Help family fight cancer

BY WENDI REARDON

Clarkston News Sports Writer

David "Bubba" Fulcher went against many opponents when he was a tailback and nose guard for the Clarkston High School Wolves.

However, he faced his fiercest opponent this year when he was diagnosed with cancer. He will share his experience at the annual Football for a Cure game on Aug. 13.

Fulcher was diagnosed with Stage 3A Esophageal Cancer in February.

"I was in good shape, working out and just couldn't swallow any food," said Fulcher, a 1982 Clarkston High School graduate.

His wife, Caroleigh, began to wonder if he strained something because he was working out and bench pressing.

He went to Dr. Larry Baylis, another lifelong Wolf, and was sent to be "scoped," which is when they found a large tumor in his esophagus.

"It was a big surprise," David said. "I was in total shock. At age 52, I was in perfect health."

"I was right there and he said he has a tumor," Caroleigh remembered. "You go numb for a minute and start wondering what does it mean."

Daughters Greta, an eighth grader at Clarkston Junior High School, and Eve, a sophomore at Clarkston High School, were both shocked.

"It felt like it was a dream," Greta said. "I was speechless."

David went to see his oncologist, Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Chisti, a McLaren Health Care doctor, and began with chemotherapy and radiation.

The family met Deanna Hart, Patient Navigator for McLaren Cancer Institute during the appointment.

"She made us feel at ease and said we would get all of our treatment here in Clarkston which was a big help," David smiled.

Parking downtown

A joint meeting of Clarkston City Council, Planning Commission, and Streets Committee is on hold pending results of a parking study commissioned with the Traffic Improvement Association, earlier this year.

In the meantime, local businesses and property owners on Main Street and Depot Road are posting signs, installing fences, and taking other measures to protect their private parking lots from restaurant and other business overflow parking.

Possible solutions discussed by officials and residents so far at city council meetings include pay-to-park systems in city-owned lots, and purchase or construction of new city lots or garages.

The change was made at the request of the Oakland County Sheriff's Office to promote better traffic flow and control.

Public hearing on pond improvement

Clarkston Mill Ponds Lake Improvement Board hosts a public hearing at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 29, about a proposed three-year improvement project for the Mill Ponds in downtown Clarkston.

The project would include surveys and treatments of nuisance aquatic plants, and goose control, 2017 through 2019 with an annual cost of $10,685. The hearing will be at Independence Township Hall, 6483 Waldon Center Drive.

The board will also have a hearing on a proposed special assessment roll to pay for it.

The proposal is on file for public review at the offices of the City of the Village of Clarkston, 375 Depot Road, and Independence Township Hall.

Letters can also be mailed to the Clarkston Mill Ponds Lake Improvement Board c/o Ms. Jacy Garrison, Oakland County Water Resources Commissioner's Office, One Public Works Drive, Bldg 95W, Waterford, Michigan 48328-1907.

Correction

The story "More work for Depot Park path," June 28, incorrectly reported the donor of the security camera at the south end of the park.

Football & baby

The beginning of a new season is right around the corner with the fall athletic teams starting next week with practices and try-outs.

The tradition for the gridiron heroes continues as they host their 8th Annual Football for a Cure next Saturday. Can you believe it? Doesn't it feel like the autumn wind was just blowing as we tightened our jackets closed. (Cold thoughts on a hot day. Sometimes it works. Sometimes sitting with your feet dangling in the water does the trick, too.)

Who is excited to see the Wolves put on powder blue and baby pink jerseys for a intersquad scrimmage to raise money for patient care and transportation for McLaren Breast Cancer and Karmanos Cancer Institute.

My son might be. It really depends on how he feels (teething) and it begins pretty close to his bedtime, so he might be cranky as half time approaches.

He will be 8-months-old next Wednesday and is crawling. Once he got the right hand to lift and move forward he has been unstoppable.

