

On Meadowbrook rezoning

Planners delay action

A public hearing to consider a rezoning request for a 13.76 acre parcel on Meadowbrook Road between Eight and Nine Mile has been continued by the Novi Planning Board to September 5.

Residents opposed to the rezoning action said they would be unable to attend a hearing in August.

Novi police study begins

The Novi Police Department will add an operational analyst to its staff Monday under a federal grant designed to improve planning and create more effective operations in the department.

Monroe will be responsible for translating computer data into a management program to increase efficiency and effectiveness of the police department.

Three people still alive thanks to Fleet ALS unit

By DAVID RAY

At least three Commerce area residents are alive today because of the response of Fleet Ambulance Services' advanced life support (ALS) unit, according to Floyd Miles Jr., president of the company.

Three cases cited by Miles involved "patients who were in cardiac arrest prior to our initiating care and who are living today."

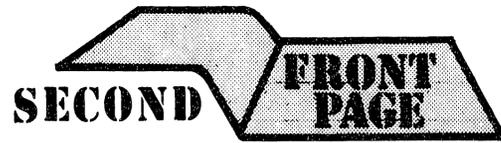

Two of the patients were women who have survived without the existence of the Commerce ALS unit. He added that the township board's decision to subsidize the specialized service "made the difference between life and death for these three and an unknown number of others."

The township board approved an agreement with Fleet last October for the ALS service. Under the pact, the township provides a $24,000 annual subsidy for the service and allows Fleet to use fire station number two on Fisher Avenue as the headquarters for the Commerce-based unit.

Miles said at that time that the number of emergency runs in the area would not make it economically feasible to base a unit in Commerce without the subsidy. Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake Village officials declined the company's request for financial assistance of $6,000 each a year.

Commerce residents receive a 50 percent discount on the cost of the specialized service because of the arrangement between the township and Fleet, while residents of the city and village must pay the full cost. The township, meanwhile, will receive a 75 percent credit or reimbursement from the company on revenues generated by the Commerce unit on all business over the $135,000 it.

Manager rips tax break for senior units

By DAVID RAY

Walled Lake city officials will not look favorably on any request by the developer of the proposed Lake Drive Manor elderly housing complex for tax abatements, City Manager Peter Parker has informed federal officials reviewing a proposal for a rent-subsidy commitment for the 100-unit facility.

Parker also complained to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that the city did not receive notice of a 30-day review and comment period for the proposal submitted by North Cranbrook Associates, developers of the proposed project.

Failure of the federal agency to inform Walled Lake of the review period, the manager said, caused "some hardships."

City officials were notified of the housing plan by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) in the past, the township has donated funds to the Walled Lake Schools for various recreation programs, such as summer camps, and has donated funds and assigned a CETA employee to the West Oakland YMCA to assist its activities.

The board also approved last week township membership in the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

In addition to the CETA recreation employees, the township has hired maintenance workers under the federal program to work on Bicentennial and Richardson parks.

While an official registration will not be required, Miss Peterman said participants will be asked to fill out an emergency card. She added that children will be encouraged to bring their lunch to the recreation center for the noon-time break.

The board also approved last week township membership in the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

Wixom council votes to incorporate EDC

A resolution to create an Economic Development Corporation (EDC) was approved unanimously by the Wixom City Council last week.

The action came at a public hearing Tuesday. There was no opposition to the creation of an EDC in Wixom.

The application for establishment of a Wixom EDC was submitted by representatives of the Conklin Forging Company which has announced plans to construct a major industrial facility on a 20-acre parcel east of Beck Road and north of West Road.

Representatives of the forging company already have appeared before the city's planning commission with a request for site plan approval of the proposed 60,000 square foot building.

Variances sought

Kinder-Care proposal clears first EDC hurdle

Kinder-Care Learning Center's request for assistance from the Walled Lake Economic Development Corporation (EDC) cleared its first hurdle Thursday when the EDC Board of Directors approved a resolution of intent to issue revenue bonds to finance the $300,000 project and directed Board President Cameron E. Rose to sign a proper memorandum of agreement with developers of the proposed day care center.

Meanwhile, the Walled Lake Plan Commission last week tabled action on the site plan for the proposed 4,675-square-foot facility and scheduled a special meeting for August 6 to review updated drawings of the building.

Ronald Mansur, developer of the proposed Kinder-Care, is expected to appear before the city's zoning board of appeals July 30 to request two variances — one for the steep slope of the schoolhouse design that is five feet taller than the 25-foot height limit in an R-1-A (single family residential) district and the other for a rear-yard setback.

Once the variances are considered, the city planners will review the site plan at the special meeting, Mansur told the EDC board. City officials noted that special approval of the proposed use is required from the plan commission under the zoning ordinance.

The proposed Kinder-Care is slated for construction on Decker Road, north of Pontiac Trail and east of the Decker Elementary School.

A nation-wide chain based in Alabama, Kinder-Care has more than 300 day care centers located across the country, including four in the Detroit area — Northville, Troy, Southfield and Sterling Heights. A fifth facility is under construction in Livonia. Eventually the firm would like to have 25 centers in the metropolitan Detroit area, the developer said.

Mansur said the 85-by-55-foot center will have four classrooms, designed for an enrollment of 75 to 100 students. A staff of six to 10 employees will supervise activities at the Walled Lake Kinder-Care, Mansur added.

In addition to providing day care services, the developer said Kinder-Care also offers an educational program.

At last week's EDC meeting, Mansur presented the directors with a letter from Emanuel Kilbers, vice-president of real estate for the firm, indicating that Kinder-Care officials are "amenable to entering into our typical 20 year triple net lease" with the local developers.

Mansur said he is "very confident" of getting a loan for the proposed day care center and added that the typical lease for a Kinder-Care would be sufficient to retire bonds issued by the EDC.

City Attorney Richard J. Poehlman noted that the proposed memorandum of agreement between the EDC and Kinder-Walled Lake was in need of revision, but added that the board could approve a resolution of intent and authorize Rose to execute the agreement.

The attorney pointed out that the developers cannot obtain a building permit for the facility until the plan commission okays the special approval and site plan.

Poehlman and City Manager Peter Parker told the EDC board that, in their opinion, the Kinder-Care proposal met the spirit of the state EDC law and would be a desirable type of facility.

Director Patricia Hoppe said she has seen Kinder-Care buildings in Alabama and thinks they are attractive.

Approval of the bonds, the experts add, does not affect the city's credit rating or borrowing power and does not include any property tax abatement.

The EDC still must ask the city council to appoint two additional board directors to consider the Kinder-Care request and recommend designation of a project area. The city council must hold public hearings on the proposed project area and the project plan before approving the plan. City planners also must recommend approval of the plan.

Kinder-Care's application for assistance is the second one received by the Walled Lake EDC since it was created a year ago.

The first applicant, Walled Lake Commons, developers of the proposed Knart store, received project plan approval from the council last fall, but a move to call for a referendum election on the ordinance that established the development corporation delayed action from February 6 to mid-April when an Oakland County Circuit judge ruled that the ordinance was not subject to referendum.

However, Knart Corporation officials said June 26 that they have scrapped plans for the Walled Lake store because the proposed rent for the building would be higher than originally anticipated due to the delays.

Stuart Frankel, a partner in Walled Lake Commons, was scheduled to address the city council last night, after our deadline. He was expected to announce cancellation of the plans for the Walled Lake store. Frankel has indicated that he is seeking another tenant for a building that may be constructed on the site at West Maple Road and Pontiac Trail.

Frankel approached city officials in May 1978 with the proposal to create an EDC. He said that the lower interest rate that probably would be available to a developer would offset Walled Lake's relatively high local property tax rate.

Senior citizen groups squabble over use of center

Representatives of Commerce area senior citizen groups are expected to meet early next month with township officials to discuss use of the township-owned Richardson Community Center.

Approximately 30 senior citizens showed up at the July 10 township board meeting to complain about a decision to prohibit groups from meeting in the center during the time — 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. — allotted to the Walled Lake Schools' senior citizen program and the Oakland-Livingston Human Services Agency (OLHSA) nutrition program.

Township Supervisor Robert Long said the rule against group meetings may only be a temporary regulation until township and school officials can determine how many people will take part in regularly scheduled activities.

If a large group meets in the center, Long said, it might be disturbed by noise from other activities or programs.

Fran Sarto, senior citizen coordinator for the Walled Lake Schools, said group meetings could be scheduled in the Richardson center "if that's what they (representatives of the organizations) want."

The controversy over use of the center was raised by the East Lakes seniors group and a garden club that meet at the township hall when the OLHSA nutrition site was located there.

The East Lakes group, which used to meet in the St. Mark's Lutheran Church, requested permission to meet in the new community center which opened in late May. The request was denied by school officials who have a contract with the township for programming the seniors center during the day. Long offered the group the use of the township hall meeting room.

At last week's meeting, the supervisor said it was his understanding that the group had decided to accept the township's offer. Several members of the East Lakes organization indicated, however, that they felt they should be able to meet in the Richardson facility.

The group's business meetings usually take about 30 minutes, the members said, and they would prefer to meet at the OLHSA nutrition site.

Township Trustee Bruce Enfield, chairperson of the parks and recreation committee, said a possible solution to the problem would be the use of parttitions to divide the community center into smaller areas. The parks panel discussed the issue of use of the center at its July meeting, and Enfield agreed to bring the subject up again at the August 7 session.

In related action last week, the township board voted to accept a $2,930 federal grant from the Area Agency on Aging to purchase equipment for the community center. The township must match the grant with 10 percent local funding.

Among the equipment and supplies that will be purchased under the federal grant are filing cabinets, a coffee maker, privacy screens, card tables, a record player, coat racks, a horse shoes set and a shuffle board kit.

Mrs. Sarto reported last week that a piano has been donated to the center. The township built the 3,600-square-foot facility in the 80-acre Richardson Memorial Park with federal community development act funds. The late Ralph C. Richardson, a member of a prominent family, donated the park land to the township.

While the community center is used primarily as a senior citizen drop-in center during the day, other groups may use the facility at night and on weekends.

Township starts rec program

Commerce Township began its own recreation program Monday with employees hired under the federal comprehensive employment and training act (CETA) and equipment purchased out of the township's fund balance.

The major activity of the new program will be a recreation center in Bicentennial Park, located behind the township hall at 2840 Fisher Avenue.

Sue Peterman has been hired as recreation director under the CETA program, and Township Clerk Robert McGee said additional employees will be hired under the federal grant program.

In a report to the township board July 10, Miss Peterman said the recreation center should be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the 7½-acre park. She suggested that two playground directors should staff the program to provide proper supervision.

The township board last week allocated $568 out of its fund balance to purchase sports equipment for the program. Miss Peterman indicated that the sports equipment will be available for use at no cost in the park during program hours.

The open recreation program will include volleyball, softball, basketball, tennis, badminton and board games in addition to equipment that will be available for other playground activities, she said.

Arts and crafts activities also will be offered in the park, although Miss Peterman suggested that there should be a charge for materials in order to make the program self-supporting.

The recreation director said other organized activities, such as a pet show, various types of tournaments and instruction, could be offered, if enough interest is shown.

She also suggested that a Junior Olympics meet might be held.

While an official registration will not be required, Miss Peterman said participants will be asked to fill out an emergency card. She added that children will be encouraged to bring their lunch to the recreation center for the noon-time break.

The board also approved last week township membership in the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

In addition to the CETA recreation employees, the township has hired maintenance workers under the federal program to work on Bicentennial and Richardson parks.

'Commerce Central' plans ready

A site plan for a 43-acre commercial and office development in the southeast corner of Commerce Township was presented to township officials Friday by Daniel Lublin, president of Standard Industries, Incorporated.

"Commerce Central" — as the development will be called — includes a large commercial "anchor" store, a supermarket, a drug store, a theatre, a delicatessen, a bank, several restaurants and other shops, for a total of some 317,600 square feet of commercial use on the Haggerty-Fourteen Mile roads site, in addition to a proposed three-story, 27,000-square-foot office building.

As a result of the new plans, Lublin asked the Commerce Township Planning Commission Monday to withdraw all pending rezoning requests filed in the last 1½ years by Standard Industries and other owners of the more than 500-acre parcel. A public hearing scheduled for July 30 on the rezoning requests will be canceled upon receipt of a letter from Lublin officially withdrawing all of the zoning change petitions, the planners decided.

Lublin, who has presented several proposed plans for development of the area over the last 25 years, told the township planning panel that he has "gone full circle; we're at the beginning again."

Owners of the property finalized partnership and syndication arrangements totalling $6.5 million Monday morning, Lublin said.

"We have all of our ducks in order and we're ready to go," he said. The developer added that about 10 percent of the proposed commercial center already has been leased, with occupancy expected by the summer of 1981. Construction work should begin in 90 to 120 days, Lublin added.

The 43-acre site is zoned M-1 (light industrial), said Lublin, adding that the site plan "fully conforms with all zoning ordinances and requirements under the existing zoning on our lands; we no longer want to change our lands from the M-1 industrial to commercial."

Of the some 380 acres of land that was proposed for rezoning to various uses, Lublin indicated that two of the petitions will be resubmitted to the township as further site plans for the area are developed.

M-275 freeway alignment probably would still be proposed for multiple residential use, although the number of apartments probably will be between 500 and 1,000 units.

Land east of the freeway alignment will be used for commercial and office development, Lublin said. A site plan for additional office buildings on land north of the proposed Commerce Central complex will be submitted to the township in about 120 days, he added.

"This is almost identical to the plans we were working on 25 years ago," Lublin told The News. "The only difference is that it's no longer an enclosed mall."

The site plan submitted to the township last week shows construction of the buildings on the periphery of the property with parking in the middle of the development.

If state transportation officials eventually approve a north-south trunkline road for the area, either along Haggerty or the original M-275 alignment to the west of Haggerty, Lublin said his plans could be revised to accommodate the roadway.

At one time plans for the area called for construction of 2,000 to 3,000 apartment units. Following an April 1978 public hearing on a rezoning request for multiple residential, township officials suggested that Lublin should work with Planning Consultant Steve Lehoczy and the commission to come up with a more acceptable proposal.

As recently as a month ago, Lublin and his partners submitted a site plan for a 260-foot single-family residential subdivision on a portion of the site. The developer said Monday, though, that it was working on 25 years ago," Lublin told The News. "The only difference is that it's no longer an enclosed mall."

State, county ask report

Wixom council authorizes study of water system

Facing pressure from both state and county health officials, Wixom's City Council has authorized a complete study of its municipal water system.

Specifically, the council last week directed City Engineer Laurence Pate to prepare the study at a cost not to exceed $8,500.

The directive calls for Pate to collect data on wells, pumps and controls; prepare maps of those facilities; update population studies and review maximum daily and hourly consumption rates.

Additionally, the directive calls for the city engineer to prepare plans and cost estimates for both above-ground and elevated relief storage facilities.

However, the study will not include a cost analysis of the feasibility of tying into the Detroit Water System in spite of objections from Mayor's Assistant Stephen Bonczek.

Bonczek maintained that the feasibility of tying into Detroit water must be explored before the city expands funds to upgrade its local system.

"I think we have to know the comparative costs before we expend funds on pumping or storage facilities," argued the mayor's assistant. "We may discover that it is more cost-effective in the long run to tie into Detroit facilities than to expand our own system."

Bonczek's arguments were dismissed as premature at the present time by the council which subsequently voted unanimously to authorize the study.

Impetus for authorizing the report was provided by the State Department of Public Health, which has notified city and county officials of concerns about Wixom's water supply system.

Richard Lehner, a sanitary engineer with the water supply division of the state health department, informed city officials in May that "there is an immediate need for the City of Wixom to evaluate some of their existing and expanding water systems to ensure that satisfactory facilities will be provided and that adequate water storage facilities should be considered."

Presently, there is no central water supply system in the city. Instead, each individual development is serviced by a system of private wells.

