

Ever wonder why there are so many 'oaks' in Novi?

A newcomer to Novi might realistically expect to find himself living in a veritable sea of oak trees.

After all, there appears to be some sort of profound affinity between the city and the towering oak.

A sizable percentage of the city's population resides in Village Oaks. A sizable percentage of the tax base is incorporated in the Twelve Oaks Mall. And the West Oaks (Montgomery Ward) shopping center is proposed for construction opposite the regional shopping center on the west side of Novi Road.

And don't forget the proposed Kimberly Oaks subdivision of 14 lots on the south side of Ten Mile near Echo Valley Estates which currently is before the city council for preliminary plat approval.

Yep, there's little doubt that some special affinity exists between the city and the oak tree.

But don't bet on it.

Although Novi enjoys its share of "various deciduous or evergreen trees or shrubs of the genus Quercus, bearing acorns as fruit," a quick review of how the city's various developments got their names turns up something less than a positive correlation with the towering oak.

In fact, oak trees were hardly mentioned as The News set about the task of tracing down the inspiration for the names of Village Oaks, Twelve Oaks, West Oaks and Kimberly Oaks.

The first of the Novi "oaks" was the Village Oaks subdivision which lies between Ten and Nine Mile on the north and south and Meadowbrook and Hagerty on the east and west.

Former City Manager George Athas reports that plans for the huge subdivision were developed prior to the time that Novi was incorporated in 1969.

"Kaufman and Broad (the developers) were planning a big subdivision in the Village of Novi which was located in Oakland County," said Athas.

"They just sort of shoved all that together and came up with the name Village Oaks."

The next of the Novi "oaks" was the Twelve Oaks Mall. But once again the name has relatively little to do with either the community or the number of oak trees.

In fact, the name has little direct connection with the state.

Pat Hobar, a corporate executive with the Dayton-Hudson Company, reported that "Twelve Oaks" initially was conceived for a Dayton-Hudson shopping center in Minnesota.

"We always have a name caucus when we open up a new center," stated Ms. Hobar. "The name 'Twelve Oaks' was never used in the Minnesota development and we all thought it was a pretty name which seemed to fit our Novi facility."

"The shopping center is located on Twelve Mile and it is also in Oakland County so we decided to call it Twelve Oaks."

Once the name was selected, Ms. Hobar said that efforts were made to extend the correlation between the shopping center and its name.

One hundred pin oaks were purchased and handed out as mementoes at groundbreaking ceremonies in March of 1976. Oak trees also were planted on the land around the exterior of the regional shopping center.

Ms. Hobar also reports that the name was a factor in deciding on the heavy emphasis on trees and shrubbery in decorating the interior of the mall.

"We tried to put in as many trees as possible," she reports.

The naming of the Twelve Oaks Mall represents a far more interesting story than the selection of the name for the West Oaks (Montgomery Ward) shopping center on the west side of Novi Road.

Michael Ward, an executive vice-president with the Ramco-Gershenson Company which is developing the center, reports that the name "West Oaks" has little more to it than the fact that the development is being constructed in west Oakland County.

"It has nothing to do with oak trees or Twelve Oaks," explained Ward. "It's just the name of our west Oakland shopping center for Montgomery Ward."

As for Kimberly Oaks, the story is not dissimilar.

"Kimberly" is the name of the first granddaughter of Developer Jack B. Anglin and the "oaks" was added, according to Douglas Anglin, because "everything else in Novi is being named oaks."

And so there you have it folks — the story of all the "oaks" in Novi.

That's not to say you won't find a lot of oak trees in the community. It's just that the oak tree population has virtually nothing to do with the names of the city's major developments.

Plans ready for city park

A proposed master plan for the development of the Ella Mae Power Park on the municipal site at Ten Mile and Taft has been finalized and is awaiting approval from the Novi City Council, school district and library board.

The master plan shows the uses proposed in the 160-acre park and provides goals for construction of the park over the next four years.

Parks and Recreation Director Barry Smink explained the city has nearly completed the first year of a five-year plan for development of the park.

The first year of the five-year plan has been devoted to planning.

During the second year of the master plan, which gets under way this month, two softball diamonds will be constructed as part of a softball complex with four diamonds.

The city has received funding from the Department of Natural Resources to build the diamonds which should be completed by October 1, Smink said.

Completion of the remaining projects is contingent on the city's ability to obtain funding from outside sources. But if all goes as anticipated the city could obtain funding for projects ranging from an adventure playground to a concession stand.

A pre-application for projects proposed next year includes a request for funding of a restroom and a concession building to be located in the middle of the softball complex as well as a "major adventure playground."

Smink explained the playground offers activities not found on conventional playgrounds. It will serve as a place for youngsters to play while parents use the other facilities in the park, he explained.

In the same request, the city will seek funding for outdoor handball courts. It also will look into the possibility of three-wall racquetball courts.

The three-wall courts would be located near the school tennis courts and also could be used as a warm-up area for players waiting to get on the courts, Smink explained.

Once those are built, the city should be ready for the construction of the community center. A 17,500 square foot building with uses for the entire community is currently being studied.

Novi voters will be asked to support a

Six fires spark investigation

In the past 11 weeks the Novi Fire Department has reported six fires of a suspicious nature — a number of which have been definitely determined to be arson.

The rash of fires in abandoned buildings began April 29 in a barn at Wixom and Grand River. There was no power source to the building which could have ignited the barn, fire officials said.

The barn burned to the ground.

Fires in abandoned buildings broke out again May 3, May 4, May 26, June 17 and June 24.

A vacant house on Thirteen Mile was half burned in the suspicious blaze on May 3.

The next day a fire in an abandoned house on Thirteen Mile next to the Wall-ed Lake Flea market burned in a blaze officials have determined was deliberately set.

Another abandoned home across from the Twelve Oaks Mall was half consumed in a blaze on May 26. There also was no power source in that building.

At Twelve Mile and Dixon the living room and floor of a home were burned before fire fighters were able to extinguish the blaze. One week later fire fighters were called to the same location to find the home totally engulfed in flames.

Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan reported all the fires were reported by passersby who had observed the buildings burning.

Novi Police Department and the Oakland County Sheriff's Arson Division have joined the fire department in the investigation of the fires.

Officer Don Pebbles of the County Arson Section reported that their investigation appears to be at a dead end. He said "on the surface" there has been no established link between the fires.

The buildings reportedly have different owners and none were over insured, he reported.

At some of the fires a residue from a flammable liquid has been found but Pebbles declined to identify in which buildings the material was found.

He added the absence of such a residue does not always indicate the fire was not deliberately set. The substance can be totally consumed in the blaze, he explained.

Detective Robert Starnes of the Novi Police Department said he could offer little information regarding the blazes since the police are continuing their investigation.

He indicated at this stage they are waiting for the report from Oakland County arson investigators.

Each blaze will be reviewed to determine whether it could have been a fire for profit, for revenge or as a malicious prank, Starnes said.

As part of the investigation he has been meeting with insurance company representatives and the fire chief as well as the arson investigators from Oakland County, he explained.

Census shows population trends

Though final figures are not yet in, some interesting data has already been extracted from information gathered as part of the Novi special census.

Assistant City Manager Alex Allie explained residents were asked to provide information about themselves and their families as part of the census in order to help the city "learn the dynamic situation of the city," and compile information for future planning.

From that information the city has learned that all age groups are equally represented in the community.

Allie explained that in older, more developed communities the population is weighted with the middle and upper age groups. But that is not the situation in Novi where the majority of the householders are in the 31 to 40 year old age group.

Ranking second age group classification are both the householders in the 41 to 50 and 51 to 60 age group which are equally represented in the community, Allie reported.

As a result of its youthful population, the city has a large number of children. Census figures show there are 1,500 children under age five and the same number between the ages of 6 and 10.

In single family residences the population is 3.72 persons per unit compared to a national average of 3.5.

Regarding the older population, figures show that about half of those residents have lived in Novi more than 15 years, while the other are recent members of the community.

Results also show that both the husband and wife work in about 50 percent of the homes in Novi. It also is estimated that nearly one in seven of those work in the city.

Many residents work in Detroit, but the figure does not represent a majority. More residents work in surrounding suburbs, particularly Southfield and Livonia.

Of those responding 2,000 residents indicated they work in neighboring suburbs, while 850 said they work in Detroit.

Novi appears to have a very transient population. An estimated 55 percent of the population has lived in the city for less than three years and only 22 percent has lived in Novi more than eight years.

Allie reported there is no conclusive evidence that Novi attracts residents from any certain age group or area. It appears most residents moved to Novi from another metropolitan suburb, but many also formerly lived outstate.

The largest single city from which the city has drawn residents is Detroit. About 25 percent of the population moved to Novi from Detroit.

But it appears that trend may be leveling off. Residents who have been living in Novi for some years came here from Detroit, while newer residents are coming from surrounding suburbs.

Tabulations also were compiled on how many Novi families moved from one local home to another. It appears 174 people have moved from one home in Novi to another Novi house.

Though most of the city's population predictably from Michigan, 438 families are from another state and 31 are from another country.

Allie indicated the city has just begun analyzing the data collected from the census and plans additional cross-tabulations in order to obtain more information.

He said the information gathered so far "is not surprising and goes along with our feeling of what's happening in the community."

He added that the information regarding the youthfulness of the community and its transient nature will definitely affect the city's planning.

This information already was used as part of the decision to seek a bond issue rather than a millage for upcoming fire department improvements and a new community center, Allie explained.

The actual population count is expected to be completed by July 12, according to Allie. He reported that one district is being retabulated.

City officials have nearly decided not to reopen the census in other districts. That action had been proposed in an attempt to boost the count even higher.

Allie said it now appears the city will wait to find out the count from the one remaining district, examine where it stands and will then probably close the census and have it certified.

Some 20 census districts have been completed so far. The count for the completed districts is about 19,650 residents.

The city has undertaken the census in an attempt to gain as many liquor licenses as possible. Liquor licenses are important for attracting certain types of development to the city.

Supper clubs, hotels and assembly or convention centers will be preferred applicants in the distribution of the new licenses. The city is allotted on liquor license for every 1,500 residents.

DEADLINE 3:30 Monday

Registration deadline near for Novi primary

Unregistered Novi residents who want to vote in the August 7 primary had better hurry down to city hall.

City Clerk Geraldine Stipp reported that next Monday (July 9) is the last day for receiving registrations for the August 7 primary.

City offices will be open next Monday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified voters in the City of Novi who have not yet registered.