It quickly led to sitting by himself for longer than a few minutes at a time. His posture is great, not as weeble wobble as he was especially when he decides to crawl to a piece of furniture then sit next to it. We have mastered the quick grab, anticipating the wobble and furniture collision point.

It seemed only within a span of days he went from sitting to kneeling and reaching for toys hanging on his Einstein chair. He has already been working on standing up, long before crawling.

He has always enjoyed music and his favorite song remains the same which is good. It's great to have a stand by classic to start singing when he is fussy. Start singing the first four words, he smiles and forgets what he was fussing about.

He just enjoys sounds in general - a way a word sounds like "quack" or how certain letters in words sound like "z" in buzz. Another sound he enjoys is clapping especially when clapping along to one of his shows on BabyFirstTV.

We won't get into the temptation of wires or the temptation to continue to go towards the wires when mom and dad say, "No, Jonathan."

Reader asks of right to bear nukes

Dear Editor,

The many campaign ads, commercials and debate comments by political candidates advocating fervent concern for loss of gun rights initially seemed misplaced, unsophisticated, and even stupid from my perspective.

After all, where is the political and government leadership's concern for real issues like jobs, education, crumbling infrastructure, and health and retirement security? It seemed as though politicians had waged an insulting campaign of pandering against local voters.

But I have come to realize that I was wrong. The nation's founding fathers insisted upon the public's constitutional right to bear arms to protect the people from a tyrannical and oppressive government.

Certainly, the government we have today more than 200 years later is at least incompetent and corrupt, and arguably oppressive, so our right to bear arms must not be infringed upon now at this critical time. But some modernization and updating is required if we are to fulfill the intent of our founding fathers.

Now that government arsenals have been upgraded with nuclear, laser, chemical and other more sophisticated weaponry, it seems unsuitable and unfair that the general public is limited to owning limited capability weapons like muskets, shotguns, and deer and assault weapons.

The oppressive government is even trying to restrict public use of drones! If our constitutional right to bear arms is to be fully protected, Congress must act now to ensure that every American, no illegals or immigrants, can own his/her personal stock of nuclear and other weapons commensurate with our need to protect us from our government.

No background checks; the privacy, security and constitutional rights to bear arms of extremists and the mentally ill must be protected, too.

Obamacare must be eliminated and the healthcare subsidies should be made available for the poor to purchase weapons. Only in this way can we all be safe.

Congress doesn't seem to be particularly busy, so perhaps the leadership could at least solve this problem.

A Look Back

From The CNews archives

15 years ago - 2001

"Civic center or new hall for Independence?" Whether to build a civic center complex or a new town hall was the question Independence Township would be able to answer within 30 days. They board reviewed the two choices during a special meeting.

"Council doesn't attract interest/ members call job rewarding" The Clarkston City Council welcomed its newest member, Derek Werner. The council members explained they wished they had more community members actively seeking public office.

"Pom pon team takes first at OU" The Clarkston Varsity Pom Pon team already made a statement - they're one of the best squads around and the season hadn't even started yet. The team competed at the National Dance Association at Oakland University and won many awards including the spirit award.

25 years ago - 1991

"Defeat for park issue" Park and recreation officials had to find another way to pay for operations in Independence Township after voters down the proposed operating millage by a 2-to-1 margin. Over 1,000 said no to the millage while 628 voted yes.

"Howe gets new life with Yankees" After three years away from baseball, Steve Howe was back in Tiger Stadium doing what he did best - pitch. The 1976 Clarkston High School graduate was pitching for the New York Yankees and threw two innings of hitless reliefs against the Detroit Tigers.

"Mother of eight tells of life during the depression" June Helen Christiansen of Clarkston published her book about her life during the depression. It began as a way to tell her children about life during the depression while she was taking a writing class and turned into book.

50 years ago - 1966

"Explorers" Paul, Lisa, David and Tina Vidlund described themselves as explorers and visited The Clarkston News office seeking information. They wanted to help identifying the caterpillar they had found.

