More for sewer service in 2013

BY MARY KECK

Independence When Township Public Works

Director Linda Richardson came before Clarkston City Council on February 11, she didn't have good news. In April, the DPW will charge the city more for sewer.

Starting in April, the city's rate will be $113.52 per Residential Equivalency Unit (REU) each quarter based on too. Independence Township's 2013 sewer budget. The new rate will cost the city $223,186.14 for the year.

be billed differently in 2013. In 2011, the city was charged $110.28 per REU quarterly, a rate based on their percent of flow into the Clinton Oakland disposal'system. However, in 2012, the DPW began charging the city $88.67 based on the township's sewer budget instead of flow. This year's rate is based on the sewer budget

Residents in the City are currently charged $97 per quarter, a rate that was Please see Rate on page 5

Carnival for Fourth?

Independence Township's Parks, Recreation, and Seniors department hopes to expand this year's Independence Day celebration, literally

Parks and Rec Director Ken Elwert said the festivities will last three days and could include about 20 carnival rides at Clintonwood Park as well as a larger fireworks show, launched from the campus of Everest Academy across Clarkston Road.

"We're pretty excited about this," Elwert said.

Parks and Rec will receive a percentage of the revenues from ticket sales for the carnival rides, and they won't need to staff the games like they have in previous years.

"We're always trying to make things better and serve more people at a better cost," said Elwert.

In addition to carnival rides, they hope to reduce parking in Clintonwood by offering a shuttle service to the park. Although locals can expect changes, Elwert said the usual craft show and games will be available

$5,250 for job descriptions

BY MARY KECK

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township Supervisor Pat Kittle needs a job description, so the Board of Trustees voted unanimously to pay $5,250 for the Metiss Group to develop one for the supervisor, as well as clerk and treasurer.

"Right now we've got zero in terms of job descriptions and performance metrics, so anything to move us off that mark I think is good," said Trustee David Lohmeier during the regular meeting on Feb. 5.

MEAP scores up in many subjects

But test is just one of many, Rock says

The results are in for the Michigan Educational Assessment Program and Clarkston students showed improvement over last vear.

The results showed higher scores compared to 2011 for third grade math and reading: fourth grade reading and writing; fifth grade math; sixth grade math, reading, and social studies; seventh grade reading and writing; and eighth grade reading.

But the MEAP test is just one piece of the puzzle, said Clarkston Community Schools Superintendent Dr. Rod Rock.

"We will use these results - along with other measures - to examine our curriculum, adjust our instruction, and engage our students more deeply as thinkers and not just test takers," Rock said.

The annual assessment test, given in the fall, is used to see where students, grades three through nine, are advanced, proficient, or partially proficient in each subject.

Though the MEAP results are helpful to see where the students are in education, Rock pointed out administrators and teachers use observations, grades, tests, performances, discussions and other assessments daily and adjust to students' needs.

"Continuous improvement is the business of our business. Every day, our teachers use data to inform their decision making," said Rock. "Part of this ongoing process are MEAP test results, which the state provides in February."

Clarkston had a higher percentage of students proficient in grade three and four math and reading and ninth grade social studies compared to the state and Oakland County. They also had more students proficient in sixth grade math than the state.

"We won't use the results as a single picture of the ability of our students, our teachers, our principals, or our schools," said Rock. "We won't compare ourselves to other schools. We won't compare one student to another. We won't compare ourselves to the rest of the state. We will continue instead to use research to inform our practices, to support our students' learning every day, and to continuously enhance our students as thinkers, learners, and positive contributors to a global society."

Rock pointed out Michigan will discontinue using MEAP, and 46 other states in the nation will also discontinue using their standardized tests.

They will begin using the Smarter Balanced Assessment, which is based upon the Common Core Curriculum, in the 2015 school vear.

"These assessments will ask our students to demonstrate higher order thinking skills," Rock explained.

The new assessment will attempt to measure critical thinking and problem solving, collaboration, agility and adaptability, initiative and entrepreneurialism, effective oral and written communication, accessing and analyzing information, and curiosity and imagination skills, he said.

"Clarkston Community Schools is focused upon preparing our students for the future, including success on the higher-order-thinking assessments," Rock added. "We are not focused on the past or on the MEAP."

