Downtown restaurant approved

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

A new restaurant is coming to downtown, with approval by Clarkston City Council last Monday.

James and Sarah Schneider's proposal for a family restaurant at 15 S. Main Street, formerly Clarkston State Bank, was approved unanimously.

"We want to make Clarkston more of a restaurant destination than it already is," Sarah said. "I think people are going to be really excited about this."

The site plan includes 129-135 seats, with 20 on a raised outdoor patio. They will serve food provided by local farmers, with private dining in the upstairs bank vault, wine locker in the downstairs vault, event venue in the lower level, and breakfast on the weekends.

The council approved special land use for the patio seating and an exception to parking requirements in the city ordinances, under Section 20.02U, General Requirements. Parking Space Deferment.

The restaurant plan meets requirements of the section, which permits exemption in the Parking Space Deferment District "if the applicant can demonstrate and the Planning Commission finds that adequate public parking is provided within a reasonable walking distance from the subject site."

The Parking Space Deferment District includes downtown Main Street from just north of Washington Street to Waldon Road, including the Clarkston Mills on W. Washington Street.

Scott Hakim of West Bloomfield, 37, faces felony charges for stealing nude photos from a customer's cell phone.

The victim, a 19-year-old woman, wanted to upgrade her I-phone and went to the cell phone store on Dixie Highway at Davisburg

After the upgrade process was complete, she noticed text messages sent to an unknown number, and in the text messages were four photos of herself she took for her boyfriend, said Sgt. Matt Baldes, commander of Oakland County Sheriff's Office

3 plans to expand city hall

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

With three options for expanding city hall and DPW, Clarkston City Council postponed a decision until at least this coming Monday.

"I don't see how two weeks can hurt," said Council member Al Avery at the Oct. 12 meeting. "I'd like to hear what residents say their needs are."

The three alternatives presented include "North Side Option One," adding a new building onto city hall, taking up about eight parking spots. It would be a 1,925-square-foot, four-bay garage to hold 90 percent of the DPW's equipment. The project would also include interior renovations of existing city hall and DPW garage, adding office and meeting space and removing one garage bay. Cost would be $378,912.

"North Side Option Four" includes a 2,049-square-foot, three-bay extension to city hall, interior renovations of 1,754-square-feet of the existing city hall, and expanded DPW parking, for $402,035.

"North Side Option Five" includes a 2,049-square-foot addition, interior renovation of 743-square-feet of city hall, and expanded DPW parking, $347,785.

The council was asked to pick an option, which would be presented to contractors for bid, but voted 4-1 to postpone the decision.

City seeks to settle lawsuit

Clarkston City Council would admit to an illegal closed meeting in a settlement offer dated Sept. 18, written by attorney James E. Tamm, representing Clarkston City Council.

Former council member Richard Bisio filed suit with the city about the meeting, which was in March. Tamm's letter is the city's proposed consent judgement. Bisio has not accepted the proposal, saying it does not address other claims in the case.

"Nonetheless, this is some progress and refutes the city attorney's repeated insistence that the closed session was proper," Bisio said in a public statement.

The letter states, "the City Council's decision to convene a closed meeting on March 9, 2015, was in violation of MCL 15.268(h) because the stated purpose for convening a closed meeting, to discuss an attorney-client communication, was not accompanied by a written memorandum required by Booth Newspapers v. Wyoming."

Also, a memorandum from city attorney Thomas Ryan to City Manager Carol Eberhardt and Mayor Joseph Luginski dated March 9, 2015, regarding 148 N. Main Street and another March 9 letter from Hubble, Roth and Clark to Eberhardt regarding the proposed muffler shop at 148 N. Main "presented to the City Council that formed the basis if the closed meeting shall be determined to be public."

The proposal calls for all remaining claims to be dismissed.

Parking ideas at meeting

BY PHIL CUSTODIO

Clarkston News Editor

About 25 people attended a public meeting on parking in Clarkston, Oct. 13.

"We're really just trying to get input," said Mayor Joe Luginski. "Responses range from people saying the parking situation is horrendous to the opposite end, people who don't see a parking problem."

Erich Lines, who owns the Union restaurant with Curt Catallo, said he doesn't see a parking problem at the moment.

"We're fortunate in that customers find their way to us," Lines said. "We let our guests know when the off times are. We explain the best times, when parking easy and the line is shorter."

The market will decide if Clarkston has a parking problem, Catallo said.

"We're not in business is people aren't coming," he said.

Leanna Haan, owner of Picasso's Grape Vine on Main Street, said her customers register in advance, so she can provide information on parking.

"Some have come in late for class because they had a hard time parking, but they come back," she said. "Are there people who don't come back? I don't know. That's kind of the challenge."

"I don't think it's a real problem right now, but its coming," said Bob Roth, one of the owners of the Clarkston Mills. "There are times when there are no places to park in city parking lots, and no places park in our first parking lot."

Roth said some clients said they have been ticketed for parking more than two hours.

"Customers come in for a business meeting, go to a restaurant for lunch, and they get ticketed," Roth said. "I think downtown is fairly full with parking right now."

Roth said he and other Mills owners have been vilified for speaking out about the public parking in their private lots.

"People think we're the evil people who don't want more business using our parking lot - that's far from true," he said. "But sometimes we're really full. If you build two restaurants on Sashabaw Road, you would build parking lots."

Roth suggested redesigning Depot Street and other spots could provide more parking spaces

"The problem is, who pays for those parking spots," he said. "Building a deck without government funding is not going to happen."

A parking deck would cost about $15,000-20,000 per space.

City ordinances allow for payments in lieu of parking spaces, "a sum equivalent to the estimated cost of planning, acquiring, and construction of parking spaces within the village commercial limits."

However, the city has not charged businesses for several years and there is no parking fund, said City Manager Carol Eberhardt.

New restaurants at 3 E. Church Street and 15 S. Main Street were granted exceptions to the parking ordinance under Section 20.02U.

A garage probably isn't the solution, said Clarkston resident Cory Johnston, citing a report on Ann Arbor, losing money on parking garages.

