Cameras cause concern over spying on public

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Is the government spying on us? That's what Independence Township resident Gary Taylor wants to know.

Taylor is concerned with recently installed cameras at several intersections in Independence Township.

Taylor first noticed the new equipment on Dixie Highway and Maybee Roads on his way home from church.

"I looked up and saw the cameras, walked out and looked at them and then I pulled my truck up and I got out and waved to the cameras," he said. "Then I got to thinking about it and I'm wondering what they're for."

Where does our privacy start, he wondered.

"Is this another way for the government to spy on the American people," he asked, noting planes and drones can look right into your house. "Where does spying on our country stop? When do they stop interfering with our privacy?"

Craig Bryson, public information officer for the Road Commission for Oakland County, said the cameras are for traffic control and will not be used for spying on people or issuing tickets.

"We are in traffic not law enforcement."

City wants state to fix road issues

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN

City manager Carol Eberhardt, as well as some residents, hope the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) does something about traffic issues in Clarkston.

A walk-through scheduled with MDOT and Eberhardt was cancelled after MDOT officials told her representatives had already conducted a walk-through of Main Street.

Issues with a cross walk on Sashabaw as well as traffic light timing have also been noticed by residents and local officials.

One of those ongoing issues is the crosswalk light on Sashabaw Road near Bow Point Drive.

Independence Township resident Michael Powell has complained about the Sashabaw crosswalk for years, saying timing is amiss and dangerous.

Public information officer for the Road Commission of Oakland County (RCOC) Craig Bryson said no changes are planned for that crosswalk.

"The timing on that crosswalk was already adjusted," he said.

Eberhardt said she requested a marked pedestrian crosswalk at 90 N. Main, the location of the new AdWorks building and Union Joins administrative offices, as well as a crosswalk at Church and Main streets.

"I would also like to see them install bike lanes on Main Street," said Eberhardt.

Another major issue is how fast drivers travel on Holcomb Road. "The council is looking for ways to slow down traffic on Holcomb," added Eberhardt.

Eberhardt said traffic on Main Street often runs too fast, and there are also timing issues with a light at Main Street and Clarkston Road.

"The lights stays red for so long," she said. "So Main Street gets backed up and it's just gridlocked."

Eberhardt said part of the problem is the light at Clarkston Road's timing is not changed when school is let out.

Local business owner Bruce Mercado said he has noticed when people want to turn left off Clarkston Road, the green arrow takes too long to change, causing a huge traffic congestion issue.

As for the requests and complaints by the city, Bryson said he will relay concerns to MDOT, who controls all timings and directs RCOC when to make changes.

"MDOT decides what's done and we just adjust the timing," said Bryson. Requests for crosswalks and bike lanes are being reviewed.

"We are in traffic not law enforcement," said Bryson.

The cameras are part of the Faster and Safer Travel through Routing and Advanced Controls system, FAST-TRAC.

"It is a traffic operation center," Bryson said. "It does not store any information or images."

Bryson said Michigan is home to the second largest system of its type in the country behind Los Angeles.

FAST-TRACK also has the capabilities to report any malfunctions of traffic lights.

Bryson said the system detects how much traffic is at an intersection and then sends that information to a computer located at the intersection.

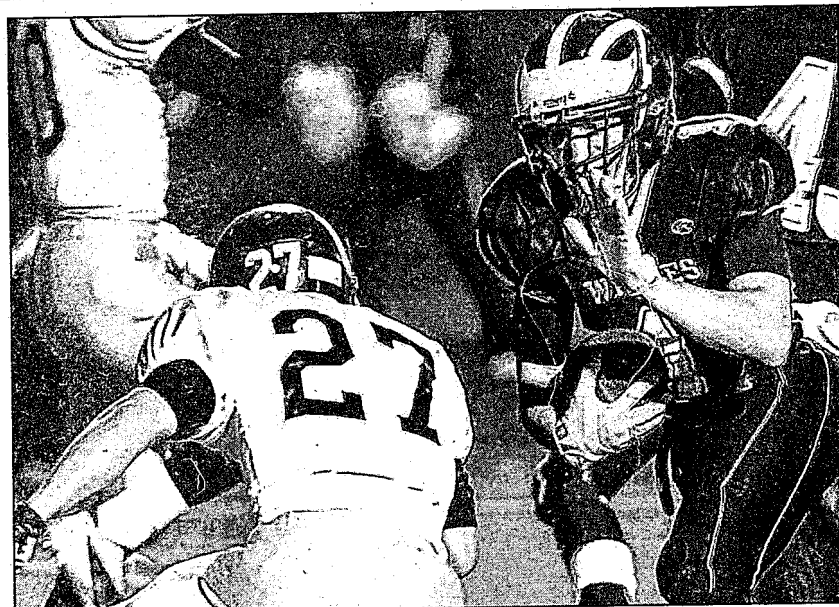

He assures the lights are not used to catch people running red lights or violating traffic laws, but only detect cars, help control traffic, and analyze traffic flow.

"The cameras detect algorithms and analyze the information to keep the traffic flowing," said Bryson. "These signals change to respond to traffic."

Bryson said the RCOC maintains over 90 percent of the 1,500 hundred traffic signals in the county, but MDOT manages the FAST-TRAC system.

On their website, the RCOC said because Michigan is the fastest growing state in the

Trimesters up for recall

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Trimesters may be history in Clarkston as the Board of Education considers switching back to semesters.

The change, which would take effect next September if approved, would increase focus on core curriculum, class continuity, connections between students and teachers, and opportunities for cross curricular collaboration, said Assistant Superintendent Shawn Ryan at the Oct. 28 school board meeting.

School board members said they were concerned about the timing.

"When we were making the decision to go to trimesters, it seemed to be studied for a long time," said Board Vice President Susan Boatman. "We seem we doing this really fast."

Scott Bendle, parent of a high school junior, agreed.

"This does feel a little fast," said Bendle, during public comment. "I'm a little disappointed that this would happen in his senior year - this feels wrong right now. More is needed."

"It's important to keep parents in the loop," said Trustee Cheryl McGinnis. "It's important to make sure they have this information."

Trustee Stephen Hyer said they considered 6-7 scheduling options when deciding to go to trimesters. They also had to make curriculum changes to meet new state requirements and the trimester system.

"That took a significant amount of time," Hyer said.

It would be easier to move back, he said. Ryan said a committee of administrators and teachers has been working on it for the past 18 months.

Clarkston Board of Education's meets at 7 p.m., Nov. 11, at the school administration building, 6389 Clarkston Road. Call 248-623-5408.

Township seeks public comments

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township officials are asking for citizen comments about the Sashabaw and Dixie Highway corridors. Comments will be used to make decisions about the communities Master Plan.

During a joint meeting with the Independence Township Board of Directors and the Planning Commission to review the Township's master plan, comments made by local leaders were added to get the site started.

Comments left by residents and officials so far include,

"Finish safety/walking path on south side of Clarkston Road between Sashabaw and Pine Knob Road," said J. Schultz.

Another note left by Shultz suggested an area south of DTE Energy going south-bound on Sashabaw needs a right turn lane to go onto I-75 North. "Too many near misses as people slow down to try to make this hard turn."

Other comments and suggestions for Sashabaw Road include building a community center, working on safety concerns for bicyclists and pedestrians, adding green spaces and trees, adding pocket parks to promote pedestrian traffic,

Independence Township Parks, Recreation and Seniors Director Ken Elwert asked "Could we use the electric right of way to connect school, park, neighborhoods and business on Sashabaw? If a way could be found around the edges of the golf course to the west maybe this right of way could help connect our Dixie and Sashabaw Corridors in a pedestrian friendly way."

One note said opportunities need to be sought to create community gardens and green spaces on Sashabaw Road.

Dixie Highway needs more green too, one commenter expressed.

Independence Township Trustee Andrea Schroeder commented there needs to be improved cross-traffic and left turn access on Sashabaw Road between Hidden Lakes and Maybee Road.

Schroeder also said the Michigan left turns need to be reviewed.

Dixie Highway notes include installing entrance signs on both the north and south end of the township. "Lets own it," said one comment.

Cory Johnston said a "Safety Path does not continue along a dealership property even though it exists on Dixie and north of property on M-15. Lack of connectivity and continuity is a problem for making these pedestrian amenities usable and worthwhile. This is also a very dangerous place to cross the road due to right and left turns off Dixie, so crossing M-15 to get to the sidewalk on the other side is not an easy thing to do."

