Kmart replaces Wards in center plans

Montgomery Ward has been dropped as the major tenant in the proposed West Oaks Shopping Center and replaced by the Kmart Corporation.

The change of major tenants from Montgomery Ward to Kmart was confirmed Monday by Michael Ward, an executive vice-president with the Ramco-Gershenson Company which is developing the shopping center on the west side of Novi Road opposite the Twelve Oaks Mall.

In addition to replacing the Montgomery Ward store with Kmart, a Krogers store has been added to the development.

"We have made an improvement to the development and we're pleased with the change," commented Ward, noting that Kmart is the nation's second leading retailer.

The Ramco-Gershenson executive added that the change in major tenants was made out of economic necessity.

Just what effect the proposed changes will make on the developer's ability to obtain final site plan approval is uncertain. There appears to be little question, however, that removing the proposed 155,000 square foot Montgomery Ward facility from the site plan and replacing it with an 89,000 square foot Kmart store and a 31,000 square foot Krogers store represents a major change in the site plan.

Ramco-Gershenson has obtained preliminary site plan approval from both the planning board and the city council for the original plan which contained the Montgomery Ward store.

Ward said he hoped to appear before the planning board later this month for final approval of the revised site plan. Final approval of the site plan then must be granted by the Novi City Council.

Ward said that the change was made after Montgomery Ward officials became increasingly concerned with respect to the economy in southeastern Michigan.

"They looked at the problems Chrysler is having, the problems that the City of Detroit and Wayne County are having, uncertainly over labor negotiations with the auto companies and a softening of retail sales in the metropolitan Detroit area," said the Ramco-Gershenson executive.

"After looking at all those factors, they (Montgomery Ward officials) decided they did not want to go through with the plans at the present time."

Ward further reported that Montgomery Ward officials were still interested in the location, but felt it would take at least three years before they could invest money in the Novi site.

"They told us (Ramco-Gershenson) that they'd take another look at it in March of 1983 if we could hold that long," said Ward. "They felt the metropolitan Detroit economy would have gone through a complete cycle in three years."

"But there is absolutely no way we could have held off for three years on the development and put it into a profitable state."

Ward reported that Ramco-Gershenson initially had approached the Kmart Corporation about the site in its early planning stages.

"Kmart was our first choice, but they were involved in the Walled Lake project at that time and didn't feel they could get involved in another store in Novi as well," he reported. "Kmart's plans for a Walled Lake store fell through about the same time that the Montgomery Ward plans fell through and it was only logical for us to get together again. They were receptive to our proposal and have committed to become a part of it."

Ward also said that the addition of Kmart and Krogers to the West Oaks shopping center would be beneficial to the city in terms of diversifying the city's retail mix.

"Novi already has Hudsons, Sears and JCPenney right across the street in Twelve Oaks, and the addition of a Montgomery Ward store would only have added another department store of the Good guy in striped shirt

The oft-maligned individuals who enforce the rules during athletic events have maintained all along that they're basically a bunch of nice guys. And testimony for that assertion was provided by Referee Glenn Funk during a recent Novi High School football game. Assistant Drum Major Price Fritz treated the crowd to a fine trombone solo during halftime activities, but found that the instrument would not stay on its stand along the sidelines after he was finished. Funk stepped in to solve the problem and enabled Fritz to return to his on-field responsibilities by holding the trombone for the young musician, while continuing to munch on his apple. Enrollment up slightly Enrollment figures for the Novi Schools are in — and they bear out administrative predictions in August that the district is not growing as fast as anticipated.

This year the school district had projected an enrollment of about 3,300 students, but Fourth Friday counts conducted last week place the actual enrollment at 3,144.

"There appears to be continued small growth, but not nearly what the district will experience in the future," said Superintendent Gerald Kratz.

He explained that many factors seem to have contributed to the overall enrollment figures including the facts that new housing is not being completed as expected, mortgage rates have increased as the birth rates have declined, and that the district has experienced a decline in enrollment.

Overall elementary enrollment has increased by 26 students. However, all the growth has occurred in the Novi Woods enrollment area while the number of students at the other elementary schools has declined.

In Novi Woods enrollment jumped by 83 students. But at Orchard Hills the figures were down by 23 students and at Village Oaks the number of students declined by 34 from last year's figures.

Total kindergarten enrollment has increased by about 23 students. Kratz had earlier indicated that kindergarten enrollment is a key factor in the future growth of the school district.

At the middle school level, Fourth Friday counts placed enrollment at 1,029 students. That figure is up by about 65 over one year ago.

Out of that middle school enrollment figure, the school district has enrolled about 62 special education students.

students from the 1978-79 school year.

With a total increase of 77 students, the school district's enrollment increase did not match the growth in the student population experienced a year ago.

Figures produced by the school administration show that while the district has continued to grow, the speed of the growth has slowed considerably compared to past years.

The school district already has taken measures to maintain reasonable class size in Novi Woods which has experienced the largest enrollment increase.

Earlier in the school year the school board approved the transfer of a teacher from Village Oaks to Novi Woods. A half-time position also was shifted from Orchard Hills to Novi Woods and an additional half-time position was created at Novi Woods.

A proposal for the hiring of a contractor to provide city-wide trash collection service will be presented to the Novi City Council by early November.

Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall told the council this week that the city is ready to proceed with the drafting of an agreement after reviewing the results of the trash collection survey conducted this summer.

Additional information for the survey is still being sought. But the survey does represent a majority of the subdivisions throughout Novi, Kriewall said.

All homeowner association president were asked to respond to survey questions. Follow-up calls also were made in areas where additional information was needed.

Results of the survey showed in some subdivisions there is a need for controls the city could maintain if it offered a collection service through a city contractor. Other subdivisions are satisfied with the service they currently are receiving from private contractors.

The administration has proposed devising a package which would provide service in the areas which have indicated they would welcome trash collection by the city.

Kriewall said after the meeting that an attempt would be made to devise a system so that subdivisions which do not want to be serviced by the city could be exempted.

Trash collection would be financed through a service fee, similar to those of existing collectors which would appear on the tax bill.

Kriewall said there was no way of determining how much the trash collection service would cost until the city has gone out for bids on the contract.

He indicated that the city was considering a fee rather than an ad valorem tax. A new tax would cause problems for acreage owners, he explained. It also would create pressure for an overall service and lead to disputes on equity of service, Kriewall said.

He indicated the city is not interested in providing service to commercial and industrial companies.

In addition, survey results showed that many residents would be opposed to a new tax for trash collection.

Residents surveyed about city-wide trash collection were largely presidents of homeowner associations. Some were strongly in favor of the city providing trash service through a single contractor, while others were not altogether enthusiastic.

Residents in Meadowbrook Glens indicated their rates for trash collection have been escalating rapidly in the past few years. Other complained their contractor is often a day late.

Other residents who favored a citywide service said that in subdivisions where more than one contractor serves the area, different trash collection days mean that trash is constantly at curbside, creating an eyesore.

Residents who opposed a city-wide service said they did not think the increase in taxes which they believed would be needed would warrant the service.

Others said they enjoyed the freedom to change trash collection contractors if they so desired.

Still others said "we would much rather have reliable private service than questionable municipal service."

The survey also established the cost that residents currently are paying for trash collection as well as the manner in which trash has been hauled.

Results showed that Novi residents pay between $40 and $120 annually to have their trash removed. It also showed some contractors charge different rates to customers within the same subdivision.

The greatest disparity was found in Meadowbrook Manor where some residents annually pay as much as $120 while others pay $48 a year.

Residents in condominiums got the largest breaks on their trash collection fees. In the Lakewood Condominiums, residents are charged $17.40. Stonehenge pays $15.60, Old Orchard pays $15 and Country Place is charged $42 annually.

Results also showed the manner in which trash is collected varies from subdivision to subdivision.

For example in Connemara Hills only one trash collector is operating, while in Village Oaks residents contract with three different collection services.

In some subdivisions the homeowner associations contract with the trash collector for removal services.

With this information Kriewall told the council he believes the city is ready to develop a contract proposal for the provision of city-wide trash collection.

Building starts drop off as housing market slumps

It appears the housing boom predicted by Novi officials earlier in the year simply is not going to materialize in 1979.

In May it had been estimated that between 600 and 800 housing starts would be recorded this year, but City Manager Ed Kriewall now says that figure will be closer to 300.

"Construction is far below what we expected," Kriewall said. "We are probably only going to hit between 50 and 75 percent of our initial projections."

His comments reflect what the building department has been experiencing.

In the past month the number of building permits has taken a nose dive. The city took in only $5,995 in revenues for building permits in September, compared to $18,400 in August and $13,156 in July.

So far this year the city has issued 220 residential building permits, compared to 218 which were issued in the same period last year.

"It is significant that we are not below last year's levels," Kriewall said. He explained that in some surrounding communities building is down 80 percent and building department inspectors are being laid off.

"Novi's figure will be no worse than we have had in prior years largely because there are so many builders throughout the city," he explained.

The city manager blamed the construction fall off to the softening of the house market.

"This could have been our biggest year ever if the mortgage rates hadn't gone through the ceiling," Kriewall said.

Realtors report that it may be next spring before the housing market recovers.

John Cole of the Western-Wayne Oakland County Board of realtors reports that the overall housing market is down by 10 to 12 percent.

He explained that areas such as Novi with high price listings (over $60,000) have especially felt the pinch.

The economic situation has created more of a buyers' market than a sellers' market, according to Cole. He indicated that houses are staying on the market longer and that has created more listings and a greater variety for prospective buyers.

"The economic slowdown has been enemy number one," Cole explained. "The uncertainty of the economy has been on the minds of potential buyers and they are remaining cautious until they are sure of their job and that they will not be a casualty of the economy."

Interest rates which have climbed to 12 percent also have kept some potential buyers out of the market place, Cole said.

"Some people are waiting for the interest rate to come back down and that is affecting home sales," he said.

The president of the realty board said he views the period the area is going through as one of adjustment. The market is adjusting to the resistance of prospective purchasers to the interest rate and general economic conditions, he explained.

"We do expect and feel that the demand for homes is going to remain high. Once the shock of high interest rates have been overcome and people have adjusted to the economic situation they will begin to buy more homes for the same reasons people have always bought homes."

He added that people are finding other ways to finance their homes such as Veterans Administration or Federal Housing Administration loans which do not carry the same high interest rates currently offered at conventional lending institutions.

Cole projects that it will be next spring before the housing sales make a real recovery.

That fact would play into the predictions of city officials who are saying the housing boom that didn't occur this year could in fact become a reality next year.

"We have enough platted land so that next year we could really take off," Kriewall said. "We will be sitting with several builders ready to go next year. The city has the potential to have the greatest number of homes built as it has in history. We had that potential this year. Builders were capable of delivering more homes than they did. But it all depends on the economy."

Sign company drops law suit against Novi

A sign company which was successful in having a portion of Novi's sign ordinance struck down has dropped its attempt to collect damages through a federal court suit.

The suit named virtually every city official who had any input into either the decision to adopt the ordinance or apply it to the company.

Richard H. Perry, attorney for Central Advertising Company, confirmed last week that his clients have decided to withdraw the suit against the city officials.

"The city's attorney and myself have entered into a written stipulation stating we agree the case may be dismissed," Perry said.

He indicated the stipulation states the case may be reopened.

Perry said he is not at liberty to elaborate on the reasons for dismissing the case.

In the suit entered in U.S. District Court, the sign company was requesting that each of the defendants pay $20,000 for losses the company suffered as a result of the adoption of the ordinance prohibiting billboards in Novi.

Central Advertising also was seeking at least $500,000 for damages and losses suffered as a result of the violation of the company's civil and constitutional rights.

In its suit the company asked the court to obtain those amounts from 14 members of the planning board, seven members of the zoning board of appeals, the mayor and six council members and Building Official Earl Bailey.

The decision not to pursue the case comes on the heels of a Michigan Court of Appeals ruling that the company is not entitled to payment from the city for damages caused by enacting the ordinance.

Central Advertising originally brought a suit against Novi in 1974 in which it sought to have the court overturn the ordinance regulating billboards.

The courts ruled that the city's ordinance completely prohibited billboards and that the ordinance would have to be revised to regulate such signs instead of banning them.

The lower court ruled the sign company was not entitled to damages, however. The company proceeded to file suit to appeal that decision.

In the Michigan Court of Appeals the lower court decision was upheld.

It was determined that in enacting the ordinance the city was acting in the "exercise and discharge of a governmental function."

The courts further stated that the fact an ordinance has been invalidated does not strip a city of its mantle of governmental immunity.

In addition the appeals court ruled the lower court had acted properly in not allowing the last minute addition of defendants.

Central Advertising entered a suit in the U.S. District Court in February of this year.

It claimed suit had been brought because the city had violated the company's right to due process and free speech.

They also claimed the loss of a substantial sum of money by way of rental income and that they incurred substantial expenses by way of legal fees.

Torch Drive Kick-off

Novi Torch Drive Co-chairman Donald Gleason (right) offers plenty of moral support, but it is Donald Greengood who is having a blood sample taken from his finger by Nurse Vickie Benson at the Health-o-rama at Twelve Oaks Mall Monday. Health-o-rama, which is being sponsored by the United Fund Torch Drive, will be offered from 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. at Twelve Oaks through Thursday (tomorrow). Residents may obtain a variety of free health screening tests from qualified medical personnel at the clinic. Gleason and his wife Patricia are co-chairmen of the annual Torch Drive effort in Novi this year. Mr. Gleason is in charge of business solicitations, while Mrs. Gleason is heading up the residential campaign which begins next week.

Law suit threatened

Bar owners demand transfer

Legal action against the City of Novi has been threatened by the owners of the East Shore Bar.

Owners James and Carol Proctor, represented by their attorney, have demanded that the city council approve the transfer of their liquor license to a new owner by October 10 or face a law suit.

In the meantime, Novi police have issued another liquor license violation to the bar for serving to an intoxicated person.

Police reported a man who had been observed drinking in the bar was later picked up for driving under the influence of liquor. Reportedly, the man could not pass a breathalyzer test.

Previous violations had led the Liquor Control Commission (LCC) to order that the Proctors must obtain a license transfer or have the license revoked.

LCC officials said last week that the couple have been granted an extension beyond the normal 90 day period allowed for transferring a license. The Proctors now have until January 1, 1980, to unload the license.

Walter Keck of the LCC reported the transfer is being held up until local officials issue their appeal. He said if the license is not transferred by January it will be revoked.

In that case the license would revert to the city, if there is no subsequent court action, Keck explained.

The city has said it is unable to accept the transfer because the bar does not meet building code standards.

In August the council decided it would not approve the transfer of the liquor license until an agreement regarding the upgrading of the building has been reached.

Their decision came after reviewing a list of 24 alleged building code violations at the bar. The building department has recommended that the bar be repaired to meet local ordinances. Subsequently, the council has been contacted by John B. Carlin, attorney for the Proctors.

In his letter he warns "if there is any further delay in the transfer of this liquor license... we will respond with litigation against the City of Novi for interference with my clients' business activities."

Regarding the alleged building code violations he says, "these violations are ludicrous and are the result of a cursory and superficial look at the building only. Some of these violations are in fact not in existence and we have investigators and contractors who have thoroughly examined the premises and are willing to refute the opinions of the city officials."

The letter goes on to say the landlord has refused to repair the building or cooperate with the Proctors regarding the terms of the lease.

"It is our opinion that there is a conspiracy between the landlord, the City of Novi and Manufacturer's National Bank to defraud my clients of their business and livelihood," the letter states.

Carlin later explained his clients believe the city is trying to hold up the sale of the liquor license so it will be revoked. Carlin said this stalling tactic is being used so that the license will revert to the city.

Council members have authorized City Attorney David Fried to respond to the letter.

They said the Proctors should be informed that the council will consider the liquor license transfer only after the bar has been upgraded and Carlin will not be placed on the agenda until some sort of an agreement can be brought to the council.

Carlin was informed that he has the right to speak in the public portion of the meeting, however.

A controversial site plan for a car wash, laundromat and auto repair shop on Pontiac Trail has been approved by the Wixom Planning Commission.

The site plan was approved by the narrowest of margins, however, as the planners okayed the proposal by a 3-2 vote at their regular October session Monday.

The commission's split decision came in response to a request from Daniel Booth for site plan approval of the proposed car wash, laundromat and auto repair shop on a 1.61 acre parcel near the northwest corner of Pontiac Trail and Beek Road.

Approval of the site plan will permit Booth to proceed with plans for the development of the parcel.

Booth's attempts to develop the property have been marked by controversy since the time he first approached Wixom officials with a request to have the parcel rezoned from its former single family residential classification to a B-3 (general business) designation.

The original rezoning request was recommended for approval by the planners, but subsequently was referred back to the commission for further consideration by the city council.

The planners reaffirmed its original recommendation with some revisions in April, and the council finally voted to approve the rezoning of the property for commercial use.

Booth returned to the commission with a scaled-down version of his original site plan last Monday. The revised site plan included the car wash, laundromat and auto repair shop, but did not include the barber shop as originally proposed.

Glessner renewed his opposition to the revised site plan, stating that he was "shocked" that Booth would ask the commission to approve the proposal.

Specifically, Glessner said it was the city's policy to deny "piggy-back" types of development in which two generally different uses are situated on the same parcel.

The commission subsequently voted 3-2 to approve the site plan. John Miner, Rochelle Fair and Edward Salisz voted in favor of the site plan, while dissenting ballots were cast by Glessner and William Fleming.

The plan "terrible from a planning standpoint," commented Glessner. "The only thing you still need is a restaurant because once you get these people in there's no way to get them out and you might as well feed them while they're there."

"To propose as many things on this size of property is ridiculous," commented Glessner. "The only thing you still need is a restaurant because once you get these people in there's no way to get them out and you might as well feed them while they're there."

The planners subsequently voted unanimously to reject the site plan at the August meeting.

Specifically, Glessner said it was the city's policy to deny "piggy-back" types of development in which two generally different uses are situated on the same parcel.

The commission subsequently voted 3-2 to approve the site plan. John Miner, Rochelle Fair and Edward Salisz voted in favor of the site plan, while dissenting ballots were cast by Glessner and William Fleming.

The plan "terrible from a planning standpoint," commented Glessner. "The only thing you still need is a restaurant because once you get these people in there's no way to get them out and you might as well feed them while they're there."

"To propose as many things on this size of property is ridiculous," commented Glessner. "The only thing you still need is a restaurant because once you get these people in there's no way to get them out and you might as well feed them while they're there."

Booth returned to the commission with a scaled-down version of his original site plan last Monday. The revised site plan included the car wash, laundromat and auto repair shop, but did not include the barber shop as originally proposed.

Glessner renewed his opposition to the revised site plan, stating that he was "shocked" that Booth would ask the commission to approve the proposal.

City planners schedule hearing on zoning changes

Major revisions are scheduled for construction in the Walled Lake commercial zoning ordinance next Thursday, along with the rezoning of 11 commercial parcels at a public hearing scheduled to take place before the plan commission at the city's municipal offices at 8 p.m.

Under the plan, the city's present single, all-encompassing commercial zoning district would be divided into four separate and more restricted zones. As a result, the present land uses in the commercial zone will fall into the new zoning categories, with the exception of the 11 parcels.

Kathy Frey, recording secretary for the plan commission, has confirmed that the owners of those parcels have been notified of the Tuesday hearing. An effort has also been made to notify the owners of land abutting sites proposed for rezoning at the session.

The following changes regarding the zoning map of the City of Walled Lake will be considered at the meeting, with general locations listed below:

• Meadow Ridge and Decker Road, from RM-1 multiple to R-1A single family; Decker and South Commerce Roads, from C-1 general commercial to C-2 community commercial; north side of Pontiac Trail east of Decker Road, from C-1 office to R-1A single family; south side of Pontiac Trail east of

Davis Iron Works Drive, from C-1 office to R-1A single family; south side of Maple east of Decker Road, from R-1A single family to C-1 general commercial; southwest corner of Maple and Decker, from C-1 general commercial to C-2 community commercial; south side of Maple Road east of Gamma Drive, from C-1 general commercial and RM-1 multiple to C-1 office; southeast corner of Maple Road and Pontiac Trail, from C-1 general commercial to C-2 community commercial; south of Maple and southwest of Gamma Drive, from C-1 general commercial to RM-1 multiple;

• west side of Common, north of West Walled Lake Drive, from C-1 general commercial to R-1B single family; east of Pontiac Trail from Northport to East Lake Drive, from C-1 general commercial to C-4 central business.

In addition, those affected by the proposed changes are advised that the zoning map with proposed amendments is on file and may be examined at the city clerk's office.

In working on the commercial zoning overhaul, city planners have taken inventory of the area's businesses, their locations and types and have fit those land uses into the proposed new zoning map. Under the new plan, in which four business districts will be more restricted, the C-1 district will include most large commercial uses attracting customers from outside the local area. This includes theatres, restaurants, motels, etc.

The C-2 district will include office and retail kinds of uses, such as shopping center stores and utility buildings. The C-3 district would include smaller office and retail operations for the local community, like barber shops, drug stores, food stores and similar uses.

The C-4 district, a special district set up for the central business district, involves instances where parking spaces are less available and sometimes apartment ceilings are found in the upper floors of a retail store.

One of the major proposed changes involves approximately 26 acres of empty commercial property that is located southwest of the Tri-A subdivision and east of the Pontiac Trail business section. That may be the future site of condominiums.

The plan commission is expected to make a recommendation regarding the commercial zoning ordinance overhaul and on the 11 rezoned parcels following the public hearing. The matter then will go before the city council, which will set a public hearing and make a final decision on the rezoning proposals.

Since that time, however, Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has issued an opinion, at Woodford's request, that said the commission no longer has the authority or duty over the department to award certain contracts and sell, lease or otherwise dispose of state-owned real estate or personal property.

The commission is a policy-making body, the attorney general said, in his opinion on legislation adopted to implement the constitutional amendment on transportation that was approved last November by state voters.