Voters in the August 7 primary will determine the fate of a $1 million bonding proposal for fire equipment needs and eliminate two candidates from a field of eight who are vying for election to the Novi City Council.

The bonding proposition asks voters if the city should borrow up to $1 million and issue general obligation unlimited tax bonds for the purpose of implementing the recommendations of the Fire Department Capital Improvement Committee.

Specifically, those recommendations call for reconstruction of Fire Station Number One (Novi Road) at an estimated cost of $280,000; relocation and reconstruction of Fire Station Number Two (Thirteen Mile) at an estimated cost of $300,000; and purchase of a pumper truck with aerial equipment at an estimated cost of $170,000.

In the council portion of the primary, eight candidates will be vying for six spots on the ballot in the November general election.

The city charter requires a primary election whenever there are more than two candidates for each vacancy. Three council seats will be up for grabs in November, and the number of candidates must be pared from eight to six in the primary in order to meet charter requirements.

The eight candidates for the six spots on the November ballot are:

- Russell Button of 44169 Grand River Avenue;
- John Chambers of 40604 Village Wood Road;
- Harry Densmore of 41414 Moreau Court;
- Michael Duchesneau of 42068 Liberte;
- Martha Hoyer of 203 Bernstadt;
- William O'Brien of 41131 McMahon;
- Robert Schmidt of 28105 Summit Drive; and
- Dwight Teachworth of 44893 Galway Drive.

The top six vote getters in the August primary will advance to the general election in November.

The bonding proposal for fire department needs represents a change in original plans. Initially, the city had proposed to ask voter approval of a one-million-dollar bond issue for fire equipment needs in the fire department.

The millage proposal was replaced with the bonding proposition after City Manager Edward Kriewall submitted a report which indicated that bonding for the money was preferable than an ad valorem millage.

By bonding for the money, the city would be able to begin improvements immediately instead of waiting for money to accumulate through the three years of the millage. Immediate purchase of the fire department needs also would enable the city to avoid the effects of inflation.

Additionally, Kriewall's report argued that bonding was more equitable in that the cost of the improvement would be spread out over future residents instead of being assessed against residents in the city over the next three years.

Kids mark 4th one week early

There may not have been 76 trombones, but the pre-July 4th parade through the Orchard Hills subdivision featured plenty of decorated bicycles, tricycles and kids.

A kazoo-and-cymbal band provided the beat for the majorettes and costumed children. At the end of the parade route there was Kool-aid and popcorn, courtesy of their mothers. Children in the subdivision came up with the idea of conducting a "pre-Fourth of July parade" when they learned some neighbors would be gone over the holiday. Making a major contribution to the festivities (left) were Kristen and Sara Urevig.

City may seek new tornado siren

A recommendation that the city apply for a tornado siren to be placed at the civic center complex at Ten Mile and Fall was expected to be considered by the Novi City Council Monday.

City Manager Ed Kriewall was scheduled to tell council members (after our deadline) that warning blasts from the civic center siren would reach into the North Hills and Commara subdivision where residents have asked that a siren be installed.

Currently, the City of Northville's main siren at the municipal offices will reach into the lower portion of the area where residents have expressed concern.

The city hopes to be able to obtain the funds necessary for the siren out of the contingency portion of the bond issue for the police station.

The city may have to pay as much as $10,000, the total cost of the siren, or as little as $2,500 to obtain a siren, according to Kriewall.

If the city can obtain federal funding for the siren, 50 percent of its cost could be picked up by the feds, 25 percent by Oakland County and 25 percent from local sources.

But Oakland County has informed the city that federal funding has "pretty well dried up in terms of tornado sirens," Kriewall reported.

Currently the city has sirens at Fire Station One on Novi Road, Fire Station Two on Panorama and at the Village Oaks School.

Plans call for sirens eventually to be placed on fire stations proposed for Nine Mile and Beck and Eleven Mile and Beck.

The city also is studying the possibility of moving the siren from Fire Station One to the water tower at the Twelve Oaks Mall. The added height and location shift would serve the Twelve Mile and Meadowbrook area better, according to Kriewall.

He added, however, that the present location at Fire Station One works fairly well and moving the siren to a hose tower planned for the station may serve just as well as moving it to the Twelve Oaks water tower.

Other portions of the city are, or will be, served by sirens planned in surrounding communities, the city manager explained.

Wixom has two sirens and is applying for a third. The siren at the Wixom City Hall should be loud enough to alert residents in northwest Novi, Kriewall said.

A siren proposed in Walled Lake will provide warning for the remainder of the populated areas of northern Novi, he added.

Areas such as Twelve Mile and Haggerty or Seely Road and Eleven Mile raise some concern, Kriewall continued. Fire fighters presently are dispatched in other areas where the sirens cannot be heard such as Old Dutch Farms, he explained.

In order to determine the effectiveness of current sirens, Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan will be scheduling a volunteer fire fighter deployment on the next siren test. They will determine if audible penetration of sirens in some of the marginal areas, Kriewall said.

Meters will be checked County, residents discuss sub's water problems

The Oakland County DPW's Water and Sewer Operations Division has offered to check water meters in homes in the Golf Manor Subdivision in an effort to locate water pressure problems.

Division Chief Bud Corwin made the offer to check the meters at a meeting June 26 with some 50-60 residents of the 269-home Commerce Township subdivision. The meeting was called after the subdivision association complained to the county about the manner in which a well treatment program was handled in early May.

"We admitted that we have a problem," Corwin said, "but you have to remember that system's 18 years old." By checking the meters, the DPW will be able to determine the pressure from the water main to the home, Corwin said. If the pressure level at the main is adequate, he said, it could indicate problems in the home's plumbing. Most of the problems are caused by mineral deposits in water lines, Corwin added.

At the end of last week's meeting, three residents asked the county to check their meters, said the DPW spokesperson.

The county agency also offered to make a thorough inspection of one home in the subdivision as an experiment to see what some typical problems may be, Corwin said. Association President Janice Butler said later that no one had volunteered for the inspection and added that she doubts the group will accept the offer to designate a test house.

According to Corwin, much of the 2 1/2-hour meeting was devoted to a question-and-answer period to help subdivision residents solve specific water problems in their homes.

One possible reason for the water pressure problems Corwin said could be that smaller sized lines—quarter or five-eighths inch—may have been installed when Golf Manor was developed. State regulations require three-quarter-inch lines, he added.

Corwin said he discussed other factors, such as multiple water uses, as possible solutions to the pressure problems. He also indicated the pressure on the tanks for the subdivision's water supply had been increased by five pounds in an effort to increase the flow. Subdivision residents expressed concern in May about the manner in which the well treatment program was carried out.

In a May 23 letter to county DPW officials, Mrs. Butler specifically complained about:

- The length of the water-system shutdown. Golf Manor residents were without water for 21 hours while the well was treated and connections were made to the Kmart Department Store under construction at Union Lake and Commerce roads.
- Continued water-pressure problems and "an awful smell and taste" in the water.
- Failure of the county DPW to respond to questions and complaints about the service or to assure residents, after the treatment was completed, that the water was safe.
- Allegations that workers were drinking on the job and complaints that noise from the treatment process kept residents awake until 1:30 a.m.
- Questions as to whether the subdivision's water was shut down in order to connect the Kmart store to the water system.

Corwin has said that the notice sent to residents before the treatment began clearly indicated that the procedure would take 21 hours. He added that the work was complicated when T-joint to the Kmart "blew off."

The DPW spokesman added that the water was not shut off to serve the Kmart building. He said representatives of Kmart's contractor asked to have the water shut down for the connection, but the request was denied and the connection was made during routine service to the subdivision's well. Corwin also stated that the effect on the connection to the Kmart would be governed by the size of the lead-in to the store and added that he doesn't expect "a lot of water to be used" by the new facility.

According to Corwin, the DPW employees and workers for the county's contracting company were not drinking on the job, although he conceded that employees of the Kmart contractor apparently were drinking beer.

Wixom receives HUD approval for $80,000 in 1979 CDBG funds

Wixom officials are more than happy that their 1979 application for the 1979 CDBG allocation has been earmarked for recreational development.

The city expects to receive some $80,000 in CDBG funding in the 1979 HUD program.

Prompt approval of the application by HUD officials represents a significant improvement over conditions last year when the city's CDBG funds were jeopardized for alleged non-performance of proposed programs.

"We were put on 60 days notice that our funding would be denied for not carrying out stated objectives," reported Mayor Assistant Stephen Bonczek whose first major project after he took over the administrative position last spring was to iron out the difficulties cited by HUD officials.

Bonczek, who prepared the city's application for CDBG funding this year, said he was pleased that the application had been approved "in a timely manner with no conditions."

The major portion ($54,500) of the 1979 CDBG allocation has been earmarked for recreational development. Some $10,000 has been earmarked for code enforcement, while $8,000 has been pegged for contingencies.

The remainder of the $80,000 allocation has been budgeted for administration ($5,000) and planning ($2,500).

According to the city's CDBG grant application, the $54,500 earmarked for recreational development will be used to provide facilities in the North Wixom City Park.

Specifically, the $54,500 allocation will be used to construct four tennis courts and two volleyball courts as well as parking facilities, an ice skating area and nature trails.

The city will utilize the $10,000 budgeted for code enforcement to finance the salary of the code enforcement inspector who will be assisting the Home Rehabilitation program staff.

The home rehab program was initiated by the city in 1975 in conjunction with the Home Loan and Grants Rehabilitation program.

Bonczek said it is an integral component of the city's effort to improve the existing housing stock and eliminate "slums and blight."

The mayor's assistant reported that he was pleased the city's application had been approved in spite of the fact it contained no provisions for new housing.

For the first time this year, Bonczek noted, the emphasis was changed from new housing to rehabilitation of older units in which low income residents can reside.

In the CDBG application, the mayor's assistant reported that the city's housing policy involves the utilization of existing resources before endorsing a new construction program.

He said the policy can be accomplished through an existing program that provides rent supplements to units already in place. "This program will specifically impact the multiple family housing projects it will provide opportunities for low and moderate income residents expected to reside (in the city)," he said.

Although recreational development already is slated to receive the largest portion of the city's 1979 CDBG funds through HUD, Bonczek indicated that additional CDBG funds may be channeled into recreational development. Specifically, he said that some $8,000 budgeted for "contingencies" in the grant application may be transferred to the recreational development account.

CDBG funds may be utilized for any HUD-approved activity.

