

Charles, second son of William Church, of this city, died Sunday evening at the residence of his parents on Pike street east, aged 18 years, and funeral services will be held from the house this (Wednesday) afternoon at three o'clock. The deceased, a bright, intelligent and active young man, was taken sick a few weeks ago with malaria fever, which was followed by typhoid fever. His lungs became affected and quick consumption set in with fatal results in spite of all that could be done for him by kind friends or medical skill. The bereaved parents, in their sad affliction, have the sympathy of the entire community.