Woodford recently proposed that he and the commission should continue the division of authority outlined in the June resolution "until the commission

Transportation commission reaffirms authority

The Michigan State Transportation Commission last week reaffirmed its division of authority between the commission and the director of the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Under a resolution adopted in June, the six-member panel — successor to the four-member state highway commission that was abolished in December — retained certain authority over transportation issues and delegated other responsibilities to Acting Department Director John P. Woodford.

Since that time, however, Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has issued an opinion, at Woodford's request, that said the commission no longer has the authority or duty over the department to award certain contracts and sell, lease or otherwise dispose of state-owned real estate or personal property.

The commission is a policy-making body, the attorney general said, in his opinion on legislation adopted to implement the constitutional amendment on transportation that was approved last November by state voters.

Woodford recently proposed that he and the commission should continue the division of authority outlined in the June resolution "until the commission has had the opportunity to establish policy and guidelines for the director."

Commission members unanimously reaffirmed the resolution at their September 26 business meeting which was held in the Oakland County Courthouse prior to a public hearing on alternatives for a west Oakland north-south state trunkline road.

Under resolution, the commission must approve: alignment agreements, approval of route locations and access limitations; construction contracts over $500,000; establishment and abandonment of state highways, additions to the interstate system; and submission of a budget and transportation program to the legislature, in addition to other responsibilities.

The director now must approve: construction; consulting related to construction; demolition; land acquisition; memorandums of understanding related to construction; planning studies; and research related to construction, in addition to other duties.

Commission Chairperson Hannes Meyers Jr. has said the panel will decide an alignment and the type of facility for the west Oakland trunkline. He added that a decision on an alternative for the now-cancelled M-275 freeway could be made by the commission before the end of the year.

"I believe you'll see the commission make that decision," Meyers said last month. "Whether some special interest group will contest that decision is a matter of speculation at this point."

The June resolution was adopted in an effort to end a turf war between Woodford and the commission over their respective roles in state transportation planning as a result of the adoption of the constitutional amendment and legislation to implement the amendment.

Assistant Attorney General Louis Caruso, who is assigned to the transportation department and commission, has said he doesn't know what effect

Kelley's opinion will have on the M-275 issue. "That's something that will have to be dealt with," he added.

The attorney general's opinion stands as law unless it is overturned in court. The constitutional amendment adopted last fall changed the highway commission and department, respectively, to a transportation commission and department. It also shifted authority for appointment of the department director from the commission to the governor.

Governor William G. Milliken in December named Woodford, who served as highway department director, as acting director of the new transportation agency.

Wixom schedules hearing to review EDC by-laws

A public hearing on proposed by-laws for the Wixom Economic Development Corporation (EDC) has been set for 8 p.m. October 23 by the city council.

The by-laws outline the EDC Board of Directors' requirements for scheduling annual, regular and special meetings; providing notice of meetings; conducting public and closed meetings; keeping records of financial information; authorizing execution of contracts at financial matters; setting rules of conflict of interest and disclosure of any interest in a concern that has business before the board; and providing public access to the board's records.

Following the public hearing, the council may adopt the by-laws. If the rules are rejected, the board will be formally established and may accept applications for the issuance of incometax-exempt revenue bonds to finance a project.

Board members also set a meeting for last night — after our deadline — to discuss criteria for accepting EDC applications and reviewing project plans. Some members of the council and the planning commission were expected to attend last night's session, according to Mayoral Assistant Stephen Bonczek.

A law allowing counties and communities to create EDCs was approved by the state legislature in 1974 in an effort to provide economic incentives aimed at keeping industry and jobs in Michigan.

An EDC may issue government-backed revenue bonds to finance a project. Since lending institutions don't have to pay income tax on the interest earned on a loan, they usually offer an interest rate two to three percent lower than conventional mortgages.

The unit of government is not responsible for retiring the bonds, and the issuance of the bonds does not effect the community's credit rating or borrowing power. The EDC usually holds title to the building until the bonds are retired at which time the deed is turned over to the borrowing company.

Once the by-laws are approved, the EDC is expected to meet November 6.

Wixom officials expect to receive applications for bonds from the Conklin Forging Company, which plans to build a major industrial facility on a 20-acre parcel east of Beck Road and north of West Road, and developers Forrest Hubbell and Ray Petty, who have already received site plan approval for a motel-restaurant-bar complex at the northwest corner of South Wixom Road and Grand River Avenue.

Spectacular fire

A spectacular fire, fed by a seeping oxygen tank contained on the flatbed of a sign company truck, halted traffic at South Commerce and Pontiac Trail Friday afternoon as Walled Lake firefighters cut down the flames that enveloped the truck. Onlookers said they noticed fluid dripping from the truck as it approached the intersection. The fluid, thought to be dripping from a small gasoline engine on the truck, ignited and the flames spread back into the engine. Heat from the flames caused the safety valve on the oxygen tank to rupture, further feeding the fire. Firefighters trained their hoses on a second tank containing acetylene to prevent the volatile fluid from exploding. The driver of the truck and his passenger both escaped without injury.

Three seek GOP bid to county board

By DAVID RAY

Three candidates — G. William Caddell, Dorothy L. McIntosh and Leonard M. Nathanson — are vying in a special primary election Friday for the Republican nomination for the Oakland County Board of Commissioners from District 25 to fill a vacancy created in August by the resignation of Commissioner Robert A. McConnell (R-Farmington Hills).

The winner of the October 5 primary will face George F. Montgomery, a Commerce Township Democrat, in a special general election November 6. Montgomery is unopposed for the Democratic nomination in Friday's balloting.

The 25th district includes all of Commerce Township and Wolverine Lake Village and portions of White Lake, West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills. Republicans now hold a 15-11 majority on the 26-member county board.

McConnell resigned from the board in August, citing business and family reasons. He was elected to the commission in 1976 and was re-elected to a two-year term last November defeating Montgomery, a former state representative.

Following is a profile of each of the Republican candidates:

G. William Caddell

The 44-year-old chiropractic doctor said he decided to seek the county board seat because he has been "involved on the fringes of politics and I feel I would like to get involved at the local level and deal with local people." Caddell also cited his experience as a businessman as giving him an opportunity to address problems that come up and working with people.

"I guess you could say I'm people-oriented," he added. Caddell served as chairperson of State Representative Richard D. Cassler's (R-West Bloomfield) successful re-election bid last year and also has worked on previous campaigns for Fessler and County Commissioner Dennis Murphy (R-Novi). He is a member of the Oakland County Republican Executive Committee and a director of the Oakland County Lincoln Club, and served as a delegate to GOP state conventions.

Other than his election as a precinct delegate in Commerce Township — Caddell is a 19-year resident of Wolverine Lake Village, which is part of the township — this is his first bid for public office.

He sees roads and transportation as the major problems facing the county in general and west Oakland in particular.

A proposal to withdraw the county from the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), though, needs "a great deal of study," Caddell said. "I don't think now is the time to pull out. I think it's something we should keep in abeyance."

One benefit of remaining in SEMTA, he said, is that the county will continue to get state funds for the Oakland County Advance Reservation Transit (OCART) system. Caddell also cited the "negative ramifications" of pulling out of the regional agency by noting that it could isolate Oakland from the Thirteen Commerce Township and Walled Lake employees hired under the comprehensive employment and training act (CETA) prior to January 1979 will remain on local payrolls on a day-to-day basis pending the U.S. Department of Labor's approval of a request to waive the 78-week limit on public employment for those persons.

CETA funds continue pending waiver okay

That was the word late last week from the Oakland County Manpower Services Division, according to Commerce Clerk Robert D. McGee. County officials applied to the federal agency last summer for a waiver of the limit on public employment, but the labor department was unable to respond to the request within the 30-day notification period apparently because the City of Pontiac amended its waiver application to take advantage of regulations that favor communities with high unemployment rates.

McGee said he wasn't sure how long it would take the labor department to rule on the request, although he added he heard "it could be next March." In the meantime, county officials have informed local communities that they may continue the CETA employment and reimbursement from the federal government until the waiver issue is decided.

If the waivers are not granted, local officials will have to absorb the long-term CETA employees into the budgets or lay them off.

Employees hired under CETA prior to January 1979 were to be phased out of the program by September 30, unless a waiver was granted. Employees hired since that time also are subject to the 78-week limit.

The waivers, if approved, could be for anywhere from three months to a year, McGee said. He added that county officials have proposed a priority rating of certain job classifications with CETA employees in a particular classification to be phased out by a specific date.

The news yesterday was unable to reach Harold McKay of the county manpower division for further comment.

Twelve of the CETA employees whose 78-week limit may have expired are on the Commerce payroll. They include three employees in the clerk's

Appeal asked in Camelot case

The Michigan Supreme Court has been asked by an attorney for the Camelot Inn in Walled Lake to hear an appeal on the so-called nudity rule that bans nude entertainment in establishments holding state liquor licenses.

The request for a leave to appeal was filed with the court September 10. It is believed to be the first challenge of the two-year-old nudity rule to go to the state's highest court.

An employee in the court clerk's office said Monday that no motion has been made for emergency consideration or injunction relief in the case. There is no time limit in which the court has to decide whether to hear an appeal, the employee said, adding that it usually takes three or four months for the justices to rule on a request for further appeal.

The State Court of Appeals on August 21 supported an Oakland County Circuit Court decision that upheld the Michigan Liquor Control Commission's (LCC) authority to implement and enforce rules governing the operation of state licensed bars.

Camelot Inn owner Ben Bundo has said the rules are an abridgement of constitutional guarantees of free speech and equal protection under the law and added that the LCC doesn't have the authority to impose a dress code on his establishment — the only bottomless go-go bar in Oakland County.

The suit now pending before the supreme court was brought by Bundo against Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, the Michigan State Police, the Walled Lake Police Department and others in an effort to prevent enforcement of the nudity rule.

Another suit brought by Bundo against the LCC in Ingham County Circuit Court is pending before the appellate court, which is expected this fall to hear arguments in the case. Ingham Circuit Court Judge Robert Bell also upheld the state agency's authority to promulgate and enforce the nudity rule. In its ruling on the Oakland case, the appeals court said state obscenity laws don't deny the LCC its constitutional authority to control alcohol traffic and regulate the manner in which it is sold. The court also found that the agency's rules do not violate constitutional guarantees of free speech or equal protection under the law and were not promulgated to punish anyone for previous activities.

The court also held that the delegation of rule-making authority to the LCC by the state legislature was proper.

Bundo was cited for violation of the nudity rule by Walled Lake Police Chief Wilford Hook in November 1977, shortly after the LCC regulations took effect. In early 1978, the LCC revoked Bundo's class C liquor license and fined him a total of $900. An administrative appeal of the penalty was denied.

In March of this year, following the circuit court's rulings, Bundo's license was removed from the bar by the LCC. The appellate court at one time issued an injunction to allow Bundo to regain his liquor license pending the appeal under an earlier agreement between the attorney general's office and the bar owner. Under that agreement, alcoholic beverages could be sold, but there was no bottomless entertainment at the Camelot.

Bundo did not pick up the license, though, and the injunction later was lifted by the appeals court.

Bottomless dancers still perform at the Camelot each night, but alcoholic beverages may not be sold in the bar.

Ford drops bid for tax abatement

The Ford Motor Company has withdrawn its application for tax abatement for its Wixom Assembly Plant. Mayor Lillian Spencer reported Monday that she was contacted by Ford Motor Company officials late last week and informed of the decision to withdraw the application from consideration.

Wixom's City Council was scheduled to review the auto maker's request for tax abatement at a public hearing next Tuesday. As a result of the company's decision, the application will be removed from the agenda, according to Spencer.

Spencer said she was contacted by Mark Scarr, an official with the company, and informed of the decision to withdraw the application.

According to the mayor, Scarr reported that the company had perceived strong opposition to the proposal among council members and decided to withdraw the application instead of creating ill feelings between the city and the company.

The news was unable to reach Ford officials for confirmation or comment on the report.

Specifically, the Ford Motor Company had petitioned the city to establish an Industrial Development District (IDD) for the entire 318-acre parcel on which the assembly plant is located on South Wixom Road near the I-96 expressway.

A company may apply for tax abatement under Public Act 198 of 1974 by requesting the creation of an IDD. If the Brenda Joy Burrell has been added to the professional staff of the Novi Public Library in charge of public services

To build new collections

Novi adds reference librarian

Meet Brenda Joy Burrell. She recently joined the staff of the Novi Public Library where she will be further expanding the facility's offering of services and collections.

As public services librarian, Burrell will be concerned initially with further development and expansion of the adult reference and circulating collections.

The library is in the process of creating a special reference desk in the reading room where assistance in using the collections will be available and Burrell will be involved in organizing this service.

"We hope people will not be afraid to ask questions, whether they are academic or a personal question about finding a favorite magazine," Burrell said. "We'll try to answer anything and, if we don't know the information, we have other sources we can turn to."

While working in Novi, she will be trying to build as complete a reference service as possible, she explained. Burrell said the library already is building a legal collection and she will be responsible for strengthening the entire reference collection.

She also will be working on an "Outreach" program which will involve taking materials and services to those who may not be able to come to the library.

The library hopes to be able to more effectively reach out to those in nursing homes as well as others in the future, she indicated.

"We hope we can strengthen our contact with senior citizens and others in the area," Burrell said.

She also explained she will be working on programming for adults such as book discussions or film programs to interest residents to come to the library.

Burrell most recently served as children's services librarian and agency head of the Inkster Public Library. She attended the University of Michigan, where she earned a bachelor's degree in English literature and a master's degree in library science. She is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Library Science Honor Society.

Burrell and her husband reside in Northville.

Library administrator Diane Bish said the new employee brings with her a "great expertise and thorough knowledge of library procedures to the position of public services librarian here at Novi."

As the sixth staff member, "Mrs. Burrell will be a much appreciated addition to the library and will give us good future growth capabilities," Bish added.

Ford drops request

The Ford Motor Company presently is making plans for future expansion and wants to know if Wixom is willing to assist with those plans by granting abatement under Public Act 186, Miens.

Although the council subsequently set a public hearing to consider the application, several council members made it abundantly clear that they felt the request was out of line.

The application for tax abatement was submitted approximately nine months after the city and the auto maker reached a settlement on a five-year battle over the assessment of the Wixom facility.

Council Member Melvin Green told Jane that it "takes a certain amount of gall to take us to court over taxes and then come back and apply for tax abatement."

Additional opposition to the application was expressed by Council Member Dennis Andrews at the September 11 session. Andrews asked Miens why he felt the city would be interested in granting abatement for capital expansion projects already underway on the 318-acre parcel.

Mayor Spencer said Monday that she also harbored serious reservations about the application before it was withdrawn by Ford officials.

Noting that the city is now charging residents for garbage collection services previously paid for from general fund tax revenues, the mayor said there was "no way we can consider tax abatement for the Ford Motor Company when our financial constraints already have forced us to cut back on our services to residents."

Spencer also reported that Ford officials still appear to be interested in the Wixom site for future expansion in spite of the decision to withdraw the application for tax abatement.

She said that Ford officials had inquired about the possibility of obtaining Industrial District Revenue bonds through the city for future expansion of the facility.

A company can obtain a significantly lower interest rate on loans for capital expansion projects by obtaining bonding through the city. However, development financed through industrial revenue bonds is not exempt from property taxes.

Spencer also said that Ford officials had indicated they may resubmit their application for an IDD at some time in the future.

"They just didn't feel the timing was right at the present time," said the mayor.

Novi Kmart proposed me dimensions," he said.

"We've now added a Kmart and a Krogers which will diversify the retail mix in Novi. All the elements of a well-rounded retail mix now will be available in the city. Our project will not compete with Twelve Oaks; it will complement the existing retail uses."

Ward said the other major tenant in the West Oaks Shopping Center, a Service Merchandise catalogue store, was aligned with the change in major tenants.

Service Merchandise has decided to increase the size of its facility from 50,000 to 60,000 square feet as a result of the change, he said.

The Ramco-Gershenson executive maintained that the West Oaks Shopping Center will continue to be "a very smart looking project."

Kmart has agreed to make some architectural changes to the building to make it harmonious with surrounding development," he said. "It will not be a prototype Kmart store in terms of exterior design and elevation. There won't be another Kmart store like it in the tri-county area."

"All of the landscaping plans will remain as previously submitted," added Ward.

The Ramco-Gershenson executive said he hopes to obtain city approval in time to begin land balancing operations this year. Site construction will get under way next March in time for the development to be opened in the fall of 1980, he said.

CETA funds continue two, each in the building department and treasurer's office; two assigned to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR) Proud Lake Recreation Area; the township environmentalist; an employee in the assessing department; and a person assigned to the Community Employment Service in Walled Lake.

In addition, two of the six deputies the township retains through the Oakland County Sheriff's Department are CETA employees. The deputies were included in the county's waiver request, McGee added.

Walled Lake requested waivers for two CETA employees, but one of the workers, a civilian dispatcher, has since resigned. A janitor is still subject to the CETA requirements, according to City Manager Peter Parker, who also noted that he may seek approval to hire another employee with CETA funding that had not expired on a department of public works employee.

A third CETA employee, police-fire dispatcher Jeffrey Callahan, had been transferred to the regular city budget when federal funding expires, the city council decided in May.

Wixom council hears spring campout bid

The National Campers and Hikers Association's Michigan chapter has asked the Wixom City Council for permission to hold its annual spring campout next May at the city park.

Council members last week voted to refer the request to the city parks and recreation commission for a recommendation. The parks panel is expected to discuss the issue at its meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock in the civic complex, 49045 West Pontiac Trail.

Association representatives said some 1,000 campers and hikers are expected to participate in the 18th annual event May 18-20. The group offered to pay the city $1.50 for each person who attends the campout.

Walled Lake Central set for 'spirit week' activities

It's Spirit Week at Walled Lake Central High School. With Spirit Week comes the frolic and high jinks, the imagination and creativity and the enthusiasm of students and faculty that finds its climax at Homecoming.

It is marked by Imagination Day, 50s Dress-up Day and Color Day. It's a week of pep rallies, pom, pom sales, ribbons and mums. It's floats and contests, friendly competitions between classes. And it's the time of year when students choose their king and queen to reign over the excitement of the Homecoming football game and dance that draws the annual event to a close.

Under the direction of the Student Council and sponsor Brian Woolcock, weeklong activities include fun, some with a purpose. Wednesday (today) has been designated as Penny Day and Imagination Day. Pennies will be collected from the classes during lunch hours with all monies collected earmarked for the United Fund. The class collecting the most pennies will rack up 20 points toward the Student Council Spirit trophy.

Imagination runs rampant as students dress-up for competition in one of three contests run during the day. Categories for the contests include the most original, funniest and best constructed costumes.

Students will return to the 50s Thursday, again competing in contests designed to return the students to bobby socks and saddle shoes, poodle skirts and poodle hats.

Grease look-alikes take the spotlight as the students attempt to transform themselves into the likeness of Olivia Newton John, John Travolta, Rizzo, Frenchie and Knickie.

Friday, the big day, will include hat contests, color day and ribbon day, all finalized with a massive pep assembly. Whipping themselves into high gear for the big game Friday night, student activities during the day will include trike races, pie eating contests, sack races, water balloon toss, tug of wars and rounds and rounds of cheers.

The Homecoming Court will be introduced with the naming of the Homecoming King and Queen the grand finale.

They will be presented again during half-time festivities at the Homecoming football game Friday night pitting Central against Livonia Stevenson. That game will begin at 7:30 p.m.

La Plata selected for court position

West Bloomfield attorney George H. LaPlata has been appointed to the Oakland County Circuit Court by Governor William G. Milliken.

He succeeds Judge Bernard L. Kaufman, who died in July.

LaPlata's appointment takes effect October 15 and runs through January 1, 1981. The remainder of Kaufman's unexpired term will be filled at the November 1980 general election.

Kaufman was elected to a six-year term on the court in 1978.

The 55-year-old LaPlata was born in Detroit and was graduated from Wayne State University in 1951. He received a juris doctor degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1956.

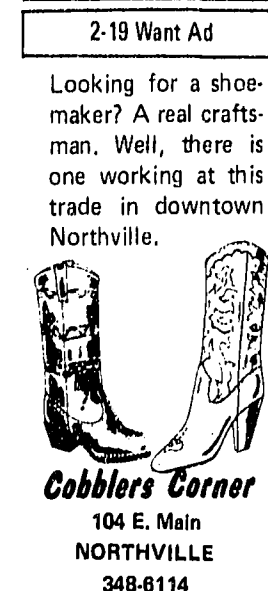

The newly appointed judge has been admitted to practice law in all Michigan courts and the U.S. District Court.

He is a member and past president of the Marine Corps Reserve Officers' Association, a member of Mexican-American Legion Post 505, a director of Hispanics Organized to Promote Entrepreneurs (HOPE), and a member of the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and the Truth Lutheran Church Council.

Sew it, Grow it for AAUW action

Northville-NOVI AAUW chapter president Kathy Crossman (center) with Novi members Sherry Duff (left) and Karen Olson examine a few of the handmade items that will be up for auction next Tuesday night at the annual "Make It, Bake It, Sew It, Grow It" chapter fundraiser. This year the category, "Do It," has been added to the list of auction items. Homemade bread and the labor for making a pair of draperies are two such "Do It" auction donations. Interested guests are invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. function at Cooke Junior High School in Northville. The auction will be preceded by a priced baked goods and used paperback book sale. Artisan John Groote has donated a pair of pewter candlesticks for the event. Member donations include counted cross stitch pictures, dried floral arrangements, plants and puffy pillows. The chapter was cited at the national AAUW convention for its unique auction, a fund raising effort for the chapter's scholarship fund.

Infant dies in automobile collision on Twelve Mile

In Novi

A two-week old infant was killed Tuesday afternoon in an automobile accident at the intersection of Twelve Mile and Novi roads.

Novi police reported that Melissa Schumeringer was pronounced dead on arrival at Mount Carmel Hospital following the accident.

