The general primary elections of Tuesday brought out one of the largest vote totals in the history of the State. The polling in Oakland County, due largely to numerous hotly contested races among Republican seekers of county offices, was especially high. Women voters turned out in unprecedented numbers.

While State-wide interest centered in the Republican gubernatorial nomination race between Wilber M. Brucker, Alex J. Groesbeck and Edward Jeffries, and a vigorous but unsuccessful effort by Chase Osborn to supplant James Couzens as United States Senator, the Sixth Congressional District seethed with one of the closest fights in years between the incumbent Congressman, Grant M. Hudson, and Seymour H. Person, who ran as a wet candidate.

There were half a dozen closely contested races in Oakland County, with the battles for Coroner, Sheriff and Drain Commissioner holding the greater interest, but the State Senatorial and Legislative races and the nip and tuck heat between Clarence Smith and Norman C. Orr, incumbent, for the prosecutor's office, lending zest to the general scramble.

Burton Daugherty, county clerk; Mabel Brondige, register of deeds; Luther D. Allen, road commissioner, and Maurice Baldwin, county surveyor, were renominated by substantial margins over their opponents. Albert Willson, of Royal Oak, county treasurer, was renominated without opposition. Harry Merritt and Earl Phillips, circuit court commissioners, also were renominated without contest.

James E. Lawson, of Royal Oak, was nominated for Senator from the Twelfth District, embracing Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, defeating E. B. Howarth and Maurice Fitz-Gerald. Melvin Lee, of Royal Oak, won a close race from H. T. Ellerby, of Birmingham, in the First Legislative District, while Philemon J. Miller, of Walled Lake, was victorious over J. W. Clapp, of New Hudson, in the Second Legislative District.

Frank Schram, sheriff, squeezed out a victory over William Wheeler, S. Lee Pack and James Simmons. Arthur Spencer, drain commissioner, was another to win renomination despite a vigorous campaign against his administration by his opponents and several civic organizations.

Eight candidates sought the two nominations for coroner. This race had occasioned the hottest campaign of the county and resulted in a close finish, with J. Lee Voorhees, of Pontiac, G. Dewey Kimball, of Birmingham, and O. C. Farmer, of Pontiac, leading the field. Voorhees and Farmer were incumbents. Voorhees polled an exceptionally large vote in view of the activities against him by an association of county undertakers, who had endorsed Farmer and Kimball. Dr. Alex M. Carr, of Royal Oak, the only physician in the race, was well up in the list.

The county gave a slight majority to Seymour Person for Congress, over Grant M. Hudson. Anti-prohibition leaders pointed to the vote for Person as an example of the public's desire for some reform in the present prohibition set-up. They declared that districts of the county never before known to give a majority to an avowed wet candidate, had thrown the greater number of votes to Person.

However, Joseph Greenalgh, who managed Mr. Person's campaign in Oakland County, stated that it was not only Person's attitude on prohibition but his championing of the causes of the workingman, that had brought him so many supporters.

While Oakland County was not expected to return a majority for Wilber Brucker over Alex. Groesbeck, Brucker leaders here pointed with pride to the Attorney General's total vote in the county, declaring that it was far from the small total that would have resulted had Groesbeck been given the overwhelming majority his adherents had claimed for him before Tuesday.

Luren Dickinson, candidate for the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, was given an absolute majority in the county over Thomas Read, Ethan Thompson and Fred Breen.

The 1930 duck hunting season in Michigan will open with a "bang" at 4:50 a. m., Central Standard Time, Tuesday, September 16. Hunters are busy securing their licenses, oiling their guns and preparing for the annual invasion of the marshes. The duck hunting regulations have not been changed this year, and dates, local ordinances and bag limits remain the same with one exception, a reduction in federal daily bag limit of geese from five to four. The season for ducks runs from Sept. 16 to Dec. 31.

COUNTY NEWS-LETTER

(Special Correspondence)

A serious effort is being made to bump out the awful dent in the fenders of Prosperity, suffered last Autumn when the old Juggernaut crashed into the stone fence of Poverty.

In the industrial plants of Oakland County the hum of activity is returning (sweet sound) and there is gossip among the officials of new establishments which might at least absorb a goodly number of the current mass of idle, restless men.

