

PONTIAC BILL POSTER

Oct 24 A Card. 1883

Unrelenting death having removed from earth's ever changing scenes my well beloved consort, Kate Smidley Stoll; therefore I desire to tender to kind physicians, nurses, neighbors and friends, my gratitude and thanks for their many, very many expressions of sympathy and acts of kindness in her sickness, death and burial. May their days be many, and days of joy.

JOHN S. STOLL.

Resolutions on the Death of Mrs. J. J. Stoll.

The following resolutions were passed by Oakland County Lodge, No. 183, I. O. O. F.

WHEREAS, Brother John J. Stoll of this Lodge has been called upon to mourn the loss of his wife, and

WHEREAS, it is one of the principles of Odd Fellowship to sympathize with a Brother in such afflictions therefore, be it

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in this his sad bereavement.

Resolved, That in the death of his wife Brother Stoll has lost a good, true helpmate and companion, and those who knew her a kind friend.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, under seal of the Lodge be presented to Brother Stoll and that they be shread upon the minutes of the Lodge and that they be published in our city papers.

COMMITTEE.

Anna May, daughter of A. D. Tremper, of West Bloomfield, died Oct. 20 of cholera infantum, aged six months. Funeral services at Walled Lake Oct. 23d, at 10 o'clock a. m. Oct 24 1883

Guy. Jackson, colored, of this city, died last Friday morning of inflammation of the lungs, aged about 19 years. Sunday the funeral was largely attended from the A. M. E. church, and the remains buried at Oak Hill cemetery. Young Jackson's death is a surprise as he has had a constitution of iron, but carelessness in handling a bad cold carried him off. He leaves a wife and one child. Oct 24 1883

Mrs. John Jackson, of this city, died at her home on the steam mill road Monday morning, of pneumonia, aged 64 years. Funeral from the house this (Wednesday) at two o'clock. Mrs. J. was the mother of H. M. Jackson, the Lawrence street blacksmith, and leaves a husband and several children to mourn the loss of a kind wife and mother. Oct 24 1883

Mrs. Kittredge died at the home of her daughter in Pontiac last Wednesday, of pneumonia, aged about 80 years, and funeral services were held at the residence of Mrs. Thos. Boston, on Friday. Oct 24 1883