Although state and county engineers have said they are concerned about the water supply system throughout the city, they are particularly concerned with the water system in the southeast section of the city which has experienced considerable multi-family residential development.

Bud Corwin, an engineer with the Oakland County DFW, reports that Wixom's water supply is adequate to meet present needs. But adequacy of the water supply does not address the security of obtaining water system problems by linking up the various individual well systems, Corwin explained.

"The state is not saying that Wixom is going to run out of water," added Corwin. "They're saying that there's a need to do some planning before too much more development occurs."

In essence, state officials have expressed two primary concerns. First, they hope to promote constancy of water supply and pressure by making provisions for the individual wells to be inter-connected. And second, they want the city to make provision for storage capacity which can be used at times of peak demand or in emergency situations.

Pate told the council last week that the state wants the city to get away from its present system in which water is pumped from the ground on an "as needed" basis.

He informed council members that the city's wells are producing at a relatively low rate. He noted that most modern fire engine pumper trucks don't pump less than 1,000 gallons per minute and suggested that the city's water lines may not accommodate that rate.

Corwin told the council in a meeting May 8 that Detroit water may be the ultimate solution to Wixom's water supply system. Hooking into the Detroit system would eliminate the need for the city to purchase costly water purification systems as well as storage facilities, he stated.

Drive will reduce safety hazard

A proposal to improve pedestrian safety around the Wixom Municipal Complex on Pontiac Trail is presently pending before the Wixom City Council.

Specifically, the council is considering a proposal to construct a one-way exit drive to Pontiac Trail on the west side of city hall.

Presently, the only access to the municipal complex site is located on the east side of city hall. In addition to city offices, the municipal complex contains the police department and recreational facilities.

Police Chief Philip Leonard stated that the addition of the exit drive on the west side of city hall should improve pedestrian safety at the municipal complex.

When the exit drive is installed, police vehicles on emergency runs will have direct access to Pontiac Trail without having to circle behind the building.

"I've always been fearful about having police vehicles on emergency runs whizzing around behind the building where children and other citizens are using the recreational facilities," commented the police chief.

Although he said he had hoped the drive on the west side of city hall would provide for two-way traffic, Leonard said that the one-way exit would cut the safety hazard in half.

Cost of the project, including acceleration-deceleration lanes, has been pegged at $3,950. There will be an additional expense of $600 for engineering, inspection, testing and administration.

The council appeared ready to award the contract for the paving to Detroit Concrete Products at last week's session, but then tabled action on the proposal pending a legal opinion as to whether revenue sharing funds can be used for the project without holding a public hearing.

The council is expected to award the contract for the improvements at its July 24 meeting.

Rezoning request okayed

Wixom approves extension of commercial district

A request from Sami Poota for the rezoning of a 3.3 acre parcel immediately north of the Wixom Food Market has been approved by the Wixom City Council.

Poota is owner of the Wixom Food Market.

The council voted unanimously last week to rezone the property from its existing M-1 (light industrial) designation to a B-2 (community business) classification.

The parcel is located on the east side of South Wixom Road between Pontiac Trail and West Road.

In approving the rezoning request, the council rejected the decision of the planning commission which had recommended denial of the commercial rezoning at its June 4 meeting.

Thomas Ebejer of Winbrenner and Ebejer, architects for the proposed development, told the council last week that he did not understand the reasons for the planners' recommendation. "I had a feeling that they believed there was something insidious about Mr. Poota's plans which I can't understand," stated Ebejer.

Further stating that he felt the planners had been "unreasonable," Ebejer reported that the rezoning request had been recommended for denial because Poota had failed to show need.

"That's not much of a reason if this goes to court," he added. "I would hope the council comes up with a better reason if it decides to turn down this rezoning application."

The rezoning of the 3.3 acre parcel adjacent to the Wixom Food Market is the second application for commercial rezoning from Poota which has won council approval.

The council earlier this year rezoned a 15-acre parcel on the southwest corner of the South Wixom-Pontiac Trail intersection for commercial development.

Ebejer told the council last week that Poota has plans to develop both parcels.

He stated that Poota currently is negotiating with a major hardware chain and a major drug store chain for facilities on the 15-acre parcel.

The site also may contain a bank and one or two restaurants, according to Ebejer.

Joseph Polissano, owner of J.P. Realty Company in Novi, reported that negotiations also are underway for a bowling alley on five acres of the 15-acre parcel.

Ebejer emphasized that the 15-acre parcel and the 3.3 acre parcel are individual matters and should be reviewed independently.

He reported that Poota is negotiating with two tenants who may utilize the entire 3.3 acre parcel adjacent to the Wixom Food Market. The two unnamed tenants would require the entire 17,000 square feet of retail space proposed for the site.

Ebejer told the council that approval of the rezoning request would add valuable commercial tax base to the city and generate relatively little additional traffic or demand for services.

"Mr. Poota intends to develop both of these parcels in the immediate future," Ebejer stated. "He's not talking about development 10 years from now."

The rezoning request was supported by Councilmen Dennis Andrews and Melvin Green.

Andrews said he "got a laugh" out of a statement attributed to City Planning Consultant Charles Leman about additional traffic problems that would be generated from a commercial application on the property.

"We have two roads in this city — Wixom Road and Pontiac Trail — which will support traffic for commercial uses," he said. "Where's our commercial area going to go if we don't put it on one of those roads?"

Green expressed "disappointment" with the recommendation for denial from the planning commission.

"All their discussion seemed to center around how much commercial property is owned by Mr. Poota and not what is proper zoning," said Green. "I feel it's good planning to rezone this property for commercial use instead of letting it stay industrial. Mr. Poota has been a good taxpayer."

The council subsequently voted unanimously to rezone the property to the B-2 (commercial) designation.

Wixom park plans enter second phase

Development of the North Wixom Park is moving ahead.

Site preparation for the first phase of the park development plan has been completed. And Wixom's City Council last week directed Mayor's Assistant Stephen Bonczek to enter into a contract with an architectural firm for the second phase of the master plan for park development.

Specifically, the council voted unanimously to enter into a contract with the architectural firm of Frimodig/Laupmanis for preparation of bid specifications for the second phase of the park.

The second phase consists of construction of a comfort station with storage area, septic field, well and electrical service.

Total cost of the comfort station and amenities has been pegged at $60,000 with another $6,000 for architectural and engineering services.

Bonczek indicated that phase two financing would come from three sources: $54,500 from 1979 community development block grant (CDBG) funds for recreational development, $5,000 from revenue sharing funds for park land development and $6,500 from 1979 CDBG contingency funds.

Bonczek told the council he hopes to bid the project in late July of this year with construction to begin in August.

Construction of the comfort station should be completed within 90 days.

The mayor's assistant also reported that completion of the first phase of the park development plan has been delayed by the availability of equipment.

The first phase includes a softball diamond, sledding hill and lot lot as well as an open-sided picnic shelter/pavilion with a fireplace.

Bonczek said last week that the city has experienced some delays in the arrival of equipment. All the site preparation for the softball diamond, sledding hill and lot lot have been completed, but the city cannot progress until the equipment arrives.

Specifically, Bonczek indicated that the city is awaiting the arrival of fencing for the softball field, the lot lot equipment and the materials for the pavilion.

He said the equipment will be installed as soon as it arrives.

The third and final phase of the project is scheduled for completion next year. Phase three will involve construction of tennis, volleyball and basketball courts as well as a little league baseball diamond.

Total anticipated cost of phase three is $85,000.

The 46-acre recreational site is located north of the city in Commerce Township.

Two rezoning requests approved in Commerce

Two rezoning requests were approved July 10 by the Commerce Township board and a third proposed zoning change was introduced as an amendment to the zoning ordinance map.

Approved last week were ordinance amendments that change a 12.9-acre site east of South Commerce Road, adjacent to Hawk Lake, from R-3 (multiple residential) to R-1-A (single family residential) and a 3.65-acre parcel southwest of Benstein Road and Glen Iris Drive from R-1-A to R-1-B, also a single family residential designation.

Lucio Capicchioni, owner of the property on Hawk Lake, requested the zoning change because the site cannot be developed for a proposed 96-unit apartment complex without sewer service in the Walled Lake-Novi sewer system.

Walled Lake city officials last year refused to approve capacity in the system to the developers of the proposed apartments because the system is nearing capacity.

Capicchioni asked for the rezoning so the land can be developed as four large-lot single family sites, according to Township Clerk Robert McGee.

The township planning commission and Oakland County (Zoning) Coordinating Committee both recommended approval of the zoning change, which took effect last Wednesday.

Also okayed at last week's meeting was a rezoning requested by Township Trustee Paul Colom for the property southwest of Benstein and Glen Iris for the proposed Pine Haven Subdivision Number Two.

The difference between R-1-A and R-1-B classifications is in the minimum required square footage of the homes, according to McGee, who noted there is no difference in minimum lot size.

Colom explained that the new designation will provide for a better mix of housing styles in the subdivision since the square footage requirement for two-story homes in the R-1-A district is significantly greater than the R-1-B standards. He said the cost of building a 1,900-square-foot, two-story home in an R-1-A district is becoming prohibitive.

The R-1-B requirement for two-story dwellings is 1,500 square feet, a difference of 400 square feet. For 1½ story homes, the difference is 200 square feet — 1,500 compared to 1,300 — while minimum size for one-story dwellings differ by 150 square feet — 1,200 to 1,050 — between the two districts.

Township planners and the county committee recommended approval of the request. Colom abstained from the township board vote on the zoning change because of his ownership of the property.

The rezoning request introduced at last week's meeting proposes changing a 20-acre site northwest of Wise and Carroll Lake roads from R-1-A to R-1-B for the proposed River Pine Estates Subdivision, for many of the same reasons cited by the developers of the proposed Pine Haven Two subdivision.

Colom noted that the River Pine Estates' request was the third application in a row for a change from R-1-A to R-1-B and he later offered a resolution asking the planning commission to study the R-1-A minimum size requirements for two-story homes. The resolution was okayed by the board.

Industrial rezoning okayed on Beck Road

The rezoning of two 10-acre parcels for industrial development has been approved by the Wixom City Council.

The two 10-acre parcels are located on the east side of Beck Road between West Road and Twelve Mile. One of the parcels is owned by Edward Gidner, while the other parcel is under the ownership of Dale and Emily Webber.

The council voted unanimously last week to rezone the parcels from their existing RA-1 (single family residential) designation to a M-1 (light industrial) classification.

Joseph Polissano, representing the owners of the parcels, told the council that the land has been designated for industrial development on the city's master plan. Additionally, Polissano reported that the parcels about property slated for general industrial development along the rear property line in Novi.

"These parcels are master planned for industrial development and they're surrounded by industrial-zoned property," stated Polissano. "I'm trying to make this area come alive and produce tax base for the City of Wixom."

Polissano also told the council that two uses presently are proposed for the site. One of the proposed uses is a 35,000 square foot light manufacturing concern, while the other proposed use will be a 25,000 square foot tool shop with offices.

Opposition to the rezoning request was expressed by Lillian Mayster, a property owner on the west side of Beck Road, approximately opposite the Gidner-Webb parcel.

Mrs. Mayster told the council that an industrial use on the property would create more traffic and pollution. "We live in a nice rural area and would like to keep it that way," she said.

The rezoning request had been recommended for approval by the city's planning commission on June 4, and additional support for the rezoning was expressed at last week's hearing by Councilman Melvin Green.

Noting that he was an area resident, Green said industrial zoning on all four sides of the Gidner-Webb parcel has just about destroyed the area for residential development.

"I'd like to see it remain residential, too, but I realize we must recognize what is proposed on the master plan," he said.

Green added that any attempts to maintain a residential orientation in the middle of an industrial area could encourage development of a mobile home park.

The council subsequently voted unanimously to rezone the property to the M-1 (light industrial) classification.

Housing rehab director hired to serve Novi, Walled Lake

A financial aid program for individuals who wish to rehabilitate their homes will soon be operating for Novi and Walled Lake residents.

John Hazeroth, 23, has just been hired by the two communities to manage the low interest loan and grant program.

He will undergo a four to six week training program offered by Oakland County. During that time he will begin processing applications from individuals who wish to make repairs to their homes.

Hazeroth was selected from a field of nine candidates. He was interviewed by officials from both communities as well as representatives of the county.

As a rehabilitation director he will earn $13,311 annually. Currently the position will be for one year, since federal funding expires June 30, 1980.

Determination as to whether funding will be continued beyond that date depends upon the performance of the program.

Walled Lake and Novi are participating jointly in the rehabilitation program. Each community will receive $100,000 to be distributed among those who do not have the financial means or who need incentive to repair their homes.

Hazeroth's responsibilities will include working in both communities to promote the program. He also will process applications and handle the funding of home repairs. His salary will be paid through Oakland County.

Under the program two types of financial aid will be available to residents around Walled Lake. Individuals who meet low income guidelines will be in line for direct grants, while any other homeowner can apply for a combination of grants and loans.

To be eligible the applicant must have owned the home for at least a year and property taxes must not be more than one year delinquent.

Eligibility is also based in part upon the family income. A family with an adjusted income of $3,000 or less could be eligible for a 100 percent grant.

Under the loan part of the program, a family with an adjusted income of up to $13,000 could be eligible for a 100 percent loan.

Between those extremes grant-loan combinations will be available depending upon the income of the family. For example, a family with an income of $6,000 could be eligible for a 30 percent loan and a 70 percent grant.

Interest on the loans is a simple three percent and can be repaid over 20 years.

The program will be entirely voluntary, and applicants for funding will be those individuals which repairs they wish to have done to their homes.

However, if funding has been requested for a repair and an unsafe condition is discovered in the home the unsafe condition must be taken precedent over the repair initially requested by the residents.

In addition a home will not be eligible for funding if the cost of the repair exceeds 50 percent of the value of the residence. Funds for essential repairs, such as wiring or heating systems, will be available to all homes, however.

The communities will use the program as a method of code enforcement, though individuals who apply for funding may be asked to repair obvious code violations.

Eventually the communities hope to expand the program so that anyone who wants to upgrade his home will be able to do so. In the future this could even include cosmetic improvement such as siding, fencing and additions.

Funds for non-essential housing improvements are available under Section 312 of the Housing Act of 1964.

If the rehabilitation program is successful, the cities plan to apply for the 312 funding which can be used by any resident.

project. Since lending institutions don't have to pay income tax on the interest earned from the loan, they usually can offer an interest rate of two to three percent lower than is available under conventional financing.

Even though EDC financing is handled through the sale of government-issued bonds, units of government are not responsible for retiring the bonds and the issuance of bonds does not affect the government's credit rating or ability to borrow.

City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli noted that the action taken by the council last week merely brought the program into creating a development corporation.

The articles of incorporation approved by the council now must be filed with the Michigan Secretary of State and the Oakland County Clerk and published in the city's legal newspaper.

The next step will be for Mayor Lillian Spencer to appoint nine individuals to the EDC's board of directors. The mayor's appointments must be approved by the city council.

Once the board of directors has been appointed, they will draw up by-laws for the corporation which also must be approved at a public hearing.

After the by-laws have been adopted, the EDC will be eligible to accept applications for EDC financing.

Although Conklin Forging representatives will be among the first applicants, the EDC will be eligible to accept additional applications for funding.

Forrest Hubbel, Ray Petty and Sharon Camisa of Walled Lake have indicated that they will seek EDC financing for a proposed restaurant complex on the northwest corner of South Wixom Road and Grand River.

Petty told The News last week that EDC financing will "help our plans tremendously."

Bulgarelli noted that the city has received additional inquiries from parties interested in EDC financing.

multiple family residential units, a golf course and other related recreational facilities."

Plans for the proposed M-275 freeway, though, blocked development of the site from 1967 until 1977 when the highway project was canceled by the Michigan State Highway Commission.

Lubin and his partners first approached township officials with revising plans in late 1977.