Other comments for Dixie included focusing on pedestrian safety and working to develop vacant properties.

Visitors to the site can add comments anonymously about several issues with the two corridors including improving traffic and pedestrian safety, improving identity and visual image of both corridors, and improving commercial and residential development.

Volunteers assemble supply bags for the upcoming Clarkston State Bank Back Roads Half Marathon. Photo provided

Half marathon ready to go

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

In four days, Clarkston's back roads will be filled with about 1,100 runners and walkers. The inaugural Clarkston State Bank Back Roads Half Marathon is sold out.

"We're ecstatic, thrilled," said Deanna Hart of High Five Races, who is organizing the race along with Megan Holt. "Our goal initially was about 850. Once we got beyond that, it just exploded."

This is the perfect time of year for the race, following the Brookside Way half marathon and Detroit Free Press Marathon.

"People are still interested in running," Hart said.

They decided to close registration for the race due to the back roads route, though a waiting list was established.

"We decided to close it for security and safety," she said. "In its first year, we want it to be executed really well."

The half marathon, 10K run and walk all start from Depot Park in downtown Clarkston, with free parking and shuttle service from Clarkston Elementary on Waldon Road.

Army reservists, sheriff's deputies, and volunteers on horses will provide race marshall services along the route, which starts on Holcomb Road north to Bridge Lake, Rattalee Lake, Reese, to Oak Hill, then south on Allen back to Holcomb, ending with a couple kilometers through the Deerhill subdivision. The finish line is on Washington at Main Street.

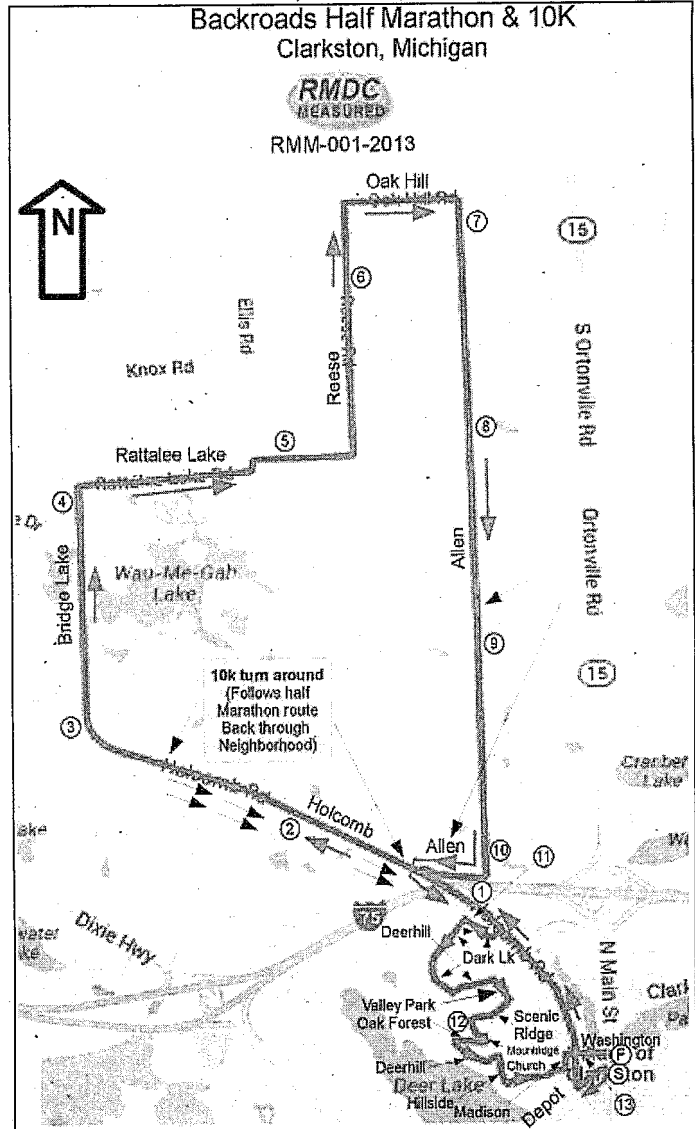

Holcomb Road will be closed while runners and walkers are on the route.

"We're all excited—we hope it's a beautiful day with sunshine," Hart said.

Community response has been good, with neighbors along the route posting signs in their yards and the Wolf Pack Running Club of Clarkston hosting training runs in the weeks leading up to the race.

"The response has been pretty great," she said. "Special thanks to the Wolf Pack for leading the runs."

Packet pick up is on Saturday, Nov. 9; from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at Clarkston State Bank, 15 S. Main Street. On race day, packet pick-up is 7-9 a.m. near the start line in Depot Park, 375 Depot Drive.

The route extends north to Oak Hill Road.

Phil in the Blank

A column by Phil Custodio

Run for the hills

With four days until Clarkston State Bank Back Roads Half Marathon, my training is over.

I probably should have got in some more. My goal is to finish safely, with a secondary goal of maintaining a technically running pace the entire time.

This won't be easy, especially up and down the hills of the Deer Lake neighborhood. I've been up there twice on training runs but neither were the correct route. It winds around pretty good up there! But I've seen enough to know the downhill can be more difficult for me, especially when my knees start to get sore.

It's been about five months of mostly solid training, starting with a couple laps around the Clarkston Junior High School track in March, which seemed like plenty at the time.

My farthest run was from the office in downtown Clarkston around Clarkston High School up to the entrance to Independence Oaks County Park, around Mill Pond to St. Dan's, and back—around 10 miles. This would equal 40 laps around that track. That would be difficult to count.

It's also a Crim run—the 10-mile race up in Flint every August. I've finished a few of those, but have never been able to run more than half of that.

I cut my weekend short a day last weekend in Detroit in part to get in one more weekend training run. I was at Youmacon, the annual anime convention in the Renaissance Center and Cobo Hall.

I dressed as a zombie on Friday—seemed appropriate with Halloween and all—and a space marine on Saturday.

I found myself on the other side of the news camera, Saturday—a Detroit News photographer snapped a picture of me in my Voyage Trekkers' Marine outfit.

Maybe it was my custom-built raygun, made from a toy bazooka and PVC pipe, about four-feet long and wired with LED lights. I should still be on their website photo album for Youmacon, surrounded by dozens of cartoon, movie and video game heroes and villains, Homestuck Trolls, and other characters.

As the weather gets cold, I've found it harder to stay warm. Last year, I kept my house at 60 degrees—I put on a sweatshirt and the cats grew extra fur. This year, two sweatshirts aren't enough. The one good thing about extra weight is it keeps you warm.

Thanks for supporting land conservancy

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the staff and directors of the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy, I would like to thank all those who attended and supported this year's Wild Night Out fundraising event.

It was wonderful to see so many people, old friends and new, come out to support protection of the natural spaces that make northwest Oakland County such a special place to live.

With thanks and gratitude,

Halloween fun could be found everywhere in Clarkston last week—including Munk Orthodontics.

Drs. Charles F. Munk and Charles W. Munk stepped into the costumes as the Robertsons from Duck Dynasty, Oct. 29.

Over the last few months Munk Orthodontics asked their patients to pick their Halloween costumes. They had hundreds of entrees this year.

The Halloween costume contest was part of the month long celebration of National Orthodontic Health Month at their offices.

"Anything could happen which is risky on our part," Charles W. Munk joked. "It's fun. They get into the different costumes."

It is a tradition for the Munks—they have dressed up as Darth Vader and Luke Skywalker from Star Wars as well as Indiana Jones and Maverick from Top Gun.

Patients at each of their three offices—in Clarkston, Oxford and Davison—entered their selection for the Halloween costume.

They picked Duck Dynasty this year and six patients entered the famed television show as their pick.

The winner this year was a family, and two sisters split the $100 prize. Five other patients selecting Duck Dynasty received gift cards.

"It's been fun," Charles F. Munk smiled under his temporary beard.

For more information, visit their website at www.munkorthodontics.com, or call their office at 5825 S. Main Street—Suite 201, 248-625-0880.

"Twp. gives $3,000 to revitalization study" Thanks to a donation from Independence Township, Clarkston's revitalization study was closer to reality. The board of trustees voted unanimously to contribute $3,000 to the $25,000 Hyett-Palma enhancement project, spearheaded by Clarkston City Councilman Dave Savage.

"Independence, Springfield mirror national voting trends" Voting was down as predicted for Independence and Springfield townships but it could have been worse, according to clerks in both townships. Though voting was down the amount of absentee voting was up.