The transfer is necessary because of an overrun in the cost of developing the first phase of the North Wixom City Park, he said. One cost ran approximately $10,000 higher than originally anticipated by city officials.

The city expects to receive the $80,000 in 1979 CDBG funding shortly, Bonczek indicated.

Traffic signal okayed at Wixom intersection

A traffic signal will be installed at the intersection of South Wixom Road and Grand River Avenue as a result of a vote last week by the Wixom City Council.

Specifically, the council voted unanimously (5-0) to enter into an agreement with the Oakland County Road Commission for installation of the traffic light.

Under the terms of the agreement, the city will be responsible for 25 percent of installation costs, while the road commission will pick up the remaining 75 percent.

The city's share of the estimated $5,000 cost is pegged at $1,250. The county's share will be $3,750.

David Alyn of the road commission's engineering division informed the council that the traffic signal had been requested through a petition from the employees of the Ford Motor Company's Wixom Assembly Plant. He said the road commission subsequently conducted a study which showed the intersection meets the warrants for installation of a traffic signal.

Wixom Police Chief Philip Leonard told the council that he concurred with the road commission's recommendation for installation of a traffic signal at the intersection.

He noted that Grand River meets South Wixom Road at an angle which makes it difficult for motorists to properly observe the movement of traffic.

"The rolling terrain also poses a vision problem and the intersection is used by a large number of trucks which require time to accelerate to the 50 mile-per-hour speed limit," added Leonard.

The police chief said it was his opinion that the traffic signal should enhance the safety of citizens and motorists traveling through the city.

The council subsequently voted unanimously to enter into the agreement.

New commercial plan reviewed

By REID CREAGER
The Wolverine Lake Village Plan Commission last Wednesday unanimously approved the provisions in the village's commercial zoning ordinance and recommended approval of that mandate to the village council.
The vote occurred after the commission had addressed the concerns of several business interests in the village at a public hearing. Some local merchants questioned the proposed ordinance, in which owners of restaurants, apartment buildings and auto repair shops in Wolverine Lake would be made non-conforming uses.
Should their businesses become non-conforming, the property owners would have to obtain a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals and meet specific conditions set by the board before undergoing renovation on their buildings or land.
Norman LePage, owner of Nifty Norman's Restaurant in Wolverine Lake Village, was concerned that the newly-proposed ordinance, if enacted, would harm his chances of selling the restaurant should he choose to do so. When reminded by Village Plan Consultant Robert Swarthout that he could still legally operate his business under non-conforming status, LePage replied that he wanted his restaurant in conformance with the new ordinance so as not to assume any business risks.
"This (the new ordinance) would definitely inhibit me from selling my business. I wanted to," LePage noted. "Non-conforming is non-operating. No prospective buyer will take a chance on a non-conforming business because it

'Little progress' in negotiations

A quick settlement does not appear to be a possibility, but negotiations for a new contract are underway between the Walled Lake Education Association (WLEA) and the Walled Lake School District.
Karen Filar, a Unit-Serv Director and chief spokesperson for the WLEA, reported that the district and the teachers' union have exchanged initial proposals and that the union has submitted its first counter proposal.
"But the things we've discussed only involve matters where there is general agreement," she cautioned. "We're just trying to get the small stuff out of the way."
Approximately six bargaining sessions have been held between the two sides so far.
Two weeks ago, all-day bargaining sessions were held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. And three more extended sessions were held last week.
However, Superintendent Don Sheldon reported that "very little progress" has been made to date.
Sheldon also reported that further talks have been recessed until the week of July 23 because association members will be unavailable until that time.
Both Sheldon and Mrs. Filar reported that talks are amiable and expressed hope that a settlement can be reached before the start of classes in September.
Mrs. Filar said she was uncertain as to whether the district would accept the union's proposal. She said she was uncertain as to whether the district would accept the union's proposal.

Developer files proposal for seniors' units

By DAVID RAY
A Southfield-based development company has filed a preliminary housing proposal with the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in an effort to gain a rent-subsidy commitment from the federal government for a proposed 100-unit senior citizen apartment building in Walled Lake.
Developer Leo Sklar, of North Cranbrook Associates, said plans for the proposed Lake Drive Manor — a three-story complex — are in the "earliest of earliest stages." The facility is proposed for construction on a 3½-acre site on East Walled Lake Drive near Hillcroft.
The City of Walled Lake, along with several other government agencies, have been asked to comment on the proposal. Comments were supposed to be returned to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments' (SEMCOG) housing staff by yesterday. Richard Pfaff, SEMCOG regional review coordinator, said the seven-county agency is expected to make a recommendation by July 11 to HUD Detroit district office.
Approval of housing fund availability proposals under section eight of the National Housing Act of 1974 should be finalized by early August, according to Kenneth Schmidt, chief of HUD's program branch. The rent-subsidy funds are allocated on the basis of a priority list established by the federal agency, he added.
Priorities for the top two of four funding categories already have been completed, Schmidt said, and the Walled Lake proposal is in the fourth priority level. Funds that "filter down" through the top three categories may be available for proposed projects in the lowest priority group he added.
Schmidt said the funds are not intended to help finance construction of a project.

The money that is available is for rent subsidies only," he said. "The developer has to get his own financing for the construction. If we approve the proposal we're saying, when the building's built, we'll provide the rent subsidies."
The section eight funds are allocated by the Congress for the October-September fiscal year, Schmidt said. If a proposal is not approved for the current year, "they have to start all over again," he added.
Plotter reminded the audience that any use deemed in full at or before the time that the new ordinance is enacted could continue to operate legally. He added that businesses seeking to conform under the new ordinance must show that they can meet the commission's requirements after the language for the ordinance has been adopted.
The proposed commercial plan will go to the village council for a vote after the language for the proposal has been adopted and a map delimiting the zones is made ready. Council must hold a special meeting on the issue, and is expected to make a decision on the ordinance after that.
In addition to creating three different business zoning classifications, the ordinance will prohibit any adult entertainment facilities from moving into the village.
Plan Consultant Swarthout will draw up language based on a Detroit ordinance, which states that adult entertainment must be located a certain number of feet away from residential areas and must be a certain distance away from other adult entertainment facilities. The ordinance has been upheld in the United States Supreme Court.
Currently, adult entertainment facilities are not listed as a permitted use. In order to specifically outlaw adult entertainment uses, the council could act to prohibit the use or adopt regulations that could not be met in the village limits.

Frankel won't confirm cancellation of Kmart
The developer of the proposed Walled Lake Commons Kmart Department Store — which Kmart Corporation officials said last week has been cancelled — says he will meet soon with Walled Lake city officials to discuss plans for development of the site at West Maple Road and Pontiac Trail.
Developer Stuart Frankel refused Monday to confirm reports that plans for the new Kmart had been scrapped. "I won't know for nine days," Frankel said Monday, when asked to confirm that the Kmart proposal was dead.
He declined comment on a statement from Ann Wolff, Kmart Corporation publicity director, that the Walled Lake store was not going to be built. Ms. Wolff told The News News 26 that the Walled Lake Kmart project had been cancelled, although she said she hadn't been given a reason for the decision.
Asked if his firm was making contingency plans for development of the property without a Kmart, Frankel's only reply was, "Yep."
"I can't say anything else until we meet with the city," he added, "and that won't be until at least the week after next."
Cameron E. Rose, president of the Walled Lake Economic Development Corporation (EDC), which has been asked to issue $3 million in revenue bonds to help finance construction of the Kmart, said he talked to Frankel's secretary last week when The News reported that the Kmart plans had been cancelled and was told that "the plans have not been scrapped yet."
The EDC, plan commission, and city council have approved all of the necessary plans for the proposed Kmart, except for a bond resolution and other closing documents that the development corporation directors still must okay.
Frankel approached the city in May 1978 with a proposal to create an EDC to encourage industrial and commercial development by issuing revenue bonds that could be sold at a lower rate of interest because the government notes are income tax exempt to the lending institution. He said the issuance of bonds would not affect the city's credit rating or borrowing power and added that the city would not be liable to retire the bonds if the developer defaults or files for bankruptcy.
The advantages of lower-cost financing to the developer, Frankel said, would offset Walled Lake's relatively high property tax rate.
In addition to the application from Walled Lake Commons, the city EDC has received only one other proposed project plan — Kinder-Care Learning Centers, Incorporated, applied last month for $300,000 in bonds to build a day care center on Decker Road, north of Pontiac Trail. Consideration of the Kinder-Care application has been delayed pending plan commission review July 10 of a site plan for the facility.

For ALS service

Ambulance companies okay mutual aid agreement

Ambulance companies that at times have been openly hostile to one another in the past last week agreed to work together in the future to provide advanced life support (ALS) services.
Representatives of Am-Care, Fleet and Novi Ambulance met at Providence Hospital Wednesday and emerged with a mutual aid agreement that calls for each company to provide backup service to the other firms in communities closest to their primary service areas.
For example, the Novi Ambulance Company is licensed to provide ALS service to the City of Novi as its primary service area. Fleet Ambulance Service has agreed to provide backup service to northern Novi from its ALS unit based in Commerce Township, while Am-Care, which eventually will have an ALS unit in Farmington Hills, will back up Novi Ambulance in southern Novi.
Backup units would be requested by the licensed firm in the primary service area, if its units are unable to respond to an emergency call. The agreement provides, however, that the firms don't have to provide the backup service, if it would leave its primary area unprotected.
The agreement reached by the firms last week also establishes primary service areas for the Am-Care, and Novi Ambulance companies. Novi will cover the cities of Novi and Farmington, while Am-Care will serve the City of Farmington Hills.

There is nothing in the agreement that prohibits either company from basing an ambulance within the other firm's primary service area.
The sponsoring hospitals — Botsford for Am-Care and Providence for Novi Ambulance — will monitor the companies to ensure compliance with the mutual aid pact. Fleet's ALS program is sponsored by Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.
While the owners of the three ambulance companies signed the agreement at last week's meeting, representatives of the sponsoring hospitals are still reviewing the document.
Sherman Strickland of Am-Care said the hospitals will be responsible for watching how the companies work together under the agreement and can take appropriate action, if they find that one of the companies has not lived up to its commitment. That action could range from a "slap on the wrist" to withdrawing as the sponsoring hospital," he said.
In order to keep its license as an ALS unit, the ambulance companies must have a sponsoring hospital, according to state regulations. The regulations also require the firms to provide backup service in the communities they serve.

