Planners okay Farm site

The Walled Lake Plan Commission granted approval for the proposed site plan as submitted for single family subdivison on the "Foster Farm" property last Tuesday night, and also voted to accept the new preliminary plan for study. The planners had previously approved a multimople project plan in March, with 488 family units on the property. However, Clare Bornestein. 14 representing the Cambridge Equity Corporation 795 has since told the planners that several months of planning and developing the multiple family proelect have shown it to be economically unfeasible to proceed with the development under conventional

Under the new site plan, 153 lots would be developed on the property, located near the nor-ommerce Road. Bornestein has told the planners that he would inglike to keep the intent of the multiple family zoning sydesignation, by incorporating several duplex units binalong with the single family residences.

Originally. Bornestein proposed to develop the single family residential units on 60-foot lots. The efficity's zoning ordinance requires minimum lot widki ths of 80 feet, however. Under the new plan, however, Bornestein has decided to employ 80-foot lots because, as he explained, several lots could be lost due to and topographical problems with the property. Some members said they were not satisfied zix gwith the 80-foot lot width and that they would like to see a minimum of 90 feet be required for the progreperty. But Bornestein said the project would have to be dropped should that occur, since the property one could not feasibly be developed with 90-foot lots. Subsequent discussion was held on properties which may be lost from lots due to low lands, and it was decided that these extra properties would be incorporated into "Commons" areas and not into the present lots to make them larger. City Planner Tod Kilroy said that these "Commons" areas would be kept up by a subdivison association, which would be asked to bring forth deeds proving that they were responsible.

This is not the first alteration in connection plan, which called for 488 multiple family residential units on the property, Bornestein subsequently submitted a revised site plan on which the number

Wolverine Lake Village President John McLellan has notified the Walled Lake Plan Commission that he objects to the panel's recent tentative approval of a street that will run directly into inthe village in connection with Foster Farm project. McLellan said that, in order to avoid major traffic problems in the area, residents would now take Maple to Ladd roads, come down either Lucille or Dunreath and continue on Wolverine Drive to Penny Lake Drive to the new Foster

Farms subdivision or take Dunreath-to West-to Penny Lake Drive to enter the subdivision. "There are approximately 200 children in this area, and an increase in traffic in this area will also prove to be a hazard to the safety of these beg children," McLellan added.

Novi blood drive

The banner says it all, according to Donna Case (right) and American Red Cross regional representative Linda Ross, as they promote the Novi Blood Bank set for today (Wednesday) at Holy Family Catholic Church. Aiming at a blood drive that will add over 100 pints of the life-giving plasma to the five-county community blood bank, Mrs. Case stressed the need for donors to heed the call. The blood bank, operated by the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the Red Cross will be open today from 2 to 8 p.m. at the church on Meadowbrook Road north of Ten Mile. The community plan offers those living in the five-county region surrounding Detroit and their relatives the availability of blood whenever it is required. Stressing participation, prospective donors should be in good health and can-not be on medication. Eligible donors include anyone between the ages of 17 and 66, with those under 18 required to have parental consent. The Red Cross said a donation takes only six to eight minutes, but donors are suggested to allot at least one hour for registration, a brief medical history, rest and

Commerce seeks new lease for HCMA park property

Commerce Supervisor Robert Long has been authorized to negotiate lease arrangements for three parcels of Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) park land in the township.

The township already leases two of the parcels - a 115-acre site located at Benstein and Glengary roads and a 60-acre plot north of Glengary - under separate agreements with the regional park authority. The third HCMA site includes about 105 acres from Hawk Lake, near Decker and South Commerce roads, easterly to Pontiac Trail near Haggerty Road.

Township Clerk Robert McGee said the proposed lease agreement would cover most of the HCMA

The metropolitan authority acquired the land as right-of-way for the proposed Sidney Waldon Parkway that would have connected Mt. Clemens to Ann Arbor. The roadway was never built and the HCMA has entered into arrangements with local communities to use the land for recreational pur-

Commerce approved a $1-a-year lease for the 60-acres on Glengary three years ago and okayed an agreement for the site near Benstein and Glengary last June. Both sites are used for ballfields for area little league baseball and soft-

The Walled Lake City Council last year expressed an interest in leasing the HCMA property between Hawk Lake and Pontiac Trail, but decided against the agreement after the city parks and recreation commission reported that much of the land was unusable.