Village still waiting on restoration plans

Wolverine Lake Village President John McLellan said last week that Bob Williams, the consulting engineer for the lake rehabilitation program, still has not completed his final study.

McLellan had to address the questions of several concerned village residents at last Wednesday's regular council meeting. Originally, Williams said his lake report would be ready by mid-April, but the engineer has run into a series of delays.

Some members of the audience expressed a desire for a deadline to be established by Williams. Village resident Dewey Hicks said "It's time we have less delay and more action."

McLellan, while admitting that he too was concerned about the delay, said that "we have a man here (Williams) who's very dedicated...the engineer is being very cautious."

One fact that seemed to please the audience is that due to the delay, the village is apparently getting the most out of the engineer's services. Williams, according to McLellan, will receive $2,000 for his work on the program. Since the engineer has been at work on the lake for some 3 1/2 months, several residents commented at the meeting that they were "at least getting our money's worth."

In assessing Williams' work thus far, others joined McLellan in noting the engineer's dedication in connection with the clean-up effort. Village Administrator Bill O'Brien said that Williams took his final lake samples a two Fridays ago, and Water Team member Jim Donahue added that the engineer has spent countless hours along the lake marking stumps for stump removal and even scuba diving.

McLellan said that he was "still optimistic" that installation of a new well and stump removal would occur this year.

Williams was hired in March to review the lake program as presented by the village Lake Board. The Lake Board adopted the program as recommended by the Water Team.

The engineer and McLellan will meet again Thursday evening (tomorrow) to discuss the program. The village president said Tuesday that Williams has completed his rough draft proposal for the program.

Malicious destruction

Harry Kutschke of Novi's Chateau Estates Mobile Home Park examines some paint which was sprayed on his home by vandals last week. Novi police said green, blue and white paint was sprayed on various homes in the park as well as the clubhouse and the managers' residence. Park Manager Bob Steiner called the incident the worst case of malicious destruction of property "we've had since we've been here." Steiner said there is reason to believe the spray-painting incident may be related to another incident in which $600 worth of windows were broken last spring. A $350 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest of the individuals responsible for the damage. Steiner reported that all the paint was removed from the homes the day following the incident.

New Foster Farm plans tabled

The Walled Lake Plan Commission tabled action on the single-family subdivision proposed for development on the "Foster Farm" property last Tuesday night, as the panel did not have sufficient time to review the latest plans. Plans for the 153-unit subdivision were submitted to the board at the regular plan commission meeting that evening by representatives of the Cambridge Equity Corporation. Developer Clare Bornstein was not present.

The development must meet the requirements of Walled Lake's subdivision ordinance before final site plan approval is granted. Among the requirements set down by the plan commission at last Tuesday's meeting were the location of a proposed utility system and the naming of streets in the development. In addition, a retention area in the northeast portion of the property will be subject to approval by the City of Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake Village (see related story).

Road draws objection

Wolverine Lake Village residents, through President John McLellan, notified the Walled Lake Plan Commission last Tuesday that they object to the panel's recent tentative approval of a street that will run directly into the village the proposed Foster Farm project.

In a letter from McLellan, which was read at the plan commission meeting, the village president said the street would turn Penny Lake Drive, Wolverine Drive, subdivision side streets Lucille, Dunreath, Fincrest and West Drive into major streets for the convenience of Walled Lake residents.

McLellan said he felt that, in order to avoid major traffic problems in the area, residents would now take Maple to Ladd roads, come down either Lucille or Dunreath and continue on Wolverine Drive to Penny Lake Drive to the new Foster Farms subdivision or take Dunreath-to-West-to-Penny Lake Drive to enter the subdivision.

"There are approximately 200 children in this area and an increase in traffic in this area will also prove to be a hazard to the safety of these children," McLellan added. Specifically, the area in question is the proposed Foster Farm exit on to Penny Lake Drive. Wolverine Lake Village starts at the north property line of the project.

Finnish band to perform in Novi

The 53 members of the Rauma Youth Band from Finland will present a concert at the Fuest Auditorium in Novi High School on Sunday, August 5, at 7:30 p.m.

The appearance of the Rauma Youth Band is co-sponsored by the Novi Foundation of the Performing Arts and the Blue Lake Fine Arts International program.

Admission to the concert is free.

The Rauma Youth Band was founded by Conductor Pentti Jalonen in 1949 and has developed steadily over the past 30 years.

The band visits and performs in another country every year, gaining worthwhile experience and discovering new ideas to add to their program.

The band ranks with the top bands in Finland even though its 53 members range in age from 13-19 years old.

The performance in Novi is part of a tour of the United States and Canada. The group will leave Finland July 28 and arrive in New York City for their first performance. Subsequent stops include Spencer, New York; Novi; Lansing; Buchanan and the Blue Lake Music Camp as well as Toronto. The group will return to Finland August 18.

Members of the band will be living with approximately 30 families from Novi and the surrounding area during their local stop-over. Carol Smith and Carol Bauer of the Novi Foundation for the Performing Arts reported that the Finnish visitors will be treated to trips to the Silver Dome, Greenfield Village and the Renaissance Center in Detroit.

Additional information about the concert may be obtained from Mrs. Smith at 349-7055 or Mrs. Bauer at 349-9134.

Novi teacher talks halt until end of July

A swimming party in Novi also has been scheduled for the group.

The appearance of the Rauma Youth Band in Novi marks the second international group to perform locally through the efforts of the Foundation and the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. Last year the two groups sponsored performances by groups from Germany and Denmark.

A new date for further talks was set for July 31. It also was noted by the teachers' representatives that historically bargaining makes little progress in July. Some districts do not meet at all during July, they said.

Meanwhile negotiations are progressing with other employee groups.

Custodians in the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO local 547) have ratified a new three-year contract which is to be presented to the board of education for approval Thursday.

A tentative agreement also has been reached with the Novi Transportation Employees. Bus drivers in that union are scheduled to meet Thursday to discuss the pact, but union leaders could not say whether a ratification vote would be taken at that time.

Commerce sub eyes SAD for refuse service

A public hearing on the establishment of a special assessment district to provide garbage and refuse disposal services for the Double Privilege Subdivision has been rescheduled by the Commerce Township board.

Originally set for the July 10 regular board meeting, the hearing could not be held because sufficient notice had not been sent to property owners, according to Supervisor Robert Long.

The hearing has been rescheduled for July 30. Following the hearing, the board will consider a resolution to create the assessment district for the 98-lot subdivision located in the northeast corner of the township between Long and Union lakes.

If the resolution is approved July 30, the board will hold a public hearing at its August 14 regular meeting on the assessment roll to pay for the service.

Township officials estimate the total cost of providing rubbish removal service to Double Privilege will amount to $3,316, which will be divided among the benefitting property owners.

Under state law, residents of a subdivision may petition the local unit of government for creation of a special assessment district to provide rubbish removal services. Sixty-five percent of the affected property owners must sign the petitions.

Double Privilege is the first Commerce subdivision to apply for the service. Long said last week, though, that he is hopeful other subdivision associations will take advantage of the law. At present, township residents and businesses must make their own arrangements for garbage service. The township board recently adopted an ordinance to license rubbish contractors.

Trade center altered

Cairns recommended the rezoning of an 11.8 acre parcel to the RC (regional center) designation requested by Trade Association Center.

However, Cairns also recommended that a five-acre parcel at the extreme west of the overall site be rezoned to a P (parking) designation.

He said the five-acre site lies beyond the area of the master plan indicated for execution of the city's PD-3 (planned development - commercial) option. Cairns noted that the five-acre parcel has been proposed on the site plan for use as parking for the office building and convention center.

The planning consultant said he would prefer not to have the parking designation on the five-acre parcel, but that the proposed use would be compatible with the office-service district proposed for the area.

The planners subsequently voted unanimously to recommend that the property be rezoned in conformance with the recommendation of the planning consultant.

Boes told The News that he still hopes to begin construction of the regional trade center this year, even though time delays may make it difficult.

The moving force behind plans for the regional trade center is the Michigan Women and Children's Apparel Association which has already committed to lease 100 days per year in the convention center and at least 50 percent of the space in the office building.

Fire department bond issue set for November ment questions could threaten the city's credibility.

Problems also have arisen because the city has never had a primary election before, Alie said.

"We have never had experience with this before. It could be from this experience that we learn you don't put an important item on an August ballot," Alie said.

He indicated it has been difficult to reach citizens during the summer due to vacations and the fact that many groups do not meet regularly as they do at other times of the year. This has increased the city's problems in informing the citizens about the ballot question, he said.

Former Novi Mayor Gilbert Henderson expressed support for the delay in putting the bonding issue before the voters at Monday's council meeting.

He told the council he did not believe there was anything wrong with admitting "we blew it timing wise." He recommended all the bonding proposals should be placed on the November ballot so voters could view them as a package and determine what they can afford.

"The administrator's advice is correct. Your primary election will die of boredom. If you place a pertinent item on an election in August where 90 percent of the voters will stay home, you are drastically increasing its odds for defeat. That's a well known political fact," Henderson said.

He also said the council needed to direct the administration to "get out into the community and report the needs related to the ballot issue."

Henderson urged the council to educate the public. He cited the lack of education on the fire improvement issue at a recent meeting with members of the Meadowbrook Glens Subdivision - a group which pays close attention to issues within the city.

"When they say they don't understand, I have to pay attention," Henderson said.

Council Member Patricia Karevich supported the administrative recommendation to place the bonding issue on the November ballot.

"I don't believe this has gotten the proper exposure and I would hate to see it go down for that reason," Karevich said. She also said she would not feel comfortable about returning to the voters for approval of the bonding issue in November if it goes down in August.

"I am asking that the bonding issue be placed on the November ballot so the public can be made more aware of all three issues."

1,000 feet of an existing school or church.

Council members will determine whether the establishment endangers the public health, safety, morals or general welfare before granting approval.

Proposed adult-entertainment establishments also will not be allowed to diminish the use and enjoyment of other property owners in the immediate vicinity or reduce property values within a neighborhood.

The council also will review the plans for utilities, access roads and drainage before granting any approvals.

The ordinance also provides that applicants who are denied a permit may appeal the decision in circuit court.

The ordinance was based upon a similar law in the City of Detroit. The Detroit ordinance has been upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

City Attorney David Fried asked for additional time to determine whether the ordinance can require adult book stores and similar establishments to be located at least 1,000 feet from residential areas.

Mayor Romaine Roethel told the attorney and council members she would like to see the ordinance adopted as soon as possible since she has favored it for three years.

The council will consider adoption of the ordinance at its next regular meeting August 6. Presently, there are no uses within Novi which would be regulated by the ordinance.

Posts planted to prevent parking on Walled Lake

Residents of the North Novi Civic Association are hoping poles they have placed on vacant property at the corner of Novi Road and South Lake Drive will end boat launching and picnicking that have been occurring there this summer.

Larry Kern, president of the North Novi Civic Association, said the group recently placed between 30 and 40 poles on the property after obtaining consent from the owner of the private land.

The poles are designed to prevent cars from parking on the property and boats from being launched there, he explained.

In addition the city has replaced no parking signs which had been torn from the sides of the street. Kern said he has assurances from the police department that cars parked there will be ticketed now that the signs have been posted again.

Kern explained the association decided to take some action due to the traffic and boating problems created by those using the vacant property as a beach and launching site.

He reported a resident was nearly hit by a car launching a boat. The car was also on a fire route which caused concern among residents of the area, Kern said.

Cars launching boats from the property at the corner tied up traffic and created a hazard, he indicated.

"Last weekend there were 25 to 30 boats down in that area and they were parked all over. People don't want just anyone parked on their private beach," Kern said.

During the week the problem has been less severe, but about two or three boats are launched daily, according to Kern.

Boaters have generally not been considerate of other's rights on the lake.

Since they are not familiar with the lake, the boaters are cutting too close to private beaches, Kern complained.

Swimmers also have represented a problem. "On any one day it looks like a bathing beach," Kern said.

He reported he has called both the County Department of Health and the Environmental Protection Agency

"We have some of the best boating in the area and we want to keep it that way"

Novi police nab break-in suspect

Novi police have arrested a local man in connection with a series of breaking and enterings in the Willowbrook subdivision over the past three weeks.

Steven C. Campbell, 19, was arraigned Friday in 32nd District Court before Judge Michael Ratchik. He is charged with eight counts of breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling, one count of attempted breaking and entering of a vehicle.

The court entered not guilty pleas in his behalf on all 10 counts.

Campbell faces a maximum of 15 years for each charge of breaking and entering and a lesser sentence on the charge of attempted break-in and entry of the vehicle.

He was apprehended July 11 and taken to the police station for questioning. He reportedly confessed to having participated in nearly all of the breaking and enterings which have occurred in the Willowbrook subdivision, according to police.

He also implicated himself and others in breaking and enterings in surrounding communities, according to Detective Sergeant Gordon Nelson.

Police are still investigating more than 20 incidents which have occurred in the Willowbrook subdivision and are trying to verify the information provided by Campbell, Nelson said.

Campbell is lodged in the Oakland County Jail in lieu of bond.

The arrest was in part possible through the observation of surveillance officers who rode bicycles through the subdivision.

Police have been investigating the break-ins that have plagued the subdivision for several weeks. They reported in nearly all incidents the thieves entered either through doorways or sliding windows.

Homes which were left by residents overnight or on short jaunts and weekend trips were prime targets for the attacks.

The incidents occurred both during the day and at night, leading police to suspect residents of the Willowbrook neighborhood were responsible.

Homes throughout the subdivision were victimized. Incidents were reported on North, South, East and West LeBost; Hollydale; McMahon; Malott; Maude Lea; Meadowbrook; Willowbrook and Quince.

Primarily the responsible parties have taken items which can be placed in a pocket, police said. Smaller items were taken so thieves could walk through the subdivision without raising suspicion, police speculated.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Firemen plan fun run

A four-mile fun run may be held in conjunction with the Union Lake Jaycees' annual Paul Bunyan Days festival.

The Commerce Township Professional Firefighters' Association, sponsors of the proposed event, last week gained the township board's support for a parade permit for the races.

Firefighter Bill Kabzinski said information on registration for the run will be announced soon.

Plans call for the race to begin at 10 a.m. August 5, starting and finishing at the Bunyan festival site on Oakley Park Road near Haggerty. Runners will start out heading west on Oakley Park, turn north on Martin Road to Richardson,

Novi police cars take a beating over weekend

In Novi

It was a bad weekend for Novi police vehicles last weekend — one was damaged by vandals with a hammer and another was damaged in an accident on Grand River.

Underneath the other boat. He was removed from the water, a shirt wrapped around his bleeding hand and he was placed in a car headed for the hospital.

Police reported thieves made off with close to $1,000 worth of furnishings and appliances from two model homes on Wainwright July 2.

In an apparently related theft, neighbors reported hearing noises outside their home. After investigating they found a ladder on the basement floor, which they believed fell, causing the noise.

Police reported the man has been sleeping in his car in the Novi area for nearly a week. He told police he had been cleaning the rounds form his .22 caliber rifle when he accidentally shot himself. He was transported by ambulance to Botsford Hospital.

Novi police reported apartments under construction at Nine Mile and Center Street were vandalized last week, apparently by youngsters.

Between $300 and $500 worth of damage occurred when mud was sprayed on the walls of the apartment, police said. The incident occurred July 10.

Police apprehended three walk-aways from the Clinton Valley Center on July 5.

Reportedly, the three juveniles were walking through the Chateau Estates Mobile Home Park when they were observed by police on patrol.

A $500 truck starter was stolen from a business on Heslip July 9, police reported.

In a separate larceny from a vehicle, a drive shaft was taken from a car parked in the lot of the Westgate VI apartments.

Police reported the drive shaft was apparently taken by youths who removed the rear joints and slid the yoke at the transmission. The drive shaft, valued at $50, was taken July 9.

