

City to review lawsuits

BY PHIL CUSTODIO

Clarkston News Editor

For resident Stuart Mahler, it's high time for City Council to readdress two lawsuits against the city.

"Every one of you has been a strong proponent of transparency," Mahler said at the Aug. 28 meeting. "The issues seem to be settled, as it relates to us. Why we should continue to spend money, is my question. I'd like you to reexamine it, to see why we need to continue them."

Clarkston Mayor Steven Percival agreed, though council may need to go into closed session at the Sept. 11 meeting to discuss legal issues impacting the city financially.

"We'll bring whatever we can back to you," the mayor said.

"I would like to know more also," said Council member Susan Wylie. "I think we all need better understanding."

Resident Susan Bisio is suing the city in a Freedom of Information Act case, and CBC Joint Venture filed suit against the city over development of the Sutherland House on S. Main Street.

The city is represented by attorneys with the Michigan Municipal League in the lawsuits, which is funded insurance premium was 52 percent higher than budgeted due to increases in its errors and omissions insurance.

The $2,000 increase was offset by a dividend from MML of $1,450, said City Manager Jonathan Smith.

"It's still alarming we got hit with this huge increase," Smith said. The lawsuits, and the errors and omissions insurance contributed to it, he said.

"It's some concrete evidence it is costing the city money," said the city manager.

CBC Joint Venture won the lawsuit it filed in October 2015, when Judge James M. Alexander agreed the city had no legitimate reason to deny its rezoning request for the Sutherland House at 59 S. Main Street, particularly when faced with nearly identical requests from others, which were approved. The city argued rezoning would jeopardize the historic nature of the area.

Alexander's ruling, which was filed on Jan. 4, 2017, ordered the city to approve CBC Joint Venture's request to rezone 59 S. Main Street, known as the Sutherland House, for use as a restaurant.

By a 4-3 vote of council, the city appealed the case on Jan. 9. Council members Sharron Catallo, Eric Haven, Jason Kneisc, and David Marsh voted to appeal, going with attorney Ryan's advise. Percival, Wylie, and council member Rick See Lawsuits on page 3

Bailey house must move, across street or to scrap yard

BY JESSICA STEELEY

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Despite public outcry to save the historic Bailey house, bad timing is still its greatest adversary.

"We had the meeting on Tuesday (Aug. 29) between the schools, the township and the county, where the school expressed their interest," said builder Sam Moraco. "What came out of the meeting was that if the county was to allow a resident or the school district to take over the house where it sits, they wouldn't be able grant market for that period of time."

All three talked about moving the house to a property across the street from its current location. Moraco said the property has eight acres and the county will see if the owners are interested in selling some of it to the school district, but he added it will cost the school an additional $100,000 to $150,000 to relocate the Bailey house.

"After the school district bought the property, then the school district would have to pay to have the house through insurance, in consultation with city attorney Thomas Ryan.

Resident Chet Pardee pointed out the city's MML to apply for federal grants in the spring because it would be in the process of a land transaction."

Moraco explained the county's main concern is the process will go through April, which postpones them from applying for federal grant money for parks activities for another year. He said the easiest way for the county to get rid of the property, aside from demolition, is to move it or have someone else move the house.

Independence Township Supervisor Pat Kittle and Clarkston Junior High Construction Tech Teacher Jeff Peariso were also at the meeting.

"Everyone in the room agreed vocational education, skilled trades training for high school kids is critical, there's just a lot of nuisances with that Bailey house and the property on which it sits," Kittle said. "The opportunity cost to county parks is estimated into the hundreds of thousands of dollars by being out of the moved, a new basement or foundation put in, new well, new septic, new utilities and once you add all those together, that's what usually deters from the restoration," Moraco said.

However, Peariso is hoping they can work out an agreement with the county for a land swap to give the school district the property, otherwise they may not have the funds to relocate it. He said the county thinks they can't get the paperwork for the land swap through the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in time for their April grant deadline.

"(The county has) a meeting on the sixth, we're hoping to go to that meeting and get a little bit clearer idea and by then hopefully Representative (Jim) Tedder has some news for us from the DNR to see what they have to say about it," Peariso said.