"Education board studies new junior high plans" The Clarkston Board of Education approved the basic drawings of the new junior high school, which would be built behind North Sashabaw Elementary.

"Round the Town" Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carpenter and family spent a weekend camping in Canada.

Name the hard workers? Golf, news leads same

These Jottings first ran July 30, 2008.

Of course this is an exaggeration, but every person running for office, promoting new legislation or defending their record, uses this reason:

"... for the hard-working people who deserve it!"

I'd like to see their definition of "hard-working people."

It ain't me! It's not the people in my diminishing circle. Nor is it the hangers-on I see at the saloon, those filling stadiums, filling congested roads and filing for unemployment.

Hard-working people, by my description, hardly have time for family, let alone have time for games, throwing lures, listening to politicians or going to the polls.

Hard-working people work, eat and sleep. Oh, they may take a few days off now and then, but they don't listen to, or read about what a candidate is spewing. Hard-working people are busy people.

Hard-working people don't trust politicians as proven by the electeds approval rating in polls... it's in the teens.

And, these politicians cannot be in any way included in a "Hard-working" description.

Their workweek is minimal at best.

So, the next time you hear or read about Hard-working people think about how many you know who fit your description of that adjective.

Jim's Jottings

a column by
Jim Sherman

Probably, only you will qualify.

- - - 0 - - -

Now, about golf. Perhaps you know it as a game played in fields of overgrown grasses, bogs, mini-beaches and standing water.

Listening and watching the British Open recently... oh, yeah, the British Open is a golf tournament played when winds blow hardest, rain is pelting everyone and announcers make it sound even worse.

During these sessions I began to realize how similar the narrators are to those who deliver economic reports every day.

The worse the better.

Golf spokesman: "He has an impossible lie. He can't even see the ball and he's behind a grove of pines."

Economics guy: "The unemployment figures will be out after closing, but they are expected to be much higher."

(The golfer hits the ball on the green, an inch from the hole. The unemployment figures show a decline.)

Golf spokesman: "This is a very difficult green, with no way to read this putt."

Economics guy: "There's been a surge in bank closings, and more are expected when the feds meet."

(The golfer drops the 40-ft putt. One bank, of note, folds.)

Again, the worse a golf shot or financial matter can be made to sound, the better.

Yes, bad news sells and people continue to repeat it. We are a bunch of pessimistic talkers, but we believe, usually silently, that we have the greatest country and life.

Fewer people are watching golf on tv these days, and not just because Tiger Woods isn't playing. It's because people have better things to do, like napping, or shaping a shrub.

- - - 0 - - -

One more note on golf, then I'll never write about it again. Trust me.

Never have I wore sun glasses while playing golf. I concluded long ago that sun glasses would not let me see the flight of the ball.

And, they would not give true readings to greens.

No matter the directness of the sun light or the strength of the glare, sun glasses would ruin my game.

Perhaps the main thing golfers worry about is their handicap. Pro golfers have a zero handicap number, while regular golfers aim for a 12. It is (was) my belief sun glasses would cause higher scores.

It took about 40 years, but going bare faced hasn't helped my scoring. My handicaps in the 20s now, thus my belief has been exploded.

Adding to that finding is now my eyes have cataracts, which I'm starting to believe would have been avoided if I wore sun glasses.

I have never let facts interfere with my beliefs.

Ask me any five questions, I dare you.

I was coddling around the old social media thingamabob this past weekend for just a few minutes, and one of my 642 "friends" (most whom I have never met) shared a post from like seven years ago -- wait! -- can Facebook really be that old?

No, it wasn't some snarky, punk message superimposed over a cute kid's face; nor was it spiritually uplifting and it for sure wasn't something politically depressing. It was something that kinda' hit a nerve with me.

Here is that post, sort of:

"OK. You can ask me five questions and I will give you five honest answers - no matter how crazy they are. Ready, set... go!"

