Pain lingers for victims after Fata sentencing

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dr. Farid Fata will spend decades behind bars for massive health-care fraud, but his victims continue to suffer.

Patty Hester, of Clarkston, gave away belongings and took her family on vacations including a trip to Disney World after being falsely diagnosed by Fata.

"I was told I had cancer and was a terminal patient. I was told I was dying and the cancer I had would soon convert to leukemia," Hester said.

A nurse at a medical facility in Clarkston, Hester trusted Fata's diagnosis, knowing he was a world-renowned and reputable physician.

She never sought a second opinion.

Hester received numerous treatments including bone marrow biopsy's and iron infusions, which she got sick from. Hester wonders what those treatments really were, and if the medication administered was what Fata claimed it was.

"All I could think was I was dying and needed treatment fast," she said.

Being in the medical field, she questioned some things she saw during her treatments at the clinic. One time she asked a nurse why her treatments were labeled with the incorrect birthday. During another

City officials unmoved by anti-expansion petition.

BY ANDREAM BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A group of concerned citizens met with city officials to discuss a petition against expanding city hall, but officials remain convinced it's in Clarkston's best interests.

"The facilities committee worked hard and concluded it would be better to make payments over time and, at the end, the city would own an asset rather than continuing to rent and have nothing at the end," said

City Manager Carol Eberhardt at the July 14 meeting at Clarkston-Independence District Library.

Three proposals for an addition to Clarkston city hall, with construction costs up to $500,000, is too much for a city of 880 residents, said residents supporting a petition to stop any expensive project.

"You don't have the money for this," said businessman and resident Bob Roth. "Where do you think you are going to get the money?"

The city leases 3 E. Church Street for storage of DPW equipment. The lease expires on Dec. 31, and the property was recently purchased by Union Joints.

Eberhardt said the most expensive proposal is off the table. Remaining proposals were scaled back, removing items such as new doors and a paint job, which whittled costs down to $250,000.

Time to plan for Labor Day parade

Clarkston Rotary Club is planning another festive Labor Day parade. Rotarians, including Diane and Bart Clark, here dressed up as clowns at last year's parade, invite local community organizations, business, and families to celebrate workers and the end of summer by marching as a group or in a float. Find the entry form on the Clarkston Rotary website, Clarkstonrotary.org, or call Rotarian Joel DeLong at 248-625-9741 for more information. Photo provided

Downtown parking questions up to planners

BY ANDREAM M. BEAUDOIN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As local business owners question city policy on parking, Clarkston City Manager Carol Eberhardt deferred the issue to others.

"The planning commission is really the expert when it comes to the parking issues and requirements," Eberhardt said.

The Planning Commission reviews construction plans before it reaches city council for approval, she said.

Clarkston business owners and investors Bob Roth and Ed Adler said the city must address parking as new businesses and expansion projects are considered.

"Those are our parking lots," said Roth, who along with Adler owns Washington Management and its two parking lots behind the Clarkston Mills building.

Employees from local restaurants already park in his lot all day long, Roth added.

Roth and Adler allow the public to park in the lots, but their proposed multi-million-dollar inn and conservatory project stretching from Washington south towards Depot Park could change that.

That project is on hold for now as developers get approval for work including planting grass at another of their lots, at Waldon and Main.

Roth and Adler said they may close the parking lots, which have well over 100 spaces.

Brightside Dental was approved for an addition to expand its practice by 1,500 square feet. The addition would mean the business needs 27 parking places.

Various projects in question include several new restaurants planned at downtown buildings.

An up-scale Italian restaurant had approached the owners of a historic building located at 55 S. Main, but owner Dave Carter said the offer was contingent upon getting rezoning approval from residential to commercial. The deal fell through, owners say, but they still sought and were approved for rezoning.

The 15 S. Main building, which was home to Clarkston State Bank since 1999, switched ownership from the bank to two local residents earlier this year. The new owners said they are fine tuning plans for the two-story building.

Curt Catallo of Union Joints, umbrella company of several restaurants and an advertising agency, plans to renovate the current Morgan's Service, an auto repair shop at 28 S. Main Street, into a 138-seat restaurant.

The plan has the approval of city council. Several residents spoke about parking in the city at a June 22 City Council meeting. Council took no action.

Section 20-8 of a Zoning Ordinance, dated 1999, specifies how many spaces are required for each type of business.

In addition to a set amount of parking, the ordinance requires any facility requiring over four spaces be designed, constructed, and maintained according to the ordinance - "Plans for the construction of any parking lot in conjunction with a new development shall be submitted for review and approval according to the normal site-plan review procedures."

Required parking based on footage

According to the Clarkston Zoning Ordinance Section 20-8, businesses are required to provide parking spaces based on square footage:

Medical/dental office/clinic, seven spaces per 1,000-square-foot gross floor area, plus one for each examining room, dental chair, or similar use area;

General retail business under 10,000 square feet, three spaces per 1,000 square feet;

Sit-down restaurants with liquor license, 20 spaces per 1,000 square feet or 0.6 per seat, whichever is greater;

Bars/lounges/taverns/nightclubs, majority of sales consist of alcoholic beverages, 25 spaces per 1,000 square feet of usable space;

Restaurant with bar and lounge, 14 spaces per 1,000 square feet or 0.5 spaces per table, whichever is greater, plus spaces for banquet and meeting rooms; and

Restaurant carry-out or deli with less than six tables or booths, six spaces plus one per employee during peak shift.

The ordinance also mandates inspection and approval of parking areas by the code enforcer before certificates of occupancy can be issued.

The Planning Commission will discuss 55 S. Main and 28 S. Main at a meeting at City Hall on July 20.

Owning better than renting, officials say

Petitioners at the meeting also included city residents Tom Stone and Lorry Mahler.

The city was represented by Eberhardt, Mayor Joe Luginiski and Councilman Eric Haven. Several other residents sat in a group watching, occasionally adding comments.