Rate raises needed for repairs, new equipment

increased from $57 in 2009 because of retroactive payments totaling $90,775 owed to the township. While the city's debt was repaid in October 2010, rates were not returned to the $57, and a reduction is unlikely.

In fact, City Manager Dennis Ritter thinks residents will pay even more for sewer once the city is charged the new rate in April.

"There's going to be an increase; we are still developing the exact costs per quarter," Ritter said. The City Council made no official decision about what their citizens' would be charged for sewer at the meeting on Feb. 11.

The township residents pay a lower rate because of the additional revenue from new connections into the system. On the other hand, the city's system is built out, so no additional sewer revenues are generated.

In 2012, the township's residents were charged $80 per REU per quarter, with a projected $604,214 loss of revenue, which was covered by the sewer's cash reserves. In Oct. 2012, the board voted to raise the 2013 rates, and the new $83.25 charge took effect on Jan. 16. The sewer fund will be subsidizing approximately $1,813,304 in 2013.

Although township citizens currently pay less than those who live in the city, they will likely be charged more for sewer too.

Richardson anticipates coming before the board to discuss higher sewer rates toward the end of 2013, "I will be requesting a professional rate study this year, so the rates will hinge upon the results of the study,' she said.

These regular increases are due in part because of necessary repairs to the sewer system

"We're trying to keep our costs down as much as we can, but we have an aging system," said Richardson. Additionally, the City of Detroit continues to raise its rates for sewage disposal, new equipment is needed, and sewer relining has to be done. Sewer funds are also being used to pay down three sewer improvement bonds for the Oakland/ Macomb Interceptor.

With the exception of healthcare, the Public Works' payroll costs have not increased because employees haven't seen a pay raise since 2009, Richardson added.

"We're trying to not increase our manpower as we are trying to utilize the work force as efficiently as possible and work smarter, not just harder," she said.

To soften the township's increases, the DPW has been drawing down on their cash reserves, "but you can only do that for so long," said Richardson.

The City Council's next meeting will be on Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. at the Village Hall on Depot Road. Contact Public Works Director Linda Richardson at 248-625-8222 for more information.

Signs in the works

Two members from the City's Planning Commission and Historic District Commission have formed a signage committee.

According to Planning Commission Chair Jen Detkowski, the new group is hoping to design signs to help Clarkston's visitors locate parking and to designate where the historic district begins and ends.

"It will feel really good if we can accomplish this," Detkowski said.

Burn planned

The Clarkston City Council, voted unanimously to spend $1,200 to have a controlled burn of a large stand of Phragmites along White Lake Road.

In preparation for the fire, DPW Director Bob Pursley cut Phragmites growing near power lines along the roadside. The Oakland Phragmites Invasive Species task force hopes to rid the city of the plants to allow more native species to grow.

Winter highlights

Time seems to go by quicker now-adays, have you noticed?

Just a few months ago we were prepping and getting the Winter Sports Section ready to hit the printer and now we are in playoffs.

Wrestling has already gone a few rounds in playoffs, winning a district championship and sending three, Chris Calvano, Adam Myers, and Nick Vandermeer, to the MHSAA Individual Finals next week. Skiers take to the snow one more time on Monday in their state finals as the boys team competes for state championship title. Girls basketball finishes their regular season this week with a home game against Pontiac on Thursday. Then, start district playoffs next week the same time hockey starts their post-season.

2-peat

Plus, boys basketball finish their regular season next week. And in a few short weeks, bowling and swim will be over.

Sometimes I like to ask what are your predictions as teams head into the postseason. But I know some are superstitious. It's alright. So, instead, I will ask what were some of the highlights for you so far this winter season - as a player, a parent, a fan, a member of the Jungle? Did you score your first goal in hockey? Hit a game-high in basketball? Take down a foe in wrestling?

Or maybe you're anxiously waiting to become or see your favorite person as Athlete of the Week. (I will give you a hint - send a nomination and we will take care of the rest.)

Share your highlight or nomination with us with an email at clarkstonnews@gmail.com, on Facebook - Clarkston News or on Twitter @CNewsWRSports.