"Krygier puts his stamp on hockey program" As Clarkston's hockey program entered its third year of existence, brand new coach Bryan Krygier shared his coaching style, experience coaching at Cranbrook, role models and more as he went into his first season coaching the Wolves.

"Thumbs up for Independence library, cops" The majority of the 11,089 people who turned out to vote in Independence Township selected George Bush as president and approved the police millage renewal request and library bond proposal. They soundly defeated the Baycourt Park millage request.

"Dial 9-1-1 for help" Starting Monday, Nov. 14, 9-1-1 would become the number to call for any emergency—whether police, fire or medical attention is needed. With the new countywide system, a caller anywhere in Oakland County can simply call 9-1-1 and within a second or two the caller's address and phone number would appear on a computer screen at a central dispatch office which would notify the appropriate emergency department.

"Second half surge" Girls basketball team's shooters heat up after halftime to defeat Pontiac Northern, 50-36. Rhonda Jokisch led the team with 11 points and 10 rebounds to boost the team. Eight of the points were in the third quarter to help the team with a 33-25 lead.

To the polls

Voters headed to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 5 to elect four members to City of the Village of Clarkston City Council.

Incumbents Richard Bisio, Eric Haven, Thomas Hunter and newcomer David Marsh were running for three, two-year seats on council.

Former Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catallo was running unopposed for a one-year partial term on council.

Just before 9 a.m., 11 voters had shown up to cast their ballot.

Officials said they had already received 80 absentee ballots, and expected a low voter turnout throughout the day.

Temporary Clerk Jan Gillespie said the city expected about 20 percent, or about 180 registered voters in the area, to turn out throughout the day.

Gillespie added it was a small voter turnout, unlike a 2010 election when 89 percent of registered voters showed up to cast their yes or no vote to disband the local police department. That vote failed by just four votes.

Results of the election will be included in next week's edition of The Clarkston News.

It's small world after all . . . no, really it's small

Not too many women have made me cry within hours of meeting them. I must confess, however, before I left for the evening, the water works were opened up and tears openly dripped down my cheeks.

Yes, sweet little Toey had me all choked up. Literally, I couldn't speak. It was as if my vocal cords were numbed. All the came out of my mouth were soft, guttural sandpapery sounds.

I don't know what Toey, foreign exchange student from Thailand, puts in her soup, but it wasn't like any soup I have tasted before (and I've eaten a lot of soup). It wasn't just spicy, after I gulped down the first spoonful, I was 100 percent not prepared for the chemical reaction that took place in my esophagus. It was good and I finished that bowl and had another, but it just made me cry. Not too many women have made me cry within hours of meeting them. I must confess, however, before I left for the evening, the water works were opened up and tears openly dripped down my cheeks.

Don't Rush Me

A column by Don Rush

Yes, sweet little Toey had me all choked up. Literally, I couldn't speak. It was as if my vocal cords were numbed. All that came out of my mouth were soft, guttural sandpapery sounds.

I don't know what Toey, foreign exchange student from Thailand, puts in her soup, but it wasn't like any soup I have tasted before (and I've eaten a lot of soup). It wasn't just spicy, after I gulped down the first spoonful, I was 100 percent not prepared for the chemical reaction that took place in my esophagus. It was good and I finished that bowl and had another, but it just made me cry.

It hurt so good.

Toey (like one of the wiggly things at the end of your foot) made myself, her host family and a couple of Clarkston Rotarians a traditional Thai dinner the other week. Her real name is Paruttana Oncharoen and I won't even try to pronounce that; Toey is her nickname given to her by an aunt and that is good enough for me.

She's in Clarkston these days as part of Rotary International's Youth Exchange program. And she was in the home of Clarkston Rotarians Jeff and Mary Lichty to make me dinner so I would write a column about the program.

Now, before you go all "Jimmy Olsen" on me in regards to a reporter's ethical behavior . . . yes, I know. I probably broke several precepts of the journalist canon revolving around that sticky little word called "ethics" but I had only hinted that maybe I would do a story about Toey from Thailand, who just so happens to live in a house that's above a restaurant run by her family in Thailand, if she made me dinner.

I love Thai food as much as Toey loves Mexican food. She loves the spice and so do I, and I just thought . . . if there was a chance . . . that . . . well . . . she made the dinner damnit and I ate it.

Sue me.

Since first becoming a lowly scribe, I've enjoyed meeting foreign exchange students. I like to learn about where they come from, but more importantly I like to hear what they think of Americans and our society.

Last week, The Lake Orion Review did a story on students from across the globe studying at Lake Orion High School. Their sentiments actually mirrored Toey's here in Clarkston: the people are nice; there's a lot of space here; and education is a vacation stateside. I don't think the last sentiment should be taken as an insult, just that we do things differently.

Between making dinner and eating, Toey talked about her home, her friends and what she'd love to do when she grows up.

"I would like to direct movies," the 16-year-old said.

So, while attending Clarkston High School, she's experiencing as many drama, theatre and video editing classes as she can.

Toey's host family, Don and Donna Blower from Springfield Township, over the years have hosted five foreign exchange students, as well as had their daughter Shayla (CHS Class of 2001) visit Japan. Their family (which includes 14-year-old Jared) has also hosted kids from Japan, Columbia and France.

So, what about Thailand? I did a quick online check and found Thailand is similar to Michigan in that both places are peninsulas. Thailand is 198,000 square miles, Michigan is just under 97,000 square miles. Thailand has a population around 64 million; Michigan, 9.8 million. While the United States is a constitutionally limited republic, Thailand is a Constitutional Monarchy. Their king, Rama IX, is the longest serving head of state in the world. He's reigned since 1946.

We get tired of every president after about 3 years, how do you think we'd handle the same leader for the better part of 70 years!

Programs like the Rotary Foreign Exchange have helped shrink the world. And, to make it even smaller . . . both Don and Donna graduated from Clarkston High School and both have siblings I graduated with.

As Disney proclaims, it's a small world after all!

Toey making something I cannot pronounce.

Fire safety

October may be known by most people as the beginning of Autumn, play-off baseball, or hunting season, but to fire departments across the country, October is known as Fire Prevention Month.

As part of its on-going fire prevention outreach, Independence Township firefighters presented programs to children throughout the community. Nearly 3,000 children learned about fire safety, toured fire stations, learned about firefighting equipment, and got to ask questions of the firefighters.

For information on making your home safe, teaching kids about fire safety and prevention, or take a tour of the fire station, call 248-625-1924.

Public Safety

For Clarkston and Independence Township

Driver on meds

A citizen called police to report a car all over the road at Maybee and Sashabaw roads, 9:49 a.m., Oct. 15. The deputy located the car with the witness's help in a nearby parking lot. The driver, a 30-year-old Independence Township woman, was inside the business and appeared unsteady on her feet. She told the deputy she was on two types of medication, had been driving all night, and was feeling sick. She was picked up by her parents.

Driving with warrants

A deputy stopped a 25-year-old Flint man for running a stop sign at Parview Drive and Balmoral Terrace, 4:22 p.m., Oct. 25. He had several warrants out of Waterford, Bloomfield Hills, and Michigan State Police, but they all advised and released. He was cited with driving with a suspended license and running the stop sign.

Truck too heavy

A deputy stopped a work truck for being too heavy on S. Ortonville Road at Dixie Highway, 9:13 a.m., Oct. 25. Maximum weight was 100,800 pounds and it was plated for 100,000 pounds, but weighed 118,400 pounds. The owner of the truck was cited for improper plate and overweight.

Drunk driver

A 45-year-old Waterford man was stopped for a burned out license plate light, 6:57 p.m., Oct. 27, at Franklin Avenue and Maybee Road. Smelling strongly of booze and with a preliminary breath test of .17, he was jailed for drunk driving.

Attempted break-in Someone tried to force the front door open to a home in the 5000 block of Parkwood Boulevard while the resident was home, 7:54 p.m., Oct. 28. The resident looked but didn't see who it was.

Smashing pumpkins

Several pumpkins were smashed reportedly by a group of juveniles in the 4000 block of Oakhurst Ridge Road, 1:09 a.m., Oct. 28.

Driveway vandals

Someone damaged driveway light poles by bending them to the ground in the 7000 block of Ranch Estates Road, Oct. 28.

Marijuana at school

Investigating a possible stolen iPod, a Clarkston High School administrator found a pill bottle with marijuana in it, 9:38 a.m., Oct. 30. The student was referred to youth assistance.