Stone began the meeting by saying he was there as an individual, not representing others who have been critical of the city.

Roth mentioned drawings for revamps to city hall had been completed and paid for previously.

City council approved $23,000 in architectural and design fees to architect James Renaud.

During the discussion, officials said the project has been considered numerous times previously.

Luginiski said the city should spend money towards owning rather than renting, as they did with the 3 E. Church building. The city spends about $23,000 a year renting, not including repair work over the years.

Former city manager Dennis Ritter, who also attended the meeting, agreed.

"It is an ideal time to finance improvements," Ritter said.

Luginiski said the project will be financed over several years.

"Then, we will have a return on our investment rather than just paying for rent," he added.

The officials said they were open to ideas to save money including storing equipment on Clarkston Community Schools or Independence Township property.

At a facilities meeting Monday morning, Eberhardt, DPW Foreman Jason Miller, Councilman Tom Hunter, committee chairman Jim Bruick, and the residents discussed other options.

Eberhardt said city workers are facing various challenges when it comes to moving items and equipment from the old garage on Church.

"We have boxes and boxes of documents," she said, adding she has called the city's copy machine company to discuss scanning the documents, which would cost around $25,000.

Miller said tens of thousands of dollars in decorations are also stored in the garage.

Bruick and his fellow committee members agreed to explore other options at the school and partnering with other municipalities including Independence Township.

Miller cautioned against storing any equipment outside, especially the city's decades old street sweeper.

Eberhardt said Curt Catallo, a partner in the Union Joints businesses, indicated he would be converting the building that houses Morgan's Service, an auto repair shop, into a restaurant before tackling 3 E. Church.

Teacher contract OK'd

Clarkston Board of Education voted unanimously, Monday, to approve a 2016-2017 contract with Clarkston Education Association.

"It's a two-year contract, which provides stability for members and also for the district," said Daryl Biallas, CEA president.

The contract includes a half-step pay increase for teachers at the beginning of the school year and another half step in January. The Teacher Salary Schedule ranges from $38,087 per year for step one, a new teacher with a bachelor's degree; to $93,093 for step 16, for a teacher with a doctorate.

Superintendent Dr. Rod Rock and school board President Steve Hyer also praised the collaborative partnership in reaching the contract.

School board officers

Steve Hyer was re-appointed president of Clarkston Board of Education at Monday's organizational meeting.

Trustee Kelli Horst was also nominated. Hyer's appointment was approved, 5-2. Board members Susan Boatman and Craig Hamilton voted for Horst.

Elizabeth Egan was appointed vice president of the board on a vote of 5-2. Boatman and Hamilton voted to appoint Boatman to the vice president post.

Horst was the sole nominee for treasurer, and was appointed unanimously.

Prepare for Taste

Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce needs about 300 volunteers for the 18th Annual Taste of Clarkston event.

This year, the annual downtown restaurant review is partnering with Art in the Village in Depot Park. More than 40 restaurants are expected to participate in the outdoor event.

Phil in the Blank

A column by Phil Custodio

Age of music

I was alive in the '60s, having been born in June of 1969, but I was of course too young to appreciate the culture of the times. So I wasn't expecting to spend more than 15-20 minutes at Magic Bus' Concert in the Park last Friday.

That would have been enough time to get pictures for the paper of folks in their colorfully tie-dyed T-shirts, peace symbol necklaces, and headbands, along with a few of the band, then grab a hot dog and skate out before everyone else clogs up traffic (worse than usual).

I had the pictures I needed when I realized, "Hey, this music is great!" And the crowd was into it. I don't think I've seen a Magic Bus crowd in Clarkston before. Very impressive.

Powerful vocals and guitar, keyboard, and percussion work from the band, Mark Harrington, Dave Mielke, Steve Carie, Steve Richards, Mike Bruner, and Melissa Wickson.

They looked the part, and conjured up the Woodstock spirit of CCR, Janis Joplin, Jefferson Airplane, and the others, blowing out the electrical system more than a few times but not giving up—they were not to be kept down by The Man!

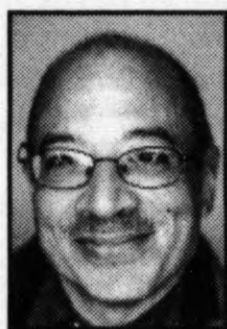

I felt the Age of Aquarius, too. Actually, each age on the Zodiac lasts about 2,150 years so it will be Aquarius' for quite some time, but in the sense of the '60s, I was right there with everyone there who lived through it.

Peace and love! Sounds good to me. I'll be looking for some tie dye of my own before their show next year. I've actually made one before, though I don't think I have it anymore.

I see quite a bit of the '60s in the present, with the war overseas, racial strife in the big cities, even movies and TV. Iron Man, Captain America, Daredevil, all those stories originated in the '60s. They just changed a few things, like Afghanistan instead of Vietnam, 70 years on ice for Cap instead of 20.

So I stayed for the duration of that Concert in the Park, until after 9 p.m. when music had to stop.

That's what happened the week before, too, at Kari Lynch's country music concert. It will probably be the case this Friday, too, with the classic rock of Bar None. Classic rock usually means the '80s. I actually lived through those years.

Veteran's celebration a success

Dear Editor,

Our Fifth Annual Independence Fest Veterans Celebration in Clintonwood Park, on Saturday, July 4, was bigger and better than ever. We showcased our new Senior Center Addition by adding more military exhibits covering all of the wars from WWI until the recent war in Afghanistan. This year for entertainment we had the Barbershop Quartet 4GVN open for our Veterans Ceremony. In the afternoon the Mike Sugg, Toby Keith impersonator, rocked our Veteran's Stage with county music.

The weather was perfect for us to honor all of our veterans who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. Thanks to all of our wonderful volunteers and staff for their hard work. Special thanks to our Planning and Organizing Committee members, Bart Clark, Gordy Cloutier, Phil Custodio, Amy Laboissonniere, Richard Lash, Mary Melega and Lois Seddon. Don Cremer and the Chief Pontiac Post 377 graciously provided their Honor Guard for the Flag Raising Ceremony, Moment of Silence, 21 Gun Salute and Taps.