Earlier this year, the Wolverine Lake Village Council purchased some 48 acres of HCMA land all of the authority's property in the village — for use as recreational facilities, including the Clara Miller Park, which had been leased for several

14-A-WALLED LAKE-NOVI NEWS-Wednesday, May 16, 1979

City should retain CETA dispatchers

The Walled Lake City Council has faced a number of tough decisions in reviewing the proposed 1979-80 budget prepared by City Manager Peter Parker.

Perhaps the most difficult decisions concerned the federal CETA program that apparently is being phased out by Congress in an effort to eliminate alleged abuses. Walled Lake now has seven CETA employees. Because of new regulations governing an annual average wage that can be paid to CETA workers and a time limit aimed at providing training to hardcore unemployed persons so they can be hired by the private sector, Parker says the federal program, as the city has known it, must be discontinued.

In his proposed $2.62-million budget, the manager recommended that two CETA positions — a DPW laborer and a janitor should be added to the regular city payroll. Parker's spending plan called for discontinuing five other CETA posts, including one policefire dispatcher, two civilian dispatchers and two DPW laborers.

The city council last week directed the administration to place all three police-fire dispatchers in the fire department budget
— two of the positions have been in the police budget for several years - and to retain the current CETA police-fire dispatcher. Another police-fire dispatcher will be hired as a new patrolman in the police account, if the proposed budget is

That means the number of police-fire dispatchers in the manager's proposed budget will remain at three, although the council did act to prevent the layoff of a current employee by directing the administration to fill a newly created position with another

While we are pleased that an experienced and dedicated dispatcher won't have to be laid off, we feel the city council overstepped its bounds by, in effect, telling the administration who to hire for the new patrolman's position. Sources say some of the council members felt they had to take that action because they could not trust the administration to make the obvious move of hiring one of the two police-fire dispatchers who are certified policemen as the new patrolman and retaining the CETA

Parker also has proposed hiring five new civilian dispatchers under a CETA special projects grant. According to the manager, the addition of the new dispatchers will give the three police-fire dispatchers more time to devote to their duties as Walled Lake's fulltime firefighters. This move could help bolster a badly demoralized fire department that has functioned without a chief since last fall.

Although the council discussed several times during the 14 hours of oudget hearings spread over six nights the possibility of finding the $15,000-$20,000 that would be needed to retain the two present civilian dispatchers, so far that has not been accomplished.

Parker has said he hopes the current civilian dispatchers will be able to help train the new CETA

We would hope, however, that between now and Monday's public hearing on the budget the council can come up with additional funds to retain the present civilian dispatchers. That would give the city seven civilian dispatchers which should be enough to staff this vital service while, at the same time. allowing the police-fire dispatchers to concentrate on their fire duties and returning one patrolman, who dispatch, to the road.

It is especially important to the city to retain three experienced dispatchers at a time when five new employees will be coming on board to learn a job that, in many cases, can mean the difference between life or death in police, fire and medical emergencies.

It is even more important to keep the experienced dispatchers since Police Chief Wilford Hook predicts there may be turnover in the new positions before the CETA special project employees settle in and also because it appears that Congress intends to keep an 18month limit on public employment jobs in order to eliminate abuses in

Speaking for Myself

Nuclear energy worth risk?

The reason this question is asked so often is that there is no simple answer.

Americans often decide if something is safe enough quite apart from any consistent scientific basis. For example, we accept the automobile despite cold statistics that show 50,000 people are killed every year by these

Less obvious, but certainly with scientific basis, are the rather drastic health risks attached to smoking. Some Americans reacted and have given up smoking; but others, armed with the same information, virtually

Some would say that Three Mile Island demonstrates that nuclear power is not as safe as we thought. Indeed, the recent accident was the most serious that has occurred during 750 reactor years of U.S. commercial nuclear power.

But, by the same token, despite these failures and internal damage, much equipment did function as designed, and the amount of radiation released to the environment will cause little or no serious short or long-term health effects to the public.

The well publicized "one additional cancer" fatality that may occur as a result of the accident (compared to the normally expected 300,000 cancer deaths during the lifetimes of people living in the local Harrisburg area) is a statistical prediction similar to the AMA estimate of one to 250 deaths each year that might result had a coal plant been chosen instead of Three Mile Island.

