Community rallies for stricken family

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

More than 100 friends and family of Lindsey Mauti shed tears and shared hugs at a candlelight vigil for her, Monday evening. But there was also laughter, songs, and smiles.

"She had an amazing spirit that was beyond contagious – the image of a fiery red head, that fit Lindsey to a 'T,'" said Jessica Terry, best friends with Mauti since they were fifth graders at North Sashabaw Elementary School. "She was an amazing mother. She would do anything for her kids. She was beautiful inside and outside. She was just awesome."

Mauti

Mauti was killed in her Cheshire Park Drive home in Independence Township, May 28, sparking a outpouring of community support for the two children she leaves behind. Her husband, Joseph Mauti, has been charged (see story on page 9). An online, Go Fund Me drive has raised $14,318 in two days, as of Tuesday morning, for funeral expenses and the children.

Mauti's friend McKenzie Vlisides set up the fund raiser with a goal of $5,000.

"She was funny, beautiful, children loved her, and she was a great friend," said Vlisides at the vigil.

She increased the goal twice as donations came in, to $10,000, then to $15,000.

"Thank you so very much to everyone

Petterson takes command

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Longtime firefighter Mitch Petterson got the top job at the Independence Township Fire Department.

Petterson's first official day on the job was June 1, leading 31 full-time and 30 part-time and on-call personnel at three fire stations, serving 36-square miles and 36,000 residents in Independence Township. The annual budget for the department is $6 million.

Petterson has served on the department for 22 years, straight out of high school. Watching his dad at work inspired him to work in the field.

"My dad was a firefighter in a different community," he said. "So I grew up in the fire department – I started at 18 as a paid on-call fire fighter. I became an EMT while I was in high school and joined the department as soon as I graduated."

Petterson said he kept working hard each and every day of those 22 years.

He also continued gaining work experience and educational credentials including attending the fire academy, and becoming a paramedic.

In 2010, he was promoted to staff captain, a job with administrative duties, and acted as fire chief for five months in 2011 and again during the recent search for the best chief.

Townships end deputy split agreement

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence and Brandon townships have shared the cost of a deputy patrolling the streets during the midnight shift since 2011, but that cooperative agreement is no longer necessary after Brandon voters said "yes" to police.

Brandon Township Supervisor Kathy Thurman said it was always the intention for each township to return to having its own deputy, and thanks a larger police millage passed by Brandon voters in 2014, that time is now.

Thurman said because of the higher levy, the arrangement is no longer necessary and Brandon can go back to three full-time deputies serving at night.

A letter sent to Independence Township from Thurman expressed gratitude for the cooperative services.

Thurman cited an economic downturn beginning in 2008 as the reason Brandon and Independence entered the sharing police service agreement for the midnight deputy.

"It was particularly helpful to Brandon Township who's police fund would have gone in the red had it not been for the cooperation of our neighboring community, Independence Township. To that we are extremely grateful," Thurman said.

The agreement was helpful, but also troubling at times, she said.

"There have been instances when the shared car has been too far away to provide back-up services and a car from a closer location had to be called," she said.

Independence Township Supervisor Pat Kittle agreed, and said exiting the agreement resulted in the midnight shift in Independence to be understaffed. A situation which had to be fixed immediately.

"That causes risk to our officers, and that is unacceptable," he said. "It puts our officers at risk due to the lack of back-up."

In May, the Brandon Township Board of Trustees voted in favor of reinstating a deputy to cover only Brandon.

Because the 2015 budget only allotted money for only 1/2 the cost of the nighttime officer costs, previously split with Brandon, the Independence Township Trustees approved the budget amendment at their May 26 meeting to provide compensation for a sole nighttime deputy.

Brandon's full-time nighttime deputy's was set for June 1, contingent upon if it was suitable for Independence Township.

Independence Township township trustees approved the amendment for just over $32,700 for the rest of 2015.

Kittle said the township's Police Fund Balance had over $287,000, which is above the 20% reserve amount for the budget, so the money will be drawn from that fund.

Petition against city construction

Creators of a petition to stop construction of a new DPW garage and city hall improvements will meet at 6:30 p.m., June 8, before the Clarkston City Council meeting.

Three proposals for the project range from $330,000 to $568,000.

"We do not believe the city can afford this expense, and funds would be better used to continue to maintain the roads, sidewalks, trees, and provide other basic services," according to the petition.

The proposed 2016 budget was presented at the May 26 meeting by treasurer Sandra Barlass. Estimated revenues dropped from $779,000 in 2015 to about $701,000 for 2016.

The council meets at 7 p.m., June 8.

Summer lunch program

Clarkston Community Schools is offering free lunch this summer to children 18 years old and under, or persons up to age 26 who are enrolled in an educational program for the mentally or physically disabled recognized by a state or local public educational agency.

For more information, call CCS Nutrition Department Office at 248-623-8001 or 8002.

Blood drive

First Congregational Church, 5449 Clarkston Road, hosts an American Red Cross blood drive, 1-6:45 p.m., June 23.

Andrea's Anecdotes

A column by Andrea Beaudoin

Kudos to Morgan's

Monday, deadline day, I went outside for a minute just in time for a crisis happening right downtown Clarkston to find me.

I was sitting in my car at the end of our parking lot, taking a break, and writing a story when a 20-year-old African American lady walked up to me in full blown melt down.

I was freaked at her approach, but quickly realized she was upset.

She said she exited 1-75, and headed south down Main when she saw a police officer in the road. She noticed the officer, but not the sharp metal piece in the road he was checking out. She nailed it, shredding her tire and bending the rim.

She was stranded, panicked and believed no one in such a nice town would help her. She told me why. It's sad.

Crisis and I are no strangers, so she found the right person.