Always the sly cookie, I reposted that "friend's" post at about 8 o'clock on a Saturday night -- knowing full well, folks (except me) were out and about enjoying an awesome summer's eve -- thus I would not have to look inside and "share" things about me. As I speculated, I got nary a response except for a few like these:

"Man, that is open ended!"

"Some of us play this game everyday whether we want to or not. Does this imply that you don't normally give us honest answers to crazy questions? Does that count as a question? Does asking if it counts as a question count as a question? That's only three so I'm not officially in."

and, "(Don, you are) Treading on dangerous ground."

Don't Rush Me

A column by
Don Rush

A firm follower of the motto, "No Guts, No Glory," I might as well see where this idea goes. I started thinking more about the possibilities, and what could be gained from shuffling down the old Five Question path. A selfish ogre of a man, I even found a way that I can benefit. (More on that later.)

Those who actually know me (personally have met me, talked to me, looked into my eyes, slapped my back, shared time with me, etc.) know I can be "that guy" who always asks questions of you. "How did that make you feel? Why did you want to go into that business? Where did you learn to do that? How do you handle yourself so well? And, I can (and often do) go on and on with questions until the questionee says something like, "Don! Stop asking me questions!" (What can I say? When I get into the zone, I am curious.)

When I saw the Five Questions post, I thought it would be a good reversal to turn things around here in my column. Let you readers ask me questions. I will answer them honestly. And, what is more, I can get not just one column out of this, but, if I play my cards right, two! Hot damn, let's get this party started!

But, before we start, let's get this out of the way so you don't have to go down this particular line of questioning.

I love cuddly, little puppies, thunderstorms, playing in the rain and long walks on the beach at night and holding hands.

Now that the mushy stuff is off the asking table you can ask your questions. My email address is at the end of this column.

(Time out! I know most folks like to feel "loved"; since Facebook has come around I have settled for feeling "liked."

And, only one person has ever "blocked" me from their page, so I got that going for me. Okay, back to the column...)

* * *

One person did ask me questions -- actually, the original poster. Asked she,

1. What would you consider the most valuable asset in your life?

2. What do you think is your best quality?

3. Movies or books?

4. What is the first thing you notice about a person?

5. Why? for each question 1-4.

Now, I think she was tricky in her asking. She actually had eight questions with that "why" for each. But, answer I did. I may share in a later column, should it come to be.

As that night's social media travels (ever in a purposeful manner towards a vague destination) waned, I noticed a post from another "friend." This one has haunted my dreams ever since. The post showed a picture, oh probably 10 or so years old, of the Trumps and Clintons, all chummy, together, arms around each other (though Bill Clinton's hand was on the down side of Melania Trump's hip). And, the poster stated something like, "What if Donald Trump is trying to lose the election so Hillary can be president of these United States?"

In this mad, convoluted and messed up world wouldn't that be something!? It would also explain how everyday the Trumpster says something more outlandish and offensive.

Two of his dogs got loose, entered a neighbor's yard, and bit the neighbor and the neighbor's dog on July 4 in the 5000 block of Everest Drive.

Domestic violence

A 37-year-old Pontiac man was arrested on two child support warrants out of Sixth Circuit Court, 4:10 a.m., July 25, in the 2500 block of Mann Road. He was at the residence of a 32-year-old Independence Township woman, who had called him to come over after an altercation she had with another man she had met in a bar. When the Pontiac man tried to call her mother and 911, the woman tackled, punched, and kicked him. He declined to press charges against her for assault, and she declined to press charges against the man she met in the bar.

Cat killed

A Waterford Hills Manor family called police and posted on social media after finding their cat cut in half, with head missing, July 26. They said it looked like it was cut with a knife. Also, a groundhog was found in pieces a few weeks ago. Deputies checked into it and found no evidence that people killed the animals, and noted foxes and coyotes have been seen in the area.