We have learned from Three Mile Island, and we must apply that knowledge to further improve the safety of our nuclear power plants. The final decision on nuclear power will be made by the American people. We can vote no to nuclear, but if we do, we must accept the consequences of the alternatives.

I speak of the enormous economic and environmental . 1 burden required to expand coal use as a sole source of electric energy; I speak of recession and unemployment if fossil fuels fall short of demand; and most of all, I speak of increased international instability and tensions made worse as competition grows for what is left of

Earl M. Page Nuclear Safety Engineer Detroit Edison

Are current nuclear plants worth the risk? Detroit Edison, Consumers Power and the nuclear industry to protect their investments, say yes. But upon closer examination of the operating records of nuclear plants in the U.S. the answer is no. The recent accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant gives further credence to the "no" answer.

Nuclear power is a relatively young technology. The Three Mile Island accident showed us that nuclear scientists do not know everything that needs to be known and that must be known before going ahead with further construction of new plants

Nuclear scientists did not foresee all of the problems that occurred. Nor did scientists foresee the routes that the known problems took. Luckily, the "blind" decisions were good guesses.

Detroit Edison and Conumers Power would have us believe that nuclear plants are closely monitored and regulated, but such is not the case. Independent studies have disclosed a disquieting array of safety deficiencies affecting 70 nuclear plants now operating in the U.S. As scientists discover that many current safety features are inadequate, the cost of putting in better features dramatically increases the cost of building nuclear plants. To offset these costs, Detroit Edison and

Consumers Power cut corners to save money as did the utility which owns the Three Mile Island nuclear plant.

Nuclear plants are therefore much more susceptible to human errors, shoddy construction, and mechanical. and engineering defects. Muclear plants are not worth the risk. There are too unanswered questions about their safety reliability, waste disposal, fuel availability and decomissioning to go forward with nuclear power. We must demand that these questions are answered before Detroit Edison begins to sink four billion dollars into new nuclear construction of plants identical to the plant at Three Mile Island.

Go slow on EDC

City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli and Mayoral Assistant cept. Stephen Bonczek wisely have stepped in and slowed down efforts for the formation of an Economic Development Corporation (EDC)

An application for the formation of an EDC in Wixom has been submitted by the developers of a proposed motel-restaurant-bar complex on the northwest corner of Grand River Avenue and South Wixom Road.

The application was submitted to the city council, which promptly set a public hearing to consider creation of an EDC last week.

The public hearing was put off until next Tuesday on the advice of Bulgarelli, who informed the council that he has some concerns with the proposed articles of incorporation for the economic development corporation.

Bulgarelli suggested that the council should avail itself of an opportunity to receive recommendations from a bonding attorney before it proceeds further with approval of the corporation. He indicated that he will have a bonding attorney at the next council meeting to further explain the EDC

Designed and handcrafted by the famous Gorham silversmiths, this is the first in an annual limited edition series of sterling snowflake pendants. The mirror-like sterling silver captures and reflects the light as a unique expression of your good taste and appreciation for the finer things in life. The pendant is die-struck from sterling silver and rhodium-plated to preserve its gleaming finish. A 16-inch sterling chain completes this classic design in fine jewelry. Price $20.

Bullpen shines for Western nine last week, there's still no relief in sight for the Walled Lake Western baseball team. The Warriors were knocked off in two encounters in recent days, falling 9-4 to Waterford Mott Wednesday before dropping a 7-4 decision to Brighton Friday. And things promise to get no better until the Warrior bats get a wake-up call. According to Warrior coach Steve Demar, the team batting average currently hovers below the .200 figure. Only John Turner (over .300) is carryng his share of the offensive load.

The loss to Mott was a particularly damaging defeat, as it was a league encounter. Western got off to a 3-0 lead, but the winners struck for three runs of their own in the third inning and plated four runs, and built their biggest lead when Steve Summerville singled in the second frame, went to third on a passed ball and scored on a ground out by After Mott tied it, the Warriors grabbed a shortlived 4-3 advantage in the fourth. John Ropek singled, went to second on a sacrifice by Summerville came the crucial fifth frame, as Matt Spencer almost turned in a miracle relief job. Spencer took over for Western starter Ken Bennett with the bases loaded and none out, and proceeded to fan the first two batters. It appeared as if he might strike out the side when he had an 0-2 count on the third hitter, but Spencer then yielded a