"Somehow this incident may have saved your life," I said which calmed her.

I'm feeling the crisis is mine, and unfortunately, I don't have a tire.

I instinctively go to Scott, owner of Morgan's auto repair in downtown Clarkston. I explained what happened. Thankfully he agreed to help.

Scott located her car, found and purchased a tire and changed it. He spent a good bit of his busy day helping our crisis.

I thank God for Scott and his staff. You guys really won my heart. Hat's off to you from me. Kudos for being a light in the world.

I have faced a crisis or two myself. I too have been helped, so I always help whenever I can. This time it was my turn to help by serving as a vessel.

I asked the gal to pay it forward by helping others whenever she could.

I'm very aware, but realized even more after this, I'm always in a crisis, experiencing someone else's crisis, feeling bad about a world crisis or writing about a crisis. It's exhausting if not handled correctly. Psychologists say its a good trait for reporters.

There's plenty more about the lessons this experience taught me. I recognized its gifts.

I hope Morgan's is rewarded for their good deed just as much as I was.

Please help. Give Morgan's props for me, will ya?

Thanks for support

Dear Editor,

The Clarkston Area Lions wish to thank everyone for their support during our recent "White Cane Week." Through your generosity, we collected over $10,600.

All 100 percent of the funds collected will be used to support many sight and hearing projects, including Leader Dogs for the Blind, Eversight Michigan, formerly the Michigan Eye Bank, Lions Bear Lake Camp for Physically Challenged Youth, Penrickton Center for Blind Children, Beaumont Silent Children Fund, and the District 11A2 Lions Hearing Program in Macomb and Oakland Counties, just to mention a few.

Additionally, we support Clarkston Lighthouse, O.A.T.S., Offering Alternative Therapy with Smiles, Inc., and the Clarkston Independence District Library with resources for the sight impaired.

Money raised during White Cane Week also allows the Lions to provide eyeglass and hearing aid support to those in need, as well as free vision screening for pre-school children. Vision screenings are offered the second Saturday of each month from 10 am to 2 pm at the library, as well as at many other community events.

Whether from a car window or at the grocery store, it is the generosity of donors that allows the Clarkston Area Lions to help serve others. You are truly helping the Lions make a difference in our community.

Think before littering

Dear Editor,

Can someone please tell what goes through a person's mind as they toss garbage out of their cars - countless fast food wrappers, coffee cups, and beer bottles.

I am a daily walker, and can pick up a full garbage bag weekly.

Please, please think before you throw.

Don't be a litter bug!

Panties! Now that I have your attention . . .

So, I'm sitting here in front of my computer (as I have done a million times before) only this time I've just had a lesson from Daughter Susan on how to start typing on this keyboard and tv screen.

Why can't I start my Jottings today as I have a thousand times before?

And, Susan says, "Just do what the sign I put above your screen says!"

This column really started in my mind after I saw, for the first time, a live commercial advertising ladies panties and bras.

I've seen lots of ads for bras, but never panties before .

I guess panties are entering the TV trend of using more foul language, showing more skin on women and more bulges on men.

Thoughts on graduation (yours not mine)

I think by now most area students who are one of the Class of 2015 completed graduation ceremonies. With pomp and circumstance you walked down the aisle with robe and cap. You pushed your tassels from right to left.

You have graduated. Yay! Woo-hoo and congratulations! As I told Number One son, Shamus, this weekend, "Now your real education starts."

Here are some thoughts for you to ponder, Class of 2015, as you enter a totally new reality -- the adult club.

Be Respectful

Up until now the world was pretty much your oyster -- and it still is -- but now you will have to start paying for it yourself. Gone are the days of your parents paying for everything and making the world revolve around you and only you. It is time to put on your big people's pants and think about respect

Be respectful of your finances, understand the difference from your wants and your needs. Nobody told me this when I was young, so I will give you a tip as was told and calculated for me two years ago. It goes something like this: if you invest $15 a week starting at age 18, by the time you retire you will have a million dollars.

As early as you can talk to a retirement coach and get a plan going.

Be respectful of your time, because after school things go by pretty darned fast. Don't squander your time -- be bold, explore, try new things (as a side note, I suggest the new exciting things you try are both legally and ethically cool). You may find by trying new things you discover a new unimagined path that ignites your soul and gives you a deeper appreciation for life.

Be respectful of your parents -- they have helped you more than you know now. Thinking about it, you won't truly know until you get to be their age. Learn from them. In your life, repeat what they did correctly and change what you feel they failed on. Nobody is perfect.

Be respectful of others' time, circumstances and feelings. You are now a member of the world, soon you will be a working member of society. It is no longer just about you and what you want. Be kind and compassionate to balance your passion.

Be empathetic

Have empathy for others as you would have them be empathetic towards you. In other words, think about other people before opening your mouth or acting out. For example . . .

When driving and somebody comes up behind you really fast and passes you, don't get all angry and indignant. Stop and think . . . do you know what is going on in that person's life? Maybe they just got word their daughter was in an accident and they just need to get to the hospital fast.

When dealing with others and building relationships, remember their life's experiences have been different than yours. By being kind and compassionate you work towards being empathetic!

Have empathy for your parents, dangblab! For 17 or 18 years they have tried to shield you from the world and some of its harshness. They have tried to give you things they didn't have. They may have spoiled you a little, too. Now, as you enter adulthood and wish to stand on your own, make your own decisions and do what you want -- have empathy for your parents. It is sometimes harder to cut the apron strings than you think. They cannot just turn off trying to protect you. Give them time and understanding as you spread your wings to fly.

Be tolerant, civil and patient

Be tolerant of other cultures, beliefs and attitudes if you want others to be tolerant of your beliefs and attitudes. Which leads me to . . .

