Moscovic retires from career in education

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Dick Moscovic laid a solid foundation for thousands of high schoolers over the past 47 years.

"I feel very blessed," said Moscovic, building trades teacher at his retirement party, June 19, at Oakland Schools Technical Campus Northwest.

"In the last 27 years being in this building, there wasn't a day I got up when I didn't look forward to coming to work. Not too many can say that."

About 50 of his colleagues gathered for the breakfast celebration, sharing stories and memories.

"They call him coach, which is really appropriate," said Dean Chuck Locklear, who has worked with Moscovic for 16 years. "He has been more than just an instructor. He's a mentor, a role model."

Changes proposed

City gives preliminary OK to another restaurant downtown

BY ANDREA M. BEADOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Changes will occur to three buildings in downtown Clarkston if plans presented by restaurateur Curt Catallo reach final approval.

On Monday, Catallo's plans were granted preliminary approval just after council had a lengthy discussion over parking needed for Bright Side Dental. Citizens raised concerns over parking because 27 spots would be needed for a 1,500 square foot addition.

A city resident, Catallo was before council representing his restaurant umbrella business, Union Joints. He shared plans effecting three buildings in town.

Catallo's plans include properties at 148 N. Main (now undergoing renovations), 28 S. Main and 3 E. Church Street. The Union Joints must return to the planning commission and the Historic District Commission for final approval.

Under the plan, the Morgan's building at 28 Main and the garage building on Church will be transformed into restaurants. Morgan's Service will move from the location it has occupied for over 90 years to Main and Clarkston.

"It's a great place for Morgan's," Catallo said. "This is a better use."

Catallo said the future of Morgan's was of great concern when he purchased the current DPW building behind it.

"When we purchased 3 E. Church, the previous owners asked we not use the space in a way as not to impact Morgans," Catallo said.

New plans shows those buildings becoming a restaurant serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Catallo said the new restaurant would be open all day beginning at a 6 a.m. for breakfast, and staying open until at least midnight. The menu would be breakfast, a light lunch and "comfort food."

Catallo also said he would restore Morgan's to a more historic look.

The old building at 148 N. Main would look good too, he added.

"This plan allows us to preserve 148 N. Main now and restore a building which needs a little TLC," Catallo said.

Work on the long-time auto-based at 148 N. Main is underway and includes replacing the concrete floor and changing garage doors.

Catallo has worked on development plans for 148 N. Main since last summer after entering a purchase agreement with long-time owner Larry Trepek.

Preliminary designs for Morgan's and the building behind it at 3 E. Church may include a restaurant with a 240-foot addition, seating on the roof, and outdoor seating. Parking for the restaurant, which could serve 138 patrons, was not an issue discussed at length.

Clarkston has become home for Mocsovic family

Moscovic moved to Michigan from Pennsylvania in 1968. He was recruited by Lake Orion, but soon found himself applying to Clarkston.

"I walked in the front door of the high school and said 'I'm looking for a job,'" he said. "That afternoon I had a contract in my back pocket. It goes to show you how things have changed."

He's proud of the work his students have done in the community, learning the building trades.

"They were all good. Some more challenging than others," he said.

"The last one we did in Waterford on Elizabeth Lake, a lifeskills training center for young women at risk – it offered a lot of challenges. It's been a great career. I feel very, very fortunate to be in the physical shape I'm in. Hopefully I can keep that up the next several years."

He plans to stay in Clarkston with his wife, Toni, which is also where their three sons, Dean, Derek, and Drew, have settled with their families.

"Seven grandchildren, all pretty busy," he said. "I'll put more energy into the building company (Dick Moscovic Building Company) and hopefully keep doing things right."

Briefly

July 4 parade

The Clarkston Fourth of July Parade Committee is looking for floats, walking units, bands and performers for the parade, which starts at 10 a.m., Saturday, July 4, at St. Daniel's Catholic Church on Holcomb Road.

The parade will proceed down Miller Road, south on Main Street to Church Street and on to the Renaissance High School parking lot.

Parade entry is free to non-profit groups and $35 for businesses and politicians. Parade registration is available on the Clarkston Chamber of Commerce, Clarkston, and Independence Township websites, or call 248-922-7395. Registration closes on June 29.

Filing deadline

Clarkston City Councilmen Eric Haven, Thomas Hunter, David Marsh seats will be on the ballot on the Nov. 3 election.

The deadline to file nominating petitions and Affidavits of Identity is Tuesday, July 21, 2015 by 4 p.m. The petitions are ready for pick up at 375 Depot Street in the Clerk's office.

Budget approved

The Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education approved the 2015-2016 final budget during Monday night's meeting, 7-0.

The final budget include total revenues of $85,920,030 and expenditures of $85,945,042.

The next school board meeting is July 13 at the administration building, 6389 Clarkston Road.

Road work

Construction along Sashabaw Road continues on a $5 million road project in the area.

Plan for detours as the northbound I-75 ramp remains closed until July and crews remain in the area.

Crews also continue to work on a culvert which will keep Maybee Road closed until around the end of June.

For construction updates, and detour information, visit the Independence Township website at www.twp.independence.mi.us

Julie's Journey

A column by Julie Goldberg

I am seven weeks into my internship with The Clarkston News and it feels like my first day was just yesterday.

With this internship, I am given the opportunity to write stories about the city I grew up in and so far it has been a rewarding experience for me.

This internship has shown me I can have a future as a reporter after I complete college. I know I still have a lot to learn, but I will continue to learn and improve on the things I know I need to improve on.

Along with writing stories for the newspaper, I am learning how to take the right picture for them. This internship has been helping me getting over my shyness as well.

I have to talk to people I've never talked to before and ask them questions for the newspaper. I know if I want a future as a reporter I have to talk to people I do not know and this internship is helping me with it.

Having an internship has helped me with my procrastination as well.

Every college student procrastinates in some way and I will admit I am one who procrastinates and waits to do things until the last possible minute.

This internship has shown me deadlines are extremely important in the newspaper business, and I have to complete my story for the newspaper by the deadline I am given.

Throughout the first seven weeks of this internship, I've had people tell me they are proud of me for having an internship because I am learning a lot from it.

That gives me reassurance this internship is worth waking up early every morning and driving to the office to work on what I need to complete for the newspaper.

I have eight weeks left of this internship to continue writing stories about the city of Clarkston and to continue learning about being a reporter.

I am looking forward to what the rest of this internship has in store for me and extremely grateful The Clarkston News is giving me the opportunity to complete an internship with them.

Thanks for home tour support

Dear Editor,

What a wonderful weekend!

The 33rd SCAMP Home Tour was a tremendous success and we are in awe of the remarkable support from the community. From the gracious homeowners, generous sponsors, giving donors, a hard working committee, and fantastic volunteers, we could not have possibly done it without everyone joining together.

We had many fabulous sponsors: Clarkston Medical Group, Corporate Eagle—Rick and Megan Nini, Al Deeby Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram, Bowman Chevrolet, The Clarkston News, Great Lakes Athletic Club, Planned Financial Services, McLaren Health Care, TI Automotive, Munk Orthodontics, LaFontaine Automotive Group, Clarkston Brandon Community Credit Union, John and Sue Welker, Roeser Dental Associates, Tom and Cindy Vella, Mark and Beth Kirchner, The Schindler Group at UBS Financial, Integrated Marketing Services, Waterfall Jewelers, Clever Closets/Motor City Garages, Smith's Disposal and Recycling, Tanner Building and Remodeling, Bright Side Dental, Berkshire Hathaway HomeServices, Clarkston Flower Shoppe, The Parsonage, Stephanie Harmon, Front Door Designs and Bordine's Nursery.

Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Event possible with the community support

Dear Editor,

A huge thank you to all the students (who were excellent students), Springfield Plains Elementary staff, (especially Lars Covintree, SPE's physical education teacher for all his design work in planning whether it be with fitness instructors, games and food and especially for all his set up and assisting with timing and game running the day of the event), volunteers and our very special guests, local Clarkston business owners, who took time out of their very busy schedules to share their time, talents and inspirational passion and love around lifetime fitness.