Our special guest, Piper MacConaghy, going into the second grade and daughter of United States veteran, Brian from the Afghanistan War, sang this year's National Anthem. Bart Clark, captain, US Navy retired, did a wonderful job recognizing all of our veterans at this year's event. Special thanks to Phil Custodio, Desert Storm veteran, for leading us in the Pledge of Allegiance. Independence Township Supervisor Patrick Kittle read a special proclamation in Commemoration of Active Duty Military Personnel, signed by our Independence Township Board.

Thanks to all of our bakers who treated our veterans with homemade desserts for the special lunch provided in the center by Sportsmen's Great Northern Grill.

We really appreciate all of the individuals who displayed their military items in the Carriage House and the organizations that serve veterans. Without all of our staff and volunteers, Sandy Bailey, Diane Brozovich, Jeanne Messing, Carolyn Morrison, Mary Lou Schell, and Sue Shubert, the day we would not have been able to have such a successful event.

Thanks to all our special sponsors this year, Platinum Level Sponsor Sportsmen's Great Northern Grill who graciously catered lunch for all of our veterans and their families, Gold Level Sponsors-American Legion Auxiliary Unit 63 and Lockwood of Waterford, Silver Sponsors-Independence Village of White Lake, Grosse Pointe Party Supply, The Clark Family, The Print Shop and West Shore Financial Group and Bronze Sponsors-All Saint's Cemetery, American Legion Post 63, American Legion Post 377, John Acton, Pat Kittle, Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home and Visiting Angels.

Without all of the support of everyone listed above we would not have been able to recognize our veterans in the way they deserve. I am grateful to everyone for their support and making our 5th Annual Veterans Celebration a huge success.

Concerts are music to reader's ears

Dear Editor,

Concerning the Letter to the Editor "Music from DTE too loud, says reader," July 1, you people crying about the noise at DTE are something else.

What did you think when you bought a house near an outdoor entertainment venue?

Did you think you'd move in and make them quiet down so you'd get your beauty sleep? Really?

They do have a curfew—it's 11 p.m.! So you have to put up with noise because you live too close to DTE for a few hours one or two days a week for a few months in the summer.

I've lived here over 30 years and I look forward to hearing the concerts. It's a unique thing here. If you don't like it, move somewhere else more quiet and quit your crying!

Thanks to Patterson for years of service

Dear Editor,

A belated thank you to Joan Patterson for her years of service to our community as a member of the Clarkston Board of Education.

No one since Sheila Hughes has worked harder to educate herself on the issues and then to investigate the results of those decisions. Her votes were not just dependent upon her views. She made sure the children, staff and families of Clarkston benefited from those decisions.

Thank you, Joan

Poetry in motion, Supreme Court disrespected

Mickey Hiatt and I have been golf buddies, drinking buddies and friends for a whole lot of years. I just ran across some poems he wrote in his Catholic elementary school, after which he broke his pencil, found girls, went in the Army and aged.

This is one of his preteen poems:
*"Today is mine, it belongs to me.
 To live the best I can
 To shape, to mold, for eternity
 A day that is simply grand."
 Nowadays he orders Scotch.*

TV game shows have gone on without me. I can hardly figure out the categories. They want me to guess some "popular" singer who slurs or screams words and gets their name from a pickle jar.

These days, the questions come from laboratories, industries and discoveries in outer space.

I ain't going to know what Pat Sajak and Vanna White are asking about.

This was such a lovely song, "I'll be with you in apple blossom time, I'll be with you when you change your name to mine."

Following the supreme court ruling, the song words have been changed to: "I'll be with you in apple blossom time, but you don't have to change your name to mine."

Jim's Jottings

a column by Jim Sherman

The Supreme Court's gay marriage decision will be hailed as not only a win for gays, but a huge win for lawyers. Law schools will be filling with students seeking degrees in this money bonanza the nine justices created in a ruling last week.

Five-to-four decisions may be great in a ball game, but it isn't great for approving a Constitutional "amendment."

The disappointment of a lifetime is going on right now. And that is the fall in respect for the U.S. Supreme Court. It has gone from being faithfully, maybe blindly, respected to nearly total disrespect, partly because these justices are reinterpreting words in our constitution.

I listened carefully to every word President Obama said or read at the eulogy for the minister in South Carolina who was murdered along with eight others in their church by a very bitter man.

It was a black church with several soft spoken aloud praises during Obama's delivery. I may never listen to another of Obama's talks, but this one was very fitting for such an occasion.

After he leaves office in 2016 he'll be inundated with church-type requests to speak, and may earn more than Hillary has in her campaign speeches.

Von der alten Briefkasten (from the old mailbox)

So I'm sitting at my desk, high up (22-steps-to-a-new-you up) in the Ivory Tower of Clarkston last Monday – just sitting, minding my own bees wax and plotting my evil plans of inciting a residential uprising (and if you ask city council, trying to tear down Clarkston is all I wanna do with my life) when our front office manager Jodi opens my office door and hands me a brown paper envelope.

I accepted the envelope, thanked her, and then, like the arrogant newspaper tyrant I am, before she could say anything shushed her away, mindlessly looking at the package before me, in my hands. I hefted it up in the air a few times, "Hmmm? Pretty heavy," I mused to myself.

I shook it. Tight wrap job, no rattling.

I couldn't really read the return address, but as the highly skilled and deductive reporter-type I used to be, quickly deduced the country of origin was Germany. . . or as the black-inked cursive writing showed, Deutschland. Don "Curious George" Rush wanted to know what contents had crossed the Atlantic, to downtown Clarkston, Michigan, US of A. Without much thought to neatness, the envelope was ripped open.