There is every evidence in the renewal of production operations in automobile plants around Pontiac that the executives are striving toward a stabilization that will mean steady work for a limited number of employees. It is a matter merely of keeping up with orders and not building for the stock rooms or potential business.

It is hardly likely that any great numbers of new employees are to be taken on, only a few being added to the force from time to time, as they are needed, and these new men NOT to be selected at random but from the files of old workers.

On the other hand there is persistent talk of several new plants, allied with General Motors, being established in the county. Fokker aircraft, the aerial division of General Motors, is one that is being mentioned as a possible occupant of one of the idle Pontiac plants.

While the aviation industry is at its lowest ebb since the great post-Lindbergh-hop-to-Paris boom, Fokker, as always, retains its place among the leaders in the commercial aircraft field, and the placing of its operations in Oakland County undoubtedly would attract other industries allied with aircraft. It is also a possibility, contingent, of course, upon Fokker taking over one of the plants, that a General Motors aircraft proving grounds, meaning another landing field, would be laid out. There is any amount of good terrain available for this purpose.

Another possibility is the establishing of the General Motors Diesel motor experimental plant. Such an activity doubtless would be carried on in connection with the aircraft work.

Officials of the companies are reluctant to talk of these prospects for the simple reason that they hesitate to make any statement that might bring a stampede of idle men into the county. (There are enough already.) The same executives who a year ago were ready and willing to indulge in superlatives to describe "prosperity ahead", now have become ultra-conservative in their predictions.

And when these executives become conservative—there is hope.

Love, after all, is just another industry, peculiarly dependent upon other big business, and just now in the dumps of sympathetic depression.

And Dan'l Cupid, the autocratic little boss, has been forced to admit his factory is running on a part time basis. Cupid's stock, for the first time within our ken, isn't paying dividends.

Take Dan'l Cupid's Oakland plant for instance. Its business, according to that minion of Cupid, County Clerk Daugherty, has fallen off almost 33 1-3 percent during the first six months of 1930 as compared to the January to June 30 period of 1929.

Mr. Daugherty, who issues licenses to deal in Cupid's product, told us that in the six months period of 1929 he sold 723 licenses to Oakland County swains. Cupid's business in those months is always on the up and go with June usually a banner period.

But during the January to June period of 1930 Dan'l has taken an awful wallop. His Oakland County plant has issued only 496 licenses and the June business was the poorest in years.

"The people would like to buy," explained Mr. Daugherty, "but it is a well-known fact that no company will finance Love."

The "hard times" have brought the farmers and orchardists and their products out to squatting places on the road junctions with a consequent cutting of prices and benefits to the thrifty but hard pinched folks. One squatting huckster out near Milford told us his stuff had been going to waste until he decided to peddle it, and that he had done right well, never failing to dispose of his load.

Joseph Greenalgh, who entered politics for the first time this year as the Oakland County manager of Senator Seymour H. Person's campaign for the Republican nomination for Congressman, did most of his work from a sick bed in his Pontiac home.

A vigorous worker, Greenalgh covered lots of territory in the early weeks of the campaign, but a fortnight ago his physicians discovered a blood clot in his right leg and ordered him to bed, his life in the balance.

A phone was placed within arm's reach and in this way Greenalgh directed the activities of the Person workers in the county. He had a valuable aid in his wife, an affable lady of marked intelligence and ability, who occupied his chair at headquarters and carried out his plans.

Mr. Greenalgh established a laudable policy in his work. He directed that no "mud" either directly or otherwise, be thrown at Mr. Person's opponent, Congressman Grant M. Hudson.

And no "mud" was thrown in Oakland County by any of the workers under Greenalgh's direction.

Apartment house owners in Pontiac, Birmingham and other of the larger centers in the county have solved the problem of getting tenants for their vacant rooms. Two weeks ago there was a general cutting of rentals in all the better and newer buildings with a resultant scramble for the choice apartments at the lower prices. Two large apartments that had had eight to ten apartments vacant for two months and upward filled them within a week after the price cut.