Well, as all of you athletes prepare for the next round of playoffs or get ready for your first round of playoffs - we wish you good luck, and we can't wait to see what happens.

My personal highlight for the winter season was last week. A bag of cheesecake chocolate cupcakes landed on my desk on Valentine's Day. I looked at them and gave them away. Cheesecake and chocolate, what a perfect mix. One day, but it wasn't that day.

Wauldron thanks community as he heads up north

Dear Editor,

There was a rumor going around Clarkston I was leaving the area. Well, that rumor has come true. My wife and I have decided to move up north to our lakefront home in St. Helen, approximately 150 miles north of Clarkston. We have had this home for more than 30 years and only used it during the summer and holidays. This decision did not come lightly and it took some time to realize, with the economy the way it has been the last few years, we thought this was the time to make this move. Paying taxes on both properties and the cost of driving to and from St. Helen made the decision for us.

Since moving to Clarkston in 2005, I have made a lot of friends and enjoyed their friendship. My commitment to Clarkston started one day in my new condo when I read an article about Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and the rest is history. Since that eventful day, I have been associated with Oakland County Youth Assistance, Clarkston Rotary, Clarkston Optimist, Clarkston Farmers Market, of which I was one of the original organizers, Independence Township Planning Commission, Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce. I also ran for a seat on the Clarkston Board of Education and Independence Township Board of Trustees.

It has been a pleasure meeting so many wonderful residents of Clarkston, especially at the Farmers Market. I will be making trips into Clarkston since my daughter and her family live in Clarkston. If you happen to visit St. Helen, please stop in and say hello. So for now I bid you all goodbye and thanks for the memories.

Climate change and robins?

Mere mortals, one and all.

That's us in the Great Lakes State. And as such, we can only wait and let nature complete its cycle. We are powerless against Jack Frost, Old Man Winter, et al.

Well, that's the way it used to be. Back in 2003 I wrote about more and more robins staying in Michigan yearround. Was that a portent of things to come? You decide. * * *

Feb., 2003 -- Hope springs eternal in the hearts of Michiganians everywhere because we can dream. And in our dreams during the cold winter months, we look for signs of impending warmer weather wherever we can. In February we turn to the groundhog. If the marmot doesn't see his shadow, spring is on its way. If he does see his smackin' frackin' shadow, we have six more smackin' frackin' weeks of winter.

And when that prognostication doesn't work out, after long, drawn out weeks of cold days and colder nights, we look for the surer sign of spring -we look for our fine feathered friends, our state bird, the red-breasted Ameriday morning and saw not one but two robins. Spring has sprung!"

> Say good-bye to those thrilling days of yesteryear. Mother Nature is a cruel mistress. Last week the dear boys spotted an entire flock of about 20 to 30 robins in our backyard. But don't pack the parkas nor haul out the Hawaiian shirts just yet.

Call me kooky, but my guess is that spring might as well still be a million years away. I know, I'm whining, but ...

... If it's gonna' be cold; we might as well have snow to play in -- like we used to have snow. I know I was shorter when I was a kid, so snow up to my knees isn't as deep as snow up snow in the winter.

I know, because we used to sled all winter. We played, made snow forts, snow men and had snowball fights. We stayed out until our moms called us in -- not because we noticed frostbitten ears, noses, fingers and toes. We braved the elements because it was, plain and simple, fun.

Winter in Michigan has changed and the robins (and anybody over 30 years old) know that.

They know there's less snow and ice, which means it's easier for them to find grub (grub as in food, not beetle larvae -- which could be food in the early spring, but that is a different column). So, more and more of them are opting to stay in Michigan during the winter, versus flying south.

They like Michigan winters better than southern winters. (Hey, nobody ever said robins were "smart birds.") While the easier Michigan winters may be good news to robins, it may put an end to the ploy to oust our red-breasted friends as state bird. A few years back a group of folks wanted to make the state bird, I believe, the chickadee.

The reasons stated were when things get rough or cold, robins abandon the state in favor of warmer weather while the earnest, stalwart chickadee sticks it out, braves the cold and stays in Michigan year-round.

Too bad, chickadee. Hail to the robin.

* * *

I found out that North American Robins like to live on the forest's edge. They prefer the woods opening to the deep, shadowy area inside the forest. This is why there are so many in suburbia. They like the fact we have trees spread out and open lawn areas.