In many communities served by Fleet, other Fleet ALS units provide the required backup, according to Floyd Miles Jr., company president.
John Early, owner of Novi Ambulance, said another meeting between the ambulance companies and the hospitals will be held to work out any disagreements over the stationing of ALS units in the primary service areas.
Strickland had said earlier that, while he has no plans at present to place an ambulance in Novi, he wants to keep his options open.
Another question that still must be resolved is whether Novi Ambulance would be responsible if Am-Care paramedics respond as a backup unit.
Early said Am-Care has proposed to establish units that can provide advanced life support services to patients at the scene of an emergency, but would not be able to transport the victim to a hospital.
One possible solution to that problem, Strickland said, would be to allow Am-Care paramedics who respond to an emergency as a backup unit to accompany the patient to the hospital in a Novi Ambulance unit in order to continue the treatment that was started at the scene.
Early has indicated thought that he is opposed to any plan that would allow an Am-Care paramedic to treat a patient in a Novi Ambulance unit.

Fleet Ambulance still serves Walled Lake under new plan

Fleet Ambulance Service will continue to provide advanced life support (ALS) services to the City of Walled Lake under an agreement reached last week by area ambulance companies.
Walled Lake is in Fleet's primary service area and the Bloomfield-based firm is licensed by the state to provide the specialized service to the city.
According to Fleet President Floyd Miles Jr., his firm will continue to serve Walled Lake with its ALS unit based in Commerce Township. If the Commerce unit is on an emergency call, he said, Fleet will attempt to provide backup service from its Milford or Waterford units. If Fleet is unable to send a backup unit in a reasonable amount of time, Miles added, his dispatchers will contact another ambulance company to respond to the call.
Under the agreement signed last week, the Novi Ambulance Company would serve as the backup for the southern part of Commerce, including Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake Village. Miles said he is attempting to reach agreement with the Riverside Ambulance Service of Waterford to provide backup service for the northern portion of Commerce.
Fleet will serve as the backup unit to Novi Ambulance in northern Novi.
Miles said his firm is not now licensed to serve

Novi, but added that Novi will be added to Fleet's license when the Oakland County emergency medical services communications system takes effect later this summer.
Novi Ambulance Company is not licensed to serve Walled Lake, Miles said, but the agreement for backup service will allow that firm to respond to calls in Walled Lake, if requested by Fleet.
Fleet started its Commerce ALS unit last fall after the Commerce Township board approved a contract to subsidize the specialized service. Commerce pays Fleet $24,000 a year and allows the firm to use fire station number two as its base. In return for the subsidy, Commerce residents receive a $60 discount on the cost of the ALS services.
At the time the agreement with Commerce was approved, Miles said that the number of emergency calls in the area may not make the ALS service economically feasible for his company without the subsidy. Under the contract, the township receives a rebate or credit on Fleet billings over $35,000 a year, the estimated cost of operating the unit.
Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake Village officials declined to enter into a similar arrangement with Fleet. Residents of those communities are served by the firm's Commerce ALS unit, but they do not receive the $60 discount.

Pulte asks council to waive city street requirements

Developers of the second phase of the Lake Village Condominiums will ask the Walled Lake City Council tonight to waive street ordinance requirements.
The proposed 228-unit development is located on Fourteen Mile Road, west of Decker Road.
According to Johnson and Anderson, the city's consulting engineers, plans for expansion of the development — originally approved by the city in 1973 — do not comply with a 1976 street ordinance. The engineers suggested that the city should decide whether to make the developer, Pulte Homes, Incorporated, meet the requirements.
Specifically, the proposed plans fail to meet two major requirements of the ordinance, the engineers said.
One conflict is that private roads in the development substantially exceed the 500-foot limit set in the measure. Johnson and Anderson also noted that public streets must be 27 feet wide back to back of curbs, while the Pulte plans show a 24-foot-wide road. In addition, roads that are designated as public streets must have 60 feet of right-of-ways, the engineers said, which would put the proposed building locations within 10 to 20 feet of the right-of-way.

In a recent letter to the city, the engineers said that changing the proposed plans to comply with the street ordinance requirements "will require extensive revisions to the construction plans and also to the existing storm sewer system."
Aside from routine approval of minutes and bills to be paid, the only other item on tonight's council agenda is appointment of a member of the Economic Development Corporation's Board of Directors.
The EDC seat is now held by Erlaine Lightfoot, board treasurer, who was appointed to a one-year term when the development corporation was created last year. Board terms were staggered in the EDC articles of incorporation in order to start upon appointment by the council.
The News was unable to reach Mayor Gaspare LaMarca yesterday to find out who he would recommend for the appointment.
Cameron E. Rose, president of the EDC, said the board will hold its annual meeting later this month to elect officers for 1979-80.

Grand River intersections to be improved

Proposed improvements to two major Grand River intersections should make life a lot easier for Novi residents.

Slated for improvements in the months ahead are the Grand River-Novi Road intersection and the Grand River-Ten Mile intersection in Farmington Hills.

The Michigan Department of Transportation recently awarded the contract for improvements to the Grand River—Novi Road intersection to the Kagle Construction Company of Lansing in the amount of $831,300.

The project calls for reconstruction and widening the intersection with curb and gutter. The contract calls for work to be completed by December.

Novi's City Council recently concurred with the state highway department's decision to award bids. The council formally agreed the bids should be awarded since the city is responsible for a portion of the construction costs.

The project is 90 percent federally funded. The city and the Oakland County Road Commission will divide up the remainder of the cost not covered by federal monies.

The Grand River-Novi Road safety project has been in the works for several years. Delays in the project have probably driven up the construction costs between $45,000 to $50,000, Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall told the council.

He also indicated the city has budgeted sufficient funds to complete the project and urged the council to allow the bidding to proceed.

Completion of the project should improve traffic flow from the expressway to Grand River. As another part of that project the intersection of Eleven Mile and Grand River will be closed off and a new intersection created east of the present location.

Improvements to the Grand River-Ten Mile intersection in Farmington Hills may prove to be just as important for Novi residents.

The Oakland County Road Commission had planned improvements to the intersection this year, but subsequently rescheduled the major intersection improvement plan until next year despite objections from the Farmington Industrial Park Association.

Following a recent meeting between Farmington Hills and Oakland County officials, the road commission agreed to install traffic signals and road signs this fall.

Pending approval of city and state officials, the improvements will include:

- a traffic signal at Research Drive and Ten Mile; and
- a traffic sign proclaiming the right lane of eastbound Ten Mile a right turn only lane between the I-75 bridge and the entrance to the industrial park (just west of the Holiday Inn).

Jack's Column

They've often known all along, something that might have saved me a good part of the wasted $50.

In the files of the Burton historical section of the Detroit Public Library are microfiche of alphabetized names of all those persons for whom death certificates are housed in Lansing. If a name appears on this list it means the records at Lansing carry the death certificate. Furthermore, the Burton list gives the book and page number where the death certificate may be found.

Names are listed by years of death; first names in old records are not alphabetized. Therefore the search is long and tedious. But worthwhile!

There in the multi-page 1877 listing was the name of the person whose death certificate I had sought. The Burton listing told me the death certificate could be found in "Book 2" on "Page 3" of 1877. I had paid $3 to the state to have it tell me that no such record existed.

Naturally, it was with a good deal of vindictive pleasure that I wrote the state, giving them the page on which the "non-existing" death certificate could be found and demanding that a copy be furnished me without an additional $3 charge.

You can do the same. Just don't take the state's "we don't have it" form letters for gospel.

Wixom Co-op recalls days of bygone era

By NANCY DINGELDEY

"True co-operation is not a get-rich quick scheme. It is plain common sense, and means doing business in the simplest, safest and most economical way."

Artists have sketched it, photographers have captured its angular lines on film. Some love it as the landmark it is, others think of it as just another old building.

The familiar rust-streaked corrugated tin that covers the sides and roof of the Wixom Co-op grain elevator helps support a structure and business almost as old as the city itself.

The co-op grain elevator, housing the once graining gears of the now silent mill, dominates the landscape as it has since 1871 when its fieldstone foundation was laid. Tin signs announcing special feeds, fertilizers, seeds and grain decorate the walls and doors. Some external walls, protected by massive overhanging roofs, display their original board and batten wood, put in place 109 years ago.

Sunlight filters through windows covered with years of dust. Mighty cobwebs decorate the mighty beams of the inner superstructure. Feed sacks, pulleys and belts, tools and pieces for old farm machinery hang from hooks and nails or lie on shelves where they were placed at some time in the past.

The roots of the Co-op lie deep and are intertwined with the founding families of the city. Judson Sibley and Willard Wixom were the impetus behind the establishment of the elevator which ultimately opened the doors to a thriving commercial business.

Their premise of cooperation, still followed today, governs the attitudes of the board of directors and shareholders. Records indicate there are roughly 400 shares of stock in the company held by old retired farmers scattered throughout the country.

Current Co-op manager Don Kreeger said most of that stock was issued years ago through "patronage dividends" offered to the farmers as incentive for their original board and batten wood, put in place 109 years ago.

Kreeger said the grinding mill itself is still operable but the function was halted for economic reasons last January.

"The tracts of land that once raised fields of grain around here now raise subdivisions. Grinding small quantities of grain became an expense for us and for those few farmers that continued to raise it to feed their animals," Kreeger added that bulk and bagged grain is still sold but is now shipped to the Co-op from Zeeland.

"We retired the mill while it still worked but just how long those gears would hold is another story. Last time we had to repair it we had to go all the way to Saginaw to find somebody to do it. They just don't make those parts anymore. She's a real relic," the manager smiled.

In its heyday, the elevator and Co-op office was the center of a thriving commercial enterprise that spread from Walled Lake to South Lyon, Novi to Highland. Sibley and Wixom formed the business to accommodate the many farmers who tilled the soil and needed both supplies and a central location

It was the general belief that Wixom would take its place among the state's commercial centers

Career education

Vocational education was highlighted at Walled Lake's Oakley Park Elementary School recently. Jan Pappel, a senior in the future teachers program at Walled Lake Central, made a special presentation to first graders on the subject of careers. Jan's presentation featured special four-foot figures of Charlie Brown and Lucy from the Charles Schulz cartoon strip. In addition to making the figures, Jan also prepared several "uniforms" depicting various career opportunities for Charlie Brown, Lucy and other boys and girls. Participating in the special program were (left to right) Doctor Kim Vild, Nurse Billy Koeler, Charlie Brown, Miss Pappel, Clown Boomer Morrison and Mechanics Mickey Mistak and Julie Bills.