They include: Bryn Butki associated with WAZA North FC, www.waza.com;

Dignified CrossFit lead by Joe DeGain, of Clarkston, www.dignifiedcrossfit.com;

FitnessQuest of Clarkston lead by trainers Caryn VanBeckum, Brent Cornwell and Kristen Dolecki, www.fqpt.com;

Mueva Fitness of Clarkston lead by licensed Zumba Kids Instructor Jen Breen, www.muevafitness.com;

Stars and Stripes Kids Activity Center of Clarkston provided a gymnastics circuit run by Heather Kettle, www.starsandstripeskids.com; and Twisted Root Yoga & Fitness of Clarkston lead by Rob and Amanda Elosegui, www.twistedrootyogaandfitness.com.

Also a huge shout out to the SPE PTA, parents and volunteers who supported this event in any way! It would not have been possible without you!

The Co-Chairs of the Fit and Fun event and SPE PTA Members appreciated all of your support!

Sincerely,

Stacy John, Kristin Pace and Tamara Zelinski

I like fireworks as much as the next guy, just won't spend my money on it

Soon after lighting a fire cracker, at about the age of 10 (which was about the same time I started appreciating clanging coins in my pocket) I made a lifetime commitment: To stop bursting money into the air. And, I ain't done it since!

Jim's Jottings

A column by Jim Sherman I love having money and spending it for needed and practical things. There are obviously all kinds of reasons to shoot off fireworks, and that's fine if it isn't my money. For celebrations, military occasions, fairs, ball games, etc., I can be patriotic, get chills, bow my head when it's called for with others, but I will not donate money to shoot it in the air.

I donate money for more than a few causes – and I'm going to review those causes to see if they blow my money into the air.

Nobody is more widely known in Oxford than Helen Smith! She's been what you call "involved" in this community all her life, and that's quite a while. Her daddy started Smith Silo Company here, and by nature she worked with him a long time.

She has spent a huge amount of her time advancing student education, sports and other community causes.

Recently she had another health setback, which left her recuperating in a Lake Orion nursing home.

Among her visitors on the same day were Pastor Bob Holt and funeral director Bill Huntoon. And, out of Helen's mouth came a typical Helen remark, "You boys trying to tell me something?"

Tats, ghosts and puffy, white tennis shoes

First off kids, don't try this at home or for any high school or collegiate paper for which you will be graded. I am a highly trained and 40-hour a week salaried professional. What you are about to witness, if I can pull it off, is a column which weaves three, seemingly unrelated topics into one coherent lettered masterpiece.

I ask for your silence.

Drum roll, please . . .

I grew up in a time and place in America that was pretty much, how do I put this tactfully as not to upset the standard bearers of our community, lily white. Protocol was adhered to at all costs and chaos was managed. Change was frowned upon, disruption and free will quelled. Tattoos where for U.S. Marines and sailors and anybody who passed through town, just out of prison heading to other places to reside, say like Waterford or Pontiac. If you haven't guessed yet or didn't ever know it, I grew up in Clarkston in the 1970s and 80s.

So, why is it then, oh for the last nine or ten years, do I keep coming up with this idea of getting a tattoo or two? What sort of devil is dancing in my thoughts?

I am not saying there are devils or ghosts who try to influence the thoughts and actions of men and women like my own dear Aunt Janice might say (she, does, by the way, have tattoos). I have had Janice up to Clarkston as a special guest-fund-raiser-attraction for a few events at The BirdFeeder/Clarkston Flower Shoppe/Bonnie & Clyde store. There, she told a lot of folks some things they were surprised by. Some smiled. Others cried. Her efforts to rid a Wayne County home of a nasty spirit was even written about in a book a few years ago. Because of her gift (or curse) she's got street cred.

She might say some one or some thing is actually whispering into my ear, "Get a tat, dear one. For me. For you."

I will have to ask Janice and see what she is seeing and or hearing from the other side around me. I don't know. I usually don't ask Janice to see what I cannot see about me. Ignorance in the world of spooks, to me, is bliss.

I don't know.

First, I wasn't a Marine, I am most assuredly a lubber of land and I ain't been to prison. According to my (while not Protestant) honkey upbringing the idea of having some stranger stick needles into my flesh and then color it with permanent dye should be a no-brainer. No, no and more no to getting inked.

And yet . . . there is that sweet little nudging at the back of my neck.

I don't know.

Second, I am pretty much a creature of habit. Don't believe me, get a load of this crap. When I was young and impressionable and growing up in Clarkston, my favorite TV show (for all of about two nano-seasons that it lasted) was Kolchak, The Night Stalker. It was about this newspaper reporter who investigated mysterious crimes that usually turned out to be of the supernatural in cause. I dug that short-lived show. I wanted to be a newspaper reporter like Kolchak. And, I am . . . And, do you know what else?

He wore cheap suits and puffy, white tennis shoes. I love, white, puffy tennis shoes. Can't get enough of them. I've worn them since college. I buy them as soon as the current puffy, white tennis shoes wear out (and sometimes before). I am never without white, puffy tennis shoes. I wear them with dark dress slacks and with sports jackets. I wear them with shorts and I'll wear them with jeans.

I love my puffy, white tennis shoes so much, at least one person near and dear to me pokes fun at me; will send me pictures of Sean Penn and other people wearing white, puffy tennis shoes with a cutesy remarks.

So, I am not that guy who just goes out and changes things up for the sake of changing things up. And still, gentle nudging persists. If I were to get a tat or two, not saying I will, they would be hidden. Like, on my upper arm, just below the tops of my shoulders.

Thirdly, I am also one of the cheapest guys around. Tattoos no one would even see costs, good, hard-earned money that can be used for other things, like - well like a new pair of puffy, white tennis shoes.

Fourthly, as I am not a Marine, only a newspaper guy, I have to admit: I am soft. Oh, and I am squeamish, too. Pain hurts and tatoos have got to be painful, I might pass out or something. You may not know this, but I do have my pride and passing out would be embarrassing.

The idea was to have a shamrock on each shoulder. Under one shamrock would be son Shamus' name; under the other son Sean's. I shouldn't. I should.

I don't know. Readers, what say you? Email me Don@ShermanPublications.org

Expired registration

A deputy on patrol noticed a car on June 5 at 12 p.m. on northbound Clintonville Road turning west onto Waldon Road. The plate had an expired April registration sticker. A 35-year-old Independence Township man was pulled over and the driver's license was expired. The deputy issued an appearance for driving while the license was not valid, giving false information to the police and expired plates.

Bike taken

A Joy Street resident reported that sometime between 1-6 a.m. on June 9, a person stole a bike. The bike was set alongside a trailer and was not locked.

Plate violation

A deputy on patrol stopped a truck pulling a trailer loaded with two telephone poles on Sashabaw Road at Clarkston Road, 3:25 p.m., June 11. The poles stuck out 20 feet beyond the end of the trailer and were marked with a yellow T-shirt instead of a required 12-by-12-inch red flag. The trailer also didn't have a license plate. The company was cited for plate violation, no annual inspection, disconnected trailer breakaway brakes, and equipment violation for a broken taillight, and given a warning for lack of red flag.

No permit

A deputy stopped a garbage truck on Sashabaw Road at I-75 because of a broken tail light and lack of reflective tape, 11:23 a.m., June 12. The company was cited for lack of waste-hauler's permit and given warnings for the equipment violations.

Fiery fireworks

A deputy was called out to Reese Road at Bitterbush in response to a report of a fire,

Public Safety

For Clarkston and Independence Township

1:52 a.m., June 13. The officer found gas was used in the fire, and three expended Roman candles about 50 feet away. He used his fire extinguisher to put out the fire, and called Independence Township firefighters for investigation.

