTA) Council at special installation and award services recently.

Mrs. McCollom has been active in the former president of the Clifford H. Smart Junior High School PTA.

Other new officers of the organization include Mother Vice-president Sharon Childers, Father Vice-president Ray Rembiz and Teacher Vice-president Joyce Delemarter.

Pancakes for mom

Armed with their pancake turners, a never-ending coffee pot and friendly smiles, Novi Rotarians will don their aprons and man the griddles Sunday for their annual Mother's Day pancake breakfast. Their special tribute to moms everywhere will be held in the Novi High School Commons from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. as they serve breakfast of orange juice, pancakes, link sausage and beverages. Among the Rotarians ready to help treat mom with tender loving care on May 13 are (from left) President Joe Hamilton, Don Grevenood, Bob Maynes and Leo Harrowood. Advance tickets are priced at $2 for adults, $1.25 for children under 12, or $6 for a family ticket. Tickets may be purchased at the door at $2.25, $1.50, or $7 for the entire family. Each ticket holder will be eligible to participate in a variety of door prizes gathered by the Rotary Club. Proceeds from this third annual breakfast will be used by the Rotarians to further a long list of on-going service projects in the community.

Annual school carnival

Festival '79 slated at Western

Extracurricular activities at Walled Lake Western High School will get a boost with the school's annual three-day fund raising carnival set to begin tomorrow (Thursday) and run through Saturday.

Staged on the grounds at Western, over 30 school organizations and clubs will take part in the fourth annual event called Festival '79. Complete with a midway designed to delight all ages, the carnival rides include the zipper, octopus, dodge 'em cars, and the tilt-a-whirl. Kiddie rides for the very young set will also be included.

Game tents featuring a variety of games of skill and chance will be offered as well as a food tent. That popular area will serve individual round pizzas and pasties prepared by Western students, along with hamburgers, hot dogs, kielbasa, pop and coffee. And what carnival would run without the favorite of all — popcorn?

Lucky ticket holders will walk off with over $3,000 in prizes during the event. Advance ride ticket bargains will be available at the junior high schools during lunch hours through May 10. Pre-sale tickets, also available at the high school or from Western students, are priced at four for $1. Ticket costs on the midway will go at two for $1.

Adding to the twinkling lights and music of the carousel will be free entertainment throughout the midway during the three-day stand. Leading off Thursday night is the Northville Jazz Group under the direction of Bob Williams. Viewed as an outstanding high school group, they have performed locally as well as in Quebec and the Bahamas.

Friday night will be highlighted by a performance of Western's Band with Helmut Holland-Moritz at the baton. Saturday events will find Les the Clown on hand to delight the youngsters during the day, while at 5 p.m., the Westernaires and 6 p.m., the Shades of Silver will take the spotlight. Both singing groups are under the direction of Tim Kinne. Muscles will take over at 7 p.m. when school weight lifters, directed by Wayne Daniels, demonstrate their prowess in the bench press, dead lift, and squat.

Athletic teams, including boys and girls basketball, tennis, track, ski, baseball, wrestling, football, gymnastics, golf, volleyball, and the girls swim team will participate in Festival '79. All four grades in the school, the student congress and the P.T.S.A. will be on hand also.

Through their support and work hours, organizations at the school will aid their treasury's through the festival. The newspaper, yearbook, BOEC, Cheerleaders, Instrumental and Vocal Music, forensics, DECA, Spanish Club, Modern Dance, ECC, and nurse fits are shared with all participating groups on a percentage basis determined by work credits earned. Hours for Festival '79 are from 6 to 10 p.m. Thursday; 4 to 10 p.m. Friday and noon to 10 p.m. Saturday.

aided will gain extra funding through the annual effort. The festival concept was adopted by the school to support the extracurricular programs which are not fully funded by the board of education. Pro-

Today, all costume jewelry is made by machine. But Kremenz 14Kt. Gold Overlay is hand crafted almost the same way it was in 1895. Because hand crafting makes for much higher quality and greater detail. The kind that makes Kremenz style so exclusive. And so timeless we guarantee it. With a timeless guarantee. So if you want a piece of jewelry that will last as long as you have generations to hand it down to, ask for the jewelry that's crafted by hand. Kremenz 14Kt. Gold Overlay.

Beebes announce birth

Announcing the birth of their second son, Nathaniel Sean, are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beebe, new residents of 70 Henderson in Howell who moved there in March from Whitmore Lake. Born April 19 at the new St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, the baby weighed nine pounds, 14 1/2 ounces at birth. He joins a little brother, Jeremiah, 3, at home.
 Mrs. Beebe is the former Donna L. Brown, a 1970 graduate of Northville High School. She is on leave from her position as day nursing supervisor at Whitmore Convalescent Center. The baby's father is a 1967 graduate of NHS and is a teacher at Hartland High School.
 Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beebe of Novi, Mrs. Joyce Brown of Canton and Donald E. Brown of Westland. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Beebe of Lehigh Acres, Florida, and Mrs. Lois Kingsley of South Lyon. Mrs. Pearl Deltly of Beverly Manor Convalescent Home in Novi is the baby's great-great-grandmother.