Reportedly the car in which she had been a passenger was east bound on Twelve Mile when it was struck by another automobile traveling north-bound on Novi Road.

Police reported the impact caused the Schumeringer vehicle to spin around in the parking lot of Michigan National Bank. In the parking lot the auto collided head on with a parked car. Police still are investigating the accident.

Police are investigating an apparent suicide which occurred Friday.

Reportedly a 19 year old Farmington man took his own life while staying in a Novi home last week.

Tom Harmon had been visiting locally after returning from a trip out of state. Police reported he was found Friday slumped over in the front room of his host's home with a 38 caliber revolver at the scene.

An autopsy by the Oakland County medical examiner revealed the man apparently shot himself in the head, ac-ording to reports.

Police report the matter is still under investigation. Police are trying to determine a motive for the apparent suicide.

Police apprehended a Farmington Hills man inside the Novi Schools bus garage and soon afterward picked up two other men in connection with the incident on Sunday, according to reports.

Charles Farrugia of Farmington Hills and Mark Krawczak were arraigned Monday before Judge Michael Batchik on two counts each of breaking and entering.

A juvenile apprehended in conjunction with the case was not arraigned. The men were released on $1,000 personal bond for each count and are scheduled to face examination on October 26.

They were arrested after police responded to an alarm from the bus garage. Farrugia was apprehended as he was seen coming out of the garage.

A vehicle which allegedly left the scene shortly after police arrived was caught soon afterward and the two other suspects were taken into custody.

Police said the bus garage had been entered and the men were apparently in the process of removing tools when the police arrived.

Butter Milk Stand on Grand River Sunday.

Police found the restaurant had been entered through a broken window near the front door and discovered a white male hiding on the floor of the butter-milk stand.

The restaurant had been slightly rifled and the man told police he had been looking for something to eat.

He was arrested for breaking and entering. Dale Puga was arraigned on one count of breaking and entering and released on $2,000 personal bond. He faces an October 22 examination date.

Police responding to a breaking and entering in progress could find a suspect hiding between two mattresses on a bed in the home.

A neighbor who had seen a suspicious person around a home on Charlotte alerted police to the incident. When they arrived, officers found a pane of glass had been broken and the door to the home had been opened.

In search of the home police reportedly found the suspect hiding in the bed. Further investigation showed the man had been taking things from the home and putting them in a nearby field, according to police. Police recovered a power drill, television, rifle, Remington Shotgun and a tool box.

Credit Union in mid-September.

According to Credit Union officials, a man presented a check drawn on the National Bank of Detroit from the account of Sutton and Clement, Inc. The check was cashed with $50 entered into an existing savings account at the Wixom branch.

Wixom Police were notified last week by the Credit Union after it had been notified by NBD that the check was a counterfeit and drawn on a company that went out of business in 1969. The theft of the old checks also came to light at that time.

Detroit bank officials indicated that several bogus checks drawn on the non-existent business have been cashed in this area in recent months.

Police were called to the area by the cyclist after he discovered the theft of his vehicle sometime during his stay at the bar.

A pick-up truck belonging to a Redford Police officer was stolen from its parking space at the Village Apartments Saturday. The theft occurred sometime after midnight.

The late model truck has yet to be located.

In Wixom

A check, one of several hundred stolen from a Detroit company nearly 15 years ago, turned up at the Ypsilanti

A $300 lawn tractor was taken from its parking spot in front of a West Pontiac Trail business sometime last week. The theft was discovered Saturday.

Travel adventure series scheduled by Novi Lions

You say you're ready for a worldwide tour, but just can't afford it.

The Novi Lions Club has the answer.

By travelling only as far as Puert Auditorium, you can visit the Caribbean, Jerusalem, Central America, Panama, Colorado, Turkey, Hong Kong, Alaska and Michigan through the second annual Novi Lions Adventure Travel Series.

This year the travel series will be hosted by Dennis Glen Cooper, renowned traveller and "Ambassador of Michigan" as appointed by Governor William G. Milliken.

The second season for the Lion's travel series will kick off Wednesday, October 24, with a tour of the Caribbean. Interest spots such as Curaco, Aruba, Grenada, Barbados and Puerto Rico will be highlighted in the first of the nine color films in the series.

Israel from the Sinai to the West Bank and through the gates of Jerusalem will be hosted by former journalist Hal McClure. The tour of the Holy Land is slated for Wednesday, November 21, at 8 p.m.

The Mayan tribesmen built and advanced civilization with their knowledge of math and astronomy. This culture which some called "Greece of the new world" flourished for more than 1,000 years, then vanished. Edward Brigham, Jr. is the tour guide through the Land of the Mayas on Wednesday, December 5, at 8 p.m.

Panama and the canal that connects oceans, continents and people are the adventure spot on Wednesday, January 16, at 8 p.m. The tour is hosted by Colonel John D. Craig.

The next stop on the worldwide tour is back home in the U.S. of A. Colorado: The Centennial state is that next port of call. The tour will be hosted by Stan Midgley who is known as a Mark Twain with a camera.

Turkey is known as the drawbridge between two continents and Willis Butler will host the tour of the land bridging Europe and Asia on Wednesday, March 12.

Next stop is Hong Kong the British Crown colony billed as everything except dull. This trip also includes a bonus - a side tour of Macau, just 40 miles from Hong Kong, but light years away in life style. This tour is hosted by Fran Reidelberger on Wednesday, April 2, at 8 p.m.

"Lumberjack" Don Cooper will guide intrepid adventures through Alaska on April 20 at 8 p.m.

Then it's back to Michigan for a tour of our home state by Dennis Glen Cooper on Sunday, April 27, at 8 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $15 for the season or $3 per show. All proceeds go to the Novi Lions Club for its work with blind and visually impaired.

Funds will be used to obtain leader dogs for the blind and sponsor eye examination clinics for school age children in and around Novi.

All programs will be held at the Puert Auditorium in Novi High School at Ten Mile and Taft Road. Ticket information is available by calling 348-3200 or 421-3600.

Fessler opposes tax plan

State Representative Richard Fessler (R-West Bloomfield) has urged his constituents to write legislative leaders in Lansing to make them aware that Michigan consumers oppose a proposed 10-cent tax on every check cashed.

Fessler said he "calling for the letter-writing campaign House Sue" Bobby Crim and State Representative George Montgomery, the sponsor of the bill, to advise the officials of the widespread opposition to the plan.

Under the plan introduced this summer, persons who cash checks would be charged a 10-cent tax. For instance, if an employee cashes a paycheck, he or she would be taxed 10 cents on that check. If a businessman receives his receipts in checks, he would be taxed for each payment made to him.

The money derived from the tax would be used to fund the state's home heating assistance program this winter.

"Just about every public hearing that has been held on this particular bill has brought an inordinate amount of criticism of the proposal," said Fessler. "I am asking that the people I represent in the Legislature take the time to let Mr. Crim and Mr. Montgomery know that there are only a handful of people in the entire state who support the tax."

Fessler called the bill "utterly ridiculous, and claimed that the new tax would burden "every resident of Michigan with higher banking costs while causing inflation to increase at an ever faster rate."

"By having these letters sent to the people who want this bill passed, we'll be letting them know that there are very few people who favor a new everyday tax," Fessler added.

Fessler also criticized the Democratic leadership's willingness to promote the measure before its fiscal implications are fully known.

"The Democratic leadership doesn't know whether the tax will mean an additional $50 million or $150 million for the home heating assistance program, he charged. "This is a prime example of their spend-now-and-worry-about-it-later philosophy."

Save energy and money

Rising costs in everyday living have caused many people to re-evaluate some of the habits they have formed during the "abundant" years.

Those re-evaluations have brought to the front these energy saving tips:

• Cooking utensils made of glass or ceramics can save energy. Such utensils generally require even or cooking temperature settings 25 degrees lower than needed for metal pans.

• In areas where high lighting is needed, save electricity by using one large bulb rather than several small ones. For example, a 100-watt bulb produces the same amount of light as six 25-watt bulbs, but uses less electricity.

• Nothing is better than a crackling fire on a cold winter night, but don't expect to get much supplemental heat from that fire unless outdoor temperatures are about 30 degrees.

At colder outdoor temperatures, more heat will likely be lost up the chimney than you get from the fire. Remember to keep the damper closed when the fireplace is not in use.

HELEN KILLEWALD

Graveside services were held September 28 at Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Detroit for Helen R. Killewald.

Mrs. Killewald of Union Lake, died September 26 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. Born in Michigan on January 6, 1907, to Oliver and Caroline (Gerdian) Plunkett, she was 72. She was the widow of Casper Killewald.

He is survived by a son, William Killewald of Union Lake and a daughter, Mrs. Anne Lough of Detroit and six grandchildren. She is also survived by a brother, Alexander Plunkett and wife Alice of California.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Richardson, Bird and Lynch Funeral Home, Walled Lake.

AARON WILLER

Funeral services were held Monday for Aaron R. Willer, infant son of Edwin and Karen Willer of Walled Lake. Pastor Wendell Baglow of the First Baptist Church of Walled Lake officiated.

The six-month-old child died September 26 of congestive heart failure at Children's Hospital of Detroit. He was born March 29, 1979.

His father is an officer with the Walled Lake Police Department.

He leaves a brother Lee Willer and half-sisters, Mrs. Daniel (Lori) Durbin, Mrs. Jerald (Kim) Leese and Tami Willer. He was preceded in death by a brother.

Other survivors include grand-children, Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Willer and Mrs. Aigone Siroonian.

Interment was in Parkview Cemetery, Livonia from the Richardson, Bird and Lynch Funeral Home, Walled Lake.

HELEN WOLFFINGTON

Helen J. Wolfington, a Novi resident, died September 26 at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit. Funeral services were conducted September 29 at the Novi O'Brien Chapel of the Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home.

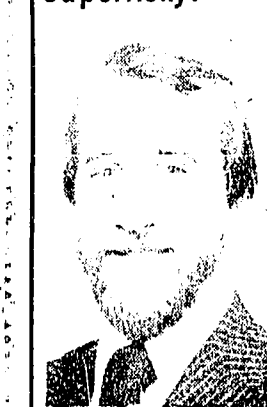

Mrs. Wolfington was born in Wisconsin June 1, 1919, to Walter and Thelma (Jordan) Poss. Her mother survives.

Married to William J. Wolfington, who survives, she also leaves two daughters, Mrs. Joseph (Jacqueline) Hughes, Mrs. Lawrence (Cheryl) Pfent, and a son, William Wolfington.

Other survivors include sisters and brothers, Francis, Louise, Charles, Earl, Betty, Jeanne and 14 grandchildren.

Mrs. Wolfington was a member of St. William Catholic Church, Walled Lake. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

Highland Hills ready to oppose Novi plan

Residents of the Highland Hills Estates Mobile Home Park have served notice on Novi city officials that a proposed revision of the city's master plan is not to their liking.

The Highland Hills Estates Mobile Home Park is located east of Seeley road, just south of the I-96 expressway.

The mobile home park presently is surrounded by industrially-zoned land on three sides and the expressway on the fourth side.

The object of the residents' dissatisfaction is a proposal to change the master plan in the area where Highland Hills Estates presently is located. The present master plan denotes a residential (mobile home) designation on the property, while the revised master plan has proposed that the area be slated for a light industrial designation.

A change in the master plan would not force the park to close and would not affect the present zoning. However, a master plan provides a guideline for future land use considerations. If someone at sometime in the future would request that the mobile home park be zoned for a light industrial designation, the request would be in accord with the master plan.

The only party which can request the rezoning of the property is the owner of the land.

Highland Hills Estates Vice-President Brian Fannon has notified city officials that he is opposed to the proposed revision of the master plan which would change the designation for the mobile home park.

"Two attempts have been made to rezone small parcels of land on Seeley road which jut into Highland Hills to light industrial and both attempts have failed," noted Fannon in his letter to city officials.

The last attempt to rezone parcels next to the Highland Hills Estates Mobile Home Park was unanimously rejected by the city council in December of 1977.

"Therefore, with the situation being an important one to many parties, I would request that the master plan be changed to reflect these parcels as being residential for future use," Fannon added.

The revised master plan currently is being considered by the Novi Planning Board which has sole authority to approve a revision of the existing master plan.

The planning board will hold a public hearing before any revision to the present master plan is approved, according to Planning Board Chairman John Roethel.

Caddell rates nod in GOP primary

Voters in Oakland County's 25th commission district will go to the polls Friday for a special primary election to choose a Republican nominee for the seat vacated in August by Commissioner Robert A. McConnell R-Farmington Hills, who resigned.

The three GOP candidates are Dr. G. William Caddell of Wolverine Lake Village, Dorothy L. McIntosh of West Bloomfield Township and Leonard M. Nathanson of Farmington Hills. The winner will face George F. Montgomery, a Commerce Township Democrat, in the November 6 special general election. Montgomery is unopposed for his party's nomination in Friday's primary.

In our opinion, McConnell was one of the best commissioners on the 27-member county board. His successor will have one tough act to follow.

Of the Republicans seeking to replace McConnell, we feel the best choice is Caddell. He is a long-time resident of the district, and he knows the problems facing the lakes area and its local public officials well. He says he will work to maintain an open dialogue with local officials in order to better represent the 25th District at the county level.

Cooperation with local public officials is an important part of a commissioner's job, especially since the county board in 1968 replaced the old county board of supervisors which was made up of supervisors from each township and a representative of each city and village.

McConnell performed this task well in his three years on the board and we're certain that Caddell will work just as closely with local officials.

We urge Republican voters in Commerce, Wolverine Lake, West Bloomfield, White Lake and Farmington Hills to choose Dr. G. William Caddell as their party's candidate for county commissioner in Friday's special primary election.

Patience needed

Members of the Wixom Planning Commission have expressed concern over the lack of commercial development in the city.

We can understand those concerns, particularly as they relate to convenience-type uses such as drug stores, hardware stores and dry cleaning facilities. At the same time, however, we do not believe the slow rate of commercial development in Wixom should become an overriding concern.

In fact, we would propose that the proper attitude toward development at the present time is one of patience.

Additionally, Wixom planning officials must reaffirm their own beliefs in the desirability of the city for all types of development and resolve to maintain its presently undeveloped property until the most desirable type of developments come along.

It may prove difficult to adopt an attitude of patience when planning board members are abundantly aware of the types of proposals being received in Novi at the present time. References to the Twelve Oaks Mall, the West Oaks shopping center and the proposed trade center in Novi occur frequently during planning commission meetings.

What is important to remember at the present time is that Novi has an advantage over Wixom in terms of geography. Specifically, planners must keep in mind that Novi is the next logical step for development as growth moves out the I-96 corridor from Detroit and Southfield toward Lansing.

It is within that geographical context that we believe patience is the most appropriate attitude for land use considerations in Wixom at the present time. In essence, Wixom's time will come — but it has not yet arrived.

With that in mind, it is appropriate to wait and keep prime commercial properties available until the time that the demand arises.

Although we have recommended an attitude of patience, we are not recommending that planning efforts should be maintained at a low level.

On the contrary, now is the best time to lay out future plans for the city. The Wixom planners already have initiated a review of the city's master plan for land use development. And we find merit in a proposal from Planner Wayne Glessner that the commission increase the frequency of its meetings with perhaps one session per month devoted to planning — as opposed to rezoning or site plan — considerations.

Although the city's master plan is basically sound, there is also much that can be done to lay the groundwork for the type of development the city ultimately hopes to attract.

It is interesting to note the types of considerations that are taken into account by major developers before moving into a certain area.

Although access to freeways and availability of utilities are of critical importance, it has been our observation that major developers take other aspects of a community into account before selecting it as a primary target site.

For example, major firms may look at such factors as the quality of the residential areas, the number of volumes in the library and the general character of the community, particularly as it relates to the central business district.

Basically, a firm which employs large numbers of people may find it advantageous to locate in a community which has these amenities for its prospective employees. These considerations may well carry an increased importance in the future if the energy crisis is not resolved and employees are required to live close to their place of employment.

We would suggest that present planning efforts in Wixom be directed specifically toward the areas of upgrading its central business district and enhancing its residential areas.

The lack of activity in terms of commercial development should not be a concern at the present time. It definitely should not lead to a situation where the city is willing to accept developments which do not meet certain criteria. Once the land has been used up, it will no longer be available when more desirable proposals come along in the future.

Commercial development will happen when developers decide there is a sufficient need for it — when there are enough customers to make it a profitable venture.

By improving the central business district and enhancing the residential areas, Wixom planners will make the city a more desirable place to live. As the residents move in, the commercial development to serve those residents will follow in short order.

Speaking for Myself

YES

Why should a split between northern and southern Michigan to form the State of Superior be necessary? Because our tax structure is the same but services rendered are less. Because messages relayed to Lansing are treated as afterthoughts. The cities get a bigger piece of the pie.

What Superior can do is return the governing process back to the hands of the local townships for self-analysis and voter process. The old town hall style of government. Could Wayne County assemble for a local problem and resolve an issue within a matter of hours? No, but smaller northern communities can govern themselves without outside assistance far better than metro areas.

Problems that could be tackled locally are Indian fishing rights; tourism; jobs; natural resources; senior citizens and health care (senior programs and centers to enable them to use their lifelong talents and minds — we can learn from them); colleges and universities; farming; education; fuel (wood-burning program from northern Michigan resources); conservation (replace the DNR with local people); toxic wastes.

How in the world could we separate and survive financially? Is it feasible? We feel it is; in fact, the money flow out of these 42 northern counties is staggering. Revenue on fish and game licenses, lumbering, timbering, taxes, oil, bridge fees, federal government payments on land — we could go on.

We're holding up our hands. It's time someone paid attention. Don't be surprised of the State of Superior becomes the 51st State of the Union.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Talk to Ed Lindsey, 41. He's beaming. And no wonder. He's probably on his way to becoming a millionaire.

General manager of a Cadillac dealership, Lindsey has invented something that gun buffs say is a winner. It's a four piece rifle rest. Retail for about $9. And that's $35 to $40 cheaper than the standard rifle rest.

A patent is pending on the gun rest, which the Northville inventor is marketing under the name, "Bingo Rifle Rest."

"If it sells, it's a 'bingo!', and that's the reason for the name," he explains.

Friends, relatives, cohorts all figure Lindsey has it made.

But the inventor isn't quite as confident. Oh, sure, he's enthusiastic. After all, area gun shops have begun selling his product. Guns and Ammo magazine calls it a "super idea" and will soon feature it in the magazine's "What's New" column, and gun club members in the metropolitan area are snapping them up. Yet, when Lindsey comes home at night and sees the boxes and boxes of gun rests that fill his garage, he knows he must sell an awful lot of them just to recoup his investment.

Unlike the standard metal rest, Bingo is made of styrofoam. Weighs less than a quarter of the metal one. And besides being cheaper and lighter, it is more stable. A shooter can leave a fine rifle in the Bingo rest and walk away from the bench without worrying that the rest will fall over and damage the stock.

M-275 saga continues

By DAVID RAY

The story continues . . . No, it's not "Rocky II," it's the continuing saga of M-275.

The Michigan State Transportation Commission last week listened to six hours of testimony on alternatives to the controversial, now-dead freeway at a public hearing before a standing-room-only crowd of some 400 public officials, residents and special interest group members in the Oakland County Court House.

Commission Chairperson Hannes Meyers Jr. has said the panel will decide on a west Oakland trunkline road before the end of the year.

And, while six alternatives are still under consideration, a vast majority of the speakers at the September 26 hearing were either for or against a modified version of the original freeway that has been recommended for approval by the Michigan Department of Transportation. Those opposing the modified freeway in most cases favored the Citizens in Opposition to M-275 (CIO) scenic drive alternative or called for improvements to local roads in west Oakland to meet the demands of area residents.

The CIO plan calls for construction of a limited access boulevard along the Haggerty-Union Lake-Williams Lake corridor, from Twelve Mile Road to M-59, with a connecting boulevard along Fourteen Mile Road from the terminus of Northwestern Highway to Haggerty.

The modified M-275 would link I-696 in Novi to I-75 near Holly, completing the westerly I-75 bypass around the city of Detroit. The southern portion of the bypass, from I-696 to I-75 near Monroe, was opened almost three years ago.

Opponents of the freeway — both the original and modified editions — say M-275 will damage the environment, particularly recreation areas and wetlands, and promote urban sprawl by providing access to a highway system that connects west Oakland to Detroit and its older suburbs. Construction of the freeway would encourage people to move to the new suburbs and still remain in easy commuting distance to work in Detroit and southeast Oakland, they say.

Proponents of the freeway say people are moving to west Oakland anyway and expect access to a major trunkline facility. They add that local communities have planned for years for the highway since M-275 has been on the state drawing board for some 25 years.

And liberally sprinkled throughout the hearing were quotes from former Highway Commission Chairperson Peter B. Fletcher — one of three members of the panel that voted in January 1977 to cancel M-275 — that the commission would not shove the freeway down so many reluctant throats and that every mile of highway once planned by the state could not, and should not, be built because of increasing construction costs and the need to consider alternate forms of transportation as a result of the energy crisis.

Fletcher resigned from the panel in November. Of the three hold-over highway commissioners, Meyers and Weston E. Vivian also voted to cancel M-275, while Carl V. Pellonpaas dissented. Three new commissioners — Rodger Young, William C. Marshall and Lawrence Patrick Jr. — were named to the new panel after Michigan voters last fall approved a constitutional amendment that replaced the four-member highway commission with a six-member transportation commission.

Following the cancellation of M-275, the highway commission said it would consider an alternate trunkline facility in west Oakland to meet area needs instead of proceeding with a bypass to the interstate system.

At last week's hearing, Oakland County Commissioner Robert H. Gorsline (R-Milford) compared the commission to his cat.

Instead of killing birds, Gorsline said, his cat likes to capture, tease and tantalize its victims. The commission, he added, appears to be teasing and tantalizing west Oakland officials and residents with its on-going review of the M-275 alternatives.