Fenders filched

Two aluminum fenders worth about $600 were taken off a trailer in the 6000 block of Dixie Highway, Oct. 24.

Sweepstakes scam

A 77-year-old Mann Road resident received a call from "Joel Amos" saying he won $4.5 million in a publisher's sweepstakes, Oct. 27. To claim his winnings, he was told, all he had to do was go to Walmart, purchase a money order for $8,848.99, and call Amos back with the numbers. The "winner" asked why he needed to wire $8,848.99, and was told it was for taxes and delivery. After suggesting the fees be taken out of the winnings, he was hung up on. Amos called back on Oct. 28, saying he could get the $4.5 million if he was wired $500. The resident again declined, but this time called police to check on the situation. A deputy called Amos and talked to him about where the money was supposed to be coming from. Checking into the phone number revealed several posts about it being fraud.

Courthouse targeted

A deputy was walking out the door of the 52-2 District Court when he heard a BB gun go off and pellet hit the courthouse, 10:57 a.m., Oct. 29. Deputies checked the area, stopping at a nearby house where a resident said her grandson was living. They asked the 20-year-old grandson if he had any guns, and he said he had a pellet pistol. He said he shot at a chipmunk but missed, hitting the courthouse. With permission to enter the house, they found an air rifle in the basement, along with some marijuana in plain view. The grandson said the rifle and marijuana belong to a renter, but later admitted they were his. They had no renter. On probation for felony weapon conviction out of Sixth Circuit Court, the case was referred to the prosecutor.

Wallet lifted

Someone took a wallet out of a coat left on a bench seat of a S. Main Street restaurant, Oct. 29.

Speeder with marijuana

A deputy stopped a vehicle going 54 mph in a 40 mph zone, 4:45 p.m., Oct. 31, on Dixie Highway at Maybee Road. The license plate wasn't registered to the car. The driver, a 20-year-old Oakland man, said he got it from a friend. During an inventory search of the vehicle, the deputy found a jar of marijuana in a backpack. The driver was cited with possession of marijuana, improper plates, speeding, and no insurance.

Why All the Household Dust?

I'm Keith Meadows, owner and operator of American Power Vac, Inc. For years, I've been improving our community's health one family at a time.

By now we've all heard the statistics: 50% of all illness is a direct relation to dirty indoor air and our indoor air is up to 90 times more polluted than outdoor air. Yet, 90% of the calls I receive everyday are from desperate people complaining about dust. They tell me they dust the T.V. on Friday, but by Sunday they are pushing the dust out of the way again so they can watch Dancing With The Stars, and none of them know exactly where it's coming from. Well, I'm here to tell you that it's not because you're a bad housekeeper, I tell people that by simply having your ducts cleaned will drastically reduce household dust, and the reason is, your cold air returns.

Cold air returns suck in dirty air, and overtime it builds up until you have the same type of debris that you would find in your vacuum bag.

Visit our website at www.americanpowervac.com for an actual photo of the debris that is pulled from a typical home.

Cold air returns are also the reason new homeowners are experiencing dust. While your drywall was being sanded, your cold air returns sucked all of the dust through the system and it settled on the bottom of the duct lines where a little at a time gets blown back into your home. To prove it, take a walk down into your basement, look up at the ceiling for thin sheets of tin nailed between your floor joists. These are your cold air return lines. Give them a good pounding. You'll see puffs of dust seeping out of the edges. That my friends, is the reason you have uncontrollable dust problems!

This debris cannot be removed without a professional. Which brings me to my next point: choosing an air duct cleaning company. Most companies use truck mounted equipment, which is like a shop vac that you would vacuum your car with and attached inside the back of a van, obviously absolutely useless.

Visit our website for photos of our equipment vs. portable or truck mounted equipment at www.americanpowervac.com.

American Power Vac has the equipment that is powerful enough to get the job done right and that equipment is a Power Vac truck. It is the most powerful equipment in the industry. This is where the entire truck is the vacuum and the truck motor powers the equipment. You'll know it's a Power Vac truck because it's the size of an ambulance and when engaged twelve large air bags will come out of the roof. What makes the difference in equipment? Power! To put things into perspective, your furnace moves 2,000 CFM's (cubic feet of air per minute), basically what you feel coming out of your register. Truck-mounted equipment only moves 4,000 CFM's. American Power Vac moves over 16,000 cubic feet of air per minute, more than quadruple the power of any truck-mounted equipment.

Beware of companies using cheap equipment and advertising cheap prices... most are unlicensed or advertise that they are licensed and are not!

Avoid Scams by not falling for cheap get you in the door prices.

When asked what sets you apart from your competitors, Keith says "Honest service is number one, equipment is number two. I know the importance of being ontime, working with a smile, and respecting people's homes and their belongings." There are a lot of duct cleaners around but rest assured you'll receive the same Quality and Service we expect. American Power Vac is family owned and were here to help by offering Clarkston's gridiron heroes are focused as they prepare for the MHSAA District playoff game against Romeo on Friday. Clarkston Varsity Football Head Coach Kurt Richardson admitted he didn't know much about the Romeo Bulldogs.

"They have to be good," he said on Friday night when Romeo beat Lake Orion in the MHSAA Pre-District game, 24-21.

Continuing towards the state playoffs he knows the Wolves can make it all the way.

"We have a great chance to make a run," Richardson said.

The Wolves battled Oxford last Friday to a 30-27 win. Despite the win, Richardson saw a few things his team will have to work on this week if they want to get further in the playoffs.

"There were too many penalties," he said. "We had way too many penalties and mistakes. We had chances to put them away and we didn't do it. I don't want to take anything away from Oxford. They played and that is a tough team."

"We made some mistakes and they made mistakes," said Bud Rowley, Oxford's longtime head coach. "It was a great playoff game for both sides. It could go either way - a call here, a call there. We just came up one or two plays short but it happens."

Oxford opened the game with possession and were unable to gain yardage - forcing them to punt.

and was stopped on the 43-yard line in Oxford's territory.

Junior quarterback DJ Zezula passed the ball to senior runningback Ian Eriksen, who moved the ball to the 17-yard line.

The Wolves scored two plays later on a 8-yard run by Eriksen three minutes into the game.

Oxford tied the score with 3:47 left in the first quarter with a touchdown from Glacier Wallington.

The Wolves took over possession on the 23-yard line and inched their way closer with runs by Eriksen. A 48-yard throw from Zezula to senior wide receiver Tim Cason, put the boys at the 21-yard line.

With 1:35 left in the quarter senior wide receiver Caine Watlington brought Clarkston into the lead with his 17-yard touchdown run, 14-7.

The Wolves held onto the lead with a 26-yard field goal from Shane Hynes and another touchdown from Eriksen, ending the first half 24-13.

They scored again with ten minutes left in the game off a 10-yard run by junior running back Centrus Williams, Jr., 30-19.

Oxford was in reaching distance of a touchdown with less than five minutes of the game to go after a run landed them on the 3-yard line.

Stops from Eriksen and senior Nick Match along with an incomplete pass dashed their chances to score. They ended the night with a touchdown 16.5 seconds left in the game, 30-27.

Zezula was 9-for-14 in passing for 161 yards and one interception.

Cason was the leading receiver, catching four passes for 102 yards. Shane Holler caught two passes for 20 yards.

Eriksen rushed the ball for 198 yards on 28 carries with two touchdowns.

"He is always strong," Richardson added. "He helped us defensively, too."

Hynes was 3-for-4 on PAT attempts.

Senior linebacker Don Monson led defense with eight tackles and a recovered a fumble. Senior Blake Rehahn had six tackles while junior Merrick Canada and Reid Kaminski had five tackles. Cason had four for the night.

The Wolves host Romeo on Friday night, 6093 Flemings Lake Road at 7 p.m.

"We have to play better," Richardson added. "We have to get better every week. We can't have weeks we go backwards or stay the same."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK Gotaas nets wins

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Many opponents found out the hard way junior Grant Gotaas would not be an easy goalie to get past to score on.

He finished this fall season with 11 shutouts with a total of 118 saves with 130 shots against him, putting his save percentage at .908 percent.

"It felt good," he added, being able to stop the tough teams from scoring.

Gotaas finished his junior season with a 11-6-2 record and assisted his team as they claimed the district crown with a win over Grand Blanc.

"It has been awesome," he added about this season. "It has been the best season I have been on a high school team. All of my teammates are awesome. They are all good guys."