Lawsuits

Bisio, represented by attorney Richard Bisio, her husband, sued the city in December 2015 for violating FOIA. The city was represented by James E. Tamm and Paul T. O'Neill, provided through the Michigan Municipal League.

The lawsuit stems from a FOIA request Susan sent to the city on June 7, 2015, requesting records created by Ryan. The city responded on June 30, 2015, producing over 700 pages of documents, but declining to provide 18 records, saying they were not public records according to state law.

The contested records included emails from Jan. 30, 2015, to May 20, 2015, between Ryan and other attorneys and agencies related to 148 N. Main Street and a hold-harmless agreement for its development, as well as vacant property at M-15 and Waldon.

The issue in this case was whether the contested records are "public records" subject to FOIA. The city argued its attorney is not a "public body" and his records are not public records, as defined by FOIA.

The City Charter says the city attorney is a city administrative officer but not its employee, receives no benefits, and doesn't send or receive emails from the city email address or have an email address associated with the city.

Ryan said the records were never in the possession of city officials or personnel.

The defendants also said state law and case law intentionally omits "city attorney" from its definition of "public body."

Susan Bisio believes the records of a public official who conducts public business are subject to FOIA even if they are in its attorney's private files. She filed the FOIA request for city records, not its attorney, and the records are public even if in possession of a public body's agent because "to conclude otherwise would mean no records would be in the possession of a public body."

Representative Jim Tedder was also at the Bailey house meeting last week. Peariso said he's going to talk with the DNR about speeding up paperwork for the land swap transaction.

"Our goal is to try to get things done in a timely manner, so we can turn around and they can file for grants and we can restore the house," Peariso said. "They don't want to sit on that house for any length of time and do anything with it because that costs them money to have it sitting there."

Kittle said, for now, discussions are continuing and the demolition is on hold, but either way he knows it's going to cost a lot of money to bring the Bailey house back to life. For more information, call Oakland County Parks at 248-858-0906, and Independence Township at 248-625-5111.

Deputy Superintendent Shawn Ryan presented to the Board of Education a request for four carts of Chromebooks for social studies classes at Sashabaw Middle School, two per grade.

The board will vote on the $36,948 request at their next meeting on Sept. 11. The 128 Chromebooks would cost $33,792 and the four carts, $3,156.

The on-hand technology would help students with research, project based learning units, current events, writing feedback, and global communication and understanding, Ryan said during the presentation.

Heritage Fest

BY JESSICA STEELEY

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Experience some aspects of 19th century life this autumn by attending the Eighth Annual Davisburg Heritage Festival, Saturday, Sept. 23.

Springfield Township and their Parks and Recreation Department organized the free festival to celebrate the town and its history.

"We typically have antique tractors and a tour through the harness shop, which is run by the historical society, and the candle factory does candle line demonstrations," said Recreation Superintendent Rebecca DeSimpelare.

The festival will also have some new events this year including a historical presentation and a vintage baseball game, she added.

"We have the historical demonstrations tent," DeSimpelare said. "Kids can try out shucking corn and things they'd probably never done before, how it had been when Davisburg was founded."

An all-day event, the festival includes several family friendly activities with free kids' games and prizes, and a parade at noon.

"Until about 4 p.m., it's a family event and then it transitions to the Springfield Tavern, which is run by the Knights of Columbus," DeSimpelare said. "We have Mark Harrington playing in the early afternoon and then we have Twistin' Tequila Worms playing in the nighttime."

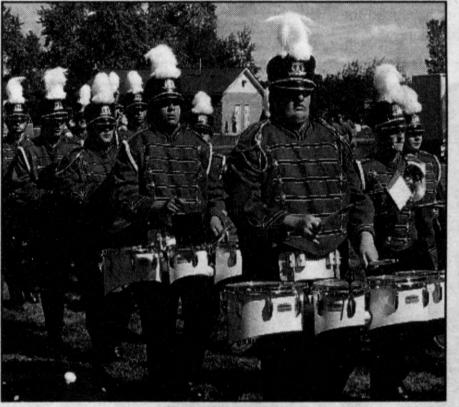

This historical festival celebrates the founding of Davisburg and Springfield Township in 1836.