A Northville youth was arrested after reportedly stealing tapes from a music store in Twelve Oaks Mall.

Superintendent forms committee

Walled Lake schools eye improved communications

Plans for the formation of a Citizens' Information Committee which will discuss means of disseminating information to residents of the Walled Lake School District have been announced by Superintendent Don Sheldon.

Sheldon said that some people believe the boundaries of the school district are co-terminus with the boundaries of the city.

Trustee Warren Williams said he has heard rumors that the school district maintains a hunting lodge. "If we've got a hunting lodge, I'd like to know where it is," said Williams.

area, based on the waiting list for the Walled Lake Villa. In his letter to HUD and the memo to council, Parker noted that, if the developer plans to proceed with the project, he will have to comply with all city zoning and/or ordinance requirements.

The site is zoned RM-1 (multiple family residential) which has a 30-foot height limit under the zoning ordinance. The ordinance also limits multiple housing for the elderly to 15 units per acre on the ground floor.

As We See It

Public's interest takes back seat

The U.S. Supreme Court, in a ruling that carries wide-sweeping and ominous overtones, has taken a giant step to not only shackle the press but to also jeopardize the very foundation of this nation's judicial system.

wary of the constant press squealing following adverse Supreme Court decisions.

If so, the press must shoulder some of the blame. Too often, newspaper accounts reduce the current Burger Court purge of First Amendment rights to little more than press-court squabbling.

The 5-to-4 decision issued recently gives trial judges broad discretion to close courtrooms to the press and public.

The courts, for their part, try to justify recent decisions by decreeing that the right to a fair trial overshadows the rights guaranteed to a free press.

Most troubling of the many bothersome aspects of the majority opinion is the ruling that "members of the public have no constitutional right under the Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments to attend criminal trials."

There is no reason that the rights enumerated by the Constitution must vie with each other for prominence. There is freedom of the press and there is the right to a fair trial. Both must be equally protected and preserved at all costs.

In his majority opinion, Justice Potter Stewart wrote that the right of a public trial is guaranteed only to the accused and not to the public in general.

Many steps can and should be taken to ensure a fair trial without closing the court to the public. A change of venue is one; meticulous jury selection is another.

It is a curious and apparently contradictory stand for the justice to take. In a 1965 decision, he thought differently.

But Justice Stewart's majority opinion would allow a judge to close his court without even making a preliminary finding that an open session would be harmful to the defendant.

"The suggestion that there are limits upon the public's right to know what goes on in courts causes me great concern," he wrote then.

The four justices who concurred with him gave precious little weight to the necessity of the need to assure the public — through open scrutiny of courtroom proceedings — that justice is administered even handedly.

And the best way for the public to know is if the press has unfettered access to court rulings. If the court is closed, the trial judge decides what reporters learn. Judges may know their law, but they make rotten journalists.

Dissenting Justice Harry Blackmun reminded the majority "justice" and is "essential to the preservation of public confidence" in the law.

There is a danger that the significance of this ruling may be lost to a public that may be growing

Secrecy in courts, he said, "would be a menace to liberty."

Last week's Supreme Court decision has provided the groundwork for that menace.

Attention needed

Veteran members of the Novi City Council must have experienced a feeling of "deja vu" recently when representatives of the Village Oaks Common Areas Association (VOCAA) appeared at a meeting to express concerns with the amount of storm water run-off which drains into the so-called Village Oaks lake.

However, when VOCAA Chairman Scott Duncan reports that high water conditions are being experienced in the two retention ponds in spite of an average rainfall, we have reason to re-evaluate that assumption.

Specifically, VOCAA representatives have called for a halt to additional residential construction south of Nine Mile until it can be determined whether the existing drainage system can accommodate the additional run-off.

Additionally, we are concerned that city engineers have indicated they cannot locate drainage system reports for the Village Oaks area.

Although we believe their request is at least premature at the present time, their concerns merit careful attention.

Siltation problems created by an increase in storm water run-off may conceivably make it necessary to dredge the retention ponds in Village Oaks. Residents of the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision can attest to the fact that dredging operations are an expensive proposition.

The concerns expressed by the residents are not new. As Mayor Romaine Roethel commented: "It sounds like 1973 all over again."

Theoretically, at any rate, the common areas association is responsible for maintaining the retention ponds. However, the city must also assume some liability in terms of its approval of the city-wide drainage system.

Quite frankly, the council's attention to the situation at that time had led us to believe the problems had been resolved.

Hopefully, these concerns will prove to be without foundation upon closer inspection. Nevertheless, the city should respond quickly to the concerns expressed by the VOCAA representatives.

CHARLES CONKEY

Speaking for Myself

Should the draft be reinstated?

YES. . .

I believe that the draft is necessary to provide enough trained people to protect our country and the American way of life. The attempt to do this with a total volunteer force has not worked. The training of men and women for this usually distasteful job cannot be done after the need has come to pass. It should be an on-going program.

Any program of this type is usually unpopular and has been met with varying degrees of resistance in the past. To make up for the shortcomings and interruptions of the individual's life, the program must offer better chances for further education and job training programs.

Many young people are not ready to enter the work force or go on to college. A tour of duty in the military service could provide the discipline that is not given in many homes and is lax in schools today. The possible result could be a more mature person and better idea of which way to go with his or her life.

The military service also offers the first chance for many to get away from home and find out how big and different this country of ours really is. The chance to work and live with people from all parts of the land and all walks of life. Many new and possible life-long friends are made.

DENNIS LELAND

Charles Conkey Whitmore Lake

NO . . .

To many people, drafting is connotated with war. Reviving the bureaucracy involved in administering the draft would just create more government, something that people are tired of.

The plight of the military is a hot topic now. What people have to realize is that if we want to have a strong military, we must pay the price. Literally. If the Army wants college educated men and women it must become a viable option, able to offer career advantages that will attract quality people. To cop out and resort to forced induction is contrary to the principals of this country. The elimination of the G.I. Bill to help pay for college is a good example of a step in the wrong direction.

Everyone should have the choice of serving this country by pursuing either a military or civilian career. The government shouldn't make this choice by forcing the military route on us.

The idea of drafting is now obsolete. I seriously doubt that this country will ever need a large fighting force. For we all know what is likely to transpire if the confrontation is of that magnitude. Warfare technology today eliminates the situations that existed militarily during WW II. It's not the numbers of people that are important in today's military, but the quality of the people. Drafting is merely a round-about way of attaining quality people's services.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Ah, friend, there is hope at last. This pain in the neck we suffer has a cure.

All these years in taking my wife's broadsides, I'd come to believe that no one but this writer was unable to drive directly from X to Y without crossing Z.

But no longer, thank goodness.

It comes to my attention that there are other lost souls out there on the highways and byways who have been ridiculed and pummeled by a spouse for taking a wrong turn and who, bless them, steadfastly refuse to consult map or station attendant for directions.

Rise up. Let us unite! Unity is our hope.

We will call ourselves LOST (Licens-ed Order of Stubborn Triceratops).

We of LOST will fight for route choice; we will label obscure all maps, cancelled directions and, especially, back-seat driving; and we will insist on the precious right to be lost.

To anyone who climbs into the seat beside us and asks, "Do you know the way?", we will reply politely but firmly, "It's been nice knowing you," and then press the James Bond ejection button.

To the wife or the husband who, while we are enroute from X to Y, tells us to turn just as the turn-off sails past, we will extend a Jackie Gleason (Pow! Right to the Moon!).

Similar suitable awards will be presented the authors of these obscenities:

Where are we? ... We're going to be late again ... Isn't that the same street we passed awhile ago? ... Are you blind! ... Quiet, children, your daddy will get us there someday ... This is a one-way street, you dummy. Couldn't you have picked a rougher road? ... That light was yellow! ... This is an alley, you dummy ... Lock your door, kids, daddy's got us in another bad neighborhood ... Can't you read? ... This is Northfield not Northville, you dummy ... Oh, boy, another shortcut! ... I never dreamed I'd see this town ... I told you to stop! ... Let me drive ... Doesn't that gas gauge say empty? ... I'll never go with you again ... "Don't bother hurrying, we're late anyway ... LOST. Join now.

Good listening

Melissa Hendrick chokes a tape and prepares to settle back with a good book as her way of escaping the summer blahs. Children now have the opportunity to strengthen their reading skills through the donation of two cassette tape players and 35 cassettes by the Walled Lake Friends of the Library. Featuring a wide variety of children's stories, the equipment was purchased by the friends through a string of fund raising events. Geared to pre-school and lower elementary youngsters, both the cassette and tapes are available for check-out by the small-sized patron on a one week basis. The tapes are enhanced with background music and sound effects. The child reads the book, following the lead of the story teller, while enjoying the colorful pictures contained on the pages. Viewed as a valuable learning tool for the younger set, the older patron will be able to enjoy listening to a selection of old radio programs now on order.

To project legal fees

Novi okays attorney retainer

The Novi City Council has approved a $3,000-a-month retainer for its city attorney, namely: • Preparation for and attendance at all regular and special city council meetings. The retainer fee was proposed by City Attorney David M. Fried, of the firm of Lampert, Fried & Levitt, following a meeting with Assistant City Manager Alex Allie and Finance Director Les Gibson. Novi has never paid its city attorney a retainer before, but Allie told the council Monday that the proposal was aimed at getting a better projection of city legal fees which have become substantial in recent years. For the monthly fee, the city will receive Fried's "normal duties" as city attorney, namely: • Performing such other duties as may be specifically requested by the city council from time to time. Not covered by the retainer are duties including litigation or appeals to federal courts, circuit courts, state appellate courts, quasi-judicial or administrative tribunals and prosecution of ordinance violations. Rates for those services are $65 an hour for all work performed by partners in the firm, including Fried, and $55 an hour for work performed by associates. The agreement is effective with all billings as of July 1. Allie said the $3,000 retainer was proposed on the basis of a review of past billings for the services to be performed for the monthly fee and a comparison to the City of Farmington's legal costs. Council members requested a report on possible ways to control legal fees after learning this spring that the city spent almost $124,000 for attorney services last year. A study by the administration showed that Novi was spending slightly more than Farmington Hills and Canton Township on legal expenses, but it was significantly higher than most other communities in the area. Novi's attorney fees have been running about $5,500 a month, officials said.

Planners retain seats

There'll be no change in the composition of the Novi Planning Board during the upcoming year.

Three veteran planning board members have been re-appointed to three-year terms by the Novi City Council. And the planners voted to retain the same officers for 1979-80 at last week's session.

Edward Dobek, Roger Everett and Donald Gleason were re-appointed to three-year terms on the planning board at the July 9 city council meeting.

Everett and Gleason were returned to their posts by a unanimous ballot on the first round of voting by the council. But Dobek was not returned to his post until the fourth ballot.

Dobek and Paul Potter each received three votes in the first three rounds of balloting, while Jon Dostal received a single vote.

CITY OF NOVI NOTICE OF ENACTMENT ORDINANCE 79-81.01

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council on July 16, 1979, enacted Ordinance No. 79-81.01, An Ordinance to amend Section 9.3 of Ordinance No. 77-81, City of Novi Uniform Traffic Code Ordinance. This amendment indicates that a violation of any provision of this Ordinance which would constitute a civil infraction under a similar provision of the Michigan Vehicle Code, 1949, P. A. 300, as amended, shall constitute a civil infraction under this ordinance. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency ordinance, which is immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and becomes effective immediately upon adoption. The effective date of the ordinance is July 16, 1979. A complete copy of the Ordinance is available for public use and inspection at the office of the City Clerk, 45225 W. Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan, 48060.

MICHIGAN BELL CONSUMER TIPS

Here's how to get that Long Distance number (and a free Personal Directory to keep it in) so you can dial it yourself and save.

Michigan Bell
Michigan Bell . . . people who enjoy serving people.

If you've ever forgotten how to get a needed phone number for a distant city — outside your own area code — you may want to clip this ad and keep it near your phone as a reminder. Here's all you do: First, dial "0" and ask the operator for the area code, if you don't already know. Then, for Long Distance directory assistance, dial "1" plus the area code for that city, then 555-1212. You will reach a Long Distance directory assistance operator who will give you the number. Once you have the number, write it down so the next time you need it, you can dial it direct and save. If you don't have a good place to write it down, we have a place for you . . . your Personal Telephone Directory — a handy book for keeping your personal list of local and out-of-town phone numbers. It's free. Just call your Michigan Bell business office and ask for a copy.

Leslie Park residents seek rezoning action

Residents of the Leslie Park subdivision have asked the Novi Planning Board for a little assistance.

June Smolen, president of the subdivision association, has asked the planning board to consider rezoning two lots in the subdivision from their existing I-1 (light industrial) designation to either a professional office or multiple family designation.

The Leslie Park subdivision is located on the south side of Grand River between Meadowbrook and Hagerly roads. The 18-lot subdivision contains two roads — Joseph and Brenda. William Stickley, a subdivision resident, told the planners last week that the association is concerned about lots one and 18 which are located along Grand River.

At the time the subdivision was developed, residents were given assurances that the two lots would be used strictly for low-rise multiple-family development. Deed restrictions which limited the lots to multiple-family development were registered with the city and county in July 1956. Stickley reported that the Village of Novi rezoned a strip of land along Grand River to industrial use approximately six months after the deed restrictions were registered.

"What we're asking now," said Stickley, "is that the two lots on Grand River be rezoned to either offices or low-rise multiple so we don't have industrial lots in our subdivision."

Planning Board Chairman John Roethel told the Leslie Park representatives that he believed the deed restrictions would prohibit industrial development on the two parcels. He noted, however, that it is the responsibility of the subdivision association — not the city — to enforce the deed restrictions.

Roethel also questioned whether the city could initiate the rezoning action requested by the residents. Further, he stated that introducing a multiple-family district in the midst of a strip of industrial could be considered spot zoning.

Roethel informed the Leslie Park residents that he would respond to their inquiries after obtaining legal advice from the city attorney.

Wixom youth abducted from home

A Wixom teen-ager was snatched from his car, soundly kicked and beaten, and carted off in a van by at least seven men before another free-for-all match in Farmington Hills eventually led to his freedom.

Kevin Roby, 16, of Nalene street was pulled from his car parked in the driveway of a Loon Lake Road home by several men who witnesses say beat him and pounded his head against the car frame several times before forcing him into the van.

Labeling the incident as a definite kidnapping, Wixom police say several of Roby's friends were on hand to witness the incident that took place around 9 p.m. Monday.

A van containing the subject stopped at the Loon Lake Road address presumably to ask for water for their car radiator. Roby, in the home at the time, left the house and entered his car. Witnesses told police that one of the men approached the vehicle accompanied by his friends and pulled Roby from his car.

They added that the more Roby fought his assailants, the more the older men struck him. The group then forced him into the van and drove off, according to police reports.

A phone call to the Loon Lake Road home presumably from the alleged abductors indicated the men wanted to trade the boy for his older brother. A meeting was reportedly set-up at the Wixom City Park, an area near the Loon Lake address.

Police from Wolverine Lake Village, Walled Lake and Milford joined Wixom police in blockading the area. They were stationed in their positions for over an hour before receiving word that the Roby boy was possibly being held in Redford Township.

While on their way toward Detroit, Wixom police learned that another phone call indicated the Roby youth had been taken to a Colgate Street address in Farmington Hills. Police also learned that Roby, his father and a neighbor were speeding to that area.

According to the police, the Roby group reached the address first, approached the house, kicked in the door and engaged in a fist fight with the alleged kidnapers. They freed the younger Roby boy.

Farmington Hills Police, who received a radio run to the location on reports of a disturbance, reported seeing several men running from the house at the time of their arrival. One suspect, remaining in the house, was detained by Farmington Hills officers. The man was transported to the police station for subsequent interviews by Wixom Police.

A week-long judicial conference held-up the securing of warrants for the arrests of the men until Wednesday. Arraignment proceedings will be held later this week.