Driving in the dark

A deputy on patrol stopped a car driving on Dixie Highway near Ortonville Road without headlights, 11:48 p.m., June 15. The driver, a 25-year-old Waterford woman, was cited for no lights after dark, expired plates, expired driver's license, and failure to change address on license. Her passenger, a 34-year-old Waterford man was found with a misdemeanor warrant out of White Lake for aggravated assault. He was turned over to White Lake Police.

Credit card theft

A Clarkston schools employee found a stack of credit cards, insurance cards, and other documents in the student parking lot near the baseball diamonds at Clarkston High School, 8:23 a.m., June 13. Deputies contacted the cards' owner, a 40-year-old Independence Township resident, who said the items were stolen from her vehicle parked in the 5000 block of Forest Valley Drive the night before. She called back about an hour later and said one of her credit cards had been used to buy fast food on Dixie Highway. Restaurant video showed a silver or grey car, possibly a Pontiac G-6, in the drive through at the time.

Theft from truck

Someone took a bag of golf clubs from the covered back of a pickup truck parked in the 5000 block of Fox Chase Lane, June 13. The owner thought he locked it, but there was no sign of forced entry.

Quick turn

A car piqued a deputy's interest when its driver made an abrupt turn into a parking lot on Dixie Highway when the officer looked at it, 8:51 a.m., June 15. The deputy waited for it to come out, pulled out behind it when it did, and the driver made another abrupt turn into another parking lot. The deputy then made a traffic stop. The driver, a 54-year-old Pontiac man, was cited for driving with an expired license, improper plate, and no insurance.

Obstructed plate

A 54-year-old Independence Township man was stopped on Sashabaw Road at Maybee Road due to an obstructed license plate, 4:40 p.m., June 17. Removing the discolored plastic cover showed it has been expired since 2007. He was cited for driving with a suspended license, improper plate, and no insurance.

Broken headlight

A deputy stopped a car with a broken headlight, 9:28 p.m., June 17, on Oak Hill Road at S. Hadley Road. The driver, a 58-year-old Independence Township man, was cited for driving with a suspended license, expired plates, and one headlight.

Rumor has it . . .

Norman Pardo says he has OJ under contract

The Clarkston News was told last week that Orenthal James "OJ" Simpson will appear in an upcoming 10-part mini-series, "The People V. OJ Simpson."

This news is brought to you by Clarkston-area resident Norman Pardo. Pardo, OJ's manager and promoter, would not reveal the terms of the OJ's agreement, only that yes OJ Simpson is under an employment contract.

Pardo did reveal OJ is under contract and could be "set to rake in millions if the production is a success."

OJ Simpson's road rage attorney Craig A. Brand, Esq. also confirmed OJ was under contract but would not go into the details.

Pardo said all he can disclose is that each of the 10, half hour episodes will dissect a single piece of evidence from the 1995 trial of Simpson for the murder of ex wife Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman.

When asked why use OJ's insight as a consultant, Pardo said, "Why not....at this point most of the original team, Johnny Cochran, Robert Kardashian, etc., are not alive to give insight to what really took place before during and after the trial of the century. The only one left who knows what really happened would be Simpson himself, so his insight would be instrumental to any production."

As a side note, Pardo said the producer is still searching for additional characters/actors for "The People V. OJ Simpson." Send your head shot and bio to: Casting@peoplevojsimpson.com

A home run into camp fun

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

The boys ran the bases last Thursday as they played their last game during Clarkston High School Phil Price's Baseball Camp for players ages 7-14.

Price, head coach for Wolves' Varsity Baseball, along with high school players, helped the boys work on the fundamentals on the game including throwing, catching, fielding, base running and rules of the game.

"It's really fun," Ryan White smiled on the last day of camp in between throws to other players.

He explained it was his first time at the camp.

"It's good," Matt Pflieger added about the camp.

The campers gathered one last time at the bleachers. Price took the moment and asked them to raise their hand if they ran more during the camp than they usually ran, as well as who swung the bat more and who took more ground balls during camp.

Seeing hands raised high, Price added, "what I encourage and challenge you guys to do is don't let that happen next week. Swing the bat as much as you did this week. Run around as much as you did this week. Throw the ball as much as you did this week. Take as many ground balls as you did this week."

He explained the importance to keep practicing with a story about when he was nine-years-old, just beginning to play baseball.

"I was not very good," he admitted. "I got to play half an inning because that's what parks and recreation mandated - everyone got to play some. I played half an inning or didn't get to play. I didn't like it that much. You have a choice - if you don't like something you can whine or pout about something, or you can do something about it. You can start by practicing."

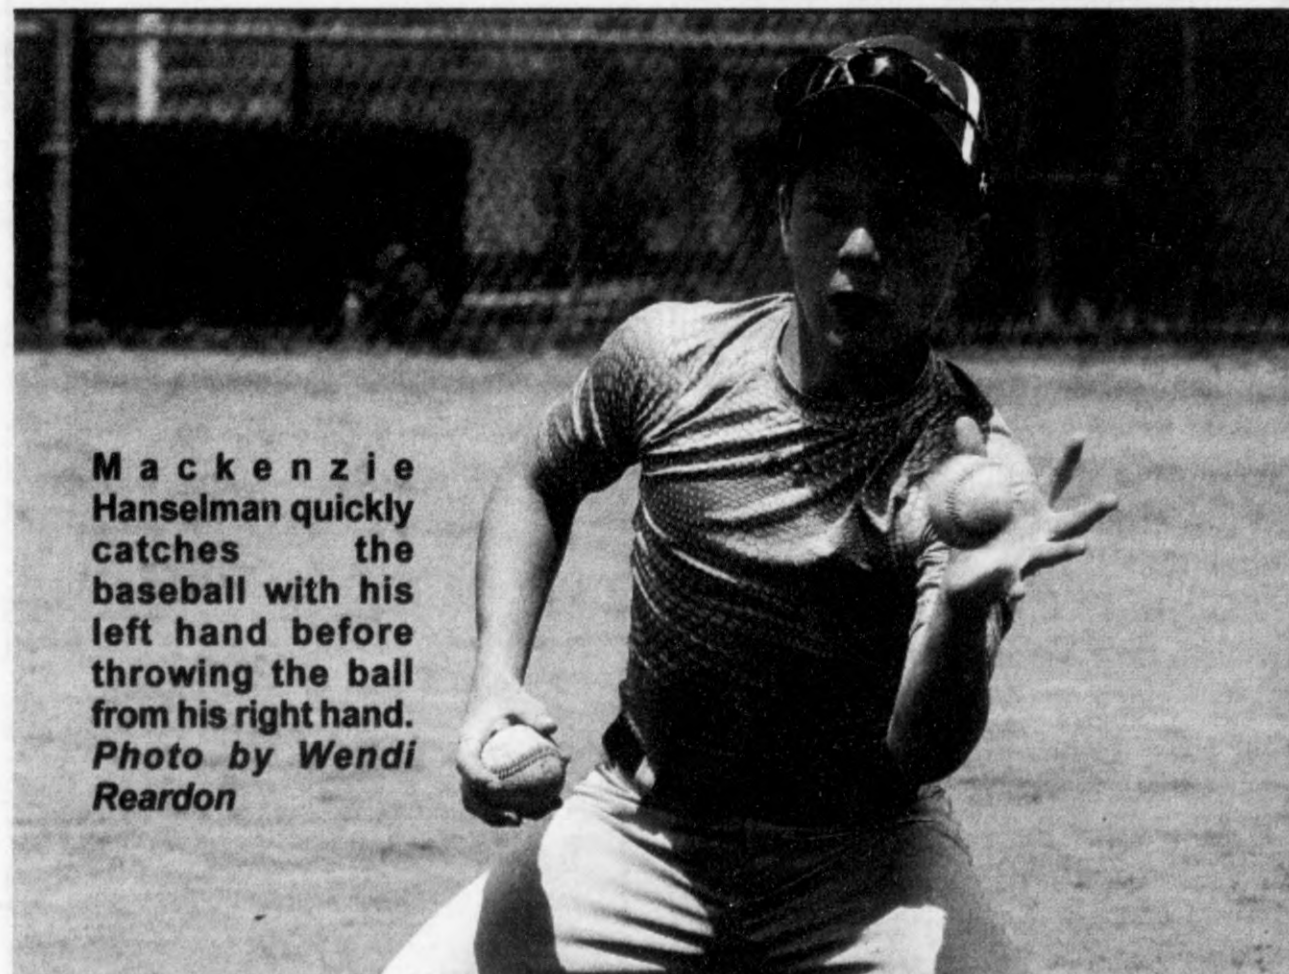

He gave the boys examples of how they could practice even if they couldn't find someone to practice with. They could throw the ball against a wall, throw into the air and catch it, and hit baseballs off a tee.