"We have a lot of people, it's definitely our biggest event," DeSimpelare said. "It's fun to see everybody out there bonding as a community. It's also nice to see people who haven't been to Davisburg before come out and kind of get a feel for the community. A lot of people are just kind of surprised at how much there is going on and how much of the events and activities are free. It's really cool to see the takeaway from people who haven't been there before."

To learn more about the Heritage Festival visit Springfield Township's event list on their Facebook page.

The Yesteryear Tractor Club leads the parade through Downtown Davisburg at last year's Heritage Festival.

The Holly Marching Band led by Mr. Baldwin performs after the parade.

Wendi's Word

A column by Wendi Price

Home again

You may or may not have gone to a Clarkston home football game.

This is what happens at a home football game - the community fills the stands to cheer on their football team, their cheerleading team, their dance team and their marching band. The excitement can be felt from the stands starting from the student section (fondly called the Jungle) from the south end of the bleachers, through-the bleachers, along the fence and up to the concession stand where it is sometimes standing room only.

If you haven't been to a home football game, I ask you to try to go to this week's game.

The Wolves host Bloomfield Hills this Friday and each player on the field from both teams will be wearing a jersey for someone who is battling cancer, conquered their cancer, or passed away from cancer.

During the night, money raised through donations or purchase of a Football for a Cure T-shirt goes to Karmanos Cancer Institute locations in both Clarkston and Bloomfield Hills.

Everyone has been touched in one way or another by cancer. Cancer doesn't care who you are, what you do or if you are financially ready for it. Football for a Cure raises money just for that - to help with non-medical expenses which could be transportation, help with bills, help with food, and the list goes on.

Come out and cheer the Wolves on with your friends and neighbors and donate a few dollars. Plus, isn't it said Clarkston High School Stadium has the best popcorn in Oakland County?

Summer got away from me too quickly. I can tell through the amount of photo folders on my laptop which need to be cleaned out. Even if I am able to clean out three a week, I think I can catch up. Opinion Pages

Reader kudos for city leadership on parking

Dear Editor,

In my opinion, the dereliction of prior councils has directly resulted in the parking problem downtown.

I applaud the leadership of those current Clarkston City Council members who made the difficult, but correct decision to finally move forward with paid parking as at least part of the solution.

In another matter, the column regarding the origin of Labor Day ("Thankful for Labor Day," Aug. 30 edition) leads to the natural question of why labor organizations and the hundreds of retired and active union members in this community would not be the logical ones to step forward to revive the parade for next year.

More than any other group they should want to honor the sacrifice of those pioneers of the labor movement from whom they now derive such great social and economic benefits.

Parking should've been part of planning, reader says

Dear Editor,

Pay to park downtown? Really? You're going to drive potential customers away.

Yes, the city will end up with more money, but the businesses will be the real losers. Many of my neighbors have said they will take their business elsewhere. A parking plan should be been part of the approval and planning process when a new business applied for approval to do business downtown. Paying for parking is hindsight management.

So, as a highly paid and influential member of our local community I get hit up a lot. Locals "friend" me on social media (I think I actually know about 30 of my almost 800 Facebook "friends"), send private messages, pictures, jokes, e-mails, cards, and letters. You all send tons of questions, answers to my questions, your Don't opinions and observations.

Sometimes you tell me what I can go do with myself and sometimes you even send a long a thank you. I love it all! Don't stop. Thing is, however, you all don't call, which I am thankful for. Okay, with that info neatly packed in your fore brain, we can now move forward to the real point for this week's "gem" of a Don't A column by Rush Me column.

Rush Me

Don Rush

If someone calls my mobile phone and I do not recognize the number, I will not answer (sorry American Red Cross, this includes you, too), I will let it go to voice mail. If I need to return a call, I will. If I do not recognize the number, my practice is to hop on ye old internets and look up said number on any number of search engines. If the number is flagged as a sales call or scammer, I block that number.

