Mrs. A. D. Stickney, one of the oldest pioneers of Oakland county, died last Saturday morning at her home in Birmingham, aged 79 years. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church, B'ham, Monday afternoon and remains buried in B'ham cemetery. APR 11 1888

C. J. Arnold, of Melbourne, Chehalis county, Washington Territory, writes Mayor Galbraith asking if Oliver Seeley, who recently died at Melbourne, has any relatives in Pontiac or vicinity. Mr. S., says Mr. Arnold, was one time Marshal of Pontiac, and we should judge he left some property his heirs are entitled to. APR 11 1888

Mrs. J. F. Perry, whose death was announced last week, was born Oct. 28, 1853, at Sashabaw Plains, and her maiden name was Florence Mann. She was married to Dr. Perry May 4, 1871, and the result of the union was four daughters. Five years ago Mrs. Perry was taken sick with a hereditary lung trouble, and although receiving the best of care and medical attention the disease could not be stayed. The deceased was a consistent member of the Congregational church, a kind wife and mother, and although suffering great pain for many weary months, was cheerful, made no complaint and never lost faith in her Master. Funeral services were largely attended from the house last Wednesday. Rev. W. R. Seaver preached a touching sermon, and the remains were interred at Oak Hill cemetery.