Gotaas began playing soccer when he was four-years-old with the Kiddy Kickers and became more competitive as he grew up.

It was his current coach for the Clarkston Boys Varsity Soccer team Curtis Payment who put him in as a goalie.

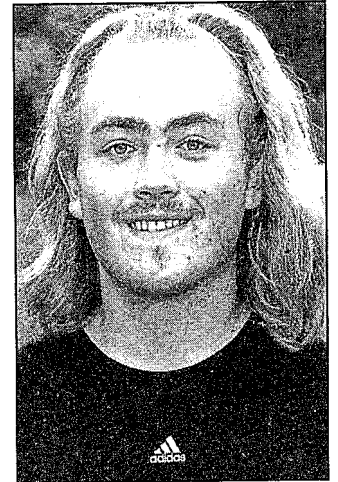

"He got me into it," said Gotaas. "He is definitely the main reason why I play goalie."

"Immediately at age eight I picked him out as a goalie because he is very calm," said Payment. "It was his demeanor - he doesn't get too high, he doesn't get too low. In high pressure situations it doesn't even faze him."

He added Gotaas' quickness is startling for opponents because they don't expect it.

"He is a big kid now," Payment said. "He has always been one of the biggest kids in his age group and his quickness is really startling because you don't expect it to come from such a big kid. From that young age he was already excelling at the position."

Gotaas played more competitively around the age of nine and continued to play soccer because his dad played.

"He wanted us to play soccer so we followed in his footsteps," he added.

"He is a top level goalie who could play at the next level," Payment added. "It has been special to see him grow over the years. He could be a big time prospect next year."

He is focusing on continuing to play in college and would like to play after college.

"I might play in adult leagues but not competitive," Gotaas added.

He is currently in Forensics Science, English Language Arts, Algebra 2 and Racket sports in his first trimester.

When he is not playing soccer he enjoys wake boarding.

"We live on a lake so I like to go out there in the summer," Gotaas said.

His advice to aspiring athletes is to keep working hard.

"As you work hard in practice you will get better and better," he added.

Football team keeps winning streak going

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

With 29 points the Junior Varsity Wolves not only sealed a win over Southfield on Oct. 24 but they also finished the season undefeated.

"I am very proud of our players and their success in the 2012 football season," said Head Coach Luke Denver.

The Wolves began their season with a shutout against Rochester Adams on Aug. 29, 53-0.

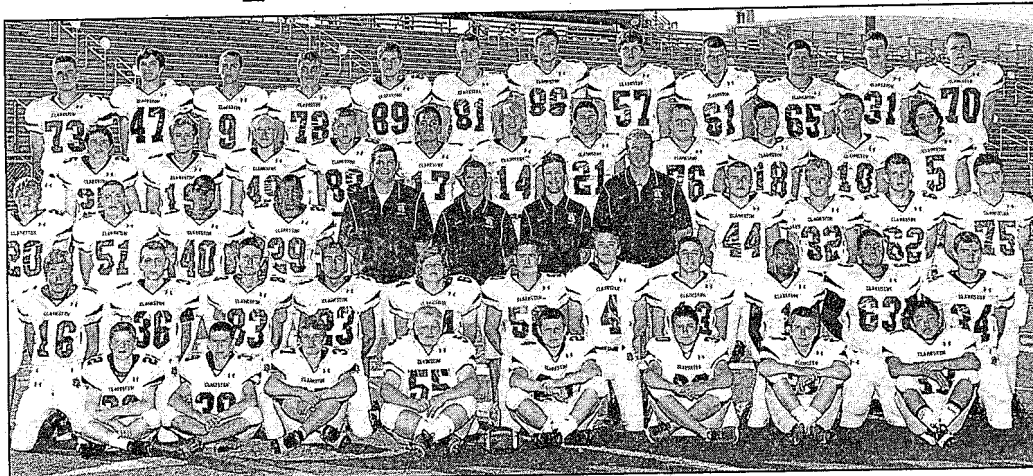

They continued with a 42-14 win over West Bloomfield; 45-8 win over Rochester; 35-20 win over Troy Athens; 17-0 win over Stoney Creek; 42-7 win over Fenton; 58-17 win over Troy; and 56-7 win over Lake Orion.

Denver added Fenton was one of the best JV teams in the Flint Metro League.

"Our players had a great week of practice and were excited to take on the best team from another league," he said. "For four quarters we executed at a high level and walked off the field with a 42-7 win."

He added the undefeated 9-0 season could be contributed to a mix of different things.

"Clarkston is a great community that gives unbelievable support to its sports teams," he began. "This particular group of players were so successful because they had great work ethic, competed everyday at practice, executed their plays, and played with intense enthusiasm."

Another piece is the football program Clarkston Varsity Football Head Coach Kurt Richardson has created for players from seventh through 12th grade.

"The program demands commitment, hard work and high expectations," Denver added.

The boys also continued another streak not only winning the OAA Red but going 27-0 in the past three seasons.

"They have been able to win 27 consecutive games because the players belong to a great community and program," Denver said. "They have great character and are willing to dedicate themselves to the team and set very high goals."

This year's team consists of mostly sophomores and a few freshmen who aim to be on the varsity team.

Denver added their work at being undefeated will help them as they go to the next level in the Clarkston Football program.

"Like losing, winning can be contagious," he pointed out.

Spikers cage Cougars in first round, 3-1

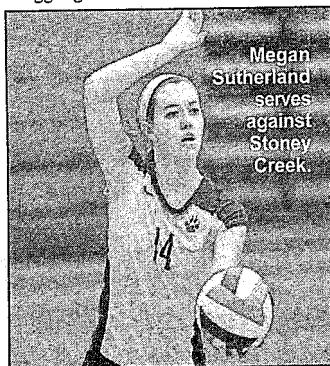

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

It was a nailbiter of a night for the Lady Wolves and their fans on Monday.

In the end they prevailed with a 3-1 win over Stoney Creek in the first round of Class A MHSAA Volleyball District playoffs.

"It was ugly," said Coach Kelly Avenall. "A win is a win. I am happy with a win. I don't feel like we put on our best performance tonight. We struggled in a lot of categories and were able to pull out a win while we were still struggling."

Megan Sutherland serves against Stoney Creek.

The girls won the first match 25-19 after taking lead half way through the game after being a few points behind.

The next match Clarkston found themselves trailing 19-10. They closed the gap with a team effort of hits from Katie Chadwell, Maggie Collins, Tessa Manilla, Kacy Robinson and Brianna Frakes. They were within three points when the Cougars scored two points to win 25-21.

The next two games Stoney Creek grabbed the lead and the girls fought their way back up. Hits from Robinson tied the game twice. After she tied it at 22-22, Frakes pulled the Wolves into the lead with a point and the Cougars came back with two points to put the score 24-23.

Chadwell tied the game and Robinson followed with her own swing to put them ahead 25-24. The Wolves took the win after two hard swings from Chadwell to put them at 27-25.

The Lady Wolves took a quicker lead in the final game after being behind only three points at the beginning. They finished with a 25-18.

Robinson led the girls with 13 kills. Chadwell had nine kills and Collins added five kills. Frakes had 35 assists.

"It is definitely something we are going to have to use as a stepping stone going into Wednesday," Avenall said about the girls coming from behind for the win.

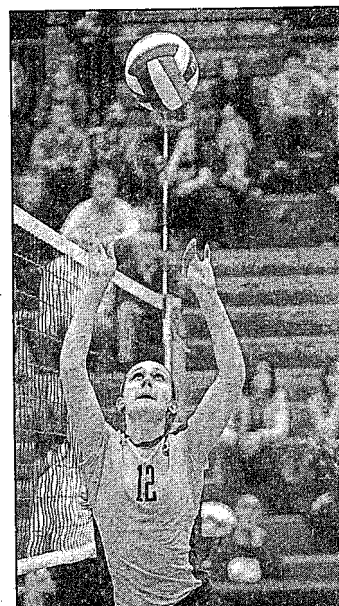

"Even if we are behind against teams we can find a way out of it," she added. "We find ourselves behind we find a way to constantly make mistakes and get further behind. Any bright spot tonight would be we dug ourselves out of some holes."

The Lady Wolves take on Lake Orion on Wednesday in the next round of the playoffs. The two teams have faced each other three times already. Lake Orion won the first time and Clarkston has won the past two times. The most recent was on Saturday in a tournament.