End of story . . . until recently.

For most of this year, I frequently receive calls from "people" who live in my home town - I "know" this because the phone number I read on my phone has my local three-digit exchange. No messages are ever left. Hmm? True to form, I haven't answered these "local" calls and have looked up the phone numbers.

And, that's that (until last week). Last week, I went through my phone log and wrote down all the "local" calls I did not recognize then called them from my work phone. All the calls were from different phone numbers. Guess what -- all the numbers were not in service. Yup, you read that correctly. Not working phone numbers have been calling me. I am smart enough to know the ghost is not in the machine and since my spidy senses were tingling, I knew I needed more info. So, I contacted my a-number-one, top of the heap, go-to law man, Lake Orion Police Chief Jerry Narsh. "Good day, Jer!" said I. "Question for you. I keep getting calls from local exchange phone numbers I do not recognize...numbers all disconnected. Is there some sorta' scam you have heard about that resembles this?"

And, toot sweet Jerry responded to my query.

"Yes and it sucks. The newest scam technology is to clone local exchanges so people will answer. Most of these calls are the utility, bail bond and car insurance calls. Bad guys actually will clone a legitimate company or local exchange agency number. It's tough to tell what's real. Guy came in last week to report his cell phone number is hijacked and being used to call / scam folks. He even got a call on his land line from his own number!"

I asked, "What should we good, honest and hard working towns folk do?"

His answer, "Contact their cell or land line service provider and advise them. I told this guy to answer and ask what the callers were saying, like what service or scam they are peddling, and to tell them it was not him. People were leaving him messages to stop calling them ... another thing the bad guys

Scam calls.

Not crank calls or prank calls. Scam calls, my brothers and sisters, are the calls where dastardly people try to separate you from your hard-earned (or inherited) money. Oh, and it is on the rise. I only know because for the last six months or so, I have been getting a ton o'calls from people I do not know.

I am only highly paid and influential in the community because, while not a cynic, I have a wee bit of the skeptic's sensibilities. I can usually tell when people are less than stalwart upon talking with them in person, observing their actions and thinking critically versus emotionally. I don't get suckered much -- but, when I do, let me tell you, it's an epic failure that saddens my heart.

do is use burner phones. The cheap paid and go to get the local exchanges. That's why they are not in service when you call back.

"As a final thought, I tell everyone never act or respond in a phone call. After the call, contact the service provider they state they represent by Googling the correct number, and verify from the real company / agency the details - 99% of calls stating you're in trouble, legitimately would never be done by phone. And, never agree to give account access or purchase money cards on the phone to pay an alleged debt."

Thank, Jerry. There you go folks. Listen to the law and don't be scammed.

Expired tab

A deputy on patrol stopped a car with expired registration tabs on Dixie Highway near Maybee Road, 8:59 a.m., Aug. 21. The driver, a 52-year-old Flint man, was cited with driving with a suspended license, expired plate, and no proof of insurance.

Theft from auto

A resident in the 5000 block of Sunnyside Drive reported someone went into her car overnight and took sunglasses, money, and other items out, Aug. 23. She said her car was not locked. She found some of her property discarded in the street in front of her house.

Disorderly conduct

A 37-year-old Independence Township man was cited with disorderly conduct after refusing to pay a $147 bill, pushing an employee, yelling obscenities, and urinating outside a S. Main Street restaurant, 8:37 p.m., Aug. 26. A manager was holding him down on the ground when deputies arrived. The man's wife was called to the scene and she paid the bill.

Wrong plate

A 24-year-old Flint man was stopped for driving 41 mph through downtown Clarkston, a 30 mph zone, 2:27 a.m., Aug. 30. His vehicle had an invalid plate mounted. The driver said he bought the car from his aunt in Texas and had the proper plate for it out of Oklahoma, but had never gotten around to replacing it. The deputy helped him change it, and cited him for improper plate and no proof of insurance. The old plate was confiscated.