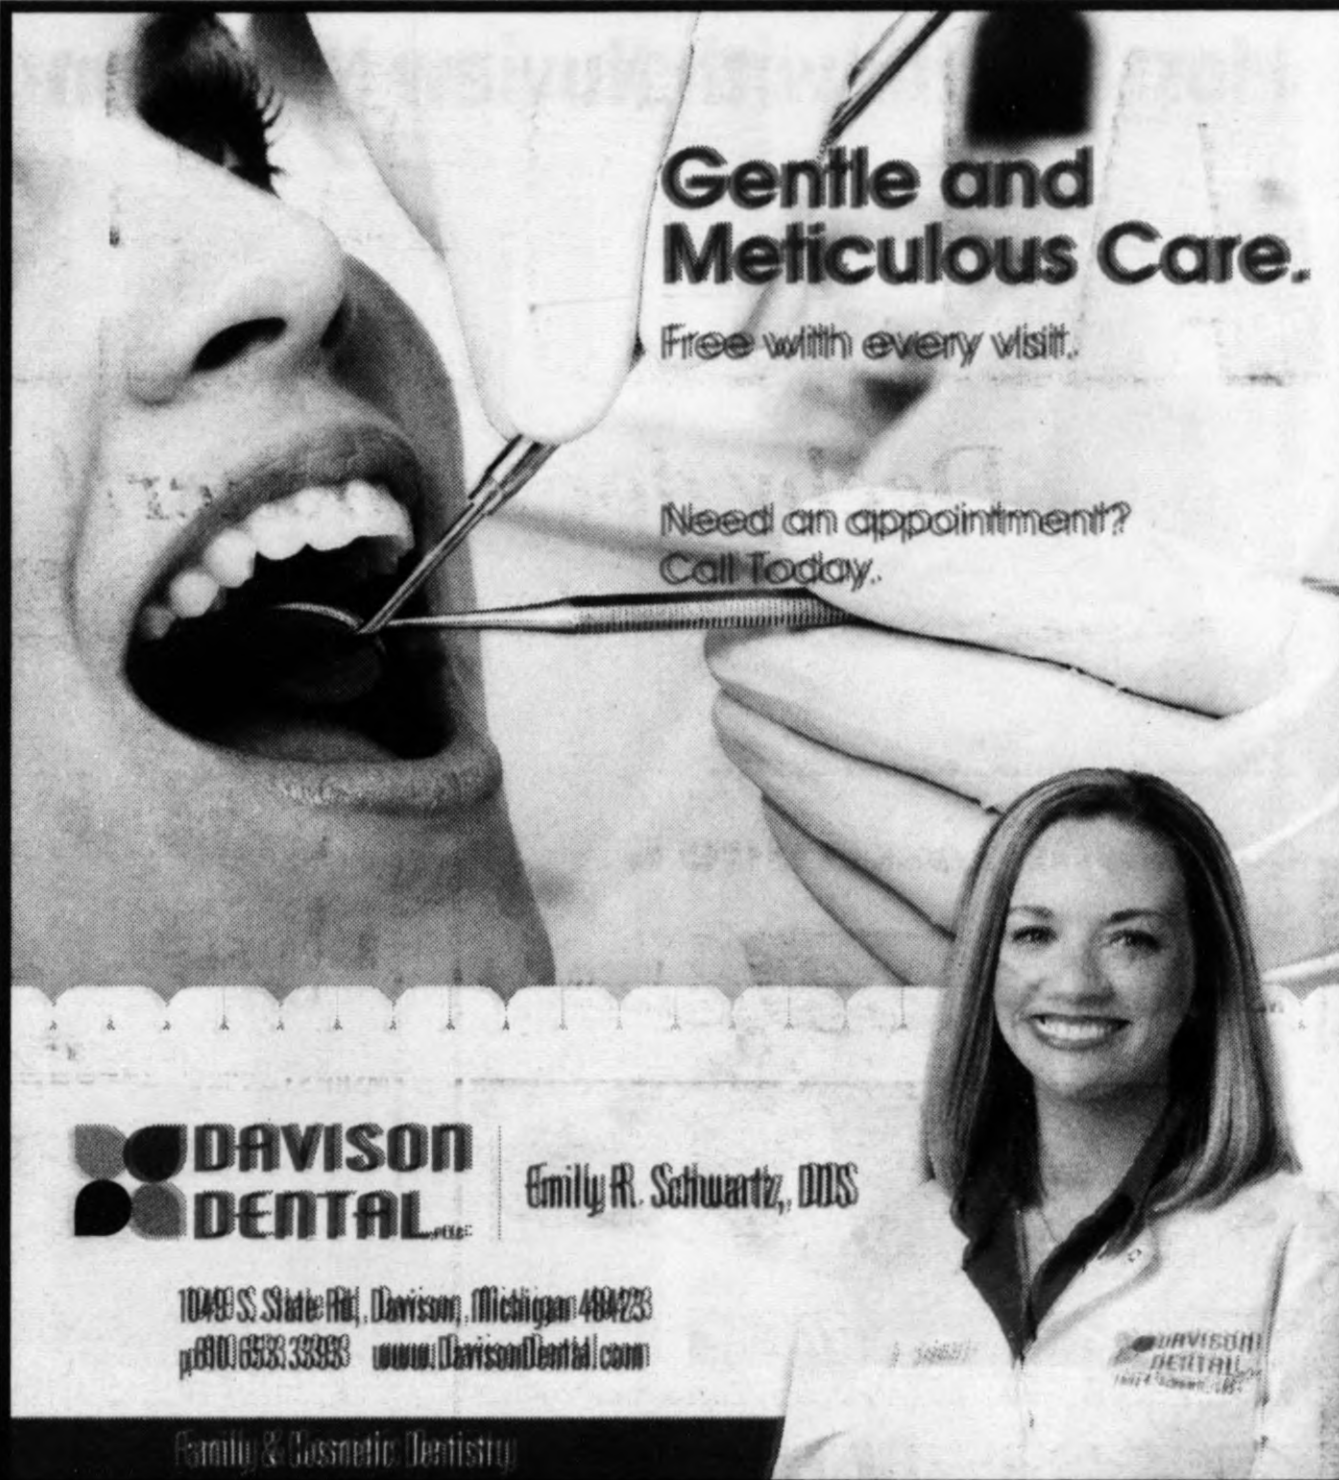

"Who's going to pay to park in a parking garage," Johnston asked. "I don't think business have the money to pay for it."

Land also may not be available, Luginski said.

"There's not really big spaces to build another parking lot," the mayor said. "This is a problem in a lot of small towns - it's not isolated to us."

The meeting at Fire station 1 is a followup to a meeting on Aug. 25.