. . . Be civil to others. Remember, you can always agree to disagree on any issue. Just because you disagree with someone doesn't mean you have to dislike or hate that someone. As a side note, who likes to be around "that guy" who is always "right" and is willing to let you know it?

Be patient. You will get to where you're going when you get there. Please take the time to observe what is happening around you. Be curious, ask questions, listen . . . once in while just lay down on the grass and look up at the clouds and be in the moment.

Be humble, have humility and laugh

While it's okay to have a little swagger in your walk, even if you are the best thing since sliced bread don't look down your nose at others. When you make a mistake, admit it to yourself and to others as quickly as possible. Don't take yourself so seriously, learn to laugh at yourself instead of others and soon people will be laughing with and want to be around you.

Chill

Relax! Life is gonna' be scary. You're gonna make mistakes. It's okay -- we all go through the same type of issues. We learn. We live. We laugh and we love. Oh, I just thought of this . . . don't just survive, live. Life is wonderful! Even when it is hard and painful life is full of gifts, you just have to always be looking for them.

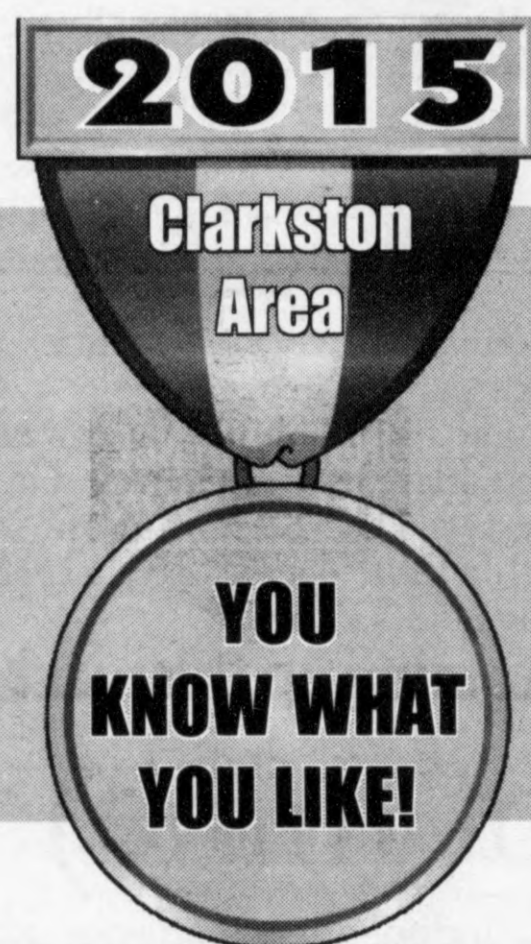

Congrats and welcome to the club!

who has contributed and said very kind words for Lindsey and her family," she said in a message to donors. "For those of you who don't know Lindsey Mauti, she was the kindest person I have ever known."

The vigil was organized by family, friends, and neighbors, with candles set in cups of every size and shape.

"People want to be here to show their support – is speaks volumes about her, as someone who made a difference," said the Rev. Matthew Webster, who led an opening prayer at the vigil and will officiate at her funeral. "This is a huge loss to the community, but it won't end here. Those she impacted will go forward and continue to make a difference."

Mauti, who passed away at the age of 30, was the mother of two; daughter of Denise Eaton and John (Kimberly) Eaton; granddaughter of Cleo Eaton; preceded in death by her grandparents John Eaton and Patricia and Louis Carrer; and sister of Justin (Sadie) Eaton.

She graduated from Clarkston High School and University of Michigan, and worked for Clarkston Community Schools as a teacher's aide and was a talented artist and painter.

"Lindsey was a tremendous asset to our students, providing exceptional care and attention to all she served," said Glenn Gualtieri, principal of Bailey Lake Elementary, where Mauti was a para educator, in a letter to parents. "Her smile and happy demeanor was welcomed and comforting to all around."

Pine Knob Elementary, where she was a parent volunteer, also collected donations for her children.

"Many of our PKE staff and families have been in contact with me and have asked how we can reach out to the Mauti family during this time," said Principal Jodi Yeloushan in a letter to parents. "As a school family, we are planning to collect donations throughout the week to provide a special treat for the children ... perhaps a special trip this summer to a waterpark, a year pass to the zoo and/or something similar. Any additional donations collected will be given to the family to use as needed for the children."

Visitation was June 2 at Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Clarkston. Funeral service is Wednesday, June 3, 10 a.m., at First Congregational Church of Clarkston. Private interment, Lakeview Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, any donations to the family will be used for the future care of her children.

Husband held in murder case

Joseph Gabriel Mauti, 32, faces charges of first-degree murder in the death of Lindsey Mauti, his wife, on May 28.

Joseph was arraigned via video, June 1, in 52-2 District Court, Judge Kelley Kostin officiating.

He was also charged with animal cruelty for the death of their dog.

Deputies were dispatched to the 6000 block of Cheshire Park Drive in Independence Township on a welfare check, 5:16 p.m., May 29. The caller asked officers to check on Lindsey after she didn't show up for work, which was out of character, and wouldn't answer calls and a knock on the door.

Deputies found Lindsey deceased in the garage, with several severe blows to the head and neck. They found Joseph in the home along with their two children, all unharmed.

The family dog was found dead, also the victim of severe blunt trauma. Two baseball bats were recovered as evidence.

The children were taken to their grandparents.

Joseph was previously convicted of Domestic Violence in 2014, and was on probation. He was denied bond and remains jailed. He is due back in court on June 10.

Public Safety

For Clarkston and Independence Township

Tanks taken

Someone took 27 propane tanks from a business in the 5000 block of Sashabaw Road, May 21. Thieves cut through a metal door to reach them.