She designed the figures which were made by the woodworking department and then made "uniforms" to fit the figures. Jan said she began the project because she was convinced that children should become aware of what is involved in a job at an early age. "The sooner they get an idea of what a job is all about, the better they will understand what is necessary to go about preparing for that job," she explained. In addition to working as a student assistant in a special education classroom conducted by Sydney Lamb at the high school, Jan spent her senior year in the pre-school co-op program working at the Children's Hour Day Care Center in Walled Lake. Her involvement with Ms. Lamb and Heidi Wilkins, a first grade teacher at Oakley Park, led her to develop the cartoon characters as a fun way to get youngsters interested in thinking about various careers. Encouraged by her students' response to Jan's presentation, Ms. Wilkins is encouraging other teachers to adopt the idea next year.

Charlie Brown aids young teacher.

First grades at the Oakley Park Elementary School had a couple of famous visitors in their classroom recently.

Their distinguished guests were none other than Charlie Brown and Lucy from the Charles Schulz cartoon strip.

Charlie Brown and Lucy were there as part of a project to introduce the youngsters to various career opportunities they may wish to explore as they continue their education.

The two popular cartoon strip characters were present thanks to the ingenuity of Jan Pappel, a pre-school co-op student who graduated recently from Walled Lake Central High School. She devised the idea of having four-foot figures of Charlie Brown and Lucy equipped with various "job" uniforms as a means of introducing young students to career opportunities.

to get youngsters interested in thinking about various careers.

Encouraged by her students' response to Jan's presentation, Ms. Wilkins is encouraging other teachers to adopt the idea next year.

In addition to working as a student assistant in a special education classroom conducted by Sydney Lamb at the high school, Jan spent her senior year in the pre-school co-op program working at the Children's Hour Day Care Center in Walled Lake.

Her involvement with Ms. Lamb and Heidi Wilkins, a first grade teacher at Oakley Park, led her to develop the cartoon characters as a fun way

Three Novi musicians attend fine arts camp

Three Novi students are attending the first summer session at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in Twin Lake, Michigan. Attending the "band" section of the fine arts camp are Sean Murphy and Amy Traynor. Michelle Worosz is attending the "piano" section of the camp. Sean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Murphy of Heatherbrae, while Amy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Traynor of Penton Rise Court. Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Worosz of Brook Forest Road. Blue Lake, which will host approximately 2,000 elementary through high school students this summer, offers instruction in a wide variety of fine arts fields. Located 15 miles north of Muskegon in the Manistee National Forest, the 14-year old summer school of the arts has grown to be one of the largest facilities of its type in the United States. Students attending Blue Lake's first two-week session have the option of majoring in art, band, choir, dance jazz-rock ensemble, orchestra, piano or theater. The first session is primarily for intermediate school students. Students who elect a band major at Blue Lake can expect to find their work challenging, no matter what their level of proficiency or experience. Band students are assigned to one of three different bands on the basis of ability. In addition to three hours of intensive daily rehearsal and sections, technique classes and a master class are included as part of the regular fee. The goals of Blue Lake's piano program are to introduce the students to a wide variety of keyboard literature, to aid the student in acquiring effective practice discipline and to expose the student to aspects of piano including accompanying, keyboard ensembles, harmonization and transposition.

Michigan landscape bedded in seas of the past

Most of the lakes in southeast Michigan were carved out by glaciers

By BRIAN DEMING

Southeastern Michigan has been a stopping place for fur trappers, Indians, farmers, soldiers, factory workers and business people, all struggling in their turn to survive on this corner of our sometimes pleasant, sometimes not-so-pleasant peninsula.

The land, it seemed was patiently waiting all along for us to dam its rivers, gouge its hillsides, till its plains, and bury its features beneath highways and skyscrapers.

But the land, too, has not always been here, at least not in the ways we have found it. It has changed at a rate imperceptible next to man's furious pace but with a power that belittles all of man's precocious efforts combined.

The history of this land really begins two billion years ago with the formation of the Precambrian rock that underlies the bedrock in this portion of the state. This rock is made up of hardened magma and volcanic lava that once flowed over the young earth. Erosion of this ore-rich rock was responsible for the creation of the massive iron ore deposits in the western part of the Upper Peninsula.

In southeastern Michigan that rock is buried beneath bedrock which was deposited between 280 and 405 million years ago. The pattern of bedrock in Michigan is such that the most recent bedrock deposits form the bedrock in the middle of the lower Peninsula, and the oldest deposits form the bedrock toward the Great Lake coastlines.

Most of the bedrock in Oakland and Livingston counties was deposited during the Mississippian period 310 million years ago, at a time when southeastern Michigan was nothing more than an ocean floor.

The Mississippian Sea was only one of six seas that alternately covered Michigan leaving the six tell-tale layers of sediment that now are bedrock.

The largest of these seas was the Cambrian, 460 miles in diameter and perhaps three miles deep. Later seas were smaller until the final Paleozoic Sea, the Pennsylvanian Sea, was only 125 miles wide and 180 meters deep.

One of these seas, the Silurian Sea, was responsible for the salt deposits beneath metropolitan Detroit. This existed for 25 million years with warm salt waters that supported coral growths. Michigan still has 66 trillion tons of salt in reserves.

The Mississippian Sea covered the Lower Peninsula south of Cheboygan and Alpena counties. Arid winds of a desert climate evaporated it leaving deposits of shales, limestone salt, alabaster and the so-called Marshall sandstone. That sandstone was an important factor in determining the location of the original state prison in 1837. Jackson was chosen because the stone to construct the prison was easily quarried there.

Whatever oil and natural gas deposits Michigan possesses are a result of plant and animal life from the Paleozoic Era. Unfortunately the concave shape of the Michigan Basin and the rock that overlies it is not conducive to trapping natural gas and oil and thus Michigan has not been a big petroleum producer. Folds and minidomes in the rock layers have, however, provided a minor source of petroleum. Michigan, in fact produces about 25 percent of its crude oil needs. And, in spite of shortages in meeting daily demands, Michigan's bedrock still holds a huge quantity of petroleum.

Based on yields per cubic mile of sedimentary rock, the oil reserves under the peninsula are estimated to be 1.25 billion barrels.

Michigan has a greater import need for natural gas. In fact old gas fields near Howell are used for storage of gas. During the summer months Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company pumps gas from Texas into the old gas fields between Howell and Brighton. The gas is then pumped back for use in southeast Michigan over the peak winter season.

Michigan's bedrock was at one time quite active as earthquakes marked the faulting and the folding of the earth's surface. Now Michigan is not known for quakes because it is a great distance from the edge of Tectonic Plates which have produced most of the tremors in this century. However, earthquakes do occasionally occur including one on February 2, 1976, registering 3.25 on the Richter Scale, and affecting ten southern Wayne County communities between Trenton and Rockwood.

The Paleozoic Era ended when the last of the Paleozoic seas dried up over 220 million years ago. Then, until quite recently in geologic terms, the sun and wind rained recently in geologic terms, the sun and wind rained recently in geologic terms, the sun and wind rained recently in geologic terms, the sun and wind rained recently in geologic terms, the sun and wind rained recently in geologic terms.

Several factors in teen smoking

One million teenagers are not preoccupied with start smoking every year. To be one of the gang? To look like the ads? To seem adult? To defy parents and teachers? To take risks? To seek pleasures?

According to studies included in the new Surgeon General's report on smoking, children, usually between four and 10, take quite literally the dangers of smoking. They are especially worried if their own parents or older brothers and sisters smoke.

But as they approach adolescence, many of these same children begin to smoke themselves. Smoking is forbidden to young children. If it is adult behavior, and smoking announces to the world that the teenager has left childhood far behind.

Younger adolescents, some investigators have found, live almost completely in the present and

Fix sandwiches for freezing

A week's supply of sandwiches can be prepared and frozen for noon lunches.

Satisfactory fillings for frozen sandwiches can be made of peanut butter, American type and cream cheese, sliced or ground fish, meat or poultry (an excellent way to use planned-overs).

Freezing toughens hard-cooked egg white and they should either be omitted or mashed or chopped very fine.

Mayonnaise separates and soaks into the bread, so use small amounts of salad dressing or dairy sour cream as a substitute binder.

Jelly or jam also soaks into bread and makes it soggy.

To prepare sandwiches for freezer, spread day-old bread clear to the edges with soft (not melted) butter. This will prevent filling from soaking into the bread.

Gardening success enhanced by simple practices

Experienced horticulturists who visit vegetable gardens all over the country can tell you that a few simple practices make the difference between successful and "soso" gardens.

All gardeners modify plans to fit the season and availability of seeds and plants. The major purpose of a plan is to tell you how many packets of seeds you will need and how to arrange them so that the little stuff is in the front and the tall plants are in the back.

'Dig in plenty of organic matter for drainage'

This Butternut yields plenty

Butternut squash are attractive, and taste even better than they look. Blond and bulbous, the fruits turn tan as their skins harden.

The name 'Butternut' covers a large and varied class of winter storage squash. Certain butternut varieties bear fruit that are too large for some families.

Others mature so late that gardeners in northern states keep an anxious eye on early winter squashes while vines are still green.

The vines of 'Early Butternut' spread 5 to 10 feet and are more open than regular Butternut. Yields are very heavy. Intensive gardens where space is limited can accommodate 'Early Butternut.'

Vines can be run up sturdy tripods, six to seven feet in height. Strings alone can't support the burden of vines and heavy fruits.

When harvesting Butternut squash leave an inch or so of stem on the fruits and brush off soil rather than washing. Handle carefully to avoid bruising.

The seed cavity of 'Early Butternut' fruits is small. Virtually all of the seeds can be washed, dried and roasted. 'Early Butternut' squash is relished for its light flavor and firm texture that doesn't become mushy in baking.

'Early Butternut' matures in approximately 85 days in warm climates, 95 days where summers are cool. When spring-sown across the South and warm West, it can be harvested several weeks before sweet potatoes are ready to dig and will fill the need for a baking and pie vegetable.

All harvested storage squash is especially sweet because the cool weather intensifies natural sugars. 'Early Butternut' fruits will keep in dry storage for several months.

'Prince' thumbs nose at frost

Pansies are a frost-hardy cool weather flower, grown for spring and fall color in most gardens and for winter landscaping in mild climates.

Orange Prince are slightly taller

During these cool periods, cloudy, grey weather often prevails and strong, bright flower colors are needed to lift one's spirits. Orange is a particularly lively color.