The city commissioned a free parking study through the Traffic Information Administration, which it joined earlier this year. A study by city engineers Carlisle/Wortman would cost $8,400.

City hall expansion decision postponed

Avery, council members Sharron Catallo and Mike Sabol, and Mayor Joe Luginski voted for postponement. Council member Tom Hunter, who voted against, said they've talked enough.

"We've been working on this since 2012," Hunter said. "All they want to do is pick an alternative. We're not committing ourselves to anything. I'd rather go forward."

The city pays about $25,000 a year to lease 3 E. Church, where it currently stores most of its DPW equipment. The building, which was sold to Union Joints for development into a new restaurant, must be vacated by Nov. 1.

Steve Wylie, former council member speaking as a member of the public, said the city considered a $200,000 expansion project in 2012 when it had a $322,000 rainy day fund, but it was voted down.

"Now you're looking at a $400,000 project and the rainy day fund will be $120,000 by the end of 2016," Wylie said. "We have less money, and we're talking about something more expensive."

He and other residents concerned about the project collected 120 signatures against it over the summer.

"I think the majority of Clarkston citizens don't want anything this expensive," Wylie said.

Luginski said he wasn't in favor of the most expensive option. "I don't want to spend that money either," he said.

In 2012, the city had more money in its general fund, but equipment costs including trucks and road issues were coming up and the tax base was going down because of the economy, the mayor said.

"Now the tax base is going up," he said. "Circumstances are different now."

Something needs to be done to expand city hall, Catallo said.

"This place is full," she said.

Clarkston Board of Education approved the lease of an 800-square-foot bus garage bay for city DPW equipment storage at its Oct. 12 meeting. The lease is for $240 a month.

City Council next meets at 7 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 26, at City Hall in Depot Park.

Parking exception granted for 15 S. Main eatery

The Planning Commission recommended approval of special land use and parking deferment at its Oct. 5 meeting.

City Manager Carol Eberhardt said she counted 300 public parking spots throughout the city in city-owned lots and curbside along residential streets.

"People can park there — it's public parking," Eberhardt said.

"In my opinion, there is reasonable parking within walking distance to the site," said Council member Mike Sabol, who also serves on the Planning Commission.

About 230 spaces are also located in private parking lots in the city, Eberhardt said.

The restaurant joins another eatery coming to downtown. City Council approved a Union Joints restaurant for 148 N. Main and 3 E. Church.

The Schneiders hope to open their restaurant by next spring, James said.

Briefly

Enrollment down

Clarkston Community Schools' enrollment is down 79 students, from 7,772 last year to 7,693 on Oct. 7, the statewide student count day.

The district has until Nov. 11 to audit the count.

From fall 2014 to fall 2015, changes in student count include: Young Fives, 102 up to 127, increase of 25 students; K-5, 3,108 to 3,078, decrease of 30; Sashabaw Middle School, 1,150 to 1,163, increase of 13; Clarkston High School, 1,935 to 1,883, down 52; and Renaissance High School, 171 to 179, plus eight.

In summer 2015, CCS processed 806 new enrollments and 456 student drops.

Computers for schools

Clarkston Community Board of Education approved the purchase of 200 Acer mini ChromeBox computers with extended warranties and other features for $80,200.

The purchases, requested by the technology department at the Oct. 12 school board meeting, were made using Technology Readiness Infrastructure Grant (TRIG) funds.

The computers will be divided among Clarkston High School, Clarkston Junior High School and Sashabaw Middle School.

Sewer rates increase

Clarkston City Council voted unanimously to increase sewer rates from $110 per Residential Equivalent Unit (REU) to $114 per REU, per quarter, beginning with the Nov. 1 billing cycle.

The increase passes along increased billings from Independence Township, which is being billed at a higher rate by the Oakland County Water Resource Commission.

Billings to the city will increase from $99.66 per REU to $103.58 per REU, a 3.8 percent increase.

The last increase to the sewer rate was in May 2013.

Phil in the Blank

A column by Phil Custodio

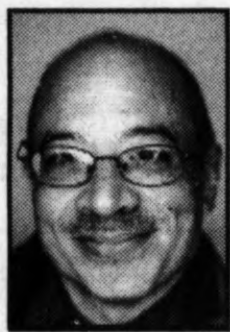

A long time ago...

One thing Back to the Future Part II got right in its predictions of the year 2015 is the nostalgia for the 1980s.

There's no new Jaws movie coming out, but there is a new Star Wars flick soon to hit theaters.

Like most people I talk to, I'm cautiously optimistic about the Force awakening after all these years, since 1983 when the Jedi returned.

The new stormtroopers look cool. One is in chrome, wears a cape, and is a woman (maybe some of the stormtroopers have always been women).

According to the new trailer, the Jedi have become something of a legend in the years since Luke, Han, Leia, and friends blew up two Death Stars and overthrew the Empire.

But the legends are all true, an aging Han Solo tells this newest entry's hero.

Luke seems to have been laying low, more like Yoda than Mace Windu. That makes sense, since Yoda is who Luke spent time training with.

The whole thing highlights how the creators balled up 30 years of Expanded Universe Star Wars and threw it in the trash. That was for the best.

The EU lost me when they killed off Chewbacca, and that was many years ago. Since then, all those authors created a galaxy of neverending war over so many story lines of novels, comics, and video games.

If the Expanded Universe storyline was applied to World War II, the Allies would have found themselves fighting the Nazis again, after defeating them in 1945. Then they would have fought invaders from outer space. Then Audie Murphy's son would have turned evil, taken over the Nazi empire, and murdered his aunt.

It's better this way. Chewbacca is alive and looks really good, based on his appearance in the movie trailers.

The years after a successful revolution are supposed to be pretty boring. I remember back in the 80s, there was a TV miniseries on George Washington. It was awesome, climaxing with victory in the American Revolution.

They made a followup. It was full of the politics of building a new nation, so was pretty boring. It wasn't until 1812 that a new war story could be told.

Reader shocked by woodland construction

Dear Editor,

While driving down Waldon Road between Clintonville and Sashabaw roads, I was shocked and saddened to see a huge tract of woods totally decimated, clearcut of hundreds of trees.

What happened to the woodlands ordinance we have or should have that prevents this kind of horrible destruction of the land.

No doubt numerous homes of birds, squirrels, deer and other wildlife plants and insects are gone. It's a travesty to nature.