"Find a way to get better," Price added. "As a varsity coach I look for three things - I want arm speed, bat speed and leg speed."

He also encouraged the boys to keep playing especially to play other sports and to be competitive.

"Thank you guys for coming," he added before everyone left. "Get outside and play. It breaks my heart when I drive through neighborhoods and I don't see kids outside playing. Make games up."

The camp was offered through Clarkston Community Education. For more information or to check out other camps and activities offered this summer please visit www.clarkston.k12.mi.us/cec.

Stellar season

The Lady Wolves set the spring season on fire.

"We had a tremendous amount of accomplishments," said Clarkston Varsity Softball Head Coach Don Peters. "There was a lot of great things. They are one of the best teams in the state and they played like that all the time."

Not only did the team reach the MHSAA Softball Division I Quarterfinals but they were also champions in the OAA Red League, district, region, Mel and Josephine Vaara Pink Classic, Ann Arbor Tournament and Bay City Tournament.

They finished the season with a 40-3 record, including being undefeated in the league and being named Academic All-State team. They also helped Peters win his 800th game.

The team includes Abby Skvarce, Ashley Skaggs, Paige Blevins, Savannah Spring, Rachel Vieira, Mikayla Blaska, Madeline Maday, Maddy Scarsella, Hannah Chadwell, Madison Peck, Kaylee Percival, Candace Kitchen, Alex Gladding, Alex Favazza and Victoria Sharkey.

Several players ended the season with honors.

Blaska, Kitchen and Vieira received honors for All-State, All-League, All-County, All-Ann Arbor Tournament Team, All-District, All-Region and Academic All-State. Vieira also received Most Spirited.

Blaska also received the Michigan High School Softball Coaches' Association Scholarship.

Skvarce and Favazza received honorable mention All-State, All-League, All-District and All-Region. Favazza also received Academic All-State and Skvarce received honorable mention All-County. Madeline Maday received Academic All-State and second team All-District and All-Region and Victoria Sharkey was named second team All-District.

The coaching staff, of Peters, Mike McCollum, Bailey Bailey, Tara Perry and Joe Moore, were district, region and OAA coaches of the year.

Favazza, Vieira, Blaska and Kitchen will play in this summer's MHSSCA All-Star game with Peters as one of the coaches.

"The players, parents, and coaches had a lot of fun," Peters added. "We were blessed."

Family time at the race track

There's only one seat in Hunter Forrester's quarter midget race car, but he wouldn't have a chance to win without his dad, Terry Forrester.

"It's father and son time – they both have to have a commitment," said Heather Forrester, Hunter's mother.

"We spend weekends together, racing," Terry said. "All about the set up, like NASCAR – shocks, weight percentage, tires and tire stagger, gearing. Each track is different. There's a lot to it."

Hunter, 12, has been racing for a year around the state as well as Ohio.

"It's fun, cool," he said. "I like that you have people who help with the car. It's exciting – you never know how the race is going to end."

Fight the heat with camps

Summer is here and Clarkston coaches are offering several camps for interested players to learn a sport or improve their skills and work on their techniques.

For boys entering grades 4-6 is Fife Fundamentals Basketball Camp. From shooting to defense, campers will learn the fundamentals of the game from Coach Fife and his coaching staff. The camp is July 6-9, 8 a.m.-12 p.m. The cost is $160 and is open to boys looking to improve their skills and hope to reach their full potential as a player. Please call Dan Fife with any questions at 248-623-4003.

Fife Basketball Camp is July 13-16 and is open to boys entering grades 7-9 in the fall. From 8 a.m.- 3 p.m. The cost is $260 and participants need to bring a sack lunch, basketball equipment and a hard work attitude. The camp is coached by Dan Fife and his Clarkston High School Basketball staff. It is open to the first 104 applicants.

The Clarkston Wolves Football Camp is July 27-30, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. and is open to boys entering grades sixth through ninth and is held by Clarkston High School Varsity Football Head Coach Kurt Richardson with his coaching staff. Campers need to bring: football cleats, tennis shoes, football helmet, mouthguard, lunch, and water. All middle school and 9th grade players will be issued a helmet and mouthpiece for their season. The cost of the camp is $175. Please contact Coach Richardson with any questions, 248-623-4015.

Online registration forms for camps can be found at www.clarkston.k12.mi.us/cec or register at Independence Township Parks & Recreation, 6483 Waldon Center Dr, lower level, open Monday - Friday, from 8 am - 5 p.m.

Aiming high on the court

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Spikers of all ages filled Clarkston High School gymnasium for the annual Clarkston Volleyball Camp.

"Every year we can see the talent growing," said Kelly Pinner, head coach for Clarkston Varsity Volleyball.

She added because the talent is growing from each year it changes what she does for the camp. "We changed the drills up a little bit and they are more age specific. They also do more competitions."

Over 160 girls going into grades 5-12 participated in the camp where they worked on their skills and learned new techniques.

It was the first year for Jenna Buscher and Maddie Leithauser, who both enjoyed the week long camp.