Colonels upset

The Kentucky Fried Chicken Colonels softball team, an entry in the Detroit Major Metro Travel

League, grabbed a pair of wins from Snyder's of Novi last Thursday, triumphing by 8-2 and 6-4

the action that took place at Softball City, as he limited the Snyder bats to just six runs and 11 hits on the evening. Whittaker also had two singles and a triple to help his own cause. In the opener, 10 Colonels batted in the first inning to pick up five runs and seven straight hits off pitcher Jerry Gadette. The winners got three runs on four hits again in the fourth, while Snyder's got their solo runs in the first and sixth innings. Third

Vikings give first '79 defeat to Waterford Township nine

The Walled Lake Central baseball team got a taste of both the bitter and the sweet last week but the bitter taste, unfortunately, was a little

Ken Butler's Vikings started things off by accomplishing a major feat Wednesday. Central knocked off tough Waterford Township, 7-6, handing Township its first loss of the 1979 season.

However, as it turned out, the Vikes would have been a whole lot better off had they quit right there. For Friday, they got hooked up with a hot Livonia Stevenson club and were routed hopelessly in both contests. Stevenson invoked the "mercy rule" — in which a game automatically ends with one team leading by at least 10 runs after five complete innings — twice in clobbering Central by 10-0 and 13-3

Against Waterford, Don Braden pitched four innings of fine relief to gain the win. The winners plated two runs apiece in the second, fourth and fifth innings and also scored in the third.

Central's first tallies came in the second inning when Bob Burmeister doubled, went to third on a single by Brian Scott and scored on a sacrifice fly by George Burgess. Scott then scored on a the season. He's won once. The Warriors knew they'd have their hands full against Brighton, as the Bulldogs entered the game with a 14-2 record. That proved to be the case, even though Western didn't help matters by playing shabby defensive baseball. The Warrior miscues resulted in five unearned Brighton runs.

The Bulldogs scored two runs in the first inning. three in the third and two in the fourth to make a loser out of Warrior starter Carl Cunningham. Cunningham yielded just five hits, but four of those came in the fourth inning. Western received a big surprise, however, when senior Jerry Cummins, who replaced Cunningham, curbed the Bulldogs the rest of the way. Cummins was nothing short of magnificent, as he came on in the fourth inning and shut out Brighton from that point on just three hits. In addition, he walked no one and struck out six batters.

Warrior coach Demar couldn't say enough about the relief efforts turned in by Spencer and Cummins, and also expressed pleasure that catcher Ken Koenig, normally a regular, will be back soon after suffering from a sore arm.

Western's balanced men harriers remain unbeaten

Plymouth Canton. With the victory, Western moved its record to 5-0. As is the case with many successful teams, the Warriors displayed good balance in picking up the win. Willy Libby took the mile and halfmile events with times of tively, and Kelly Canfield also had two firsts. Canfield reached a personal best in the discus with a throw of 139 feet, five inches, and led the shotputters with a 49-foot, nine-inch throw. Aside from those efforts, however, Western had seven different individuals who captured first places. One was Andy. Koch, who won the long jump competition with an 18-foot, five-inch leap. Dale Keener was another leader, taking the 120 high hurdles on th strength of a time of 15.9

Chuck Brown kept the parade of Western firsts alive with a 10.5 second clocking in the 100-yard dash, as did John Meyer in the 440. His time was 53

In the two-mile, it was Steve Sutherland's turn to win. His time was 10:28. John McCormick and Jack Conley, on the other hánd, tied for a victory ir the pole vault, as each sprung 11 feet, six inches. Individual firsts and seconds weren't the only accomplishments by Western on this day. The Warriors of John Fundukian won the 440, 880, and mile relays to boot. In the 440, Rick Spehar, Chris Pritchard, McCormick and Koch were 46.7 seconds, while Mc-Cormick, Brown, Jusczcyk and Speha teamed for a 1:37.2 clocking in the 880. The mile relay went to a Western quartet of Meyer, McCor mick, Spehar and Libby in|3:39.6. «Western even had on Those mystery squash are weeds!*

By LESLIE McCONKEY MSU Lawn and Garden

NOTE-After four years as a garden writer without a garden, I decided this year to give it a try. Because the only sunny spot around home is the front lawn, which has taken three years of coddling to grow grass, I took the community garden route. What follows is my tale of trials, tribulations

When my two buddles and I decided to rent a community garden spot, we had two major options: a sandy, rather dry spot and an organic (muck) site in a low-lying frost pocket. We chose the high, dry spot, surrounded it with stakes and strings, and commenced wearing a path to the pump. (As luck would have it, the muck garden suffered a killing frost in mid-June. Most of the gardeners there lost their tender crops. Ours weren't touched.)