Gulp. . . there on 50 pound, white stock (20 pound paper is what we used to type on years ago, 50 pound is almost like cardboard) was a 120-page manifesto. . . all typed in the Deutch, I mean German. Oh, and it was all single-spaced, words on both sides of the page AND from stem to stern, beginning to end it was all one big, gob of letters making up one, single paragraph.

Sehr geehrte Damen und Herren, (the cover letter greeted), anbei sende ich Ihnen ein paar Unterlagen und Fakten uber di Scientology Kirche und andere Organisationen, die Ihnen eventuell vorenthalten sind werden und von Interesse sein konnten.

Mit freundlichem Gruß, scribbled name.

A tiny, speakered voice from decades ago sounded in between my ears, "Houston, we have a problem."

I picked out the word Scientology and logically "kirche" must mean church, I deduced. My German is limited to three words I learned in college to impress a blond co-ed, "Ich liebe dich." (I love you.) Other than that, all those letters forming all those German words all looked Greek to me. Which is to say, I don't read, hear, understand nor speak either of those "G" languages.

Then, a thought (one of the only thoughts that day which didn't include destroying the City of the Village of Clarkston) ran through the hills of my mind like Julie Andrews bounding across the Bavarian Alps. "Don, there's this cool little tool modern folks use daily to find out stuff. It's called the INTER-NET." So, I googled the above salutation and found the rough translation:

Dear Sirs, (the cover letter greeted) I am sending you a few documents and facts about Scientology Church di and other organizations to withhold may be and could be of showing interest.

Yours Gruß, scribbled name.

Ah, it is about Scientology! Probably about how corrupt the church is, I presumed. I then noticed the date on the upper right corner, 30.9.2007. September 30, 2007? Hmm? So I googled the name typed on the upper left side of the cover letter, Karsten Sasse (which, by the way in no way looks like the scribbled name). And, here is what I found.

Since 2007, Karsten Sasse (I am sure not related to any of the Sasse's who grew up in Clarkston during the 1970s) has sent various newspapers across this country, complaining about Germany's then treatment of the Church of Scientology and that The Clarkston News was just the next on the list to receive the Deutchy diabtribe.

Here's the list I found, in no order other than when I discovered them . . . Kinston Free Press (North Carolina), the Cadz (Kentucky) Reord, The Daily Journal in Park Hill, Missouri, The Observer-Reporter from southwestern Pennsylvania, The Titusville (PA) Herald, The Jamestown Sun in North Dakota, The LaGrange (Indiana) Stanard & News, The Sun Chronicle in Attleboro, Massachusetts and now The Clarkston (MI) News, all have been touched by Herr Sasse beliefs. And, I bet, all those newspaper types in charge of reading mail couldn't read his manuscript any better than I.

Oh, well. He is spending a lot of money on his mailing. I am sure the post office is happy.

I did not bother to translate the words between the cover letter and final sentence . . . which, sorta translates to: " . . . The only impulses of man, which is difficult or impossible to destroy, his impulse for freedom and truth. Scientology is a game where everybody wins. So we are helping to win the world."

Er-ah-okay?

I think I ought to stick with my anarchist Clarkston plots. Maybe I will send Herr Sasse, my manifesto all in English, single-spaced and in one hard-to-read paragraph.

In all fairness, though I should at least thank him for making my job easier this week and providing awesome column fodder!

Fata sentenced to 45 years for fraud visit, the label on her treatment said she was a male, and she asked the nurse why the medication was labeled incorrectly.

That nurse brushed her off, saying "we have more than one Patricia Hester here," Hester remembered. "How many men are there in Michigan or the world named Patricia Hester?"

Fata recommended chemotherapy, but Hester refused so he ordered other treatments, always making sure they were covered by insurance.

Then, she received a phone call from the FBI. She was informed Fata was arrested, and she needed to find another doctor to check her blood. Agents gave Hester her chart which was full of mistakes, including different names and birthdays.

"After they called, I went to another doctor and got the blood draw," she said. "The doctor said, 'I don't know what to say to you besides you are going to live. You don't have cancer. Go and live your life.'"

Hester was speechless.

"It took time to process," she said. "It will take time to heal."

Fata, 50, was sentenced, July 10, to 45 years in prison by U.S. District Judge Paul D. Borman of the Eastern District of Michigan. He was also ordered to forfeit $17.6

million. He pled guilty in September 2014 to 13 counts of health care fraud, one count of conspiracy, and two counts of money laundering and receiving kickbacks for referring patients to Guardian Angel Hospice and Home Health Care.

So far authorities have identified over 550 patients who were incorrectly diagnosed and given toxic treatments.

The US Department of Justice said Fata's fraud scheme totaled at least $34 million. Patients, found to be cancer free, received toxic cancer treatments including chemotherapy, infusions and injections by Fata at his Michigan Oncology and Hematology with locations in Clarkston, Rochester Hills, Bloomfield Hills, Lapeer, Sterling Heights, Troy and Oak Park.

Fata and his family lived in Oakland Township. His wife, Samar, and their three children have returned to Lebanon, their homeland.

She said she would call the police if he didn't leave, and he left. She said she was getting a personal protection order. Deputies called the ex-boyfriend and told he wasn't welcome at the woman's residence anymore, and he said he understood.

Found with a misdemeanor warrant out of Waterford for domestic violence, he was turned over to Waterford Police.

Distracted driving

A deputy on patrol stopped an SUV for running a red light at Dixie Highway and White Lake Road, drifting out of its lane several times, and going the wrong way down a one-way street, 11:42 p.m., July 6. Campers bring enthusiasm to court

BY WENDI REARDON
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Young Cagers spent last week working on their basketball skills for the annual Fife Fundamentals Camp, for boys going into fourth through sixth grade.

"It's fun," said Logan Sloan, between games on the last day of camp last Thursday. "You get to meet a lot of new people."

It was Sloan's third year at the camp.

"I really like the Clarkston team," he admitted about what brings him back. "I am also just a big fan of Dan Fife."

He added he would like to play varsity for Fife in the future.