The small town quiet country life we had here is quickly turning into a noisy fast paced suburban madness! Is that really what we want or need? If it is, then that's a very sad day for God's creations.

A call for new national leadership for change

Dear Editor,

In regards to Andrea's Anecdotes "Canceling America," Oct. 7, yes, America needs to change, and if you believe presidential candidate John Kasich's comments this week, Republicans have stealth plans to "reform" entitlements.

Kasich chastised a senior citizen that the citizen would just have to "get over" the reductions that are coming.

Of course, middle class Americans will be most affected. They probably can expect to work until age 90 or so, at the low-paying and flat income careers provided by the "job creators" who've received more tax deductions and write-offs for their economic contributions. Not to worry, though--Republican congressman and chairman of the congressional Ways and Means tax-writing committee Paul Ryan purports disinterest in the House speaker post vacated by Boehner, claiming his real interest is in "reforming" the nation's tax code before he leaves for a lucrative job in the private sector.

Guess who will benefit from his reforms? The middle class? Wrong! It will be the same high income "job creators", business owners and high income contributors who have funded our legislators and will cushion their move to the private sector. It's the same in Lansing as in Washington D.C., and will stay the same unless middle class Americans, including their voting age children, mobilize and vote for something different.

It simply is not true that our wealthy nation, with wealth built by the middle class, cannot afford decent health care and income security for its senior citizens, all while providing affordable education and healthcare for younger Americans.

Politicians are playing older Americans against younger ones in a competition for available resources--a competition in which the entire middle class loses. The reality is that things like social security, technical and college education, healthcare and all the other things middle class families deserve could easily be funded if the nation's piles of money--now concentrated in the hands and portfolios of a privileged few--were rearranged more equitably.

The trillions of dollars that have been wasted on ungrateful and hostile citizenry in places like Iraq, Afghanistan and Pakistan could have been better utilized here at home. Fair tax reform would mean that the nation's wealthiest would have fewer tax shelters, deductions and write-offs, and instead would be required to pay higher taxes commensurate with the largesse they have generated off the backs of the middle class.

Ideally, transparency would mean that we'd all see the tax returns the one per centers are filling. After all, the middle class is funding their tax relief.

The "death tax" that Republicans bemoan would be retained. It is not a death tax. It is an equitable way to prevent huge accumulated wealth being bequeathed untaxed to subsequent generations who often have had no significant role in earning the wealth. If you're middle class, you're never going to have to worry about a death tax--Mom and Dad will never have a bundle to drop on you! Don't be fooled by the slick marketing of politicians who largely believe the population is stupid.

Another "Main Street Fairness Act" and "Fair Pension Tax" are probably in the offing. How about a "Make Multi-Millionaires Pay Their Fair Share for a Change Act?" We're not likely to see that from the current Lansing and D.C. crowd.

Nothing is going to change and things will worsen if we don't insist on new political leadership, locally and nationally. Seniors will never retire and kids will graduate loaded down with unmanageable student debt which cannot possibly be repaid with the low-paying jobs they'll be chained to for life.

Let's start with a joke, The Hookers' Union

A dedicated Teamsters' union worker was attending a convention in Las Vegas and decided to check out the local brothels.

When he got to the first one, he asked the madam, "Is this a union house?"

"No, I'm sorry it isn't" she replied.

"Well, if I pay you $100, what cut do the girls get?"

"The house gets $80 and the girls get $20," she answered.

Offended by such unfair dealings, the union man stomped off down the street in search of a more equitable, hopefully unionized shop.

His search continued until he finally reached a brothel where the madam responded.

"Why yes sir, this is a union house. We observe all union rules."

"That's more like it," the union man said.

He handed the madam $100, looked around the room, pointed to a stunningly attractive, green-eyed blonde.

"I'd like her," he said.

"I'm sure you would, sir," said the madam. Then she gestured to a 92-year-old woman in the corner, "but Laura here has 67 years seniority, and according to union rules, she's next."

At this time, for me "dying" is not a friendly or welcome thought. But we all think about it -- maybe more when you have lived the better part of a century - and we (I) comfort ourselves with the many pleasant, comforting thoughts our family and friends have given us.

I've had an ache in one thumb joint for several months. I call it arthritis. I didn't have any balms left so I asked daughter Susan to buy me some stuff.

It's name is Capzasin. I opened the box to read the instructions. Turns out the instructions for use are printed, in tiny type, on the inside of the box. I ignored reading the instructions.

I rubbed this pain reliever on my thumb, and then busied myself for the day. Of course, a need to rub an eye occurred.

And it soon started burning. I mean on fire, hot. I went back and read the tiny wording. "Avoid contact with the eyes."

I almost immediately went through my mother's teaching, and started flushing my eyes in the sink. "After 30 minutes, wash your hands with soap and water." What I learned from all this was to read the instructions first. Come to think about it, I remember Mother saying that, too.

Where does Denny find the time?

A few years ago, right here in the hallowed halls of Don't Rush Me-dom, I opined about this dude. This guy who is like a Detroit Lions superfan. His name, Denny Arney.

I was just thinking about Denny this past Sunday, as your Detroit Lions finally broke into the winning column by downing the dreaded Chicago Bears, 37-34. The win makes the Lions' record so far in 2015, 1 win, five loses. Which is besides the point of this column because it's about Denny.

After typing the first paragraph above, I looked back into the archives and found that old column. Ironically, it was first published this week in 2011 -- so I guess you can all it kismet that the thought of Denny came to me when it did.

As I listened to the radio announcers rejoice in the Lions' first win of the season, I thought of Denny, in his Detroit Lions baseball cap, bare-chested, sitting in a hot tub, situated in the Eastern Market parking lot -- downtown Detroit.

Now, before you start questioning why I am thinking about another man, bare-chested, in a hot tub -- stop! It's not like that.

See, each Lions home game, Denny hauls (from his hometown of Ortonville) a filled hot tub to that parking lot for pre-game tailgating. He and his merry cohorts call themselves the TubGaters. (You can find pictures on line.)

Don't Rush Me

A column by Don Rush

After going down and visiting the tailgate action in person, in that original 2011 column, I wrote:

In my estimation, Ortonville resident and Clarkston businessman Denny Arney is a giant among men. For about 20 years, he has made his way to Detroit Lions home football games for the tailgate party, in itself a tremendous feat of endurance. But where his stature grows is he not only brings himself, he tows along a hot tub, filled with hot water.