Young Roby was taken to Henry Ford West Hospital for treatment of multiple bruises, lacerations and a broken nose suffered during the scuffle in Wixom and later from beatings in the van, according to reports.

FBI joins hunt for Campbell

Novi police are scheduled this week to seek a federal flight warrant which will authorize the Federal Bureau of Investigation to aid the local department in its search for former Novi Council member Louis Campbell.

Campbell, who is wanted on six felony charges, is still at large nearly three months after police obtained warrants for his arrest.

Campbell is charged with two counts of statutory rape, two counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct, and two counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct. Warrants for his arrest were obtained from 52nd District Court Judge J. H. Hatcher on April 30.

The statutory rape and first degree criminal sexual conduct charges carry a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. The second degree criminal sexual conduct charges carry a maximum penalty of 15 years imprisonment.

To obtain a federal flight warrant Novi police must establish that Campbell has fled the state in order to avoid standing trial for crimes with which he has been charged.

Police indicated they have exhausted their leads at this point and are seeking a warrant in order to take advantage of the resources of the FBI. They will attempt to obtain the warrant from Federal District Court this week, according to police officials.

Police theorized Campbell became aware of the investigation on Thursday, April 26. Police believe he left town after learning of the investigation and pending charges.

Party recreates 'Stardust' era to honor Nelsons

By JEAN D'AY

Fifty years ago McKinney's Cotton Pickers were playing at the Blue Lantern Ballroom at Island Lake near Brighton. Dancers swayed to "Stardust," "More Than You Know," "Ain't Misbehavin'," "Happy Days Are Here Again" and "You Do Something to Me."

Among the couples dancing and romancing to the top hits of 1929 were Peg Freer and Lloyd Nelson, now residents of Stonehenge in Novi.

Margaret Freer became the bride of Lloyd F. Nelson in a 5 p.m. ceremony at her sister's home on Manor Avenue in Detroit on July 6, 1929.

To mark her parents' golden wedding anniversary Marilyn Kaestner and her husband Kenneth converted the garage of their home at 941 Novi Street in Northville into a replica of the Blue Lantern Ballroom on July 7.

The 70 friends and relatives gathered to help the couple celebrate were invited also to "knock three times and tell them Joe sent you" to gain entrance to the backyard speakeasy — the bar for the anniversary party.

The Kaestner kitchen became the "soup kitchen" for refreshments at the party. Guests were invited to attend in costumes of the 1920s.

For invitations Mrs. Kaestner had used reproductions of the July 6, 1929, Detroit News, a 20-page edition selling for three cents a copy.

An insert on the page one chronicled the marriage performed by the Reverend Edgar DeWitt Jones of Woodward Avenue Christian Church.

The bride of 50 years ago "wore a white satin gown featuring a long waist and flared skirt." At the anniversary party it was worn by her 16-year-old granddaughter Jane Kaestner.

Mrs. Nelson wore a fuchsia green gown made for the occasion in the 1929 style. With it she wore the ropes of pearls that belies of the 20s twisted.

Lloyd Nelson got into the mood of the celebration, tucking his trousers into socks in knicker-fashion. The bride's

MR. AND MRS. HENRY COERT

A romance that began in the aisles of a supermarket culminated in marriage for Cynthia Lynn Goltra and Henry Thomas Coert who exchanged vows in a p.m. ceremony June 16 at First United Methodist Church of Farmington.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goltra of 4814 Rushwood Lane, was grocery shopping with her mother and sister when she met her future husband for the first time. That was 12 years ago. Her sister Katherine, now Mrs. Stephen Harshfield, was a classmate of the future bridegroom's at Farmington High School.

He then was working part-time at the A & P. After his high school graduation in 1968 and service with the U.S. Naval Forces in Vietnam, he attended Oakland Community College and affiliated last fall with the A & P in Farmington.

Long-stem roses of pastel peach with white baby's-breath and fern formed the bridal bouquet.

Then for the first time in a dozen years the couple met again. This time Cindy was shopping alone, and the romance began.

He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coert.

The Reverend Charles Beynon officiated at the double ring service which included lighting of a symbolic unity candle at the altar decorated with sprays of white carnations and daisies. Saltin bows with greens decorated the pews.

Mr. Peretch was organist.

As she was given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza gown with skirt extending into a train. The bodice was fashioned with a high neckline. Embroidered lace formed the yoke. Embroidered lace also adorned the full sleeves gathered into cuffs at the wrists. Her long, flowing veil was attached to her picture hat with appliques of the embroidered lace.

After a wedding trip to Traverse City and other Northern Michigan locations, the newlyweds now are living in Farmington.

He plans to attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall. The bride, a 1971 graduate of Novi High School, attended Madonna College and Lakeland Beauty School. She is affiliated with Cavanaugh's as head computer operator.

Lioness group remains active

While most clubs and organizations gear down their activities during the summer months, the Novi Lioness Club remains active, constantly on the move, pursuing several goals set by the membership.

Although Mary Anne Weber commented that vacations do take their toll of the membership during the summer, the conscientious group prefers to continue meeting and keep their projects going.

The latest effort of the women's service arm of the Lions Club is a swap meet scheduled for Saturday, August 11. It will be the first time such a meet has been held in the area.

Chaired by Ginny McSweeney, the meet is another fund raising idea that could grow to be as popular here as it is in California. Meets are always held in places where parking spaces are marked off. The Lionesses have chosen the parking lot at Novi High School for their event.

The spaces are rented for $7.50 each to anyone, "as long as what they sell is legal," quipped Mrs. Weber. The renter can pull in his car and sell merchandise from the trunk. The spot may feature baked goods, a car, rummage or arts and crafts. "It's just a great big sale held outdoors and can literally offer anything from soup to nuts," she added.

Mother Nature willing, the swap meet will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. In case of rain, the meet will be held the following day.

The "pet project" of the Novi group has been Penrickton, the blind and multi-handicapped nursery and residential school in Taylor. On-going service projects as well as direct cash funding has been a yearly goal of the Novi ladies.

"We always do something for Penrickton," commented Mrs. Weber. "It is one of the most needy, yet one of the most forgotten schools in the area," she said. Last year the group purchased a microwave oven for the school kitchen, while this year the goal is to donate an electric typewriter for the office.

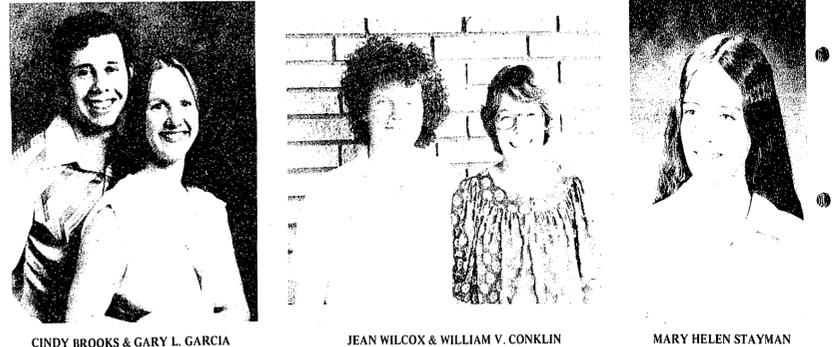

Other long-range planning includes the purchase of special wheelchair attachments for use at the Twelve Oaks Mall. The Lioness organization purchased one wheelchair for the mall which is available through the security office. In addition, each major department store has a wheelchair available. The club hopes to outfit as many of the wheelchairs as possible with the attachments.

Through their on-going fund raising projects, the Novi group made a cash donation last year to the Muscular Dystrophy fund through the Novi High School dance marathon. It also provides annual funding for campships for Novi children to the "Snackin' Mouse" Day Camp operated by the Oakland County 4-H.

The energetic group is also eyeing a donation of sculpture to the Tactile Museum housed in the regional library for the blind in Farmington. The sculptures are reproductions of famous works of art especially chosen for their "feasibility". Cassette recordings accompany the sculpture to explain the piece of art to the blind person and supply background information on the individual artist.

"And if all goes well and all our fund raisers are successful, we would like to purchase something for the Ronald McDonald House at Children's Hospital," added Mrs. Weber.

The group says they realize their list of projects is rather hefty and involves devotion of the members. "But that's what we're here for. We can work as well in the summer as in the winter," claimed Mrs. Weber.

A Matter of Taste

By Maria Sarivalas Kokas, R.D.

Throughout history the choices of breastfeeding, bottle feeding and when to introduce solid foods have raised questions in infant feeding.

What has been recognized as the best for baby is always questioned. Both what and when seem to complicate the picture for new parents. At birth, the questions have bubbled around breastfeeding. Anywhere from 2-12 months, it's solid foods — to feed or not to feed, that is the question.

At long last it looks like the practical and healthful approaches to infant feeding have found common ground. There are no absolutes. Each baby and family has different needs and wants, but current basic guidelines seem to accommodate everyone.

BREASTFEEDING brings about the first and most fundamental questions in infant feeding. To breast feed or not? All evidence points toward encouragement of breastfeeding as long as it is comfortable and acceptable for the mother.

Anxiety or dislike of the whole idea can only work to undermine the whole process. Its nutritional benefits are well-founded, though. Encouragement and assistance can be obtained from health professionals.

It is recommended that baby be breastfed "as long as possible." Practically speaking, that is very subjective — and up to the family. Since Vitamin D and iron are sometimes limited in breastmilk, supplements of both are recommended as preventive measures against rickets and anemia.

Supplementation of mother's milk with formula is a possibility if the need arises. This is controversial, but may be necessary to meet the baby's needs for growth.

BOTTLE FEEDING. If breastfeeding is not possible, then a number of commercially prepared formulas are available for use. Most are cow milk or soy protein based. Because of their make-up, no additional supplements are needed with these. Unless some problem arises, the milk-based formulas are preferred. Whether or not to feed iron-fortified formula is yet to be resolved. It is up to you and your doctor to decide which is best for your baby.

HOW MUCH should be fed? Whether an infant is breastfed or bottle fed or both, the questions of how much and how often arise. Infants, just like adults, have varying energy requirements. To give an amount of ounces needed for all infants would make little sense.

Instead, the following is recommended: feed the infant until it first indicates a willingness to stop eating. Don't feel compelled to empty the bottle or nurse for extended periods of time. A normal infant will be able to determine how much it needs to eat.

The amount the baby consumes depends on its size and energy needs. It has been noted that few infants drink more than three ounces per pound of body weight per day. This is a general guide.

When solid foods are introduced, this amount of milk or formula will decrease because calories from solid foods will replace the milk.

HOW LONG should infants be fed only formula or breast milk? When a baby is born, the digestive tract is not ready to take on the world of solid foods. It needs time to mature.

Feeding solid foods before 4-6 months of age can put unnecessary stress on the digestive tract. Formula and/or breastmilk supply all that the baby needs up until that time.

How to know when to branch out to solid foods remains a question. The best guide? Wait until the baby can sit (with assistance, if necessary) and be an active partner in the feeding. They should be able to grab, turn toward or away from the foods. By the time a baby has developed that much, his or her digestive system is ready for solid food, too.

The question of feeding cereal at a younger age to aid sleeping through the night rages on. Those who are "pro" early cereal feedings indicate that it helps the baby sleep and cuts down on number of feedings per day. The "cons" point out that eating more often is better for tiny infants because their bodies can use the nutrients more efficiently.

It is also felt that this early cereal feeding may start early trends in overeating since the infant is too small to reject the food. It's up to parents to decide which is best. No one has the absolute best answer for this question.

Because of the make-up of infant cereals, it doesn't cause problems in most infants even if served earlier than recommended.

CAN COW MILK be fed to infants? Feeding of cow's milk to infants during the first six months of life is absolutely discouraged. Formulas or breastmilk are needed until that time. Continuation of formula feeding through the first year of life is recommended. However, problems are seldom noted if milk is fed late in the first year.

Feeding skim milk to any infant is a no-no. Once the switch is made to cow's milk, whole or two percent are the best and only choices to make.

JUST A FEW NOTES to remember...

— A supplemental bottle (either filled with breastmilk or formula) is a good idea for the breastfed baby. It can be begun around the first month. It serves several purposes. First, it lets dad take part in feeding the baby. Second, it gives mom a break from feeding. And third, it gets the baby accustomed to using a bottle so weaning won't be an impossible task.

— Using a bottle as a pacifier isn't a very good idea. It can encourage overeating and in older infants create a condition known as nursing bottle caries. This is the decay of baby teeth caused by leaving milk in a baby's mouth. When a baby is put to bed with a bottle and a pool of milk stays around the teeth, it is sure to cause decay and ruin those beautiful teeth.

— Be aware that lifelong eating habits are possibly established during infancy. Force feeding and being sure that an infant empties his bottle everytime it is fed may contribute to overweight later on. From the first feeding, the infant should be permitted to stop eating at its earliest indication of willingness to stop. Most infants can judge how much they need to eat.

The final choices of what to feed and when are up to the parents and the doctor. Making the best food choices is very important. Special attention should be paid during the first months of life. Those months are the period of fastest growth in the baby's whole life.

Auto-Owners is for R.V. owners.
If you have an accident on your suv, trailer, boat, or other recreational vehicle, your insurance covers you? Homeowners? Car? Medical? (Or none of the above?) And what about your passenger? What insurance covers these medical expenses? Maybe you should talk to us at Auto-Owners. We have a modern insurance policy for snowmobiles and other recreational vehicles. A policy that protects you, your family, your passengers, it even protects you while you're driving someone else's vehicle. And you'd be surprised at how little this coverage can cost. But not discover you weren't covered at all.

Contemporary worship

It is a bit unusual to go to church to see a play, especially one that is directly connected with the morning worship. But a Walled Lake group rehearsing at the United Methodist Church will do just that with a performance at the Crossroads Presbyterian Church on August 5. The play entitled, "Impromptu" is a contemporary piece written by Pulitzer prize-winning playwright Tad Mosel. Its performance is staged in the opening moments of the church service and features (from left) Mike Riley, Bob Shekeli, Sue Kekessy and Julie Stanley. The play then becomes the theme and visual illustration to scripture references and the morning sermon. The foursome will present the play at least four times at various locations with the first staged Sunday at a Troy church.

Society plans city fair

Saying the idea "fits like Cinderella's slipper," the Wixom Historical Society has announced plans to revive the concept of an old-fashioned country fair.

Patterned after similar fairs held in Wixom during the mid-70's, society spokesperson Dora Burke said the small country fair is a part of American history that is colorful and light-hearted. "What better organization than the historical society to sponsor such an event," she asked.

Residents are welcome to enter as many categories as they wish, but must follow the few rules governing those entries. Those rules also will be included in the fair book.

Outside the city complex, booths will offer everything from hot dogs to used books. The society also hopes to have artists on hand demonstrating early crafts to further add to the colorful activity of the day.

Local organizations and artists are welcome to join the event and may do so by contacting the society through city hall. No fees will be assessed to those organizations or artists, but registration prior to the fair is required.

Among the first to show interest in the community gathering was the Parks and Recreation Commission. Along with the great American hot dog, the commission will offer to fair-goers the brand new Wixom T-shirts which are on sale to the general public for the first time.

Exhibits will be independently judged and ribbons awarded in each class listed in the fair book from the largest.

As in the past, the fair is meant to stimulate interest in all facets of gardening and encourage the "backyard gardener" to display the fruits of his summertime labors. Exhibit categories will include vegetables, food preserving, flowers and baking.