A Gift Idea for Mom...

Now there's an Armstrong no-wax floor you can really afford.

So why keep on waxing floors?

The floor is Armstrong Sundial™. You know it really is a no-wax floor, because it has Armstrong's exclusive "Mirabond" wear surface that keeps its sunny shine far longer than ordinary vinyl floors. But it costs far less than many floors you have to wax!
 So there's no longer any good reason for putting up with the endless drudgery of waxing, stripping, and re-waxing that old floors require.
 If you're still waxing, shouldn't you be asking yourself...why?
HERE'S WHAT IT COSTS TO STOP WAXING:

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Paraphernalia ban survives test

company's testimony regarding the vagueness of the ordinance "stretched credibility to the limit."
 She also rejected all other constitutional challenges to the ordinance raised by the suit.
 The company had charged the ordinance specifically violated the first, fifth, fourteenth and eighth amendments to the U.S. Constitution.
 In the oral opinion Boyle did not elaborate on the reasons for rejecting those challenges, but promised to deal with them at length in her written opinion, Levitt said.
 The attorney also indicated the firm believes this is the only paraphernalia ordinance in the nation which has been upheld in the courts. He indicated it is expected the ruling will be appealed in the U.S. Court of Appeals, however.
 But Bruce Hoffman, owner of Tobacco Road, indicated he would "rather not say" whether an appeal was planned.
 "We were very disappointed and surprised by the ruling," Hoffman said. He declined further comment. Attorneys for Tobacco Road, Incorporated could not be reached for comment by press time.
 Detective Robert Starnes of the Novi Police Department said he dropped off a copy of the ordinance at the Tobacco Road store Tuesday morning and asked the owners to remove items which may be in violation.
 Officers were scheduled to return to the store Tuesday afternoon to conduct their own investigation.
 The ordinance imposes a 90-day sentence or a fine of up to $500 for anyone convicted of selling drug-related paraphernalia in the city. The ordinance prohibits selling, displaying or giving away equipment associated with drugs controlled by state law.
 Specifically the ordinance prohibits the sale or display of hypodermic needles, cocaine spoons, marijuana pipes and empty gelatin caps by citing them as examples of drug-related paraphernalia.

company's testimony regarding the vagueness of the ordinance "stretched credibility to the limit."
 She also rejected all other constitutional challenges to the ordinance raised by the suit.
 The company had charged the ordinance specifically violated the first, fifth, fourteenth and eighth amendments to the U.S. Constitution.
 In the oral opinion Boyle did not elaborate on the reasons for rejecting those challenges, but promised to deal with them at length in her written opinion, Levitt said.
 The attorney also indicated the firm believes this is the only paraphernalia ordinance in the nation which has been upheld in the courts. He indicated it is expected the ruling will be appealed in the U.S. Court of Appeals, however.
 But Bruce Hoffman, owner of Tobacco Road, indicated he would "rather not say" whether an appeal was planned.
 "We were very disappointed and surprised by the ruling," Hoffman said. He declined further comment. Attorneys for Tobacco Road, Incorporated could not be reached for comment by press time.
 Detective Robert Starnes of the Novi Police Department said he dropped off a copy of the ordinance at the Tobacco Road store Tuesday morning and asked the owners to remove items which may be in violation.
 Officers were scheduled to return to the store Tuesday afternoon to conduct their own investigation.
 The ordinance imposes a 90-day sentence or a fine of up to $500 for anyone convicted of selling drug-related paraphernalia in the city. The ordinance prohibits selling, displaying or giving away equipment associated with drugs controlled by state law.
 Specifically the ordinance prohibits the sale or display of hypodermic needles, cocaine spoons, marijuana pipes and empty gelatin caps by citing them as examples of drug-related paraphernalia.

undertakes sealing

"In the interest of pavement preservation and ultimate road cost containment the City of Novi should institute a pavement repair program with initial concentration on repair of pavement cracks," Mosher told the council.
 He suggested it would be unwise for the city to undertake the road repairs by itself because it does not have the number of employees or equipment necessary to do the job.
 Instead he recommended hiring Pavement Sealants Corporation, which has done repair work on the runways of Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Wayne County Road Commission reports it has been satisfied with the company's work, according to Mosher.
 It is estimated the work in Echo Valley can be completed for about $1400.
 Kriewall reported the funds for the repairs could come out of the one mill levied each year for road maintenance. It also could come from another road fund or out of the unspent monies remaining from resurfacing projects.