Left up on blocks

Someone stole all four wheels from a Ford Edge while it was parked overnight in the driveway of a residence in the 6000 block of Cramlane Drive, May 22. The vehicle was left up on blocks.

Truck hit

An Independence Township man was driving on Clarkston Road south of Sashabaw, 3:57 a.m., May 22, when he felt something hit the side of his truck. He did not see anyone on the side of the road at the time. He said he went back to the area and thought he saw a flashlight in the street. He found the passenger side bed of the truck had a large dent and white scratches.

Mailbox destroyed

Someone destroyed a mailbox in the 7000 block of Rattalee Lake Road sometime during the night, May 23.

Pointer problem

Deputies responded to a report of someone shining a green laser pointer at passing traffic on Maybee Road at Sashabaw Road, 1:10 a.m., May 25. They were in the parking lot of the Eagles Club when they saw the green laser coming from the roof of one of the stores to the south of Kroger. A deputy shined his spotlight on the roof and saw a person get up and run north. Officers were unable to get onto the roof right away and the suspect escaped.

Hit and run

A Highland woman's Cadillac CTS was sideswiped by a vehicle while stopped at the red light on Sashabaw Road at Clarkston Road, 2:37 a.m., May 17. The vehicle didn't stop, but the hit-and-run victim was able to get its license plate number. Deputies tracked it to a residence in the 4000 block of Dogwood, and found a Cadillac Fleetwood with fresh damage to its driver's side panels. No one answered knocks at the door, and the vehicle was impounded pending a crash investigation. The next morning, deputies received a call from the vehicle's owner, a 35-year-old Independence Township woman. She said she was the driver, fled because she was scared, and spent the night at a friend's house to avoid being found. She was cited for failing to stop and ID after an accident, and driving without due care and caution.

Speeding cycle

A 25-year-old Pontiac man was stopped for riding his motorcycle at 55 mph in a 40 mph zone on Dixie Highway at Rockcroft Drive, 7:45 p.m., May 22. The cyclist was cited for driving without a cycle endorsement and speeding, and given a warning for no proof of insurance.

Mower mishap

A 54-year-old Monrow woman was cutting a lawn on a riding mower in the 6000 block of Gulick Road, 3:53 p.m., May 25, when she rolled it into a ditch. The mower ended up on top of her. A next door neighbor came over and helped get the mower off her. Independence Township paramedics treated her at the scene and took her to St. Joseph Mercy hospital.

Season ends at districts

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The rain continued its downpour onto the field as the Lady Wolves opened the second half against Rochester Adams in the first round of MHSAA Girls Soccer Districts, May 26.

The weather didn't help either one of the teams but it would finish the Clarkston Varsity Girls Soccer season with a 4-1 loss.

"We played pretty well," said Mike Nelson, head coach. "We left a couple of chances out there especially in the first half that would have kept us in the game or even put us ahead a little bit. We let a couple of defensive breakdowns cost us in the end. The downpour didn't help us in the second half. Rochester Adams is a good team and they have a good forward. It was tough to contain them the whole game."

The second half opened with the Highlanders leading 2-0 and they attempted to put another goal on the scoreboard one minute in.

It was blocked by Clarkston's sophomore Kristen Page as she saved a shot from Rochester Adams.

The Highlanders struck again, scoring their third goal at 37:12 and continued to put the pressure on the Lady Wolves.

Sophomore Jessica Bennett kept the Highlanders from winning with a shutout as she scored Clarkston's lone goal with 6:43 remaining in the game.

Nelson added the loss will help the returners for next season.

"They are not going to be satisfied with this season. Hopefully they realize they have to work hard in the off season and come back ready for next year," he said.

The Lady Wolves finished the season with a 4-5-7 record.

"We were competitive all season," said Nelson. "There were only two games we lost by more than a goal and we ended up with finishing with seven ties, too. We were in every game and that is something the girls next year will aim for improving and capitalizing on being competitive and finishing a little bit more."

The Lady Wolves say goodbye to 10 seniors Morgan Halligan, Brooke Henney, Maddie Herbert, Veronica Hill, Courtney Hughes, Allison Loch, Parker Menard, Olivia Montgomery, Lindsay Runft and Hannah Siegfried.

"The seniors did a good job of continually building the program the last couple of years," said Nelson. "They had some big wins like beating Lake Orion last year and other stuff that really helps the program out."