Fife, head coach for Clarkston Boys Varsity Basketball, his coaching staff and current and former players, helped the young players work on fundamentals from shooting to defense.

"It's a great camp," Andrew Sesti smiled. "Anybody who likes basketball should come here."

He added just being at the camp with other young players and varsity players has helped him.

"The coaches are great and they helped me work on a lot of individual things," Sesti said, adding the shooting stations helped him the most.

"They tell you what you can on individually," he added about the stations. "It helped me become a lot better."

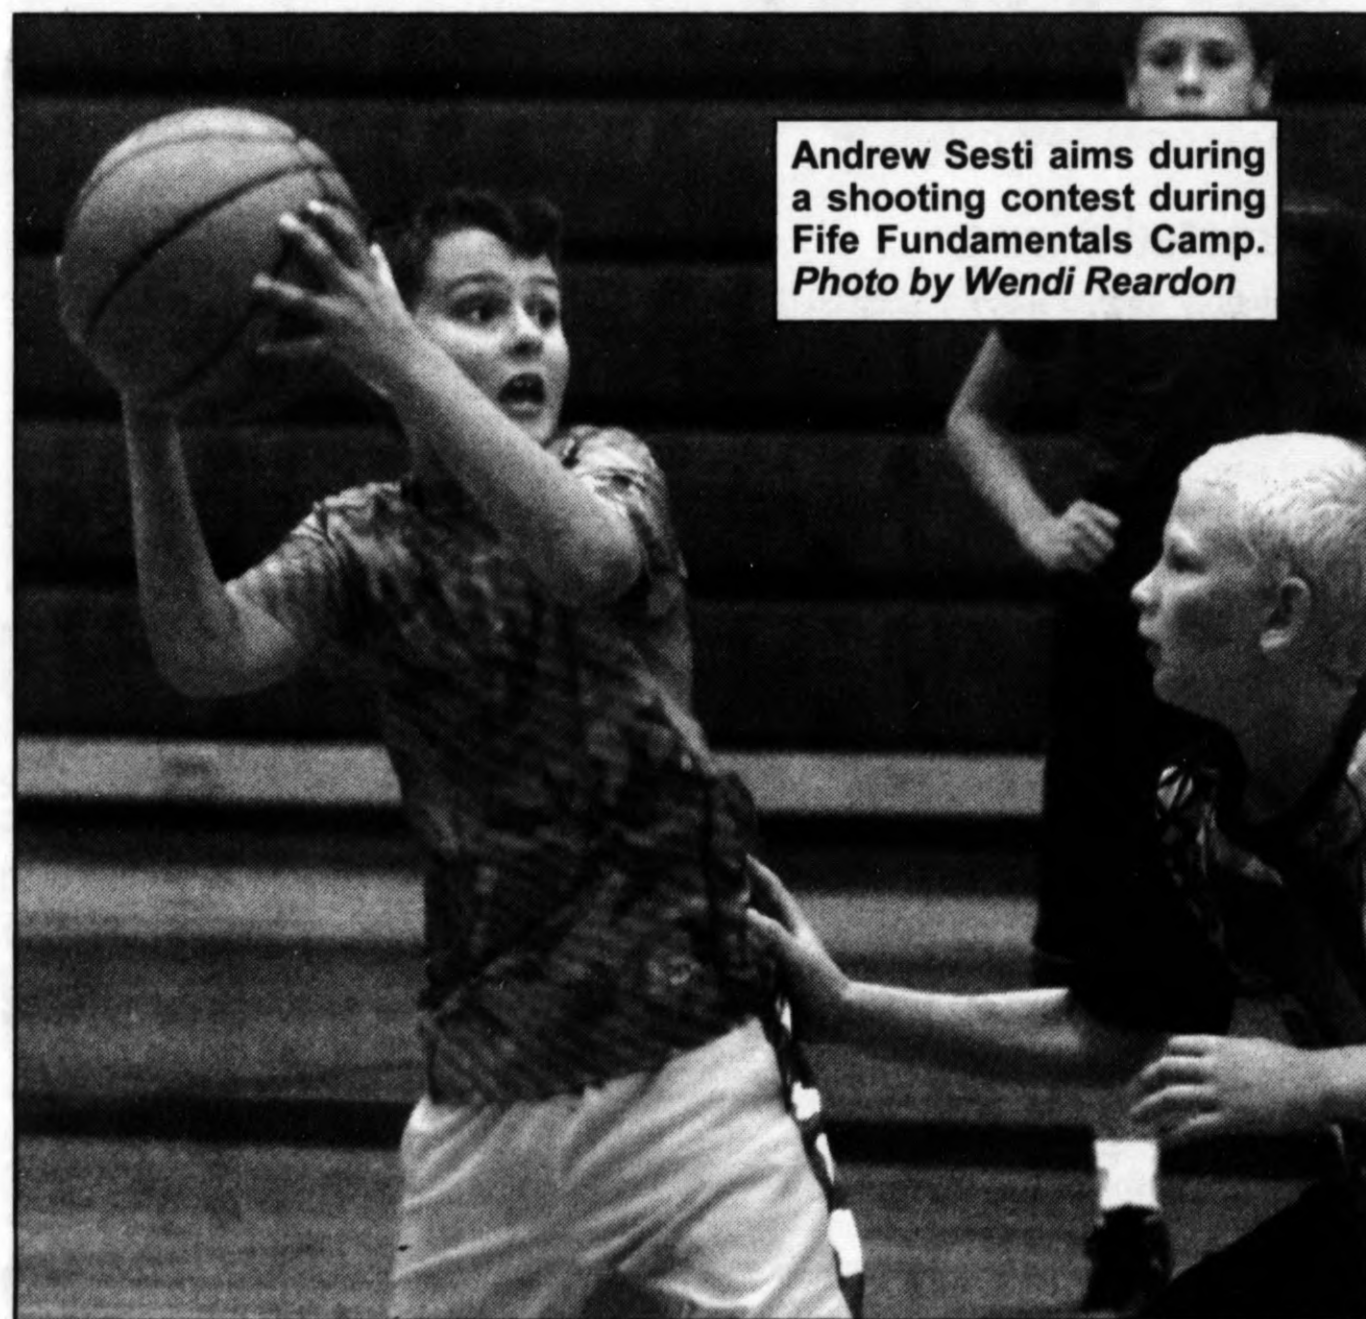

"It's been good," Fife said, watching teams play short 5-minute games on Thursday.