Like catnip to the analogy, the commission is attempting to help resolve west Oakland's road problems, he said.

The chairperson conceded Gorsline one point, however. "To carry your analogy further, I'm convinced when I hear people like you that M-275 is like the cat with nine lives. We've killed it twice and you want to bring it back so we can kill it again."

Woodford and his staff's insistence once led Peter B. Fletcher, Jr., then chairman of the highway commission, to chastise them publicly, complaining: "What do I have to do to get the attention of the bureaucracy?"

Oakland County observers generally felt Fletcher reflected Milliken's views because Fletcher was Republican National Committeeman and a confidant of the governor.

Fletcher quit his highway commission post the day after the 1978 election in which voters abolished it and replaced it with a six-member Michigan Transportation Commission. All members of both commissions are gubernatorial appointees. The 1978 election also made Woodford a direct appointee of Milliken.

Callahan responds to board members

To the Editor: I would like to respond to a recent letter from board members regarding my comments about contract negotiations. My previous statements were true and I will stand behind them.

This situation is another attempt by a few members to intimidate me in an effort to keep me quiet.

In the past it appears that some members of the board have preferred to let Dr. Sheldon make the decisions, do their homework for them and generally be content acting as a rubber stamp board because to do otherwise requires a great deal of time and work.

Sometimes the board is the last to know what is going on, and therefore the public's interest is not being represented. Some things are not open and above board and I'm not going to keep quiet and give in because of pressure.

Village planners okay commercial areas plan

The Wolverine Lake Village Plan Commission voted to adopt its revised commercial zoning map — complete with proposed adult-oriented uses — at last Tuesday's regular meeting.

The revised commercial map provides the locations of the C-1, C-2 and C-3 designations. Under the present C-1 commercial zone would be re-designated as a business district (C-1), which would allow for convenience shopping in shallow areas near residential development.

That new designation would be established in the existing commercial zone near Bensenville and Glengary, and east along Glengary, and also in the far southeast corner of Wolverine Drive and South Commerce Road.

Under the new C-1 designation, which would be located off South Commerce Road between Indiana and East of Ebel Drive.

Uses by special permit. The new C-1 business district designation, which allows small stores, restaurants and snack bars. However, only two such businesses are permitted within a 1,000 foot radius so as to prevent excessive nuisance and noise for Wolverine Lake residents.

residential development. All C-1 and C-2 uses would be permitted. The C-3 area is in the northwest corner of the C-2 zoned land. "Fringe commercial" uses — like greenhouses and nurseries — would be provided for under the proposed ordinance and special-permit uses. In addition, no adult-oriented use would be allowed within 500 feet of any site where there is a church, school, park or playground where minors regularly gather. The original language called that Council has known for a 400-foot boundary.

Gun rests are for target shooters who go in for super fine shooting and for hunters who want to zero in their scopes and sights.

Lindsey's a gun buff, frequently going to the range to shoot skeet or target practice. He wanted a gun rest, but $50 seemed like an awful lot of money. He began to think of ways to make a cheaper one.

General Motors' X cars were being delivered with their bumpers protected by styrofoam blocks. Lindsey took a block home and began tinkering.

"I couldn't cut the stuff and when I tried burning a shape into it, the stuff crystallized and it would mar the stock of a good gun."

Finally, with the aid of his wife, he looked up a manufacturer who agreed to die-cut his styrofoam rest. It was perfect.

Lindsey pumped all his spare money into the project. Production was costly and so, too, was packaging. Boxes, labels and the rests arrived at his house separately. The boxes had to be assembled.

"It's been hectic," he says, "but I've really enjoyed it."

Bingo Gun Rest is not his first invention, nor will it be his last. He's already working on a work bench rest and a fishing lure.

Ed Lindsey hopes to hit 'bingo' with his invention

Recalling his first invention, the father of three children laughs and says, "It ended with dog teeth in my arm."

The family's pet German Shepherd would occasionally shed its hair all over the place. Lindsey figured the best thing to do would be to comb out all the loose hair.

He rigged up a contraption, utilizing a power driven speedometer cable. He made "paddles" which he attached to the cable.

"I ran the thing over the dog's back and it worked beautifully."

"But," he added, "when I started down the dog's side where the skin is loose, it started wrapping the folds of skin around the cable. By the time I yanked the plug, the poor dog has its teeth buried in my arm."

Lindsey junked the invention. "I figured I'd have more lawsuits than income and I couldn't risk any more teeth marks."

CB units a boon to Novi bus drivers

By NANCY DINGELDEY

What's it like being a school bus driver, carting loads of kids to and from school, logging over 100 miles of driving time each day? "It's great," claims Virginia Burnham. "It's a real rewarding job." Driver Judy Coleman echoed the same feeling: "The kids are great — most of the time." And then there's Dorothy McDermott, beginning her 17th year as a school bus driver for the Novi district, a credit to her profession.

Together the three women have logged nearly 40 years on the road. They and the rest of the drivers have one thing in common, a great sense of humor.

"You have to have one when you crawl out of bed at 6 a.m. on a cold winter morning," groaned Mrs. Coleman. "The kids aren't nearly as bad as getting out of bed in the morning. If I could I'd advocate school starting at noon."

The drivers all agreed that, once in a while, they hit a problem student, but they have each found ways to deal with the problems. The word, they say, is congenial.

If all else fails, they go to the school authorities. "Being nice to the kids really reaps benefits. Most of the time they're nice back," said Mrs. Burnham, president of the Novi Transportation Association.

"There are times when the job gets to you. You've really got to like kids, if you didn't, it would be too nerve racking," Mrs. Burnham added. "We have to enforce the rules, but we also take an interest in the kids and what they're doing. We really do get to be friends."

Most of the time the bus drivers follow the same route year after year, watching their charges grow from kindergarten to graduation from high school. And those years bring their remembrances.

The drivers agreed that kindergarten and lower elementary students are the most interesting. "They're cute and they tickle you with their questions," smiled Mrs. Coleman. The little ones usually remember the bus drivers with bouquets of dandelions and daisies. Mrs. Burnham said she always remembers her senior high school students at graduation with a small gift. "After all, we've almost grown up together and when they leave, I miss them."

Through thick and thin, the drivers say they always get their charges home, even though it may be difficult. They've been stalled by accidents, engine trouble, bad roads and washouts, but, as claimed by the post office, they always complete their appointed rounds.

"There hasn't been one of us that hasn't gotten the little one that misses their stop or wanders on the wrong bus to begin with. Every September it happens, the one little kid left in the rear of the bus."

The motherly drivers all claim it's normal to say "Honey, where do you live?" The canned reply, they say, is "In Novi in the yellow house by the big rock."

Those problems have all but been alleviated by the installation of CB units in most of the buses in the Novi schools line. A simple call to the transportation garage with a description and perhaps first name is relayed to the proper school principal by Transportation Supervisor Glada Webb.

In service now for nearly three years, the units also curb possible discipline problems, but, more importantly, are used to relay information to other drivers on road or traffic conditions, accidents or breakdowns.

"The units have been a boon," remarked Mrs. Webb. "We are charged with transporting the children in the most safe, efficient way possible. The units have served that purpose 100 percent."

The drivers laughed, calling themselves "Mama Bear," the bus garage "Papa Bear" and their charges, "the cubs."

Actually, the drivers contact the garage using their bus number. The garage is the base for all contact operations.

Discipline on the buses is not an overwhelming problem, say the drivers. A ticket system was initiated several years ago by the district enabling the driver to issue a warning ticket to an offending student. Tickets are usually issued for unsafe behavior such as fighting or creating a disturbance.

If the first ticket, or warning, does not prove a satisfactory solution, an additional ticket is issued, resulting in the parents being called in to the school for a conference.

If all else fails, Assistant Superintendent William Barr enters the picture with the final disciplinary action.

The drivers say the units are a most helpful tool, especially on field trips.

The units reportedly give the driver a bit of extra security while driving down unfamiliar roads, especially if a bus caravan is interrupted.

Judy Coleman claims her favorite age group is the middle school youngsters. "Elementary kids are usually the most noisy and sometimes the high school kids are too quiet — maybe that's because of the hour. But the middle school kids are filled with enthusiasm — they're really a fun group."

Most of all of the bus drivers are mothers who began their careers with the schools when their children were very young. Some say their kids literally grew up on the bus. "It's been a good job for us," said Mrs. Burnham, pointing to the fact that vacations and days off usually always coincide with their children's.

Being mothers, they say, has helped them in their jobs. "Maybe it's instinct or maybe it's just because we care. We're never mean to kids or animals," they laughed.

Animals, the drivers say, always pose those special incidents that are remembered. "We've found raccoons in the buses in the morning and we've carted dogs home from the schools," they laughed. "There's always some critter that sneaks on the bus with his master and we let them ride along. Sometimes the dogs are better behaved than their masters," they agreed.

The drivers start their day around 6:30 a.m., warming up the buses and finally rolling out about 7 a.m. Routes are usually always completed by 9:30 a.m. They're back to the garage at 1:30 p.m. completing those rounds by 4:15 p.m.

"It really isn't as bad as everyone thinks," Mrs. Coleman commented. "But vacations are a welcome relief. Then I get to sleep in."

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary schedules art auction

The Novi Public Library will be the setting for the annual art auction hosted by the Novi Jaycee Auxiliary on Friday, October 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Patrons are invited to a champagne preview, showing in the conference area and adjoining library corridors in the municipal complex prior to the auction, set to begin at 8:30 p.m. The library is located on Ten Mile near Taft Road.

Pieces of metal and wood sculpture, oils and lithographs as well as reproductions of famous masters will be on display during the preview. Members of the Jaycees and Jaycee Auxiliary will parade the pieces throughout the audience during the auction itself.

The auction is coordinated by Gallery Art Center of Lathrup Village which indicated that more than 100 pieces of art will be available for bids. Some woodcuts are included in the pieces selected for the Novi auction.

Reproductions of famous works by Dali, Rockwell, Hibel, Neiman and Mitchell, plus many new talents, also will be among the art available for bidding. Individual pieces, framed and matted, will range in price from $5 to $500 with a large selection falling in the $10 to $100 range.

Auxiliary Chairperson Karen Nyberg, Mary Jane Leininger and Mary Pascucci are the planners of this year's event. Mrs. Nyberg says the auction is the perfect place to go for new decor and ideas.

Door donation, which includes champagne, is set at $1 per person.

Glenn Miller band performs here

It was in the early forties of the "big band era" that Glenn Miller produced his unique musical sound. Today, nearly forty years later, the authentic Glenn Miller sound is very much alive, well and heard throughout the United States, indeed the world.

And next Tuesday night (October 9) that sound will erupt from the stage of the Novi High School auditorium as the Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of Jimmy Henderson, appears in concert.

Coupled with the famed orchestra are the "Moonlight Screamers" providing the vocals to "Chattanooga Choo-choo," "At Last," "Little Brown Jug," and "Pennsylvania Six-Five Thousand."

The nostalgic evening of distinctive melodies is sponsored by the Novi Band Boosters. All seats for the concert are reserved.

The Miller sound is created by clarinets holding the melodic line, doubled or coupled with a tenor sax playing the same notes while the harmonies are produced by three other saxophones. Add growling trombones and the ooh-ah's of walling trumpets and the outcome is a sound that caught the public's ear and never let go.

Henderson follows the lead of previous directors, all giants in the music field. Ray McKinley took over the orchestra after Miller's untimely death in a World War II air mission. He was followed by Buddy DeFranco, then Buddy Morrow. Henderson took the reins in 1975.

Henderson commented that the Miller brand of music holds memories for the older listener, but the sound is catching on with the younger set. The band leader added that youngsters are dancing to the Miller sound, not just looking and standing around. "They are actually holding each other and dancing. To a band leader, this is very refreshing," he said.

A running survey through the year indicated that where formerly the ratio was 90-10 percent in favor of older people to the younger crowd, the numbers have changed to 60-40 in attendance at the band's engagements. The survey indicated that in England, the European continent, Australia and Japan, the ratio is more nearly 50-50.

"Mostly we play the old songs," says Henderson. "We manage to insert new ones from time to time, but these are songs that lend themselves to the Miller sound."

Henderson still retains Bill Finegan, one of Miller's original arrangers, to write new arrangements of current tunes in the Miller tradition.

The orchestra and its sound, says Henderson, has aged gracefully and mellowed with the years. "If anything, I honestly think the authentic Glenn Miller music is today more popular with more people than ever before."

Himself a schooled musician, Henderson has played with the big bands of Hal McIntire, Jimmy Dorsey, Tommy Dorsey and has been a free lance trombonist in all major motion picture studios, television, recordings, and commercials for 21 years.

He is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music with a bachelor's degree. He has performed with symphony orchestras as well as being a solo performer.

Tickets for the evening are priced at $6 and $7, with senior citizens receiving a $1 discount. They are available by calling Novi High School at 349-5155 or 349-5123.

Tickets are also available by mail. Those requests should be directed to Craig Strain, Novi High School, 2400 Taft Road, Novi 48060. A check and a self-addressed stamped envelope should be included with the order.

MEN'S WEAR

'By the Way

With Nancy Dingeldey

My eyes misted ever so slightly when I caught sight of the striped shirt and flat, military-style hat hanging in the closet. It meant another plateau in life had been reached — my kid had gotten a job.

I mean a real job. Not cutting lawns, raking leaves or delivering newspapers. A real job that required running to the social security office, getting work papers, filling out applications.

I was beginning to feel very old — the wrinkles that I refer to as smile lines looked somehow deeper, darker. That day they were classified as real wrinkles. My mother probably felt the same way when I asserted my 16-year-old self and got a job in a bakery.

The only difference between my son and me was the matter of $2.10. I hired in at a whopping 80 cents an hour. Kids nowadays rake in $2.90. Is that called changing times or inflation?

The kid thinks the job is great but until he gets his driver's permit, that job means mom gets out of the sack on Saturday morning just about the time dawn is breaking. I have fallen into that time of my life, the plateau of life emerging, and additional chauffeuring.

While driving to his initial interview I was asked that question that drove deep within my heart, the same question that every other mother has probably been asked — "Do you have to come in with me? I mean, okay ya stay in the car?"

I deserved it. I was getting paid back for all the quick runs into the grocery store for a loaf of bread and my demands that the kids stay in the car.

"Well, do you mind if I sneak in for a cup of coffee. I'll be quiet, I promise."

"Will you sit in a corner somewhere so they won't know we came together?"

I sat in my corner, straining my ears, while the kid went through his interview. The grin on his face that spread from ear to ear on its completion told the whole story. He was hired.

We got the hair cut, the slacks to match the striped top, different shoes and a pat on the head for being a "nice man."

Orientation proved to be something else.

"Boy, is that place wild. I learned how to make all the burgers, the fish sandwiches and run the machines," the son rattled on. "It's crazy. Zap, zap, zap, off came the burgers. Burp, burp, on goes the mustard, catsup and mayo."

"Don't you put that stuff on a knife?"

"Heck no, it's a thing that sorta looks like a grease gun," he roared. "It's really crazy."

"When do they make you manager?"

OUR ADVERTISING MANAGER, Gary Kelber, had something to say about the new technology of fast food service. "You know," he frowned, "they've taken all the creativity out of the job. Bet I had more fun without it."

Kelber had practiced the lost art of soda jerking as a youth. "I could really get carried away and be creative," he nodded. "You know, a special girl would come in, or the guys. You'd put a little extra whipped cream on the sundae, a few more nuts, and two cherries."

"Soda jerking was a real art," he nodded. "A banana split. Back then it took a whole banana, three scoops of ice cream, three toppings, lots of cream, loaded with nuts, and then," he said, gesturing, "I'd plunk that old cherry right there on top," tapping his finger on his imaginary creation.

"Now what is it? A quarter banana, a blurb of ice cream and a teaspoon of topping. Cream and nuts, 10 cents extra. Whatever happened to the cherries?"

"Yeh, they've really taken away the creativity. How's your kid going to know when his friends are out there ordering a burger? Can't slip them an extra pickle or two scoops of mayo. And if he did, some little kid who can't stand pickles is going to get it, sure as shooting."

IF YOU HAVE the opportunity to see the film, "You Are What You Were When," certainly take advantage of the offering. It is a worthwhile hour plus.

My first impulse during the opening scenes of the film was to drop out. There before me on the screen Dr. Morris Massey, rattling on like a machine gun. The man is a cross between a Dale Carnegie course and a swift, articulate evangelist.

A Matter of Taste

By Maria Sarivalas Kokas, R.D.

Next time you order pancakes, flapjacks, blintzes, Creier de Vitel Pane, bliny, palascinta, nalesniki, pannkaka, serpillote imbusse, nalisniki, pfannkuchen pannukakku... or Johnnycakes at a local eatery, take a better look at what is coming to your table. You will be eating one of the oldest forms of cooking. These griddlecakes date back to the Middle Ages, when Norman-French chefs dubbed them with the onomatopoeic name "trays." All of them are made with batters of varying consistencies. International versions vary with ingredients.

The Scots incorporate oatmeal with flour, the Welsh and Irish mix in buttermilk, the French stuff them, and others stack them. The stacks and rolls range from Susan B. Anthony dollar-size to Ripley's Believe It Or Not proportions.

American versions are generally stacked for hearty breakfasts with good old country charm. They've been dubbed Johnnycakes in Rhode Island, flap-jacks in the historic old west and pancakes across the rest of the continent.

Variations? Every local restaurant and home has a twist to the syrup-covered cakes. Aunt Jemima, IHOP and The Pillsbury Doughboy all claim to have the best in the west.

Most of us know these griddle cakes as white and fluffy ala box mixes. The originals are a far cry from those cakes. Each of them contains various whole grains in conspicuous proportion, making them truly hearty foods. Why not step away from the boxed cakes and fry up a stack of originals?

There's no mistaking them. The real Johnnycake flaunts cornmeal, the original flapjack uses oatmeal and pancakes started with whole grain flour as a base.

Each of these recipes will provide you and yours with a little extra whole grain goodness and a slightly different flavor treat. Add them to your diet at breakfast, brunch, lunch or dinner.

Rhode Island Johnnycakes

3 cups white cornmeal (Johnnycake meal)
1 pinch of salt
1 quart boiling water
1/2 cup milk

Mix cornmeal and salt. Scald with boiling water. Thin it with about 1/2 cup of milk to make a thin batter consistency. Drop onto a hot, well-greased griddle. Cook on both sides. Serve with sausages, eggs and syrup.

Wild West Flapjacks

12 Tbl. rolled oats
2 Tbl. brown sugar
4 Tbl. melted butter
2 Tbl. syrup

Mix all ingredients and bake in a flat tin. Cut into squares or fingers while still warm.

Whole Wheat Pancakes

1/2 cup all-purpose flour
2 Tbl. honey
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
3/4 tsp. baking soda
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 egg

2 cups buttermilk or yogurt
2 Tbl. melted butter or margarine

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and baking soda with whole wheat flour. Combine honey, yogurt, egg and fat. Beat. Fry on a greased griddle. Yield: 14 four-inch cakes.

Note: To test the griddle, let a few drops of cold water drip onto it. If the water bounces and sputters, the griddle is ready to use. If the griddle is just hot enough to make the water boil, it is not ready for the pancakes. If the water vanishes, the griddle is too hot.

Simple steps stop food waste, save money

What would you think if someone suggested you take 10 percent of the food in your average grocery shopping cart and throw it in the garbage?

Certainly you would be shocked at such wastefulness, especially with rising food prices and growing concerns about balancing the food budget.

Studies show that consumers do indeed waste a tenth of the food brought into the home. For the average family of four spending $3,400 per year on food, that's a loss of $340.

a fifth of all food produced for human consumption in the United States each year is wasted, and the loss is $30.5 billion. Of this, the in-home waste is $11.7 billion per year.

How can this be prevented? According to Reitha M. Hankey, executive vice president of the Michigan Beef Industry Commission, "There are many easy and simple steps that can be taken that will conserve food and therefore save money."

Improper storage of meat is a major cause of waste that can be prevented with careful handling techniques. Meat purchases should be brought home promptly and placed in the meat compartment of the coldest part of the refrigerator. Temperatures should be as cold as possible without freezing the meat and should never exceed 40 degrees. Pre-packaged meat can be stored in the refrigerator in the original wrapper for up to two days.

Close attention should be given to the length of time the meat is stored in the refrigerator. Most fresh beef, veal, pork and lamb can be refrigerated for two to four days, while ground meats and most variety meats keep in top condition for only one or two days. The storage time for luncheon meats, sausages, bacon and ham are longer as most can be stored in the refrigerator for a week or more.

Freezing and holding at temperatures of zero or less is necessary for longer storage. If the meat is to be frozen for only one or two weeks, it can be placed in the freezer in its self-service wrapper.

For longer freezer storage, the original wrap should be over-wrapped with freezer material that is moisture and vapor proof. All excess air should be pressed out, the wrap tightly sealed and the package labeled with meat cut and date.

For best flavor, texture and juiciness, fresh meat should be used within six to 12 months and ground meat within three to four months.

"When menu planning and shopping are done a week at a time," Hankey said, "consumers need to determine exactly which meats can be stored in the refrigerator and which should be frozen."

If there is some doubt as to when a meat cut will be used, it is usually wisest to freeze it rather than risk having the quality deteriorate.

He's a college professor that talks so fast that no one, not even the fastest speedwriter, could keep up with him much less take notes. He is a phenomenon.

His film deals in personality development. Why people react and make the judgments they do. Everything is based on the premise that lifelong value judgments are made because of where you were when you were 10 years old.

By listing significant events and factors of a given decade, Massey explains why people have certain value judgments. He proves his point and it does make sense.

Beginning in the 1920s and continuing through each decade up to the '70s, Massey can explain why people react the way they do and why they make the judgments they do.

It is a fascinating film.

ANOTHER FILM that will be of interest to some readers will have its showing on television later this fall.