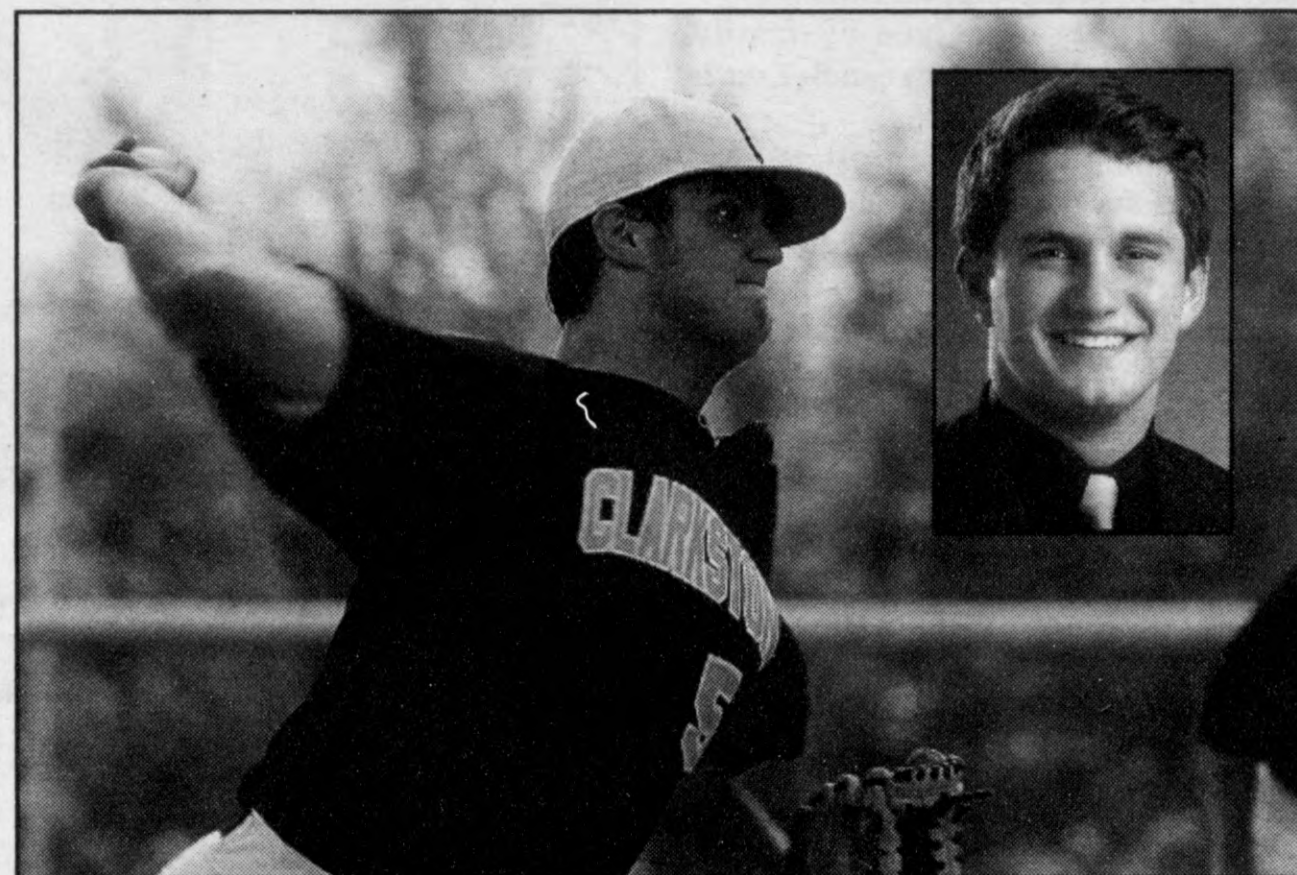

He added the competition knows playing Clarkston Varsity Girls is going to be a tough game.

"They aren't just going to walk in and take anything. I think those expectations are higher now and want more to show to prove it," Nelson said.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Success on the diamond

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

A highlight of the Clarkston Varsity Baseball season for DJ Zezula is this time - playoffs.

"Right now is when everything comes together," he said, adding the season hasn't gone as well as the team had hoped. "The kids are handling it really well. I am happy about it because it is really easy to get down about the season."

Zezula began playing baseball in elementary school with coach-pitch, and his dad was the coach.

"It is such a unique sport," he said about baseball and why he continued playing it. "It is really individualized but at the same time it is team orientated. It is you against the pitcher when you are hitting, but if your team doesn't come together then you don't win. It's really unique."

He has also been on the other side as he stands on the pitching mound and aiming to strike hitters out.

"I always had the strongest arm - a God given ability," he said about being in the position. "I really liked it from the early stages to now. Pitching has always been the funnest part of baseball."

Wolves' fans who have watched Zezula also have seen his arm in action for the Clarkston Varsity Football team as a quarterback.

"Both have arm strength so I get better year round," he said about the positions. "With baseball I throw harder than for football. With both positions they require a lot of pressure and both have them helped me cope with that pressure, deal with it and succeed when the pressure is on."

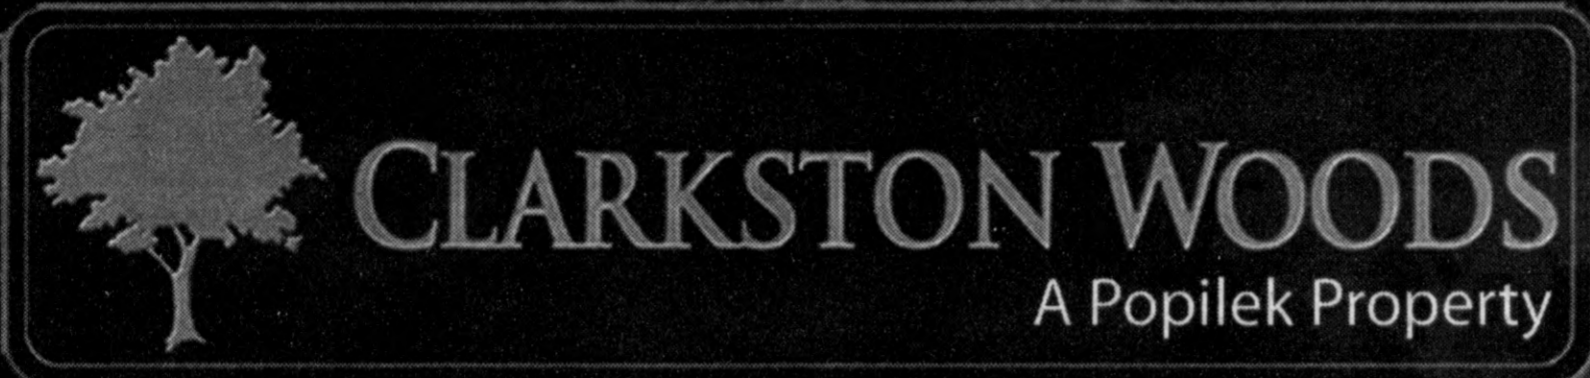

Zezula graduated on Monday and heads to Wayne State University in the fall where he will play football and baseball. He added both sports were important for him to continue when he looked at

Lacrosse makes regionals

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

For the Wolves it came down to one quarter of the game against Brighton in the MHSAA Regional game, May 19.