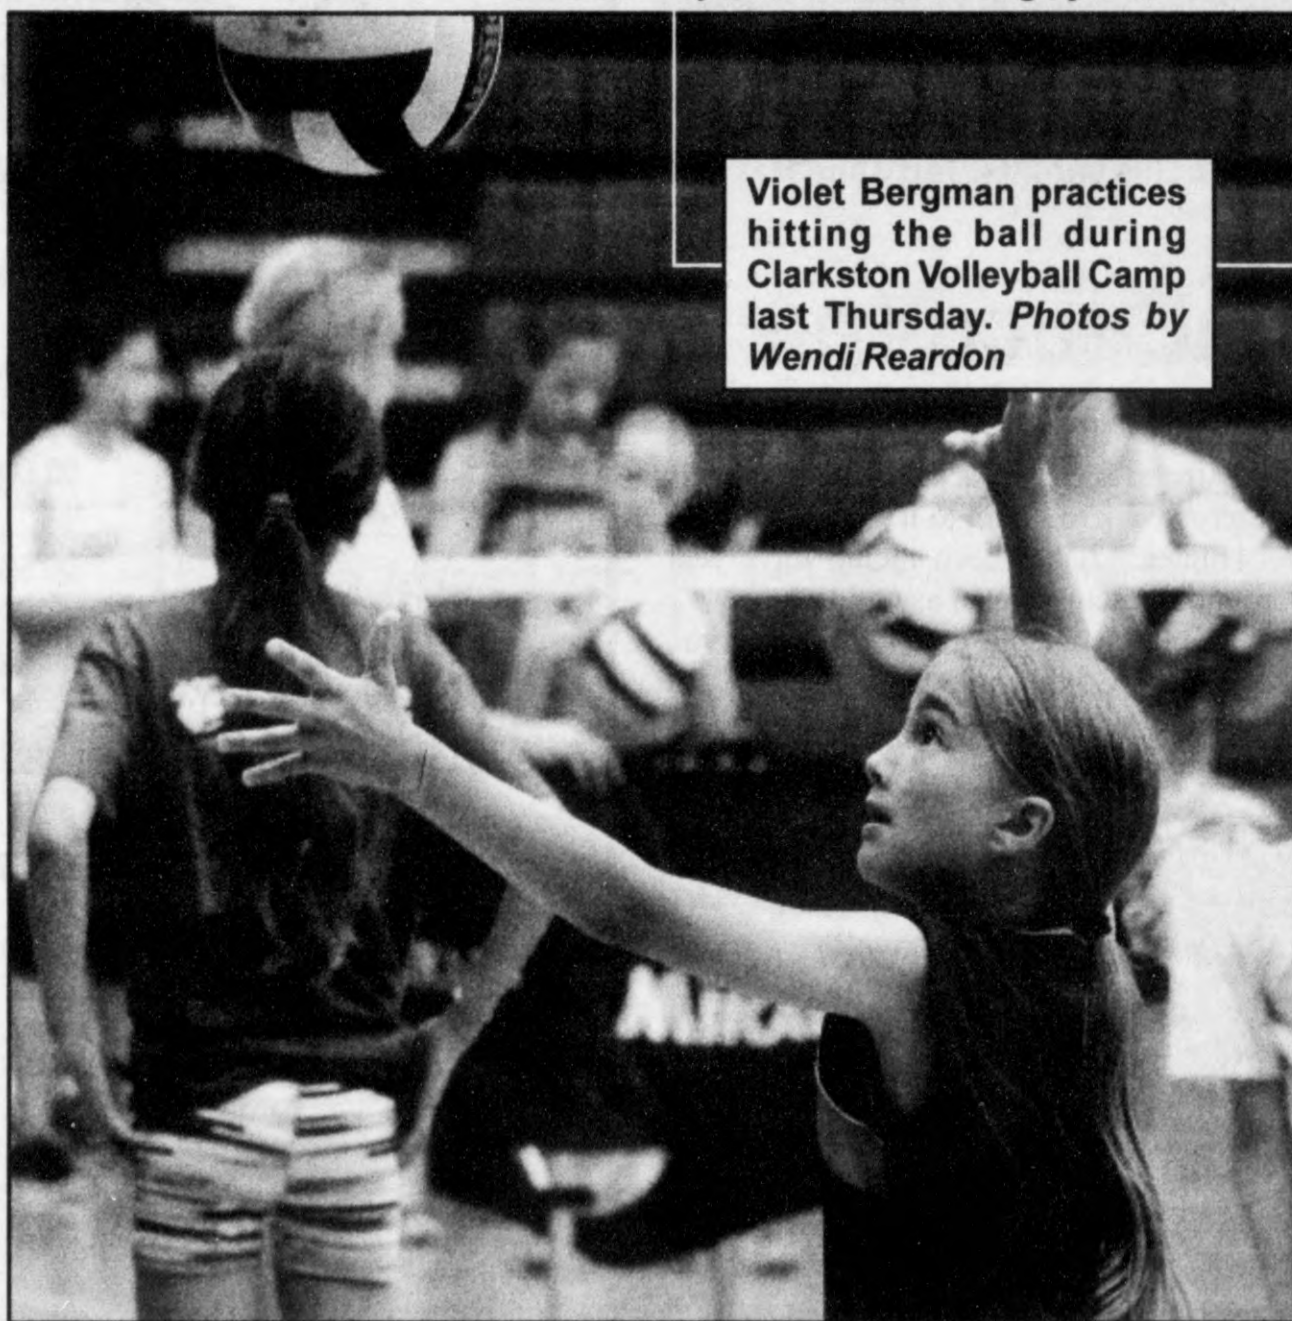

"I like the coaches," said Buscher. "I learned my approach."

"It's good," added Leithauser. "I like all the activities and games. I learned bend your knees and keep your weight forward."

Lauren Boyne joined for her second year at the camp, explaining she camp back because it's a fun camp.

"The coaches are always really nice," she added with a smile.

The freshman, junior varsity and varsity teams begin their season in August as the younger teams start in the winter. Please check www.clarkston.k12.mi.us/athletics for tryouts and conditioning updates.

Visit with hero horse

As kids read about hero animals last week during the Get to Know a Hero Summer Reading Program at Springfield Township Library, they were visited by a real-life hero.

Ashley, the horse, stopped by with her owner Steve Shapira of Davisburg, who explained how she works with the Camp Casey horseback riding program for children with cancer.

"Something magical happens when she's with kids," Shapira said. "She's a rescue in her 30s — this keeps her healthy and alive. It takes a special kind of horse, with the right temperament."

Ashley has been a therapy horse with the program for more than three years so far, said Jessica Leroux, communications director for Camp Casey.

"She's an invaluable member of the Hero Herd," Leroux said.

A. First, your mother gave you a gift by prepaying for her funeral... it is much less stress on you and you know exactly what she wants. If there is a contract, you should read it carefully and in most cases, the contract allows for the transfer of funds to another funeral home or a refund if you are no longer in the area at the time of services needed. If death has already occurred and the funds are placed in a trust account or burial insurance, your funds are only payable to the servicing funeral home. If you need help reviewing a contract, I am happy to offer assistance.

Peeking through the doors are books, donated by people for others to enjoy. The Little Free Libraries can be found at the northwest corner of Washington and Main streets and in Depot Park.

The libraries were built by the Clarkston Junior High School Girl Scout Troop 13363 for their Silver Award Project.

Residents petition DPW plans

Finding a place for the city to move its DPW garage should come at a reasonable cost to citizens, and not with a bunch of frills voiced a group of concerned residents.

The city must make plans when they vacate 3. East Church, presently occupied by city of Clarkston DPW. Their lease is up January 1, 2016.

City officials have considered several plans to move DPW facilities including three proposals ranging in price from $330,000 to $568,000, depending on the scope of the expansion.

In addition to expanding the DPW, the proposals also included numerous revamps to city hall.

Citizens protested those plans and created a petition to stop huge renovation.

City council already approved $23,000 in architectural costs to explore the proposals further.

One of the plans, which included bathroom improvements, have been axed.

