Free Press: "Capt. Amasa D. Chapman, who died recently in Waterford, was born in Connecticut in October, 1796. He emigrated to Western New York in 1816, where he resided until 1844, during which time he held many offices of trust, and in 1830 was commissioned Captain by Gov. Troop of that State. He came to Michigan in 1844, and settled near Pontiac, cleared up a new farm and resided there up to the time of his death, with the exception of four and one-half years that he spent in Kentucky just prior to the late war. He was a very upright citizen, always striving to advance the educational interests of the community in which he lived. He was a graduate of Bacon's Academy, Connecticut, of the class of 1815."