Logging and urban sprawl have actually helped robins, while at the same time wrecking things for other critters. Robins are also opportunistic when it comes to food. During the spring, they eat more worms and bugs than plant stuff -- only 20 percent of their diet is vegetarian. In the fall, when there are plenty berries and grain, robins switch their eating habits to an 80 percent vegetarian diet.

Thousands of years of ancient history awaits in Egypt

beckons those with a sense of adventure to come explore a world abundant with history and intrigue.

From the Great Pyramids to the Valley of the Kings, one can experience a sense of being transported back in time. It is absolutely magical.

When booking a flight, plan on spending a bit over $1,000 per ticket, depending on the time of year. Online sites offer a wide variety of accommodations, from extravagant to subdued.

If you book ahead, you can choose from houseboats on the Nile to apartments with a view of the Pyramids, giving you a real feel for Egypt, with an average cost of about $50 per night.

There are a multitude of options. We rented a large apartment close to the Nile in Cairo and hired a driver, who was available round the clock. Both were fairly priced.

Cairo is a fascinating city with much to offer. The Cairo Museum, which houses approximately 120,000 Egyptian antiquities and 11 royal mummies from the Pharaonic Era, has an entrance fee of around $9.

Enticing bazaars, with endless shops of gold and other goods, come equipped with shopkeepers eager to invite you in to inspect their wares. A savvy traveler can negotiate a reasonable price and leave with a real sense of accomplishment.

The aroma of incense and local delicacies fill the air, adding to the old world charm. For the nocturnal and young at heart, Egypt, home to one of the most ancient civilizations, Cairo offers an exuberant nightlife where traditional belly dancing is very popular.

Twelve miles southwest of Cairo is Giza, site of the Pyramids, which are visible from within the city.

Once you arrive at the site, you can then make your way to the Pyramids by camel or horseback. The price of either depends on your bargaining skills.

The Great Pyramid is spectacularly breathtaking, leaving a profound impression.

The Sphinx is in close proximity. Shops strategically placed at the entrance sell perfumes and exquisite blown glass bottles, difficult to resist and inexpensive.

We departed Cairo by train and traveled down to Aswan. After sightseeing, we boarded a boat to Luxor for a cruise on the Nile

There are a variety of boats and prices vary (as do hotel rooms) and range from $55 to $300 per person per night. Luxor is a tourist mecca with a huge concentration of relics.

While there, we visited Karnak, which is the largest religious site in the world. Nearby is the Valley of the Kings, where the sarcophaghi of 40 of the most powerful sovereigns in the entire world were entombed for 3,000 years, including the most famous - King Tut.

Annette Thomas checks out a pyramid close up.

Egypt was an unforgettable experience - everything I imagined it would be and a whole lot more.

Girls basketball hosts last home game team, Thursday, 5:30 p.m., boys basketball heads to Pontiac, and it's post season for hockey, wrestling, and skiing

Another win closer to title

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer Cagers knocked down one foe at a time last week - most recently ending with Troy on Monday with a 87-46. The win came after dominating Southfield on Friday night to take over the OAA Red, 56-42.

"We are still young," said long-time Clarkston Boys Varsity Basketball head coach Dan Fife. "We still have the tendency to play young. We need to focus. This game was a good game for us. They (Southfield) are a good team. They are talented and strong. They have good offensive players but I thought we did a good job on the board and running and executing our offense."

With the win over the Bluejays and taking first in the league, the Wolves know the fight for the title ish't over with three more OAA Red games to go in the season.

"I don't know anyone's record," Fife admitted. "I don't want to worry about anybody but us and take care of what we need to. We have Pontiac and Southfield Lathrup - both away and tough places to play."

He explained since the last time they played Southfield Lathrup, the Chargers have more players back and the team will be better.

The Wolves opened the game with a basket from junior Press Kampe and two from senior Jordan Dasuqi to take the lead. They continued to add more to the board, finishing the first quarter 16-10.

Southfield caught up and took the lead with one point at the beginning of the second quarter. Sophomore Mason Vires reacted with shooting a field goal and taking the lead back.