Truck violations

A deputy on patrol stopped a dump truck and trailer with a broken side brake light on the trailer, tailgate down, and unsecure items in the bed, 11:17 a.m., Aug. 30, at Pine Knob and Maybee roads. The driver, a 28-year-old Ortonville man, did not have the proper commercial driver's license. The company owner was cited with allowing a person to drive in violation of vehicle code, defective trailer lights, no fire extinguisher, no truck or trailer annual inspection, and no proof of insurance. They were given a warning for unsecure load.

Sex offender violation

A 38-year-old Independence Township man was cited for failure to pay his sex offender registration fee, Aug. 31. The resident in the 5000 block of Frankwill Avenue had been notified by a deputy on Aug. 7, the $50 payment was due as required as a Tier 3 sexual offender. He was convicted in 1996 of criminal sexual conduct, second degree, person under 13, and required to pay the $50 registration fee every year. He said he did not have the money, was barely working, and does not borrow money from anyone.

Charity scams

Sheriff Michael Bouchard warned about possible fake charity scams in the wake of Hurricane Harvey. Tips include using the IRS.gov search feature, Exempt Organizations Select Check, to find qualified charities, don't give out personal financial information, and never give or send cash. Criminals email solicitations to bogus websites mimicking the sites of, or use names similar to, legitimate charities, or claim to be affiliated with legitimate charities in order to persuade people to send money or info.

The gridiron heroes finished their traditional post-game dance celebration before turning their attention to Conor Donahue.

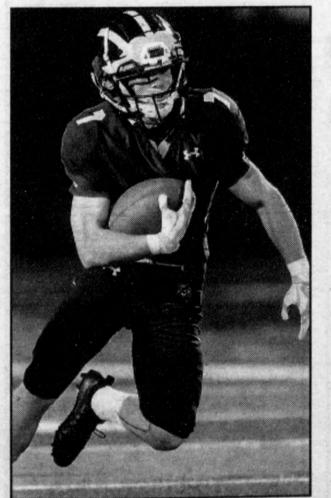

All of the players burst into singing Happy Birthday to Donahue, who finished the night of his birthday helping the Wolves to a 17-7 victory over Southfield Arts & Technology.

Kurt Richardson, long-time head coach for the Clarkston Varsity Football team, reflected it was a good win for the boys especially since Southfield scored 54 points in their season opener.

"Southfield is a good football team and our kids felt like we should have beat them last year," he said. "They have been gearing for this one. They have been hearing about 'Southfield this' and 'Southfield that.' They were up for it. They were ready. Plus, they wanted to play on the (new) field."

It came to defending their turf, slowing down their running game, and keeping the Warriors' Division 1 runningback from scoring, he added.

For defense, senior Zach Scott led with 11 tackles, six of which caused lost of yards for Southfield, and he had one interception.

Sophomore Josh Pacolt had four tackles, two with losses. Senior Tieler Houston had three tackles and one interception. Junior Jayviar Suggs and senior Anthony Simmons each had two tackles and recovered a fumble. Seniors Nathan Ladd and Cody Hughes each had three tackles.

"Zach was unbelievable tonight," said Richardson. "He made tons of tackles, a pick and he was all over the field. He is our leader on defense. He directs everything. I am very impressed with Zach tonight."

Scott's interception started a 50-yard drive which ended with quarterback Nate Uballe scoring a touchdown on less than 1-yard in 10 plays with 10 minutes to go in the first half.

It put the score at 10-0 with junior Tristan Mattson's 38-yard field goal, scored with 6:35 remaining in the first quarter.

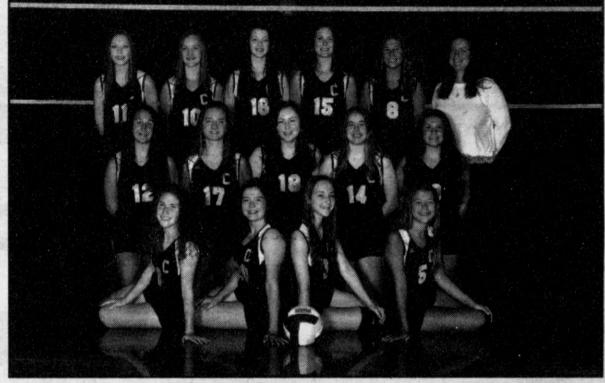

Southfield scored with 22 seconds remaining in the first half with a touchdown pass to Mathew Gilbert, putting the score 10-7.