"It was a little easier when the Lions played at the Silverdome," Arney, 50, says.

Now that the Lions play at Ford Field in downtown, he gets to slosh his way from Hooterville all the way downtown via I-75, driving 40 miles per hour.

"It's kinda a white knuckle drive," he admits.

When I was at the "tub-gate," the water was a perfect 108 degrees. Arney heats up the water before he leaves home, and with propane and a salamander, keeps it hot throughout the day. People from all walks of life (some regulars to his tub, some new) hop in for talk of the Lions, life and liberty. Some with swimming gear, some, errumm, without.

Were I a younger man, I think I would set up my own hot-tubbing, tailgating experience, too.

Back then, I was amazed at Denny's stamina. By day, he runs a AAA Insurance Agency in Clarkston. He's a husband and father -- and that is a 168-hour a week job in itself. Add into the mix, the SuperLions fan gig (maintaining and hauling) and, crap, that dude's got a hell of a lot going on.

Denny must have a ton of energy. How does he do it and where does he find it? I wanted to know then, and even more so now.

Why?

Because I have learned more information about the life and times of one Denny Arney. (Just when you think that's that, there's always more!) Get this.

Denny also is part of a classic rock and roll band! Yep, he and some mates make up the band called The Vinyl Experience. He's been trying to get me out to see the band, oh... since about June. I haven't made it for a number of reasons. The biggest reason being the band always plays on weekends and on the weekends, I like to spend as much time as possible with my sons, Shamus and Sean. (The older they get, the less time they have for me, so I try to grab as much of their time now, before they fly away.)

I have gone to The Vinyl Experience's Facebook page and watched a couple of video's of the guys playing. And, I must say... nice job, gents! I would recommend folks I know, check you out. I know you have played the Clarkston Eagles and just this past weekend at the Springfield Inn on Dixie Highway.

So, back to my question: How does Denny do it?

Denny, where is the Fountain of Youth you are drinking from? Please respond with your answer before I get too old!

Well done, young man. Well done.

Win clinches playoff spot

BY WENDIREARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The visiting Dragons needed a quick run to be the first to score on Friday night as the ball was placed on the 1-yard line for their fourth down on Friday night.

But the Wolves defense would deny them access into the endzone as juniors Brandon Baker and Nick Stalworth stopped Lake Orion in their tracks, turning possession over to Clarkston with 2:50 remaining in the first quarter.

"The big play was stopping them on the goal line stand there," said Kurt Richardson, head coach. "If they score first then you have a different ball game. Our kids played pretty well."

The Wolves took over possession which led to senior Nolan Eriksen scoring on a 1-yard run after they covered 99 yards in 15 plays into the second quarter, the first of many plays as the boys were enroute to a 35-14 win.

Seven minutes later senior Jonah Koponen was the next to score for the Wolves. He scored off a 9-yard touchdown pass from senior Alex Kessman with 40 seconds remaining in the first half.

Defense halted the Dragons again to begin the third quarter and Clarkston took over two minutes into the second half.

Kessman threw a 44-yard pass play to Koponen, putting the ball at the 7-yard line.

The Wolves would break through with their third touchdown with 8:44 remaining in the third quarter off a 8-yard run from Eriksen.

He would strike again two minutes later on the Wolves' first play with a 42-yard touchdown run.

"He is getting better every game," Richardson said. "He has fresh legs. He is seeing things now. Then, they buddy up and we can throw it a little bit. It's a nice combination."

The last score for the Wolves happened with five minutes left in the third quarter when senior Kyle Genter blocked a punt, recovered the ball and returned it to put the score 35-0.

"It was an opportunity to bring the team ahead," he shared after the game. "It was a great team win. We played as a team."

Kessman was 4-for-4 in passing for 62 yards and one 2-point conversion with Koponen catching all four passes and the 2-point conversion. Kessman was 3-for-4 on PAT attempts, with the second attempt blocked.

Eriksen carried the ball 29 times for 196 yards.

Jack Buchmann led defense with seven tackles and one sack. Genter had four tackles and one blocked punt. Nick Stalworth also had four tackles. Zach Scott, Carter Linton, Carson Stottlemeyer and Jack Muhleck had three tackles each.

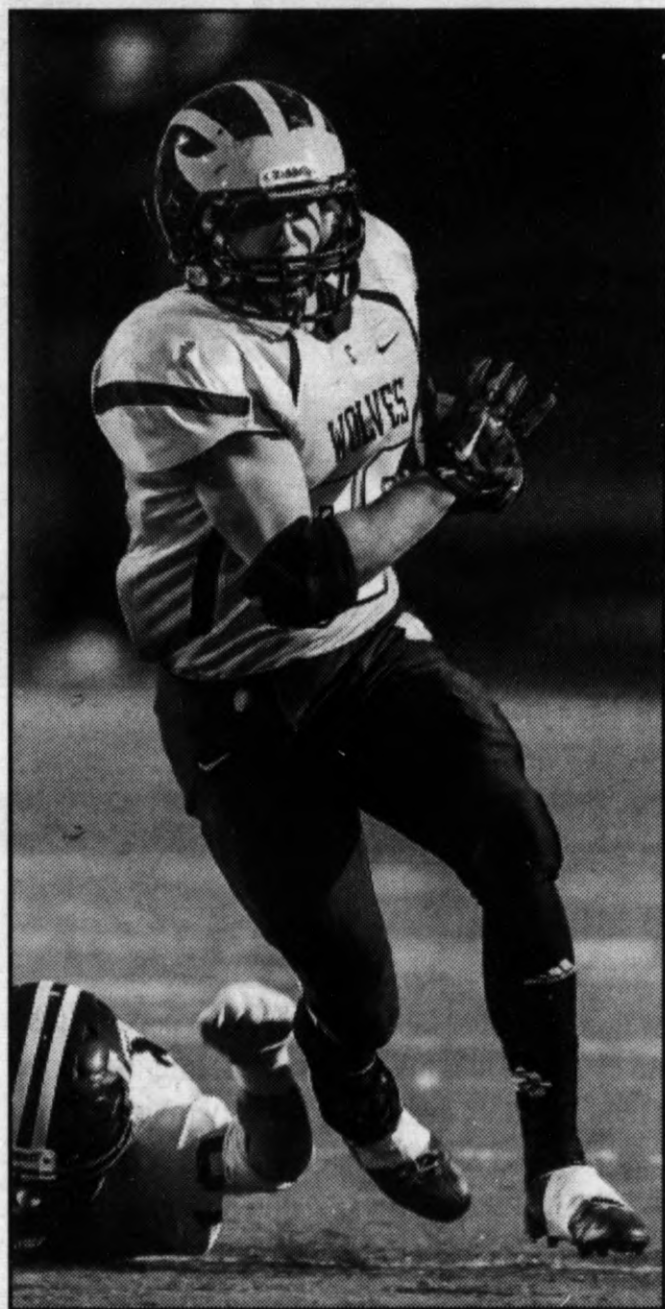

"We are getting better defensively, too," Richardson added. "Again, that stand was huge for us."