Junior Michael Nicholson, senior Nathan Yeloushan and Dasuqi scored more points to put more distance on the board for the lead. The Wolves ended the half with a 32-23 lead with one final basket from sophomore Merrick Canada before halftime.

Both teams hit a drought of points at the beginning of the second half.

"Both teams were getting tired," Fife added. "We just try to take shots and rush shots and defend. It is no secret what we do."

The boys broke out with 3:20 to go with a shot by Dasuqi off a pass from Yeloushan. Sophomore Andrew Myers scored three more points to end the quarter at 41-33.

Dasuqi led with 19 points.

"Dasuqi was good on guard," Fife added. "Kampe and Nicholson were good."

The Wolves beat West Bloomfield for their third win in the league on Feb. 12, 62-50. Dasuqi led the team, scoring 25 points and five field goals. Owens added 16 points to the board.

The boys (13-3) head to Pontiac on Thursday and are back at Clarkston next Tuesday for their last home game against North Farmington. JV begins at 5:30 p.m., varsity follows.

Heading to next level

Clarkston residents Haley Howell and Ava Doetsch, both students at Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School, are ready to take their athletic skills to college after signing their letters of intent on Feb. 6.

Howell committed to play volleyball at Walsh University in North Canton, Ohio, a NCAA Division II college and part of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Howell, a setter for OLL, was a four year varsity team member and a captain for two years. During the four years, she was awarded All-State, All-Catholic, All-Region and All-County honors, in addition to being named team Most Valuable Player. In her senior year, she accumulated 904 assists, 138 kills and 127 service aces.

In addition to volleyball, Howell has a 3.98 GPA and is three year member of the varsity ladies basketball team. She is the daughter of Doug and Carol Howell.

Doetsch committed to play soccer at the University of Nebraska - Omaha, a NCAA Division I college part of the Summit League.

In her first three years at Our Lady of the Lakes, was named first-team All-State, All-Catholic and All-League each year.

Doetsch has scored 117 career goals entering her final season this spring.

Her talents don't end with soccer as she is also a three-peat state champion and All-State basketball player with the Our Lady of the Lakes varsity team. She has also participated in track. She is the daughter of Mark and Denise Doetsch.

Joining Howell and Doetsch on signing day were two of their classmates, Jessica Parry and Garrett Ross, both from Waterford.

Parry will play soccer for Schoolcraft College in Livonia and Ross committed to play football at Michigan Tech.

Cagers pull Chargers out of contention

Erin Davenport battles for control of

BY WENDI REARDON

Senior guard Patrice Matthews took her shot with less than three minutes to go in the third quarter.

The basketball soared into the air and through the rim for her 3-point attempt, giving the Lady Wolves a 1-point lead over Southfield-Lathrup last Thursday.

It was the boost the team needed to get back on top of the Lady Chargers after 13 minutes of play.

The Lady Wolves continued to turn the tune of the game around to their advantage to win the OAA Red league game, 50-43.

"For us, we play better if we have a lot of energy," said Clarkston Girls Varsity Basketball Head Coach Tim Wasilk about the second half.

The girls opened the game with two free throw shots from senior Delaney Kenny to tie the score at 2-2. It started an 8-point run for the girls before Charger Sydni Davis closed the first quarter with four points, 8-6

Southfield-Lathrup opened the next quarter with pulling themselves into the lead before Clarkston scored with two points from senior Erin Davenport.

The first half finished with a pass from Davenport to her sister, sophomore Erika Davenport, for a basket at the buzzer, putting the score 24-18 with Lathrup in the lead.

The Lady Wolves opened the second half with six points and closed in on the Chargers' lead. Two consecutive 3-pointers from Matthews put the girls into the lead.

The quarter closed with Clarkston ahead one point and the girls came back to continue to build on it, going on a 8-2 run.

Wasilk added having four-year guards Kenny and Erin out on the floor helped going into the final quarter.

"They are never rattled," he said. "It makes a big difference and you can see it on the rest of the team. They believe they are going to win and that makes a huge difference. They have done it in the past and they are doing it this year.

It was still anyone's game with less than a minute in the game as Clarkston held the lead with four points. But the lead was shortllived as three fouls against Southfield-Lathrup sent Erika and Kenny to the line for six free throw shots. Erika scored on all four of her attempts and Kenny scored on one of her two attempts.

