

PONTIAC BILL POSTER

Mrs. W. H. Kimball, of this city, died at her home on Mt. Clemens street Sunday morning, of carbuncles, in the 63d year of her age. Funeral services were held at the house yesterday, conducted by Rev. J. M. Gelston, and the remains placed in Oak Hill Cemetery. Mrs. K. had been a resident of Oakland for forty years, was well and favorably known, and will be missed by a large circle of friends. She leaves a husband, son, and two daughters, including Mrs. Ed. Phelps. The "Gov." as Mr. K. is called, has the sympathy of the community, and for favors received at the hands of friends during his wife's last illness is thankful. Oct 10 1883

Rice A. Beal, of Ann Arbor, died last week Tuesday night at Iowa Falls, where he was on a visit, of acute pneumonia. He was a self made man of strong will, and for the last few years a power in Michigan politics. Oct 10 1883

Mrs. Ebenezer Clarke, mother of H. G. Clarke, of this city, died in Sherman, Texas, Monday evening last.

Died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Sheldon, two miles west of this village, on Monday evening, October 3, 1883. Mrs. George Mann, of apoplexy, aged ninety-one years. Funeral services were held at the residence on Friday and the remains interred at Oakwood beside those of her late husband. Mrs. Mann with her husband eight children came to Oakland Co. from the State of N. Y. 48 years ago, and resided here till her death, Orion being her principal residence. Thus one by one the early pioneers are slowly passing away. Oct 10 1883

Detroit is becoming notorious for deeds of violence and blood, and hardly a day passes but we read of cold blooded murders and attempts at murder. The latest and most revolting crime was the murder of policeman George C. Kimball last Saturday morning, who was shot by and while pursuing a thief. Several arrests have been made, but as yet, like the Alles murder, who did the shooting is a mystery. Several persons, including Jay Clark, of Pontiac, saw the officer when he fell, but all are unable to identify the murderer. So long as Canada is a safe refuge for "crooks," Detroit will be unsafe for guardians of the peace and citizens generally. Oct 10 1883

Almeron Whitehead, one of the oldest settlers of Oakland county, died yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bell Bigelow, in Birmingham, aged about 75 years. Funeral from the Episcopal church, Pontiac, to-morrow, (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. W. for nearly half a century, lived on his farm in Waterford on the south bank of Elizabeth Lake and was highly respected by all who knew him. Oct 17 1883