Orange-hued pansies are not new, but older types suffered from rather small blossoms. Now you can have a dramatic and admiration. Blue or violet lobes combine beautifully with 'Orange Prince' in containers.

The stems of 'Orange Prince' are a little taller than those of other pansies and are usually started indoors in late winter to produce budded plants noticeable when varieties are combined.

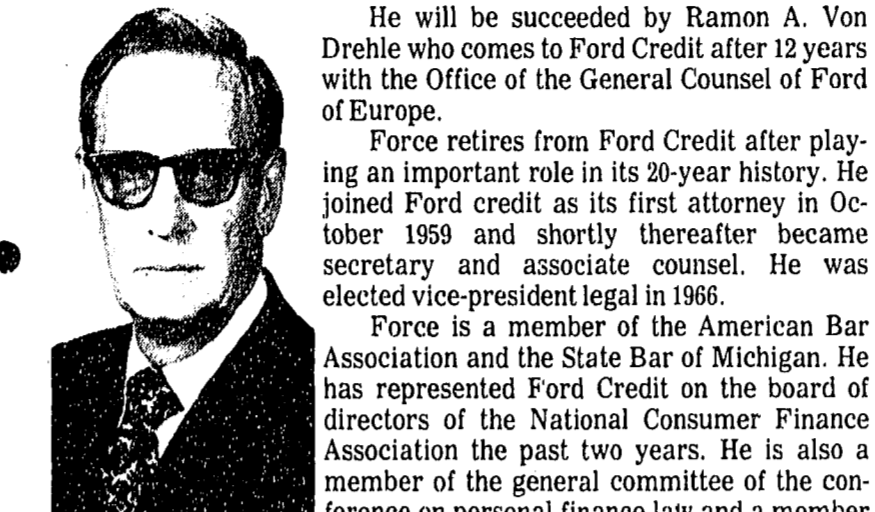

Home gardeners will appreciate the slight edge of 'Orange Prince' for arrangements. Most pansy colors tend to fade in hot summer approaches.

FRANK J. FORCE of Brighton has stepped down as vice-president of Ford Motor Credit Company after nearly 20 years of service with Ford Credit.

He will be succeeded by Ramon A. Von Drehe who comes to Ford Credit after 12 years with the Office of the General Counsel of Ford of Europe.

Force retires from Ford Credit after playing an important role in its 20-year history. He joined Ford Credit as its first attorney in October 1959 and shortly thereafter became secretary and associate counsel.

Force is a member of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Michigan. He has represented Ford Credit on the board of directors of the National Consumer Finance Association the past two years. He is also a member of the general committee of the conference on personal finance law and a member of the advisory council of the Credit Research Center at Purdue University.

A graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, Force holds a BA from Central Michigan University. Von Drehe has been vice president, general counsel and secretary of Ford of Europe for the past four years. He joined the Ford Motor Company as a staff attorney in 1957 and moved to England to join Ford of Europe as senior attorney in 1967.

Force received earlier recognition for a statewide Northwestern Mutual competition. His performance, recording professional sales of $1,500,000 of permanent insurance and 1856 percent of quota for the two-month period captured the state crown.

Krause specializes in personal and business financial planning and has offices located in the Woodland Office Center, Suite B, 8137 West Grand River in Brighton. He may be reached by phone at 219-5155 or 229-5136.

THE SPEEDY PRINTING CENTER at 107 East Grand River Brighton, was honored recently for its May sales volume, the third largest among the 47 Speedy Printing Centers currently in operation.

KEVIN ROONEY of Livonia and Richard Ferdinand of Los Angeles have left Oakland, California, on a 3,000 mile Trans America bicycle trip. Name of the coast-to-coast odyssey is "Wheels across America."

ROONEY, 24, is a sales representative for the Hansen Corporation in Walled Lake. The Hansen Corporation is one of the sponsors of the cross-country tour.

Objective of the ride is to achieve a higher level of consciousness among Americans regarding cancer, symptoms and prevention of cancer through a combined public awareness and fund-raising campaign.

GROUP 7 BANKERS of the Michigan Bankers Association elected Whitney R. Kimble as chairman for the year 1979-80.

Kimble is currently first vice-chairman of the Brighton State Bank, where he has been since 1952. He is a member of the banks board of directors and prior to his appointment as 1st vice-chairman, was the bank's president.

Kimble's professional, trade, and civic associations include member and past president of Michigan Bank Examiners Association; member of Wolverine Advisory Council, Boy Scouts of America; member Robert Morris and Association; member of Michigan Ski Area Safety Board; member Board of Review, City of Brighton; member board of directors, Facsetter Financial Corporation, as well as other civic and trade groups.

Group 7 of The Michigan Bankers Association consists of all banks located in Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Ingham, Livingston, and Shiawassee counties.

NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE AGENT BILL KRAUSE of Brighton has been designated "Agent of the Month" for the fourth consecutive period.

Krause has now received this designation for the 1979 months of February, March, April and May. Another Northwestern Mutual agent, Carolyn Fons, received the honor for the month of January.

The award encompasses several criteria for qualification: a maximum performance on lives, volume and premium for two categories, both life insurance and disability income.

It was recently announced that Krause ranked fourth in the nation for total volume in the month of May. This is the third time in nine months that Krause has placed nationally in the top 20 for this category.

Krause received earlier recognition for a statewide Northwestern Mutual competition. His performance, recording professional sales of $1,500,000 of permanent insurance and 1856 percent of quota for the two-month period captured the state crown.

Krause specializes in personal and business financial planning and has offices located in the Woodland Office Center, Suite B, 8137 West Grand River in Brighton. He may be reached by phone at 219-5155 or 229-5136.

THE SPEEDY PRINTING CENTER at 107 East Grand River Brighton, was honored recently for its May sales volume, the third largest among the 47 Speedy Printing Centers currently in operation.

KEVIN ROONEY of Livonia and Richard Ferdinand of Los Angeles have left Oakland, California, on a 3,000 mile Trans America bicycle trip. Name of the coast-to-coast odyssey is "Wheels across America."

ROONEY, 24, is a sales representative for the Hansen Corporation in Walled Lake. The Hansen Corporation is one of the sponsors of the cross-country tour.

Objective of the ride is to achieve a higher level of consciousness among Americans regarding cancer, symptoms and prevention of cancer through a combined public awareness and fund-raising campaign.

July sky features 3 stars

In July, the night side of the earth faces outward from the sun towards the summer time constellations where three bright stars appear just after dark, notes University of Michigan astronomy Prof. Richard G. Teske.

All three - Arcturus, Vega and Antares - are larger and brighter than the sun. "Shining brightly just west of the overhead point, or zenith, in the constellation of Bootes is the yellow-red star Arcturus," Teske says.

Now 36 light years away from the earth, Arcturus is traveling at "a fast pace by astronomical standards. The star is drifting in a southwestward direction with a speed that will carry it across the sky a distance equal to half the width of the full moon in 400 years," he explains.

Rustly in color because it is slightly cooler than the sun, Arcturus is 20 times larger and 100 times brighter. Teske says astronomers refer to stars of this size as "giants."

"Arcturus makes a fine sight in the night sky," he says. "But if we were to put our sun in its place, the sun would seem very faint and dominating the otherwise unimpressive constellation of Lyra."

This bright, whitish star is 26 light years away. Although 70 times brighter than the sun, Vega is only about three times as large.

"Astronomers refer to it as a main sequence" star to denote that it belongs with the great majority of ordinary stars in our galaxy," Teske says.

"Our sun also is a type of star that is rather common found in space." The third bright star, low in the southern sky, is ruddy Antares, the heart of the constellation of the Scorpio, he continues.

"A star much cooler than the sun, Antares is nearly 6,000 times brighter. "Even though it lies so far away that its light takes 425 years to cross interstellar space to our eyes, its great luminosity makes Antares one of the more brilliant objects in earth's sky. Such stars are so luminous that astronomers can easily photograph them in nearby galaxies.

Goodbye I released you with the wind hallowing in the background... you left swiftly on your way to where you only know.

Your blossoms in time now had to fold themselves onto another direction... So it was goodbye to the yesterday. Someone had to forget them... and your wings would take you with the wind.

Leaving away with your life... high above the clouds... toward the sun... soaring all behind... and me.

Hey Kid!

Whatcha doin' WEDNESDAY?

We've got a job for you.

Once a week, on Wednesdays, our community newspapers are home delivered by young people just like you (minimum age eleven years old). They're earning money every week and are eligible for our contests for prizes and vacations. More people are reading our newspapers in Northville, Novi, Walled Lake and South Lyon and therefore, we need additional carriers. So if you live around here and aren't doing anything on Wednesday.....

RECOMMENDED READING

Best sellers come and go. A current novel may enjoy a brief burst of fame as it hits the best seller list, only to be forgotten in a few short months. But the classics are with us always. And they find popularity with each new generation of book lovers. They are recommended reading down through the years.

Penny Lake team falls from top spot with loss

Nothing lasts forever. Jack Grubb's Penny Lake squad, the Walled Lake entry in the Inter-Lakes Girls' Travel League, finally succumbed to its first loss of the season last Wednesday in a 3-1 decision.

The local softball unit, which had gotten off to a perfect 4-0 start, fell victim to a three-run sixth inning by E.D. Construction of Farmington Hills. The runs were scored off losing pitcher Michelle Lynch (1-1).

Four straight enemy walks — followed by a single — did most of the damage in that frame. The Farmington Hills squad added two more hits in that inning to account for the rest of the scoring.

Walled Lake had earlier taken a short-lived 1-0 advantage when, in the fifth inning, Kris Mellema singled, advanced to third base on another hit by Margaret Grubb and scored on a Sue Hoefl sacrifice fly. Mellema paced the Penny Lake hitting attack with a two-for-two outing, and teammate Tracy Grubb also was two-for-two.

Another local team had its share of difficulties last Wednesday, as the Novi Wildcats came out on the short end of a 7-0 decision at the hands of Northville. The Wildcats were all set for revenge against Fairlane of Dearborn Heights in a doubleheader Friday night, but were rained out. In fact, the misty weekend forced postponement of all league games.