"We outplayed them for three quarters but we gave them the second quarter and they took full advantage of it," said Clarkston Boys Varsity Lacrosse Head Coach Brian Kaminskas. "We couldn't come back from it."

It was in the second quarter Brighton grabbed the lead at 8-0, and would hold onto it until they won the game 10-5.

"We were disappointed the season came to an end but I thought the guys played well," said Kaminskas.

Austin Egler led the Wolves during the game with with three goals scored in the second half and one assist. Scott Fisher scored two goals in the game. He scored his first goal with 13 seconds remaining in the first half.

Kaminskas added the loss will help the returners coming back for next year.

"There was some sting to bow out of the playoffs a little early," he said. "They will remember it and use it as motivating factor going forward. I think it will help. Every now and then you need to be reset and sometimes an outside force is the best way to make that happen."

The boys finished with one more game - a loss to Troy in an OAA Red makeup game on May 27.

"We used it as a fun year end game," said

Kaminskas. "Everyone played and got to pick their positions."

Austin Egler, Sheldon Bordeau, Jim Trombley and Cole Phillips scored during the game.

The two losses put them at a 8-10 overall record for the season which is not a typical season for the lacrosse team.

"We talked to the boys about this from the start our theory is don't judge us on the scoreboard," Kaminskas said. "We are going to go out every day and we are going to work hard. If we improve and become a better program and a better team then that's success and that's exactly what we did."

"The kids worked hard," he added. "If you compare the beginning of the season to where we ended it - the skills, the fundamentals as individuals and as a team I think it is very hard to argue we didn't do well."

The Wolves bid goodbye to 12 seniors Austin Egler, Ross Manssur, John McLennan, Shane Noble, Cole Phillips, Mitch Prock, Dayne Rogers, Jason Setting, Chris Toro, Jim Trombley, Cole Vandenberg and Andrew Williamson.

"One of the things they are leaving behind is put your head down and go to work type of attitude," said Kaminskas.

"They knew they would have some tough battles in front of them and they put in some hard work. They approached it properly. We have always worked hard in the past but this group in particular faced all the challenges head on and they were ready for them."

Everest takes regional title

The Mountaineers made history by winning the MHSAA Boys Golf Regional title for the first time.

The Everest Collegiate Boys Golf team kept their winning streak alive as they advanced to the MHSAA Golf State Finals by winning their Regionals at Westwynd Golf Course on May 27.

With the course playing very tough and strong winds the boys were able to squeak out a victory by one stroke over Saginaw Nouvel to capture the Class D Regional title.

The Mountaineers score of 353 was led by junior Tyler Rozwadowski who shot a 76 and was the medalist with the lowest score of the field of players.

Rounding out the rest of the score was sophomore Joey McMahon with a 91, freshmen Nick Korns, 92, and freshman JC James, 94.

The Mountaineers travel to The Meadows Golf Club at Grand Valley State University for the state finals set for this Friday and Saturday.

Zezula heads to Wayne State colleges.

Wayne State University was also a draw because it was in an urban area.

"Clarkston is not really that urban so I wanted to get both lifestyles living out here is more rural than Detroit," he said. "I wanted to get that lifestyle and also the academic side of Wayne State. It is right behind Michigan State University and University of Michigan. Plus, the coaches were really welcoming and it was exactly what I was looking for. They had the whole package."

He also wanted to continue playing baseball because he admitted he didn't put in as much time as he did with football and is still throwing 87 miles per hour.

"If I put a little bit time in and get some good coaching later down the road in college then maybe they will help me hit 90 miles per hour," Zezula said. "When you hit 90 you are a pro prospect."

He admitted all young athletes' aspirations is to be a professional but for him it is about having options.

"I could go to the Canadian Football league, I could go into business, I could go into something like that," he said. "When you have options, you have power."

His advice to aspiring athletes is to never give up.

"You never know it could be your hidden talent and you could succeed in it one day," he added.

What's new with high cholesterol?
By Erica Harding MD

As we age, we hear more and more about our cholesterol levels and that we need to control it before it harms us. Cholesterol can be confusing to many individuals because high levels do not cause observable everyday symptoms. There's also lots of negative press about the most used drug category, the 'statins'. To add to the complexity, there also exists a multitude of products claiming to lower cholesterol. You might have heard about cholesterol treatment everywhere from your primary care doctor, your chiropractor, your naturopath, TV and the internet. What is one to do with all of the information presented to them about cholesterol?