The Wolves put more distance in the score after a long drive in the third quarter which ended with Uballe connecting a 10yard pass in the endzone to Donahue with 1:35 remaining in the quarter.

Uballe went 9-for-19 for 105 yards in passing. Senior Tieler Houston caught three passes for 40 yards and Donahue caught two passes for 16 yards. Senior Josh Cantu was the leading rusher, carrying the ball 23 times for 68 yards and three first downs. Mattson was 2-for-2 on PATs.

"Uballe gets better and better," said Richardson. "Tieler said he could take the kid so we went with what they said they could do. I am happy with what we've got. We've got some young pups on the offen-

Shut out in home opener

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE Clarkston News Sports Writer

Sophomore Ethan Wise was 30 yards away from the goal when teammate junior Patrick Farrell passed the ball to him.

Wise took the long shot, burying it into Lapeer's net less than three minutes into the Clarkston Boys Varsity Soccer home opener win last Thursday, 3-0.

"We needed this game," admitted Curtis Payment, head coach, adding they lost to Troy, 3-1, and Detroit Catholic Central, 3-0, in their previous two games. "It was important to get back the momentum."

He added the difference from the previous games was the way the Wolves started.

"Those games we gave up a goal in the first three minutes," Payment said. "Tonight was the reverse where we started early. It was a different energy from the other nights. Tonight was focus and we learned from other games."

The Wolves put their focus on scoring again and showed it in their drive and control of the ball. They kept pushing and made attempts on the net including two from seniors Brady Dickens and Cole Mitchell within four minutes of Wise's opening goal.

They made another attempt with just 22 minutes remaining in the first half. Mitchell passed the ball to senior Matt Heilman, who took a shot on the net. The Lightning's goalie made a save. Senior Finn Eblenkamp capitalized on the rebound and kicked the ball from 18 yards away for the Wolves' second goal.

"It was an effort goal," Payment said. "Just pressing, getting his foot on the ball, and hard work."

The Wolves continued to hold control of the ball in the second half.

Lapeer made a shot on goal with less than 25 minutes remaining in the second half, which was stopped by junior goalie Noah Bridgeman. He kick it out 60 yards and Wise was able to head the ball over defense and gain control of the loose ball, kicking it into the net.

"Ethan, again, just using his speed," Payment said. "They were playing a high trap and we were getting some offside calls. I knew there were some breakaways, too. He finished just perfectly. He has been working so hard. His work ethic is phenomenal. He is just everywhere. Ethan has been getting a lot of opportunities like that and he was due. He has been focusing on his technique and not hitting it hard but with good form."

The Lightning made a few attempts in the last seconds, but Bridgeman kept them out for the shutout.

"It was his first start," said Payment. "His communication was really good and had a couple of crosses he punches. I was really happy with his play. Our defense tonight was calm. They have been solid. Jacob Bore was phenomenal tonight. We brought John Loch off the bench and he played super, too."

The varsity and JVA teams host Rochester on Wednesday at Clarkston High School, beginning at 5:30 p.m. JVB hosts Rochester Adams at Clarkston Junior High School, 5:30 p.m.

The varsity team plays DeLaSalle on Friday, 7 p.m.; Bloomfield Hills on Saturday, 10 a.m.; and Ann Arbor on Saturday, 1:45 p.m. All games are at Bloomfield Hills High School.

"Rochester is fabulous, too," said Payment. "They realize mentality and focus pays dividends and hopefully we can walk into the Rochester game with a little bit of confidence and ready and focused."

New field for special needs players, disabled vets

BY JIM NEWELL

Special to The Clarkston News

The crack of the bat, the roar of the crowd, the high-fives and cheers – these are the sounds that embody the quintessential game of baseball.