Dr. Richard Mudd, the elderly physician from Saginaw who presented his lecture, "My Name is Mudd," to audiences in Novi and Wixom, apparently proved his point, not only to Jimmy Carter but CBS as well.

The life of Dr. Samuel Mudd, accused of and imprisoned for conspiracy for aiding Abraham Lincoln's assassin, has been dramatized in a CBS three-hour made for TV movie.

It appears that Bud Tegler, Father Leo Broderick and Stan Tokarz hold winning hands and plenty of money as they try their hands at one of the games of chance that will be offered this Saturday night at a Millionaire's Party. Although St. William's parish hall may not have the glitter of a Las Vegas casino, it will offer the opportunity to play the part of a high stakes gambler even if just for the night. The Millionaire's Party will supply the roulette wheel, cards, and dice for a $6 door donation which will include $1 million in play money, pop, beer and snacks. Additional fun money may be purchased throughout the evening for a nominal sum just in case lady luck proves unfriendly. The Walled Lake parish is hosting the evening as a fund raiser for church building improvements. The casino will open at 7:30 p.m. with games running until midnight. Players will be able to use their fun money earnings later in the night to bid on a variety of items donated to the parish by local businessmen.

Lakes Area Chamber offers travel series

The personal narrations of world famous photographers and travelers will mark the five-part travel adventure series being offered by the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce.

The travel series will feature full color motion pictures highlighting Spain, England, Panama and the Bahamas. The Sunday afternoon family oriented programs will be shown in the Walled Lake Western High School auditorium. Showtime each month will be at 2 p.m.

Dr. Frank Carney will kick-off the series on Sunday, November 11, with his first-hand account entitled "As An Artist Sees Spain."

"England by Canal Boat" narrated by Fran Reidelberger will be the December offering, followed in January by "The Canyon" with Ralph Franklin.

"The New Panama" is the scheduled February feature with Clint Denn. The concluding March program entitled "Bahamas Holiday" will find the colorful and witty Dennis Glen Cooper leading the trip.

The travel adventure series was introduced and made famous by world traveler George Pierrot, who directed the Detroit travel series for over 45 years.

Chamber President Tom Burns said the organization was pleased to bring the series back to the community again this year. Funds obtained from the series are used by the chamber for projects within the community.

Season tickets for the five shows are $11.25 per person, $10 for senior citizens (65 and over). Individual shows are $2.75 per person or $2.50 for senior citizens.

Season tickets are available at the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce office at 528 North Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

Tickets also may be obtained from the Walled Lake Schools Community Education office and the Richardson Community Center in Commerce Township.

Airman Miller graduates

Airman Kevin C. Miller of Novi has graduated from the United States Air Force telephone equipment installation course at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls, Texas.

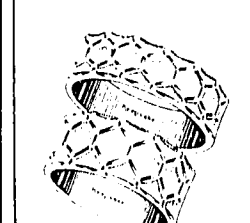

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Miller of Cherry Hill Road in Novi.

Graduates of the course earn credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community college of the Air Force.

Airman Miller learned how to install and repair telephone equipment. He is being assigned to Randolph Air Force Base in Texas for duty with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service.

The airman is a 1977 graduate of Farmington High School.

"Now is the time for all good neighbors to come to the aid of their community."

Get involved.

Lend a hand to the disabled Mom across the street. Help a blind senior citizen learn to utilize the local mass transit system. Find the hand to place youngster in a new home in the old neighborhood. Get help for the child abuser down the block. And counseling for that alcoholic co-worker.

How?

By giving and giving generously to the 1979 United Foundation Torch Drive, that's how.

Every year you've done your part by contributing to Torch Drive supported agencies like the Homeless Service of Metropolitan Detroit, Greater Detroit Society for the Blind, Homes for Black Children, Family and Neighborhood Services of Wayne County, Alcoholism Treatment Center, St. Joseph Hospital in Mt. Clemens. Plus 132 other community and health agencies that provide people you know with the assistance they need. And this year they need your support as much as ever.

So when your neighborhood Torch Drive volunteer calls, show how much you care.

After all, they're your neighbors. And it's your community. So if you don't give, who will?

People who need... need people who care.

Novi Girl Scouts launch search for adult leaders

By JEANNE CLARKE
624-0173

The Novi Girl Scouts are looking for troop leaders. About 50 girls turned out for an informational meeting at the Novi Middle School last week. Girl Scout organizers report currently there are not enough leaders to handle the number of girls who wish to join.

Both day and night training sessions are planned for new leaders. Daytime training sessions begin October 15 and will be held from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Evening training begins on October 9 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Anyone interested in becoming a Girl Scout leader should contact Pat Mobarak at 349-5265.

Clinics have been set up for leaders to register troops on October 4 and October 8. Details are available from the Girl Scout office at 559-7510.

Personals

Arthur James Neil III is home on leave from the Navy. He had been serving at the Great Lakes Naval Base for seven weeks. When he returns to service, he will be on submarine duty in Charleston, South Carolina. He will be visiting his parents on Tuesday and Wednesday for three weeks.

Louis Tank of Nine Mile is recuperating at home after 14 days as a patient in Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. He was taken to an emergency patient and spent four of those days in the intensive care unit.

Mrs. Audrey Orville, Mrs. Millie McHale and Mrs. Gerry Spino attended the September meeting of their Birth Club at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Freeman in Walled Lake.

Mrs. Hildred Hunt of Eleven Mile and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell, have returned from a week visiting in West Virginia and Ohio. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Rowan.

Debbie Dobek was home from Midland College last week to help celebrate the birthday of her godson Andy Dobek Jr.

The second birthday celebration was at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dobek of Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karevich entertained members of the Novi Heights Association at their home on Clark Street last week with several candidies as guests.

Novi Senior Citizens

A trip to Windsor, Ontario to visit the Perfect Steak restaurant was planned at the first meeting of the year. Helen Trahan has more details at 349-0288.

Plans also were made for the next pollock luncheon to be held at the Methodist Church on Ten Mile on October 10. Gordon Wilcox will also be presenting plans for the November 7 trip to Miner Bird Sanctuary.

At the first meeting, Mr. Sam Lund was appointed chairperson of the registration committee. Other business included work on the by laws which will be presented to the membership at the next meeting.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Wallace, who was assisted by Peg Wilcox and Irene Kereger.

Novi
Welcome Wagon

Anyone new to the area or anyone interested in finding out more about the Welcome Wagon should call Mary Price at 349-2193.

The "Out to Lunch" bunch will be going to the Cafe Cantina at Twelve Mile and Orchard Lake on October 9. Additional information is available from Cheryl Lenski at 349-0271.

The book discussion group will have its first meeting on October 11. Future meetings are planned every second Thursday of the month. For information call Loraine Kirkish at 349-6557.

The exercise group will meet on Tuesday and Friday at 10 a.m. at the Methodist Church and the gourmet group will begin meeting soon. Mary Price has additional information.

A garage sale originally scheduled for October 20 has been rescheduled for this spring.

Dues are payable this month for all members who wish to remain active.

Novi Library

Filmstrips for elementary school children on Saturday mornings at 10:30 a.m. This week children can see "Flipper the Seal," "Pee Wee had a Little Ape" and "Laurel and Hardy Murder Case."

Work on the October 18 book sale is continuing. Friends of the Library recently sorted books under the direction of Mary Wilson.

Anyone in the community can help in this effort by dropping off used books at the library during regular hours. Books from any category will be welcomed.

The library continues to keep the community up to date on many items of interest. It has an extensive brochure and pamphlet stand just inside the door. The library also has a wealth of information on classes available at local colleges for citizens. Information on the Youth for Understanding Program also is available.

Novi
Community Education

Those who missed the first session of the Earlybirds class for Weight Watchers are invited to attend a low calorie breakfast on Wednesdays from 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m.

Another class on microwave cooking will be held on Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. There must be 18 interested persons to hold the class. Breakfast, lunch and dinner menus will be discussed in four different sessions.

A class in supermarket consumerism is scheduled for Thursdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wise purchasing, food processing and additives will be covered.

Learn to bring facts stored in the subconscious up to the conscious level in a study recall class beginning Tuesday, October 23, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Students will be motivated to overcome fears and negative thinking in a self image development class from 8:30 to 10 p.m. beginning October 23.

Novi Chorales

Male voices in the tenor and baritone areas are needed. For auditions call Kathy Dumas at 477-3776.

This year the group is meeting at Middle School South on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. New officers are Daril Riley, president; Marge Couch, secretary; Mimi Rizick, treasurer; and Kathy Dumas, executive secretary.

This group was formed to provide singers with a chance to sing together and serve the community. They sing a variety of music from Bach to the Beatles. Performances are held at nursing homes, churches, shopping centers and other community functions. They presently are working on their annual Christmas concert to be presented at Twelve Oaks Mall.

Oakland-Livingston
Human Service Agency

A color tour of the Au Sable area is planned for Saturday, October 6, for the seniors.

They also will be going to Frankmuth on October 18. For more information, call the center at 349-3780.

The center will be closed on October 8.

All October birthdays will be celebrated on October 10 with a dinner, cake and ice cream.

Blood pressure readings will be taken on October 11. The food co-op also will be held that day.

The center continues to look for names of seniors living alone who should be called every day. The center also is looking for people in the community who would like to help visit the convalescent homes.

Parents Without Partners

An Oktoberfest gourmet dinner at Schoolcraft College scheduled for October 5 at 6 p.m. will kick off a month of activities.

Advance tickets are available by calling 349-0295.

Bring a dish to pass for the pollock dinner on October 7 at noon. A volleyball game will follow.

All members are reminded of the talk on "Joint Custody" being given by Henry Baskin, Schoolcraft College attorney. It will be held at the Waterman Center on October 8. An afterglow will be held at the Glass Crutch.

Reservations are being taken for the Windsor regional weekend on October 12-14. For details, call 624-7986.

Novi Boy Scouts

Pack 229 will have its first meeting to day at 7:30 p.m. at Village Oaks School. There will be an introduction ceremony and Bear and Webelos will receive their books.

Novi Village Creek
Garden Club

The monthly meeting has been changed to October 11 due to conflicting community interests. It will be at the Novi Library at 7:30 p.m. and is open to anyone in the Novi area interested in gardening.

A master gardener will be the special speaker. They will discuss "Putting Your Garden to Bed."

This group also had a workshop October 2 where they learned to make corsages and boutonnières at the home of Gretchen Pugsley. She also will be the hostess of a Pine Cone Workshop on October 22.

Anyone interested in additional information should call 348-1539 or 348-5044.

Novi Lionesses

Members are planning to reach new members in the community to gain support for their service projects. To spur interest there will be an invitational membership tea on October 15.

The Lionesses were guests of the Lions Club at the Greenery last week. They attended the evening program which included a special speaker, Dennis Glen Cooper. He will be hosting the Lions travel series scheduled for this season. It begins October 24.

The program, held in the community meeting room at Wixom City Hall, will also feature Finnish songs and melodies as well as the serving of pulla, the Finnish coffee bread.

Community Notes

Wixom Library to host IYC program on Finland

Finland, its customs and culture, will be featured in a program celebrating the International Year of the Child at the Wixom Public Library on Saturday, October 6, at 1 p.m.

Sharon Jumala and Carol Santti, members and residents of the Wixom Finn Camp, will lead the program geared to the interests of children from kindergarten age through eighth grade.

The ladies will present short talks on the sauna, the Finnish bath; the annual mid-summer celebration called Juhannus; and explain how Christmas is celebrated in Finland.

The program, held in the community meeting room at Wixom City Hall, will also feature Finnish songs and melodies as well as the serving of pulla, the Finnish coffee bread.

Further input from society members will aid in the presentation of the survey to the council. The meeting will include pictures, plans and ideas to aid in the development of the downtown section, as well as the discussion on the possibilities of establishing an historical district.

Western Boosters

The Western Warrior football team is highlighted every Tuesday when the Walled Lake Warrior Booster Club meets in the high school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Parents, student players, and sports enthusiasts are invited to attend the evening event. Films of preceding warrior games are shown with Coach Chuck App on hand to discuss the plays.

Special time is devoted to "Football for Mothers" with the coach explaining the special terms and calls that are used in football so that mothers attending may have a better grasp of the game.

Anyone interested in joining the group is cordially invited to attend the meetings, support the team and build enthusiasm for other school sports as well.

Dance Workshop

A workshop for more experienced square dancers will be held by the Fox Squares Square Dance group at the Walled Lake Elementary School beginning Monday, October 8.

The workshop will meet the second and fourth Monday of each month at the school on Maple Road west of Ladd Road. Cost for the fun, learning, practice sessions is $30 per couple for eight weeks. Registration will be held the first night.

More information is available by calling 363-9485.

Flu Shots

The first of two flu immunization clinics conducted by the Oakland County Health Division will be held today (Wednesday) from 10 a.m. until noon at the Richardson Community Center in Commerce Township.

The second clinic will be held next Tuesday, October 9, at the Lakes Area Senior Citizen Center. Hours for that clinic are 1 to 3 p.m. at the center located in the Novi Elementary School on Novi Road.

Seniors citizens are urged to take advantage of the free immunizations. The shots are also suggested for persons over 26 with diabetes, heart, lung or kidney diseases.

A Trivalent vaccine will help protect against A/Texas, A/USSR, and B/Hong Kong flu virus strains.

A voluntary consent form has been prepared that requires a personal signature prior to the injection being given. Those attending the clinic will be given the opportunity to question health officials prior to signing the form.

Historical Meeting

The Wixom Historical Society has

Marquis Music

A series of Sunday afternoon musical concerts developed by Novi classical pianist Fontaine Laing will have its opening curtain at 3 p.m. on Sunday, October 14, at the Marquis Theater in Northville.

The concerts are aptly titled "Music at the Marquis." Opening the series is a piano program entitled "Mostly Chopin" performed by Flavio Varani, artist in residence at Oakland University.

Scheduled for the November concert are Mrs. Laing and Richard Pippio performing several selections of piano and chello.

Tickets, available at the Marquis box office, are $4 with senior citizens and student tickets priced at $2.

Tuesday Musicales

Members and prospective members are invited to attend the first in a series of afternoon concerts scheduled by the Tuesday Musicales of Pontiac on Tuesday, October 9, at the Central United Methodist Church.

Luncheon will be served at noon followed by a 1 p.m. program featuring

Hearing, speech tests offered to youngsters

Parents of pre-school children in the Walled Lake School District may make appointments for free speech and language evaluations scheduled at intervals throughout the school year.

A speech and language therapist will be conducting the evaluations for the district. The evaluations are intended to detect early speech and language problems so that appropriate methods of assistance can be initiated.

Parents should consider the evaluation of their child if they can answer yes to any of the following questions:

- Does the child have difficulty understanding speech he hears, including directions such as "close the door," "pick up the book," and questions such as "what is your name?" or "where is the dog?"
- Is the child's speech difficult to understand for people outside the immediate family?

Appointments for evaluations may be made by calling 624-0840 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Orchard Lake church slates cabaret concert

Songs from popular Broadway musicals will follow a full-course dinner offered at the Orchard Lake Community Presbyterian Church in a fund-raising effort called "Broadway Melodies for a Pipe Organ."

According to Joyce Kilbourne, proceeds gained from the cabaret evening will enable the music sections of the congregation to make a contribution to the pipe organ fund at the church.

Mrs. Kilbourne said the organ was offered to the church on a matching funds proposition. The congregation accepted the offer and the challenge to meet the stipulations of the agreement.

Although the various choirs of the church have been amassed for prior concerts, the coming event featuring a dinner program is a first. Three performances are planned with opening night scheduled for Thursday, October 18. The events will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, with the Saturday program slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The concert will feature solos, duets and chorus numbers from favorite Broadway musicals "My Fair Lady," "West Side Story," and "Annie," as well as "Porgy and Bess" and "South Pacific."

Singers from the church, adult, high school, junior high and children's choirs will also participate in the concert.

Among the soloists will be Connie Grubaugh, voice instructor at Oakland University and widely acclaimed soloist, and Dorothy Berry, a member of the Kenneth Jewell Choral and well-known soloist. Both are known to audiences for their leading roles with the Michigan Lyric Opera Company.

Baritone Fred Fuller also will be heard in solo roles including "Old Man River" from "Showboat." The children's choirs will be featured with soloist Linda Poppelreiter in selections from "The Sound of Music."

Rounding out the musical evening will be duo-pianists Carolyn Thibideau and Ann Moody providing the piano accompaniment.

Tickets for the dinner and concert are $15 each. Reservations may be secured by calling 363-9005 or 682-0730.

Women needed for 'straight talk'

Over 3,500 women in Metropolitan Detroit will develop cancer of the breast and uterus this year. Most of these women can be cured if their cancers are found and treated early.

The American Cancer Society and Cancer Action Now are sponsoring an education program called "Straight Talk" which is designed to dispel the fears many women have about breast and uterine cancer.

This unique program will be brought to the attention of female employees of Oakland area businesses and to women's clubs and organizations.

To support this important effort, local women are needed as volunteers.

Medical background is not necessary. All training is provided. If you have some time to give particularly during the day, and would enjoy talking to other women who care about their health, call Marjorie Bradley at the American Cancer Society at 557-5353.

Involve elderly parent in nursing home plans

One of the most difficult situations for families to cope with arises when an elderly parent or relative can no longer care for him or herself or be adequately cared for by others within the home environment.

The decision to place a loved one in a long-term care facility usually causes families to experience some guilt feelings and often results in fear and apprehension in the patient, according to Gerontology Specialist Dr. Jane Oyer at Michigan State University.

To help avoid such occurrences and minimize uncertainty for the person about to enter a nursing home, families can prepare for the transition in several ways.

The most important thing to remember is to include the individual in as much of the decision-making process as possible. His or her involvement is vital in insuring that the change in surroundings and familiar daily patterns is not a wholly traumatic experience.

Plan ahead for the move. Before deciding on a particular facility, visit it to check it out. Ask to speak with the administrative staff about the various services and activities offered to residents. If possible, talk to some of the residents about what life is like in the facility.

Don't be apprehensive about asking what the food is like, how much privacy residents are allowed or whether rigid rules and regulations are adhered to. Inquire about the details of medical care available to residents including dental, podiatric, dietary, and nursing services. Ask to have financial and billing procedures explained in detail. Find out what portions of the cost are covered by insurance and how charge amounts are determined and funds are transferred in payment. Check on Medicare and Medicaid requirements.

After visiting and comparing several facilities, consider the advantages of each one in relation to the new resident's values, concerns, habits and attitudes. The final decision will depend on how comfortable, compatible and affordable you perceive the home to be.

Cervenak heads Novi unit

Michael Cervenak of Sterling Heights has been appointed director of satellite operations by Providence Hospital Administration Sister Xavier Balance. In the newly created post, Cervenak has management responsibility for the hospital's ambulatory care facilities in Novi and South Lyon as well as the outreach programs in Royal Oak Township and Detroit.

A registered respiratory therapist, Cervenak came to Providence in 1969 and was named assistant director of respiratory therapy three years later. He was promoted to director of pulmonary technical services in 1977.

Cervenak completed his professional training at the University of Chicago and is completing degree requirements at Wayne State University. A past vice-president of the Michigan Society of Respiratory Therapy, he currently serves as speaker of the house and on the association's committees for legislation and publications.

He currently is active with the Health Occupation Council of the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation and a member of the public relations and liaison committee for the American Association for Respiratory Therapy.

When you wish upon a star...

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

We wish on them. We put them on our flag, on famous people's doors and on children's foreheads. Poets rave about them. We sing about them. But when was the last time you really looked at the stars?

Stargazing is fun and free, spiritually uplifting and intrinsically romantic. All you need is a field far from any city, where you can step through the wet grass, breathe in the cold night air and look into the sky as far as you can see.

"People sometimes neglect the sky even though it is part of nature," says Steve Horn, naturalist at Kensington Park. "Some people are afraid of astronomy because they think it is too technical. But you don't have to be an astronomer or a scientist to study the sky."

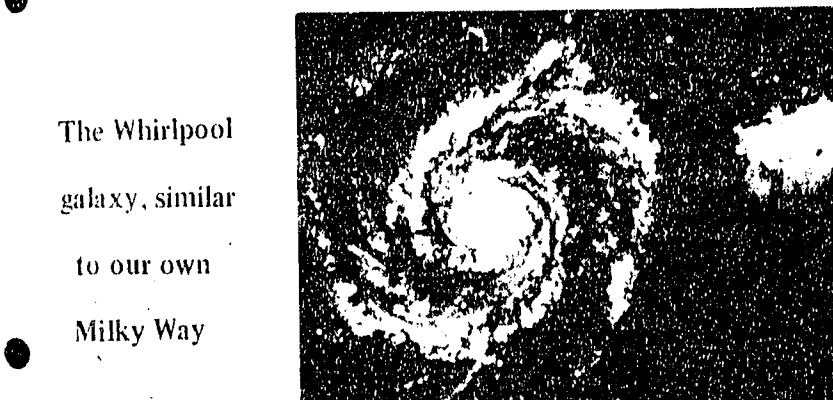

Horn gives free lectures in astronomy at Kensington Park. He takes groups on nature trails during the summer and autumn evenings and talks of myths and Indian legends of the sky. He points out constellations. Yes, that is the Big Dipper. Yes, that is the Andromeda galaxy. Yes, that is a satellite. No, that is not a UFO.

Both the Indians and the Europeans centuries trying to describe how the universe worked and how the stars got there, Horn explains. Indians believed that the stars came to shine in the sky after the Sky Father gave the animals a bag of shiny stones to brighten up the night sky so the animals would not be afraid of the dark. The animals climbed each hill and placed the stones in pretty patterns into the sky, until the coyote became tired of carrying the load of stones and threw them into the sky at random.

The Europeans believed the sky was a solid object moving around Earth, the center of the universe. The sun and moon moved faster than stars across the sky, the early astronomers believed, because they were on wheels.

Actually, Horn says, astronomers describe the universe as filled with "islands" of stars called galaxies.