"The girls did a great job in the second half," said Wasilk. "We finished our shots in the second half and got a few 3-pointers. The first half we sat back on the half court on defense. We weren't getting a lot of energy we wanted so we decided to step it up and throw some press at them. We know their guards are good and it's hard to press on a group like that."

With the victory the Lady Wolves take over first place in the OAA.

"We didn't want to share the title," Wasilk added, "that was the mindset we are going to take into next week against West Bloomfield and Pontiac. We would like to have it by ourselves."

Erika led the team with 20 points. Erin added 11 points during the night.

"Erin was good," Wasilk added. "She handles the ball well. She is so low when she dribbles. She's quick and she's aggressive. She's had a great senior year for us. She gets to the basket. She goes for the finish.'

The win put Clarkston at 17-1 after two wins earlier in the week when they beat Ann Arbor Huron, 49-37, and North Farmington, 60-39

"Monday and Tuesday was a heavy double header," Wasilk added. "Our legs looked pretty good against Lathrup. I was worried about them.

Erika led the team in both games with 27 points against North Farmington and 15 points and 11 rebounds against Huron. Kenny scored 11 points and had six assists against Huron.

They host their last home game against Pontiac on Thursday. JV begins at 5:30 p.m., varsity follows. They head to Oxford for MHSAA Districts on Wednesday, 7 p.m.

Skate into post season

Icers will battle for the third place spot in the OAA playoffs this Saturday against North Farmington.

They won the first round of playoffs last Friday against Farmington, 3-2.

"It was a good win," said Clarkston Varsity Hockey Coach Bryan Krygier. "It was a well played game."

The boys opened the game with a goal from Jacob LaPorte in the first period with 3:41 to go, with an assist from Garrett Polish and Chase Wiedemann.

Polish struck in the second period to put the score 2-0 with an assist from LaPorte and Wiedemann, AJ Kowal kept the boys in the lead, opening the last period with his goal from Matt Denny, putting the score 3-0.

"AJ got a key goal for us," Krygier added. Farmington scored two goals in the third period and goalie Jack Viazanko kept them from scoring more and saved 23 shots on the net for the night. "He played well," said Krygier. "He kept us in the game." The boys lost to Rochester United on Saturday, 5-1. Rochester moves on to play Stoney Creek for the first place position in the OAA Red.

Clarkston (12-10-2) plays North Farmington on Saturday at Detroit Skate Club for the third place spot, 5 p.m.

We are going to work hard in practice this week not only to get ready for the game on Saturday but we come back on Tuesday and play our first playoff game," said Krygier.

The Wolves will head off against Lake Orion in the first round of MHSAA Pre-Regionals at DSC, 6 p.m.

The Dragons lost to Clarkston earlier in the season, 5-3, and Krygier expects it to be an emotional game.

"Whoever wins the game moves on and whoever loses is done for the season," he said. "It leaves a bad taste in your mouth to lose the game which no one wants to do. Their record doesn't really reflect the team they are. They are a much better team than their record."

Myers and Vandermeer took third place, going 3-1 for the day.

Myers (215) beat Anthony Whyte from Saginaw Heritage twice with a fall 4:18 in the first match and a fall 2:48 in the second match. He also beat Chad Maks from Hartland in a 10-5 decision. He lost to Waterford Kettering's Matt Okaiye in a 7-4 decision.

Vandermeer (152) beat Dmario Blue from Carman-Ainsworth with a fall at 2:30; Dazon Cole from Pontiac with a fall 2:25; and Davon Bay City Central in a major decision 16-0. He lost to Patrick Rooker in a 2-1 match.

Nate Vandermeer (112) and Jake Dionne (135) finished in regionals after two losses.

Brett Foltz (119), Cameron Wilkie (125) and Josh Cohoon (171) went 1-2 for the day. Foltz beat Farmington Hills Harrison Dan Allor in a 4-1 match. Wilkie beat Midland's Zach Schneider in his first match, 8-6; and Cohoon beat Swartz Creek's Robert Tucker with a fall in 2:30.