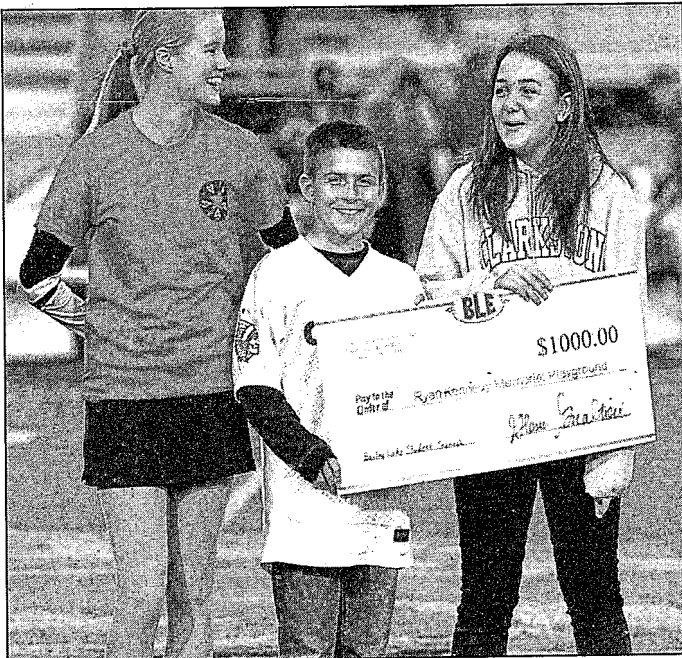

"Every time it has been close," Avenall said, adding Clarkston has a target on them. "I was watching tonight. All of these teams were watching us and rooting against us. My girls need to realize everybody is gunning for them and they can't come out kind of flat. You have to be up and you have to be ready for a team like Lake Orion. It will be a battle."

The girls play on Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

The winner moves on to the finals on Thursday, 6 p.m. Both games are at Clarkston High School, 6093 Flemings Lake Road.

World trip for musician

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Aubrey Kenny wasn't surprised when she heard her younger cousin Clarkston Junior High School student Tom Silvey was chosen for Blue Lakes International Exchange Program.

When she heard him play his tuba at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp during the summer she was blown away.

"I was so impressed by how much they had gotten done in such a short time," she said. "In the schools, you work for weeks and weeks. They had a chance to work six hours a day nonstop and perform at the end. I was so impressed. I am so proud."

Silvey received an email the beginning of October he had been chosen for the international program. With the program he would tour and perform in different cities throughout Europe.

"It was really cool," he shared when he received the news. "I hadn't signed up for the program but I thought it was cool. I was kind of like 'woah, Europe.'"

His parents, Mindy and Jay, were also proud to receive the news.

"I am really proud of him because he was chosen for his character," said Jay. "He is a very good kid. He is very responsible and I think he would be a good representation of Clarkston."

Every year over 1,300 musicians apply for the exchange program and only 350 are selected. Tom didn't try out for it because he would be gone for a month.

"I was also thinking would that be too much for me because I am 14," he added. "But I don't really think so now. I think it is cool to be so young and have the opportunity."

He has the opportunity because his camp counselors and the staff at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp nominate musicians from the camp and take a vote. Clarkston has at least one student go per year.

"I am excited Tom has this opportunity to tour with Blue Lake International," said Justin Harris, one of the band teachers at the junior high. "He plays at a high caliber and will really help support the group with his musicianship. He is an exceptional tuba player who is performing at a very high level in the band."

The cost is $7,000 for the trip and Kenny created a fundraising page for him to help, www.gofundme.com/4o8u7w.

"Tom is very attentive, respectful, polite, and a kind student," said Harris. "He will represent Clarkston very well on his trip to Europe."

Tom began with music in Kindermusik and developed a love for it. Then, he chose to continue with it in band.

"I had been in music and I liked music," he said. "Music has been in my family for awhile."

He began playing with the trumpet and moved on to the tuba in sixth grade when he was chosen to work with one of the seventh grade tuba players.

"I want to play this instrument," he thought when he learned it. "I had to learn new notes. The fingering was the same. It wasn't that big of a change."

For more information, visit www.gofundme.com/4o8u7w and www.bluelake.org/international/program_overview.html. Contact Mindy at mjbs.silvey@gmail.com.

"I encourage people to help Tom out in any way that they can," Harris added. "He is a good representative of the positive students we have at Clarkston Junior High School and he will never forget this once in a lifetime opportunity. You couldn't help out a nicer student."

Mascot makes like a ghost while sign issue resolved

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A mascot at the Big Boy Restaurant in Clarkston has been banned.

Standing along Dixie Highway, the restaurant's 12-foot-tall trademark is dressed up as a ghost until owner John Nannini figures out what to do with it.

Nannini said this isn't the first time the mascot has been targeted by Independence Township for violating a sign ordinance, with the most recent incident occurring about three weeks ago.

Nannini said he purchased the statue about 13 years ago.

"Families look forward to bringing in their family and taking a picture with the Big Boy," said Nannini.

"He's our pillar," said waitress Melanie Smith.

Nannini said before he purchased the Clarkston location in 2000, he worked in Big Boy corporate traveling the country to different Big Boy restaurants, so he has seen many restaurants, and knows how important the statue is for business.

In Waterford, two of the Big Boy restaurants closed. Nannini said his customers have asked if he is closing down, too. They seemed to relate the vanishing Big Boy statue to the restaurant's demise.

Nannini estimates when the statue is gone, his sales go down about 15 percent.

Nannini said after he put the Big Boy outside, a code enforcer from Independence Township told him it violated an Independence Township sign ordinance.

Nannini said after the first time Big Boy

was banned, he attended an Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) meeting to ask that the statue be allowed to remain. His plea was rejected.

After the ZBA rejected the statue, the mascot was brought inside and placed between two booths inside the restaurant.

"When he was gone, people were asking us where he went," said Nannini.

The statue was put back outside 2 ½ years ago. Nannini said no one noticed until a few weeks ago, when the code enforcer gave him a letter telling him the statue must go.

He was also recently told to review the township's code of ordinances and he searched through all 332 pages of the online document.

Staff started thinking about what to do with Big Boy, so they devised a plan decided to decorate him for Halloween. Now dressed as a ghost.

"We threw a sheet on him and now he is a Halloween decoration," said Nannini.

Waitress Janet Hall said perhaps next the Big Boy will be Santa, Cupid or the Easter Bunny.

Customer Joe Rehfus note there are several establishments in the community that have more than one sign on their property.

Rehfus said the Big Boy belongs, and he is one customer also willing to stand up to the township.

Nannini estimates Rehfus is not alone and said over a dozen of his customers have called Independence Township to protest Big Boy's ban.

"Every Big Boy restaurant has one of the statues," said Rehfus. "He belongs here."

"Many customers are also willing to go in front of the board, and stand up for Big Boy," said Nannini.

Independence Township resident Gordon Pasco will speak up in favor of Big Boy, too. "It's totally appropriate to be out there," he said.

The city of Dallas also nixed a similar statue at Kips Big Boy in Texas. The owner of that Big Boy said hundreds of passersby would stop for photos, which the city said it was a nuisance and a traffic hazard.

Independence Township officials could not be reached for comment on the issue.

High winds wipe out power overnight

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A power outage caused by heavy winds left some customers in the dark last Thursday night and into Friday morning.

Areas of both Springfield and Independence Townships were affected.

In Springfield Township about 2,000 customers lost power. Clarkston residents were a little luckier with only pockets of areas affected.

A DTE Energy power outage map showed many subdivisions off Dixie Highway with 99 or less customers affected. Off Sashabaw Road about 100 customers near Independence Oaks also lost electrical juice, as did some residents off Maybee Road.

Numerous individual outages were reported.

Erica Donerson spokeswoman for DTE Energy said Oakland and Wayne County were most affected by power outages.

Meteorologist Heather Orow from the National Weather Service in White Lake said a low pressure system swept through the area after a cold front tracked through the Great Lakes region bringing in high winds.

The strongest winds, recorded at the closest weather monitoring system located at the Pontiac Airport, recorded the highest wind gusts at 48 miles per hour around 2 a.m. Thursday.

"It was windy," said Orow. "Our highest gusts were recorded at 35 miles per hour."

Orow after the winds resceded the rest of the day was calm. "Although it was cooler," she said. "It dropped from 60 degrees on Thursday to 48 degrees on Friday."

Donerson said windy conditions are often the culprit of power outages. After Thursday and Friday outages, the DTE crews worked throughout the day to restore power, she said adding that all of the outages were to be fixed that day.