It's Nashika-wawa-sun

Since ancient times astronomers have continually struggled to improve their knowledge of the universe. With powerful telescopes they ferret out secrets of the sky, but there are still many unsolved mysteries. Creation, for example. Black Holes. Pulsars. Quasars. Radio waves from space. While still struggling with these problems, scientists have managed to decipher a few of the simpler mysteries of the universe. Here are some star facts in simple terms that might come in handy on your stargazing expeditions:

Twinkle twinkle, little star

Stars appear to twinkle when dense and dirty air on the earth's atmosphere causes light coming from great distances to waver as the light passes through. Planets, whose reflected light from the sun does not have to travel as far appear to give off a more constant light. A star that is lower on the horizon may appear to twinkle more because its light is moving through more of the earth's atmosphere before you see it.

If you really look you will see that stars have different colors. Cool red stars have a surface temperature of only 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The hottest stars which reach 50,000 degrees surface temperature shine blue. Capella, visible this month in the northeastern sky, shines orange. It has a surface temperature of approximately 10,000 degrees. A star's brightness is measured in magnitude. A star of the first magnitude is brighter than one of the second magnitude, and so on.

Catch a falling star

Many "falling stars" can be seen every hour if you are there to see them. Astronomers estimate that about seven are visible per hour. What you are really seeing are meteor showers as the earth passes through the dusty trail of a comet. Most of the time the meteoroid breaks up before it hits the earth. Early American settlers believed that a falling star meant a witch had died. In 1866 spectators in Denver, Colorado saw a spectacular 1,000 shooting stars in one minute as the earth passed through the Temple comet's path.

There are more than 1,000 satellites from several countries which are currently orbiting the earth. (No, you cannot from this distance tell which are friendly weather satellites and which are spy ships.)

Starlight, Starbright

The farthest thing you can see with the naked eye is the Andromeda Galaxy, 2.2 million light-years away. To put that in simpler terms, if you were on a spaceship traveling as fast as light it would take you 2.2 million years to arrive at our neighbor Andromeda. Light travels 186,300 miles per second or about 11 million miles a minute. The light you see on earth from the fuzzy blob which is Andromeda is 2.2 million years old.

Aurora Borealis or the northern lights are one of the most spectacular sky sights. Indians believed they were spirits dancing in colorful robes across the sky. Astronomers believe the northern lights are caused during periods of high solar activity when high-energy particles are electrified and emit a glow as they line up with the earth's magnetic field. The Ojibwa Indians of northern Michigan called it Nashika-wawa-sun, Lone Lighting.

The See Section

Things are looking up

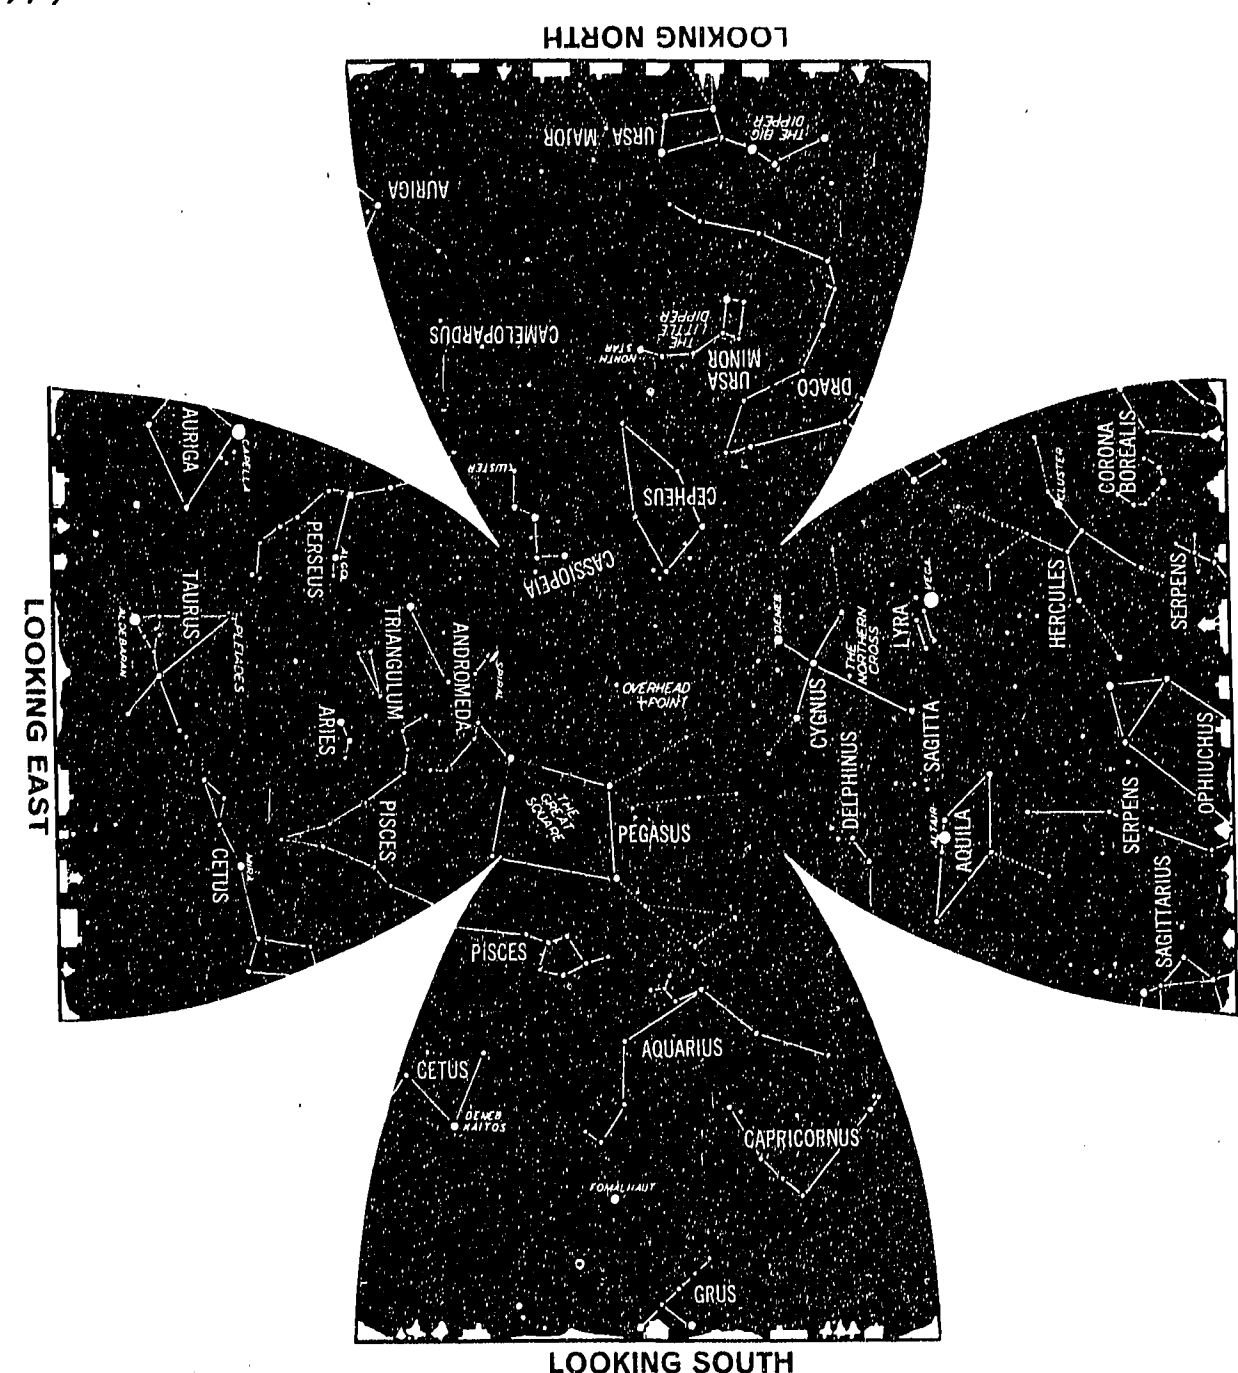

Yes, you can read a star map in the dark. By putting red cellophane across your flashlight you will be able to see both the stars and your map perfectly. Read the simple star map at left by holding it in front of you according to which direction you are facing. For example, if you face south then you should hold the page up so it reads, "looking south." If you want to look at stars in the east hold the page in front of you so it reads, "looking east." You should be able to see most of the constellations depicted here without aid of binoculars or a telescope.

The map is most accurate October 3 at about 11 p.m., October 8 at 10:30 p.m. and October 16 at 10 p.m. Since this map was drawn for stargazers on the latitude of Philadelphia and Tokyo (the 40th parallel), Detroit viewers on the 42nd parallel will be able to see a few more stars in the northern horizon and may not be able to see some constellations on the southern horizon at all.

Where should you go stargazing? Unless you own a Caribbean island or live in the Australian outback, it is nearly impossible to find a completely dark site from which to observe the

Completing budget tops lawmakers agenda

By WARREN M. HOYT

The fall legislative agenda and how much of it becomes law will be the effectiveness of the 1979 legislation session.

Completion of the 1979-80 budget tops the immediate agenda that appears to have few high priority items although some promise to be time consuming.

Besides the budget leftovers, some of the uncompleted tasks include consumer protections in obtaining essential insurance, requirement for sunset review of governmental programs, regulation of wetlands, resolution of the future of Michigan's presidential primary and Wayne County reorganization.

The $4.6 million general fund operating budget was mostly approved when the Legislature recessed in July, but a grants and transfers bill and capital outlay bills remain to be sent to the governor.

The Legislature will formally revive Governor William G. Milliken's line-item vetoes, the foremost being his veto of budget restrictions in the welfare budget on non-therapeutic abortions.

The governor's authority to take that action was, early in September, upheld by the Court of Appeals and the issue is before the state Supreme Court.

One of the first items facing the Senate is getting the so-called essential insurance bill in a joint conference committee where differences between the House and Senate can be resolved.

The bill would prohibit insurance redlining and meet the Supreme Court objection to the no-fault automobile insurance act.

As approved by the Senate, the bill dealt only with auto insurance and eliminated the division of the state into separate rating territories. The House added homeowners insurance coverage to the bill but said the state could be divided in no fewer than 20 rating territories.

Wetlands legislation is now in the House Conservation, Environment and Recreation Committee. It is one of the top priorities of both House Speaker Crim and the governor.

Crim has said he is ready to go "head to head" with the bill's chief opponent, Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee). Jacobetti has in past sessions been able to bottle up similar legislation in his Appropriations Committee.

Also high on the priority list is conflict of interest legislation that has been getting sharp controversy from local officials. Related to the conflicts bill is another political reform bill — the sunset bill.

Legislators, however, may find themselves holding off on those issues to deal with bills relating to Wayne County reorganization.

Some type of decision will also have to be made this fall on the presidential primary. Senate Republicans have predicted the Senate would approve a House bill eliminating the primary.

However, the speaker has said he thinks the primary will continue in its current state which means the National Democratic Committee will no longer consider results from the primary as a valid means of selecting delegates to the national convention.

Wayne County reorganization, another issue involving a standoff between the governor and the Legislature may soon come to a head.

Technicolor forests are heralding autumn

Sunny days, crisp evenings and forest lands turning technicolor proclaim the arrival of autumn in Michigan. It's the season of harvests and Halloween, summer memories and holiday plans.

The Michigan Travel Bureau's Calendar of Travel Events shows October to be a month of festive activities and entertainment as bright and colorful as the landscape.

High on the list of popular fall activities are the Fall Color Cruises, out of Charlevoix, aboard the motor ship Beaver Islander. The cruise meanders along the shoreline of Lake Charlevoix providing passengers with a breathtaking view of Mother Nature's seasonal spectacular. Cruises are scheduled for October 6-7, 13 and 20. Reservations are limited and should be made in advance through the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

On shore, color tours are planned in Crystal Falls and Iron River. October 1-10, at Newaygo, October 1-21, at Cadillac, October 3-31, and at White Cloud, October 6-7 and 13-14. Area color tour maps are available at local Chambers of Commerce to point you in the most colorful direction.

The perfect prelude to cold winter nights is the annual Red Flannel Festival at Cedar Springs, October 6. The Festival of the Forks at Albion is also set for October 6, and both events will feature parades, chicken barbecues and a variety of fun and games.

Octoberfest at Big Rapids, October 3-7 and Kalamazoo College, October 12-14 will be flavored with bratwurst and beer, and enlivened with music and dancing.

The Kalamazoo Nature Center brings back fall festival fun of early America, October 6-7, with the Fall Harvest and Crafts Festival. Harvest drawn wagon rides, old-time harvest activities and pioneer crafts will highlight the weekend.

Parades, games, crafts, bargains and good things to eat will be in evidence throughout the state, throughout the month, as many communities celebrate the season. Bellare holds their Autumn Festival October 12-13; a Fall Harvest Festival, Chippewa Nature Center, Midland, October 13-14 and at White Pine Village, Ludington, October 19-21; and, Squires Street Square, Rockford offers Harvest Festival weekends, October 6-7, 13-14, 20-21 and 27-28.

At Greenfield Village, Dearborn, the Autumn Harvest Weekend, October 5-7 spotlights pioneer crafts, antique farm machinery, folk music and dancing, and during the October Crafts Weekends at the Village, October 12-14, 19-21 and 26-28, village craftsmen and guest artists will demonstrate their expertise in dollmaking, pottery, and 15 stars. Kensington Park is open until 10 p.m. throughout the year but even there lights from surrounding cities fade out many of the lower southern and eastern stars. Northern Michigan, with less pollution and fewer city lights, is ideal.

But even in your own back yard you will be able to see many of the constellations and stars on the map. Happy stargazing.

Some constellations travel through the middle southern sky in a path called the Zodiac. In October you can spot Taurus just rising in the east with Pisces above it. If you look south you will see Aquarius and Capricorn.

That First Year or So

An infant kicks and then he sprawls;
Need I head out to seek his crib,
And full of pep, he takes a step —
Lands in a heap and goes to sleep.

Then up and at 'em once again;
Seems like he reaches to obtain
A bottle at the table's edge
Or a well-filled dish
Down on the ledge.

With well-spilled food upon his bib
He'll head out to seek his crib,
There to settle in a daze
With baby dreams
In sweet repose.

My Man

The Duke is dead
Oh no he's not
Or have you ever not noticed
This world is full of dukes

I know a few myself
The kind of guys who strive
They strive for everything
But most to be men
And to be the best

A Duke loves earth and water
He cries as he laughs
He loves women — all of them
But he does not tolerate smallness
Especially in himself

And a king needs a queen
Some need more than one
For a Duke — above all else —
Always needs love
And that makes him a man

Northern Splendor

I read Jack's piece awhile ago;
I made me yearn to tour
Up north again with autumn's glow
Near the waters of Detroit.
And then to go on further Through Hiawatha land —
Tahquamenon and Paradise
And there to take my state Midst nature's gorgeous color
Beyond words to portray
By the golden, falling waters
For a lifetime or a day.

Fall Flight

A hairstreak butterfly Lights on
A pine cone acorn
Ready for a ballet
To spotlight leaves
Painted for Fall...
Mulched with those Fallen; potato-chipped
To scuffle with feet
And waken
Departing birds.

Seasons

We are as seasons continually budding out.
Change, forming patterns to the handwork of our existence.
rain, reality forever forms the continuance of our "life patterns", ever budding forth for those who seek the secrets within...being present...aware...and waiting for all life.

David's Destruction

A steeple bell
Lying there like a body
Caught by fallen brick
And Jack-strawed wood;
A woman's blue cloth slipper
Companions the scene.
Is someone left there
To tell this story
Of David's anger
Venting his wrath
On Dominic?

101 TRAVEL PLANS 101

NORTHVILLE TRAVEL PLANS at 101 East Main has a new owner-general manager, Ed Jamieson, above left, this month. He is pictured with Delores and Cecil Fleming, former owners who are retiring to the Spanish-style home they built a year and a half ago in Mesa, Arizona.

New owner Jamieson and Mrs. Fleming are former co-workers at AAA travel. Jamieson, his wife Barbara and family live at 4178 Ladywood in Northville Colony.

Jamieson previously worked at Olympia Travel. Among his accounts was the Red Wing travel business. He became a good friend and business associate of Red Wing Gordy Howe. The two previously were

Museums tell story of state

Michigan's museums tell a story that spans the state's mining, lumbering and Great Lakes shipping eras and reaches back to the days of the Indian and the missionary-exporters, reports Automobile Club of Michigan.

They also spotlight some of the world's finest art, salute internationally famous skiers, pay tribute to the state's auto and furniture industries and explore the world of science.

Alpena's Jesse Besser Museum of Art, Science and History boasts one of the Midwest's finest artifact collections on early man in the Great Lakes.

At Harbor Springs, the museum named for Ottawa Chief Andrew J. Blackbird is housed in the century-old dwelling he used while acting as postmaster for the early settlers and traders.

On exhibit are birch bark canoes, quill baskets, Wampum, paintings, maps and household implements.

Indian relics also are displayed at Copper Harbor's Astor House Museum, named for the man who made millions in fur trading in the 19th Century.

Other fine museums in the Upper Peninsula include the one at Lake Linden, which is housed in an old Calumet & Hecla mining office building. It features relics from the days when copper was king.

Shipping, a prime winter sports area, hosts both the National Ski Museum and the National Ski Hall of Fame.

French missionary-explorer Father Jacques Marquette is honored by museums at St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie. Marquette founded a mission in St. Ignace in 1671 and a museum has been established there in 135-year-old Mission Church near the site of his Marquette Park grave.

Marquette is among those honored by the Shrine of the Missionaries at Sault Ste. Marie. Visitors are invited to tour a "Mission of Man" religious exhibit at the base of the tower or ride an elevator 174 feet up to an observation deck for a panoramic view of the Soo Locks and the American and Canadian Soos.

The days of sailing vessels are recalled at the Museum of the Great Lakes at Bay County Historical Museum in Bay City and at the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Detroit's Belle Isle.

Architectural treasures of yesterday will be open to visitors on Bay City's Tour of Homes, October 14; the Tour of Homes, at Coldwater, October 14; and Lansing's Turner-Dodge House will be prettied up by local interior designers beginning October 15, and continuing through November 4.

Star-studded entertainment brightens stages across Michigan in October. The Detroit Symphony's Weekender Pops Series features the multi-talented Steve Allen, October 5 and 7, at Ford Auditorium, Kalamazoo's Miller Auditorium, on the Western Michigan University campus, has a full line of entertainment this month, starting out with America's goodwill ambassador, Pearl Bailey, and the Louis Belson Orchestra, October 6; followed by the mellow vocal styles of Lou Rawls, October 12; and on October 30, Isaac Stern, accompanied by the Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra.

partners in Howe Travel agency in Southfield. Howe, Jamieson says, now lives in Connecticut and is not a part of Travel Plans.

The Northville business has a new telephone, 348-7200. Jamieson plans to introduce charter trips and other special vacation programs.

Mrs. Jamieson will be helping in the office. Julie McMaster will continue with the firm, and Paula Massie, formerly with Howe Travel and S & H Travel Awards, will join Jamieson as travel consultant and secretary.

MAUREN PORTER of 48825 Timberlane in Northville has been honored for outstanding sales achievement as a sales director in the independent field marketing organization of Mary Kay Cosmetics, Incorporated.

"Her success as a sales leader has earned her the opportunity of using a free new Buick Regal for up to two years. It reflects the growing prominence of women in business and appropriately recognizes their capabilities," states the announcement from Dallas, Texas.

To qualify for the award Ms. Porter led her sales unit to become one of the top units in the Mary Kay organization in the last six month period.

She became a beauty consultant in February, 1974, and a sales director in August, 1975. Since its inception in 1963, Mary Kay has grown from a regional cosmetics firm into an international organization comprised of more than 46,000 independent beauty consultants and more than 1,000 independent sales directors who demonstrate and sell the products throughout the United States, its territories, Canada and Australia.

GERRY DODDS, Northville resident and Realtor Associate with Century 21 Suburban Realty, Inc. in Northville has earned special recognition for her sales in 1979 by exceeding a million dollars in gross sales.

Century 21 Suburban Realty's Broker, Dick Ruffner states that he is "especially pleased that Mrs. Dodds was able to reach this goal so early in the year," since she just joined his organization in January 1979. Ruffner attributes some of Mrs. Dodds' success to her earning the G.R.I. designation from the Michigan Association of Realtors.

Mrs. Dodds' enthusiasm for the real estate profession has encouraged her to participate in Century 21's national recruiting program.

TUNE UP YOUR HOME FOR WINTER!

Each fall you take your car to a mechanic for a tune-up or some type of winterization to insure reliable and efficient operation for the coming cold weather. Unfortunately, your house doesn't knock or ping like a car to indicate that something might be wrong. It just sits there performing below par.

Why not give your house a winter checkup to prepare it for the coming heating season.

- Check the amount of insulation in the ceiling. The greatest heat loss in most houses is through the roof. If your house has less than 2-1/2 inches of insulation in the ceiling or attic, you should add a minimum of 6 inches of insulation. This is the easiest area in which to install insulation.

- Check cracks between window frames and between door frames and the wall. Every crack, both inside and outside the house, should be caulked. And, you can "caulk-it-yourself." It's easy!

- Check for drafts around doors. Outside doors or doors to unheated areas need to be properly weatherstripped. A 1/8-inch crack in a standard door frame is responsible for losing as much heat as a hole the size of a grapefruit.

- Check to see that there are no poorly fitting or broken windows.
- Check to see that all single-pane windows have some type of storm windows. If you decide to purchase storm windows, get several estimates from dealer/contractors. Also, there are less expensive do-it-yourself ways to stop heat loss through windows. Special kits are available to cover your windows with rigid clear plastic, or you can purchase even less-expensive clear plastic in rolls.