Drug overdose

A 55-year-old Clarkston man was treated for a drug overdose in the 70 block of Parkdale, 3:20 p.m., July 27. Deputies found the man unconscious and turning blue, and learned from the complainant the victim had possibly just injected heroin. Deputies administered Narcan to the victim, and about a minute later he began to get his color back and began coughing. EMS arrived on scene and administered another dose of Narcan. The victim then became alert and was talking with medical personnel on scene. He was transported to McLaren Oakland Hospital for further evaluation.

Spreading smiles one flower at a time

Almost two dozen members of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club gathered, Monday, at The Gateway on M-15 to assemble bouquets to be placed throughout the community.

They're participating in the International Lonely Bouquet project, to make Clarkston a better place to live and show appreciation for neighbors.

They placed bouquets, each with postcard labeled "Take Me," at the Independence Township Senior Community Center, Clarkston Independence District Library, local assisted living centers, and business on Main Street.

Emily Avenson, a floral designer in Belgium, started the bouquet project in 2013.

Check the Lonely Bouquet website and Facebook to track thousands of bouquets around the world. More garden club info is at www.clarkstongardenclub.org.

A chance to help at scrimmage

"It's nice to see a face while you are waiting and know they don't put you in a room and forget you," Caroleigh said.

"Everyone here has been fantastic and really easy," David said, adding it was also close to their house.

"We could keep things normal because the place was right here. I went to work every day, would come here at 2:15 p.m. every day. I would get my radiation, be out by 2:30 p.m. and pick the girls up from school."

"Everything moved along really quickly," Caroleigh said, adding David had his first treatment within a week of being diagnosed. "He shouldn't have gotten a PET scan for a month out. They said they had a cancellation and everything clicked around."

David is cancer free. He had surgery in which they took his esophagus out from his neck to his stomach. Then, they elongated his stomach to make it his new esophagus.

He was in the hospital for 10 days before going back to work. He now eats smaller meals, 6-8 times a day.

"I am still getting used to it," he said. "I like my food."

With the tumor removed the next step is preventative therapy, which they can monitor, or he can have chemotherapy for four months. They found the tumor was caused by acid reflux David didn't know he had.

"He went undiagnosed and undetected for several years - it eroded his esophagus to the point his cells kept trying to repair, repair and repair," Caroleigh said. "They couldn't keep up and it grew a tumor. He was asymptomatic, where he didn't have any burning sensation."

She added she hopes David's journey helps at least one other person to get tested.

The Fulcher family didn't think twice when it came to helping out McLaren Cancer Center and Karmanos Cancer Institute during Football for a Cure.

"Everybody has just been great," said Caroleigh. "The chemo nurses are a batch of angels. They are wonderful. So are the doctors. You don't realize how strong you are until you go through something like this. You think if someone told you this, you would respond with, I would just fall to pieces. Then, when you actually go through it how many people come out of the wood work to help you. You lean on your faith a bit more. You look at things in a different light now. It's good to have that foundation. It has been amazing."

Caroleigh admitted she had seen the banner for years in downtown Clarkston but has driven past it.

"You get banner blindness for a while until something like this hits you," she said. "This is a wonderful cause helping people in need who wouldn't make it here - they don't have the transportation, the funds or the needs. This helps people do it and get the proper nutrition, it's wonderful. It's nice to be a part of it. I see the banner in a whole new light now."

"When this came up I absolutely want to do something," David said. "I want people to know it's beneficial and it's here."

They invite the community to watch the griron heroes for their pre-season scrimmage next Saturday at 7 p.m.

"It's so worthwhile thing," said Caroleigh. "And if you can't take that little bit of burden off someone's mind and let them use that energy to heal it's one more way to heal. Even if it is $1. It's a great cause. We are glad we are able to help in any way we can."

Teams earn awards, honors

The Lady Wolves from the Clarkston Varsity and JV Dance teams spent last week competing in a four day intensive workshop with Universal Dance Association at Oakland University.

"The girls' performances were all strong and they did beautifully in their individual and team routines," said Kelsey Chewins, head coach for the varsity team.