The team finished the season at the MHSAA Team Regional on Wednesday with a 37-30 loss to Hartland.

"It was a pretty disappointing loss," said Coach Derek Moscovic. "We could have definitely competed a little bit better. I don't over Terrance Thomas from Midland, Ryan think we competed to our potential. You have to give your hats off to Brighton they came out and wrestled us well and they won."

He added seniors Calvano, Vandermeer, Myers and Luis Reyes (285) had a good night with pins. Vandermeer beat a returning state champion on the mat.

"A lot of our seniors stepped up," Moscovic said. "I was extremely proud of them for the way they wrestled and going out as a senior."

Mike Cardinale also had a big day and beat a wrestler he lost to in districts.

The loss will help the returning wrestlers during the off season as they look to next season.

"It leaves something hungry in the belly when these guys don't finish the year before the way they hope and the way they expect it," said Moscovic. "Hopefully it will motivate them to work hard in the off season and prepare for next year because nothing is guaranteed. You are only as good as your last performance if you are not willing to work for it and if you are not hungry for it. Not only as a senior but as a freshman."

Hartland beat Brighton for the region championship, 43-24.

The Wolves are packing up their skis and equipment as they head to Boyne Mountain for the MHSAA Skiing Finals.

The Clarkston Boys Varsity Ski team secured their spot at the finals with an overall first place at the regional race last week.

They scored 62 points for the top spot. Lake Orion took second with 86.5 points and Grand Blanc finished third with 142.5 points.

"They are on target," said Coach Mike Foyteck. "I have had a lot of kids traveling and a lot of injuries. I haven't run six kids together in any race for a while. It was good to get them all running together. They skied well. I couldn't be any happier with the way all of them performed."

Ryan Callahan finished in first place in the slalom race, finishing in 53.91.

"It was good to see," Foyteck added. Derek VanItallie finished in third place in the slalom race and Alex McIntosh finished in fourth place.

Heading to the finals for the girls are Birmingham Marian, Fenton/Linden and Rochester Adams. The Lady Wolves did have two racers qualify for the state meet - Karoline Holsbeke in the giant slalom race and Caroline Spytman in the slalom race.

"They had a good finish," Foyteck added about Holsbeke and Spytman. "On the girls side, they just had a bad day. They had a couple of mistakes they couldn't recover from."

He added state looks good, and they have the same team from last year's state champions.

"They have a lot of confidence," Foyteck said. "They have a lot more gate time this year. If they ski clean, we should have a good day. They didn't ski clean last year. If I can get them to ski clean in slalom, everything else will follow. They need to ski top to bottom, gate to gate."

Clarkston will have tough competition at the finals from Lake Orion, Marquette and Traverse City Central this year.

"Lake Orion has a really good team this year. They will be in the mix," Foyteck explained. "Marquette is a very good team this year, and they are pretty deep as far as their racers go as well as Traverse City Central."

History alive at junior high

Learning about World War II history, ninth-graders at Clarkston Junior High School heard from men who fought it, Feb. 6 at the junior high.

"Combat was awful – I'm glad to tell you how terrible war is," said Mike Keith, who was a radio operator with the U.S. Army in the Pacific Theater of the war.

His first day on the island of Peleliu, he helped fight off a Banzai mass attack by Japanese soldiers.

"I couldn't believe it," he said. "I threw my radio off and grabbed my rifle."

John Thomas sailed the Atlantic to Europe and back 19 times, protecting convoys as an anti-aircraft gunner on board the U.S.S. Lansing.

The Lansing, named after a Texan, Aviation Machinist Mate First Class William Henry Lansing, not Michigan's capitol, was a destroyer escort bristling with guns and launchers for depth charges and torpedoes, Thomas said.

German submarines and bombers would attack convoys as they entered the Mediterranean Sea – escort ships would respond with everything they had, Thomas said.

"Depth charges, we'd roll them off the fantail, launch them with K-guns – it was the pretitest sight when they'd go off," he said. "Did we sink anything? We never knew."

The ninth-graders also heard from John Heller, a survivor of the U.S.S. Indianapolis; Harry Gooch, who fought in the Pacific Theater; James Megel, who served in the European Theater; and Clarence Johns, a veteran of the Iwo Jima landing.