"It's good when you get them this young because they are really enthusiastic," he added. "They want to be here. They aren't grumpy. They don't have all those moods yet. They have fun. It's nice to see their enthusiasm."

Boys going into seventh through ninth grades hit the court this week for Fife Basketball Camp.

The camp was offered through Clarkston Community Education.

runs to win the game, 2-1.

"It showed these kids don't give up," said Kern. "They keep fighting, they keep trying as hard as they can."

They won the semifinal game against HBF Maroons by one run, 10-9.

"Everyone played well," Kern added. "Then, in the championship game Derek Wancour pitched a great game. It was exciting to see everyone pitch in and do things for the entire team."

The 'Dawgs finished the game with a 8-6 win over the Shamrocks for the championship.

"This was our last tournament of the year so finishing it off with a win is exciting for the boys and exciting for all the families involved - to see how far they have grown and how much better they have gotten over the year," Kern added.

It was a turn around from the beginning of the season when the boys lost every game in their first tournament in April.

"At the beginning of the year we didn't play really well in the first tournament," Kern admitted.

"They have never given up at any point of the season. They just kept practicing and trying and kept believing in what we were telling them - that they were pretty good ball players. They just had to get more games underneath them and understand better. Seeing their hard work paid off makes it exciting."

Kern added a few of the ways the boys grew during the year included their knowledge and understanding of baseball and learning how to play kid pitch ball. Many had come from parks and recreation programs and little league baseball - all coach pitched.

"Now they understand the game of baseball a lot more and have more confidence to hit pitches from other kids have grown tremendously," Kern said. "They have grown where it is second nature to them and they feel a lot more confident in themselves and what they can do. The best part is their excitement."

The boys have three more league games before they finish the season.

"Then, they will be moving forward into next year," Kern said. "It's been a fun, exciting season with these kids."

The Clarkston Riverdaws 8U team is Ethan Banyas, Evan Banyas, Brady Ebling, Elijah Kern, Parker Lewis, Caleb Trigalet, Ronnie Wade, Derek Wancour and Keegan Welton.

Scheduling issue with school board

Clarkston Board of Education's meeting schedule for the 2016 school year was approved 5-2 at Monday's meeting.

Board members Susan Boatman and Craig Hamilton voted against the schedule, saying it was too short.

"I have questions about eliminating board meetings," Boatman said. "I look back at the agendas – they were pretty full agendas."

Board President Steve Hyer said meetings can be added as needed.

"We don't need to have meetings just to have meetings," Hyer said.

The school board has met twice a month during the school year for the past several years, Boatman said. This year's schedule includes one meeting in November, December, January, February, and March.

"Since I've been on the board, there's been two meetings a month," she said. "We work hard at transparency. We've had good attendance at meetings, and people are watching on television. I'd rather see meetings scheduled, and if there's reason to cancel, that's fine."

Board Treasurer Kelli Horst said they can continue to discuss the schedule at the board retreat, Aug. 10, at Andiamo Trattoria.

Last minute win in demolition derby

A last minute decision for Bridge Lake Auto & Truck Parts paid off as they won five awards during the Night of Destruction Demolition Derby at the Oakland County Fair last Thursday.

"It was one of those deals where it was last minute," said Steve Poniatowski, owner. "We found some cars out back and knocked some windows out of them and went racing. We started working on it Wednesday night and we had about 12 hours into the car. We just decided we wanted to do it."

Mike Netschke won the demolition derby. "It was awesome," he said. "It was a good time."

Kenny Huntworth finished in second place and Poniatowski took fourth place.

Huntworth and Poniatowski also finished second and third in the Bump and Run.

"It was a lot of fun," Poniatowski added. "You get a car ready and get to do stuff you aren't allowed to do on the roads. These guys work hard here for me and it gives them a break from life for a moment."

"It was definitely a lot of fun," said Netschke. "We will definitely be doing it again."

Bridge Lake Auto & Truck Parts, Inc. is located at 9406 Dixie Highway. They are open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. For more information, please call 248-625-5050.

Alyssa Craigie, of Livonia, tries to keep her balance on the log.