Orion Township, in partnership with Independence Township, is in the final week of raising funds for the proposed Orion on Deck field at Friendship Park, an all-inclusive adaptive baseball/softball field fully accessible to special needs individuals, disabled veterans and able-bodied players.

But to make this dream a reality, they need to raise $150,000 to construct the field. Total donations and pledges thus far are just over $75,000, said Orion Township Supervisor Chris Barnett.

"Most of these campaigns, the last week is when they raise 80 percent of their funds, so we're hoping to raise $60,000-$70,000 in the next week," Barnett said. "This is such a great project. Whether you have $5 or $5,000, the more names we put in who helped make this field happen, the better. This is in a public park in Orion Township that can be used by people all over the region."

Many communities in North Oakland County – Clarkston, Orion, Oxford, Rochester, Waterford – have adaptive softball teams for individuals with special needs who will play on the new field next summer.

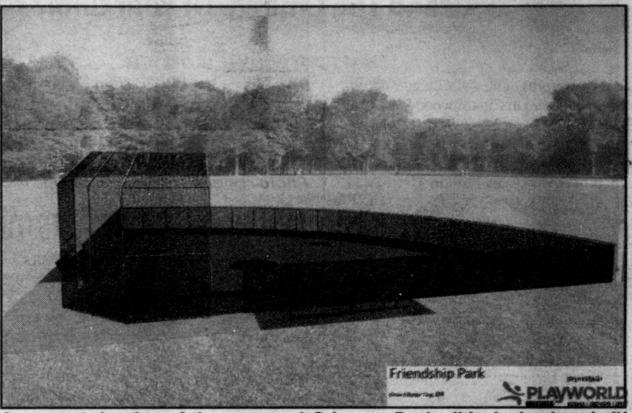

"We've partnered with Independence Township and they'll be offering some of their therapeutic programming here," said Aaron Whatley, Orion Township parks and recrecampaign through Patronicity, a crowdfunding website similar to a GoFundMe account, except that Patronicity does not charge a service fee. GoFundMe can charge up to a 12 percent fee on donations.

The Lake Orion Wiffleball Association donated $20,000, while online donations through Patronicity have reached $24,000, so far.

"With this, all the money comes right to have individuals from Ontario who come over to use our inclusive playground."

Whatley estimates that construction on the new ballfield will begin in early October. The infield will be a soft, spongy turf; dugouts and benches will be handicapped accessible; and there will be a wheelchair path to the field.

"If you're friends with me, you can expect a phone call or text in the next week because I'm pushing for everyone to support it," Barnett said. "And we'd love to have any civic groups – the Lions Club, the Rotary – come on board. We want this thing to be community-built: there's more buy-in, there's more pride in it that way.

the proposed field at Friendship Park and "begin brainstorming, and dreaming," Barnett said.

"And then we started talking with Kristi Schons of The Daisy Project and began thinking, we want to make it more than just a wiffleball field, we want to make it something that would tie-in with all the other work we've done at Friendship Park. So that's how the idea was born," he said.

"The idea for this field was not just special needs individuals, but disabled veterans, able-bodied individuals; having a field for every single person to be able to participate," ation director. "This field needs to be used all the time, whether it's our community or other communities. We are open to that.

"The idea is, okay, you want two nights a week with your adaptive league, bring them over, use it. There's fully accessible restrooms, wi-fi. The site will be wheelchair accessible to get to the field.

"If Brandon or Oxford want to bring over an adaptive team, sure. If it's used seven days a week, every hour of the day that's cool, that's what it's about," Whatley said.

A private donor is willing to match up to $50,000 of donations from the community, so Orion Township officials are making a big push in the final week of crowdfunding to match that pledge dollar for dollar.

Orion Township is running the funding

Orion Township," Barnett said. "We have a plan, we have a spot, we have the township board behind it."

The LO Palooza Festival – run by the Daisy Project – on Sept. 9 will donate all its proceeds to Orion on Deck.

The Daisy Project of Michigan is a nonprofit organization committed to providing medical equipment and recreational items for special needs families.