Wed., February 20, 2013 The Clarkston (MI) News 17 A Jumping for hearts-

Fifth grade students jumped to the music playing in the gymnasium last Wednesday in their physical education class.

They were doing it for their health, and also for Jump Rope for Heart Week through the American Heart Association with the rest of the school.

"We try to represent healthy hearts and try to teach kids to be healthy," explained Anthony Taormina, physical education teacher.

The students learned about heart beats, heart rates and how to stay healthy. They watched a short video from American Heart Association about how to keep their heart healthy. It also had scenarios about kids their age with heart problems and how the association helps them through funds raised with Jump Rope for Heart.

Taormina explained one of the best exercises for cardiovascular health is jumping rope.

As students jumped, they were also collecting donations for the American Heart Association to fund research for kids and adults. The students wore pedometers while they jumped to keep count.

"We count the jumps and I will total the jumps from each class and see who had the most jumps," said Taormina. "It is something fun for the kids to do."

Once the jumps are calculated, the class with the most jumps at the end will have the Jump Rope for Heart 2013 banner in their classroom for a week.

nomination "She's full of compassion and respect, and positive energy," said Springfield Plains Principal Nancy Mahoney

BY PHIL CUSTODIO Clarkston News Editor

For Christmas and birthday, Gualtieri forgoes presents for herself, instead donating them to children in need, Mahoney said.

"She's a giving, loving, remarkable young lady," the principal said.

"I already have lots of stuff, " Gualtieri said. "A lot of people don't, so I give it to them."

The fourth grader said she does these things to make other people feel happy.

"It's just good to make everything better," she said. "We're very proud of her," said her mother, Kerri Gualtieri. "It's nice to get recognition for being the person she is." Chris Turner, Independence Elementary principal, presented the honor to fourth grader Seth Curtis. "Seth is the Optimist Creed - that's exactly how he lives his life on a daily basis," Turner said. "It's wonderful to know kids like Seth Curtis."

He's the first student to help anyone in need, always goes above and beyond what is required, and comforts people when they need help, said Jenny Warner, fourth grade teacher, in her nomination.

A check of his student file reveals report cards filled with similar comments from his teachers over the years, Turner said.

"He's always been a good student, a pleasure to have in class - that's just who he is, a friend to all," the principal said.

Curtis said he helps others because he wants to be friendly and help others.

"That's the way God wants us to be, too," he said. "It feels good to get the award - I'm happy to be here."

embarrassment in American government. On this date in 1902 two esteemed members of the United States senate got into a fistfight in the floor of the senate over bias expressed on the Philippine tariff bill.

The Philippine Tariff Bill? Really? A schoolyard fistfight about ... the Philippines? can stupid How Spiritual government get? In many ways we are asking the same question today. What are they doing with our money? Can they simply legislate away individual rights? What should be the relationship of government and Godgiven institutions like the family?

Thomas Jefferson said, "Those are governed best who are governed least." The contemporary formula for government seems to ignore this wisdom.

So what are Christians to do about today's government? Ignore it? Defy it? Circumvent it? Kick "the bums out"? Has today's government abandoned principals of the founding fathers and therefore disqualified it from the obedience of the good Christian citizen?

No. If you are a Christian you simply cannot take that position.

The apostle Paul speaks very clearly of this in his letter to the people of Rome.

He says, "Everyone needs to be subject to the governing authorities because there is no authority except from God.

This Feb. 22 we mark a date of Governments that exist have been instituted by God... resist the government and you resist what God has appointed..." (ch. 13)

Why does he say that? Why would he say obey a government that seems to be making decisions that so many Christians disagree with?

Because government serves an important purpose for God: government preserves order and God is a God of order. Governments carry our justice, punish evil, reward the righteous and keep anarchy from blowing up the community.

Governments are not always right, they do make terrible decisions that attack community and disregard justice (and Christians must clearly and strongly challenge overt government evil). But governments create community and community is a blessing from God that He wants for His people.

Service will include sessions with behavior experts and township employees to develop a description of the activities and responsibilities associated with the positions. Then, they will create job profiles, which "describe the ideal workplace behaviors, motivators, and personal skills required to accomplish the job's success factors," according to their proposal.
