

PONTIAC BILL POSTER

Mrs. Sally Cundle, of Franklin, Pa., died last Wednesday of catarrh of the bowels, aged 41 years and 6 months. After funeral services at her late residence, the remains were brought to Pontiac Saturday, additional services held at Zion church, and the body was placed in Wilson's vault at Oak Hill cemetery. Mrs. C. was a sister of George and Chas. Thorpe of this city, a lady of culture and refinement, and she leaves a husband, two children, and hundreds of friends to mourn her loss. Mr. Cundle wishes to heartily thank numerous citizens for services rendered. Nov 7 1883

Last week Wednesday our citizens were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Miss Ida, youngest daughter of Hiram Walton. The evening before. Miss W. had been complaining, but was not considered seriously ill till Monday, when a physician was called and pronounced her disease ulceration of the bowels. She grew rapidly worse in spite of human aid, and died Tuesday evening aged thirty years. Funeral services were largely attended from the house Friday. Sermon by Rev. J. M. Gelston, and the remains placed in the Petrie vault. Deceased was loved and respected by a large circle of relatives and friends who sincerely sympathize with her parents and sister in their affliction. Nov 14 1883

E. J. Kelly, a Michigan printer, was killed by the cars at Lafayette, Ind., the other evening, and a friend writes this office a "hope it isn't you" letter. E. J. deceased, was a former employe of the Saginaw Courier, and E. J. alive and kicking, thank you, continues to do the Faber act for the B. P.

Mrs. John Girodat, aged 73 years died last Saturday night at 6 o'clock of dropsy. A husband, two sons and a daughter survive her. Mrs. G— was in full possession of her faculties until she died, bidding all her friends good bye, she realized that death was close at hand. Mrs. Girodat was a pure christian of the Catholic faith, and will be buried by that order Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, in Pontiac. Nov 14 1883