One of the first things we learned about community gardens is that they are blessed with a residual supply of every known garden bug. They seem to materialize out of the air to ravage newly set transplants and tender seedl

Our garden was also blessed with an assortment of "organic" gardeners who shrivelled in horror whenever we hauled out our trusty bug dust. Their unwillingness to use pesticides was both a drawback and an asset. Their plots always had an overflow of bugs ready to invade ours whenever we let our defenses down. But they also provided ours with somewhere to go where life-threatening chemicals were not a plague on their existence.

Our trio of gardening novices includes three very unlike personality types. The scientific approach that two of us agreed on - mapping the garden beforehand, marking rows with stakes and strings, measuring, following recommended spacing between rows and plants and proper planting depth, etc. - nearly drove our third partner to distraction. Whenever possible, we set her to planting - playing in the dirt seemed to pacify her. (Harmony in the garden is a rarely mentioned but critical factor when several people are involved in backbreaking labor under hostile conditions.)

"Going to the garden" soon became our daily ritual. Each evening after work, we put on our grubbies - which got noticeably grubbier as time wore on - and, with enough equipment and sup-

Golden coreopsis knows all the moves. With its long slender stems all that is needed to start the choreography is a gentle breeze. Bending and swaying, the supple stems are almost never at rest. Technically, Coreopsis grandiflora is a perennial; plants will regrow each spring from persistent roots. However, it will bloom the first year from spring planted seeds and is often grown as an annual flower. It would be hard to find a more heat resistant, trouble-free garden flower. This is the legacy of coreopsis' wild blood; its native American cousins can be seen growing wild alongside highways in southern and southwestern states. Similar related species may be found growing wild in other states. Coreopsis grandiflora has been selected by seed breeders for its uniform two feet height and large double blossoms up to $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter. Blossoms are light, bright yellow and are borne in great profusion over a period of several weeks in late summer. Plants of coreopsis are neat and attractive; they display best in groups of plants used as backgrounds or as color spots among green shrubbery.

CREATIVE DAY NURSERY, which meets on the lower level of First Presbyterian Church of Northville at 200 East Main, is holding open house from 1-2:30 p.m. May 17. Parents and their preschoolers are invited to view bright super graphics, the stage and four life-size Teacher Ellen Wahi, who founded the nursery 11 years ago, earned her BS degree in elementary education from Wayne State University Last September she was joined by Heather Fee who holds a British Teaching Certificate in art K-12 from Birmingham University, England. She taught art for nine years in England and Canada and is teaching a non-credit weaving course at Oakland Community College.

The women met as members of the Northville Handweavers' Guild and have been making use of their talents in conjunction with puppetry and drama, encouraging children to develop self-expression through drama. "By expressing themselves, children broaden their self image. It is around this idea of positive self concept that the entire program at Creative Day revolves." states Mrs. Wahi.

Aim of the school is to provide a well-rounded program to meet a child's social-emotional, intellectual and physical needs, the teachers explain. Both play and teacher-planned activities are primary. "It is through play that a child discovers, explores and learns about environment. Other activities allow children to experience a balance between freedom and structure needed for development," the teachers add.

Hail the yearly celebration of Michigan Week — that week devoted to building pride, channeling energies and learning more about the state in which we live.

Having been indoctrinated to the workings of Michigan Week 10 years ago, this transplanted Illinois flatlander has learned more about Michigan than she probably ever knew about the state with the windy

Despite some of its shortcomings, including the lack of public transportation in this time of looming gas shortages, Michigan offers a phenomenal number of opportunities for its residents. From boating and swimming to skiing, skating and hunting, Michigan offers a wealth of recreational outlets.

Known, of course, as a year-round recreational area, Michigan also abounds in countless other wonders, "firsts" and little bits of trivia that make great conversational pieces. A tiny leaflet, published by the Greater Michigan Foundation, lists these tidbits, some of which fit perfectly in this column. For example, Michigan was the first state to establish roadside nicnic tables. And, should you be inclined to investigate a globe, you would find that Ironwood is as far west at St. Louis, Missouri; Port Huron is as far east as Greenville, South Carolina; and Hancock lies further north than Montreal, Canada.