An Oakland County night baseball league is to be established next Spring with eight and probably ten teams representing various business and industrial establishments. Games are to be played every night on some arclit diamonds and twice or three times weekly on others.

This game, one of the liveliest and most interesting of sports, is played with what is called the "diamond" or semi-soft ball. It was inaugurated in Florida, where a large number of leagues now are in operation.

The lighting equipment is not costly and games are free to the public.

Efforts are to be made this Winter to organize teams to represent business and industrial organizations in Birmingham, Royal Oak, Pontiac, Holly, Milford, Lake Orion, Oxford and Rochester with a possibility of other teams from Farmington, South Lyon or Clarkston.

Promoters of the League advise that they have obtained money for lighting four diamonds and will have funds for more when suitable grounds are made available. Uniforms and equipment are to be furnished each team by the companies they represent.

SPRINGFIELD

Grass fires, believed to have started from a carelessly thrown cigarette, swept rapidly across dried fields on the west side of the Dixie just south of the ruins of the old Towers, Wednesday afternoon. No serious damage was done unless some of the trees were injured, but the constant vigilance of a number of men was necessary to keep it from spreading to the nearby farm buildings.

U. S. Boys To Model This Coach With "U" Scholarships as Goal

Newly formed Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild offers $50,000 in awards to youths

Detroit, Mich. . . . Four university scholarships of $5,000 each are offered to the boys of America in an announcement today of the formation of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, an organization dedicated to a program of education in manual arts and to perpetuate the ideals of the ancient craft guilds. The scholarships and more than 900 other awards having a total value in excess of $50,000 will be given to the boys who build the best miniature models of a Napoleon coach. The contest is open to every boy in the nation between the ages of 12 and 19 inclusive. Owing to the wide age range, there will be two class divisions: juniors aged 12 to 15 years, and seniors aged 16 to 19 years; with equal awards to each group.

The Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild and its educational program are sponsored by leading educators and industrialists. Dan Beard, national commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, is honorary president of the Guild, and William A. Fisher, president of the Fisher Body Corporation, is active president. The honorary board of judges of the Guild is composed of the following nationally known educators: Thomas S. Baker, president, Carnegie Institute of Technology; M. L. Brittain, president, Georgia Institute of Technology; M. E. Cooley, dean emeritus, College of Engineering and Architecture, University of Michigan; G. J. Davis, Jr., dean, College of Engineering, University of Alabama; W. F. Durand, Stanford University; E. A. Hitchcock, dean, College of Engineering, Ohio State University; D. S. Kimball, dean, College of Engineering, Cornell University; P. R. Kolbe, president, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn; Robert A. Millikan, California Institute of Technology; R. L. Sackett, dean of engineering, Pennsylvania State College; Rev. T. A. Steiner, C. S. C., dean, College of Engineering, University of Notre Dame; and S. W. Stratton, president, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild has been organized for the purpose of encouraging and stimulating craftsmanship and the development of manual skill among the boys of America. It was felt that with the present trend toward highly developed machinery, there was danger that the next generation would grow to manhood unskilled in any craft and that the extinction of real artisans might result.

It is our endeavor to foster, insofar as we are able, that spirit of fine workmanship which permeated the craft guilds of bygone centuries," said Mr. Fisher in explaining the aims and purposes of the Guild. "The boys eligible to become members of the Guild and compete in this contest soon will be knocking at the doors of industry seeking their start in their life-work. We believe that they will come better equipped through the training received as Guild members, and thereby be enabled to achieve greater heights. A comprehensive plan has been devised so that it will be easy for every boy in the age limit to enter the contest. To obtain this nationwide accessibility, the entire dealer organization of General Motors, of which the Fisher Body Corporation is a division, has been drafted into service. Each of these 20,000 motor car dealers has been supplied with enrollment blanks with which to enroll the youthful entrants. In addition they will advise and assist the contestants in any questions which may arise.

At the conclusion of the contest, coach models made in each state in the country will be judged separately and according to junior and senior groups. The boys adjudged the best craftsmen in both groups and in each state will be given a trip to Detroit as guests of the Guild and $50 in gold.