Donerson said DTE can tell when a customer's power goes out.

"We have a few ways we can tell when the power goes out. Many times our customers will call our 1-800-477-4747 number and that is always helpful," she said. "We also have an advanced metering program that we receive signals from and that's why Smart Metering program is so effective."

Donerson said when outages are recorded, DTE has a highly skilled team that works to decide where to send crews. Crews will usually respond to areas with the highest number of outages.

"We mobilize our crews 24 hours a day seven days a week," she said. "We always work around the clock to restore power when the power goes out."

Donerson added high winds can down trees and snap power lines, and if you see one to be cautious and stay away.

"If you ever see a downed power lines stay 20 feet away from the wire and anything touching it especially a metal fence," she said.

Donerson added people should always assume a power line is live and electrified. If you spot a downed power line call 9-1-1 and DTE Energy to report the problem.

An outage map can be found online to give customers updates about outages by visiting www.dteenergy.com

APTC at Deer Lake Athletic Club

Offering physical therapy treatments APTC has been located in Deer Lake Athletic Club since June. Treatments at the new location include sports injury, lower back injuries, spine and neck injuries, laser light treatment and a special treatment called Graston Therapy. New therapy includes treatment for pelvic floor dysfunction.

According to APTC representative Kristen Molzon, a new hand treatment therapy is also offered at APTC, a type of treatment available only at APTC in Oakland County

Betsy Kreston, a patient at APTC who attended the grand opening celebration said APTC saved her life.

Hometown music maker making it big

BY PHIL CUSTODIO

Clarkston News Editor

Clarkston grad Billy Parr's music career is taking off, and he's ready for the next step.

Parr and Matt Rankin's Synergy Production tours the country, performing in shows and competitions in Detroit, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, and Chicago.

"Everything's going good. We're making a lot of industry connections," Parr said.

They meet with artists at events, stay in touch on social media, collaborate, and work with them.

"I definitely enjoy it," Rankin said. "We're starting to make serious connections. It's encouraging, all the hard work to make it happen, it's coming true."

They work year-round, writing, recording, and preparing for competition, and working to land recording deals.

"It takes awhile," Parr said. "We're getting ready to land a major placement."

They compete in iStandard Producer Showcases, the latest at Crows Foot in Pontiac. Judges include several Grammy award winners, providing valuable feedback, Parr said.

Their goal is to upgrade equipment with a Maschine by Native Instruments.

"That's our next piece," Parr said. "It'll take our production to the next level."

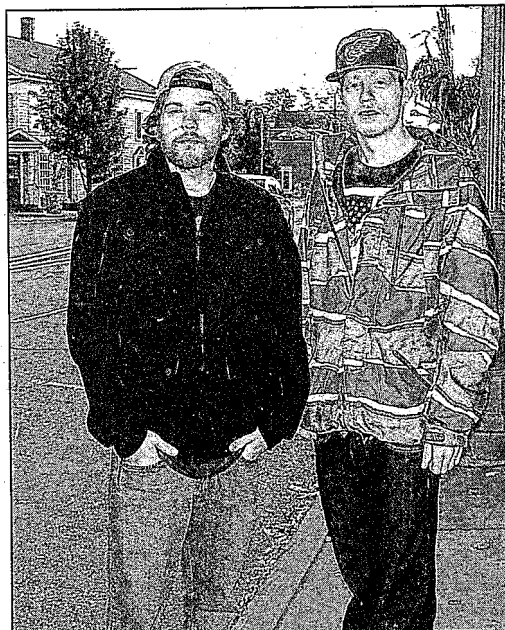

"We'll be able to access new sounds, a different way to create music," Rankin said.

The machine is a first-place prize at showcases, Parr said.

"We hope to win one soon. We're getting close," he said.

The business started as a hobby when they were students at Western Michigan University almost five years ago, making songs on the computer using music software.

They've produced hundreds of original hip hop and rap instrumentals so far, with more than 100 sold or leased to singers and rappers.

TEA Party organizer at Independents meeting

Wendy Day, who organized the first Tea Party rally in Michigan in February 2009, addresses Independents for Responsible Government (I4RG), 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 13, at Fountains Golf and Banquet Center, 6060 Maybee Road.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a networking reception. There is no charge to attend the event and food and drink will be available for purchase.

"Wendy was our very first speaker when we formed our group back in 2009 and we are excited to have her back. Our principles of fiscal responsibility, smaller government and private sector job growth are perfectly aligned with Wendy's values and track record," said I4RG spokesperson Ray Hamman of Clarkston.

"Holding our representatives accountable and providing our membership the tools to do so is a critical part of our mission" said Tony Messina of Clarkston, another I4RG founder. "Wendy is interested in doing what is right and not interested in a political agenda."

3 decades in Navy for Clarkston grad

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Mark Doolin retired recently as a Command Master Chief after 30 years in the U.S. Navy, with a diverse career in peacetime and war around the world, including frigates, aircraft carriers, and the Pentagon.

"Not bad for a punk from Clarkston," Doolin said. "I kept pretty busy. It was a great career. I loved every minute."

When he enlisted in December 1983, the United States was still facing off against the Soviet Union in the Cold War. He hunted Russian submarines with Patrol Squadron 93 and the frigate USS Jack Williams - for surveillance, not combat.

"They'd watch us, we'd watch them," he said.

The '90s started with a bang - he served in combat on the Williams during the First Gulf War in 1991. The decade also heralded the fall of the Soviet Union. For Doolin, that meant anti-drug operations with the U.S. Coast Guard on P3 Orion planes, providing aerial surveillance of drug smugglers.

"We'd find them from the air. It was interesting," he said.

-He was on duty during terrorist attacks on Sept. 11, 2001, as well as anthrax and DC sniper cases. On Sept. 11, he was working in his Pentagon office about 50 feet from impact.

"That wasn't a good day, I can tell you that. You never expect one day to go to work and a plane hit the building," he said. "After the attacks, it was war, game on with everything."

After 9-11, he served several tours in Iraq and Afghanistan. Returning from his first deployment, local and national news were on hand, with cheering crowds to welcome them.

"It was a good feeling. It's a shame every veteran doesn't experience that," he said.

"It's great to hear, people thank me and us for our service. I always thank them for caring."

He later served as wing command master chief with Electronic Attack Squadron 209 VAX-209, in charge of hundreds of sailors, pilots, and their carrier-based electronic warfare jet aircraft.

"I'll remember the people I served with, they're the most important," he said. "I never thought I'd have the opportunity for 30. I've been very fortunate, in the right place at the right time, with great people to work with."

Doolin graduated from Clarkston High School in 1978.

"Clarkston was a neat town to grow up in, everybody knew everybody," he said.

He would hang out with friends downtown. A popular spot was the stoop in front of The Clarkston News office next to Rudy's, as well as the hardware store on the corner and Dick Morgan's auto shop.

"I was pretty lucky to grow up in an environment like that," he said.

As a teen, he grew his hair long and was a founding member of Pontiac-based rock band "Topper," and was a member of "Risin High."

They performed throughout the Detroit area, including as featured house band during the 1982 Super Bowl in Pontiac.

"I did that, but then it was time to grow up and get a real job," he said. "I still mess around with the guitar. It was a great chapter in my life."

Looking to enlist, he intended to talk to a Marine recruiter, but he wasn't in his office. The Navy recruiter was, though.

"He asked what I was doing, and I said I was there to talk to the Marines, and he said,

Fall photography lends lessons on life

I thought this Fall was going to be a bust. A lot of the leaves on many of the trees just looked like they were shriveling up and falling off. No real colors, just a bunch of dried leaves. It was a bit of a bummer.

Two things happened that changed my perspective. First, I think I was a little impatient. Although, I don't really remember a bunch of shriveling leaves in past Autumns, the colors did get better. Second, I had a conversation with a friend of mine, Tim. He lives in California but grew up right here in good ol' Michigan.

During our conversation he asked how the colors were here. He said he missed Michigan in the Fall. He talked about living in California and how there just isn't a Fall Season. There are no colors to enjoy. I've never been to California in the Fall but if California is anything like Colorado, you get green, brown, yellow, and more brown. While I was in Colorado at Bible College a friend of mine there said, "Look at all the beautiful colors." I said, "There's yellow. That's not 'colors'. That's 'color'."

Then it started getting good. There were vibrant colors red, yellow, gold, and orange. There were these stands of trees with a wonderful mixture of all of those colors. It was beautiful.