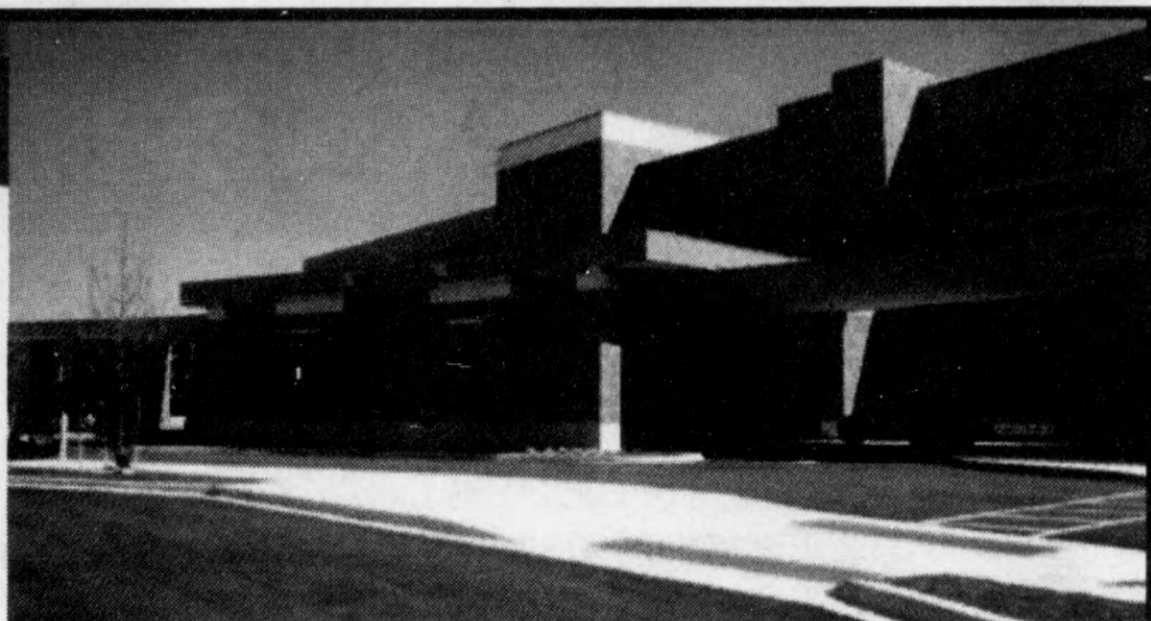

As physicians, we pay close attention to cholesterol levels. This information helps us to identify patients at risk for heart attack and stroke and hopefully prevent these diseases and the extremely negative effect they can have on your quality of life. It is for this reason that it is also important that you have the information you need to make decisions and lifestyle changes related to high cholesterol.

A set of new guidelines were released in 2013 by a panel of primary care doctors, cardiologists and endocrinologists who reviewed multiple studies involving thousands of patients. There are 4 groups that benefit from drug therapy to lower cholesterol:

1. Those patients who have already had a stroke or heart attack
2. Patients with diabetes type 2
3. Patients with an LDL level (bad cholesterol) greater than 190
4. Patients with an estimated risk of vascular disease of greater than 7% using a risk calculator (can be found online on the American Heart Association website https://www.heart.org/gglRisk/main_en_US.html)

It's also important to realize that most patients should have a trial of diet and exercise and quit smoking, if applicable, prior to starting drug therapy, especially those in groups 3 and 4.

Visit us today and discover why we're the better choice!

So, why are statins considered the most recommended medications? The answer is because they have the most medical evidence supporting reduction of risk in medical trials. Do statins have side effects? Of course. You may have heard about muscle pain and liver enzyme issues. In my experience, which is supported by the literature, liver enzyme abnormalities are rare and can usually be avoided by carefully selecting the right medication for the right person. Muscle pain can be a side effect, but more often than not, this can be mitigated by making sure there are no medication interactions and switching to a different statin if possible. These side effects are uncommon, only rarely causing permanent damage. You also may have heard that statins can affect your blood sugar. These medications can raise blood sugars, however, usually only in patients who are pre-diabetic. These individuals generally progress on to diabetes even off statin medications and are usually at high risk for heart disease.

If your physician recommends a statin to control your cholesterol levels, it is important to ask about any drug interactions that may occur with pre existing medications you are taking. While other drugs are available to treat cholesterol, they do not come with the supporting data that they reduce your risk for heart attack and stroke.

In conclusion, these guidelines can help you and your physician make decisions about actively lowering your risk for heart attack and stroke. If your cholesterol remains high after making lifestyle changes, if you have already had a heart attack or stroke or if you have diabetes, these drugs can be part of an effective preventative medicine regimen.

Photographer shoots for honesty

BY LAUREN BARNHARDT
Special to the Clarkston News

In the eyes of Clarkston High School senior Hunter McLaren, honesty truly is the best policy. That's why he created his Honesty Photography project.

He was first inspired by Humans Of New York, a popular photography project created by Brandon Stanton featuring photos and comments of random New Yorkers.

"I thought Humans of New York was such a cool project idea. I was like, 'let me just do that but on a smaller scale within our community,'" explained McLaren.

He has been taking photographs of fellow CHS students for less than a month, using his Canon Rebel, an early graduation present from his parents. After photographing each student, he asked them a question.

"I really wanted to find people brave enough to answer whatever question I asked them, honestly," said McLaren. "I've come to realize how important honesty really is, and that we don't ever really know someone just by looking at them, but I've also realized that we shouldn't have to be afraid to be honest either, that's what I'm trying to show here."

Clarkston junior Emma Morris fit the bill. She was featured on McLaren's Instagram page, the social media platform he uses for his project.

When asked who inspired her and why, Morris answered, "My grandmother Babe. When she was married to Dwayne, he cheated on her right after they had their seventh kid together. She basically never complained, she just pushed forward and raised all of the kids on her own."

The forthright Morris speaks highly of her experience with the Honesty Photography project.

"I think what Hunter is doing is not only really cool, but really important. This project doesn't just promote empathy, it allows you to become much more accepting and receptive to the people you're passing in the halls everyday," she explained.

Hundreds of others also support the project, in the form of 890 Instagram followers and many interested peers.

"I thought I'd get 10 to 15 people willing to let me photograph them, I ended up getting 43. I even stopped taking volunteers just because I didn't want the project to get tired," McLaren added.

He does not plan to continue his Honesty

Photography project once he leaves CHS. However, he already has future project plans in the works.

McLaren's Honesty Photography project hasn't just influenced his peers and Instagram followers, it has had a large impact on him and his future as well.