Kristen Cumming, Megan Hibbard, Katie Koczak, and Stephanie Laing, four dancers from the varsity team, won an opportunity to dance in London, England, on New Year's Eve 2017.

"The girls were chosen for All-American with UDA," Chewins added.

Varsity also received a trophy for the team winning the most blue ribbons through the judging event.

"Our team placed for their home routine which we prepared before heading to camp," Chewins said. "We won a superior award for the girls getting one of the highest combined score based on the amount of blue ribbons they won as a team and individually. We also won a spirit stick. The last thing was that our varsity team qualified for nationals which is in Walt Disney World and is broadcasted on ESPN."

From the JV team, Alexa Berg, Kendall Causley, MacKenzie Karsten, and McKenna Klaiber won a opportunity to dance in Philadelphia.

During the week they completed in all day workshops and exercises from 8 a.m. until 8:45 p.m. They also took part in friendly school competitions throughout the day with other dance teams.

See the ladies perform this fall during home football games.

The varsity and JV dance teams get ready for a week of competing and bonding.

Rush for Food

The gridiron heroes visit neighborhoods for the 19th Annual Rush For Food, Aug. 20, 11:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Freshman, JV and Varsity Clarkston football team members will collect non-perishable food in local neighborhoods and drop-off locations. They will also spend the day stocking the pantry at the Lighthouse Emergency Services, Clarkston.

Each year the event builds awareness of community need, promotes team unity, and allows players to give back to the community that supports them so generously.

The community is encouraged to get involved. Ways to help include: dropping off your donations directly to the Lighthouse, located at 6330 Sashabaw Rd, Clarkston, from 12- 1:30 pm on Aug. 20 labeled "Rush for Food/ Clarkston Football"; drop off donations at The Clarkston News throughout the week of Aug. 15 during business hours; bags can be left on porches of homes in neighborhoods the football players will be visiting. Signs will be posted at subdivision entrances closer to the event.

The Lighthouse of Oakland County is accepting donations for their annual Back to School program, including gift card for clothing and shoes as well as new school supplies. Suggestions include backpacks, lunch bags/boxes, colored pencils, 3x5 index cards, pens, calculators, pencils, composition notebooks, notebook paper, crayons, glue sticks, highlighter, erasers, pencil pouches and boxes, 3-ring binders, 8-tab dividers, 3-hole punch, Duo-tang pocket folders and sharpeners.

They are also looking for volunteers to sort and pack the supplies and also help with distribution. Volunteers can sign up at www.signupgenius.com/

Donations are accepting until Aug. 18 at Lighthouse, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Last August, the Back to School program helped 245 children.

Touchdown for cure

The Clarkston Wolves gridiron gang trade their blue and gold jerseys for pink and light blue for their Eighth Annual Football for a Cure, their pre-season scrimmage, on Saturday, Aug. 13.

T-shirts and jerseys are currently available. The cost to purchase a commemorative jersey is $100 and a commemorative name plate is $50.

T-shirts are available for $15. Also, visit the online store at www.footballforacure.com.

Proceeds benefit Clarkston's McLaren Breast Center and Karmanos Cancer Institute patients in need of transportation, nutritional support, counseling and more.

For more information or to volunteer for the event, please email ClarkstonFootballforaCure@gmail.com

Varicose Vein treatment covered by insurance?

"Americans who are suffering from unsightly, swollen, painful varicose veins might want to take closer look at their insurance", says Dr. Charles Mok D.O., at Allure Vein Center.

"What most people don't know is that the Affordable Care Act, commonly referred to as Obamacare, covers treatment for varicose veins," he adds.

"We're seeing more and more people for this condition. Why wouldn't you have it treated when its an easy procedure with little to no out-of-pocket costs?"

Forty million people suffer from varicose veins, which can result in substantial pain and complications if not treated. Symptoms may include:

- bulging veins
- restless legs
- aching, throbbing, cramping

"Early detection with free vein screening is essential," says Dr. Mok. "Wait too long and you could experience unwanted skin changes including swelling and skin ulcers."