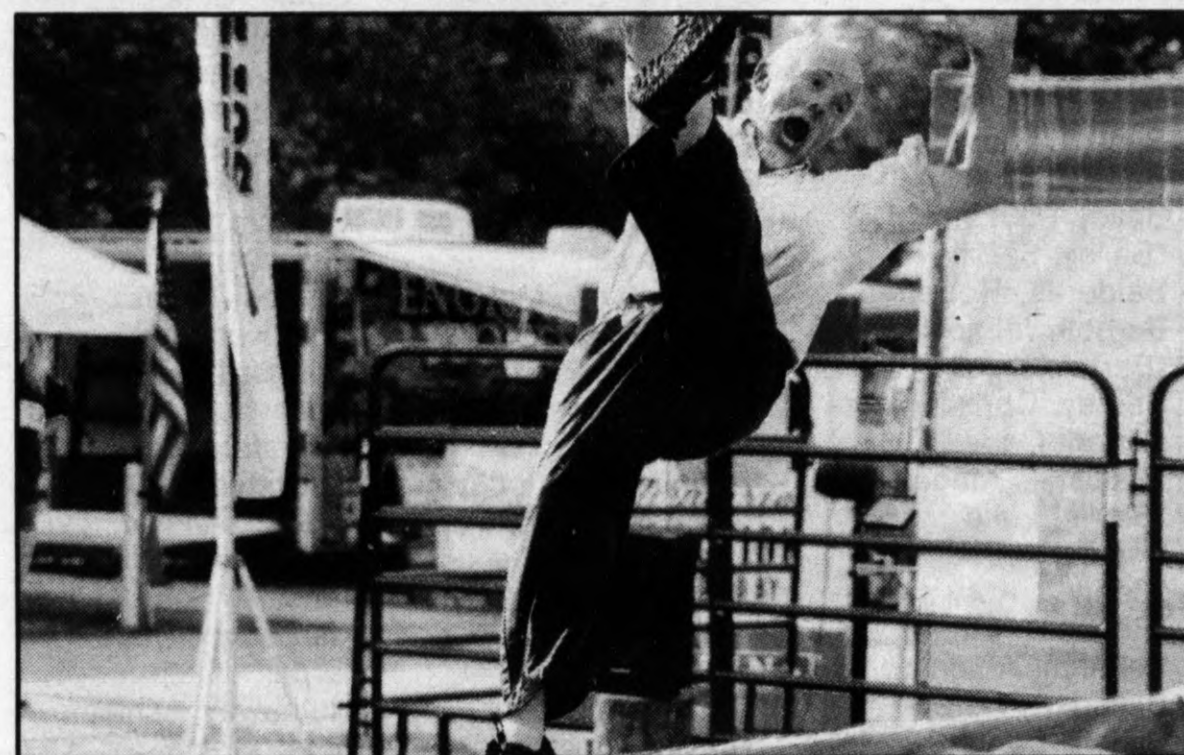

Lumberjacks compete with a 2-person saw versus a electric saw.

Timber at county fair

Visitors at the annual Oakland County Fair kept busy checking out exhibits, enjoying food and going on rides. They also enjoyed a wide array of daily shows including the Great Lakes Timber Show.

The show featured chainsaw carving, axe throwing, wood chopping, and one and two-man cross-cut sawing. It also included log rolling which audience participants volunteered to give a try.

One of the lumberjacks takes a dive after losing his balance log rolling. Photos by Wendi Reardon

Fair ride favorites

The Sky Wheel at the Oakland County Fair beckoned visitors to the rides, where there were many to choose from either you enjoy spinning round or going up and down - no matter what age you were. A favorite was the Extreme as well as the classic Ferris Wheel.

Independence Habitat home in need of volunteers

BY ANDREA M. BEAUDOIN

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Building a home for a veteran and her family in Springfield Township was just the beginning for My Habitat Clarkston.

Now the local Habitat for Humanity group has set its sights on property in Independence Township.

"These homes are for people who just need a little push to get ahead and own a home," said Julie Nemeth, volunteer. "The property is not just given away, the homeowners must acquire a mortgage. They are viable homeowners."

The township acquired the property by paying $13,000 in back taxes to Oakland County. The township got its money back from Habitat for Humanity, with support and donations from local businesses like Clarkston State Bank.

A community kick-off day is July 20 from 8 a.m.-12 p.m. in the cafeteria of Sashabaw Middle School, said Grant Smith, CEO of Clarkston State Bank.

"Everyone is welcome and we are asking for businesses to sponsor a booth," Smith said. "It will be a great day for the community to get together. We will also be laying out the dates and we will have a sign-up sheet so people can volunteer to do various types of work—it's a project that requires many skills."

They also need supplies and materials. During the remodeling process, the volunteers need 28 lunches so there is an opportunity to help there, too.

Habitat partners with local organizations, and is also assisted by donations from local businesses like the CSB, a business consistently recognized during projects that benefit the community.

Nemeth said Independence Township Treasurer Paul Brown did a lot of work acquiring the foreclosed house on Everest Drive. It was purchased by the township after the state of Michigan passed on its first right to the home. The township has second rights to purchase tax foreclosed properties.

"It is a process to get the home," said Brown, adding he had to act quickly to acquire the property. "We were notified and we had three days to decide. I wrote to the county and we reached an agreement."

Brown has the authority to purchase property under a resolution passed by township officials. The township cannot profit from the property and any proceeds made from the home goes into Oakland County coffers. If the township passed on the property, it would go to auction.

"Right now the house is in terrible condition," said Brown. "The neighborhood deserves this home to look better."

Many volunteers and donations are needed to make the property a home, and it will take a lot of work to complete the project.

Habitat Oakland CEO Tim Ruggles said the group has helped over 150 people have a home of their own over the past 20 years.

"We require each Habitat homeowner put in 300 hours of sweat equity," said Ruggles.

Sweat equity mean the future homeowner puts in a lot of work on the home. They must also be in a position to pay the mortgage.

Volunteers are needed, Smith said.

"When volunteers donate their time helping with such a project, it is neighbors helping neighbors," he said.

Clarkston is strong when it comes to helping their neighbors, he said.

"Clarkston is one of the strongest areas in Oakland County who are participating and giving their time to projects," added Ruggles.

Habitat projects currently include two others, one in Waterford and another in Southfield.

"Oakland County is a wealthy county, but the need is still great," Ruggles said.

Fix now, rather than later

I took a week off last week. My wife and I experienced our first vacation alone together in 22 years, since before children.

We drove to the Upper Peninsula, camping mostly; we stayed in a couple motels when the weather was not conducive to pitching a tent. Hiking to see water falls, canyons and rocks, flora and fauna, eagle, osprey and swan nests, we received the gift of renewal that comes with touching into the natural environment.

Heading south out of the Manistique area Thursday morning evidence of the UP's popularity became obvious.

We encountered a steady line of traffic, mainly trailers and motorhomes, first just the one lane until we crossed the bridge then two lanes and then we witnessed a four lane parking lot as we passed by Saginaw, all headed north for the holiday weekend. I was very happy to be heading south.