Did you know the University of Michigan was the first state university established by vote of the people through its state constitution?

Further, it was in 1929 that the Michigan State Police established the first police radio systems in the world. It was also the first state to provide for the establishment of public libraries in its constitution.

It was in 1879 that Detroit telephone customers were assigned phone numbers to facilitate handling calls, another first in the nation. And, the Michigan State Fair was the first state fair in the United

The famous Sault Ste. Marie locks handle more ship traffic than the Panama Canal. Michigan has a larger variety of commercial tree species than any other state. And, phenomenally, in Michigan you are never more than six miles from a lake or a stream. So great is the variety of Michigan foods grown and produced that the state comes closer to setting the family table completely, from breakfast to dinner, than any other state. Michigan has more fresh water coastline than any other state and has a greater variety of minerals — metallic and non-metallic — than any area of comparable size in this world The state leads the nation in number of state parks and prepared campsites with 79 state parks, four national forests, 33 state forests and more than 150 municipal camping parks. In all, Michigan leads the way with more than 19,000 prepared campsites. It has more than 11,000 inland lakes and more than 36,000 miles of streams.

Although most elementary students know, most adults don't realize that the flags of France, England and Spain have flown over Michigan in its history. In addition, Sault Ste. Marie, established in 1668, takes the crown for the oldest town between the Alleghenies and Isle Royale National Park, located in the waters of Lake Superior, shelters one of the largest moose herds remaining in the United States. That lake is the second largest lake in the world, surpassed in size only by the Caspian Sea. Stand anywhere in Michigan and you are within 85 miles of one of the Great Lakes.

Michigan's name is derived from the Indian words "Michi-Gama" meaning Large Lake. The robin, trout, apple blossom, greenstone, Petoskey stone and white pine are the state's bird, fish, flower, gem, stone and tree.

Admitted to the Union in 1837 as the 26th state, the state motto is "Si quaeris peninsulam amoenam circumspice."

Indeed, "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look around you."

The Executive

He quit Bendix to start own firm

By Jean Day

TODAY WILLIAM L. MIRON is president and majority owner of Lundberg Screw Products Company, a Lansing firm with about 130 employees. Before 1977 the Northville resident was president of the automotive division of Bendix Corporation, an executive at the top of the corporate power structure.

Events that brought the change from an executive office to a utilitarian desk occurred the beginning of 1977. Bendix Chairman W. Michael Blumenthal was tapped for Secretary of the Treasury in the Carter ad-

Miron quit — and at 50 began to do what he says he's always wanted to do head his own company.
"I kept thinking about it, but the rewards came so steadily and were so good that there wasn't a reason," Miron explains as he recalls circumstances that led to his taking over the 46-yearold precision steel parts and heat

When he purchased Lundberg last year, Miron was quoted as hoping to double business in five years. He did so in nine months. The way Miron went about picking the company in which to purchase majority interest and how he expanded suggest that executive ability that takes a man to the top once can do so "I have nothing but admiration for Bendix. They made it comfortable for me to leave. In 1976 Bendix had $105 million profit on $3 billion revenues and the profit leader was Miron's automotive group. Miron first joined Bendix in 1961 and served as general manager of Bendix motor components division in Elmira, New York. He went to Kelsey-Hayes in 1964, becoming president of the automotive division in 1967. He returned to Bendix in April, 1966, as director of the operational staff. He was named president of the automotive group in June, 1970, and was elected to the board of directors in November, 1972, and in December of that year was named corporate executive vice president and a member of the office of the chief executive. Fortune magazine in February, 1977, said that Blumenthal hand-picked Agee, then 39, as his successor. He was chief financial officer.

The choice of a financial man to head the company that Vincent Bendix has started as a home appliance firm, later becoming known for aerospace work, made Miron's decision to leave. Miron points out that parting was friendly. The Lincoln Continental he drives has been his at Bendix. The company allowed him to use it for the severance year and then buy it. More importantly, he says, he had continuing medical coverage through March of this year. Since Miron's wife Anne developed cancer two months after he left Bendix, this became a major benefit. "It has turned out to be a heck of a good thing for me to go out and do my own thing, but two months after I left Anne's illness made me question if I still would have made the same decision," Miron observes as he recalls Anne Miron doesn't have doubts. She

Except for the time of concern over Mrs. Miron's health, the Miron family has not changed its lifestyle. The Mirons stress they have no plans to move from their spacious, livable home

Youngest daughter Julie, 17, will be graduating this year from Northville High School. Daughter Sandra's 20 and Nancy's 21. She is about to graduate from University of Michigan in industrial engineering. Gail, 23, is working in Texas.