Summer fitness

A pack of kids zoomed past as they started their first lap around Clarkston Elementary last Thursday.

Once a week they meet for an hour in the morning for the Clarkston Fit Kids, an elementary summer running club.

"We are building up their endurance," said Lane Hurd, Clarkston Elementary teacher. "We are teaching them how to live a healthy, active lifestyle."

The kids work their way up to running a mile or mile and a half, depending on their age.

"It's great," said Kelley Woodworth, Bailey Lake Elementary teacher about watching the runners grow.

"It's fun watching some of these kids develop," he said. "The first time they did this they could barely run a lap, now most of them ran half mile without slowing down."

The kids will be able to show what they have worked on during the End of the Summer race, Monday, Aug. 15, 6:30 p.m. at Clarkston High School. The races include a half mile for boys and girls and a 1-mile for boys and girls.

They will also the Crim Kids Invitational held on Aug. 19.

Our team immediately developed a care plan designed to help Kelly regain her independence. We worked to get her back to her family, while treating her as part of ours.

Throughout Kelly's treatment, our team cared for the person as well as the patient, with a dedication to compassionate care and clinical excellence. After a 13-day stay, Kelly left McLaren Oakland with a brighter future.

I am a lifelong runner with bummed out knees. It had gotten to the point where I was avoiding running even short distances and in persistent pain. Shiloh assessed my form and worked on me during the course of 4-5 sessions. Following this, I was able to run a full marathon pain free and have remained pain free (with regular tune-ups from Shiloh) for 4+ years. Her holistic focus corrected both the issue and my running form. If you would like to learn more let me know or better yet see Shiloh. It is an amazing success and I am grateful for her talent and expertise.

Thank you, Nuview Nutrition!

IBS Reversed • Vitality Restored • 60 Pounds Lost!

I suffered with irritable bowel for 10 years, low energy and poor immune function my entire life. When I found Nuview Nutrition, I was at the end of my rope. All my test results were normal, but I felt horrible. Cindy actually listened to me and designed a program based on how I was feeling, not what my test results said. My irritable bowel is resolved, energy is back, I feel great and have lost 60 pounds as a side effect of good health. Calling Nuview Nutrition was the best decision I have ever made for myself! CANOEING & KAYAKING COLLEGE CAMPUSES IN MICHIGAN

Wednesday, August 10 3:30 pm
Doc Fletcher is back to share his adventures canoeing College Campus in Michigan.

Best book you've read this summer?

"I just finished Stephen King's 'The Dark Tower IV (Wizard and Glass).' At first I wasn't into the entire story, but after the fourth book it really draws you in, so I am looking forward to the remaining three."

— Kristin DeFranco

"Probably 'Gone Girl.' I read it kind of late, but it's probably the best book I've read. It was really well written and it was different than the usual mysteries that are out right now."

— Joan Cieslak

"The one I enjoyed the most was the autobiography of Phil Knight, ('Shoe Dog, a memoir by the creator of Nike') the founder of Nike. I enjoyed that book immensely. I'm graying and old, but I kind of grew up with Nike, so I thought it was interesting, very much so."

— Bill Miller

"'Blindsight' by Peter Watts, most definitely. Peter Watts has this thing where he can blend really high hard science, sci-fi literary concepts with really imaginative personal stakes and I find that really appealing."

Sing a new song

When facing difficult times in our life, what should (or, what do we do)? Often, when facing those times, I find myself turning to the Psalms.

Many of the Psalms were originally words written for worship as part of the sung liturgy. These words reflect great joys, struggles with sin and the peace of forgiveness.

Several years ago, a Christian radio station asked people to call in to reflect on their favorite Psalm.

They admitted later that they thought the 23rd Psalm would win hands down but, in reality, it came in second. The number one favorite of people was Psalm 139.

These words remind us that there is no where we can go that God is not with us, and that there is nothing God does not know about us. What great words of comfort!