- Check room air conditioners in your windows. If you can't remove and store them for the winter, carefully weatherstrip around them. Special plastic covers are also a good investment, or make your own covers with a roll of plastic film and masking tape.

- Check dampers on fireplaces, kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans and dryer vents to see that they close tightly when not in use. Clean away any debris that may be preventing proper closing.

- Last but not least, include the furnace in your winter checkup. Clean the blower fan and replace air filters on your furnace. Not only should these filters be replaced in the fall, but also when ever they become clogged — or at least twice a year. If your furnace is equipped with a humidifier, be sure it is clean and operating properly. Consider installing an automatic setback thermostat.

To be sure your entire furnace system is operating efficiently, have your furnace cleaned and adjusted by a competent service-man before the heating season starts.

Giving your house a winter checkup and winterizing now can mean saving both energy and money in the cold winter months to come!

Fall is one of the most popular seasons at the Nature Study Area of Kensington Metropark near New Hudson. Both the nature study building and trails are open year-around.

The Nature Center, building of contemporary design, features seasonal exhibits. Naturalists are on duty to answer questions or explain special features. Visitor hours are: Weekends — 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Monday through Friday — 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Persons visiting the nature study area are prohibited from collecting flowers, leaves, rocks or animals. Family pets and picnicking are not permitted in the nature study area. However, there is usually a designated picnic site near the nature study area to accommodate school groups.

Special guided nature hikes are available to the general public on specific dates. For additional information call 685-1561 (Millford exchange) and ask for the Nature Center.

'Fall Scenes' walk slated

Take a closer look at nature's "Fall Scenes" during a special walk to be conducted at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark on Saturday, October 13 at 9 a.m.

Dazzling colors, migrating birds, squirrels caching food for the winter, and other fall activities combine to make a walk through the woods interesting and enjoyable. Naturalist Dave Molyneux will explain the why and how of some of these seasonal changes and activities seen along the trail.

Participants should bring binoculars. Advance registration is required for this 1 1/2-hour walk.

Here's farm hours

Children's Farm hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the Pioneer Inn Restaurant hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., both open weekends only.

The farm has a barn, chicken coop, corral, carriage house, plus several farm animals such as cows, chickens, geese, turkeys, ducks, horses, goats and sheep — which visitors can watch, feed or pet.

Chicken dinners or snacks are available at the Pioneer Inn Restaurant.

WE PUT THINGS WITHIN EASY REACH!

Reaching people is the goal of all forms of advertising . . . some are successful and some are not. But of all forms of advertising available, only one has the distinction of being able to consistently reach those people who are ripe for responding to the advertiser's message. This, of course, is the Classified Advertising section of your newspaper. Why? Because your Classified section is aimed at a pre-sold audience . . . people read the Classified Ads because they are already in the market to buy! It isn't necessary to convince them that they should buy a home or an automobile or rent an apartment, or look for a job or engage the services of an electrician . . . they are already convinced of their need . . . what they want is someone who can ANSWER that need.

It is also the only people-to-people medium that is available to every member of the community! Individuals turn to the Classified Ads every day to buy or sell items ranging from pets to power mowers and bicycles to motor boats. And the Classified section is the only place they can reach so many people at such a low cost.

So if you're a businessman or an individual who wants to reach out and pick people who are ripe for your messages, put that message in the Classified Advertising section of this newspaper.

End of the line

Novi quarterback Mark Rentner (7) discovers above — with his legs securely in the grips of a Brighton defender — that he's going nowhere in Friday's action against the Bulldogs. Rentner did enjoy better moments in the game, as he directed the Wildcat offense to a pair of touchdowns. However, Novi still came out on the short end of a 22-15 score. (Staff photo by Jim Galbraith).

Vikes need help after 54-8 loss

Since the Walled Lake Central Vikings have scored a total of eight points in their last three football games, it would be fair to say that the team needs some offensive help. In fact, that much has been suspected all along.

Now, however, the Vikings have to wonder whether they need help elsewhere. Waterford Township's more-than-convincing 54-8 win over the Vikings Friday would suggest as much.

Central (1-3) just didn't have a chance in the game, which was played in enemy territory. Everything seemed to work for the Vikings, who hopped through the Viking defense to the tune of 590 yards. Waterford led 12-0 after the first quarter, and left no doubt as to the final outcome with a 22-point second period to take a 34-0 halftime lead.

And obviously, things didn't get any better in the second half.

It would be hard to say where the Vikings went wrong Friday. The passing game, despite statistics to the contrary, was ineffective; Central runners were consistently ground to a halt; the Vikings fumbled five times and suffered an interception; and the defense — well, look at the score.

The lone Central bright spot in this best-forgotten affair was a one-yard touchdown by Charlie Ginstler, who has performed capably in spite of Central's 1979 difficulties. The 5-10, 175-pound junior even accounted for the Viking conversion, taking a pass from senior quarterback Curt Burnstein for two points.

That score occurred after Waterford had already built a 28-0 lead, however. And, just in case Dick Woodworth's men had any thoughts of pulling off the comeback of the season, the Vikings reached the Central end zone once more before intermission. They then pushed home three more TDs in the second half, all the while rendering the Vikings scoreless.

The game's scoring began early in the first period, as Waterford quarterback John Cole fired a 12-yard scoring pass to Butch Plaugher. Junior fullback Marty Scott added a 40-yard scoring run later in that quarter, and the opposition led 12-0 despite missing both conversions.

In the second stanza, Tom Shellnut (who ran nine times for 131 yards) scored on a five-yard run and Scott secured 31 yards for a tally to put Central in a four-touchdown hole. Ginstler's TD temporarily narrowed the gap, but Scott's third score of the half (a five-yard carry) took care of that.

Shellnut added to that already-big margin with a 13-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, and even booted the conversion kick after the fact. Joel Kincaide later got into the act for the home team with a pair of scoring runs from nine and five yards out.

Waterford now stands 3-1 this season, and is a top contender for the Inter-Lakes Conference crown. It's a good young team that still is improving.

In fact, the only Waterford loss this autumn has come at the hands of Livonia Stevenson, another conference power. And, as luck would have it, that's who the Vikings must contend with in this Friday's game.

Although some of the final statistics of last Friday's contest are a bit misleading, they nonetheless indicate that the Vikings have a lot of work to do before the Stevenson clash. Central yielded 320 rushing yards against Waterford, and the pass defense was responsible for 270 yards. The locals, meanwhile, garnered just 74 ground yards while accumulating 162 aerial yards.

However, that 162-yard total is somewhat deceiving. Many of that acreage came long after the issue had been decided, and the seven-for-14 completion rate at quarterback partially was due to the same thing.

Besides the obvious offensive and defensive flaws in Central's game right now, it's also essential that the home club cut down on its mental and physical errors. If nothing else, the Vikings have to tighten their grip on the football for them to have a chance Friday. Central lost three of its five fumbles last week — not an encouraging sign considering the fact that they'd turned the ball over seven times the week before.

The Vikings, who were shut out in two successive games before meeting their Waterloo at Waterford, will have the home crowd rooting for them when they attempt to iron these matters out. Friday's game begins at 7:30 p.m.

The Brighton Bulldogs stole a chapter from Bo Schembechler Friday night, resorting to hard running, a bruising defense and opportunism to beat a scrappy Novi team, 22-15.

The victory sets the stage for a rugged confrontation this Friday. Brighton and South Lyon each have 2-0 marks in the new Kensington Valley League. The winner of the Brighton homecoming clash will take sole command of first place with two conference games remaining.

South Lyon toppled Hartland, 21-0, Friday to keep pace with the undefeated Bulldogs, who are 4-0 on the season. The loss Friday dropped Novi to 0-2 in the KVC.

The brothers Heussner, Mark and Steve, were the heart of the Brighton running attack Friday. Quarterback Steve, who was Brighton's leading runner the past two years and was switched to his new position this year, ran for two touchdowns on one and five-yard plunges. Mark, the guard who was switched to fullback this year, ran 23 times for 148 yards, 55 of those coming on a TD sprint in the second quarter.

Novi Coach John Osborne said Brighton didn't do anything he didn't expect them to do. But he was surprised.

"We knew Mark Heussner was big and strong," Osborne said. "But we didn't expect him to be so quick. I think he's a little illegal or something, he's so big, strong and fast. He's the toughest running back we've seen this year."

"I was impressed," he continued. "We played good football, we put out a good effort. But we played a good team and got beat."

Perhaps the Heussners' most important contribution came in the final quarter, with Brighton leading, 22-15. Novi, with 5:08 remaining in the game, punted out of bounds on Brighton's 21-yard line.

The name of the game was set up the clock and that's what Brighton did, on the hard running of the Heussner brothers. Brighton rushed to three first downs, the last one coming on the Novi 41 as time ran out.

The turning point in the game came in the fourth quarter, with Novi leading 15-14. Brighton's Ron Keech recovered a fumbled pitch-out in a wild scramble at the Novi 27-yard line.

Five plays later, Steve Heussner ran to his right, cut and bulled into the end zone for the go-ahead touchdown. Then he passed to brother Mark for the two-point conversion.

Novi had punted out of bounds on the Brighton seven yard line, with Brighton leading 14-7 and only about 1:20 remaining in the first half. It looked like Brighton would be content to run out the clock. But Brighton fumbled and Novi recovered at the 11 yard line.

The rugged Brighton defense stiffened, however, and threw Novi back to the 24 yard line. And then a last-second pass was incomplete at the goal line.

"All we wanted to do is run out the clock," Brighton Coach John Seckinger said. "We fumbled. It's one of those things. But we sucked it up. The defense did the job."

The Novi coach was feeling somewhat glum. The Wildcats now have lost three games by close margins and every time have been tripped up in the closing minutes.

Here's how the scoring went:

First quarter— Brighton drove 48 yards in six plays, with Steve Heussner going the final yard. Pass for the extra point failed. Brighton led, 6-0.

Second quarter— Novi went 48 yards in nine plays, capped by a four-yard pass from Quarterback Mike Rentner to Split End Jeff Clark. Terry Smith's kick for the extra point was perfect and Novi led, 7-6.

Brighton took the ensuing kickoff, going 63 yards in two plays. Mark Heussner romped the final 55 yards into the end zone and Steve Heussner connected with Mark Garback for two points and a 14-6 lead.

Third quarter— Novi took the opening kickoff and stormed 60 yards in 10 plays. The TD came on a fourth and four pass, Clark to Rentner over the middle. Rentner then rolled around right end for the two-pointer, following a Brighton offside penalty. The score: Novi 15, Brighton 14.

Fourth quarter— Keech recovered a fumble at the Novi 27. Brighton marched into the end zone in five plays, with Steve Heussner bulging five to cap the drive. He then hit his brother on a swing pass for the two-point conversion and a 22-15 victory.

Central cagers jell with consecutive victories

With all of the young talent on the Wall Lake Central girls' basketball team this season, it was just a matter of time before the troops of Coach Ken Butler would ring one up in the win column.

That's exactly what happened September 25 as the Vikings had an easy time of it in a 60-46 victory over Wall Lake Western for their first success in 1979 in five tries. The win felt so good, in fact, that Central went out and did it again Thursday night with a 39-37 triumph over Farmington. But the latter contest was a real battle.

Indeed, it must have been a frightful sight for Butler's squad when it arrived for the Thursday game. Farmington fielded one of the bigger teams the Vikings figure to face this season—a 6-3 center, two 6-6 forwards and a 5-10 and 5-9 backcourt pair—and the result was an intense physical confrontation between a couple of strong basketball clubs.

As Butler put it when warning his center, 6-0 Amy Rembisz, of the possibility of a rough inside game prior to the contest's start, "You're gonna have war with her (Farmington sophomore center Stacy Green) for three years — you might as well establish territorial rights right now."

Unfortunately, however, the Vikings didn't establish much of anything, at least in the way of tempo. "We couldn't," Butler explained. "We were just too big for us to be in constant control. It was a very physical game."

There were many heroines in the latest Vike victory, despite the fact that Central managed to connect on only 13 of 64 shots in the rough 'n' ready affair.

Central's first victory had come two nights earlier at the hands of Central's cross-town rivals, Wall Lake Western. Butler's unit was in command all the way, taking a 23-8 lead after the first period over the considerably shorter Warriors and never letting up.

Central didn't shoot very well in that contest, either—but then, it didn't really have to. Western hit on just 19 of 73 shots for 26 percent, making the Viking 25-of-66 effort (38 percent) look good by comparison.

With its first two victories of 1979 now secured, Central faces some tough opposition again this week. Both of the week's contests are on the road, with the Vikings scheduled to take on Plymouth Canton yesterday (Tuesday) before moving to Waterford Township Tuesday.

"Those'll both be hard ballgames for us," Butler reported. "But even though we're still learning, we like to think that we've made some strides recently. When we get Lamb back, we'll be even stronger."

Central's Lisa Hall can't block this field goal attempt

After just five games in this 1979 girls' prep basketball season, Wall Lake Western Coach Tom Sczynski says his team is just about run out of possible solutions for his cold-shooting Warriors.

"We've tried everything," Western's coach explained. "Practice, the kids shoot fine, but it's different in a ballgame. It's come down to a confidence factor right now."

It would be presumptuous to say just where the Warriors' confidence level stands at this point, but if last week's statistics are any indication, the answer becomes obvious. Western shot 26 percent and 31 percent in respective losses, leaving the club with a 1-4 record.

The first of those defeats was especially hard to take, as rival Wall Lake Central walked away with a 60-46 win last Tuesday. The Warriors did manage to toss 73 field goal attempts, but converted only 15.

Western's inability to connect from the floor coincided with the fact that Central spurted to a 23-8 margin after the first quarter. The Warriors played on even terms from then on, but the damage had been done.

Though Central enjoyed a big height advantage against Sczynski's troops—with a 6-0 center and 5-10 and 5-11 forwards going up against a team that has only two players over 5-7—poor shooting still was the main culprit. The Warriors' confidence level rebounding all season, were out-bounced by only one.

"They (Central) are a big club, a huge club," Sczynski noted. "We were totally out-manned, but kept the ball loose, blocked out well, and jumped well. They made some baskets that we just couldn't stop, though, especially on offensive rebounds."

Cheryl Reiter was the biggest bright spot for Western in that contest, scoring 17 points despite the club's second straight loss.

The Warrior losing skin reached three two nights later. On Thursday, Plymouth Canton broke open a close game in the third quarter and coasted to a 54-33 triumph over the locals.

In that one, Canton broke to an early 16-4 lead and never trailed again. But Western never quit, coming back slowly to trail by seven points at the end of the third quarter and then by one at the end of the fourth. The deficit decreased to four midway through the third stanza before an incident took place that changed the Warrior momentum.

One of the Canton players suffered a broken leg, and there was a delay of about an hour while she was being attended to and helped off the floor. Unfortunately, Western just couldn't get a full head of steam when play resumed, and the Plymouth squad took charge from that point.

The way things are going right now, it doesn't look like there's going to be much of a race for top golfing honors in the Inter-Lakes Conference.

That suits the Wall Lake Central linksters just fine. And why wouldn't it? The Vikings currently lead the league by a comfortable margin in one of their best seasons ever.

Monday, for instance, Gerry Chapple's crew completed a big win over Waterford Township, earning a 185-191 decision. Not only did that superb performance saddle Waterford with its third loop loss and help put distance between Central and other conference challengers—it also established a new record for the locals at their home Edgewood course.

If you remember reading here that the Vikings had set a new Edgewood standard for themselves just last week, you read right. But no record is safe from Central right now, as Chapple's squad keeps getting better and better with each outing.

Monday's 185 score topped the old Central mark by four strokes. That record was set September 17, meaning that the previous all-time low lasted a grand total of two weeks.

"I'm really happy with the way the guys have performed," said an obviously pleased Coach Monday. "Now that we're 5-1, I think we're in good shape as far as the conference goes. It'll not be mistaken, every other team has at least three conference losses."

All things considered, Chapple called the Waterford victory "our biggest win so far." Whether or not that was the case, the match certainly produced the finest Central team outing of 1979. Rick Saries led the way for the Vikings with a phenomenal 34 total, and Scott Boone was right behind with a 36. Also shooting excellent golf were Joe Sawyer, who carded a 37, Don Braden with a 38, and Greg Boone who scored a 40 in the record-shattering effort.

Even more remarkable about the Central accomplishment was the fact that it took place without standout Jamie Younggren in the top five. Younggren had what must be considered an off-day for him, firing a 42.

"It's really hard for me because you can only send four players," the veteran boss noted. "But three are already sent—Younggren, Saries and Sawyer. Picking a fourth will be difficult, though; maybe we'll have our own mini-tournament to see who goes."

The team's fifth victory came on the heels of another dual win Friday, a 182-212 verdict over Wall Lake Western at Edgewood. The Vikings had a relatively easy time of it against John Fundakian's young and inexperienced crew, with three Central players shooting in the 30s.

Younggren was in top form that day, breezing to a 36 to lead the pack. Sawyer had a 37, while Saries shot a 39. Scott Boone and Tom Magyar had 42s.

The day before, however, Central went down to a 193-195 defeat—its first dual setback of the fall. Livonia Stevenson turned in a strong effort then, surprising the Vikings and their coach.

"I really didn't think they could play that well on their own course, which is tough," the Central chief reported. "You've got to give 'em credit, though; they did a good job. Anyway, after what happened later, maybe that loss could have helped us in the long run."

Despite falling to Stevenson, the local link crew still performed admirably. Younggren again had a 36; Sawyer shot a 38, as did Saries. Greg Boone fired a 40 and Laine Frye carded a 41.

Next on the Central agenda is a couple of dual matches, beginning today (Wednesday) at Waterford Mott. The Vikings move on to Farmington tomorrow before participating in the highly-competitive Oakland County meet Monday. And Chapple is really excited about his team's chances there.

"This is the first time I'll be going over there thinking we've got a chance," the Vike mentor commented. "It would really be an accomplishment to win it all there."

Chapple has somewhat of a pleasant problem in connection with the big tourney, however. Because he has so many players shooting outstanding golf right now, he must choose a foursome that will represent the team Monday.

"It's really hard for me because you can only send four players," the veteran boss noted. "But three are already sent—Younggren, Saries and Sawyer. Picking a fourth will be difficult, though; maybe we'll have our own mini-tournament to see who goes."

Novi tankers win first

The Novi varsity swim team made history last week. On Thursday, September 27, the Wildcat tankers won their first girls swim meet ever, dunking Garden City East 94-76.

The Novi team is in its first year of existence. In its only other contest of the season, the team came in third at a triangular meet three weeks ago.

The Wildcats jumped out to a quick lead after the first event as the 200-yard medley relay team of Wendy Sayre, Aime Truscott, Deb Agarwal and Colleen Welland combined to score a time of 2:09.7, good for first.

Kim Misiyaki clocked in at 2:35.3 in the 200-yard freestyle, good for second, but Nancy Svarace and Barb Hightner picked up points by finishing fourth and fifth, respectively. Svarace finished at 2:58.3 and Hightner touched the wall at 2:59.6.

Sayre came back to capture first in the 200-yard individual medley, finishing in a time of 2:39.8. Truscott took third with a 2:49.8 finish.

Welland finished the 50-yard freestyle in a time of 28.5, good for second place. Beth Marchetti, at 30.6, placed fourth and Viki Kerpel clocked in at 30.8, fifth position.

Carrie Wasielewski scored 133 points in the diving events. That point total gave her second place. Diane Bischof was fourth with 68 points.

Agarwal stopped the clock at 1:10.9 for a first-place finish in the 100-yard fly. Marchetti finished third in a time of 1:22.5.

Welland took a first in the 100-yard freestyle event with a time of 1:04.2 while Sheila Albers came in second with a time of 1:10. Misiyaki took fourth in 1:12.7.

In the 500-yard freestyle, Lisa Bonkowski placed second with a time of 7:37.6. Jan Ponder took third in 7:41.0 and Patty Evans placed fifth with a time of 8:12.2.

Sayre took another first in the 100-yard backstroke, finishing in a time of 1:13.2. Kerpel took second at 1:18.4 and Sandy Stevens placed fourth with a finish of 1:30.4.

Agarwal placed first in the 100-yard breaststroke, clocking in at 1:17.9. Albers touched the wall at 1:30.2, good for fourth and Julie Henrich took fifth with a time of 1:37.8.

"I'm just real happy," coach Donna Roemer said. "We weren't too sure what Garden City had by way of a team. And the result was a 15-stroke loss."

Joe Golden shot a 40 to pace Fundakian's men, while Kish and Steve Drabheim were next on the Warrior list with 44s as Western's mark slipped to 2-5 in dual matches. Still, the unpredictable linksters were able to end the week's action on a high note.

Even though their record fell to 2-6 the next day, the Warriors put on a creditable performance at Wall Lake Central's Edgewood course against the tough Vikings. Central was an easy 196-212 winner, but more important for Western was the fact that it had once more shot a respectable round of golf.

"Edgewood's no easy course," Fundakian explained. "We knew we'd be going up against a very sound golf team, so we just tried to come out of it looking as good as we could. I think we accomplished that, and I think also that the boys gained some confidence by coming down from the 220s again."

Although Fred Miller's 39 was three strokes behind the pace set by match medalist Jamie Younggren of Central, that score had to be an encouraging sign for the young golfers. Kish, always around that 40 mark, was next at 41 for Western, and Gill had a 42. Golden finished at 43, while Art Kranites rounded out the Warrior quintet with a 46 outing.

The Warriors have come a long way already. Western turned in cards of 232 and 240 in the season's opening week—and that was just one month ago.

Another golf triumph buoys Western hopes

One who measures progress in terms of victories and defeats wouldn't be all that impressed with the showing of the Wall Lake Western golf team this fall. But those who know better realize exactly what's happening.

"Happily, the kids are continuing to improve," Coach John Fundakian said after last week's activity. "Our team average was 226 a couple of weeks ago. Now it's down to just over 217. That kind of progress shows that something very positive is being accomplished."