Friendship Park – where the proposed field will be built – is on the corner of Baldwin and Clarkston roads and already has two wheelchair accessible swings, a seesaw and an inclusive whirl merry-go-round for people with special needs.

"There's really nothing in Northern Oakland County like this," Whatley said. "We "If you donate $1,000 or more, you have a permanent sign on this field. Which is something that is really cool because people are going to be coming from all over the region," Barnett said.

The genesis of Orion on Deck

"We have this amazing project that came to us at the Lake Orion annual wiffleball tournament in 2016," Barnett said.

After the Lake Orion Wiffleball Association played its annual tournament at Vanden Boom Field on Lake Orion last year, association member Ryan Skalnek approached Barnett and said the league might have to find a new place to play, or fold.

So, Barnett, Whatley and Skalnek met at Whatley said.

"We wanted to raise the money to donate to the field, not so that we would have a place to play, we wanted to give back to the community," Skalnek said. "We've had a great time raising money for it. Thank you to everyone who supported us."

"For the last 12 months, every penny that they've raised they've written a check to this field, which is remarkable," Barnett said. Donate online at www.oriontownship.org and click on the Orion on Deck link. While online donations for the Patronicity site close on Sept. 13, people can still mail donations after the deadline to Orion Township Hall, 2525 Joslyn Rd., Lake Orion, MI 48304, with "Orion on Deck" in the memo line.

INSPIRATIONAL ART: Clarkston Cultural Arts placed local artwork around downtown Clarkston, along with reproductions from DIA in its Inside/Out exhibit. This piece, "Epiphany," was painted by Leanna Haun and is on display in Depot Park next to the bridge it depicts. Created after a 10-year break from painting, it inspired her to open Picasso's Grapevine downtown. Photo by Phil Custodio

Contracts for rec plan, code enforcement

City Council voted unanimously, Aug. 28, to award the City and Depot Park Recreation Plan project to Carlisle Wortman, the low bidder.

The project, including drafting the plan, and presenting it to Planning Commission and City Council, was bid for $5,705. The city budgeted $6,000 for the work.

Carlisle Wortman, the current city planner, will be updating the city's Master Plan in 2018. If the recreation plan is done at the same time, the city will save $1,500.

Clarkston will continue its contract with Code Enforcement Services (CES), approved by City Council, 7-0.

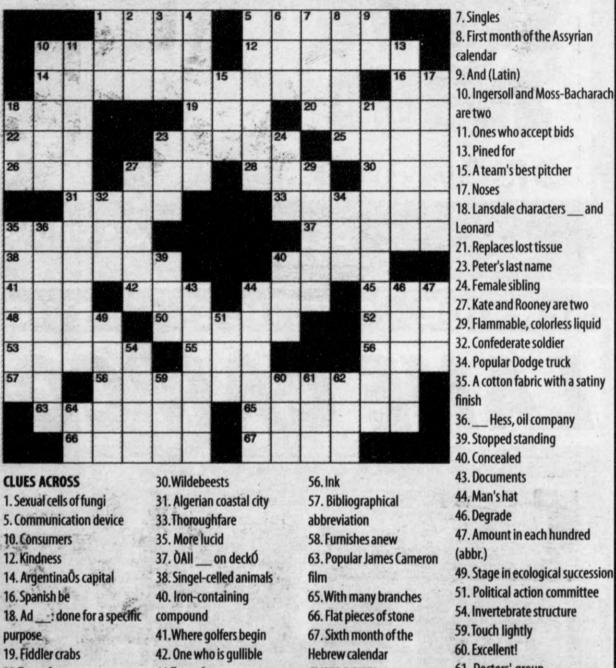

The city contracted with the Springfield Township-based company for two months after code enforcement officer Jennifer Miller left. The new contract, which will continue at $2,000 a month, will be from Sept. 1, 2017, to June 30, 2018.

"It's gone very well the last two months," said City Manager Jonathan Smith.

Susan Weaver of CES comes to Clarkston once a week and has remote access to the city computer system, Smith said.

"She has expertise we can't afford – this makes sense to outsource to an expert rather than try to keep it inhouse," he said.