Two teams remain undefeated after last week's action in the 18-and-under loop. The South Farmington Wildcats and Garden City All-Stars both hold 4-0 records for a half-game lead over the Penny Lake team. Here's how the league standings shape up after week two:

Team	W	L	PCT.	GB
Garden City All Stars	4	0	1.000	0
NOVI WILDCATS	4	1	.800	1/2
E.D. Construction	3	1	.750	1
Northville Singers	3	2	.600	3/2
NOVI WILDCATS	2	3	.400	5/2
Southfield	2	3	.400	5/2
Jake's/Hartley-Davidson	1	4	.200	3
Rosford	0	4	.000	4
Fairlane, Dearborn Heights	0	5	.000	4 1/2

Soccer continues growth on national, local levels

Nelson Trombley and Jim Jidov (4) get a kick out of soccer . . .

Area groups report increasing turnouts

Milford, with more entries expected in the fall.

"Originally," Waterman explained, "the league was offered as an alternative for football, and we didn't know who we were going to get. But it's turned out to be a very worthwhile experience for all concerned."

Waterman said that soccer seemed to be available alternative for football for a number of reasons, primarily related to parental concerns.

"There's two big advantages that soccer has over football that really sold the parents," he said. "For one, there's very little injury involved in soccer. I've worked with little kids and junior high kids alike, and I've never seen one. While contact is involved, it's not the nature of the sport to make contact."

"Parents are also leaning toward soccer because it's so inexpensive," Waterman added. "You don't need $100 to $150 worth of equipment just to put someone on the field, like you do in football."

Waterman said that it costs only $24 per season to put a child on the soccer field. That money goes toward uniforms (which the players get to keep), insurance and field maintenance. There are 15 players per team in the Lakes Area League, he added, and each season runs "a couple of months", involving some eight or nine games.

The children themselves are thankful for soccer, Waterman said, because of the fact that the sport is available to kids of all different sizes and athletic abilities. "This isn't a sport where you have to have a physical advantage to be successful," he said. "With soccer, all kids have a chance to get in some recreation and exercise, as well as contribute to a team game."

Since Waterman is a parent, with a son and a daughter both interested in soccer, he has expressed disappointment that more area schools still don't have soccer programs. He said that Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Warren and Troy schools — to name just a few — have cheap-to-operate, successful leagues going.

No Novi or Walled Lake schools currently have a soccer program. But, despite the relative inexperience involved with soccer, apparently some schools still have difficulty finding the money to fund the sport.

The case of Walled Lake is a good example. As Walled Lake Athletic Director Tom Evans explains it, the recent millage defeat in the city has made the financial burden greater than ever.

"We really want to get into it (soccer)," Evans said. "We're all for it. But right now, money is tighter than ever after the millage vote, and we just can't include it in our program for the coming year."