The way the Warriors have looked lately, that statement would be hard to dispute. Heck, the young Western squad even tossed in a victory every now and then—just to show the rest of the Western Six that this gang shouldn't be taken too lightly.

The latest Warrior triumph occurred last Monday in a 223-231 decision over Livonia Churchill. Granted, the Livonians never gave Tom Watson anything to worry about, but Western nonetheless was led by a pair of standout individual efforts.

• Tops on the locals' list was Scott Kish, who fired a 39 to grab medalist honors. Tom Gill wasn't too far removed from that with his 41 total. Gary Miller was next for Western with a 47.

• Part of the Warriors' problem thus far has been their inability to put together good team scores on a consistent basis—an almost inevitable occurrence when a young team takes to the course. Western followed its not-so-hot 223 total of Monday with a 225 Thursday in a match-up with Waterford

Gallant Warrior effort comes up short, 14-7

The Wall Lake Western football team may have lost Friday night's game with Livonia Churchill, but the Warriors won the respect and admiration of many in a hard-fought 14-7 setback before the local fans.

A fourth-quarter, 32-yard scoring pass from Churchill quarterback Bill Keller to Bob Monaghan proved decisive in the defensive struggle which saw both teams rendered scoreless in the first half. The Chargers opened the game's scoring amidst some controversy, as a questionable pass interference call resulted in Keller's two-yard sneak for a touchdown in the third period. Western's only TD occurred with 48 seconds left in that quarter with quarterback Rob King hitting Bruce Meyer with a 32-yard scoring aerial.

"We knew we'd be in for a tough ballgame," Warrior Coach Chuck App said afterward. "Churchill has a reputation for being a high-scoring team with a hard-hitting defense. We were ready for 'em, and they sure knew they were in a ball game against us."

More accurately, both teams knew they were in a ball game. The sound of pads against pads and helmets against helmets was the rule rather than the exception Friday. Each team stubbornly gave ground, and nothing came easily for either side.

The Warrior defense especially reflected this. On five different occasions, the Chargers were stopped after bulging to within 10 yards of the Western goal line as the home troops doggedly dodged the bullet time and time again.

"I can't say enough about the performance of our kids," App said. "We didn't have field position from the beginning, and really had to fight it out there."

"But you can only have your defense on the field for so long," the second-year coach noted. "The guys gave it all they had, but it was hot out there. You can't hold 'em forever."

Still, the Warrior defense would bend but not break. Individuals prominently involved in that happening were Paul Terill, Steve "Puppy" Dog, Somerville, King and Scott Parrish. Somerville again was a leading tackler for Western, while Parrish bagged 48 solo tackles and had two assists.

Offensively, Warrior main man Angelo Buttazzoni had a rather rough go of it. The junior bulldozer netted just 40 yards on 13 carries, but was constantly being keyed on by the Chargers. Bruce Meyer took advantage of that fact, carrying the leather nine times for a 71-yard night. Other than that, the Western offense was limited, as King's throws averaged only 67 yards on two of 12 completions.

The effort by Meyer, however, was indicative of the gutsy showing by the ballclub. Despite a high temperature, the 5-10 senior battled the heat and humidity and still managed to perform well.

"He really wanted to be in there," App reported. "I just told him that when he didn't think he could take it any more that he should just let me know. He gave his all."

"In fact, I can't say enough about all of our kids," App continued. "I don't think this community is used to seeing that kind of football from a Wall Lake Western team. A lot of people came up to me after the game was over and said they were proud of the way this team performed."

Considering that—not to mention the fact that Churchill ripped up the Warriors by a 4-0 count just a year ago—it was unfortunate that an official's call played such a major role in the game's outcome. To make matters worse, the pass interference decision in question occurred on a Churchill fourth down play.

"It was a crucial call in the game," the Western boss commented. "I didn't feel there was any interference on the play, and I've been over the game films. But it's a judgment call that just didn't go our way."

The Warriors then perhaps lost their poise a bit, being called for off-sides on the next play. Enemy QB Keller then powered the winning points.

The Livonians had a slight edge over Western in the game statistics, just as they did in the final tally. Churchill had 12 first downs to eight for the Warriors, while dividing most of their yardage early even. The visitors ran the ball 41 times for 122 yards and completed six of 10 passes for 117 yards with two interceptions.

Meanwhile, the home team rushed 29 times for 112 yards, and managed but 67 yards in the air in falling to 2-3 overall, and 1-1 in Western Six play. Churchill is now 3-1 and 2-0.

Jayvee grid unit falls to Westland

The Northville/Novi JV Colts football team took one on the chin this last weekend when they were defeated 19-9 by the Westland Northstars.

The Colts opened the scoring in the game when Paul Newitt tackled the Westland quarterback at the end zone for a safety and two points.

The Colts increased their lead when quarterback Dave Demhoff keyed a drive by completing two important passes: a first 12-yarder to Ben Bush and then a 16-yard touchdown pass to Ben Evans. Evans carried the ball in for the extra point. That gave the Colts a 9-0 lead. But it wasn't to last.

Westland scored on an interception that was returned 55 yards for a touchdown, and two other pointers which were the result of two long drives.

The loss is the second for the gridriders, who now stand at 2-2 on the season. The Colts will play next on Sunday, October 7 when the Garden City Panthers come to town.

Yuhn first; Western getting better going down, we still need another runner or two who can consistently finish near the top," Keeney observed. "We're almost always running the same group of people, and we need more experience and better people, though, and that makes it tough to do that."

Nonetheless, the squad seems to be learning quickly as the fall season moves into its second half. The newcomers are looking toward the league and regional meets at the end of the schedule later this month.

After somewhat of a lull in the proceedings last week, the Warriors are back in the gym doing some steady work in the schedule calls for at least two meets a week until season's end, beginning with Thursday's meet at Livonia Churchill. A couple of highly-compensated events follow as Western Lakes and the Oakland Athletic Club meet at the Redford Union High School on Tuesday.

Novi shaky in shutout setbacks

The Novi girls varsity tennis team continued last week as the team dropped two matches, each 7-0. The Wildcats have won only three sets in all of the matches they've played so far this season.

On Tuesday, September 25, Novi dropped a 7-0 match to Howell. Terry Discher lost at first singles 0-6, 0-6; Holly Heupel lost at second singles 0-6, 0-6; Kim Henstock dropped the third singles slot 1-6, 2-6; and Geri Peterson lost at the fourth position 3-6, 1-6.

The doubles teams didn't fare much better. Amy Anthony and Jane Discher lost at first doubles 0-7, 0-6 and 1-6; Karen Wilkie and Leigh Dolan lost the

"I have eight girls who have never played tennis before this season," coach Leslie MacDonald said. "The Hartland coach couldn't believe that we had come this far. We're improving."

"All four of my singles have improved. All are competitive within their group but they help each other out. They are learning the most on the team," MacDonald has the singles play against each other to determine who will play at what position during the actual matches.

Frosh, jayvee entries dropped by Brighton

The Novi JV team lost to Brighton 19-7. Novi's lone score came on a two-yard run by David Chickowski in the fourth quarter. The 50-yard drive that resulted in the Wildcat touchdown was helped along by three 15-yard penalties against Brighton. Chris Caudell kicked the extra point.

Brighton scored on a 40-yard punt return, a one-yard run after a 50-yard drive and a 15-yard pass that topped off a drive highlighted by two roughing the kicker calls against Novi.

JV coach Brian Howard singled out Al Smith as the outstanding Wildcat of the game. Smith made nine solo tackles and had six assists from his middle linebacker slot.

"We were a different team in the second half (Brighton scored two of its touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the third)," Howard said. "That's encouraging. In the first half we didn't play well at all."

The Wildcat freshmen team didn't fare much better. They dropped a 12-6 contest to the Brighton frosh.

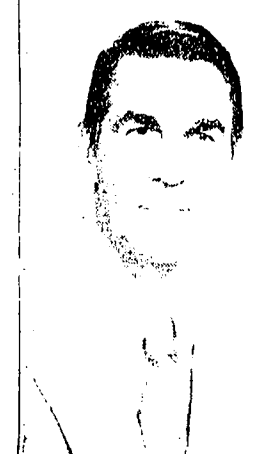

With just eight minutes to go in the game, the score was 0-0. Brighton drew first blood when its halfback ran for a touchdown. Novi tied the game on Vince Meo's 20-yard run from scrimmage. But Brighton came right back on another long run to score the winning touchdown.

The Wildcats lost, despite the efforts of Kim Henstock

IT'S NOT JUST FOR SORE BACKS

colds, deafness, epilepsy, diarrhea, rheumatism, gall bladder trouble, paralysis, indigestion, vertigo, liver problems, nervousness, neuralgia, sciatica, constipation, high blood pressure, and many more ailments too numerous to mention. In fact, if you sit in a chiropractor's waiting room for any length of time you will hear the doctor has cured everything from hiccups to heart disease. The truth is that any chiropractor who is "worth his salt" cannot and will not cure anything with drugs. A disease is "cured" when the vital nerve impulses flow freely from the brain to all parts of the body thereby bringing the body back to its normal state.

Life exists in the human body and uses the brain as its headquarters and power plant. Life is a continuous energy sending it down the spinal column or backbone, and out the spinal nerves to all parts of the body. If the energy is interrupted, the body cannot function properly.

The body can function properly and be free of disease. However, if the flow of this powerful, intelligent nerve force is altered, either in quantity or quality, by physical accident, disease, or interference, disharmony, imperfection and disease are the inevitable results. Nerve interference is caused when one or more of the 24 movable vertebrae of the spine become misaligned, or "subluxated," and put pressure on the vertebrae above and below, putting pressure on the nerves that exit through openings in the vertebrae, or directly on the spinal cord. This misalignment is known as a subluxation and is the main source of disease in the human body.

The causes of subluxations are many. A sudden jar or jerk of the spine can cause nerve interference. Even simple nervous tension can interrupt the flow of nerve energy. It is necessary for a chiropractor to locate and eliminate these subluxations of the spinal column to return to a state of good health. When this happens, the body will return to its normal state. A chiropractor corrects subluxations of the spine, thus restoring the body to its normal state. Are you going to continue feeling your body cause, or do you wish to improve your health? The choice is yours. Are you going to continue feeling rather than cause, or do you wish to become the largest healing art in the world? You are the only one who will benefit or suffer with your decision. Please choose wisely.

So, if you are about to give up hope and accept pain as a normal condition, consult a chiropractor. He can help you restore your health. His methods are the most advanced in the world. The choice is yours. Are you going to continue feeling your body cause, or do you wish to improve your health? The choice is yours. Are you going to continue feeling rather than cause, or do you wish to become the largest healing art in the world? You are the only one who will benefit or suffer with your decision. Please choose wisely.

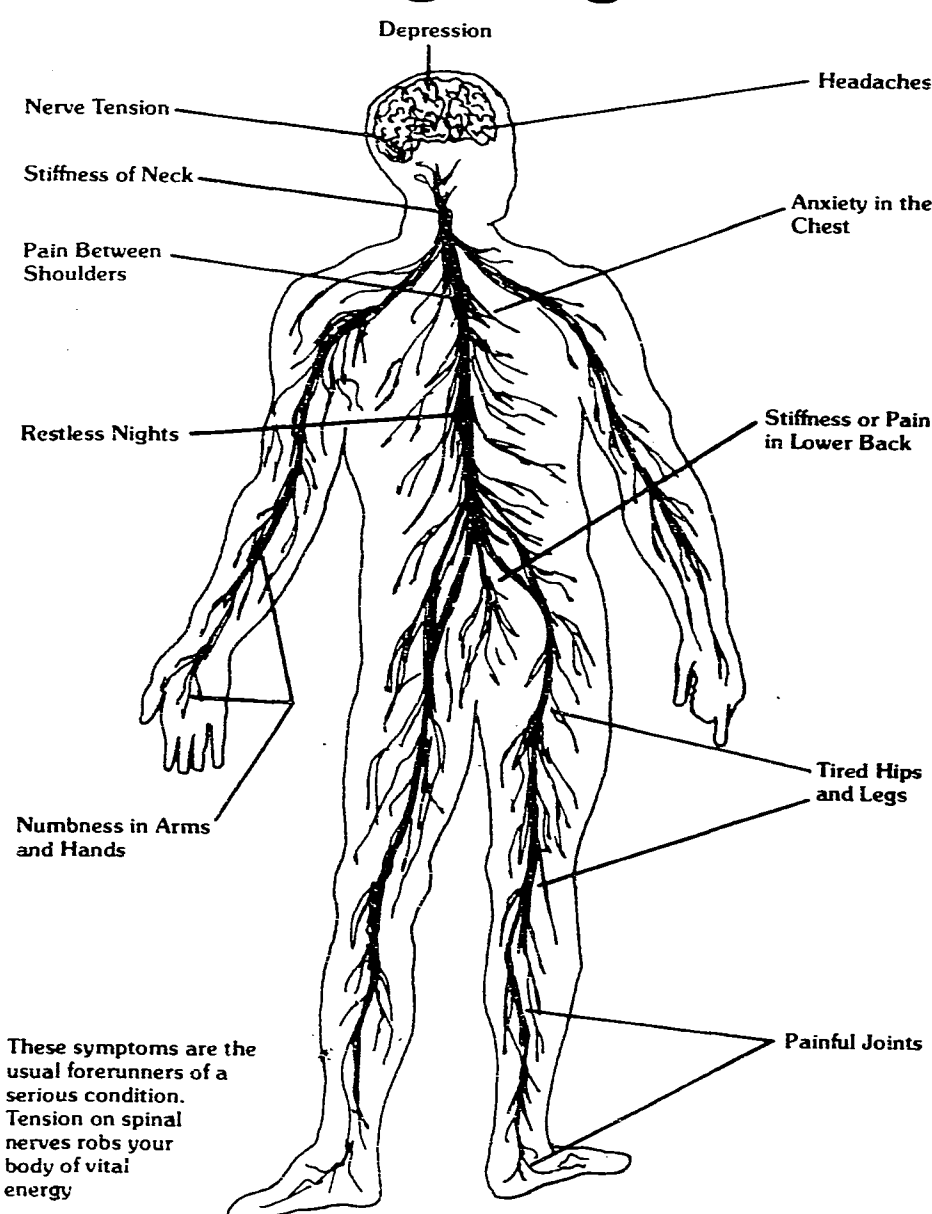

As a twig is bent so grows YOUR CHILDS SPINE

The condition of your child's spine and nerve system during the early formative years may determine his or her whole future health. Children do suffer misalignments of the spinal vertebrae through falls, sports or minor accidents and stress. The onset of childhood, and later adulthood illnesses can in many cases, be traced to seemingly unimportant spinal injury. For this reason it is especially important that children's spine be periodically examined by a doctor of chiropractic. Prevention beats correction every time.

The average patient in our office spends less because the "cause" of his affliction is arrested. This includes necessary instrumentation, spinal x-rays, and office visits. With children, the average costs are considerably less because of a child's fast rate of response. MANY PEOPLE SPEND MORE JUST FOR RELIEF ... PRESCRIPTIONS, PAIN RELIEVERS, TRANQUILIZERS ALL COST MONEY ... AND YOU STILL END UP SICK ... YOU HAVE SPENT MONEY AND TIME ... AND STILL HAVE THE TROUBLE ... the old cliché that "You'll just have to live with it," or "It's your nerves" just doesn't make sense in a chiropractor's office ... LET'S GET RID OF THE TROUBLE SO YOU CAN LEAD A HAPPY, HEALTHY LIFE ... you are entitled to it ... so why not have it?

11 Danger Signals

The most valuable asset of a family is that everyone is enjoying good health.

Chiropractic has been the method of choice for restoring health and vitality to millions of families throughout the world. More and more intelligent people everywhere are realizing good health is gained and maintained only when a normal flow of nerve energy flows from the brain, down the spinal cord, and out between important spinal vertebrae to our vital body organs and tissues.

Baby Sally's colic may be caused by spinal pressure on the nerves which lead to the millions of glands that carry out the digestive processes. Gentle spinal adjustments are administered to normalize your baby's spine.

Mother's migraine headaches are usually caused by a severe spinal twist at the base of the brain. That's why the headache usually occurs on one side of the head. When mother becomes tense and excited the neck muscles tense up, pulling the vertebrae tighter against the spinal cord. Once the cause of her headaches is corrected, she will once again be the happy healthy, and loving mother she should be.

Dad's low back trouble may be caused by a wrenching of the lower spinal vertebrae and pelvic bones. Conditions of this type often respond readily to chiropractic care.

Pain, stiffness, and swollen joints indicate the presence of inflamed joints. Because chiropractors are especially trained to adjust spines and restore a normal nerve energy flow to all of the joints, the kidneys and adrenal glands, they have been highly successful in caring for arthritis and other disorders that affect the joints.

Junior may suffer with bed wetting, frequent colds, irritability, constipation, loss of appetite and many other conditions. Tension on the nerves in the neck may also affect his school work. Many parents report an increase in the scholastic ability following chiropractic attention.

High blood pressure over a long period of time causes a great strain on the circulatory pump, the human heart. It is often the predisposing factor in heart attacks or paralytic strokes. High blood pressure many times is caused by spinal pressure on nerves leading to the major blood vessels.

EDITOR'S NOTE

The accompanying testimonials do not mean to infer that the chiropractor cures or guarantees a cure to your health problem. They are to prove that by removing nerve interference, the human body will heal itself.

'Hey Doc, What About My Family?'

That's a question that we have heard for years and we have now devised a plan to enable your whole family to enjoy the many benefits of good health.

Many times in the past, after being restored to good health through chiropractic care, our patients have asked about care for their entire family. "I just can't afford to have the entire family treated at the regular office fee," they say. Even though our $10 office call is the very lowest in the area, we realize that it can be a burden to large families.

So, to serve the needs of patients who do not have full family health care insurance, we are proud to announce the Family Health Care Plan which will make good health a family affair.

Under our new plan, which is in effect whenever two or more family members who do not have full family insurance visit us on the same day, the first member pays only $10.00, or the entire family for $12.00.

We have designed this plan to extend good health to everyone. There is a genuine concern that families should stay healthy together. Good health is, indeed, a family affair and it is an affair to be remembered.

Take advantage of our new plan today. Call now — 348-7530 and ask about our Family plan.

Chiropractic Can Head Off Your Next Headache

What's the most common complaint that people bring to our Chiropractic Life Center?

More than half of the people who visit our office complain about headaches.

It has been estimated that there are over 200 different causes of headaches. Head pain can be a dull throb, a severe ache, a sharp, constant pounding or any variation in between. They may be classified as mechanical, functional, toxic and reflex. These are the most common types and they are caused by one common factor: nerve pressure.

When tension builds up in the neck muscles it causes tremendous pressure on the nerves. And that pressure is responsible for the headache.

Based upon scientific studies, every organ, gland, muscle and tissue of the body must be supplied with its quota of vital nerve energy. This energy, which originates in the brain, passes through the spinal column and branches out to every organ in the body. If these delicate nerves are subject to pressure, a distressing condition develops.

The Doctor of Chiropractic will correct this nerve interference and release the pent-up pressure that causes tension and headaches. Upon locating the misaligned segments of the spine your chiropractor will make an adjustment to restore the misaligned vertebra and remove the pressure on the delicate nerve trunks.

When this pressure is relieved, the vital nerve energy will flow unchecked and tension that builds in the muscles is relaxed. All glands, muscles and body parts will begin working together. Headaches are very rare in the human body under these conditions.

If you're plagued with headaches let your chiropractor help. He'll relieve the pressure, relax the tension, relieve the pain, and restore your good health.

WE'RE A CHIROPRACTIC FAMILY

My husband used to come home feeling tired and run down from his sheet metal job. And occasionally his back hurt him also. A relative told him to go see a chiropractor. He decided to give it a try even though he knew nothing of chiropractic. After 3 adjustments his backache was gone and he felt a "zip" in his life.

No one had worse headaches than me so I decided to get regular adjustments also. Am I glad I did because now my aspirin bottle is never used. Fighting headaches naturally with chiropractic adjustments makes more sense than masking the pain with a pill.

My 2 children are as healthy as can be but I still take them for their regular adjustments. Why wait until they get sick. And with Dr. Doinidis' family plan we couldn't go wrong.

What a wonderful world this would be if everyone switched to this drugless method of healing. Why not turn yourself and your loved ones on to chiropractic.

The Addis Family

NO MORE HEADACHES

I used to have headaches that occurred every day. I tried other doctors but all they did was give me bottles of pills that didn't work. Finally I started getting adjusted by Dr. Doinidis. In a short time my headaches were gone and I felt a lot stronger and healthier. Dr. Doinidis said that my problem was in my neck and that his adjustments simply relieved the nervous interference.

My husband Jim had problems with nervous tension in his shoulders so he started getting adjusted by Dr. Doinidis also. He feels great so now we get adjusted just to keep feeling great.

Thank you,
Sylvia Gotsis

NOTICE REGARDING POSSIBLE CHANGES IN AVAILABILITY OF ADVERTISED GOODS AND IN QUOTED PRICES

Due to the fact that this piece is not prepared by this retail dealer, but by our wholesaler (HWI), which has warehouses at Fort Wayne, Indiana; Cape Girardeau, Missouri; Dixon, Illinois and Medina, Ohio, and because this piece is prepared several months in advance of the actual sale period, all items advertised may not be immediately available on demand at our store, due either to sales above reasonable demands, or other circumstances beyond this retailer's control. Therefore, this store will gladly issue a "raincheck" for any advertised item not available on demand, which will be good for purchase of the particular item at the advertised price, when additional inventories of the item are received. Due to unforeseen circumstances certain items may not be available at all, or a substitution will be suggested. This store and the HWI warehouses endeavor to avoid any such changes whenever possible, but sometimes we have no control over manufacturers and their problems.

All the prices stated, both regular and sale, are HWI suggested. Each HWI store sets its own prices. The prices quoted herein are subject to change due to possible printing errors or circumstances unforeseeable at the time of printing.