A booklet describing the various exhibit classifications will be available at city hall and from society members during the early weeks of August. There will be no charge for the book or the fair itself.

sister Vergal Smith and her husband Harry came from Central Lake. Mrs. Smith was in the yellow lace dress she had worn as her sister's honor attendant.
The bridegroom's brother and his wife Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nelson were on hand from Clearwater, Florida. Daughters Ginny Heuchert with her two children from Charlottesville, Virginia, and Elaine Wright with her husband Parvin and three children from Traverse City also donned flapper garb to celebrate.
A 1929 Ford pick-up truck parked in the drive was on loan from Robert DeHoff of Northville. A "just married" sign hung from the rear.
And lining the driveway were Burma Shave signs that relatives and friends would have enjoyed when they went for rides at speeds that made reading possible. The friends included fellow members of First Presbyterian Church in Northville.
When the Nelsons were married, they left on a two-week camping trip to Muskoka Lakes in Canada, returning to live in Detroit. This fall the anniversary couple will be moving into King's Mill in Northville.

Yearbook staff takes honors

A three-member team representing Walled Lake Western High School "Spirit" yearbook staff was named one of three "Outstanding Staffs" at the conclusion of a week-long seminar sponsored by the Taylor Publishing Company.
Competing with over 50 schools located in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, the Western team topped the honors from among the 200 students attending the seminar at Adrian College.
Students were judged both individually as well as collectively by seminar instructors for the final awards. During the five-day session, yearbook students had the opportunity to choose from among eight different subjects pertaining to the development of a yearbook.
Yearbook advisor Diane Allen said the students had to develop a mini yearbook during the short timespan. It included drawing lay-outs, writing captions, cropping pictures and typing copy. In addition, students attended classes to learn how to develop themes and carry them through the entire book. "They literally learned how to make a yearbook become alive and interesting and not be something similar to a history book," she said.

Award honors were issued to Lisa Wessinger, "Spirit 20" yearbook editor-in-chief, Laura Wilcox and Kathy Spehar for their achievement at the seminar.
"It was a rewarding experience for the girls and really an accomplishment for them," said the teacher, who team-taught the yearbook staff with Doug Bond at Western last year.
"People don't realize what needs to be done to put a yearbook together," claimed Ms. Allen. "It takes long hours, hard work and not only does the copy have to meet the editor's scrutiny, it must also pass the teacher's critique. It's not a joy to have to rewrite something 10 times."
With an award to show for their work at the seminar, the girls intend to pass on their newly acquired knowledge to the next yearbook staff when it meets in September.

Wixom Baptist host 'Truth in Action' ensemble

The Bob Jones University "Truth in Action" Ensemble will present an unusual program at the First Baptist Church of Wixom tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m.
The program will be a unique presentation of both speech and music, including selections arranged especially for this tour.
The team will first present "The Unbeatable Game," a dramatized sermon by the founder of Bob Jones University, the late Dr. Bob Jones, Sr. This presentation will illustrate the devastating consequences of sin.
The second portion of the program is a fully lighted drama, "Over the Line," which tells the story of a man who rejects Christ one time too many. The team includes individuals from Pennsylvania, California, South Carolina and Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Poole of the university faculty are in charge of the group.
First Reunion
The Novi High School Class of 1969 will hold its first class reunion on Saturday, July 28, at the Chalet of Farmington. The dinner dance festivities begin at 7 p.m.
Approximately 15 of the 80 members of the first graduating class of Novi High School have not yet been located. If you are among those who have not been notified, contact 624-9434 for more information.
Cost of the evening is $15 per person with a cash bar. Included as entertainment is the upbeat film version of "Hamlet" starring some 20 class members that was produced by the students in 1969.
Book Discussion
The Friends of the Wixom Library will meet in the library at 1 p.m. Wednesday, July 25, for their monthly book discussion.
Lawrence Sanders, "The First Deadly Sin" is the chosen novel for review. The August selection is "Starting in the Middle," by Judith Wax, authoress killed in the Chicago air tragedy last month.
The book discussion group is open to any individual. Membership in the Friends of the Library is not a prerequisite to joining the group.
Super Saturday
Bring bathing suit and towel for the upcoming Super Saturday program offered by the Walled Lake Parks and Recreation Commission at Sims Park.
The Oakland County Swimobile will be at the park from 2 to 4 p.m. this Saturday.
The popular swimobile is accompanied by three certified senior lifesaving and water safety instructors for safety and supervision. The water which is heated and treated can be adjusted to three levels for youngsters of all ages.
The Super Saturday programs will continue through August 25.

Soaring On
A trip to Springfield Oaks is planned by SOAR, the Walled Lake Teen Center, today (Wednesday). The bus will leave St. William's Center at 9:30 a.m. and return at 4 p.m.
Lunch will be provided with the cost pegged at 50 cents. Permission slips are required for the outing which will include swimming, volleyball and movies.
Thursday activities include a car wash sponsored by the center to raise funds for further trips. Cost is $1.50 for the wash job with hours set from 3 to 8 p.m.
A softball game and open recreation is planned for Friday with a repeat of open recreation, volleyball, ping pong and pool set for Monday, July 23.
Movie night, Tuesday, will begin with the 7 p.m. showing of "Benji". There is a 50 cent admission charge. Open recreation is set for day hours.
Beach day at Mercer Beach is on tap Wednesday. Participants should meet at the center at 11 a.m. with a sack lunch, a dish to pass (potato chips or relishes) and beach accessories.
Novi Teens
Activities continue at the Novi Teen Center in the Novi High School Commons with daily and evening hours scheduled Monday through Thursday.
Tomorrow (Thursday) the center will offer a tie dyeing workshop, open gym, soccer and volleyball. The workshop will be directed by Sue Ostrawski and high school student Elizabeth Howie. Teens should bring T-shirts, sheets or even a plain material for the workshop. The material must be 100 percent cotton.
A return trip to the Waterford Oaks Wave Pool is planned for Monday, July 22. The excursion will run from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. A softball game followed by a marshmallow roast is planned on Tuesday.
Teens should plan to find their own rides to the Twelve Oaks Mall to meet for a special viewing of the James Bond film, "Moon Raker." Showing begins at 10 a.m. with suggested meeting time 9:45 a.m. Cost is 50 cents each.
The center will provide transportation back to the high school for an afternoon swim session planned from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.
Volunteers Needed
Volunteers with an interest in the elderly are needed by Bortz Green Lake Village, a West Bloomfield nursing home.
Duties would vary depending on interests of the volunteers, but could include teaching some arts and crafts as well as playing bingo with the patients. Time commitment is 3-4 hours per week.
The Oakland County Volunteer Bureau, a program of the Volunteer Action Center of the United Community Services, has weekly listings of volunteer opportunities in the Lakes Area.
Further information about these and other volunteer needs at over 200 agencies may be obtained by calling the bureau at 642-7272.

Blue Lake summer camp attracts trio from Novi

Three Novi students are attending the second summer session at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.
The three local students at the fine arts camp are Michelle Worosz, Stephanie Kilma and Sean Murphy.
Michelle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Worosz of Brook Forest Road, is majoring in art. Stephanie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kilma of Kings Pointe Drive, is majoring in dance. And Sean, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Murphy of Heatherbrae, is majoring in band.
Blue Lake, which will host approximately 3,200 elementary through high school students this summer, offers instruction in a wide variety of fine arts. The school is located 15 miles north of Muskegon in the Manistee National Forest.
The 14-year old summer school of the arts has grown to be one of the largest of its type in the United States.

Money is time.

Save now and enjoy a timely gift.

First Federal Savings of Detroit is offering savers this great variety of beautiful Timex gifts. Make a qualifying deposit to a new or existing First Federal savings account and you can take home the Timex of your choice. Either free, or at big savings. Choose from decorator wall clocks, alarm clocks, 24-hour timer, women's and men's watches. It's our way of introducing some great new savings account features.

We've increased our interest rate on regular savings. To a full 5 1/2% per year daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly. One-quarter percent more than any bank is permitted to pay on an annual interest rate basis.

We're offering a brand-new Four-Year Money Market Certificate that features a high rate of interest never before possible in so short a time with a deposit of only $100 or more. The interest rate for this account is established monthly. However, the rate in effect when your certificate is issued is guaranteed for the full 4-year term. July's rate for this account is 7.850% annual interest, compounded continuously for an effective annual yield of 8.284%.

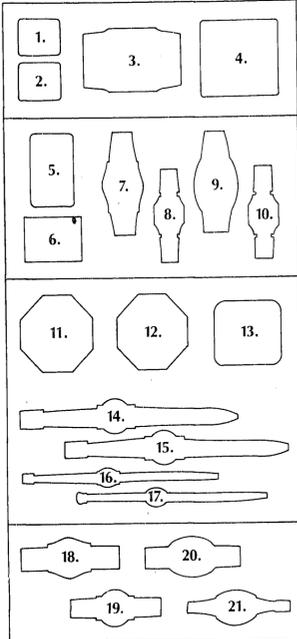

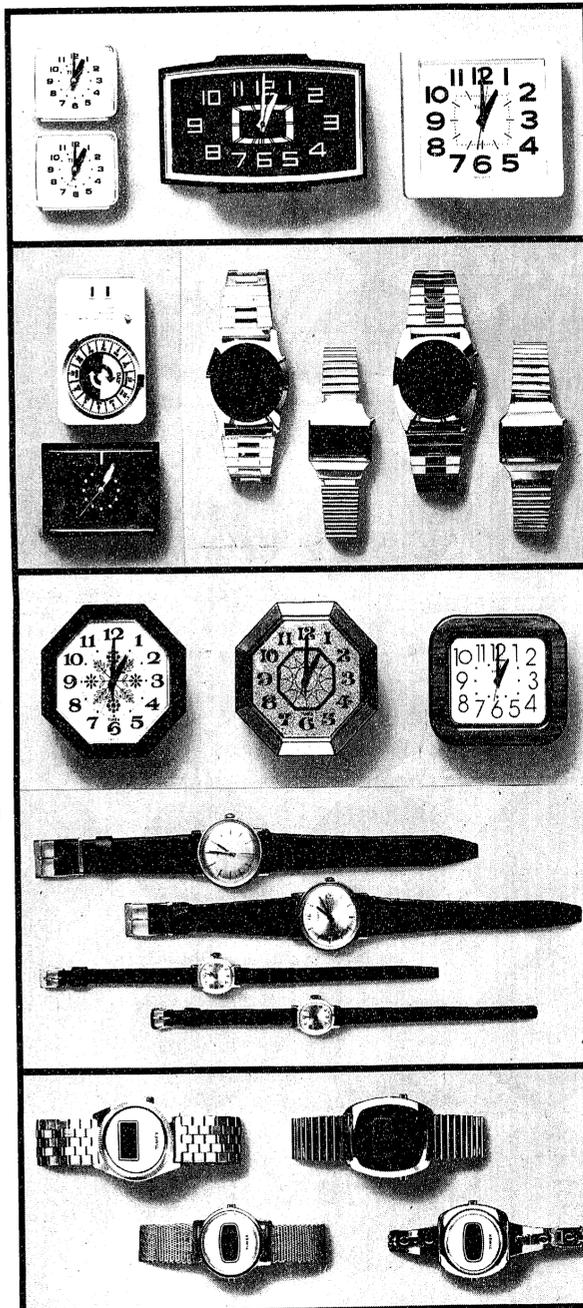

On top of that, we've reduced the minimum deposit on most of our other certificate accounts, too. Now you only need to deposit $100 or more to open any of our high-interest certificates (except our popular 182-Day Money Market Certificate which pays an even higher rate on deposits of $10,000 or more).

And the penalty for early withdrawal has been modified for certificate accounts opened after July 1, 1979. On our One-Year and our 182-Day Money Market Certificates, the penalty is no more than 90 days' interest. On our longer term certificates, the maximum penalty is now 180 days' interest.

Check the gift chart, visit any First Federal office, make your qualifying deposit and take home your Timex gift. Of course, our Timex offer is limited, so open or add to a First Federal savings account today. While money is time.

Grand River 'toll' worth trip into past with John Richter

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"Okay, now check your speedometer," directed the blind man as we pulled away from the gas station at the southeast corner of Grand River and Halstead roads in Farmington.

"Next 'tollgate stop' five miles," he laughed.

In the passenger seat was John Richter, Novi's celebrated continuously-on-the-go 77-year-old blind man who was literally on the edge of his seat in anticipation of this Thursday afternoon adventure.

John's wife, Mary, enjoyed it from the rear seat. He wanted up front where he could get a "better view."

"I don't care what you've heard or what you've read; what you're going to see today is the real McCoy," asserted John, who had just pointed out the location of the Grand River-Halstead tollgate that went out of existence "in or about 1908."

A Shell station stands at the intersection today. Seventy years ago, in what might have been the last year or two of this tollgate, the small frame building here had been operated by W. R. Hendryx in its dying years.

Although most of the tollgate businesses ceased operation earlier, approximately 100 years ago, many of the houses still existed when John Richter was a boy and a young man. Blind since 1939, he had agreed to take this reporter on a tour of Grand River — from Farmington to Green Oak — to pinpoint the location of four tollgates.

The Halstead corner was the first, and now we were headed west to the second — the house in which John was born in 1902. He was excited. He hadn't visited the house for many years.

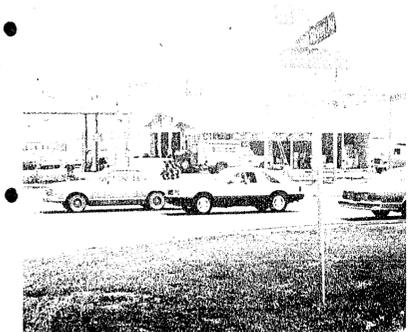

"It has a lot of pleasant memories," he said, "and a few unpleasant ones." Playing with a dynamite cap on behind the tollgate house as a boy of 11, John lost his left eye. Years later, while working for the Oakland County Good Roads Forestry Department, he lost the sight of his right eye splitting logs. He's been totally blind ever since.

The golden era of tollgates along Grand River — from Detroit to Lansing and beyond — predated gravel and ditching (1914) and concrete (1920's).

Over the years a series of stories have grown up about the early roadway and the tollgates, many of which are fabrications, insisted John Richter, who in the Twenties worked for the state highway department during the paving of Grand River.

John and Mary Richter inspect his birthplace, the Novi Tollgate House

Station occupies former site of tollgate house in Farmington

In 1845 Grand River was a well traveled "thoroughfare" which, despite deplorable conditions, was used by 124 wagons daily during summer and fall months. Often, during other times of the year, it was impassable.

Three years later in 1848 the General Plank-Road Act was passed by the legislature, permitting the incorporation of Michigan roadways as a means of building and/or improving them. Under the act, General Lewis Cass and a number of other men "associated themselves together and built a plank-road to Howell."

Because it was called the "plank road" many people today erroneously assume it was made of planks or hewed timber all the way to Lansing. "It was planks only to the edge of Detroit!" said John. "From there west only those parts of the roadbed that were in low, swampy areas were built of planks."

"Plank" may itself be a misnomer, he added. A better description would be "corduroy" or unhewn timber.

In 1890 historian Silas Farmer wrote that none of the stockholders had any experience in plank-road construction, "but it was conceded that where oak plank could be had, none other was to be used. How the planks were laid, and how best secured to their places was another question."

Built about 1850, the house had last been operated as a tollgate in 1880 — just about 10 years after the tollgate system began its gradual decline, John said. By the time the Richters moved into the house, there was little to remind the occupants of its earlier purpose. Nevertheless, John remembers some old tollgate papers and the gate key that were eventually thrown away or given away by his brother.

"Should be a black walnut tree right over there," he said, pointing his white cane at the trunk of a giant towering overhanging at the rear of the house. "I dug it out of the field near Beck and set it there."

"It's not very small anymore," said Mary as John approached it. His cane struck the tree and he stepped, fell it, and then tried unsuccessfully to wrap his arms around the gnarled trunk.

"Oh, my, Oh, my," he repeated. "It's grown a mile, hasn't it?" he chortled.

Back in the car we continued west toward New Hudson. "The tollgate place should be just across the tracks, on the south side of the road," said John.

I parked the car on the shoulder of the road just beyond the tracks and said, "Well, John, it's gone now. There's a lumberyard there now."

"Oh," he said in disbelief. "What's next door to it?"

"Post office," Mary said.