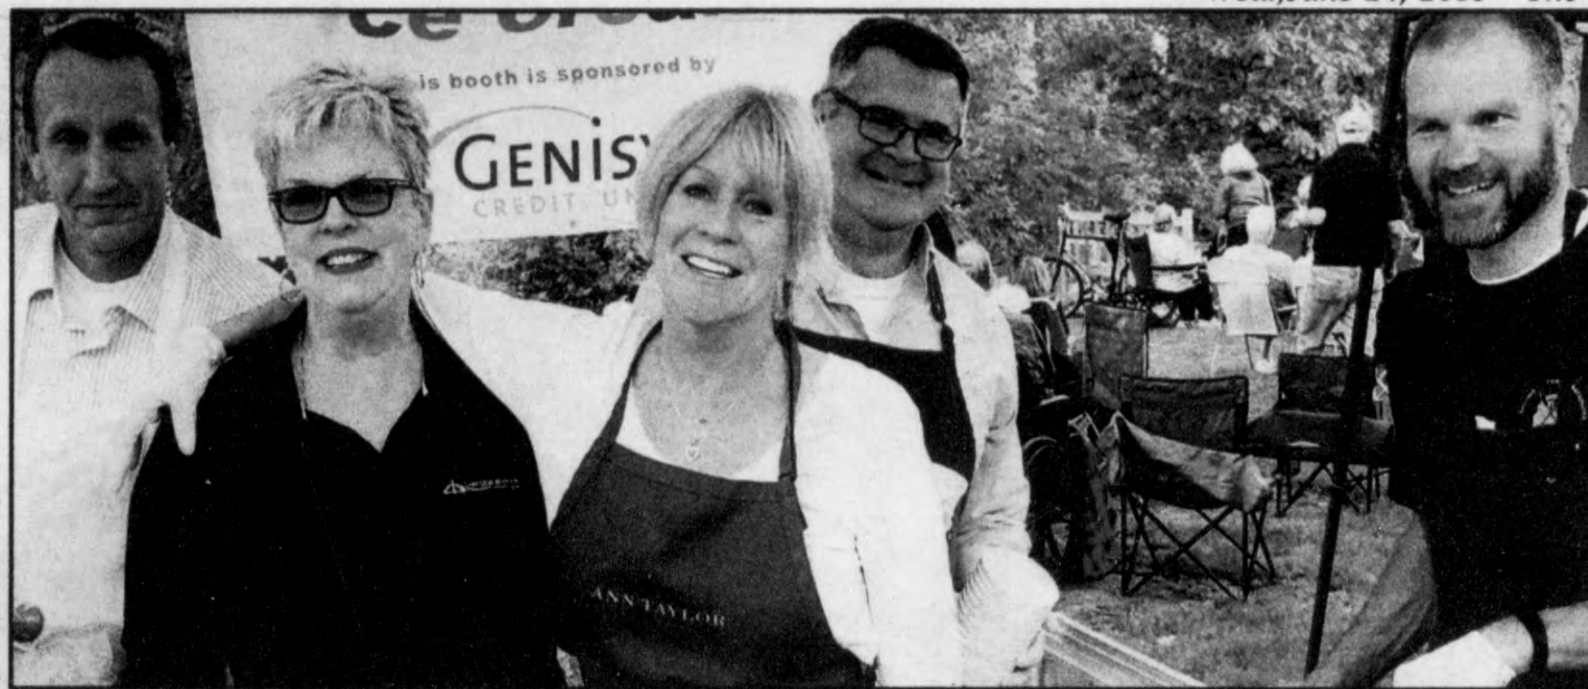

During Monday's meeting, residents Peg Roth and Laurie Mahler spoke about the plans and informed council the petition was being circulated.

Mahler asked council to consider a smaller project and noted a recent building designed and built for $110,000 created by Forest Mizlow local businessman and owners of numerous properties.

The petition addresses several parts of city plans for a new DPW facility and concludes the city should be reasonable and responsible with plans.

"We ask that the city consider a more cost effective solution, involve the public in a decision that will affect us financially and functionally for many years into the future, consider what other expenses the city may incur over the next 15 to 20 years, and not create a potential burden and unnecessary risk to this and future generations of Village residents and visitors," the petition concludes.

Safeguard yourself from summertime ailments, accidents

Summer is often marked by vacations, recreational events and relaxing moments spent by the pool or on the beach. But when the weather heats up, so can potential health hazards that can ruin all of the fun. The following are some of the more common summertime ailments and how to avoid them.

Lawn and garden injuries: Lawn and garden injuries may not be common, but men, women and children should exercise caution when using lawn and garden equipment. Wear protective shoes and gloves and safety goggles. Remember to turn off any motorized tools before attempting to repair or unclog the blades.

Swimmer's ear: Water that remains in the ear canal after swimming can make the ear a breeding ground for swimmer's ear, which is a bacterial infection. If water remains in your ear for more than one night, visit an ear, nose and throat specialist.

Insect bites and stings: Insects return when temperatures rise. Mosquitoes may be the biggest nuisance, but biting flies and wasps also make formidable foes. Use insect repellent to keep the bugs away. Wear long pants and check for ticks after hiking.

Boating accidents: Many boating accidents can be attributed to inexperience with the vessel and failure to take proper safety precautions on the water. Make sure everyone on the boat wears a life jacket, and follow proper boating protocol throughout your trip.

Dehydration: The body needs extra water on hot days, especially when spending ample time outdoors. Dehydration can cause dizziness, dry mouth and may make you feel faint. Always drink plenty of water. Avoid alcoholic beverages and pop, which can contribute to dehydration when consumed in excess.

Can your sunscreen cause cancer?

By Cindy Crandell,
RN Functional Medicine Nutritionist/
Nuview Nutrition

Memorial Day has come and gone, the kids are out of school for the summer, and July 4 is quickly approaching. That means summer is officially underway! It also means it's time to think about the best ways to protect yourself and your family from the dangerous effects of sun exposure as you plan your summer activities.

Cindy Crandell

Melanoma accounts for more than 75% of all skin cancer deaths, making it the most dangerous skin cancers. Yet more incidences of melanoma occur in indoor workers than outdoor workers. A study published in the European Journal of Cancer reports there is a higher survival rate in skin cancer patients who previously received more sunlight.

Researchers at the M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston said, "There is no substantial evidence that sunscreen protects against any of the three forms of skin cancer."

So what is the scoop? Why will sunscreens not help you to prevent skin cancer?

Your skin is an absorbent organ. Anything we apply to our skin skips the digestive tract filter and enters the cells and bloodstream directly. Eventually, it will make its way to the liver to be broken down, but not until it's had negative effects on living tissue in your body.

The Environmental Working Group (EWG) compiled a review of over 1,700 market brands of sunscreen products and found that 3 out of 5 are only minimally protective or contain potentially harmful ingredients. The leading brands are the worst offenders, according to the EWG.

The compounds the EWG gave the highest health hazard ratings for can be found on their web site in the Sunscreen

Hall of Shame.

Oxtinoxate is the most widely used ingredient in sunscreens. It sensitizes skin to the sun and disrupts hormonal balances and brain signaling. Dermatologist and professor at the University of Melbourne Robin Marks, M.B., M.P.H., reminds us "Relying on synthetic chemicals to prevent cancer is laughable."

Yet these dangerous chemicals are not the only reason to discontinue using these sunblock's.

Sunlight is made of 3 different wavelengths:

- Ultraviolet A (UVA) are more prevalent in early morning and late afternoon
- Ultraviolet B (UVB) is stronger during the middle of the day
- Ultraviolet C (UVC) does not reach the earth

In years past, the majority of sunscreens only offered protection from UVB rays. The FDA doesn't require sunscreen formulas contain UVA filters, so historically most of them haven't done so. A sunscreen's sun protection factor (SPF) only takes into account the measure of UVB rays blocked.

The problem is now melanoma rates are rising as our exposure to sunlight and vitamin D levels are decreasing.

We get the most Vitamin D from the sun. This is our biggest defense against many diseases, including skin cancer. It is the UVB rays that actually give you the best source of Vitamin D. So, the vitamin D-producing UVB rays can be considered the "good guys," and the skin-damaging UVA rays that penetrate glass can be considered the "bad guys."

This is one theory as to why melanoma rates are higher among indoor workers.

With sunscreens blocking out UVB rays we are left with major Vitamin D deficiency.

Lack of Vitamin D is why sunscreen can actually contribute to cancer. Aside from the high amounts of toxicity, sunscreen blocks Vitamin D production in your body and you are left without natures built in cancer-fighting protection.

The scoop on pool sanitizers

Many homeowners enjoy the convenience and recreational value of having a pool in their backyards. Pools can be a great spot to gather on warm days, often serving as the centerpiece of summer recreation.

Pools require substantial upkeep to function properly and be safe for swimming. The right combination of factors are needed to maintain a proper water balance to prevent skin and eye irritation as well as to ensure the water is clean. Sanitizers play a significant role in ensuring that safety.

Various sanitizers are on the market, although people are most familiar with chlorine-based sanitizers. The goal of a sanitizer is to prevent the growth of bacteria and algae in pool water. Sanitizers also will inhibit the growth of viruses and other organic contaminants.

First-time homeowners who have never had a pool may find it challenging to choose a sanitizer that will work for them. Each sanitizer has its share of pros and cons, but many homeowners hope to find one that is both cost-effective and convenient. The following are some of the sanitizers to consider.

Liquid chlorine: Sodium hypochlorite, also known as bleach, is a common pool sanitizer. Liquid chlorine does not have any additives and will not affect pool water in any other way except for providing sanitation. Liquid chlorine can be cumbersome to store and splashing the product while adding it to the water can damage clothing.