The four first awards of $5,000 scholarships may be used at any university selected by the fortunate young craftsmen. These scholarships cover a full college course of four years. In the junior division, where the winners may not have reached college age, the scholarships will be held in trust by the Guild until the winners are prepared to enter the university of their choice. In addition to these principal awards and the Detroit trips for the 96 boys, there will be cash awards for builders of the second best coach model in both divisions in each state and other cash awards for individual merits on particular parts of the model building, such as woodcraft, metalcraft, trimcraft, and paintercraft. These special awards will be equally divided among the junior and senior groups in each of the states.

Speakers during the evening will be Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal husbandry, Washington, D. C.; Charles L. Hill, president of the national dairy show, Madison, Wis.; Herbert E. Powell, Lansing, state commissioner of agriculture; Dr. D. C. Lochead, health officer, Rochester, Minn.; H. R. Davison, vice-president of American institute of meat packers, Chicago; and M. L.

Noon, Jackson, vice-president of Michigan milk producers association.

The banquet will mark the conclusion of a nine-year campaign whose success is attested by the federal accreditation given to Michigan as being the first great dairy state to reduce the percentage of cattle infected with tuberculosis to less than one-half of one per cent of the total number within the State.

PLAN TRIBUTE TO DISEASE WARFARE

East Lansing, Sept. 10.—Arrangements have been completed to make the Achievement Day banquet which will be held at Michigan State College, Friday evening, September 19, a memorable tribute to those who have had a part in the bovine tuberculosis eradication campaign in this state.

H. R. Smith, Chicago, national livestock commissioner, will act as toastmaster for the banquet which will be held in the Union Building on the campus at 6:30 p. m. R. S. Shaw, president of Michigan State College, will give the address of welcome.

The two very worst counsellors in any situation are greed and fear. Too many of us, in the spring and summer of 1929, permitted ourselves to be swayed by the former. Too many of us, now, are being impelled by the latter. The sooner we stop talking one another into a blue funk, spreading the contagion of exaggerated apprehensions, and thereby undermining confidence and laming enterprise, the sooner we shall pass out of the shadow of the present emergency.

That does not mean inaugurating a sunshine movement or indulging in the futile pastime of whistling to keep up our courage. Neither does it mean shutting our eyes to the facts or beguiling ourselves, or permitting others to beguile us, with illusions or delusions. It means simply preserving our sense of proportion and maintaining steadiness of nerve as becomes a great people.

A large attendance at all services last Sunday gave an encouraging start for the Fall work. The pastor was very much pleased to see so many present.

Next Sunday, Sept. 14, the sermon theme at the morning worship will be: "That Eternal Life". In the evening the sermon will be on "The Invitations of Jesus".

Everyone is cordially invited to attend all the services of this church.

CLARKSTON M. E. CHURCH

Joseph Chapman, Minister

The services to be held in this church on Sunday, September 14, are as follows:

Morning worship is at 10:45 a. m. and there will be special singing by the choir. The subject of the sermon will be: "The Question of Jesus, 'What Think Ye of Christ?'"

The Sunday School will convene as usual immediately at the close of the morning service, called together by the superintendent, Earl Walter. The public school has their enrollment increased and we are particularly anxious to have it do so in the Bible School of the Church. Will you come?

The evening service will take place at 7:30 in the evening and we aim to make that service Evangelistic. Familiar songs or hymns will be sung so that everyone can join together in the singing. The subject for the evening message will be: "A Fatal Refusal and its Results".

On Tuesday evening, September 16, at 7:30 p. m., there will be an Official Board meeting for the purpose of auditing the books previous to the Annual Conference which convenes at the Court Street M. E. Church, in Flint, on Wednesday, September 17. It is very necessary that everything shall be completed by that evening in order that the pastor shall be able to prepare his report of the same. On Sunday, Sept. 21, which is Conference Sunday, the pastor has been asked to preach at one of the churches on the Flint District, where he was once pastor. Up to the present nothing has been done to secure a preacher for this church on that day, therefore it will give those who care to do so an opportunity of attending the Conference and hearing the presiding bishop preach. We are not very far from the Conference Church, Flint being only about 25 miles.

Seymour Lake Church
The services on Sunday morning will be at 9 o'clock and the Sunday School follows immediately after that service or about 10:15 a. m.