The win put the Wolves overall 6-2, clinching a playoff spot for the first round of MHSAA Districts, starting Oct. 30.

The boys host Oak Park this Friday in a OAA Red/White crossover game.

"We just have to be prepared mentally and physically and get healthy," said Genter. "It moves us another step forward - the goal every week is to get better."

Kick off is at 7 p.m.

Leaders on the court

BY WENDIREARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Seniors Ian Stuart and Alexis Haselwanter made an impact on Clarkston Tennis during their four years on the varsity team.

Both are No. 1 and No. 2 in the program history in total wins. Haselwanter ended with an overall record of 102-18 and Stuart with a record 82-30

"They were the turning point for us where we started winning at singles rather than losing at singles," added Chas Claus, head coach.

Haselwanter explained the losses taught him more as he used each match to reflect on how he could do better.

"It's a very big accomplishment," Stuart smiled. "I used to be hard on myself - I've matured. I look at losses to reflect how I can do better."

They have been through highs and lows together during their four years while becoming close friends and teammates.

Haselwanter smiled, "we have only gone against each other during tryouts.

It's cool to work with him."

One of the highs they experienced together is helping their teammates reach the state finals twice, both times placing in ninth in 2013 and this fall.

"It is one last hurrah," Haselwanter smiled as the boys practiced last Wednesday to prepare for the tournament. "We are going to play our best and go all out."

"I feel really accomplished this season just making it to our goal," Stuart said.

Haselwanter went 2-1 during the two-day state finals. He defeated Kevin Hascher from Grandville, 6-2, 6-0; and Oliver Fuchs from Ann Arbor Pioneer, 6-3, 6-3.

He lost in the semifinals to Constantine Hemmich from Bloomfield Hills, 6-4, 6-3.

Stuart went 1-1 on the Singles No. 2 court. He defeated Tyler Brown from Holt, 6-0, 6-0; and lost to Kobie Mueller from Ann Arbor Huron, 6-1, 6-1.

"It's been a ride," Stuart smiled about the last four years.

Please see Tennis on page 12

Tennis careers to continue

"It's been great," Haselwanter explained. "I love we have been able to help out. This past season has been weird being the older guys."

This year the two have led the team as co-captains and helped the younger players with their games.

Haselwanter added one of the goals was to have the team work together as one unit.

Stuart explained the team is comfortable and there is a positive vibe among the guys.

They have also helped their teammates by sharing their experiences especially the different experiences they have had in tournaments.

This season the boys qualified for the state finals after finishing second at their regional meet with 13 points. Both Haselwanter and Stuart finished 2-1 for the day and as runner-up in their flights.

"We were projected to score 12 points," Stuart explained, adding they did their best with the pressure on them.

"We performed how we were supposed to," Haselwanter added.

Both plan to continue playing tennis in college even if it isn't on the varsity level.

"I would love to play club," Haselwanter "I plan to continue playing for the rest of my life."

Stuart agreed he planned for the same.

Both added their own advice to aspiring athletes.

"If you are on a team connect with the team as much as you can," Stuart said. "It makes the learning experience much easier and better."

"Just go out there and try to do something," Haselwanter added. "You don't have to be the next professional tennis player - look to have fun with it."

Heading into playoffs with league title

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Kickers celebrated after their game on Saturday at Berkley - not only had they defeated an OAA Red foe but they had tied for first place in the league.

They finished the regular season with a 7-3-2 record in the league, tying for first place with Rochester Adams.

The Clarkston Boys Varsity Soccer team spent the season climbing up from the 0-2-1 record they had after finishing the first week at the beginning of the season.

"We basically said let's stop worrying about the standings," said Curtis Payment, head coach. "We just need to play better. As a team we started to focus on how we were playing and not so much about the results - just playing good soccer. To come back from where we were is really impressive. They stayed on the course and kept playing hard."

The Wolves went 3-0 last week in the league beginning with a 4-1 win over Stoney Creek, Oct. 13.

Senior Jack Kuczmanski started the scoring for Clarkston with the first goal. Senior Jared Suddon added the second goal and Senior Jake Hallberg led for the night with two goals.

"We have been scoring on our chances," Payment added. "We have been putting them in."

Senior Conner Sajan was in the net for the first three-quarters of the game and had a shutout with ten saves. Freshman Noah Bridgeman played the remainder of the game and had five saves.

"Stoney was dangerous," Payment said, adding both goalies played really well. "One of their really good players came back after being out all season. He was really challenging. Our defense is awesome. We have only given up ten goals in 21 games."

The Wolves went on to beat Rochester Adams on Thursday with goals from Suddon and junior Josh McCaghy, 2-0.

Payment added McCaghy has been hurt for the past three weeks and came off the bench for 20 minutes.

"He scored an amazing goal. It is good to have him back and have him back healthy," he said. "He really is a super talented player for us. We did really good against them. We knew how much we had on the line. They only had four shots on the net that night. We were really solid."

Though Clarkston tied with the Highlanders for first place in the league, they beat them twice during the season.

"It validates we did very well," Payment smiled.

The boys finished the regular season with a 5-1 win over Berkley on Saturday. Suddon led the attack with the first two goals of the morning. Hallberg, junior Matt DeFinis and junior Alberto Mendez Ruiz added one goal each.

"We had this anticipation for this huge game because Berkley is tough to play against especially at Berkley," Payment said. "They ended up sitting a lot of their starters. We just said we are doing what we need to do. We got up quickly then I was able to take out a lot of our guys. Berkley was pretty physical so to get up early and put in guys who haven't had a lot of time is huge. It was a great team victory."

The boys finished with a 14-3-5 overall record for the regular season.

Payment added they had a tough two weeks at the end of September and he went into October thinking if the team won three out of five games it would be awesome. Instead they won all five.