Cal-hypo: Calcium hypochlorite is another sanitizing option for pools. It is usually sold in granular form because pucks or sticks will break down too quickly in chlorine feeders. Cal-hypo is often an unstabilized form of chlorine, which means it does not have a stabilizing chemical mixed with it to prevent chlorine burn-off from the sun. Depending on your needs, unstabilized chlorine can be an asset or a detriment.

Dichlor and trichlor: Dichloro-s-triazinetriene and trichloro-s-triazinetriene are two different stabilized chlorine sources. They are mixed with a substance called cyanuric acid, which helps prevent the quick usage of chlorine in outdoor pools. Sunlight can reduce the efficacy of chlorine, and this stabilizer will help buffer that effect. Since these chlorine sources typically come in pucks or tablets, they can be placed in feeders and will deliver consistent chlorine without daily maintenance. Trichlor has one of the highest levels of available chlorine of all pool sanitizers. However, one disadvantage is that if the stabilizer levels build up too much in the pool, you will require even more chlorine to combat this effect, sometimes creating a cycle of chlorine ineffectiveness.

Salt: Salt-cell pools use a process of electrolysis to extract chlorine from the salt added to the specialized equipment, thus sanitizing the pool automatically. Some people prefer salt because it seems more natural and requires less maintenance.

Bromine: Bromine is similar to chlorine. While the byproducts of chlorine do not benefit pool water, bromine byproducts can continue to sanitize the water, making it last longer than chlorine. Bromine can be more expensive than chlorine, which might deter homeowners looking for the most cost-effective pool sanitizer.

Pool water chemistry can be a complex process. But homeowners have many options at their disposal when it comes time to choose the right sanitizer.

Young thespians shine at Ovation Awards

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Alyssa Harbaugh and Luke Hodgson represented Clarkston High School at the 4th Annual Ovation Awards at Wharton Center, May 17.

"It was a cool thing to be chosen," said Harbaugh.

"It was an honor to go," Hodgson added. "Just the support we got from our classmates and our director, Jeff Tice, was really a great experience. It felt like everything we worked for was appreciated."

One female lead and one male lead from each high school is nominated by their theatre and music director to compete.

Tice, director of Clarkston High School Drama Club, explained the nominees go through a rigorous application process. Fifty are accepted and perform at the awards.

The first day they were there they learned two different ensemble songs to dance and sing to as they performed as a group. They also sang a song in medley groups from their characters, which for Hodgson and Harbaugh both came from their characters from "Bye Bye Birdie."

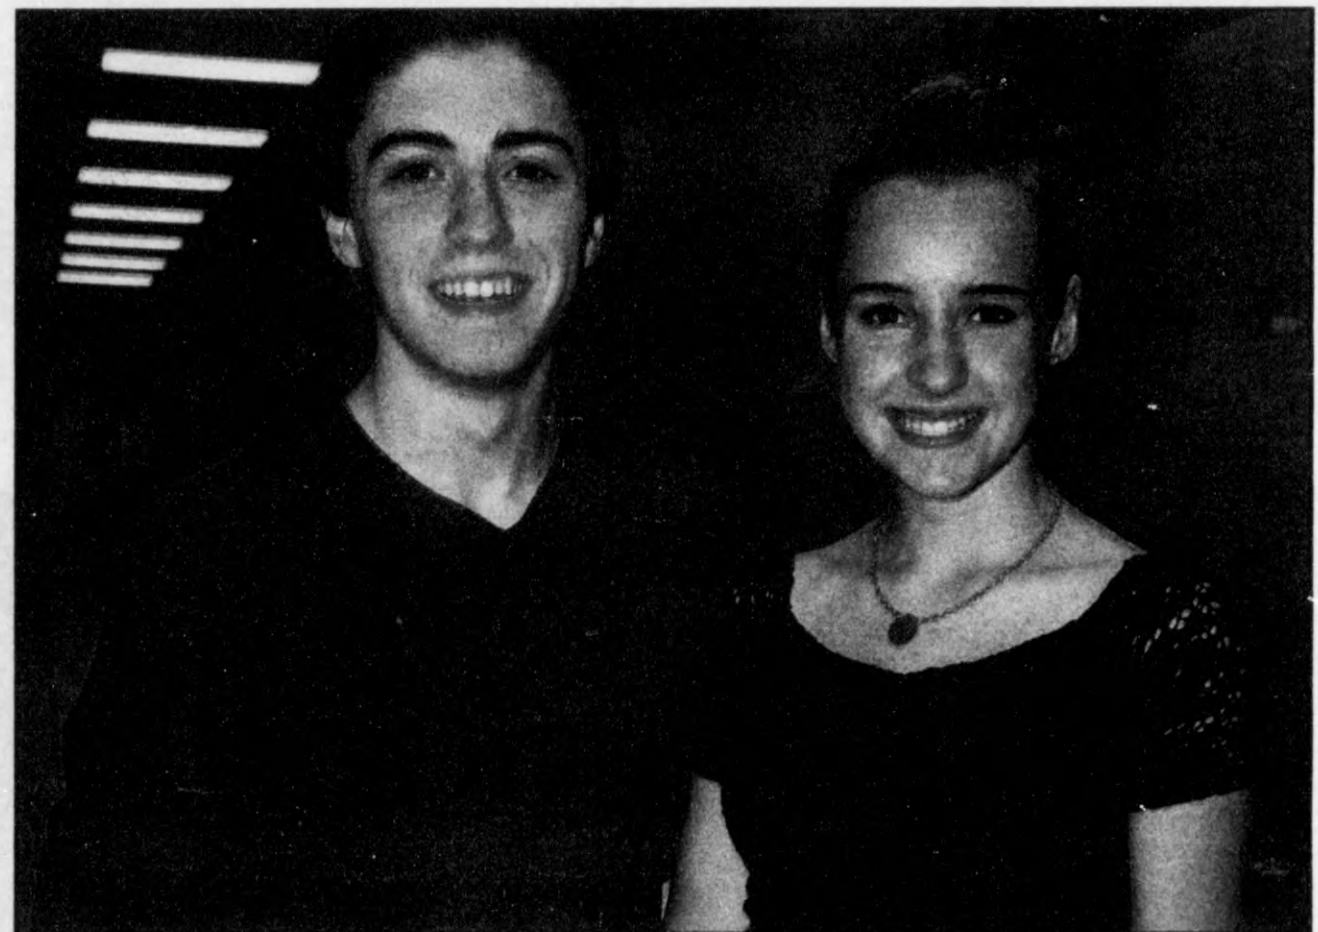

"It was really a very humbling experience with all of the crazy amount of talent which was present at the event," Hodgson added. "Michigan is a pretty talented place."

They added the experience of working with other students, the judges and choreographers from New York will help them as they continue in the theatre.

"It keeps a good perspective and something I can always be reaching for when I am doing a role," Harbaugh said. "Always reaching for that level of excellence."

"It also offered a level of belonging in a way because you have so many people who just like you worked just as hard if not more hard than you did to get to the level you are at," Hodgson added.

Both began acting when they were younger. Harbaugh's first show was in eighth grade with Mt. Zion School of Performing Arts.

Hodgson also began at Mt. Zion when he was eight-years-old.

"It was a great experience and I was in their youth theater for a while," Hodgson said. "Then, I started doing film as well which has been a very cool experience. I came to Clarkston because I entered the ninth grade. I started doing musicals and I am still doing musicals now."

Both also enjoy their time acting.

"The best part for me truly is all of the thought that goes behind a character backstage," Harbaugh smiled. "It is an amazing feeling to get a script, read a character and then become them, understand them and understand things that aren't relevant to the script about them."

"For me it is about experiences I make personally and interconnectedly with my peers who work on the entire project with me, as well as the adults who help bring everything together," Hodgson said. "And just the general sense of making an audience feel something."

Hodgson enters his senior year in the fall and plans to continue helping out the CHS Drama Club any way he can.