"What's next?"

"A little house." She described it. "That's it. Let's go in."

The woman of the house, Mrs. David Bostic, came to the door. "My friend, John Richter, believes your house may have been a tollgate years ago," I said. "Sure was," she said.

And so we went inside and spent the next half hour going over old records, verifying that this house indeed had been a tollgate long before the turn of the century. Later it had been the home of LaVerne Shepko. Today the house sits at the southwest corner of Grand River and Shepko. It is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Penness of Novi and rented by the Bostics.

"How about that," said my beaming companion as we piled back into the car. "Didn't think I knew, did you. I may be blind but my memory works overtime."

Mary smiled proudly.

"Next stop, Deadman's Corner," he said.

PEGGY SCHRON, real estate associate, has joined the firm of Bruce Roy Realty, Inc. in Northville.

Mrs. Schron transferred to Bruce Roy from Cooper Real Estate, St. Clair County where she was employed as a sales associate for the past six years. Prior to her career in real estate, she was a management director for Schostak Brothers in the Ann Arbor Area. She was an interior designer for several area builders and individual clients.

She attended St. Clair County Community College where she took courses such as English literature, real estate law, effective office management and sales motivation.

Mrs. Schron has done volunteer work for the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the American Cancer Society.

She is the wife of Robert Schron, vice president of Brender-Hamill & Associates, consulting and designing engineers of Plymouth. They have three sons, Gregory, David and Jeffrey.

Ann L. Roy, broker of Bruce Roy Realty, Inc., says "With Mrs. Schron's sales and educational background, she undoubtedly will be a very effective sales associate for our company and for the community."

FUNERAL DIRECTOR James W. Stickle has joined the staff of the Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home at 1901 Northville Road, owner Blake Northrop announces.

Stickle received his certificate in mortuary science from Wayne State University in 1958, graduating first in his class of 50. He received his associate degree in science in 1957 from Delta College. From 1964-66 he attended Detroit College of Law, working toward an LL.D. degree.

From 1976 until affiliating with the Northrop funeral home June 18, Stickle had been employed with Haley Funeral Directors in Southfield. From 1962-64 he was associated with A. H. Peters Funeral Homes, Incorporated.

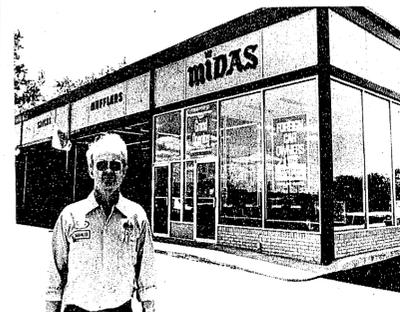

From 1951-55 Stickle, a native of Bay City, served with the U.S. Navy. He was graduated first in a class of 130 from the U.S. Naval Hospital Corps school for hospital and pharmacy.

Currently living in Keego Harbor, Stickle says he plans to move to the Northville area. He is married with two children, 22 and 16. He is a member of the Wayne State Alumni Association, Kiwanis and YMCA. He has been active in a YMCA building fund drive.

REALTOR JOYCE BURKHEAD, Realtor Associates Joann Owen and Maureen Moody of Realty World-Schaefer Inc., located in Milford and Hartland, recently completed an intensive three-day management seminar conducted by Dr. John C. Lang, international management-training director of Realty World.

The seminar, taught at Hidden Valley resort near Gaylord, covered management procedures, techniques, factors, principles, and communication, with emphasis on case study problem solving.

Realty World is an international real estate franchise organization with some 1,700 real estate brokerages in the U.S. and 110 in Michigan, all independently owned and operated.

MIDAS MUFFLER has opened its newest shop at the corner of Novi Road and Twelve Mile in Novi.

Manager Michael Pelt reported that customers will find the regular line of services available at Midas Muffler Shops — exhaust work, brake department, shock absorbers and custom pipe bending.

The owners of the Midas-Nowi franchise also own a second Midas Muffler franchise on Grossebeck Highway in Mt. Clemens.

Pelto, manager of Midas-Nowi, has worked for Midas Muffler for the past five years. He previously was affiliated with the Midas location in Mt. Clemens.

Pelto said that customers can drive in at any time for work on exhaust systems or shock absorbers. Appointments are recommended for work on brake systems or custom pipe bending. Appointments may be made at 348-3140.

ROBERT P. KETOLA, a resident of Mystic Lake Hills in Brighton and an Equitable Life Assurance Society agent, is among some 6,000 members of the Million Dollar Round Table (MDRT) who gathered in Chicago for this exclusive life insurance sales organization's annual conference.

Attendance at this year's meeting in the largest in MDRT history. With delegates representing 44 countries around the world, the MDRT meeting is the most comprehensive sales forum in the life insurance industry.

During the five-day meeting, more than 100 professional speakers discussed subjects of vital concern to both the public and to those in the life insurance field. The program featured experts in such areas as estate planning, taxes, small business operations and inflation.

SCRIPTOMATIC, Inc. has promoted Robert L. Huot, Jr. to the position of district manager. He will headquarter in Detroit with responsibilities to direct the marketing efforts of the firm's addressing systems and equipment in the states of Michigan and Ohio.

Huot joined Scriptomatic last October in the company's management trainee program. His career includes 12 years of experience in the office equipment field.

Huot attended Wayne State University, and presently resides with his wife and two children in Northville where he is active in Little League coaching, the Parent Teachers Association, and the Boy Scouts.

Grand River 'toll' worth trip to its past with John Richter declared as we resumed the westward trek.

Near Kensington Metropark, I asked John to pinpoint the location of the razed buildings that once stood in the now defunct village of Kensington.

"Park in front of the cemetery," he said.

"On the east side of the cemetery was the hotel ... Fischer Hotel. Opposite it, across on the north side of Grand River, were the barns where they kept the horses of the hotel guests and for stage coaches. Stages coming east from Lansing turned around here, and those coming west from Detroit also turned around here and went back. It was the half-way point.

"West of the cemetery was the church. Directly across Grand River from the cemetery was the old bank that Governor Bingham helped start."

I-96 expressway traffic whizzed through the middle of the bank vault, John reckoned.

As we continued west along Grand River, opposite the park golf course, John asked me to stop at Labadie Road.

"There's no Labadie Road along here," I said.

"Got to be," he insisted. "The Indian, Labadie, lived there. It's where they made the movies."

"What movies?"

"Why those movies with Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Fatty Arbuckle, all of those stars made movies right there."

"You're kidding?" I asked incredulously.

"Nope. Show me Labadie," he ordered.

But Labadie wasn't there. At Kensington Road, he pointed out where a relative owned a farm near the southeast corner (now part of the state park) and where a Baptist church had stood next to the cemetery at the northwest corner.

Beyond as we neared what he described as "Deadman's Curve," the blind man pointed out an old farm house on the north side of Grand River.

"That was Bill Ford's place...brother of Henry Ford (the first)."

At a gradual curve in the roadway, John pointed out two long rows of lilac bushes on the south side of Grand River. "Road used to go right between those bushes," he said, "back when there was a 90-degree turn in Grand River. And right here at the bend they called it 'Sparkplug Hill'."

Was a Champion sparkplug sign at the curve. More than one car barreled right through it. That's why they called it Deadman's Curve."

Just beyond Deadman's Curve, also on the south side of the road, was a large two-story house. "That's the Pleasant Valley tollgate house," John said as we turned into the driveway.

Mary, a native of Brighton, agreed. "I remember it as a boarding house," she said.

Today it's the home of Bert and Marcama Bair. We interrupted her sewing in the backyard shade.

"Oh, my goodness," said Mrs. Bair, "we knew it was an old house but we really wasn't sure just what it had been."

An active member of the Green Oak Historical Society, she insisted the Richters stay awhile.

"You know," said John, "I used to skinny dip in the river out back of your place here. Oh, that was back a spell, though. My old friend, Jarvis Gage, would remember it. Is Jarvis still around?"

John rambled on, peeling off story after story of the vicinity as his memory seemed to grow sharper by the minute.

"I built the bridge down below your place," he said, pointing to the roadway. "Had a bunch of inmates working for me."

"You mean prisoners?" Mrs. Bair asked.

"Yup, the prison farm was up the road a spell, near the northwest corner of Pleasant Valley and Grand River."

"My goodness," said Mrs. Bair. "I'd never heard of that." She had heard of "Deadman's Curve" and "Sparkplug Hill", however.

The visit at Pleasant Valley was pleasant. Enroute home we stopped at the centennial farm across from the Kent

Lake unit of the Island Lake Recreation Area. "Is Mr. Gage in? My friend here is an old friend and would like to say hello."

The 80-year-old, white-haired Jarvis Gage came up out of the garden behind the barns and gripped John's hand and instantly the two old "skinny-dipping" friends were pawing through a hill of memories.

"Tell me, Jarvis, what happened to Labadie Road? Don't you remember it?"

"Why sure," Jarvis Gage said. "The road was cut off when they put in Kensington Park. The Indian lived there and they made movies there, Mary Pickford and the rest."

John Richter couldn't see me, but a wide smile curled across his lips as he turned in my direction as if to say, "So there, you young whippersnapper, what did I tell you."

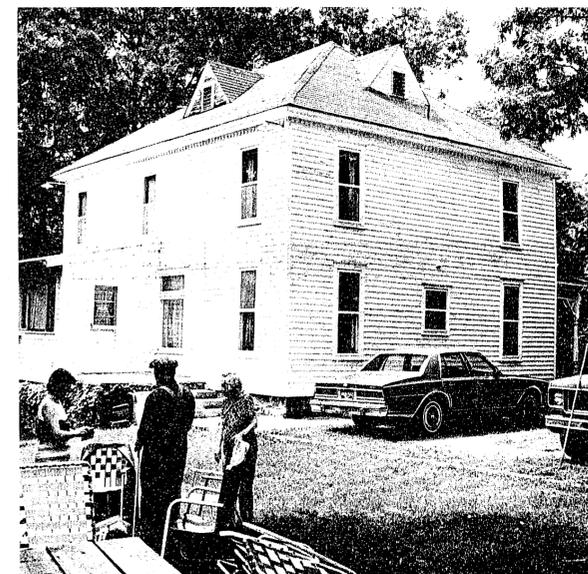

Instead, he and his 80-year-old friend continued their reminiscing as Mary and I enjoyed the luxury of this old place — now owned by the state. Jarvis Gage, who has a lifetime lease to live in the house, will say goodbye to the house and farm for the last time next year. That's when he will move to the Upper Peninsula farm of his son.

"I'll hate to leave but I must," he said, looking up at the house his grandfather, John Gage, had built in the 1830s. "All good things must come to an end."

Indeed they must. But sharing John Richter's vivid memories of Grand River and its tollgate houses had been worth the spent afternoon. Sharing his visit with an old friend was an extra mile of toll free pleasure.

Walled Lake tennis tournament successful again

Union Lake's Jane Dyszkiewicz in action

It would appear that tennis is alive and well — in the Walled Lake area, at least. The Walled Lake Community Education Department's annual tennis tournament, just completed Monday, would seem to bear that out. Some 88 participants took part in this year's festivities, according to Program Director Randy Kilbowski.

In addition, said Kilbowski, this year's number of entries exceeded last year's total, with people from throughout the state getting in on the action.

Central's cage camp scores with coaches

A brainstorm conjured up by Walled Lake Central Basketball Coach Ken Butler this summer just may end up being one of the more popular programs in this area for years to come.

It was Butler's idea to organize a girls' basketball scrimmage camp at Central to keep the girls' skills in tune during vacation time. And early returns indicate that the Viking mentor's innovative instincts were correct.

The program, which ran this year from June 19 to July 5, consisted of eight girls' teams participating in seven scrimmage sessions. Each team under the rules, plays 10-minute quarters. No statistics or standings are kept since the intent of the camp is to provide a vehicle by which the girls can keep their skills sharp. Only girls of high school age during the coming school year may play in the league.

In addition, the short three-week camp doesn't wear anyone out giving the girls an opportunity to attend other summer camps if they so choose.

Also, with eight area high schools competing this year — Central, Walled Lake Western, Waterford schools Mott, Township High and Kettering, Milford, Milford Lakeland and Brighton — Central provides an easily accessible location for the teams involved. And its two full-sized, completely separated gyms, which include a large team locker room and a well-equipped training room, provide excellent facilities for the participants.

But best of all, it's offered free of charge — not a penny for either the players or coaches.

This cooperative, volunteer-type endeavor does require a little aid from its participants, however. For instance, the league recommends that each team provide someone to run the clock and possibly officiate at the sessions, since no paid officials are used.

And, of course, all Michigan High school Athletic Association eligibility requirements must be met by the girls, who also must provide their own equipment.

But all in all, three free weeks of high-quality, competitive basketball isn't a bad deal at that. Just ask any of the players or coaches involved in this summer's camp, who had nothing but rave reviews to offer.

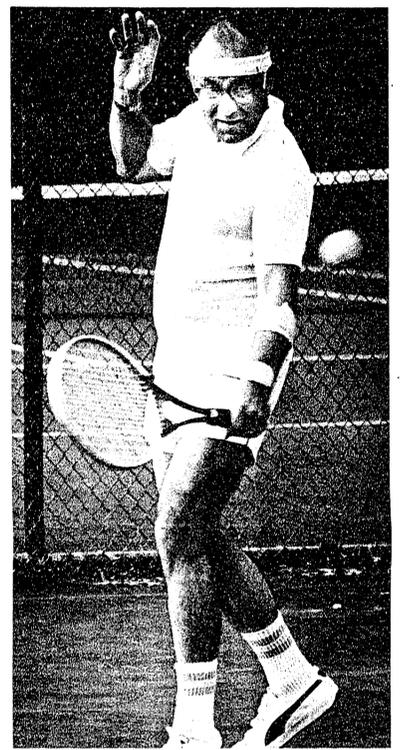

"It (the camp) was very beneficial for all the teams involved," Milford basketball coach Don Palmer reported. "It's set up in such a way that it's organized and very efficient, besides the fact that it doesn't cost a cent."

"The program was something that gave the girls a chance to get into some good competition, without putting winning or losing as a top priority," he continued. "We definitely want to be a part of it again next year."

Waterford Township Coach Mike Kulinski, on the other hand, chose to elaborate on Butler's handling of the few difficulties the program encountered. The biggest setback occurred when Milford Lakeland pulled out of the camp, leaving the league with only seven teams. Fortunately, however, word got around about the Butler brainstorm, because no less than three teams — West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Andover and Farmington Our Lady of Mercy — eagerly filled that vacancy.

"Ken Butler did a great job with the program under some adverse conditions," Kulinski said. "It's just an excellent program. As far as the organization of the thing goes, it's one of the finest ever, and you just couldn't ask for better facilities."

Butler himself says he got the program together because he felt that the girls "just gotta have something to do during the summer. I knew we had the facilities, plus the fact that we're centrally located...I'm just glad it worked out."

Heavy-hitting Colonels show power in tourney

The Kentucky Fried Chicken Union Lake Colonels had their bats booming in last weekend's Southgate Hall of Fame Invitational softball tournament. Unfortunately, so did their opponents.

Despite scoring 66 runs in the four games they played, the Colonels managed only to split their contests en route to a fourth-place standing. Nonetheless, they provided some exciting, high-powered offense for their fans.

In the opener, for instance, the Colonels bested Tubby's Subs of St. Clair Shores in a two-hour, 30-23 slugfest. The Union Lake team had three members who turned in five-hit games in that one, as left-centerfielder Pat Kawa, shortstop John Eckstein and catcher Jeff Moon all turned the trick. Kawa and Eckstein had three home runs apiece, while Moon added two. First baseman Mike Busch contributed four hits (including two homers) and four RBIs for the winners.

The hits kept on coming in game two for the Colonels. However, Waterford Little Caesars had a little more, winning by a 23-18 score. This happened despite a five-hit day from Colonels third sacker Dave Burt, and two homers apiece from Kawa, Eckstein, Busch and right-centerfielder Tasso Rumeilotes.