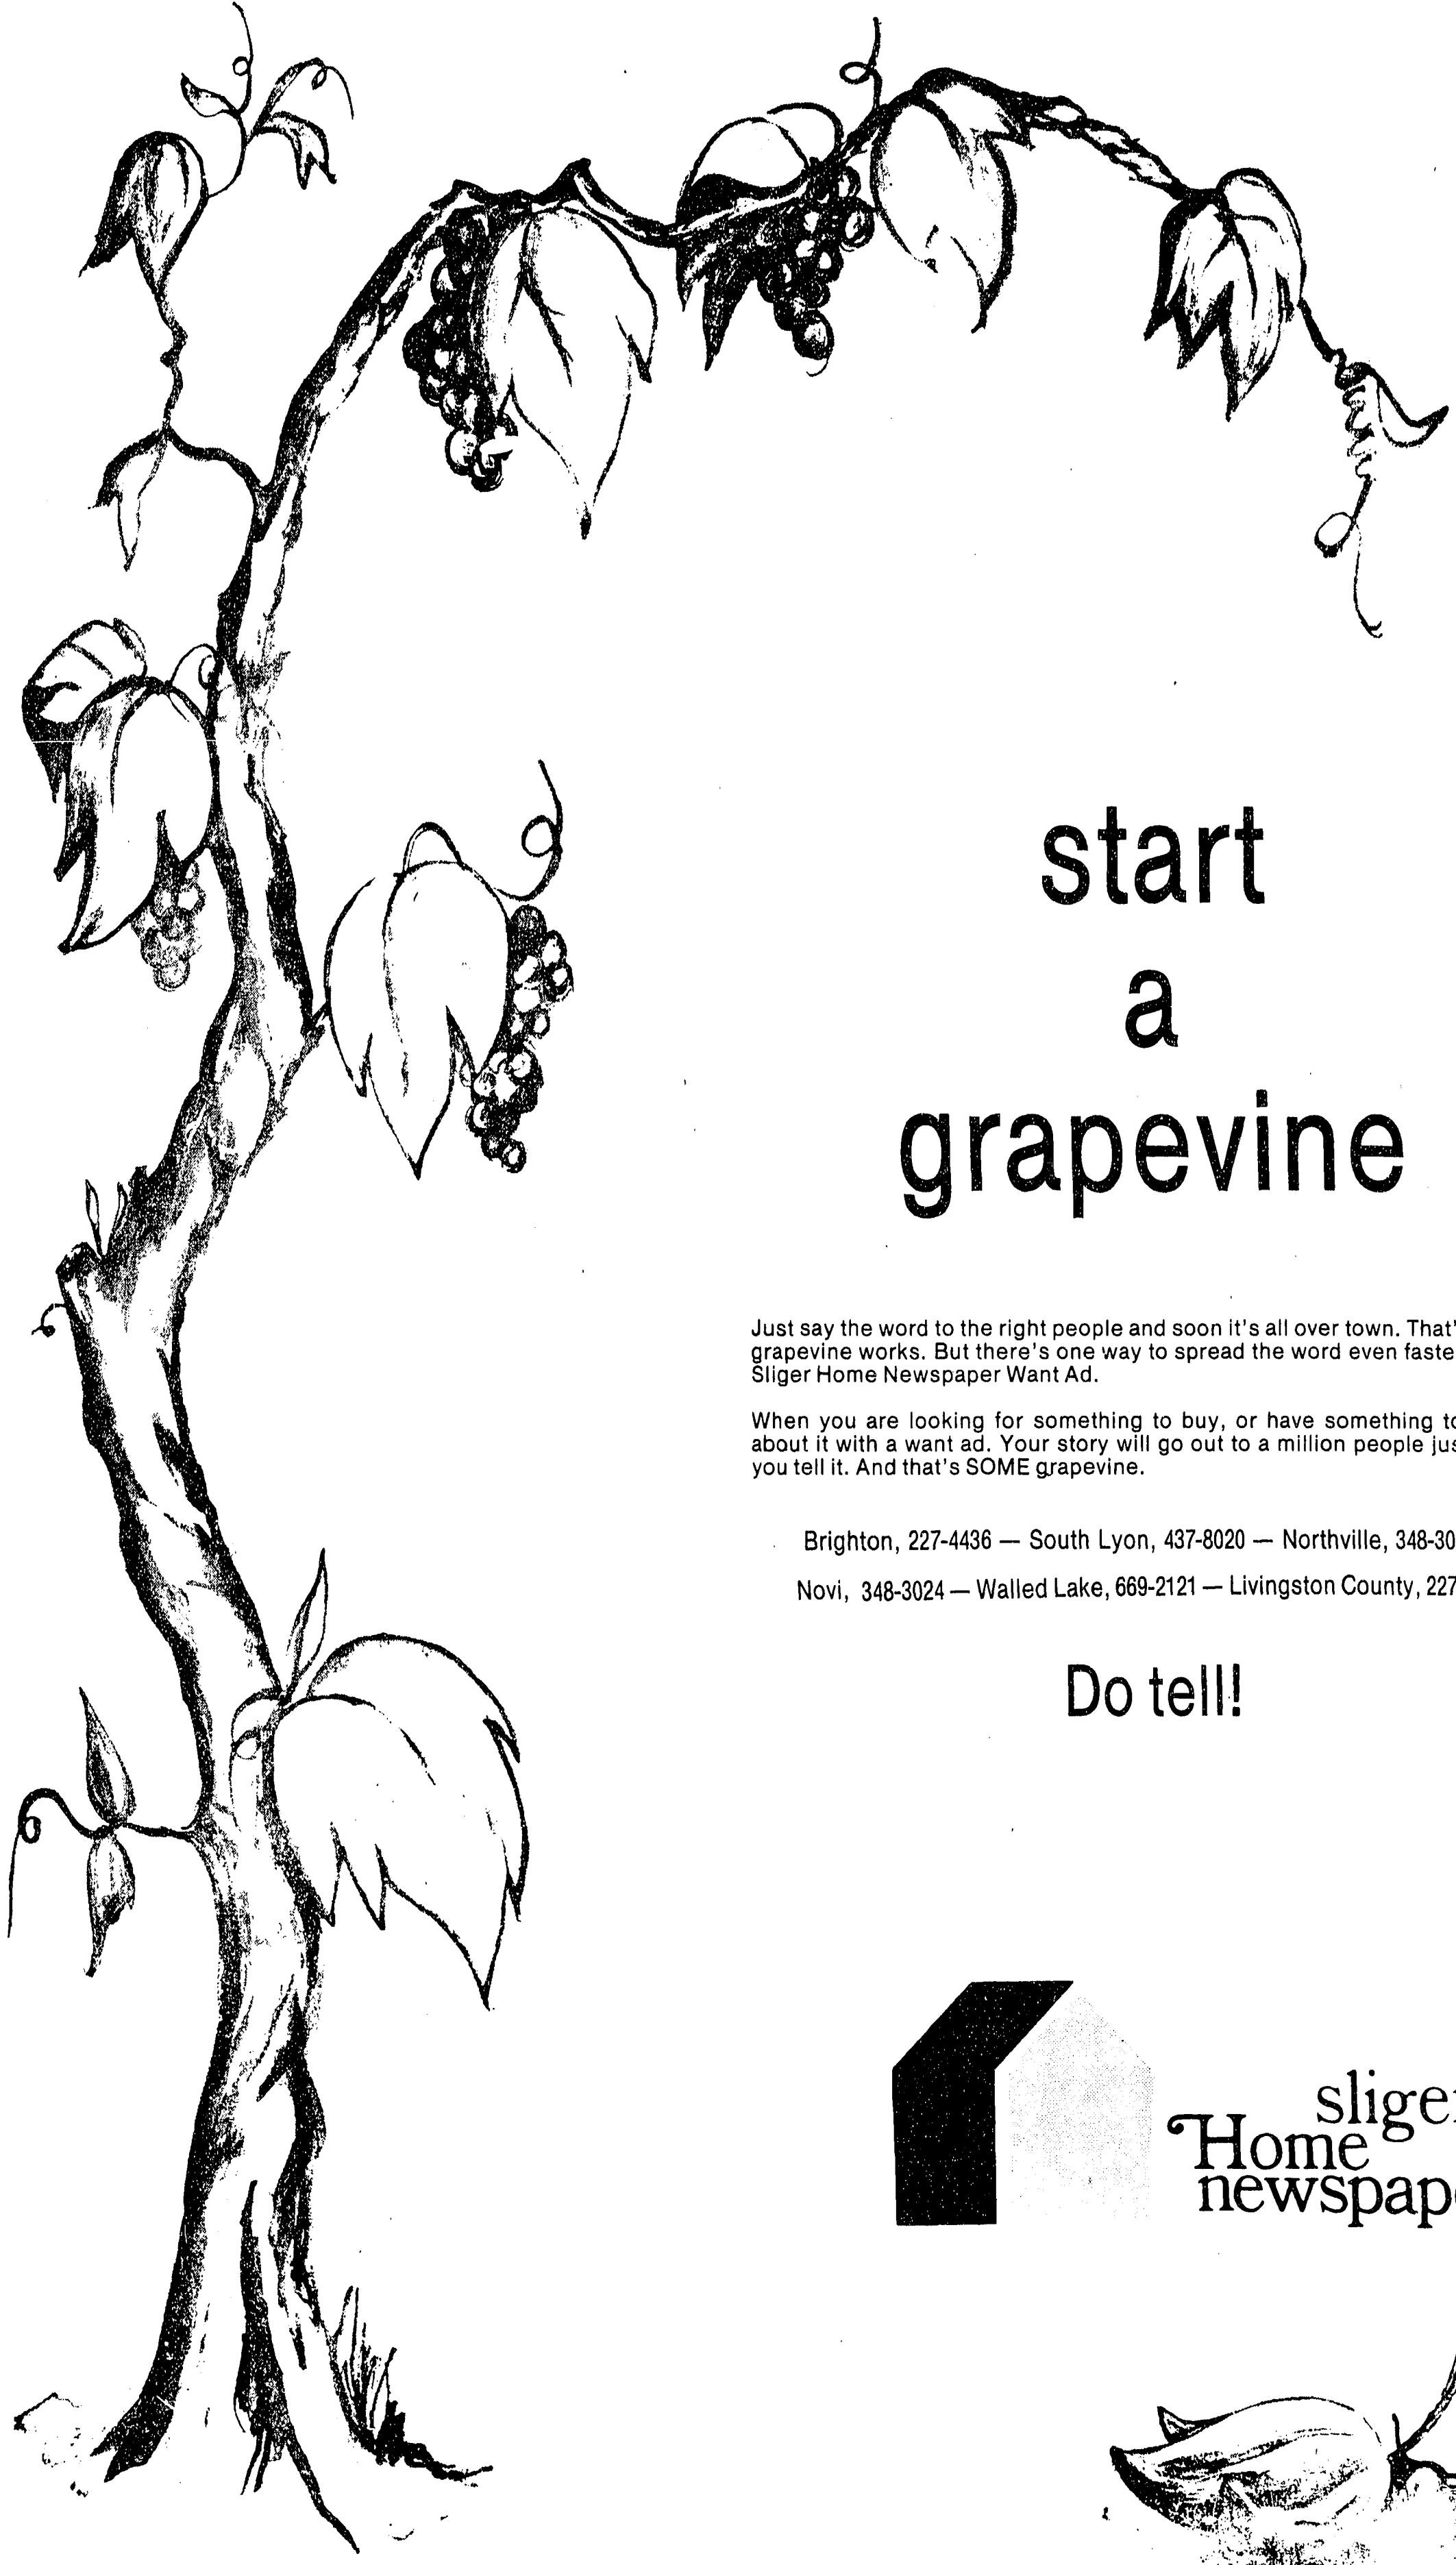

"It takes money to pay coaches' salaries, transportation costs and officials," he added.

The matter of money is much easier to deal with in the Walled Lake Community Education Department's soccer program, which also runs in the fall and spring. Cost in that circuit is only $6 per person, largely because no regular uniforms are used. The league offers its services to boys and girls from grades three to six.

John Slattengren, Program Specialist for the Community Education Department, said that every child plays at least eight minutes per half in the league, with awards presented and patches available to all participants.

Slattengren also noted that the league, which has 170 participants last spring and "3-400" the previous fall, has been received well.

In fact, Northville may end up being somewhat of a pioneer for soccer in the area. It was announced recently that Northville High School will add boys' and girls' soccer to its sports program next year, lending hope to soccer enthusiasts everywhere that more area schools will find a way to get the sport included in their regular activities every year.

Just say the word to the right people and soon it's all over town. That's how the grapevine works. But there's one way to spread the word even faster — with a Slinger Home Newspaper Want Ad.

When you are looking for something to buy, or have something to sell, tell about it with a want ad. Your story will go out to a million people just the way you tell it. And that's SOME grapevine.

Youth activities offered

The West Oakland YMCA is offering a variety of summer activities for all boys and girls, ages 10 through 16, in Highland and Commerce Townships. The summer program is sponsored by United Community Services (UCS) and local service clubs.

The summer activities are 50 cents or free. All participants must provide lunch and spending money. Many of the activities include transportation to and from the day's event. Local pick-up sites are: Highland Junior High, Brooks Elementary School, Paul Bryan Center and Commerce Township Park.

Special dates to remember are: July 6th, zoo trip; July 7th, Detroit Express Soccer; July 11th, Canoe trip; July 18th, Youth Activities Day; July 22nd, Tiger Baseball.

Also: July 25th, wave pool trip; July 27th/28th, backpacking trip; July 31st, canoe trip; August 3rd, disco dance lesson; August 8th, Detroit Science Center; August 10th, disco dance lesson; August 13th, wave pool trip; August 17th/18th, overnight canoe trip.

To join the summer activities, call the West Oakland YMCA, 685-3020, for information sheet, reservation and permission form. Due to space available, only those with reservations will be accepted.

The program is open to Highland and Commerce Township residents only.

*"We pledge to each other
our Lives,
our Fortunes and our sacred

The Declaration of Independence heralds the birth of our nation — and backs it up with something more than noble sentiment. The document ends with a mutual pledge, in which the 56 signers made a sweeping commitment—putting everything they had on the line . . . reputations, property, even life itself . . . in support of justice and freedom as God-given rights . . . the guiding principles of a new American way of life: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." It's 200 years now since those words were written, and men of each generation have given their lives to protect them. Others have lived their lives to affirm them . . . and to renew the pledge: that freedom is worth taking risks for, since nothing is safe without it.

Biking beats the energy crunch

But the price increase has been passed on to us by the wholesalers."

"A Raleigh Record for instance will cost about $170," Gillelan said. "Bikes made in Taiwan and Japan cost a lot less but they aren't nearly as good as English models."

"A good rule of thumb is that as the weight goes down in the bike, the price goes up. The less expensive ones are heavier."

As biking increases in popularity, the safety equipment that bicyclists use are an important consideration for new cyclists.

"Helmets are a very good idea," Gillelan said, "but they are so expensive. You pay over $30 and you really don't get a lot for your money. But demand is up so prices follow."

"I would recommend a rear-view mirror," Tushis said. "With the hostility that car drivers have towards cyclists, the safety a mirror affords is invaluable."

With the increase in bicycling, there is bound to be an increase in incidents between car drivers and bicycle riders. There are some important safety tips that cyclists should follow to avoid danger.

First of all, by law, a bicyclist has as much right to use a road, paved or otherwise, as a car. But for safety reasons it is best to ride to the side of the road.

The Michigan Department of State has dispensed a pamphlet with a number of bicycle safety tips. They should be followed by all bikers whether experienced or not.

First of all, know and obey all traffic signs. Secondly, drive on the right side of the road, as close to the edge as you can. Go in the same direction as the cars. Third, even though you have a legal right to the road, always be ready to give cars the right-of-way. Some car drivers may be so busy watching out for other cars, they don't notice you bike.

Fourth, don't drive out from between two parked cars. When you drive beside parked cars, watch out for car doors being opened. Fifth, when you cross a busy street, get off your bike and walk it.

Never carry packages, the sixth rule says, unless you have a basket or carrier on your bike. And never let them be in your way. The seventh tip advises to always drive with both hands on the handlebars. The only time you should take a hand off the handlebars is when you signal to let someone else know what you plan to do.

Eight, never carry a rider on your bike. That makes it hard to control your bike, as well as hard to see where you are going. It's also against the law.

Nine, if it is legal in your town, drive on the sidewalk. Be sure you have a bell or horn on your bike. Ring your bell when you are coming close to people walking. Always give pedestrians the right-of-way.

Slow down or stop at cross-roads, the tenth tip says, and at side-streets and driveways. Look both ways before crossing.

Never hitch rides from another moving vehicle, the 11th rule advises. Never show off on your bike. When you want to do any trick bike-driving, get away from all traffic, including people on foot. Don't bother others and don't try tricks that could hurt you, other people or property.

When driving after dark, have a light and reflectors on your bike. Stay away from busy streets and traffic.

If cycling entails more than an occasional jaunt around the block or a quick trip to the store to you, there are a number of cycling clubs in the Ann Arbor area that you may be interested in.

The Ann Arbor Bicycle Touring Society, which is a family oriented riding club; the Ann Arbor Vello Club, which is geared more towards racing; and the Ann Arbor Bicycling League, which is a lobbying group for cyclists' rights, all welcome the public. The Northville and Novi areas don't offer any cycling clubs.

The Ann Arbor Touring club has a number of different outings for its members. There are Breakfast Rides, in which everyone meets at the Amtrak Station in Ann Arbor and rides to one of the member's homes for breakfast. Last week the club rode to Whitmore Lake. These rides take place on Saturday mornings.

On Tuesday evenings Family Rides take place. The first eight to 10 miles are slow and easy, according to Rueban Chapman of the Touring Club, and then those who want to go further and faster can.

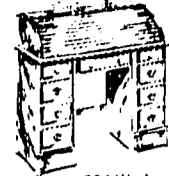

On Saturday, July 14, the Touring Club is sponsoring a Hell-Of-A-Ride. There will be three routes, all of which will go through Hell, Michigan. The routes are of various lengths; 50 and 100 kilometers and 100 miles.

Membership in the Touring Society costs $5 and can be sent to Chris Marble of 7695 Huron River Drive, Dexter Michigan, 48130, or for information, call 426-9694. Members receive a calendar which lists all of the upcoming Society events.