"We have been playing well and consistent scoring," he said. "We are hitting it on all cylinders. I hope we can keep it going."

The boys opened playoffs against Waterford Kettering in the first round of MHSAA Districts on Tuesday.

"We need to take care of business," Payment said. "This team is really professional and they play like they don't know what the other team is like."

The winner moves on to play the Waterford Mott/Davison winner on Thursday. The finals are held Saturday at Seymour Elementary in Flushing.

"We have to take each game and play like it is the district finals," Payment added.

Jake Hallberg maintains control over the ball. File photo

FUNERAL HOME

Q. Do I really need a funeral?

A. Before the 1900s, death was an accepted part of life. When a person died, it was usually at home and everyone was involved in preparing the body for the funeral. Today, we tend to ignore death and even try to deny it by sacrificing the funeral ritual. However, with that decision, a very important step is missed. That is - the first step of the grieving process - the sharing of grief with those around us. All of the rituals in our lives, including births, marriages and deaths are marked by sharing with those around us. Our staff would be honored to assist you in the planning process.

Top 10 finish at state finals

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

The Wolves finished in the top ten in their second trip to the MHSAA Boys Tennis State Finals in the last three years.

The boys scored eight points during the tournament to tie at ninth place with Port Huron Northern.

"It was a nice acumination to the season," said Chas Claus, head coach for Clarkston Boys Varsity Tennis. "We have only done that one other time in the history of the program. It was a very successful year and I was proud of the way we played."

Alexis Haselwanter led the Wolves as he went 2-1 during the finals in the Singles No. 3 court.

He defeated Kevin Hascher from Grandville, 6-2, 6-0; and Oliver Fuchs from Ann Arbor Pioneer, 6-3, 6-3, which sent him to the semifinal round.

"He is the only Clarkston player to get as far as the semifinals at the state finals," Claus said, adding Haselwanter made it to the semifinals in 2013 when the Wolves were at the state finals.

Alex Matisse, Ian Stuart and Jacob Burkett went 1-1 during the tournament in their respective courts.

Matisse defeated Patrick Willard from Grosse Pointe South, 6-1, 6-0 on Singles No.

1 court; and lost to Franklin Brozovich from Port Huron Northern, 6-3, 6-2.

Stuart defeated Tyler Brown from Holt, 6-0, 6-0 on Singles No. 2 court; and lost to Kobie Mueller from Ann Arbor Huron, 6-1, 6-1.

Burkett defeated Nishaan Makim from Port Huron Northern 6-2, 1-6, 6-2 on Singles No. 4 court and lost to Josh Anshuetz from Birmingham Brother Rice, 6-2, 6-2.

The doubles teams weren't as successful and went 0-1 for the tournament.

"We ran into people we knew were better than us and also ran into teams we didn't know anything about," said Claus. "I was proud of everybody. They did a great job not only playing but supporting each other. The team's attitude going in was really good. They really enjoyed the experience."

David Carpenter and Tristan Greenlee lost to Josh Hentschel and Brendan Doyle on the Doubles No. 1 court, 6-0, 6-0; Ryan Knight and Jason Richards lost to Josh Bilisko and Timmy Duong from Grandville on Doubles No. 2, 6-0, 6-4; Austin Villeneuve and Charlie Lussenhop lost to Michael Song and Spencer Liu from Troy on Doubles No. 3, 6-0, 6-0; and Trevor Chamberlain and Conner Schrei lost to Patrick Bourke and Chris Lizza from Grosse Pointe South on Doubles No. 4, 7-6 (6), 6-2.

Field goal breaks tie for win

With 1.2 seconds remaining in the game, sophomore Simon Fenske kicked a 27-yard field goal to break the tie between Everest Collegiate and Madison Heights Bishop Foley last Friday, 31-28.

The field goal was set up after Everest defense sacked Foley's quarterback.

Senior Daniel Dewitt recovered the ball and returned it to Foley's 14-yard line with less than a minute to go in the game.

Junior Alex Legg had two rushing touchdowns for Everest while teammate sophomore Grant Burgess had a touchdown run and made a 35-yard touchdown pass to senior Luke Allen.

For Foley, Joe Schmidt had two touchdown runs and a 40-yard interception return for a touchdown.

Everest improved to 5-3, 3-3 in CHSL Intersectional with the win.

Dear City of the Village of Clarkston Residents,

The City of the Village of Clarkston is an exceptional place to live, raise children and build a thriving business. Whether you live in the historic district or other neighborhoods, or own and operate a Main Street business, you were drawn to our City because of its uniqueness and quality of life.

The undersigned individuals have come together to found the "Friends of the City of the Village of Clarkston" because we feel it is important to be proactive in helping to protect our community as a whole, to preserve our historical heritage and nurture a culture of balanced growth that benefits all of us.

Mission Statement:

The Friends of the City of the Village of Clarkston (CVC) is dedicated to supporting a healthy community that balances the ideals of historic residential properties, newer residential neighborhoods and a Commercial (Retail) District for present and future generations.

Vision Statement:

The Friends of CVC is an advocacy group dedicated to assisting our Mayor and City Council in promoting a vital Village commercial district while preserving our Main Street and residential neighborhoods through education, problem solving and fostering consensus among the stakeholders.

Objectives:

1. Encourage City officials to carefully research and strongly challenge all actions that would turn Clarkston residential properties into business entities both on Main Street and in neighborhoods.

2. Encourage City Officials to make decisions based on data collected through stakeholder input, study and analysis of the best practices in City planning and historic preservation.

3. Support current City Officials in developing solutions for addressing stalemate problems regarding parking, signage, and zoning in the City.

4. Recruit, support and elect candidates for City of the Village of Clarkston Council that are dedicated to ensuring balanced growth that embodies stakeholder values.

If you agree with our Mission Statement, Vision, and Objectives, please join us in our efforts to support and elect the following candidates to City Council, Tuesday, November 3rd.

Football for a Cure success

It was a night of many victories on Friday. Before the gridiron heroes kicked off their game against Lake Orion, Clarkston High School Athletic Director Dan Fife and Assistant Principal Josh LaMay presented a check for $17,725 to Carrie Wheeler, from McLaren Cancer Institute - Clarkston and McLaren Breast Center, and Football for a Cure Co-Chair Erika Heaton.