The next day, Union Lake had the satisfaction of knocking Clemente's out of first place with a 15-7 opening-game win. Eckstein, Burt and Rumeilotes each delivered three hits in that contest. Again, however, the Colonels lost a heartbreaker in game two, coming out on the short end of a 15-14 score. Eckstein had three more hits in that one for the Colonels, who succumbed on a run-scoring single in the bottom of the seventh.

Union Lake, which now sports a 13-19 record, plays tonight (Wednesday) at Belle Isle against Snyder's of Novi. Game time for that one is 8:30. The Colonels also play next Tuesday at the same time, battling Lonnie's at Palmer Park.

Following those offensive wars, the Colonels eliminated Southgate Winner's Circle from the tourney with a 10-1 triumph. The victorious Union Lake squad picked up seven runs in the top of the seventh inning to break open a close Novi bested a young and eager Bloomfield State Motor team by a 1-0 score, despite the fact that the winners played much of the second half a man short. With tempers flaring throughout the contest, one Latinos player picked up a red card (meaning automatic ejection from the game) for hitting. And, since soccer rules prohibit replacing a player who has been "red-carded," Novi had its backs to the wall often in the closing minutes.

Goalie Ribbi Abdul Gahni withstood the Bloomfield charge in picking up the shutout, the Latinos' third of the season. Manuel Amaya accounted for the game's only goal. Novi now stands at 6-0-1, having scored 20 goals just campaign while surrendering just three.

Latinos claw to win

The Novi Latinos soccer club won Sunday to hold on to its first place spot in the Michigan Soccer League's Western Conference — although the locals had to fight to do so.

Penny Lake team takes fifth in ASA tournament

By REID CREAHER
One could say that Walled Lake's Penny Lake Grocers softball team did not enjoy the proverbial "luck of the draw" last weekend.

Lake bested a long-time nemesis from the Inter-Lakes Slow-Pitch Travel League — the South Farmington Wildcats — a win that could prove to be a turning point for the local team this season.

Participating in the Metro Detroit American Softball Association (ASA) Tournament, the girls finished fifth in the action after losing to two very talented squads. Jack Grubb's unit succumbed to the teams that came in one-two in the tourney.

Despite that misfortune, however, Penny Lake did come away with a very important victory in the ASA action. In its second game of the tourney, Walled Lake bested a long-time nemesis from the Inter-Lakes Slow-Pitch Travel League — the South Farmington Wildcats — a win that could prove to be a turning point for the local team this season.

The local tourney this year. The result was a hard-fought 8-7 setback, with the victors scoring all of its eight runs in the third inning.

Penny Lake returned the favor with vengeance in game two, winning on a two-hitter of its own. Schodowski twirled the gem for the locals, boosting her season's mark to 4-0. In addition, she had a triple and three RBIs at the plate.

Win Dahm blanks Milford with no-hitter

Win Dahm did everything a person could do to guarantee a win in a baseball game. On Sunday, July 15, Dahm pitched the American Legion Novi Stingers past the Milford team, 5-0 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Dahm made sure Milford scored less runs than Novi by not allowing them to cross the plate. In fact, Dahm made doubly sure by not even allowing Milford a hit. It was Dahm's first win of the season against no losses. And if that wasn't enough, Dahm had his hat shifted into high gear as he belted two doubles to help the offensive cause.

Novi scored a run in both the third and fourth innings, and three in the fifth. Pat Golich and Scott Taylor got the only other Stinger hits.

In the second game, Steve Weber moved out from behind the plate where he had caught Dahm's no-hitter in the first contest, to the mound, where he proceeded to toss a pitching gem of his own. Weber earned his first win against two by limiting Milford to just four hits and one run. He went the distance in the game, which Novi won 8-1.

Bonanza remains undefeated in girls' softball

Bonanza picked up two runs in the last of the seventh inning last week to pull out an 8-7 win over F-Stop and maintain the first place position atop the Novi Junior Girls' Softball League standings. Bonanza is now 6-0.

It looked for a good while as if Bonanza would lose its first game as F-Stop took a 2-1 lead after the first inning, tied 3-3 in the third, went up 4-3 in the fourth, 6-3 in the fifth, and after Bonanza tied the game again in the sixth, went up 7-6 in the first half of the last inning. But Bonanza came up with two runs to claim victory.

Sandy Maloney and Ruth Irwin scored the first-inning runs for F-Stop while Mindy Park opened Bonanza's first half with a home run. Laura Maloney scored for F-Stop in the third and Brenda Camp and Carolyn Drew crossed the plate for Bonanza.

Deanne Mullet scored for F-Stop in the fourth and Irwin and Kelly Case in the fifth. Laura Case crossed the plate with the final F-Stop run in the sixth.

Mindy Harris scored in the fourth for Bonanza and Park, Carey Rush and sent it on a long-distance course with two runners on base. She scored four runs in and added two singles to her tally.

Marie Nameth had a first inning home run for Sunde Inn and added a two-run shot in the fourth inning. Jeanne Sroka was on board for Nameth's second blast. Sroka scored the fourth and last Inn run in the sixth inning when she belted a triple and came home on a single by Nameth. But it was too little, too late. Inn's record fell to 1-4 with the loss.

Wildcat softball team drops three of four

The Novi Wildcats, entrants in the Inter-Lake Girls' Slow Pitch Traveling League, dropped three of the four games they played in the last week.

On Monday, July 16, the Wildcats dropped both ends of a doubleheader against Southfield. The first game score was 8-7 and the second game tally was 4-1.

In the first contest Novi jumped out to a five-run lead thanks to a grand-slam home run off the bat of Sherrie Crowe. Suzanne Beckman, Heather Barry, Carol Champey and Sue Beall all singled to set the stage for Crowe's blast. Beckman had scored on Beall's hit.

In the fifth inning Champey got on base when Southfield bobbled her grounder. She scored on Denise Burnham's singled. In the sixth inning Brenda Cambell singled and scored on a hit by Mary Weber.

Southfield had chipped away at Novi's lead throughout the game. Scoring one run in the first one in the second, and two in the fourth, the score going into the seventh inning was 7-4 in favor of Novi. The Wildcats got two quick outs and were looking forward to a victory celebration when their world fell apart. After four errors and four Southfield runs, Novi found itself on the losing end of the final score.

Beckman pitched a strong game until she lost her support in the seventh. She went the distance giving up nine hits and striking out one.

In the second game Southfield scored seven runs in the second inning to stun

Suburban cops another women's diamond win

Suburban Rent-it, riding the crest of two wins last week, remains on top in the Novi Women's Softball League with a 7-1 record.

Suburban beat second-place Typewriter Shop 9-0 and out-slugged Novi American 18-14.

Against the Typewriter Shop (TS), Sally Larzelle led the way by rapping a double and single, walking once and scoring twice. Pam Lemerand and Sue Quarto each banged out two hits and scored once.

Suburban scored twice in the second, once in the fourth and six times in the fifth. Denise Burnham, Laurie Evans and Renee Farras each smacked two hits for TS but the team was unable to push across a run.

Against Novi American, Suburban started off with a bang and kept on coming. The team scored five times in the first inning, seven times in the second, once in the third, and five times in the fourth. Laura Radigan, Lisa Wallen, Ann Plumb and Catherine Adelstein all scored three runs for the winners. Radigan, Mary Barrett, Wallen and Adelstein all banged out three hits.

Peggie Kenny scored three times for Novi American, while Mary Rauback, Diane Panosian, Lou Ellen Jamieson and Lee Ann Brickelbaw all scored twice.

Earlier in the week, Novi American trashed Michigan National Bank 16-1. Scoring four runs in the first inning, 11 runs in the second and one in the sixth, Novi dominated the game completely.

Shawna Novak had the big blow of the game, smashing a bases-loaded home run in the second inning. Jamieson, Novak and Clara Porter all scored twice for the winners and Darci Porter scored three times.

Mary Rourke led off the first inning with a double for Michigan Nat'l Bank, and came home on a double by the next batter, Becky Fisher. Bank followed with three straight outs though, stranding Fisher. The Bank team didn't get a hit the rest of the night.

Michigan's troubles continued in its second game of the week, against Goat Farm. Bank lost 15-2. Goat Farm banged out 16 hits to Bank's six.

Kathy Ortwin collected four of the goat farm hits, sporting twice while Ginger Gillick, Jeanette Couch and Patsy Cameron all got two hits each.

Mary Rourke, Darci Porter, Ball Whaneshon, Kathy Huhta and Shari Whalen, and Diane White collected the hits for Michigan Nat'l. Vanche son and Huhta scored the runs for Bank.

In its second game of the week, Goat Farm buried Tom Holtzer Ford 15-0.

Ortwin, Dana Bauer and Marlain Stevens all scored three times for the winners. Ortwin had a triple, a single and two walks in four trips to the plate. Gillick had a double and a single and Couch had two singles.

Robin Stipp had two singles to lead Holzer's.

Holzer's was consistent throughout the week as the team dropped a contest to Typewriter Shop 8-4.

Laurie Evans scored a run in the first inning for the Shop team, and another in the sixth. Moe Farras scored twice and Denise Burnham, Mary Weber, Kathy Ward and Jan Edwards all scored. Farras had four hits in as many times to the plate to lead the Shop.

Robin Stipp, Heidi Holzer, Maureen Bahra and Tracey Truscott scored the Holzer runs.

Try Hobie Catting

A different approach to boating

By JIM HAYNES

What do you do if you're a California high school beach bum who hates going to classes? You tinker around in your father's garage, trying to invent the perfect surfboard. And when you finally hit upon the idea of using polyurethane to create a light, tough board, you aren't a drop-out beach bum anymore. You're a millionaire.

Now, what happens if, a few years later, surfing just doesn't excite you as much as it once did? You start to tinker again. And this time you revolutionize a whole different sport. Sailing.

You create a sleek, wind-fast catamaran that is light and easy to handle. But most of all, it is a boat that most can afford and a cinch to learn to use. If your name is Hobart L. Alter, and you're proud of your new invention, then there is only one logical name for the new craft. Hobie.

Much more than just a brand name, Hobie Cat brings to people's minds a certain type of sailboat. A unique craft that looks like something Jules Verne and Buckminster Fuller would have created if the two minds could have melded to form the ultimate alien watercraft.

Unlike other brand names, Hobie Cat symbolizes a sport more than a product. If someone mentions Harley-Davidson, you automatically think of a motorcycle. But if you aren't an avid cyclist, chances are you won't know what the differences are between a Harley and a Honda.

But it's different with a Hobie Cat. People who have had only a brief introduction to sailing can picture the radical differences between the Cats and other types of sailing craft.

The Cat is designed light for speed and maneuverability. The two hulls are thin but buoyant, and slice the water like a hot knife in butter. Stretched between the two hulls is a frame and a trampoline. The tramp is sturdy yet more comfortable to sit on than the traditional fiberglass seats in monohull sailboats. The mast is built into the front of the frame.

One of the advantages to a Cat is the weight, or lack of. A Hobie 14 weighs in at around 240 pounds, a Hobie 16 weighs 340 and one of the big Hobie 18s weighs 400 pounds. Which means that one person can rig and move these boats where a larger monohull craft would have to be handled by at least two.

Fortune Marina in Whitmore Lake has, for the last two years, been ranked as the world's largest dealer in Hobie Cats. They offer all three sizes and a sailing course to acquaint the new owner with everything one needs to know to sail a Cat: rigging, sailing theory, and safety procedures.

"A person who has never sailed before, after 5-10 minutes of basic instruction can have a basic understanding of sailing a Cat," Jim Mount, general manager of Fortune Marina said. "Cats are more stable than monohulls because of the two hulls that make up the catamaran."

To sail a Cat, you sit at the rear of the frame and control the rudder with your left hand. You control the boom with your right hand by means of a rope and pulley mechanism.

"To turn, head into the wind making sure you have control of the speed of the boat, and use the tiller to turn. The sail will shift on its own, just duck and shift to the other side of the tramp," Mount said. "If you flip the boat, just apply leverage by resting your feet on the lower hull (part under water), grab the line on the upper hull (part that's out of water) and use your body weight to right it."

Mount offered these advantages of a Hobie Cat over a monohull sailboat. "A catamaran is more stable and can attain more speed than a monohull. When a Cat accelerates you can really feel it but you can't with a monohull. A Hobie Cat is easier to sail than a monohull. A Cat is more comfortable because you're sitting on a trampoline instead of fiberglass. There is a lot of space on a catamaran where in a monohull there is less."

The sails are made of Dacron and come in a number of color schemes. But the purchaser has to order just what is offered, no self-designing is allowed. Fortuna also discourages mixing of colors in terms of sail and hull schemes. You have to buy what is offered.

A Hobie 14 is the smallest of the three styles offered, and it is also the least expensive. Mount said that these are offered starting at $1795. They have been officially clocked at 23.2 mph and have less than an eight-inch draft. The spars are made of anodized aluminum, with fiberglass hulls, stainless steel fittings and by just removing four bolts you can store the boat in your garage completely broken down.

The Hobie 16 costs a bit more than the 14, but makes up for it in size and speed. The 16 has been clocked at 25.9 mph and has a draft of less than 10 inches. Built with the same materials that a 14 is made of, the 16 has a reefable mainsail which is important in heavy weather or a sudden storm.

The Hobie Cat 18 is a relatively new design. It flies 240 square feet of sail, has a 30 inch draft and weighs over 400 pounds. It starts at $3695 and has been clocked at 29 mph. The 18 has two dagger boards in its hulls which help with stability. In Hawaii the enthusiasts have developed a new sport called dagger board skiing. A surfer/skier will ride a dagger board like a surfboard while being towed by a Cat. And it's also possible to ski behind a big 18.

There is even a Hobie Class Association for Hobie Cat owners. The United States is divided into 15 Divisions, with Michigan included in Division 10. There are a number of regattas each year for each division and then for the whole country. Points are earned at the regattas and a national Championship is held in each size class with the skippers who have earned the highest points in regatta competition going against each other for the championship. If anyone would like more information about the association, write to Hobie Class Association, P.O. Box C-19509, Irvine, California, 92713.

"Sailing a Hobie is absolutely incredible," Mount said. "It just can't be described to a person who has never sailed. You have to try it — it's incredible."

Novi Bobcats win two

The Novi Bobcats, swimming in the Northwest Swim League, won the two meets they took part in last week.

On July 11, the Bobcats beat Farmington Hills 220-121. Double winners were Norcen Langkill (25-yd fly and the 50-yd free), Mark Hill (50-yd free and the 25-yd fly), Ray Erikson (50-yd back and the 50-yd breast), Rob Hill (50-yd breast and the 50-yd free), Lynn Wohlfel (50-yd fly and the 50-yd breast), Sandy Stevens (50-yd back and the 50-yd free), Beth Marchetti (50-yd back and the 50-yd free), Bruce Russell (100-yd free and the 100-yd back), Michelle Papial (25-yd free and the 25-yd back) and Eric Wikman (50-yd free and the 25-yd fly).

Novi won 31 out of the 52 events at the meet.

On July 13 Novi beat Oak Park 211-105. Results of the events weren't available at press time.

The team is made up of over 30 kids split into different age groups from 8-and-under to 15-17 years. The team is coached by Manse Tian and Vida Mikalonis.

Pony playoffs cancelled

Due mainly to inclement weather conditions, the Novi Little League's Pony League playoffs for this year have been cancelled, the league office said Monday.

Despite the Pony cancellation, Major League playoffs will still be played. Those games are scheduled for next Monday and Wednesday at Boscoe Field in Novi.

The Little League All-star games, scheduled for this Sunday at Boscoe Field, will be played as scheduled. Game times are 1 p.m. for the Minor League, 3 p.m. for the Pony League and 5 o'clock for the Major and Senior Leagues.