Which brings me to Smartphones. Perhaps one of my favorite things about Smartphones (perhaps my only favorite thing) is that the cameras are not too shabby. It occurred to me that he could use some cheering up and that I could send pictures to him of some of the fabulous colors as I went about my day.

Being on a mission to send these pictures to my friend really opened my eyes. There were all sorts of trees to choose from. More than once, while driving with my wife, I would pull over to take a picture of a tree. This started to frustrate her as it increased our time to get anywhere.

After I got some pictures, I would use an app on my phone to adjust the pictures and then send them off to California. From his responses, they helped brighten his day. His comment helped me enjoy Fall more than I would have otherwise.

This got me thinking about how many things I miss on a regular basis because I'm not looking for them. How often am I consumed with my own thoughts and concerns that I don't see the beauty around me? If I'm honest with myself: A lot.

It was really nice to get outside of my head and care about someone else. Because I was thinking about my friend and what I could do for him, I spent less time thinking about me and my frustrations or problems.

Here are a couple of lessons I learned along the way:

1. You don't need a camera. Just looking around your surroundings like you're going to take a picture makes you more observant.

2. It is helpful to think about someone else. It's not that I am too self-absorbed, but I can get caught up in the daily or weekly grind. Thinking about sending pictures to brighten a friend's day, really helped me.

3. Stopping to take a picture or two helped me enjoy the journey as much as the destination. It was good to slow down. There is a lot to see when you slow down long enough to notice it.

4. Pick something to notice. Tune into the world around you and start to notice the beauty that surrounds us.

There's a lot to notice in this world, too much to take in all at once. But, in a world filled with economic woes, political strife, war, disease, and famine wouldn't it be nice to fill your senses with some really beautiful things? I know it has helped me. Give it a whirl.

3 decades in Navy

'why do you want to do that? Come over here, and let me tell you about the navy.'

Asked what he likes to do, he said, "drink and fight," and was told he would make a great sailor.

"That's how I got into it," he said. "But I applied myself."

At his retirement ceremony, he was surprised on stage when his captain presented him with an American flag, video, and letters.

"I would take that flag into combat. It's been everywhere," Doolin said.

But now that star-spangled banner had been flown in Joe Louis arena, Ford Field, and Comerica Park, taken to locker rooms with the Detroit players, as well as DTE Music Auditorium and on a 5K cancer-survivors' run.

"I'm a cancer survivor myself," Doolin he said.

The video featured congratulations for his service from pro athletes, and rock stars like Kid Rock, Bob Seger, Alice Cooper, and Ted Nugent.

"Everyone was, 'oh my God,' no one could believe it," Doolin said. "It was really neat."

The flag, along with the video and letters, now rests in a shadow box over his fireplace.

After his retirement, he took a job employing veterans to help veterans, get them ready for life after the service by training them to work, get jobs, and into schools.

"The opportunity fell into my lap. It's interesting and rewarding," he said.

We invite you to visit us this holiday season while remembering your loved ones.

Camera concerns

United States, and money is short to build or widen new roads, the roads are often congested. Cameras help keep the traffic flowing.

In addition to sending the information to the computer at the intersection, the computer also sends it to a regional computer monitoring network-wide traffic flow and balancing it along major corridors.

Traffic engineers can also monitor intersections if there is an accident, he said.

FTAS began in 1992 and similar cameras have been installed in 600 locations around the country.

Bryson said the project started off as a research project and has received heavy funding.

"The project has received over $100 million in special funding and grants," he said.

Cheers to the Holidays

Easter Seals Michigan and John Bowman Chevrolet host the second annual Cheers to the Holidays, 7-10 p.m., Friday, Dec. 6, at the dealership, 6750 Dixie Highway.

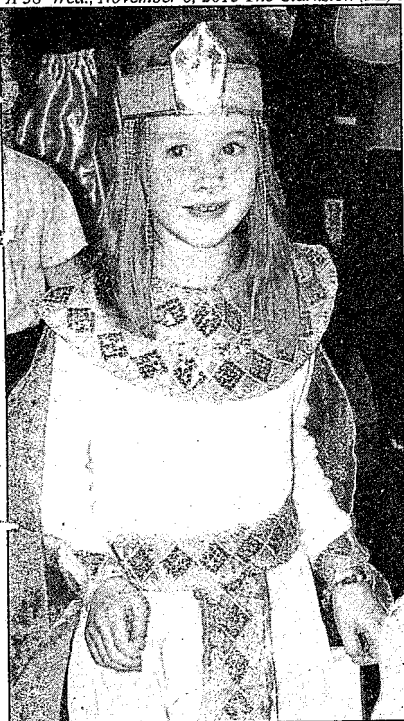

The event includes strolling dinner, sampling of high-end wine and craft beer, raffle including four rounds of golf at the Grand Hotel, Pistons gift pack, and Kenneth Cole bag, and live music by singer/songwriter Jason Wagner.

Tickets are $35 each, or two tickets for $50, available at www.essmichigan.org.

"We are proud to find a great community partner like John Bowman Chevrolet to team up with for this event. It will be a great way for us to celebrate the holidays as well as perpetuate the Easter Seals mission of providing service and support to those with disabilities and their families", says Easter Seals Michigan President and CEO, Brent Wirth.

"Easter Seals has been serving Michigan for over 93 years by being innovative and addressing the needs of our community. This event will allow us to raise funds for those we serve and also celebrate this time of the year with those community members that help support our mission".

MISSING SHINGLES?

Damage to your roof may not be this obvious. You may be experiencing wood damage, mold and/or dry wall damage. Have you looked at your roof lately?

Call 248-364-4444 Today
Same day service in most cases

Take the 5 minute Roof Repair Self Test.

See if you really need a roof. Things to look for are:

- Curled Up Shingles: This can allow rain to get in and they're easily damaged by wind or the roofing itself can blow completely off.
- Granules Worn Off: Granules protect the roof shingle from sunlight and water. If they're worn off, the shingle will deteriorate. Look for granules in your gutters or downspouts. You may see dark spots on the shingles where granules are missing for the roofing shingle.
- Loose or Missing Shingles: This can cause leakage. The roof may just need a repair however it may also need to be replaced if not corrected quickly.
- Roofing Nail Pops: Another common cause of roof leaks. Small holes where nails have popped through the roofing shingle.
- Spots on your Interior Sealing: May indicate the roof is leaking and in need of a repair.
- Black or Green Streaks: Algae can build up quickly and make your roof look ugly and old causing roof replacement.
- Age of Roof: Most shingles last 10 - 25 years. If your home is the same age as other homes in the area that are getting roof repairs or replacements, it may be time for your new roof too. Trust SureGuard Roofing for your roofing contractor needs! Anytime, we are here for you.

"My Disc Herniations Resolved"

I am a real patient, and this is my story...

I consulted Lifepointe due to injuries to my neck, back and hip because of a car accident 16 years ago. Prior to Lifepointe, I had been prescribed anti-inflammatories (which had a bad reaction in my digestive system), I took sleeping pills, muscle relaxants and pain pills. I tried trigger point injections (which didn't last), I was given a neck brace (which made things MUCH worse), and I tried TMJ splints and eventually jaw surgery. I had been to over 20 specialists. I had several disc herniations and was having terrible migraines. That's when I decided to see Dr. Greg and Dr. Becky. I got dramatic and immediate improvement in my level of pain and my ability to move! I have had nothing but positive progress and I have been going ever since... for 6 years now! It just makes sense to me. My life has changed since starting care. My range of motion is improving year by year, and even in spite of two more car accidents, the normal curve in my neck is finally coming back. Three out of four of my herniated discs are gone (according to the MRI)! I would suggest everyone be checked by a chiropractor because the spine and nervous system control everything, and the way we live life causes everyone to need care to keep their spine working properly. I see myself under chiropractic care for the rest of my life! Chiropractic is a great FIRST option when trying to restore health! Call Lifepointe TODAY to see if they can help you!

Advanced Cataract Surgery Testimonials

"I no longer wear glasses to read... at this point I never wear glasses. I can tie my 4# fishing line as well as I could with glasses before the surgery."

PH, ReSTOR Patient

"I can read newspapers, price tags while shopping and see road signs at a distance. I would recommend ReSTOR because it gives so much freedom - no glasses ever again!"

SF, ReSTOR Patient

LASIK Testimonial

"All I can say is this was the best decision I have ever made. It is so nice not having to worry about glasses and contact lenses while playing golf."