We are reminded that God was with us when we were being knit together in the womb, and that He knows the number of our days. The closing words are also words of great comfort.

They read: Search me, O God, and know my heart! Try me and know my thoughts! And see if there be any grievous way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting!

Search me and lead me. What wonderful words to set before us! What comfort to know that God cares that much about us, that He is leading us, that He forgives us when we come with repentance on our lips and in our hearts. While man may fail, God never does, and never will.

As stated above, the Psalms were hymnal for worship. Have you ever imagined the people of God approaching the Temple, led by the priests, singing these words?

Have you ever tried singing the Psalms, maybe inventing a tune that fits for you?

Many have and, when we do, it helps us remember them through the day and maybe through life.

So, we might sing As the deer panteth for the water, so my soul longeth after Thee (Psalm 42:1), just one such example of many that are used regularly in worship today.

Sing a new song. We are encouraged to do so in Psalm 33:3, 96:1, 98:1, 144:3; Isaiah 42:10; and in Revelation 14:3 where we read of those gathered around the Throne in heaven singing a new song.

It is hard to sing when our hearts are heavy, it is even harder to hear someone joyfully lilt away when we are down, but God has given us this wonderful gift of music, wrapped around His Word, to lead us, not only in worship, but in our daily living. So, let us continue to sing the new song. Let us continue to raise our voices to our God.

Let us, always, give thanks to the Lord, for He is good and His steadfast love endures forever. Those last words of His steadfast love endures forever, and the refrain of Psalm 118. Live in, live that steadfast love!

The Rev. Kendall Schaeffer is pastor of St. Trinity Lutheran Church.

It's always nice when the experts tell us we're doing well.

US News awarded Brandon High School a Silver Medal in its 2015 "Top High Schools in the Country" ranking, and Brandon is the only local high school on the "Top 100 in Michigan" list!

As a district, Brandon far exceeded its expected growth on the Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA) assessment in math, reading, and language.

Brandon's boys basketball team and boys and girls soccer teams captured MHSAA District Championships among other strong athletic accomplishments by Blackhawk athletes and teams.

Brandon High School's Truck Town Thunder once again qualified for the FIRST World Championship, capturing the prestigious Engineering Inspiration Award in the process.

Brandon's Early Childhood programs have received the coveted Five-Star rating from the State of Michigan's Great Start to Quality Program.

Brandon's 69.57% proficiency rating on the English section of the M-STEP was the highest of our neighboring school districts and ranked us 3rd in all of Oakland County!

It's even better when the smiles confirm it.

The Brandon School District is enrolling students all summer. To set up a tour, please contact our Enrollment Department at (248) 627-1866.

Library officials and volunteers cut the ribbon to open the Storybook Trail.

Story trail

Kids are invited to walk the Storybook Trail at Springfield Township Library.

"It combines books and reading with the park and physical activity," said Cathy Forst, library director. "It's a good use of the Shiawassee Basin Preserve property."

"It combines the beauty of the Shiawassee preserve with educational opportunities," said Jean Rawe, Friends of the Library member.

The gravel trail is about a third of a mile, with about 16 stops along the way. At each stop is a stand with two pages of a picture book mounted inside, along with suggested activities. Children walking the trail stop and read at each stop, and finish the book by the end of the trail.

The first story on the trail is about creatures in a pond. The story will change every month or so, based on events such as the upcoming Butterfly festival as well as changing seasons.

It's a joint project of the township library and Springfield Parks and Recreation, with funding donated by Friends of the Parks and Friends of the Library, Forst said.

Township Board members Judy Hensler and Laura Moreau heard about the idea, and Parks and Rec Director Sarah Richmond researched it online. Mike Forst, township property manager, led the design and build project.

"A lot of people worked on it," Rawe said.

— Phil Custodio

Katie Byrne, her kids Taylor Byrne, Devon Byrne, and Adrian Byrne, and Sophia Stephighson read a couple of pages on the trail.

Readers walk the trail.