How Miron went about acquiring Lundberg, a supplier for off-road com-mercial vehicles and a firm with market value and reputation, is a story

"I first found I did not know the financing of business," Miron relates, saying he consulted with the dean of engineer ing at the University of Michigan who suggested Doan Resources in Midland. former chief executive at Dow, for purposes of investing in small businesses. "They have 15 or 16 companies with equity position and were quite interested in working with me and financfirst. As I look back, I did need the help then, but I don't today. "I'm looking forward to growing Miron Corporation into multiple acquisitions. The companies I'm looking for should be in manufacturing with from $2 million to $10 million in sales yearly. That is the size that can respond to professional management and can do well with such a management. "I want a majority control position and will manage the firm closely for a period of time. You look for a company with surplus facilities." Lundberg was just that kind of company. Owned by two brothers, one the salesman and the other president, the company made parts and pieces for construction, industrial and farm

"I really wanted to be my own boss always — to go in as chief executive of some company," Miron says, admitting, "I operated better the more distant I was from the corporate structure. When I was away from it were the most fun times. I knew I liked developing

To do this with his own company, Miron says, he "swiped a guy from Bendix to be vice president of sales" but is quick to add that he did so through official channels.

"I am looking forward to doing more things. I have not encouraged or forced any retirements at Lundberg," Miron He points out that the employees have many years of accumulated knowledge. He has hired two other key people. When Miron took over there were about 60 employees in the shop and 10 in the office. Now there are 120 in the shop and 10 in the office, although Miron expects to add there. "We worked pretty hard," he says about his first days of ownership, admitting, "I underestimated the task of getting from one level of business to another. Major problem was that there were no trained people to hire, and all the people in the plant are relatively

"What I like most about the move is the ability to feel near-term achievement. The financial rewards can far exceed what the corporate one was," Miron sums up. With satisfaction he notes that his investment's value is "growing by leaps and bounds - It has proved very financially rewarding." He adds that Bendix living was good, too, saying he "can get along on onethird of what I was making. I wasn't using it all and so much was going into taxes. Our life has not changed, there may not be so much to put in the sock,

The Politician

Politician's life keeps him on the run

By Rich Perlberg

Carl Pursell, beginning his second term as 1/435th of the minority house of congress, has made some impressive strides. He is on the appropriations committee, a position of clout. His subcommittee assignment is HEW spending which is second only to

Yet on this wintry, blustery, totally unspringlike day — the morning after President Carter's latest energy speech — the League of Women Voters want to talk about the electoral college. "You talk about that they want to hear," says

Pursell, "and try to swing the conversation around to the topics you think are vital." The women conclude their hour interview by listing several topics — welfare, the trade deficit, oil prices - to cover in seven minutes. Pick one, con-

"I'm glad you asked that," he answers with an im-In truth, this well-informed politician will deftly move from issue to issue as he works his way through a hectic morning schedule that will reach two hours in to

. Although he is blitzing, he never rushes anyone as he chats with two mayors, a city manager, two superintendents, a banquet room of businessmen and assorted others he meets along the way. This not unusual Friday morning will end in a Northville High School gym where Pursell plays second fiddle to the electric guitars of a rock band.

Pursell visits home almost every week. The people he talks with today are solidly in his corner and perhaps would be without the massaging. If he is vulnerable in the diverse Second District, it is among the students and tweed coats in Ann Arbor or the pulse of the constituency.

It is not enough that you do a good job. You must also remind the people of your vigilance and reassure them that you are listening.

For those who forget, there is always a young gunslinger somewhere saying, "This guy can be had." Pursell's first stop provides ample proof that - the League of Women Voters to the contrary — politics remains the domain of the male.