Thinking back over my life how often I seem to be going in the opposite direction to the majority of people around me. The most significant being the decision 30 years ago to leave the high paying prestigious corporate controller, financial vice-president, board of directors, positions I held at the time. Would I do it again? You betcha! I may not have the money and collection of stuff I would have had if I had stayed in the corporate world, but I have a wealth of experiences, depth of relationships and the sense of self and of well-being that I otherwise would not have.

As a minister in a church I faced what most ministers in small to medium sized churches face, the need for additional income. Most churches do not pay ministers enough to support a family. Either the spouse is the main money earner or the minister has a second job to pay the bills.

In the 1990s, one of my sources of additional income was as a partner in an organic farm cooperative. At the same time I served on the Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon's Food Security Project.

We mapped out the sources of locally grown and distributed food items, farms, cooperatives, etc. Back then we were looking ahead to a time of reduced dependence upon long distance shipping of food which is not as healthy and wasteful in so many ways compared to local produce.

About the same time my wife and I began what has now become Unity Worldwide Ministries Earth Care Ministry. The evidence of Global Warming driven Climate Change fueled by human activities has been generally accepted by a majority of Climate Scientists since the 1970s.

The scientific community began writing about the disastrous effects of pumping CO2 into the air in the early 1800's. Studies now show we have been affecting the global climate since we began clearing forests for farming over ten thousand years ago. With the release of the Pope's Environmental Encyclical last month, responding to the threat of Climate Change is now officially a moral and spiritual imperative.

There are many myths surrounding this issue. Some say there is no consensus, some say there is no warming, and others say natural factors are causing the warming. All of these myths are false and have no basis in fact.

Ninety-seven percent of climate scientists agree humans are driving Global Warming. Last year was the warmest year on record and 9 of the 10 warmest years have been since 2000.

The natural factors that have caused heating and cooling in the past, volcanoes and solar activity being the most pronounced, would have produced another ice age by now if we had not been increasing the levels of CO2 in the atmosphere.

Now that we have looked at the facts, what do we do about them? This is where we should be in the discussion. One thing I've learned is it is usually cheaper and easier to fix something earlier rather than later. The longer we wait to begin the changes necessary the more we will pay in lives lost or displaced, rebuilding infrastructure, and otherwise mitigating the disastrous effects.

Remember, we are in this together. The more we choose to work together the easier it is to adapt to change. Change is natural and we have the inherent ability to grow and unfold through the changes in our lives.

Blessings of peace, joy & love.

Ivan G. Brooks, 70

Ivan Grant Brooks of Brandon Township, born July 3, 1945, passed July 6, 2015, at age 70.

He will be missed by his wife Angela (Orlando); his children Wendi (Mike) Hamlett, and Heather (Keith) Szachta; his grandchildren Sidonie Brooks, Cameron, and Parker Szachta; siblings Roberta (Jerry) Werle, and Leroy and Phyllis (Len) Liedel; also survived by many nieces, nephews, and in-laws, who will be feeling the loss of their jovial "car-guy" uncle Ivan.

Ivan retired as a machine repair journeyman with General Motors after 43 years of service. He was a long time member of The National Street Rod Association and enjoyed showing his 1938 Chevy at various shows. Ivan was an avid car enthusiast and was interested in everything that had at least two wheels and some device to provide horsepower to make it run. He was always involved with family, friends, and anyone who would mention anything about cars or restoring them.

Ivan was a friend and confidant to all who would take him aside and want him to be a party to their problems or concerns. For all family, friends and associates, having known Ivan was a true blessing. He was always there and you did not feel that you were creating an obligation by sharing a life issue with him. Ivan cared about people and would do what he could to help make this experience called "life" a little better for everyone he encountered. Ivan will definitely be missed by family and friends.

Sewer bills assist

Independence Township Board approved up to $10,000 for a financial specialist from Plante Moran to assist the township with its sewer deposit bills.

Township Finance Director Wendy Hillman said the sewer fund collects cash bonds and escrow payments from contractors for sewer projects.

They are recorded as a township liability and returned to the contractor once the work is satisfactorily completed. Sewer work in the township also require a refundable $500 cash bond. Developers also pay a $5,000 deposit.

"If not prepared or received, the township will keep the deposit," Hillman said.

As of the end of June 2015, the township owed more than $137,800 to developers. The liability was discovered while staff was preparing for the 2014 audit.

The analysis, which will take 3-5 days, will take place at the DPW office with assistance from DPW and finance staff.

Cuts to petty cash

Upon recommendation by auditors, Independence Township cut the number of petty cash drawers in township offices.

Plante and Moran finance staff noted the cash drawers are available to several township employees.

"This observation confirmed that while some locations were very organized and complete in their process, others were lacking," said Finance Director Wendy Hillman. "Of the eight locations, only one location had cash on hand that agreed to the general ledger."

Petty cash is often an overlooked source of funding in the township, leaving it open to theft, auditors told the township.

"Petty cash funds should be authorized at the lowest amount practical," Hillman said. "Many vendors will accept credit cards."

The township agreed to decrease the number of petty cash locations from eight to one, in the treasurer's office. The fund will be limited to $200, with the treasurer, deputy treasurer, and general accountant serving as responsible parties.

Wish-A-Mile fund raiser

Clarkston Area Farmers Market is raising money for the 28th Annual Wish-A-Mile Bicycle Tour, Saturday, July 18.

"We are donating 50 percent of the sales of our elephant grass baskets to the Wish-A-Mile," said Stephanie Tesluk, Ginn Farms vendor at the market. "We are also donating $1 for every jam, jelly, syrup and honey sold at the market that day."

Donations benefit Ben Allen, Jr. and his son's bicycle tour team.

"We are excited to be helping Ben and his son raise money for such an amazing organization," Tesluk said.

Mister Cool, Magic Bus' giant mascot, makes an appearance.

Magic in the park

Magic Bus rocked Depot Park at Friday's Concert in the Park, playing the music of the '60s and '70s at its counter-cultural height.

This Friday, Bar None brings the classic rock of the '80s. Sam Van Wagoner opens the show at 6 p.m., with the headliners on stage at 7 p.m.