The money was raised during the seventh annual Football for a Cure, the Clarkston Varsity Football's pre-season scrimmage, Aug. 15.

With help from the community the Wolves raised the money to be used for patients at McLaren Cancer Institute and McLaren Breast Center. All of the proceeds go to gas and grocery cards for patients to help them during their treatments.

The fall color change in Clarkston is a good subject for aerial photography.

Eye in the sky

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

When Don Herbert was in the military as a flight medic from 2006-2012, he got a taste for the aerial perspective.

"I always thought the perspective above the earth was prettier – it's a chance to see more from a single perspective," Herbert said.

Now he flies the skies over Clarkston and surrounding area as a drone pilot.

"Last spring, when I saw the technology coming out, I bought one out of sheer curiosity," he said. "I used it to take pictures, but it's capable of so much more."

He now has three top-of-the-line, quad-copter DJI Phantom drones, one set up with a GPS-stabilized video camera, a second for digital surface modeling, and now a third, custom built to carry a thermal camera and supplies for search and rescue.

The third drone's payload will include water, space blanket, energy drink, and other items for a person who is lost until help can arrive.

"That's the reason I got into this," Herbert said.

He has an FAA compliance exemption to fly his drones, and is careful to avoid filming people in their yards, at the beach, or other private places.

"People can misuse them, like cars, guns, knives – it's a tool," he said. "I like landscapes, sunsets, sunrises, the fall color change."

So far his Firefly Unmanned Imaging service has filmed the Taste of Clarkston and Art in the Park, and he has provided film and pictures of the Clinton River and other parks free on Facebook.

For more information, call 810-399-8974 or email FireFlyUAS@gmail.com.

Running with the Bulldogs

A chill of a breeze at Bailey Lake Elementary hinted at fall but the students were too focused on their annual Fun Run, Oct. 2.

Each student ran, jogged or walked for 15 minutes on the track behind the elementary school.

The students were motivated with the DJ playing their favorite music and inspiration from Cha Cha, the Red-Eyed Treefrog from Rainforest Cafe.

Money raised during the annual Fun Run goes back into the school for field trips, reading programs, family fun night and more.

Edwin J. Beattie, 91

Edwin James Beattie died of heart failure on Oct. 12, 2015, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Known to friends and acquaintances alike as "Red" due to his bright red hair, Beattie was born on Oct. 20, 1923 in Waterford, Mich., the son of John and Ruth Beattie.

The family moved to farm land they purchased outside of Lapeer, Mich., and Beattie grew up there and graduated from Lapeer High School.

With the Second World War under way, he volunteered to serve in the United States Navy. He qualified for training to become a Navy pilot, attending pre-flight training school in Iowa, and flight training in Pensacola, Florida.

During the war, he was active in the Pacific theatre as a combat aircraft pilot. He flew many missions off an aircraft carrier before being shot down by a Japanese fighter pilot at the onset of the October 1944 U.S. invasion of Leyte island in the Philippines. The Battle of Leyte Gulf is considered by many to be the largest naval battle in history.

Beattie parachuted to safety, and was carried by a Filipino combatant to a village where an American officer, Lt. St. John, was organizing Filipinos to fight against the Japanese occupation. St. John was able to reunite Beattie with his military unit.

Perhaps because of his youth—Beattie had just turned 21—major Midwestern newspapers carried banner headlines reading "REDHEAD MISSING," and after the war St. John penned a book, Leyte Calling, which includes a chapter entitled "The Redhead."

Passionate about flying and his commitment to the U.S. Navy, Beattie signed on with the Navy Reserves and became a squadron commander. As such, he would have another brush with history in the early 1960s, when his squadron was fully prepared to participate in an attack on Cuba.

After World War II, Beattie had returned primarily to civilian life in southeastern Michigan, trying his hand at numerous jobs, including managing a small airport, repairing automobiles, and selling cars and trailers. In 1961, he learned that a small manufacturing business, Moon Valley Rustic Furniture, was for sale, and he bought it.

He applied his considerable mechanical skills to invent machines that streamlined the production of the furniture, and used his salesmanship acumen to good measure as well. To acquire investment capital, he 'moonlighted' by piloting commercial freight, on some occasions taking along one of his children to monitor the airplane's instruments while he tried to get some sleep.

Over the ensuing decades, Beattie turned "Moon Valley" into a successful business, one that generated hundreds of jobs for Clarkston, Waterford and Pontiac area residents. Beattie eventually retired, splitting his time between a winter home near Arcadia, Florida, and Hale, Michigan.

Beattie fathered four children with Hazel M. Findlay, better known as Mickie, a long time teacher of history at Clarkston Junior High.

Their first child, Katherine, died at birth, but the three subsequent children, Kim, Kirk and Kay, all redheads, all graduated from Clarkston High School.

After Mickie's death, Beattie went on to marry Kathleen Emery, who continues to reside in Florida and Michigan. Beattie is survived by his three children, Kim (m. Wendy Fischl) in Bloomfield Hills, Kirk (m. Elizabeth Hagge) in Brookline, MA, and Kay (m. Don Brown) in Cincinnati, OH; seven grandchildren (Andrew and Kaitlyn Brown; Ross, Ethan and Siena Beattie; Zoe and Taya Beattie); one great grandson (Jake); two stepsons, Ken (m. Karen) and Dan (m. Terry) Emery; two step-grandchildren (Jasmine and Vanessa); and one step-great granddaughter (Cabela).

The family is planning to hold memorial services in Michigan at a later date. Memorial gifts may be sent to the Alzheimer's Association, alz.org.

State Rep. tours community mental health centers

Rosemary Rangi and Robert and Sue White, who are active in the Parent Alliance of Metro Detroit and parent advocates for their sons who are on the autism spectrum, recently invited state Rep. James Tedder of the 19th District to visit New Gateways, a non-vocational community activity program serving adults with mild to severe intellectual and developmental disabilities in Oakland County.

Rep. Tedder followed the New Gateways visit with a visit to the Laurelton group home where he met with group home residents and staff. Lynn Maginity, executive director, hosted the New Gateways visit and John Williams, executive director progressive lifestyles, hosted the Laurelton group home visit.

During the visits, the representative met with consumers at each location as well as staff, learning more about the critical issues impacting Community Mental Health in Oakland County.

"It is so important we ensure the safety and care of those that need it most," Tedder said. "This experience was a valuable reminder of that and I encourage people to visit and see why these services are critical to many."