"I'm actually thinking I want to minor in photography now and major in English at CMU. I just think it's really cool to combine photography and English, which is what I'm doing now. I get to mix my love for writing with my love for photography and create real meaning," he said.

Teen art show at library

Teenagers from around the community can express their creative side at the seventh annual Imagine That! Art Show at the Clarkston Independence District Library.

"The library holds the art show in order to provide teens with the opportunity to display the artwork they've worked so hard on, gain recognition and empower them as valued members of the community," said Erin Holmes, coordinator of the event.

The Teen Art Show will be on June 18, 6-8 p.m. Submission guidelines are available at the Clarkston Independence Library. The deadline for entering the Art Show is June 9.

"I believe this is an important event for not only these reasons but also because the Art Show serves as an evening that truly celebrates and honors the creativity and ingenuity of our local teens," Holmes said. "Myself and the library have such great respect for all of the hard work demonstrated by these teens that we want to be able to really showcase that and share it with the rest of the community, so they can see it too."

In order to be eligible to win a prize, the artist must be present at the art show and be Voting for favorite art pieces will be open until 7:30 p.m., and prizes will be awarded at 8 p.m.

New chief takes the reins

Petterson was named interim chief in February after former Chief Steve Ronk retired after four decades of service. Ronk strongly recommended Petterson as his replacement.

Candidates submitted resumes by March 26. Requirements needed to nab job were stringent and included a large list of the right training and certifications, leadership skills, employee relation experience and much more.

The township received nine resumes.

"Of the original nine resumes received, four were removed from consideration for failing to meet basic job requirements established by the Township," Supervisor Pat Kittle said. "It was narrowed down to five applicants for face-to-face interviews."

Each candidate was interviewed by the township's three elected officials Kittle, Treasurer Paul Brown and Clerk Barb Pallotta.

Candidates also held face to face interviews with five township department heads, the township's three fire captains, and three township trustees. Remaining candidates were given a score for each session of interviews, which were calculated and then audited.

Each were assessed by EMPCO, a recruitment and assessment company often used to assess and hire public safety officers for government agencies.

"Two of those candidates stood out as being exemplary, but Petterson had an overall higher score when all the processes were added together," Kittle said.

He ended up being the best for the job.

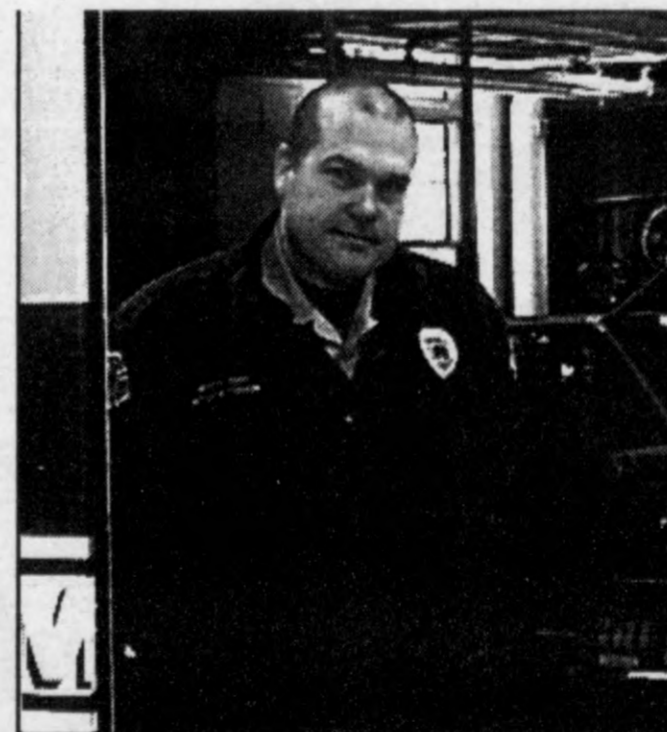

Trustee Ron Ritchie agrees.

"I think Mitch is the best candidate to fill the fire chief position because of his knowledge of Independence Township and his experience with our department capabilities, staff and equipment," he said. "He knows our community and has the passion to keep this department operating at the highest level for all of our residents."

Petterson will receive an annual gross salary of $82,500 and benefits.

He will receive an additional $2,500 after five years of continued service with the department. Petterson reports to the township supervisor and the township board of trustees.

The township board of trustees voted in favor of hiring Petterson at their meeting, May 26.

Learning the art of coding

Students in Clarkston Community Schools Coding Club showed off what they learned at a May 20 presentation at Clarkston High School.

The club, which exposes kids to the computer sciences, has spread to five school buildings in the district, with about 120 students meeting during their lunch and recess periods, said Lori Banaszak, instructional technology specialist.

"They teach students how coding can be applied to physical objects to make things happen," Banaszak said. "It takes commitment. These are self driven, motivated kids. Next year, we'll be in all the elementaries, and Sashabaw Middle School."

At the exhibits, student Adam Ehrenberger explained how you don't need computer components to make a circuit board.

"The computer thinks you're hitting keys when you're actually using oranges – it's kind of crazy," said Ehrenberger, who was using the Makey Makey program. "It teaches you the power of technology."

Lauren Sielinski used Scratch to program a "build your own ice cream cone" game.

"I learned Java script," she said. "It's really fun and I learned a lot of fun things."

A grant from Clarkston Foundation was used to buy Makey Makey and Spheros programs to build skills the students can use on Team RUSH and other technology programs as high schoolers, Banaszak said.

"There are so many directions they can go with this at the high school," she said.

Violet Bergman and Derek Wilson, to her right, show how Sphero works to Independence coding club students Jeremy Mattson and Evan Plisk.