Of the 150 at the fund-raising breakfast for a Livonia City Council candidate only two are women. One observer says there are others who could be there but they were unwilling to shell out for the steep $75 tickets that are part of the admission fee to the good old

Pursell, though, is comfortable with good reason. In 1976, he barely reached office in one of the nation's closest congressional races. Last November, he swept in by a 2-1 margin. He is also conversing with longtime friends. He spends several minutes with a school board candidate who will not get his endorsement but will get something perhaps more valuable. Pursell has offered to spend a Sunday night with him, advising on how to "He's been a bit too negative," Pursell says later. "Campaigns should be built on positive issues. Instead of being against government spending, be for a balanced budget. "Legislative bodies are the most misunderstood in the country," he adds. "It's easy to be a chief executive and give the orders. In congress, the secret is constructive criticism and compromise. Pursell is happy. President Carter has endorsed a plan to use windfall oil profits to seek alternative energy sources. Pursell has pushed for that. He is a strong promoter of fusion. Ideas are not new to him. He backed mass transit hard in his state senate days and wrote a bill to aid school districts with declining enrollment. The jaded Lansing press corps voted him the

she has mixed feelings. "Often, it's the same old thing, 'What do you do, what do you like,' and it's hard to get past superficial things," she said. And she added that there's always the risk of getting hurt, when one person of the other becomes too involved.

But then again, new men mean new personalities and and different experiences, which she enjoys, Kris said. Kris said she feels no pressure to get married from her family and that she feels being single is socially acceptable, with none of the former stigmas attach-

Looking ahead, in fact, Kris, like many career men and women foresees problems in getting married, especially since her job means working long hours and at night. But that's in the future, and for now, Kris says she's perfectly happy with things just the way they are. "I can do anything I want to do," she said. "If I want to go out after work, I can. I don't have to worry about anyone wondering where I am, or telling me he doesn't want me to go. When there's something I want to do, I do it, and I treasure that freedom.

"And I'm really proud of this place," she says, glancing around her apartment. "Everything here expresses my personality. This is all me. "There's nobody to cramp my style."

AT A TIME when some young men were burning their draft cards to protest the Vietnam War, Jerry Plas burned his social security card to protest what he describes as fraud in the national retirement program. Today, the 37-year-old Plas is a teacher at Walled Lake Junior High School and an activist in the teachers' union movement. In fact, he is working with the Michigan Education Association's (MEA) newly revamped lobbying staff to come up with a bill that will give teachers the right to strike when negotiations reach an impasse. For a man who once agreed with Barry Goldwater's classic statement that "Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice," right-wing radical Plas - like many liberal activists of the Make no mistake about it, though, there is still a streak of antiestablishmentarianism in Plas. The former right-to-work advocate turned to unionism as a result of what he terms the "total absurdity of management in the school system." Most school administrators, Plas says,

Yet, except for the high cost of living and Terry's inability to get a driver's license, they do not complain. They like living in Northville, despite the fact that the economic status of families around them is a constant reminder of their own financial plight, and Terry is

Tom is 30, Bill 28. They both are married. Actually, Tom has been married twice, both unions dissolving in divorce. He now is living with a 26-year-old woman and her two children, ages two It is a cold and gloomy Thursday, buffeted by Michigan winter winds and a slow but steady drizzle. Which explains why Tom and Bill aren't working. Both construction workers, the pair would be

Tom doesn't consider himself either a "pusher" or a "dealer," however. "I only sell dope (marijuana) to friends, to cover my expenses," Tom says. "I happen to know where I can usually get a pound, and I party a lot, so I usually know people who want some. "So when I want to buy some for myself, I usually just get a pound or two and sell what I don't want to my friends. But," Tom adds, "I don't make any money on it. I just cover my expenses. By selling a half-pound or a only way I could afford to get any." Drugs are important to both Tom and Bill, although both usually limit their indulgences to alcohol (usually beer), marijuana and, occasionally, cocaine. On even more rare occasions, the duo admits, they "do" other drugs - amphetamines, quaaludes, hashish, PCP

Bill was "turned on" to drugs while serving in the Army, he says. "Everybody did something there. had never done anything but drink until then but I got turned on to dope and acknowledges a strong religious background. She also feels she's had a relatively happy life — a "beautiful" 17-year marriage, healthy children, and good friends in her Northville neighborhood where she's resided for the past nine years.

But until about seven years ago, she says, she felt something was missing in her life. She found it through prayer, through the Bible, and through a group calling itself the Full Gospel isinessmen's Association. Now, she believes, her life has new