"I am going to explore film a little bit more," he added. "As far as college plans I am thinking about double majoring in International Studies and film acting or theater acting, then possibly a minor in musical theatre."

As a junior, Harbaugh will spend the next two years dedicating more to the drama club with more leadership roles and being involved with the shows anyway she can.

Spectacular view reveals God's glory

Over the weekend I was able to get away to Lake Michigan with my family.

On the second night of the trip I witnessed a beautiful sunset that I wanted to share with my three year old daughter.

As hard as I tried to get her to come outside and enjoy the view, she just wouldn't.

Kids can be so difficult some times. As an experienced parent, (my daughter has an older brother) I knew I had to work another angle to entice her to come outside.

The solution was bubbles. What child doesn't love bubbles? If I could just get her outdoors, it will be impossible for her not to notice the sky.

While I succeeded in getting her outdoors, I failed in getting her to look beyond the floating bubbles onto the setting sun.

Life has a way of clouding our view of the Son, as floating bubbles/distractions come our way.

I believe just as I fail to see God's beauty at times, my lack of focus doesn't change God's feelings toward me.

He enjoys being with me even when I can't seem to appreciate what is right in front of me.

The good news is God is doing a work in me (Ephesians 3:20) that will help me to better receive things that are way better than I can even imagine. He is at work in us, inviting us to engage in His purpose for the world, with an opportunity to gaze at the wonders of His hands all along the way.

The sun was now getting extremely close to disappearing over the horizon. I had mere moments left.

In a last ditch effort to get her to set her attention on the dazzling colors all around her, I propped her up on the table for a better view.

What I didn't know was the table was constructed with a built in lazy Susan in the middle. My best efforts to enable my daughter to watch the sunset, simply enhanced her bubble blowing experience as she could now spin and blow bubbles at the same time.

The sun finally set without my daughter ever acknowledging its beauty but the moment was not wasted. We had a wonderful time blowing some colossal sized bubbles and I realized the real gift was being with my daughter.

There is a day coming when the two of us will gaze up at the sky together in awe. Until that day comes, I am going to take great joy in watching the sunset while trying to catch bubbles.

David said in Psalm 92:1-2: It is good to give thanks to the LORD and to sing praises to Your name, O Most High. To declare Your loving kindness in the morning and Your faithfulness by night.

I wonder if David wrote that while he was looking up at the sky, giving thanks to God, and enjoying the presence of his bubble blowing daughter sitting next to him.

Getting greener

City awarded grant from watershed council

BY ANDREA M. BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Going green prevents pollution, explained an environmental protection group.

A $5,000 grant from the Clinton River Watershed Council was secured by the City of the Village of Clarkston staff to use in Depot Park.

"This is exciting news," City Manager Carol Eberhardt said.

Funds, when matched by the city, would equal $10,000 to help finish a new bridge in the southern end of Depot Park. The bridge was replaced after a $100,000 donation by Clarkston residents Bart and Diane Clark.

Natural plantings near the new bridge will happen soon, Eberhardt said.

At Monday's council meeting, councilman Mike Sabol commended Eberhardt for her work on the grant.

Eberhardt gave an update on the work in her managers report to council.

She said asphalt work along the sides of the bridge are complete, and the contractor did extra work on the path at no charge.

"The company repaired a path area by the playground that had been broken by tree roots," Eberhardt said.

Planting greenery and getting electricity to the bridge are next.

Green improvements near the bridge are one of several other plans created by CRWC and the Lawrence Tech Great Lakes Stormwater Management Institute to lower pollution in Depot Park, which sets along the Clinton River.

According to a design by CRWC and Lawrence Tech, claim improvements like the new bridge, entrance and landscaping provides benefits to both pedestrians and the environment.

The upgrades increase pedestrian access and safety while protecting the environment and improving water quality of the Clinton River.

A rain garden is already in place at the park thanks to the city and CRWC.

Other projects have been designed for various areas of the park to stabilize and protect the river bank, and reduce erosion and stormwater runoff from reaching the river.

Stormwater is excess water along streets collected into drains and diverted to flow unfiltered into waterways.

"We already have had a new best practice stormwater plan designed in conjunction with Lawrence Tech University," Eberhardt said.

An estimated 108,000 gallons of stormwater flows into the Clinton River from downtown Clarkston-most from Main Street and the alley.

According to a CRWC design, if runoff water from Main Street was diverted into rain gardens, the natural plantings would substantially reduce stormwater pollution from reaching river.

In total, "green projects" in the park aims to reduce stormwater flow to 40,319 or 37 percent by using natural vegetation.

"As we move forward the CRWC will work in partnership with the city assisting with planning as well as resources," Eberhardt added.

The city was forced to enact stricter guidelines as mandated by the state of Michigan.

During the June 22 meeting the city council reviewed a draft for a new specific stormwater plan the city must enact. Another reading and final approval is expected at the next meeting in July.

Tedder favors new plan to fix roads

State Rep. Jim Tedder, representing Clarkston, favors new legislation created by republican senators to fix roads and bridges in Michigan after Proposal 1 failed in May.

Proposal 1 asked voters to approve an amendment to the Michigan Constitution to raise the state sales tax from six to seven percent.

Several other changes were also under Proposal to 1 to raise about $1 billion a year for roads, and to pay off a $2 billion Michigan Department of Transportation debt during the first two years.

Time for another solution, and the newest one may be the best, Tedder said.

According to Crain's Detroit Business, the new republican plan aims to make cuts to areas of the state's $54.5 budget, divert revenues and raise gas tax on diesel fuel from 15 to 19 cents to cents a gallon.

Drivers of electric and hybrid cars would pay more and a tax credit for low-income citizens would be cut.

The plan will raise $1.2 billion for roads by 2019, with most of the funds used to fix roads and bridges.

"I think this is the closest plan we have created to fix roads while not raising taxes," said Tedder.

But there is still a ways to go.

The Michigan House approved the long-term legislation plan on June 11. Now it heads to Michigan Senate, now in summer session.

Tedder said he is proud of the work done to balance the budget.

"I am proud of the work we've done putting more money than ever towards education, and taking the first step to fixing our roads," Tedder added.

Tedder held a town hall meeting in Independence Township on June 18 to discuss roads and hear concerns.

He represents District 43 which includes Clarkston, Independence Township, Lake Angelus, and Waterford Township.

Rotary celebrates 75 years

The Clarkston Rotary gave away over 500 free meals last Friday during Concert in the Park to celebrate their 75th year in the community.

Pulled pork, hot dogs, beans, chips, cookies and drinks were on the menu and given free to anyone who came up to the tent as a way to say thank you.

Clarkston resident Bart Clark served as chairman of the anniversary event and helped plan it for the last eight months.

"We worked as a team planning this event and doing things like getting sponsors," he said. "We worked together to gather our thoughts, I just want to say thanks to the committee for all their hard work."

During the event, Rotary also displayed ShelterBox, a container which includes a disaster relief tent for an entire family, thermal blankets and groundsheets, water storage and purification equipment, solar lamps, cooking utensils, a basic tool kit, mosquito nets and a children's activity pack.

ShelterBox supplies are given to people around the world after a disaster.

Although the provisions are meant to be just temporary, some people remain in them long-term.

"People around the world continue to live in the disaster relief tent for years," said Bart's wife Diane Clark.

The Rotary support numerous causes both world-wide and locally.

Locally, the Rotary supports holiday decorations in downtown Clarkston, provides a barbecue for the families of students at SCAMP, awards scholarships to students, provides shoes and boots for area children and sponsored a water feature at the spray park.

Internationally, the Rotary has worked to eradicate polio worldwide, helped provided eye glasses to needy people in Grenada and Peru, brought clean water to Nigeria and Haiti, sent packages to servicemen, and sponsored youth exchange students.

Clarkston's Rotary Club was formed in 1940. For more information visit www.clarkstonrotary.org.
